'Human Relations Through Music'

Chamber Singers Take Patriotic Songs To Austin, San Antonio

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The Hereford Chamber Singers follow the motto, "Human Relations Through Music," and they'll be spreading a bit of it as they travel across the state this week to perform in Austin and San Antonio.

The 35-member singing group is venturing out on the mini-concert tour in connection with an exclusive invitation to sing to 300 to 500 music directors attending the annual convention of Texas Choral Directors Association in San Antonio. An invitation is extended to only one music group each year and it is highly sought by other groups.

Bill Devers, the group director, said, "We're really excited about going. We haven't been organized long and so much has happened to us quickly."

ONLY IN EXISTENCE for about 10 months, the Chamber Singers have been asked by almost every group in town to perform and were even the star attraction at the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce annual meeting, "Odyssey 2,000," held earlier this year.

However, they're coming performances will be the highlight of the group's experiences so far. The singers leave at 6 p.m. Wednesday on a chartered bus and arrive in Austin early Thursday for a 11 a.m. performance in the Rotunda of the Capital building. This was especially arranged with the help of Speaker of the House Bill Clayton.

At 1 p.m. Thursday, the Hereford group will perform for the Noon Downtown Lions Club of Austin. Each of these performances will last about 30

Second Cholera Case Discovered

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Writer

Members of a special state-federal eradication task force have discovered the second case of hog cholera to be confirmed within the Hereford area in less than a month.

A TASK FORCE spokesman reported that a 29-head herd located in the Hereford area was depopulated Monday, after it was discovered that the animals were infected with hog cholera.

According to Dr. Lawrence Hill, task force director, task force workers are now looking at several other Hereford area herds and have extended their investigation into New Mexico.

"Task force members are checking into sales of swine into the herd of Hereford Livestock Co., owned by Louis Woodford," said Dr. Hill.

The task force spokesman indicated that animals from the infected herd which was destroyed Monday had been sold into the Woodford herd.

AN OUTBREAK of cholera, the first in the country in over a year, was confirmed here July 4 when a government laboratory in Ames, Iowa diagnosed the disease in tests of specimens from hogs owned by Hereford Livestock Co.

Approximately 200 hogs were affected by the disease at Hereford Livestock Co.

and the herd was depopulated July 5.

A quarantine prohibiting the shipment of hogs within a 10 square mile radius of Hereford was initiated following the outbreak and remains in effect. A spokesman for the task force indicated that the quarantine will remain in effect until at least Aug. 21.

Boundaries of the local quarantine area are FM Roads 1057 and 1062 to the north,

Wartes' Induction Into Coaches Hall of Honor Set

By JOE LACKEY
Brand Staff Writer

A former Hereford coach, now an assistant administrator with the school system here, will be inducted into the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor Thursday—but he still exhibits the rare blend of enthusiasm and humility so unique in successful men.

As a head football coach with various Texas schools, Larry Wartes won 100 games, while losing only 45, with two ties. His election to the Hall of Honor is only the latest of countless honors he's received, but he is quick to share credit for his success, and has stated that he never would have gotten his many awards had not someone helped him along his way.

Discussing his election to the Hall of Honor, Wartes said "This is something you never expect because there's so many deserving people. This is the greatest honor a coach could receive, because members of the Hall of Honor are selected by other coaches."

AT HIGH NOON this coming Thursday Wartes will be inducted into the Hall of Honor in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel in Ft. Worth.

At the luncheon, other Hall of Honor inductees will be recognized, along with state champions from last year in all sports.

In addition to Wartes, Rowlen Keithly of Waco, Jay Fikes of Temple, Grady Hester of Terrell, and O.W. Follis of Lamesa will be inducted into the cherished Hall.

Wartes noted that Fikes once coached at Littlefield.

Wartes graduated from Amarillo High School back when Amarillo High was the only high school in the area city. He was a four-year letterman in basketball at Hardin Simmons University in Abilene, where he later received a master's degree.

IT IS PROBABLE that the people who have benefited the most from Wartes' coaching are the boys who played under him. Over 20 of his football players won all-state honors, and he even had one basketball player named all-state.

Wartes demonstrated versatility in his coaching, not limiting himself to football. He also was a coach for basketball, track, baseball, golf, and even girls' basketball.

Although he was never selected coach of the year in the entire state, four times he was listed in the top four: 1958, 1959, 1964, and 1966. In the Abilene area he was named as Coach of the Year in 1958, 1959, 1963, 1964, and 1966. In addition, he was named Coach of the Year at Hereford in 1968 and 1970.

Wartes served for three years under Gordon Wood, one of the most successful coaches in the history of schoolboy football in Texas. Wartes says he learned an enormous amount from Wood and the other coaches he worked with over the years.

Wartes coached at Stamford, Stanton, Meadow, and Hereford during the two decades spanned by his coaching experience. While head coach of Stamford, Wartes' team won the state championship in 1958, and was prevented from a repeat performance in 1959 only by an ineligible player, which produced a default.

SOME OF THE CRITERIA for induction into the Hall of Honor involve membership in the Texas High School Coaches Association for at least 15 years, contribution to the association, and contribution in general to the profession.

He was director of the Coaches Association in Region II (the Abilene area) from 1960 to 1962. After moving to Hereford in 1967, he served in the same position for Region I from 1969 to 1971.

Wartes' dedication to Texas youth is not limited to the gridiron. He says that coaches are "teachers first." His dedication is still expressed in his current position as assistant administrator, a job which involves a little of everything.

He is in charge of school plant operations in his administrative position. This includes transportation, maintenance, food service, insurance, attendance, bulk purchasing and other varied jobs.

One of the biggest responsibilities is that of transportation. He must see that 27 bus routes that total 2,400 miles are properly covered each day so that 1,500 students can reach school and get back home.

Wartes says "I could've kept on coaching, but this was about as good as a school system as a guy could get into. And I still feel the same way."

minutes. Devers said the capital building presentation will be for tourists, legislators and other office workers who might be in the immediate vicinity at the time.

Following the Austin visit, the group hops over to San Antonio for a 7:30 p.m. performance before the choral directors on Thursday. It will be held in the Mission Room of the city's Convention Center. Don Moore, HHS choir director, will introduce the group.

The program for the music educators will feature the complete Americana series of songs as presented at the concert of the same name held in June. It is a combination of patriotic numbers and songs popular at different periods of the nation's history.

THE SEED for the Chamber Singers, formerly known as the Community Singers, was planted by Devers and others who had formed a smaller choral group. Others became interested and it blossomed into the present organization.

"We had been talking about it for eight or nine years, and I told those interested to get organized or forget it completely," Devers noted. The result apparently was action and now the choristers are fastly becoming celebrities.

One of the main purposes of the community-wide group is to provide local organizations with an all-purpose singing group with the versatility to entertain small and large gatherings alike. This is accomplished through a four-member barbershop quartet, a small segment of the group or the total group.

"If a performance is scheduled for a small audience, a third of the singers will perform," Devers explained. "It's often hard to get the whole group together at one time."

MEMBERSHIP in the Chamber Singers is based primarily on talent, so auditions are arranged for those aspiring to be members. While some community groups are organized on a "no-limits" basis, the Hereford group was more interested in forming a quality group, not one of volume. Specific arrangements for membership are organized through Devers.

Presently, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce sponsors the group, even though it has a board of directors. In the future, the group might organize as a separate entity as it grows, although now the C of C has easily handled the correspondence and some of the finances.

The coming trip has been jointly financed through donations and the proceeds of the Americana concert. The Chamber members are paying for their own meals and made their own uniforms. The concert profits are funding the motel cost with the general donations going for the rent of the bus and any future equipment.

Devers expressed thanks to the community for making the trip possible and explained that any future donations would be appreciated. The return to the community, he hopes, will come from listening to good music and through the recognition the singers will direct toward Hereford.

FUTURE PLANS for the group include a performance in November at the Kings Manor Founders Day, in which U.S. Rep. George Mahon is scheduled to be the main speaker.

Also on the drawing board is a possible musical in cooperation with the Community Players. It's a challenge that the group hopes to tackle probably in the fall.

Devers pointed out that the singers group is a means for talented individuals to use their voice training received in school beyond graduation day. Often, a set up doesn't exist for adults to sing, besides maybe the church choir. The Chamber Singers provides another outlet.

While enjoying what they're doing, the singing Hereford citizens will be delivering to other parts of the state some of our hustlin' hospitality.

Encephalitis Confirmed

By Local Vets

Hereford veterinarians have diagnosed a case of Western Sleeping Sickness on a locally owned horse.

According to Dr. Larry Crabb of the Aaron Hutto Veterinary Clinic, the case was confirmed about a week ago, and another case is suspected locally at this time.

Dr. Crabb explained that Western Sleeping Sickness is one of several varieties of encephalitis that are transmitted by mosquitoes, and humans can also be infected.

"We are recommending that anyone who hasn't had their horse vaccinated for the disease within the last year contact their veterinarian and have it done," said Dr. Crabb.

"It probably would help if people would spray around their horse stalls and other areas to kill mosquitoes, as this would cut down on chances of exposure," he added.

County Court To Meet In Regular Session

Requisitions for office equipment, health clinic funds and a parcel of land for a horse show will be topics considered during a Commissioners Court meeting Monday. The meeting will convene at 10 a.m. in the Courthouse.

Included on the agenda are a motion to approve the installation of a telephone for Benny Womble, this county's veterans service officer. The court will also take action for approval of the revenue sharing actual report.

REPRESENTATIVES OF Deaf Smith County Historical Museum will make a plea for the desk which was in the District Judge's office. Then, discussion will focus on the court reporter's salary.

District Attorney Andy Shival will approach the commissioners concerning the provision of a dictaphone system in his office. Plus, paving of certain roads in Precincts 2 and 3 will be appraised.

RON WELTY, administrator of Deaf Smith General Hospital, is scheduled to appear concerning needed funds for the Public Health Clinic, which failed to reapply for a federal grant. This year's budget is estimated at $80,000 and Welty is expected to request a partial subsidy from the county.

Dean Stallings will come before the court officials to propose that a specified 30 acres be used in part as grounds for a horse show. This event would include members of Deaf Smith County 4-H Horse Club, who range between the ages of 9-19. The court had recommended use of land near the Bull Barn.

Concluding the docket will be an address from County Librarian Owen London, who will outline the progress of the Panhandle Regional Library System.

Gordon Wood of Brownwood. Larry worked as an assistant for Wood at Stamford before taking the head job, and he says Wood doesn't like to lose at anything.

At a coaching school several years ago, Wartes, Wood and two more coaches were playing golf and Wartes and his partner were beating Wood and his playing mate. Wood, who happened to be familiar with the course, wasn't hitting the ball too well, and Wartes didn't mind "sticking the needle in" just a little.

"Well, I may not be hitting very good, but I'll bet you a steak I can hit the ball a 100 yards with my putter," he exclaimed. Wartes took the bet, feeling secure on the challenge. When they reached the next tee box, the hole ran along the side of a highway and it was downhill.

You guessed it, Wood climbed over the fence with his putter, laid the ball on the pavement and knocked it down the hill. The funny part of the story occurred at that time, however, the ball was bounding down the road, well on its way to more than 100 yards distance, but it hit the front tire of a truck coming up the hill and rebounded back up the hill—coming to a stop not more than 25 yards from where Wood was standing!

"He's never bought me that steak to this day," claims Wartes.

We hope you read the feature, "The World Doesn't End Here", which ran in Thursday's Brand. We thought it was real timely when we are being told—and nobody seems to argue much about it—that there won't ever be enough energy to meet all our demands, that food is likely to be in short supply, that he has been living too "high" and must adjust our living standards to get by with less of everything.

The scary thing is that many Americans are apparently willing to accept the notion that everything points downward in the future. The problems are real, but they can be solved—and the right kind of mental attitude is a good starting place.

Let's not settle for a loss, or even a tie, before we play the game!

MOVEMENT OF feeder hogs and breeding stock is prohibited within the quarantined area. Fat hogs in the affected area may be moved only directly to slaughter, and the task force must inspect the animals and issue a permit before any movement may be undertaken.

Dr. Hill indicated that task force members are now checking into other sales of hogs into the Woodford herd from New Mexico.

Task force members earlier traced the movement of some suspected animals into Oklahoma, and four herds involving 1,065 hogs were subsequently depopulated.

Value of the four Oklahoma herds was appraised at $123,000.

DEPOPULATION measures in the Texas Panhandle have involved swine herds located in Deaf Smith, Hartley, Potter and Randall counties.

Over 2270 hogs had been destroyed in the Panhandle prior to the depopulation of the local herd Monday.

The task force reported that 1,418 hogs were destroyed in Deaf Smith County prior to Monday, and their value was appraised at $144,497.25.

Federal and state appraisers and the owner of each herd reach an agreement on the indemnity to be paid before herds are destroyed.

EMBARGOES GOVERNING the movement of Texas Hogs are currently in effect in Oklahoma, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan and North Carolina.

Dr. R.E. Omohundro, director of the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service's Emergency Programs asks all farmers in the quarantined area and elsewhere to watch their herds carefully and report sick animals immediately.

Individuals who wish to report sick animals or who desire information should contact the task force at 376-2291 for the free herd check.

The Hereford headquarters may be contacted by calling 364-6652.

Dr. Omohundro also urges farmers not to feed uncooked garbage to swine.

Hog cholera is a highly infectious and fatal disease which affects only swine. It is not transmitted to humans, although man can carry the virus from affected farms to other areas on shoes, clothing and vehicles.

Most of diseased animals is not dangerous to eat.

For Irrigation Gas

FPC Judge Favors No.2 Priority

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Writer

Panhandle-area agriculturalists came one step closer to winning their battle to maintain natural gas as a farm irrigation fuel Thursday when Federal Power Commission administrative law judge Curtis L. Wagner Jr. reported that he will recommend a No. 2 priority on natural gas for irrigation.

THE FUTURE of natural gas as a farm fuel has remained in question since the FPC issued a ruling last December which lowered natural gas for agricultural use from second to third priority.

A decision on the part of Judge Wagner had been anxiously awaited by area farmers since hearings on the matter concluded in Washington about a month ago.

"We're very elated over the judge's decision," said John Aikin, attorney for the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association. "The Commission is not absolutely bound by the judge's recommendation, but they normally go along with what he recommends," he added.

Aikin pointed out that the FPC has no deadline by which to make its final decision on the matter. A decision on the part of the FPC is now the only obstacle remaining in the path of a return to No. 2 priority.

FARMERS BECAME involved in a long and drawn-out battle to obtain a return to a No. 2 commercial priority after the FPC moved irrigation gas into a No. 3 industrial classification last December, making it vulnerable to curtailment in times of short supplies.

The FPC's December ruling was based on the use of alternate fuels such as gasoline and propane to power irrigation units. "The move on the part of the FPC resulted in swift and decisive reaction on the part of southwestern farmers, and the clamor caused by agriculturalists over the issue eventually resulted in the FPC's conducting regional hearings in Albuquerque, Phoenix and Lubbock.

Hundreds of area farmers appeared in Lubbock to testify before Judge Wagner, and their testimony repeatedly stressed the fact that the area would be reduced to a "dryland economy" if irrigation gas were curtailed.

ANOTHER TWO months of testimony was then held before the FPC in Washington, D.C.

Farmers were elated June 26 when staff counsel for the FPC and lawyers for General Motors Corp. made a dramatic surprise move and recommended that farmers be granted a No. 2 priority for irrigation gas, reversing earlier stands.

School Board Calls Meeting

The Hereford School Board of Trustees is scheduled to meet in a brief meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the school district Administration building to consider bids for the proposed tennis courts located at the High School.

The eight-court complex is being built jointly by the schools, county and city.

H<sub>3</sub>

By Bill Albright, Executive VP
Chamber of Commerce

"Why profits?"—What?—"I said, Why Profits?" Why, that's silly, everybody knows about profits! "Do they really? Do you?"

Test the next adult you seek two questions—"What is your guess of the percentage of profit on the average business in town?" In other words for every dollar that comes in how much of it is left after the businessman, any kind of businessman, including farmers, ranchers, retailers, wholesalers, service type operations, - makes no difference - how much is left after all the bills are paid?

Second question: Considering your answer to the first question, what would you consider to be a fair profit? (percentage).

Well unless you're really current on business economics or you are in business yourself, you'll probably be surprised to learn that nation wide—people thing that businesses make 28 cents on the dollar or a 28 percent profit. They also "think" that a fair profit would be 10 percent or a dime on every dollar. What was your guess? I've talked to mature, intelligent people who actually believed that the figure is around 50 percent. Well it's not—actually it averages less than a nickel on the buck—less than five percent. Ok—so much for that point.

The main part of this discussion is, what does that profit do for you and me, the consumer? Well, in the United States it underwrites the entire system of our economy. It provides the incentive for the business people to stay in business—to expand—to provide more and better products and services—at competitive prices. It is the very heart of the free enterprise system and the key to the door marked "supply and demand". Nobody purposely feeds cattle just to break even—or opens a store knowing that at the end of the day there will be less money in the register than they started with.

When businesses show a profit—everybody profits. Businesses expand—jobs are created—goods and services become more plentiful—standards of living rise—more tax dollars are available for better schools, streets, utilities, government, etc., savings increase, better homes are built, more new cars are sold; just a whole host of good things happen when profits roll in. Think about it! Talk about it. Ask questions. Let's generate interest to promote factual understanding of our economic system.

Everybody profits from profits! And especially those who Hustle Hustle Hustle.

The Abundant Life

Continue Living

By BOB WEAR

It is very important that we condition our minds, and manage our lives so we can maintain all of the personality and character traits which we know to be essential to the best of living. This is a capability with which we human beings have been blessed.

Of course, these traits, which comprise the best equipment for coping with our problems and difficulties, must be clearly identified and fully appreciated. Then, we must deliberately exert the maximum effort to put on these traits; while we also work to put off the personal characteristics which may be self-defeating.

WE MUST "CONTINUE LIVING". We may not be able to travel as freely as we have been during recent years. With the value of our money decreasing, and the cost of goods and services increasing, most of us must make some adjustments.

Then, there is the energy shortage, and some lessening of job opportunities; and other related difficulties. Obviously, there must be some changes in our life styles; and these changes will require a wisely conceived "elasticity".

"Resiliency is an important factor in living. The winds of life may bend us, but if we have the resilience of spirit, they cannot break us". To courageously straighten again after our heads have been bowed by defeat, disappointment and suffering is the supreme test of character." -Anon.

A good beginning is in the making up of our minds that we can cope with the challenges. Then we fully decide that, because of the necessity, we are willing to do it; and without resentment. Some folk will be better prepared than others for the adjustments demanded by the existing and developing conditions which touch our lives; in one way or another. Nevertheless, all of us who wish to do so can "continue living" a satisfactory life.

ADVERSITIES ARE NOT pleasant, and never desired; but they are part of the realities of life. They may fluctuate, being greater and more numerous some times than they are at other times; but we always have the privilege of choosing how we respond to them. We have the ability, and should have the desire, to respond so we can "continue living" with meaning and purpose.

Costly Constitution

STATE COMPTROLLER bob Bullock, who spent last week thrashing about Dallas collecting past due sales taxes, is putting a new twist on the art of government—he's telling the citizens how much something is going to cost before, rather than after, that something is mandated and in effect.

Not long ago Bullock sent to newspaper folks across the state a thin document called "Fiscal Implications of the Proposed Texas Constitution." The booklet outlines, article by article, how much implementation of the constitution which Texans will vote on next fall will cost them in new taxes.

Excluding highly speculative costs—costs which might or might not be incurred should the legislature fully implement the sections of the proposed constitution—Bullock estimates the new constitution would cost Texans about a billion dollars in new taxes. The bulk of those new taxes would come in local government levies rather than state-wide taxes.

If Bullock's speculative costs are added, the total cost to the taxpayers for full implementation of the constitution could go to the $10 billion mark.

As Bullock notes in the introduction to the document, his analysis does not address the efficiencies which might flow to state government through the passage of the more updated constitution. Nor, says he, does the analysis speak to the specific merits or demerits of the document or any of its provisions.

Nevertheless, he notes, the constitution will require "big money" for implementation.

It's a good feeling to know that before we vote in November, rather than after.

Public Television

There are today 259 public television stations and the number is increasing. In the past the financial condition of many of these stations has been shaky. But they have often presented a refreshing contrast to the 100-per cent commercial output of the three commercial networks, through their stations.

Legislation has now cleared both houses of Congress which would provide federal aid, but not control, to public television stations over a five-year period. This would allow the stations to further improve their output, to do long-term planning and rely less, in some cases, on voluntary subscriptions.

The great television error of Congress in the immediate postwar years was in turning over all the nation's thirteen prime channels to commercial interests, leaving none for the betterment of American citizens, their welfare, cultural uplifting, education and entertainment.

That tragic oversight can partially be corrected through long-term federal support of public television—and the expansion of public television into every corner of the nation. Final congressional approval of the Public Broadcasting Act of 1975, therefore, and presidential concurrence, are clearly in the national interest.

ONE YEAR AGO

Hereford members of the Communication Workers of America took a secret ballot to determine whether they wanted to accept Bell Telephone Co. contract proposals or strike. Results of the ballot were not immediately announced. The executive board of the national union with which the telephone workers were affiliated had earlier authorized the making of a strike vote...Deaf Smith County Commissioners stated they believed that the appointment of a County Auditor, as advocated by H.C. Williams, county judge, was unnecessary, because the county was described as being in good financial condition, and because county books were audited by a Certified Public Accountant every year, anyway. It was argued that using a CPA instead of a full-time auditor saved money...Local teachers were learning Spanish as preparation for bilingual teaching at the first grade level in the public schools here...Hereford residents were closely following developments in the investigation of the Watergate affair. The investigation was rushing toward a climax.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Infra-red photographs, taken by a Texas A&M research team in cooperation with a Houston-based sophisticated photography company, were studied with the hope they could provide help in the detection of leaf spot in sugar beet crops...School started earlier in 1970 than it had in the past, so parents were urged to begin having their children immunized against various diseases...Baseball action here featured the Little League district tournament and the Pony League sectional tournament...The process involved in selecting a juvenile officer continued, with three applicants selected for further consideration from a field of seven applicants...Hereford's exchange students for the upcoming school year were Samin Aydin from Turkey and Gabriele Lotner of Germany. It was noted that the exchange program is designed to bring about a better understanding among the people of the world through scholarship programs...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Hereford's City Commission called for a hearing on a proposal for rate increases from the telephone company. The Commission also decided to hire a full-time health inspector, and was considering establishing a Hereford Safety Council...Delays in delivery of steel set back the completion of the new $250,000 Underwood and Williams commercial ice plant by 30 days...A galaxy of rides, concessions, and general amusement stands highlighted the annual Lion's Club Carnival...Plans were being made for the Barker circus to come to Hereford. This circus consisted of 23 acrobatic, clown and trained animal acts...Politics attracted much interest here as plans were made for the County Democratic Convention, which was to select delegates to the state convention...

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Heavy rains raised expectations of a banner crop in the Hereford area. It was reported that crops were "growing like weeds..." The combined deposits of the three Hereford banks exceeded one million dollars, a substantial total in those days...The L.F. Borden ranch, consisting of 6,000 acres of lush grazing land, was broken up into small plots and sold for farming purposes. The ranch was located near Dawn...The head of the Texas Utilities Company of St. Louis, in town seeking a fifty year franchise from Hereford, told the local Chamber of Commerce that only two sections of the United States were being extensively advertised and developed, those two areas being the state of Florida and the Texas Panhandle...The Tierra Blanca river was on a rampage because of the recent rainfall...Slight earthquake tremors were felt here across the Panhandle...Local citizens interested in national political affairs were shocked by the sudden death of William Jennings Bryan, former candidate for President...

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

THE CHANGING TIMES—Texas A&M University may have commissioned its first woman Army officer this spring ("Talk of Texas" July 13), but two young women were wearing Aggie cadet uniforms more than 70 years ago!

It's true that Collette Boyd of Denison was the first woman ever given her Army lieutenant's bars in regular ceremonies at A&M when she graduated last May. But a pair of twin sisters finished at A&M in 1903—although the institution refused to give them diplomas.

Mary and Sophie Hutson were daughters of an A&M professor, C.W. Hutson, and received special permission to enter the school as students in 1889. Although they were barred from the all-male Cadet Corps, their campus sweethearts supplied each girl with an official cadet blouse. Their mother made skirts to match the jackets and pictures of the girls in the Aggie yearbooks show them in uniform.

Both studied civil engineering and completed all of the required courses with their class. At graduation, however, they were not presented with diplomas although they did participate in the ceremonies. Each received only a "certificate" attesting to their competence as civil engineers.

Sophie never practiced her profession, but Mary did for many years. Now 91, both are widowed. Sophie is Mrs. Henry M. Rollins of Gulfport, Miss., and Mary is Mrs. B. Stanley Nelson of New Orleans.

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY—Cattle rustling has been a continuing problem in Texas for 200 years.

In 1778, a total of 16 prominent residents near the presidio of San Antonio were charged with stealing cattle from the Catholic Church!

Wilson E. Dolman, Texas Parks and Wildlife historian, writes that the citizens felt that they had committed no serious crime in rustling cattle belonging to Mission Espiritu Santo and other church establishments. The lands held by the missions were so extensive that the ranchers argued that surely some of their own unbranded cattle had wandered onto church pastures. They were doing nothing more, they said, than taking back what was rightfully theirs.

The rustlers did plead guilty, however, and asked the governor to pardon them for stealing mission cattle. After a time, they were pardoned.

SLOW PAY—Residents of Panola County set some kind of a record in not paying off the $28,000 in bonds they voted to build a courthouse in 1886.

They refinanced the bonds so many times that the original $28,000 of debt totaled $210,000 by 1940. Then, according to Weldon Hart of Austin, creditors asked a federal court to make the county pay up. The court gave the county 30 years more in which to settle the debt in full.

Meanwhile, in 1955, the courthouse was demolished and a new one built at Carthage. Fifteen years later, in 1970, the original $28,000 debt was finally paid. New bonds were issued for the current courthouse.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS—Street cars were used to transport mail around some of Texas' larger cities in the early 1900's.

The Bootleg Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner examines truth and its absence in his letter this week.

Dear Editor:

For some time now I've been studying the part of the lie in national and world affairs and the way it looks to me lying has just about been ruined.

It used to be that one of the worst things you could call a man was a liar, but nowadays let one politician call another a liar and people just shrug: so what, they're probably both right.

You read a headline: Editor Harold Smith Denies CIA Role, and people's reaction is, You know he's guilty.

Admit something is true about what you're accused of and people will say "Yeah, he's just admitting that to cover up something he's done

Bobby Templeton

Time for True Tax Talk; The Woes of A Writer

Taxes! Oh, the woe they pose to us all especially at the first of the year when we have to chunk hefty amounts to Uncle Sam.

As has often been said, they are as sure as death and birth. Since taxes will always follow us like a shadow, they need to be thought of rationally.

One definite fact concerning them is they are much more easily affordable during times of prosperity. The current recession, which seems to be fading, accentuates any tax hikes by local governments.

Of course, the people raising the taxes the highest are school boards across Texas which I feel were forced by our "No new taxes" Governor Dolph Briscoe. He didn't have to directly raise them. He just left the dirty work up to the educators.

The 23 per cent tax hike by the Hereford School Board of Education caused a flurry of response as economically depressed businessmen and residents wondered where the "bread" was coming from for taxes.

Of course the economy must be taken into account anytime an agency discusses higher taxes. But just like you and I, schools have bills to pay also. And they are caught in a tighter squeeze as construction costs jump out of sight.

What has been most surprising is the irresponsible and irrational reaction to the tax increase. First it was attacks on the local superintendent's personal business of where he buys his clothes and then came the group known as the Deaf Smith County Property Owners and Users Association, whose purposes are vague and thoughtless.

It is nobody else's business as to where one buys products. We pay a school superintendent to administer a good educational system for our children and that's what he's doing.

The property association submitted a detailed outline of their purposes to the Chamber of Commerce for approval but it was unnecessarily repetitive and grammatically incorrect. Two points were totally senseless. No one should expect much of a following with this kind of presentation.

They're complex, but taxes should be more closely studied before one opens his mouth. For instance, the school board here even took out a quarter page ad to explain the reasons for the increase.

Simply, the reasons boil down to almost a $20 million decrease in the amount of tax values from cattle losses in feedyards and the new state school finance plan which will cost the district about $200,000 more.

If anyone is to blame, it's the governor and legislature.

Those of you out there who have their marbles together, should now take heed to the facts and then express your views, if any, in reasonable and understandable form. Such an opportunity still exists as far as the schools are concerned. A public hearing is scheduled at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 12 in the school administration building before the board considers action on the coming year's budget.

That's where the money is spent and where you can find answers to your questions. The Brand plans a special article on the proposed budget in a coming issue.

The other taxing agencies also are required to hold hearing on budgets, but they too often go unnoticed. They are reported and should be used as they were designed—to guarantee us an open government.

It's just like the right to vote—its effect depends on its use.

—BT—

A popular topic with journalists is other journalists. Often columnists cut down their own kind to show that the various media don't that's worse."

Nothing seems to work any more. Not even No Comment. Ask a politician a sharp question and if he says "No comment," people say, "Ah-hah, he's guilty as sin." If he says, "I neither deny or confirm it," people say he's just confirmed it.

It has got to the point where if somebody accuses you of something, the best thing to do is get out of sight. If you hang around to deny it, you're a goner. No use issuing a statement through your campaign manager. He's already under indictment for accepting illegal contributions to your last campaign.

Understand, this isn't just a national condition. Lying has always agree and to keep readers believing in their product. The criticism serves as a self policing tool in the profession (or trade if you like) over those who don't go the extra stretch to their readers the fullest benefit of good reporting.

This was exactly the case recently in a weekly in Kosciusko, Miss., when a front page editorial was carried against the efforts of a reporter for Mississippi's state magazine who didn't go the extra mile. It was especially newsworthy as the editorial damned the state's highways magazine for an article on as uncontroversial subject as recreational vehicles and their recent popularity.

Actually the paper complimented the reporter for "a well written, beautifully illustrated article," but it turned an about face when commenting on the use of a picture of a nationally known out-of-state mobile home manufacturer's product when the article didn't even mention the state's only home based producer of motor homes.

Of course, the reporter in question should have checked further, since a state government publication's main purpose is to promote the state and its supporters—the taxpayers. In this situation, those immediately concerned were the some 1,000 employees of the local motor home manufacturer.

However, the real damage comes to those of us in journalism who strive at great lengths sometimes to report validated fact and tell the whole story to the best of our ability. As humans, we naturally fail at times, but a free and responsible medium has long proved to be a cornerstone of democracy. The beneficial results of our reporting usually has far outweighed our mistakes.

Had the story been of a more serious nature, extreme damage might have erupted. Sometimes a reporter doesn't get much cooperation in his search for stories. This is often due to someone's attempt to hide a fact or two or simply to a lack of understanding the function of newspapers, magazines or broadcast stations.

That purpose is to reveal as accurately, quickly and completely as possible what is happening in a respective coverage area.

This doesn't mean writing or reporting the way a news source wants. We are trained especially for our field like other professionals and feel we are the best qualified in a certain area to do our job.

The Brand staff has often run into those who want to do our jobs for us. With as much patience as is afforded us, we try to please others but not at the expense of quality journalism and our readers.

—BT—

The July issue of "Texas Highways" magazine was an impressive combination of good art and written matter. The magazine, unlike the careless Mississippi publication, is a well edited and worthwhile publication.

I used to serve principally as an internal avenue of communication for the Texas Highway Department, but recently it changed its format to that of a general interest periodical covering the whole state.

Such a change caused the legislature this year to designate it as the official publication for the state.

The July issue was devoted totally to the projects Texans are performing to commemorate the nation's Bicentennial. Other issues recently also have been of equal quality and are worth the purchase.

At least, we can be thankful for an attractive and responsible magazine to speak for the state.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Disabled Vets Should Apply Now

Service disabled military retirees entitled to $150 annual clothing allowances should apply well in advance of August 1, to receive them in September, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, advised today.

Coker noted that military retirees need not waive any portion of retirement pay to qualify.

Service disabled veterans are eligible for allowances if their prosthetic or orthopedic devices (artificial limbs, braces, wheelchairs, etc.) tend to wear out or tear clothing.

Military retirees who do not draw VA compensation for their disabilities must apply each year. This is because the agency does not maintain current records on retirees who elect military retirement pay in lieu of VA compensation, Coker explained.

Other eligible veterans, however, including military retirees on VA compensation rolls, automatically receive the allowances each year after initial application.

Fireman Attends School

Charles Danley, volunteer fireman on the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department of Hereford, attended the 46th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School July 21-25.

The school, attended by nearly 1,521 students representing about 640 cities from approximately 32 states, was held on the Texas A&M University campus last week.

Firemen can choose their course at the school from a list including Firefighting, Fire Prevention, Fire Department Officer Training, Fire Department Pump Maintenance, Specialized Fire Protection, and Disaster Rescue Operations.

Fireman Danley was sponsored by Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 County Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President Carrol G. Chaloupka of Dalhart. "It is our hope in sponsoring this program that the fireman will help the Hereford Volunteer Department to better serve the residents of Deaf Smith County."

Corporation Declares Dividend

The regular quarterly dividend of 12-1/2 cents per share on the common stock of Transwestern Pipeline Company was declared by the Company's Board of Directors at a meeting here today.

The dividend is payable October 1, 1975, to stockholders of record at the close of business on September 5, 1975.

More than $16.4 billion will be paid to veterans and dependents during fiscal year 1976 by the Veterans Administration.

Veterans Affairs

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—Is there a limit on the amount of money a veteran can pay for a home purchased with a loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration?

A—No, but there's a limit on the amount of guaranty VA can provide—60 per cent, up to a maximum of $17,500. Also, the loan cannot exceed the agency's appraised value of the property.

Q—As a veteran's widow, I was drawing pension from the Veterans Administration until I remarried. Since my second husband died recently, I wonder if I can get back on the pension roll?

A—Yes. Under current law, a formerly eligible widow can regain her pension if the subsequent remarriage ends in death or divorce—provided her income and net worth do not exceed income limitations.

Reports from those attending the recent Boys' and Girls' State meetings held in Austin were heard by the joint session of the American Legion and its Auxiliary held this week.

About 60 persons attended the gathering at which Amy Cox, Sam Finley and Manuel Almazan, all of Hereford, and Joy Sifford of Adrian delivered their reactions to the Austin meetings. Each year, the two organizations sponsor local representatives to the meetings where participants receive first hand knowledge of the state government in operation.

The students said they held a mock election in which all state and local offices were on the ballot. Those elected to positions then gathered for a legislative session in the state senate and house chambers and introduced bills they felt would become effective laws.

These mock bills will be read to the Texas Senate and House of Representatives members in the next legislative session as a means to inform the governmental bodies what the 1,000 youths attending Boy' and Girls' State want in the way of new laws.

Students are selected for the annual meeting with the help of school district officials on the basis of good grades and an active participation in extra-curricular events. The students will be seniors in the fall.

The Sun's Own Gem
The birthstone long accepted for the July-born is ruby. The regal gem. The sun's own gem. Among the most precious of the earth's treasures; the largest-sized rubies (the likes of which are never seen outside of private collections and museums) often out-price diamonds of similar size. If you are born to wear ruby, may its fabled qualities of freedom, charity, dignity and power be imparted to you.

Ruby has a sister stone, the sapphire. They are both corundum, the same mineral. Deep red corundum is ruby. It is usually faceted, but can be cut en cabochon, in which case it will usually exhibit a six-rayed star.

The ancient and troubled Far East is the source for the most valuable, most beautiful ruby. The jungles of upper Burma (now hidden behind a "bamboo curtain") are known as the Mogok. This is the home for the fabulous pigeon-blood rubies. Although no outsider has seen the mines in many years, centuries-old techniques for getting the stones from the ground are most likely still used; Burma eschews technology in order to keep its people working.

Pits are dug into the earth. Bamboo is used as scaffolding material to prevent the sides from caving in. The walls are caulked with grass and leaves to slow the seepage.

Burmese rubies (along with sapphire, jade and other native gemstones) are legally sold at a government-held emporium once a year. However, smuggling is rife. The gem dealers in bordering Thailand answer with a shrug when asked about their sources.

Much of my knowledge of gem lore comes from my training as an American Gem Society jeweler. I am not only trained in the technical aspects of my profession, I have background in the history and romance of jewelry, too. Buying rubies at Cowan Jewelers can be an educational and beautiful experience.

"Nobody can do more to stretch America's critical fuels than your electric companies"

Roy Tolk
Chairman Of The Board
Southwestern Public Service Company

How coal and nuclear fuel can take the place of oil or gas.

Knowing that it's all in how you make the steam, you can see that the way to save oil or gas is simply not to build more power plants that depend on those fuels.

With the oil and gas shortage, the industry has had a hard time getting those fuels to keep these plants going. Where available, it has been expensive.

So the idea is to shift to fuels which are more plentiful.

Coal, for instance, is now used to make about 46% of the nation's electricity. Nuclear energy only 6%.

The oil and gas saving answer is to build new plants that can use coal or nuclear energy. Both of these alternative fuels also offer important economic advantages over oil and gas. There are economies for consumers, too.

Then why haven't more electric utilities switched over to coal and nuclear fuels?

The answer is the industry is trying — but the going is tough.

The past year has been so hard on some electric companies financially that 83 new nuclear installations have been delayed or shelved. And what hurts most is that it takes 10 years to build a nuclear plant. Based on projections of the population and energy use for 1985, we need each one of the plants still being held up.

The country needs new coal-burning plants, too. But environmental restrictions have closed off much of the coal supply.

We are optimistic that the delays will be overcome and construction schedules maintained on both nuclear and coal-burning plants. We hope that a reasonable balance can be struck between our environmental goals and our energy needs.

The country has hundreds of years worth of coal in the ground and a long-range supply of uranium to rely on—these are two fuels we have in great supply. And that, to the electric companies, is fuel reliability.

Fortunately, Southwestern Public Service Company continues to be a financially healthy company, thanks to understanding customers and effective regulatory agencies, and has been able to go ahead with its construction plans.

A word about the clean burning of coal.

The electric companies favor and support the objectives of the Clean Air Act, but have disagreed so far with the Environmental Protection Agency on the best way to achieve these objectives in the burning of coal. There are a number of ways to achieve health-related air standards, and we think they all have a place.

A requirement to install unnecessary equipment will cost consumers hundreds of millions of dollars. Not to mention the possible threat to the continuity of service.

As we've said, reliability must govern whatever electric companies do.

How you can help stretch all of our fuels.

This last year, you helped by using electricity wisely, but there's still more you can do.

Shift any electrical job you can out of the "rush hour" periods to quieter times, such as nights and weekends.

If enough people do this, your electric company can often avoid having to start up an extra generator during rush hours.

And since these "spare" generators are generally less efficient than the main generators, they use more fuel.

So shifting electrical jobs can really help.

Can new coal and nuclear plants slow down the rapid rise of electric rates?

Electricity prices, like everything else, have climbed rapidly the last year and show every indication of continuing to climb.

So the economies of a nuclear plant, for instance, cannot turn inflation around, but they can slow it down. And that is important.

To sum up, your electric companies are in a unique position of being able to help stretch this country's critical fuels—specifically oil and natural gas—and keep your electric service reliable at the same time.

It's a big order, but with your help, we can do it.

You count on your electric company for dependable electric service.

But your electric companies can do even more for you.

By building new plants that use different fuels to make electricity, they can "free up" hundreds of millions of barrels of badly needed oil and millions of cubic feet of gas.

A single nuclear plant can produce as much electricity in a year as a gas-fired plant burning 57 million 960 thousand MCF of gas.

Almost any fuel can be converted into electricity.

Your electric company uses a generator to make electricity. And like the generator in your car, it needs to be turned by something.

In hydroelectric plants, the generators are hooked up to elaborate "water wheel" turbines that turn them.

But in most electric plants, it is steam, made in a boiler, that turns the generators.

How you make the steam is a key to saving fuels for this country.

In gas or oil-fired plants, these fuels are burned to make the steam. In coal plants, coal. In nuclear power plants, the carefully controlled nuclear reaction gives off heat that makes the steam.

FmHA Implementing Emergency Stock Credit

Changes in the special Livestock Emergency Credit Program are now in effect in Texas, according to Melvin L. Hoover, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

The program, originated under the Emergency Livestock Credit Act of 1974, will continue to be administered through county offices of FmHA, the U.S. Department of Agriculture rural credit agency.

Under the program, FmHA guarantees loans made by banks and other commercial lenders to help farmers and ranchers continue in various lines of livestock production through a period of adverse economic conditions.

The bill (Public Law 94-35) signed June 16 by President Ford amended terms of the program established last year and extended its duration through Dec. 31, 1976.

Major changes in the program, are:

—Farmers and ranchers assisted by loan guarantees must be primarily engaged in agricultural production, and livestock operations must account for a substantial portion (at least 25 per cent) of their gross income, working time or investment. Previously FmHA required that more than 50 per cent of gross income or time be devoted to livestock operations.

—The limit on any one borrower's guaranteed credit is raised to a $350,000 line of credit from the previous loan limit of $250,000.

—The maximum guarantee to a lender is raised to 90 per cent of principal and interest from a previous guarantee limit of 80 per cent of loss.

—Maximum term of a loan was raised to seven years, with a three-year renewal permitted. Under the previous terms, loans could be made for three years, with a two-year renewal permitted.

—Under certain conditions, satisfactory evidence of a borrower's repayment ability can be accepted by lenders in lieu of collateral for a guaranteed loan.

—The national ceiling on total guaranteed loans outstanding at any one time is reduced from $2 billion to $1.5 billion. (Loans guaranteed by FmHA through Mid-June totaled about $325 million.)

The amended Livestock Emergency Credit Act continues

the previous guarantee authority for loans to farmers and ranchers in connection with the breeding, raising, fattening or marketing of beef or dairy cattle, swine, sheep, goats, chickens and turkeys. Interest rates are negotiated between borrowers and lenders.

Farmers and ranchers who may benefit from loan guarantees should apply to banks or other lending institutions.

When details of a loan are negotiated, the lender may apply to FmHA for a loan guarantee.

Benefits of FmHA programs are available without regard to race, creed, color, sex or national origin.

County Supervisor Melvin L. Hoover said further information about the program can be obtained from the Deaf Smith County FmHA office located at 313 West Third Street.

County Among Top Ten In Swine Numbers

Deaf Smith County producers placed in the top ten in the state in the number of hogs on hand, according to the most recent statistics released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

"The number of all hogs on Deaf Smith County farms, totaling 15,000 as of December 1, 1974, represents 1.6 per cent of the statewide figure of 940,000," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White explained.

The December 1 statewide total compares to 1,050,000 hogs recorded on Texas farms on the same date in 1973. Since the first of this year, statewide totals for all hogs have continued to decline, with 800,000 recorded on Texas farms at the beginning of March.

Other statistics gathered by the Reporting Service show that a total of 87,000 sows were farrowed in the fall of 1974, compared to 97,000 in the spring and fall averaging 7.1, a total of 1,305,000 pigs were saved on Texas farms in 1974.

Statewide production totaled 350,811,000 pounds in 1974, with the price per 100 pounds averaging $33.30.

of the nation's crops reduced to a dryland economy.

When the time came to stand up and be counted at regional hearings, local farmers did so. They stood shoulder to shoulder, told the situation like it was at the Lubbock hearings, and waited for the truth to sink in on those who conducted the hearings.

FPC ADMINISTRATIVE Judge Curtis L. Wagner, in the opinion of the farmers who attended the hearings, proved sympathetic to the problems which a change in priority could cause southwestern farmers, and gave careful consideration to their testimony.

John Aikin, attorney for the Panhandle Irrigation Gas Users Association stated repeatedly during the course of lengthy hearings on the issue that he felt Judge Wagner was quite fair in his dealings with the farmers.

I feel the decision that Judge Wagner reached concerning a return of agricultural gas to priority No. 2 reflects the overall fairness of the man and his concern for obtaining the most good for the greatest number of people.

There is still no room in this matter to gloat, the battle is not yet won, and the FPC will still have the final say in the matter.

EVENTS in the past month have given agriculturalists every reason to be encouraged, and if the FPC truly keeps the best interests of the region and the nation in mind, there is no reason to doubt that we will be returned to a No. 2 priority.

In the meantime, John Aikin, who has spent long hours at the hearings, speaking for the cause of the region's irrigation farmers, is to be commended on his fine effort.

—And the farmers who pulled together on this one have a special reason to be proud.

On The Turnrow

By Jim Stolert

Southwestern agriculturalists are on the brink of a major victory in their battle to gain the return of agriculture gas to a No. 2 priority.

THE BATTLE was brought on without prior warning,—you might even go so far as to call it a sneak attack. The FPC simply decided last Dec. 19 that agricultural gas should be reduced from a No. 2 commercial to a No. 3 industrial priority.

Apparently some of the higher-ups thought they would catch the agricultural giant of the southwest napping.—It didn't happen that way.

There were plenty of alert farmers who saw the move and reacted quickly.

Opinion these days among many circles is that the farmers of this country can't get united and pull together for anything. Many have believed for a long time that the farmer doesn't wield any political clout, there have been times I've wondered on this matter myself. The matter of gas priority awakened the sleeping giant, however, and I saw plenty of farmers pulling together on this one.

IT ALL COMES down to a pretty simple issue. The FPC's opinion threatened a way of life in many portions of the southwest, a way of life which plays a big role in how well much of the nation and the world is fed.

Farmers might not agree on how much of which crop they should plant, just how and when it should be marketed, or to whom they should sell, but they are all pretty quick to agree when they see something that threatens their way of making a living.

Southwestern farmers weren't going to stand still and watch a section of the country which produces a major portion

HUMUS ORGANIC PRODUCTS OF TEXAS

Hereford, Texas

Supplement with Humic Acids now for better soil fertility.

PREPARE FOR YOUR WHEAT CROP EARLY!

What is Humus Organic Products?

Humus is defined in the Webster Dictionary as; Decayed vegetable matter, important to the fertility of soil.

Organic is defined as to or derived from plant and animal matter, containing carbon.

Humus is more of a soil conditioner than a fertilizer. It is as important to soil as nitrogen, Phors., potash. Soil with a good content of Humus of 4 to 5% is usually good fertile soil.

The following is why the soil needs Humus:

1. Natural Organic Chelating. Humus releases elements "locked up" in the soil and forms biological complexes with minerals and traces elements so plants can pick them up.
2. "Crumbles" Soil. Humus flocculates and opens heavy soil to give better penetration of water and oxygen. It offsets the packing of soil caused by running heavy equipment in the field.
3. Decomposes Stalks. Stalks, leaves, or manures which have been spread in the field, will break down more rapidly when Humus is applied.
4. Develops Roots. Provides greater, healthier and cleaner root structure than "Commercial" alone.
5. Conserves Water. Soil improved with Humus holds water better and longer. It activates the bacteria of sponges.
6. Improves Crop Quality. Humus improves the firmness, color and sheen of crops. Vegetables will ship and "carry" better.
7. Tree Crops. Trees respond rapidly with better color and growth to produce larger yields of better fruit.
8. Easily Applied. Humus is applied with a dry spreader like the dry commercial fertilizer.

"But never forget, chemical fertilizers can neither add to the Humus content nor replace it."

We have had 4 year programs with Humic Acid

DEAF SMITH COUNTY FARM NEWS

County Ranked No. 1 In Cattle

Numbers of cattle on feed and cattle and calves on farms as of January 1 made Deaf Smith County No. 1 in the state in both categories, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

A total of 123,000 head of cattle were reported on feed in the county at the first of the year, representing 9.3 per cent of the statewide total of 1,327,000 head.

The figures made Texas the leading state in numbers of cattle on feed as of Jan. 1.

Deaf Smith County also led the state for the number of cattle and calves on farms with a total of 243,000 head reported.

The county's cattle and calves on farms accounted for 1.5 per cent of the states 16,600,000 head reported at the beginning of the year.

Marketings of Deaf Smith County cattle and calves on feed for slaughter totaled 434,000 in 1974 out of a statewide total of 3,899,000.

Total production of cattle and calves in Texas in 1974 was more 5 1/2 billion pounds, according to Commissioner White.

This was an increase of nearly 500 million pounds over that recorded for a year ago.

Prices received by cattlemen in Texas averaged $34 per 100 pounds for cattle in 1974, compared to $44 in 1973.

Calf average prices dropped even more in 1974, with the $33.70 received per 100 pounds some $44 below the average price for 1973.

Statewide gross income for cattle and calves totaled more than 2.160 billion in 1974, representing a drop of some $666 million from the more than $2.827 billion reported in 1973.

Free copies of the 1974 Texas Livestock Statistics may be obtained by writing to Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Boom In Sunflowers Spurs Research

A booming increase in sunflower production—from 3,000 acres last year to nearly 300,000 this year—on the High and Rolling Plains has resulted in a new "package" of research by agricultural scientists at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center here.

The package includes studies ranging from seed emergence, breeding, volunteer sunflower control and dynamics of insect populations to fertilizer rates and effects of environmental factors on hybrids.

Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) researchers, in cooperation with USDA Agricultural Research Service scientists, are gathering information from a host of studies and from results of the first significant acreage of sunflowers seen on the High and Rolling Plains.

For several years TAES disease crops researchers such as Dr. Raymond Brigham have carried on research, delving into problem areas of insect infestations, plant diseases and production practices. But only this year, when acreage jumped to over a quarter million and sunflowers became an economically important crop, did scientists set out to assemble bushels of heretofore unknown facts about sunflower production on the High and Rolling Plains.

Already, the short-season crop which may be planted in early April or grown as a late-planted catch-crop is yielding up its secrets, according to Brigham.

"In the upper Midwest and other sunflower production areas of the nation, many of these facts are known," he says. "But the climate and soils in High and Rolling Plains areas are different, and problems are different. So, for all practical purposes farmers went into sunflower production this year with many unknowns but plenty of faith."

About one million acres of oil type sunflowers are grown in the U.S., Brigham explains. Most of the oil seed sunflower production in the High and Rolling Plains areas is intended for food uses after the oil is expressed in local oil mills.

He says studies in the multi-faceted research package being conducted this year interrelate with each other.

For instance, Brigham is testing the performance of hybrid sunflowers, while at the same time Dr. Earl Minton, USDA-ARS plant pathologist, is collecting data from seed treatments of these hybrids to get a reading on emergence percentages of seed treated with fungicides and insecticides. He's also aiming for uniform emergence and vigorous seedlings.

Dr. George Teates, TAES research entomologist, with co-worker Curtis Schaefer, are monitoring seasonal carrot beetle populations in 23 counties of the High and Rolling Plains in an attempt to correlate light trap catches with field damage. They are also utilizing dates of planting hybrid sunflowers to determine infestation damage levels present, and potential pests such as the sunflower moth, sunflower beetle and various stalk borers.

Dr. Art Onken, TAES soil chemist, is studying the best combination of nitrogen fertilizer with phosphorus. Nutrient uptake by the plants is also being scrutinized. To do this, Onken and research associate Herb Sunderman check whole plant samples as well as petioles which are sampled for plant tissue analysis.

An important economical question that producers likely will encounter is how severely will volunteer sunflowers infest fields planted to cotton next year following sunflowers this season. Dr. John Abernathy, TAES weed control researcher, anticipated this potential problem when he saw over a quarter million acres being planted in April, May and June. Sunflower headers drop a number of seed during harvesting, resulting in volunteer plants emerging next year. To farmers growing crops other than sunflowers, this amounts to an undesirable weed infestation.

Abernathy is checking a number of herbicides, applied both pre-plant and pre-emergence to determine the most effective material and rates of application. He has some 42 treatments under study. The weed control scientist also is looking at potential herbicides for use during the growing season.

Dr. Otto Wilke, TAES agricultural engineer researcher, is charting a growth model for sunflowers by measuring effects of leaf water pressure, light interception and temperature on plant growth. Once his data are complete, he hopes to be able to tabulate plant requirements for light, water and temperature—factors he says remain constant in terms of plant needs.

Brigham's role in the research effort primarily is centered around hybrid evaluation and breeding. The best single cross and three-way hybrids (total of 15) are being studied in comparison with open-pollinated oilseed varieties such as Perovnik and Sputnik, and the confectionary variety Sundak. The term confectionary is used to describe the purpose for which the seed is grown, such as for use in roasted and salted whole seed products.

These studies, Brigham says, will help in determining the hybrid of or hybrids best adapted to this area.

Brigham's research efforts also include plant breeding.

The use of cytoplasmic male sterility, as used in grain sorghum hybrid development several years ago, has made hybrid sunflower production feasible. The available sterile lines, their fertile counterparts, and fertility restoring selections are included in a breeding nursery along with selected breeding lines. New hybrid combinations will be made for testing in 1976, and crosses will be made to introduce cytoplasmic male sterility in promising new selections.

Fatty acid content of the sunflower seed, important to the final usage of the oil, is under investigation. Dr. Jack Gibson, TAES crop physiologist, working with Brigham, planted hybrid sunflowers from March 17 to July 15, with objectives of using gas chromatography (compound separation) to obtain quantitative information on fatty acid content.

Armed with this collective data, the agricultural scientists will correlate their findings for use of producers next year, and will use this information to advance further studies.

State Screwworm Control Lab Has Worst Month In 3 Years

From the standpoint of a screwworm fighter, this was the worst June in three years, officials at the Mission Screwworm Control Laboratory report.

It has been surpassed only twice in the 14-year history of the Screwworm Eradication Program, they say. Aside from the 1972 epidemic when 15,589 cases were confirmed in the 30-day period by red-eyed lab technicians, the records must be combed clear to the beginning to find a June surpassing this year's count of 1,194.

Back in June 1962, 8,300 cases were identified at the then brand new laboratory.

June is traditionally a heavy month for screwworms and this one has been no exception, with two-thirds of Texas' total for the year being confirmed in the 30-day period.

In other states, only a scattering of outbreaks has been ascertained—39 in Arizona and 5 in New Mexico.

Texas' 1,194 June confirmations compared to 626 the same month in 1974 and only 398 in May. Texas has recorded 1,744 through the first half of '75 against an even 1,500 a year earlier. Some 67 counties recorded cases in June and 76 counties have had at least one so far this year.

June's most extreme population case counts came in two "tiers" of eight South Texas Counties, which accounted for 72 per cent of the June totals. Some 616 cases or 53 per cent of the total were marked in the State's eight southernmost counties.

In fact, four counties from this group—Hidalgo, Kenedy, Jim Hogg, and Brooks—had 448 cases or nearly 40 per cent of the state total during the 30-day period.

The same four have recorded a heavy share of the state's 1,744 infestations for the first half of the year, tallying 197, 194, 146, and 142 respectively. Willacy County with 134 is the only other county to record more than 100 confirmed cases.

The other "tier" is the eight-county region, including Zavala, Frio, Atascosa, Bee, Live Oak, McMullen, LaSalle, and Dimmit Counties, which is also showing a rapid buildup. It totaled 218 confirmations in June and accounted for 19 per cent of the total.

Texas counties recording their first 1975 case during June were Bastrop, Bell, Brewster, Burnet, Caldwell, Concho, Culberson, Fort Bend, Gonzales, Jackson, Midland, Reagan, Robertson, Sterling, Upton, Walker, and Wharton.

Dr. James Novy, director of field operations for the Screwworm Eradication Program, expresses particular concern over the migrations of infestations into Jackson, Wharton, Walker, Robertson and Bell counties. This northeast movement, unless checked, might lead to movement into southeastern states where an over wintering population could be established.

Thinly, but well scattered, populations of the screwworm fly in the Big Bend and Trans-

Pecos areas point to increasing numbers as summer rains improve the habitat for the screwworm fly. When sheep and goat shearing season is underway, increasing infestations are expected in that region.

Livestock and pet owners are urged to submit samples of larvae (worms) from deep in the center of a wound for laboratory identification. Only trained specialists can determine the difference between screwworm larvae and their look-alike cousin, the common blowfly, which feeds on dead flesh.

Pre-addressed, postage paid, sample kits are available from County Extension Agents, veterinarians, and livestock inspectors. Screwworm infestations can be prevented by avoiding man-made wounds and by treating all unavoidable wounds (such as navels of newborn animals) with an approved larvicide. Spraying or dipping livestock with CoRat or Korlan regularly also protects animals from screwworm infestations.

A total of 750-million sterile flies were showered down on three U.S. states and the Republic of Mexico in June.

Texas got the most—530-million. Arizona received 50-million and New Mexico 7-million. Six Mexican states were sprinkled with 142-million flies, with Sonora getting well over half of them, 85-million.

Hunting Guides Available Soon

Information on game and fish laws for upcoming seasons is contained in the new "Guide to Texas Hunting Sport Fishing Regulations, 1975-76" soon to be available where hunting and fishing licenses are sold.

This year's 24-page booklet from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department features county-by-county listings of seasons and bag limits for popular game species along with fishing regulations.

Also included is a county locator map to pinpoint any one of the state's 254 counties with specific notes on special game animals and birds which may be hunted in the counties under the Parks and Wildlife Department's regulatory authority.

More detailed information is listed for licenses, tags and permits, minnows, fur-bearing animals and general freshwater sport fishing and hunting rules. Regulations for migratory game birds and commercial and saltwater fishing have yet to be established by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission and are not included in the "Guide."

P&W officials say the guide will be mailed to all license sales deputies July 23 and should be available to the public by the first of August.

WTSU Coach Talks Football To Lions

West Texas State University's annual football ticket sale campaign came to Hereford Wednesday with Coach Gene Mayfield appearing as guest speaker at the Lions Club luncheon and outlining prospects for the Buffaloes this fall.

Mayfield complimented Hereford, along with other area towns, on their support of the Buffalo grid teams. "If we had as many season ticket supporters, percentage wise, in Amarillo as we do in Hereford, there wouldn't be a financial problem," said the WTSU mentor.

Mayfield feels the WT grid schedule is a good one this season, with home games pretty much on an alternating lineup and four strong Missouri Valley Conference foes to be played at Kimbrough Stadium. Too, only one home game conflicts with a home Texas Tech game.

Strong points for the Buffs appear to be an excellent offensive line and some fine returning backs, according to Mayfield. The Buffs lost their top two receivers from last season, but quarterback Tully Blanchard returns along with several fine running backs.

The defense has some question marks with the loss of two starting linebackers and a lack of depth in the secondary. Defensive lineman Floyd Jones and offensive tackle Jeff Lloyd are tabbed as top pro football prospects by Mayfield. Hereford's Winston Short, 5-10, 225, is listed as a possible starter at one of the linebacking spots.

Mayfield sees defending MVC champ Tulsa as the league favorite again, and the Hurricanes will be the foe for WT's first home game on Sept. 20. Other home games include Texas-Arlington on Oct. 4, Drake on Oct. 18, New Mexico State on Nov. 8, and Louisville on Nov. 22.

The Buffs open with a MVC game at Wichita State Sept. 6. Other road games are Lamar, Utah State, Northeastern Louisiana, McNeese State, and North Texas State.

Mayfield fielded some questions from the Lions at the noon meeting in Civic Club Center. President Weldon Dickson presided and a number of guests were recognized.

Trophy Shoot Set

The Hereford Gun Club will hold a traveling trophy shoot Sunday at 2 p.m.

Anyone 17 years of age and under may compete for the trophy, which has been donated by R.J. Cramer.

The shoot will be held east on Highway 60 at the airport.

Contact your local game warden or call any Texas Parks & Wildlife department office and put your name on the list and find out when the next class will be held. ## Staff Schedules Clinic

The first annual Whiteface Football Clinic, for boys 9 through 12 years of age, will be conducted Aug. 11-13 under direction of the Whiteface coaching staff, it was announced this week by Coach Fred Uphaw.

The three-day clinic at Whiteface Stadium will include the teaching and demonstration of all football skills, such as blocking and tackling, catching and throwing the ball. The course will be conducted from 9 to 11 a.m. each of the three days. Registration fee is $12 per boy. The registration form will be found in an advertisement in The Brand.

Uphaw, athletic director for Hereford schools, also announced that a free "Ladies Night Clinic" has been scheduled for the night of Aug. 12. The clinic is being developed especially for women and mothers of the football players, but it is open to anyone interested in learning more about the athletic program, said Uphaw.

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

Most of Texas is private property and it is required that all hunters get permission before they hunt on private property. These two factors can cause the unprepared sportsman a lot of lost field time.

Reports from a few sportsmen indicate that they spend as much time looking for a place to hunt as they spend in the field after the game bird or animal.

It is not too early to contact the landowner about permission to hunt this fall. Disappointment on opening morning will be avoided if the hunter and landowner work out arrangements about the lease or hunting rights before opening morning of deer or quail season.

If you are going to lease property to hunt, make sure these points are covered in the agreement; what is leased, name of parties, description of tract including size and boundaries, the terms of the lease including the amount and time of payment, the duration of the lease, who is to hunt and the species of game birds, animals, fish and varmints which may be taken.

Several landowners list their property in the classified ads section of the local newspaper and check with the county agent as he might have a list of prospective landowners and hunting areas.

Securing a place to hunt is only one of the details to be taken care of before the season starts. September 1 is the date new 1975-76 hunting licenses will be required for the fall hunting seasons and the new 1975 Texas Hunting Guide will be available the last week of July. This guide can be picked up at any license vendor.

All-Stars Lose in Lubbock

Despite a valiant effort and an intense struggle, Hereford's Pony League All-Stars were eliminated from further playoff competition Thursday night when they lost to El Paso.

The All-Stars had lost Wednesday night to Pecos in the double-elimination tournament. Hereford had participated in another tournament a week ago, but it was determined that the local all-stars should not have been required to participate in that tournament. This gave the local all-stars another chance, following near-victory in the first tournament. Both tournaments were played in Lubbock.

Lyrics Of The Carnival

Lights from a false world, mimicking a real one, rise and fall, tumbling red upon green upon blue, defying darkness and dimension. The atmosphere crackles with its electric, cellophane falseness. Teased, taunted and terrified by the caricatures of life, the people revel in this imitation of glory. For they've been here before and survived the carnival's canned cacophony, the lie-laden lights and this throbbing theatre of thrills. They've come armed with their money and tense anticipation, ready to wage war against the odds, the freaks and the machines. And thus they engage in tinkling gunfire with hysterical voice, sacrificing their children and their earnings to the soaring, roaring contraptions. The false fight is fought.

Local Couple Married By Bridegroom's Father

Miss Carmela Rosene Burges was the bride of Jerry Kent Brock Friday evening in Temple Baptist Church during a candlelight ceremony performed by the bridegroom's father, the Rev. Gene Y. Brock, pastor of Bippus Community Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Burges of 813 Country Club Dr. The bridegroom's parents reside at 587 Westhaven Dr.

Greenery interlaced the archway and twin spiral candelabra at the altar, which was flanked by bouquets of white gladiolas and white marguerite daisies. After pronouncing their vows, the couple lit a Unity Candle.

Miss Vivian Burges appeared as her sister's maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Miss Holly Layman and Miss Joan Waters.

The bridegroom's uncle, Tom Ashion, served as best man with other groomsmen including Mike Carr and Johnnie Price.

Escorting guests to their seats were the bridegroom's cousin, Mark Moten of Lubbock, and Jeff Nielsen.

A lace basket filled with rainbow-colored petals was carried by the flower girl, Becky Burges. She is the bride's niece and the daughter of Lawrence Burges. Carrying the wedding rings was the bridegroom's nephew, Jerry Freeman DeGraff, son of Brenda Brock DeGraff.

Wedding tapers were lit by Miss Tammy Carmichael of Hurst and Miss Pam Smith. Both wore corsages of white daisy pompons.

Miss Donna Kendall sang "Wedding Song," "Wedding Prayer," "More" and "Whither Thou Goest" as principal musical selections for the marriage. Background accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Jean Ricketts of Garden City, Kans.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white satin becomth miramist. Imported bridal lace formed a cameo yoke, stand-up collar and long sheer sleeves which gathered and flared at her wrists. Cascading from an empire bodice, the A-line skirt was dotted with lace motifs and bordered by matching lace at the hemline. Her detachable train of miramist was also edged in lace.

A lace crescent headpiece suspended the tiered veil of bridal illusion which swept over the chapel train. She carried a cascading bride's bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, white daisy pompons, babybreath and English ivy, all atop a bride's Rainbow Bible.

Clad in colors of the rainbow, bridesmaids wore gowns of daisy patterned lace with satin lining. Each carried a nosegay of pastel daisies and carnations with babybreath.

An opened Bible, gift from the bride's parents, and the bridal bouquet rested on the serving table for a reception in the church fellowship hall. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Brenda DeGraff, served the three-tiered wedding cake which was decorated by fresh flowers, traditional figurines and doves in an arch silhouette.

Miss Rhea Ann Wesson poured coffee while Mrs. Debbie Gorman registered guests. Other members of the house party were Miss Susan Hamby and Mrs. Mike Wilson.

For a honeymoon trip to Colorado, Mrs. Brock wore a belted smock top of plaid material with burgandy-hued slacks. The couple will be at home at 405 E. 5th after July 27.

The recent bride is employed by Carl McCaslin, Lumber Company and is a member of Order of the Rainbow for Girls. She attended West Texas State University after graduation from Hereford High School, where she was active in National Honor Society, Pop Squad and 4-H.

Employed by Hereford Glass, Brock graduated from HHS, where he participated in Theatians, Key Club, football and basketball.

Vows Repeated Beneath Floral Archway

A heart-shaped archway entwined with ivy and daisy pompons formed the background Saturday evening for the marriage of Miss Doris Amalle Kelley and Robert Eugene Bridwell in Temple Baptist Church. The Rev. Jim Boneman, pastor, officiated. Flanking the altar were bouquets of pink, blue, yellow and white marguerite saises. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas M. Kelley of 704 Blevins and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Bridwell of 610 Jackson. Miss Nancy Barrett was the maid of honor and Jackie Williams was best man. Guests were ushered by Brian Halle and Mike Frye of Dumas, cousin of the bridegroom. Kimberly Banks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Banks of Amarillo, is the bride's cousin and appeared as the flower girl. Another cousin, Brian Owens, was ring bearer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Owens of Lubbock. Joan Waters played the organ for Miss Lisa Martin, who sang "If," "More" and "Twelfth of Never." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of unbleached muslin and ecru lace, patterned with a natural waistline. The fitted bodice was encircled with a sash which tied at back and was designed with a threaded lace yoke and Victorian neckline. The long fitted sleeves were flared at her wrists. A wide band of lace encircling the full skirt gave the impression of a deep sounce. Complementing her ensemble was a picture hat. She carried a daisy bouquet which conveyed tones of yellow, pink, blue and white. The honor attendant wore a floor-length dress of white fabric with bright summer flowers embroidered on the empire bodice.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kelley wore a mint green floor-length gown of double knit with a matching waistlength lace jacket. The bridegroom's mother wore a tip toe-length dress of pink chiffon. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Cheryl Bridwell served the wedding cake at a reception in the church fellowship hall after the service. Gayle Bridwell, another sister, ladled punch while her sister, Cindy Bridwell, registered guests. Rainbow-colored daisies were arranged in two bouquets on the refreshment table. Reception hostess was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Charlie Owens. A graduate of Hereford High School, Mrs. Bridwell is employed by First Realty of the Southwest, Inc. Her husband attended Caprock High School in Amarillo and is employed at Brown Drilling. The couple will be at home on the Dimmitt Highway.

Dress Revue To Involve Local Trio

"Bicentennial of Fashion" is the theme for the 1975 version of the District 4-H Dress Revue at Amarillo Tuesday. Local youth competing in the Amarillo College Fine Arts Building will be Miss JoAnn Wagner, senior division; Miss Brenda Straffuss, junior category and Miss Carla West, intermediate class. They will be among 4-H young women from 22 counties in Texas Agricultural Extension Service district 1 and will model their own creations as they vie for honors and the right to represent the district in state competition. Contestants are judged on their sewing and construction skills, overall appearance, modeling abilities and 4-H record books. A luncheon for participants at 12:15 p.m. will precede awards presentations. Revue and awards ceremonies begin at 2 p.m. State Senator Max Sherman will present the awards for juniors, and Congressman Jack Hightower will do the honors for seniors. In addition to the naming of five top seniors, awards will include the recognition of the girl making the best all-cotton outfit, the best all-wool and the best all-synthetic garment. This year for the first time, a division has been set up for best western or riding outfit. The dress revue committee explained that because "this mode of dress has become a part of our way of life and heritage, it should be a part of the contest." The junior level contest, staged at the same time as senior competition, is for younger lassies, ages 9 to 14. They will not compete beyond the district level. For them, the event offers experience and leadership development. Senior winners will take their designs to the State 4-H Dress Revue at Dallas/October 3. Parents, 4-H leaders, and special guests will be on hand for the occasion. The public is invited to the revue at 2 p.m. A 3 p.m. tea sponsored by the Texas Home Demonstration Association will climax the event. The trio from Deaf Smith County were selected for district contest Monday during the local Dress Revue in Sugarland Mall. Others who participated in the Revue here were: JUNIORS Kristy Simons, Susette Edwards, Ina Hamby, JoLana Crump, Debbie Pledge, Karen Elaine Jones, Robin Baldwin, Lisa Page, Debbie McCarley, Missy Merritt, Una Hamby, Christy Duncan, JoLisa Barrier, Glenna West, Rebecca Coleman, DeAnna Stokesberry, Judy Flores, Brenda Valdez and Sheri Blevins. INTERMEDIATES Becky Hughes, Diane Warden, Brenda Glover, Amy Themann, Gail McCabe, Geni Welty, Robin Coleman, Cindy Stokesberry, Christy Welty and Regina Bryan. SENIORS LeAnne Hughes, Micki Merritt, Sherry Straffuss, Rhonda Hagar, Frankie Wells and Tammy Ward. Old-fashioned cooking is still very much in fashion.

Double-Ring Service Unites Couple Here

Matrimonial vows were voiced Saturday evening in First United Methodist Church by Nancy Richie of 115 S. Douglas and Marvin Hall of Lubbock. Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, who is employed as a music teacher at Northwest Elementary School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.S. Hinds of Hedley. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Earl Hall of Jayton and the late Mr. Hall.

Twin spiral candelabra flanked the marriage altar, which sheltered a large bouquet of yellow gladiolas and white daisies.

Mrs. Weldon Rives of Clarendon assisted her cousin as matron of honor for the twilight service. Rickey Hall of Austin attended his brother as best man.

Shellee Richie, daughter of the bride, lighted wedding tapers at the front of the sanctuary.

Bob McFarland, minister of music, sang "O Perfect Love" and Miss Cindy Ford vocalized "Colour My World" with accompaniment provided by Mrs. Jim Cramer, organist.

For her marriage, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of pastel yellow knit, complemented by a sweater-length jacket.

Crystal jewels were encrusted around the midriff to accent a high-rise bodice of halter design. Panels of iridescent beads also outlined the front of her jacket, which was fashioned with long sleeves. The soft fabric was patterned with an A-line skirt.

A crystal tiara held her three-tiered veil of candlelight illusion which fell to her waist. Yellow sweetheart roses and white daisies of silk formed the bridal bouquet. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant necklace.

The bridal attendant was clad in a floor-length gown of pastel green fabric which draped to a jeweled triangle at the waist front. She carried long-stemmed yellow silk roses.

During the recessional, the bride presented a single long-stemmed yellow rose to the bridegroom's daughter, Tammy, while the bridegroom gave a matching blossom to the bride's daughter, Shellee.

During a reception in Ward Parlor after the ceremony, guests were served individual cake squares iced with pale yellow and pastel green frosting and topped with doves supporting a pair of wedding bands. Refreshments were served by Mmes. Ken Rogers, Doug Bartlett and Bobby Veigel from a table set with silver appointments and draped by a white cutwork cloth. The centerpiece included yellow gladiolas and white daisies.

Also in the house party were Mrs. J.J. Durham and Mrs. John Jacobsen.

The couple will be at home in Hereford where he will be based as a special agent for Western Surety Bonding Company. Mrs. Hall, employed by Hereford Independent School District, is on the state board of directors for Texas Classroom Teachers Association. She also serves as a member of the State of Texas Professional Practices Commission for Teachers.

Out-of-town guests who attended the local wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Beauford Hinds, Mr. and Mrs. J.N. Kendall and Mrs. Huie Tucker, all of Abilene; The Rev. and Mrs. Weldon Rives of Clarendon and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moore of Canyon.

Also, Mrs. Earl Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Dibrell, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hall, Brad Dibrell and Bobby Lee Dibrell, all of Jayton; Tammy and Marvin Hall Jr. of Arlington; Terry Moore of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. C.R. DeBord of Hedley.

Plus, Mrs. Verdie Mae Todd, Mrs. Bonnie Hall, Randy Hall, Neal Faulkner and Anne Price, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. O.B. Gregory Jr. with Paula and Bryan of Cotton Valley, La.

Fashion
Fancy socks are in for men. Boys and young women were the first to go in for checked, plaid and printed hose but the fad has now progressed to sales for men.

The woman who has an unusually large bust can de-emphasize it by wearing garments which button up in front. Leaving the throat line open also helps.

Anniversary Observed

Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Hicks, former residents now of Lubbock, celebrated their 50th Wedding anniversary at a dinner-party Saturday evening in South Park Inn at Lubbock.

The event was given in their honor by their three sons, James of Mesa, Ariz., Robert of El Cajon, Calif. and Lee of Canyon. Out-of-town guests, in addition to their sons' families, included Miss Vida Hicks of Hereford and Mrs. Jane Schiflett and Mrs. Cordelia Pegues, both of Arlington.

The former Medora Barnes married "Barney" Hicks in Amarillo July 29, 1925. Since then, they have lived here and at Las Vegas, N.M. They moved to Lubbock 14 years ago and have eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Channer Couple Expects Visit

The Rev. and Mrs. Andrew John Channer of Junction City, Ark. will arrive tomorrow to visit his parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Channer of 607 S. 25 Mile Ave.

They will stay here until August 6, when they will depart for San Marcos to see her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Conway Wharton. They will also attend her brother's wedding at Austin and plan to make a detour to Houston to visit Mrs. Channer's maternal grandparents.

Those who must watch their weight will find an abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables on the market.

Groundwork Laid For '76 Pageant

Initial steps toward the 1976 Miss Hereford Pageant were taken by members of the pageant steering committee, who met Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. J.W. Robinson.

Mrs. Robinson accepted a recurring position as chairman of the annual pageant with Mrs. Terry Caviness and Mrs. Dwight McGee volunteering as stage directors. The Miss Hereford and Miss Teen Hereford crowns will be awarded sometime in February, it is tentatively planned. Sponsors of the local pageant, which has been praised for high quality production, is the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Committee members who participated in the formal discussion were these women: Mmes. Roy Shipp, Ken Rogers, Harlan VanderZee, Melvin Hoover and O.G. Nieman. The remaining member, Mrs. Eugene Hendon, was unable to attend.

Also present were Miss Hereford Monica Herring and her mother, Mrs. Dean Herring; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Albright, who were official chaperones for Miss Herring at the state pageant; Mrs. Steve Hodges and Mrs. Terry Caviness; and Lea VanderZee of Washington, Mrs. VanderZee's niece.

Meaningful scholarships for runner-up contestants was suggested for the upcoming pageant. It was also stressed that cooperation from the local high school faculty should be cultivated.

Quoting his "H-3" column, Bill Albright, executive vice-president of the Chamber, reviewed the experiences gleaned from the recent pageant at Fort Worth.

"We learned a lot this year by being at the Miss Texas Pageant all four days and nights. We are really impressed with the magnitude of the production," he commented.

His address went on to include the Franchise Holders Organization which "gives us an official voice in the state pageant." He added, "I have a lot of confidence in the Miss Texas Board. Texas couldn't have won two Miss America titles in four years if it wasn't capably and honestly managed. I think the girls are satisfied that everything is on the up-and-up."

Albright saluted Miss Herring's performance at the state contest and stated, "Miss Hereford just stood out among the other 58 girls."

He concluded his presentation by reminding those present that advertisements in the Miss Texas program book cannot be bought locally without consulting the Hereford franchise after the local pageant. He said that state officials realize the pageant could not be staged without franchises and "they want to work with us."

On a whimsical note, Mrs. Herring reported, "Mothers are the least important persons down there (at the Miss Texas Pageant)." She expressed appreciation to the Women's Division, the Albrights and "all our Hereford friends" who supported her daughter at the state finals.

"The Hereford pageant is one of the most important things our community does and we're grateful that Monica entered and the bonus she got was winning. We hope that many local girls will at least consider entering the 1976 pageant," she urged. Mrs. Herring surmised that the state pageant was well supervised and all rules were enforced.

"I don't see how anyone could come home and criticize the Miss Texas Pageant," said Monica Herring. "Everything is so perfectly planned."

The native beauty verified the worth of the good 'luck bags which she gave to her fellow entrants at Fort Worth. "I made many new friends because the girls all came to thank me."

She also expressed gratitude for the 12-foot long letter she received from local well-wishers while at the Lone Star pageant.

"I strongly recommend the Miss Hereford pageant be continued for it is a great asset to the individual and the community." She also expressed approval of scheduling the contest early in the year.

Miss Herring and Albright proposed that consideration be given to establishing a junior miss pageant here each year.

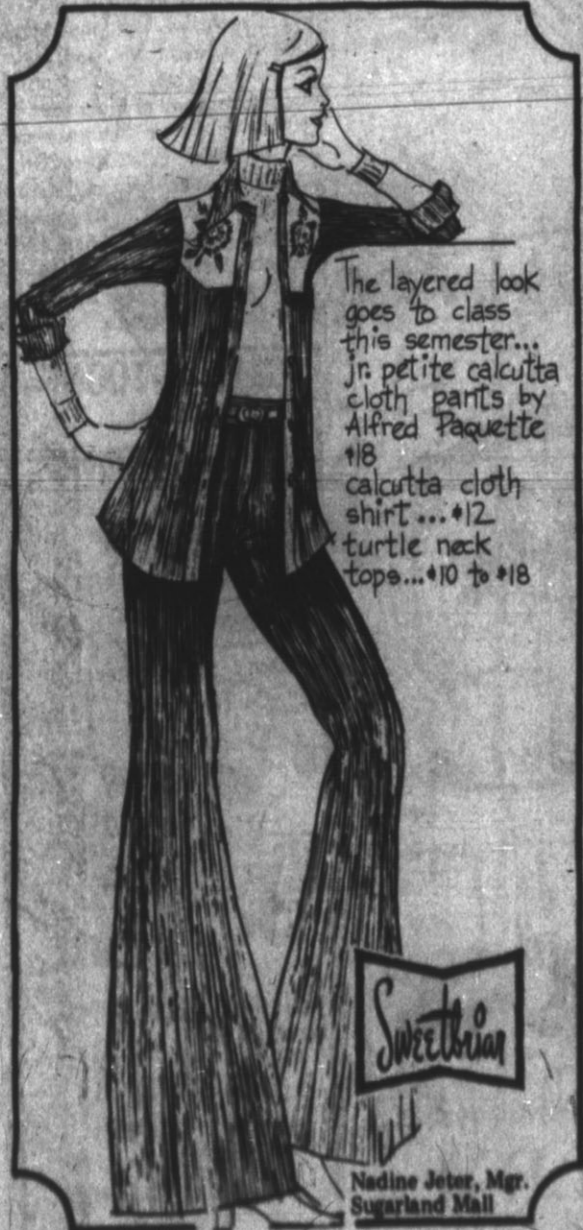

It was announced that three new members will be added to the steering committee, who will continue to pour the foundation for another pageant.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing -- both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions loads on more stress -- usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen. If you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

WOMEN WILL PAY MORE

New York—(HK)—According to a research survey conducted by Sears, Roebuck and Co., women are willing to pay more for top quality materials in their refrigerators. In fact, the Sears study shows most consumers willing to pay an extra $26 for a liner made of porcelain-on-steel.

The survey also shows that homemakers are aware that all shiny and white materials are not the same. Porcelain is much more resistant to abrasion, food stains and odors, and will last longer.

Check Specifications How to identify porcelain when buying a refrigerator can be a problem. The best method is to check the specification sheet. Also if the

Mrs. Ann Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Weaver of Canyon and Stacy Funk of Amarillo were visiting in the Virgil Dodson home one day last week. Mrs. Weaver is Mrs. Dodson's sister. The others are nephew and nieces of the Dodsons.

Bobby Sumrow of Amarillo visited his parents Tuesday, the D.E. Sumrows.

Decimae Beene and Edith Johnson of Friona visited Pearl Mapes who is Decimae's Aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dodson were visiting the H.V. Lees of Amarillo one day last week.

Mrs. Faye Kenmore of Dimmitt made short visit with Mmes. Hattie Boling, Beulah Wright and Pearl Mapes, all residents of King's Manor.

"Home is the sailor, home from the sea and the hunter home from the hill." Welcome home to "Cousin" Gypsy Emma Beard. She visited Chicago, Eutaw, Alabama and "Good old dirty Birmingham, Ala." Not dirty any more tho'. Pittsburg cleaned up and so did B'ham. We stood before little school kids with soot-stained nostrils for years and preached ecology unawares. Perhaps we called it "health."

On Thursday, July 17, at 7 p.m., the night Circle of the Woman's Missionary Society of First Baptist Church came out to King's Manor and supervised a game party, after which they served homemade ice cream and cake.

There were nine tables set up mostly for "42" or "84". These ladies come out each year and do this gracious act for us.

Friday at 3 p.m., five young men from Pakistan visited King's Manor to see and report to their people at home the purpose and plan of our home here and to see it in operation.

These people were sponsored by "Farmers' World Affairs" Movement which is really an exchange program between nations which operates much like the "exchange student" and "exchange teacher" programs. We understand that a five-person team of Americans who came with them here had visited Pakistan recently. Clinton Jackson, head of Farmers' Union Insurance Agency here, was one who'd been to Pakistan.

Dr. Seago and Mrs. Davidson maneuvered a question and answer discussion between our residents and the Pakistan group.

We see hope for much good to come from this Good Neighbor relationship.

On Wednesday July 16, the Alice Ward Circle of U.M.W. of First Methodist Church, composed entirely of King's Manor ladies, served at a coffee for the entire membership in Fellowship Hall at 10:30 a.m.

Then Mrs. Reuben McGilvary presented slides made of the Armstrong-Browning Building on Baylor University Campus. This interesting building was planned and furnished under the supervision of a Dr. Armstrong, avid devotee of the Robert Brownings of English Literature fame. Inside this gorgeous building was a collection of memorabilia which Mrs. McGilvary showed and described. She was privileged to study literature under Dr. Armstrong in her college days at Baylor.

It was a treat to us all to hear this inspiring lecture.

4-H Dog Show Is Scheduled

Texas 4-H youth will have an opportunity to show off their canine friends at the fifth annual State 4-H Dog Show scheduled for Aug. 16 at the Bellaire Recreation Gym at College Station.

The show is open to all 4-H boys and girls with both purebred and nonpurebred dogs, points out C.R. Salmon, area 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H. Since American Kennel Club (AKC) registration numbers will not be required on purebred dogs, all purebreds may be entered in purebred classes.

All entries must be filed by July 28 with Salmon at the Extension District 11 Office, 301 North Main, Bryan, Texas 77801.

Check-in time on the show date will be from 8 to 10 a.m. and judging will begin at 11 a.m. All judging will be in accordance with AKC rules.

Purebred dogs may compete in seven conformation classes while both purebred and non-purebred entries may compete in a miscellaneous conformation class, four obedience classes, three showmanship classes, drill team competition and special classes. The special classes include Tricks, Prettiest Costume and Funniest Costume.

According to Salmon, 4-H'ers may enter a dog in one conformation class, one obedience class and one showmanship class if desired.

A "Best in Show" trophy will be awarded to the top entry in each of the three divisions of classes—conformation, obedience and showmanship. Trophies will also be awarded to all class winners.

All 4-H'ers entering dogs in the show must present a certificate indicating that their dog is currently vaccinated against rabies, distemper and infectious hepatitis.

The state show is being sponsored by the Bellaire Chamber of Commerce, First State Bank of Bellaire and the Pet Hotel, Inc., in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

Homemade ice cream is almost a forgotten treat. There's a certain nostalgia about homemade ice cream at family gatherings.

- 3/4 c sugar
- 2 T cornstarch
- 1 c milk
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/3 c coffee cream
- 2 egg whites
- 1 1/2 c whipping cream
- 2 t vanilla extract
- pinch of salt

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Add scalded milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook in double boiler 25 minutes. Stir several times during cooking. Combine with well beaten egg yolks. Cook for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add salt and coffee cream. Mix well, strain and cool. When custard is cool, whip cream and fold into custard.

Pour into refrigerator trays and freeze. Before the ice cream has frozen solid enough to serve, remove the tray from refrigerator. Stir well with a spoon from front to back of tray. Then carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Freeze. If you like churned ice cream increase amount of custard needed and use your hand or electric churn. Freeze according to your churn's directions.

*Serve plain or with your favorite topping.

German Guests Arrive

Werner Loftner, standing center, and his wife, seated at right, of Germany are visiting now with the Wilbur Gibson family, who were hosts to the Loftners' daughter during a foreign exchange program several years ago. Making the visitors feel at home were the Gibson daughters, Mrs. Gary Mabrey of Houston, left, and Mona Gale Gibson, right.

German Couple Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur D. Gibson of 122 Liveoak were at the Amarillo Air Terminal Tuesday afternoon to greet a German couple who loaned their daughter to Hereford five years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Lottner flew from Munich, Germany for a three-week stay with the Gibson's, who served as an adopted family for Gaby Lottner, a foreign exchange student here from 1970-71. The local family visited the Lottners at their home in Nurnberg, Germany in 1972.

Miss Lottner attended Hereford High School with Mona Gale Gibson, who is a 1971 graduate of HHS, and she was here for a return visit in 1973.

Also visiting in the Gibson home this week are their daughter, Mary Lynn, and her husband, Gary Mabrey. The couple live at Houston.

One of Fall fashion's biggest hits will be the crinkled gauze look. Heavier fabrics such as duck have a crinkled surface to give the gauze effect, and sheer doubleknits that imitate gauze are available.

Crinkled polyester chiffon will make its appearance in loungewear. One variation on gauze fashion is striped gauzes with a 3-D look due to alternating solid and sheer areas. Open work gauzes in stripes will be seen. Also double-woven fabric—smooth on one side and crinkled on the other—adds to this fashionable look.

Surface textures play a popular role in fall fashions. Use of ribs, slubs and nubs will continue, as will blending in fur or rabbit hair for a soft look.

One of the newer looks is shiny flecks and lines made by using very shiny yarns periodically in a dull fabric.

Lightweight synthetic yarn knitted to look like terry cloth will be available too.

Both knitted and woven fabrics will be lighter in weight, continuing the soft look of summer. Traditional weaves, such as twill, gabardine and poplin will be seen. Prints continue important too. Pointillistic dots are used for landscapes and florals. Calico prints and art deco geometrics are still news. An addition to these is the "marbelized" print in monotones and tricolor combinations.

KEEPING PICNIC foods safe to eat is a cinch if the right foods are selected and stored properly. The main point to remember is that cold foods should be kept cold, hot foods hot.

Several layers of newspaper serve as an excellent insulator for both hot and cold foods. Leakproof containers wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper and tied or taped to secure the ends and prevent heat or cold from escaping will keep well for three to four hours.

Without an insulated bag or wide-mouthed vacuum jar, it is probably best to take along foods that do not need to be kept hot. Hot main dishes prepared with meat, fish, eggs or mayonnaise must be kept hot to prevent spoilage and food poisoning.

Sandwiches can be prepared in advance and individually wrapped or the "makings" carried in plastic containers to make the sandwiches just before eating.

Butter might be substituted for mayonnaise as a picnic sandwich spread to insure safety of the sandwiches for a longer period of time.

Ingredients for vegetable salads can also be carried in separate containers and made just before eating.

Baked goods such as cakes, cookies and brownies travel and keep well, posing few storage problems.

Beverages are best kept in thermal containers to keep them at the proper temperature.

Precautions Needed In Canning

With the increase in food prices has come an increase in home canning, as families buy foods in bulk at their peak seasons to save on the grocery bill.

And with the increase in home canning has come a serious health hazard—botulism. Botulism is a serious form of food poison that produces critical illness and is fatal in one-fourth of all cases, the Texas Medical Association states.

Unless strict precautions are followed, home-canned food may be contaminated with the spores of Clostridium botulinum. The danger does not come directly from eating the bacteria themselves. In fact, a great deal of fresh food contains the spores of the bacteria which, when eaten, pass harmlessly through the digestive tract. However, under special conditions Clostridium botulinum produces a toxin, a substance which may be the most lethal human poison in existence. Food canning, if improperly carried out, can provide perfect conditions for the production of this poison.

The problem of botulism is prevented in commercial canning by use of equipment producing a combination of temperature and pressure capable of killing the spores so they cannot grow into bacteria to produce their toxin. However, since the botulinum bacteria can survive 20 hours of boiling at normal sea level pressures, simple home canning methods may not succeed in getting rid of them, and during storage there is plenty of time for the fatal toxin to be produced.

Home canning can be carried out safely if correct procedures are carefully followed. A pressure cooking device is recommended for obtaining the combination of temperature and pressure which can kill the botulinum organism during the canning process.

If you have a supply of home-canned food, you can make sure of its safety by one simple precaution—boil before using! Although the bacteria may not be destroyed by boiling, the highly dangerous toxin is made harmless by ordinary boiling—10 minutes at sea level, longer at higher altitudes. Make sure every particle of the food is heated at the boiling point in order to destroy all of the dangerous toxin.

Botulism kills through the paralyzing action of its toxin upon the nervous system. Control of the muscles is lost, beginning with those about the face and neck. Loss of the ability to swallow makes it impossible to eat, leads to choking which may introduce foreign materials into the lungs, and usually produces death in several days. Most patients give a history of having eaten food which tasted spoiled, followed in a few hours by nausea and vomiting.

Later the symptoms of muscle weakness begin to appear. If medical aid is quickly obtained and the correct diagnosis is rapidly made, it may be possible to save the patient. A serum may be injected which, while it cannot help the nerves already damaged, is sometimes able to limit further paralysis.

But the best treatment for botulism is prevention. Commercially canned food can be considered safe.

If you are given some home-canned food you can make sure it is safe by boiling at least 10 full minutes before use. Those who do their own canning should review their procedure to make certain it protects against botulism, even if they have been canning for years without incident!

Never taste preserved food which appears to have spoiled for a very small amount of botulism toxin can produce illness. When in doubt, throw it out!

When you cease to be envious of your competitors you give them reason to be envious of you.

Disabled Vets Promote Bicentennial Through Fund Raising

The Disabled American Veterans (DAV) has joined hands with the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) in a national effort to raise money to help fund local, state and national Bicentennial projects, programs and events.

This is the first national service organization to implement a Bicentennial project of this scope and magnitude. "You Money Comes Marching Home" is the theme of the DAV's door-to-door campaign to sell the official 1975 Bicentennial silver commemorative medal and stamp-medal combination (Philatelic-Numismatic Combination) for two months this fall. Net revenues from the sales are used to support Bicentennial projects and programs throughout the nation. John W. Warner, Administrator of ARBA, expressed pleasure and appreciation for the DAV efforts: "It is magnificent that so many veterans who have already given so much for their country are volunteering again to undertake this important nationwide project in support of our Bicentennial." The 500,000 members of this national patriotic organization and its auxiliary will promote the commemorative items in their communities on a person-to-person basis. In the past, the medals and PNC's have been available only through direct mail solicitation and magazine advertisements. It should be noted that at no time will there be a direct solicitation for cash. The door-to-door campaign will only provide the order blank. Checks will be made out to the ARBA. The medal and stamp-medal combination will be shipped to the purchaser beginning six weeks after receipt of the order by the Mint in San Francisco. DAV chapters across the country will soon receive self-mailing order forms, brochures and sales manual and publicity kits to aid in the development of individual campaigns. The PNC consists of a first day if issue presentation envelope in Buff and Blue, the colors of George Washington's uniform, bearing stamps honoring the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Armed Forces of the United States. The bronze medal commemorates the famous ride of Paul Revere and depicts the Minutemen Statue on Lexington Common as a tribute to the small band of volunteers who "faced the shot heard round the world." It is available for $5.00 on a limited first come, first serve basis. The medal is also available in silver and is sold separately for $15.00.

One might call this the era of the investigation.
