

Gold Business 'Hectic' as Prices Climb Past $375

NEW YORK (AP) — In the current gold rush that has sent prices soaring to more than $375 an ounce, buyers seem to be coming from everywhere — "the United States, Europe, the Arabs, Japan and some Martians," one gold dealer says.

Vincent Tese, a partner in James Sinclair & Co. a New York gold advisory service, was exaggerating only a little. Gold's $24.25-an-ounce price increase Tuesday was a record as was a closing price of $376 in New York.

George Perola, manager of the coin and metal division of Deak Perera, a major coin dealer, described business as "very hectic."

Many small investors are entering the market for the first time, he said, trying to get a piece of the gold-boom action.

"We can tell that from the size of the orders and the kinds of the questions they ask," he said.

Gold cost $35 an ounce 12 years ago — when the dollar was tied to its value and before Americans were allowed to buy it. Its price has risen $160 in the last year —

$50 in the last two weeks.

It closed in Zurich, Switzerland, Europe's largest bullion market, at $373.50 an ounce on Tuesday — up $20.50 from Monday. In London, Europe's other major market, it closed at $372, up $18.50, after settling back from a record $376.25 during the day.

September gold futures on New York's Commodity Exchange rose $22.90 to $382 an ounce.

One of the beneficiaries of the latest gold rush was the U.S. government. It had coincidentally scheduled an auction of 750,000 ounces of its gold reserves for Tuesday, and was able to sell the gold for an average price of $377.78 an ounce — for a total of $283.3 million. When the government last auctioned gold in August, the metal averaged $301.08 an ounce.

Perola said the $100 Canadian mapleleaf has been extremely popular with small investors since the coin was issued two weeks ago, though dealers take a heavier commission on the mapleleaf than on other coins because it is seen as a collectors' item.

For that reason, Deak Perera tries to steer investors from the gold mapleleaf to other coins, like the South African kruggerand, which don't command such a premium.

"People are calling us and asking, 'What gold coin should we buy?'" Perola said. "We're telling them: buy the kruggerand or the Austrian 100 kroner or the Mexican 50 peso."

The gold boom has been attributed by experts to fears about the world economy. Many investors turn to gold as a safe investment when they feel that their currency holdings or investments will be hurt by adverse economic conditions. Concern about world inflation, the U.S. recession and the possibility of rising oil prices are among the economic worries listed by analysts as boosting gold.

Many analysts say the gold rush can't last forever, and predict the steep climb in gold prices could result in an equally steep drop.

Krueger Confirmation Hearing Includes Explanation of Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of a second ambassador to Mexico illustrates the growing pain and importance of U.S.-Mexican relations.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is in the midst of its long delayed confirmation hearing for former Texas congressman Bob Krueger, the Carter administration's choice for the precedent setting job of ambassador-at-large for Mexico.

Ambassadors-at-large have been appointed previously to take care of specific problems, but apparently never to work exclusively on relations with one nation.

Warren Christopher, undersecretary of state for Latin America, is scheduled to appear Thursday at the committee's request to explain why the Carter administration decided the new post was necessary.

If all goes smoothly after the hearing, Krueger could gain the committee's approval and Senate confirmation before Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo arrives Sept. 28 for two days of meetings with President Carter.

Krueger was nominated formally in June but word of the appointment first last spring. He moved into State Department quarters in July to start work as U.S. coordinator for Mexican affairs, a title he would retain even after Senate confirmation as ambassador-at-large.

The nominee had a chance Monday to tell the foreign relations committee how the border makes the U.S. relationship with Mexico broader than it is with any other nation.

Krueger said the ambassador, who must spend most of his time in the foreign capital, cannot possibly coordinate all the issues from immigration to the environment to agriculture that crop up throughout the Washington bureaucracy.

The ambassador-at-large would spend

Hide-Export Limitation Defeated in Congress

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

A major amendment which would have limited the export of cattle hides from the U.S. was defeated in the House Tuesday night by a 218-186 vote, according to a spokesman for the office of 19th Congressional District Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock.

The vote comes as a victory for domestic cattle producers, who were battling to maintain the present markets for one of their most valuable by-products.

Rep. Hance and Rep. Jack Hightower of Vernon both offered testimony on the House floor which led to the eventual defeat of the amendment.

The legislation in question dealt with a proposal by Rep. James Shannon of Mass. to limit the export of cattle hides in an apparent effort to assist domestic shoe manufacturers.

According to the Hance spokesman, the amendment represented a serious inroad into the $600 million per year cattle bid export industry.

"Rep. Hance argued that this is one of the most valuable by-products of the livestock industry and that if cattlemen are cut back on this market, they would have to make up that income somewhere else, possibly in higher beef prices. Cattle hides represent only five to 15 percent of the actual cost of shoes, yet leather industry spokesmen were seeking export controls on cattle hides, claiming they represent half the cost of shoes."

stated the spokesman.

"Rep. Hance pointed out that export limitations make the U.S. appear to be a totally unreliable supplier to such major markets as Japan. He referred to a limitation on soybean exports a few years ago which severely depressed the domestic market and gave the U.S. a reputation as an unreliable supplier," the spokesman continued.

"This was a major matter of concern for anyone engaged in the cattle industry in the U.S., and Rep. Hance feels the defeat of this measure will help to insure the best interests of the agriculture area he represents," the spokesman concluded.

Alleged Victim Testifies About Stabbing in Galan Assault Trial

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Johnny Sierra of Hereford testified Tuesday in 222nd District Court that he struck Inez Galvan with a club only after Galvan refused to put down the knife allegedly used a few minutes later to stab Sierra twice in the chest.

Galvan is on trial in District Judge Wesley Gulley's courtroom for the Feb. 18 aggravated assault on Sierra. If found guilty, Galvan could receive up to 20 years in prison.

Testimony in the trial opened Tuesday afternoon after the selection of a six-man, six-woman jury was selected by defense attorney R.C. Hoelscher and assistant district attorney Lorin Constanzo.

Sierra, who was found guilty in May of misdemeanor assault in connection with the fight and received a probation sentence, two facts brought out during his testimony Tuesday, said he and his wife were driving north in the 100 block of Main St. when he heard Galvan swearing

PUC Staff Suggests Full Phone Price Hike

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — For the first time since the state began regulating telephone rates in 1976, Texas Public Utility Commission staffers have recommended giving Southwestern Bell as big a rate increase as Ma Bell wants.

Correction of a computation error caused the staff to change its recommendation in the Bell case from $136.4 million to $145.2 million in higher rates — the same as Bell requested.

The three-member commission usually follows staff recommendations in rate cases.

One result of the changed recommendation could be higher residential telephone bills than the staff previously suggested. A week ago, staff economist Julie Parsons proposed across-the-board increases within a range of 80 cents to $1.10 a month.

"She (Ms. Parsons) is taking a look at everything else before she says the additional money has got to come out of local exchange (basic monthly telephone rates)," said PUC general counsel John Bell.

But if other Bell services can absorb no further increases, the extra money will have to come from basic monthly charges, he said.

Standby Rationing Expected To Pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — Framers of a new gas-rationing compromise are predicting that Congress is now ready to give President Carter the standby rationing authority denied him last May.

House-Senate conferees reached agreement late Tuesday on a mechanism to allow the president to ration gasoline during a severe petroleum shortage.

The compromise would give Congress two shots at blocking such a move — first when the rationing plan is drafted and then again if the president attempts to impose it.

The agreement marked a compromise between the House proposal to give Congress the power to block a rationing plan at the time of imposition and the Senate desire for congressional review at an earlier stage in the process.

Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., the top Senate negotiator, called the compromise "one that is workable" and predicted Senate approval.

"We provided for congressional input, but not to an extent that it will cause a stalemate. And when all is said and done, we will have a rationing plan that can be put into effect if we get into real trouble and our oil is cut off," he said.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., head of the House conferees, said: "I think we have something that can be sold to the House... a plan I feel the president will accept."

However, Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, said he was one negotiator who couldn't support the finished product, saying it combined "the worst of both" House and Senate approaches.

Under the compromise, the president could move to impose rationing — subject to a veto by either house of

"I hope it won't be over $1.10," John Bell said.

The staff said Bell actually was entitled to revenue increases totaling $156.4 million over a 12-month period. But state law says a utility can get no more than it has requested, and Bell's request was for $145.2 million.

Bell, in turn, says it really needs $242.9 million but trimmed its request to stay within President Carter's 7 percent

Farm Bureau To Hold Convention

The Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau will hold its annual convention Thursday night beginning at 7:30 in the Bull Barn, it was announced today by county president Bill Walden.

"All policies for the coming year will be determined at this meeting, and we urge all members to attend this important session," Walden said.

The convention agenda includes the election of six new directors and the election of new officers. Don Howard is currently serving as vice president, and Joe Williamson is secretary-treasurer.

Walden said reports will be given on the wheat commodity division, legislative progress, and resolutions will be presented by the resolutions committee. A short film on Farm Bureau activities for the past year will be shown.

A short program on gasoline will also be presented by Jerome Friemel. Walden said all members are invited to bring resolutions to the convention. "We want members to voice their opinions on county, state and national issues."

A barbecue supper will start the proceedings at 7:30 Thursday night.

Right Officer, But Wrong Bank

It was incorrectly stated in Tuesday's Brand that Dickie Geries is vice president of Hereford State Bank.

Geries was pictured with Deaf Smith General Hospital administrator Jim Bullard and hospital district president Frank Zinser Jr. presenting a $75,000 check to the two men for the ultrasound unit recently purchased by the hospital.

Geries is vice president of First National Bank, which made the loan to Deaf Smith General.

The Brand regrets the error.

Poll Shows Public Down On Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — Although public judgment of President Carter's work stands at an historic low, Americans say Congress is doing an even poorer job, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

Only about one out of eight Americans — 13 percent — now give Congress a good or excellent rating, the lowest such figure found in the last three years.

That compares to the 19 percent approval mark for Carter found by the poll, which was taken Sept. 10-11. Carter's rating was the lowest for a president since this question was first asked nearly three decades ago.

While 13 percent gave Congress' work overall top marks, 47 percent said its work has been "only fair." Thirty-six percent called congressional work poor and 4 percent of the 1,600 adults interviewed nationwide by telephone were not sure.

In the April AP-NBC News survey, 20 percent rated Congress good or excellent, 50 percent only fair and 24 percent poor. Six percent in that survey said they were not sure.

FAA Orders DC-'9s To To Be Inspected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration today ordered all U.S. airlines operating the DC-9 aircraft to inspect for cracks in the planes' metal skin.

The order, contained in a telegraphed airworthiness directive, was prompted by an incident Monday in which the tail cone of an Air Canada DC-9 was ripped away while the plane was en route from Boston to Nova Scotia. The plane lost cabin pressure and had control difficulties but returned to Boston and landed safely.

Subsequent inspections disclosed cracks on two other Air Canada DC-9s similar to that implicated in the accident. FAA spokesman Dennis Feldman said the airworthiness directive "requires airlines to inspect for cracks in the aft pressure bulkhead, the emergency exit door jamb and bulkhead skin within 10 landings after receipt of the telegram for airplanes having more than 15,000 landings."

Feldman said the agency "intends to require additional visual and X-ray inspections later after more information is received."

He said the order applies to those DC-9s that are not equipped with a stairway at the rear of the plane.

Speir To Resign As DPS Head Man

DALLAS (AP) — Col. Wilson E. Speir has announced he will resign as head of the Texas Department of Public Safety Dec. 31, after 38 years with the state's police force.

"I had a stomach hemorrhage in August," Speir said at a news conference Tuesday. "After 43 years of public service including 38 with the DPS I felt the time had come to retire."

Speir, 62, called the conference during a convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, of which he is outgoing president.

He said no one had asked him to resign or to retire. He said he would not be involved in the selection of a new director, but added assistant directors have succeeded their bosses in the past.

Speir called his assistant, Leo Gossett, 54, "a very capable man. I wish him well. But I don't know who the Public Safety Commission will choose." Another candidate for the job is former FBI official James B. Adams, who heads Gov. Bill Clements' criminal justice division. Adams was formerly the No. 2 man in the FBI.

Texas Rail Pickets Die As Pact Reached

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Pickets hit the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad yards briefly here Tuesday night, but were withdrawn after just five hours when officials of the striking United Transportation Union reached an agreement with railroad officials.

The union said it set up the pickets in Kansas City and at Katy yards in Dallas and Fort Worth because the line had been helping the strikebound Rock Island Railroad by shipping its rail cars.

Howard Kenyon, international vice president of the union, said the company denied any such action, but agreed not to assist Rock Island in any way in the future.

A Katy general superintendent, Chris Putsche, had said earlier at his Denison, Texas, office that the picketing was due to "some misunderstanding. We have done nothing to bring this about. They had the idea that we were shipping and receiving cars for the Rock in Dallas when it just wasn't so."

The UTU earlier this month expanded picketing to include the Missouri Pacific and Santa Fe railroads.

Highs upper 70s to the middle 80s except near 90 lower elevations of Big Bend. Lows middle 50s north to lower 60s south except upper 40s mountains. Highs Thursday mainly 80s except 90s Big Bend.

DPS Chief Sought

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — James B. Adams, former No. 2 man in the FBI, says he would be interested in taking command of the Texas Department of Public Safety if the conditions are right.

Col. Wilson Speir announced Tuesday he will retire as director of the DPS on Dec. 31, and Adams' name immediately arose as a possible successor in the $47,500-a-year post.

Adams, 52, is executive director of Gov. Bill Clements' Criminal Justice Division, and there was speculation here that Clements would push hard to get him the DPS job.

The director is chosen by the Texas Public Safety Commission, and Clements will appoint one of the three commissioners when chairman Robert Shelton's term expires Dec. 31. Some reports mentioned Dallas electronics millionaire H. Ross Perot as a possibility.

Asked whether anyone in authority had discussed the DPS director's job with him, Adams said in a telephone interview, "I don't think it would be appropriate for me to make any comments in that regard."

"I am aware of the rumors. I am honored that people would think I would make a good replacement (for Speir). Anybody would be proud to work with the men and women of the DPS," Adams said.

As for the director's job, he said, "I would be interested in it. It would be a challenge."

Adams said he misses day-to-day responsibility for law enforcement operations. "Law enforcement has been my career. The operational end is more challenging than the administrative end. ... I miss it. That was the hard thing in leaving the FBI, where I was in charge of all investigative operations. I miss contact with cases, with people working the streets," he said.

In his $42,039-a-year post with the criminal justice division, Adams parcels federal law enforcement grants to Texas cities, counties and state agencies.

Adams said he would not apply for the DPS job, adding, "The last job I applied for was FBI agent" in 1951.

Clements would hire him to the Criminal Justice Division, he said, with the argument, "You're a Texan. Texas has been good to you."

He ranked high in the FBI at a time when the agency came under fire for break-ins and improper surveillance, but FBI director William Webster said an investigation "produced no evidence that ... Adams participated in, condoned or had any knowledge of such activity."

DA Trial Starts Run

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — The man responsible for prosecuting Oscar McInnis on federal perjury charges later this year will be watching as testimony begins today in the Hidalgo County district attorney's disbarment trial.

"My proceeding is 100 percent separate from this lawsuit," U.S. Attorney Tony Canales of Houston said Tuesday afternoon. "There are FBI agents and some of my assistants subpoenaed as witnesses here. I'm down here to see what my boys are up to."

Canales conferred briefly Tuesday with lawyers for the State Bar of Texas, which filed a civil suit to strip McInnis of his law license due to allegations of professional misconduct.

After more than eight hours of questioning Tuesday, five women and seven men were selected as jurors.

A federal grand jury in Brownsville indicted McInnis and Patricia Parada for lying about the alleged scheme to lure her former spouse to Mexico where he would be killed. The intended victim in the purported plot, Noe Villanueva, was not killed.

Canales' office presented evidence to the grand jury that indicted McInnis and Miss Parada. The federal prosecutor said no date has been set yet on the perjury charges.

In the bar's suit, the jury will be asked to decide if McInnis violated standards of his profession as alleged by the bar. If the jurors agree with the bar's formal complaint, State District Judge Joe B. Ewins will decide whether to reprimand McInnis, temporarily suspend his law license or permanently ban his future practice of law.

Both federal and state grand juries also had charged McInnis and Miss Parada with conspiracy to commit murder but those charges later were either dismissed or thrown out.

In his 12 years as district attorney, McInnis became known as a tough, efficient prosecutor who emerged the victor in two murder trials defended by lawyer Percy Foreman of Houston.

His reputation and general popularity have heightened publicity and local interest in his current legal troubles.

Of the 50 prospective jurors questioned, several said they already had an opinion about the case. None of the opinionated jury prospects were chosen for the panel.

"If feel like, I have always felt like that Oscar is being framed," said Jack Hanshaw, a prospective juror who said his wife bought at least six $5 tickets to a recent barbecue dinner honoring McInnis.

The district attorney claims Hidalgo County Sheriff Brig Marmolejo and other officials conspired to replace him in office with Jon Wood, an attorney and friend of the sheriff.

Pending a separate suit to remove him from office, McInnis is suspended from official duties but continues drawing his $36,000 annual paycheck.

The disbarment trial could last between two to four weeks.

Ewins has told lawyers on both sides not to discuss the case with reporters and has stationed two Texas Rangers from Uvalde and San Antonio in the courtroom apparently for security reasons.

Davis Fingerprints Not Found on Evidence

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An arresting officer says FBI lab technicians did not find Cullen Davis' fingerprints on any of the crucial evidence rounded up after the millionaire's arrest last summer.

Justice of the Peace Morris Howeth, who was a district attorney's investigator at the time, testified he took the evidence to Washington after arresting Davis Aug. 20, 1978.

The evidence included a .22-caliber pistol and silencer, a faded photograph of Judge Joe Eidson's "body" and the jurist's identification cards.

The testimony came Tuesday during Davis' murder-for-hire trial. The 45-year-old millionaire is charged with soliciting the murder of Eidson, his divorcee judge, and others.

Howeth told jurors the silencer-equipped pistol was found wrapped in a towel in the trunk of Davis' Cadillac shortly after the arrest. Davis and informant David McCrory are seen looking over the gun in a secretly recorded videotape of the meeting that preceded Davis' arrest.

A two-inch-thick stack of 250 $100 bills which McCrory says Davis gave him to pay off a phantom "hit man" also was introduced into evidence.

Davis maintains the money belonged to McCrory. The defendant says he held the money for safekeeping and returned it to McCrory during the meeting.

Howeth also said a crime scene search inspector found no traces of a flourescent powder in Davis' car. FBI agents treated the staged photograph with the powder, which should rub off and appear under an ultraviolet light.

McCrory has testified that Davis held the photo only by the edges. Davis contends he never saw the picture.

Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes opened cross-examination of Howeth by implying photographs of the car taken during the search were staged to "make Davis look bad."

He referred specifically to a picture showing a tonic water bottle in the trunk of Davis' car and to a picture not in evidence that portrays a membership card to the Playboy Club.

"There was conversation (during the search) but no discussion of leaving that in there so it would be prejudicial to a jury," Howeth said.

Krueger

most of his time in Washington, reporting directly to the secretary of state and the president.

Krueger had a ready answer when asked why the late Nelson Rockefeller did not need the title "ambassador-at-large" when he coordinated Latin American affairs for a previous administration.

"He was born a Rockefeller and I was not," Krueger said.

The title, and the rank, would give its holder the clout to get phone calls returned and the authority to cut through the thicket of sometimes conflicting agency purposes.

As an example, Krueger cited last year's decision by the Immigration and the Naturalization Service to build fences along sections of the U.S.-Mexico border.

The plan form dubbed the "tortilla curtain," raised tensions that might have been avoided if the State Department or other appropriate agencies had been brought in earlier.

A recent round of negotiations about importing vegetables from Mexico included representatives of five Cabinet departments, the Council of Economic Advisors, the Office of the Special Trade Representative and the National Security Council.

Some critics maintain that adding a coordinator will not simplify the bureaucracy but only add another layer of complexity.

One job of the coordinator would be to serve as executive director of the "consultative mechanism" Carter and Lopez Portillo agreed to strengthen.

Among the topics covered are trade, tourism, migration, border cooperation, law enforcement, energy, finance and industry.

"There are so many areas," Krueger said in an earlier interview when asked if the new job was merely a nod toward Mexico's vast energy resources. "Here we have the 11th largest nation in the world on our southern border, and perhaps some of the instability in other parts of the world has helped us recognize the stability and good relations we've had with Mexico and the need not to take that for granted."

U.S. Ambassador Patrick J. Lucey said while on a summer visit to the State Department that adding an ambassador-at-large would not reduce his own authority and Mexicans were treating the announcement favorably.

"People who are sophisticated and give some attention to U.S.-Mexican relations are pleased we felt it was necessary to have someone with the very prestigious title of ambassador-at-large to coordinate U.S. Mexican policy from the Washington end," Lucey said.

room physician at Deaf Smith General Hospital on the evening of the stabbing, testified he treated Sierra for two "fairly superficial" chest wounds.

Under cross-examination by Hoelscher, Dr. Spurlock said the wounds did not appear to endanger Sierra's life or cause him serious bodily injury.

The trial was scheduled to resume at 9 a.m. today.

Gulley overruled the objection. Hoelscher had objected when Constanzo tried to admit a knife not used in the stabbing, but to point out similarities between the two knives.

With the jury out of the courtroom under the orders of Gulley, the judge admitted the knife "for demonstrative purposes only."

spending hike in 1981 and 1982. The Senate was set to complete work on its proposed 1980 budget today with the House slated to begin voting on its proposed 1980 spending limits, including a figure for defense.

Differences between the two chambers will be resolved in a conference committee. The defense spending boost increased the Senate's proposed 1980 budget to $545.3 billion with a projected deficit of $31.6 billion. The Budget Committee had hoped to hold the deficit under $30 billion.

Defense spending has also become a key factor in the SALT II debate with some senators, including Nunn, suggesting their votes might hinge on whether the military budget is increased by 5 percent to 7 percent.

"It seems rather moot to continue to fight, as far as the staff is concerned, on the revenue requests," Bell said. But, he added, if the change could provoke longer cross-examination of PUC staffers by opponents of the increase.

John Wilson, a Washington, D.C., economic consultant, was cross-examined at length Tuesday on his testimony that Bell was trying to overcharge answering services.

Wilson said Bell's proposed $600,000-a-year increase in revenue from answering services was "predatory and ruinous." He said Bell had documentary proof that "severe price increases for telephone answering services would threaten the industry's very existence."

Wilson said Bell also has an "interest in obtaining a competitive pricing advantage for its own call forwarding and other special customer service options."

starts Oct. 1. The Senate also voted to increase defense spending by 5 percent above inflation in 1981 and 1982, although that $21.7 billion hike would not be binding on the next two Congresses.

President Carter has supported a 3 percent increase in real defense spending and has pledged a hike of that size to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He has objected, however, to a 5 percent guideline for price increases. "If this were a normal rate case, they (Bell) would have asked $243 million and we would have come in at $156 million and we would have fought it out," said John Bell.

He said the change in the staff recommendation has at least the potential of shortening the hearing, which began its third week Tuesday and could go as long as four weeks.

Preacher Optimistic

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — The Rev. Charles E. Glass says he anticipates "no problem" becoming a delegate to the United Pentecostal Church's international convention, although the Texas district voted to revoke his ministerial credentials.

Glass, who has been pastor of the First United Pentecostal Church since 1958, was notified by telephone in August of the Texas board of presbyters' decision.

But he contends he never received written notification of the action from Texas district Supt. E.L. Holley, and says he and his wife will attend the convention Monday in Salt Lake City, Utah.

"I am still a minister of the United Pentecostal Church," Glass said.

Glass said Holley acted "with power, but no authority," and said the Texas district and general headquarters have not discussed his removal as a minister.

He said he has not received written notification because the Texas district "realized they were in error and that if they pursued this, I'd certainly have a case."

His wife, Mary Jo, said she expects to be received "very, very warmly." She said the couple has many friends in the church hierarchy, including general superintendent Nathaniel Ursham, international head of the church.

Glass said it would be easier not to fight his disfellowship and the charges against him, "but I have a lot of ministers in the United Pentecostal Church that feel this is a test case. We can survive easily, because we have a strong church."

"But there are some ministers that could not survive, and because of my loyalty to them, I'd be willing to, at their prompting, take legal action."

In January, two fellow ministers filed formal charges with the district saying Glass' conduct was unbecoming a minister.

Former members of Glass' congregation contended he has divided families, become overly concerned with demons and devils, strayed from Pentecostal teachings and harassed former church members.

In March, presbyters censured him for conduct unbecoming a minister, retaining Glass as a clergyman with several undisclosed stipulations.

In April, Glass' congregation voted to withdraw from the United Pentecostal Church. Finally, last month, presbyters voted to strip Glass of his ministerial credentials, prohibiting him from preaching in or serving as a pastor of any United Pentecostal Church.

Ex-Buddhist Boss Still Serves

HOUSTON (AP)—The Dalai Lama, exiled spiritual leader of Tibetan Buddhists, believes until the internal problems of his occupied nation are solved he can best "serve my people on the outside."

The god-king of the mountain nation said six million Tibetan people "are without freedom. Our people suffer a lot."

On a stop in Houston, one of 22 in a seven-week tour of the United States, the Dalai Lama insisted once again that his visit was not political and only a effort "to learn from this new experience of meeting new people."

"I have found the people very open. We can talk, communicate and that is important."

The 44-year-old Buddhist leader will meet today with several religious and educational leaders from throughout the nation for private discussions. During the Monday news conference, the Dalai Lama said improved relations between China and the United States will help him return to his home country.

He said he would "someday return to Tibet." When? Who can say?

The Dalai Lama said despite "Chinese restrictions, the people still have the faith."

Muniz To Speak At HISD Meeting

Abbie Muniz, a parental-involvement consultant from the Bilingual Resource Center in Austin, will be the guest speaker in a Hereford Independent School District parental-involvement meeting at 3 p.m. Thursday in the HISD board room.

Her topic will be "developing leadership skills" and will be aimed at parents interested in assisting their children with school related work.

HISD central office administrator Louis Montano said that "if we get more parents to support our teachers and administrators by having them emphasize the importance of education at home, then a better relationship will exist between the home and school and learning will be easier to attain."

"Teachers and parents should work closer together in order that children will prosper most. I believe this short meeting will help parents become aware of how they can reinforce learning activities at home."

The session will last approximately 1½ hours. Montano said, with a similar session to be presented on a monthly basis.

"Everyone is invited to attend, kids included," Montano said.

Police File Fireworks Charge

Hereford police had a slow day Tuesday, investigating two offenses and issuing 12 traffic citations.

A 17-year-old man was charged with shooting off fireworks at the high school during band practice Tuesday night. Police arrested the man after he refused school officials' orders to leave the area.

Luella Tower, 724 Stanton, reported Tuesday that someone broke a window at her house.

Girls from Hereford, England Make Stop Here During Travels

By DENISE SMITH
Brand Staff Writer

Being the 'heart of cattle country' brings many foreign people to the town of Hereford, touring the vast farm and ranching area.

Dorothy Simcock and Janet Davis, both natives of Hereford, England, began their three month grand tour of America in July. The pair traveled across Canada, down the West Coast, and are attempting to travel back-up through the middle of the United States intending to be back in Canada by the end of September.

Why would two young girls try an endeavor as such? "Well, Janet and I both have agricultural backgrounds, and America is so big and so new that we've learned so much by our travels," stated Miss Simcock.

Miss Simcock, 24, is from Hereford, England. She is presently working on the family farm in England doing everything from cultivating to milking cows.

Miss Davis, 25, is also a native of Hereford, England having migrated to Canada four years ago. She presently is employed on a dairy farm in Canada.

During the girls' tour, they have traveled entirely by car, having purchased a new model car before departing from their starting point in Canada. They have stayed in motels, people's home, and have even camped outdoors.

While on their tour of America, the two girls found it cheaper to fly to Hawaii from the United States than from Canada, so they visited the islands for a week. "Oh, it was just beautiful there," the two commented.

Visiting Hereford for a couple of days, the girls have toured the County Museum, Cowgirl Hall of Fame, and other sight-seeing interests in Hereford.

"Hereford is a very well-planned city, and it is so clean. It's right in the heart of cattle country also," stated Miss Davis.

"The people have been extremely polite and friendly to us while we've been here, too," Miss Simcock added.

During the girls stay here they were also able to talk with the Mayor of Hereford, Bartley Dowell.

Visiting Hereford

Dorothy Simcock, Mayor Bartley Dowell and Janet Davis had an interesting visit Monday morning in front of the City Hall. The two girls touring America are from Hereford, England both having agricultural backgrounds. Their conversation with the mayor revolved around the agricultural aspects of Hereford. diseases," Lorraine Schwertner said.

"With volunteers like these," said Mrs. Jesko, "our ride has to be a success."

Large candy stores often give samples, but I can't afford to. What's more, everyone doesn't have clean hands. I cringe when I see people reach in one jar, then another. Usually a "taste" is enough to satisfy their sweet tooth, so they don't buy anything, or they'll say, "Gee, this is good...how much is it?" I need to know also if this type of surgery will make the voice higher or produce other feminine characteristics.

Find out, too, please, if, after amputation, the bald spots will begin to grow new hair. A friend of mine said he knew of a case where it worked. Please don't tell me to ask a doctor. I already have, and he answered me as if I was some kind of nut. Hurry your answer. I am -- Depending On You

Angels Bounce Back, Beat K.C. by 6-4

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

Jim Fregosi doesn't think he has anything to be nervous about. With a few more performances like the one his California Angels turned in Tuesday night, whatever worries Fregosi has should disappear.

After losing five of their last six and being bombed 16-4 in the opener of the four-game series with Kansas City Monday night, dropping their American League West lead to two games over the Royals, the Angels seemed ripe for a fall. Instead they erupted for four runs in the first inning off Royals starter Rich Gale, who lasted all of 24 pitches, and held on for a 6-4 victory. With Minnesota losing 1-0 in 10 innings to Chicago and dropping four games back, it was a profitable night for Fregosi.

Seattle 7-6. Boston beat Toronto 8-3. Cleveland mauled New York 16-3 and Texas defeated Oakland 9-5.

White Sox 1, Twins 0

Ken Kravec pitched seven innings of no-hit ball and wound up with a three-hitter. The lone run scored when Kevin Bell, Mike Squires and Thad Bosley hit consecutive singles with none out in the 10th for Chicago.

Ron Jackson's leadoff double in the eighth broke up Kravec's no-hit bid.

Tigers 2, Orioles 1

Dan Petry and Aurelio Lopez combined on a four-hitter and Ron LeFlore had a solo homer and an RBI grounder for the Detroit runs. Doug DeCinces homered for Baltimore.

Brewers 7, Mariners 6

Paul Molitor's single scored Sixto Lezcano, who had doubled, for the Brewers' decisive run in the eighth. Milwaukee overcame a 6-2 Seattle lead built mostly with a five-run second that included Bruce Bochte's two-run homer. Jim Gantner had a two-run shot for Milwaukee.

Red Sox 8, Blue Jays 3

Mike Torrez, who broke a personal three-game losing slide, threw a seven-hitter and Dwight Evans contributed a home run for the Red Sox.

Indians 16, Yankees 3

Former Yankee Cliff Johnson

had two homers and five RBI and Toby Harrah slammed a pair of home runs and four RBI in a 16-hit attack. Ted Cox added a solo shot for Cleveland and Oscar Gamble homered for the Yankees, who lost their fifth game in a row.

Rangers 9, A's 5

Al Oliver had four hits and knocked in three runs, raising his batting average to .330 in a game played before only 750 fans, the second smallest crowd at Oakland this season. A game with Seattle on April 17 drew 653.

Volleyers Tip Dumas

Martha Gavina slammed a perfect serve on the Dumas side of the floor to lift Hereford to a thrilling 13-11 victory in the third game of a non-district volleyball match Tuesday night in the high school gymnasium.

Hereford had won the first game of the match, 15-12, but Dumas came back to take the second, 13-11. The visiting Demonettes scored the first four points of the third game, but Hereford rallied to tie the score at 10-10 with 54 seconds left.

The score was again tied, 11-11, with just over 30 seconds left in the game. Hereford grabbed a 12-11 lead as time ran out, but volleyball rules stipulate that a team must win by at least two points.

Gavina's pressure-filled serve gave Hereford its third win of the season against four losses.

"I thought we played real well in the first and third games, but we must have gotten overconfident in the second," Whiteface Coach Helen Reed said. "But overall, I think their bumps were good, they played together as a team, and they moved when they should have moved."

"I was very pleased with Cindy Cox (spiker). She played

Bowls Beat Down Playoff

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

A major college postseason football playoff seems to be a dead issue...for now.

But Frank Broyles, Arkansas' athletic director and former football coach, still says such a playoff is "inevitable."

Broyles was one of an outspoken minority whose playoff proposal was beaten down by the bowls.

"We didn't foresee this much organized opposition. We didn't foresee the bowls taking such a strong stand, banding together and rallying support," he says. "It was their asserted opinion that the bowls would be ruined if we had even a four-team playoff."

The NCAA's Extra Events Committee, of which Broyles is a member and former chairman, had recommended that such a playoff proposal be brought before next January's NCAA convention. But the Division I Steering Committee recommended to the all-powerful NCAA Council that the issue not even come up for a vote. The Council went along with that suggestion.

"It's somewhat of a dead issue at this particular time," says Dave Strack, athletic director at the University of Arizona and current chairman of the Extra Events Committee. "Who can tell what the future might hold, but we've decided it would be beating a dead horse to pursue it as a committee at this time."

"The bowls feel they have served college football very well and they feel they're the best thing for college football," says Broyles. "They've convinced many coaches that the structure we have now is better than a playoff. They cite the financial aspects, the good times, no pressure...things like that."

"Maybe our feeling supporting a playoff is ahead of its time, like solar energy. But it's inevitable that we need a playoff, not for the 20 or 25 schools who will succeed with soccer or anything else. But what about the other schools who are in financial straits? The economic factor will be felt down the line."

"For a playoff to happen now we need something dramatic, but I don't know what. The public wants it. The public is probably for it 98 percent and I think their influence will be felt down the line."

Houston's Hodge Is Top Defender

HOUSTON (AP) — When the Florida Gators started gobbling up yardage against the Houston Cougar defense last Saturday, they usually ended up choking on UH linebacker David Hodge.

In the first quarter, Hodge decked running back Lonell Brown on a third down and one situation at the UH 18 yard line, where the Gators missed a field goal. In the third quarter he planted Brown for a four yard loss on third down at the UH 48.

In the air-tight closing moments when Houston was protecting a 14-7 lead, Hodge tackled a runner for a three yard gain on second down and on third down jumped on Gator quarterback Tim Groves causing an incomplete pass and forcing Florida to settle for a field goal.

Florida never got the ball again as Houston won in the second half for the second week and Hodge, who finished the game with 10 unassisted tackles and five assists, won The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week honor.

Despite his drive-killing performance, Hodge, a first team All-SWC performer last season, didn't look back on the game with total satisfaction.

"I'm really surprised because I don't feel like I played that good," said Hodge, ever the perfectionist. "We played well enough to win but I missed a lot of keys, and I didn't tackle as well as I did against UCLA. And I didn't get (Groves) the quarterback on that touchdown."

Stanton 7th Canyon Tie

CANYON — Stanton Junior High's seventh-grade football team threatened to score three times after long drives, but failed, and had to settle for a 0-0 tie against Canyon White Tuesday afternoon here.

"Mistakes killed us. We had three good drives then fumbled the ball away," Stanton Coach Jerry Wilbourn said. "Defensively, we played extremely well, though."

Stanton's defense was led by safety Jerry Ramirez, whom Wilbourn said "made several key tackles."

No results were available from the La Plata-Plainview contest Tuesday in Hereford.

Pirates Top Expos, 5-3, in 11 Innings

By FRANK BROWN
 AP Sports Writer
 Willie Stargell and the rest of the Pittsburgh Pirates put a damper on the evening for the Montreal Expos.

On a night when swimsuits and scuba gear might have made more sense than the standard baseball garb, the Pirates spent six waterlogged hours and 14 minutes beating the Expos 5-3 in 11 innings.

In other words, it rained a little bit while the teams were struggling for the National League East Division lead. The first delay halted action for just five minutes, but the second took a whopping two hours, 54 minutes, and the sixth inning didn't begin until midnight, local time.

Shortly thereafter, the Expos tied it 3-3 on an RBI single by Larry Parrish in the sixth. The Pirates, who hadn't scored since the first, didn't undo the tie until Stargell came to the plate with Mike Easler on first in the 11th.

Meanwhile, the Cincinnati Reds dropped a 3-1 decision to the San Francisco Giants but maintained their 1 1/4-game West Division lead over Houston because the Astros were beaten 4-0 by the San Diego Padres.

In the other NL games, the Philadelphia Phillies topped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 in 10 innings, the Los Angeles Dodgers bested the Atlanta Braves 6-1, and the Chicago Cubs swept a two-night double-header from the New York Mets by 2-0 and 2-1 scores with the nightcap going 11 innings.

Giants 3, Reds 1

Run-scoring singles by Darrell Evans, Mike Ivie and Johnnie LeMaster carried the Giants to their 12th victory over the Reds in 18 meetings this season. "We didn't lose any ground, so we've got to be happy," said Cincinnati Manager John McNamara.

Padres 4, Astros 0

Manager Bill Virdon was singing the same song after his Astros were held to six singles by Eric Rasmussen. The Astros have three games remaining against Cincinnati.

Phillies 5, Cardinals 3

Pinch-hitter Greg Gross delivered a 10th-inning sacrifice fly to score Manny Trillo, then Garry Maddox cracked an RBI single to lead Philadelphia to its 13th victory in 18 games and pull the Phillies within a game of the third-place Cardinals in the East.

Meanwhile, Pete Rose extended his hitting streak to 15 games and pulled within nine hits of a major league record 10th consecutive 200-hit season.

Dodgers 6, Braves 1

Jerry Reuss pitched a four-hitter and Steve Garvey reached the 100-RBI plateau for the third consecutive seasons as Los Angeles beat Atlanta.

Cubs 2, Mets 0-1

Dave Kingman drove in the game-winning run in each game and Bruce Sutter picked up both saves in the Chicago's double-header sweep of New York. Kingman's two-run, third-inning single won the opener and his 11th-inning single delivered the winner in the nightcap — boosting Kingman's RBI total to a league-leading 110.

Sutter, meanwhile, had 37 saves — tying the NL record he shares with Clay Carroll of the 1972 Reds and Rollie Fingers of the 1978 Padres.

The Mets have lost 21 of their last 25. New York's Lee Mazzilli went hitless in the nightcap and had his 19-game hitting streak halted.

3 Players, Top Draft Pick Ruled As Award for Walton

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "I have this empty feeling in my stomach," said Bill Walton, rocked by the stiffest compensation award in pro sports history. "I don't think it was fair," Walton said after San Diego Clipper teammates Kermit Washington, Kevin Kunnert, Randy Smith and a 1980 first-round draft pick were awarded the Portland Trail Blazers Tuesday.

Ending a two-month tug-of-war, National Basketball Association Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien ruled that Washington, one of the league's prized power forwards, and Kunnert, a 7-foot reserve center, must go to Portland as payment for the loss of Walton.

The 6-foot-11, All-Pro center played out his option with the Trail Blazers and signed with the Clippers May 12, reportedly for the largest sports salary ever — a five-year contract calling for $900,000 per year.

If the year-old Clippers choose to keep Smith, a starting guard who averaged 18 points per game last year, they must pay Portland $350,000 and their 1982 first-round draft choice.

"It's a real setback," said Walton. "We were very close to a championship team. Indirectly, I'm somewhat responsible for that."

Walton's "durability" was the central question, O'Brien said. He said he took into account that Walton's contract "reflects a clear recognition by both San Diego and Walton that his past medical history created legitimate concerns about his ability to fully perform in the future."

After signing as the NBA's top draft choice of 1974, Walton, 26, was sidelined for half of the Trail Blazers' games. He sat out all of the 1977-78 season with a stress fracture in his foot, a year after winning MVP honors for leading Portland to the NBA championship.

"If Walton in his first five years had proven as durable as (Wilt) Chamberlain, (Bill) Russell and (Kareem) Abdul-Jabbar, it would be virtually impossible to calculate his value or to compensate Portland for his loss," said O'Brien, after reviewing written submissions and testimony from the two clubs.

Cooper Leads Poll, 4 Teams Are Upset

By The Associated Press

The leaders won big and some also-rans fell by the wayside last week in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll.

Abilene Cooper in Class 4A, Jasper in 3A, Pittsburg in 2A and China Spring in A all retained their top billings for the second straight week after big victories in last week's games.

Cooper defeated Wichita Falls 48-7 and China Spring shut out Whitney 38-0 and each was rewarded with 20 first place votes out of a possible 22 by the AP panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Jasper received 13 first place votes after a 48-0 victory over Center and Pittsburg netted 17 first place votes following a 35-0 shut out Gilmer.

The bottom four teams in 4A were losers last week and were banished from the top 10 this week. Houston Kashmere, San Antonio Roosevelt, Odessa Permian and Fort Worth Richland all vanished following losses.

Newcomers in 4A are No. 7, Conroe followed by Tyler, 1-0, Killeen, 2-0, and Temple, 2-0.

LaPorte, No. 2 in 4A, will take an unbeaten record into this week's game against defending state champion Houston Stratford, ranked fifth and carrying a 20-game winning streak. Lake Highlands held onto third place and Plano, a state finalist last year, was fourth.

Bay City, the defending Class 3A champ, dropped from the rankings following an 8-6 loss to Dickinson. Gregory-Portland, which opened its season with a shocking 37-0 victory over 4A Corpus Christi Carroll, moved into the No. 10 position.

In Class 2A, No. 4 Bellville was defeated by Willis, 22-16 last week and dropped from the rankings this week. Hondo, which edged Class 3A Uvalde 16-14, appeared as the No. 10 ranked team.

Eighth ranked Celina and 10th ranked San Saba both lost for the second consecutive week and dropped out of the Class A rankings. Mason, which beat San Saba 27-20 last week, moved into the No. 9 position, and Flatonia, 2-0, took over the 10th spot.

Area Farmers Invited to Attend Bergland Speech

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor
Local farmers are being invited to attend a major speech to be delivered by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland in Lubbock Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Lubbock Civic Center.

Bergland will deliver the address, open to the public, following a tour of cropland damaged by a late August hailstorm Thursday morning, according to a report from the office of Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock. Secretary Bergland is scheduled to arrive in Lubbock the morning of Sept. 20, where he will participate in the tour in addition to holding meetings concerning the future of water for West Texas. The tour of damaged cropland is scheduled to depart the Lubbock Civic Center at 8:30 Thursday morning, and members of the area media will be included in the tour entourage. "Having the secretary here could play an important role in the future concerning regulations and legislation that will greatly affect agriculture and agriculture-related business and economics," commented Hance concerning the Bergland visit to the South Plains. Damage from the August hailstorm has been estimated at $200 million, and nine counties have been designated as disaster areas. Hance will be hosting Bergland in a tour of some of the most severely damaged crop areas, and will press his recent request for a 20 percent reduction in the loans of farmers in disaster counties who suffered a 70 percent loss of crops. "I hope as many people from the 19th District as possible can attend Thursday afternoon's speech," commented Rep. Hance.

Bergland's Lubbock stop is part of a three-day visit to Texas. He will stop first in Dallas, on Wednesday, and will also visit Abilene, Stephenville and Waco prior to departing the state on Friday.

TWPA Officials Contend

Wheat Still Cheap Relative to Production Costs

By JIM ALLISON
AMARILLO — Early this spring and summer wheat prices advanced significantly, even in the face of harvest selling in Texas and Oklahoma, and despite the release of government held reserves. With national inflation running between 13 and 14 percent a year, concern developed in some non-farm sectors over the inflationary impact of this wheat price advance. Most of the concern was registered by the two largest U.S. bakers' associations, and though the bakers' cries were generally understood as self-serving, there was some anxiety expressed by consumers about wheat prices and higher food costs.

But where is the price of wheat—really? According to Foreign Agricultural Service data, U.S. retail bread prices are among the cheapest in the world. The world median price for bread is 97 cents per kilogram. A kilogram is 2.2 pounds. In the U.S. Capitol, Washington, D.C., a kilogram of bread costs 62 cents, 35 cents below the world median price. Compare this to Paris, France, where a kilogram of bread carries a price of $2.19, or Rome, where the price is $1.99, or Tokyo, where it sells for

$1.51. The point is, there are few cities in the world where a loaf of bread is cheaper than in the United States. There are even better examples which reiterate the cheapness of wheat in this country, especially where the value to the farmer is concerned. Otis Harman, Tulsa, President of the Texas Wheat Producers Association, says "A recent USDA study has reported that a change of $1 per bushel in the price of wheat affects the net farm value of the wheat ingredients in a one-pound loaf of white bread only about 1.2 cents. The report also said that a 25 percent increase in wheat prices would add less to the cost of a loaf of bread than would a 4 percent increase in the processing and distribution costs in a loaf of bread."

Leo Witkowski, Hereford, chairman of the Texas Wheat Producers Board, cited another example from the USDA study. In June, 1972, the month before the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union—which some alarmists used to falsely predict "dollar bread"—prices of bread averaged 24.7 cents for a one-pound loaf and the net farm value of the wheat ingredients in a loaf was 2.6 cents. In June 1979, bread prices averaged 41.2 cents a pound, while the net farm value of the wheat ingredients was 4.5 cents. In other words, the farm value of wheat in the price of bread increased 1.9 cents since 1972—but bread prices went up 16.5 cents. This soundly establishes that wheat exports did not in 1972 or do not now adversely affect U.S. food prices and consumer costs.

Winston Wilson, Quanah, President of the National Association of Wheat Growers and member of the TWPB, cannot understand the bakers' recently publicized concern over high wheat prices, and call for export controls, especially when prices are lower now than they were in 1974. "I really can't think of another industry in this country which has prices below what they were four or five years ago," Wilson said. "So we don't feel any apologies are in order for the current price of wheat. The price is still below the cost of production in most areas, and as diesel, which is one of our major inputs, moves up to the $1 a gallon range, the bakers' association and the public in general are going to have to come to the realization that farmers must operate at a profit in order to stay in business."

Wilson said that a study published in 1977 showed that the net farm value of wheat in a one-pound loaf of bread represented about 8 percent of the retail cost of the bread, while packaging represented 7 percent of the cost and labor a whopping 35.7 percent of the cost of a one-pound loaf. In other words, there is virtually five times as much labor and almost an equal amount of wrapping in a loaf of bread cost as there is farm value of wheat. As Otis Harman says, "The price of wheat is still low relative to U.S. farm production costs and relative to the changing world monetary situation." He points to the fact that in 1972 when Russia made the initial huge purchases of wheat at one ton of $60 wheat for an ounce of $60 gold, some labeled the sale as "the great grain robbery." He says that "now even with higher wheat prices American millers, bakers or international traders anywhere in the world can buy two tons of wheat for one ounce of gold—twice the bargain of 1972."

The association leader went on to point out that, "Texas and U.S. wheat producers have a strong interest and stake in continued export development for wheat in order to maintain demand and strengthen prices." He further contends that, "consumers have a similar stake and interest in wheat exports as the sales to the oil rich Mid-East, Mexico and other importing countries off-set dollar trade losses for petroleum and other imported goods by some $4 billion—softening inflation at home by that much favorable trade balance. Farmers support the export development and price-strengthening work of the Producers Board through a 1/2 cent per bushel self-assessment on deliveries of wheat to local elevators in a 34-county commercial production area. The legislative and administrative liaison to keep wheat markets open, and government programs effective for wheat is supported by voluntary producer membership.

Great Plains Extension Sought by Hance

Rep. Kent Hance of the 19th Congressional District has co-sponsored a resolution in the House which could extend the operation of the Great Plains Conservation Program, according to an "Ag Update" letter filed for September by the congressman's office.

The bill, HR 3789, is currently in the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Conservation and Credit, of which Hance is a member.

The Great Plains Program, which has not been available to farmers due to a lack of funding in recent months, has assisted agriculture operators in implementing such conservation measures as erosion control terracing, seeding of grassland, establishment of livestock water and fencing. Under contracts signed in the program, farmers receive assistance in these measure through cost-sharing programs, and accomplish an overall conservation program drawn up by local Soil Conservation Service offices.

"I feel this has been a good program for farmers in our area because conservation will play an important role in the future of agriculture in Texas," commented Hance concerning the move.

State Dairy Cows Receive Performance 'Report Cards'

COLLEGE STATION — Texas dairy cows with failing "grades" will likely end up as hamburger.

The grading system is a vital part of the Texas Dairy Herd Improvement Association (TDHIA), says Dr. Mike Tomaszewski, dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Almost 600 dairy herds were registered in the TDHIA program last year. Milk production from the more than 68,000 cows averaged about 14,000 pounds.

"In the DHIA system, milk cows are rated from 'A' to 'E' to help producers maximize their returns," notes Tomaszewski. "Cows getting good grades can stay. Those getting 'Ds' and 'Es' will probably end up as hamburger."

The DHIA program provides dairymen with critiques, including amount of milk each cow produces, amount of butterfat in the milk, when the cow should be bred, how much she should eat, whether or not she makes money for her owner, and how she compares in profitability with the rest of the herd. This evaluation involves recording how much the cow eats, calving information, and milk weight from two consecutive milkings, using a proportionate milk sample for butterfat determination. All data are sent to Texas A&M to determine butterfat. Then they are express mailed to the Dairy Records Processing Center at Raleigh, N.C. where they are run through a computer, evaluated and compared to total herd information.

AZL Authorized To Buy Procor

Procor, Inc. has announced that the board of directors of AZL Resources, Inc. has authorized the acquisition by AZL of substantially all the operating assets of Procor. In February, 1978, Procor, in connection with its purchase of $10 million AZL convertible subordinated debentures, granted AZL an option to buy its operating assets for approximately $10,000,000.

Maurice F. Strong, chairman of the board of Procor, indicated that an upcoming meeting of the Procor board will consider whether to convert the $10 million of AZL debentures now owned by Procor to 2.5 million shares of AZL common stock, the disposition of Procor's remaining assets and the company's future course. A special meeting of Procor shareholders will be called to consider approval of the sale to AZL.

The sale is subject to obtaining various legal opinions, opinions as to valuations, the conversion of the convertible debentures, certain regulatory filings and other matters. It is contemplated that the acquisition will be consummated January 1, 1980.

Procor, Inc. is a Phoenix-based company engaged in custom cattle feeding in Texas and Nebraska, the distribution and manufacture of the Murray and Carver brands of cotton ginning and cotton seed processing equipment from facilities in Texas, Massachusetts, Tennessee, California and in farming and ranching in Australia.

Water District Will Hear Tax Comments

The Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 has set Thursday, September 20, as the date for hearing comments concerning a tax increase in Armstrong, Lamb, and Lynn Counties. The board unanimously voted a proposed District tax rate decrease from 5.0 cents to 4.5 cents on each $100 assessed valuation. However, increases in county assessed valuations or ratios in these three counties have resulted in actual tax hikes of 56 percent in Lynn, 60 percent in Armstrong, and 31 percent in Lamb. Notice and hearing are required under Senate Bill 621.

During the regular meeting, board members also approved one contract amendment and one new contract with the Texas Department of Water Resources for a combined total of $102,767 for the district. The board also granted 13 well applications, three extensions and seven amended permits before adjourning to attend the Texas Agriculture Experiment station's Annual Field Day.

Prosecutors Learn About 6th Run

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors in a giant drug smuggling trial say they have not decided what action to take against their key witness, who has testified that he failed to tell them about a sixth marijuana smuggling run.

But since the 8,000 pounds filled only one truck, Butler drove to Colorado alone. Foster and Evans both are defendants but Foster is missing and is listed as a federal fugitive. Both are associates of Denton rancher and former Texas Aeronautics Commission chairman Rex Caudle.

Prosecutors had made a plea bargaining agreement with Willis Judge Butler, of Mesquite, for his testimony against some of the 14 defendants in exchange for leniency. Two of the original 16 defendants, Carlos Gerdes of Pigeon Forge, Tenn., and Elmer Glenn Culver of Crossville, Tenn., pleaded guilty Monday night after the jury had gone home.

Much of the government's case was based on a statement Butler made to Drug Enforcement Administration officers detailing five deliveries of drugs between August 1976 and December 1978. Frank Salter Jr., representing defendants Thomas and James Wimberly of Vinton, La., asked Butler if it were true he drove 8,000 pounds of Colombian marijuana on a truck to Colorado after it arrived by boat at Hackberry, La., in December 1978.

Butler said he did. Then Baugh asked Butler, "Did you not enter into an agreement that you would tell the government of all your drug smuggling activities?" "Yes, sir," Butler replied. "And you didn't?" Baugh asked. "No, sir," Butler said.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Keeping weight off

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 20-year-old woman and I successfully lost over 100 pounds in a little over a year. I carried most of the weight in my stomach area and was left with excessively stretched skin and stretch marks. I read in your column where you once advised a person to wait a year after her weight loss before she had surgery to take up the excess skin. I've waited a year and haven't noticed any remarkable improvement. I've exercised through the entire weight loss and for several years before, which has helped tremendously.

Unfortunately, I'm left with an apron on my upper and lower abdomen. I've seen a plastic surgeon about it and he felt it would never go back in place. I have mixed feelings about the operation and would appreciate your suggestions. I understand the operation entails a "bikini cut" and about 150 stitches or staples. The doctor said he would have to remove some fat cells that were still there and make a new opening for my navel.

Will the surgery aid in keeping the weight off and will the stretch marks be removed through the surgery? I'm sure there are other people who have lost a lot of weight who are faced with this same problem. Thank God I'm thin at last.

DEAR READER — First, congratulations. That's a major achievement. The fact that you've been able to keep it off suggests that you have improved your life style so that you can avoid obesity in the future if you really want to.

I do advise people to wait a year after a weight loss before they undergo surgery. That is not because I think the skin is really going to shrink that much or regain its elasticity.

One of the biggest reasons is that I know that many people who lose weight regain it almost as fast. That's because they really didn't change their life style. It would be a mistake to lose all that weight and have surgery and then gain back all your fat. You can pretty well separate out the person who is going to stick to a life style to avoid obesity and the person who won't by seeing what happens to him for a year after he has completed his weight loss.

You've done the right thing in seeing a plastic surgeon to gain information. Different doctors have different approaches to the problem and, of course, it depends a lot on just how much of a problem really exists. You'll have to ask your surgeon about whether the stretch marks will be removed because it depends on where they are and what type of surgery he decides to do.

You'll need to follow a sensible diet plan to avoid regaining your weight. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet which you can use as a guide. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

improved control may decrease the number of the complications that we now see with diabetes. In addition, there is a totally implantable insulin dispensing device that's being developed and may be ready soon than people think.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a lot of tests that my family physician prescribed because of excess gas and stomach pains. He found that I had a hiatal hernia and put me on Tagamet and other medicines. Nothing seemed to help, so he sent me to a gastroenterologist.

The specialist performed a gastroscopy and found severe gastritis. He recommended that I avoid alcohol as well as fried and highly seasoned foods. He also recommended that I take Maalox an hour after each meal and before bedtime. So the only change in recommendation I really received was some Maalox.

This hasn't helped the condition after about two weeks. I'm a little unhappy after all the expense of a gastroenterologist and no better results. Do you have any recommendations on severe gastritis?

DEAR READER — Antacids such as Maalox and avoiding foods that irritate the lining of the stomach are the main measures that are used. Gastritis means inflammation of the stomach and there are several forms of it.

While you may not be happy about the expense of seeing a gastroenterologist, it's very important to have had such a direct examination to know for certain what was wrong with your stomach. You wouldn't have been very happy if you had cancer of the stomach and it wasn't detected because such an examination had not been done.

In addition to eliminating all alcohol, you might find it helpful to eliminate all coffee (including the decaffeinated brands), caffeine-containing drinks such as tea and cola, and chocolate. Of course, you should not smoke cigarettes. While I'm a great proponent of bulk in the diet, individuals

Who's Behind the Ads?

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Soap companies sell food. Food companies sell clothing. And super-conglomerates? Well, they sell just about everything.

You never know who is responsible for what these days.

Advertising Age, a trade publication, provided some clues recently with its annual report on the 100 biggest U.S. advertisers. The magazine says these companies spent more than $10 billion on national advertising in 1978, an increase of 17 percent over 1977.

If you read the fine print, you'll find some interesting corporate bedfellows. The bacon on your table and the bus you take to town, for example. The toys for your kids and the food for your dog.

Here, in alphabetical order, is a random selection of companies and some of the things they produce:

—The Campbell Soup Co. of Camden, N.J., goes from soup to, er, pickles. Vlasic pickles in particular.

—Chesebrough-Pond's of Greenwich, Conn., maker of Pond's cold cream, also has Vaseline petroleum jelly and Ragu spaghetti sauce.

—The Colgate-Palmolive Co. of New York is behind Hebrew National kosher frankfurters.

—Consolidated Foods Corp. of Chicago tempts your tastebuds with Sara Lee bakery products. If you drop some crumbs, call the company's Fuller Brush man. Consolidated Foods also markets hosiery, L'eggs.

—Esmark Inc. of Chicago, the folks who bring you Butterball turkeys, sponsor Playtex bras, too.

—General Foods of White Plains, N.Y., tells you to stretch your at-home food dollar with Shake 'n Bake coating mix and urges you out of the kitchen and into a Burger Chef.

—Greyhound Corp. of Phoenix, Ariz., takes you places with its buses and feeds you Armour Star bacon when you get there.

—Gulf & Western Industries of New York offers fantasy with television shows like "Laverne & Shirley," but its view of panty hose is No-Nonsense, which it also owns.

—International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. of New York brings you Wonder bread, Sheraton hotels and the stag from the Hartford Insurance Group.

—The Liggett Group Inc. of Montvale, N.J., provides L&M cigarettes, Alpo dog food and Izmir, a Turkish vodka made from white beets.

—Mattel Inc. of Hawthorne, Calif., bring you the Barbie doll. They also bring you Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

—Miles Laboratories of Elkhart, Inc., sells Morningstar Farms textured vegetable protein meat substitute. And S.O.S. scouring pads. And Alka-Seltzer.

—Nabisco Inc. of East Hanover, N.J., offers cookies, biscuits and Rose Milk skin products.

—Norton Simon Inc. of New York may be the champion. While its name is not necessarily a household word, you probably know the names of its divisions: Hunts tomato products, Avis rental cars, Max Factor cosmetics, Canada Dry beverages, Johnnie Walker scotch, Halston Enterprises and McCall Patterns, to name a few.

—Noxell Corp. of Baltimore cleans your skin with Noxzema and your floors with Lestoil.

—Pepsi Co. Inc. of Purchase, N.Y., makes you work up a thirst with golf clubs from Wilson Sporting Goods and snacks from Frito-Lay.

—Procter & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati, the biggest national advertiser, keeps you clean — not only with Ivory, but with Tide and Cheer as well. P&G also includes Sure and Secret deodorants, Folgers coffee, Duncan Hines cake mixes and Squeezable Charmin.

—Quaker Oats Co. of Chicago makes your pets happy with Ken-L Ration and your kids happy with Fisher-Price toys like the Miss Piggy doll.

—R.J. Reynolds Industries of Winston-Salem, N.C., has the No. 2 cigarette in the nation — Winston — and the No. 1 brand of canned Chinese food, Chun King.

—Unilever U.S. Inc. includes All detergent and Aim toothpaste from Lever Bros. of New York. It also sells you tea from Thomas J. Lipton Inc. of Englewood, N.J.

Last on this abbreviated list — and 25th among advertisers — is the U.S. government. What does the government have to advertise? How about the Defense Department's recruiting posters, the Agriculture Department's nutrition campaigns, the Energy Department's drive for conservation or the Postal Service and Amtrak?

4-H Firsthand

by AGNES TAYLOR
Assistant County Extension Agent

4-H BUILDS LEADERS
There are five keys to successful leadership.

A good leader believes in people, encourages them and gives them responsibility. The leader also acts as a talent scout and develops a positive attitude toward getting things done.

Anyone who is willing to tackle a job that requires cooperating with others can learn to be an effective leader. This is where the 4-H program comes in—it can help youth become effective leaders.

The national 4-H leadership program, supported by Reader's Digest, stimulates young people to become leaders through a variety of learn-by-doing activities. These activities help turn girls and boys 9-19 into the creative, inspiring individuals that others just naturally want to follow.

As a first step, 4-H members gain self-confidence by becoming experts at something, whether it's baking a cake, fixing a bike or playing a game. Then, they share their expertise with others through demonstrations, speeches and exhibits. Soon they are serving on committees and holding offices in their 4-H clubs. As junior and teen leaders they are assisting younger 4-H'ers with their projects.

Finally, leadership skills learned in 4-H are carried over into the larger community. Nine national 4-H leadership winners reported activities that ranged from spearheading local charity drives and organizing leadership conferences for inner city teens to chairing a county youth committee for a congressional candidate.

Each national winner received a $1,000 scholarship donated by Reader's Digest. The high ranking girl and boy won silver trays presented in the name of President Jimmy Carter.

Other recognition for program members includes an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago for one 4-H member per state up to four medals of honor in each county.

Winners are chosen by the Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program, and awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council.

Further details on becoming involved in the 4-H leadership program are available at the county Extension office.
