

Government Price Index Fails To Verify Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government index designed to forecast economic trends showed no change in August, giving cloudy signals on whether a recession is under way, the government said today.

The lack of movement in the Commerce Department's Composite Index of Leading Indicators followed slight declines of 0.2 percent in July and 0.3 percent in June.

Three consecutive monthly declines in the index traditionally have signaled the start of a recession.

The index, however, has been mixed since it hit a peak of 143.7 in October. It fell a sharp 2.3 percent in April, in part reflecting the truckers' strike, and in August it stood at 139.1.

The August figure means the 10 components of the index were 39.1 percent ahead of their 1967 base.

In another development, Citibank of New York, the nation's second largest bank, raised its prime lending rate to a record 13 3/4 percent. Other major banks were expected to follow Citibank's lead in posting the new rate, which banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers.

The Commerce Department said four of the components in the leading indicators index were down in August — liquid assets, sensitive prices, stock prices and building permits. But the declines were offset by increases in six categories: average work week, lower layoff rate, sales performance, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, money supply and new orders.

Many economists say the nation's seventh postwar recession began in the second quarter this year and that the downturn will persist into 1980, even if third quarter output figures show improvement.

Although a recession could help dampen inflation, currently running at an annual rate of more than 13 percent, it also would throw many people out of work.

The department also released its so-called Composite Index of Coincident Indicators, which is supposed to gauge the economy's current performance. This index fell 0.9 percent in August, the largest drop since a 1 percent decline in May.

The coincident index hit its peak in March before beginning a tumble.

On Thursday, the Commerce Department reported that a surge in imports, including a record-setting cost for foreign oil, helped push the U.S. trade deficit to $2.36 billion in August.

The deficit was more than double the $1.1 billion by which imports exceeded exports in July, the report said. And it was the largest since a $2.48 billion deficit in May.

The trade figures were announced as

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter convened his National Security Council for the second time in less than 24 hours today as the United States tried to keep alive negotiations with the Soviet Union over a Russian combat brigade in Cuba.

The breakfast meeting at the White House followed Thursday night's hour-long NSC briefing by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance on his negotiations with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, which apparently failed to resolve the dispute, at least for the time being.

American officials did not rule out the possibility of further U.S.-Soviet talks, although none were planned for the first time in three weeks.

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, meeting reporters after Vance's NSC briefing, said, "We would not characterize this as a crisis. It was a discussion."

Another official, requesting anonymity, said that, while there was no crisis atmosphere, "there is a problem."

Members of the NSC called to the White House included Vice President Walter F. Mondale, CIA Director Stansfield Turner, Secretary of Defense Harold Brown and presidential national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Powell refused to divulge specifics of what Vance told the NSC in a one-hour briefing that followed a private 30-minute meeting with the president in the White House living quarters.

Carter said Tuesday that he would report to the nation, probably within a week, on the negotiations. In a speech

Thursday, Vance assured Latin American diplomats the administration, "at an appropriate time," would release a full report to buttress its stand on the troops. But, at this point, he added, "the best

Portillo, Carter Try To Work Out Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the issue of Mexican gas sales to the United States settled in advance, President Carter and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo are meeting to discuss an agenda topped by illegal migrants and vegetable sales.

American officials said in advance they hoped the session would be quiet and businesslike, in contrast to Carter's visit to Mexico last February, which led to strained feelings on both sides.

Lopez Portillo was flying to Washington from New York, where he addressed the U.N. General Assembly Thursday night. On tap tonight is a state dinner and, tomorrow, another session with Carter.

The atmosphere for today's meeting — the third between the two leaders — improved dramatically with last week's announcement that the two governments ended two years of negotiations and reached an agreement for the sale of Mexican natural gas to the United States. With that issue resolved, the major irritants in U.S.-Mexican relations become a winter vegetable sale controversy and the flow of illegal migrants over the border.

The vegetable issue has become particularly sensitive since it involves farmers from Florida, a state which has become a key early battleground between Carter and his prospective chief challenger for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Florida farmers have complained that Mexico is "dumping" winter vegetables, primarily tomatoes, on the American market for less than their cost of production.

The farmers want the State Department to negotiate an arrangement to control the flow of Mexican tomatoes and to add extra duties to them to keep the price high. If the administration fails, the farmers have threatened to sue the Treasury Department for more stringent measures allowed under U.S. anti-

Rotarians To Have Car Show

Hereford residents will get a glimpse of the past and another of the customized future Saturday and Sunday during the Hereford Rotary Club Antique and Special Interest Car Show.

The show will be from 12 noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Bull Barn. Tickets will be available at the door for $2 to adults and $1 to children.

A 1935 Lincoln, driven by Franklin D. Roosevelt in a California parade, will be the featured car of the show. The Lincoln, owned by an Amarillo man, was displayed in the club's 1977 show and attracted a great deal of interest from spectators.

Approximately 40 cars from the Tri-State area will be on hand for the show, their owners competing for trophies.

Approximately 20 Ford Mustangs will be displayed outside the Bull Barn Saturday evening. The cars' owners, members of the Texas Panhandle Mustang Club, will be in town for the show, one of the largest events of its kind in the Tri-State area.

Door prizes will be awarded to lucky spectators, and refreshments and food will be available at the concession stand.

Proceeds from the show will go to Deaf Smith County United Way.

United Way Drive Organized, To Wind Up in Late October

Plans for a climatic Deaf Smith County United Way campaign were announced Thursday by drive chairman Doug Manning.

Scientists

Analyze Oil Spread

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A team of scientists say some answers may have been found to control future oil spills, but nothing definite can now be predicted to control the fuel spreading through the Gulf of Mexico from the runaway Mexican oil well.

The scientists returned Thursday after a three-week tour of the oil spill in the Bay of Campeche and admitted they needed more time to analyze their findings before coming up with any definite technical solutions.

Dr. John Farrington, senior chemist for the team, said, "It is wrong to say the oil spill is the disaster of the decade. There are earthquakes and hurricanes and famines which have claimed thousands of lives. This oil spill does not fall into that category and has claimed no lives."

Dr. Donald Atwood, chief scientist on the voyage, said, "It is an ecological mess down there. It is one ungodly mess. But as of now, we must put together and study all the information we have collected."

"This is now a gray area and we are compiling information for future use. We feel frustrated because we cannot give hard answers to your hard questions."

The voyage to the oil spill, at a cost of about $1.5 million, was sponsored by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, an arm of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Aboard the ship U.S.S. Researcher were scientists from NOAA, Texas A&M University, the universities of Louisville, Manning and three other members of a special campaign committee met Thursday and on two occasions to plan the fund drive, which United Way officials hope will net $148,500 to cover expenses of participating agencies. Members of the committee include Manning, JoAn Dwyer, Mike Patrick and Michael Carr.

Manning said that businesses will be contacted beginning Oct. 7 by letters then later by telephone calls.

"A large group of volunteers are being formed that will do the phone calling. The larger businesses will be worked personally by the four of us. Farmers will be contacted by letter. All the contacts lead toward a definite day when the pledges will be turned in," Manning said.

The special day, Oct. 25 will be the campaign's climax. KPAN Radio Station has agreed to broadcast the day's festivities, which will include games, fund-raising contests and announcements of the running total. The festivities will be centered in Sugarland Mall.

"We'll have a lot of activities going on to try to reach our goal. We'll have a corps of workers that day to work businesses. We plan to send them out by teams of two to blitz the town," Manning said.

"Of course, the campaign won't be limited to one day. We'll have a lot of pre-campaign work to do, taking pledges until that day. We'll just have one big day to turn them all in. On that day, we'll call on everybody that hasn't turned their pledges in or been contacted."

Manning said that, unlike in the past, there will be no divisions or captains this year, "just volunteers."

The Branding Iron $400 Loans, $70 a Week Kept Carmichael in Business

By PAUL SIMS Managing Editor

W.T. "Troys" Carmichael remembers the days when there was a windmill in every backyard, government loans never amounted to more than $400 and he had to leave Hereford for a job in Houston which paid an astounding 86 cents an hour.

"That was good money back in 1942. I couldn't turn down a job like that. I went to Houston and worked in the shipyards for a year—I was a welder—and got 70 bucks a week. People there were working for $2 a day in Hereford," said Carmichael, a long-time Deaf Smith County farmer.

Carmichael, at age 14, moved to Hereford with his parents in 1925. His dad farmed during the Depression years, and young Carmichael quit school to assist on the farm and work in other jobs around Hereford.

"I cut out about four years of school. Just for honoriness, I guess. But, I decided one morning while I was running an air jammer on the road and about to freeze to death, that maybe I better go back to school," Carmichael said.

He graduated in 1934—when he was 23. After graduation, Carmichael and his twin brother farmed to make a living.

"We would plant in the fall, and didn't bother with harvesting. In the meantime, in the other months, I went to work in Borger at the carbon black plant. I also worked on a dairy in Borger," said Carmichael, squeezing a hand to demonstrate the type of dairy it was.

"We sold out wheat in the fall, then I lived in Borger in the wintertime. Hereford was still my home."

"I can remember that it used to have 1,500 population, and there were 500 windmills. Nearly everybody had a windmill in their back yard to water their gardens with. Everybody had a garden in town, and nearly everybody had a cow."

He married Ruby Thompson, the school principal at Summerfield. They lived in Hereford until 1942, when they moved to Houston.

"I couldn't pass up a job like that. I was working in town here for $15 a week, as bookkeeper and floor sales for Hereford Appliance. My wife worked in the abstract office for 50 bucks a month," Carmichael said.

"We bought a neat little two-bedroom house in Houston. It cost $180 down, and the payments were $28 a month. A few years ago, I went back by that house in Houston. It's still a beautiful little house."

Carmichael returned to Hereford and farmed until 1964.

"Farming has changed a lot over the years. We used to couldn't borrow but $400 on a Federal Seed and Feed Loan. That wasn't enough, but that was the maximum. And that was $400 more than you could borrow at the bank."

"You asked if the Depression was tough. Well, I don't know—I never knew any better. People were hungry, but I was never hungry. My dad was a good provider. He beat the Depression by working hard, and mother canned. We had a living."

Carmichael, in 1964, rented out his farms and opened a real-estate license in town.

Portillo to Discuss Rights with Carter

NEW YORK (AP) - Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo has been discussing human rights at practically every New York stop and says he will bring up the subject again when he meets President Carter over the weekend in Washington.

The Mexican president hinted he plans to urge Carter to address the problems of illegal aliens in this country, who also are entitled to human rights, he said.

Lopez Portillo was to leave for Washington today.

At one of his stops, he told the United Nations Thursday that his country supported demands by poor countries for control over their raw materials. He also called for the establishment of a U.N.-operated world energy order-a worldwide plan "that covers all nations, both haves and have nots, and is binding on all."

In remarks to the Society for the Family of Man, which presented him with its 1979 award Thursday night, the Mexican president said rich countries must help the poor nations.

"It is both necessary and urgent for us to...strive to achieve a better distribution of the world's wealth and to narrow the dramatic breach between the privileged and the poverty stricken countries," Lopez Portillo said as he accepted the award.

Men Ordered To Pay Chain-Letter Buyers

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Three persons who promised South Texans a $204,800 return on a $100 investment have agreed not to promote chain letters in Texas.

Richard Rock and Sharon Licciardello of New Jersey and Dustin Rock of the Rio Grande Valley have also agreed to pay $3,950 to 50 South Texans who participated in the "Chain of Gold" scheme, Attorney General Mark White said Thursday.

The agreed judgment was signed in state district court at Edinburg.

Assistant Attorney General Craig Vititoe of McAllen said the plan began with invitations to cocktail parties. At those parties the invitees were told of a way to reap quick profits. Those willing to invest the $100 were given a list of 12 names to contact to begin the chain.

"They told them the participants need only sit back and watch the money roll in," Vititoe said.

Theoretically, $204,800 would roll in for 4,096 persons. Mathematically, however, the plan was impossible, Vititoe said.

The dozen names on the original lists included relatives of the promoters.

Most of the participants lost $50-$100, Vititoe said.

Gold Tops $400 For 1st Time Ever

LONDON (AP) - The price of gold cracked the $400-an-ounce level for the first time in history in Hong Kong today and neared the $400 mark in Europe.

But the battered dollar gained moderately on foreign currency exchanges.

Gold, which has soared an astounding $74 a troy ounce since Sept. 1, touched a peak of $400.20 during morning trading in Hong Kong before settling back to close at $396.25. After the Hong Kong market's close, gold moved up to a record $399 an ounce in London following the morning "fixing" price of $397 set by the city's big five bullion dealers. The price was up from $394 the night before and topped the previous London high of $395.50 at the Thursday afternoon fixing.

In Zurich, bullion sold for $398 at noon after touching a record $398.50 in late morning. Thursday's closing price, the previous Zurich high, was $395.50.

In Paris, where the bullion price is inflated by a government tax, gold topped $400 for the first time, reaching $401.28 at the morning fixing. In Frankfurt, dealers fixed the price at $398.53.

Irish To Shoot Planes in Pope Routes

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) - The Irish air force warned it will shoot down any unauthorized planes that fly into air corridors reserved for Pope John Paul II's flights around Ireland during his three-day visit starting Saturday.

"We're prepared to fire on any planes that do not move out when we make warning signals," Commandant John O'Brien, fighter wing commander at caseant air base near Dublin, said Thursday.

Lt. Col. Barney McMahon, his aide, told reporters: "Armed Marchetti fighters will check the routes taken by the pope's aircraft to make sure no lunatics are flying around."

"We'd have very little option to open fire if for instance, a plane was hijacked and being flown toward the pope's plane."

McMahon said airlines, flying clubs and other aviation organizations have been advised of the flight restrictions during the papal visit. He stressed that warning shots should be enough to scare off any pilot who flies into the corridors.

He noted that the air force's main task in the massive Irish security operation will be to "prevent any unauthorized aircraft interfering with the pope's flights."

Town Economy Lauded

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO (AP) - J. Phillip Richley, mayor of this industrial city in the Mahoning Valley of northeastern Ohio, claims it received a bump rap from national media portrayals of it as a dying steel-town.

To the contrary, he says, the Youngstown economy is in fair shape, better than he imagined when he took office nearly two years ago, and far better than the popular image of a blighted economy.

Says the Chamber of Commerce in a multicolor brochure, "Youngstown is a city of vitality and action, and this is best exemplified by the extensive amount of building, rebuilding, expansion and improvements."

While chambers must paint positive pictures, there is much truth in the assertion. The problem is that outsiders remember that two years ago this month Youngstown was portrayed as terminally ill.

That notion spread from the closing of Youngstown Sheet & Tube's Campbell works with a loss of 4,100 jobs. The decay would spread, the cynics and fainthearted feared. The valley would die, they said.

Richley blames the national media, and says that overcoming the false image is now his hardest job. The problems were over-dramatized, he says. In retrospect, he says, things were really never that bad.

But the mayor himself admits he was at first depressed by what he believed were the true conditions, and in an article he wrote just two months ago he still referred to "this unprecedented crisis."

The wording was perhaps inspired by a project dear to Richley's heart, a federally funded National Center for the Development and Demonstration of Steel Technology, a sort of space center of steel.

He and other Youngstown-area officials are data-sharp, a consequence of having had the area's survival put in doubt. They have researched deeply, and have plenty of numbers to support their plan.

In the article, Richley states that Washington's contribution to steel research and development is but 3 percent of what the industry spends, but that it provides 78 percent of aircraft industry R&D spending.

Wouldn't the entire country benefit - in terms of security, jobs, the balance of payments - from helping to make domestic steel competitive with foreign companies, he asks? Isn't national security involved?

Symbolizing the aggressive, creative thinking resulting from the big scare, if not crisis, Richley and the Mahoning Valley Development Corp. would place the steel center at the closed Youngstown works.

They estimate the initial cost of reopening the plant as a technology center would be at least $250 million in federal funds, a sum Richley says "would not be out of line," considering the potential returns.

The plans originated at the time of the crisis, when it was still feared that a catastrophe had hit the valley. It didn't occur. "The disaster never took place," said the mayor in an interview.

Plans for the center are far from dead, however. They are sidelined for the moment, Richley says, while officials deal with immediate tasks, such as preserving and attracting jobs. The mayor still hopes.

He says that R. Wayne Kraft, a Lehigh University professor, submitted a favorable report to Washington on the feasibility of the project. Favorable, the mayor says - except for doubts about financing.

While the professor did say thought should be given to establishing a national blast furnace research center, he added it must not be solely a government endeavor. Industry too must contribute, he said.

The plan in its broader aspects did not win his vote. He wrote:

"We have concluded that... a national steel research facility, a national information transfer center, or a national testing center, are not viable alternatives to the situation at Youngstown."

"In general we find these alternatives to be unneeded at this time, to be ill-adapted to the resources available and not to be a viable solution to the problems which the development corporation proposal addresses."

But, having gone through a serious crisis or the appearance of it, the city has learned to look after itself, and look to Washington too. The center remains a part of the valley's long-range economic plan.

That long-range plan - called a comprehensive economic development strategy - has as one of its goals a higher degree of cooperation with the various economic aid agencies of the federal government.

The goal of the plan, says Laird Eckman, development corporation associate director, is "to use federal money to leverage greater amounts of local money for development."

Fire Kills 23 Persons

VIENNA, Austria (AP) - An intense, choking fire roared through a Vienna hotel before dawn today, killing 23 persons and injuring 13, including members of an American and Yugoslav travel group, officials said. Police feared more victims would be found when firemen checked all 57 rooms in the five-story building.

Police said because all the guest lists were lost in the blaze at the medium-priced Am Augarten Hotel, in Vienna's second district, it was impossible at the moment to identify the guests or give their home towns. The U.S. Embassy also said it had not yet been able to establish who the Americans were.

The fire started around 5 a.m. near the reception desk and roared to the upper floors of the building through elevator shafts. The night receptionist was missing and police were looking for him. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Witnesses said 14 of the guests were wakened by the wail of an approaching fire engines and tried to jump from windows but firemen delivered them to safety using high-rise ladders. Most of the victims were overcome by the poisonous fumes in their sleep.

Police said the fire warning devices in the hotel were working properly. The 120 firemen and 30 trucks responding to the fire had the blaze under control an hour after they arrived, but the heat was so intense it bent some of the steel rails in the elevator shafts.

Police Investigate Fights, Vandalism

Hereford police were called Thursday to investigate two family fights, a report of a vandalism, a burglary and an assault.

Victor Carbajal, 308 Knight, reported he was kicked and hit in the ribs Thursday. Officers are planning to arrest two suspects in connection with the assault.

Two wives reported Thursday that their husbands had beaten them during quarrels. The offenses occurred at 113 Fuller and 317 Adelito Calle.

Juan Pacheco told police he was awakened about 3:30 a.m. today and went outside to investigate. He said he noticed a man running to a car then driving away at a high rate of speed. Pacheco said he then noticed a tire on his car had been flattened.

Munchie's Snack Bar, 615 Union, reported Thursday that someone cut off the screen on a window, opened the window and stole $25 from inside the building.

Someone reportedly stole a key to the gas pumps at Consumer's Fuel-Co-op 116 New York Ave., Thursday.

Officers arrested a female for public intoxication early today and a male for drunk and in control of a motor vehicle and disorderly conduct.

Police also are investigating harassing telephone calls reportedly received by a Hereford woman Thursday.

Police issued eight traffic citations Thursday.

NORA LAM

Evangelist Lam Slated to Speak

Evangelist Nora Lam, who has appeared with Robertson on the Christian Broadcasting Network and with Mrs. Kuhlman on her national telecast, "I Believe in Miracles," will speak at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Community Church, 15th St. and Denton Park.

The public is invited to the service.

Ms. Lam, born in Peking, China, testifies that she was taken to the desert in Communist China to be shot by a firing squad, because she refused to deny her Christianity. Miraculously, none of the bullets touched her and she was spared, according to her testimony.

Her family was permitted to leave China for Hong Kong, but she says she was forced to undergo hard labor even though she was 8 1/2 months pregnant before she was allowed to immigrate.

After spending eight years in Hong Kong, Ms. Lam came to the United States under the sponsorship of the late Kathryn Kuhlman. Since then, Ms. Lam has traveled throughout the country, giving her testimony. She has appeared in several of the largest churches and auditoriums in the country and North Carolina, Washington, and the French and Mexican governments.

Atwood said one of the findings that may help control future spills was that thick concentrations of oil termed mousse "does not form until it is three to 15 miles from the well."

"Mousse appears also to be a function caused by sunlight and wind, not just a combination of oil and water," he said.

Atwood said the research team

Atwood said that in his personal opinion Pemex, the Mexican national oil company is now putting all its efforts into placing a cement cap over the runaway well and that "there is very little cleanup operation now under way."

Earlier in the week, Dr. Roy Hann, head of the department of environmental science at Texas A&M, said the U.S. Coast Guard does not have the sufficient

Hann said the Intox I blowout off the Mexican coast was an opportunity "to demonstrate to the world we have the capacity of dealing with the spill."

Economy

the price of gold shot toward $400 per ounce on world markets and the value of the dollar sagged against major European currencies.

The trade figures could put more pressure on the dollar because the higher deficit means that more dollars flowed out of the United States last month. This, in theory, increases the supply overseas, which tends to depress the dollar's value on foreign markets.

Imports in August rose to a record

$18.18 billion, the report said. This was a 8.3 percent increase from July and the largest such increase since an 8.8 percent rise in February 1978. Commerce figure show.

Exports also hit a record level, $15.82 billion. But the 1 percent increase from July was not enough to keep pace with the import surge.

"We expect exports to continue growing faster than imports through the rest of the year," said Commerce Department economist William Cox. This would bring the 1979 trade deficit close to the Carter administration's $23 billion target, he said. The deficit last year was $28.5 billion.

The nation's petroleum import bill - reflecting the latest round of price increases by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries - rose to a record $5.2 billion in August, up 7.9 percent from the previous high of $4.8 billion in July.

thing that can be done is to keep the negotiations private."

Neither Vance nor Gromyko, meeting the press after their 3 1/2-hour session, would go beyond describing the talks as "serious." The mood was clearly gloomy, however, as the men descended from Vance's 37th floor hotel suite overlooking the United Nations.

Gromyko planned to return to Moscow today, precluding what had been seen as a possible meeting with Carter this weekend if progress resulted from the New York talks.

Officials had said a decision by Carter on whether to take part in the talks hinged on the outcome of the last Vance-Gromyko meeting.

Administration sources said, there remained a possibility Vance would hold further talks with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

Such a meeting, however, was said to depend on some indication from Moscow that it is prepared to accept and do something about the U.S. position on the detachment.

Yet State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said he would not rule out some unspecified U.S. effort to keep the delicate discussions alive. "I'm really trying not to rule out any possibility," he told reporters in New York.

In the talks, the United States has sought to impress on the Russians the Carter administration's feeling that, without a prompt settlement of the dispute, there is little prospect the Senate will ratify the strategic arms limitation treaty by the end of the year.

The United States maintains the detachment of approximately 2,500 Soviet troops in Cuba is a combat brigade. President Carter has said that is an unacceptable state of affairs and said the troops' combat capability must be ended.

Gromyko, however, curtly denied that allegation in a speech earlier this week to the U.N. General Assembly. He charged that the controversy was the product of "falsehoods" and said, "It is high time that you honestly admit this whole matter is artificial and proclaim it to be closed."

Reiterating an assertion Gromyko made in his U.N. speech, the Soviet news agency Tass said Thursday that the Soviet troops are merely a training brigade first sent to Cuba 17 years ago.

Tass, referring to Carter's recent statements that the present situation was intolerable, added: "A demand is made in an ultimatum-like tone that the status quo, which was existed for almost two decades now, be changed."

To bolster his case, Carter earlier in the week named a seven-man committee, headed by former Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, to "get all the facts" on the Cuban situation and help Carter decide what to do.

On Thursday, Powell told reporters that Carter had asked five other Americans to give their suggestions on the situation. Reportedly among that group are former secretaries of state Henry Kissinger and Dean Rusk.

dumping laws.

Mexico, which sells $200 million worth of vegetables in the United States each year, has protested that it wants easier access to the American market, not more restrictions.

The second issue, illegal Mexican migrants, took on a new dimension this week when Lopez Portillo promised a group of Mexican-Americans that he would talk to Carter about the human rights of the migrants, which the Mexican-American groups say are abused.

After two years of consultations, the two sides feel they have made progress on the thorny migrant issue because they are close to agreeing on how to count the migrants. But there is no prospect for agreement on what to do about them.

Ann Landers

"Weird Vera"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A girl with whom several of us have lunch insists on stuffing all the leftovers in her purse—with or without a doggy bag. She says, "I'm taking this home to my husband." Then in go the rolls, chicken or steak, wrapped in a paper napkin, along with whatever else isn't eaten at the table.

"Weird Vera" is not exactly a welfare case. She and her husband both have excellent jobs. They have no children—not even a dog.

When there's a buffer, "Weird Vera" really goes to town. It's embarrassing to be in her company. What should we say to her?—Mortified Trio

DEAR TRIO: Stocking the home fridge with food from a buffet is pretty tacky, but taking home leftovers when dining out is no longer considered gauche. Since the price of food has gone out of sight, nobody bats an eye.

Your friend should ask for a doggy bag (or carry one) for her leftovers. It's stupid to risk ruining a good purse with 70 cents' worth of hamburger steak.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why must you print the name of the city along with the signatures? You have put me in hot water because of this, and I'll bet a lot of other people, too. I wish you would cut it out.

A letter appeared in your column a few days ago about a guy who is running around on his wife. He admitted it, told you how much he cares for the other woman, but can't leave his wife because she has a heart condition.

That letter was signed with the man's initials. As if that wasn't bad enough, you added, "From Greenville." Well, my initials are the same as his, and I live in Greenville. Everyone in town must read your column, because our telephone hasn't stopped ringing. My wife is humiliated, and I'm in the doghouse. I have never cheated on my wife in my life. You owe us an apology in the paper—Innocent Victim

DEAR INNOCENT: Sorry I created a problem for you, but according to the Postal Service directory, there are 26 Greenvilles in the United States. One each in Alabama, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin. I'm printing your letter but omitting the state. I don't think you want to hear any more about this matter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Christmas is three months away, and already I'm dreading it. Every year our family exchanges gifts. It has gotten completely out of hand. For example, my grandparents—who are retired—can barely manage on their modest pensions. They'll buy 30 Christmas gifts a year—one for the daughters, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law and sons, and of course, all the grandchildren.

Our family is not close. We rarely see each other except at funerals. When Christmas rolls around we get together, overspend and try too hard to enjoy ourselves. Most of the presents exchanged are useless. Is there a solution to this ongoing charade?—Lafayette, Ind.

DEAR IND.: A gracious and sensible way to put an end to it is to write notes to one and all saying you've decided to end the

Now I know that children DO exist even though all rental property listings state "no children". After all something has to account for the overcrowding in the classrooms. It is also a school rule that all children go "somewhere" after school.

Try to convince prospective landlords of this though and you're in real trouble.

County Wants to Oust State Troopers, Charging Harrassment of Its Citizens

JOURDANTON, Texas (AP) — Atascosa County officials say they want Earl Conaway and Albert Rodriguez out of their county by Monday or there will be dire consequences.

That presents somewhat of a problem. Conaway and Rodriguez, you see, are top-notch state troopers credited by their superiors with a crackdown on drunk drivers that has trimmed the county's traffic accident rate in half.

But Monday, if the two young troopers are still on duty, county officials vow in an official resolution that they'll heave the entire six-man Department of Public Safety operation out of its county-owned command post.

The county judge and commissioners also want Sheriff Tommy Williams to refuse any prisoners brought in by the two patrolmen if they continue to work. Williams has said he intends to comply.

DPS officials said Tuesday they do not plan to transfer the two officers, but will simply work from the six troopers' homes if the threat is carried out. "We'll just take our equipment, clean up the building, lock the door and take the keys over to the judge," said Capt.

Randol Gilmore, district commander.

The crackdown by the two troopers has led to drunk driving charges this summer against Plez William Hall, the son of Pleasanton Mayor Travis Hall, and Thomas James Tausch, the son of County Commissioner Smith Tausch, who introduced the resolution last week.

DPS officials feel the arrests probably prompted the eviction threat. "We can't prove it, but the circumstantial evidence is obviously there," said a top DPS official who requested anonymity.

Conaway, who arrested both men, is black, leading some to say the episode in the rural South Texas county has racial overtones. "His being black has a lot to do with it. But you can't go out and prove it," said Patrolman Johnny Abrego, Conaway's partner.

But County Judge O.B. Gates and Tausch deny those two arrests or racism prompted the ultimatum. They said numerous residents have complained to them about "harrassment and abuse" from the two officers, but refused to offer specifics.

"It's just these two particular patrolmen, no others," said Tausch. "They have harassed and abused people." He then refused further comment and shoved past reporters.

"It's harrassment and the methods that they apply when they arrest a person," said Gates, who unsuccessfully met Tuesday with the commander.

The resolution did not specify any allegations. Hall alleged Tuesday that Conaway had repeatedly followed his son the night of his son's arrest July 19, but Gilmore said an investigation disproved that charge.

"I agree with this resolution because of the harrassment. I don't want a drunk driver on the highway, not my son or anybody else," said Hall. "But I've gotten complaints from other people. It seems to me that the DPS should respect the wishes of the county judge and commissioners on a mere transfer."

Conaway had the day off Tuesday and could not be reached for comment, but Rodriguez denied he and Conaway harassed anyone. "We've done what we can call non-selective law enforcement. Anybody we stop, if they are driving while intoxicated, they'll come in. We don't make any exceptions whatsoever," he said. Gilmore said Conaway, 32, and Rodriguez, 26, often work more than 12 hours per day, each arresting an average of 14 drunk drivers per month. The district average, he said, is about five.

"The two troopers they want moved are two of my best men. They arrest more DWIs (drunk drivers) than the other four troopers combined," said Gilmore. "We encourage the detection and arrests of drunk drivers. We feel a drunk driver is a potential murderer."

Gilmore said DPS officials have repeatedly met with county officials, but cannot get specific charges against the two troopers.

"If they have anything concrete in the way of a complaint, we'll investigate it," he said. "But they have refused to name the complainants or give us specific charges against the men. It's all been very vague. They have refused to give us anything else to work with except to say they have had a lot of complaints."

Extradition Case Clouded by Politics, Providing U.S. Haven for Terrorists

CHICAGO (AP) — Ziyad Abu Eain, a young Palestinian wanted for murder in Israel, may have the U.S. government caught in an extradition Catch 22 that federal officials say they can't afford to lose.

Abu Eain, charged with setting off a bomb in a crowded Israeli marketplace that killed two civilians, stands a fair chance of staying in this country — even if the U.S. government can show there's reason to believe he is guilty.

And if he does, say prosecutors in the case and such Jewish groups as the American Jewish Committee and Anti-Defamation League, the United States is opening its door as "a haven for terrorists."

Furthermore, the case of 19-year-old Abu Eain comes less than six months after the U.S. government lost a similar extradition attempt in California involving Peter McMullen, a member of the Irish Republican Army.

McMullen, sought for extradition by England for bombing a British army barracks, convinced a federal magistrate the bombing was committed in the name of a political cause. He is now living in the United States.

Government officials — from the State Department to the Justice Department — admit that after the McMullen ruling, pressure now is on government attorneys to convince a federal magistrate in Chicago that Abu Eain should be extradited.

"It's a very important case," a State Department official who asked that his name not be used said, referring to the Abu Eain hearing that began Wednesday. "I don't think there's very much disagreement that the McMullen ruling was an unfortunate one from the government's standpoint."

Recent court decisions, notably the one involving McMullen, have held that terrorist acts may be classified as "political" under the political offense exemption of U.S. extradition treaties with foreign countries, including Israel.

Extradition, the U.S.-Israeli treaty says, shall not be granted "when the offense is regarded...as one of a political character or if the person sought proves that the request for his extradition has...been made with a view to trying or punishing him for an offense of a political character."

But these two cases raise a thorny question. How can an act of apparent terrorism, abhorred by the U.S. government, be excluded from the category of "political" activities long sheltered by the U.S. Constitution?

If politics weren't involved, Magistrate Olga Jurco would only have to decide if criminal evidence warranted extradition. The proceeding — similar to a preliminary hearing — is not designed to determine innocence or guilt, just criminality.

But in this case, the three government lawyers, led by U.S. Attorney Thomas Sullivan, will have to prove more than criminality if they hope to extradite Abu Eain, under the precedent of the McMullen ruling.

Thus it is difficult to say how soon a decision can be expected. The McMullen case took nearly a year.

Abu Eain, a citizen of the Israeli-occupied West Bank, came to Chicago in June on a visitor's visa before he was charged with the May 14 bombing in Tiberias, Israel. He was arrested by the FBI in August on the extradition request and is now in a federal prison after having been denied bail.

William Goodman, a San Francisco lawyer who defended McMullen, explained in a telephone interview his view of the political offense exemption and why government attorneys here may have a tough fight.

"Historically, the political offense exemption has worked to the benefit of people who might nowadays be considered terrorists, if you want to call them terrorists," said Goodman, who believes McMullen was the first IRA member sought for extradition from this country.

McMullen, have held that a defendant is exempt from extradition if his crimes are part of an insurrectional movement to undermine an existing government. Goodman said. In addition, the individual must be a bona fide member of that movement, such as the PLO or IRA.

While denying that Abu Eain set off the bomb — an act for which the PLO claimed responsibility — Abdeen Jabara, a lawyer for Abu Eain, nonetheless acknowledges that the young Palestinian supports the PLO and argues the act was political.

Sullivan has not given an interpretation of the political offense exemption, but he contends attacking innocent civilians in a marketplace is a "criminal act of terrorism, as distinguished from an act of a political character." He has indicated he will try to do what government attorneys in the McMullen case failed to do: establish a distinction between a political and terrorist act.

Illegal Aliens To Get Minimum

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal strike force is investigating Houston businesses to fire illegal aliens to make sure the undocumented workers are paid legal wage rates.

Bill A. Belt, the Department of Labor's regional administrator for employment standards, said a team of 10 investigators also is attempting to collect back wages for any illegal aliens who have been deported.

In a news conference Thursday, Belt said the team from the department's wage and hour division will make no attempt to identify individual illegal aliens for deportation.

The strike force, which began

Meeting Set

The fall meeting of Germania Farm Mutual will be Monday, Oct. 1 at 7 p.m. in the community center.

But Goodman doubts the argument will work.

"In the abstract, it has a certain amount of emotional appeal, but when you apply the law it's beside the point," he said. "It can be shown that bombing innocent civilians is a PLO tactic to keep the Israeli population in a state of terror."

"If this has been the objective of the PLO, then it's obviously done to accomplish a strategic political end. It makes perfectly good sense, whether you agree with it or not."

If the government loses the Abu Eain case, federal immigration authorities could still deport the Palestinian. But Lawrence Chamblee, a Justice Department official, says deportation is not a substitute for extradition. "Indeed, McMullen is fighting deportation now."

"A person fighting deportation can stay in this country indefinitely," Chamblee said. "As an example, we've been trying to deport a man, a gangster, since 1948."

operating Sept. 10, are here "to remove the economic advantage for hiring undocumented workers by requiring employers to adhere strictly to federal labor standards," Belt said.

"Thus employers will be more inclined to hire residents and prevent exploitation of illegal workers," he said at a news conference.

He said this first strike force was initiated in Houston because it has the greatest percentage of employed undocumented workers in the country and ranks second to Los Angeles in the number of illegal aliens in residence.

He said the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates there are 500,000 illegal aliens living in Harris County, and 425,000 of them have jobs.

Shavers, Holmes Square Off in WBC Title Fight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Earnie Shavers tries tonight to become the second-oldest heavyweight champion in history. He'll fight Larry Holmes, who found out in his last bout he is not too old to learn.

"It's always on my mind. You guys (reporters) won't let me forget it," said Holmes of his unimpressive performance against little-known Mike Weaver, who gave the World Boxing Council champion a rough time before being stopped in the 12th round last June 22.

"I learned to discipline myself," said the 29-year-old Holmes, who contends he didn't prepare properly for Weaver. He said he hasn't made the same mistake for Shavers, though he easily outpointed Shavers in 12 rounds on March 25, 1978.

one hand," said Shavers, who used both hands to knock out Ken Norton in one round last March 23 and get back into the championship picture.

But while Holmes says he has learned his lesson, he adds Shavers is too old to learn to change.

"I don't really think you can get better when you get a certain age," said Holmes, a one-time sparring partner for Shavers who expects Earnie to be the same man he beat before. "I don't really believe Shavers has the punching power he says he has."

Odds-makers agree with Holmes. To bet on the champion, one must give 4-1. If you like Shavers, you get 3-1.

Holmes weighed in Thursday at 210 pounds, five pounds lighter than for the Weaver fight, and one pound lighter than Shavers.

The fight at Caesars Palace headlines a show that also features another world title shot and appearances by unbeaten Sugar Ray Leonard and the great Roberto Duran.

ABC will televise the card from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., PDT. Leonard, of Palmer Park, Md., is scheduled to fight for the WBC welterweight championship against Wilfredo Benitez Nov. 30. He will open the telecast with a scheduled 12-round North American Boxing Federation title defense against Andy Price of Los Angeles.

Also scheduled for live television is a 10-rounder between Duran, of Panama, the former lightweight champion now campaigning for the welterweight title, and Zefirino Gonzalez of San Jose, Calif.

FEW PEOPLE'S YEARS have begun more disappointingly than did 1929 for Roy Riegels. After recovering a Georgia Tech fumble in that year's Rose Bowl, the University of California player took off in the wrong direction. The error led to a safety that made the difference in Georgia Tech's 8-7 victory.

Should Shavers win the title at age 35, he would be second only to Jersey Joe Walcott as the oldest heavyweight champion. Walcott was 37 when he knocked out Ezzard Charles in 1951 to win the title on his fifth try. This is Shavers' second title shot; he was outpointed by Muhammad Ali on Sept. 29, 1977.

"I'll knock him out in the fifth round," said Shavers, who said he has come of age as a fighter and will be a much different man than the one who lost to Holmes last year.

Longhorns Travel To Missouri To Battle Fifth Rank Tigers

By The Associated Press

Will Missouri's mystery football team please stand up?

The Tigers have played more like pussycats in the first half of their three games this season, scoring only three points. But in the second half, they have been extremely ferocious, outscoring their opponents 89-8.

Coach Warren Powers, whose fifth-ranked Tigers are 3-0 after rallying for victories over San Diego State 45-15, Illinois 14-6 and Mississippi 33-7, is at a loss for words in trying to explain his team's Jekyll and Hyde performances.

"It's just unbelievable," he said. "We've looked at the play-calling, we've studied the film. It just seems like we make mistakes and cost ourselves chances to score in the first half."

Missouri will have to be wary of making mistakes Saturday. The Tigers face their sternest test of the season so far, meeting No. 4 Texas at Columbia, Mo.

The Longhorns have played only once, and also needed a second-half rally to win, overcoming a 9-0 first-half deficit to beat Iowa State 17-9.

Missouri is hoping the return to full-time duty of running back James Wilder will add thrust to its offense. Wilder, hampered by a hamstring injury, made his first appearance against Mississippi and scored one touchdown.

The Missouri-Texas game is one of five contests Saturday matching Top 20 teams against each other.

In the others, top-ranked Southern California, 3-0, is at No. 20 Louisiana State, which has walloped Colorado 44-0 and Rice 47-3, in a night game.

No. 18 Penn State, 1-1, trying to rebound from a stunning 27-14 setback to Texas A&M and star running back Curtis Dickey, is on the road against sixth-rated Nebraska, 2-0, featuring I.M. Hipp, averaging 5.7 yards per carry.

Seventh-ranked Michigan State, 3-0, and with a 10-game winning streak since losing to Notre Dame 29-25 last year, visits the 15th-ranked Fighting Irish, 1-1, beaten by Purdue 28-22 last week. And No. 14 Ohio State, 3-0, under the direction of sophomore quarterback Art Schlichter, is at 17th-ranked UCLA, 2-1, in a nationally televised game.

Elsewhere, No. 2 Alabama, 2-0, is at Vanderbilt; third-ranked Oklahoma, 2-0, is on the road at Rice in a night game; Houston, rated eighth and 2-0, visits West Texas State; No. 9

Washington, 3-0, entertains Fresno State, and 10th-ranked Purdue, 2-1, led by passing standout Mark Herrmann, is host to Oregon.

Also, No. 11 Michigan, 2-1, plays at California, upset winner over both Arizona State and Arizona; Florida State, rated 12th and 3-0, is at Virginia Tech in a regionally televised game; 13th-ranked Arkansas, 2-0, is home against Tulsa; No. 16 North Carolina State, 3-0, entertains undefeated Wake Forest in a night game, and 19th-ranked Southern Methodist, 3-0, without injured star quarterback Mike Ford, visits Tulane in another night game.

Dirks Leading Passer In District 4-4A

Monterey and Plainview rank 1-2 in team offense and defense after three non-district games for District 4-4A teams.

Monterey is first in team offense with 641 rushing and 213 yards passing for an average of 284 per game. Plainview has 611 rushing and 83 passing for a 231-game average. Hereford is third in team offense and has the most yards passing, 283. The Herd offense averages 212 per game.

Plainview, despite its 1-2 wgn-loss record, is the team leader in defense. The Bulldogs have yielded 299 yards rushing in three games and 159 passing. That's a game average of 152.7 yards. Monterey has yielded an average 177 per game. Hereford is fourth, giving up 232 per game.

Hereford boasts two of the top rushers in the league. Joe Walker is third on total rushing yards with 173, but has the second best average—13.1 yards per carry. Joe, Mitchem ranks fifth with 112 yards in three games.

Quarterback Derek Dirks is the most prolific passer in the league with 212 yards in three contests. He has completed 15 of 37 pass attempts. Herd quarterback Alan Wartes also has a good mark, hitting 8 of 17 for 71 yards.

The Whitefaces have four pass receivers in the top 10 in the district. Scott Daniels has hauled in six throws for 58 yards; Ray Harris 3 for 52; Wayne High 4 for 51, and Felix Soliz 4 for 47.

The Herd will travel to Canyon tonight to take on the Eagles at 7:30 p.m.

Herd Junior Varsity Remains Undefeated

The Hereford High junior varsity football team remained undefeated, raising its record to 4-0 by defeating Tascosa 22-6 last night at Whiteface Stadium.

The Herd opened the scoring in the first period on a 20 yard field goal by Don Delozier, and a 10 yard sweep by Bruce Clark. Delozier kicked the extra point to bring the score to 10-0, a score that stood at halftime.

The Herd added another TD in the third quarter when Matt Collier took the ball 35 yards into the end zone on an option keeper. The point after attempt was missed and the score was 16-0.

Tascosa finally got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter on a five yard run by Ronald Guest. Hereford answered the Rebel score with a 30 yard touchdown pass from Collier to Delozier. The Herd tried for a two point conversion and failed, bringing the final score to 22-6.

The junior varsity will be going for its fifth straight victory Thursday night when Caprock visits Hereford to play the Herd at Whiteface Stadium.

LaPlata, Stanton Win Convincingly

Raymond Martinez let loose for touchdown runs of 55 and 35 yards to lead La Plata ninth grade to a 27-6 victory over the Muleshoe sophomore team at La Plata last night.

In what Coach Joe Spain called the Team's "finest effort this year," the Maverick defense held Muleshoe scoreless until the fourth quarter.

Martinez's first score came with 6:03 left in the first period when he took off around the left end and ran for a 55 yard score. The extra point attempt failed. With 49 seconds left in the half Martinez broke another run around the left end for a 35 yard touchdown. He also kicked the extra point to raise the halftime score to 13-0.

The second half brought two more touchdowns for the Maverick Squad. Quarterback Glen Phibbs scored on a keeper in the third quarter and Isaac Gamboa scored on a 15 yard end around. Martinez connected on both shots for the extra points.

Maverick linebacker James Payne suffered a knee injury and may be lost for an indefinite amount of time. The extent of damage to his knee is not known at this time.

La Plata's eighth grade squad dropped its game to Plainview Blue 22-8. The only Maverick score came on a 15 yard run by Robert Martinez. The two point conversion was made on a run by Larry Jimenez.

Stanton ninth grade downed Pampa 36-6 last night on touchdowns runs of 50, 35, and 20 yards by Alfred Ball. Gilbert Rodriguez scored on a two yard run and Charlie Garza snagged an eight yard touchdown pass.

The victory leaves Stanton undefeated at 3-0. Next week it will take on Borger.

The Stanton Eighth grade dropped its game to Plainview Red, 28-14.

Parker Holds Lead

DENISON, Texas (AP) — Hank Parker held an 11-pound lead today going into the final round of the $50,000 Bass Masters Classic tournament at nearby Lake Texoma.

The 26-year-old Clover, S.C., fishing pro has caught 11 pounds of bass Thursday to bring his total catch to 28 pounds and nine ounces after the first two rounds of the three-day fishing tournament.

His nearest competitor, Roland Martin, 39, of Broken Arrow, Okla., trailed by 11 pounds in the quest for the $25,000 first prize.

Gary Klein, 21, of Oroville, Calif., finished the second round in third place, followed by Rick Clunn, 33, of Montgomery, Texas.

The $50,000 in prize money will be divided among the top ten anglers in the tournament that ends today.

Bucs, Dallas, Houston Picked to Win

By HAL BOCK

AP Sports Writer
Unbeaten, untied and unbeatable. That describes the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, who insist they are real contenders and are certainly playing that way so far this season.

After four weeks, the National Football League has just four unbeaten teams left and Tampa Bay is one of them. How long can this go on? Another week, at least, or so it says here.

No guarantees, of course, especially after last week's 7-7 disaster. The season's record is 39-16 for .709.

The picks:
TAMPA BAY 17, CHICAGO 14: The Bucs believe they can't be beaten and the funny thing is they may be right.

MIAMI 27, N.Y. JETS 14: Bob Griese returns to the Dolphin lineup and won't his eyes light up when he sees that Jet secondary.

PITTSBURGH 20, PHILADELPHIA 17: The Steelers are beat up but their reserves would be first stringers elsewhere.

HOUSTON 34, CLEVELAND 21: The state of Texas could never handle two defeats in one week to the Browns.

ATLANTA 21, WASHINGTON 17: All the game statistics except the final score went against the Redskins last week. This time the score will, too.

MINNESOTA 16, DETROIT 13: The Vikings are learning how to win with Tommy Kramer and their defense should handle the anemic Lion attack.

NEW ORLEANS 24, N.Y. GIANTS 10: The margin would be more if Saints' flanker Wes Chandler were healthy.

DALLAS 30, CINCINNATI 14: Can the Cowboys be as bad as they looked against Cleveland. We'll find out against the Bengals.

LOS ANGELES 21, ST. LOUIS 10: Hopefully, the Rams can relocate their offense at home. They sure couldn't find it in Tampa Bay last week.

SEATTLE 31, KANSAS CITY 14: The Seahawks had Denver beat and gave the game back. They won't be as benevolent with the Chiefs.

SAN DIEGO 34, SAN FRANCISCO 14: Dan Fouts will have a passing picnic against the defenseless 49ers.

BALTIMORE 20, BUFFALO 17: The Colts are going to win a game sooner or later. Choose sooner.

DENVER 24, OAKLAND 20: Craig Morton stole one from the Seahawks last week and the momentum should carry the Broncos past the Raiders.

NEW ENGLAND 31, GREEN BAY 7 (Monday night): This should be a pushover for the Patriots.

Cowboys Ready for Bengals

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

There are few things worse than an ornery Cowboy — except maybe 45 of them.

The Dallas Cowboys are feeling anything but happy these days in view of the embarrassing 26-7 thrashing administered in Cleveland last Monday night by the Browns.

Obviously they'll be out to tear up everything in sight next Sunday... which brings us to the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Bengals have yet to win a game this season, but they'll have to beat the enraged Cowboys to do it. Homer Rice, the Bengals' coach, wasn't any happier at last Monday's outcome than the Cowboys were.

"I would rather Dallas had played good," he said.

Sunday's other games are Cleveland at Houston, Pittsburgh at Philadelphia, Tampa Bay at Chicago, Miami at the New York Jets, Minnesota at Detroit, Kansas City at Seattle, the New York Giants at New Orleans, Washington at Atlanta, Buffalo at Baltimore, San Francisco at San Diego, Denver at Oakland and St. Louis at Los Angeles. On Monday night, New England is at Green Bay.

"We've been defeating ourselves." Coach Tom Landry said of his Cowboys, who had relied on fourth-quarter heroics from quarterback Roger Staubach in their earlier victories. "Our concentration has not been good. I look for that to change."

The Bengals have been letting victory escape from their grasp. Last week they led 24-0 over Houston, only to lose 30-27 in overtime. "That loss hurt very much," said Rice.

"Something always seems to happen to us. We've got to play a complete football game... But we're hanging in there good. We're 0-4 but we still think we will have a good season."

Rookie quarterback Jack Thompson has been effective for the Bengals in the past few games but veteran Ken Anderson, sidelined with a sore back, is likely to return to his starting role.

While the Bengals stagger around the bottom of the American Conference's Central Division, Pittsburgh and Cleveland are at the top of it, unbeaten and one game ahead of Houston. The Oilers have beaten the Browns in their last three meetings and Cleveland may be without running back Greg Pruitt and defensive end Lyle Alzado, both suffering from knee problems.

The Steelers, meanwhile, have a spate of banged-up players — but they did the last two weeks, too, when they scored victories over St. Louis and Baltimore.

Tampa Bay will be trying to open a three-game lead over the rest of the National Conference.

Johnny Mack Brown, a long-time favorite in cowboy movies, got his chance in films after starring for Alabama in a 20-19 victory over Washington in the 1926 Rose Bowl.

Don Faurot is usually credited with the invention of the "Split T" formation in football, having used it for the first time at Missouri in 1941.

Red Raiders and Bears Play for Keeps

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

While most Southwest Conference teams are out trying to protect the family name this week, Texas Tech and Baylor play for keeps at Baylor Stadium in what should be one of those robust conference jousts that tickle the purists and puzzle the oddsmakers.

It's Parents Day at Baylor which is why the Bears are just one-point underdogs even after a 45-0 rout by Alabama last Saturday and the fact that the Red Raiders whipped Coach Grant Teaff's crew 27-9 last year in Lubbock.

"They (The Red Raiders) embarrassed us last year," says

Teaff. "They manhandled our defense. We had cleat marks all over our chests from James Hadnot stomping on us. And they are a better team this year. That doesn't sound too good for a team coming off a 45-0 defeat."

However, the Red Raiders are aware they have a 3-11 record down through the years in Waco although they've won three of the last four.

"Their loss to Alabama is a little misleading because the score was a lot closer until the fourth quarter," says Texas Tech Coach Rex Dockery. "Also, this will be a conference game... Baylor already has a conference win and we need one badly."

"I've said all along that this team has a oneness and a character and that's on the line this week," said Teaff. "I'd flat out say this is the most important game of the year for us."

The big intersectional clash of the week features fourth-ranked Texas against fifth-ranked Missouri in Columbia, Mo.

Texas was a one-point pick in the battle of unbeaten.

In other games, 19th-ranked Southern Methodist was a field goal nod over Tulane; Houston was a prohibitive favorite over West Texas State; Texas Christian was a slim choice over Texas-Arlington, Arkansas was a 21-point selection over Tulsa; Texas A&M is a 10-point nod over Memphis State, and Oklahoma is a prohibitive favorite over Rice in Houston.

Texas Coach Fred Akers said of Missouri: "They have proved they are a good football team three times. Their defense has been impressive. They are tough and physical and so are we, so it should be a heck of a contest."

It's the first football meeting in 33 years between the schools. To give you an idea of how long it has been, Tom Landry, now the coach of the Dallas Cowboys, scored the final touchdown in a 42-0 Texas victory in 1946.

The SWC is 10-5-1 against outside competition.

Stephenson Leads Pack in Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP) — Jan Stephenson held a two-shot lead as the second round began today in the $150,000 Dallas Open, but cooling her image as a sex symbol seems almost as important to her as golf these days.

"I hardly could be labeled the sex symbol type," Stephenson said after posting a 6-under-par 66 in the first round of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament. "I go to bed early. I eat most of my meals in my room and I'm probably the hardest worker on the tour."

She admits part of her image resulted from a wet T-shirt photograph that appeared on the cover of a national sports magazine. She said the photo was made "as a joke. The photographer tossed me this T-shirt and I had the shot made and I was so embarrassed when it became public."

The Australian native joined the LPGA tour in 1973 and has established solid credentials, winning almost $300,000, including $55,354 in 23 tournaments this year.

She fired 33s on both nines Thursday, posting seven birdies and a bogey. "I was really charged up," she said. "I was feeling pretty good about my round because in the past I've played about the same but didn't get anything out of my score."

"I think it's nice to get off to a good start but I can't afford to lose my temper. Often, after I lose a couple putts, I lose my head."

Stephenson has yet to win a tournament in 1979 but said, "I really like my chances every time I tee up."

She now makes her home in Fort Worth, Texas, and said the other members of the tour have begun teasing her about becoming a Texan.

Two shots back of Stephenson is second-year pro Vicki Ferguson. She has one tournament victory this year and $52,258 in winnings.

Ferguson shot a 68, finishing at dusk. Two groups did not finish the opening round because of darkness and were scheduled to complete their first rounds this morning.

Tied at 69 were veteran Jerlyn Britz and rookie Beth Daniel, who held the lead Thursday until a triple-bogey seven on the 15th.

Four golfers are at 70, 2-under par. They are Murle Breer, Donna Horton, Sandra Palmer and Taiwanese native Eva Chang.

The pre-tournament favorite, Nancy Lopez Melton, is in a four-way tie at 71. Others in that bunch are Pat Meyers, Sandra Haynie and Cathy Thompson.

The tournament is sponsored by Mary Kay Cosmetics and the Salesmanship Club.

ABC Gets 1984 Summer Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC will deliver 200 hours of 1984 Summer Olympics viewing at a record cost to the network of more than $1 million an hour under an agreement for the exclusive U.S. rights to cover the Games here.

In announcing the award Wednesday, the International Olympic Committee and the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee said ABC agreed to pay $225 million in cash, build an Olympics broadcast center and provide a worldwide broadcast signal.

"We believe this to be the largest single television agreement ever negotiated," the IOC and LAOOC said in a joint statement.

Industry sources had outlined the plan to The Associated Press on Monday, but formal announcement came at a Wednesday news conference held by Monique Berlioux, IOC executive director, and Peter V. Ueberroth, managing director of the LAOOC.

The IOC executive board, chaired by Lord Killanin, must approve the agreement, but that is expected Oct. 25 when the board meets in Nagoya, Japan, they said.

In 1976, ABC's telecast of the Summer Games helped propel the network from its longtime third-place spot behind CBS and NBC in prime time to a position of dominance in that area. The results were dramatic enough to prompt ratings-poor NBC to bid about $100 million to win the rights to the 1980 Moscow Summer Games.

Here's what ABC agreed to provide in 1984, according to Roone Arledge, president of

ABC news and sports:
—$100 million for the U.S. television rights.
—$125 million to the LAOOC for production and support services, which could include non-broadcast areas such as transportation and providing results of the contests.
—A "clean broadcast signal" for foreign users.
—An Olympics broadcast center where the broadcast signal would be picked up. "I honestly have no idea what that will cost," Arledge said.
—ABC's costs beyond the four areas outlined above "could exceed another $100 million, but much of that will be recoverable," he said.
—Arledge, who headed ABC's past Olympic coverage, said his network televised six of the past eight Olympics and "the fact that these Summer Games will originate in Los Angeles will enable us to provide more live coverage than ever before and we anticipate that coverage will exceed 200 hours."

Reporters asked Arledge how ABC's 1984 bid wound up being more than twice NBC's cost for next year's Games. Chuckling, Arledge said, "The 1984 Games will be twice as good as those in 1980. Being in the U.S. and being live, the interest will be huge. I don't know how the others figured their bids, but we decided what we could afford, figured in inflation and made our offer."

The IOC and LAOOC representatives would not comment on reports that CBS bid $160 million for the '84 Games and NBC reportedly bid $150 million, but they said the bids had been competitive.

MIAMI (AP) — The World Boxing Council reinstated Victor Galindez as its light-heavyweight champion.

GOP small-print problem?

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters
WASHINGTON (NEA) - Republican presidential aspirants hoping to gain momentum from early 1980 tests in Iowa and New Hampshire could face a "small print" problem if Sen. Edward M. Kennedy goes forward with his challenge to President Carter.
This is a dilemma best illustrated by a classic anecdote from the 1968 primary campaign, when a plane carrying the late Robert F. Kennedy and dozens of reporters nearly ran off a runway following a teeth-rattling aborted takeoff.
The candidate, in typical Kennedy fashion, was the first to recover his wits - and his voice. "With all due immodesty," he told his shaken fellow passengers, "if we don't make it this time, you fellows are going to be in the small print."
"No matter who wins, a contest between Ted Kennedy and Jimmy Carter would unquestionably receive the top media billing in both the Jan. 21 Iowa precinct caucuses and the Feb. 26 New Hampshire primary.
The Republicans, who had expected to dominate the newspaper headlines and network TV reports, would wind up second best if not exactly in small print.
And that is a discouraging prospect to some of those seeking to defeat, or at least seriously threaten, front-runner Ronald Reagan in those early contests.
George Bush, in particular, has been banking heavily on the boost in name recognition and credibility he would receive from a strong showing in Iowa, where he has put together an impressive organizational effort. But if press attention is riveted on Kennedy-Carter, even an outright win in Iowa may not be worth a great deal to Bush or other Republican contestants.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Raincoat got the rub

DEAR POLLY - My black raincoat still looks new except along the edges where it buttons. Is there a way I can cover these rubbed spots? - Mrs. J.D.
DEAR MRS. J.D. - Raincoats are made of so many fabrics. So, take the coat along when you go to buy some tape that will cover the worn or rubbed edges without conflicting with the buttons and buttonholes. Stitch the tape with half on the top and half on the underneath side. Go all around the collar and down both sides so it will look as if it were made that way. On some coats black vinyl strips might look quite smart. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Often when I am cooking something I forget whether or not I have salted it. So now after I add salt I put a few sprinkles of pepper on the top to remind me that it has been salted. - MRS. J.M.

DEAR POLLY - My largest bowl is not big enough to really mix the corn thoroughly when I am making caramel corn. So now I put the popped corn in one side of the clean sink and it is easy to mix. The mess is easily cleaned up. - Mrs. R.D.N.

DEAR POLLY - The next time you need a stretch bandage, use nylon stretch stockings, which are flesh colored and cheap. - TERRY

DEAR POLLY - I am a rather strict teacher and not too long ago a student wrote something ugly about me on one of the desks. I did not have much to use to get it off. I tried my hand lotion. It took the writing off and the desk felt smooth. - Ms. S.F.

DEAR POLLY - Those long, narrow plastic bags that the newspaper comes in on rainy days are great to use for holding wool while knitting. A wire tie can be used to close the top and also to hold knitted articles together. When joining pieces, try using round toothpicks instead of pins. - B.L.G.

DEAR POLLY - Someone told me that baby bonnets could be washed in gentle soap solution and then stuffed with tissue paper to keep their shape while drying. I found this works perfectly. - DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY - Mrs. L.A.W. wrote that she had trouble cleaning mirrors satisfactorily. I use half alcohol and half water in a spray bottle and then shine with a lint-free cloth. They look good with very little effort. This can also be used on kitchen appliances and on bathroom glass and chrome. - B.J.

Is Urban Environment Going to the Dogs?

NEW YORK (NEA) - Man's best friend turning into man's worst enemy?
It's not the plot of a new horror film. It's a real threat posed by unscrupulous breeders, irresponsible pet owners and rapidly reproducing dogs, says Toronto writer Iris Nowell.
"Dogs have become an urban problem, an ecological problem," asserted Ms. Nowell, author of "The Dog Crisis" (St. Martin's), during a recent interview. She offers some startling statistics to support her statement:
- Next to gonorrhea, dog bites are the most commonly reported public health problem. One million dog bites are reported annually in the United States, and health officials believe the real total may be two or three times higher.
- Humans can contract nearly 200 diseases - called "zoonoses" - from animals, including dogs. Ms. Nowell says the "most dangerous and worrisome" of the dog-transmitted zoonoses may be toxocara canis, a roundworm in dried dog feces that can cause everything from mild stomach ache to blindness.
According to the author, the risk of contracting the disease is great though actual cases are few, partly because doctors have not yet learned to recognize it. "But anywhere from 10 percent to 30 percent of soil samples taken from parks where dogs go are contaminated with that parasite."
- Dogs pollute the environment, especially in cities. They are estimated to excrete 36 million liters of urine and 3,500 tons of feces daily in the United States. Strays searching for food overturn garbage cans, attracting flies and rats.
- Local governments spend $500 million annually to clean up after dogs and to catch, house and kill strays.
- Attacking dogs do an estimated $10 million in damage to U.S. livestock annually.
- Dogs are a frequent cause of auto accidents. A 1976 survey found that British dogs were involved annually in at least 1,500 accidents - and probably more because dogs usually leave the crash scene if they can.
- Dogs - especially strays traveling in packs - cause people considerable fear. A 1977 Pittsburgh survey found that people in some parts of the city were as afraid of biting dogs as of muggers.
Problems like these may reach crisis proportions in the future simply because of the rapid growth of the dog population, says Ms. Nowell. She notes that dogs are 15 times more prolific than humans, calculating that at current rates dogs will double their number in the Western world by 1984.
Ms. Nowell offers three major explanations for the dog population explosion: more free-roaming dogs that procreate with reckless abandon, increased popularity of large dogs that tend to have larger litters and growth of "puppy mills" that mass-produce dogs with little concern for quality.
"There would be no problem if people were more responsible," says Ms. Nowell. "If nobody's dog bit people, there could probably be the same number of dogs without their having a negative impact on the community."
Ms. Nowell believes that dog owners are slowly awakening to their responsibilities. She cites the success of New York's "stomp and scoop" law that imposes a $100 fine on city residents who do not clean up after their dogs.
Ms. Nowell calls for more such laws as well as for laws requiring that dogs be licensed, leashed and regularly immunized against diseases such as rabies. She also urges better policing of breeders and more efforts by schools and mass media to alert people to the nitty-gritty of pet ownership.
"No one ever picked the burs out of Lassie's coat," she explains. "No one ever fed Lassie. All she did was bound photographically over fences and rescue the little boy from the well."
"The dog is portrayed as something that can take care of itself. And this is part of why people are irresponsible."
If these relatively simple solutions fail to bring the dog population under better control, says Ms. Nowell, limits may be placed on pet ownership. For instance, a family might be assessed a stiff fee of $100 or more if it wanted to own more than three dogs and/or cats.

DEAR POLLY - Like Merrie, I was plagued with weevils and tried everything to get rid of them. Nothing worked until I read that black pepper is the best thing for this. I put coarse black pepper under the shelf paper in the kitchen and also in the linen closet since the weevils even got in the clean linens. It really works. - LEAH

DEAR POLLY - Spiders are all over our new house and I do not know of any effective way to get rid of them. We had the same problem several years ago in another new house and several people we know are having the same trouble. Any suggestions? - BOB

DEAR BOB - After the spider webs are brushed down, some of the tiny white eggs may remain. Crush any that you see fall so they do not hatch. Then spray with a good insecticide. Be sure your screens, windows and doors are tight. There is always a bit of good with the bad as spiders do eat flies and some other insects. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - As so many others are doing today, my husband bought a locking gas cap for my car. Even though he showed me how to get it off I could not turn it. One day I was practicing before I went to the service station and hit on the idea of using the rubber grip pad with which I loosen tight jar covers. It worked. Now I keep the pad in my glove compartment so there is no delay when I go to the gas station. - ANNETTE

DEAR POLLY - If shoelace tips have raveled, dip them in glue and let them dry.
Add a teaspoon of salt to the water in which you boil a cracked egg and the contents will not ooze out.
I find minnows to be used for fishing bait will stay alive longer if six or eight drops of iodine are added to the water they are in. - VIVIAN

DEAR POLLY - I keep each color of my embroidery floss in a small envelope and line the envelopes up in a box, thus eliminating a mess of colors all mixed together.
I cut out many recipes that appear in magazines and newspapers and put them in clear plastic bags that are labeled. When I want to try a certain one, I just look through those in that category. If the recipe proves to be good, I copy it onto a card to go in my recipe file. - MRS. E.E.
