According to French security agents at the airport, the Iranian jetliner arrived with one engine smoking.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur A. Hartman said the six men and four women "looked in good shape, considering what they have been through." Hartman went on the bus that carried the released hostages to the Air Force plane.

Also on the bus was Ann McKeown, a former secretary to the U.S. ambassador in Tehran, who left shortly before the siege began. Ms. McKeown, fighting back tears, saw old friends among the released hostages and said they looked remarkably well. Before leaving Tehran one of the freed captives. Joan Walsh of Ogden, Utah, told reporters at Mehrabad Airport that the remaining 53 hostages were in "greater danger than we were."

The U.S. government said two women were among the 49 Americans still held in the embassy by students demanding that the United States hand over deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolutionary regime for trial. One black man also was believed among them.

The Carter administration renewed its demand for the release of all the hostages and said if Khomeini carried out his threat to put some of them on trial as spies, it would be a "further flagrant. violation" of international law as well as a violation of "elementary human rights."

City, county and hospital district officials Monday night gained little ground while discussing funding and operating an ambulance service replacing the present funeral-home situation.

The officials discussed ambulances in a joint meeting prior to the regular semi-monthly session of the city commission. The only thing accomplished was the appointment of a committee comprised of two representatives from each governmental body.

The committee will meet Friday to decide on what steps should be taken to replace the funeral-home-operated ambulance businesses, which hope to discontinue service by Dec. 1.

The officials agreed to meet in joint session again next week to take possible action on the matter.

Who should fund the service, particularly after the present fiscal year, surfaced as the main point of dissension Monday. Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard and board members Warner Lawson and Frank Zinser Jr. said the hospital district probably would not be willing to raise taxes to fund an ambulance service.

Bullard has stated on several occasions recently that the hospital would be willing to run the service, provided funding is received from the city and county.

City commissioners contended that the hospital district is the natural entity to provide tax funding.

"I think it would be more in your line of business than ours." Commissioner Emory Brownlow told Bullard.

"It's a joint problem. We are not financially able to just jump out and go into it on short notice." Zinser reponded.

"Maybe we can do something the first year. But, what about every year after that?" Brownlow asked.

"We're going to be extremely reluctant to take it by ourself;" Lawson said.

Mayor Bartley Dowell said it should make no difference to taxpayers if the hospital district alone funds the ambulance service "or if it's 10 percent from the county, 10 percent from the city and 10 percent from the hospital."

"Why have three different groups involved when one group (the hospital) is going to handle it?" Brownlow asked. "It doesn't make any difference who raises its taxes. Do you think it's fair for city taxpayers to help pay for it, then pay county taxes, too? They're paying twice for it.

Bullard said that the enabling state legislation which created the hospital district as an entity separate from the county did not permit a tax rate higher than 50 cents per $100 valuation.

'If we provided all the funding, we'd be getting close to what we can raise our rate to. Also, we don't want to be the guys that come in and raise everybody's taxes. It's nice to be in the soup with two other groups," Bullard said.

"It might be possible for us to raise our taxes to fund it, but we don't have 22 years experience, like MSI (Medical Services Inc., an Oregon company which hops to begin a service in Hereford), and we might not be able to say exactly what our proposal would cost and feel comfortable. We might have to come back and ask the taxpayers for even more money," he said.

Bullard again proposed a hospital-run ambulance service. utilizing three teams of two persons each to handle calls.

City Manager Dudley Bayne interrupted Bullard by saying the meeting was called in order to discuss funding and operation of

"I thought tonight you were going to look at who is going to be responsible and who's going to pay for it." Bayne said.

Bullard said he would like to continue." then proceeded. "Ours would be substantially less than MSI. We'd need $70,000 to $80,000 for equipment, which would include about $12,000 to $15,000 for communication equipment." Bullard said.

MSI regional manager Tracy Skeen submitted what he called a "rough draft" of a proposal to the commission. The MSI proposal, which included no cost figures, called for one advance life-support vehicle, two basic life-support units and two paramedics working full-time. Another option would be using one full-time paramedic, but Skeen said that would increase response time by 10 minutes. Neither option included the utilization of hospital personnel and other local volunteers, even though MSI had said two weeks ago that it would devise a mixed (volunteer-MSI paramedics)

"Maybe we'd use some of the hospital personnel in the event of an emergency," Skeen told the officials Monday.

Skeen's proposal also included housing the "front-line" ambulance in a covered garage at the hospital and the paramedic crew inside the hospital.

Local money would be used to purchase equipment, which would be token-leased for $1 a year by MSI, Skeen said.

He also proposed an ambulance membership plan, in which families could purchase a year's worth of free calls for $30 to $40. 'We'll be able to submit figures on what our proposal costs by Monday of next week. We want a 50 percent user fee and 50 percent subsidy," Seen said.

Pressed about a cost estimate, Skeen said, "We're talking about a system probably in the range of $85,000 to $90,000 per entire year, but that's a preliminary figure. Skeen said that MSI projects around $44,000 in user fees which would make the average cost of a call around $80. "But, if you were to subsidize the entire $85,000, we would not charge anyone for ambulance service," he said. Bullard proposed the formation of a committee to decide who should fund the service, who should operate it and whether a hospital service or MSI is more feasible.

"It's going to take some time to go through MSI's proposal to get their dollar amounts and so forth, then compare our proposal (See AMBULANCES, Page 2)

The commission was presented a petition by Ernestina Tijerna, who has led a campaign to have the sidewalk constructed. The petition contained the names of 513 persons, including West Central Principal Robert Ray, who

. After a 10-minute study of a large map behind the commission table, Mayor t Bartley Dowell told county commissioners J.F. Maritn, Austin Rose and James Voyles that the county could possibly fill in the ditch on the north side of Bradley and construct a walk.

Dowell also said the county should consider filling in at least part of the ditch on the north side to construct a sidewalk. He said that culverts could be constructed to accommodate drainage."

The purchase of easements along the north side of the street might be another option, the mayor said. City Attorney Earnest Langley, however, said that (See CITY, Page 2)

Wheat Prices Highest in Years

WASHINGTON (AP) - Wheat prices at the farm are the highest in nearly five months, according to the latest government figures.

The latest price compiled by the Agriculture Department shows wheat was $4.01 a bushel for a "moving fiveday average" through last Friday. According to department officials, that was the highest since wheat - using the same formula - hit $4.08 a bushel last June 27. The price is computed daily during the work week as part of USDA's operation of the grain reserve program. Under it, grain is stored by farmers for up to three vears or until market prices go up enough to trigger its release.

Currently, the price at which wheat is released - meaning that farmers, if they choose, can pay off government loans and then sell the grain for cash — is $3.29 a Wheat prices rose last spring and triggered release of the stored grain on May 16.

Prices rose further, hitting the mark of $4.08 a bushel under the five-day formula on June 27 before beginning a downtrend through the summer harvest period.

Harold L. Jamison of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said Monday the current upturn in prices began last week after the five-day wheat price hovered around $3.91 on Nov. 9.

Jamison said it was too early to tell whether the latest price surge has triggered significant wheat redemptions by farmers because it takes some time for those figures to filter through county and state offices into the agency here.

The most recent report on the grain reserve by USDA was for the week that ended Oct. 31. At that time, farmers had redeemed about 169 million of the 411 million bushels they originally stored under the program, 41.1 percent of the initial total. Under the formula, if wheat prices rise to a "call" level of $4.11 a bushel, farmers then have 30 days in which to redeem their grain or forfeit it to the department in lieu of repaying the loans.

The department has forecast wheat prices over the entire 12-month will average in a range of $3.60 to $3.90 a bushel, compared to $2.94 a bushel in No shortage of U.S. wheat is expected, huge export flow, estimated at a record of 1.4 billion bushels in the current marketing year, up from less than 1.2 billion in

"We appreciate the wisdom of the way the United States is dealing with the situation," Saudi Ambassador Faisal Alhegelan said Monday as he left the State Department after a meeting with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

The Carter administration is going to great lengths to gain the understanding and support of the Saudis, who wield both religious and monetary influence in the Islamic world. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller will visit Riyadh next Officials say they are counting on the Saudis to head off any adverse reaction among oil producers to President Carter's decision to freeze Iranian assets in response to the Nov.4 taking of hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran. Some of the smaller producers have voiced fears that their oil revenues might not be safe in U.S. banks.

But Alhegelan said the Saudis have accepted U.S. assurances that the Iranian situation is unique and does not affect their assets. "We don't feel it will have any effect on Saudi Arabia in the future,"

Poerner Challenges Oil, Gas Companies

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Chairman John Poerner of the Texas Railroad Commission said today his fears have

The allowable, or production factor, is geared to market demand.

The commission, Texas' oil and gas regultory agency, has maintained a 100 percent allowable each month except three since April 1972.

Poerner said Texas' oil output for 1979 will total approximately 980.4 million barrels. Texas production last year exceeded 1.04 billion barrels.

Committee Warns

Against SALT Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Foreign Relations Committee says rejection of the SALT II treaty would dangerously boost the arms race, leaving the Soviet Union unrestrained and seriously risking the stability of the nucler balance.

But the committee's minority says the treaty as it stands is neither equitable nor verifiable. They say it is a bad bargain and should be defeated unless substantial changes are made in Senate debate.

The two opposing views reflect the 9 to 6 split by which the panel voted earlier this month to recommend the Senate ratify the strategic arms limitation treaty.

While floor debate can begin anytime after Monday, the actual starting time is unclear because Democratic leaders have said they do not intend to begin debate until ratification chances improve. Treaty supporters have yet to claim they have the 67 votes needed for approval.

Opponents of the pact hope to kill it by a delaying action and by pushing it into the uncertain political currents of a presidential election year.

In its final report on SALT II, released Monday, the committee majority relied heavily on the proposition that the treaty is a useful and balanced step toward deeper cuts in SALT II and that attempts to improve SALT II by reopening negotiations would be counter-productive and risky.

During a five-year period, more than two out of every five American families change their homes, The Conference Board notes. Although many only move down the street or around the block, one out of five moves to a different state.

To make beds available for those too ill to leave, 75 patients hospitalized for ambulatory care or tests were sent to the Knoxville Civic Coliseum or asked to go home. They were allowed to return after the crisis was over.

"If it had been any other kind of chemical, it might not have been so easy," Cannon said of the evacuation. "But after Waverly, when they hear propane, they move on." A railroad tank car explosion in Waverly, Tenn., killed 16 people on Feb. 24, 1978.

The truck's driver, Charles Byrge, 22, said he was returning to the Holston Gases plant after making three deliveries when the driveshaft snapped. Byrge was not hurt.

Police sealed the area and ordered electricity in surrounding blocks shut off. Five pumper trucks parked a quarter mile away so their motors feeding a steady spray of water on the tanker would not touch off an explosion.

'That tank would have taken off like a U2 and it would have put up a mushroom cloud just like an atomic bomb," Cannon said. "It likely would have set several houses on fire."

4-H Firsthand

By: Agnes Taylor Assistant County Extension Agent

Achievement in 4-H will pay off in a big way this year for about 200,000 young people nationwide. These 4-H members will share in a variety of awards provided by businesses, foundations and other donor organizations and arranged by the National 4-H Council. Designed to enhance 4-H learning experiences of boys and girls 9-19, awards included 286 scholarships valued at $259,800; 1,400 expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress and other events; and some 150,000 medals of honor. Other incentives for 4-H'ers are savings bonds, plaques and radios. Winners are chosen by the Extension Service, which supervises 4-H projects and activities.

Among private-sector donors providing recognition for outstanding 4-H members are Purina Dog Group, Ralston Purina co., national 4-H dog care and training program; Ortho Division, Chevron Chemical Co., gardening program; Beatrice Foods Co., home management; Eastman Kodak Co., photography; Union Oil Co. of California, public speaking; Wilson Foods Corp. swine; The Upjohn Co., veterinary science; and Weyerhaeuser Co. Foundation, wood science. Elanco Products Co., a division of Eli Lilly and Co., provides U.S. Savings bonds for 10 high-scoring individuals in the National 4-H Livestock Judging Contest.

A $1,000 agricultural scholarship is donated by the Educational Foundation of Alpha Gamma Rho, and two $1,000 animal science scholarships are donated by Allied Mills, Inc. Champion Valley Farms, Inc., Recipe Division, offers two 4-H veterinary medicine scholarships of $1,000 each.

Educational awards and scholarships available on a regional basis are funded by DeKalb AgResearch, Inc.; the Santa Fe Railway System and Gulf Central Pipeline Co., a Santa Fe Industries Co.; Burlington Northern Inc.; Chicago and North Western Transportation Co.; and the Edwin T. ### Ann Landers

Sex-Change

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read that Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where they pioneered sex-change operations in this country, has stopped doing them. Follow-up research apparently failed to prove the operation showed justifiable improvement in the lives of the patients.

A few days later I read that sex-change operations are a legitimate and necessary expense and should be covered by standard employee medical insurance. That decision was handed down by a New York appeals court judge.

The insurance company lawyers took the position that such surgery was "cosmetic," but the court decided that for the person to live a normal life, sex reassignment surgery was

Where do you stand on this question? Do you dare say?--Vitally Interested In Windsor, Canada

DEAR WIN: Twenty major medical centers across the country now offer this operation, plus hormone treatments and counseling. The price runs from $5,000 to $10,000 and

Anyone who would go through the pain of surgery, and spend that sum of money, must want the gender change desperately. These people truly feel as if they are a member of one sex trapped in the body of another.

Even though the Johns Hopkins research indicates that those who have been changed over surgically have not achieved the level of happiness they sought. I feel that those who want the surgery should have it. Moreover, it should not be classified as an alteration since it produces relief from an excruciating psychological problem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What has happened to manners? I've read of some extremely rude behavior in your column, but today I experienced something beyond belief.

I am a single mother, working full time. This morning I had just dropped my children off at day school and was on the bus carrying a cup of coffee (in a covered take-out carton), since I had no time for breakfast.

An elderly man inadvertently brushed my arm as he was leaving. The still-covered cup, by now lukewarm, spilled on me and on the man who was seated at my left. The old gentleman left the bus without realizing what he had done. The man on my left stood up and started to swear a blue streak. Other passengers chimed in, calling me an "idiot" for bringing the coffee aboard.

Even though I apologized profusely, the man demanded $3.50 to have his suit cleaned. I opened my purse and gave him the money. I got off the bus in tears, feeling like a fool.

Do you agree that a gentleman would not have carried on like that? I congratulated myself on behaving with dignity. Now I am more determined than ever to instill in my own children good manners--especially in a crisis.-- Ottawa, Ont.

DEAR OTT: I agree -- a gentleman would not have carried on like that. But you should not have taken the coffee on the bus, dear. Handing over the $3.50 was the lady-like thing to do. It also served as a lesson in good manners to the other passengers and it undoubtedly diminished the man who previously had gained their sympathy.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Everyone talks about the "baby" of the family, but no one ever does anything about him.

Is he the "favorite" of his mother? The last hurrah of his father? The indulged brat? The babysitter for Mom and Dad? It all depends on who you talk to.

I've gotten together a profile of "the baby" of the family as seen through the eyes of its members.

According to his older brothers and sisters, the "baby" is spoiled, indulged, and raised without rules. He got the digital watch when he was four, a car when he was 12, an allowance" usually reserved for heirs to the British throne, and got to sit in the white living room before he was 16.

He has never known curfews, what it means to share a bedroom, handprints on his backside, chores, hand-me-downs, or heard the expression. "Clean up your plate." By the time he was born the family had a full set of encyclopedias, a riding mower, two TV sets, big bucks to send him to a college someone had heard of, and he was encouraged not to work as it interfered with his grades. Father views the "baby" of the family as his last shot at being a father...a pal to take fishing, go to football games with, and even violate the siding of the garage by mounting a basketball hoop on it.

When this one is launched it's goodbye tuition, hello St Thomas...goodbye car insurance premiums, hello sailboat. He's at the end of the line and somehow it doesn't seem very important that the kid borrowed his gasoline charge card . when he was a sophomore and hasn't returned it since.

A mother's view of the "baby" is she's losing ground on what she does best. Mothering. That is why when the "baby" is 56, has a stomach that hang's over his belt, and a hairline shaped like the map of the Florida Keys, he will still be her "baby." What she used to hit; smack and put the others in their room for she now laughs at, ignores, or says, "You're

Whiteface Cagers Open Season Tonight at Amarillo

Whiteface Girls Host Amarillo

Hereford's varsity girls opened the season against Palo Duro here Saturday night and absorbed a 47-20 defeat.

Coach Larry Sowers attributed "first-game jitters" to the one-sided defeat, pointing out that his young team didn't have a scrimmage session before the to just three points in the entire

Hereford stayed with the big Palo Duro team the first half, trailing by only 10-7 and 19-17 after the first two periods. Palo Duro pulled away in the second half, however, limiting Hereford Wells with 14.

Hereford's scoring was distributed with Beverly Nixon and Cathy Lane tallying 4 points each. Palo Duro was led by Tony Folsom with 18 and Valerie Sowers said he was not too disappointed with the game. "We have good effort but our shots just weren't falling. We've been shooting a lot better than that in practice. We've got four sophomores on the varsity and two of them start, so we've got to get some experience."

The Whiteface JV gained some measure of revenge by taking a victory in the preliminary contest Saturday night. The Hereford team won by eight points.

The teams play again tonight, hosting Amarillo High. The JV game is set to start at 5:30, followed by the varsity clash at 7:30. The team travel to Pampa Saturday night.

Rubbing It In?

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Washington Redskins have made the National Football Conference East as tight as it can be, but a last-second field goal against Dallas may come back to haunt them.

"The Redskins have no class," said Dallas defensive end Harvey Martin after Washington won 34-20 Sunday.

Coach Jack Pardee and Redskins players justified the field goal because of the closeness of the NFC East, with Dallas. Washington and Philadelphia all tied for first with records of 8-4 with four games to play.

All Players In Action, Says Decker

Hereford's young and inexperienced Whiteface cagers open the 1979-80 season tonight at Amarillo, and Coach Bobby Decker plans to take a look at his entire squad during the contest.

"I want to see everyone, playing under game conditions, so all 12 players will see action tonight," Decker stated.

Probable starters for the contest will be Darrell Polk (6-4), Mike Fraser (6-0), Ernie Suarez (5-9), Jeff Hazelrigg (5-11) and Bennie Graves(5-11). Suarez is the only returning letterman for the Herd.

The Herd had a scrimmage session against Portales here Friday, and Decker was happy with the results. "I can see some potential when we get everyone playing together." Several football players had their first workout during the scrimmage session against

While it is definitely a "rebuilding year" for the Whiteface cages, Decker and his squad hope to improve on lst year's record of 8-22.

Sports Analysis

Celtics Turn It Around By Teamwork

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

"I've never seen a selfish team that passed the basketball," says Bill Fitch. "And I've never seen an unselfish team that didn't win."

Fitch has created order out of chaos in Boston and catapulted the Celtics to the top of the National Basketball Association standings.

Fitch, who spent nine seasons n Cleveland before becoming coach of Boston this summer, has instilled a college-type spirit on the Celtics. Players on the bench cheer those on the court, and those on the court pick up bruises and floor burns diving for loose balls with totally unprofessional disregard for life and limb.

And they pass the ball - oh, how these Celtics pass the ball! Four, five, six times the ball changes hands until finally, inbalanced scoring, and a happy

"We have guys who like to pass," said Fitch, ticking off names like Dave Cowens, Nate "Tiny" Archibald, Chris Ford and, of course, the superrookie, Larry Bird. "You can talk all the philosophy you want, but unless you have guys who like to pass it's not going to work.

No one sees that more clearly than Cowens, who is again playing like the aggressive young dervish of the early 1970s now that he is no longer burdened with the duties of player-willing to pass the ball," he said. "That's the difference this year. We have players who are willing to make the sacrifices necessary to win."

The results have been dramatic. The Celtics were 4-12 at Utilizing that philosophy, this time a year ago; now they are 12-4, the best record in the entire NBA

"That's what I call turning it around," said Archibald. "My parents didn't raise an idiot - winning is more fun than losing," said Fitch. And the fans in Boston are getting-in on the fun. Traditionsteeped Boston Garden has been filled to the rafters for five of the Celtics' seven home games thus far, compared to just one sellout all of last season. "It's like the last two years never happened," said Ford, referring to Boston's dismal records of 32-50 and 29-53, the club's worst marks ever.

The speed of the Celtics' evitably, someone is free for a turnaround has been stunning, layup or a jumper. The result is since it is a maxim of pro sports that stability is one of the keys to winning. And the Celtics were anything but stable last season, when they went through 18 players, two coaches and two owners

> But Harry Mangurian bought out partner John Y. Brown last spring and turned the reins of the club back to Red Auerbach, restoring order to the front office. Auerbach, recognizing that an established coach was needed to straighten things out, went outside the Celtic family to hire Fitch, who was widely respecting for the coaching job he had done in Cleveland.

Then came a wholesale "We have players who aren't housecleaning. Bird, the concerned with egos and are brilliant All-American from Indiana State, was signed for $3.25 million over five years and taken under wing by Cowens. Free agent M.L. Carr was signed and Bob McAdoo was shipped out as compensation.

Just as important as the roster changes were the new attitudes of those who were kept.

Take Archibald, for example. He had been plagued by injuries the past three seasons, and at the end of the 1978-79 never wear Celtic Green again.

But Fitch, knowing how rare it is to fine point guards of Archibald's proven ability, wiped the slate clean, gave Archibald the ball and told him to run the club. At the age of 31, Archibald has shaken off the cobwebs and is playing like he did a halfdozen years ago, leading the league in assists.

Cedric Maxwell and Rick

kins share the backcourt with Archibald. Eric Fernsten, Don Chaney and Gerald Henderson fill out the roster, and each has a clearly defined role - Fernsten to hit the boards, Chaney to play defense, Henderson to spell Archibald.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - As West Texas State hangs up its Missouri Valley Conference football championship title, it can thank defensive players like linebacker Larry Moore.

Moore, a sophomore, led several young players the Buffalos' to a 5-0 record this year. Saturday, in the Buffs' 28-18 win over Drake, Moore had eight unassisted and 12 assisted tackles, including four for 36

Today he was named Valley defensive player of the week.

Moore, a 6-foot-1, 233pounder, was a mainstay in the team's defense, which led the conference in rushing defense (159.3 yards per game) and total defense (282.5 yards) during the season. He is one of 10 sophomore starters on the team, which loses only eight seniors

"We were calling a lot of stunts, and I just happened to be there," Moore said of his effort Saturday. "This is a super feeling. That's the reason why I came to West Texas State.

"I wanted to go somewhere where I could win something, and I am looking forward to winning two more champion-

Others nominated for the defensive honor were Drake linebacker Rick Rozenboom and Southern Illinois defensive back Oyd Craddock.

Wardell Wright, Drake fullback, was named Valley offensive player of the week Monday. In Saturday's game against West Texas, he rushed for 116 yards on 24 carries and had one touchdown.

Rams Top Falcons, Tie For NFL West

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The six-time division champion Los Angeles Rams are 6-6 and tied for the National Football Conference West lead with New Orleans, but Rams' Coach Ray Malavasi is still counting his blessings.

'With all the injuries we've had, I just feel fortunate to be in the position we are in right now," Malavasi said after Monday night's 20-14 Ram victory over NFC West foe Atlanta. "I feel we can win the division, just like I felt at the beginning of the season.'

The loss dropped the Falcons to 4-8, putting them two games off the lead with just four contests remaining. However, in what is the NFL's weakest division this season, there are no foregone conclusions.

Atlanta Coach Leeman Bennett refused to concede anything, saying, "As far as the race is concerned, we're still not out of it."

role, quarterback Vince Ferra. Terry Nelson midway through gamo, guided the Rams to the important victory over the Falcons. Making his first NFL start, the third-year pro out of Nebraska passed for two firsthalf touchdowns and set up the clinching score - an 11-yard run by Cullen Bryant - in the final quarter.

"I hope to do better next week," said Ferragamo, the apparent Rams' starter the rest of the season since Pat Haden is out with a broken finger.

Ferragamo himself had been sidelined for the past month, recuperating from a broken hand suffered in a game against

"I thought I played well at times," he said after completing nine of 22 passes for 171 yards against the Falcons.

Ferragamo hit Preston Dennard with a 29-yard touchdown pass early in the first quarter, connected with Billy Waddy on a 40-yard scoring play in the waning moments of the first One of many Los Angeles' re- half, then set up Bryant's tally serves pressed into a starting with a 18-yard toss to tight end the final period.

As it turned out, the Rams needed all three scores. Atlanta quarterback June Jones III. starting in place of the injured Steve Bartkowski, put the Falcons back in the game with two second-half touchdown passes.

Jones, hitting on just two of nine throws and suffering two interceptions in the opening half, found Wallace Francis with a 15-yard scoring pass late in the third period to cut the Rams' lead to 14-7. He connected with Francis again on a 33-yard touchdown play with 4:11 left in the contest to bring the Falcons within striking distance at 20-14. But Jones, trying to pass in the closing moments of the game, fumbled away the Falcons' last chance. He finished with 11 completions in 24 attempts for 181 yards. The Rams' Wendell Tyler and Atlanta's Bubba Bean both topped the 100-yard mark in rushing, as Tyler picked up 111 yards on 21 carries and Bean gained 104 on 17 carries.

Abilene Cooper in Class 4A and China Spring in Class A completed unbeaten and untied regular seasons last week and went into the playoffs just like they started the season--ranked No. 1 in the final Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll of the season.

While other top rated teams fell victim to upsets, Cooper and China Spring never were seriously threatened in the rankings all season.

Beaumont Hebert, hovering in the No. 2 position in Class 3A in recent weeks, took over the No. 1 spot in the final week of balloting as Kerrville Tivy, last week's No. 1, lost to San Antonio Madison, which jumped from No. 10 to No. 7.

Childress, which wrested the Class 2A top rank away from Pittsburg, retained the lead going into the playoffs with Pittsburg still as strong runnerup choice.

San Antonio Churchill dropped from the Class 4A rankings following a 7-0 loss to San Antonio Lee and Lewisville, 9-1, moved into the No. 10 position.

Fourth ranked Paris also was a loser in Class 3A by a 7-6 margin to Mount Pleasant. Kerrville dropped to ninth and Paris to 10th in the final tabulations.

AUSTIN-With the recent passage of Proposition 3. Security Program, many persons interested in entering agriculture may now have a chance to do so with the assistance of the State

The Family Farm and Ranch Security Program establishes a guaranteed loan program for the purchase of farm and ranch land by persons at the entry-level of agriculture. It will aid persons who otherwise would be unable to meet the high price of agricultural land. Those persons interested in the program should remember, however, that it is a program in which the state guarantees the loans but is not actually the lending institution. The actual loans will come from a normal lending institution. such as a bank. Farmers Home Administration, etc. The loan guarantees will be issued to qualified borrowers through the sale of $10 million in general obligation bonds of the State of Texas. A nine-member advisory council appointed by the Governor will review all applications and make recommendations to the Agriculture Commissioner. According to a staff member of the Agriculture Department, the Governor could make his appointments and have the council functioning within the next,

Until the council is appointed, all interested persons should put their names on a waiting list that the Texas Department of Agriculture has begun for information concerning the program. As soon as the application forms are prepared they will be sent to those people whose names appear on the list.

To be eligible for a loan guarantee. the applicant must be a U.S. citizen and a Texas resident for five years; have a net worth of less than $100,000, excluding the value of residential homestead; intend to use the land for farming or ranching purposes; and have the necessary education and training in the type of farming and ranching they wish to pursue.

DEAR POLLY - I have a problem removing dye from a tablecloth after the embroidery work has been completed. Hope you know of a solution that can be mixed with the wash water to remove this dye. - CIN-

DEAR CINDY - I presume yours is a stamped cloth and wish you had mentioned the colors used for the embroidery. Have you tried using a dry cleaning fluid on these marks? Apply anything tried with an eyedropper so the fluid goes only on the marks. A bleach or peroxide and water solution might be carefully applied. If this does not work, a commercial color remover could be applied to the stained areas. Follow directions on the package. Thoroughly rinse out anything you try. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - When I transplant flowers or vegetables from indoors where they were started to out-of-doors, I water them well and then cover them with brown paper bags that are left on during the day but removed at night. This keeps the hot sun from wilting the plants, as the brown paper seems to be a good non-conductor of the sun's heat. Repeat for the first three or four days. - HELEN DEAR POLLY - Store earrings for pierced ears in a bob-

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have a problem which cannot be discussed with my physician friend. For years my good wife has been unable for emotional and physical reasons to fulfill our sex life. For years I have been masturbating regularly: usually as a part of my Sunday morning shower. doctor what I should do about it he just said nothing can be done just watch for an infection. I'm quite baffled by the whole thing.

I am overweight but have no known illnesses. Is there anything I can do to get rid of the albumin? Also does the albumin cause any illness? My three children are all under five years of age and I would like to be able to enjoy watching them grow up without having to worry about

DEAR READER - Albumin is one of the normal blood proteins. We all have it. A tiny amount of it leaks out through the kidneys into the urine This is usually such a small amount that it can't be measured. The amount can be increased in the presence of an infection in the urinary tract or a variety of disorders of the kidney. You should also know that some people can have :. 40 increased amounts of albumin in the urine without having any important disease. Some people tend to have this simply with standing. We call this orthostatic albuminuria. meaning albumin in the urine because of standing up straight.

It might be helpful to collect your urine while you've don been lying in bed for several V T hours. You could do this by first emptying the bladder, then going to bed and then collecting the urine when you co first get up. This specimen .could be compared to one obtained while you've been up and around for quite a while The difference in the amount of albumin in the urine should provide a good clue as to whether it's related to just ...

posture or not. In any case, unless you can define what's causing the albuminuria, there's not much point in doing anything about it. Just remember that it is a normal blood protein It's ats probably a good idea to check in with your doctor regularly until the cause of the albuminuria is solved, such as a postural factor, or until the problem disappears

I'm sending you The Health "b Letter number 12-12. Your Kidneys And How They Work. It will give you a better 14 understanding of the whole a problem. If you happen to have an of inflammation of the urinary tract; that will also cause albuminuria. Your doctor has probably already checked this and not found anything that concerned him. Of course, you should lose weight - even if you don't have albuminuria.

Aggie Officials Upset At Drill-Team Charge

(AP) - Texas A&M University officials say they are "astonished" that the U.S. government thinks the Fish Drill Team and other university organizations are closed to fe-

The government made its position clear Monday, charging in a test case on women's rights that the Texas school has discriminated against women students by barring them from the drill team and three other organizations.

The Justice Department sought to join a private class action suit filed last May by Melanie Zentgraf, a member of the Texas Corps of Cadets.

The department's proposed suit marks the first time that the government has tried to enforce Title IX of a 1972 law forbidding sex discrimination by schools which receive federal aid.

James Bond, representing Texas A&M, said that he has not seen the Justice Department's motion. Bond said Justice Department lawyers had been at A&M because they would have to represent Corps Commandant Col. James Woodall, one of the plaintiffs in the suit, since he was a regular Army officer.

Bond said it now appears Woodall has been dropped as a plaintiff so the Justice Department could enter on the side of Miss Zentgraf. Bond said "this type of activity is incredible and leaves us all bewildered."

Bond said he "astonished that the Depart-

> Bond said A&M has filed a reply to the suit denying all allegations. "Texas A&M is proud of its female contingent in the Corps and is dedicated to its growth and success."

The government contended

"Every female who has evidenced an interest in the Aggie band has been actively discouraged or dissuaded from joining the Aggie band by band and-or faculty members," the Justice Department said. "Other than a desire to keep the Aggie band all-male, there is no reason for the current effective restriction of the Aggie band to males only."

Assistant Attorney General Drew S. Days III, head of the civil rights division, said excluding the women from the band and other organizations "deprives them of an opportunity to participate in activities at the heart of university life at

The other organizations are called the Fish Drill Team, the Ross Volunteer Company, and Parsons' Mounted Cavalry. The organizations are open to the 2,200 Texas A&M students enrolled in the Corps of Cadets. There are about 30,000 students enrolled at the university. family farm, in which the dutiful without losing all sense of contributions of mother, father and many children add up to a wholesome, hearth-centered and somehow profitable way of life, is a myth, says Walter Russell.

> Soap operas depict it as fact. Politicians rapturously defend it. Many millions believe religiously that it is a fortress of basic American values. The Agriculture Department gives it official recognition.

> "It is my opinion," says Russell, "that the 'family farm' that whole image - has never existed, and certainly not since the Great Depression." It's a myth, he says again. "It's a perception.

Is such talk mere braying? Who is this man Russell?

He was born on an lowa farm that has been in his family for more than a hundred years. He holds a doctorate in agronomy and once was a U.S. Agriculture Department scientist.

Now vice president of Oppenheimer Industries, he helps manage hundreds of thousands of farm acreage for the Kansas And what you can now see in City-based agricultural services

There do exist families seeking to operate acreage in the manner many people perceive as traditional, says Russell. But their life is hardly idyllic and their efforts are unprofitable, he defended as "a victimless says.

'The system doesn't lend itself to accepting modern technology," he explains. "To be competitive today you must accept more technology and capital and management..." "The type of farming envisioned as the traditional family farm is done for tradition, not for good economic reasons. They might grow cotton, for instance, because the land always was in cotton."

Time marches on, and in farming it marched swiftly. Much of U.S. agriculture, says Russell, is made up of three categories of farms.

First, he lists the uneconomic family operation in which the husband and wife might hold part-time jobs elsewhere. They operate little acreage. They farm because of tradition and perhaps for enjoyment.

Next is the family team, perhaps made up of two brothers or a father and son or a father, son and uncle who manage perhaps

> And then there is the tightly help group, perhaps made up of family members, that operates thousands of acres. It is highly leveraged and very economic. It is a business, and good business practices govern.

> 'They use all the fiscal tools," said Russell. They study markets and they know how to market their goods. They raise crops, they sell and buy land, they buy and sell cattle, they run custom feed lots.

That is the reality, says Russell. "There is nothing wrong with preserving tradition, but you cannot have economy using the traditional methods. You can't do what your grandfather

The decline of inefficient, smaller farms is documented by the numbers. In 1964 about 205,000 farms accounted for one-half of all farm product sales. A decade later half of all farm sales came from 100,000

Staten Island Youth Loses Monopoly Title

NEW YORK (AP) - When Angelo Repole realized he couldn't come up with $1,300 to pay the rent on Park Place, he got up from the table and ran sobbing to the men's room.

Angelo wasn't only bankrupt, he had just missed out on a chance to become the United States Monopoly champion.

The 10-year-old Staten Island youth wheeled and dealed for nearly two hours with the four men in the competition before losing his bid to unseat defending champion Dana Terman, 23, of Wheaton, Md.

Angelo's mother, Marti, remained nearby throughout the competition to help with such problems as she could - like removing the green bubble gum that burst on her son's face.

Angelo blew bubbles throughout the match, staged in the plush Palace Restaurant. All the contestants wore tuxedoes, prompting bystanders to comment that the scene reminded them of a high-stakes baccarat game in a Las Vegas casino.

By the end of the match, all the utilities were out of order, only one railroad was running. and Angelo controlled St. Charles -Place to remain Terman's only real competition.

It was a roll of the dice - the spinning of fortunes - that finally sent the wolves to Angelo's door.

Angelo, the New York regional champion, landed on Terman's Park Place property and couldn't raise the $1,300 rent.

He paid out all his money, conceded defeat and then, head lowered, let his hard-earned "Angelo can't stand losing." his mother confided. She said he is a straight-A student at P.S. 20.

But even in defeat, Angelo was the darling of the tournament. After 10 minutes, the unsmiling runnerup emerged from the men's room, composure regained, to congratulate Terman, a car salesman.

"Angelo is an excellent player, and I hope I'll see him again 1981." the champion said.

Terman said he has been playing the Parker Brothers game since he was 8, and professes to be a "games fanatic." He said he is also a master duplicate bridge player, a chess and backgammon expert, and plays a "fair" hand of poker.

The other regional challeng ers were David Ulmer, a 22year-old Los Angeles banker who said he prepared by playing the game against a computer at the University of California; Steve McCue, a 31-year-old psychotherapist from Kansas City, and Rick Sayler, 23, an auto parts salesman from Fort Wayne, Ind. Terman will represent the United States at the World Monopoly Championship next April in Bermuda. At the last world championship in Monte Carlo, he placed sixth in a field of 19 national champions.

The prize for the world champion is a free trip for two anywhere in the world.
