Thanksgiving a memory; shoppers head for stores

The leftover turkey is destined for sandwiches, and the Thanksgiving shopping frenzy.

"It is our biggest day of the year," said Ruth Mitchell of the Hickory Hollow Mall in Nashville, Tenn. "It's incredible. The toy business depends on the Christmas season for 50 percent to 70 percent of annual sales, and this year is expected to bring cheer to merchants nationwide because retail sales are running 8 percent ahead of last year in October.

"Consumers are in an upbeat mood and have more disposable income in their pockets, and we have better weather - it's cold," Steve Boyer, president of the Tennessee Retail Federation, said Thursday. 'That makes for some great Christmas shopping.

Boyer said retailers in his state expected to ring up 10 percent of their total Christmas sales today.

Holiday death toll projected

CHICAGO (AP) - The number of traffic-related deaths nationwide during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend passed 100 this morning, with Florida, California and North Carolina leading the count.

As of 8 a.m. EST, 114 people were known to have died in accidents since 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, when the holiday begins for counting purposes. The count ends at midnight Sunday local time.

Florida led the list with 11 traffic fatilities, followed by California and North Carolina with nine apiece, Colorado eight and New York seven.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 350 and 450 people may die in traffic accidents during the long weekend.

During last year's Thanksgiving holiday, 409 people died on the nation's highways.

The highest toll for the four-day weekend was in 1968, when 764 people died in traffic accidents.

The traffic safety council says about 470 people could be expected to die in traffic accidents during a nonholiday, four-day weekend at this time of the year.

The probe also will consider possible CIA involvement in the transfer scheme. The Washington Post

Lt. Col. Oliver North, the Marine officer who assertedly ran the program diverting money to rebels in Nicaragua, had free access to his office files for several hours after President Reagan announced Tuesday that North was being removed from the NSC staff, the officials said

Combinations on the locks in North's office were changed Tuesday afternoon, after Reagan's announcement, and North's papers were put into NSC vaults Wednesday, said the officials, adding that they didn't know whether any documents were destroyed

Meanwhile, The Post said in today's editions that the congressional and Justice Department investigations into the diversion program have been expanded to include a study of the roles played by the CIA and its director, William Casey.

Quoting unnamed "informed sources," The Post said the probes focus on the CIA's role in setting up a Swiss bank account for Iranian payments for arms and on the agency's efforts to funnel aid to the Nicaraguan rebels, known as Con-

Local motorists are 'buckling up'

By DEBE GRAVES Feature Writer

"Texans are buckling up," according to Captain Ted Langgood of the Hereford Police Department. Langgood reports, "Since we began enforcing the seat belt law we have a declining incidence of citations. During the first six months Hereford police averaged twenty citations a month, now we have only four or five cited violations a month," he explained.

The seat belt law was enacted in August of last year; however, enforcement began in December. With the anniversary of enforcement approaching, Langgood notes, "Statewide we have seen a drastically reduced death rate. During the first six months death and serious injuries were down 12.5 percent. Now, for front seat occupants, the rate is down 17.2 percent.'

Though Langgood says Texans are cooperating, he advises, "The driver is responsible for occupants of the car and has to make sure they are not violating the law.' Municipal Judge JoEd Cupell agrees with Langgood, "I think almost everyone is trying to cooperate. Most of the seatbelt citations are in connection with another offense and about one-third involve Cupell explains the fine for violation is, "Twenty-five to fifty dollars per person plus an additional ten dollars, each, for court costs." Generally, first time offenders pay a total of thirty-five dollars or sixty dollars for repeat violators. The court cost fee goes to thes tate but revenue from the fines remains in the city treasury.

Langgood suggests, "The police act as a reminder to buckle-up. When someone has forgotten their seat belt and they see us, they reach for the strap. We see people all day long who panic and begin to buckle up; that's okay because then they are safer. We would never stop anyone who did that."

Buckled Up

Kenneth Cook, Emergency Medical Technician, drives the ambulance for Deaf Smith General Hospital. Cook, who hates to wear a seat belt, has become a convert as the ambulance crew has attended a number of wrecks where wearing seatbelts decided the outcome in favor of the victim. Statewide statistics show that the severity of injury is lessened when occupants buckle up.

Tests say anti-intoxication drug promises help for alcoholics

WASHINGTON (AP) - Animal tests show that a new synthetic chemical can block the intoxicating effects of alcohol, and scientists say the drug might be used to wean alcoholics away from their destructive habit.

Researchers say the drug, which instantly prevents or reverses the intoxicating effects of alcohol in animals, offers the potential of a new way to treat chronic alcoholics or to sober up drunks.

However, ethical and legal considerations probably would prevent using the alcohol antidote as a routine way of getting party-goers ready for the road or as an instant sober-up pill dispensed at the nation's bars, they added.

In a paper published today in the Dec. 5 issue of the journal Science, researchers at the National Institute of Mental Health say the drug blocks the intoxicating and anti-inhibition effects of alcohol in rats.

Dr. Peter D. Suzdak, the principal scientist on the project, noted, however, that the chemical neither lowers the levels of alcohol in the body nor does it affect other aspects of alcohol overdose such as respiratory depression or coma.

"We have a drug that appears to block some of the effects of ethanol (pure alcohol), but by no means do we imply that it will block all the effects," Suzdak said in an interview.

Testing in monkeys has just begun. but if the chemical works in humans most obvious use would be in treating chronic alcoholics, he said.

Dense fog forms in North Texas

By The Associated Press

Patchy, dense fog formed in North Texas early today, while light showers fell in South Central Texas and along the middle Texas

The National Weather Service said clear skies and light winds allowed surface temperatures to cool enough to produce the fog.

A low pressure center in the Gulf of Mexico combined with an upper level disturbance to produce mostly overcast skies in the eastern part of the state. Skies were overcast over East, Southeast, and Central Texas and along the coastal plain.

The western part of the state had generally clear skies due to high pressure over the state.

Winds were generally from the north or northwest at 5 to 10 mph. Overnight, temperatures were mostly in the 30s and 40s with some readings in the 50s along the Gulf Coast, although readings in the 20s and teens were observed in the higher elevations of the Trans-Pecos.

Holiday deaths reported

By The Associated Press

At least seven people have perished on Texas highways during the Thanksgiving holiday, including a teen-ager whose car was hit by a train during a rainstorm, officials said.

Ammar Bitar, 17, was killed and two others in his car were taken to Fort Bend Community Hospital after the car-train accident Thursday afternoon near Arcola, just south of Houston, LifeFlight spokesman Don Brown said.

In other fatalities recorded during the count that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday:

A pregnant woman and a man died in Bellaire on Thursday when a car ran a red light and struck another, Harris County Sheriff's spokesman J.R. McFerrin said.

The man died at the scene in this Houston suburb, and the woman died in surgery at Hermann Hospital, McFerrin said. Authorities would not release their names.

Christy Coman, 32, of Houston died early Thursday after her car careened into a ditch in north Harris County and struck a culvert, he Another woman whom authorities declined to identify was killed early Thursday in Houston just three days after her 35th birthday, police department spokesman D. Watley said.

Witness reports conflicted on how the woman died, he said. Some said she was hit by a car, others reported she fell out of a car.

John Lewis Pitts, 42, of San Antonio was killed about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday when he was hit by a car while running across Interstate 35 in San Antonio, police said. No citations were issued.

Rogelio Berrueto, 32, of San Antonio was killed when a pickup truck he was driving struck a stalled dump truck on the shoulder of Interstate 410 at about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, police said.

Gasoline prices are raised again

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The price of regular gasoline rose 9.9 percent Thursday, the second increase in a month and yet another sign that the inflation rate for the year will likely reach a record level,

The Treasury Department announced Wednesday night an increase in the price of regular gasoline from 141 pesos a liter to 155 pesos. That translates into an advance from about 66 cents a gallon to 72 cents.

For extra, the price jumped 12.5 percent from 160 pesos a liter to 180 pesos, or roughly an advance from 74 cents a gallon to 84 cents. The department said the price hike will be the last of the year. It was made, it said, to help improve the finances of the federal govern-

Throughout the year, the government has been raising the costs of controlled goods and slashing subsidies to make up for the sharp loss in expected revenues from the plunge in oil prices earlier in the year.

The government estimates that oil revenues will be off $8.2 billion this year. They were $13.3 billion in 1985.

The string of price increases helped boost the inflation rate to 78.6 percent in the first 10 months of the year.

As a result, analysts expect that consumer price increases will top 100 percent by year's end, which would be well above the 63.7 percent

In President Miguel de la Madrid's economic projections for next year, the inflation rate is forecast to decline 20 to 30 percentage points from the 1986 tally.

Just last weekend, the government raised for the second time this year prices for tortillas, the mainstay of the Mexican diet, and large, white hard rolls, also a popular food item.

Tortilla prices rose 63 percent to 130 pesos, or about 15 cents, for 2.2 pounds. In May, the government nearly doubled those costs. The cost of rolls went up 26 percent to 24 pesos apiece, or about 3

A second rate, regulated by the government, stood at 858-860 on Thursday, compared to 853-855 the day before. The rate is quoted in about 80 percent of commercial transactions.

Aquino announces changes

MANILA, Philippines (AP) - President Corazon Aquino announced today she had accepted the resignations of two more Cabinet ministers, five days after she replaced Juan Ponce Enrile as defense

Mrs. Aquino said she had replaced Public Works Minister Rogaciano Mercado and Natural Resources Minister Ernesto Maceda. Military sources said the two were among ministers whom the armed forces command wanted replaced for "incompetence."

Both ministries have been criticized for corruption and "I am compelled by the national interest to make some changes in my government with a view to hammering it into an effective instrument of progress," Mrs. Aquino said in a nationally televised

She appointed Vincente Jayme, president of the Philippine National Bank, as minister of public works and Carlos Dominguez Jr., a former deputy minister of agriculture, to the natural resources post. Dominquez was sworn in immediately after the announcement.

Mrs. Aquino said Jayme will assume his new post after he returns Dec. 9 from Washington, where he is involved in negotiations for loans to the Philippines.

Lion Governor makes official visit here

Jimmy Ross of Quitaque, Lions Governor, District 2-T1, made his official visit of the year to the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday in the Community Center, challenging the Lions to be involved in more community projects and to sign up more new members in the civic organization.

Ross, 44, is a farmer-rancher and a former Lions' officer in club and district positions. A graduate of West Texas State, he has been a Lion for 16 years with service in clubs at Lubbock, Flomot and Quitaque. He and his wife, Velda, have three daughters.

Ross, introduced by Hereford President Temple Abney, inducted new member Jay Eubanks into the club and presented certificates of appreciation to outstanding club members O.E. Durham and Dr. Milton Adams.

Abney opened the meeting by having a silent moment of prayer in memory of Lion Dyal Garner, longtime member who died this past week.

The club will have its annual Christmas party next Thursday night, so there will be no meeting Wednesday, it was announced by Abney. He urged Lions to help with the Girlstown Benefit Bean & Cornbread Supper next Tuesday night and to sell tickets for the event.

THANKSGIVING

Reagan's other children, Patti and Michael, spent the day with their respective in-laws.

Along with food and football, people lined streets to watch parades across America, including New York, Detroit, Philadelphia, Houston and El Paso, Texas.

Wind was a problem for the Detroit parade, where clowns wrestled with 12 giant balloons, and at Macy's big parade in New York City, which featured cartoon character balloons. The Superman balloon lost its left hand when it drifted into trees, Olive Oyl's toothpick-like arm was torn and Humpty Dumpty's left foot

"We've been coming since we were little kids. Now we bring our kids,' said Lionel Nava, who came with his daughter, six nieces and nephews and his brother-in-law. "The parades I remember were the cold ones, but I'll remember this. It's beautiful."

Hundreds of people in Beaumont, Orange and Nederland broke with tradition and substituted pepperonis and extra cheese for turkey and dressing.

Mr. Gatti's restaurant recruited 85 volunteer workers at its restaurants in those cities to serve free pizzas and salads.

"The people in Southeast Texas have given me so much," said Bill Denham, who owns Mr. Gatti's. "I wanted to make sure that this year with the bad economy that I would give something back. People have really been hurting in this town, and I felt this was one way to help."

Jean Spell said she felt especially grateful for the gesture of goodwill. She and her husband David are unemployed and did not have enough money to fix the traditional Thanksgiving meal, she said.

"You're sorry that it (unemployment) happens to anyone, but when it hits you, it puts the situation in a different light," Mrs. Spell said.

In San Antonio, 450 turkeys and 800 pumpkin pies were baked for 9,800 senior citizens who packed the Convention Center Exhibit Hall for the annual Jimenez Thanksgiving Day Dinner put on by businessman Raul Jimenez Sr.

Cooks used 300 dozen eggs, 700 pounds of pork trimmings and 350 pounds of onions and bell peppers to put on the seventh annual event.

The senior citizens ate, danced, laughed and talked as thousands of volunteers rushed around, serving platefuls of food and filling drinking

Elsewhere in San Antonio, about 150 people gathered in a parking lot underneath Interstate 37 to eat a dinner provided by two non-profit groups - Hope for the Homeless and the Battered Women's Center Outreach Inc.

Amanda Nelson, executive secretary of the women's center organization, said the groups decided to serve the food, donated by local businesses, beneath the freeway because that is where many homeless people congregate.

"You'd be surprised how many people live under here," she said, noting her organization regularly serves free Sunday lunches at the location.

In Houston, bad weather didn't deter an estimated 20,000 people who watched the Foley's parade.

Others gathered for the free SuperFeast downtown.

About 150 volunteers helped organize the feast, dish out mashed potatoes and cranberry sauce, carve turkeys and distribute fruit donated by corporations and individuals.

"This year's response has been far greater than we expected," said Camile Waters, the feast's volunteer coordinator. "We don't really have an organization or bank accounts. This remains a people to people event."

J. David Moeller, the SuperFeast's founder, likened the event to a typical family gathering "magnified a thousandfold."

A first this year was the inclusion of a number of ethnic foods, like Thai fried rice and some Mexican dishes. Moeller said.

"The Indians brought corn to the first Thanksgiving, so we're hoping for even more ethnic foods next year," Moeller said.

Most school textbooks virtually ignore religion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs says extensive studies show that "textbooks used in the nation's schools virtually ignore religion, thereby distorting the historical record."

The omission denigrates religion and deprives "students of knowledge of America's religious heritage, says a resolution adopted by the agency for eight denominations totaling about 28 million Baptists.

It calls on textbook authors and publishers "to stop rewriting history and to correct this indefensible distortion of the role of religion in American life." School textbook committees were urged to "approve only textbooks that honestly and accurately deal with religion's role in our society."

Get in shape with indoor exercise

With the beginning of a new year just around the corner, many people tell themselves they will begin that exercise program they keep putting off only to put it off once more because it's too cold to get outdoors.

Professor Nancy Ridenour of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Nursing said the cold weather doesn't have to be an excuse. Many indoor exercise programs are available to help get you in shape for the warm-weather outdoor athletics.

"The most important thing in any exercise program is to make sure you warm up, stretch and cool down properly," Ridenour said. "You can avoid a lot of the muscle soreness by stretching properly.'

Ridenour also warned that exercise does not have to hurt to be beneficial. The old 'no pain, no gain'

Ridenour said it is also important to breath properly during exercises. People tend to hold their breath when exercising or lifting weights. Ridenour said learning and using proper breathing patterns will help increase results.

Ridenour said the proliferation of television exercise shows is good for indoor exercise, but said viewers should look for several things before deciding which program to follow.

Television exercise programs should provide adequate stretching

> "Hopping movement will certainly get your heart rate up," Ridenour said. "But, it is also extremely hard on your joints. Try to find a program with routines that emphasis smoother movements.'

> Ridenour also said that the instructors should also explain how to determine your target pulse range and remind you to check it periodicaly. She warned not to fall into the trap of thinking that more is better by going over your target range.

"Knowing your target pulse range is important, you can really do some damage to your health by going over that range," she said.

Ridenour also said people should look for the same things in the spa or other exercise and aerobic classes. The advantage of good instructors in classes is individual attention.

Good instructors will see when someone is having trouble doing an exercise properly and can help them," she said. "They also have the ability to encourage participants to work at their own optimum level and not the instructor's.'

Ridenour said people should seek advice before beginning an exercise program of any type

"Every community has a nurse, coach or someone that can tell you the correct way to do exercises," she said. "There are also numerous good books and videotapes that can help you. The key is to find a moderate, well-balanced program that doesn't seem to be fanatical. Also, pick an exercise program that fits with your lifestyle and is easily accessible and

Whitefaces take on Cleburne in playoffs

Shire, Baker notch records

The Hereford Whitefaces have put year's team had 3.118 yards total oftogther one of the school's best offensive records in advancing into the state playoffs this season, and the statistics are paced by recordbreaking performances from the passing duo of quarterback Todd Shire and receiver Bobby Baker.

The two have assaulted the aerial records, each setting new marks for HHS. Shire has broken two recordsmost touchdown passes and best completion percentage, while Baker also has two school records-most touchdown passes caught and most receptions for a season. Mike Artho has moved into the top 10 rushers after going over the 1,000-yard mark in last week's game.

As a team, this year's squad has moved into second place in total offense and in passing offense. The total offensive record is held by the 1981 team, and the top passing mark is held by the 1970 team which featured Mike Wartes at quarterback. This year's team did not make the top 10 on defense.

This year's team has the secondbest scoring mark for HHS, tallying 256 points during the 10-game season, just two points less than the 1981 team. The Herd now has 282 points in 11 games, chasing the 350 recorded by the 1981 team in 13 games. This fense in regular season, compared to 3,225 by the 1981 team. The '81 crew averaged 326.7 yards a game over the 13-game schedule.

Shire surpassed Alan Wartes (1981) for touchdown passes thrown, already hitting 15 while Alan had 13 in 13 games. Sid Shaw(1967) and Steve Hodges(1965) previously had the most TD passes in a regular season with 9 each, but Shire connected for 13 in 10 games.

Shire ended the regular season with the best passing percentage, 86 of 168 for .512. Mike Wartes(197) previously owned the best mark .461. Wartes still has the most completions, 101, but Shire now has hit 98 in 11 games.

Baker ranks third on the HHS punting records, according to available statistics. Baker punted for a 37.7 yard average, tying him for third on the all-time list with John Frank Martin(1969). Jeff Lorewald(1969) is tops at 42.8 and Steve Hodges (1965) is next at 38.5.

Darrell Page ranks in the school's top 10 in fumble recoveries with 5, and Robby Collier is among the tops in pass interceptions with 9. Michael Phibbs is close to the top 10 in tackles with 107 recorded for the season.

Hereford's Whitefaces take a 10-1 won-lost record into the Region 1, Class 4A football playoffs Saturday night when they meet the Cleburne Yellowjackets at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Once again the Herd will be matched against a bigger team, but Hereford Coach Don Cumpton feels the key may be "for us to play with great emotion and intensity on offense and defense, execute our plays and not turn the ball over."

The Herd came out of its 26-17 district victory over Big Spring without any injuries. The team will leave for Abilene this afternoon following a sendoff pep rally at 3:30 p.m. near the field house.

Cumpton said the team feels "very confident" in taking on the Cleburne team. "We had six turnovers against Big Spring, as many as any time this season and we still came back and won the game. That gives our kids a lot of confidence in their ability," he Should Hereford win the game Saturday, the 'Faces will advance to the quarterfinals against the winner of the Sweetwater-Wichita Falls and returned this year.

Hirschi game to be played Saturday afternoon. The other playoff game will be played in Sweetwater, right next door to the Hereford playoff game in Abilene.

Some Hereford fans were making plans to see the 2 p.m. game in Sweetwater, then travel the 40 miles to the Whiteface contest. The Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce ran an advertisement in today's Brand inviting Whiteface fans to "eat lunch in Sweetwater" and see the playoff game.

Cumpton says Cleburne has a ballcontrol team on offense with a speedy quarterback, Duff Cunningham, and some big running backs. "The Yellowjackets play with consistency and that's a strong part of their game-they don't make many mistakes.'

This year's Whiteface team will be hoping to win the first-ever state title for Hereford. The farthest a Herd team has gone was to the semifinals in1981. Cumpton was the coach then when HHS compiled a 13-1 mark. Cumpton has a 47-17-1 won-lost-tied record at Hereford for a winning percentage of .734. He coached here in 1978-83, left to take the Abilene job

Bengal-Bronco tilt crucial

By The Associated Press

The NFL's 13th week began Thursday with a pair of traditional Thanksgiving Day games.

This Sunday, Cincinnati gets a stiff test when it plays in Denver against the Broncos, who lead the AFC West with a 9-3 mark.

Denver is one game ahead of the Los Angeles Raiders, and Broncos Coach Dan Reeves also realizes this week is a key one.

On Sunday, it's the Raiders playing host to Philadelphia, Houston at Cleveland, Buffalo at Kansas City, the Los Angeles Rams at the New York Jets, New England at New Orleans, Pittsburgh at Chicago, San Diego at Indianapolis, Tampa Bay at Minnesota, Washington at St. Louis and Atlanta at Miami.

The New York Giants play in San Francisco on Monday night. The Cincinnati-Denver game matches the Bengals' strong offense against the Broncos' tough defense.

James Brooks, who has run for 775 yards, leads Cincinnati's rushing game, which ranks No. 1 in the AFC with 147 yards per game.

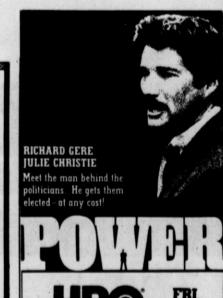

Denver is third in the AFC on defense and second against the rush, allowing an average of just 85.5 yards per game.

A&M tramples Horns, capture second SWC title back Kevin Murray and fullback Roger Vick led a Texas A&M offense that rolled to a 16-3 victory over Texas Thursday night, securing the Aggies' second straight Southwest Conference championship and a berth in the Cotton Bowl.

No. 10-ranked A&M got an extra chance on a 15-yard roughing-thepunter penalty in the third quarter as it raised its SWC record to 7-1 and 9-2 for the season. The Aggies, who edged Arkansas into the Orange Bowl with the win, will face Ohio State on New Year's Day

Texas fell to 4-4 and 5-6, and suffered its first losing football season in 30 years. The loss may also have been the final blow for Texas Coach Fred Akers, whose job security has been questioned all year.

The UT athletic council has been called into special session Saturday, and Akers' future will be disclosed at a news conference after the meeting.

Murray completed 25 of 36 passes for 277 yards and a 6-yard scoring toss to flanker Rod Harris. Vick, a 221-pounder, ran 41 times for 167 yards and became the first A&M player in 35 years to win the SWC rushing championship with a total of 960 yards.

A&M's Scott Slater kicked three field goals - 22, 41 and 34 yards - to set a single-season SWC record of 21. Jeff Ward's 39-yard field in the first quarter accounted for Texas' only points and gave Texas a 3-0 lead.

The key play of the game came when A&M's Todd Schantz punted early in the third quarter, but linebacker Tex Mercer of Texas was called for roughing

The penalty gave A&M a first down at the Texas 41, and eight plays later Murray threw to Harris, who made a diving catch in the end zone for a 10-3 A&M lead.

Texas' last serious threat ended after tailback Eric Metcalf dropped a pass from quarterback Bret Stafford at the A&M 10

After Texas took the early lead with 1:57 left in the first quarter, A&M waited until late in the second quarter to move 54 yards for a 22-yard tying field goal by Slater with only five seconds left in the half.

The Texas scoring drive started on its 10 after a 50-yard Todd Schantz punt. Eric Metcalf's 33-yard pass reception to the A&M 35 was the big gainer, but the drive stalled at the

Both the Cotton and Orange bowls will be played on New Year's Day

Two other SWC teams will be in post-season classics. Texas Tech, 7-4, will play Mississippi, 7-3-1, in the Independence Bowl on Dec. 20 in Shreveport, La., and Baylor, 8-3, will play Colorado, 6-5, in the Bluebonnet Bowl on Dec. 31 in Houston. Hatfield said he didn't give up on the chance at the Cotton Bowl until "Texas missed on fourth-and-15 late in the game. They have so much speed, I felt they had a chance, but Texas A&M had the best team tonight." "We set our goal to go back to Dallas, and now we have achieved that goal," A&M linebacker Johnny

Holland said. Sherrill noted that A&M's second straight SWC championship and trip to the Cotton Bowl hadn't occurred in several years and gave the credit to A&M's senior players. He singled out running back Roger Vick and quarterback Kevin Murray for special praise for their play against

Regarding the Orange Bowl, Hatfield said, "We're excited to take our team, our school, our fans and our state to be on display on prime time Jan. 1. Since No. 1 and No. 2 are playing each other in the Fiesta Bowl, we're playing the highest-ranked team we can play. This is a trememndous honor and opportunity Arkansas, 9-2, closed out its regular season with a 41-0 rout of Southern Methodist last week. Oklahoma, 10-1, finished with a 20-17 victory over Nebraska Saturday.

'The Orange Bowl is one of the few bowls I've never been to," Hatfield said. "It should be an exciting experience. I've seen Oklahoma against UCLA, Miami and Texas and we know how talented they are and what a great defense they have. We need to keep the ball about 52 minutes to beat them."

Hatfield said Oklahoma and Arkansas run the same offense and that the two teams' staffs swapped ideas in the spring. "At that time, I sure had no idea we'd be playing them," Hatfield said.

Hatfield, who plans to recruit next week, said the Razorbacks would begin working out for the Orange Bowl Dec. 8.

Marks, asked what attracted the Orange Bowl to the Razorbacks, mentioned the 1978 Orange Bowl when an underdog Arkansas team beat Oklahoma 31-6.

We've had Arkansas here before," Marks said. "We know their fans show up. They have an exciting team. They're playing great football. They're highly rated and put on a great show on the field."

Akers status up in the air

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas Coach Fred Akers, moments after his team lost 16-3 to No. 10-ranked Texas A&M in a game that may cost him his job, said Thursday night he deserves another chance.

"It's time to regroup, start over and think about the next one (season)," Akers said after an A&M victory that clinched the Aggies' second straight Southwest Conference football title and a berth in the Cotton

The Aggies, who edged Arkansas into the Orange Bowl with the win, will face Ohio State in the New Year's Day contest in Dallas.

Akers, whose job security has been questioned all season, was asked if he expected to return next year after the Longhorns closed out their first losing season in 30 years at 5-6.

"Well, I hope so. If it's up to me, I'm going to be back," he said.

Quarterback Kevin Murray and fullback Roger Vick led an A&M offense that got an extra chance on a 15-yard roughing-the-punter penalty in defeating the Longhorns for records of 7-1 in the SWC and 9-2 on

The athletic council at Texas, now 4-4 in the SWC, has been called into special session Saturday, and Akers' future will be disclosed at a news conference after the meeting.

No. 1 Miami rips E. Carolina

MIAMI (AP) - The one Miami player to whom the East Carolina Pirates were more important than Penn State ensured the top-ranked Hurricanes an unbeaten regular season and a spot in the Fiesta Bowl showdown with the Nittany Lions for the national championship.

Quarterback Geoff Torretta passed for 328 yards and three touchdowns Thursday night to lead the Hurricanes to a 36-10 victory over the surprisingly tough Pirates.

Torretta had good reason to think only about East Carolina. He likely won't play in the Fiesta Bowl.

The senior backup started Thursday night only because Vinny Testaverde had suffered severe cuts and bruises in a motor scooter accident two days earlier. Testaverde, who limped around the sideline in a warmup suit with bandages on both hands, is expected to be healed in plenty of time for the Fiesta Bowl on

"I was real excited just to play," said Torretta, who had thrown just 45 passes in the past two seasons. "I felt like I had put in the time. I was thinking last week how I never got a chance to win games for this team."

When he finally got the chance, he took advantage of it. He completed three of five passes for 56 yards in the game's opening drive, which was capped by a 22-yard field goal by

Later, Torretta threw touchdown passes of 42 and 50 yards to Michael Irvin in a 2:23 span early in the second period; hit Irvin on a 44-yar pass to set up a 2-yard run by Alonzo Highsmith in the third period; and connected with Brett Perriman on a 29-yard touchdown pass with 7:53 to

He didn't let six sacks by a hardcharging East Carolina defense rattle him while completing 20 of 30

VERSE CIRCUMSTANCES. East Carolina Coach Art Baker said. We put a lot of pressure on him and he still completed some excellent passes. O course, their skill players are as fine as any team I've ever seen."

Te Hurricanes, 11-0, also scored a late touchdown on a 12-yard run by Warren Williams.

East Carolina's only points came on a 21-yard field goal from Chuck Berleth on its first possession and a 5-yard run by Travis Hunter early in the final period

Seahawks serve Pokes holiday defeat

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Seattle Seahawks weren't about to be Thanksgiving Day turkeys again for the Dallas Cowboys.

Six years ago, the Seahawks were axed 51-6 in Texas Stadium on Thanksgiving Day.

The Cowboys were 14-3-1 in Thanksgiving games and had won six in a row entering Thursday's renewal against the Seahawks, who could only practice two days because of the short week.

But it was the Cowboys who struggled during Seattle's convincing 31-14 victory.

"Seattle was sharp," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said. "They have a lot of skill people and Dave Krieg and Curt Warner just ruined us."

The Seahawks, paced by the Krieg's passing and Warner's running, severely damaged the Cowboys' NFL playoff hopes.

In the first half, Krieg ran six vards for a score and threw touchdown passes of 11 yards to Steve Largent and 19 yards to Byron Franklin.

Warner took over in the second

Pack comes from behind to edge Lions

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - The Thanksgiving Day game between Detroit and Green Bay was certainly no turkey, although it might be difficult to convince Lions Coach Darryl Rogers of that.

Rogers watched helplessly as Green Bay speedster Walter Stanley raced 83 yards with a punt return for the winning touchdown with 41 seconds remaining Thursday, lifting the Packers to a 44-40 NFL victory.

"I saw a game like this on television." Rogers moaned. "It was against the Bears and they ran a kickoff back for a touchown, which beat the Lions.

"Ah, it's just a terrible way to

Indeed, in the 1980 Thanksgiving Day game, while Rogers was still coaching at Arizona State University, Chicago's Vince Evans scored on the last play of the game and Dave Williams returned the overtime period's opening kickoff for a 95-yard TD as the Bears stunned Detroit

"In the past few weeks, we've been scoring 14 points and now we score 40 and still can't win," Rogers said. "You can't give up blocked punts. You can't give up punt returns."

But the Lions gave up both and the spirited Packers, who trailed 10-0 before running a play, scored on each in winning for only the third time in 13 starts. Detroit dropped to

"I can smile again," Green Bay Coach Forrest Gregg said. "I think this did something for the Thanksgiving Day game. You know nothing was at stake for either football team, but neither played like there wasn't something at stake. I think that's a credit to both teams."

Gregg also felt the victory could have positive side benefits for the Packers.

"I think this is a big chance for this football team," Gregg said. "It's good for their mental health. We have a lot of kids with a lot of pride and a lot of character and we're quite proud of them."

Gregg was especially proud, of course, of Stanley. In addition to his dramatic game-winning return, Stanley also had a 30-yard return that set up one of Al Del Greco's three field goals, and caught four passes for 124 yards and two more touchdowns.

Walter had an outstanding game," Gregg said. "I think they probably underestimated his ability a little bit. Nobody will be guilty of that again."

Ironically, Rogers might have been smiling and Greeg left frowning had Stanley had followed orders and signaled for a fair catch on that final

"I wasn't supposed to run," Stanley admitted. "It was set up for a block and I was supposed to faircatch. But, I decided not to because I wanted to get something going."

half, scoring a touchdown and gaining 98 of his 122 yards rushing after intermission. Warner's performance allowed him to go past the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the year. Seattle scored on all four of its first-half possessions, with Krieg accounting for three touchdown and a Norm Johnson added a 42-yard field

"I think it helped we had a short work week," Krieg said. "All I know, Warner was tired but just kept going at them. That's why I say he's got a lot of heart."

Both teams are 7-6 with three games left.

Largent told Seattle Coach Chuck Knox: "We ought to just practice two days every week. It was definitely good for us."

"It was a great win for us, particularly anytime you come in here and beat the Dallas Cowboys and have four starters out," Knox said. "It's the best win in the history of the franchise."

Warner ran nine yards for a touchdown in the fourth period after Dallas had cut Seattle's 17-point halftime lead to 24-14 on Herschel Walker's 1-yard scoring run.

The drive carried 40 yards in three plays, all on runs by Warner.

"Warner did a great job," Knox said. "He wanted the ball out there." "We have a lot of balance in our offense and we showed that today," Warner said. "We played as well as we played all year. It was a great complete team effort."

Landry said the defeat was costly to Dallas playoff hopes.

"It's going to be tough to get into the playoffs now because you might be out of it with a 10-6 record this year," Landry said. "We'll have to regroup and see what happens. We have 10 days to figure it out.'

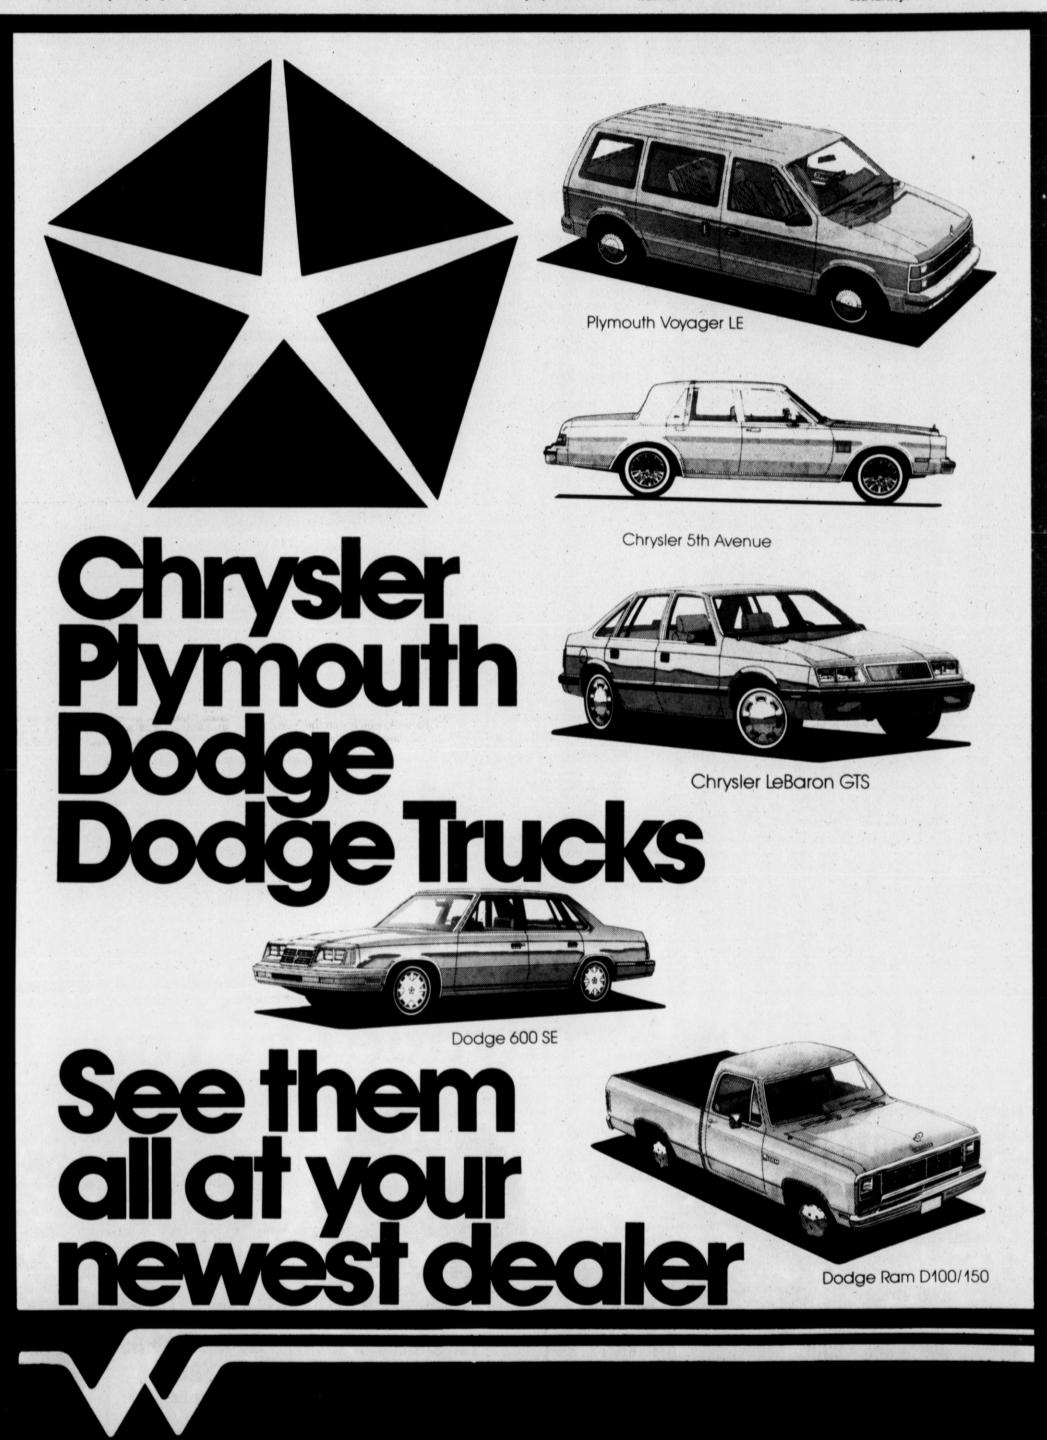

Dallas defensive tackle Randy White praised the hard-running Warner.

"Warner was just great," he said. "We couldn't get our hands on him. Now this team has to pull together more than any team we've had. "The short week was good for us. We didn't have time to think about

It was the first time Seattle had defeated Dallas in four tries.

"There was a different thing on the menu than they thought," Seattle's Darvl Turner said. "And it wasn't sea turkey."

Tech eyes recruiting boost

By MITCH LAWRENCE The Dallas it is that it has a great weight room,' Morning News

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - The tour of Texas Tech's new $4.5 million Athletic Training Facility was over, but the school official had one last observation to make as his four guests walked out the door.

'For Texas Tech," he said, "this is a first-class facility.

He was wrong. It's a first-class future. facility for any school. Which means one thing: Texas Tech finally has a practice court to match its basketball coach, Gerald Myers. Both may very well be the best in the Southwest Conference.

Besides the court, which opened Nov. 7, the building houses a half football field of retracable artificial turf, a six-lane track, locker room facilities for men and women, baseball batting cages, pitching areas, and coaches' offices.

"One of the things I like best about said Myers.

'Weight training is the big thing in college athletics now. Overall, the facility is important any time you have recruits in. It's one of the top things that they consider. We've already been able to show some of our recruits the facility. That's going to be an area that helps us in the

As if Myers needed any further help. Few of his colleagues would argue with anyone calling Myers the best coach in the conference.

His last two teams have won the SWC post-season tournament for automatic NCAA tournament berths.

Last year's conference championship came after he lost his entire starting five from the year before, and after the Red Raiders had finished fifth in the regular season.

Then Tech went out on a neutral floor in the NCAA tournament and nearly knocked off the 12th-best team in the country.

Georgetown Coach John Thompson said after a six-point victory that wasn't decided until the final two minutes, "I had heard they had an utstanding coach in Gerald Myers. I saw that tonight.'

SWC coaches have been seeing too much of Myers for the past 1512

His record at Tech is 275-169, a .620 winning percentage. His teams have won three SWC tournaments since they started 10 years ago, and never have lost a first-round game.

Myers' records are even more amazing considering what he had to work with. At one time or another, he has conducted practices in an intramural gym, a junior high school court six blocks off campus, and the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum, where basketball often ranks behind rodeos and tractor pulls.

Those gymns were not exactly big selling points to recruits. No matter, Myers has consistently won with lightly recruited players.

"The thing about Coach Myers is that he fits everybody into a role," said sophomore guard Sean Gay, perhaps the best freshman in the SWC last year.

"The guys he gets might not have the greatest talent in the world, but when you come to Tech you learn to play together. You learn that as a unit, you can beat just about anybody.

On this year's team, only Gay and Dallas Samuell product Steve Miles, academically ineligible for his first year, can be considered big-time recruits. Gay was wooed by North Carolina and Virginia, and Miles was courted by Kentucky and North

"Most of our kids didn't get as much publicity when they were in high school as some players on other teams, but we don't pay a lot of attention to that." Myers said.

"Just because they're not highly recruited doesn't mean they can't play. A lot of these kids played on championship teams in high school or in good programs."

Speaking of good programs, what is the secret to Myers' success? Recruiting? X's and O's? Mirrors?

He says coaching comes down to first knowning what you're doing and then having the talent. There's one more factor, too.

'The bounce of the ball has a lot to do with it," he added. "You've got to be lucky.

Tigers can ruin Tide's plans

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) -Auburn blew its chance for the Sugar Bowl by losing to Georgia two weeks ago. Now, the Tigers have a chance to gain some satisfaction by denying arch-rival Alabama a trip to New

Seventh-ranked Alabama, 9-2 overall and 4-1 in the Southeastern Conference, first must beat No. 14 Auburn on Saturday to tie LSU for the SEC championship. Then the Tide must hope that Tulane can give fifth-ranked LSU a hard enough time Saturday night to impress the Sugar Bowl committee.

If Alabama and LSU both win, the selectors will meet Sunday to pick the host team to meet Nebraska on Jan. 1. However, one influential committee member said he would try to delay the decision until the Associated Press releases its final regular-season poll on Monday.

If LSU, which beat Alabama 14-10, is the choice, the Crimson Tide will play Washington in the Sun Bowl. Auburn, 8-2 and 3-2, has a Citrus Bowl date with Southern Cal.

'We don't have any pressure on us as far as the bowl situation is concerned so we can lay our ears back and play to win," Auburn tackle Stacy Searels said.

The rival coaches could have used the same speechwriter this week.

"Auburn's a fine football team," Alabama's Ray Perkins said. "I think that perhaps they're the best team that we've played since we've been here (four years). I say perhaps; I know they're the most talented team we've faced since we've been here.

Auburn's Pat Dye calls the Crimson Tide "without question the finest Alabama team we have played against since we have been at Auburn (six years). They don't appear to have any weaknesses.'

Alabama leads the series 30-19-1 The last four games have been decided by a total of eight points. Auburn won 23-22 in 1982 and 23-20 in 1983. Alabama prevailed 17-15 in 1984 when the Tigers disdained a late chip-shot field goal that would have put them in the Sugar Bowl, and 25-23 last year on Van Tiffin's 52-yard field goal as time ran out.

"This game is a showcase for the state of Alabama," Dye said.

Louisville is third defending champion in four years to participate in the Shootout. The Cardinals follow Villanova, which won the NCAA title in 1985, and North Carolina State, the 1983 winner

North Carolina State started its season last week with an 86-84 victory over Navy in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic. The Wolfpack plays Texas in the first round of the Shootout, while Iowa begins its season against host Alaska-

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Mom and Dad have been married for 63 years and have been carping at one another for as long as I can remember. The latest bone of contention is the window curtains. Dad wants them tied all the way back so he can see out the window. Mom says, "They are just fine the way they are. I've had them tied with sashes for 63 years. I like this this

I told Mom to give in on this one small detail, just to shut him up, and to save the ammunition for more substantial matters. She says the curtains are her domain and refuses to give an inch.

Dad complains that Mom is stubborn as a mule and doesn'tknow how to compromise. No matter what they disagree about, they come to an impasse. They argue constantly about the most ridiculous things.

I believe their lives would be greatly enriched if they could be made to see how fortunate they are to have had each other so long.

I know they both respect the printed word and pehaps the reaction of someone who has heard stories of real heartbreak will shock them into appreciating their blessings. -LUCKY AND DON'T KNOW IT (RICHMOND, VA.)

DEAR L.A.D.K.K.: If your parents have been scrapping for 63 years, they are at least in their 80s.

You are not going to change them, CHICAGO DILEMMA

so accept the fact that they aren't really as miserable as they seem. Some folks enjoy fighting (it beats boredom), and I suspect this what makes their marriage lively.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me quick. I am the married mother of four children (8, 6, 31/2 and 9 months). That part is wonderful.

My husband has gone to Canada several times on fishing trips. I don't care to go along. It's just not my kind of vacation. This year I plan on taking a cruise with my sister and her three young children.

My husband is the one who sugested the trip. The problem: the inlaws, friends and neighbors. I merely indicated that I might consider a vacation without Don and the feedback was highly critical. The first question was, "Are you having problems?"

Why do people feel it's perfectly OK for the man to go on a hunting or fishing vacation with the boys, but when the wife goes on a cruise with her sister, the family tongues begin to wag?

I have worked for seven of our married years with time off for the birth of children. I am very happy in my marriage - no complaints. My husband has had at least five vacations by himself without me and the kids. I believe it's my turn to "do my own thing." Do you? Sign me -

DEAR DIL: Ignore the clattertraps and enjoy the cruise. The only opinion that counts is your husband's. If he wants you to go that should be the end of it. And please quit soliciting opinions. It's nobody's business. What the relatives think should have no effect on you whatever.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Wanna give your readers a real challenge? According to the Guinness Book of Records, the worst tongue twister is. "The sixth sick sheik's sixth sheep's sick." Ask them to try saying it rapidly after a few belts.-CAPE COD

DEAR C.C.C.: I don't "belt" and had one devil of a time saying it slowly. Have fun, folks.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Christmas will be here before you know it. Please print this letter immediately after Thanksgiving for the benefit of those who keep receiving unbearable Christmas letters. Here are a few guidelines.

1. Limit yourself to one typewritten page, double-spaced between paragraphs and with attractive margins.

2. Include your full name and address on that page.

3. Keep to basics. Think less about what you can crowd in and more about what is interesting and impor-

4. Save blow-by-blow accounts of your travels, illnesses, your children's honors and achievements, your promotions and lavish acquisitions (new boat or car) for very close friends.

5. If you name other people, identify them: "Our son Sam and his wife

6. If some radical changes have occurred, such as a death or divorce, express your feelings about them so the reader will know how to respond appropriately. For example: "Rejoice with me that the unhappy period is over," or "It's hard going

7. Don't relay news about anyone except your immediate family. Let your sisters and your cousins and aunts tell their own stories to the people they want to tell them to.

8. It's nice to add a handwritten note, if only to say "I'm sorry you've been ill" or "Congratulations to the graduate" or "Happy Holidays" or "Keep in touch." And to a few friends, you may want to enclose a personal letter. (This is a fine time to catch up on correspondence.)

9. Consider sending these "annual reports" at some other time of year: Thanksgiving, Valentine's Day, Easter or your birthday. Everyone gets more of this sort of thing at Christmas than they can handle.-OLD PRO

DEAR OLD PRO: Thank you on behalf of my millions of readers who are sure to appreciate your sugges-

For years there has been a battle raging in this space for and against Christmas letters. (I vote with those who are not crazy about them.) Per your instructions, I am printing your letter immediately after Thanksgiving. (Happy leftovers!)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a professor and head of the Department of Foods and Nutrition at Oregon State University in Corvallis. Your letter about a burn can of tuna was of interest to me and I would like to comment because in my opinion the can of tuna was OK; it was your answer that was burn. (You said, "Toss it!")

Canned goods can be kept indefinitely without a safety problem if the can remains intact. That tuna may well have been served to the family.

A good source of information on canned goods is the National Processors Association in Washington, D.C. There are many misconceptions about safety problems with foods. One of the major ones concerns keeping perishable foods too long. Entirely too much edible food is being thrown out in this country because of a fasle assumption that it has become unsafe to eat.

I would be happy to serve as a reference on this subject because this is my area of research. -SINCERELY, MARGY WOOD-

DEAR DR. WOODBURN: I still say "Toss it." A can of tuna is no big deal. It certainly isn't worth risking a case of food poisoning.

Gadgets, critters beckon shoppers

NEW YORK (AP) - Toy guns that shoot beams of infrared light and a second-generation menagerie of talking animals will help determine whether retailers chortle "ho ho ho" or sigh "ho-hum" over their sales this Christmas season.

High-tech toys are among the few standouts foreseen by industry analysts and retailers, who expect only mediocre sales increases overall this year in the $12 billion toy market.

Some computerized cuddles come as plush toys, which have evolved into a number of new "life" forms since the species first appeared in the form of Teddy Ruxpin last year.

Action toys, from 22-year-old GI Joe to ultra-modern Lazer Tag, also are considered some of the most popular picks.

"So far there doesn't appear to be a single blockbuster hit in the toy industry as in past years when we had products such as Cabbage Patch (Kids) or Trivial Pursuit, which were big successes," said Charles Riotto, marketing projects director for the Toy Manufacturers of America.

Sales also are hindered by low supplies. Some shipments have been delayed because of production problems stemming from new technology, analysts say.

This is apparently the case for the electronic light guns marketed by Worlds of Wonder as Lazer Tag and by LJN Toys Ltd. as Photon. The space-age version of tag, at $40 to $70 for the basic equipment, includes a pistol and sensor badge - a target worn by a player that beeps when hit by the gun's infrared light beam - and with Photon, a sensor helmet. A few of this year's projected best sellers are already proven hits, including Worlds of Wonder's trendsetting Teddy Ruxpin, a talking, animated stuffed bear and Tonka's Pound Puppies line of stuffed dogs.

This year's shoppers will encounter the second generation of these critters, some of which build on the idea of Teddy Ruxpin, who talks and moves his eyes and mouth when a child inserts a cassette tape.

Some toy animals can echo a child's own words and other computer chip-controlled creatures make up random, sometimes interactive sentences.

Interactive versions include Hasbro's Yakkity Yaks, under the identities of Bingo Bear and Montgomery Monkey. Coleco Industries Inc.'s Talking Wrinkles, and Lewis Galoob Toys Inc.'s Baby Talk. A child operates the toy's mouth like a puppet or touches the figure in various places and it makes random

Music-maker says it's just music with message of things really bug Chris Christian, the multitalented guru of the Christian music business. One is any effort to define music as "Christian."

"There's no such thing as Christian music. Music is generic," he said, explaining there are only Christian lyrics.

The other annoyance is questions about why he changed his name from Lon Christian Smith. "That's a sore spot," he said.

Christian said some people mistakenly believe he changed his name from Smith with the ulterior motive of tying himself to Christian music.

In fact, he says, he adopted his professional name at the start of a career that began in pop, but which today puts him at the forefront of the Christian music scene.

At 34, the Abilene native runs one of the largest independent Christian publishing companies, LCS Music Group, and has been responsible for 20 gold and platinum records.

He also is president of Home Sweet Home Productions, his recordproducing company based in Dallas with satellite offices in Beverly Hills, Calif., and Nashville, Tenn.

He's written songs for Sheena Easton, B.J. Thomas and Olivia Newton-John, with one of his earliest songs recorded by Elvis Presley.

With an easy, relaxed manner that matches most of his music, Christian is known in the recording industry as the discoverer of Amy Grant, the Christian rock sensation renowned as the top-selling gospel artist who helped bring Christian music to a wider audience.

Christian has played no small part with songs he writes and produces grandparents," he said

IRVING, Texas (AP) - A couple many with lyrics of double meaning that don't always give the song away as religious in nature.

"Safe," recorded by Marilyn Mc-Coo and Steve Archer, which wasn't written by Christian but was produced by Home Sweet Home Productions, is an example:

"I'm safe, safe inside your love. And there ain't nothing I can't face, safe inside your hiding place."

Christian thinks the doublemeaning issue in lyrics is as overblown as talk about how Christian music should sound.

"People get caught up on whether Christian music can be rock," he said in an interview at his offices here. "We're just a bunch of normal people that happen to have a message ... worth hearing."

Christian's own climb up the music ladder began 15 years ago, when he was a student at Abilene Christian College pursuing a business degree while songwriting and guitarplaying. He went to Nashville for the summer with $100 in his pocket and high hopes for his career.

It was there that he met Archie Campbell, one of the stars of television's "Hee-Haw," whose friendship gave him entre to several music industry contacts.

He returned for three more summers, performing at Opryland and making friends with members of Presley's backup band, a development that resulted in the recording of Christian's first song by Presley himself - "Love Song of the Year."

Married and the father of two daughters, the Abilene banker's son moved back to Texas this year after several years on the West Coast. "I himself in broadening the audience want my kids to grow up with their

DR. GOTT Have dentist adjust dentures

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT - My mouth cracks in the corners. My doctor says it's because my teeth don't fit right, but that doesn't make sense to me.

DEAR READER When false teeth do not fit properly, they can stimulate glands in the mouth to produce excess saliva. At night, the continuous moisture can wet the corners of your mouth, causing chapping. Ask your dentist to adjust your dentures and see if this solves the problem. Also, to aid healing, you might use a lanolin-containing skin cream, applied three times a day to the corners of your mouth. DEAR DR. GOTT - My wife died after suffering for one year from what was finally determined to be Hamman-Rich syndrome. What can you tell me about this disease? We lived and traveled in many places all over the world; could this be a factor?

DEAR READER - Hamman-Rich syndrome is interstitial pneumonia, a diffuse and chronic inflammation of the lungs. It causes progressive pulmonary impairment with fever and difficulty breathing. Death usually occurs within a year or two because of cardiac or respiratory failure.

Interstitial pneumonia is thought to be an auto-immune disease (like rheumatoid arthritis and Sjogren's syndrome) in which the patient becomes allergic to his or her own lung tissue. The condition can be seen in patients who have severe allergic reactions to drugs. As lung inflammation continues, bacterial infection sets in, causing further damage. Hamman-Rich syndrome is best treated with oxygen and cortisone. Antibiotics may be needed to combat the superimposed infection.

DEAR DR. GOTT - My dermatologist recommended the removal of a melanocytic nevus on my chest, even though there is no evidence of melanoma. A plastic surgeon concurred. Is this removal necessary?

DEAR READER - Yes. The doctors agree that your dark mole could change into a highly malignant skin cancer called melanoma. Get it off

DEAR DR. GOTT — I take Inderal and Isordil daily. I was told to take one tablespoon of wine twice a day, but it makes my head hurt for a few minutes and gives me a swimmy feeling. Is it necessary to take the wine?

DEAR READER - No doctor in his right mind would recommend wine. Don't take it. The fact that you are taking two heart medicines means you have some degree of cardiac disease. Wine will not help - and may actually harm - your heart.

DEAR DR. GOTT - What is congestive heart failure? What causes it? it progressive or curable?

DEAR READER - When the heart beats inefficiently or ineffectively. fluid seeps into lung tissue, causing difficulty breathing. Fluid from the blood also leaks into other tissues. Because of gravity, the fluid tends to accumulate in the lowest portions of the body, like legs and feet. Therefore, congestive heart failure is a condition characterized by excess body water and swelling. Inefficient heart beating can come from diseased valves or any factor that reduces the strength of cardiac muscle contractions, including poor oxygen supply due to arteriosclerosis.

There are three primary treatments for congestive heart failure. Cardiac stimulants, like digoxin, increase the force of cardiac contractions and can reverse the fluid buildup by circulating more blood through the kidneys, where the liquid is extracted and excreted. Diuretics, which enhance the kidneys' extraction of fluid, are used by themselves or, often, in conjunction with digoxin. Diuretics stimulate the kidneys to excrete more urine, literally sucking extra fluid out of the body.

Finally, drugs called vasodilators can be used to decrease the work of the heart and to permit it to function more effectively.

The failing heart can be compared to a storm drain during a downpour. Flooding is starting to take place because the drain is blocked with leaves. Digoxin works like the person who wades in and cleans the leaves away from the drain; the drain can accept more water and the flooding diminishes. Diuretics act like a pump that is hooked up to the flooded area to relieve pressure and take away water by another means.

HAPPINESS IS

As for Philip, an angel of the Lord said to him. "Go over to the road that runs from Jerusalem through the Gaza Desert. So he did, and who should be coming down the road but the Treasurer of Ethiopia: a eunuch of great authority under Candace the queen. He had gone to Jerusalem to worship at the Temple, and was now returning in his chariot, reading aloud from the book of the prophet Isaiah.

The Holy Spirit said to Philip. "Go over and walk along beside the chariot!" Philip ran over and heard what he was reading and asked. 'Do you understand it?"

"Of course not" the man replied. "How can I begged Philip to come up into the chariot and sit with him! The passage of Scripture he had been reading from was this: "He was led as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a lamb is silent before the shearers, so He opened not his mouth; in his humiliation, justice was denied him; and who can express the wickedness of the people of His generation? For His life is taken from the earth." The eunuch asked Philip, "Was Isaiah talking about himself or someone else?" So Philip began with this same Scripture and then used many others to tell him about lesus. As they rode along, they came to a small body of water, and the eunuch said, "Look! Water! Why can't I be "You can," Philip answered, "if you believe with all your heart." And the eunuch replied. "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God." He stopped the chariot, and they went down into the water and Philip baptized him. And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, and the eunuch never saw him again, but went on his way rejoicing.

Catherine's Church Food Bank has been operating the past six months out of a small room at Santa Rosa Catholic Church that is lined with groceries and other items. 'We don't limit the people.

We try to give them what they think they need." Apolinar said. "Whatever we have, we give. And, you know, the Lord just multiplies and multiplies." In an average month, the food bank provides groceries to 110 needy families, more than 500 Pecos adults and children.

Adults out of a job or making less than $600 a month are assisted until they can get on the Department of Human Service's food stamp program, and then the "grocery store" provides them with non-food items that can't be the same Santa Rosa Catholic Church prayer group that last year built a house for a needy family in Barstow. Apolinar, a 59-year-old retired butcher, and his wife, Mary, are in that group. Early this year, they saw the need for a food bank. "My wife is on the (Reeves County) community council, into the community council office on a Friday looking for food. They told her they'd try, and to come back on Monday. This lady has four boys and two girls, she couldn't wait until Monday. "So our group got together what we could, and I took it over there," Apolinar recall-

"There was this little girl, about 5 or 6 years old. She had red, dark around her eves. and I asked her sister if someone had been pressing something against her face. She said, 'No, that's the way

With the help of St Catherine's church the food bank idea became a reality. The Knights of Columbus built shelves to hold the cereal, baby food and formula, sugar, flour, beans, crackers and other snacks that had been purchased to give away.

When they started coming in, they really started coming. In one day there at first, we filled 40 orders. We didn't have any paper towels left, there was no food, and no money," Apolinar said.

"Mary told me, 'Let's pray about it. Let's talk about it. Then after we talked and talked and prayed and prayed, Mary looked at me and said, 'We have faith; we live by faith; let's buy by They went to Popular Mostly, the food bank is funded by individuals who give groceries or money. The churches were sent a letter in July asking for help, but none responded.

"When the churches didn' answer. I thought we were sunk," Apolinar said. "But we had a cake sale that made $235, and we raffled a hog, that hog made $959.

"That's the way the Lord

Some of the people who were able to eat because of the food bank also "know how the Lord works." he added.

Like the Colorado family passing through Pecos who took several packages of cookies to "tide them over" on their journey. And the handicapped man whose groceries were delivered to his doorstep. And the elderly woman who cried as Apolinar filled a cardboard box with canned goods.

A mother of five who was filling out an application to the food bank was hesitant to tell Apolinar where she heard about the program. "I want people to know we're here," he told the woman. "When you finish here, I want you to go tell people they don't have to go to bed hungry.'

Apolinar and his wife and daughter keep the food bank open from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"Sitting here, watching these people come in, my problems seem pretty small," he said. "But I know there is a God, and I know he is more powerful than anybody or anything. He will provide."
