Voters ask for CED tax exemptions

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Employees at the Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal District will have a tough, and perhaps confusing, job preparing tax statements after county voters gave mixed reviews to five propositions on the special election ballot.

County voters were mixed in their feelings about an exemption of up to 20 percent on homesteads and an additional $10,000 break for elderly homeowners, but the final say on exemptions will be left to the newly-formed Deaf Smith County Education District.

Voters in the Hereford Independent School District voted down the personal property tax for the Deaf Smith County Education District, but voted for a 20 percent exemption and a special $10,000 exemption for elderly and disabled persons.

Voters in the Walcott Independent School District, however, soundly defeated all three propositions. They voted down the 20 percent tax exemption, 14-5, the $10,000 exemption 13-6, and the personal property tax, 19-0.

In the countywide election on constitutional amendments, Deaf Smith County voted against the amendment giving blessing to the CED and its actions, 217 against and 194 for, but the amendment passed statewide.

County voters also voted against Proposition No. 2, which would have authorized the sale of bonds for a student loan program. That amendment failed statewide.

Saturday's election will not have a binding effect on the CED, but indicated that a majority of county voters don't want a personal property tax (which would mean the imposition of tax on personal vehicles and other tangible goods), but want all of the exemptions they can get.

Only 414 voters, less than 5% of the county's registered voters, cast ballots in the election

The vote, however, isn't binding on the CED, which will set a county school tax later this month or in September. The CED could vote to give the same exemptions as both the HISD and WISD currently allow: $5,000 for homesteads, $10,000 for persons over age 65, $10,000 for disabled persons and $3,000 for disabled veterans.

The CED could, however, grant as much as a 20 percent exemption for homesteads. While that would give homeowners a small break, it would significantly raise taxes on other property (including businesses, industry, vacant lots, rent houses and farmland) in the county.

If the CED grants the 20 percent tax exemption, any homestead valued at more than $26,000 will have an exemption greater than $5,000. For example, a person living in a home valued at $60,000 for which a homestead exemption is claimed will get a break of $12,000 off the top for the CED tax, if the 20 percent rate is granted. A person with a home valued at $40,000 will have $8,000 pared from its value, instead of the current $5,000 break.

If the CED grants the $5,000 exemption, a homeowner would get a $5,000 break on the CED taxes, and another $5,000 break on the stipend for the school districts above the CED rate.

The CED, by state law, must set a tax rate of at least 72 cents per $100 valuation. The actual rate, which will be figured by a complex formula based on state figures, the history of local collection and other variables, is likely to be 78 cents or higher.

Brand gets 3 honors from WTPA

The Hereford Brand received three awards at the annual convention of the West Texas Press Association last weekend in Fort Worth.

The Brand won first place in editorials, third place in column writing and third place in advertising composition.

The editorials were written by Brand Publisher Speedy Nieman on the city commission and Deaf Smith General Hospital during 1990. The city editorials praised the city for calling for last year's election to consider a half-cent sales tax for economic development, while the other chastised the city for accepting slightly lower bids from Amarillo for vehicles.

The other editorial called for increased use of the hospital by local patients and medical professionals.

The Plainview Daily Herald was second in editorials, while the Vernon Record and Big Spring Herald tied for third.

In column writing, Brand Managing Editor John Brooks and former Lifestyles Editor Sandy Stagner were honored for "clever" and "entertaining" columns. Brooks' "Babbling Brooks" column on Amarillo television weathermen and Stagner's "Branded Women" column on pre-nuptial agreements were cited by judges. First place was won by the Plainview Daily Herald, and second went to the Graham Leader.

The Brand's award in advertising cited unique, staff-composed advertisements for local financial institutions and the Senior Scene, a once-a-month supplement to the Sunday Brand. First place in the category went to the Lamesa Press Reporter, while second place went to the Plainview Daily Herald.

The West Texas Press Association is the world's largest regional press association, serving the region west of Interstate 35 and the Panhandle. Nieman is a former president of the organization.

Hi-Tech Video wins first place in parade

The float from Hi-Tech Video of Hereford, featuring dozens of small trees and "Indians," won first place among entries in the annual Town and Country Jubilee Parade on Saturday. The float promoted the upcoming release of "Dances With Wolves."

City appoints attorney

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Hereford City Commissioners spent about 15 minutes in a closed door session Monday noon before appointing Terry Langehennig to the position of city attorney.

Later in the day, Langehennig agreed to the offer of $750 monthly to provide legal services to the City of Hereford.

City Commissioners reviewed qualifications submitted by four candidates, including Langehennig, before returning to open session and voting unanimously to offer the position to him.

Three other Hereford attorneys, Sid Ham, R.C. Hoelscher and Rex Easterwood, provided their qualifications, also.

Attending the special meeting were Mayor Tom LeGate and Commissioners Emory Brownlow, James McDowell, Wayne Winget and Irene Cantu. Commissioner Sylvana Juarez was not present.

Langehennig did not attend Monday, having resigned his seat on the commission last week. He said in his resignation that he would seek appointment as the city attorney.

After the action on the city attorney appointment, the commission spent about nine minutes in another closed-door meeting to consider filling the at-large Place Five seat, which had been held by Langehennig. No action was taken.

The city attorney's post became vacant when Ernest Langley resigned after serving 37 years as the city's legal advisor.

Terms of the agreement with Langehennig call for the new city attorney to attend all city commission (See ATTORNEY, Page 2)

County okays single offer for new vehicle

A bid of $16,716, the only bid submitted, for a new car for the Deaf Smith County sheriff's department was accepted by commissioners court Monday.

Although wondering why Stevens Chevrolet-Oldsmobile was the only bidder, commissioners agreed that, in fairness to the bidder, the offer should be taken.

Precinct One Commissioner John Stribling said he felt there "should have been competition" for the sale. "I don't want us to have to go out-of-town to get bids," said Stribling.

The motion to accept the Stevens Chevrolet bid, made by Commissioner Johnny Latham of Precinct Four, included a recommendation that in the future, a single bid not be opened.

"We shouldn't open a bid, if it's the only one," said Commissioner Troy Don Moore of Precinct Three, who seconded Latham's motion.

In support of the EnCoRe group's efforts for recycling materials in Deaf Smith County, the commissioners unanimously adopted a resolution presented by Georgia Auckerman.

The resolution endorses the work of EnCoRe to encourage volunteer contributions of recyclable materials by Deaf Smith County residents.

A proposal for use of electronic monitoring equipment for juvenile offenders was explained by Ray Dunn, who is associated with a Lubbock firm.

Lou Serrano, Deaf Smith County juvenile probation officer, pointed out that cost of the equipment is less than $6 per day while the county pays $55 per day for juveniles to be housed in the Lubbock juvenile center.

Commissioners agreed to look into the possibility of using the equipment, also, with adult probationers, but took no action on the proposal.

A need for expanding the capability of the computer system in the Deaf Smith County courthouse was discussed, based on estimates of costs presented by County Clerk David Ruland.

The present system, Ruland said, is nearing capacity. The System 36 now in use could be expanded with rebuilt IBM equipment at a cost of an estimated $23,610 or from another firm for $14,150.

Ruland also cautioned commissioners that IBM has announced that after December this year, the company no longer will service software for the system.

Cost of a new AS 400 computer is estimated at $32,073, including a trade-in allowance for the computer now in service.

The probation department is facing a need for more space on the computer, Ruland said, while other departments also are adding to the data on the mainframe.

Commissioner Stribling asked whether a new personal computer system for the probation department might be a solution, instead of purchasing a new mainframe.

Commissioners asked Ruland and Larry Sheffield of the probation department to seek further information and report at a later date.

In other business, commissioners decided to seek bids for hospitalization insurance for county officials and employees and to advertise for proposals for an outside independent audit of the county's business.

A brief executive session was conducted by commissioners court to discuss real estate matters.

Senate adopts new '92 budget, tax bill

AUSTIN (AP) - House leaders counted votes today after the Senate brushed aside Republican opposition to approve a record $59.45 billion budget and $2.2 billion tax increase to pay for it.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said he thought he had a majority of 76 votes to pass both measures on the final day of the special legislative session. Lewis said he would hunt for the 100 votes needed to give the tax hike immediate effect.

"I have to go back to the House now and hope I have 76-plus votes tomorrow (today), which I think I do have to pass the appropriations bill and also the funding bill and get out of town," Lewis said.

The Senate on Monday passed the budget and tax bills by identical votes of 24-7, with seven Republicans opposing both. Two Republicans joined the Democratic majority.

Senate finance chairman John Montford said, "The important commitments we make, particularly on this biennium and the one to follow in terms of where Texas is, are probably the most crucial decision in our development as a state that we've had in literally a hundred years."

The tax vote overrode protests by Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, who said the bill includes the first corporate income tax in modern Texas history by taxing either corporate assets or income, whichever is larger.

"Any way you add this up, it's our first effort in the state of Texas to have a corporate income tax," Leedom said.

But the tax bill's sponsor, Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, warned that failure to approve the increase would result in "major, major problems" since the current budget expires Aug. 31.

"We've got to fund prisons. We've got to fund state schools and state hospitals ... School starts in about two weeks in Texas, and those schools have no idea how they're going to hire teachers or what their budgets are going to be," Glasgow said.

He chided the Republicans who voted against the tax bill at every turn.

"I wish you would search your heart and your conscience and see what's best for Texas - not what's best for your next political race," Glasgow said.

The tax proposal included an additional $600 million from a gasoline tax hike that would go to the highway fund.

Sen. Montford, D-Lubbock, said Texans "can be proud" of the proposed budget. "It's not a Cadillac, it's at best a Chevrolet. But at least it's not in reverse gear," he said.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock admitted the tax increase isn't popular, but said it is necessary. "The best I can tell, there's not a single person in Texas who likes the tax bill," he said.

Montford said the 1992-93 budget would include a substantial increase for education spending.

The largest portion of the budget - totaling more than $25 billion - is for public and higher education, including about $2.4 billion to help pay for court-ordered school finance reforms.

Leedom said the proposed budget is a 21 percent increase over the current spending plan. "Although you say it was really scrubbed, I think it could have used a few more brush strokes," he said.

Montford said it was lower than the amount projected as necessary to continue all services at current levels, adding, "I don't want to shut down state government on Aug. 31."

The budget would increase funding to human services, although lawmakers said those increases will fall short of paying the cost of continuing the current level of services. Total spending on health, welfare and rehabilitation programs is about $18.23 billion.

The bill would be about $10 billion more in all state and federal funds than the current biennium, and includes $34.7 billion in tax-driven revenue.

Montford said the Legislature, which convened July 15, had pared a projected shortfall of $5 billion to $2.1 billion, which the tax bill would cover.

He said lawmakers had adopted "well over $600 million" of the $900 million in cuts proposed by state Comptroller John Sharp's sweeping audit of state government.

Savings also would be realized through agency consolidations, and Montford said the budget included $2 billion in new federal funds.

The tax increase, a separate bill, contains two sets of increases that depended on whether both the House and Senate approved it by sufficient majorities.

If two-thirds of both chambers approve it, the tax increases would take effect immediately. If not, they would take effect 90 days after the session ends.

Under the tax plan, the state gasoline levy would increase 5 cents per gallon to 20 cents.

The cigarette tax would increase 5 cents, to 46 cents per package.

Tuition at public colleges and universities would increase to $24 per semester hour in 1992, from $20.

Many businesses would be placed under a new tax system, paying the higher of either a tax on income or capital assets. The change is estimated to generate about $791 million over the next two years.

Lawmakers said the bill would expand the current state sales tax of 6 1/4 cents per $1 to numerous items.

AUSTIN (AP) - House and Senate negotiators said they have reached an agreement on a $1.1 billion prison bond proposal, and will try to get it approved before the special legislative session ends tonight.

However, lawmakers said Monday that a proposed settlement of county jail crowding lawsuits against the state may have to wait for another legislative session, along with a prison construction bill that would spend the bond money.

The proposed constitutional amendment would allow Texans to vote Nov. 5 on whether the state should sell the $1.1 billion in prison bonds. The measure would be tied to legislative approval of a bill to spend the money on prison construction.

"As far as spending any money from that bond package, that's dead until we can reconvene in special session, probably look at the total package again," said Sen. Jim Turner, D-Crockett.

Negotiations on the prison settlement failed after Harris County senators refused to accept a compromise plan and House negotiators walked away from the bargaining table.

Legislators have tried for weeks to reach an accord on proposals to build new prison beds and settle lawsuits brought by 14 counties whose jails are crowded with approximately 10,000 state prisoners.

Rep. Allen Hightower, D-Huntsville, said the jail settlement and prison bill are inseparable.

"It's all the same issue. There's no way to divide the two, because you've got special treatment for one county, and you've got no treatment for 253 counties at present," he said. "It's just a matter of fairness."

Turner said officials "just wanted more money than we could afford to pour into Harris County."

"Harris County's refusal to cooperate and come to the table and reach a settlement, it really cost all of our counties a good program that in the long term would have been in the best interest of the state," he said.

But Sen. Gene Green, D-Houston, said the fault did not lie with Harris County. Lawmakers seeking a compromise on the issue "haven't been able to come up with anything that's in the middle," he said.

"It's the state's fault for not taking these prisoners," Green said. "If Harris County is killing the program, it's probably because the state is killing Harris County by keeping the prisoners there instead of helping us."

Sen. Cyndi Krier, R-San Antonio, said Bexar County leaders also "have great concerns" about the proposal.

"I think Houston, quite frankly, has gotten a bum rap. There are a lot of bad things in that bill," she said.

The $1.1 billion prison package would include 13,000 maximum security prison beds and 12,000 for drug treatment.

In the accompanying $340 million incentive package to counties, the state offered to accept all convicted felons from county jails by Sept. 1, 1995.

Negotiators had backed legislation that also would commit the state to pay counties $20 per day for felons it cannot accept or transfer to other facilities within 45 days of their convictions.

Lawmakers said Gov. Ann Richards likely will call another special to deal with the prison stalemate. The current 30-day special session, called to write a state budget, ends at midnight today.

PCS wins second place with float

HISD announces free lunch policy

The policy for providing free and reduced-price meals for children served under the National School Lunch Program was announced this week by Hereford Independent School District.

The household size and income eligibility guidelines for free and reduced price benefits are shown in a box accompanying this article. Each school and the central HISD office have copies of the policy which may be reviewed by any interested person.

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced meals. Application forms are being distributed to all households with a letter of explanation about the free meal and free breakfast program.

The lunch and breakfast prices set for this year are $1.25 for lunch and .75 for breakfast at high school, $1 and .75 at junior high, and $1 and .50 at intermediate and primary schools.

To apply for free and reduced price meals, households must fill out the application and return it to the school. The information on the applications will be used to determine eligibility and verification of data. The information may be verified by school officials at any time of the year.

To determine eligibility, households that receive food stamps or AFDC only have to list their child's name, food stamp or AFDC case number, and sign the application (by an adult household member). Households who do not list a food stamp or AFDC case number must list the names of all household members, the amount and source of the income received by each household member, how often the person received it and the social security number of either the primary wage earner responsible for the care of the child or the social security number of the adult household member who signs the application.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced price meal policy, Hereford Food Service Director, along with principal's offices in primary, intermediate and secondary schools will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents are guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the reviewing official on an informal basis. Parents wishing to make a formal appeal for a hearing on the decision may make a request either orally or in writing to Don Crompton, assistant superintendent, 136 Ave. F, 364-0606.

Households that list a food stamp or AFDC case number must report when the household no longer receives these benefits. Other households approved for benefits based on income information must report increases in household income of over $50 a month or $600 a year, as well as decreases in household size.

Also, if a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size increases, the household should contact the school.

meetings, review and prepare city ordinances and prosecute municipal court cases, when needed.

The agreement will be subject to review periodically. Monthly retainer for the new city attorney is less than the pay for Langley when he retired.

However, the Langley salary of $1,300 monthly was reached over a 37-year tenure, noted Mayor LeGate.

At least two city ordinance matters will face the city attorney in the immediate future. The commission earlier in the summer asked for a study of ordinances related to animal control.

And, at the last commission meeting on Aug. 5, a review of ordinances on consumption of alcohol at the city golf course and city parks was asked.

Langhennig, a University of Houston law school graduate was appointed to the City Commission in 1989 and ran for the seat in 1990. The term expires in 1992.

LeGate reported that interest in the city commission seat has been expressed to several current members. Appointment to the at-large position will be on the agenda for the city's Monday evening meeting.

Participants in Saturday's Greg Black Memorial 10-K race take off from the starting line. The races--the 10-K, the two-mile run and the two-mile walk--attracted 135 participants from as far away as San Antonio.

Jimenez wins Greg Black 10-K

Arthur Jimenez of Tucumcari, N.M., ran the Greg Black Memorial 10-K race Saturday in exactly 33 minutes, the best winning time in the race's 11 years, race director Weldon Knabe said.

Jimenez beat George Chavez, also of Tucumcari, who finished at 33:26. Chavez edged Hereford-native Jesse Sturgeon by four seconds. Sturgeon, who now lives in San Antonio, is a former winner of the 10-K.

The first woman to finish the 10-K was Sue Tortello of Woodville with a time of 43:42. The second-place woman, Alina Lewis of Amarillo, was nearly seven minutes behind at 50:12, and Susan Casillias of Clovis was third at 51:49.

Nicole Chance was the only Hereford woman among the top finishers. She was fourth at 56:12.

No Hereford resident was among the top men, but the two-mile race was a different story. Henry Ruiz led a Hereford sweep of the top three spots. He finished in 11:48, Mando Garza was second at 11:54 and Raymond Guzman was third at 12:04. A little further down the list, Chris Hart was seventh at 12:44 and Greg Coplen was eighth at 12:48.

The women's two-mile was won by Cecilia Rodriguez of Amarillo with a time of 14:45. Tomi Allman of Tulia was nine seconds behind, followed by two Hereford women: Monica Diaz at 15:04 and Amy Ruiz at 15:35.

Cindy Henson of Hereford won the two-mile Fun Walk with a time of 23:28.

A total of 135 runners and walkers participated in the races.

Worthy starts service

HOUSTON (AP) - Los Angeles Lakers forward James Worthy began serving 40 hours of community service at a Houston middle school Monday as part of his sentence for two misdemeanor charges of soliciting prostitution last Nov. 15.

Worthy was arrested at his hotel prior to a game against the Houston Rockets and charged with attempting to purchase sex from two Houston Police Department undercover officers.

Worthy received one year's probation, a $500 fine and 40 hours of community service. Houston police Sgt. Jim Marquez said Worthy will conduct four basketball clinics each morning, beginning Monday.

"Then the last half of the day is really to us the icing on the cake and this was his idea," Marquez told KRIV-TV. "He wanted to have some professionals, some career people come in and talk to the kids about something that's probably going to have more impact on them and that's future careers."

McCracken wins Classic

The team from McCracken Trucking of Hereford whipped Carleton's Custom Floors of Amarillo 23-8 in Sunday's championship game of the Second Annual Hereford Jubilee Softball Classic.

McCracken went undefeated through the tournament, which was played at the Nazarene Church field. The tournament included 16 teams from Clovis, Lubbock, Tulia, Canyon, Amarillo and Hereford.

Third place went to Money Methods of Canyon, and fourth went to Young Guns of Hereford.

Del Toro wins tournament

Del Toro Trucking of Hereford beat TNT of Friona 17-2 to win a six-team women's softball tournament which was played in Hereford Saturday and Sunday.

Marinovich throws Raiders past Pokes

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Kenny Stabler became an NFL legend throwing left-handed passes for the old Oakland Raiders. Now the Los Angeles Raiders have another left-handed quarterbacking wonder in the wings.

Todd Marinovich made a smashing NFL debut Monday night, even if it was an exhibition game.

He looked every nickel worth the three-year, $2.25 million contract he signed after being drafted in the first round by the Raiders.

Marinovich, of Southern California, threw his first professional touchdown pass early in the fourth period, and it was a game-winner in a 17-12 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

"He can throw the ball on the money," said Los Angeles coach Art Shell. "For the first time out he did a very good job. He had good command in the huddle and he threw the ball well when he had to throw it. He can go deep and he has the touch for the intermediate routes."

Marinovich took the Raiders 80 yards in eight plays, helped along by a 28-yard interference penalty against Robert Williams. After a yard loss, Marinovich hit Gregg Bell with a 2-yard scoring pass.

"That felt good, moving the team like that," Marinovich said. "It was a good way to break in."

Marinovich hit 3 of 4 passes for 16 yards in his first NFL action.

"Our defense was fantastic," Shell said. "We held a good team to 12 points. I told the team before the game that we needed to start putting it together."

The Raiders (1-2) built a 10-9 halftime lead against the Cowboys (1-1) on a 6-yard scoring run by Marcus Allen and a 24-yard field goal by Jeff Jaeger.

Ken Willis kicked field goals of 26, 30 and 33 yards for the Cowboys, who got to the Raiders' 6-, 12- and 15-yard lines but couldn't score a touchdown in the first half. He also kicked a 22-yarder in the fourth period when Dallas got to the Raider 2.

"We weren't sharp, but the Raiders had a lot to do with that," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. "We made some mistakes, and with a young team you have to learn to live with mistakes."

Dallas quarterback Troy Aikman said maybe the defeat brought the Cowboys back to reality after they opened with a 24-14 victory over Kansas City.

"Maybe this was good for us," Aikman said. "We were starting to believe we were better than we are."

"We had a big problem getting it into the end zone," Johnson said. "Three big mistakes hurt us. One was an alignment problem, we had a dropped ball and then we missed on a throw."

It was the Cowboys' first appearance on Monday Night Football in three years. A crowd announced at 55,981 was in Texas Stadium.

The Raiders are 9-3 against the Cowboys in exhibition games.

Play Day flooded

The Hereford Riders Club's Open Play Day was rained out again Sunday. It was originally scheduled for Aug. 8, but was rained out then also.

Red Sox sweep Blue Jays

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer
It happens every summer. Sooner or later, the Toronto Blue Jays find a way to remind everyone they have a history of blowing big leads. And this year appears to be no different - after playing like world-beaters for the first half of the season, now they can't beat anyone.

The Boston Red Sox completed a startling, four-game sweep at the SkyDome Monday night, stopping the Blue Jays 11-8 despite a bad outing by Roger Clemens.

The Red Sox, on the verge of falling out of the American League East race, are suddenly back in it, trailing Toronto by just seven games. The Blue Jays, meanwhile, have lost five in a row and 15 of 22, and their lead is only 3 1/2 games over second-place Detroit.

"We came in here and got what we needed," said Jack Clark, who drove in four runs, giving him 10 RBIs in the series. "But this sweep doesn't mean anything if we don't keep the momentum."

Boston outscored the Blue Jays 39-22 in the series and out-hit them 67-42. The Red Sox have beaten Toronto in six of seven games this month.

"We just have to go out and have a total laugh," Toronto's Joe Carter said. "We stunk the joint out. That was probably the worst four games we've played all season. When they didn't drive in the runs, we gave them to them."

Clemens got tagged for seven runs, five of them earned, on nine hits in 4 1-3 innings.

The Red Sox overcame a 7-5 deficit with a four-run rally in the sixth inning. Clark's two-run single keyed the comeback against Duane Ward (5-4).

Dennis Lamp (3-3) won in relief of Clemens.

Brewers 14, Rangers 7

Darryl Hamilton and B.J. Surhoff each drove in three runs as Milwaukee nearly blew a 10-0 lead.

Paul Molitor scored four runs for the Brewers.

Texas' Bobby Witt (3-5) allowed six runs on six hits in 1 1-3 innings, and Milwaukee went on to lead 10-0 in the fourth. Jamie Navarro (10-9) won despite giving up seven runs in 6 1-3 innings as the Rangers pulled to 10-7 in the seventh.

Rafael Palmeiro and Kevin Reimer homered for Texas.

Orioles 5, White Sox 4

Leo Gomez hit a solo home run with one out in the bottom of the 11th inning.

Chris Hoiles hit a solo homer with one out in the ninth off Chicago relief ace Bobby Thigpen, tying it at 4.

Gomez broke an 0-for-14 slump with his seventh home run, connecting off Donn Pall (5-2). Gregg Olson (2-4) got two outs in the 11th after Robin Ventura doubled.

Twins 4, Angels 3
Kent Hrbek was robbed of a home run in the third inning, but left no doubt with a 442-foot blast that broke an eighth-inning tie.

Hrbek hit his 13th homer with two outs off Chris Beasley (0-1). Earlier, center fielder Shawn Abner reached over the fence to take away a home run from Hrbek.

Jack Morris (14-9) allowed seven hits and struck out seven in 8 2-3 innings. Rick Aguilera closed for his 31st save.

Mariners 6, Athletics 3
Jay Buhner hit two more home runs.

Buhner hit a solo homer in the second inning and a two-run shot in the seventh off Bob Welch (10-7). Buhner has 23 homers this season, including seven in his last 11 games.

Buhner added an RBI single in the bottom of the eighth.

Rich DeLucia (10-7) held the Athletics hitless until Terry Steinbach homered in the fifth. Mike Gallego hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

Schedule may keep Baylor out of Cotton

WACO, Texas (AP) - To win big, a team's schedule is important, and Baylor got a bad one this season, says football coach Grant Teaff.

"As everybody knows, you win national championships on depth - that, and being very fortunate, and scheduling," said Teaff, whose 1991 Bears feature several all-star performers.

Teaff himself was thinking about a possible national title when he recruited Waco running back Louis Fite to complement 245-pound fullback Robert Strait, but Fite failed to score high enough on entrance exams and was not admitted.

"He's got God-given talents you don't coach," Teaff said of Fite, comparing him to former Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders of Oklahoma State.

Scheduling could take Baylor down a notch, Teaff said.

"We got really rooked, to put it politely, on the conference schedule ... right between the eyes," he said, although he acknowledged that he had agreed to the changes to increase television revenue.

Teaff said one advantage Baylor had was that the Bears had switched to an I-formation veer, or power offense, at a time when other Southwest Conference teams were using wide-open passing offenses.

This would mean that teams that spend so much practice time "throwing the ball don't have time to work on the running game" to prepare a defense for Baylor, he said.

But the conference "in its infinite wisdom" scheduled four teams - Houston, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M and Arkansas - with open dates before Baylor, giving them extra preparation time.

Nevertheless, said Teaff, dean of SWC football coaches, "If we stay healthy, we have a chance to compete" for the SWC championship.

The Bears, 6-4-1 last season, list four All-American candidates in offensive guards John Turnpaugh and Monte Jones, defensive end Robin Jones and defensive tackle Santana Dotson, consensus all-SWC two years in a row.

"The general weakness of our team is that we don't have proven depth. We've got good athletes but we don't have proven depth," Teaff said.

Sophomore quarterback J.J. Joe, who started last season as the No. 3 signal caller and moved up as a result of an injury to Brad Goebel, returns healthy as the starter after breaking a hand in practice late in the 1990 season.

"He's very intelligent, makes real good decisions, throws the ball adequately and is a good leader," Teaff said of Joe.

Teaff said Strait is one of the top inside runners in college football but at the end of last season, when he tied a school record for freshmen with nine touchdowns, was still only "65 percent of where he can be."

The chief concern is the defensive secondary, where three starters completed their eligibility.

And, for the first time in 20 years at Baylor, Teaff feels he has an off-the-field advantage with the opening of a new athletic facility. It is such a showpiece that "there is a constant flow of (Baylor) people coming off Interstate 35" to tour it, Teaff said.

Bonds' 2nd HR shocks Cards

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer
Great players make great plays when they're needed most. Barry Bonds is leaving little doubt that he's a great player.

Bonds, making a bid for his second straight National League MVP award, hit his second two-run homer of the game in the bottom of the 11th inning to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a dramatic 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

"That was great, that was exciting ... that was like winning a World Series game," said Bonds, who was hitting .170 on May 15 but has hit .342 since then to push himself into the MVP race.

Not everyone is ready to give him the award, though.

"Bonds has great ability and he's going to be a great player," said St. Louis manager Joe Torre, obviously not totally impressed with Bonds' .294 average, 20 homers and 82 RBIs.

Bonds' first two-run homer came in the seventh off Jose DeLeon and wiped out a 1-0 deficit. The Cardinals tied it in the eighth on Gerald Perry's RBI single and went ahead in the top of the 11th on Geronimo Pena's leadoff homer.

But Bobby Bonilla singled with one out off relief ace Lee Smith. Bonds had little luck with Smith's fastball, but hit a 3-2 slider into the right-field seats for the victory.

"I made the pitch I wanted," said Smith (6-3). "I'm not going to second-guess myself. I didn't throw him a fastball because I thought he'd be looking for it."

Padres 6, Astros 5

Fred McGriff led off the seventh with his second homer of the game.

McGriff started the second inning with a home run, then hit the first pitch by Mike Capel (1-3) in the bottom of the seventh over the center-field fence for his 22nd homer.

Jose Melendez (6-3) got the win after blowing a 5-3 lead for Bruce Hurst. Craig Lefferts got the last out for his 18th save.

Phillies 2, Expos 1

Lenny Dykstra's RBI single in the seventh broke a 1-1 tie and enabled the Phillies to match a team record set in 1977, when the Phillies won 13 in a row in August on the way to the NL East title.

Terry Mulholland (10-11) pitched a six-hitter for the win. Dennis Martinez (11-7) lost despite pitching a five-hitter.

Cubs 3, Mets 2

Doug Dasenczo broke an 0-for-32 drought with a leadoff single in the 10th and scored on Jerome Walton's RBI single.

The Mets did not have a hit after tying the game in the fifth. Les Lancaster (8-6) pitched three hitless innings for the victory. Tim Burke (4-7) was the loser.

Dodgers 3, Reds 2

Los Angeles blew a ninth-inning lead but beat Cincinnati relief ace Rob Dibble when Juan Samuel singled in the winning run with two outs in the bottom of the ninth.

The Dodgers took a 2-1 lead on

Pennington honored for services

As part of August visibility month, the Texas Plains Girl Scout Council is trying to increase awareness of the outstanding adult volunteers associated with the organization. There are currently hundreds of adults sharing time, resources and responsibilities with girls from around the Panhandle.

Sharon Pennington is recognized as one of the outstanding volunteers in Hereford.

Pennington serves on the advisory board of the Hereford Rape Crisis and Domestic Violence Center, chairman of Health and Safety Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Texas Plains Girl Scout Council.

In addition to her volunteer activities, Pennington works as a paramedic for Hereford E.M.S. and is an administrative assistant for the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

"Sharon brings to the council board a new view for girls and girls' programs. Her training and careers have given her a different idea towards what girls can do if given the opportunity and encouragement," said Jean Wood, executive director of Texas Plains Girl Scout Council.

Although Pennington did not participate in Girl Scouts while growing up, she quickly accepted the opportunity to serve on the council.

Pennington said Hereford needs more organized activities for the local youth and likes what Girl Scouts has to offer.

"One of the great things about Girl Scouts is the group seems to draw people like Sharon," Wood said. "People of her caliber do what they do because of a sense of love and responsibility, not for recognition or certainly money."

During the visibility month, Girl Scouts around the council salute adult volunteers who make the organization work.

SHARON PENNINGTON

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My beautiful girlfriend, Maria Elena, was only 20 years old when she died. "Mari" was full of love and compassion for everyone. She had the ability to bring all kinds of people together in friendship. Everyone who knew her said she was a joy and an inspiration.

Mari suffered from epilepsy since childhood. She had a seizure and drowned while taking a bath. That wonderful young person died for no good reason. The medicine that could have prevented the seizure sat untouched in her bedroom a dozen steps away.

My Mari, who was so sensible about most things, ignored pleas from me and other close friends to take her medication regularly. Those of us who loved her are upset with ourselves for not watching her more carefully and making her understand that taking her medicine was a matter of life and death. We all feel terrible. This dear, beautiful girl did not have to die.

If anyone who is reading this has epilepsy or suffers from a life-threatening illness, please take your medication and follow your doctor's orders. Think of those who love you and make the choice to stay here with them. If your care for someone and suspect or know that he or she is not taking the medicine needed to stay well or alive, don't let it go. Don't kid yourself into believing that these people know what is best for themselves. They don't. Talk to family members, doctors, co-workers, anyone who might be able to influence them. Don't let the matter slide or you may find yourself heartsick and inconsolable—like me. — Mourning in Albuquerque

DEAR ALBUQUERQUE: You have written a beautiful letter but it is obvious that you are carrying a terrible burden of guilt. Please understand that it was not your responsibility to see that Mari took her medicine. It was up to her to take care of herself. Her failure to do so cost her her life.

Anyone who wants the latest information on how those with epilepsy can help themselves should write or call: The Epilepsy Foundation of America, 4351 Garden City Dr., Landover, Md. 20785; 1-800-EFA-1000 (voice and TDD for the hearing impaired).

DEAR ANN LANDERS: All my life I've been The Good Friend. The Pal. Someone to talk to when there's trouble. Someone to go to for advice. Someone to rely on. I'm glad women trust me and I value these friendships, but why am I never viewed as a romantic prospect? Can it be that I am too nice?

I'm in my mid-20s and have never had a serious relationship. I'm not handsome but I'm not ugly either. Do women just not fall in love with a good friend? The women I know tell me how rotten their boyfriends treat them and I've read similar horror stories in your column. But nice guys like me never get a second look. Am I condemned to be forever alone and loveless? What's the matter with me that I'm -- Just A Good Friend in Santa Fe

DEAR JUST: The most durable love relationships grow out of friendship. In fact, love is friendship that has caught fire.

Can it be that you aren't aggressive enough? I'll bet some of those women who perceive you as a pal would be thrilled if you'd make the first move. Try it and let me know what happens. I have a hunch you're in for a surprise.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.05.)

Hints from Heloise

Q. Is there a right side and a wrong side of aluminum foil? I have heard that food should never touch the shiny part of the foil. Is this true? — Peggy Yu, Woodbridge, N.J.

A. You have been told an old wives' tale. There is no right or wrong side of aluminum foil.

Some may think the shiny side should face out because it is more appealing to the eye, but it can also be turned to the inside touching the food. And it doesn't make any difference in cooking. — Heloise

TACOS

Dear Heloise: I love making tacos, but oh how I always hated baking the shells since I didn't have a taco-shell holder.

Then one day, out of the blue, I solved this problem by placing the taco shells into the grooves of an inverted muffin pan. Each pan holds six shells firmly and straight up. This also makes spooning in the fillings so much easier. — Julie Olivier, New Orleans, La.

Dear Heloise: When frying foods, I was never sure when the oil was hot enough to begin frying. Now when I think the oil is hot enough, I drop in a couple of popcorn kernels. If they pop, I know it is the right temperature. — Vicki Hart, Roanoke, Va.

Military Muster

During the training cycle, recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine and personal and professional standards.

All recruits participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline are emphasized throughout the cycle.
