

City approves 9-1-1 system

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

The city of Hereford's participation in a regional 9-1-1 emergency telephone service was approved by city commissioners Monday evening.

If the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (PRPC) proposal is approved by Texas state officials, Hereford and Deaf Smith County will become a part of a Panhandle-wide emergency telephone service.

Deaf Smith County Commissioners endorsed the county's participation in the program in a meeting on July 24.

The system will be funded by the collection of a monthly 50 cent per access line surcharge to area telephone customers. PRPC also plans to apply to the state for funds collected on intra-state long-distance telephone calls in order to help finance the 9-1-1 system across the state.

Gary Pitner, PRPC executive director, indicated that collection of the 50 cent charge should begin no sooner than Jan. 1, 1990. An 18-to-24-month implementation period can be expected before the 9-1-1 emergency telephone number will actually be available for use by city and county residents.

The 9-1-1 decision was tabled by city commissioners in an earlier meeting in order to give the public an opportunity to respond.

"I've had comments both ways," said Commissioner Terry Langehennig.

Several of the commissioners indicated that the negative comments they received concerned the expense of the system.

Commissioner Paul Hamilton said that he felt the only negative response he received had been because the individual did not understand the nature of 9-1-1.

"Once they learned what 9-1-1 was, I think they changed their mind," Hamilton said.

The 9-1-1 number is rapidly becoming a national standard as an all-purpose emergency telephone number. The three digit number is easy to remember during a stressful situation and easy to dial.

A citizen attending the meeting spoke out in favor of 9-1-1. She gave an example from a few years ago when her husband had suffered a heart attack. Her son could not remember the seven digit numbers for the doctor or police and was forced to call a relative for assistance.

"What if you've got a five or six-year old kid and something happens to Momma or Daddy?" she said.

"If we save one life, it's worth it," said Mayor Wes Fisher at the conclusion of the 9-1-1 discussion.

An anonymous letter accusing members of the Hereford Police Department Special Reaction Team (SRT) of wrong doing during a training session last fall was discussed during Monday's meeting.

The letter referred to an incident when the SWAT-style allegedly team built and exploded a home-made pipe bomb.

The letter was distributed widely to public officials, city employees, members of the fire department, the Texas Tobacco, Alcohol and Fire Arms Board and representatives of the Hereford, Amarillo and Lubbock media.

"I think it's an act of cowardice not to sign their names (to the letter)," Mayo, Fisher said.

City Manager Darwin McGill presented a report concerning the incident to city commissioners. An investigation was conducted by Hereford Police Chief Don Brush after a complaint came to the attention of city officials.

That investigation included statements from witnesses taken by Fire Marshall Jay Spain. Reports indicate that a derelict building on a farm owned by the city was damaged by the explosion. McGill pointed out that the SRT team did have permission to utilize those buildings during training exercises and that the structure involved was an abandoned shack.

Photographs of the building showed that it was greatly neglected, including the absence of windows, doors and roof shingles.

"If there was any fault at all, there may have been some poor judgement," McGill said.

No disciplinary action was taken in connection with the incident because officials did not find, during the course of the investigation, that any illegality had occurred.

"The (police) chief and I had considered the matter closed until we got the letter," McGill said.

Commissioners discussed the possibility of changing rates charged to out-of-county residents who dispose of refuse at the city landfill. McGill was instructed to prepare an ordinance for presentation at the next commission meeting which would double rates for non-resident waste disposal. The existing rates are 50 cents per foot of truck trailer hauling refuse to the landfill and $3 per pickup or trailer load.

The time in which the city incinerator can be utilized is also limited, it was learned from McGill. The health department has given the city until the end of the month to shut down the incinerator.

Although health officials do not believe that the type of incinerator in use in Hereford causes any hazard, Environmental Protection Agency regulations forbid any waste disposal burning.

McGill indicated that there is a "ray of hope" that EPA regulations may eventually be changed to permit non-hazardous burning.

With the incinerator, the life of the city's landfill is expected to be 35 years. Without the incinerator, the landfill is expected to be adequate for only eight to ten years.

Commissioners approved three zoning change requests and denied a fourth during Monday's meeting.

A request by Rev. Richard Collins, pastor of the Faith Mission Church, was denied. Collins wanted to alter zoning on church property on Brevard St. from two-family to restricted commercial district.

Zoning change requests approved in Monday's meeting included two properties in the 200 block of Higgins St. from multi-family to mobile home district and a property in the 900 block of South Schley from single family to mobile home.

Winds gusted over 60 mph as a storm front raced through Hereford, stripping limbs in several sections of the city. The storm brought a half-inch of rain to Hereford.

Voters okay weed district

Deaf Smith County rural voters approved a proposed noxious weed district on Saturday by a margin of 126 for and 83 against.

County commissioners are expected to canvass the vote and enter an order declaring the result of the election during the next regular commission meeting scheduled for Monday.

State law calls for commissioners to appoint the initial board of directors for that district. As the staggered terms for those first directors expire, voters will approve subsequent directors.

A petition requesting an injunction halting that election was denied by 320th Judicial District Judge Don Emerson in Amarillo on Friday. Judge Emerson ruled in the case in the absence of 222nd District Judge David Wesley Gulley.

The petition was filed by David Clyde, attorney for J.W. McMorris of Hereford. McMorris protested the election because of the exclusion of city residents from that election.

Following Judge Emerson's refusal to issue an injunction, McMorris indicated that he would continue to oppose the district.

Results from Saturday election
	For	Against
Absentee	19	19
Precinct 1	37	25
Precinct 2	15	10
Precinct 3	8	13
Precinct 4	47	16
TOTAL	126	83

"I fully intend to carry this through the court system so that all the people's voices are heard," he said.

Proponents of the weed district hope that its approval will help county agriculture in its ongoing battle against noxious weeds. Officials from existing weed districts in surrounding counties indicate that a weed district has been very helpful in enforcing weed control.

"There's no way you're going to eliminate bindweed, but it does help limit its growth," said Randall County Judge Charles Purcell.

Weed districts have been especially helpful in enforcing weed control along public right-of-ways, officials state.

Tumbleweed challenges Rotary

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

Hereford Rotarians were entertained and encouraged by a tumbleweed on Monday. "Tumbleweed Smith," that is.

Rotary District 573 Governor Bob Lewis is better known as "Tumbleweed Smith," a pseudonym he developed as host on his radio show, "The Sound of Texas."

Lewis, a resident of Big Spring, was the featured speaker during the regular weekly meeting of the Hereford Rotary Club on Monday. He used the opportunity to remind local Rotarians of the importance of their participation in a fine international tradition.

"Rotary represents freedom. It represents what can be done in a society where men and women have freedom of movement," Lewis said.

The district governor illustrated the magnitude of Rotary International when he mentioned the 474 Rotary districts currently in operation in 167 countries. He stressed that Rotary's 84-year history began with an emphasis on fellowship and that the "service aspect" has evolved over the years.

Although the "fellowship" between its members remains important to Rotary, it has not forgotten its role as a service organization. Lewis stated that Rotary has the largest private scholarship program in the world. This is only one example of the social support provided by the volunteer efforts of Rotary International.

Not only is Rotary able to serve the community, the nation and the world, but it is also there to benefit its membership.

"There is absolutely nothing like Rotary fellowship," Lewis said.

He remarked on the benefits of the mutual friendship and support provided by Rotarians to their fellow Rotarians.

"Every meeting is a shot in the arm. That's why Rotary places so much emphasis on attendance," Lewis said.

Weekly fellowship is not the only method the organization uses to benefit its members. It also provides the opportunity to serve the community.

"I believe in a hands-on Rotary. If you contribute, you feel better," Lewis said.

The district governor encouraged the Hereford Rotary Club to strive for a ten percent increase in its membership. He also asked that—in its search for potential members—the Hereford club consider including more women. The speaker indicated that opening Rotary's ranks to woman has proven to be beneficial to the organization.

Rotary District 573—for which Lewis serves as governor—covers a large portion of north Texas, including all of the Panhandle.

In addition to his daily syndicated radio show, Lewis is the author of the book "The Tumbleweed Collection." Lewis is the owner of an advertising agency and a production company which does radio and television commercials, films and slide/tape presentations.

Columbia lifts off

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Columbia, NASA's oldest shuttle, returned to space for the first time in 3 1/2 years today, rocketing into orbit with five military astronauts on a secret mission to send a spy satellite aloft.

The 125-ton winged spaceship blazed away from its seaside launch pad at 7:37 a.m. CDT after a blacked-out countdown and darted northeastward.

"We're tracking it right down the middle of the pike," the flight guidance officer said about four minutes into the flight.

Nearly nine minutes after liftoff NASA announced that Columbia was in orbit more than 100 miles above the Earth, streaking along at more than 17,400 mph.

"We had a completely clean and smooth ascent. There are no problems whatsoever to report," said launch commentator Brian Welch.

The space agency then imposed a news blackout. Apart from brief periodic status reports during the five-day mission, silence will be broken only if there is a major problem, NASA said. Crew conversation will not be broadcast.

The satellite reportedly can focus on the Soviet Union and world hotspots such as the Middle East.

The exact launch time was not made public until nine minutes before liftoff, when the Pentagon lifted the blackout. Earlier, officials had said only that the launch would take place between 7:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

Liftoff was delayed about 40 minutes to allow fog to burn off.

The mission is the fifth shuttle flight since launches resumed last September after a 2 1/2-year hiatus prompted by the Challenger disaster.

Quake jolts San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A sharp earthquake jolted the San Francisco Bay area for 10 seconds early today, shaking buildings, breaking glass and apparently causing one man to jump to his death from a fifth-story apartment window, authorities said.

The quake occurred at 1:13 a.m. PDT and had a magnitude of 5.1 on the Richter scale, according to both the U.S. Geological Survey in nearby Menlo Park and the USGS National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo.

An aftershock measuring 4.2 rippled through the area at 1:44 a.m.

Police in Los Gatos, about 50 miles south of San Francisco, said an unidentified 19-year-old man apparently was asleep when the earthquake occurred. Officers believe he was startled awake and jumped out of his bedroom window, dispatcher Lisa Douglas said in a statement.

There were no other immediate reports of injuries.

The quake was centered on the San Andreas fault about 13 miles south of San Jose. It was felt throughout a wide area, as far away as Santa Cruz, 75 miles south of San Francisco.

The epicenter was in almost exactly the same place as a 5.0 magnitude quake on June 27, 1988, said USGS geophysicist Dave Oppenheimer.

"There was some damage in the Santa Cruz Mountains ... It was mainly broken windows and mirrors. Nothing serious," said Officer Jay Forbes of the San Jose Police Department.

The open-ended Richter scale is a measure of the energy released by an earthquake, as measured by ground motion recorded on a seismograph.

Each increase of one number, as in a jump from magnitude 5.5 to 6.5, means that the ground motion is 10 times greater. A quake of 3.5 can cause slight damage in populated areas, while a quake of 6.0 can cause severe damage. In March 1964 an earthquake in Alaska hit 8.5 on the Richter scale, killing 114 people.

Road rally winners

Randy Robbins, left, and Paula Miller, center, receive their plaques and beef certificates presented for winning the first Town and Country Jubilee Road Rally held Sunday in Hereford. Presenting the awards is Ricky Lloyd, chairman of Sunday's event. The rally sent 18 vehicles scrambling as drivers and navigators were required to answer several questions and stop at checkpoints throughout the city. The event kicked off a full week of Jubilee activities.

want to come check on you.

Except they can't hear you. They're yelling too loud at their own televisions.

And then there's SORD-TV. That's Sally Jesse Raphael, Oprah Winfrey, Geraldo Rivera and Phil Donahue. I got pretty turned off when Phil interviewed the members of the lesbian sorority at UCLA.

I watched a little of all of them. The only one that kept my interest for an hour was Geraldo's show on twins who were interred at Auschwitz. The things done to those people were ludicrous, to say the least, and Geraldo didn't overact on this show like he usually does.

And then there are the soap operas.

If everyone messed around in normal life like these people do on the soaps, then there would be a big increase in social diseases, AIDS, unwanted pregnancies and books on reincarnation. Either that, or I'm missing out on a whole lotta stuff. The underlying plot of all of these soaps is s.x. and Vanna can fill in the blank for a $250 vowel that some dummy from Ventura oughtta buy if he's gonna solve the puzzle. The Reader's Digest version of most of these soaps would look like one of those chapters in the Bible that has all of the "begats." There's a lot of "begating" going on.

Another bad thing about those soaps is you can't fully appreciate the story by just turning them on cold turkey on Monday. You don't know who's supposed to be really sleeping with whom. I was shocked out of my gourd one day on some soap when these two persons were swapping saliva on the couch, only to find out they apparently had a license to do so.

One of the bad things about television today is that there are so many channels that have all of this junk on them. If you want to know about birds or monkeys or something, you can find out about them during the day on several of those other channels. I saw several of these 30-minute commercials that showed at least 100 different ways for me to not only lose those pounds but keep them off. I saw several on amazing Swedish discoveries for keeping that spot near the crown of my head from getting any thinner.

How come all of the "amazing discoveries" are made in Sweden? That's a question for Andy Rooney or someone to answer.

One good thing on television is drama, and that was supplied in detail on the Cable News Network. We started off the week with the apparent hanging of Lt. Col. Richard Higgins and the threatened execution of one or more of the other American hostages in Lebanon.

I figured out over the course of the week that there are probably 50 of these little "factions" in Lebanon, and they're under the control of no one. Anyway, it was the best drama provided on television. As is usually the case, real life was better than fiction.

Hints from Heloise

PACKING TIP

Dear Heloise: I read your column all the time in The Washington Post and want to share the following tip for packing to move. I started doing this the second time we moved. It really helped out.

On the front of a spiral notebook I wrote "Packing List." On the first page of the notebook I wrote "Box No. 1" and listed everything I put in that box. I did this for each box as it was filled.

Boxes with glass or fragile items were labeled with the box number and "Fragile" written in large letters. I also placed a star and wrote "Top" on the top of the box. This way the box always stayed right side up.

When we were finally in our new house, everyone helped unpack by looking in the notebook. The boxes that I needed right away were unpacked first. Also, I easily found items I needed without having to unpack the entire box. Since we had over 100 boxes this saved time and frustration. — Mrs. M. Polansky, Woodbridge, Va.

It sure pays to be organized and you are! Thanks for writing. — Heloise

LAMP SHADE

Dear Heloise: I was having some friends over for dinner and I was rushing around trying to do some of the housework chores I usually neglect, like dusting.

I noticed that the lampshades were really dusty and wasn't sure of the easiest way to dust them. Then I had a brainstorm and used my hand held hair dryer. It worked great and I was finished in a hurry. — Kathy Murphy, Hot Springs, Ark.

Abundant Life

BY BOB WEAR
We Are Not Helpless

It is admitted that in some instances about some things, we are helpless to bring about exactly what we would like. However, we must not consider these the whole of life. We know that problems, obstacles and difficulties are the common lot of all people. This is a general condition. With most of these, however, we can cope successfully.

Living may be easier for some than for others. It certainly appears to be, but, in general, it is about the same for all of us if we are honestly trying to abide by the time-tested rules. It is possible for us to make the living experience much more difficult than it would otherwise be and of course this is a mistake. We must deal with the consequences. Even so, we have great potential for accepting the full challenge of life. "Life is a voyage in which we choose neither vessel nor weather, but much can be done in the management of the ails and the guidance of the helm." — Anon ourselves is by helping others. There are many available blessings and opportunities, and, even though some folk seem to obtain more of these than others, there are enough for all of us. In an enlightened social order, and that is the kind we claim to be, there are many ways in which we can and we will share with and help each other. We will, and probably do, realize that this kind of interaction multiplies our strength and uplifts our spirit. We must never be guilty of saying, I will never need the help of others.

We have the capacity and the privilege to choose how we respond to what happens to us. We can break down, and more or less give up, or we can break out, and become anti-social and perhaps self-destructive, or we can break through and become wiser and stronger. We are not helpless.

Herd coaches ready for new year

After a week at the Texas High School Coaches Association convention in Dallas, the Hereford High School coaching staff "hit the ground running," according to head coach Don Cumpston.

"We got to see some pretty good clinicians," Cumpston said of the annual coaching school. "R.C. Slocum of Texas A&M and the Tulane coach, Greg Davis, were there. And Jack Pardee of Houston spoke on defense."

"Roger Staubach was there also.

He spoke at an FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes) breakfast."

Cumpston said most discussion among the state's prep coaches was the upcoming realignment of University Interscholastic League member schools. The biennial shuffling of schools will be announced in January and will take effect for the 1990-91 school year.

"It was all speculation," Cumpston said. "You know, who's going to move up or down and what they (UIL) are going to set the enrollment cutoff at for each class."

Cumpston also attended the District 1-4A executive meeting Monday in Canyon. Among the business taken care of by the loop's athletic directors was the scheduling of district meets for the coming school year.

The cross country meet will be held Oct. 28 at May Sims Park in Lubbock while the track and field meet and tennis tournament are set for April 13 and 14 in Wolfforth and Levelland, respectively.

Cumpton also reminded that all seventh and ninth grade athletes in all sports must have physical examinations before they will be allowed to participate. He said that no equipment will be issued until a student has undergone one.

HHS trainer Doc Morrow said all local physicians have the forms for the exams.

"If the students use an out-of-town doctor, then they need to come up here to the fieldhouse to get one of the forms," Morrow added.

Morrow also said any athlete in eighth, 10th, 11th or 12th grades who had suffered an injury or illness during the past year must also have a complete physical before they can play. All sophomores through senior football players will still need to report to the fieldhouse at 7 p.m. Thursday for routine physical screenings.

Cumpton said shoes will be issued to sophomores, juniors and seniors from 1 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at the fieldhouse and pre-season workouts will begin a "9:01" Monday morning.

Juniors and seniors will practice at 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily with sophomores meeting each day at 4 p.m.

Freshman will be issued equipment on Aug. 16 and will begin workouts at 1 p.m. Aug. 21.

Junior High football workouts will not be held until school starts on Sept. 5.

K-mart proves value to Cowboys

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Kelvin Martin, all of 5-9 and 163 pounds following a heavy meal, is known as K-mart to his coaches and teammates. But you won't find Martin in the bargain bin or on the discount rack.

Martin, entering his third season with the Dallas Cowboys, is fast developing into a prime-time receiver. No longer is he viewed as a backup whose primary duty is to return punts.

The K-mart moniker acquired from teammates last year is merely a takeoff on his name.

While Michael Irvin, the Cowboys' highest-profile receiver, has had trouble hanging on to passes in the early stages of training camp, Martin has been catching everything thrown his way.

"He looks to be a big-play receiver," Coach Jimmy Johnson said. "He's got outstanding hands, he's a disciplined player and he's a great competitor. I'm extremely pleased with Kelvin."

Martin and Irvin aren't necessarily competing for the same job. Martin served as Irvin's backup last season but this year they could both start.

"There's no problem with Michael," Martin said. "He'll be ready when it's time to play New Orleans (in the regular-season opener)."

"Anyway, I try not to judge other receivers. Everybody has their own way to get ready. As for myself, I try to work doubly hard. Training camp is hard on everybody. You've got to fight through that."

Martin always diplomatically insisted last season that starting was no big deal to him. He has modified that stance this summer.

"It's nice to start," Martin said. "I did say last year that I didn't really care. But this is a new year. It's an honor to know the coaches appreciate your ability and think you're capable of starting."

When given the opportunity last season, Martin delivered the goods.

He caught 49 passes for 622 yards and three touchdowns. Twice he received extensive playing time. Each time he did the job.

Against New Orleans, Martin filled in after Irvin was injured and had eight receptions for 95 yards and two touchdowns. Against Phoenix he received extensive playing time because of injuries to Kelvin Edwards and Ray Alexander, grabbing five throws for 72 yards.

"When given the chance, I showed I could do the job," said the 1987 fourth-round pick from Boston College. "I'm not the fastest receiver in the league. But I run good routes, I catch the ball over the middle and I'm durable for my size."

That size issue keeps popping up. Martin doesn't mind the questions. If he were a fan, he says he would also wonder what this slightly built kid was doing on the field with much larger people.

"I've been hearing it all my life," Martin said. "I really don't blame people. When you watch a game on TV, when you picture a football player, you picture big people."

"But I was like a lot of other kids. I wasn't going to get much bigger but I'd dream. I stuck with it. I've been gifted with the ability to play and God gave me a chance."

Johnson and offensive coordinator David Shula also say size isn't the determining issue. Production is what counts.

"I don't know if size enters into it," said Johnson, who recruited many Smurf-size receivers at the University of Miami. "Kelvin's got a lot of talent and we're pleased with him. Of course, if Kelvin were three or four inches taller and performed the same way, I'd like him even more."

"He (Johnson) doesn't care how big a player is," Martin said. "He wants players who go all out and produce. He says he wants the best players out on the field and I'll hold him to what he says."

Golfers downplay international rift

HAWTHORN WOODS, Ill. (AP) - Some of America's leading golf pros suggest that the perception of a rift between American and foreign players may be greater than the fact.

"I'm tired of talking about it. I'm tired of being asked about it," Tom Watson said in an abrupt, decisive manner.

"I think the press and public pay a lot more attention to it than the players do," U.S. Open champ Curtis Strange said Monday before a practice round for the 71st PGA National Championship.

"You don't think of it in terms of 'us' and 'them,'" Strange said. "When you're trying to win a tournament, you don't see an Australian or a Spaniard or an American. You just see somebody standing between you and that trophy; you just see somebody you're trying to beat."

Ben Crenshaw agreed. "We're just golfers," he said. "That's the way we think of ourselves and each other. You never even think about where someone comes from."

But the perception persists of a competition, almost a schism, between American and foreign - particularly European - players going into the last of the year's Big Four events.

It was heightened and focused by Mark Calcavecchia's unabashed flag-waving last month when he became the first American in six years to win the British Open.

"It was time to get an American name back on that trophy," Calcavecchia said.

The competition between American and foreign players came to full flower four years ago at the Belfry in the English midlands when the Europeans beat the Americans in Ryder Cup competition. It was their first victory in 20 years, and only their fourth in 50.

It was followed by another European Ryder Cup triumph two years later at Muirfield Village in Dublin, Ohio, and by major-tournament triumphs by Seve Ballesteros of Spain, Bernhard Langer of West Germany, Nick Faldo of England and Sandy Lyle of Scotland.

In general, the British press pounced on those triumphs with eager glee and proclaimed that Europe, not America, now ruled world golf.

Adding to the perception of a schism was Ballesteros' persistent charge that the American PGA Tour discriminated against foreign players and his insistence that they be given more flexibility in playing the American tour.

The PGA, sensitive to criticism that its championship field was heavily weighted to American players at the expense of foreign stars, responded this year with seven special invitations to non-

Americans.

Ballesteros, a three-time British Open winner and a two-time Masters champion, is among the invited and will rank among the major contenders for the PGA National Championship.

Greg Norman of Australia, a playoff loser to Calcavecchia in the British Open, could be the chief foreign threat, however.

Faldo, the current Masters champion and winner of three European titles this year, isn't far behind.

Norman and Faldo both qualified for the 150-man field that will begin play Thursday at the Kemper Lakes Golf Club. So, too, did former PGA champion David Graham, Wayne Grady and Ian-Baker Finch, all of Australia; David Frost of South Africa, and Langer of West Germany.

In addition to Ballesteros, the special invitees are Jose Maria Olazabal of Spain, Ian Woosnam of Wales, Rodger Davis of Australia, Mark McNulty of Zimbabwe and Isao Aoki and Naomichi Ozaki of Japan.

Lyle declined to enter.

Pains peeve Johnson

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys are fast discovering the item that heads new coach Jimmy Johnson's list of pet peeves. Johnson takes special note of players who miss workouts because of minor injuries.

Eight players who missed Saturday's scrimmage against the San Diego Chargers with injuries were back on the practice field on Monday.

"It is very interesting," Johnson said of the returnees after a 2½-hour afternoon session of limited contact work against the Los Angeles Raiders. "I definitely take note of that when we cut down."

Among those back at practice were starting center Tom Rafferty, who has been slowed by a shoulder problem, and first-team guard Crawford Ker, who missed time with a back ailment.

Also returning were running backs Timmy Newsome and Darryl Clack, both of whom are in jeopardy of losing their roster spots.

Johnson expressed concern that wide receiver Kelvin Edwards remains sidelined with a knee injury.

"He could be really falling behind," Johnson said. "When he'll be back, no one knows but Kelvin."

Johnson wants his team to step up the intensity level as the Cowboys prepare for their first exhibition game Sunday afternoon at San Diego.

"What we've got to look at is progress," Johnson said. "I was happy with last Saturday's scrimmage. Now we've got to build on that."

Johnson also said veterans Eugene Lockhart and Ken Norton Jr. and rookie Randy Shannon have been the most impressive of his linebackers.

Aikman, Walsh listed as co-starters at QB

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Rookie quarterbacks Troy Aikman and Steve Walsh are listed as co-starters for the Dallas Cowboys' exhibition opener at San Diego, Coach Jimmy Johnson announced Monday.

In releasing the depth chart, Johnson said they will see equal playing time until he names a starter before the final exhibition game against Houston on Sept. 2.

The Cowboys travel to San Diego to play the Chargers on Sunday.

Aikman, who was considered the leader in the quarterback derby before the opening of camp, said he was not concerned.

"It's too early to worry about it," said Aikman, the Cowboys' No. 1 draft choice.

The biggest surprise on the Cowboys' depth chart is Broderick Sargent, formerly of the Phoenix Cardinals and Baylor, who is listed as the starting fullback ahead of veteran Timmy Newsome and second-round draft pick Darryl Johnston.

Cadaret starting to get hang of it

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Greg Cadaret hasn't been a starting pitcher in the major leagues until this season. All of a sudden, he's making up for lost time.

Cadaret, who didn't make his first start until July 7, seems to be rounding into starting shape with the New York Yankees, as witnessed by his performance against the Cleveland Indians Monday night.

Cadaret had a no-hitter through seven innings and finished with a two-hit beauty in leading the Yankees past Cleveland 9-0.

Cadaret, a longtime reliever who was acquired June 21 by the Yankees in a four-player trade with Oakland involving Rickey Henderson, held the Indians hitless until Brook Jacoby led off the eighth with a single. Luis Aguayo's double in the ninth was the Indians' only other hit.

"I like it so far," said Cadaret, 3-2, who has had five solid starts since his shaky first one in Boston, when he allowed six runs in 5 2-3 innings.

In other AL action, Toronto beat Texas 2-1, Detroit beat Milwaukee 5-3 in the opener of a doubleheader before losing the second game 5-2, Minnesota defeated Baltimore 4-2, Kansas City trimmed Boston 6-4 and Seattle stopped Oakland 5-1.

Randy Velarde, Roberto Kelly, Bob Geren and Steve Sax each knocked in two runs apiece for New York. Most of the damage was done against Scott Bailes, 4-7.

Blue Jays 2, Rangers 1
John Cerutti pitched a five-hitter and Toronto capitalized on two errors by Texas shortstop Fred Manrique.

Cerutti struck out five and did not walk a batter in pitching his second straight complete game. Texas' only run came on Steve Buechele's fifth-inning homer, his 12th of the season.

Throwing errors on consecutive plays in the sixth inning by Manrique allowed the Blue Jays to tie the game. Kelly Gruber drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

Tigers 5, Brewers 3

Gary Ward's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth scored Allan Trammell with the go-ahead run, leading Detroit over Milwaukee in the first game.

With the Tigers trailing 3-2 in the eighth, Lou Whitaker singled off Tony Fossas, 1-2, to score Rick Schu from second and tie the game.

Rookie Kevin Ritz, 3-1, gave up six hits and two walks while striking out six in eight innings.

Tom Filer pitched five-hit ball over eight innings and Paul Molitor broke a tie with a solo homer to give the Brewers their second-game victory.

Paul Gibson, 2-8, was the loser.

Twins 4, Orioles 2

Kirby Puckett singled home the deciding run in the eighth and Minnesota took advantage of two Baltimore errors in the inning.

With the score tied 2-2, Puckett singled off Baltimore starter Jeff Ballard to score Al Newman from second. The hit got past Baltimore left fielder Phil Bradley for an error, allowing Dan Gladden to score from first base.

Minnesota starter Roy Smith, 7-3, continued his mastery of the Orioles, holding them to two runs, one earned, and five hits in seven innings.

Jeff Reardon pitched the ninth for his 20th save.

Royals 6, Red Sox 4

Jim Eisenreich hit a three-run homer to tie the game, then scored the winner for Kansas City on Bob Boone's single in the eighth after beating out an infield hit.

Mark Gubicza, 10-9, pitched eight innings, winning for the first time since July 18 despite giving up all four runs on 11 hits. Steve Farr earned his 17th save by pitching the ninth.

Greg Harris, 0-1, signed earlier in the day by Boston, was the loser.

Mariners 5, Athletics 1
Rookie Clint Zavaras pitched five scoreless innings to earn his first major league victory and Harold Reynolds hit two doubles and scored twice.

Bill Swift and Mike Schooler combined to pitch the final four innings.

The Athletics not only lost the game, but lost outfielder star Jose Canseco to injury as well. Canseco, making a comeback from a wrist injury that kept him out for the first half of the season, led off the sixth with a double and pulled up lame with a pulled quadriceps muscle in his right leg. He remained in the game and advanced to third on a single by Dave Parker before being replaced by Felix Jose.

Cubs drop Expos, take NL East lead

By The Associated Press

The ivy seems a little greener at Wrigley Field, and the bleacher bums a little more rowdy. The Chicago Cubs are in first place, folks.

Chicago took sole possession of the top spot in the National League East Monday night as Mark Grace and Ryne Sandberg each hit two-run homers, leading the Cubs over the Montreal Expos 5-2.

"Feels good," Manager Don Zimmer said. "But we've been there before this year."

The Cubs, who won the NL East in 1984, have not won a pennant since 1945. They have not won a World Series since 1908, when Tinkers to Evers to Chance was the double play combo.

Greg Maddux, 13-8, gained his 12th victory in his last 15 starts, pitching a seven-hitter for his fifth complete game.

Elsewhere in the NL it was Philadelphia 2, New York 1; St. Louis 4, Pittsburgh 0; Cincinnati 10, San Francisco 2; San Diego 5, Houston 2, and Atlanta 1, Los Angeles 0.

Tim Wallach gave the Expos a 1-0 lead with his ninth home run in the second inning. But the Cubs came back with three runs off Pascual Perez, 6-11, in the third.

Jerome Walton, who had three hits and extended his hitting streak to 18 games, led off the third with a triple and scored on Dwight Smith's single. Grace followed with his ninth homer, a drive into the left-field bleachers.

Walton singled with one out in the seventh and scored ahead of Sandberg's 17th homer off reliever

Andy McGaffigan.

Phillies 2, Mets 1

New York got a break in the ninth and gave it right back in the bottom of the inning.

Ricky Jordan reached on left fielder Mark Carreon's three-base error leading off the ninth and scored with none out on rookie Charlie Hayes' single over a draw-in outfield.

The Mets tied the score 1-1 in the top of the ninth off starter Ken Howell with some help from the Phillies.

Howell carried a two-hitter into the ninth and walked Darryl Strawberry with two outs. Carreon singled Strawberry to third, and on a 3-1 pitch to Dave Magadan, Carreon broke for second. Catcher Steve Lake's throw on ball four skipped into center field for an error as Strawberry scored.

Former Met Roger McDowell, 3-5, relieved Howell and struck out pinch-hitter Mackey Sasser to end the inning and earn the victory.

Jordan led off the ninth with a high fly ball to left off reliever Jeff Musselman, 1-2. Carreon was distracted by center fielder Juan Samuel near the warning track. The Mets intentionally walked John Kruk and Jeff Innis relieved. On an 0-2 count, Hayes lifted a fly ball to center that fell in for the game-winning hit.

Cardinals 4, Pirates 0

Ted Power allowed four hits in eight-plus innings and singled home a run.

Vince Coleman and Ozzie Smith each singled and stole second to ignite a two-run first inning against rookie Rick Reed, 0-3, who allowed four runs and six hits in the first two innings.

Reds 10, Giants 2

Ron Oester singled twice in an inning for the second time in five days when Cincinnati scored seven runs in the fifth inning.

Right-hander Scott Garrelts, the NL earned-run average leader at 2.42, was injured swinging in batting practice and was scratched from his scheduled start against the Reds. Jeff Brantley replaced Garrelts and lost for the first time in seven decisions.

Ron Robinson, 2-1, allowed one earned run in five innings and Tim Birtsas finished.

Padres 5, Astros 2

Chris James had three hits and drove in two runs and Bruce Hurst, 11-8, pitched a five-hitter.

The Padres scored off Jim Deshaies, 10-6, without a hit in the third inning and went on to send the left-hander to his third straight loss.

Braves 1, Dodgers 0

Tom Glavine pitched a four-hitter for his fourth victory against Los Angeles this season, including two shutouts, and Jeff Blauser homered.

Glavine, 10-6, is 4-0 against the Dodgers this season after going 0-5 in 1988, and has not allowed an earned run to Los Angeles all year over 32 2-3 innings, allowing 22 hits.

Rookie Ramon Martinez, 3-1, allowed four hits over eight innings,

Liberty Bowl signs deal with service academies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - The Liberty Bowl will have Army, Navy or the Air Force Academy as its host team for the next five years, and that should raise the stature of the game among TV programmers and potential sponsors, the founder of the bowl says.

"Already we've had interest from two of the major networks and also we're beginning to get people from the corporate sponsorship area contacting us," A.F. "Bud" Dudley, founder and executive director of the bowl, said.

The 31-year-old Liberty Bowl currently is without a sponsor and is broadcast by an independent television network. Some 150 TV stations around the country carried the game last year.

Dudley and the athletic directors of the three military academies signed a five-year contract on Monday that calls for one of the schools to serve as host team for the Memphis bowl game, beginning this year.

Navy coach Elliott Uzelac said the arrangement is a bonus for the military schools.

"Where else in the country do you have a three-team conference where the winner goes to a major bowl?" Uzelac said after a breakfast meeting held to announce the contract.

Navy, Air Force and Army vie among themselves each year for the Commander in Chief's Trophy, which is awarded to the school with the best record in head-to-head competition. Now the winner of the trophy will also go to the Liberty Bowl.

The only exception would be if Air Force were to win the Western Athletic Conference championship as well as the Commander in Chief's Trophy. As the conference champ, Air Force would go to the Holiday Bowl, and Liberty Bowl officials would be free to pick a non-academy replacement if the other two service academies had poor records.

"That's a possibility, but it's a remote possibility," Dudley said.

He said plans to bring the military academies to the Memphis bowl have been under discussion for four years.

"It's a natural tie-in with our theme," Dudley said. "For 31 years, we've been waving the American flag and having patriotic halftime shows. Everything we stand for is built around a patriotic theme."

The Liberty Bowl contract calls for paying the host teams a minimum of $750,000. Paychecks for Liberty Bowl teams will approach $1 million if the bowl is a sellout and would likely top $1.5 million if a corporate sponsor signs on, Dudley said.

Army coach Jim Young said the competition for a Liberty Bowl berth will add to the already healthy rivalry among the academies.

"The rivalries that exist between Air Force, Navy and Army are the greatest rivalries anywhere in college football," Young said.

"When the players take to the field they put everything they have into the games. ... That's going to be true of the academy games and it's going to certainly be true of the academy that comes in and represents the other two academies in the Liberty Bowl."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why didn't you consult some of your medical experts before agreeing so wholeheartedly with "Kicking Myself in Philly"?

Obviously, it is too late to help Philly in a relationship with a terrific guy from whom she is now divorced. (She refused to get up at 6 a.m. to have breakfast with him). You implied that she was lazy.

I am an "owl" who has been married to a "lark" for 40 years. We made some adjustments and have what we both consider an extremely good relationship. WE have three grown children, one owl, one lark and one in-between. All were reared in the same fashion. These traits are genetic. "Philly" needs to know that.

The enclosed article is from the Washington Post health section. Please print it. You could change some lives.

-A Virginia Owl
Are You a Night Owl or a Morning Lark?

Researchers often use an owl/lark questionnaire to determine whether a subject is a morning type (lark) or evening type (owl).

Add up the scores for each answer. The higher the score, the more likely you are to be a lark. A score of 22 is halfway between owl and lark.

Questions are drawn from a self-assessment questionnaire published in the International Journal of Chronobiology in 1976, translated from Swedish.

1. What time do you feel best about getting up? 5 to 6:30 a.m. (Score 5) 6:30 to 7:45 a.m. (4) 7:45 to 9:45 a.m. (3) 9:45 to 11 a.m. (2) 11 a.m. to noon (1).

2. How easy is it for you to get up in the morning. Not at all easy (Score 1) Not very easy (2) Fairly easy (3) Very easy (4)

3. How tired do you feel the first half-hour after getting up? Very tired (Score 1) Fairly tired (2) Fairly refreshed (3) Very refreshed (4)

4. You have a test the next day and may set the time you think you will perform best. You would choose: From 8 to 10 a.m. (Score 6) 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. (4) 1 to 5 p.m. (2) 7 to 9 p.m. (0)

5. One night you must remain awake between 4 and 6 p.m. to carry out a night watch. You have no commitments the next day. Which alternative suits you best? (Choose only one) You would not go to bed until after the watch is over (Score 1) You would take a nap before and sleep after (2) You would sleep before and nap after (3) You would take all sleep before the watch (4)

6. A friend invites you to jog with him. He goes between 7 and 8 a.m. How do you think you would perform? Well (Score 4) Reasonably well (3) Would find it difficult (2) Would find it very difficult (1)

7. If you have to wake up at a specific time every morning, how dependent are you on an alarm clock? Not at all (Score 4) Slightly (3) Would find it difficult (2) Would find it very difficult (1)

7. If you have to wake up at a specific time every morning, how dependent are you on an alarm clock? Not at all (Score 4) Slightly (3) Fairly dependent (2) Very dependent (1)

8. At what time in the evening do you feel tired and need sleep: 8 to 9 p.m. (Score 5) 9 to 10:15 p.m. (4) 10:15 to 12:45 a.m. (3) 12:45 to 2 a.m. (2) 2 to 3 a.m. (1)

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB I have been incarcerated for the last three years and naturally the diet is very poor. I work out six days a week, balancing out weight training with cardiovascular exercises. I eat anything -- junk food -- but my cholesterol level started out at 156 and with retesting has been 128, 103, 98 and 88. My triglycerides are constant at 47. Does exercise lower the levels that much, or is there a problem here? The doctors said my level is the lowest they have seen.

DEAR READER: Knowing nothing else about you, it is hard to say what is happening. Weight loss can result in a significant, although sometimes temporary, dramatic fall in cholesterol. Exercise can significantly lower cholesterol in some people. It is worth watching as very low cholesterol levels are associated with some diseases, such as cancer, which

I'm sure you have been carefully evaluated for. Some diseases that affect absorption can lower cholesterol. An overactive thyroid gland may also. But the finding can be entirely normal.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

"The Star Spangled Banner," when it was first published, bore the title "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

Names In The News

CINCINNATI (AP) - Actor Sylvester Stallone says he really isn't a macho, monosyllabic guy, although he admits he's played that role in so many films that he'd almost forgotten how to talk.
"It's not really me. It was a book that I interpreted," Stallone said of his Rambo films. "I inherited the mantle. I'm not monosyllabic. I'm not that quiet. I'm not a loner by nature."

A clean-shaven, neatly dressed and bespectacled Stallone met with reporters Tuesday in Cincinnati where he is filming scenes for a Warner Bros. picture co-starring Kurt Russell. Stallone plays an undercover policeman who is refined and articulate - a man more inclined to wearing suits and dabbling in the stock market.
His next film, "Lockup," opens in early August, and Stallone said he is more optimistic about it than he has been about any film since the first "Rocky" in 1976.

Woman's Health

CONDOMS AND SAFE SEX
By George W. Morley, M.D.,
College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Once considered outmoded, condoms are again popular and widely used. For many sexually active women--and men--condoms are favored as a contraceptive, and more importantly, as a device to protect you from sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) and a powerful curb against AIDS.

Before intercourse, the man or his partner unrolls the condom over the erect penis to cover it completely. When the man's semen is released, the condom acts as a barrier to block its entry into the woman's vagina. After intercourse, the man must remove the condom from his penis carefully so that semen does not leak out into the woman's vagina. If you suspect that a condom has broken during intercourse, immediately use a spermicide.

As a contraceptive, the condom has a 90 percent success rate when used properly. If you use a condom with a great deal of care, and a contraceptive foam or jelly, it can be extremely effective in preventing pregnancy.

As a protection against sexually transmitted diseases, the condom may prove to be invaluable. It can stop the bacteria that cause gonorrhea and chlamydia, and the virus that causes hepatitis B. Condoms also reduce the risk of contracting herpes and genital warts.

But the condom's greatest contribution to safer sex is its ability to curb the spread of AIDS in homosexual and heterosexual partners. AIDS is spread by the exchange of bodily fluids such as semen and vaginal discharge, and the condom, while not perfect, can effectively prevent that exchange of fluids.

Condoms are made of latex rubber or more costly animal tissue, but the latter cannot be used to protect against AIDS. To avoid possible problems, you should always buy quality despite the cost. Discard any condom that seems brittle or sticky--that means it is too old and may be ineffective. Never stretch, inflate or unroll a condom before use, and never reuse a condom. For best results, follow the manufacturer's directions.

Overall, routine condom use should lower the risk of pregnancy and disease, but its other selling points make the condom attractive to: it is safe, has no side effects, requires no prescription or special fitting, is relatively inexpensive and widely available.

During hot weather

Hair needs special care

The following tips will help keep your hair looking its best during the hot summer months.

-If you work indoors and can't get outside to get that sun-kissed look, add highlights to lighten and brighten. Do just a few strands around the face or all over for a more dramatic change.

-If you spend a lot of time outdoors in the summer heat, try choosing a shade a bit deeper than your usual color since the sun will lighten your hair a bit.

-Semi-permanent colors are great for the summer. Try a shade close to your natural color to enrich your hair color, and add shine, body and lots of conditioning.

-Blondes aren't the only ones who can go brighter for summer. Brunettes have options--try a hairpainting kit in a copper or burgundy shade.

-If you're going to be spending time in the sun, keep a spray bottle of water mixed with hair conditioner close at hand. Use it to spritz color-treated hair to protect it from summer sun. For extra protection, spritz with undiluted conditioner.

-Protect the delicate ends of medium to long hair from excessive sun exposure by pinning it up, twisting it, or French braiding it.

-Select non-alcohol styling product to keep hair in place even on summer's most humid days. To style relaxed hair that's also color-treated, use gel to push waves into the hair and "set" them. Brush out when dry.

-Avoid wearing a head covering with a tight band. It could produce a hot sweaty area which may discolor hair. The best protection for your hair is a well-ventilated, loose fitting head covering, which will protect your hair color as well.

-To cut down on hair's exposure to harmful chlorine and salt, apply an intensive conditioner before going into the water. After swimming, rinse and shampoo as usual.

-It's especially important to wash and condition hair after swimming at the beach to remove sand as well as salt, which crystallizes on hair as it dries. If not removed from your hair as soon as possible, these particles could damage the surface of the hair when combing and brushing.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - Teen-age singing group Menudo will be featured in public service announcements warning Hispanic New Yorkers about the dangers of AIDS.

The commercials, in English and Spanish, are being distributed to television stations.
