Up to his ears in corn

Gary Whitfill grins from ear to ear as he carries a sack full of corn from the booth set up by Kyle and Jim Eric Andrews at the first farmers' market of the year Thursday in Hereford. In left background is Melinda Whitfill, who is probably busy freezing corn today. The market is sponsored by the ag committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. 11 persons had booths at Thursday's market, which will continue through the season.

Survey shows Hispanic school, business worry

AUSTIN (AP) - Hispanics have made gains in business and remain concerned about educational opportunities for young Hispanics, according to a survey by the Texas Association of Mexican-American Chambers of Commerce.

The survey released Thursday was based on 350 interviews in eight cities with Hispanic owned or managed firms that are members of TAMACC.

"Educating the next generation of Hispanics is a major concern," said Rosie Zamora Cope, president of Telesurveys of Texas, Inc., the Houston firm that conducted the survey.

She said many of the businesses that were contacted said they "have trouble finding qualified employees to fill entry level jobs."

Members of TAMACC said they were urging corporations to take a more active role in sponsoring scholarships and lobbying the Legislature to improve public school education.

Freddy Rios, vice chairman of education for TAMACC, said the group comprised of 30 Hispanic chambers of commerce supports the lawsuit challenging the state's method of public school financing.

Poor school districts claim the system discriminates by not providing equal education funding. The case is before the Texas Supreme Court.

"It's not just an Hispanic issue.

We want a quality education for every person in this country," Rios told a news conference.

According to the survey, 61.6 percent of Hispanic businesses interviewed said their business had increased in recent years. Among those reporting increases, 23.6 percent said their business had grown from 26 percent to 50 percent, while 30 percent said business increased from between 10 percent and 25 percent.

Sam Guzman, chairman of TAMACC, said, "The growth reported by many of the Hispanic firms during the down economy in Texas emphasizes the resilience of Hispanic entrepreneurs."

New AIDS drug hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) - Early tests of a new AIDS drug are so promising that federal scientists are expressing hope it may become a powerful new weapon against the epidemic that now numbers 100,000 cases.

Scientists say they hope to start an expanded second phase of tests this fall and perhaps have the drug available for wide use next year.

Phase I trials, described in a report published today in the journal Science, showed that the drug, called DDI, controlled the growth of the AIDS virus and enabled patients to gain weight, feel better and develop some resistance to infection.

"This is not a cure for AIDS," said Dr. Robert Yarchoan, a National Cancer Institute researcher who helped direct the Phase I trials, "but it appears to control the disease."

The number of AIDS cases reached the 100,000 mark in recent weeks, the Centers for Disease Control said, and 58,014 AIDS patients had died as of June 30. No one is known to have recovered from the disease.

DDI, laboratory shorthand for 2',3'-dideoxyinosine, combats AIDS by blocking reproduction of the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) which causes the disease. This action is similar to AZT, or zidovudine, the only drug now approved to directly treat AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

"Like AZT, it (DDI) appears to reduce the replication of the virus and controls the disease," Yarchoan said in an interview. "It can keep the virus from replicating, but it can't rid the body of the virus."

Yarchoan said NCI researchers hope to receive Food and Drug Administration approval by September to start Phase II clinical trials involving some 1,000 patients and 20 centers around the country.

He said these trials could last six months to a year, and, if they go well, could lead to FDA approval for wide use of DDI.

The journal Science said that after the new clinical trials are underway, DDI manufacturer Bristol-Myers hopes to distribute the drug without charge to patients who are in critical need. No agreement for this distribution has been reached with the FDA, however, the magazine said.

Yarchoan said DDI's action of blocking reproduction of the AIDS virus enables patients to recover some ability to fight infection. This could prolong life since most AIDS patients die because immune systems weakened by the HIV virus cannot combat infection.

DDI, said Yarchoan, has important advantages over AZT: it is less toxic, better tolerated by patients, and needs to be taken only two or three times a day. AZT must be taken six times daily without fail, which requires patients to awaken during the night.

Bloch may have been paid 'a lot' of money

By RUTH SINAI
Associated Press Writer

The U.S. diplomat suspected of spying for the Soviet Union told the FBI he worked with the Soviets for "many years" and was paid "a lot of money," The New York Times reported today.

Meanwhile, officials in Washington disclosed Thursday that Felix S. Bloch received State Department merit raises of more than $13,000 while he was the No. 2 officer in the American embassy in Vienna.

The raises are given to diplomats whose work is "well above average," said a U.S. official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Times quoted an unnamed official as saying Bloch made the admission during his only interview with the FBI on June 22, the day he was placed on administrative leave from his State Department job. He has not been charged with any crime but remains under heavy FBI surveillance.

Bloch refused to discuss his motives or to give details on any spying activities, the Times said.

Three administration sources familiar with the Bloch case said in Washington Thursday night that they had not been told of such admissions.

But a congressional source told The Associated Press the FBI believes Bloch was recruited by the KGB, the Soviet intelligence service, while he was serving at the U.S. Embassy in East Berlin 14 years ago.

The Times said the FBI had received information that prompted major interest in a recent trip Bloch was making to Europe and planned a surveillance operation.

The agency notified foreign intelligence services and congressional committees, and somehow the information got out, the paper said. As previously reported, U.S. eavesdropping picked up a Soviet agent telling Bloch, "A bad virus is going around and we believe you are now infected."

The FBI interviewed Bloch, who told agents he had worked with the KGB for "many years" and that they "paid me a lot of money," the Times said. The FBI also got permission to search his home but found nothing incriminating, the paper said.

Government sources say Bloch was videotaped in Paris handing a briefcase to a Soviet agent earlier this year. The contents of the briefcase remain unknown.

In Moscow, Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady I. Gerasimov denied any Soviet connection with Bloch. Gerasimov said Thursday he made inquiries about Bloch's activities. "The name of Bloch was not familiar. We have no connection with him," he said.

Bloch's merit raises included an increase of $4,500 for fiscal 1983-84, $4,000 for 1984-85 and $3,800 for 1985-86, said an official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

But Bloch's raise was the lowest of three merit pay grades in the Senior Foreign Service, with the highest reaching about $8,000 a year, the official said.

The pay increases were given to Bloch while he was in Vienna, where he was posted from 1980 to 1987. Former U.S. ambassador to Austria Helene Von Damme, who has been publicly critical of Bloch, was among those who recommended the raises, said the official.

After 30 years with the State Department, Bloch reached one of the most senior gradings in the foreign service and makes about $80,000 annually, officials said.

Bloch continues to draw his paycheck and benefits, although his diplomatic passport and credentials have been revoked, the department says.

Bloch has been under tight FBI surveillance for several weeks. Agents followed him Thursday as he ended a three-night stay at his father's East Side co-op in New York City and returned by car to his daughter's house in Chappaqua, N.Y., north of the city.

Senate faces showdown over S&L bailout plans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrats and Republicans are heading for a showdown on the Senate floor over a compromise landmark savings and loan bailout bill that would balloon the federal budget deficit.

A House-Senate conference committee, finishing its work with two marathon sessions lasting late into the evening, decided Thursday night to reject Bush's complex plan to exclude $50 billion in rescue spending from the deficit.

The agreement sends the legislation to the full House and Senate for votes next week. However, the Bush administration has raised objections and senators warned that Republicans could block the plan in the Senate.

Nearly six months ago, Bush asked Congress for emergency action to close or rescue hundreds of failed, but still-operating, savings institutions.

Under the compromise, the government's largest-ever bailout would involve spending $166 billion, including interest, over the next 10 years - the vast majority of it from taxpayers.

The bill includes a number of provisions to prevent a recurrence of what analysts call the worst financial crisis since the Depression.

It requires S&L owners to risk more of their own capital to absorb losses before government deposit insurance kicks in. S&Ls would have to devote more of their assets to financing housing and disclose how well they serve minorities and the poor. They also would be prevented from using deposits to invest in high-yield, high-risk junk bonds.

The bill would enact the most sweeping restructuring of the regulatory bureaucracy since the 1930s. It would dismantle the S&L agency, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, dividing its duties between an office in the Treasury Department and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., now solely a bank regulator.

The conferees decided to defy Bush on his funding proposal.

The administration argued that the Democratic plan, which inflates the budget deficit but exempts it from triggering automatic spending cuts under the Gramm-Rudman law, will inspire a congressional spending spree on other programs.

Democrats, however, say their plan allows the government to borrow the needed S&L money at a lower cost and is a more honest way to account for the spending.

The five-member Senate delegation had been split 3-2 in favor of the Bush plan, with Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., joining the two Republicans on the panel.

But, after 5 1/2 hours of debate and the House rejection of a Senate compromise offer, Cranston shifted his position and joined Sens. Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., and Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., in accepting the House plan.

Sen. John Heinz, R-Pa., chided his fellow conferees for effectively postponing the difficult question.

"It will result, I fear, in a stalemate, not in this conference, but on the Senate floor," he said.

Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas, an ardent opponent of the House funding plan, says he has the support of 40 other Republicans, enough to block the compromise package under that chamber's rules.

And even if the full Senate goes along with the House, Bush's advisers have threatened to recommend a veto.

White House Budget Director Richard Darman told reporters Thursday that he favors a veto, joining Treasury Secretary Nicholas F. Brady who has previously threatened to push for one.

Brady, however, stopped short of such a threat in commenting on the agreement, which he called "an excellent product."

But, he added, "The administration's position on financing is perfectly clear and remains unchanged. We continue to actively oppose the House financing plan which requires a Gramm-Rudman waiver."

Riegle noted that S&L losses are mounting at a rate of $20 million a day and warned against holding up the badly needed bill until after Congress returns in its August vacation.

House Democrats gave in to Cranston's plea to let the top federal S&L regulator, M. Danny Wall, stay in his job without Senate reconfirmation.

At confirmation hearings, Wall would be sure to face questions about his role in delaying regulatory action against Lincoln Savings and Loan Association of Irvine, Calif., which has since failed and likely will require millions of dollars in government aid.

Such questions would be uncomfortable for Cranston and Riegle because they accepted campaign contributions from Lincoln's owner, Charles Keating, and later intervened with regulators on Lincoln's behalf. Riegle has since returned Keating's contribution, but Cranston has not.

Hance pays off debt

AUSTIN (AP) - Railroad Commissioner Chairman Kent Hance, preparing to bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, says he has paid off debts from two earlier, unsuccessful political campaigns.

Hance said Thursday that he had paid off about $300,000 still owed from his 1984 bid for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination and his 1986 run for the GOP gubernatorial nod.

"The debts are history," Hance said, adding that he has received commitments totaling $1.25 million for a 1990 governor's race. He also said he expects that primary battle to cost at least $3 million.

Two Republicans already have formally declared for governor -

Midland oil man Clayton Williams and former Secretary of State Jack Rains, a Houston lawyer.

Hance, then still a Democrat, lost the 1984 Senate primary to Lloyd Doggett, who was defeated that November by Republican Phil Gramm.

He changed parties in 1985. In 1986, Hance and former congressman Tom Loeffler both were defeated in the GOP primary by Gov. Bill Clements.

"With the debts now behind us and with a campaign machine in place, I will raise the money to get out our message about the need for strong, experienced leadership in Texas," Hance said Wednesday of his upcoming bid.

Car damaged in mischief

Better than $4,000 in damage to a vehicle was incurred in a case of criminal mischief reported in the 400 block of Paloma Lane.

A resident at a home there heard a loud noise at about 1:30 a.m. Thursday. When he went outside to investigate, he found that all of the windows in his car had been broken. Other damage included smashed taillights and headlights and torn vinyl on the car top.

Hereford police are investigating a suspect in the case.

Other incidents investigated by the Hereford Police Department overnight were:

A report of theft of gas; a burglary of a residence reported in the 100 block of Juniper; a stolen bicycle reported in the 300 block of Lake; and assault and disorderly conduct reported in the 200 block of Harrah.

City police arrested one man, 35, for no liability insurance (second offense). They also issued nine citations.

Deputies obtain warrant

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a suspect in a burglary of a building investigated by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office on Wednesday.

County deputies arrested one man, 38, on a warrant for reckless driving.

Rain chance forecast

Tonight will be fair with a less than 20 percent chance of isolated thunderstorms. The low will be 62, with south winds 5-10 mph.

Saturday will be partly sunny with a 30 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms. The high will be near 90, with south-southwest winds 10-20 mph and gusty.

This morning's low at KPAN was 63 after a high Thursday of 88.

Passenger group calls for DC-10 grounding

DALLAS (AP) - In the wake of a fiery DC-10 crash in Iowa, an airline passengers association is calling for the grounding of all such McDonnell Douglas aircraft and says it is ready to take legal action to get the jets out of service.

The International Airline Passengers Association said Thursday it wants the planes grounded until structural deficiencies are corrected. But federal regulators and the aircraft manufacturer rejected that call.

The passengers group wants the Federal Aviation Administration to order the planes out of use in light of the July 19 crash of a United Airlines DC-10 in Sioux City, Iowa, that killed 111, said spokesman Daniel Smith.

It is evident that the aircraft's dual hydraulic systems, necessary for flight control, do not work and need to be separate, Smith said.

In a letter delivered Thursday to FAA chief James Busey in Washington, IAPA said it wants to "first, find out what's wrong with the aircraft, and secondly, get it fixed."

Although IAPA has not ruled out court action, the group said it hopes the plane will be grounded without having to resort to legal means.

"We believe it is far better for you to act independently, free of any imposed direction from outside the FAA," the group's letter said.

After a DC-10 crash in Chicago in 1979, the IAPA won a federal court order grounding the DC-10 fleet for more than a month while inspections were performed on some parts of the aircraft.

IAPA then had asked the FAA to separate the hydraulic systems of the aircraft.

In addition to the hydraulic problems, Smith also claimed there are other design deficiencies in the planes, which entered commercial fleets in 1971.

At least 17, or 3.8 percent, of the 445 DC-10s built have been wrecked because of their problems, Smith said. By comparison, 1.2 percent of the Lockheed L-1011s have been wrecked, and 1.5 percent of the Boeing 747s have crashed, he said.

FAA spokesman Jay Leyden dismissed the passenger group's claim.

"There's nothing that's come out of the Sioux City accident indicating a basic design flaw that would warrant such an action," Leyden said.

In another DC-10 accident, a Korean Air DC-10 crashed short of a fogbound airport Thursday in Tripoli, Libya, killing at least 82 people. But a spokesman for the South Korean embassy there said no mechanical problem was reported before the crash.

McDonnell Douglas, maker of the DC-10, countered the IAPA statements Thursday in its own news conference at the Long Beach headquarters of Douglas Aircraft.

"I find it difficult to believe that a rational public, a rational FAA and even a rational Congress will put very much credence in the statements of the IAPA," said Dale Warren, a McDonnell Douglas vice president.

"The real concern, in my opinion, is that we worry about the credibility of our aircraft to the traveling public," Warren said. "We'd like to assure the traveling public that we have a fine piece of aircraft that is safe to travel in."

Nevertheless, Warren said, engineers are studying the crashes to determine whether a design modification is needed.

"It would appear at this time that some action is appropriate," Warren said.

Changes under consideration are additional backup controls, ways of containing the damage from a jet engine explosion and methods of shielding the hydraulic system from such damage.

In the Iowa crash, an explosion in the plane's rear engine threw pieces of the turbine through the tail section, rupturing the hydraulic controls and backup systems, an initial investigation into the accident indicates.

In addition to that crash, the passengers association cited other DC-10 accidents:

- 1974, a Turkish Airlines jet near Paris crashed after explosive decompression and severed hydraulic lines; 346 killed.

- 1979, an American Airlines jet crashed on takeoff in Chicago after the number one engine separated from the wing, rupturing hydraulic lines connected to the wing slats; 273 died.

Smith, whose organization claims about 27,000 members in the United States and 110,000 worldwide, declined to say whether the group was advising people not to fly DC-10s.

However, he said, "I will not fly the DC-10 until substantial structural modifications are made to the airplane."

Elaine Hardy, manager of Blue Moon Travel in Dallas, said some of her customers are requesting not to be booked on DC-10s.

"They ask me what kind of flight it is. They don't want to go on the DC-10," she said.

With the largest DC-10 fleet in the world, Fort Worth-based American Airlines called IAPA's statements "a staged media event ... completely inappropriate and uncalled-for."

"At the first suggestion of any flaw in the DC-10, American would immediately ground the fleet," said Al Becker, American spokesman.

"But, absolutely nothing has been discovered at this point to suggest that any such action is appropriate."

Becker also took issue with Smith's figures, saying 370 DC-10s have been built and that only nine have been involved in fatal accidents worldwide.

American officials were closely watching the FAA investigation of the United crash, he said. But Becker said he didn't believe the cause would be related to the aircraft's design.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, July 28, the 209th day of 1989. There are 156 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On July 28, 1976, one of the worst earthquakes on record devastated northern China, killing at least 242,000 people, according to an official estimate.

On this date:

In 1540, King Henry VIII's chief minister, Thomas Cromwell, was executed.

In 1588, the Spanish Armada, which had sailed to England in hopes of overthrowing Queen Elizabeth I, came under attack off Calais by the English navy.

In 1655, French dramatist and novelist Cyrano de Bergerac, the inspiration for a play by Edmond Rostand, died in Paris.

In 1750, composer Johann Sebastian Bach died in Leipzig.

In 1821, Peru declared its independence from Spain.

In 1868, the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, guaranteeing due process of law, was declared in effect.

In 1896, the city of Miami, Florida, was incorporated.

In 1914, Austria-Hungary declared war on Serbia.

In 1932, Federal troops dispersed the so-called "Bonus Army" of World War I veterans who had gathered in Washington D.C. since May, demanding money they were scheduled to receive in 1945.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt announced the end of coffee rationing.

In 1945, the U.S. Senate ratified the United Nations Charter by a vote of 89-2.

In 1945, an Army bomber crashed into the 79th floor of the Empire State Building in New York, killing 14 people.

In 1959, Hawaiians participated in their first election since statehood, voting to send their first Representative and Senator to Congress.

In 1977, Roy Wilkins turned over the leadership of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to Benjamin L. Hooks.

In 1986, NASA released a transcript of a recording from the doomed space shuttle Challenger in which pilot Michael J. Smith could be heard saying, "Uh-oh!" as the spacecraft disintegrated.

Ten years ago: Charan Singh was sworn in as India's fifth prime minister. Singh, who succeeded Morarji Desai, served as premier until the following January, when he was defeated by Indira Gandhi in national elections.

Five years ago: The 1984 Summer Olympics opened with a flag-waving ceremony at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, minus 15 nations that had stayed away in a Soviet-led withdrawal.

One year ago: Congress overwhelmingly approved some $6 billion in aid for drought-stricken farmers.

Today's Birthdays: Jacqueline Onassis is 60. Senator Bill Bradley, D-N.J., is 46. "Garfield" creator Jim Davis is 44. Actress Linda Kelsey is 43. Actress Sally Struthers is 41. Actress Georgia Engel is 41.

Thought for Today: "All youth is bound to be 'misspent'; there is something in its very nature that makes it so, and that is why all men regret it." - Thomas Wolfe, American author (1900-1938).

Southern poll gives views on abortion

ATLANTA (AP) - A poll published today shows that few Southerners want a total ban on abortion but are divided on exactly when the procedure should be legal.

The poll, conducted by The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, shows that 50 percent of the people polled in 12 Southern or border states think abortion should be legal under some circumstances. Another 27 percent said it should be legal on demand.

ing the issue to the 50 state legislatures for the first time.

Here are some other major findings of the survey:

- If a woman's life is endangered, 93 percent said she should be entitled to an abortion, and 84 percent thought an abortion would be in order if her health might be severely damaged. But only 53 percent said an abortion should be performed if the baby will be born deformed.

- Eighty-one percent favored abortions in cases of rape or incest. Only 23 percent believed a woman should have an abortion if she cannot afford to have the child.

- Respondents were asked if they favored a law requiring parental consent before a girl under 18 can have an abortion; 73 percent favored it and 22 percent were against.

- Sixty-nine percent favored a law preventing government from paying for an abortion except in cases of incest, rape or to protect the life of a woman.

- Another 62 percent said they favored a law making it illegal for a doctor to perform an abortion unless tests were first done to make sure the fetus could not survive outside the womb.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In 1978, I ran a column of yours in an Alcoholics Anonymous newsletter. I was secretary of the San Francisco office at the time.

I believe it would be a good idea to run that letter again for the millions of people who are wondering what to do about the alcoholic in their lives.

I am a 42-year member of AA. Like other old-timers, I believe in anonymity. Please sign me--Paul G., Mill Valley, Calif.

DEAR PAUL: Here's the letter. It's a good one. Thanks for asking.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Well-meaning but misguided relatives do more to keep the alcoholic from seeking treatment than you will ever know. Our literature makes it clear that the alcoholic must hit bottom before he recognizes the hopelessness of his behavior. Here are some tough musts for people close to the alcoholic.

If he parks the car on the neighbor's lawn, leave it there and let him explain.

If he passes out on the floor, leave him there. The message will register when he regains consciousness.

If the alcoholic soils his bed, let him lie in it and clean up the mess when he comes to.

Don't defend your alcoholic in encounters with the police.

Don't provide bail to save your alcoholic from jail.

If he is too hung over to go to work, let him call the boss. Refuse to cover up for him.

If the alcoholic's checks bounce, let him handle the problems that will inevitably follow.

Don't hide bottles. The alcoholic's ingenuity will win over your best efforts.

Don't scold, threaten or show anger when your alcoholic gets drunk.

Try to understand that alcoholism is an illness whose principal symptom is obnoxious behavior that is beyond his control.

When he finally admits he needs help, find the telephone number of Alcoholics Anonymous in the phone book, but let him place the call.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I came across this piece and thought your readers might enjoy it. This is how a man became his own grandfather.

"I married a widow who had a daughter; my father visited our house frequently, fell in love and married my stepdaughter. Thus, my father became my son-in-law and my stepdaughter became my mother, for she was my father's wife. My stepdaughter also had a son; he was, of course, my grandchild and my brother at the same time, because he was the son of my father. My wife was my grandmother, for she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time, and as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather."

Possible?--R.G.R. Louisiana

DEAR R.G.R.: Sounds like it to me, but then I'm not too swift when it comes to figuring out these mind-bogglers. Anybody out there want to take a crack at it? Does this compute or not?

LONDON (AP) - Viscount Althorp, the younger brother of Princess Diana and one of Britain's most eligible bachelors, said that after a six-week romance he has decided to marry a former model.

The 25-year-old viscount, a roving correspondent for America's NBC-TV, said his fiancee, 24-year-old Victoria Lockwood, had worked as a model in New York and Paris and studied acting in London.

Althorp said Monday he was taken aback by the speed of events in the brief affair. But he said he decided quite quickly that he wanted to marry Miss Lockwood, and was now completely happy.

The wedding is planned for autumn.

Know which gas to purchase

Ensuring a pleasant trip includes buying the proper fuel for your vehicle.

The wrong gasoline in certain engines can cause poor performance, deterioration of fuel system components, and interruption of travel plans, says Car Care Council.

Most of today's cars can and should use unleaded fuel, but not all can operate on every gasoline available. Gasohol, for example, which is unleaded gasoline with up to 10 percent ethanol (or five percent methanol) added, has become accepted at the nation's gas pumps. But the latter blend, methanol, is not recommended for all makes of vehicles. Check your owners manual to be sure.

This information is detailed in a new publication from the Council of Better Business Bureaus, which states that 11 U.S. and foreign automobile manufacturers now approve the use of 10 percent ethanol blends in their vehicles. It suggests that, if driveability problems occur, the owner should revert to conventional gasoline.

Two valuable recommendations in this 12-page booklet: Because alcohol tends to clean dirt, rust and grime from the fuel system, the fuel filter should be checked after first having used gasohol. Also, fuel hoses and fuel-related components should be checked for deterioration.

While alcohol has proven to be a satisfactory fuel additive in most cases, vehicle owners should be aware of certain characteristics that may cause problems. In hot weather, vapors can interrupt the flow of fuel from the gas tank to the engine. Known as vapor lock, this condition, more prevalent with gasohol, can cause stalling or rough idling. When this happens, it is necessary to allow the engine to cool down before attempting to start it again.

Another condition, known as "phase separation," can occur when too much water accumulates in the gas tank. More common in cooler temperatures, the mixture of alcohol and water can corrode metal components in the fuel system.

Cotten, Scott ink with Frank Phillips

Former Hereford High School baseball players Clint Cotten and Jason Scott have signed letters of intent to play at Frank Phillips College in Borger, FPC coach Jim Davis has announced.

Scott, who has been playing in an amateur league in Fort Worth this summer, signed in June. Cotten signed Tuesday, foregoing a football scholarship at West Texas State University, where he had signed to play defensive back.

"They're both fine athletes," Davis said of the pair. "(HHS baseball) Coach (T.R.) Sartor has a great program going down there and these two have benefitted from that."

Both players carry all-state credentials. Scott is a two-time Texas High School Baseball Coaches Association selection as a pitcher while Cotten made the THSBBCA squad this year as an outfielder. Cotten was also named to the North roster for the THSBBCA All-Star game held Saturday in the Houston Astrodome.

Scott was Hereford's mound ace this season, posting a 14-1 record with a 2.09 earned run average and 147 strikeouts en route to District 1-4A Player of the Year honors. Scott also hit for a .384 average with one home run and 17 runs batted in as the Herd's lead-off batter.

Cotten hit .412 with three homers and 29 RBI and led the team with 14 doubles while being named to the 1-4A first-team outfield. As the Herd's number two pitcher, he was undefeated with seven wins and a 3.28 ERA.

Davis said would see action both on the mound and in the field.

"We're looking at Jason primarily as a pitcher," Davis said. "He's got good velocity and control and we're hoping he'll develop further. And he's also got the ability to play in the outfield and at shortstop."

"Clint probably has more primary potential as an outfielder," he continued, "but he throws some pretty good junk. He doesn't throw as hard as some people, but he's got a fine curve and that knuckleball. We definitely want to look at him as pitcher."

Davis said FPC, which competes in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference, will begin workouts Aug. 25 in preparation for a 40-game fall season.

Cowboys' Martin something special

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys have their own version of the K mart blue light special.

It's Kelvin Martin taking advantage of double coverage on Michael Irvin to break free deep.

"K mart has been just outstanding," says Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. "That's why we've elevated him to the number one spot opposite Irvin. Kelvin will make the plays for you."

The 5-foot-9, 161-pound Martin caught 59 passes for 622 yards and three touchdowns last year. He's one of the new breed of small but quick NFL receivers.

"I don't listen to all that stuff about my size and being too small and everything," Martin said. "I think I've proved what I can do."

Martin dispelled any doubts about how tough he is when he played the second half of an early game against the Washington

Redskins with a broken bone in his left wrist.

He broke the bone in the first half then scored on a 35-yard touchdown pass in the second half.

"He played every play the next week at Chicago and didn't drop a ball," said Dallas assistant Alan Lowery.

Martin was a fourth round draft pick in 1987 out of Boston College because he was one of the nation's top kick returners.

But he may have a new role.

"I think he could be our best receiver," said Dallas' top scout John Wooten. "K mart does it all. He'll go over the middle and take the hardest hit you've ever seen and bounce right back up."

"He's a winner, too. He made three great catches to beat Georgia in the Hall of Fame Bowl. You can count on him in the clutch."

In fact, Martin reminds Wooten of a fast Drew Pearson, the retired

All-Pro receiver of the Cowboys.

"He can take a hit the way Drew could," Wooten said. "I think K mart might even be tougher this year because he's gained about six pounds. He needs it for endurance. I thought he got a little tired last year."

Martin has the respect of his peers on the Dallas defense.

"He's not afraid of going up and getting the ball," said defensive back Everson Walls. "He also is so quick that he can fake a short route then go deep and leave you hanging. He's dangerous out there."

Martin said that's the way he wants to keep it.

"Little guys always have to keep proving themselves," he said. "I don't mind. It makes it fun."

The Cowboys hope to have their own K mart special this year. Only instead of activating a blue light they will put six points on the scoreboard.

Converse Judson athletes arrested

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Two football players from a high school that competed for this year's Class 5A championship have been charged with burglary, becoming the latest young Texas athletes arrested in criminal cases.

Judson High School officials kicked a potential starter off the team and banned a former player from an upcoming All-Star game after the two were arrested on the charges.

Suburban Universal City police arrested Michael D. Garcia and Destrly Lee Ensley on Monday after law officers received a tip that items in some residential burglaries were being sold at pawn shops by teenagers.

Police say the two may be part of a group of teen-agers that burglarize schoolmates' homes while families are on vacation.

Garcia was released from Bexar County Jail on a personal recognizance bond Monday morning, and Ensley was released on a personal recognizance bond Tuesday afternoon.

Another Judson student, Keith Taylor, 17, also was arrested Monday on the same charge. He was not on the football team.

Garcia, 18, graduated from Judson last spring and was a key member of the Rockets' 1988 Class 5A state finalist team. The former nose guard was a first team member of the San Antonio Express-News Greater San Antonio Class 5A team and was the newspaper's 1988 Greater San Antonio defensive player of the year.

Ensley, 17, was a junior varsity player last season and had a chance at being the team's starting nose guard this year as a senior, Judson football coach D.W. Rutledge told the Express-News.

Last season, Judson played for the Class 5A championship against Dallas Carter High School, whose football team has seen nine of its players and former players charged with armed robbery in recent weeks.

"It (Garcia and Ensley's arrests) made me sick when I heard about it," said Judson superintendent Dr. Galen Elolf. "I said, 'It makes us sound like Carter High School.'"

Two Dallas Hillcrest High School students also were arrested, including one on Monday, and are charged in a June armed robbery.

In response to the Judson athlete's arrests, Rutledge kicked Ensley off the football team.

"We have a hard, fast rule about players being involved in drugs or stealing and that rule is that they are off the team," Rutledge said.

"That's a rule that was made a long time ago and it has nothing to do with personalities. It's just the rule and we are going to follow it."

Garcia was to play in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star Football Game on Tuesday at Irving's Texas Stadium. But after his arrest, Rutledge banned him from the game.

"I'm going to send the other player (defensive back Derwin Gray) we nominated," he said.

Rutledge said he met with Garcia and Ensley and their mothers Wednesday.

"I don't know a lot about their participation in a theft ring. They were two separate deals from what I know from talking to the kids," Rutledge said.

"They made some bad choices. It is something that disappointed me a great deal. It hurts us a great deal to see this happen. But we aren't going to make excuses," he said.

Kansas Wesleyan had offered Garcia an athletic scholarship, but Rutledge said Garcia has not taken college entrance exams.

Quanah rider gets 85 at Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - A cowboy knows even before the score is announced whether he's had a good ride, according to the Quanah, Texas, man who has taken over the lead in brahma bull riding at Cheyenne Frontier Days.

Lane C. Frost compares the experience with driving a car.

"You know if you're going 80 or you're going 20. Today I was going 80," Frost, sweat dripping down his face, said of his 85-point ride on a bull called "Jeremy Winkler" on Thursday.

Frost said he was happy to draw that bull after it had thrown two riders earlier in the week.

"I knew I had my hands full," he said.

Frost said Thursday's ride, which put him on top for the rodeo's second go-round, was encouraging because of the mediocre year he's had so far.

"I tell you what, I've had a rough year this year," Frost said.

"I'm excited and not just for Cheyenne," he said, adding that the score, the best on a bull this week at the world's largest outdoor rodeo, would also help him in the national standings.

Another cowboy who saw his fortune change Thursday was steer roper Arnold Felts. The Sonoma, Texas, man was all-around champion at Frontier Days in 1986 and 1987.

Felts' time Thursday of 17.8 seconds was not good enough to put him on top of the standings in the second go-round, but it made him No. 1 in the average. His total time of 33.5 in two attempts is the lowest so far after two go-rounds of steer roping at Frontier Days. The top 15 cowboys in the average for every event go on to the finals this weekend.

The "big money" prizes are given in the finals, Felts said.

A competitor in both steer roping and calf roping, he said his first attempt at calf roping during the rodeo was not promising. But Felts was hoping for a better score when he tries that event again on Saturday.

"Maybe I can wear that No. 1 again," said Felts, who has competed in Cheyenne for 16 consecutive years.

In Thursday's bareback bronc riding contest, one cowboy surprised even the judges. Larry Peabody of Pompeys Pilar, Mont., rode his bronc out of the chute and then the horse went right back in. When Peabody got the horse out of the chute for the second time it spun around fast in front of the gate and never strayed very far into the arena.

The judges gave him the option of a 78 score or a re-ride. Peabody took the score, the highest in bareback bronc riding for the day.

The announcer told the appreciative crowd that he had never seen anything like Peabody's "spectacular ride."

In steer wrestling, Blake Scott of Douglas brought his steer down in 9.9 seconds, the best score of the day and second best of the go-round. His time of 15 seconds in the first go-round, combined with Thursday's score, was enough to put him in into the finals but not in the top five, Scott said.

In steer roping, the standings in the second go remained the same as Wednesday, with H.L. Todd of Olathe, Kan., still leading with a 14.4 second time. Wade Lewis of Hereford is fourth in the average at 35.4 seconds.

In calf roping, Jerry Jetton of Stephenville, Texas, took over the lead in the second go with a time of 12.3. He was followed closely by Clay O'Brien Cooper of Gilber, Ariz., who roped his calf in 12.7 seconds Thursday.

Mark Sager of Poteau, S.D., captured the lead in rookie bronc riding with a score of 74. He moved into second place in the average, with a total of 142.

Oilers sign veteran pair

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) - It's deadline day for veterans at the Houston Oilers training camp, and running back Allen Pinkett and wide receiver Curtis Duncan will be here thanks to some last-minute negotiations.

But contract prospects were still uncertain for top running back Mike Rozier, and receiver Drew Hill has threatened to miss camp unless the team renegotiates his contract.

The Oilers said they reached an agreement with Pinkett Thursday night on an undisclosed one-year contract, and Duncan was expected to sign a contract today after reaching agreement with the team earlier Thursday.

Reds finally win, drop Padres, 6-1

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds are finally in the black. But the team picked by many to win the National League West hardly has a Rosey future.

"It'll take a miracle to win the West," Manager Pete Rose said Thursday after the Reds ended their longest losing streak in 23 years. "I know that. ... You know that."

With what amounted to a concession speech out of the way after the Reds had beaten the San Diego Padres 6-1, Rose praised the effort of his players.

"You've got to give the guys around here credit," he said. "It's been awfully difficult the last week and a half. They're still playing hard."

The victory, only the 11th in 42 games as the Reds have plunged to fifth place in the NL West, did little to brighten the team's prospects. Cincinnati still has six players on the disabled list.

At Atlanta, Dale Murphy tied major-league records with two homers and six RBIs in an inning as the Braves routed the San Francisco Giants 10-1.

"Just getting up twice in one inning is unusual," Murphy said. "I don't remember doing that very often. As far as the homers, I'm thrilled but I don't know what else to say."

Elsewhere, it was Los Angeles 7, Houston 5 and Pittsburgh 10, New York 8.

Tim Leary, 7-9, acquired last week from Los Angeles, allowed eight hits in eight innings for his first victory in two starts with Cincinnati. The only run he allowed came on a solo homer in the fifth inning by Luis Salazar.

The Reds took a 1-0 lead in the second when rookie Rolando Roomes homered off Greg Harris, 3-6. Roomes also singled home a run as part of a three-run sixth.

Braves 10, Giants 1

Murphy's home runs equalled a record shared by 13 other players. The last to do it was Von Hayes of the Philadelphia Phillies on June 11, 1985 in a 26-7 rout of the New York Mets.

The six RBIs matched a record shared by nine other players, the last Andre Dawson of the Montreal Expos on Sept. 24, 1985.

With the Braves trailing 1-0 against Alce Hammaker, 6-6, Jeff Blauser led off the sixth with an infield hit. Lonnie Smith walked and Giants manager Roger Craig brought in Jeff Brantley to pitch to Murphy with a 2-1 count. Murphy hit the next pitch over the left field wall.

Murphy's second homer of the inning was a three-run shot off Rich Gossage.

Tom Glavine, 9-6, allowed six hits through eight innings, struck out six and walked two.

Dodgers 7, Astros 5

Eddie Murray's pinch-hit, three-run homer with one out in the ninth marked only the second failure by Houston relief ace Dave Smith in 23 save opportunities.

Murray, batting for Dave Anderson, hit a 2-0 pitch over the right-field fence.

Mickey Hatcher and Jeff Hamilton singled off Larry Andersen, 2-3, to start the inning. After reliever Juan Agosto struck out pinch-hitter Mike Scioscia, Murray hit his 10th homer.

Mike Morgan, 7-11, pitched a scoreless eighth and Jay Howell worked the ninth for his 20th save in 22 tries.

Pirates 10, Mets 8

Jay Bell, a 128 hitter, blooped a three-run, pinch-hit triple to cap a five-run seventh inning. Bell's triple came off relief ace Randy Myers.

The Pirates took a 5-0 lead in the first off Sid Fernandez on Barry Bonds' two-run single and R.J. Reynolds' three-run homer.

The Mets got back in the game in the third with four runs to chase starter Jeff Robinson and took the lead at 6-5 against Neal Heaton in the fifth on Kevin Elster's two-run, broken-bat double.

Bob Kipper, 3-3, got the victory despite giving up the last two Mets runs and Bill Landrum pitched two innings for his 15th save. Don Aase, 1-3, was the loser.

Twins hand O's eighth straight loss

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

The Baltimore Orioles are losing it again. They're getting close to another record for futility.

Baltimore lost its eighth straight game Thursday night, 10-6 to Minnesota. If the Orioles fall tonight in Kansas City, they will tie the American League record for consecutive losses by a first-place team.

"It's growing pains right now," Manager Frank Robinson said. "It's a little of everything. It's not just one thing."

The Orioles, who have relied on rookies more than any team in the majors, can match the mark of nine consecutive losses by the 1953 New York Yankees and the 1970 Twins. The major league record for losses by a first-place team is 10 by Pittsburgh in 1932.

Baltimore's lead in the AL East slipped to four games - its smallest since June 17 - over Toronto and Cleveland. The Yankees are sixth, just 6 1/2 games behind.

"We've been unfortunate to lose eight in a row, but nobody has made any big gains on us. But we can't be concerned with what everybody is doing behind us," shortstop Cal Ripken said.

In other games, California beat Chicago 8-5, Boston defeated Kansas City 7-2 and Milwaukee routed Detroit 11-1.

The Orioles have lost the first seven games of 14-game road trip. They were swept in four tries at Oakland and lost all three at the Metrodome.

Baltimore loaded the bases with no outs in the first inning, but Roy Smith struck out Ripken and Mickey Tettleton and got Jim Traber on a grounder. All three batters disputed balls-and-strikes calls by home plate umpire Derry Cousins.

"I'm sure they're frustrated and that crossed my mind," Smith said. "But I wasn't going to say, 'I've got them in my back pocket.' No way."

Smith, 6-4, set a career-high for victories. He is the best-supported starter in the league, getting more than six runs per outing, and the Twins are 13-5 when he pitches.

Kent Hrbek drove in three runs for the second straight day and Kirby Puckett got three hits, including a two-run single.

The Twins scored four times in the sixth inning for an 8-0 lead and chased Pete Harnisch, 1-4.

Craig Worthington hit a two-run homer in the Orioles' seventh and Mike Devereaux hit a three-run homer in the ninth.

Angels 8, White Sox 5

In California, Chili Davis and Jack Howell hit three-run homers in support of Jim Abbott.

The White Sox outfit California 13-5.

Davis' 14th home run capped a five-run first inning and Howell hit his team-leading 15th homer in the sixth.

Abbott, 9-6, gave up four runs on 10 hits in seven-plus innings. Bryan Harvey got two outs for his 14th save.

Melido Perez, 7-11, allowed all the Angels' run despite giving up only four hits in 5 2-3 innings. He walked five batters, and four of them scored.

Red Sox 7, Royals 2

In Boston, Kevin Romine homered and doubled as the Red Sox ended Tom Gordon's seven-game winning streak.

Gordon, 11-4, allowed five runs on eight hits and four walks in 5 1-3 innings.

John Dopson, 9-5, got his first victory since June 29 despite giving up three hits and seven walks in five-plus innings.

Brewers 11, Tigers 1

Rob Deer hit his fourth career grand slam, highlighting a six-run sixth inning.

Robin Yount singled twice and extended his hitting streak to 17 games, tied for the longest in the league this season. Greg Brock added a home run for the Brewers.

Jaime Navarro, 2-3, pitched five innings and left after a rain delay of one hour, 15 minutes. Paul Gibson, 2-5, was the loser.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. Jim Cory's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service is entitled "No Addictives-100% Pure." The scripture is Colossians 2:8-15.

There will be no Sunday school through the month of August and Labor Day.

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered Sunday morning to Tiffany Marie DeBord, daughter of Scott and Yvette DeBord and granddaughter of Martha DeBord. Tiffany was born March 1, 1989.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Baptist Women's general meeting and coffee will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 2, in Kinsey Parlor. Clovis Seago will lead the group and hostesses are Opal Roberson and Louise Kinsey.

A preschool swim party for 2-5 year-olds will be held 3-4 p.m. Sunday on the church playground.

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

A teens ice cream social will be held at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Taylor will be special guests.

The Teen Choir will meet at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Vacation Bible School is planned from 6:30-9 p.m. July 31-Aug. 4 at the church.

The Mens' Fellowship Breakfast is set from 7-8 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 5, in the church fellowship hall. The event will be sponsored by the Spanish Ministry.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

At 6 p.m., a new video series entitled "Principles of My Faith" by Dr. Charles Allen will begin. The lesson for this week is on "Prayer."

There will be a special hot dog supper for all youth of the church beginning at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. This will provide the young people an opportunity to get acquainted with Rodney Lehman, the new director of youth activities.

UNITED PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

The church, located at Ave. H. and Lafayette, will be celebrating its 16th anniversary with special services at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The Rev. L.L. Harris, pastor of the United Pentecostal Church in Texico, N.M., will be preaching. The Pastor Warren McKibben welcomes the public to attend.

The annual church picnic is planned at noon Sunday.

FULL GOSPEL BUSINESS MEN'S FELLOWSHIP

A tent revival, sponsored by the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship of Hereford, will be held Aug. 1-12.

Site of the revival will be at the corner of Park Avenue and Highway 385 beginning at 7:30 p.m. daily.

Different Christian bands and preachers will be featured every night.

Various denominations will be represented and everyone is invited. During the revival, a children's church will be held nightly at the St. Anthony Catholic Church gymnasium from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

for people with medical problems like arthritis and diabetes. It is also a good means of weight control for children and adolescents who don't get enough exercise.

Although walking does not require a lot of athletic gear, Dr. Levine emphasizes the importance of wearing the right pair of walking shoes.

"A walking shoe needs to be stable, functional and comfortable. The most important things to look for in a walking shoe are support and flexibility to insure protection and comfort," Dr. Levine points out.

Once you have a good, stable pair of walking shoes and have made up your mind to start walking regularly, there are a few things you should remember. Consult a physician before you start a walking program if you are over 45, have a medical condition or are seriously overweight. Eat a light meal one to two hours before walking to increase your energy. Remember to do warm-up and cool-down stretches to prevent injuries and even when things get hectic, make the time to walk. Use your lunch hour, walk with a family member before or after work or join a corporate walking program or a walking club.

Toastmasters meeting held

Hereford Toastmasters convened early Thursday morning for their regular meeting at the Ranch House Restaurant.

Lynn Cook gave the invocation and Joe Weaver presided over the business session. Cook served as timer while Weaver was toastmaster.

Word master Clark Andrews introduced the word "evolve". Larry Leon served as grammarian and Milton Adams was general evaluator.

"How to Create Your Own Ads" was the speech given by Bruce Hernandez. "Route 66" was the topic of Tom Weemes' speech, who was cited as best program speaker.

Chuck Danley was recognized as best evaluator.

Members present were Weemes, Cook, Rocky Lee, Adams, Danley, Andrews, Leon, Hernandez, Joe Walters, and Weaver.

Walking considered a natural sport

The solution to every exerciser's dilemma may lie in a good pair of walking shoes, 20 minutes a day and their own two feet.

Walking, once seen only as a means of getting from one place to another, has now become every man's and woman's exercise. Over 60 million Americans are walking for exercise; 65 percent of them are women.

"Walking has become so popular because it's a sport everybody can do. It doesn't require great athletic ability or fancy equipment and can be done almost anywhere and on your own time," says Dr. Suzanne Levine, clinical assistant podiatrist at Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City and noted walking expert.

Dr. Levine cites the physical and mental health benefits of walking. Walking.....

- Increases oxygen to muscles
- Increases circulation
- Burns an average of 100 calories per mile; once you exceed six miles per hour, you are burning more calories than you would if you were jogging.
- Raises the basal metabolism rate
- Builds muscle mass and firms muscles
- Increases lung capacity
- Strengthens bones
- Strengthens the heart muscle
- Helps control blood pressure
- Slows down the aging process
- Reduces stress
- Clears the head and stimulates creative thinking

According to Dr. Levine, there are simple ways to maximize the benefits of walking. She encourages her patients to use weights to increase caloric expenditure, swing their arms to raise the heart rate, make sure they can talk at their pace, walk with determination and think positive thoughts.

Dr. Levine recommends following the "H.A.P.P.Y." method of walking:

- Hold your head erect
- Abdomen tucked
- Press your shoulders down
- Press your pelvis in
- Y-step of walking-land on the outer border of the heel, then roll off the big toe

In order for walking to be an effective form of exercise, Dr. Levine says it is important to make sure that you walk three to four times a week. The ideal level of exercise for many walkers would be four to five mile walks, three to four times a week. But, remember to build up to this distance slowly.

Dr. Levine adds that walking is a particularly good form of exercise for people over 35 who hate to exercise, or can never find the time to do it and

NEW YORK (AP) - Cosmetics giant Revlon Group Inc. has elected former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to its board of directors, which includes actress Audrey Hepburn and Ann Getty, wife of oil heir Gordon P. Getty.

The cosmetics company announced Thursday that Kissinger will become the 14th member of the board and will serve an indefinite term.

Last month, the privately held company announced that former first lady Nancy Reagan had become a director.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 1-2 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 264,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics.

Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Health benefits studied

A study to determine the effectiveness of fish oil in preventing reoccurring blockages in coronary arteries is underway at Baylor College of Medicine's DeBakey Heart Center.

The three-year study will involve about 100 patients whose blocked arteries are cleared by balloon angioplasty, a technique in which a balloon-tipped catheter is pushed through clogged vessels, compressing the fatty plaque blockages.

Dr. Albert Raizner, a Baylor associate professor of medicine and a cardiologist with the DeBakey Heart Center, said study participants will be given 8 grams of fish oil daily for two weeks prior to undergoing angioplasty, and continue the daily doses while being monitored for six months. The patients will then be examined to determine what amount of restenosis, or reoccurring blockage, of the previously cleared artery has occurred.

Balloon angioplasty patients typically experience a 25 to 30 percent restenosis rate, Raizner said. But some research has indicated that fish oil may be effective in reducing this tendency.

Baylor is one of four centers conducting the National Institutes of Health funded study at The Methodist Hospital and other Baylor affiliated teaching hospitals. Researchers at the University of Massachusetts, Boston's Beth Israel Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital will also study about a hundred patients each.

Baylor will function as the core laboratory for analyzing arteriograms, or x-rays of the arteries, for all four centers, Raizner said.

Kyoto has numerous historical palaces, temples and shrines containing masterpieces of art, sculpture and landscape gardens. Among its attractions are the Golden Pavilion, the old Imperial Palace, the Hoganji and Sanjusangendo temples and the Heian shrine.

Ranked fourth among Japan's cities, Kyoto was the nation's only major population center to escape bombing during World War II.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My mother is 75 and in excellent physical health. She takes no medication but mentally she is losing it. She has become so absent-minded and confused it scares me. She puts things away and forgets where she put them. My brother and I once searched her entire house for her purse, which had all her Social Security money in it, after she "hid" it in the back of a closet.

She forgets everyday common words like bread. Milk is that white stuff I drink. She calls me by her sister's name. She sends birthday cards for anniversaries, calls a hand a foot and my Christmas card had my name and phone number on the envelope instead of the address. I went through her mail and her Social Security check was there and she did not recognize it.

These are only a few examples of what is going on. Mom will be very upset if she has to leave her home and I would like to see her live out her days there if at all possible. Can you send me a Health Letter that can help us get started on the right track?

DEAR READER: The story certainly sounds like dementia, which can be caused from many different things, the two most common being Alzheimer's disease and repeated strokes from disease of the arteries to the brain. This all-too-common pattern is very difficult for people to deal with.

You want to be sure what is wrong, to the extent it is possible to know.

That is why I would suggest you take your mother to see a specialist in internal medicine, another in psychiatry and one in neurology. Often the input from all three is necessary to be fairly certain what is happening.

After that evaluation, you can decide what is the best course of action. When possible, people with mental changes later in life do better in their familiar environment. But you need to be certain that the environment is such that they will not be neglected or be dangerous to themselves.

I am sending you Special Report 47, The Mind: Aging or Illness?, to help you understand what is simple forgetfulness, changes from aging and what represents a significant medical problem. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/47, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Would you please tell me about lecithin and what it is good for? I've heard it is good for your cholesterol, also your memory.

DEAR READER: Lecithin is a fat. It is connected to choline, which is important in forming acetylcholine used by the brain for brain physiology involving memory.

A recent study from the Netherlands reported in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition (Vol. 49, page 266, 1989) strongly suggests that there is no unique advantage in taking lecithin to lower the cholesterol level.

Rather, the fall in cholesterol reported in many studies is really just the effects of replacing saturated fats as found in animal fat with a polyunsaturated fat. Any dietary change that decreases saturated fat intake is apt to have a favorable effect on the total cholesterol level.

Lecithin is digested in the small intestine so what is absorbed into your circulation is not lecithin at all. You absorb fatty acids and choline. If you are choline deficient, there may be some benefits for memory. Otherwise it is not much help there either.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I'm 15 years old and I have a question about tampons. Some friends talked to their moms about it and were told it was OK and nothing to worry about. But we are still concerned. My mom and I disagree with my friends' moms.

Can a virgin who has never had penetration lose her virginity by using tampons? My mom and I think a tampon can do the same thing as would happen with sex. We would really like to know before making any decisions.

DEAR READER: Normally, the hymen consists of two folds of membranes at each side of the vaginal opening. Obviously there has to be a hole for normal menstruation to occur. When there isn't, the doctor has to make one for this purpose. The hymen can be very flexible or there may be no hymen at all. That has caused a lot of trouble when people have the mistaken idea that a woman must have an intact hymen to prove she is a virgin.

Yes, inserting anything can stretch the hymen to the point that it won't tear and bleed with the first intercourse. But a hymen that must be torn with the sex act often produces pain and spasm—a very poor way to start one's sex life. A number of girls have real trouble inserting a tampon because of a thick hymen band, which is best severed.

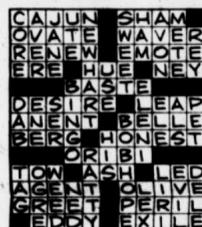

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.
