Allies streak through Iraqi skies

JERUSALEM (AP) - Iraqi missiles struck Israel today, the Israeli army said, in the fifth Iraqi missile attack on the Jewish state.

There were no immediate reports of injuries. Patriot interceptor missiles were fired in an attempt to knock out the Iraqi missiles, Israeli army spokesman Col. Raanan Gissin said.

Army spokesman Nachman Shai said "a few missiles" struck in "a few places" but provided no specifics. He urged Israelis to remain in sealed rooms with gas masks on in case the missiles carried chemical warheads.

Warning sirens sounded across Israel shortly after 6 p.m. (11 a.m. EST).

Reporters in Tel Aviv said they saw at least 10 streaks of light across the sky, apparently from the U.S.-supplied Patriot anti-missile batteries.

The reporters in Tel Aviv heard a series of at least three explosions shortly after the sirens sounded.

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) - Allied warplanes roared into clear skies today, redoubling their drive to destroy Iraq's military machine. But the Baghdad government insisted it is winning the war.

"The coming days will witness the defeat of the covetous invaders," Baghdad radio said today.

In Saudi Arabia, there was as much military traffic on the ground as in the skies. North-south and east-west highways were clogged with convoys of newly arrived U.S. forces and armor, some freshly painted in desert camouflage.

Dozens of fuel tank trucks headed north today to new desert fuel depots that will be needed to keep the helicopters flying and tanks moving.

U.S. Marines, meanwhile, were honing their amphibious assault skills for possible attacks on Iraq or Kuwait. American military officials refused to specify how many Marines were involved in the exercises in the gulf region, but said it was the largest amphibious assault force assembled since the Korean War.

Both the British and the French gave upbeat assessments of the war. The French military commander said today that Iraq's nuclear potential has been all but destroyed and its chemical arms potential reduced by three-fourths in more than a week of allied air strikes.

Gen. Maurice Schmitt also said Iraq's civil and military communications networks, anti-air defenses and Iraqi refineries had been reduced by three-fourths.

The British commander, Gen. Sir Peter de la Billiere, said "We are winning, and we're going to go on winning." But he added that his air force is switching tactics, from dangerous low-level raids on Iraqi targets to high-level bombing, after losing five Tornado bombers.

In the waters of the Persian Gulf, the allied fleet was more watchful than ever. On Thursday, two Iraqi Mirage F1s armed with Exocet anti-ship missiles were shot down by a Saudi F-15 as they swooped south along the Saudi coast. It was the war's first air-to-air kill by a Saudi pilot.

A Soviet report, meanwhile, said two top Iraqi commanders were executed by order of Saddam.

The Iraqi press attache in Moscow denied the report by the independent Soviet agency Interfax, which said the Iraqi president ordered the killings of the chiefs of the air force and anti-aircraft defenses.

In its report on the death sentence for the Iraqi commanders, Interfax cited sources in the Soviet Defense Ministry. The ministry, contacted by The Associated Press, denied the report.

However, diplomats in Baghdad have said some senior Iraqi military officers have not been seen for some time.

Sir David Craig, the British military chief of staff, was asked about the report. "I haven't actually seen the body strung up, so I can't myself confirm it," he said at a military briefing in London. "But we do have reports ... that Saddam Hussein has taken very abrupt action against those commanders who have not found favor with him."

An Iraqi resistance group said today that allied air raids have killed or wounded nearly 10,000 Iraqi troops, and that mutinies by some army units were likely.

The Kurdistan Democratic Party, a longtime opponent of Saddam's regime, said its sources in Iraq reported that military authorities were refusing to hand over the bodies of slain soldiers to their families for proper burial.

Instead, it said, the dead were being buried in mass graves to minimize morale problems on the home front.

Baghdad, meanwhile, was reported to be deserted, without electricity, communications or water and plagued by dwindling food supplies, according to refugees arriving in Jordan.

London's Independent newspaper quoted one, Indian electrical engineer Onkar Singh, as saying: "The city is in a complete mess."

In Washington, the White House said the war's duration will probably be measured in months, not weeks. While predicting that "in the final analysis, we will prevail," spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the United States expected Saddam's forces would win some victories along the way.

In the ninth day of the air war, waves of U.S. warplanes took off today in sunshine from a major air base at Dhahran, one of more than 50 airfields used by the allies in the Persian Gulf region.

Allied planes flew 3,000 combat and support sorties on Thursday, the most missions in a single day since the war began. Of the 15,000 allied sorties flown in the war's first week, about one-sixth were by the United States' coalition partners.

Two of those allies - Bahrain and Canada - made their combat air debuts on Thursday, and French planes struck inside Iraqi territory for the first time.

Iraq claims the allies have been hitting civilian areas, which the United States denies.

For those seeking to escape from Iraq, a primary route remained sealed. Iraq kept its border with Jordan closed Thursday for a second day.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says if you can't be grateful for what you receive, be grateful for what you escape.

There's plenty of room at the top, but you can't sit down.

We've often said that community effort is needed in seeking industrial development, and a success story from a small Iowa town serves as a perfect example.

The town of Shenandoah, Iowa, about 5,000 population, beat the odds by luring a manufacturer with 500 new jobs. It was done without slick brochures or high-priced public relations firms or consultants.

It was accomplished by hard work, but only after an alert citizen-not active in community leadership-passed on the tip to an industrial prospect.

The tip came from an 83-year-old retired school teacher who found out that the firm, a producer of windows and doors, was looking for a plant site. She found that out from her son-in-law who had come back home for a Sunday class reunion. On Monday, she went to the town's economic development director with the information.

The chamber man was told that the firm's six-week-old search was almost over, but he persuaded the company to delay a few days for a pitch from Shenandoah.

To show public enthusiasm and support, he got 250 people to pose before a high school football game, all waving friendly-like at the company. The photo was used as the cover for a data book. He told the company when they came to town, to bring back the book.

The company took the bait. "With that much interest, we felt we ought to take a look at them," said the firm's expansion project manager. Town leaders then pieced together some tax breaks and other financial incentives to keep them in the competition.

Shenandoah made the short-list of four. The town then organized a welcoming rally for the final, decisive visit. To avoid tipping their hand to rivals, high school students delivered leaflets to citizens.

The effort paid off when 40 percent of the town's citizens showed up to cheer the industrial prospect.

Just remember, a little town in Iowa landed 500 new jobs because of an alert citizen and a spirit of community cooperation. YOU could be the one to start such a project in Hereford!

Leaders fight statewide tax Budget may be frozen

AUSTIN (AP) - A plan by state leaders to replace local school property taxes with a statewide tax has drawn concern from school boards and some lawmakers.

The measure, which would require a constitutional amendment, could be on the May ballot if approved by lawmakers.

State leaders said Thursday the plan would be touted as the only alternative to a court takeover of the school system. The Texas Supreme Court twice has ruled the school finance system unconstitutional because of disparities in funding among school districts.

"I don't think voters react well to court threats," said Patti Clapp of Dallas, president of the Texas Association of School Boards. "This is a very dramatic change. It has a lot of far-reaching implications. How much more dramatic could the court decision be?"

Although the association has not taken a stand on the issue, she said, there are concerns about whether the change could affect community support for education.

State Rep. Jim Rudd, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said some lawmakers would like to see alternatives.

A number of legislators view a statewide property tax for schools as "so extreme that we might as well let the court write it, because the court couldn't give us anything worse," said Rudd, D-Brownfield.

Dallas lawyer Earl Luna, who represents a number of wealthy school districts, said he doesn't think the proposed constitutional amendment would be approved by voters.

Luna represented school districts that intervened on the side of the state when poor school districts challenged the school funding system. He said school districts with large populations that could lose money under the proposal might well oppose it.

"I'm not sure that they would vote to tax their property and send it (the revenue) somewhere else," he said.

Leaders said a statewide property tax would lower taxes paid for about 60 percent of Texans and raise taxes for 40 percent.

Richards said a statewide property tax wouldn't have been anyone's first choice a few years ago. But with an April 1 court deadline for action, it may be all that's left, she said.

Without dramatic change in the $14 billion-a-year school finance system, she said, "then we face the very likelihood that our school system is going to be run by the courts."

Richards said she, House Speaker Gib Lewis and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock have concluded that the statewide tax - as proposed in a bill by Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur - would be the only quick way of complying with the Supreme Court's latest ruling.

Parker's bill proposes abolishing local property taxes for schools and replacing them with a statewide levy of up to $1 per $100 of property value. The bill would allow local districts to levy an additional 25-cent tax if they choose.

Richards said that under the plan, the state would set the tax rate, collect the taxes and under a spending formula disburse the money to the various school districts.

Lewis said money probably would be sent out to schools based on attendance. That could mean some districts with very few students would have to consolidate.

"I think you'll probably see some consolidation attempt made ... probably the financial reality will bring it about a lot quicker than we can do it on our own," he said.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said he did not know whether there would be a provision to ease the impact on wealthy school districts that would lose school funds under the new system.

The speaker said he wasn't happy about the idea of a statewide tax but sees little other choice. He added that a statewide tax "is going to be a very, very difficult proposal to sell."

Budget may be frozen

AUSTIN (AP) - Budget leaders appear near an accord on a state spending freeze, and the caterwauling from special interests is almost deafening - in its silence.

Previous attempts to cut the state budget have produced dire warnings of closed nursing homes and curtailed services for the handicapped.

But this time, Gov. Ann Richards and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, in office less than two weeks, are saying, "Trust me." And apparently it's working.

"There's a basic trust in Mr. Bullock and Miss Richards that state agencies didn't have with (former Gov. Bill) Clements," said state Rep. Ric Williamson, D-Weatherford, vice chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Richards names rape victim to parole board

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards says her appointment of an assault victim to the board governing the prison, parole and probation systems opens a new era in state policymaking.

"Ellen Webb Halbert is a victim - a victim of violent and horrifying crime. And her voice on the Board of Criminal Justice will bring a dimension to that board that it has never had," Richards said.

Mrs. Halbert, 47, was raped, stabbed and beaten by an intruder in her Austin home in 1986.

"With this appointment today, the doors of our criminal justice system have been opened to those advocating the rights of victims of crime," Richards said.

The governor also appointed two other board members Thursday: Amarillo lawyer Selden B. Hale III, 53, who will chair the panel, and Beaumont contractor Joshua W. Allen Sr., 45.

Widow relieved truth is out

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) - Fifteen months after her husband was slain, Linda Parker says she is "glad the truth is out" but is too frightened to discuss the conviction of his killer or the threat on her own life.

"I'm relieved," she said Thursday night after a jury convicted rancher Doyle Parker of the October 1989 shooting death of his 42-year-old nephew Bruce Parker.

"It's been a long road. I know Bruce would be happy," she said.

The jury rendered its verdict against the stoic, reclusive 76-year-old defendant after 17 hours of deliberations conducted under the shadow of a bizarre threat against the victim's widow and growing concern over a mistrial.

"Logic and reason prevailed," said chief prosecutor Ron Sutton of Junction, who indicated he would not be inclined to leniency in today's punishment phase because of Parker's age.

"Advanced age does not give anyone the right to kill another," he snapped as he strode from the courthouse at nightfall Thursday.

Expressing his disappointment over the jury's decision, defense lawyer George Parnham of Houston insisted the evidence was "insufficient to sustain the verdict" and declared:

"The prosecutor (Sutton) said when he took on this case he was going to put Mr. Parker in jail for the rest of his life. I accepted that challenge. I am confident that won't happen..."

"If he goes to the penitentiary, I'll go with him."

Regardless, Senior District Judge Curt Steib instructed jurors to return today to deal with the punishment phase. Parker, an heir to a Hill Country ranching empire, faces a maximum of life in prison and $10,000 fine.

Prosecutors Sutton and Donnie Coleman maintained that "bad blood" existed in the pioneer ranching family for years and reached a deadly climax Oct. 29, 1989, when Parker gunned down his nephew during a confrontation on a remote country road in the heart of Parker ranchland.

He was the second of three Parker men to die by gunfire in a six-month span. One was an apparent robbery victim and the other was a suicide.

The younger Parker was shot once in the chest at close range and died on a scenic bluff overlooking the Little Devil's River where he and generations of other Parkers gathered for festive family reunions.

The site, called Big Rock, was Bruce's favorite, his widow said.

"It's been a long 15 months," Linda Parker told a reporter after sheriff's deputies escorted her from the courthouse to a waiting car. "God took care of this for us... I want to thank all the people who prayed that justice would be done."

The trial, which began Jan. 14, took on a grim new dimension at midweek when the sheriff's office here was notified by Gillespie County authorities of a threat against Mrs. Parker. It was she who appealed to Texas Rangers to look into the shooting after her husband's death was initially reported as a suicide.

According to the Gillespie County report, which cited a "supremely reliable source," Mrs. Parker would be shot down in the courtroom if the jury convicted Doyle Parker.

"I'm really rather frightened to talk about all that," Linda Parker said.

Armed guards searched and secured the courtroom and installed a metal detector at the entrance. When the verdict was announced, Mrs. Parker sat between her two stepsons, Bart, 25, and Benjamin, 14. Their hands were clasped.

At least four deputy sheriffs positioned themselves around the courtroom. There were no outbursts at the verdict, although at least 50 family members were in the courtroom, many of them in tears.

Rangers continue questions

GARRISON, Texas (AP) - Texas Rangers were questioning a third man today in connection with the slaying of a Nacogdoches County constable as friends and family prepared to bury the slain lawman.

Nacogdoches County Constable Darrell Lunsford, 47, was killed early Wednesday after he stopped a car on U.S. Highway 59 near Garrison in northeastern Nacogdoches County.

Lunsford unwittingly videotaped his own murder with a crime-scene camera mounted to his patrol car when he stopped a car with Maine license plates, apparently for weaving in between lanes, officials said.

Two brothers, Baldemar S. Villarreal, 29, and Reynaldo Sambrano Villarreal, 24, both of Edinburg, have been charged with capital murder in the slaying and ordered held without bond. The elder Villarreal was arrested Thursday, while the younger was arrested late Wednesday.

Vasek wins reserve honors

Breast cancer on the rise

NEW YORK (AP) - Rising breast-cancer rates and longer lifespans mean that one in nine American women will develop the disease - 175,000 new cases and 44,500 deaths this year, the American Cancer Society says.

"Every American woman should consider herself at risk," Dr. Clark Heath, the society's vice president for epidemiology and statistics, said in a statement.

The society had projected a 1-in-10 risk since 1987, based on data from the early 1980s. The new estimate released Thursday is based on federal figures for 1987, the latest available, said cancer society statistician Catherine Boring.

The society also released its annual projections, saying about 175,000 American women will get breast cancer this year and 44,500 will die from it.

Edward Sondik, the National Cancer Institute's deputy director of the division of cancer prevention and control, said the new projection changes the average woman's individual risk from 10 percent to 11 percent.

The difference is "not that great," he said, but "the bottom line is that there's no question that it's going up."

Plan retirement now

Is America's retirement fund running dry? Consider this: As the nation's population grows older, there are fewer young workers paying into the Social Security system. More withdrawals and fewer deposits means the money you're contributing now may not be available when you retire.

Time to start stuffing dollar bills into your mattress?

Not quite, says Gordon Evans, vice president and director of marketing for Boston-based MetLife-State Street Investment Services, Inc., the adviser and distributor of MetLife-State Street mutual funds.

According to Evans, you can still save for the future and receive added tax benefits through an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), or a 401(k) savings plan.

"The good news is that IRAs and 401(k)s have, for the most part, weathered the radical changes in tax laws that affected many investments, such as real estate," says Evans. "The key, however, is planning ahead."

IRAs: STILL A GOOD BET

Despite certain limits resulting from the 1986 Tax Reform Act, IRAs offer significant savings advantages. You don't pay taxes on investment earnings until you begin making withdrawals for retirement. By then, your tax bracket is likely to be lower. Over the course of 20 or 30 years, the savings from tax-deferred earnings could make your nest egg significantly larger.

Tax reform did, however, limit the IRA's appeal as a tax deduction is determined by your annual salary.

Tea parties popular

Here's refreshing news: In tens of thousands of households, hotels, stores, and offices across the country, tea parties and tea rooms are thriving.

Teas, both iced and hot, today are bringing people together from all walks of life—to mount campaigns, launch causes, do business, celebrate victories and enjoy each other's company.

In many circles, cocktail hours are giving way to tea time as more and more people forego heavy food and drink. Tea, after all, is refreshing, thirst-quenching, non-carbonated, all natural and contains no calories.

Heeding these hints from the experts at the Tea Council of the U.S.A. can help you brew hot tea that's truly terrific for all your hot tea parties:

- Be sure to start with a good, quality brand of tea.
- Use a tea pot.
- Bring fresh, cold tap water to a full boil.
- Use on teaspoonful of tea or one tea bag per cup. Pour boiling water over the tea or tea bag.
- Brew by the clock: three to five minutes and then serve.
- Follow these five steps and when it's tea time for you, you'll be all set.
- For more information, write the Tea Council of the U.S.A., 230 Park Ave., New York, N.Y., 10169.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) - Singer Billy Joel says he considered touring U.S. troop bases in the Persian Gulf before war broke out there, but military officials told him it might not be a good idea.

"We asked if we could go to Saudi Arabia, and they said: 'When are you thinking of going?'" Joel said Wednesday. "We said: 'Well, the best time for us would be the middle of January,' and they said: 'Don't come.'" The United States and its allies began war with Iraq on Jan. 16.

Joel is in Australia on his 16-month Storm Front tour, named for his triple-platinum album.

Yet even this may have a hidden benefit.

"Losing some of the tax deduction has forced people to refocus on the IRA as a retirement plan, not as a tax break," says Evans. "And you can still deduct up to $2,000 each year, provided you are not covered by a 401(k)s or other work-based retirement plan."

Unlike regular bank accounts, IRAs are not insured, but they can be funded with different kinds of secure investments, including mutual funds. "Historically, mutual funds are one of the most stable and productive long-term investments," says Evans. "That makes them ideal for a retirement portfolio."

401(k)-THE RISING STAR

In 1978, as the shortcomings of the Social Security system became apparent, the federal government authorized 401(k) plans to let workers set aside pre-tax retirement money.

Since then, the popularity of 401(k)s has skyrocketed. From 1983 to 1988, the number of employees participating in these employer-sponsored savings plans grew to near 16 million from 2.7 million.

A 401(k) plan allows you to save up to 15 percent of your annual salary—not exceeding $7,979—without paying state or federal income taxes. The earnings growth and tax advantages can be significant compared with other methods of saving for retirement.

In addition, 401(k)s allow employers to match a portion of your contribution, which can further boost your savings. Such "matched contributions" make 401(k)s very attractive for both employers and employees.

"For the company, matched funds and plan costs are tax deductible, making them a low-cost way to enhance the firm's benefits package," adds Evans. "Check with your company's benefits administrator to determine the level of matched contributions your 401(k) plan offers."

Keep in mind that IRA and 401(k) savings plans apply substantial taxes and penalties for withdrawing funds before retirement (age 59-1/2). That's the government's way of reminding you that you are investing for retirement, so just leave the money there and watch it grow.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am annoyed, irritated and just plain mystified. For the third time in less than a year, one of my husband's socks has vanished after having been tossed into the washing machine.

I know very well that I would never put one lone sock in the washer. A pair went in, so what has happened to the other one?

People write to you about every imaginable problem under the sun. You must have had this at one time or another. What did you say? -- Edna Anderson, Atlanta

DEAR EDNA: I have indeed been asked the question before, more than once in fact. The best response was not mine. It came from Nancy Drechsler of Hendersonville, N.C. This is what she wrote:

Mystery Solved
Oh Where, Oh Where is the Other Sock?

Is it under the bed, or caught in the casters,

Or clinging to the basement rafters? Trapped in the plumbing?

Stuffed in a shoe? In a darkened corner

Hiding from you? Have they gone to camp and returned alone?

Been kicked off, perhaps, by the telephone?

An argyle a starling's home, Striped sock found its way to Rome?

Perhaps there is an odd sock elf, Who takes them to some woody shelf.

But truthfully, I know their fate The dirty ones disintegrate.

DEAR NANCY: It's true. Old socks never die. They just fade away.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14 years old and have been reading your column since I was 10. Please settle something.

Why does broccoli have such a rotten reputation? Even the president of the United States has said publicly that he hates it. I think if the president knew more about broccoli he would change his mind. I did some research at the library and here are some facts:

Broccoli is about as perfect a food as there is. It is low in calories and has no fat. It is not expensive and can be found all year 'round, either fresh or frozen.

Please say a good word about this wonderful vegetable that has gotten such a bum rap. -- Richard R., Rochester, Minn.

DEAR RICHARD: Thank you for an unusual letter. I can't recall the last time I heard from a teen-ager in praise of a vegetable.

You will be pleased to know that I've always liked broccoli. I have it at home often, and when I eat out if it's not on the menu, I ask for it. I also like spinach, cauliflower and cabbage, but I hate rhubarb. And, please folks, don't send me any recipes for rhubarb pie. I can't stand it.

Gem of the Day: Always do the right thing. It will gratify some folks and astonish the rest. -- Mark Twain

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. Conservation discussed at Pioneer Study Club meeting

Catherine Gripp reviewed Murky Waters by Maria Goodavage, a Marine biologist with the Center for Marine Conservation in Washington, D.C., for members of the Pioneer Study Club recently at the Senior Citizen Center.

"Throughout history humankind has regarded the world's oceans with a reverence usually reserved for the gods," Gripp said. Now perseverance and new technology, especially the use of satellites, are allowing us to see them as never before. Recent discoveries have been more fantastic than biologist, or even science and fiction writers, could have dreamed. At the same time disaster threatens them.

A Marine biologist said, "We've been killing ocean life and trying to find it at the same time. On one hand, we're destroying our world, on the other, we're just starting to understand it."

Gripp spoke of the harm toxic waste and raw sewage was doing to wild life and fishing. Since 1985 Texas has been closing its shellfish beds about a dozen times a year.

The United States has begun to listen to warnings of the deep. In 1987 we became the 29th country to ratify an amendment to the Marine pollution convention that forbids ships and boats to dispose of plastics in oceans around the world. Legislators have enacted dozens of laws in the past three decades, since environmentalist like Jacques Cousteau raised our consciousness about the oceans.

"Someday, maybe even the most polluted shores will look like today's ocean sanctuaries," Gripp said. We'll be able to swim at any beach, then dine on our favorite seafood without fear of becoming ill. The seas will again be earth's most venerable resource.

Rosemary Thomas presided over the business meeting and gave the Federation report from the current G.F.W.C. magazine.

Willie Wimberly, memorial chairman, gave a memorial honoring

Fern Ford, and Mary Panciera reported on gifts for Veterans Hospital in addition to the Christmas fund sent in early December totaling $300.

The next meeting will be held at noon on Feb. 12 at the Caison House.

Panciera served as hostess to Mary Jane Burrus, Jeanee Caison, Nell Culpepper, Lonidene Edmonson, Maria Escamilla, Gripp, Oleta Hoffman, Billee Johnson, Gladys Miller, Fern Sigle, and Thomas.

Northcutt honored at meeting

Rosalie Northcutt was presented a certificate of appreciation from Special Olympians and a 1990 bar for her Good Sam Club Plaque during the recent Whiteface Good Sams Club meeting held at the Hereford Community Center.

The club made donations to the National Dogs For The Blind and National Special Olympians.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Flippins, Assistant State Director J.W. Jackson and wife Jessie.

Members present were Elmer and Norma Carlson, Northcutt, Bob and Ruth Morris, Leon and Mary McCuthen, Clyde and Catherine Russell, Delbert and Verla Bainum, J.E. and Virginia McCathern, Carl and Pauline Kropff, Ted and Juanita Higgins, and Clint and Dorothy Laundry.

DALLAS (AP) - Folk singer Sara Hickman signed an autograph for a police officer who handcuffed and arrested her after stopping her for an expired license plate, a newspaper reported.

Hickman was pulled over Saturday, the Dallas Times-Herald reported Tuesday. When the officer discovered an outstanding parking ticket, he handcuffed Hickman, whose new single is "I Couldn't Help Myself."

Once the officer, a Hickman fan, realized whom he had in custody, he removed the cuffs and asked for an autograph, the newspaper said. She complied, signing "Sara Hickman, jailbird."

"Thanks," the officer said, then slapped the cuffs back on.

The singer later was released on bond, Jackie Sanders of the Dallas County sheriff's office said.

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) - Actor Guy Madison, who portrayed television's Wild Bill Hickok, was in fair condition after eight hours of lung surgery.

"He's in the intensive care unit and they say he's doing fine," his publicist, Marla Capra, said Wednesday.

Madison, 69, underwent surgery Tuesday at the University of California, Irvine, Medical Center to repair lung tissue damaged in a 1988 auto crash, she said.

DeShaies inks deal

HOUSTON (AP) - Astros southpaw Jim DeShaies signed a one-year, $2.1 million contract with Houston, with bonus options up to $125,000, club officials said.

DeShaies, 30, who made $1.075 million during the 1990 season, sought $2.4 million going into arbitration hearings, and Astros officials offered $1.8 million.

The team and DeShaies reached the $2.1 million compromise Thursday.

The Astros will pay an additional $25,000 if DeShaies is selected for the All-Star team and an additional $100,000 if he wins the Cy Young Award as the league's best pitcher, $50,000 if he comes in second in Cy Young balloting and $25,000 if he is ranked third in Cy Young voting.

DeShaies, a five-year Major League veteran, joined the Astros in September 1985 in a trade from the New York Yankees.

DeShaies was 7-12 in the 1990 season with a 3.78 earned run average. He led the Astros' pitchers with 34 starts, playing 209.1 innings.

Witt signs BIG pact

ARLINGTON (AP) - The Texas Rangers will be paying up now that all the work they put into once-erratic righthander Bobby Witt has paid off.

Witt, who had a club-record 12-game winning streak last year when he went 17-10 after three straight losing seasons, on Thursday signed a three-year, $7.3 million contract with an option for a fourth year.

Witt, 26, said it was a good deal for him because of the security, and Rangers general manager Tom Grieve said it was a good deal for Texas because the club avoided salary arbitration in 1991 and free agency in 1992 for Witt.

"It's a deal that serves both parties well and that's what it's all about," Grieve said.

Witt's 12-game winning streak last year was the longest in the major leagues since Roger Clemens went 14-0 to start the 1986 season. Witt's 221 strikeouts were second-most in the AL behind teammate Nolan Ryan's 232. His 3.36 ERA was a career-best.

Overall, he is 56-52 with a 4.48 lifetime ERA.

Ohio State continues roll

By The Associated Press

You have to be impressed that Ohio State is unbeaten after 17 games. You have to be really impressed that the Buckeyes are 4-0 on the road in the Big Ten.

"People say you can't win on the road in the Big Ten, but I think it's a mental thing," Ohio State guard Jamaal Brown said Thursday night after an 80-70 victory at Minnesota.

"We like the road and play hard," said Brown, who scored seven of his 17 points in a 21-8 first-half run which put the game away.

Ohio State (17-0, 7-0) and top-ranked UNLV are the nation's only undefeated teams.

"We were expecting to do well, but we didn't know how well," center Perry Carter said.

In other games involving ranked teams on Thursday night, it was No. 3 Indiana 70, Michigan 60; No. 5 Arizona 78, Stanford 76; Oregon State 97, No. 11 UCLA 96 in double overtime; No. 15 Southern Mississippi 84, Louisville 81; No. 20 Utah 55, Colorado State 51; and No. 23 New Mexico State 88, San Jose State 58.

Mark Baker and Carter each scored 15 points and Jim Jackson added 13 for Ohio State.

Ohio State led 44-37 at halftime and opened the second half with a 18-8 run behind Carter's three baskets for a 62-45 lead.

Kevin Lynch led Minnesota (9-7, 2-4) with a career-high 27 points.

No. 3 Indiana 70, Michigan 60

Indiana (16-2, 4-1) was led by Greg Graham's 19 points, while Calbert Cheaney had 17. Michigan (9-8, 2-5), which was led by Demetrius Calip's 21 points, got within 49-48 early in the second half, but the Hoosiers dominated the boards the rest of the way.

No. 5 Arizona 78, Stanford 76

Sean Rooks scored with 1 second to play and the Wildcats (16-2, 5-1) prevailed in a see-saw game. Adam Keefe, who led all scorers with 29 points, was guarding Rooks closely but slipped on a wet spot as he made the winning basket. Stanford (10-7, 3-4) had a four-point lead with 2:25 to play, but Arizona tied it at 76-76 with 1:55 left. Chris Mills led Arizona with 18 points.

Oregon State 97, No. 11 UCLA 96, 2OT

Charles McKinney's short jumper with 7 seconds left in the second overtime won it for the Beavers

(11-5, 5-1), but Teo Alibegovic kept them in the game throughout with a career-high 34 points. UCLA (14-4, 3-3) was led by Tracy Murray with 28 points.

No. 15 S. Mississippi 84, Louisville 81

The Golden Eagles (12-1, 6-0) won for the first time ever at Freedom Hall despite missing the Metro Conference's leading scorer, Darrin Chancellor, who sat on the bench with his 21.6 average after a flareup of tendinitis in his right ankle. Clarence Weatherspoon still came through for Southern Mississippi in its 10th straight victory with 25 points. Louisville (7-8, 1-5) got within 80-79 with 1:17 left.

No. 20 Utah 55, Colorado State 51

The Utes (18-1, 7-0) won their 15th straight behind Josh Grant's 17 points. The Rams (9-8, 1-5) trailed 53-46 with 2:13 remaining and got within two when Grant stole the ball, raced the length of the court and dunked.

No. 23 New Mexico State 88, San Jose State 58

Chris Small scored all 15 of his points on 3-pointers as the Aggies (14-2, 6-1) led by as many as 35 points. Chad Higginbotham had 12 points for San Jose State (4-13, 2-6).

Becker beats McEnroe

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) - Reality caught up with Patrick McEnroe and the percentages overtook Stefan Edberg at the Australian Open today, putting Boris Becker and Ivan Lendl into the men's final.

The mystifying run of John McEnroe's kid brother ended in the semifinals, but not without a fight. He won the first set in a tiebreak and was on serve through eight games in the second before second-ranked Becker put away the world's 114th-ranked player, 6-7, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4, with the help of 23 aces.

"Fully expected," McEnroe said with a smile, when asked to describe an extraordinary two weeks in which he has established himself as more than just a doubles specialist - and just another McEnroe. "It gives me a lot of satisfaction to know that the hard work I've been doing has paid off. It makes me want to work even harder."

Edberg went much differently, but just as mysteriously. The world's top-ranked player blew two match points on a netted volley and a double fault in the 10th game of the fourth set and lost to two-time defending champion Ivan Lendl 6-4, 5-7, 3-6, 7-6, 6-4.

"Sometimes, it happens," said Edberg, normally one of the world's steadiest serve-and-volley players. "Some weeks you have problems doing certain things and the next week it's gone. It can happen, and it happened today."

Smith leads Rockets

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

An NBA aficionado would instantly recognize Akeem Olajuwon as the subject when words such as awesome are used to describe a Houston Rocket center.

But he'd be wrong this time. The man they're talking about these days measures up to the 7-foot Olajuwon in neither inches nor reputation.

He's 6-8 backup pivot Larry Smith, the smallest starting center - albeit temporarily - in the league. But he can rebound.

"The guy is awesome," teammate Otis Thorpe said after Smith had 23 boards in Houston's 118-94 victory Thursday night over Minnesota.

"I can't find the words to give him all the credit he deserves," Thorpe said. "He bangs and does all the dirty work."

Lakers 113, Hornets 93

James Worthy had 17 of his 24 points in the first quarter as Los Angeles took a 14-point lead.

The Lakers, who also got 19 points from Magic Johnson, made 58 percent of their shots. Reserve Kelly Tripucka led the third-year Hornets with 23 points and Dell Curry had 19.

Spurs 111, Cavaliers 103

David Robinson scored 30 points and surging San Antonio hit 13 free throws in the final three minutes.

Terry Cummings added 18 points for the Spurs.

Cleveland was led by Larry Nance with 32 points.

Nuggets 120, Knicks 117

Michael Adams scored 31 points as undermanned Denver overcame a strong game by Patrick Ewing.

The Nuggets played with just nine men after Walter Davis was traded to Portland and Terry Mills to New Jersey. Greg Anderson, obtained from New Jersey in a three-way trade also involving draft choices, had not arrived.

Super Bowls make superstars

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Superstars make Super Bowls and Super Bowls make superstars.

Which of the many headliners on the Buffalo Bills and New York Giants will make the difference in Sunday's game? And what players seeking the spotlight will be catapulted to stardom by the NFL championship game?

It happens all the time. In the last two years, Joe Montana and Jerry Rice - you don't get any bigger than that - made the Super Bowl their personal showcases. For 24 years, the Bart Starrs, Joe Namaths and Mean Joe Greenes have stamped their styles on the game on the way to the Hall of Fame.

The game itself has been a starmaker, too. Terry Bradshaw's greatness became apparent at the big show. Phil Simms soared to a higher level. John Taylor became a high-profile figure.

"Everybody in the world who is a football fan is watching," said Bruce Smith, Buffalo's ascendant star. "Have a big game here and you've got it made."

Bills such as Smith, Jim Kelly, Thurman Thomas, Cornelius Bennett and James Lofton already have made it, on the field and in the minds of the public. So have such Giants as Simms (out for this game with a foot injury), Lawrence Taylor, Mark Bavaro and Everson Walls.

At the most critical times, those are the names to remember, the players to look for.

"When you're a high school player, it's something you always dream about when you put on the pads for the first time," Thomas said. "You always watch teams in the NFL and you always dream about being in a situation like this for the first time."

Pressure situations obviously don't bother any of the 90 players who will be on the Tampa Stadium field Sunday. Otherwise, they wouldn't be here.

But some respond more emphatically than others, which earns them their exalted status. Others just as responsive simply don't have the reputations yet.

For them, the Super Bowl can provide the stage. For Darryl Talley or Dave Meggett, for Pepper Johnson or Andre Reed, superstardom could be just a tackle or touchdown away.

Reed is at the same career juncture as San Francisco's Taylor, recipient of the winning TD pass in the 1989 Super Bowl. His credentials are impeccable - indeed, he is the most dangerous receiver in the AFC. His clippings have not kept up, though.

He seems to know why. And how to fix it.

"All year, we've been saying to ourselves that we can play with any team," Reed said. "Everyone says the NFC is the so-called tough conference, with teams like the 49ers, the Giants and the Eagles. Those are the teams that are the so-called bulls.

"We felt if we could play with them, we could play with anyone. Now we feel we're playing not only for ourselves, but for the whole AFC."

Reed is playing to establish more than the Bills as NFL champions. Even though he is no household name, his praises have been sung by his peers. Is it time for everyone to join the chorus?

"I think Andre Reed's the best," Rice said.

"Everybody talks about Jerry Rice, but I'll stick with Andre," Kelly said. "I'm not saying that because he's part of my team. The guy is just unbelievable."

Giants QBs prepared

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Starting quarterbacks don't like anyone getting on their case in the middle of a game. Jeff Hostetler is no exception.

But he makes an exception for Matt Cavanaugh. Hostetler actually appreciates the comments.

Cavanaugh is someone few people probably will notice in Sunday's Super Bowl against the Buffalo Bills unless either the game gets out of hand or Hostetler gets hurt.

And then the New York Giants offense will fall into hands of Cavanaugh, a career backup who understudied for Joe Montana and Randall Cunningham during portions of his 13-year career.

"I didn't get a chance to play in the '84 game or take a snap," Cavanaugh said of his Super Bowl season with the San Francisco 49ers. "I'd love to get a chance to take one in this game. But we'll see what happens."

Until last weekend, Cavanaugh hadn't taken a snap in a game all season. Then, suddenly, in the NFC title game against the 49ers, he was the Giants' quarterback.

Hostetler was hit on his left knee by a diving Jim Burt, just after letting go of a pass.

As the Giants' team physicians examined Hostetler, Cavanaugh headed to the huddle. He remembers leaning over and looking at the offense.

"The first thing I told them was 'We're going to win this game,'" Cavanaugh recalled Thursday.

Cavanaugh lasted three plays. A handoff on first down, an incompleteness on second and a sack on third. The pass play was actually a good call and tight end Howard Cross was open, but the toss was too high.

Hostetler returned to the game on the next series and Cavanaugh went back to charting the game.

"Matt is a guy who has seen it all," Giants coach Bill Parcells said this week. "He has tremendous experience. He's played behind Montana and he's worked very hard in helping Jeff. You have to respect him. He can say some definite things to Jeff a coach can't say."

Cavanaugh has said them, Hostetler said.

The funniest thing may have been just when Hostetler was about to return to the 49ers' game in the fourth quarter with the Giants trailing 13-9.

"Now that I've loosened them up, go in and beat them," Cavanaugh reportedly said, according to a team member who asked not to be identified.

Cavanaugh said he may have said something like that. He also has more than once asked Hostetler why he threw a certain pass one way instead of another. Or he has been more direct and said a pass should have gone a certain way.

"When you last as long as I have, unless you're an idiot, you gather information," Cavanaugh said.

Reich fine with role as backup

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Frank Reich doesn't have his Disney World speech rehearsed.

You know, the one where the winning Super Bowl quarterback is asked what he's going to do next, turns to the camera and says, "I'm going to Disney World."

Reich, the Buffalo Bills' backup quarterback, doesn't think he'll play Sunday against the New York Giants.

But back on Dec. 15, when Jim Kelly sustained a knee injury in the earlier meeting between the teams, some thought that if the Bills did make the Super Bowl, Reich would be the man at the helm.

"Yeah sure, I tried to prepare myself mentally for the long haul, like I was going to have to be playing in this game and hoped I would be able to play in this game," Reich said Thursday. "But certainly, I just felt that was the proper thing for me to do at the time."

Reich felt he didn't have a very good game after he replaced Kelly against the Giants.

"Definitely, the most trouble I had was against the Giants," he said. "I had a great defense and we were protecting a slim lead so I was trying to be really careful and conservative."

Reich was 8-for-15 for 97 yards in the game, and the Bills held on to win 17-13.

His biggest game came the next week. With the AFC East title and home-field advantage in the playoffs at stake, Reich threw two touchdowns in a 15-for-21, 234-yard performance that ended with the Bills beating Miami 24-14.

Soviet troops shot at cars, six detained

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. (AP) - Lithuanian officials today said the Soviet military detained six people after soldiers wounded one person while shooting at two cars passing a military convoy in the secessionist republic.

Also today, neighboring Latvia was in a state of mourning for five people killed in a nearly 2-week-old Soviet crackdown in the Baltics.

A rally and funeral in the capital Riga were planned today for the five, who died Sunday when Soviet troops temporarily seized the republic's police headquarters.

Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, with all 15 republics having declared some form of sovereignty, has taken or threatened measures aimed at preventing secession. However, he denies having ordered attacks by Soviet troops in the two Baltic republics since Jan. 13.

Late Thursday, the Lithuanian government said Soviet military activity increased in the capital Vilnius.

"Posts are being set up on the streets, and patrols are on the move," according to a statement read on Lithuanian radio, monitored in London. "They are stopping vehicles, and people are being stopped and searched on the streets."

Rita Dapkus, a spokeswoman for the Lithuanian parliament, said the shooting took place Thursday evening on the main road from Vilnius, the Lithuanian capital, to the republic's second city Kaunas.

The two vehicles involved were a police car and a car with a Lithuanian government driver and a government accountant, she said.

As they attempted to pass the armored cars, the soldiers opened fire. "Fleeing from the car, one of employees, the accountant, escaped and returned to the parliament building with a gunshot wound to his leg," Ms. Dapkus said.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the soldiers had been fired on first, but government spokesman Audrius Azubalis denied it.

Four Lithuanian security officials were sent to retrieve the car and Soviet soldiers detained three of them, Ms. Dapkus said.

Three British journalists were briefly detained as they attempted to report from the site of the shooting. After their release, they said an additional three Lithuanians were in the truck taking them to the military barracks, Ms. Dapkus said.

On Thursday, Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis accused Soviet troops of kidnapping two draft-age students, and he condemned the military occupation of two buildings on Wednesday.

Landsbergis alluded to Gorbachev's statement Tuesday that there would be no more military assaults in the separatist Baltic republics.

Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, forcibly annexed by Moscow in 1940 after being independent between the wars, want independence from the Kremlin.

Reformers failed to push a resolution past the Supreme Soviet legislature Thursday that would have condemned Soviet military attacks in Riga on Sunday and in Vilnius a week earlier that have claimed 20 lives.

Also in Moscow, reformers in the legislature of the Russian republic failed to win approval of a resolution condemning recent Soviet military attacks in the secessionist Baltic republics to force them back into the fold.

Gorbachev has denied advance knowledge of the Jan. 13 Soviet tank assault on the main Lithuanian broadcast facility, which claimed 14 lives, and attacks in Latvia this month that have left a total of six people dead.

The U.S. Senate on Thursday passed a resolution 99-0 condemning the crackdown and asking President Bush to consider economic sanctions if it continues. The vote came a day after the House unanimously passed the same measure.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Country stars George Strait, Kathy Mattea and Clint Black will be hosts of the 26th annual Academy of Country Music Awards show to be telecast live April 24 from Los Angeles.

The show, honoring the elite in country music, will be broadcast by NBC from the Universal Amphitheatre.

Rev. Valdez ordained

The Rev. John H. Valdez, center, was recently ordained as a Catholic priest. Jonny Cloud, left, deacon at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, and Robert Busch, master of ceremonies for the Diocese of Amarillo, participated in mass services held Sunday.

Rev. Valdez ordained as Catholic priest Saturday

The Rev. John H. Valdez was ordained Saturday by Leroy T. Matthiesen, bishop of the Amarillo diocese of the Catholic Church, at St. Laurence Cathedral in Amarillo.

Valdez, whose family lives at Southland, graduated from West Texas State University in 1984 with a bachelor degree in elementary education. He taught one year in the Groom public school system.

In the fall of 1985 he entered Assumption Seminary in San Antonio, and later spent his one year internship at St. Anthony's Church. During that time, he assisted teaching at St. Anthony's School, visited the sick, conducted communion services at Golden Plains Care Center and led other parochial activities.

Valdez returned to the seminary in August of 1989 to complete his fifth year of theology studies. He was ordained in May of 1990 at St. Anthony's as a deacon in transition.

Rev. John's first assignment will be to serve as parochial vicar at Immaculate Conception Church, Perryton, under the direction of Father Hector Madrigal, who also served the Hereford church in 1988-89. Monsignor Orville Blum, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, is a member of the diocesan vocation team, a group of four priests who direct and counsel the seminarians of the Amarillo diocese.

Following the Mass Sunday, St. Anthony's Women's Organization hosted a pot-luck luncheon in Rev. Valdez's honor.

Hints from Heloise

PAPER BAGS

Q. To help recycle paper grocery bags, I have started using them to hold trash. Invariably, someone will put wet peels, eggshells or coffee grounds into the bag, which causes it to break. Any ideas? — Elva Gates, Silver Springs, Md.

A. Hang a plastic grocery bag with handles on a kitchen drawer knob and put all the wet trash into it. Or do as many do and place an open plastic foam egg carton in the bottom to absorb "yuckies." — Heloise

SOUND OFF

Dear Heloise: Whatever happened to a little courtesy? When a salesperson is busy, it would be polite to say, "I'll be with you in a moment" instead of ignoring the customer. It would make a world of difference! — Marisa, San Antonio, Texas

Perm tips from hair stylist

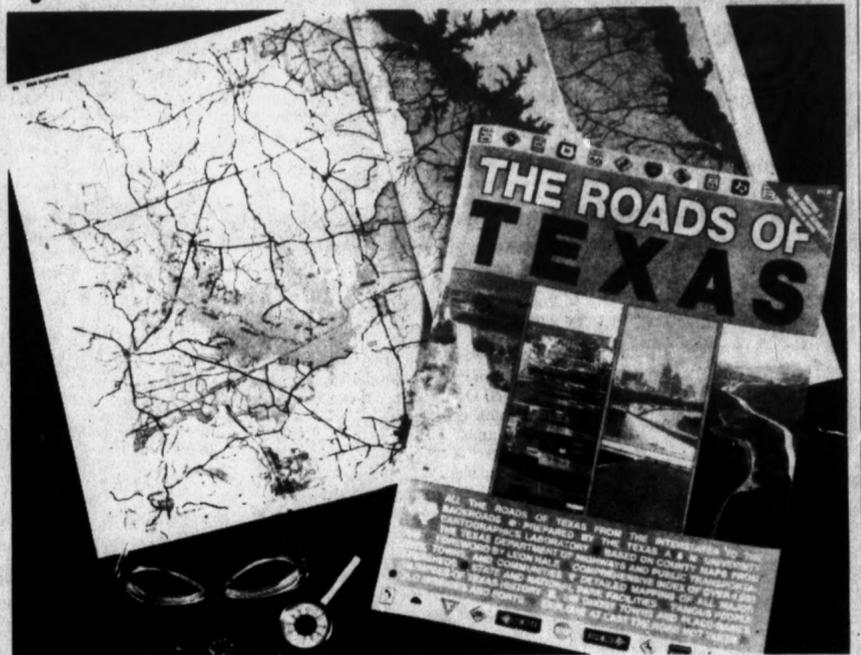

PERM WAYS

-If you color and perm your hair, perm first, wait a week and then color.
 -When you color, select one shade lighter than the color you want. Perm hair is more color-absorbent.
 -Take the guesswork out of timing, with a self-timing home perm.
 -Use large rods for soft curls; avoid the tiniest diameter rods; they bend the hair too sharply and can cause breakage.
 -Roll the rods in the direction that the hair grows so that your curls have natural flow and movement. Contrary to popular opinion, you can style hair permed this way to go in any direction you choose, and it will be more responsive to styling.
 -After rolling, place plastic hair picks or toothpicks between hair and the rod fastener to avoid ridges or bumps in the curl.
 -Use shampoo and conditioner made by a perm company to be sure that it's been formulated for processed hair. The best conditioners rinse out cleanly, and don't leave any residue to weigh down curls.
 -When you feel the curl is fading, trim off the ends of your hair to restore it to its "naturally" curly state.

WATER WAYS

-Rinse hair well before shampooing. Many hair styling aids are water soluble and will rinse right out. When hair is thoroughly wet first, your shampoo works better, you need less, and it lathers up more completely.
 -Don't worry about lathering the ends of your hair. Even if your hair is long, the ends will rinse clean as the shampoo and water work through. Concentrate on cleaning your scalp.
 -If you shampoo in the shower, bend over so that the water pummels the underside of your hair, not the top, to keep the fullness in your curls.
 -Rinse hair thoroughly following any chemical process, even shampooing. It's impossible to over-rinse!

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.
 This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

JUDAS ISCARIOT, THE BETRAYER OF JESUS, WAS THE ONLY MAN AMONG THE ORIGINAL TWELVE DISCIPLES WHO DID NOT HAIL FROM GALILEE. THAT HE WAS STRONGLY DISLIKED FROM THE OUTSET BY THE OTHERS IS APPARENT FROM THE VERY WORDS OF JOHN (JOHN 12:6). JUDAS WAS THE TREASURER OF THE GROUP—HOLDING THE BAG WAS THE EXPRESSION THEY USED—DENOTING THAT HE RECEIVED ALL GIFTS AND MONEY CONTRIBUTIONS FROM THE PUBLIC, PAID FOR ANYTHING THE GROUP MIGHT NEED (FOOD, CLOTHES, ETC.), AND DISPENSED MONEY TO THE POOR, ALL IN JESUS' NAME. BUT JOHN SPOKE FOR ALL OF THEM WHEN HE SAID JUDAS WAS A THIEF WHO DIDN'T CARE FOR THE POOR AT ALL, BUT CARRIED THE BAG OUT OF HIS LOVE FOR THE MONEY THAT WAS IN IT AND THE SENSE OF POWER AND IMPORTANCE IT GAVE HIM!

WHY HE BETRAYED JESUS HAS ALWAYS BEEN A CONJECTURE OPEN TO LENGTHY DISCUSSION. SOME HAVE SAID IT WAS PURELY HIS GREED FOR THE THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER, OTHERS MAINTAIN IT WAS OUT OF ANGER AT THE REBUKE HE RECEIVED FROM JESUS... (JOHN 12:1-8). ANOTHER THEORY IS THAT JUDAS, ALWAYS ANXIOUS AS TREASURER TO GET MORE MONEY, SAW AN EASY CHANCE TO ENLARGE THE TREASURY WITH NO REAL DANGER TO JESUS—FOR HE REASONED THAT THE SON OF GOD COULD COMMAND LEGIONS OF ANGELS TO RESCUE HIM WHENEVER HE WISHED! BE THAT AS IT MAY, ONCE THE DEED WAS DONE AND THE COLD LIGHT OF REASON REVEALED TO JUDAS THE ENORMITY OF HIS CRIME, HE REPENTED IN A FRENZY OF DISPAIR, HURLED THE BLOOD MONEY BACK AT THE PRIESTS AND RUSHED OUT AND HANGED HIMSELF!

LEGEND SAYS THAT THE TREE ON WHICH JUDAS HANGED HIMSELF (SINCE CALLED THE JUDAS TREE) WAS THE LOVELY REDBUD TREE, A FLOWERING ORNAMENTAL SHRUB WHICH CAN ATTAIN HEIGHTS OF FORTY FEET!

NEXT WEEK: A SOUTHERN QUEEN—WHO WAS WISE!
