Two injured

Officers and emergency personnel prepare to transport one of two victims of a major traffic accident which occurred at 9:20 a.m. today on Park Ave. near West Park Cemetery. James W. Witherspoon, 1712 Plains, received neck, back and hip injuries while Debra Parker, 120 Quince, suffered multiple lacerations to her face and a badly broken ankle, it is learned from the investigating officer. Witherspoon was admitted to Deaf Smith General Hospital. Parker was to be transferred to Amarillo sometime today.

Newcomer reception Saturday

Hereford-area newcomers will be treated to a reception and a tour of points of interest in Hereford on Saturday.

The newcomers' committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will host a reception for new families at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Senior Center.

The event will also include a look at points of historical interest and some of Hereford's leading industry.

The public is invited to attend the reception, said Keith Ann Gearn, chairman for the event, to welcome new Hereford residents and to participate in the tour if they choose.

The tour will include Arrowhead Mills at 2:30 p.m., M&W Carrot/Lifesprouts at 3 p.m., and Hereford Feed Yard at 3:30 p.m., the old prisoner of war camp and chapel at 3:30 p.m. and the Deaf Smith County Museum at 4 p.m.

Margie Daniels, director of the Hereford Senior Citizens Association, will give a glimpse of the group's activities and plans and a look at Hereford as a future retirement center.

Hereford's car dealers will be providing transportation for the newcomers, and anyone else who would like to take part in the tours is welcome.

Newcomers who have not yet been contacted by the newcomer committee should call the chamber office at 364-3333.

An added incentive for attending the reception is a "test" for anyone who would like to participate. The person with the most correct answers on the 12-question test will win $50 in Hereford Bucks. The answers should be submitted at the reception at 2 p.m. on Saturday. The test questions appeared in last Sunday's Brand.

reception at 2 p.m. on Saturday. The test questions appeared in last Sunday's Brand.

Pre-tour tour

Watkins sees N-waste battle

WASHINGTON (AP) - Energy Secretary James D. Watkins is bracing for stiff resistance to his plan to store radioactive waste from a Colorado nuclear weapons plant in several states until a permanent dump is completed in 1990 or 1991.

"People are going to say, 'Not in MY state,'" Watkins told Congress on Thursday.

The retired admiral suggested he would propose in a private meeting next week with state governors that seven states share the waste-storage burden in the interest of keeping the crucial Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant operating.

Watkins told the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee a permanent waste repository in New Mexico would not be ready to open by March, when Colorado's unilaterally imposed waste storage limit is expected to be reached.

Thus, temporary storage sites must be found by March 1 or Rocky Flats could be forced to close. The 364-acre plant near Denver is a vital link in the nation's nuclear arms complex because it is the only maker of plutonium triggers for warheads.

Watkins said he had not decided which states to approach. The most likely candidates include Colorado, Idaho, New Mexico, Nevada and Washington, which have some of the department's main weapons facilities. The two other nearest states with nuclear weapons sites are Texas and California.

Radioactive waste equivalent to 49 boxcar loads - about 4,900 cubic yards - would have to find temporary storage over the next two years, he said. The amount could be even greater if further delays are encountered in completing the Waste Isolation Pilot Project near Carlsbad, N.M.

The New Mexico repository was scheduled to open a year ago but has been hampered by a series of environmental, technical and regulatory problems.

Eddie Binder, a spokesman for New Mexico Gov. Garry Carruthers, said the governor's position had not changed.

"There's no way I'll accept any other waste than what is already in this state for temporary storage," Carruthers said two weeks ago.

The waste is contaminated with plutonium, which remains radioactive for 240,000 years, and is generated at the Rocky Flats weapons plant. The plant recovers plutonium from retired nuclear weapons and reprocesses it to make triggers for new ones.

Idaho had been storing part of the Rocky Flats waste, but Gov. Cecil Andrus closed his state's borders Sept. 1 to further shipments to protest the Energy Department's failure to open the $800 million Waste Isolation Pilot Project.

Watkins said he had received a letter from Washington Gov. Booth Gardner that said, in essence, "Don't look my way." He added later, however, that he had received "some informal indications" from unspecified states that they might consider dropping their opposition if a multi-state agreement was reached to spread the waste burden.

Jim Bakker still maintains he's innocent

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Jim Bakker maintained his innocence and said he was "sad but encouraged in God" after a jury found the PTL founder guilty of using his television ministry to bilk followers of $158 million.

"I went into this courthouse several weeks ago saying I was innocent of the charges against me," a smiling Bakker said after posting bond Thursday. "I come out still innocent of the charges against me. I put my faith in God."

But the jury foreman said money corrupted Bakker, who prosecutors said took $3.7 million in ministry funds and spent it on vacation homes, Rolls-Royce and Mercedes cars and unusual luxuries like an air-conditioned doghouse.

"He was called by God. But eventually the money became too much for him," said Ricky Hill, who said during jury selection that he was a Christian. "We kept looking for something from the defense and we never saw it."

Bakker faces up to 120 years in prison and $5 million in fines for his conviction on all 24 counts of fraud and conspiracy. He was charged with raising $158 million by overselling lodging guarantees, called "lifetime partnerships," at his Heritage USA retreat.

"The message is you can't lie to the people and use television and the mails to get them to send you money," said prosecutor Deborah Smith, a Justice Department fraud specialist. "It doesn't matter who you are or how well known you are, you simply can't do it."

Bakker's attorney said he would appeal the verdict.

"We've lost a battle, but we'll win the war," lawyer George T. Davis said. "There was so much negative pretrial publicity that he was unable to get a fair trial in this community."

Bakker took off his glasses and stared straight ahead as the verdict was read. His wife, Tammy Faye, sat quietly behind him; her eyes welled with tears.

Outside the courthouse, Mrs. Bakker serenaded a crowd of hundreds with a verse of "On Christ, the solid rock, I stand. All other ground is sinking sand."

Then she said, "It's not over till it's over."

Later, U.S. District Judge Robert Potter released Bakker on $250,000 bond after expressing concerns that his followers might try to help him flee the country.

"They think he can walk on water," he said.

Potter, known as "Maximum Bob" for handing out tough prison terms and fines, scheduled sentencing for Oct. 24.

On his release, Bakker waded through a crowd of reporters to a waiting white Cadillac and said: "I feel sad but encouraged in God."

The Bakkers plan to return to Orlando, Fla., where they moved their ministry. Bakker will be required to meet with his probation officer daily.

Trial testimony showed PTL paid $265,000 to Jessica Hahn to cover up a 1980 sexual encounter with Bakker that led to his resignation from PTL in 1987.

"I'm sorry I don't have a song to sing like Tammy but I know this is God's amazing grace," Ms. Hahn said after the conviction.

Prosecutor Smith called Bakker "the government's star witness," saying his fraud had been preserved on videotapes of "PTL Club" broadcasts in which Bakker appealed for $1,000 donations in exchange for yearly stays at the retreat and theme park near Fort Mill, S.C.

The government said more than 152,903 partnerships were sold between 1984 and 1987 when Bakker had only 258 rooms available, and partners testified they were able to use their lodging benefits.

Final freedom train goes West

HELMSTEDT, West Germany (AP) - A train carrying hundreds of East German refugees rolled across their homeland to the West today, a day after a similar exodus was disrupted by thousands trying to board the freedom trains.

Authorities said a train carrying the 633 refugees, some chanting "Deutschland!" pulled out of a train station in Warsaw, Poland, late Thursday on a journey through Poland and East Germany to West Germany.

Those aboard had crowded West Germany's embassy in Warsaw in hopes of joining more than 46,000 East Germans who have made their way through Hungary, Czechoslovakia or Poland since mid-September.

West German radio and television reported early today that more East Germans had entered the embassy in Warsaw. "The number at the embassy is not yet known," the radio reported.

The ZDF television said the would-be emigres "heard the train had left, and are also hoping to emigrate."

The journey comes as East Germany, deeply embarrassed by the exodus, begins two days of celebrations marking the communist country's 40th anniversary.

Among those flying in to attend the festivities is Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who is expected to ask East Germany's aging hard-line leaders how they plan to handle the westward flight that is draining much of the East Germany's work force.

Poland contributed two extra cars to a six-car East German train sent to carry the refugees to West Germany, which grants them automatic citizenship and helps them start new lives.

The train left Gdansk Station in northern Warsaw Thursday evening, and West German railway officials said the train had crossed into East Germany by early today.

Freedom trains that left Czechoslovakia brought 7,600 East Germans to the West Thursday after a trip plagued by delays and disrupted by a riot in Dresden. East Germany, witnesses said.

West German officials have not said whether they overestimated how many East Germans would join the exodus from Czechoslovakia's capital of Prague, having initially cited a possible figure of 10,000 to 11,000.

In Prague, 200 East Germans left the West German Embassy late Thursday and headed home with promises from their government of legal emigration within months. Sources said about 10 East Germans still were inside the mission.

Czechoslovak police used riot police to seal off the embassy from more East Germans. East Germany restricted travel to Czechoslovakia earlier this week.

Police investigate burglary

Electronic equipment, jewelry, tools and other items with a total value of $728 were taken in a burglary of a motor vehicle in the 400 block of Palma Lane. That theft took place sometime between 10 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Other incidents investigated by the Hereford Police Department since Thursday morning were:

A report of a discharge of a firearm in the 700 block of Baltimore; criminal mischief in the 200 block of Northwest Dr.; disturbing the peace in the 600 block of Irving; and a second burglary of a motor vehicle in the 200 block of Ave. D with a juvenile suspect in that case.

Arrests made by city officers were:

A man, 24, for no liability insurance (second offense); a man, 26, for no liability insurance (second offense) and no driver's license; a man, 30 for no liability insurance (second offense), no seat belt and failure to display driver's license; and a woman, 41, for no liability insurance (second offense) and no seat belt.

City police issued 17 citations and investigated one minor accident.

Deputies arrest two

Arrests made by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office were a man, 33, on a warrant for theft over $20 and under $750, and a man, 25, on a warrant for violation of probation.

County officers investigated one report of theft of service. That incident involved a customer who drove away from a local business without paying for gasoline. The individual returned to pay after being reminded of the oversight by a deputy.

Warmer Saturday

Tonight will be partly cloudy and cool with a low of 45. East-northeast winds will be 5-10 mph.

Saturday will be partly sunny and a little warmer with a high near 75. East winds at 5-15 mph will become southeast by noon.

This morning's low at KPAN was 50 after a high Thursday of 82. KPAN recorded a trace of rain for the past 24 hours.

Stepping out

Members of the Hereford High School Drill Team go through a routine during halftime at the Hereford-Palo Duro game on Sept. 15 in Amarillo. The drill team and band will perform at halftime at tonight's game at Pampa.

Brady: they're off and running

BRADY, Texas (AP) - Horsemen appeared more concerned with a nepotism rule, but the Texas Racing Commission warned about track safety as G. Rollie White Downs prepared to usher in the return today of pari-mutuel wagering in the state.

Racing commissioner Glenn Blodgett said the panel gave the track the go-ahead to open after he and inspectors walked around the complex Thursday morning and ordered a last-minute repair along parts of the inside back stretch.

Soil from the nearby infield had been removed, causing a troublesome slope that could affect horses' footing, Blodgett said. Material to pack down soft areas was being brought in, and workers would be attending to the problem areas Thursday night and this morning, he said.

Despite his warning, horse trainers said they were not worried about their animals' safety.

"I haven't seen anything to be concerned about," said trainer Jim Hodges of Bandera, who works with several horses. "The track's going to be slow because it's been so dry here."

Kenneth Farquhar, part-owner of the thoroughbred Devilkin, said he was not worried either.

"I don't think there's anything wrong with it. I've galloped horses all around it," he said. "I ain't got but a $450 horse."

Mel Pugh, the other owner of Devilkinn, said he and his partner do look out for their horse's safety even though his purchase price was low. "But we're not worried about the condition of the track," Pugh said as he petted the large gray thoroughbred.

Horsemen were, however, complaining to Blodgett and his staff about a state racing nepotism rule.

Meanwhile, presiding track steward Roy Manfredi said he had told the approximately 40 people affected at G. Rollie White Downs that only one of the family members could participate this weekend.

"It's not fair," said Hodges, whose son, Jamie, works the horse gate at the track. "We know what we're doing. We've been training horses for years."

Hodges said other states where his family races have no such rules and said both he and his son were planning to take part as planned at the Brady track.

Smith urged the trainers and jockeys to circulate petitions opposing the rule and said he believes the commission will change the regulation, which he claimed has been taken out of context.

"As long as we've got some communication between the commission and the horsemen, there's nothing that can't be worked out," Smith said, attempting to calm the trainers and jockeys.

John Hendley, track marketing director, said workers would be at G. Rollie White Downs throughout the night Thursday to have it ready to open.

"What we're trying to do now is just make it safe for everybody and get it cleaned up," he said. "Everybody's worked so hard for so long. They realize we're already to that point that we've been trying to get to."

Blodgett said track officials had yet to build a horse treatment area, isolation barn and a covered area for the horse ambulance. Also, the clubhouse was not complete and was not expected to be ready for opening weekend and a panning video camera stand was not ready.

Workers also were trying to finish the men's and women's restrooms, and Hendley assured they would be ready for use today.

"They felt like they could get ready, and we didn't want to deny them that right to try," Blodgett said. "It's not going to be perfect, but it's going to be adequate."

Only standing room spots were available for today. Hotels in cities as far as 50 miles away were booked with race-goers.

Pari-mutuel wagering is making its return to Texas after a 52-year absence. Voters brought it back in a statewide referendum in 1987.

G. Rollie White Downs and Manor Downs near Austin sought and received the first legal racing day. However, Manor Downs announced it would not be ready in time to begin today.

Because it is the first to open in Texas, track officials say, the estimated 4,500 opening day crowd is coming from all over the state.

Child care bill passes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Backers of a $22.7 billion child-care package say the bill will increase the availability and quality of day-care for Texas children, but opponents claim the federal government will instead be trying to manage programs around the state.

"There's no question that it's going to vastly improve day-care availability and quality," said Rep. Jim Chapman, a Sulphur Springs Democrat, after Thursday's vote approving the plan.

"The bill we passed will provide 60,000 more day-care slots in Texas - that's 60,000 mothers potentially that we can get off welfare. That is a worthwhile goal," Chapman said.

But Rep. Charlie Stenholm, a Stamford Democrat and author of a substitute bill defeated on a 230-195 vote, said the plan that passed would result in federal management of day-care centers.

Under the bill, day-care centers receiving federal aid would be subject to federal regulation.

Stenholm's bill, however, would have let states retain their regulatory authority over child care, and would have cost $5 billion less.

If the bill that passed the House becomes law, Stenholm predicts the impact on Texas day-care centers will be "very negative. ... A lot of the state and local people will be saying you did it to us again."

"The bottom line is that the federal government doesn't have a good track record in running programs at state and local levels," Stenholm said.

But Chapman said that if the federal government is going to send billions of dollars in aid to the states, "I see nothing wrong with having some type of minimal standards that will apply to those that get the funds."

Rep. John Bryant, a Dallas Democrat, said he believes the bill that passed will result in much more available day-care to lower-income Americans, "who in many cases are forced to let their children wander the streets after school."

"It will result in some assurances that child-care centers are going to be safe places for their children while they go to work," Bryant said.

Chapman said Texas already has in place standards that will meet every test of the bill, except the requirement that day-care workers have 15 hours of training.

"I don't think that's such an onerous provision. I would hope people working in day-care centers would have two days of training."

All eight Texas Republicans voted for Stenholm's proposal, along with the author and Democratic Reps. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, Marvin Leath of Waco, and Bill Sarpalius of Amarillo. The state's 14 other Democrats rejected the plan.

Rep. Joe Barton, an Ennis Republican, said Stenholm's proposal "left a lot of flexibility" for parents and day-care centers, and gave states more discretion in setting day-care regulations.

The child-care package that was approved, as part of an $11 billion deficit reduction bill, is "very strict" and contains many federal mandates, Barton said.

"If it actually becomes law, we'll be right back here next year doing with day care what we did on catastrophic - repealing it," Barton said, referring to the House's vote Wednesday to repeal the catastrophic insurance for the elderly.

Sarpalius said he favored Stenholm's plan because it targeted only low-income children for participation in Head Start, while the plan that passed would also allow middle-income children to attend the child development program.

"My feeling is we need to target the poor kids. The whole purpose of the day-care bill was to encourage mothers to work, to get off welfare and social programs and one incentive is to provide day care, and you've got to target the poor families," Sarpalius said.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Rev. Lanny Wheeler, chaplain at King's Manor Retirement Home, will be the guest preacher Sunday. His sermon title is "Radical Faith." The scripture readings are Jer. 38:2-6, Heb. 12:1-2, 12-14 and Luke 12:49-57.

The senior high youth will meet at the church from 6-7:30 p.m. Sunday for supper. Cost is $1 per person. The program will be led by Scott Simpson.

One or more volunteers are needed to help check and bring up to date the church records. For those interested in assisting, call Jim Cory.

The photography dates for the pictorial directory are Oct. 26 and Nov. 24-25. Those who have not reserved their times to be photographed may do so Sunday after worship.

WESLEY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The public is invited to all services at the church: Sunday school begins at 10 a.m.; morning worship service, 11; and evening worship service, 7 p.m. Choir practice is held at 6 p.m. each Sunday where members are preparing for the Christmas special.

There will be a church dinner at noon Oct. 8 and a board meeting at 8 p.m.

The United Methodist Women will meet at 7 p.m. Oct. 11.

The United Methodist Women will have a salad supper at 7 p.m. Oct. 25 and there will be a conference at 3 p.m. Oct. 29.

The new church hymnals were published this year and they were donated to Wesley Church in memory of the following: Anthony Brown, Ambruse and Nancy Allen, Minnie Dell Hudgens, O.R. Sanders, Bill Frank, Frances Guyones, Wilbert (Dub) Hayes, Ole T. Larson, Lucille Kemp, Juanita Janssen, and Artie and Mae Hare. Seventy hymnals were furnished through donations for these given as memorials.

Donations of uncrushed aluminum cans are welcome and may be left at the church or the parsonage at 409 Brevard. You may also call a church member or the pastor to have the cans picked up.

Members of the U.M.W. are sponsoring their annual Arts and Crafts Show Dec. 2 at the Hereford Community Center.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school children at the church will be studying about Martin Luther and the Reformation during October. Teenagers and adults will view the movie "Martin Luther". This will be shown in two parts, the first being shown Sunday. Because of the length of the movie, everyone is asked to come to Sunday School before 10 a.m. The public is invited to view the film.

The regular morning worship will start at 11. The sermon, taken from Luke 17:11-19, will be entitled "A Thankful Heart."

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Young members of the church who assist in the services as acolytes will be recognized Sunday morning in the worship at 10:55. Those who served the past year will receive certificates of appreciation and new members of the group will be introduced.

Girls and boys of the fourth through sixth grades volunteer for this service to the church. Some of the acolytes take part in the morning worship each Sunday, and assist at special services through the year. Camille Williamson and Peggy Cooper are the acolyte mothers this year.

Added to the group this fall are Nicole McWhorter, Kyle Moody, Justin Landrum, Kristen Williamson and Elizabeth Cooper.

Those who will receive certificates Sunday are Kari Barrett, Mere and Chelle Denton, Cassie

Abney, Krista Beville, Lauren Caviness, D.J. Warrick, Jeffrey Higgins, Dusten Cardinal, John Stevens, Andrew McElroy and Jeffrey Lambart.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

Youth Rallies with Tommy Burchfield will be held at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the church. There will also be meetings for all youth pastors, youth workers and partners of youth at 10 a.m. Saturday. Burchfield will minister at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday.

The church is located at 15th and Whittier.

For additional information call the church office at 364-8866.

JV leads Herd charge

The Hereford Whitefaces held their own version of a football tournament Thursday, playing five home games on three fields against freshman, sophomore and junior varsity opponents from Dumas, Tulia and Pampa.

In three 5 p.m. games, the Herd sophomores defeated Tulia JV, 22-6, at Whiteface Stadium, the freshman Maroon team beat Tulia, 21-6, at the Junior High Field and the freshman White "A" squad was tied, 20-20, by Dumas at the South Field. The freshman White "B" fell to Dumas, 8-6, on the South Field while the Herd JV trounced Pampa, 40-0, at the Stadium.

Herd JV 40, Pampa JV 0

The Herd junior varsity ended a three-game losing streak in its first game of the year against a Class 4A JV opponent.

Larry Brown led the Hereford charge with 155 yards rushing on 26 carries as the Herd outgained the Harvesters, 443 to 101. The Herd utilized 10 different ball carriers to pile up 404 rushing yards.

Hereford opened the game by marching to the Pampa 14-yard line before fullback Moses Diaz lost the handle on the ball to end the drive.

Pampa gained more than half its first-half yardage on the following possession, moving 26 yards before being forced to punt. Wingback Dusty Weatherly gained 20 of those yards on one play for the Harvesters' only first down of the half.

Hereford then moved 55 yards to the Pampa 25 as the first quarter ended, and Amado Lopez' 43-yard field goal attempt on the first play of the second period fell short.

Diaz suffered a knee injury on the second play of the drive and missed the rest of the contest. JV coach Stan Carter said Diaz' condition was uncertain pending an examination.

The Herd finally got on the scoreboard two possessions later after a short punt gave Hereford the ball on the Harvester 38. Jesus Gonzalez got the touchdown from four yards out and Lopez added the conversion kick.

Gonzalez, who finished with 80 yards on 12 carries, added another four-yard score the next time the Herd had the ball. The 39-yard drive was set up by another short punt into a stiff breeze.

Pampa elected to take the wind in the second half, but the Herd kept the ball for more than eight and-a-half minutes of the third quarter.

Quarterback Chris Blair capped off the first drive of the half with a one-yard sneak set up by Brown's 35-yard run.

After forcing another Pampa punt, Hereford went 68 yards in 14 plays, eating 6:09 off the clock. Blair connected with Art Almond from 19 yards out on fourth and 15 for the score.

Max Mungia set up the Herd's fifth touchdown when he blocked Andy Cavalier's punt on Pampa's next possession. A late hit in the scramble for the ball put Hereford in business at the Pampa 10.

Blair hit Lopez on the first play of the fourth quarter for the score. Blair finished the night with three completions in six attempts for 39 yards and two touchdowns.

Hereford's final score came when Brian Bentley bolted 44 yards up the middle of the Harvester defense to cap a 56-yard drive. The drive was kept alive when a Pampa defender ran into punter Jerry Hardisty on the Herd's only punting attempt of the half.

Herd sophs 22, Tulia JV 6

Tailback Leo Brown sparked Hereford with 191 yards rushing on 32 carries and three touchdowns as the sophomores won their fourth straight game against a junior varsity team.

The Herd opened the game with a 48-yard drive with Brown covering 44. Brown got the score on a 17-yard run.

Brown added his second score on the next drive, gaining all 53 yards and scoring on fourth and goal from the Hornet 1-yard line. Quarterback Clay Wallace hit Matthew Reiter for the conversion to give the Herd a 14-0 lead.

The Herd shot itself in the foot on its next three possessions, losing fumbles at the Tulia 3 and 44 and having a pass intercepted at the Tulia 10 as the half ended.

Hereford's problems continued in the third quarter when Hornet defensive tackle Julian Olague intercepted a swing pass from Ben Perry and rumbled 35 yards to the Herd 9.

Tulia need four downs to score its only points of the game as Israel Ramirez hit Mark Bullard on a halfback pass from the 10.

A shanked punt on the Herd's next turn with the ball set the Hornets up at the Hereford 31. A 14-yard pass from Steven Rossi to Chad Barnett gave Tulia first and goal at the 6, but the Herd defense stiffened allowing only two yards in four downs. Hereford allowed the Hornets 81 total yards for the game.

Brown finished the scoring with a 27-yard run to top off an 81-yard drive in the fourth quarter and took the conversion pass from Perry.

Frosh Maroon 21, Tulia 6

The freshman Maroon team made a 21-0 halftime lead stand up to maintain its undefeated record at the Junior High Field.

Tailback Chris Brummett opened the game by gaining all 89 yards of the Herd's first drive, scoring on a five-yard run.

Quincy Curtis added the next score on a nine-yard run to end 10-play, 55-yard march in the second quarter.

Brummett added a one-yard touchdown to finish Hereford's scoring. Richard Sanderson kicked all three conversions for Hereford.

The Herd defense kept Tulia off the board until the final minute of the game, stopping five Hornet drives with turnovers. Linebacker Eric Sims, cornerback Eric Self and defensive end Joel Gayton gathered in fumbles in the first half and Sims added a pair of third-quarter interceptions.

Frosh White "A" 20, Dumas 20

Coach Joe Cabezuela's squad split into "A" and "B" units to take on Dumas teams in games at the South Field.

Tailback Petey Colvin ran for two scores and passed to Michael Ramirez for another as the White fought to a draw for the second time this season.

Greg Coplen took a pass from Chad Sandoval for the tying conversion points while Leonard Martinez intercepted a pass and Clay Cantrell recovered a fumble to halt the Demons on potential game-winning drives.

Dumas 8, Frosh White "B" 6

Lupe Mendez scored Hereford's only points on a 15-yard run in the second half in a game shortened to 30 minutes because of darkness.

The loss was the first suffered by a Hereford freshman team in 12 games this season.

SAW SON ON TV

TORONTO (A) - Toronto Blue Jays pitcher Xavier Hernandez talked about the first time his father saw him pitch in the big leagues.

"He's a mailman in Texas," Hernandez said. "The game was on television, and he passed a house which had the door open and the game on. He asked the lady of the house if he could come in and watch. He would watch me make a few deliveries, run and drop off some letters, and then come back to see more of the game."

Crunch time

Hereford Whiteface sophomore defenders Lewis Zepeda (42), Santos Liscano (77) and Cody Whitfill (30) gang up on Tulia running back Jimmy Casillas Thursday during the sophs' 22-6 win over the Hornet JV as referee Walt Davis prepares to blow the play dead.

Whiteface netters take 10-8 decision from CHS

The Hereford Whiteface tennis team ran its winning streak to seven matches Tuesday with a 10-8 road win over Canyon.

Hereford took eight of nine girls matches while winning two in the boys' bracket.

"It went about like I expected," Coach Luis Zavala said, "our girls against their boys."

"I got a little nervous after we lost one in the girls, but then I saw how well some of our boys were playing."

The competition featured a professional team tennis scoring format in which the first player to win eight games (if ahead by two) takes the match.

"I prefer the traditional best-of-three sets," Zavala said of the format, "but you have to play by the home team's rules."

Walker nixes trade to Minnesota

IRVING (AP) - With few marketable players to use for bargaining to acquire fresh talent, the 0-and-4 Dallas Cowboys have tried to trade All-Pro running back Herschel Walker, according to published reports.

Walker rejected a trade Thursday that would have sent him to the Minnesota Vikings for "a slew of draft choices," officials said.

The Cleveland Browns also expressed interest in trading for Walker, but the running back's veto of the trade to Minnesota apparently silenced talks with other teams as well.

The Vikings sought Walker's approval of the trade, even though he doesn't have a no-trade clause in his contract with the Cowboys, because he has talked frequently about retiring from football.

Rumors of a possible trade of Walker to the Vikings swirled Thursday, but Cowboys owner Jerry Jones, head coach Jimmy Johnson and Walker refused to confirm them.

"I can't comment on that at all. You've got to tell me who tells y'all that stuff," Walker said after Thursday's workout.

Johnson was asked if it were possible that Walker could be traded. "I guess you could say nothing is completely out of the question," he said.

Meanwhile, a Cleveland executive said that team is interested in Walker now that fullback Kevin Mack has been jailed on a drug conviction.

"We have expressed interest and made an inquiry," Browns executive vice president Ernie Accorsi said Thursday night.

Mack was sentenced Tuesday to six months in prison after he pleaded guilty in August to a drug abuse charge.

Walker, 27, left the Cowboys' offices at Valley Ranch early Thursday morning and did not return until lunch. Walker said he had to take care of "personal business," and reportedly talked about a possible trade with agents Peter Johnson and Ralph Cindrich.

Johnson said Walker was excused from the morning meetings.

An unidentified "NFL executive who spoke Thursday with Vikings general manager Mike Lynn" said Lynn told him the tentative deal with the Cowboys was for "a slew of draft choices."

Reports early in the day regarding a potential trade of Walker revolved around Minnesota players Joey Browner and Darrin Nelson. Browner is an All-Pro safety who is seeking a $1 million contract, and Nelson has been the Vikings' leading rusher the past four seasons.

"Are there ongoing discussions?"

Yes. Have I had discussions with Dallas? Yes. Is there a deal? No," Lynn said.

Prior to the Cowboys' afternoon workout, Johnson called the trade reports "a rumor," but did not deny that Dallas and Minnesota officials had talked.

Jones also declined to deny that the Cowboys and Vikings had talked about a trade.

"Basically, there was no deal," Jones said. "I can't even say there was a deal at a conceptual level. It just never was on the table."

Cubs even NLCS with 9-5 victory

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants are even - in number of routs, number of ace pitchers clobbered and in number of victories in the National League playoffs.

After an embarrassing 11-3 loss in Wednesday night's opener, the Cubs came back with a vengeance, beating the Giants 9-5 Thursday night to square the best-of-7 series at one game apiece.

Just as the Giants had battered Chicago's 19-game winner, Greg Maddux, in the opener, the Cubs pounded San Francisco's 17-game winner, Rick Reuschel, in Game 2. Chicago scored six runs in the first inning, then ended any San Francisco hopes for a comeback when Mark Grace doubled home three runs in the sixth inning.

"We got beat good last night," Manager Don Zimmer said. "It looked like we didn't belong on the same field with them. But the series is tied and we're 7-7 (for the year) with them."

The next three games will be played at San Francisco's Candlestick Park, beginning Saturday.

Jerome Walton opened the game with a single on Reuschel's first pitch. Before the 40-year-old veteran knew what was happening, Ryne Sandberg tripled, Grace doubled, and Luis Salazar and Shawon Dunston each singled. That finished Reuschel. Kelly Downs relieved, and Cubs starter Mike Bielecki tagged him for a two-run single.

It was the biggest first inning ever in the National League playoffs, topping the five-run first by Pittsburgh against Los Angeles in 1974.

"No problems, other than they kept hitting whatever I threw," Reuschel said. "I threw a couple of good pitches. They hit the good ones and a few of the bad ones."

Ironically, Bielecki didn't last five innings and the victory went to reliever Les Lancaster.

Bielecki gave up a two-run homer to Kevin Mitchell in the fourth. It was the second in the series for Mitchell, who led the majors with 47.

Then came the fifth. With two on and two out, up stepped Will Clark who had homered twice, including a grand slam, and driven in six runs in the opener.

Out came Zimmer. In a similar situation Wednesday night, he had stayed with Maddux, who gave up Clark's grand slam.

This time, Zimmer went to the bullpen for left-hander Paul Assenmacher, who retired Clark on one pitch.

"That's one of the toughest decisions I had to make," Zimmer said of replacing Bielecki. "Here's a guy who won 18 games and needed one out to get the win but I had my mind made up when he walked (Robby) Thompson."

Assenmacher didn't retire another batter, as Mitchell and Matt Williams each singled opening the sixth. In came Lancaster. Pinch batter Ken Oberkfell flied to center as both runners advanced, but Lancaster fanned Pat Sheridan and got pinch hitter Ernest Riles to fly out to end the threat.

"That was the turning point for us," Lancaster said. "The big out was the strikeout. It was a big lift for all of us."

The Cubs wrapped it up with Grace's base-clearing double off Craig Lefferts in the sixth. That blow negated Williams' two-run homer in the eighth and a solo shot by Thompson in the ninth.

Giants manager Roger Craig said Reuschel "got the ball up and got hit."

"He's funny that way. Either you will get to him quick or he'll go seven to nine innings. He has struggled his last two times out. He said he's not tired, but we're going to talk to him."

A's, Jays hit SkyDome

TORONTO (AP) - The Toronto Blue Jays have more to worry about than whether their dome is closed.

The Blue Jays trail the Oakland Athletics 2-0 in the best-of-7 American League playoffs. There's been a lot of talk about Toronto's 10-0 record when the roof is closed over the SkyDome stadium. But playing with or without a ceiling isn't the problem.

The problem is Oakland's Rickey Henderson.

"The roof is so high that I don't even notice if it is open or closed," said Jimmy Key, who pitches against Oakland's Storm Davis tonight in Game 3. "I am concentrating on other things when I am on the mound. The only thing you will notice on some days when the roof is open is a little more wind."

AL president Bobby Brown decided earlier this week to close the roof for tonight's game, and will decide later whether to open it for the other weekend games. The forecast is for afternoon highs in the 50s, so it could go either way.

"Some do prefer it closed," Toronto's Kelly Gruber said Thursday.

"You seem to get a purer form of baseball when it's closed. It makes for a true game of baseball. You are able to see the pitches better. I prefer it closed."

The Blue Jays were 24-19 in the SkyDome with an open roof. They were 2-0 in games in which the roof was closed after play had begun.

"I liked the other place better," Davis said of Toronto's old ballpark. "I pitched well in Exhibition Stadium. I pitched once in the dome. The ball carried well that time."

And how. Key and Davis pitched against each other in the dome on July 13 and Oakland won 11-7. Davis gave up seven hits and four runs in 3 2-3 innings. Key allowed eight hits and nine runs in 4 2-3 innings.

"I've had good games against them and bad games against them," Key said, "just like any other club."

Key, a left-hander, might be tougher to steal off of than righties Dave Stieb and Todd Stottlemyre, Toronto's starting pitchers in the first two playoff games. The Athletics have 10 stolen bases in the series, seven by Henderson.

"Jimmy Key has an excellent move," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "But Rickey is probably the best baserunner I've ever seen."

Henderson was the center of attention Thursday in an escalating war of words. Toronto catcher Ernie Whitit was angry that Henderson stole second without a slide in the seventh inning of Game 2.

Henderson said he didn't slide because there wasn't any throw. Whitit said Henderson tried to show up the Blue Jays. Oakland manager Tony La Russa took exception to Whitit's comments.

"If he's taking it personal and he's embarrassed, he's a fool," La Russa was quoted as saying in a Toronto newspaper. La Russa said Thursday he did make the statement and then defended his team from Toronto's attacks.

Gruber, Toronto's third baseman, was upset with Henderson and with outfielder Dave Parker, who took a slow trot around the bases after hitting a home run in Game 2.

"I don't particularly care for the hot dog type," Gruber said. "It sort of makes me want to get some vengeance. It's sort of like rubbing salt into the wound. I believe that you play hard and try to win with grace."

Gaston, however, had no complaints about Oakland's behavior.

"Dave has been doing that for a long time," he said of Parker's trot. "That's nothing new."

Raiders set for Aggies

LUBBOCK (AP) - They've been tied up like a goat and beaten up, been forced to take their medicine and still have a lot of fight in them.

Now, Texas Tech Coach Spike Dykes says, the Red Raiders have to play a perfect football game.

Tech's opponent Saturday is 19th-ranked Texas A&M. If the contest is like the previous five played in Jones Stadium in Lubbock, the game will be close.

Three of the past five Tech-A&M games in Lubbock have been decided by one point: 21-20 Tech in 1979, 24-23 A&M in 1981, 28-27 A&M in 1985. Tech won 3-0 in 1983 and 27-21 in 1987.

Dykes and Aggie Coach R.C. Slocum prefer not to dwell on A&M's 50-15 rout of Tech last year in College Station, Dykes because it's too depressing and Slocum because it could make the team overconfident. Slocum remembers the 1987 game as the team's only Southwest Conference loss that season.

"They've usually already played some good teams," Slocum said in explaining why he thinks the games in Lubbock have been nail-biters lately. "They've always had a good crowd there, and they just outplayed us in the games we lost."

Both teams go into Saturday's game with 3-1 records, but the Aggies have won their sole conference game, against Texas Christian two weeks ago. Tech lost its conference opener last week at Baylor.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here is a partial payment for all the good advice I have received from your column over the years. It's what I have learned from living and I hope you will share it with your readers. - Oakland Admirer

DEAR OAK: There's a lot of wisdom in that little essay. My thanks to you.

How to Have a Good Relationship with Your Adult Children

Don't press for more phone calls or visits. When you don't hear from your children for a while, it is a healthy sign that they are functioning more independently and more successfully. Many parents would dearly love to be free of tearful phone calls, requests for money and cries for help.

Don't try to find out every detail of your children's lives and don't ask questions about finances, in-laws, family planning, promotions at work, etc. If something happens that they're happy and excited about, they will share it. If it's something they're not happy about, they won't appreciate you bringing it up.

If your children need your help they will ask for it, unless, of course, you are the kind of parent who says, "I told you so."

Let your children go. You have nurtured them and educated them.

The best gift you can give them now is freedom. Give them wings. They owe you their gratitude and their respect. That is all.

Your parents raised you and you repaid the debt by raising your children. They will repay you in kind by raising theirs. This is the natural rhythm of life and it has been the same since time immemorial. It is part of a Grand Design.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am, by choice, a stay-at-home mother. I love being here with my child. Money is tight and we cannot afford many extras, but the time with my child is worth it.

I have two beefs. Please don't ask me when I am going back to work. I never quit work, I just changed jobs. And please don't say to me, "Don't you get bored being at home?" Raising a child is a difficult job filled with pitfalls and challenges (and rewards), but it is never boring.

I know many mothers must work outside the home to support their families, while other choose to do so to maintain their own well-being or to sustain a certain standard of living. I respect their choices. All I ask is that they respect mine. Sign me -- Happy at Home in Pennsylvania

DEAR HAPPY: Well said. You will bless you. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you gave your readers the impression that Hawaii was the healthiest state to live in. Wrong, Ann. In spite of those statistics, if you are in poor health in Minnesota, moving to Hawaii will not do a darned thing for you.

Fifty years ago when TB was a serious killer, physicians sent their patients to Arizona and New Mexico because the climate was warm and dry. Many of those patients died out West, which tilted the statistics unfavorably for those states. The same can be said of Florida. Older folks (and sick ones) go to Florida to escape the icy blasts up north, so on paper it looks as if Florida isn't a very healthy place to be. Please be fair and make this point. -- An Orlando Native

DEAR NAT: Right you are. Many people die in a certain state moved there sick.

France surrendered North Vietnam to the Communists in 1954.

According to Albert Einstein: "Science without religion is lame; religion without science is blind."

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN.
1 day per word	14	2.80
2 days per word	24	4.80
3 days per word	34	6.80
4 days per word	44	8.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set to word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: A year and a half ago I started an aerobic exercise program and a diet. I weighed 185 pounds. I'm 5 feet 6 inches. I exercise three to four times per week for an hour each time. I limited my diet to 800 to 1,000 calories daily. I lost 25 pounds in four months. I'm not presently following that strict a diet, but I am careful about what I eat and have continued my aerobic classes.
Despite this, I have been unable to get below 160 pounds for the past year. My goal has been to lose 20 more pounds, down to 140. I gain back 5 to 10 pounds and can lose back to 160 but no more. I have read that you can lose weight by exercising and not dieting. I find it hard to believe that 160 is my ideal weight. I'm very healthy and am 43 years old. I don't like being this large.

DEAR READER: Many people have a misconception about what they should weigh for good health. They confused what is supposed to be good looks with good health.
Diet and exercise are both important in achieving and maintaining your proper weight. You can consume so many calories that it is almost impossible to eliminate excess body fat with exercise. But if you eat a sensible, balanced diet without an excess of calories and exercise properly and regularly, your body will adjust to your proper weight, unless you have a medical problem.

The rapid weight loss at the beginning of a program is usual. Stopping losing weight after you have begun to reach your proper weight is normal. The longer a person continues a diet, the less effective that diet is. The energy system shuts down so you can survive on fewer calories. Exercise turns on your energy system so you lose calories.

You might see a dietician to review your eating habits. And you might do better with a daily exercise program. But if you use a diet that provides too few calories for the level of exercise you are doing, you will lose energy. And if you fail to get the calcium you need because of a strict diet, you will accelerate the bone loss that occurs for a 10-year period around the menopause.

Hints from Heloise

EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBERS

Dear Heloise: Paste or tape emergency phone numbers to the bottom of each phone in your house. They will be out of sight but never be out of place or get lost this way. — Mayland Harriman, Port Arthur, Texas

BATHROOM CARPETING

Dear Heloise: For several years we had carpet in our bathroom. To ensure a perfect fit, we made a brown paper pattern to fit the entire bathroom floor and used it as a tracing and cutting pattern on the back side of the carpeting.

The carpeting fit nicely since all the mistakes were made on the pattern before the carpeting was cut. Just remember to reverse the pattern when laying it on the back side of the carpeting. — Marian White, Indianapolis, Ind.

NEEDLE AND THREAD

Dear Heloise: Here is a smart sewing tip that I would like to share with you and your readers.

When getting ready to put in a hem by hand, instead of threading just one needle, thread two or three at the same time.

When you run out of thread on one, you can pick up another one and keep on going without having to stop and thread another needle. — Lois Sampson, Rapid City, S.D.

MINIMIZE IRONING

Dear Heloise: To cut down on my weekly ironing, I hang my family's blue jeans and corduroys on the clothesline to dry, then I place them in the clothes dryer for a few minutes on a normal setting. I add a fabric-softener sheet and the pants come out feeling soft and, best of all, wrinkle-free. — Nadine Barker, Memphis, Tenn.

The largest fish is the whale shark. It weighs up to 15 tons more than twice as much as an African elephant.
