Fire at Goodin Fuels

Smoke and flames pour from a small gasoline truck (hidden from view by the larger tanker in front) at Goodin Fuels in Hereford this morning. The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department doused the flames with a water cannon, keeping a safe distance away until the fire was almost extinguished. There were no injuries in the incident.

Events planned through month

Public knowledge critical for better fire prevention

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

Over 300 people die each year in the United States as the result of residential fires started by children playing with matches or lighters.

Increasing public awareness concerning the hazards of children playing with fire is a major goal of Fire Prevention Week, which will officially end on Saturday. The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department has joined fire safety representatives from across the country in utilizing this opportunity to educate the public on fire safety.

Although the Fire Prevention Week officially ends on Saturday, the local fire department will be conducting tours of the fire station for a number of Hereford school children throughout the month of October. Over 600 children will tour the station "before it's all said and done," said Fire Marshal Jay Spain.

With the help of a publication provided in cooperation with McDonald's, local firemen are using a program which makes learning about fire safety fun and informative. As different groups of children are taken on their tour of the fire station, each child is presented with a copy of a pamphlet entitled "Plan to Get Out Alive."

The pamphlet provides information on developing fire escape routes from the home and other safety pointers. While the written material is intended for parent and child, the centerfold poster helps turn a vital lesson into a children's game.

A Hereford fire truck will be parked at McDonald's on West Highway 60 until 6 p.m. today in another event commemorating Fire Prevention Week. Firemen will be on hand to display fire fighting equipment and answer questions.

Firemen are very important in a country where 6,215 private citizens died in fires during 1988. This doesn't include the 62 fire fighters who were killed in the line of duty. Even non-fatal fires leave a painful mark. In 1988 property damage caused by fires was estimated at better than $8 billion.

While the controlled use of fire is part of what makes mankind civilized, unwanted fires are a major and frequently life-threatening problem. Burns and fires are the fourth leading cause of unintentional death in the nation.

Because of this threat to life and health, The Department of Health and Human Services has joined traditional fire fighting officials in extolling the importance of fire prevention.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

BIG FIRES START SMALL

KEEP MATCHES & LIGHTERS IN THE RIGHT HANDS.

"Fire injuries can be prevented," wrote Dr. Walter R. Dowdle, acting director of the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga. "Injuries, like diseases, occur in highly predictable patterns and are controllable."

For example, cigarette-ignited fires account for 17 percent of residential fire fatalities. The simple habit of using extra care when extinguishing or handling cigarettes is important to fire prevention.

Whether it's from wayward cigarettes, children playing with matches, faulty electrical wiring or any one of a thousand possible causes of a fire, public education is a major goal of the National Fire Protection Association.

The increasing use of smoke alarms is one example of effective public education. Official estimates say 82 percent of American homes are now equipped with smoke alarms. Although the vast majority of homes have smoke alarms, most fires still occur in homes without smoke detectors. This means that most fires burn in less than 20 percent of American homes, the ones without smoke detectors.

An increased ratio of fires in homes without smoke detectors may very well be an indication of the effectiveness of public awareness in fire prevention. It is a safe assumption that home owners with smoke alarms are aware of fire safety in other areas as well.

If a person is aware of the hazards of fire, the person is better prepared to prevent a fire.

Bush to allow new flag law

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush likely will allow a newly approved ban on flag-burning to become law without his signature, but still will press for the constitutional amendment he says is needed to do the job, administration sources say.

"The president obviously agrees with (the bill's) general purpose but feels a constitutional amendment is required to survive legal challenges," spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Thursday, hours after the House passed the measure, 371-43.

Supporting the bill were 154 Republicans and 217 Democrats, while it was opposed by 25 Democrats and 18 Republicans.

The measure requires up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine for anyone who "knowingly mutilates, defaces, physically defiles, burns, maintains on the floor or ground, or tramples upon any flag of the United States."

The lopsided approval margin reflected the power of the flag as a political symbol as demonstrated in last year's presidential campaign and by the outcry over the Supreme Court's June decision overturning a Texas flag-burning conviction.

The court reversed the conviction of Texas flag-burner Gregory Lee

Johnson on grounds the law violated his right to freedom of speech.

Bush contends a constitutional amendment would settle the issue once and for all and could not be overturned by a court. Such a measure is set to come before the Senate next week.

Fitzwater, traveling with Bush in New York, declined to say what the president might do.

Investigators study cracked part

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal investigators are examining a pre-flight crack in a DC-10 engine fan disk found in an Iowa corn field this week, nearly three months after the crash of a United Airlines jet.

James Kolstad, acting National Transportation Safety Board Chairman, said Thursday he hoped the disk section unearthed by an Iowa farmer would tell investigators what caused the July 19 crash that killed 112 of the 286 people aboard Flight 232.

Kolstad expressed the optimism even before a second farmer on Thursday found what a lawyer hired by engine-maker General Electric said is the final one-third part of the disk.

Kolstad announced discovery of a crack in the larger section unearthed by farmer Janice Sorenson on Tuesday as she was harvesting with a combine near Alta, Iowa. The section included about two-thirds of the 300-pound disk and parts of 25 of its fan blades, Kolstad said.

Lawyer Steve Gadd, hired by GE to assist in the search, confirmed late Thursday that the final third of the titanium disk was found by farmer Harold Halverson about a half-mile from the Sorenson discovery.

The company had offered $271,000 for various missing pieces of the engine and has delivered a check for $116,000 to Mrs. Sorenson.

Investigators say the plane's tail-mounted No. 2 engine disintegrated in flight, throwing out pieces that everted hydraulic flight control lines. Pilots said they used only thrust from the remaining two engines to steer the plane to the Sioux City airport where it cartwheeled in flames upon landing.

Kolstad said the precise "size, nature and reason for the crack" found along the interior surface of the engine disk had yet to be determined.

"There has been no determination on whether this crack was detectable before the accident, nor has there been a determination whether this crack is the point of origin of engine failure," said board spokesman Ted Lopatkiewicz.

However, both he and Kolstad said preliminary evidence indicates the crack existed prior to the flight, although they did not indicate what led board investigators to that conclusion. Engine parts were being examined at the GE plant in Evendale, Ohio.

The crash-landing killed 111 people at the scene and one passenger died a month later from injuries.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says yesterday's mistakes are paid for at today's prices.

Did you hear about the Hereford farmer's response after watching a group of teenagers at a dance: "If that don't bring rain, nuthin' will!"

Two teenage girls were talking at the Dairy Queen the other day. One girl was fussing at her friend because a third party had found out something she shouldn't have. "You can't keep a secret," accused the first girl.

"I sure can," protested the other. "It's one of the people I told who can't keep a secret."

Don't miss Sunday's Brand... there will be a special "Fall Fashions" section of special interest to the ladies, and Editor John Brooks and Kay Peck have feature articles of interest to all readers.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery go to Barbara Allen who had a liver transplant this past week in Dallas. Barbara and hubby Bill are both active in community affairs.

This week (Oct. 8-14) is being observed across the United States as National Newspaper Week. Frankly, it had slipped our mind until we noticed that the three Hereford Kiwanis Clubs had an ad saluting The Brand during the special week.

The theme of this year's observance is "A Free Press: Democracy's Forum." The Brand has been recording and reporting the events of Hereford and Deaf Smith County for almost 89 years.

Your newspaper is a source of in-depth news, your marketplace for alerting you to what's available—at easily comparable prices, a means of effective advertising that helps stimulate the economy and circulate the dollars.

And, of course, your newspaper is your eyes and ears to what's happening down the street, across the land, and on a different continent. As friend, community booster and mutual interest associate in the private sector and in government too, your newspaper knows its importance and understands its responsibilities.

Being your newspaper is being all these things to you, and we're proud of the chance and the honor.

During Newspaper Week, we pause to say thanks to our readers, advertisers and all others who constantly assist by bringing in news and pictures, or who have contributed and helped our staff in so many ways in order that we may better serve the community.

Clements gets way too many extras with burger

DALLAS (AP) - Texas Gov. Bill Clements kept eating his hamburger as a gunman robbed an upscale hamburger restaurant, firing several shots inside and outside the establishment, wounding one person and escaping with an undetermined amount of cash, officials said.

Police were searching for the gunman early today. Mike Toomey, the governor's chief of staff, said Clements was eating at the counter of Goff's Hamburgers on Lover's Lane near the North Dallas Tollway Thursday night when a man carrying a small-caliber pistol walked through a back door.

Dallas Detective C.W. Wachholz said the man was carrying a white canvas bag and yelled for everyone to lie on the floor.

The man then forced the cashier to empty the cash register and hand over a large-caliber pistol from beneath a counter, officers said.

The robber ran out of the door, turned and fired two shots back into the restaurant where Clements continued to eat his hamburger, Toomey said. The shots struck the glass above the front door, Wachholz said.

The man continued running outside and fired shots at a man who had observed the robbery and was running to another restaurant to call police. The man was struck in the calf, but was not seriously injured, police said.

As he ran down the street, the robber fired shots at a passing car, damaging the automobile, but the driver escaped uninjured, police said.

Toomey said the governor appeared unfazed by the incident.

"The governor is out in front at the counter eating, and he said he hard this guy (yelling) and he said that he just continued eating his hamburger," Toomey told The Dallas Morning News. "He said the guy left and he kept eating his hamburger and then he left."

"He was obviously close enough to the guy to get shot, but apparently the guy did not point the gun at him," Toomey said. "He's been around a long time, and this didn't seem to startle him at all."

Toomey said the governor apparently hadn't even told his wife, Rita, about the incident until Toomey called to ask him about it.

The wounded man, whose name was not released, was in good condition late Thursday at Parkland Memorial Hospital, police said.

Tempting toys

Matches and cigarette lighters may be handy tools for an adult, but they are tempting and potentially lethal toy for a young child. Area residents are reminded of the importance of teaching their children about the hazards of fire as a part of the observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8 through 14.

Discovery hints universe less complex

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Scientists say they are closer to understanding the birth of the universe after using an atom smasher to find strong evidence that the basic building blocks of matter belong to only three families.

"It means that somehow the universe is comprehensible, that it's not a total mystery, that it can be grasped by the human mind," physicist Michael Riordan said by phone from the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, 30 miles southeast of San Francisco. "It puts a lid on the complexity of nature at its most fundamental level."

Experiments in the center's 3-mile-long, $125 million Stanford Linear Collider showed the odds are 25-to-1 that there are only three families or "generations" of fundamental particles - known as quarks and leptons - that make up matter, he said Thursday.

Particles of matter and antimatter were smashed together inside the machine with such power that the particles destroyed each other, producing conditions that nearly mimicked the "big bang" - the giant explosion physicists believe created the universe some 15 billion years ago.

Until now, atom smasher experiments indicated only that there were no more than five or six families of fundamental particles, said Burton Richter, the center's director and 1976 Nobel laureate in physics.

The new discovery "brings us closer to really understanding the physical universe and how it's put together," Richter said.

Everyday matter is made from the four particles in the first family. They are up quarks, down quarks, and two leptons named electrons and electron neutrinos.

Protons and neutrons in the nucleus of an atom are made of up and down quarks. Electrons orbit the nucleus. Electron neutrinos are produced by exploding stars.

Particles in the second family are the strange and charmed quarks, and leptons named muons and muon neutrinos.

Members of the third family - first discovered in the mid-1970s - are the bottom quark, the yet-undetected top quark, the tau lepton and the tau neutrino.

Physicists say particles from all three families existed naturally in the fraction of a second after the big bang. But some particles in the second family and all the particles in the third family can't exist naturally today, although they can be created in atom smashers. That's because the universe is much cooler compared with conditions during the big bang.

Latin America's manufacturing sector, which had achieved an average growth rate of 5.2 percent during 1984-86, saw this rate dip to a very slow 2.1 percent in 1987, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The bank added that the great majority of the region's countries have not succeeded in stabilizing manufacturing growth rates during the past few years.

Sophs drop Pampa, JV falls to Lobos

Hereford Whiteface teams split a pair of road games Thursday as the junior varsity fell at Levelland, 26-6, while the sophomores scored a 20-8 victory over the Pampa JV.

while the White team hosts Plainview Red at the South Field.

Sophs 20, Pampa JV 8

The sophomores overcame an early 8-0 lead by the Harvesters on touchdowns by Leo Brown and Will Jones.

Pampa put the first points on the board early when quarterback Andy Cavalier hit tight end Jason Holland from four yards out.

Hereford scored a touchdown in each of the last three quarters for the soph's fifth straight win. Brown cut the margin to 8-6 on an eight-yard run to close out the first-half scoring.

Jones gave the Herd the lead on a one-yard plunge in the third quarter and added another touchdown on a six-yard run in the fourth.

Billy Bankston recorded the final two points of the game when he tackled a Pampa back in the end zone for a safety.

The sophomores recorded 224 total yards for the game, marking the fifth straight they have surpassed the 200-yard mark.

The sophs, now 5-1 on the year, return to action at 4:30 p.m. Thursday when they host Coronado at Whiteface Stadium.

Levelland JV 26, Herd JV 6

Chris Blair hit Louis Mungia for a

52-yard touchdown to score Hereford's only points of the night.

"They just physically whipped us," JV coach Stan Carter said. "It was a long night down there."

The loss dropped the junior varsity's record to 2-4. The JV will host Dunbar at 7 p.m. Thursday at Whiteface Stadium for its next game.

Walker gets 'Pokes big package

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP) - For the present, the Minnesota Vikings think Herschel Walker is at least 12 times as good as most NFL players. For the future, the Dallas Cowboys think most players are more than one-twelfth as good as Herschel Walker.

"We've improved our future. It's a cornerstone to build from," Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said Thursday after he sent Walker to the Vikings for five players and seven draft choices in one of the NFL's all-time megadeals. "The draft picks we got will give us a chance to build for the future and the players we got will enhance our competitiveness in 1989. It was very unique and in everybody's interests."

In the Vikings' interest, of course, was Walker, the All-Pro running back on whom they're counting to put them over the top.

"Depending on how things work out over the next three years, yes, we could have mortgaged our future for the good of the 1989 and 1990 teams," Vikings general manager Mike Lynn said.

"We felt that the last piece of the puzzle, the last spoke on the wheel, was a running back. And not just a running back, but a marquee running back."

"If we don't win the (NFL) Central Division, if we don't get to the Super Bowl while Herschel Walker is a member of the Minnesota Vikings, then we have not made a good trade."

Going to the Cowboys were four Minnesota regulars, even if they weren't always starters: linebackers Jesse Solomon and David Howard, cornerback Ike Holt and running back Darrin Nelson. Rookie defensive end Alex Stewart, who has spent the entire year on the disabled list, was included in the deal.

In addition, the Vikings gave up their first-round draft choice in 1992.

The Cowboys also got six "conditional" draft choices over the next three years - two first-round picks, three second-round choices and one third-round pick.

"We have the right to decide at any time what those conditions are," Jones said. "Everything must be settled over the next three years. It's our call. This is a draft-oriented trade."

Said Lynn: "We're not going to give a detailed breakdown of the conditions. It'll take you until 1993 to figure it out."

When you're the 1 in a 12-for-1 trade, when the man who runs your new organization is saying you're the key to Super Bowl hopes, that sounds like big-time pressure.

"I don't feel any pressure. I don't know whether I'm the answer or not," said Walker, who expected to take part in his first Vikings practice today and to play in his first Vikings game Sunday against the Green Bay Packers. "If we win, that's great. But it takes a team effort. Herschel Walker is just another athlete that has come here to try to help this team win."

Coach Jerry Burns warned that people - including Lynn, his boss - shouldn't put too much pressure on Walker.

"He's a great player," Burns said, "but we have a lot of good players. He wants to fit in and help us win the Super Bowl. He's not responsible for getting us to the Super Bowl, he's just another cog to help us in that direction."

Walker, 27, in his fourth NFL season after three years in the U.S. Football League, was asked if he was worth 12 players.

"It's nice to have a chance to try to be worth it," he said. "I'm going to try my best to make it up to them."

Last year, Walker, who reportedly received more than $1 million in "exit" money from the Cowboys, became only the 10th player in NFL history to gain more than 2,000 yards from scrimmage.

Walker's statistics have fallen off sharply this year, however. He has rushed 81 times for 246 yards - a 3-yard average that is almost 11/2 yards less than his career average entering the season.

The Cowboys are 0-5 under first-year coach Jimmy Johnson, who led some of the nation's best passing offenses at the University of Miami. Johnson uses a pass-oriented attack whereas his predecessor, Tom Landry, favored the ground game.

Nelson at first said he might not report to Dallas. But after talking to Nelson, Johnson said: "Darrin was upset, but he's going to be here."

Nelson said the Cowboys got the best of the deal: "We gave up too much. We gave up an awful lot on defense."

But many players who remain with the Vikings feel the trade helped Minnesota.

"I don't think any team is going to be able to concentrate on our passing game anymore," said cornerback Carl Lee, who at one point was rumored to be going to Dallas. "Obviously, you have to respect Herschel Walker."

It was the league's biggest trade since the 1987 three-team deal that sent Eric Dickerson to the Indianapolis Colts, Cornelius Bennett to the Buffalo Bills and Greg Bell, Owen Gill, three first-round draft choices and two second-rounders to the Los Angeles Rams.

Jones used that trade, comparing Dickerson to Walker, to project a sunny future for his team: "Los Angeles did it. Now they're 5-0."

The 6-foot-1, 226-pound Walker is the second "impact" player Lynn has acquired since last season. He traded for linebacker Mike Merriweather in April, giving this year's first-round draft choice to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Lynn said he has been obsessed with building a Super Bowl team since the Vikings went 3-13 under Les Steckel in 1984.

"At that time, when I talked to the team, I told them we were going to do everything we could," he said.

That everything included getting Walker, who has been one of the most ballyhooed athletes of the 1980s.

Minnesota and Dallas discussed a trade for Walker as early as last June - when the Vikings inquired into the availability of quarterback Steve Walsh - but the talks didn't heat up until two weeks ago, Lynn said. A deal was completed last week, but Walker said he wanted to think about it before coming to Minnesota.

"It was a shock more than anything," he said. "Anyone who knows me knows I always think about things before I make a big decision."

It didn't hurt that the Cowboys forked over the exit money.

"We paid Herschel under the do-right rule," Jones said. "It was very important he feel very good about the Cowboys when he left."

Walker is in the fourth year of a five-year, $5 million contract. Both Lynn and Walker say a contract renegotiation or extension hasn't been discussed.

The last two years, Walker has earned his salary as well as any other back in the league.

From 1987-88, no runner bettered Walker's 3,625 rushing-receiving yards. His 1,514 rushing yards led the NFC in 1988, when he also caught 50 passes for 505 yards.

With 3,388 career yards, Walker is sixth on Dallas' all-time rushing list.

After winning the Heisman Trophy as a junior at Georgia in 1982, Walker became the USFL's brightest star while playing for Donald Trump's New Jersey Generals. He gained 5,562 yards in three years before the league folded, including a pro football record 2,411 in 1985.

Of the players Dallas received, none could be termed true starters for the Vikings this season. But Solomon, Howard, Holt and Nelson all figure to contend for starting jobs with the Cowboys.

Solomon, 25, led the Vikings in solo tackles each of the past two seasons but injured his knee late last year and needed major surgery. He started one game this year but performed poorly and was benched.

Howard, 28, has started most of the last 31/2 seasons but would have lost his job to Merriweather had Solomon been healthy.

Holt, 27, started for 2 1/2 years before Reggie Rutland beat him out in 1988. He returned an interception 90 yards for a touchdown in last week's victory over Detroit and helped hold San Francisco's Jerry Rice to three catches in the 1987 playoffs. He may meet Rice again Sunday when the Cowboys host the 49ers.

Nelson, 30, has gained 4,016 yards in his eight-year career, topped by 893 in 1985. He led Minnesota rushers five of the last six seasons. He has 124 yards this season.

Stewart, 25, was an eighth-round draft choice out of Cal State-Fullerton this year. Vikings coaches were impressed with him during the preseason until he suffered a hand injury.

"The draft picks were the basis for the deal, but we feel the five players can give us some immediate help," Johnson said. "Herschel's going to a team that can contend for the Super Bowl. We're rebuilding."

A&I's Bailey nears Dorsett's mark

KINGSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Johnny Bailey, the Texas A&I running back who goes into Saturday's game just 170 yards shy of breaking Tony Dorsett's NCAA rushing record, is ready for people to start talking about something else.

"To be honest with you, I'll be glad when it's all over, because I'm really just ready for everything to be solved about this record situation and just get into a team matter," Bailey said at practice this week.

The 5-foot-8, 178-pound senior has rushed for 5,913 yards in 3 1/2 seasons at A&I. That brings him into striking distance of the 6,082-yard record Dorsett set at the University of Pittsburgh from 1973-1976.

With his game average of 172 yards, Bailey and teammates think he'll get the 170 yards he needs Saturday at Edmond, Okla., against Central State.

"It's just something that's going to happen and something you're always going to think about, but I'm really just for my team right now," Bailey said. "I'm not here for any records or anything. I'm trying to be successful and trying to stay healthy and help my team going toward the national championship."

But after Bailey breaks the rushing record, people probably will start talking about another one he's about to break this season. He's only 350 yards away from the all-purpose yardage record of 7,623 set by Kenny Gamble at Colgate.

The Javelinas are 5-0 for the season and ranked second in NCAA Division II.

"Our main concern is to prepare our football team to win games, not to break records," said Ron Harms, football coach and athletic director at A&I. "Now, if that (record) happens in the process, I think that's fine. And of course, we all expect it to happen. I think that everybody will take a lot of pride in it when it does occur, not just Bailey."

The coach said he hasn't stacked things in Bailey's favor, although some fans have pressured him to.

"You have a lot of pressures from a variety of people about trying to leave Johnny in the game longer or trying to give him more carries," Harms said. "Johnny has accomplished everything he has accomplished not because we have overemphasized him or given him the ball that many more times. Obviously with the talent he is, we want him to have the football as many times as we can get it in there."

More scouts have come around this year than usual, the coach said, although the team has produced many great players and furnished seven first-round picks for the NFL draft since 1966.

The Javelinas have finished 9-2, 9-2 and 10-3 in Bailey's three years at A&I.

He played for Houston's Yates High School, where he was highly recruited, but because of low grades, the NCAA's Proposition 48 would have forced him to sit out his freshman year at a Division I school.

For the last two years, he has captured the Harlon Hill Award, Division II's version of the Heisman, and has led the division in rushing since the start of his college career.

Yet all the glory hasn't alienated Bailey from the rest of the team, said quarterback Rodney Brown.

"That's one thing about Johnny," Brown said. "With all the publicity he's gotten, he's still the same Johnny. He doesn't separate himself as better than the rest and that's one thing I've got to hand to him. He's stayed within the team."

Brown said the prospect of Bailey on the verge of a record has fired up the team, particularly the offensive line.

"Just being on the field with him, that's exciting in itself," Brown added.

Players plan a special "little something for Johnny" after he breaks the record, Brown said, but wouldn't reveal the surprise.

Bailey said Dorsett always has been his idol, but "Tony Dorsett is Tony Dorsett and I'm Johnny Bailey. We're two different type of people. It's just that he happens to be the one that has this rushing total and I happen to be the one that's just toward this rushing total. It's just something to be thankful for and that comes through God-gifted, but like I said, this is a team matter and records come second."

Both sides excited by mammoth trade

Johnson: deal 'mind-boggling' Walker arrives at Vikes camp

IRVING (AP) - Jimmy Johnson was ready to greet five new Dallas Cowboys today, part of what he called a "mind-boggling" trade package for running back Herschel Walker.

The Vikings were expected to arrive some time in the morning and check into the Cowboys' practice facility.

Johnson said they won't play on Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers.

The Cowboys were openly giddy over the deal with Minnesota general manager Mike Lynn that had been brewing for weeks.

Johnson said an NFL owner told him "It's 'The Great Train Robbery,'" and an agent told him, "It's the greatest trade in NFL history."

The Cowboys paid Walker an undisclosed amount of "exit" money to accept the trade with the Vikings.

Owner Jerry Jones said: "We paid Herschel under the do-right rule. It was very important he feel very good about the Cowboys when he left."

A source close to the deal Walker got between $1.2 and $1.3 million in cash. Walker was on the fourth year of a five-year contract, making $1 million a season. His contract wasn't renegotiated.

Dallas obtained linebackers Jesse Solomon and David Howard, cornerback Issiac Holt, defensive end Alex Stewart and running back Darrin Nelson and a "solid" first-round draft choice.

The Cowboys also got six "conditional" draft choices over the next three years - two first-round picks, three second-round choices, and one third-round pick.

A source close to the deal said the Cowboys would get first and second picks in both 1990 and 1991, and first-, second- and third-round selections in 1992.

"We have the right to decide at anytime what those conditions are," Jones said. "Everything must be settled over the next three years. It's our call. This is a draft-oriented trade."

Stewart is on the injured reserve and Solomon has been battling a knee injury. Stewart is an eighth-round draft pick who had been impressive until he suffered a hand injury. Solomon led the team in tackles for two years.

Johnson said he had talked to Nelson, who had previously indicated he wouldn't report.

"Darrin was upset but he's going to be here," Johnson said.

Nelson has averaged four yards per carry in his career.

Solomon had been battling a knee injury, but Johnson said, "He's just about ready to play again at full strength."

None of the other players started for the Vikings last week.

The Cowboys shipped Walker's equipment to Minnesota so he could play Sunday against Green Bay. Ironically, the Cowboys lost to the Packers last Sunday, with Walker gaining only 44 yards.

Walker came to Dallas in 1986 after the Cowboys picked him as a "future" in the fifth round of the 1985 draft. Walker was in the now-defunct United States Football League when he was drafted.

"Herschel's a great player with a great attitude," Johnson said. "It was difficult for him but he's going to a team that can contend for a Super Bowl. We're rebuilding."

"The draft picks we got will give us a chance to build for the future and the players we got will enhance our competitiveness in 1989," Jones said.

Jones said the deal wasn't completed until Thursday morning.

"It was very unique and in everybody's interests," Jones said. "It was something of a sacrifice to give away a player of Herschel Walker's stature. We took a lot of time doing it because we had a lot of feelings for Herschel's feelings."

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - Now that he's with the Minnesota Vikings, football can be fun again for Herschel Walker.

"Right now, I have so much going on that I was turning football into a business," Walker says. "I don't want to do that. I want to treat football as a game that I can enjoy. That's what it's supposed to be."

"It was a big honor for (Dallas) to trade me to a team that's in a class by themselves."

Well, the Vikings (3-2) aren't exactly in a class by themselves, since they are tied with Green Bay and Tampa Bay for second place in the NFC Central, one game behind the Chicago Bears.

But by acquiring Walker Thursday in a trade that sent five players and seven draft choices to the Dallas Cowboys, the Vikings hope to move up in class rapidly.

"Herschel's going to make us a better ballclub," Coach Jerry Burns said. "We needed a spark offensively. We're not moving the ball like we have to if we're going to be successful. Hopefully, he'll be the spark."

Walker describes himself in less than sparkling terms.

"I'm an OK player. I don't think I'm that good yet," he told a news conference. "I think I'm learning. Right now, I don't think I'm a great running back. I think I can improve greatly. Just watching myself on films, I think I can become a much better running back."

Burns looks at Walker's 2,019 combined rushing-receiving yards last season. He looks at Walker's 6-1, 226-pound body and world-class sprinter's speed. He looks at everything Walker has accomplished at every level of football. And, unlike Walker, he sees "a great running back."

"I'm sure he was saying that in a modest sense," Burns said. "He was recognized in Georgia (where he was a superstar high school and college back), he was recognized in the USFL, he's recognized in the NFL as a great running back. We'll utilize his talents, no doubt about it."

Walker said he is anxious to play with some of the Vikings he met at the last two Pro Bowls and to play under Burns, who coached him in the 1988 Pro Bowl.

"It is ironic," Walker said. "I was the only Cowboy the last two years in the Pro Bowl and the Vikings players are the players I was with every night, the players I went to practice with and I shared a lot of things with."

"What I've heard about (Burns) is he's probably one of the best coaches to play for in the NFL. His players really love him. After playing for him in the Pro Bowl, I think I did tell him I'd love to play under him."

Walker wasn't happy with his role in the increasingly pass-oriented Dallas offense. He had carried the football only 81 times for 246 yards as the Cowboys got off to an 0-5 start.

Asked how many carries it would take to make him happy with the Vikings, he said: "As many as I can get to do something great. It doesn't matter how many you get, it's how many you score with. I hope I'm going to score a lot of touchdowns."

Puckett paces AP All-Star team

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Kirby Puckett, who won his first American League batting title this season, is the first player to make The Associated Press Major League All-Star team for four consecutive years.

San Francisco's Will Clark, the Most Valuable Player of the National League playoffs, was the top vote-getter for 1989 team, which was announced Thursday. He received 143 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and editors. Pedro Guerrero of the St. Louis Cardinals and Fred McGriff of the Toronto Blue Jays were next at first base with five votes each.

Puckett has made the AP All-Star team in four of his five full seasons with the Minnesota Twins. Joining him in the outfield were Kevin Mitchell of the NL champion Giants and Ruben Sierra of the Texas Rangers, both first-time picks.

Third baseman Howard Johnson of the New York Mets and catcher Mickey Tettleton of the Baltimore Orioles also were first-time selections.

Shortstop Cal Ripken of the Baltimore Orioles, selected to the team from 1983-85, was picked for the fourth time. Second baseman Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago Cubs, a 1988 pick, was elected for his third time overall.

Bret Saberhagen of the Kansas City Royals was voted right-handed pitcher, Joe Magrane of the St. Louis Cardinals was picked as the left-hander and Mark Davis of the San Diego Padres was named the reliever. All three were first-time picks. Designated hitter Dave Parker of the American League champion Oakland Athletics beat Harold Baines of the Texas Rangers 48-33 in the closest race. It was the first time on the team for Parker. The AP began selecting one team for both leagues in 1982.

Most of the selections were overwhelming choices. Sandberg beat Texas' Julio Franco 134-11 and Saberhagen beat Oakland's Dave Stewart, a three-time 20-game winner, 128-11.

Davis beat the Cubs' Mitch Williams 119-14 and Ripken beat the Cardinals' Ozzie Smith 98-17. Tettleton beat Carlton Fisk of the White Sox 60-24 and Magrane beat Sid Fernandez of the Mets 72-21. Johnson got 74 votes at third to 30 for Oakland's Carney Lansford and 27 for Boston's Wade Boggs.

In the outfield, Mitchell received 140 votes, Puckett 111 and Sierra 74. San Diego's Tony Gwynn was next with 48 and Milwaukee's Robin Yount was fifth with 30.

Rickey Henderson of Oakland, the Most Valuable Player of the AL playoffs, was 10th with three votes.

Puckett had the top average on the team at .339, six points ahead of Clark. Sierra, at .306, was the only other .300 hitter. Mitchell was the major league leader in home runs and RBIs.

Saberhagen, the favorite for the AL Cy Young Award, was not elected to the AP team in 1985, his Cy Young season. He was beaten then by Dwight Gooden of the New York Mets.

A&M tries to slow UH

By The Associated Press
Can the Texas Aggies repeat what they did last year and slow down Houston quarterback Andre Ware?

Ware is the national leader in total offense by 70 yards per game, averaging 439.5 yards per contest.

Houston has outscored four opponents 236-24.

But the Aggies beat the Cougars last year in the Astrodome by putting a hard rush on Ware. Arkansas was the only other team to beat Houston in the regular season.

Odds-makers have made eighth-ranked and unbeaten Houston an eight-point favorite over A&M in a 2 p.m. game that could draw 70,000 fans at Kyle Field.

In other games Saturday, seventh-ranked Arkansas was an eight-point favorite over Texas Tech in Lubbock where the Red Raiders ambushed A&M last week 27-24. Baylor tries to bounce back from a 66-10 slaughter by Houston at Southern Methodist in a noon game. Rice and Texas Christian meet at 2 p.m., and Texas was an 18-point underdog in its 84th showdown with Oklahoma at the Cotton Bowl at 2 p.m. Baylor was listed as a 28-point favorite and Rice was a point pick over TCU.

SMU was idle last week and will be hosting Baylor in Ownby Stadium for the first time since the 1940s.

Texas Tech has outscored opponents 55-6 in the fourth quarter and hopes to finish strong against the Razorbacks.

However, Arkansas has beaten Tech 14 out of 15 times in Lubbock.

Tech's only victory in Lubbock was a 21-16 decision in 1966.

Sour cream adds zest to meat loaf

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens Magazine
Food Editor

There are two kinds of people in the world: those who love meat loaf and those who hate it. I'm in the first group. I love it even better the second day as a cold meat loaf sandwich. This moist, flavorful loaf will transfer anyone in the second group to my side.

SOUR CREAM MEAT LOAF
2 eggs
One 8-ounce carton dairy sour cream
1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
One package brown gravy mix (3/4 ounce)

In a large bowl combine eggs, 1/2 cup of the sour cream, and milk; stir in bread crumbs, onion, parsley, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, salt and pepper. Add beef; mix thoroughly. Pat into a 9-by-5-by-3-inch loaf pan or shape into the same size loaf and place in a 12by 7 1/2-by-2-inch baking dish. Bake, uncovered, in a 350-degree F oven about 1 1/4 hours or until a meat thermometer inserted in center of loaf registers 170 degrees F. Let cool 10 minutes; remove from pan.

Meanwhile, for gravy, in medium saucepan stir together remaining sour cream and dry gravy mix. Add water as called for on package. Cook according to package directions. Slice meat loaf and serve with gravy. Makes 6 servings.

NEW YORK (AP) - Rock singer Jon Bon Jovi felt lucky in his booking of a hotel room in the Soviet Union, and said that the Moscow Music Peace Festival, a two-day August concert that featured nine bands, yielded many firsts.

"The Soviet Union has never experienced anything like it," said the singer from New Jersey. "Neither have I."

US magazine printed a diary that Bon Jovi kept during the trip in its Oct. 30 issue.

On the accommodations: "The Ukraina is, for Russia, a four-star hotel. In America, it would be a no-star motel. ... I'm one of the lucky ones: My room has hot water, a shower curtain and only a handful of friendly cockroaches. But the dent in my mattress would probably be considered a pothole in New York City."

On the entertainment: "I turn on my TV, searching for MTV, and lo and behold, they have it: Military TV! Six of the seven channels have the same news program, and the seventh is a test pattern."

Russian Pepsi is "sweet enough to strip the enamel off my teeth."

Complaints aside, Bon Jovi said, playing in Moscow afforded "the highest high we've ever experienced."

The festival was organized to raise money for the Make a Difference Foundation, a non-profit organization in Raleigh, N.C.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband, who is a respected professional, comes from a troubled family. "Jason's" father drank and womanized. His mother drank, gambled and also had affairs.

While growing up, his oldest sister behaved in a sexually provocative way toward him. She tried several times to get into his bed. In spite of her efforts she was never able to seduce him.

Now, many years later, Jason is a compassionate, loving person and we have a happy life together.

Recently we visited his sister, who is also married with children. After an evening out, she began to massage his back in a sexually seductive manner. He did not ask her to stop.

I saw this and made no comment. Later I asked him what he would do if she asked him to go to bed with her. He said he didn't know.

If my brother approached me sexually, I would tell him off in no uncertain terms. The fact that my husband does not know how he might react if his sister came on to him is deeply disturbing to me.

Jason believes that he can handle this problem without counseling and says I shouldn't worry about it. I feel as if I am sitting on a stick of dynamite that could explode at any moment. Please let me hear your views on this, Ann. Kindly respond in the paper. -- A Wife in Mpls.

NEW YORK (AP) - Film director Louis Malle is a klutz who throws himself into life with such zeal that he often lands on his head, says Malle's wife, actress Candice Bergen.

"He's always bleeding," Bergen said in the Oct. 30 issue of US magazine. "Once, in Paris, I met him at the airport during the time of all the terrorist attacks. Suddenly, I saw everybody in the airport was backing up, aghast, as Louis parted the crowd, with his head in bloody bandages.

"Everybody thought he'd been a victim of terrorism, but he'd just been running to get a luggage cart and hit his head on a pole," said Bergen.

Bergen said her 3-year-old daughter, Chloe, shares her father's metabolism and curiosity.

DEAR MINNEAPOLIS: The fact that your husband's sister massaged him in your presence makes me believe she is not a serious threat.

Your best insurance against what you fear is to make sure they are not alone together. Also, let Jason know that you really do trust him. And don't harp on the subject.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 17 years old and currently hospitalized after attempting suicide. I am in a psychiatric unit with many others who are here for the same reason. We are the lucky ones. I often think about those who were not so fortunate.

A few days ago, a friend sent me your column on teen-age suicide. I have shown it to many other patients here and they all agree that it is terrific. We are sure that you helped save many lives because of what you wrote.

I have emotional and physical scars that I will have to live with for the rest of my life, but I still feel lucky. It's like you said in your column, Ann, "Suicide is forever, and nobody can fix it." And then you added with this: "Nothing in this world causes more grief and suffering than the suicide of a child." I'm sure this is true.

So, please, tell all those teens who are suffering from depression and problems that seem overwhelming that there is a rainbow after the storm. And a rainbow is God's promise that there will be many beautiful days ahead. So, stick around and enjoy life. There is always a new day.

Thank you, Ann, for your column. It is worth the price of the paper. -- M.S. (Detroit)

DEAR DETROIT: Letters like yours give me a lift. Knowing that I have helped is the greatest reward there is. Thanks for writing and God bless you and all your friends in the hospital.
