A quick look at today's news

Local Stuff*SCHOOL BOARD*VOTE SATURDAY

The runoff election for District 5 on the Hereford school board will be held Saturday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., at the Hereford Community Center. The election will be between Joe Flood and Steve Wright to fill the seat for a one-year term.

PANCAKE SUPPER

One of the highlights of the Pioneer Days celebration is the annual Pancake Supper, today from 5-8 p.m., at the Hereford Senior Center, 426 Ranger. Tickets are $4 per person, and everyone is invited to attend. There will also be a style show in the HSC auditorium.

LET'S RODEO

There's nothing quite like the thrills and spills of a rodeo, and you can catch the excitement today and Saturday, at the Hereford Riders Club Arena, at 8 p.m. Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for children, with children under 6 admitted free.

JULY 4TH

If you have any ideas about the July 4th celebration, you can call the chamber of commerce at 364-3333 and they'll pass along your ideas or tell you who you can call. All ideas (and helpers) are welcome.

CHAMBER SINGERS

The Hereford Chamber Singers will present "We're Proud To Be Americans," a special spring concert, at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hereford Senior Center, and at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the HHS auditorium. The concert will feature patriotic music selections and will honor those who have served in the armed forces.

Sports Stuff*RANGERS AGAIN

It took extra innings again, but the Texas Rangers beat the Minnesota Twins, 10-6, to win their 10th straight game and climb to first place in the American League West. They go to Seattle for a three-game series starting tonight.

NBA TONIGHT

The Chicago Bulls and Portland Trail Blazers try for another win tonight in the NBA playoffs.

TV Stuff*TONIGHT

Weather*MORE RAIN

There was .32 of an inch of rain officially in Hereford from Thursday's rain, and there's a chance for more rain this evening. It should be dry for your Memorial Day plans.

Abortion foes: 'It's about time'
Supreme Court upholds federal restrictionsBy CATHERINE CROCKER
Associated Press Writer

Family planning clinics around the country say they'll forfeit hundreds of thousands of dollars in federal money rather than abide by a government ban on abortion counseling.

"Our principles are not for sale," Jill June, head of Iowa's Planned Parenthood affiliate, said Thursday after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled 5-4 that clinics using federal funds cannot discuss abortion with their patients.

Abortion foes hailed the ruling as a step toward reversing the landmark Roe v. Wade decision legalizing abortion in 1973.

"It's about time," said Dottie Roberts of Family Action, an anti-abortion group based in Lake Stevens, Wash. "The general public is fed up with the biggest disaster of sex education any civilized society has seen."

But family-planning officials said the ruling would mean two standards of care - one for the poor, one for the rich - and prevent doctors from fulfilling their ethical duty to inform patients fully of their medical options.

Others said some clinics that forgo federal dollars might have to cut services or close.

The high court on Thursday upheld regulations issued by the Reagan administration in 1988 that say federally funded clinics may not discuss abortion with pregnant women or tell them where to get one.

The federal government supports about 4,000 clinics serving more than 4 million poor women each year.

Faye Wattleton, president of Planned Parenthood Federation of America, said her organization's network of clinics would continue to counsel on abortion. She said she expects Congress will enact legislation to counter the decision.

In California, a spokeswoman for the state Health and Welfare Agency said Gov. Pete Wilson would use state money if necessary to protect more than 200 clinics that serve 400,000 poor women. The clinics receive about $9.6 million in federal money.

"The governor is so committed to preventive prenatal services, I can't imagine him not bending over backwards to make sure the funds get there," said Kassy Perry.

In Washington state, Health Secretary Kristine Gebbie said state government there would do the same. Washington has 23 family planning agencies.

The Reagan administration regulations were challenged by the city and state of New York and by Dr. Irving Rust, medical director of a clinic in New York City's South Bronx. They were put on hold until the issue was resolved in court. Now they can be enforced.

The clinic that lost the challenge said it too will quit taking federal money rather than keep silent about women's legal options.

"I am being asked to be ... a puppet for the government, rather than a professional with a code of ethics about how I counsel human beings," said Jeannine Michael, director of Planned Parenthood's Bronx clinic.

Michael said the clinic gets about $450,000 a year in federal funds, or 27 percent of its budget. She said she hoped that "people across the country will rise up and make up the difference" in donations.

Charter members still active

The Hereford Chamber Singers have been preparing for their spring concert, "We're Proud to be Americans", set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center and 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Hereford High School auditorium. There will be no admission charged. All citizens are invited to the concert to enjoy good American music and to pay tribute to this country and the military personnel who will be the special guests. Charter members of the Hereford Chamber Singers who are still active in the group include (from left, back row) Joe Flood, Bill Devers, Bobby Boyd, (front row, from left) Dr. Duffy McBrayer, Jane Gulley, Linda Gilbert, Jan Walser, Bera Boyd and Dr. A.T. Mims.

Chamber hears July 4 planning

An overview of the plans being made for a community 4th of July celebration was given by chairman Wes Klett, and updates on other committee activities were reported at the monthly board meeting Thursday afternoon of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The holiday celebration will have a theme of welcoming home those who served in the Gulf War. A parade, dedication of a memorial, a picnic with special entertainment, and a huge fireworks display in Veterans Park will highlight the July 4th program.

President Pat Robbins reported on the chamber's presentation of awards to the valedictorian and salutatorian, as well as to the foreign exchange student, at the LHS awards assembly. The chamber's sports committee chairmen also presented awards at the annual All Sports Banquet.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, said plans to support the study of producing paper from crop residues continues, and more donations are needed for a matching grant. Only $2,000 is needed to meet the goal.

Carr also reported that the High Ground organization recently sent Panhandle representatives on an East Coast trip to contact small manufacturing companies who might be interested in new plant sites. The local industrial development committee will receive contact information from High Ground.

Ruth Newsom, president of the Women's Division, reported on several projects supported by the ladies' group. She said the pet show was a big success with 50 entries, and expressed appreciation to Sugarland Mall for its support. She announced that the beautification committee planted flowers in the boxes downtown a week ago.

Mrs. Newsom also reported that the health and safety committee is currently giving "smoke-free bibs" to all babies born at Deaf Smith General Hospital. The recent blood drive recorded 86 pints of blood. She said the division will honor Artists of the Month at the chamber, beginning in June. And, the publicity committee, headed by Joan Coupe, is helping with the July 4th celebration plans.

Carr said the recent membership drive was a success and chairman Scott Keeling expressed appreciation to committee members, the community and the media. The three-day drive resulted in 49 new members and more are expected to sign up on follow-up calls.

Retiring teachers and administrators were honored Thursday at a reception sponsored by the Classroom Teachers Association at the Hereford Community Center. Honored, from left, were Clara Bartlett, Margaret Lomenick, Oveta White, Reece Whittington, Matha Layman, Phil Shook, Rose Mary Shook, Carole McGilvary and Reuben McGilvary. Also honored were Janis Bell, Elizabeth DeKoster and Carolyn Cook.

Weekend features salutes to soldiersBy ARNIE STAPLETON
Associated Press Writer

Parades, parties and picnics will mark the traditional start of summer this Memorial Day Weekend, which promises poignant remembrances of the 26 Texans killed in our nation's latest war.

One of the biggest observances will take place Saturday at Fort Hood, where officials at the world's largest military installation are expecting a crowd of 100,000 for its "Heroes' Homecoming" celebration.

The event will salute U.S. military personnel who served during Operation Desert Storm "whether they were over there or over here," said Sam Baker, festival spokesman.

"The United States has the finest war technology and the most finely tuned military in the world, and we need to celebrate that," Baker said.

Other large celebrations are scheduled in Austin, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio with smaller events planned in cities, towns and military installations across the state.

Secretary of the Army Michael P.W. Stone will address the Fort Hood gathering just inside the fort's main gate, and Lee Greenwood will perform an hourlong concert sure to include "God Bless the U.S.A."

Chaplain Col. Don Breland will lead the crowd in a moment of remembrance for those killed in the Persian Gulf War.

"This Memorial Day celebration is particularly important because of the Persian Gulf War and the superior

At least two more Hereford soldiers will be honored Saturday in special ceremonies at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Spc. Angie Garza and Spc. Jesus "Ricky" Cantu will be honored on their return home from Operation Desert Storm.

The program will include a color guard from the Hereford American Legion post; the invocation by Dr. Ron Cook, pastor of First Baptist Church; songs by Gene Streun and Annie Zuniga; a short speech by Wes Klett, an Air Force veteran; presentations by the Sugarland Mall Association and Operation Heart Shield; and the Bright Sparks and Chosro Camp Fire groups leading "God Bless The USA."

The ceremony is open to the public.

performance of our military forces and their leadership," Baker said. "That leadership and performance kept our casualties much lower than anyone could have imagined. It's something Americans can be proud of."

Texas A&M University is planning to salute the troops this fall.

Because the school is between spring and summer sessions, it has designated September "Desert Storm Month," a celebration culminating in the Sept. 28 football game in College Station.

News Digest

World, National

WASHINGTON - President Bush's long-awaited Middle East arms control initiative will include ambitious moves on nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, but far more modest steps on conventional arms like those used in the Persian Gulf War, administration sources say.

ACROSS THE USA - Family planning clinics from coast to coast vowed to give up hundreds of thousands of dollars rather than bow to a Supreme Court ruling that says federally-funded clinics cannot counsel patients about abortion. Right-to-life advocates hailed the court's decision as a step toward ending abortion.

WASHINGTON - Senators were divided today over whether to extend President Bush's special authority to negotiate amendment-proof trade agreements with Mexico and other countries.

WASHINGTON - President Bush, conceding he's been tired, is following his doctors' advice to slow down and heading for his Maine vacation home for the first extended holiday since his thyroid condition was diagnosed.

NEW DELHI, India - Emotionally stunned and politically adrift, the world's largest democracy says farewell to assassinated former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

SEATTLE - A federal judge - saying survival of the spotted owl is at stake - has blocked timber sales on 66,000 acres of forestland in three Western states and ordered the Forest Service to develop a plan to save the threatened species.

ZAKHO, Iraq - U.S. and allied troops aim to quicken their exit from Iraq by temporarily deepening their involvement and occupying Dohuk, a major Kurdish city considered a key part of refugee resettlement efforts. But tensions remain high in the security zone, where Kurds again storm the Iraqi police station in Zakho.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia - With its army withering under the rebel advance, the government makes new moves to placate the opposition by freeing political prisoners and toppling a Lenin statue while a crowd cheers.

WASHINGTON - Let President Bush say just about anything - he's learning to punch a computer, he hates broccoli - and the folks in the White House mail room brace for another deluge of cards and letters from the public.

Texas

WASHINGTON - All but four Texas congressmen have voted to give President Bush a free hand as he negotiates a trade agreement with Mexico that promises to boost commerce along the border and expand markets for businesses across the state.

WASHINGTON - Illinois lawmakers upset about cuts to a home-state physics project are joining forces with super collider opponents to slash construction funding for the $8.25 billion atom smasher being built in Texas.

AUSTIN - House and Senate sponsors have reservations about their bill to make it easier to prosecute someone who sexually assaults his or her spouse. But with only four days remaining in the legislative session, it appeared they would take what they have.

DALLAS - The Internal Revenue Service has reversed itself and told some employees that they can be men of God and still work for the tax collection agency.

AUSTIN - An Austin businessman who buys foreclosed properties has purchased entertainer Willie Nelson's golf course and country club at an Internal Revenue Service auction for $230,000.

AUSTIN - Gov. Ann Richards hopes state and county officials can strike a deal over the thousands of state felons now crowding local jails.

AMARILLO - The department of pediatrics at the Amarillo campus of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine will lose its accreditation on June 30, 1992, unless school officials are able to appeal a decision by a committee of the American Medical Association.

AUSTIN - The House approved a proposed constitutional amendment to allow voters to save their partial homestead exemptions from school district property taxes.

DALLAS - Students at Newman Smith High School in Carrollton say they wear Los Angeles Raiders jerseys and t-shirts because they like what the National Football League team stands for, not because they are in gangs.

AUSTIN - The cost to hunt, fish, camp or just visit a state park will increase under fees approved by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. The new fees, expected to produce from between $20 million to $30 million in additional revenue per year, take effect Sept. 1.

AUSTIN - Gov. Ann Richards, who says she enjoys hunting and fishing, appeared before the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission to try and quiet a furor raised by one of her appointees to the panel.

DALLAS - The U.S. Forest Service could save costs of bulldozing, burning and planting if it shifted from harvesting practices such as clearcutting to selection management, environmentalists say.

Agriculture, latest teaching tool

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) - At an urban school here, near the heart of America's farmbelt, students are concentrating on a different version of the three R's: corn Rootworm, crop Rotation and soil Research.

Teachers at the Franklin Middle School received a $56,000 grant from the state to develop a one-of-a-kind curriculum this semester that brings math, science and technology to life through farming.

"We're in the richest agricultural area in the world, but our kids had little awareness about its importance and the jobs it creates," said Marilyn Querry, learning coordinator at the school.

"Now, they know more about agriculture, and they are excited about their classes. It makes learning basic skills a lot more interesting."

Teachers develop classroom materials for this pilot program with the help of local farmers, industry groups and other experts.

Students in a sixth-grade genetics class, for instance, watched beetles bypass a soybean leaf to dine on the leaf of a garden green bean. The message: plants can be bred to have natural resistance to insects.

"There is something in the plant that doesn't smell good or taste good to the bugs, so they won't eat it," Kevin Steffey, an entomologist from the University of Illinois, told the class. "It's like spinach. You might prefer something else."

At a nearby Frito Lay facility, worker Alan Mowery showed sixth-graders where his company stores corn that eventually will be made into snacks.

"If you eat a corn chip east of the Mississippi, the corn probably is coming out of this part of Illinois," said Mowery, claiming that Frito Lay pays its farmers a premium price for their crops. "They've responded by bringing us top quality corn."

Dennis Riggs, a local farmer, showed the students his corn and soybean storage bins and gave them a chance to hold baby chicks and a lamb. He also gave them some insight into the business of farming.

"My wife and I run this farm," Riggs said. "We don't stop at five o'clock and start again at eight in the morning. When something needs to be done, we have to do it."

Students visited other farms and agricultural businesses in the county while teachers organized a separate agricultural fair at the school. About 300 students are involved.

"Classes are a lot more fun because things are in realistic terms, not just fiction," said eighth-grader Jeremy Bartlotti, using algebra to determine what portion of a farmer's income comes from corn.

In the school's computer lab, the boy used government statistics to calculate corn and soybean production and cash income of Illinois farmers. He also produced a graph showing the importance of corn in various counties.

"I've really seen a bushel, and I know what it looks like," said Bartlotti. "I know now how complex agriculture is and how much money is involved."

Querry, the school's learning coordinator, hopes the Franklin program will become a model for other schools across the country.

VICA state winners

HHS ICT captures state title

Hereford High School ICT class won the Texas Skill Olympics held recently in San Antonio and qualified for Nationals.

The ICT won 1st place in the chapter display contest. The contest consisted of three parts, a seven minute presentation, notebook and the display.

Nate Keyes presented the speech, Doran Weed was the electrician and John Steinert and Tony Perez were carpenters. Eric Savage programmed the computers.

Savage won third in state in floor laying. Laura Claudio and Denna Vardeman won 1st with their notebooks. Steinert placed second with his project.

The next step in competition is the National VICA Skill Olympics. All 50 states and Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Island and Canada will be represented by approximately 7,000 students. Hereford will be representing Texas at the contest.

Texas Tech closes pediatrics

AMARILLO (AP) - The department of pediatrics at the Amarillo campus of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine will lose its accreditation on June 30, 1992, according to a committee of the American Medical Association.

School officials said Thursday they plan to appeal the decision by the Pediatrics Residency Review Committee of the AMA to close down the children's medicine department in Amarillo.

Services of the neonatal newborn intensive care unit at Northwest Texas Hospital and other children's programs at Northwest run by Tech faculty and residents will not be affected immediately, hospital president Kevin Gross said.

The department of pediatrics has operated with provisional accreditation since it started in Amarillo in 1985, said Gene White of the News and Publication office at the Amarillo school.

Dr. E. Lee Taylor Jr., the associate dean of the Tech Amarillo campus, and Dr. Rolf Habersang, the chairman of the Department of Pediatrics, were both out of town Thursday and could not be reached for comment, the Amarillo Globe-News reported.

Tech public relations officials in Lubbock and Amarillo said the memo or letter ordering the department to close down was not available to the public.

The review committee cited the medical school for not having enough faculty members with subspecialties in pediatrics, White said. He added that since the review committee gathered information, Dr. Ton de Grauw, the Texas Panhandle's only pediatric neurologist, joined the faculty.

The hospital is attempted to add more staff members, White said.

White said the review committee also wanted the school's eight pediatric residents to spend a solid month working in the emergency room and not rotate in and out.

The university considers that the department is on "probation" and the problems will be cleared. White said patient care will not be affected.

Besides pediatrics, Tech operates Departments of Internal Medicine and Obstetrics-Gynecology medical residency programs in Amarillo. Internal medicine and obstetrics-gynecology are accredited, White said.

Hereford Police offer home security checks

By DANEE' WILSON
Staff Writer

Hereford Police Officers Terry Brown and Albert Garza have recently completed crime prevention school and will be able to perform home security surveys.

"We are now certified crime prevention officers," said Brown. "What this means to the public is we can now do home security surveys that will save them on their home owners insurance."

During the survey, the doors, windows, garage doors and locks are checked. If the home passes inspection, the homeowner is eligible for a 5 percent discount on their homeowners insurance. For homes that do not pass inspection, the officers make recommendations. When the recommendations have been met, the home will be reinspected. The service is free of charge.

The officers will also be performing business security checks.

"For the businesses, we will show them how to recognize hot checks and credit card fraud," said Brown. "We will also show them ways to improve money security and how to detect shop lifters."

Officers Brown and Garza will also be reactivating the neighborhood watch program.

"We want to give the neighborhoods a chance to know the problems in their own neighborhoods and to meet each other," said Brown. "Corp. Garza will meet with residents in Spanish neighborhoods. All they have to do is give us a call."

For information on any of the services offered through the police department, call 364-2323.

Officers complete school

Hereford Police Officers Albert Garza (l) and Terry Brown complete crime prevention school. The officers will be able to perform home security surveys that will lower insurance rates.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I tried for years to get my wife and six children to wear seat belts, but it was a losing battle. I'd just about given up when my 5-year-old gave me a great idea. He got in the car one day and, for a change, put on his seat belt, turned to me and said, "What are you forgetting?" I hadn't buckled mine yet. I told him if he remembered to put on his seat belt and say, "What are you forgetting?" 10 more times, I'd buy him a Popsicle.

To my surprise, he never forgot to buckle up after that. About five Popsicles later, my whole family was playing the "What are you forgetting?" game.

Here are the rules we go by:

1. You earn one point every time you get into the car, fasten your seat belt and say, "What are you forgetting?" before anyone else says it.
2. After accumulating 10 points, you get a treat.
3. After buckling up, if you're caught with your belt off, you lose a point.
4. You can't earn points in public parking lots. This is to prevent youngsters from racing each other to the car in traffic.

If every family in America played this game it could prevent thousands of traffic deaths and injuries. The game could be started nationwide if school administrators would get the ball rolling in their districts. Teachers could simply tell students the rules and rewards and send them home with a written description of the game. They could even tie a little piece of "What are you forgetting?" yarn around each student's finger so he or she will remember to mention it to the folks. What do you think, Ann? -- Buckled Up in San Antonio

DEAR BUCKLED UP: I think it's a terrific idea. Siblings love to compete. They also love prizes. The game also ensures that Mom and Dad will buckle up. That 5-year-old sounds like a real winner to me.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've just finished reading in the Santa Barbara News Press the letter signed "Ohio" about the mother of the 28-year-old drug addict. Ann, you replied, "Sign off, call it a day, and get on with your lives." That was good advice as far as it went, but a mother who has a bleeding ulcer and a load of resentment is not going to be able to "Sign off, call it a day, etc."

Ann, you missed a golden opportunity to tell "Ohio" about the most effective and practical help for loved ones of addicts and/or alcoholics. Get thee forthwith, Ohio, to the very next Alanon meeting in your community. Then keep going back to those meetings. It is the best source of help in the world. The stories of recovery, as told by the addicts and alcoholics themselves, are truly inspiring.

These meetings take place morning, noon and night in nearly every community, not only in this country but now in 74 countries around the world. It is nothing short of miraculous. I truly hope you will use every opportunity to tell the world about this phenomenal recovery resource.

Thanks so much, Ann. Keep up the good work. -- A Recovering Mother

DEAR MOTHER: I have been the strongest supporter of Alcoholics Anonymous and Alanon going back to 1955. Thousands of people have written to thank me for sending them to AA and saving their lives.

You can be sure I will keep singing the praises of those incredible organizations that seem to succeed when everything else fails. And it costs nothing to join. AA performs miracles!

The first recorded town meeting in America was held in 1743, at Faneuil Hall in Boston.

Summer school planned

The Hereford Independent School district is scheduling a Kindergarten bilingual summer school for children in grades Pre-K and K-5.

The first session will run June 17-July 12, and the second July 15-August 9. All Kindergarten children that have been identified with limited English proficiency and who will be in K-5 or the first grade next school year are eligible.

Classes, which will be held at the Stanton Learning Center, will run from 8:30 a.m. to noon. Students can participate if recommended by their teachers or referred by their parents. Classes taught will be reading, language arts and math.

Students will be required to attend all sessions in order to receive credit. No transportation will be provided, so parents will need to arrange transportation for their children.

Registration will continue through May 31 at each primary school. Parents may meet with their child's teacher or the building principal, or may contact Severo Reyna, the HISD bilingual education director, at 364-5941.

Help make Memorial Day safe for highway driving

Memorial Day Weekend is approaching and with it brings the first outing of the summer. Major V.J. Cawthon, regional commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety says motorists should be aware of the increased dangers on the highways during this holiday season.

Driving defensively and expecting the worse from other drivers is one sure way to stay alert to the situations that lie ahead. If any travelling is to be done at night, then a check of our vehicle lighting is a must. Headlights, turn signals, tail lights, and brake lights are often the only way we have of communicating with other drivers.

Motorist should expect to see large volumes of traffic in and around recreational areas. Keep in mind that the road conditions in these areas are not going to be as good as on the open freeway. Roads are often narrow, with generally two laned traffic and often times no shoulder. These situations call for reduced speed with a good eye on the road ahead. Always check out the shoulder area or right side of the roadway because this is where you'll have to drive if a vehicle should cross into your lane of travel.

One of the best preventive measures, to help reduce injury and death during a collision, is also the easiest. "Buckle Up," it can make a difference. Let's all help make this Memorial Day Weekend the safest ever. "Drive Friendly, It's the Texas way of doing things."

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Richard Pryor has suffered from multiple sclerosis for five years, says a spokesman for the actor-comedian.

Guy McElwaine said Thursday that Pryor's MS is in remission and is not life-threatening.

MS is a degenerative disease of the central nervous system. Its cause is unknown, and its symptoms can include numbness, tremors and disturbances in vision.

Club has gift exchange

Members of the Draper Extension Homemakers Club had a Mother's Day gift exchange during their May 22 meeting. The women met for their final session until fall in the home of Brenda Pagett.

President Johnnie Messer called the meeting to order and the T.E.H.A. prayer was recited as were the pledges to the American and Texas flags.

The hostess read a poem, "Passage", as the opening exercise. Roll call was answered with "my plans for the summer."

During the business meeting, Toni Vaughn, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and Messer gave the financial report. Also, a report was given by Carmen Rickman, council delegate.

Wanice Jones was welcomed as a special visitor by those present: Messer, Vaughn, Sherri Blackwell, Carmen Rickman and Brenda Pagett.

WESLEY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

REV. JAMES HAMILTON

The church congregation will welcome their new pastor, Rev. James Hamilton, this Sunday. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. During the evening service, there will be a time of informal singing, personal testimonies, altar time and preaching.

Rev. Hamilton, a retired Methodist minister, will be leading the church during the conference year 1991-92. Hamilton, a traditional Methodist, is a graduate of Idalou High School. He did his undergraduate studies at Texas Tech University and his graduate work at Perkins School of Theology, SMU, in Dallas. He has served churches in Lubbock, Meadow, Brownfield, Roscoe, Wolforth, Amarillo and is retired from the Vega United Methodist Church.

Jean Hamilton, the pastor's wife, is a registered nurse and is the director of nursing services at King's Manor-Westgate Methodist Home. The couple has three children, Jim of Conroe, Major John of the Panama Canal Zone, and Helen, who lives in Galveston. They also have eight grandchildren.

The Hamiltons have lived in Hereford two years and are looking forward to this year being a great experience said a church spokesperson.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

During the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service, Pastor Jim Hickman will speak on the topic "When Anger Grows Gray." The message, which is part of a series on emotions, deals with the spiritual and emotional impact of long-held resentments.

"Christian Perspectives on Stress Management" continues at 6 p.m. Worship and Bible study begins at 7 p.m.

For additional information about

NEW YORK (AP) - Dabney Coleman will make a TV comeback as a reluctant schoolteacher on a new Fox series called "Shut Up, Kids," the network said in announcing its fall schedule. ABC announced eight new shows and three cuts.

ABC axed Emmy-winning "thirtysomething," the surreal "Twin Peaks" and the Vietnam War drama "China Beach." Fox dropped "Babes" and "Top of the Heap."

With the schedule announcements Tuesday, Fox also announced a big change. Chairman Barry Diller said his network no longer will hurl all its series into the annual fall fight for viewers. The new shows will be staggered, he said.

the church and its services, call 258-7330.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages begins at 10 a.m. at the church. There is a church bus available for anyone needing transportation by calling 364-1667 or 364-1668.

The Adult Bible class will be continuing in the study of the book of Revelation.

During the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service, Rev. Don Kirklen will give the sermon entitled "We Are Members of a Strange Family" taken from John 3: 1-17.

The Wednesday evening Bible studies will conclude May 29. If you have not been coming, we invite you to come to this final meeting, make any suggestions you would like and ask any questions. Classes begin at 7 p.m.

The public is invited to all services at the church located at 100 Ave. B.

SAN PABLO UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

San Pablo United Methodist Church members are planning a community-wide Mexican dinner from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, June 2, at the Hereford Community Center. The congregation and Rev. Hilda Cavazos, pastor, invite everyone to attend this dinner which will benefit the church treasury.

The menu will include enchiladas, rice, beans and salad prepared by the women of the church who have earned a reputation for their Mexican cuisine.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from church members or at the door.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

The Junior Confirmation Class will have its final session and a cookout at 6 p.m. Sunday, May 26, at 424 Ave. J.

St. Anthony's School is taking applications for teaching positions for 1991-91. Apply in the school office.

Please keep turning in your Furr's grocery tapes until the end of May. Your cooperation in this project is greatly appreciated.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

First Baptist Church Kindergarten Graduation will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the fellowship hall.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:45 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service starts at 11. Following the Sunday evening service, an ice cream social will be held.

The Children's Choir program is planned at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 29, in the fellowship hall. The Preschool Choir is under the direction of Kay Cooper; Music Makers, Polly Hays; and Young Musicians, Susan

Shaw. The Young Musicians will perform "The Greatest Show on Heaven and Earth."

FRIO BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Sam Milam invites the public to attend all services at the church located seven miles south of Hereford on Farm to Market Road 1055. Anyone needing transportation may call 276-5380.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 10 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service starts at 11. The discipleship training is at 6 p.m. and the worship service starts at 7 p.m. The Wednesday evening Bible study and prayer meeting begins at 7:30.

SUMMERFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Ellis Parsons invites the public to attend all services at the church located eight miles southwest of Hereford on Hwy. 60.

Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. The Wednesday night services begin at 7.

Doug Manning, the regular worship leader, is conducting a study on the Ten Commandments during the Sunday morning service held from 10-11:30.

Anyone needing transportation for any reason, may call 364-0359 or 364-3869. There is no cost for this service.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. James W. Cory's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service is entitled "Vacations-For Better or Worse." Bibles will be presented during the worship service to the graduating seniors, Dawn DeBord, Terri DeBord, D'Ann Hill, Kari Malamen and Jody Parker.

The scripture lesson is I Cor. 10:23-24, 31-11:1; Mark 2:23-3:6.

Volunteers are needed to paint the large fellowship hall. Contact Mary Dzuik, Beth Gear or the church office if you can help.

The church office will be closed May 27 for Memorial Day.

There are still some Centennial T-shirts left to sell. Stop by the church office and buy one.

Our biggest Centennial celebration is coming June 14-16, Friday to Sunday. Dr. Jack Stotts, president of Austin Theological Seminary will be the guest speaker.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I was a dog groomer for over 15 years. As soon as the weather gets warm each spring, grooming shops are overwhelmed with long-haired dogs that have to be clipped to the skin.

Owners had not groomed the dogs all winter because they think dogs need long hair to keep warm. If long hair were needed, how could short-haired dogs and animals such as cattle and deer survive?

Long-haired dogs must be groomed regularly since their hair can become as tightly matted as a piece of felt. If it gets wet it shrinks, sometimes so tightly that circulation in the skin is impaired and sores develop.

When wet it may take days to dry. Pieces of grass, twigs and stickers get caught in it also, causing sores. I have seen pieces of wire, carpenter's nails and fish hooks.

When spring comes it is very often necessary for the groomer to use a fine blade to get under the matting, thus leaving the dog shaved to the skin. Even if the dog is lucky enough to have no sores, he is now exposed to the weather and insect bites.

Dogs should get the same grooming all year round. A well-brushed coat contains millions of air spaces that hold body heat and keep the dog warm and comfortable.

If you are thinking of getting a dog and don't have the time, patience or desire to brush a long-haired dog's coat regularly, please give a lot of thought to getting a short-haired dog. They don't require as much grooming. — D. Everett, San Antonio, Texas

Thank you for your very good advice. I hope anyone who has a long-haired dog thinks about the grooming schedule. Woof! from your furry friends. — Heloise

PET PALS

Dear Heloise: I have two kittens who think they're a couple of kids. Anytime one has something, the other wants it.

Little Jessie hides her ball-pup sock only for Jackie to find it and hide it in another area.

Dinner time is really funny. The food dish is pulled back and forth between the two. When one finally wins out, the other swats it across the face.

But it's all forgotten at nap time when they cuddle together. They look like little angels for a short time until they wake up and start again. — Rose Grissom, Elmont, N.Y.

BOOKMARK

Dear Heloise: My daughter sent me a couple of beautiful bookmarks she makes and gives to nursing homes and hospitals.

Helen dries fresh flowers between pages of a thick book. When dry, she arranges them between two sheets of clear laminated plastic.

They look beautiful! The color fades a bit, but they still look pretty. Wouldn't that be a nice project for kids to do for their moms? — Angie Roberts, Miami, Fla.

I think it would be great! There's nothing nicer than giving your mom flowers, and those made into bookmarks make a lasting memory. — Heloise

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279 or fax it to 512-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

What you should know about medicine labels

Nonprescription, over-the-counter (OTC) medicines are, in most cases, intended to relieve the symptoms of everyday ailments such as headache, sour stomach, constipation, coughs, colds and nasal congestion.

The information consumers need to use these medicines correctly and without professional supervision is on the label. Because manufacturers sometimes change ingredients used, some recommendations, or warnings and other instructions, you should read the label everytime you take medicine.

The label of each nonprescription medicine includes: the name and identity of the product, what it will do, the next contents, active ingredients, inactive ingredients and the name and location of the manufacturer. It will also include directions on how to use it and warnings, if any.

Some nonprescription medicines should not be used at the same time as other medicines. If this is so, the label will say so.

Labels on most nonprescription medicines tell you when to see a doctor if your condition does not improve. If a condition, such as a persistent cough, continues for more than a certain period of time it may be an indication of a serious condition.

Even though nonprescription medicines are by legal definition safe for use without medical supervision, you still must do your part. Read the label and always keep all medicines out of the reach of children.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

MORE BIBLICAL WOMEN'S LIB!

IN THE DAYS OF MOSES, A MAN NAMED ZELOPHEHAD DIED. BY LAW, ONLY MALES COULD INHERIT, BUT ZELOPHEHAD LEFT NO SONS, ONLY FIVE DAUGHTERS, HAVING NO RIGHTS, MAHLAH, HOGIAH, NOAH (YES, A GIRL!), MILCAH, AND TIRZAH. BUT...

...THE DAUGHTERS DIDN'T QUITE RELISH HAVING FATHER'S WORLDLY GOODS DIVIDED AMONGST DISTANT MALE RELATIVES, SO THESE FIVE FEISTY FEMALES WENT BEFORE MOSES HIMSELF, BOLDLY ARGUING THAT THEY SHOULD INHERIT! MOSES, AS USUAL, TOOK IT UP WITH THE LORD (NUMBERS 27:1-11) "AND THE LORD SPAKE UNTO MOSES SAYING, 'THE DAUGHTERS OF ZELOPHEHAD SPEAK RIGHT...THOU SHALT CAUSE THE INHERITANCE OF THEIR FATHER TO PASS UNTO THEM.'"

THESE COURAGEOUS EARLY "LIBBERS" WON FOR WOMEN THE LEGAL RIGHT TO INHERIT FROM THAT DAY FORWARD!

Streaking Rangers take loop lead

By The Associated Press
Jose Guzman hasn't pitched in a major league game in three seasons. If he keeps on pitching like this, he won't pitch in too many more.

Guzman, who missed all of the 1989 season and most of 1990 with shoulder problems, walked nine in 3 2-3 innings Thursday, but the Texas Rangers came back to beat the Minnesota Twins 10-6 in 11 innings. The victory, coupled with Oakland's 11-1 loss to Chicago, gave the Rangers a half-game lead in the American League West.

"I didn't really know where the ball was going," Guzman said. "I was just trying to get some outs."

Guzman made 10 minor league appearances last year as part of his comeback. He allowed two runs and four hits against the Twins.

"He had outstanding stuff today," Texas manager Bobby Valentine said. "It might be hard to say that when you walk nine men, but the problem was he had too much adrenaline. He's just head and shoulders ahead of what he had in the spring. He was really pumped, but his arm was OK."

Reuben Sierra was 4-for-6 with five RBIs as the Rangers extended their club-record winning streak to 10. With the score tied 5-5 in the 11th, he hit a three-run double. Juan Gonzalez hit a two-run double later in the inning.

"I thought the lead would hold up, but they kept battling back and they're a good team, but so are we," Sierra said. "We've got the confidence right now."

Kirby Puckett went 6-for-7 for the Twins, getting five singles and a triple. The major league record for hits in an extra-inning game is nine by John Burnett of Cleveland in an 18-inning game in 1932.

But Minnesota stranded 21 runners, three short of the American League record for an extra-inning game.

"I'd give up all my hits today if only we could've won," Puckett said. "It means nothing unless we win."

In other games, Detroit beat Boston 5-3 and Milwaukee beat Cleveland 7-3.

Tigers 5, Red Sox 3
Pete Incaviglia, who had struck out in all 11 previous career at-bats against Roger Clemens, broke a 3-3 tie with a run-scoring double in the seventh inning at Tiger Stadium.

Clemens (6-2) allowed four runs and five hits in seven-plus innings, struck out 10 and walked two.

Mike Henneman (4-1) got the victory and Paul Gibson got two outs for his fourth save.

Milwaukee 7, Cleveland 3
B.J. Surhoff hit a two-run single in a four-run first inning as Milwaukee ended a three-game losing streak.

Don August (3-2) allowed three runs and seven hits in six-plus innings, struck out three and walked two. Darren Holmes pitched three innings for his second save.

Charles Nagy (1-4), winless in six starts since April 22, was knocked out after 1 2-3 innings.

Greene hurls no-hitter

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

Darrin Jackson forgives his teammates for withholding their congratulations after he hit a home run he'll never forget.

"We still had to go out there and play defense," he said.

And the way things were going, there was no guarantee the San Diego Padres could hold off the Atlanta Braves for three more outs. But they did, and came away with an 11-10 victory in 12 innings Thursday night.

"You know, it's never over 'til it's over," Jackson said. "Then they thanked me."

Jackson homered on the first pitch of the 12th as the Padres - scoring six unearned runs in the game on five Atlanta errors - beat the Braves in a 4-hour, 44-minute marathon.

The game capped a day in which a former Brave - Tommy Greene - pitched a no-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Montreal Expos 2-0. Elsewhere in the National League, it was Los Angeles 2, Houston 0; Cincinnati 6, San Francisco 2; St. Louis 8, Pittsburgh 2, and Chicago 4, New York 3.

Jackson's second homer of the season - and 15th Padre hit - came off Jeff Parrett (0-1) and cleared the left field fence. It made a winner of Steve Rosenberg (1-1) and spoiled an Atlanta comeback spiced by a three-run, game-tying homer by David Justice.

Both teams scored four times in the 10th, with all the San Diego runs uncared as a result of two Atlanta errors.

Phillies 2, Expos 0
Greene (3-0), making only the 15th start of his major league career, struck out a career-high 10 while walking seven. The no-hitter was the second of the season - Nolan Ryan pitched the first on May 1 - and the eighth in Phillies history.

The Phillies scored a run in the first when John Kruk doubled and Ricky Jordan tripled off Oil Can Boyd (2-5). Philadelphia added a run in the ninth on consecutive doubles by Von Hayes and Darrin Fletcher off Scott Ruskin.

Reds 6, Giants 2
Jack Armstrong (4-2) pitched a four-hitter for his first complete game since last July 29 at San Francisco, and Paul O'Neill hit a three-run homer in a five-run first inning.

Trevor Wilson (0-4) gave up all six runs and seven hits before he was removed with one out in the second.

Dodgers 2, Astros 0
Tim Belcher won for the fifth time in six career Astrodome decisions and Lenny Harris drove in two runs for Los Angeles.

Belcher (4-4) allowed six hits in 7 2-3 innings, struck out two and walked four. Harris had run-scoring hits in the fourth and sixth off Xavier Hernandez (0-4). Eddie Murray also had hits that figured in scoring both runs.

Cardinals 8, Pirates 2
Jose DeLeon won for only the third time in 27 starts, and Felix Jose had three of 15 St. Louis hits and scored twice as the surging Cardinals beat sputtering Pittsburgh.

The Cardinals, also getting three hits from Todd Zeile and two runs scored from Ozzie Smith, took two of three games from the Pirates to win their fifth consecutive series.

Cubs 4, Mets 3
Doug Dascenzo's squeeze bunt with two strikes scored Shawn Dunston in the ninth inning and kept Cubs manager Jim Essian unbeaten.

Luis Salazar led off the ninth with an infield single off John Franco (1-3) and was forced by Dunston. Pinch-hitter Hector Villanueva, a slow runner, followed with a grounder to deep shortstop and Kevin Elster made a throwing error that moved Dunston to third.

Dascenzo tried the squeeze on a 3-1 pitch but fouled the ball behind the plate. Essian, named manager of the Cubs before Wednesday's game, came right back with the squeeze and Dascenzo dropped a bunt between the mound and third.

White Sox 11, Athletics 1
Frank Thomas had a career-high five RBIs and Greg Hibbard pitched a five-hitter.

Hibbard (3-2) struck out three and walked one in his second complete game.

The White Sox had 17 hits against four A's pitchers, including six straight to lead off the seventh inning when they scored four runs on Ozzie Guillen's two-run double and RBI singles by Tim Raines - who went 4-for-4 - and Lance Johnson.

Andy Hawkins (1-3) lasted 4 2-3 innings in his second outing for the A's, giving up five runs on seven hits while walking three.

'Substitue' Phillie pitcher makes good with dream tilt

MONTREAL (AP) - If there was one guy who knew what Tommy Greene was going through as he neared a no-hitter, it was teammate Terry Mulholland.

And that's why Mulholland was the first one to start spraying the beer in the clubhouse after Greene completed a no-hitter in the Philadelphia Phillies' 2-0 victory over the Montreal Expos Thursday.

"I was just so happy for him and I know this is going to make a big, big difference in his career," said Mulholland, who threw the National League's last no-hitter last Aug. 15 against the San Francisco Giants.

"It's just to give him so much confidence in his own abilities. It's going to be great."

The locker-room celebration was delayed somewhat because Greene spent the first 25 minutes after the game doing television and radio interviews on the field. But waiting around their food table was a lot easier on the Phillies than waiting for the last couple of innings to wind down.

"We were with him on every pitch, but didn't say anything to him, because it's not right to," Mulholland said.

Actually, the Phillies didn't have to say anything because Greene (3-0) was well aware of what was going on. Still, the 24-year-old right-hander from Lumberton, N.C., who was making only his second start of the season, tried not to let it affect him.

"I knew from the sixth inning what was happening, but you still have to concentrate on doing your job," Greene said.

Greene, who pitched the first no-hitter in Olympic Stadium since Montreal's Charlie Lea did it against the Giants on May 10, 1981, overpowered the Expos, throwing 130 pitches, 76 for strikes. He struck out a career-high 10, and walked seven, allowing only three fly balls.

"He seemed to know exactly what he wanted to do and when," catcher Darrin Fletcher said. "There were a couple of times he didn't feel comfortable with the pitches I called and he shook me off. He was in control out there."

Greene ended the game himself, spearing Tim Wallach's comebacker to the mound. After the pitcher stabbed the ball, he extended his arms outward and jogged toward first base before flipping the ball to Ricky Jordan for the putout.

"As soon as I grabbed it, I just yelled 'Yeah,'" said Greene, who became the first pitcher to no-hit the Expos since Bob Forsch of St. Louis did it Sept. 26, 1983. "But I'm just glad we played on turf, because it gave the ball a true hop. He hit the ball hard, but it was clean."

Greene, whose last complete game and shutout came in 1989, only got the chance to start because Danny Cox was out with a pulled groin. He said he isn't going to worry about whether or not he gets another chance to start.

"I'm not even going to think about that tomorrow," Greene said. "As long as the team wins, I'll do whatever they ask me to."

The Phillies gave Greene an early lead against Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd (2-5), scoring when Ricky Jordan followed John Kruk's two-out double in the first inning with an RBI-triple.

Fletcher doubled home Von Hayes in the ninth inning for the other run.

The Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, each won two games as the Cardinals defeated Detroit in the 1934 World Series.

Although batting only .239 as a team, the Cardinals defeated the Yankees four games to one in the 1942 World Series.

Calcavecchia is back, ties for lead at Colonial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Mark Calcavecchia's back from the golfing grave, flashing his familiar grin and sounding a bit like the cocky, confident challenger of old.

"It's been awhile....," the long-hitting Ryder Cup veteran said after a 5-under-par 65 earned him a share of the first-round lead at the $1.2 million Colonial tournament.

Calcavecchia, seeking his first victory since a banner campaign in 1989, found his swing and his putting stroke on a hot, steamy afternoon and joined Fred Funk and Peter Persons as the front-runners entering today's second round.

"This is just the first round and now we got to start right back over on round two," Calcavecchia said after a near flawless display that included five birdies and no bogeys. "It feels good to play well again. It's been awhile since I haven't struggled through a round. I felt like I was in control. It reminded me of how I was playing a couple of years ago."

That was when he won the Phoenix and Los Angeles Opens, earned $834,281 on the American tour and won his first major, the British Open, in a playoff with Greg Norman and Wayne Grady.

"I've been struggling and really working on my game," he said Thursday. "I went out and had a good time. It was a definite boost of confidence and I needed it."

The 30-year-old veteran from West Palm Beach, Florida, stripped five shots from par through 13 holes but faltered a little and needed three sand saves to save par and rescue his share of the lead.

His colleagues seemed surprised to be in the early catbird seat.

"I don't have a lot of experience shooting low scores," said Persons, 28, whose only victory came last year in the Chattanooga Classic. "Watson and Kite do it all the time. They're used to it."

Likewise, Funk, 34, a non-winner, confessed that such heady experiences as Thursday's 65 are a trifle unusual.

"I just try to grind it out," he said. "I work real hard at it. There's a lot of money out here and a fine line between making it and not making it."

Funk, who spent eight years as golf coach at the University of Maryland, his alma mater, said that after two years on the circuit, "I'm getting more comfortable playing with the great names. I enjoy watching what they do."

More important, he said, "I feel like I'm moving up a notch. I can compete with these guys."

Just one shot behind the leaders at 66 were 1980 Colonial champion Bruce Lietzke, Chris Perry, Jim Hallet, Mark Lye, David Edwards and Gene Sauers.

Sauers missed first place with a bogey at the par 4 18th, which is guarded by a pond known not altogether affectionately as "Crampton's Lake." The lake cost Bruce Crampton one and perhaps two Colonial titles.

Wayne Levy, the reigning PGA player of the year, dumped his approach shot in the lake Thursday, took a double bogey and wound up two strokes off the pace at 67.

Tom Watson and Tom Kite, two of the favorites, fired a 68 and 69 respectively, and Ben Crenshaw, the defending champion, was at even par 70. Corey Pavin, the 1986 winner here and the current leading money winner, shot a 71.

The third and fourth rounds will be televised Saturday and Sunday by CBS.

A steak fry at Hereford Country Club followed the tourney.

Johnson hot, but other Pistons not

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) - Vinnie Johnson is at it again. It's NBA playoff time and Johnson is hot. The problem is that the rest of the Detroit Pistons are not.

The Pistons trail Chicago 2-0 in the Eastern Conference finals, and unless they can regain their touch in games Saturday and Monday at The Palace, the Bulls will end Detroit's dream of a third consecutive NBA title.

Johnson, called "the Microwave," heated up quickly against the Bulls. He averaged only 11.7 points per game during the regular season, and through the Pistons' first 11 playoff games, he averaged only 13.1 points.

But in two games against the Bulls, Johnson is averaging 25 points. "I had it going and I was either making my shots or going to the foul line," Johnson said. "But you know we couldn't stop them on the other end. You got to make some stops."

Indeed. The young and hungry Bulls have thrashed the Pistons by scores of 94-83 and 105-97.

"We've got to get some other people to play well," Johnson said. "We are playing a little soft. We got to play a lot harder. The Bulls are more aggressive, but nothing we are not used to. Boston was more aggressive (in the conference semifinals) than they were. We are just not responding."

Responding is what Johnson does best. It was his 15-footer with 0.07 seconds remaining at Portland almost a year ago that gave the Pistons their second consecutive championship.

Only two other teams in history have ever won three titles in a row: the Minneapolis Lakers (1952-54) and the Boston Celtics (1959-66). If the Pistons are to join that list, they have to win four of the five possible remaining games in this series.

That means Johnson will need

Batting helmets were introduced in major league baseball by the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1941.

help. Mark Aguirre is averaging 20.5 points against the Bulls and Joe Dumars is averaging 16.5 points. After that it drops all the way to Isiah Thomas and his 10.5 points. No other Detroit player is averaging double figures against the Bulls.

"I wouldn't say I was the only guy, but there weren't too many other guys," Johnson said. "We just need some inside play and post-up play. Right now, we got to get some other people involved."

That's easier said than done. The Bulls' defense is playing this year the way the Pistons' defense played in the past. Chicago's average playoff yield is 90.9 points in 10 games. That's 1.9 points off the playoff record set by Phoenix in 1981.

"Defense is the nature of both teams, and I'm sure both teams want to maintain their consistency," Chicago's Michael Jordan said.

Jordan is averaging 31.1 points through Chicago's 10 playoff games, but only 28.5 points in the two games against Detroit. That's because the Bulls' bench, like Detroit's Microwave, has heated up in this series. As a result, Jordan hasn't been needed as much.

The Chicago bench of Cliff Levingston, Will Perdue, B.J. Armstrong and Craig Hodges has been able to play for long stretches for Bulls coach Phil Jackson and actually increase the lead.

"We're getting good runs and Phil is staying with us," Armstrong said. "We have something good going right now and we're just going to try to keep it going for as long as possible."

Local firms host tourney

The annual golf tourney and steak fry sponsored by Farr Better Feeds and American Cyanamid was held Thursday with 73 players in the scramble golf tournament.

A team composed of Ron Weishaar, Larry Dunn and Jim Nicholson took first in the scramble with a score of 62.

Two teams tied at 64 and the team of Gail Kring, Walt Davis, Matt Lindsey and Pat Robbins took second place on a scorecard playoff. Jason Grimsley, Jim Perrin, Speedy Nieman and Bob Hughes also had a 64.

The tournament started at 1 p.m., and the steak fry followed at Hereford Country Club. Prizes were presented by Walt Davis, Farr Better Feeds, and Don Clements, American Cyanamid.

Riders Club sets event

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: A few years ago I started having night-time leg cramps. Now they are worse. I can only sleep a couple of hours day or night because of the cramps. I have to jump out of bed and walk them off. I don't get much rest. My feet hurt and burn and also go to sleep or get numb. It is the same whether I'm on my feet or sitting down, but don't hurt when I'm in bed.

I have hardening of the arteries. That is why I have had coronary bypass surgery for three coronary arteries 12 years ago. Can you help me? I take Lanoxin and Inderal daily. I'm 69 years old, male, 5 feet 8 inches and weigh 160 pounds.

DEAR READER: Your history of coronary artery disease along with the point your feet don't hurt when you are in bed suggests you have a circulatory problem. Coronary artery disease is caused by fatty-cholesterol deposits in the coronary arteries. The same process can affect the arteries in your legs. The obstruction means only a limited amount of oxygen can be delivered to the leg muscles, and any form of exercise is apt to cause pain and cramps. You can also have leg cramps for this reason during the night.

Another overlooked cause for leg cramps is pressure on the nerves that supply the legs. Bone spurs of the spine may irritate the nerves and cause this. The nerve stimulation may cause a very strong or nearly total muscle contraction. These cramps are most likely to occur during the day when a person is active. More often, they occur in the afternoon, and get worse as a person is active. They tend to subside and disappear during the night when there is no pressure from the upright posture.

I have discussed the different factors that cause leg cramps and what to do for them in my new Special Report 119, Help for Leg Cramps. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/119, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

You need particularly to have a check of the arteries to your legs and also a check to see if there is any reason for compression of spinal nerves to your legs. DEAR DR. LAMB: I am 13 years old and I have an erection mostly all the time and I don't think that's right. Is it? I am in junior high school and at gym we have to take showers. My fellow students laugh at me because I have an erection. I asked them if they have ever had one and they said they never have.

Now I'm scared to go to the YMCA showers. I'm afraid they'll laugh at me. Is any of this common in males? I have erections during the day and at night when I think of having children when I get older. Is it normal to have chest hairs at my age? I'm scared to ask my parents about this erection problem.

DEAR READER: Your fellow students are not telling you the truth. Males start having erections in the uterus even before they are born. It can be seen on ultrasound studies. They occur normally during various phases of sleep.

Sexual arousal becomes much more common when you reach puberty and start producing an increased amount of male hormone — testosterone. That also results in developing hair on your chest and elsewhere. You may be further along in sexual development than your fellow students, but it is normal to enter puberty before age 13. It happens early in some males and rather late in others. Then there are different levels of sexual arousal. Talk to your dad about it. He has been through this phase himself. He may be amused, but he will certainly understand what you need to know.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I wish you would settle an argument between my neighbor and myself. He has been trying to get me to join him in jogging. I am concerned that I might get a heart attack because I have not done much exercise in several years. I have read several times about men dropping dead from exercise. He claims that is only natural because some people also die in their sleep or while resting. He says that if you are exercising an hour a day, you will have one in 24 chances of having a heart attack, and if you sleep eight hours a day you have eight chances in 24 in having a heart attack in your sleep. I say that the exercise increases the risk of having a heart attack. Who is right?

DEAR READER: You have to expect some heart attacks during or immediately after exercise simply because so many people do exercise. It would be strange indeed if no one ever had a heart attack during exercise, just as it would be strange if no one had a heart attack while riding in a car, while watching TV or engaging in other normal pursuits.

Your neighbor's view was believed in the late 1930s. A study of 1,108 heart attacks showed that 52 percent occurred while sleeping or resting, 21 percent occurred during mild routine activity, 16 percent while walking, 9 percent during "moderate activity" and in only 2 percent with unusual exertion.

However, studies of heart attacks in young men during World War II showed that twice as many attacks were related to exercise as one should have expected from the time spent in activities involving exertion.

If you follow a sensible exercise program, you should have very little risk of having a heart attack. In a six-year study in Rhode Island of joggers, only 12 men died during jogging. Most of the deaths occurred in men who already had heart disease and should have been following a different exercise program designed for heart patients.

For more details, you and your neighbor can read Special Issue 37-10, Heart Attacks and Sudden Death from Exercise, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/37-10, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908. Read it and follow the advice before you start jogging with your neighbor. There is a right and wrong way for people who are not in shape to begin an exercise program safely.

Air mail stamps were already in use in 1918. There were three denominations—six cent, 16 cent and 24 cent. The pictures, not surprisingly, were all of airplanes.

with Mel Phillips

Several years ago I met Archie, who worked as a welder in an irrigation motor repair shop near the Oklahoma border. He didn't say much to anyone but, since I enjoyed hanging around the shop, the day came when Archie actually talked to me.

"Kid, ya like fishing?" My heart stopped. A direct question from Archie was extremely rare. Prior to that Friday, the most I had ever heard him say was "okay," "yeah," or "nope," and then only in response to the boss's orders. After floundering for a spell, I said boldly, "Yessir, I am probably the best bass fisherman in town."

His eyes narrowed and the veins in his neck bulged. He contemptuously spat out his considered judgment on bass fishing—"Any blame fool can catch bass, but boy, only a man goes noodlin' for big cats."

It dawned on me that he was about to reveal something that men talked about only to other men.

Archie slowly removed his welder's glove and displayed his battle-scarred right arm. Starting on the fleshy part of his thumb and running up to his elbow were a series of scratches that resembled the claw marks of a bear. Some of the marks were old scars while others were still covered with scabs, obviously quite new.

Noodling, while illegal in Texas, is considered fitting conduct in Oklahoma. It is the nighttime act of getting into a creek and skulking around in the deep pools and undercut banks, searching for big catfish while ignoring water moccasins and snapping turtles. One does not use any bait, hook or any device except your strongest hand. The submerged grabber reaches through the gills of a big cat or grabs the mouth of the smaller cats and hangs on while his buddies pull both out of the water. (Even in Oklahoma, accounts of women going noodlin' are unverified.) Strong beverages seem to make both the pullers and the grabbers better able to do their jobs.

Archie, rubbing his battle-scarred arm, started speaking as if in a trance... "Nothing's better than feeling along the river bank waiting to find Mr. Whiskers. Boy, you come with me tonight; we'll cross the stateline, and I will learn ya how to go noodlin' with your bare hands."

After running all the way home to plead my case, my Mom laid down the law. Somehow she not only knew about noodlin' (and the drinking) but she was quite convinced that Archie was going to use me as bait. No amount of begging would change her mind.

Archie, after being stood up, never spoke to me again that summer and left town in the fall.

Noodlin' would have to wait until high school, but then that's another story.

Robinson latest victim in majors

BALTIMORE (AP) - Frank Robinson did his best, but he couldn't overcome the Baltimore Orioles' injuries, lousy pitching and inconsistent hitting. Now it's Johnny Oates' turn, and it's not an enviable position.

"I think he has a chance to be a good manager, but he's not a miracle worker, so don't expect miracles," Robinson said Thursday, shortly after he was fired as the Orioles' manager and replaced by Oates, his first-base coach.

With Baltimore languishing in last place with a 13-24 record, Robinson became the third major league manager to lose his job in three days when the Orioles reassigned him to the front office. Although the team went through great lengths to specify that Robinson was still an integral part of the organization, the deposed manager knew better.

"I wasn't reassigned, I was fired," Robinson said. The club offered him a job that would include the evaluation of player talent, but Robinson said he would wait until the post become better defined before deciding whether to accept.

Oates, 45, was the 1988 International League manager of the year. He has held three minor league managing posts and was the Orioles' first-base coach since 1989. He had longed to be a big-league manager since he retired in 1981.

Robinson, 55, was baseball's first black manager when he took over the Cleveland Indians in 1975. He managed the Indians from 1975-77 and the San Francisco Giants from 1981-84 before joining the Orioles' organization.

He replaced Cal Ripken Sr. as manager in April 1988, six games into what developed into a record 21-game losing streak at the start of the season. The Orioles finished 54-107 that year, but in 1989 Robinson was named American League manager of the year for leading Baltimore to an 87-75 record and a second-place finish.

The Orioles sagged to 76-85 last year, however, and were 10 games behind first-place Boston in the AL East when general manager Roland Hemond dismissed Robinson.

Fee increases set for hunting, fishing, camping, or park visits

AUSTIN (AP) - The cost to hunt, fish, camp or just visit a state park will increase under fees approved by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The new fees, expected to produce from between $20 million to $30 million in additional revenue per year, take effect Sept. 1.

Parks and Wildlife officials have said more money is needed to improve the state parks, offset slumping or flat revenues from hunting licenses and the cigarette tax, and wean the agency from general tax funds.

State parks received about 21 million visits last year, officials said.

Under the new fees, entering a state park will increase from $2 per vehicle to a range of $2 to $6.

Resident hunting and fishing licenses will increase to $13 each; a $3 increase in the hunting license and a $5 increase for the fishing permit.

A combination hunting and fishing license will increase from $15 to $25.

Registration fees will rise from $12 to $18 for a motorboat under 16-feet long and $18 to $27 for boats 16-feet to 26-feet.

Campsite fees will range from $6 to $16 depending on utilities offered.

Chaney wins pact, award

HOUSTON (AP) - Don Chaney can go about his business now that he has a business.

The Houston Rockets coach got a double-dose of good news Thursday - a multi-year contract and the Red Auerbach Trophy as the NBA coach of the year. Chaney was delighted by the trophy and relieved by the contract.

"It's difficult to be jockeying with the draft when your future is in limbo," Chaney said. "So it's good to get the contract out of the way and get on with the business at hand."

"I was very concerned (about his contract). I have a goal of going to the championship before I'm out of coaching and I felt the opportunity might be slipping away."

But the Rockets and Chaney got together on a multi-year contract that is believed to be for three years at a salary between $400,000 and $500,000, making his coach of the year award even sweeter.

Chaney was the runaway winner after leading the Rockets to a franchise record 52-30 record despite playing 25 games without center Hakeem Olajuwon, sidelined with an eye injury.

The Rockets compiled a 15-10 record during Olajuwon's absence and went on a winning spree when he returned. The Rockets had a club record 14-1 record for March that included a 13-game winning streak.

They were 29-9 over the final three months of the season, becoming the 10th team to lose fewer than 10 games over that time span.

"The key was that great March we had even though we were shorthanded," Chaney said. "There was even mention that we might be a lottery team, but our guys responded to the negative comments and jelled as a team."

The Rockets held opponents under 100 points 40 times and allowed an average of 103.2 points per game, sixth lowest in club history.

Chaney, who was drafted by former Boston coach Auerbach in 1968 and played 10 years for the Celtics, received 69 of a possible 96 votes from a national panel of NBA sports writers and broadcasters.

Portland coach Rick Adelman was second with 11 votes, followed by Boston's Chris Ford with seven, Chicago's Phil Jackson with four, San Antonio's Larry Brown and Milwaukee's Del Harris with two each and Detroit's Chuck Daly with one.

Chaney said the Rockets, swept by Los Angeles 3-0 in the opening round of the playoffs, should compete for the NBA championship next season and he's already got a slogan.

"The theme for next year is 'we're on a mission to the championship,'" Chaney said.

Chaney was unhappy early last season that his contract had not been renewed. It would have expired July 1.

"That's something that I was very concerned about..." he said. "This is a team of the future, and with the players from last year and improvements we'll make, we're on the way to the championship."

"I had started to prepare myself for disappointment, but things picked up and I'm happy things worked out."

The Minnesota Timberwolves asked for permission to talk with Chaney last week concerning their coaching vacancy.

"It never hurts to have outside interest, but at the time they called, our negotiations already had started to pick up here," Chaney said. "I don't think interest from the Timberwolves sparked negotiations with the Rockets."

The Rockets improved by 11 games over their 1989-90 record of 41-41, the second biggest improvement in the league behind Orlando's 13-game jump. Houston led the league in road record improvement, from 10-31 to 21-20.

Chaney is the second Houston coach to win the honor. Tom Nissalke was coach of the year in 1977.

Lakers eye rough game with Blazers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - The Los Angeles Lakers, manhandled in Game 2 of the Western Conference finals, believe they'll be ready to hand out some licks of their own tonight in Game 3.

"If they foul you quickly in a bad way and knock you down, we're going to have to do the same thing," Lakers forward Sam Perkins said after practice Thursday. "A slap for a slap. The refs aren't calling anything."

"We've got to come out and establish ourselves quickly."

The Lakers took the homecourt advantage away from the Portland Trail Blazers in the opener of the best-of-7 series by winning 111-106, but they were outbounded 51-28 in losing Game 2 109-98 Tuesday night.

The Blazers can get the homecourt advantage back by beating the Lakers tonight or in Game 4 Sunday before the series moves back to Portland for the fifth game Tuesday night.

Asked what the Lakers can do to improve their performance on the backboards, Perkins said: "We'll try to box out, lay a body on somebody, get a foul to send a message. You've got to lay a body on somebody."

Perkins was about the only Laker to do a decent job on the boards in Game 2, collecting 10 rebounds to go with his 19 points.

Lakers center Vlade Divac, who was pushed all over the court by the Blazers, has pulled down only two rebounds in each game of the series.

"We've talked with all the guys, not just Vlade," Lakers coach Mike Dunleavy said. "The guys who aren't rebounding know who they are."

Said Divac: "I know what's going on. I have to tell myself, 'It's the playoffs, I have to play every game hard.'"

"I just have to push myself in the game, play physical, and I'll be OK. If you want to play physical, you can do it, you can learn."

Divac, who has gotten hammered several times in this series, smiled when asked how he felt about banging on the Blazers.

"I don't like it, but if somebody hits me first, I have to return it," he said. "We're not going to play dirty in the game, just physical and very hard."

While the Lakers will have to do a better job of rebounding, the Blazers will have to cool off hot-shooting Los Angeles guard Byron Scott.

"Byron's on fire," Portland's Clyde Drexler said. "Someone's got to pour water on the guy."

The Blazers cooled Scott off in the fourth quarter of Game 2, holding him to one shot, which he missed. That made Scott 17-of-24 in the two games, including 5-of-6 from 3-point range.

"It wasn't designed and they weren't really preventing me," Scott said of being limited to one shot in the final 12 minutes Tuesday night. "It just happened that way. It was just one of those things."

Asked if he thought he should have gotten more shots late in the game, Scott smiled and said: "Not necessarily. I don't have any say so in the matter at all. I'm just shooting the shots I get."

Exports to Soviets drop

WASHINGTON (AP) - The value of U.S. agricultural exports to the Soviet Union could decline 20 percent this year, possibly to the lowest level since calendar 1987, according to an Agriculture Department analysis.

Last year, the value of shipments to the Soviet Union was less than $2.3 billion, down 37 percent from the record of $3.6 billion in 1989. A further 20 percent decline would put 1991 shipments at about $1.84 billion.

"Almost half of the possible 20 percent decline in U.S. farm exports to the U.S.S.R. is due to lower wheat prices," said the report by the department's Economic Research Service.

Roberts is honored for work

Dr. Roland Roberts of Lubbock, vegetable horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, received the prestigious Award in Excellence.

Dr. Charles J. Arntzen, dean and deputy chancellor of Texas A&M College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, gave the award.

Roberts was recognized for anticipating the vegetable production and horticultural needs of West Texas growers, agents and homeowners for almost two decades.

The horticulturist works with producers and home gardeners in 61 Panhandle, South Plains and Rolling Plains counties. His applied research and demonstrations with onions and potatoes have earned national and international acclaim.

In 1982, he defined a potential market window for High Plains onion growers, finding that no suitable commercial varieties were available that could be harvested in mid-July when a supply shortfall existed.

Roberts determined the characteristics needed and worked with national seed companies to develop suitable varieties. As a result of his efforts, two superior varieties were identified, field-tested and demonstrated, gaining grower acceptance in only three years.

Roberts was praised for work that typifies the systems approach to effective educational programming. He combines innovative production techniques with sound management and marketing approaches to help growers maximize profits.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - John Denver says he has no hard feelings after being pulled over recently by police who mistook him for a robbery suspect.

"I don't think it was a dumb blunder," the folk singer said Thursday. "The guy was doing his job."

Denver, who has been in town since April to record an album, was driving with a friend in his Porsche when police stopped him.

Police were looking for two armed-robbery suspects with long hair and black jackets who made their getaway in a sports car.

President Bush is looking at the possibility of extending Moscow additional loan guarantees to buy U.S. commodities. The Soviets have asked for $1.5 billion on top of $1 billion granted last December.

Although no decision has been announced by the White House, a team of U.S. experts is looking at the situation in the Soviet Union this week.

Meanwhile, the USDA report said the Soviet market has been highly competitive, despite Moscow being low on cash.

"The United States used $1 billion (granted in December) in export credits and $87.5 million of export bonuses in the first part of 1991 to compete with terms offered by France, Canada and Australia," the report said.

Bonuses are the subsidies paid to exporters under the department's Export Enhancement Program. Exporters are given surplus government-owned commodities to make up for selling the Soviets grain at competitive prices.

The value of wheat sold to the Soviet Union in 1990 was $147 per metric ton. In the first quarter of 1991, the price was about $80 per ton.

In 1989, the Soviet Union imported nearly 14.2 million tons of wheat, the report said. The United States supplied 38 percent of the total, followed by the European Community, 26 percent; Canada, 17 percent; Hungary, 8 percent; Argentina, 4 percent; Australia, 2 percent; and others, 5 percent.

The Soviet Union's 1989 imports of coarse grains - corn, barley, oats, rye and sorghum - totaled about 22.9 million tons, with the United States providing 76 percent; the EC, 14 percent; China, 5 percent; and others, 5 percent.

Only in soybeans and soybean meal did the United States show as a significant provider in 1989.

China supplied 57 percent of Moscow's soybean imports of 872,000 tons, with the United States providing 42 percent. Others supplied 1 percent. Soybean meal imports totaled 3.57 million tons, with Argentina supplying 46 percent; the United States, 41 percent; and Brazil, 13 percent.

Providers of some other commodities to the Soviet market in 1989, included:

-Sugar, a total of 5.01 million tons; Cuba, 69 percent; Thailand, 12 percent; Australia, 5 percent; Brazil, 4 percent; Mexico, 3 percent; and others, 7 percent.

-Red meat, 406,000 tons; China, 31 percent; France, 17 percent; Hungary, 16 percent; New Zealand, 9 percent; Romania, 8 percent; Mongolia, 7 percent; and others, 12 percent.

-Poultry, 136,000 tons; Hungary, 59 percent; Bulgaria, 12 percent; Romania, 4 percent; and others, 25 percent.

-Butter, 247,000 tons; New Zealand, 12 percent; Netherlands, 12 percent; Ireland, 12 percent; Germany, 11 percent; Finland, 3 percent; Hungary, 2 percent; Belgium, 2 percent; France, 2 percent; Uruguay, 2 percent; and others, 42 percent.

-Wool, 128,000 tons; Australia, 64 percent; New Zealand, 22 percent; Uruguay, 5 percent; Argentina, 4 percent; and Mongolia, 5 percent.

-Cotton, 77,000 tons; China, 39 percent; Bangladesh, 32 percent; Syria, 16 percent; and Egypt, 13 percent.
