Slice Feeder

The beet hopper is busy throwing the roots into the slicing bin at Holly Sugar where slice records were broken this fall. Holly's agriculture manager said the factory reached slice records of over 7,400 tons a day. He attributes the performance to factory improvements, excellent employee attitudes and a clean crop.

Holly plant slices records

Holly Sugar broke slice records this fall, thanks to some factory improvements and excellent employee attitudes, according to Cal Jones, agricultural manager at the Hereford plant. Jones said the plant pushed through over 7,400 tons a day, an amount equal to slicing 373 acres of beets. The plant will have processed close to 600,000 tons of beets when it completes on or near Dec. 25. The average yield was 19.8 tons per acre with a 14.8 sugar percentage. The sugar percentage is higher than last year, although acre tonnage was down due to a lack of fall moisture. Jones said the tonnage and sugar percentage would even out as far as growers' payments were concerned. Holly is already gearing for the 1983 crop with soil sampling beginning and contracting scheduled soon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill increasing congressional salaries by $9,138 is on its way to the Senate after the House approved it over objections from lawmakers who said a raise is inappropriate during a nationwide recession. The House voted Tuesday to raise by 15 percent the current legal ceiling on the $60,662 now paid annually to members of the House and Senate. It was the first time in four years that the House has passed such a pay hike. The measure also covers pay increases of up to $8,700 a year for some 32,000 senior federal employees and Cabinet officers, including the vice president. In the Senate, the proposal is expected to encounter heavy resistance in the final days of the lame-duck session of Congress. Opposing arguments are expected to be similar to those encountered in the House, where some members objected to a pay increase when the national unemployment rate is 10.8 percent and thousands are out of work. Rep. Sam B. Hall Jr., D-Texas, said he could not face jobless oil workers in his district and say, "It is time for a congressional pay raise." And several opponents contended they were trapped by parliamentary maneuvers into voting for the pay raise, which passed 303-109. Rep. Vic Fazio, D-Calif., sponsor of the 15 per cent increase, noted that the 435 House and Senate members have had only one 5.5 per cent pay hike since 1977. Workers in other professional and non-professional jobs have had regular cost of living increases, he said. "We have lost far more than any group in our society," he said. And Rep. Clair W. Burgener, R-Calif., said, "Good pay is essential for good government. Bad pay is leading to bad government."

Daughter of Honduran president kidnapped

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — Security squads stopped cars and searched houses early today for clues to the whereabouts of the daughter of Honduran President Roberto Suazo Cordova after she was kidnapped by leftist guerrillas. The government announced Tuesday night that an unidentified guerrilla group seized Xiomara Suazo Estrada, a 33-year-old pharmacist who lives in Guatemala City, and demanded publication of a "political manifesto" in return for her life. Interior Minister Ricardo Mendez Ruiz said the guerrillas had warned in a communique that her life "will be in danger" if the manifesto is not published in Central American and Mexican newspapers by Friday. Guatemalan officials said security squads began searching the capital after the announcement looking for signs of Miss Suazo Estrada, who was believed abducted by armed men as she was leaving a clinic here. In a separate statement sent to the news media, the guerrillas set a deadline of 8:30 p.m. (9:30 p.m. EST) Friday. Speaking over national radio and television, Mendez Ruiz described the kidnapers as "communists" and "extremists without a country" and said the Honduran president's daughter was "a Guatemalan citizen" not connected in any way with Honduran politics. "Once again innocent persons are victims," he said. (See SEARCH, Page 2A)

The way was paved for the pay vote when the House Appropriations Committee last week agreed to eliminate the existing $60,662 salary cap from the stopgap spending. Unless Congress acts by Friday, the cap will be lifted and congressional salaries will shoot up to $77,300. Two amendments on the pay issue came to the House floor Tuesday. Fazio's amendment was followed by a second vote on a proposal from Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Mich. Traxler's measure, which would have retained the cap on salaries for congressmen and top federal officials, was defeated in a 208-208 tie vote. The Fazio and Traxler amendments were attached to the stopgap spending bill, which also includes a $5.4 billion Democratically-sponsored jobs bill. Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky., said he voted for the 15 per cent increase because the alternative was to vote in support of the automatic 27 per cent increase scheduled to go into effect on Friday. There were 95 House members like Hubbard who voted for the 15 per cent hike, but then also voted unsuccessfully to reimpose the pay cap. "Many of us in the 303 who voted in the majority did not want any pay raise," he said. Senators have traditionally been more willing than House members to raise their pay in indirect ways. On Tuesday, the Senate voted 54-38 to repeal a limit on in- (See HIKE, Page 2A)

McPherson, Brush named to crime panel

Two local law enforcers have joined authorities in Potter and Randall Counties to reorganize the Metro Organized Crimes Unit out of Amarillo so that the entity will focus more on investigation of big time crimes. Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson said the new board of directors will have an organizational meeting Thursday to make final arrangements and probably pick a name for the entity. Police Chief Don Brush was also asked to join the board. The unit will work primarily on drug trafficking and vehicle theft rings, McPherson said.

Time running out on Autry

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — An attorney seeking to save condemned killer James Autry from his date with death says time is running out, but he believes he will be able to plead his client's case before Friday's scheduled execution. Autry, 28, of Port Arthur would be the second Texan in 10 days put to death by lethal injection. His attorney, Charles Carver, asked a Beaumont federal court Tuesday to grant a stay of execution, contending Autry's constitutional rights were abridged when police obtained a statement they said contained an admission of guilt. U.S. District Judge Robert M. Parker promised to rule on the attorney's court brief by 2 p.m. today, Carver said. "I know it's going to be tight, but there is ample time to pursue all of Mr. Autry's appeals," he said. "I'll do anything that is within the law to save my client's life. We just can't let the man die." Carver's motion ran almost 60 pages and claims 11 technical errors in Autry's trial. He filed the brief here and said a clerk from his office took a copy to Marshall, Texas, where Parker is holding court. The attorney said the Dec. 7 execution of Charlie Brooks Jr., Texas' first in 18 years, created a "crisis-like atmosphere" and caused him to write a much longer petition than he would have otherwise. Carver said he plans to file an appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans and the U.S. Supreme Court if Parker does not grant the stay. Carver also asked the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin to intervene but it denied his request without comment Tuesday afternoon. He said Autry did not want to die, but declined to characterize his client's state of mind further. Autry was convicted of capital murder in October 1980 in the April 1980 slaying of Shirley Drouet, 43, a Port Arthur convenience store clerk. Carver's brief contends Autry was denied his rights under the 14th Amendment when the trial judge made no formal ruling on the admissibility of the statement police obtained. The brief contends Port Arthur police also had a videotape that showed Autry had been beaten. The appeal to the Austin court, the state's highest for criminal matters, followed a denial of a similar request in a Beaumont state district court, which was similar to the (See TIME, Page 2A)

Second filibuster underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders are struggling to break another filibuster against President Reagan's proposed gasoline tax hike and clear the legislative impasse delaying adjournment of the 97th Congress. Meanwhile, the House passed an emergency spending bill containing a $5.4 billion Democratic jobs package. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., urged the Senate and President Reagan to accept the measure to help "begin the long-awaited recovery before Christmas." The Senate choked off one filibuster Monday in order to take up the gasoline tax measure designed to raise the price by a nickel a gallon. But a second filibuster occurred, and the Senate met through the night and into this morning before taking a break for about eight hours. A vote to shut off the second filibuster was expected Thursday afternoon. The House, meanwhile, ignored a veto threat Tuesday, sending the Senate the so-called continuing resolution on a 204-200 vote. Congress has not finished work on all of the 13 annual appropriations bills that provide money for federal government operations and programs. Thus, the spending measure is necessary to keep money flowing to the federal government after Friday, when a current stopgap spending bill expires. House Democratic leaders have jumped on the new stopgap bill as the vehicle to keep their campaign promise of passing legislation to create jobs for the unemployed. "I hope that the Senate and the president do not close their hearts to the anguish of the unemployed," O'Neill said after the House vote Tuesday. "By signing the bill, the president can begin the long awaited recovery before Christmas." Jobs provisions in the House bill are in addition to the gasoline tax increase, which is aimed at raising $5.5 billion annually to finance highway, bridge and mass transit repair jobs. The jobs portion of the House measure contains about 40 provisions. It includes $1 billion for a temporary emergency public works program and $100 million for the General Services Administration to buy about 15,000 vehicles to "stimulate jobs in the ailing automotive and related industries," according to an Appropriations Committee report accompanying the bill. "This bill is a grab bag," said Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., the top GOP member of the Appropriations Committee. "A grab bag like we used to play in school. Everybody come down here and put your hand in the grab bag and take something home for your district." Conte said that at a White House meeting Tuesday, the president left no doubt he would veto the stopgap bill if the jobs package attached to it survived. Reading from hand-written notes he made at the meeting, Conte said on the House floor that Reagan told him: "I don't give a damn whether it is Friday night and the whole government is brought to a standstill. I will not sign the continuing resolution with the jobs bill in it." But later, a White House official raised the possibility that Reagan may accept a less expensive jobs package in the stopgap bill. Outnumbered Democrats in the Senate failed on a party-line 53-44 vote Tuesday to attach a $10.2 billion jobs bill of their own to the gasoline tax increase. Democrats in both houses wanted to secure passage of their jobs bills before the session ends, but their prospects seemed remote given (See GAS, Page 2A)

Christmas church centered

What do people from other lands do during the holidays? Christmas in the Oslo Community of Hansford County, a planned community for Norwegian immigrants established in 1908, always centered around church and family, recalls Genevieve Olsen Miller. Now the postmaster at Dawn, Mrs. Miller is a third-generation American of Norwegian descent. Memories of Norwegian traditions include her family's reading of the Christmas story from the Bible on Christmas Eve, followed by the Lord's Prayer and exchange of gifts. And memories of foods, many which she still prepares during the holidays. Julebrod (Christmas bread) is a sweet similar to fruitcake. The white bread is full of candied fruit and citron. Her family especially liked "smor kranser" which translates into "butter ring" iced with almond flavored confectioner's sugar frosting. "Krun kakers" are little caked baked in a special iron with a design on it, similar to waffle irons. "Fattigmand bakkelse" is a cookie fried in deep fat; and lingon berries, similar to cranberries only smaller are popular for the holidays. "Lutefisk" was a popular main course. A white fish served with melted butter or cream often graced the table, as did lefse, an unleavened bread baked on top of the stove or on a griddle. Mrs. Miller still makes most of the Christmas goodies and once a year prepares a complete Norwegian dinner for family and friends. The 61-year-old retired dentist from the Seattle area was

Clark facing 'tough slugging'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Barney Clark, in critical but stable condition today after surgery to replace the left side of his mechanical heart, has pneumonia and faces "awfully tough slugging" to recover from his third operation in two weeks, doctors say. "He was in critical before and he's more critical now," said Dr. Chase Peterson, University of Utah vice president for health sciences, following an emergency operation Tuesday after a valve broke in Clark's polyurethane heart. Two hours after surgery was finished, Clark, the first human to receive a permanent mechanical heart, was fully conscious and responding to doctors' questions by nodding his head, university Medical Center spokesman John Dwan said. The 61-year-old retired dentist from the Seattle area was resting quietly today, a hospital spokeswoman said. A social worker, Margaret Miller, said late Tuesday that she had visited the intensive care unit and found Clark's wife, Una Loy, "very encouraged about his condition." Ms. Miller said those caring for Clark felt he was "more alert than he had been in some time." But doctors said they were worried about pneumonia in Clark's left lung and possible effects of anesthesia from the frequent surgery. "There is no reason why it can't succeed, but at the same time it will be awfully tough slugging for Dr. Clark," Peterson said. "He's a very, very sick man who's gone through multiple surgeries." He said the pneumonia, discovered Monday after (See CLARK, Page 2A)

Requests for help growing

Requests for help for needy families are growing daily in the Christmas Stocking Fund project. The program won't solve any problems, but it will make Christmas brighter for some of the less fortunate families. Mr. and Mrs. X never ask for help from anyone, but a friend hopes the CSF can make their Christmas brighter this year. Mr. X had to quit farming for himself and take a farm job. The couple, both under 30, have seven children, ranging in age from 1 to 10. The friend reports that Mr. and Mrs. X have big hospital bills and no health insurance to help. "They are a happy, loving family and attend church regularly, but never ask for help," says the writer. The Christmas Stocking Fund, a labor of love for an anonymous group of men, provides one way for people in the community to share at Christmas-time. Only monetary contributions can be accepted. Checks should be made payable to the Christmas Stocking Fund and mailed or taken to The Brand, Box 673. All donations are used to help needy families, and a screening committee tries to determine those who are most in need. There are no administrative costs for the

Director free on bond after indictment

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — The former director of a mental health clinic was free on bond today after being indicted on charges he misapplied $12,000 of funds belonging to the center and a construction firm.

John Billings, 41, the former director of the Gulf Coast Regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center, posted $25,000 bond Tuesday, said a spokesman for the Galveston County sheriff's department who asked not to be identified.

Billings is the first to be indicted in a continuing grand jury investigation into real estate transactions conducted by an affiliate of the Gulf Coast Regional Center.

The indictment alleges Billings misapplied or spent for his own benefit $12,000 during five separate financial transactions. The indictment said the money belonged to the Mensing Brothers Building Partnership and to Gulf Coast Human Services Inc., a real estate affiliate of the mental health center.

The Gulf Coast Human Services Inc. affiliate was formed after a Texas attorney general's opinion stated it was illegal for the mental health center to purchase property.

The Human Services Inc. firm has since bought child care centers, an office building, a travel agency and land. Some of those businesses were owned, in part, by Billings and by other mental health center officials.

Official to decide whether to file charges

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — U.S. Attorney Edward Prado says the government will decide soon if civil rights charges should be brought against three law enforcement officers involved in the drownings of three black youths during a 1981 June-teenth celebration at Lake Mexia.

Prado said Tuesday he received an FBI report on the drownings this week, along with a transcript from the state trial where the three officers were acquitted of negligent homicide.

A delegation of black leaders met with Prado before the state trial, demanding that the U.S. Justice Department file civil rights charges.

The youths, Steven Lawrence Booker, 19, of Dallas and Carl Baker, 19, and Anthony Freeman, 18, both of Mexia, had been arrested for possession of a small amount of marijuana at the celebration held on an island on Lake Mexia in Central Texas.

The officers, former deputy Kenny Elliott, reserve deputy Kenneth Archie and probation officer David Drummond, were transporting the youths across the lake when the boat capsized. Two officers managed to swim to shore and a third was rescued.

Testimony at the officers' trial showed the boat was not designed to carry six people and there were not enough life jackets aboard.

Oil company president indicted on charges

DALLAS (AP) — The president of two Dallas-based oil companies faces four felony charges accusing him of defrauding investors in drilling projects and misapplying investor funds.

Merle Lee Matlock, 44, was indicted Tuesday by a Dallas County grand jury on two counts of violating the state securities act and two counts of misappropriation of fiduciary property during transactions in 1981 and 1982.

The indictments allege Matlock, president of Petrowest Inc. and Explorer Energy Inc., bilked investors of $193,650 that was intended to finance the drilling of oil and gas wells in West Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Assistant District Attorney Steve Webster said none of the investors named in the indictments received any money from their joint ventures with Matlock's companies.

Authorities allege the investors' money was used to pay for Matlock's personal expenses and to operate his companies, Webster said.

Webster said Matlock is accused of selling interests in some drilling leases in which he had not acquired an interest or in which his interest had expired.

The securities law indictments allege Matlock failed to disclose his companies were under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission when he solicited funds from the investors.

CB radios declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took 16 years for most Americans to discover Citizens Band radio. And just five years to forget it.

The decline in popularity has been so swift that the Federal Communications Commission may stop licensing CB users. Officials believe the craze is over and there's no reason to continue.

The FCC won't act until next year but the fact it is even proposing the step emphasizes how things have changed.

Consider: — At the height of its popularity, about one of every seven vehicles had a CB radio and the FCC received a million license applications a month. At times, the agency's processing backlog extended more than six months.

— The first lady at the time, Betty Ford, made news by getting a license and adopting "First Mama" as her handle. Elvis Presley became "The Music Man," Burt Reynolds, the "Bandit,"

Billy Carter, "First Brother."

— In 1974, when the boom started, CB radio was 16 years old and had slightly more than 1 million licensees. By 1978, there were more than 14 million. Many had more than one radio. Now only 5 million CBers have licenses.

But there was another element to the boom besides numbers. CB radio came to represent a lifestyle.

"There was a subculture to the thing, definitely, with songs and movies and a proletarian overtone," says John Sodolski, vice president of the Electronic Industries Association which represents radio manufacturers.

"I remember listening to an interview with psychologists at Vanderbilt University discussing what was happening to society, because people were talking to each other without really identifying themselves," recalls James C. McKinney, chief of the FCC's private radio bureau.

"That was the thing, the anonymity," McKinney says. "It was social and outgoing but it was also closed and private. It was weird. People could get their jollies doing things and saying things they normally wouldn't."

It was January 1976 that the FCC recorded its peak of 1 million license applications in one month. Within two years the boom was over and the decline set in. By October, the latest month for which figures are available, the FCC was processing only 30,000 applications — for both new and renewed licenses.

"That's the all-time low for at least the last 15 years," according to McKinney.

Explanations for the decline are varied.

Richard M. Smith, chief of the FCC's field operations bureau, cites the faded element: "A desire to participate in whatever is 'in.' When the novelty wore off, so did consumer interest."

Jerald H. Reese, executive director of REACT International Inc., an organization of CBers who report highway emergencies and assist in disasters, blames the marketplace.

He says that when the FCC increased the number of CB channels from 23 to 40 in 1976, retailers were caught with millions of the older units. Price reductions for those radios kept prices down for 40-channel sets, "reducing profits and drying up money for the advertising and promotion that is needed to sustain any industry."

Reese and Sodolski also contend that more CBers meant more congestion. Sodolski also blamed a period of peak sun spot activity, which created additional interference. The noise just turned many operators off, they said.

McKinney and Smith have yet another explanation. "There were two things that caused the boom," says McKinney. "The 1974 oil crisis and the reduction in the speed limit to 55 miles per hour."

When the truckers began staging strikes and road blockades to protest the fuel shortage, America was exposed to this thing called CB that the truckers were using to organize and keep an eye out for Smokey (police)," adds Smith. "It was free publicity. But now, we've come full circle."

The decline in CB's popularity, however, does not mean it will disappear, says Sodolski.

"The utility of the radio has changed since the 'fad,' he says. "Now we're seeing portable units that you plug into your car cigarette lighter in an emergency. Citizens Band is probably the lowest cost form of communication in the world. And I think the craze started a demand for mobile communications that will carry over into the next century."

For now, however, there are a lot of CBers who have turned off.

"We're losing licensees at the rate of 1 million a month now with people who aren't renewing," says McKinney, conceding that he's one of them.

"Yes, I bought a unit during the craze," he admits. "I think it's in my closet."

Emotions real in tonight's CBS movie

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The story vehicle of a mentally depressed mother returning to her family after six years of hospitalization seems artificial, but the emotions are irresistibly real in tonight's CBS movie, "Memories Don't Die."

Lindsay Wagner plays Joanne Tilford, an intruder in her own house who is summoned home to care for her children after her husband, Howdy (Gerald McRaney of "Simon & Simon") suffers a heart attack. Joanne hasn't seen her kids for six years; Shawn is now 9, Kathy a teenager.

Joanne's return sets up conflicts between mother and daughter, and between mother and surrogate mother. It also opens the characters to guilt and fear, love and caring, while providing viewers an involving TV experience.

It's hard not to be touched by a mother, wrestling with anxieties and her reawakening maternal instincts, attempting to rekindle her children's trust and affection. The audience sympathy is further evoked by a wonderfully warm and sensitive portrait by Miss Wagner, the former "Bionic Woman."

After one suicide attempt, electric shock treatments and therapy, Joanne's doctor thinks she's capable of being a full-time mother and wife again. Joanne's not so sure. "How can I be ready to go home if I feel this scared?"

She's nervous about her own competency. But, except for flashbacks to her suicide attempt, Joanne remains remarkably composed and together, in fact too much so, giving the movie its most unbelievable element.

As it turns out, her fitness is less a problem than other issues:

Will she be accepted by her children? Does she want to be a mother and wife again? Does she want to accept responsibilities after having the hospital take care of her needs for so long?

When she leaves Chicago for California, she admits: "I feel like I'm leaving home."

Joanne receives a rude welcome. Her husband's sister and brother-in-law, who want custody of the children if Howdy should die, are patronizing and insensitive. But the worst treatment comes at home.

Another obstacle to family togetherness is the icy housekeeper, Louise, played by Barbara Babcock of "Hill Street Blues." There's immediate competition and an intense disagreement over child-raising.

Gift books must be picked up this week

A reminder that Deaf Smith County History books must be picked up this week, or after the holidays, has been issued by Troyce Hanna, chairman of Project County History.

The new histories are being distributed to residents who placed advanced orders, and are available through Saturday of this week at the E.B. Black Historical House.

After Saturday, the project office there will be closed until after the holiday period. It is open each day this week from 12 noon to 5:30 p.m.

A number of books are also on sale at the Black House by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, which sponsored the book project and received a gift which made possible the purchase of a limited number of volumes for resale.

Those who want copies of the book, titled "The Land And Its People," for Christmas gifts are reminded to get them immediately.

Man survives 14 hours in Gulf, son-in-law swims to rescue

HUDSON, Fla. (AP) — Half naked and covered with bird droppings, 60-year-old Anthony Brodman clung grimly to a channel marker after his houseboat broke up in a storm.

But he survived thanks to his son-in-law, who swam through rough water in the Gulf of Mexico to bring help after 14 hours, clinging to rocks as he fought the surf in a storm.

Clark from page 1

Clark showed a slight fever, was thought to be limited to the lower portion of the left lung. It was "a serious complication" — especially since Clark suffers from mild emphysema — but Peterson said it was being treated with antibiotics.

Clark's vital signs and functions of his other organs were normal and in many cases improved since his heart implant Dec. 2, said Peterson, adding that the patient also had regained strength from several days on a high-calorie liquid diet.

It was the first malfunction in Clark's air-driven Jarvik-7 heart since the implant. On Dec. 4, Clark underwent surgery to correct air leaks in his lungs, a complication doctors termed minor.

In the surgery Tuesday, the entire left ventricle of Clark's heart was replaced after a broken housing on a valve caused his blood pressure to drop sharply.

"This is the mitral valve which is the most serious of any (failure) there could be," said Dr. Robert Jarvik, the device's inventor.

The valve has a tilting disk which allows blood to flow one way from Clark's natural left atrium — or upper heart chamber — to his artificial left ventricle. The housing, which holds the disk in place, broke where it joins a metal ring surrounding the valve, Jarvik said.

Surgeons also replaced one of two 6-foot air hoses that connect the heart to an external air compressor.

"I was so tired I couldn't even go on," said Bruce Beckley, 20, after he finally reached shore to get help. "I had to get some energy ... At first I didn't think I was getting anywhere because of the waves, but then I saw the marker I was getting away from was getting farther and farther away."

The drama began Saturday night when Brodman, a retired electrician, and Beckley, a school custodian, decided to go fishing. They had traveled only about two miles when the houseboat began to take on water in the stormy seas.

"We talked about it for about 10 minutes," said Beckley. "He's 60 years old, so he said I should try to go."

Beckley began swimming, clutching rocks sticking out of the water for rest whenever he could. He said he kept going because he knew his father-in-law was depending on him.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Sunday, he reached shore and banged on the back door of Basil Bentevegans's house. Bentevegans alerted the Florida Marine Patrol and sheriff's deputies.

"The kid was shivering so hard, I could hardly understand his words," Bentevegans said Monday. "All he could spit out was something about his father-in-law was still stuck in the boat."

When Bentevegans hung up the phone after calling authorities and getting some hot tea, Beckley had passed out.

"I had to pick him up and get the rest of the story out of him," Bentevegans said. "I couldn't believe that kid came through like he did."

While Beckley swam to shore, Brodman was left to battle the elements on his own. After the houseboat broke up entirely, he swam about a hundred yards to a lighted channel marker.

By the time Brodman was found, he wore only a shirt and was covered with bird droppings. His pants fell down to his knees when he was in the water, and he lost them in the current when he pulled them off.

"There (he) was, stinkin' to high heaven," said Al Maxwell, one of two Florida Marine Patrol members who rescued him.

Neither man required hospitalization. Brodman praised his son-in-law's efforts, although he said that he decided to let the younger man swim for help because "I was afraid to leave him out there alone."

He was back in the Gulf on Monday, diving for his missing wallet.

Gas

Reagan's reported opposition and the GOP majority in the Senate.

The close House vote on the stopgap measure reflected not only GOP opposition to the jobs provision but also a 15 percent congressional pay increase attached to the bill.

The tax bill in the Senate would raise the federal gasoline levy from 4 cents to 9 cents a gallon, as recommended by Reagan and endorsed by the bipartisan leadership of the House and Senate.

The measure already has passed the House and Baker repeatedly has predicted Senate passage this week.

come from speeches and other outside income.

Critics of congressional outside income say it allows special interest groups and corporations to invite House members and senators who support them to give speeches at a maximum $2,000 per appearance.

The House prohibits its members from earning more than 30 per cent of their salaries in outside income, and the pay raise bill approved in the House on Tuesday would extend a similar limit to the Senate.

If the Senate approves the House-passed pay measure, the annual salaries of the vice president and the speaker of the House would rise from $79,125 to $91,000. Salaries of Cabinet officers would go from $69,630 to $80,100.

The salaries of top civil service officials, now capped at $57,500, could go as high as $63,800.

one filed in federal court.

Among other things, the appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals alleged Autry's conviction and death sentence were in error because of illegal admission of evidence, that Autry's constitutional rights were violated when three state witnesses were granted immunity from prosecution, that there was insufficient evidence to show the murder occurred during a robbery, and that there was selective prosecution because charges against a co-defendant were dismissed.

Autry's conviction was upheld in January by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court refused in October to review the case.

Dallas attorney Richard Anderson, leader of a recently revived committee of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association called Death Watch, said he was monitoring Autry's appeal and would aid Autry's attorneys.

Anderson said Death Watch was reactivated after the Brooks execution. The committee gathers information "that we make available to attorneys straddled with the awesome burden of making sure that their clients receive all their proper appeals."

"It is not the government that is carrying out these kidnappings. It is one more case of lack of respect for human rights."

He was apparently referring to charges by human rights groups that conservative Central American governments terrorize people with kidnappings and killings to prevent them from associating with leftist insurgent movements.

Miss Suazo Estrada has lived in Guatemala for 20 years with her mother, also a Guatemalan citizen formerly married to the Honduran president, Mendez Ruiz said. He did not further identify the mother.

In Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, a government spokesman said Miss Suazo Estrada had received kidnap threats during a three-day visit there two months ago.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said she is Suazo Cordova's daughter by his first marriage. He said she rarely visits her father.

Since Saturday, Suazo Cordova has been in Houston, undergoing treatment for laryngitis. Friends said he has been informed of the kidnapping and planned to return to Tegucigalpa before Thursday.

Mendez Ruiz said Guatemalan President Gen. Efraim Rios Montt had received a communique from an unidentified guerrilla group. He said the communique had also been sent to the Honduran president, to the defense ministers of the two countries and to Frederick Chapin, U.S. ambassador in Guatemala.

The kidnappers said they would send the manifesto later and that "for tactical reasons they are not giving the name of their organization," the interior minister said.

Beltwide cotton conference in College Station Jan. 3-6

COLLEGE STATION — The 1983 Beltwide Cotton Conferences are set for Jan. 3-6 at the Hyatt Regency in San Antonio.

The conferences feature special sessions on cotton research the first two days followed by a day-and-a-half program oriented mainly toward cotton producers and industry leaders, says Dr. Bob Metzger, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The research sessions the first two days will deal with cotton insects and pest management; cotton physiology, including plant nutrition and plant growth regulators; cotton dust; engineering research, including cotton harvesting, storage and ginning; and cotton weed science.

Featured will be Frank W. Naylor, USDA under secretary for small community and rural development, who will speak on "Financing the '83 Crop." He will be followed by Orville Bentley, USDA assistant secretary for science and education, who will address "USDA Research Needs."

The morning program will conclude with a discussion on "What It Takes to Move U.S. Cotton to Market" by a panel of speakers representing different segments of the cotton industry.

Highlighting the Wednesday afternoon session will be a panel of cotton producers from different states who will discuss "How I Dealt with the Cost-Price Squeeze in '82." Representing Texas on this panel will be Homer Easterwood of Sinton, president of the South Texas Cotton and Grain Association.

Other topics to be discussed that afternoon and the following morning will deal with drip irrigation, the new LEA (low energy precision application) irrigation system, use of vegetable oils in pesticide applications, HVI (high volume instrument) cotton classing and fiber needs of the textile industry.

Chairing the three general sessions of the cotton production conference will be Thomas N. Wolfe, president of oilseed processing with the Anderson Clayton Co.; Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service; and Cecil Williams Jr., executive vice president of the Agricultural Council of Arkansas.

poor financial situation have many farmers and ranchers selling breeding stock to meet cash flow needs.

However, despite the depressed price situation for fed cattle, low feed costs and weak prices for feeder cattle "have generally yielded positive returns for cattle feeders."

As a result, beef production in the first half of 1983 will be larger than previously estimated.

Total beef output in 1983 now is expected to decline about 0.7 percent from the 1982 level. A month ago, USDA economists thought a decline of 1.2 percent was likely next year.

The average price of Choice steers at Omaha, Neb., is expected to average $59 to $60 per 100 pounds in the fourth quarter, down sharply from more than $64 in the third.

Holly elevates two executives

COLORADO SPRINGS — John L. Bushnell, President and Chief Executive Officer of Holly Sugar Corporation, announced today that the Board of Directors had elected Jack R. Corsberg to the position of Vice President and General Factory Manager and John A. Richmond to the position of Vice President - Technical Services.

A veteran of the sugar business, Corsberg joined Holly in February 1981 as General Superintendent with responsibility for all beet sugar factory operations. From 1970 through 1978, he was Vice President - Operations from Amalgamated Sugar Company in Ogden, Utah. He was employed by Great Western Sugar Company for 19 years.

He attended the University of Colorado, the United States Coast Guard Academy and graduated from Stanford University in 1949 with a degree in chemical engineering. He is a native of Denver, Colorado, and a member of the American Society of Sugar Beet Technologists. Richmond joined Holly as a Technical Trainee in 1973. He has held the positions of chief chemist, shift superintendent and general chemist with responsibility for line management of the technical services representatives at all of Holly's factories. Prior to his election as vice president, he was director of technical services for Holly.

Payment-in-kind program said risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite warnings that Congress may be acting hastily, the Senate is being sent legislation removing roadblocks to President Reagan's plan for giving surplus grain to farmers who reduce production.

The measure was pushed through a subcommittee and approved on a voice vote by the Senate Agriculture Committee in a few hours, only five days after Reagan endorsed the so-called payment-in-kind program.

"There's so much uncertainty over this," Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont., said Monday. "There are no guidelines in here, no restrictions."

The program, originated 50 years ago and used extensively in the 1960s, is intended to bolster market prices by significantly reducing 1983 production of wheat, corn, rice and cotton — while disposing of the huge surpluses of those commodities. The surpluses have been blamed for the third straight year of declining farm income.

If successful, the program could also slash billions from the federal budget.

William Lesher, Reagan's chief farm economist, said the program would probably last two years, with the 1983 goal being to cut a billion bushels from the corn harvest and 500 million bushels from the wheat harvest.

Lesher said the administration intends to limit land taken out of production in either year to less than 50 percent in any county to minimize the impact on businesses that rely on farmers.

To head off critics afraid the program will actually drive prices lower, Lesher said the administration is considering a number of proposals to insure orderly marketing. He said they include short-term federal loans and government storage payments.

Critics say that without some kind of marketing tool, the program will just force financially strapped farmers needing ready cash to dump grain on the market all at once, thereby forcing already depressed prices even lower.

"I can assure you we are not going to have all that grain come on the market at one time," Lesher told the committee. "It would be a disaster."

Senate backers said they may try tacking the plan on to another measure that is closer to final passage as the Congress heads into the waning days of the lame-duck session.

But House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza, D-Texas, has said the plan is too complex and important to be handled without full review in the House. De la Garza said last week he doubted there could be any action before the new Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Agriculture Secretary John Block has said the program could probably be implemented without a bill, but he has asked for legislation to remove any doubts.

The bill passed in committee Monday would do that, eliminating restrictions on disposal of federally owned commodities and limitations on federal payments to farmers.

Swine course set Jan. 26-27

AMARILLO — A Professional Swine Producers Business Short Course will be conducted at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center in Amarillo on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 26 and 27. The course will provide the fulltime swine producer educational information regarding the business of producing swine.

Topics to be discussed include using the futures market to increase profits, planning procedures for profitable financial operation, control procedures for profitable financial operation, increasing profit through managing people, the coming age of computers in swine production and marketing, and increasing production efficiency with records.

All topics in the short course will be related to swine production; however, the educational emphasis will be directed toward improving the participants' understanding of business procedures, said Dr. Robert S. Cohen, swine specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Lubbock.

The short course will be conducted in three concurrent sessions of two programs each. Thus a participant can take part in three of the six topics to be discussed.

Registration fee for the short course will be $50. Additional information can be obtained from Dr. Robert S. Cohen, Extension Swine Specialist, or Dr. Gary Condra, Extension Economist, Route 3, Box 213AA, Lubbock, Texas 79401, or by telephoning 806-746-6101.

Enrollment for the short course will be limited.

'Bear' calls it quits at Alabama

Giants' Perkins accepts offer

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Paul W. "Bear" Bryant, the winningest coach in college football history, announced his retirement today and Ray Perkins, coach of the National Football League's New York Giants, was named as his successor.

Bryant, 69, said he would remain as athletic director of the Crimson Tide. Perkins, an All-American receiver at Alabama in the mid-1960s, will stay as coach of the Giants through the end of the season and take over at Alabama for the 1983 season.

The announcements came in simultaneous news conferences here and in East Rutherford, N.J.

Bryant, with a 322-85-17 record as a college coach, said his retirement would take effect after Alabama's Liberty Bowl game against Illinois Dec. 29. This year's Crimson Tide team is 7-4, the team's poorest mark since 1970.

"I'm following — repeat, following — the greatest coach in college football," Perkins said. "It's a great honor to go there."

Bryant has been coach at Alabama for 25 years, compiling a record of 231-46-9. In the final regular-season game of the 1981 season, he registered his 315 career victory, breaking the old mark held by Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Perkins, 41, was a star wide receiver at Alabama under Bryant in 1964-66, gaining All-America honors as a senior. The Mount Olive, Miss., native went into coaching after playing five years with the Baltimore Colts of the NFL.

He is in his fourth year as coach of the Giants, with a 23-33 record including 3-3 this season. Last year, the Giants made the NFL playoffs for the first time since 1963.

In Tuscaloosa, Bryant told a packed room of reporters that there comes a time when every coach has to "hang 'em up."

In East Rutherford, Perkins said: "I will finish the season as head coach. I look forward to finishing the season. On the other hand, I leave with mixed emotions. It gives me great pleasure to return to my alma mater. It's certainly something I want to do very, very much."

"It's simply something that's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for me. If it was anywhere else, any other college team could not lure me from the New York Giants. Nothing could have, I don't believe, kept me from making this decision."

Perkins said he was called by Alabama officials last Thursday and interviewed for the job last Sunday. He was offered the job Monday and made up his mind to take it that day, he added.

Alabama's mandatory retirement age for state employees is 70, so Bryant could not promise potential recruits that he would be their coach for their entire college careers.

Southeastern Conference rivals of the Crimson Tide have stressed this to recruits in recent years, and it has made recruiting increasingly difficult for the Bear.

Bryant has been a head coach in college for 38 seasons — one at Maryland (1945), eight at Kentucky, four at Texas A&M and the last 25 at Alabama, where he played in the mid-1930s and later was an assistant coach under Frank Thomas from 1936-39.

Bryant, whose record at Alabama is 231-46-9, has often said he would never do anything to hurt the program and wanted to leave it in such good shape that his successor would have even more success than he did. Apparently, he feels the time is ripe before decay sets in.

The promise of October — a 5-0 start, a No. 2 ranking in The AP poll and the dream of a sixth national championship — has turned into the doldrums of December. Alabama finished the regular season with three consecutive losses for the first time in Bryant's reign and the Crimson Tide's 7-4 record was its poorest since a 6-5-1 mark in 1970. Alabama has not been in the Top Twenty for the last four weeks; in the previous 11 years, the Crimson Tide only missed the ratings for one week early in the 1976 campaign.

Perkins, a native of Mount Olive, Miss., went into coaching after playing at Alabama from 1964-66 as a star receiver. He played five years with the Baltimore Colts in the NFL and then went into coaching, serving as an assistant at Mississippi State University and later with the NFL's New England Patriots and San Diego Chargers before the Giants gave him his first head coaching job in 1979. Last year, the Giants made the playoffs for the first time in 18 years.

While the Giants' star was on the rise, Alabama's seemed to be fading. The Crimson Tide was held without a first down in the first half and thoroughly embarrassed by LSU in a 20-10 pasting Nov. 6. Afterward, Bryant said it was "very obvious now, for three or four weeks, that our team has been very poorly prepared. In any event, I'm going to alert the (university) president, and anybody that wants to know, in a heck of a hurry that we need to make some changes, and we need to start at the top."

At the University of Alabama, the top means Paul W. "Bear" Bryant, who, some wag once quipped, was "the only football coach who ever hired a university president on a one-year, make-good contract."

Both games close

Bulldogs grab victories

BY LES GILES
Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW - Jeanette Hallman's three-point play with 16 seconds remaining to play proved decisive for Plainview's girls, while a disastrous cold spell proved fatal for Hereford's boys Tuesday night in District 3-5A basketball action here.

The end results were Plainview victories. The girls prevailed 51-46, while the boys eked out a 54-52 verdict. Both games could have gone either way. They were that closely contested.

Hereford's girls, now 4-4 overall and 2-2 in district play, had tied the game at 46-46 with 1:45 to play when Sherri Ellis dropped in a pair of free throws.

But those were the last points they would score. Hallman, who scored 14 points and pulled down a game-high 11 rebounds, got loose underneath for an easy layup with 16 seconds to play and was fouled on the play. Her charity toss all but iced the game. Jackie Ross scored at the buzzer to make the final difference five points.

Plainview controlled the boards, and that pretty much was the difference. The Bulldog girls pulled down 47 rebounds, compared to 31 for Hereford. The winners enjoyed a 28-13 edge in offensive rebounds.

For the game, Plainview was 22 of 64 from the field for 34.3 percent. Hereford was 14 of 36 for 38.8 percent. The Whitefaces stayed in the game by hitting 18 of 28 free shots. Plainview was seven of 15 from the charity stripe.

Cynthia Hemphill led Plainview, now 6-3 overall and 3-0 in district play, with 18 points. She also yanked down six rebounds.

Stephanie Foster led Hereford with 13 points. Sheri Ellis added 12 and Jan Harwell chipped in with 11.

Hereford led by as many as four points (19-15) and trailed by that same margin (25-21) in the second period.

The Whitefaces fell behind by four (36-22) with 1:39 left to play in the third period, before knotting the count at 36-36 with 10 seconds to play in the quarter.

But Plainview took the lead for good when Michele Edwards popped in a pair of 22-footers and Hemphill dropped in a layup following a Herd turnover in the first two minutes of the fourth period.

The winners led by as many as five points (46-41) in the final stanza, before Hereford rallied to tie the score with 1:45 to go.

In the boys' game, Hereford led by as many as nine points (32-23) in the first half, before settling for a six-point bulge (36-30) at intermission.

The game, however, was decided when Plainview outscored the Herd, 11-1 during a seven minute span beginning in the final minute of the third period.

Hereford led 45-40 with 1:28 to play in the third period, but by the time the Herd scored from the field again they trailed 51-46 with 2:24 to play in the contest.

During that span, Hereford missed eight straight field-goal tries. Plainview, meanwhile, hit four of six to regain the lead.

For the game, Plainview canned 23 of 50 from the field for 46 percent. Hereford was 20 for 49 for 40.8 percent.

In the second half, the Bulldogs, now 4-4 on the year and 1-0 in league play, hit nine of 15 shots from the field for 60 percent. Hereford, which fell to 2-8 overall and 0-2 in loop warfare, was seven of 22 (31.8 percent) in the second half.

The Whitefaces, who've now lost five games this season by six points, or less, held high-scoring Gil Wright to 12 points. The 6-5 senior came into the game averaging over 25 points per game this season.

While Wright led the Bulldogs with 12 markers, Randy Williams added 11. Mike Baker, Kenneth Hallman and Roy Thompson all chipped in with eight in a balanced attack.

Steve Welch led Hereford with 17 points, in addition to pulling down a game-high 10 rebounds. Gary Long added 13 points, while Jeff Streun and Brian Taylor each scored 10.

Hereford's boys return to action Friday, hosting Portales in a non-district game. The girls and boys host Amarillo High next Monday. Plainview, meanwhile, is at AHS Friday.

In other district boys' games Tuesday, Amarillo High defeated Caprock, 77-59; Palo Duro tripped Monterey, 58-33 and surprising Lubbock High edged Tascosa, 66-61.

AHS and Palo Duro now are 2-0 in league play, while Plainview is 1-0, as is Coronado, idle Tuesday. Caprock and Lubbock now are 1-1, while Tascosa, Hereford and Monterey are 0-2.

In girls' action Tuesday, AHS ran its season record to 11-0 with a 62-27 win over Caprock; Tascosa tripped Lubbock 39-34 and Monterey defeated Palo Duro, 78-64.

AHS leads the girls' race with a 4-0 mark. Plainview and Monterey are 3-0, while Palo Duro, Hereford and Tascosa are 2-2. Caprock and Coronado stand 0-3, while Lubbock High is 0-4.

Collins says no to Ole Miss offer

DALLAS (AP) — Bobby Collins, head football coach at Southern Methodist, quickly shook his head when University of Mississippi officials asked if he would be interested in taking the vacant mentor's job with the Rebels.

Ole Miss officials requested and got permission to talk to Collins, but the first-year Mustang coach said he wasn't interested in moving.

"They called me Sunday night and it never did get as far as them offering me the job. They asked if I was interested, and I said, 'thanks but no thanks. I'm happy and I'm staying at SMU,'" Collins said Tuesday.

Ole Miss officials, seeking a replacement for Steve Sloan, who resigned to become head coach at Duke, had listed Collins as their No. 1 choice out of 25 candidates.

"Bobby has a lot of respect down here, and it was clear from the start that he was a favorite of (athletic director) Warner Alford," one source at Mississippi told The Dallas Morning News.

Collins, 49, is a graduate of Mississippi State and spent three years as an assistant there and seven years as head coach at Southern Mississippi before coming to SMU a year ago.

Elks Hoop Shoot set for Saturday

The 1983 "Elks Hoop Shoot" competition promises to be the best yet.

Local competition in Hereford, for youngsters (boys and girls) from ages 8-13, will be held Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at LaPlata Junior High School.

There are entry blanks available at all elementary and junior high schools in Hereford.

The national free throw shooting contest is for youngsters and is contested in three different age groups — 8-9; 10-11 and 12-13. And, it's for both boys and girls.

Each contestant has 25 shots at the basket. The boy and girl in each age group with the best scores advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals.

Local winners will advance. Names of the national winners will be inscribed on the Elks National "Hoop Shoot" plaque, on permanent display in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame at Springfield, Mass.

Almost three million youngsters competed across the country last year, and this year more are expected.

There is no deadline for entries. Youngsters may sign up for the competition Saturday morning at LaPlata.

Jim Brown scored an unmatched 126 touchdowns in his football career.

Phillips refuses to put bum rap on Oilers

DALLAS (AP) — Bum Phillips refuses to put a bum rap on the Houston Oilers who fired him.

He just wonders why they don't use running back Earl Campbell more.

The former Oiler coach, now head field boss at New Orleans, watched sadly Monday night as the Dallas Cowboys beat Houston 37-7 in a televised National Football League game in the Astrodome.

"I was pulling for them and I felt bad for the players and coaches," Phillips said Tuesday in a telephone interview at Dallas Coach Tom Landry's weekly press luncheon.

Phillips was fired two years ago by owner Bud Adams and replaced by assistant Ed Biles.

"I felt sad watching the game," Phillips said. "They're in a bad spot (1-5). If it wasn't for bad luck, they wouldn't have any luck at all."

Television cameras showed several pro-Phillips signs during the game, including one that said "Bum Phone Houston."

Phillips brings New Orleans to Dallas Sunday for a 3 p.m. game with the Cowboys. The last time he met Dallas in Texas Stadium the Oilers came away with a 30-24 victory.

Phillips said he has fun going against Dallas.

"It's like playing Pittsburgh," he said. "They have a lot of class. You know they will play hard, but there won't be anything cheap about it."

Phillips said he thought the Cowboys were a better team than the one he bested in 1979.

"They didn't run as well as they do now," he said.

Super Bowl XIX goes to Stanford

By CHARLES RICHARDS Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — In 1985, there will be a "Super Bowl by the Bay," National Football League owners have decided, accepting the bid of San Francisco to host the NFL championship game. In the same motion, the owners voted at their annual midseason meeting Tuesday to return to New Orleans in 1986, which will mark the sixth time for the city to host the classic. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said after the meeting that although San Francisco will be the host city, Super Bowl XIX will be played at Stanford Stadium on the Stanford campus in Palo Alto, 35 miles to the south. "It is a great traditional university and stadium, it seats 85,000, and we like to move the game around," Rozelle said. "We've done it since the start. And San Francisco is a very attractive city." The 1983 Super Bowl is set for the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., on Jan. 30, with the 1984 Super Bowl slated for Tampa Bay. On other matters, Rozelle: — officially announced Tuesday that this season's conference championships will be played in the home city of the team with the best record — the NFC game on Saturday, Jan. 22 and the AFC game on Sunday, Jan. 23. — said the New England Patriots' use of a snowplow to clear off a place for a winning field goal Sunday against Miami concerns him "a great deal" and indicated some type of penalty could be forthcoming against the team or its coach, Ron Meyer. — said it's unfortunate eight weeks of the season were lost due to the players' strike, but added, "We're trying to finish off a bad situation on a high note" the rest of the way to the 1983 Super Bowl. The NFL talked at one time about moving the conference championship games to New Orleans' SuperDome, presumably a neutral site, to avoid weather problems. But a convention could not be cleared out of the stadium. In the past, the conference championships were played as part of a doubleheader. The decision to play on successive days this time was made because of network commitments, Rozelle said. Rozelle said Miami owner Joe Robbie called him about the snowplow incident and "he's very concerned about it." Dolphins coach Don Shula also talked to him, Rozelle said. With less than five minutes left in the game, Meyer waved a snow plow onto the field. Instead of just clearing off the yardlines, however, the plow's driver veered to one side and scraped the spot where the Patriots' John Smith was lining up a 33-yard field goal try. Smith made the field goal, and New England won the game, 3-0. "The incident concerns me a great deal. That's all I can say about it at this time," Rozelle said. "I'll get a full report from the officials when I get back to New York." As a result of the incident, the commissioner said, the NFL Competitions Committee is proposing guidelines to be followed in the future for use of equipment in games played in adverse weather. In considering San Francisco for the 1985 Super Bowl, owners expressed concern about Stanford Stadium having no lights and no dressing facilities, Rozelle said. But Stanford has agreed to foot the bill for new dressing facilities and the NFL will install temporary lighting, Rozelle said. He said the NFL also plans to share in the expense of improvement to the press box and other renovation. The choice of New Orleans for 1986 "was almost automatic," Rozelle said, once owners learned that if they didn't nail down the city for that year the next soonest opportunity to play the Super Bowl there would be 1990. Houston's Rice Stadium was expected to be chosen as the site for 1987, but that announcement was not made. Other cities considered Tuesday were Miami; Anaheim, Calif.; Pontiac, Mich.; Seattle; and Jacksonville, Fla.

Cooper leads Portland past Lakers, 107-103

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Even though Wayne Cooper can't block Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's shots, that doesn't mean that the Portland center is powerless to stop the Los Angeles Lakers star. Cooper held Abdul-Jabbar to two points in the final quarter as Portland defeated Los Angeles 107-103 in a National Basketball Association game Tuesday night. The 6-foot-10 Cooper, who had 17 points and six rebounds compared to 14 points and four rebounds for Abdul-Jabbar, said the key to containing the 7-2 Lakers center is keeping him away from his favorite shooting spots. Cooper had three blocked shots in the game, one of them with six seconds to go against Bob McAdoo to salvage the victory, Portland's fourth in a row since Cooper became a starter.

In other NBA games, Golden State tripped Dallas 122-113, Phoenix trimmed Seattle 114-109 in overtime, San Antonio beat Houston 102-93, Washington defeated Chicago 108-102 and Detroit edged New York 104-99. Magic Johnson led the Lakers with 24 points, while Norm Nixon and Jamaal Wilkes had 17 apiece. Suns 114, Sonics 109. Alvan Adams scored 26 points and Dennis Johnson 25 as Phoenix beat Seattle in overtime for only its second victory in the last eight games. The Suns led by as many as 15 points in the first half and still had an 85-76 advantage with 8 1/2 minutes to go, but the Sonics came back to take a 93-89 lead behind Fred Brown's 10 points. After Maurice Lucas scored Phoenix's last six points to tie the game 97-97 at the end of regulation, Larry

Nance tipped in a missed shot with 2:50 to go in overtime to give the Suns the lead for good. Spurs 102, Rockets 93 George Gervin scored 29 points as San Antonio handed Houston its fifth straight loss and held the Rockets to 95 points or less for the eighth consecutive game. The Spurs, who outscored the Rockets 25-16 in the fourth quarter, took the lead for good on a three-point play by Gene Banks. Elvin Hayes led Houston with 21 points. Pistons 104, Knicks 99 Terry Tyler scored 12 of his 26 points in the fourth quarter and Isiah Thomas contributed four points and a key steal in the final seconds to lead Detroit over New York. The 6-foot-1 Thomas, who scored 19 points, tied the score for the sixth time in the fourth quarter, 97-97, on a tip-in of a missed shot while surrounded by three Knicks. With the score 99-97, Thomas stole an inbounds pass, was fouled and hit two more free throws for a four-point lead. Bullets 108, Bulls 102 Greg Ballard scored 22 points and reserve guard Kevin Grevey added 21 to pace Washington over Chicago. Ballard and Grevey combined for 20 points in the final six minutes of the game as the Bulls rallied from a 79-72 deficit early in the fourth period. Grevey had two three-point goals as Washington outscored the Bulls 14-3 to take the lead for good at 86-82. Warriors 122, Mavericks 113 Purvis Short scored 15 of his 33 points in the fourth period to lead Golden State over Dallas. Short and World Free, who scored 23 points, led a 14-6 surge by the Warriors over a four-minute span to take a 109-96 edge in the fourth quarter. Rolando Blackman led Dallas with 31 points.

Syracuse stops Buckeyes, 91-85

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Syracuse basketball team appeared in the Top Twenty for the first time in two years this week, and the Orangemen are making a point that they belong there. After a big victory over Houston over the weekend, the 16th-ranked Orangemen stopped Ohio State 91-85 Tuesday night for their seventh victory without a defeat this season. "We needed a little luck tonight," said Syracuse's Eric Santifer, who had a hand in eight of his team's last 10 points. "You can't go out every night and blow everybody away. We needed the free throws at the end and they were there." Santifer, Leo Rautins, Tony Bruin and Gene Waldron scored 19 points apiece for the winners, whose experience again showed in the pressure-packed final moments. Ohio State was paced by Tony Campbell's 23 points, while Troy Taylor and Joe Concheck contributed 20 and 16, respectively. It was the second straight tough loss for the Buckeyes, who lost to West Virginia in double overtime on Saturday. Both teams appeared sluggish in the first half, possibly trying to shake off the effects of strong efforts three days earlier. The lead changed hands 13 times before intermission, but the Orangemen never trailed again after Rautins sank two baskets in a 19-second span to give Syracuse a 34-31 advantage. In the only other game involving a Top Twenty team Tuesday night, No. 20 West Virginia routed Ohio Wesleyan 98-50 as Lester Rowe scored 19 points and Tim Kearney added 16. West Virginia, 6-0, dominated the Bishops from the opening tipoff. The Mountaineers led 47-17 at the intermission and extended the margin throughout the second half. It was West Virginia's 37th consecutive home-court victory. All but one of the 14 West Virginia players who saw action scored. Guard Greg Jones added 15 points. In other games, Greg Grant scored 19 points as Utah State rolled past Brigham Young 80-68; Bill Jackman hit a baseline jumper with 20 seconds left to propel Duke to a 63-60 victory over Davidson and Harold Keeling and Scott Lamson scored career highs of 25 and 23 points, respectively, as Santa Clara University raced past Oklahoma City 88-68. Also, Bowling Green forward Colin Irish had 23 points as the Falcons outscored St. Bonaventure 86-72; Adrian Branch scored 25 points to lead Maryland to a 66-56 victory over Towson State; Perry Bromwell's jumper with two seconds remaining gave Manhattan College a 59-57 victory over St. Francis (N.Y.) and Starr Langs sank four straight free throws with one minute left, enabling Brown to rally for a 78-75 win over the Rhode Island.

Both bouts were scheduled for 10 rounds. Scypion, weighing 158 1/4, stymied West with a left hook to the body at the 1:49 mark of the fifth round. Scypion, now 24-3, is from Port Arthur, Texas. West, now 12-2, weighed 158 1/4 and is from Detroit. Ayala, the older brother of No. 1-rated junior middleweight Tony Ayala, unleashed a left, left-right combination to beat Rocha. Ayala, a 118-pound San Antonio fighter, is now 33-2. Rocha, from Mexico, weighed 119.

Cooney struggles in exhibition bout

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Gerry Cooney struggled through a four-round exhibition fight with heavyweight Harold Rice — Cooney's first bout since losing a title fight to Larry Holmes six months ago. Cooney lacked a hard right punch as Rice stayed with him throughout the fight Tuesday night. Both fighters wore head gear and extra-large gloves. Cooney, from Huntington, N.Y., weighed 232 1/4 pounds. Rice, from Hartford, Conn., checked in at 271 3/4 pounds. In other boxing action at Gilley's nightclub, No. 6-ranked Wilford Scypion scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Bob West in middleweight action and super bantamweight Mike Ayala knocked out Tony Rocha at 37 seconds of the third round.

Local 4-H members take honors at District Show

Robin Conkwright
...senior division winner, main dish

Robin Conkwright's "Round Steak Deluxe," combining braised beef with green peppers, cherry tomatoes, olives, and mushrooms, took top honors in the senior main dish division at the Panhandle District 4-H Food Show held recently at Dumas High School.

She will advance to state competition next year along with senior winners in the breads and cereals, fruits and vegetables, and nutritious snacks and desserts divisions.

Other Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers placing in the 20-county competition were Polly West, who placed in the top four and won a blue ribbon in the senior fruits and vegetables division; Monica Grotegut, top four blue ribbon winner in junior nutritious snacks and desserts.

Christina Fritz, who placed in the top four and earned a blue ribbon in junior main dish; Trisha Teel, top four blue ribbon in junior fruits and vegetables.

Other senior division winners were Donna Peters of Moore County, whose braided, cheese-flavored yeast loaf took top honors in the breads and cereals category; Sam

Pender of Randall County, who won the fruits and vegetables division with "Broccoli Supreme" a casserole blending the vegetable with cheese and a mushroom sauce; and Annie Mellema of Dallam County, whose pineapple coconut cheesecake earned first place in nutritious snacks and desserts.

Senior division winners in the four food categories received a plaque and rosette in addition to the honor of advancing to the state event. Junior division winners earned rosettes, but do not compete beyond the district level.

Plaques were donated by Morrison Milling Co., rosettes by the Panhandle District Extension Homemakers Association, and ribbons by Energas Corp.

Each of the 128 contestants had earned championships in their county to advance to the district meet, which was viewed by thousands of shoppers during the daylong competition.

The dishes were judged by a panel of professional home economists and homemakers. Contestants were quizzed on nutritional values, preparation methods and costs of preparation.

The show is one aspect of the year-round foods and nutrition project in 4-H, explained Sue Farris, district director with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. 4-H is the youth program of Extension.

Mrs. Farris said the project helps youths learn the relationships between science, food and nutrition, and food preparation, as well as food buying, managing time, use of energy, food storage and safety.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Santa's bringing bureaucrats to good little legislators in Washington: Wind 'em up and they do absolutely nothing.

Christmas pets often abandoned, abused

NEW YORK — Pets are among America's most ill-advised Christmas gifts. Soft-eyed puppies and frolicsome kittens gleefully tumble in pet shop windows. Their appeal is tremendous. The sales are high.

A month later, many of those same delightful animals will be covering miserably in the cages of the local animal pound. Others will already be dead — unwanted and abandoned to bleak winter.

The simple point here is that although many people find great happiness in giving a young animal as a Christmas gift, not everybody is so happy about receiving one. And it takes exceptional courage to reject the gift of a helpless, ribbon-festooned kitten on Christmas morning.

Usually, the animal is received with gracious thanks, and then somehow disappears in a few weeks. Responsible people burdened with an animal they don't really want take it to a respectable shelter. And shelters all over America have experienced a great population explosion during the weeks immediately after Christmas for many decades now.

Humane jurisdictions require that animals in shelters be either adopted by new owners, or humanely euthanized. Other jurisdictions force animals to be funneled off to experiment labs and other cruel ends.

Anyone considering a gift of a loving creature should consider the following points:

1. Make absolutely sure the animal is wanted. If this means losing the joy of surprise, so be it. Better no surprise than risking tragedy with an animal's life.

2. Make absolutely sure the receiver is capable of giving the animal all the care and attention it deserves. Too often, kittens and puppies are given to children who are wildly infatuated with the pet, but are not mature enough to insure that the animal is properly tended.

Also, "companion" animals are now frequently given to older people who have neither the strength, nor the resources, to provide basic care for those pets.

3. If somebody you love really wants an animal, and is mature enough to provide it with good care and attention, why not agree between you to wait a few days, or weeks, after Christmas. Go shopping around the animal shelters in early January, and it's likely you'll find many appealing animals — some purebred, some sprightly mongrels. Your gift of joy will also become an errand of mercy.

4. If the shelter does not have its own requirements for spaying the animal, contact Friends of Animals, 11

West 60th Street, New York, NY 10023 for information on low-cost spaying. Spayed animals make better pets — they're better tempered, more reliable and easier to train. (It's no accident that more than 90 percent of all the seeing-eye dogs in the world are spayed females.)

Spaying your pet will also protect you from having to deal with an unwanted litter later in the year — a litter which could put you in the position of having to give away a half-dozen puppies or kittens, knowing that some of the recipients really don't want them. These are the creatures which keep the pounds and shelters full the other 11 months of the year.

Woman of year nominations being accepted

Nominations for Woman of the Year will be accepted at the Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main, until Monday, Dec. 20.

The annual honor is bestowed on a local woman on the basis of the merits of her contributions to the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division and the community.

Written summaries of qualifications and reasons for nomination may be mailed to or brought by the Chamber office.

Woman of the Year will be announced at the Women's Division installation meeting on Jan. 11.

The heaviest invertebrate is the Atlantic giant squid. The largest specimen ever recorded measured 55 feet — including head, body and tentacles. It was captured on Nov. 2, 1878, in Newfoundland.

Bryan gives program on Christmas wreaths

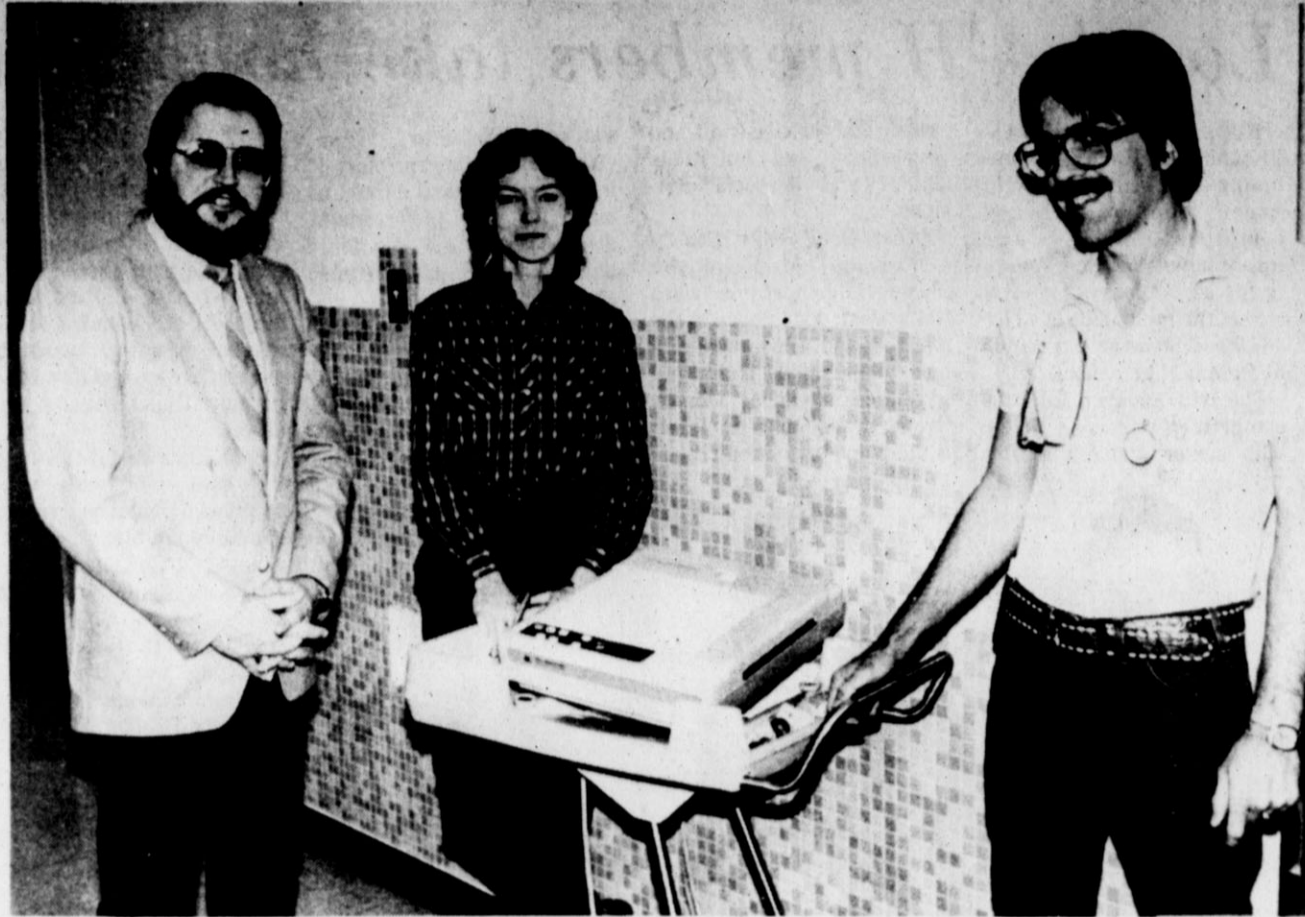

Members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Joe Spann on Friday morning. Wilma Bryan gave a program on making Christmas wreaths, presenting a brief history on the many uses of wreaths throughout time.

She said that materials used for making wreaths are many and varied, ranging from straw and grapevines to plastic bags. Sondra's Craft Corral furnished some of the wreaths and materials for the club members had a gift exchange, and after the meeting had lunch at Caion's.

In attendance were Ms. Spann, Ms. Bryan, Jane White, Paula Hamby, and Mrs. Betty Hughes, a guest of Ms. Spann.

The next meeting will be Jan. 21. Anyone interested in attending may contact any of the members mentioned above.

PCC Funds New Machine

latest in EKG devices and traces the electrical activity of the heart. A portion of the money raised will also go toward health care scholarships. Contributions can still be made at a number of locations throughout Hereford. Deadline is Saturday for those who wish to have their names appear in the joint greeting in The Brand's Christmas edition.

Nazareth church to hold annual pageant

The 11th annual Christmas pageant will be presented at the Holy Family Church in Nazareth on Sunday and Monday. Both presentations will begin at 8 p.m.

Caroling by grades two through five will begin at 7:45 p.m. each evening under the direction of Sister DeChangal and Sister Adrian.

Stanley Maurer is the stage director and Norma Schacher is assistant director. Religious inspirer is Father Harold Waldo.

Thirteen scenes make up the pageant from the time Simeon confronts Mary, through the birth of Christ and the holy family returning to their home in Nazareth.

Mary will be portrayed by Simona Schacker, St. Joseph by Stanley Maurer, the child Jesus by Wade Hoelting, and St. Elizabeth by Nellie Wilhelm. Dozens of hometown folks complete the rest of the cast including shepherds, wise men, angels, mothers and babies and others.

The pageant choir, under the direction of Sharon Brockman, will be accompanied by Mary Lynn Olvers and Winifred Wagner, organist. Inspirational musical interludes will be performed by the 30-member choir, also featuring Liz Wilhelm on flute, Damian Wilhelm on trumpet, and David Bownds on violin. Special lighting and costumes complete the elaborate scenes depicted throughout the pageant.

The parishioners of Holy Family Church extend a cordial invitation to area residents to attend this memorable Christmas pageant. There is no admission charge. For more information call 945-2586.

Apples, grapes, cranberries, plums and cherries should be stored in the refrigerator immediately after purchase and are best eaten within a week.

Project Christmas Card deadline is Saturday

Only a few more days remain for those wishing to make contributions to Project Christmas Card and who want their names to appear on the full-page greeting in The Hereford Brand's Christmas edition. The deadline is Saturday.

The annual project is sponsored by the Medical-Dental Auxiliary to raise money for improvements to the Deaf Smith General Hospital and for scholarships to students who plan to enter the health care field.

Rather than send Christmas greetings locally, contributors to Project Christmas Card will have their names "signed" to a joint greeting in The Brand.

Everyone who has not already contributed is urged to make a donation by Saturday at the hospital, First National Bank, Hereford State Bank, Little's, Hellens', The Deli, Carl McCaslin Lumber Co., Thriftway, TG&Y, Jack & Jill, Taylor & Sons, Park Avenue Florist, or Touch of Class.

Local member candidate for national DAR office

Mrs. Ernest Scott Brainard, a member of Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is a candidate for the office of recording secretary general of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution.

She is currently honorary state regent and state parliamentarian and is an associate member of Arredondo chapter DAR in Amarillo.

The Thompson Associates, candidates for executive office in NSDAR, were honored at a reception in Rockwall recently, held at Chandler's Landing Yacht Club.

Mrs. James H. Goodson, Rockwall Chapter, and Sydney Brainard, Nancy Horton Davis Chapter, were in charge of the reception in Rockwall.

Mrs. Richard H. Thompson, Jr. of Illinois is the candidate for the office of president general NSDAR. She is currently serving as treasurer general.

The election will be held during the week of April 19-23 at the 92nd DAR Continental Congress in Washington D.C.

Rhode Island

Rhode Island, the smallest U.S. state, is distinguished historically. It is known for its contributions to freedom of conscience and action in colonial days. The colony was begun by Roger Williams, founder of Providence, who was exiled from Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1636. The new colony gave protection to Quakers in 1657 and to Jews from Holland in 1658.

TAKE HEART, THERE'S HOPE!

I said to myself, I'm going to quit, especially when the ungodly are around me. But as I stood there silently the turmoil within me grew to the bursting point. The more I mused, the hotter the fires inside. Then at last I spoke, and pled with God: Lord, help me to realize how brief my time on earth will be. Help me to know that I am here for but a moment more. My life is no longer than my hand! My whole lifetime is but a moment to you. Proud man! Frail as breath! A shadow! And all his busy rushing ends in nothing. He heaps up riches for someone else to spend. And so, Lord, my only hope is in you.

Save me from being overpowered by my sins, for even fools will mock me then.

Lord, I am speechless before you. I will not open my mouth to speak one word of complaint, for my punishment is from you.

Lord, don't hit me anymore--I am exhausted beneath your hand. When you punish a man for his sins, he is destroyed for he is as fragile as a moth-infested cloth; yes, man is frail as breath.

Hear my prayer, O Lord; listen to my cry! Don't sit back unmindful of my tears. For I am your guest. I am a traveler passing through the earth, as all my fathers were.

Spare me, Lord! Let me recover and be filled with happiness again before my death. (Psalms 39)

By Doug Davis

The Oak Ridge Boys have remained in the No. 1 spot on the "Tops in Performance" chart for 54 straight weeks. The listing is based on an act's ability to draw crowds in concert appearances and includes any genre of music.

Waylon Jennings

The lengthy dispute between Loretta Lynn and the Wilburn Brothers-owned Sure-Fire Music Publishing Co. has been settled, with Loretta agreeing that all future songs written by her will be co-published by Sure-Fire Music and her own Coal Miners Music.

An album of self-written material has been recorded and is set for release after the first of the year.

Clint Eastwood reportedly has a project on the drawing board about the life of the late Western-swing star Bob Willis. Fiddler great Johnny Gimble has been mentioned as first in line to portray Willis in the flick. Randy Scruggs and Waylon Jennings are reportedly working on an album for Jennings to be marketed as "It's Only Rock n' Roll."

Hereford Garden Club welcomes new members

Mrs. Bob Campbell and Mrs. Carl Kleuskens were welcomed as new members when the Hereford Garden Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. D.N. Garner. Mrs. Art Stoy served as co-hostess at the meeting.

Mmes. Stoy, Garner, and Ed Lemons were elected to work on plans for the upcoming district garden club meeting.

Each member told of some Christmas tradition practiced in her own family and of some especially happy or sad Christmas Day in her past.

Mrs. W.C. Hromas told two Christmas stories, one about the birth of Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer 43 years ago, and the other about a Christmas long ago in a small country school house in which a boating accident helped the children to learn of real love.

A gift exchange followed the Christmas stories. Many of the gifts were handmade by the members.

Those attending were Mmes. Ben Childers, H.R. Cocanougher, R.L. Ethridge, Garner, David Grounsnick.

Ann Landers Disapprove of columns

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of three daughters - 11, 13 and 15. They sure keep me busy. Every morning I have to grab the newspaper before the girls get up and see what you have to say. Two days last week I had to rip your page out of the paper. (You ran that awful letter about painful intercourse. Such information should be dispensed by a doctor.)

When they see a page is missing, they ask, "Where's Ann Landers?" I tell them, "Her column wasn't anything you should be reading, so I tore it out." It always starts a fight.

Don't you have an editor? You get away with murder. - Boston Mother

DEAR MOTHER: Ralph Otwell is my editor and I'm lucky to have him. Nothing appears in this space that is unfit for anyone who can read.

Quit ripping, Mom. Your daughters are probably getting their pals to supply them with the stuff you've been trying to ditch. Forbidden fruit, you know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I found the enclosed in a craft shop in Minneapolis. I wish I knew who wrote it, and if she has any other poems I could get my hands on. - J.S. in Minneapolis

DEAR J.S.: I share your enthusiasm and hope the author will come forward. He (or she) is enormously gifted. Thanks for sharing.

COMES THE DAWN After awhile you learn the subtle difference Between holding a hand and chaining a soul.

And you learn that love doesn't mean leaning

And company doesn't mean security.

And you begin to learn that kisses aren't contracts

And presents aren't promises.

And you begin to accept your defeats

With your head up and your eyes open.

With the grace of a woman, not the grief of a child.

And learn to build all your roads

On today because tomorrow's ground

Is too uncertain for plans, and futures have

A way of falling down in mid-flight.

After awhile you learn that even sunshine

Burns if you get too much.

So you plant your own garden and decorate

Your own soul, instead of

Winter dressing for comfort, protection

COLLEGE STATION - Dress for comfort and protection when planning to spend much time outdoors during winter. Wind or temperature cannot be controlled, but clothing can.

"Select clothing for your activities as well as for outdoor conditions," says Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Think about your clothing as layers of protection, adds Vanderpoorten. By planning the number and thickness of these layers, comfort can be controlled in almost any outdoor climate.

The layer closest to the skin should be a "breathing layer" that allows body moisture and excess heat to escape. This layer may consist of underwear, lightweight socks, blouses or shirts.

The second layer is an "insulation layer" that keeps in the warmed air around the body. Bulky fabrics or several thin layers hold lots of air. Examples are sweaters, vests, and heavy socks worn over thin ones.

Thermal underwear also acts as an insulation layer.

Blazers, windbreakers, shoes and waterproof pants or jackets make up the "outermost protective layer." This layer keeps cold, drafty air out and may also protect inner layers from becoming damp.

A hat or hood is important too, according to Vanderpoorten. Up to 75 percent of body heat may be lost if the head is unprotected.

Remember to protect hands and feet. Vanderpoorten advises to wear gloves or mittens, and thick-soled leather shoes for best protection.

Use scarves and belts to help prevent heat loss. They can be removed easily when ventilation is needed to prevent overheating.

Plan to stay dry. "Choose water repellent outer garments if you will be exposed to moisture from rain or snow," says Vanderpoorten.

Damp garments will dry with body heat. This causes the body to cool and can be dangerous as well as uncomfortable.

Enjoy being outdoors in the winter by thinking ahead about comfort and protection. Choose clothing that fits both the climate and the activity.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, Dec. 15, the 349th day of 1982. There are 16 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Dec. 15, 1791, the first 10 amendments to the U.S. Constitution - the Bill of Rights - went into effect following ratification by Virginia.

On this date: In 1890, the Sioux Indian Chief Sitting Bull was shot and killed by federal troops in South Dakota.

In 1916, the French defeated the Germans in the World War I battle of Verdun.

In 1961, former Nazi Adolf Eichmann was sentenced to death in Jerusalem.

In 1965, the U.S. Mariner spacecraft flew past the planet Venus, relaying data back to earth.

Ten years ago: West German chancellor Willy Brandt said he would seek early ratification of a treaty with communist East Germany.

Five years ago: U.S. health inspectors were investigating an outbreak of gastrointestinal disorders aboard a Dutch cruise ship which had left Miami Dec. 2.

One year ago: Polish authorities acted to end strikes by workers protesting the imposition of martial law.

Today's birthday: Former Metropolitan Museum of Art director Thomas Hoving is 51.

Thought for today: "The strongest man upon earth is he who stands alone." - Henrik Ibsen, Norwegian playwright (1828-1906).

THEY JUST WOULDN'T STOP GIVING

Then Moses said to all the people, "This is what the Lord has commanded: 'All of you who wish to, all those with generous hearts, may bring these offerings to Jehovah.'" (Exodus 35:4-5)

So all the people went to their tents to prepare their gifts. Those whose hearts were stirred by God's Spirit returned with their offerings of materials for the Tabernacle, its equipment, and for the holy garments. Both men and women came, all who were willing-hearted. They brought to the Lord their offerings of gold, jewelry—earrings, rings from their fingers, necklaces—gold objects of every kind. Others brought blue, purple and scarlet cloth made from the finetwined linen or goats' hair; and ram skins dyed red, and specially treated goatskins. Others brought silver and bronze as their offering to the Lord.

The women skilled in sewing and spinning prepared blue, purple, and scarlet thread and cloth, and fine-twined linen, and brought them in. Some other women gladly used their special skill to spin the goats' hair into cloth. The leaders brought onyx stones to be used for the ephod and the chestpiece; and spices, and oil—for the light, and for compounding the anointing oil and the sweet incense. So the people of Israel - every man and woman who wanted to assist in the work given to them by the Lord's command to Moses brought their freewill offerings to Him. (Exodus 35:20-29)

Medic Alert Foundation is seeking volunteers

Medic Alert Foundation is seeking volunteers to help conduct a local, community-wide Medic Alert Week effort.

Set for April 3-9, 1983, the week's effort is designed to call attention to the life-protecting value of emergency medical identification.

According to Medic Alert, more than 40 million Americans have one or more hidden medical conditions such as diabetes, a heart condition, allergy to medication or epilepsy.

Medic Alert, the best recognized system of emergency medical identification in the world, currently serves 1.2 million members in the United States.

Medic Alert is a nonprofit, charitable foundation dedicated to providing a life-protecting system of emergency medical identification for people with hidden medical conditions.

Persons interested in volunteering for Medic Alert

Week should write: Medic Alert Foundation, P.O. Box 1009, Turlock, CA, 95381, or call 800 344-3226. In California, call 209-668-3333.

The largest Greek island and the fifth largest island in the Mediterranean, Crete was the original site of Minoan civilization. It lies southeast of the Peloponnese peninsula and is 160 miles long, 35 miles wide.

HEALTH Treating a spastic colon

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Help. I'm at my wits end. For three years I have been having problems with a spastic or irritable colon. I am including a list of my medicines. I've deleted caffeine, popcorn, gassy foods, spices. I'm under no stress except for this ailment. My doctor is ready to throw in the sponge, too.

I have eaten bottles of natural acidophillus, activated charcoal tablets. I eat very selectively and slowly to avoid swallowing air, but I still have gas.

During spastic colon attacks I look nine months pregnant and feel like dying from pain. I never have diarrhea but am rather constipated most of the time.

I've tried a third of a cup of softened bran each morning for six months and bran tablets. I've had good weeks and bad weeks with no difference in my diet. Any help will be appreciated.

DEAR READER - When the lower part of your colon near the rectum goes into spasm the whole colon becomes a closed tube that continues to distend as more gas is formed. It stretches like a balloon and you can have considerable abdominal distention.

I notice your medicines have been for pain and discomfort. Your doctor may want to try some antispasmodics of the atropine family, like Probanthine.

You are probably also forming gas from fermentation rather than swallowing air. You need to find out what foods you are not digesting that could be fermented. They are probably carbohydrates. A good candidate is milk, which also means all milk products.

The combination of gas formation and a spastic colon can be the big problem.

You might want to fast a day and drink only diluted fruit juices and see if you have less distention. Don't persist in this. An indication of food fermentation is the absence of symptoms when you are fasting.

DEAR DR. LAMB - If you take a multiple vitamin a day is there any other vitamin that you need? Is there one that awakens and helps the metabolism work? What about all the extras, like selenium, chromium, potassium and folic acid?

What do you recommend on taking vitamins? Are some really helpful to memory?

DEAR READER - You need to individualize, not generalize. If a person has a vitamin deficiency or an inadequate diet for any reason he definitely needs vitamin supplements.

Usually a healthy person on a well-balanced diet that includes a variety of different foods from each of the basic four food groups does not need vitamins or additional minerals.

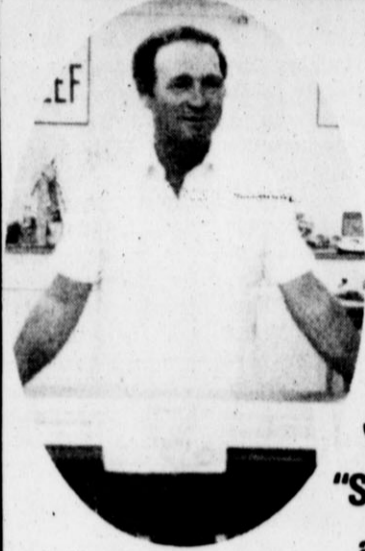

If there is any question about the adequacy of the diet, a simple multiple vitamin tablet that contains the RDA values of the vitamins is enough. If you need more you need to see a doctor who can individualize what YOU need.

I am a bit less enthusiastic about trace minerals. Many of these in excess can be quite harmful. And unless you have a vitamin deficiency that is being corrected, don't expect any additional vitamins to improve your memory or speed up your metabolism.
