

Chamber chief confident county can help with SSC

A resolution supporting Deaf Smith County's participation in a regional program to solicit the construction of the huge Super Collider project for the area was approved by directors of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce during a regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon.

President Mike Bowles reported the industrial development committee was in the process of seeking pledges and "was confident" that the community could come up with its goal of $2 million in cash or in-kind services for the project. The Amarillo C of C is leading a regional effort to locate the supercollider installation near Happy Potter, Randall, Swisher, Castro and Deaf Smith counties are working on the proposal.

In other business Thursday, directors discussed other industrial development activities, heard a report on plans to locate a branch of Texas State Technical Institute (TSTI) here, heard a report on the location of a domestic violence center in Hereford, and heard progress reports on other committee work.

Betty Taylor, president of the Women's Division, reported the Miss Hereford Pageant was a "great success", that the Little Miss Pageant was scheduled Saturday with 116 entrants, and that a Pet Show was to be held Saturday morning at the Bull Barn.

Carr announced that the next Fun Breakfast has been scheduled for May 14. He also reported that the Hustler organization is planning to visit all members during the year, and Hustler chairman John Stagner has announced the organization has openings for those interested in earning the points to become members.

Bowles said the Amarillo chamber had contacted Hereford and other area cities about joining an effort to pledge $20 million in "hard and soft" dollars as an inducement for the supercollider project. "On such relatively short notice, I am pleased with the cooperation and effort shown by the area counties and chambers," said Bowles.

The supercollider project is a $3 to $6-billion program and would employ about 3,000 people, as well as having about 500 scientists on hand at all times. Bowles said area communities had to act fast, as Amarillo must have its proposal in Austin by May 4.

Carr reported the plans for a TSTI branch in Hereford, supported by the city and county commissions, was moving along rapidly. The TSTI board is expected to approve the proposal in May, and the Texas Coordinating Board will hopefully give approval in June, according to Carr. TSTI officials will be evaluating sites for classrooms and for technical work in the next few weeks.

Directors attending the meeting were Bowles, Terry Bromlow, LaJean Henry, Betty Taylor, David Emerick, Larry Malamen, Ike Stevens, Carol Sue LeGate, B.J. Gilliland, Bill Harris.

Protest Sign

Opponents to the nuclear waste repository and site characterization for the waste dump have erected a sign at the intersection of I-40 and U.S. 385 in Vega.

The Nuclear Waste Task Force held a press conference at the sign this morning, drawing connection to the Chernobyl incident in Russia one year ago today.

Protest billboard erected

As the world marks the first anniversary of the accident at Chernobyl, residents of the Panhandle were told today "it can happen here" by the Nuclear Waste Task Force.

At Vega, the Task Force unveiled a 19-foot billboard emblazoned with the slogan "Don't Waste Texas" during a press conference this morning. The sign, which is visible to traffic on Interstate-40 and Highway 385, is intended by the coalition as "a reminder of the potential dangers of a high-level nuclear waste dump." It stands across the highway from Department of Energy temporary offices and the DOE information center.

NWTF spokesman Tonya Kleuskens spoke of the "disastrous consequences" of Chernobyl, where history's worst nuclear mishap occurred on April 26, 1986. The tragedy claimed 31 lives, sent 500 people to hospitals and doused soil, water and crops across Europe with radioactivity—in some cases, 500 times and natural level. The Soviets had to evacuate 135,000 people within an 18-mile radius of the atomic reactor, which is now entombed in 300,000 tons of concrete and 6,000 tons of metal.

Mrs. Kleuskens told of the dangers to the environment which still persist one year after the nuclear-power accident. Excessive radiation in Sweden's reindeer 1,300 miles from Chernobyl has resulted in mass government slaughter and destruction of an industry supporting 70-thousand Laplanders. The Common Market nations continue to impound food products from Eastern Europe for radiation.

The local Task Force, which opposes site characterization and DOE construction projects here for a nuclear waste dump, draws strong parallels between Chernobyl and potential dangers of a repository. The DOE is "persisting with a plan which could create a potential for massive radiation exposure to the people of the Panhandle," said Mrs. Kleuskens.

Citing the 1956 explosion of a nuclear waste dump in Russia, Mrs. Kleuskens pointed out the DOE's "track record for gross negligence at installations across the United States." She said, "A repository accident is a very real possibility."

"We pause today to remember those who perished at Chernobyl and pray that Congress and the administration will act wisely and responsibly on its vital national issue," she concluded.

$8.5 billion package approved

House trims foreign aid, domestic spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A supplemental spending package of about $8.5 billion for 1987 approved today by the House would plunge the government deeper into red ink but would not surpass spending limits set last fall.

The Democratic-controlled House, in a session that adjourned at 2:55 a.m. EDT, approved the bill 208-178 after voting twice to remove all $651 million in foreign aid from the measure. The Senate is expected to consider a similar measure next week.

"This just means we're being responsible," House Majority Leader Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said after the tally. He and other Democrats contend the legislation keeps the government within the spending ceiling imposed in the budget.

The legislation also contained arms control language favored by Democrats but opposed by Republicans that would forbid most nuclear weapons testing and would force the Reagan administration to obey arms limits set in the unratified SALT II treaty.

The administration already has threatened to veto the legislation, complaining about the arms control measures, its increase to the deficit and what it considers insufficient spending on defense and too much financing for domestic programs.

"This whole exercise today has been an exercise in politics," said Minority Whip Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss. "This bill is never going to see the light of day."

The measure, attacked by Republicans and some Democrats as a budget-buster, appeared in jeopardy as a day-long debate staggered past nightfall and Democratic support for some of the spending waned.

But House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, and other leaders, sniffing defeat in the wind, decided to back an amendment sponsored by Rep. Buddy MacKay, D-Fla., to cut $2 billion from what initially was an $11.3 billion measure.

That amendment passed on a 263-123 vote after MacKay told his colleagues, "This is the time to say whether we are committed to fiscal discipline."

The overall bill contains money for a snorgasbord of programs, the biggest chunk being $5.5 billion lawmakers say the Commodity Credit Corp. needs for crop subsidies. Without the infusion, the agency would run out of money in May, according to legislators.

Also included was $1 billion for salary increases and new retirement benefits for federal workers, $425 million to help the homeless and scores of other programs. The allocations for the homeless and for federal employees were the only amounts not affected by MacKay's across-the-board amendment.

To even consider the legislation, the House had to vote to waive the $1.093 trillion spending limit Congress approved last fall, when the current fiscal year began. But MacKay gained support for his proposal by arguing that it kept the government within that spending limit.

MacKay's provision enabled the House to avoid the political embarrassment of surpassing the $1.093 trillion spending ceiling.

Even so, the legislation would add several billion dollars to the 1987 deficit, which already is estimated to be at least $30 billion above the $144 billion limit set by the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law.

Gunman in shopping center kills six, wounds 11 in spree

PALM BAY, Fla. (AP) — A gunman "shooting at anything in sight" killed six people in a rampage at two shopping centers before police fired in tear gas and a flash bomb early today and wrestled him to the ground, authorities said.

At least 13 other people were wounded, one critically, and three hostages were freed unharmed, police said. Three people were found unharmed hiding in a refrigerated storeroom. The dead included two police officers.

William Cruse, about 60, of Palm Bay was arrested 7 1/2 hours into the siege and was being questioned early today. No charges had been filed.

"He hasn't stated a clear motive for what he did," police spokeswoman Louise Brown said.

The gunman, who police said was armed with two rifles, one high-powered, opened fire at 6:25 p.m. Thursday at a Publix supermarket, then continued shooting as he made his way across the street into a Winn Dixie supermarket, where he took three people hostage, police said.

"This guy was shooting at anything in sight," said Stephanie Call, who worked in one of the shopping centers. "He didn't care. He was amazing. He wasn't aiming. He was just shooting at anything."

"I felt one bullet go right through the top of my hair," said Fletcher Redmond, 62, a jewelry store owner in one of the shopping centers. "I just dropped to the floor. I just knew the next shot was going to be lower."

The gunman, in contact with police by telephone, released the hostages because "he didn't want to hurt any more women," Ms. Brown said from the scene about 1 a.m.

"He asked for cars and airplanes and a number of things," but not money, said Palm Bay Police Chief Chuck Simmons. Police decided to move in when the gunman cut off negotiations, Simmons said.

About 200 police officer converged on the supermarket, firing into it tear gas and a device that emits a bright flash and a loud noise.

"They started to cuff him when they grabbed him, and he fought them all the way to the car, knocking one of those guys down," said Buddy Donald, 25, who lives nearby.

Three victims were pronounced dead at Holmes Regional Medical Center, and three were found dead in store parking lots, Simmons said. No victims' names were released.

Witnesses initially reported two gunmen with red hair carrying military rifles, one in his late 20s and the other in his 50s, Ms. Brown said. A man in his 20s was arrested soon after the shooting started, but officers later decided the man holed up at Winn Dixie was the sole assailant.

Witnesses reported "people lying in the gutters" after the shooting started.

Of the 13 wounded, a 16-year-old boy was in critical condition with a gunshot wound to the abdomen and five other people were in serious but stable condition after surgery, according to Dr. D. Scott Gettings, director.

tor of emergency medicine at Holmes Regional Medical Center.

Three others were hospitalized and four others, including an infant, were treated and released, he said.

Palm Bay, a 65-square-mile city on the Atlantic Coast about 70 miles southeast of Orlando, has a population of about 43,000.

Sheriff's report

Deaf Smith County deputies are investigating a theft and criminal mischief case north of the city limits in which a shot gun and socket set were stolen from a pickup, plus 10 gallons of gas siphoned from the tank. Another vehicle on the premises had its tires slashed. Another vehicle burglary was reported northwest of town. An M-1 carbine .30 caliber ordinance rifle and a radar detector are missing. Deputies also heard a report of two calves killed by dogs.

Police report

Hereford police arrested two persons Thursday. A 44-year-old woman was arrested for no seat belt and second offense of no liability insurance and an 18-year-old male was taken in on burglary warrants.

Police are investigating a burglary reported late Thursday evening by a woman cleaning an office downtown. She told police she heard glass break and when she went outside saw a man breaking the window of The Cobbler shoe store. The subject grabbed some items and ran. Police did not locate the suspect. The shop owner said about $650 in goods are missing.

Other reports filed were of a large dog chasing children in the 400 block of Avenue H (animal control picked up the dog), children cursing other children, subjects peeking into windows, a child shooting at a dog with a BB gun, theft of beer from a convenience store, suspicious noises at a residence, a car window bashed by a beer bottle, a dog problem, a report of a public drunk and a report of small children playing in the street.

Police checked one accident at Avenue G and 15th where a 20-year-old female passenger was slightly injured.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says people living together without getting married is especially disturbing to a guy who just got a citation for fishing without a license.

George Dolan, in the Fort Worth Star Telegram, told about a minister friend who was preaching a series on sin and forgiveness. One Sunday, his sermon dealt with the difference forgiveness makes in people's lives. Early that morning, a woman called the church and asked the title of the day's sermon.

Came the reply, "What Difference Does It Make?"

"Uh, well, I don't suppose it makes any real difference," the caller stammered. "I just thought it would be nice to know."

This weekend is one of those occasions when there is plenty to do and see in the community. The annual Little Miss Hereford Pageant, with a record 116 entrants, is scheduled Saturday night in the high school auditorium; the Women's Division of the chamber will sponsor a Pet Show Saturday morning at the Bull Barn; the Hereford Coaches will take on the Long Rangers of KPDA-TV Saturday night at La Plata Gym in a benefit basketball contest for the Casey Smith Scholarship Fund; and the Hereford chapter of American Business Clubs is sponsoring a big Medicine Show at the Bull Barn Saturday night.

For the sports fans, the big baseball game between Hereford and Canyon takes place Saturday afternoon in Canyon. Hereford is undefeated in district action and both teams are ranked high in the state. On the local scene, Hereford will host the district junior high track and field meet at Whiteface Stadium.

There will be plenty of entertainment and action available for local citizens on Saturday!

It's strange how people's perceptions of some events can be so different. After the WDIC meeting here this week, we visited with two observers who had entirely different ideas about the way the committee is proceeding with its work on the site characterization planned by DOE.

One man said he felt the WDIC group was yielding to pressure and becoming more closely allied to the radical anti-nuke protestors. Another said he felt the committee was "just smoothing over" the activities of DOE.

If both "sides" are complaining, the committee is probably doing a good job!

Drinking while driving bill approved

AUSTIN (AP) — The House has voted its final approval to a Senate bill that would bar Texans from drinking alcoholic beverages while driving.

The measure goes back to the Senate for review of minor amendments tacked on by the House, where the bill was approved Thursday on voice vote.

Senate approval of the amendments would advance the "open container" bill to Gov. Bill Clements. The governor supports the ban on drinking alcoholic beverages while driving, and, pending a review of the bill, plans to sign it into law, according to Jay Rosser, a spokesman for the governor.

Under the proposed law, police could issue a summons to a driver caught drinking an alcoholic beverage. The bill is somewhat weaker than similar measures proposed in past years in the Texas Legislature. Some of those proposals would have allowed fines for mere possession of alcoholic beverages by a driver.

The bill, authored by Sen. Bill Sarpalius, D-Amarillo, won final House approval with no debate. Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, reiterated his opposition to the bill. During Wednesday debate, Moreno called the measure "just another of those bills that confuse the public. You know very well that under present law if an officer sees a driver with a can of beer in one hand he is going to stop that driver and see if he is drunk."

Sculptures found to be $18 fakes

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Museum of Art has scuttled three of its prized ancient Mexican sculptures after discovering that the supposedly $200,000 collection is actually made up of $18 fakes, officials say.

There may be hundreds of other such fakes, mass-produced in the 1950s and worth about $18 each, in museums and art collections in this country and Europe, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

At least five other U.S. museums — including the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and the St. Louis Art Museum — were taken in by the bogus Veracruz sculptures, said Mini Croseley, an Austin-based writer for Connoisseur magazine who uncovered the forgeries.

Other museums are yet to be identified, she said.

The DMA pieces, first exhibited in 1976, have been removed from display.

"We were totally caught by surprise," DMA Director Harry Parker said Thursday. "These are so good in quality that I'm convinced there are other forgeries that will be found in public and private collections here and around the world."

"These pieces have been front and center, published in our catalog, very proudly displayed and have always been admired by pre-Columbian scholars," Parker said.

Working on a tip, Ms. Croseley and an Austin architect, E. Logan Warner, interviewed Brigido Lara, a 45-year-old artist and restorer at a Jalapa, Mexico, museum, who claims he made the DMA's three sculptures.

Ms. Croseley contacted the DMA on March 18.

Although the DMA does not acknowledge Lara created its pieces, an elaborate series of tests were conducted at a Connecticut laboratory earlier this month that determined the pieces were 20th-century fakes, Parker said.

$1 million for stock exchange seat

NEW YORK (AP) — A seat on the New York Stock Exchange was sold Thursday for $1 million, the highest price ever, a spokesman for the exchange said.

The record price tops $850,000 paid for a seat Monday. Analysts said the sale showed confidence in the market's strength, despite the dollar's weakness and interest rate fluctuations.

The New York Stock Exchange does not disclose participants in the sale of a seat, but a report in The New York Times identified the buyer as Stern Brothers, a small brokerage and specialists firm based in New York. The seller was Irwin Herling, a New Jersey resident, according to the Times.

There are 1,366 seats on the exchange, a number that has been fixed for decades, and 611 member organizations hold seats. Seats are held in individuals' names, and some firms hold several. Some are leased.

"The price of the seat reflects supply and demand," said exchange spokesman Richard Torrenzano.

"There is a great deal of demand right now which seems to imply that we have reached the strongest level of optimism in our history about the strength and future of the New York Stock Exchange."

Unions split over demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like the civil rights and Vietnam War protests of years past, a giant demonstration planned for this weekend against U.S. policies in Central America and South Africa is producing a rift among the nation's unions.

Twenty-four labor leaders are on the steering committee for two Washington rallies Saturday plus a first-ever "civil disobedience" demonstration Monday at the gates of CIA headquarters.

Among them are the presidents of many of the nation's biggest unions — the National Education Association, the United Food and Commercial Workers, the United Auto Workers, the Communications Workers and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

But the AFL-CIO refused to lend its support on grounds that some sponsors of the protest openly support the Marxist guerrillas in El Salvador and the Sandinista government that has been accused of repressing unions in Nicaragua.

"It is possible to criticize the Reagan administration's policies toward Nicaragua without embracing the Sandinista regime," AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland said in a letter directing state labor federations not to take part.

Sponsors predict that the three-day event, being held under the umbrella of the National Mobilization for Justice and Peace in Central America and Southern Africa, will rival in size the massive civil rights and anti-Vietnam War demonstrations of the 1960s and '70s.

"We are expecting 100,000 people, maybe more," spokeswoman Judy Freiwirth said Thursday. "We have a minimum of 1,000 buses coming, and we know people are coming in by train and plane."

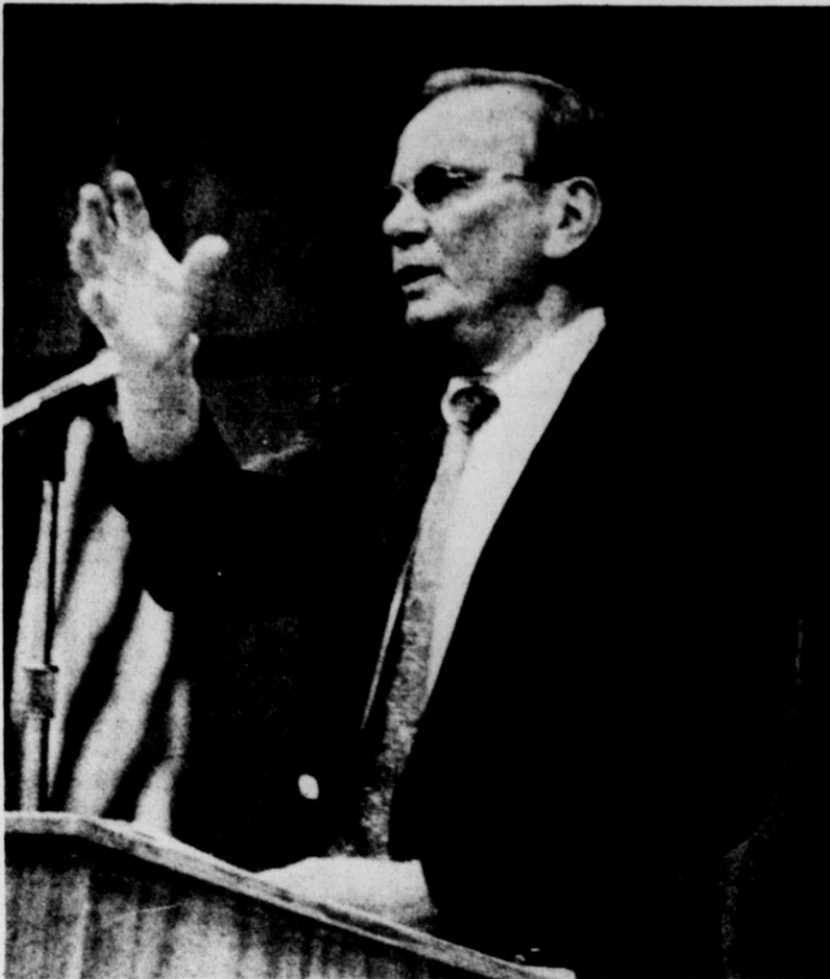

A rally on the ellipse behind the White House on Saturday morning, a march to the Capitol, and another rally there in the afternoon kick off the weekend. Entertainment is planned by such groups as Peter, Paul and Mary.

Of special concern to police is a demonstration planned for rush hour Monday morning at two gates of the CIA in Langley, Va., a Washington suburb. County police have jurisdiction over the main gate, while U.S. Park Police and the Federal Protective Service control the other.

"We've had people planning for weeks," Fairfax County police spokesman Warren Carmichael said Thursday.

Civil disobedience training sessions, for those planning to take part in the CIA demonstration, are scheduled for Sunday.

Included in the wide spectrum of groups being brought together are Jesse Jackson's Rainbow Coalition, the Gay and Lesbian Task Force, the Gray Panthers, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the National Organization of Women and the Native American Movement.

JOE KERR
...reelected board president

HTFCU holds annual meet

Joe Kerr was reelected board president of Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union, and a healthy increase in deposits and loans reported during an annual meeting Thursday night with about 250 members attending at Hereford Community Center.

Kerr, Robert Thompson and Dr. W.J. Hill of Dimmitt were reelected as directors, and Clarence Betzen was reelected to the credit committee. The board also reelected Dr. Milton Adams as vice president and Dr. W.J. Hill as secretary-treasurer.

A comparative balance sheet showed year-end deposits at $16,001,694—compared to $13.5 million at the close of business in 1985. Bob Baker, manager, reported deposits of more than $18 million for the current quarter.

In his annual report, Kerr pointed out that loans had increased 2.9 percent to $7.5 million, and that total assets had increased by 16.5 percent to slightly more than $17 million. Kerr said the credit union was continuing to improve present programs and new programs and services are being developed. He reported total reserves and undivided earnings increased 2.2 percent over last year.

Holdover directors for the credit union are Ralph Smith, Nick Yosten and Don Tardy. Holdover members of the credit committee are Bill Devers and Wayne Amstutz. R.C. Hoelscher, credit union attorney, conducted the annual election. Serving on the nominating committee were Mal Manchec, Walt Hansen and Ike Stevens.

This was the 50th annual membership meeting for the credit union. Door prizes were given away to some of the lucky members during the meeting.

Hispanic leader calls Tornillo school racist, but parents still give support

By DORALISA PILARTE
Associated Press Writer

TORNILLO, Texas (AP) — A Hispanic leader denounced as racist and repressive a plan asking parents to punish children caught speaking Spanish at school, but reaction in this rural town so far has been positive.

Ruben Bonilla Jr., chairman of the 12,000-member Mexican-American Democrats of Texas, sent a sharply worded telegram Thursday to Francis Brooks, superintendent in the Tornillo Independent School District.

"Extend your campaign of English reform by changing the name of the city Tornillo to Screwdriver, which more aptly describes your efforts at driving a wedge between Hispanic citizens and Texans," said the telegram. Tornillo means "screw" in Spanish.

Brooks said Thursday he had not received the telegram, which had been sent earlier in the day. But he said he was surprised at Bonilla's reaction and at the attention the campaign had received.

The plan is aimed at helping the 370 students in Tornillo learn English and improve their scores in standardized state tests, Brooks said. The campaign, presented at the Tornillo Parent-Teacher Organization meetings in March and April, is not an attack against Spanish or Hispanic culture, he added.

"It upsets me a bit," said Brooks, who was high school principal in this town of 1,100 before becoming superintendent in 1980. "Our total thing is to try to help the kids out. It bothers me that they think we're trying to do anything culture-wise or racist."

Brooks on Wednesday sent 370 letters in Spanish and English to parents, asking them to sign the letter, agreeing to discipline their children if school officials report students who speak Spanish at school.

The plan is voluntary and no reprisals will be taken against parents who do not sign the contract, the letter said.

"I am shocked by your intimidating letter to parents asking Spanish-speaking children be punished," Bonilla's telegram said. "Letter smacks of racism."

Bonilla said he would ask state Attorney General Jim Mattox to investigate the legality of the Tornillo plan.

About 95 percent of students in Tornillo, a small farming community 35 miles southeast of El Paso, are

Demos form 'truth squad' about budget

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Democratic legislators, dubbing themselves "the truth squad," are following in Gov. Bill Clements' footsteps and telling Texans there is another side to the tax story.

"The problem with the facts as laid out by Gov. Clements is that they simply are not true," said Sen. Hugh Parmer, D-Fort Worth.

Touring three South Texas cities Thursday, Parmer and five other lawmakers are challenging the Republican governor's argument that $2.9 billion in new taxes for 1988-89 is enough.

The Democrats said that population growth, increased unemployment and inflation mean state government must spend more to provide the same help to its citizens during the next two years than it did in the last two.

"The governor is reducing his budget ... on the shoulders of public and higher education and in the area of health and human services against the people that can least afford it. And that's why we're here," said Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

The lawmakers cited examples of what they said Clements' $36.9 billion, two-year budget would do to services now provided. Among the effects, they said, would be:

- Increases in local property taxes to continue funding public schools adequately.

- Reductions in Aid to Families with Dependent Children payments from $57 a month to $43 in 1988 and $37 in 1989.

- Loss of nursing home care to about 8,000 elderly.

- Loss of child protective services for about 6,000 abused children.

The legislators, who plan to make every stop Clements does on his scheduled 17-city tour, said they believe the governor is wrong in saying his budget would not reduce services.

"Gov. Clements is going around the state of Texas delivering a message ... which is just simply not accurate. Even his arithmetic does not work," Parmer said.

The Senate has approved a $39.9 billion budget, and the truth squad members said that is a realistic figure. They noted that half the Senate's six Republican members also voted for that spending total.

"I believe Gov. Clements is sincere in his belief. But Gov. Clements is sincerely wrong," said Sen. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville.

Sen. Judith Zaffirini, D-Laredo, said she thinks Clements has put politics first. During last year's campaign, the governor vowed to veto new taxes, and she said Clements has been unrealistic since taking office.

"I am dismayed and discouraged by the governor's style of confrontational politics," she said.

The lawmakers visited Corpus Christi, Harlingen and Laredo on Thursday, and they scheduled stops in Waco, College Station and Victoria today.

At Laredo, county judge Andy Ramos Jr. said he also had heard Clements' pitch on Monday but thought the lawmakers' message would be better received.

Ramos said Clements asked his audience if they wanted their taxes raised. "And the answer was no."

However, he said, "When you come down to the local community level and say, 'Do you want your independent school districts and your universities here to be cut by over $2.5 million ... the answer is obviously no.'"

"If there is fat to cut, that fat was not identified by the governor's presentation," he said.

At Corpus Christi, farmer Wayne Ringer of Victoria said he, too, had heard both presentations but agreed with Clements.

"They're (legislators) not going to convince farmers to raise their taxes, I don't care what they say. They're going to find enough money to keep this state running and all essential services," Ringer said.

He also said he thinks Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, the Democratic leader of the Senate, was behind the truth squad trip.

Mexican-Americans. Of those, 40 percent speak only Spanish or very little English, he said. Brooks estimated that 60 percent of parents in Tornillo speak only Spanish.

By Thursday, Brooks said, 37 parents had signed the letters. Except for two parents, all were Hispanics, he said.

"We still have not received any negative reaction," he said.

Bonilla, in a telephone interview from Corpus Christi, said he wasn't surprised at the lack of negative reaction from Tornillo parents.

"To complain would probably subject the Hispanic community, not to reprisals, but to unfavorable repercussions," said Bonilla. "Black sharecroppers didn't complain either ... (nor) slaves."

Punishing children who spoke in Spanish at school was widespread in Texas at one time, said Bonilla.

"I was punished," said Bonilla. "Back then, we had spanking. I remember my brothers and sisters were sent home (from school) for speaking Spanish."

Bonilla said that while he believes in encouraging Hispanic children to learn English, punishing students for speaking Spanish lowers their self-esteem and makes them subservient.

Woman thanks judge for prison term

HOUSTON (AP) — A woman accused of prostitution, who wriggled out of a set of handcuffs last week and escaped from Harris County deputy sheriffs, thanked a judge for sending her to prison.

"Thank you," Christine Highfield, 23, told State District Judge Ted Poe. "I'm ready to get out of this county jail."

Ms. Highfield made it clear to anyone who asked that the prospect of time in the Texas Department of Corrections pleases her.

"I get a good education," she explained exuberantly Wednesday. "I get $200 when I get out, and I get my teeth worked on. What else can I ask for?"

On April 15, Ms. Highfield was handcuffed to a seat in a county courtroom while waiting an appearance on the latest of the 30 prostitution cases filed against her in her nine years in Houston.

She told the bailiff her handcuffs were too tight, and the officer loosened the restraint.

She soon freed her hand and fled, only to be arrested hours later hiding under a house. A small quantity of cocaine also was found.

How she got free from the handcuffs touched off considerable discussion around the courthouse.

"Are you double-jointed?" Poe asked her.

"They say I am, but I don't know," she replied.

"You appear to be a modern-day

Houdini. It will be interesting to see if the Texas Department of Corrections can keep you incarcerated," Poe said.

She was sentenced after she pleaded guilty to escape and cocaine possession.

"I've been practicing law for 10 years and I've never had one before who wanted to go to the TDC," her attorney, Jerry Bonney, said.

Even prosecutor Vic Wisner appreciated Ms. Highfield's sense of humor.

Ann Landers

'Stew' recipe never fails

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This stew keeps extremely well. We've had it in our family for years. Will you please pass the recipe on to your readers?—P.H.P. in Kansas City

DEAR P.H.P.: You bet I will. It sounds delicious—and fail-safe, too.

FAMILY STEW

Take one large pot. Mix together assorted sizes, shapes and temperaments of Mom and Dad.

Add children gradually with care and love.

Sprinkle on dreams, encouragement, patience, honesty and pride.

Stir in work, friends, pets, schools, life's ups and downs, church, picnics, parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, nuts and bolts.

Don't forget some craziness, kisses and hugs, fanny pats and more patience. Tooth fairies, Santa Claus, angels, witches, gremlins and goblins.

Take a large scoop of luck, an abundance of energy. Keep blending constantly with all the other ingredients.

Bring to a boil—then simmer for 20 or more years over a very moderate flame.

If the stew becomes too thick after 15 years or so turn heat off (teen years). Stew can turn unpredictable at this time.

All stews are original and need generous amounts of imagination, fortitude and tolerance to keep from turning rancid. The magic of this incredible stew is that after 50 years the aroma still lingers and the pot never empties, although the flavor may vary depending on tastes, preference and seasonings. Bon appetit!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a friend who works with me in a large office. "Bob" collects everything—old dolls, comic books, coins and old car parts. He has 12 old Edison-type phonographs in his tiny apartment. These things cost a lot of money and he borrows to make payments on them.

Bob gets up early every Saturday and Sunday to attend swap meets, garage sales and auto salvage yards, sometimes driving 600 miles in a weekend. He rents space in storage buildings to keep this stuff because his apartment is stacked from floor to ceiling, wall-to-wall with boxes and bags full of junk. There's just barely a trail to get from the front door to the kitchen and the bedroom. I know this could be a fire trap as well as a health hazard.

Bob is restoring his old car in his garage so he has to park his truck on the street, where it has been stolen twice in the last six months. I tell him he has gone over the edge from collecting as a hobby to being a compulsive nut. In my opinion, the guy is hooked on junk like other people are hooked on dope and gambling.

The man is 37, never dates, has no interests except collecting stuff. He cannot have anyone to his apartment because it is like a junk shop.

When his mother comes to visit from Florida she has to stay in a motel and eat out. Is there anything that can be done for this man?—I am—Concerned in Encino

DEAR ENCINO: Your analysis sounds right on the money. The man is obsessed with collecting, and like all other compulsions, this has taken over his life.

If he refuses to go to a therapist you can't drag him, but he is in dire need of counseling.

Maybe the board of health or the fire marshal might be able to make a dent. Give them a call. It just might jar him into getting professional help.

How to — and how much? Find out with Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." For your copy send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

EATING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One way to lose weight without feeling that you are cheating yourself is to trade calories from one meal to the next, says a food industry expert.

"Try eating a light meal at lunch, such as a salad, when you know you'll be going out to dinner," says Donna Higgins, director of Del Monte Kitchens. "That way, you can enjoy yourself without gaining weight."

Higgins says weight gain is "a matter of calories consumed vs. calories burned."

Church News

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Johnny Tims will be leading a youth revival beginning today and ending Sunday.

Today's events begin at 6 p.m. with a youth choir practice followed by the 7 p.m. revival service. A scavenger hunt fellowship will be held at 8 p.m.

At 9 a.m. breakfast at the church will start Saturday's activities. The 6 p.m. youth choir practice will precede the 7 p.m. revival service. A Dutch pizza fellowship at Pizza Hut is set for 8 p.m.

Sunday's activities will start at 9:45 a.m. with Sunday School and revival services will be held at 11 a.m. At 6 p.m., the youth Bible study will be held with the 7 p.m. revival services ending the three-day services.

BAPTIST CHURCH

This Sunday afternoon all youth, parents and interested persons are urged to be present at the parent forum. "Teenage Pregnancy-The Death of a Dream" will be given by Carolyn Andrews at 5:15 p.m. in the high school Sunday school room at the church.

Kindergarten open house and fellowship hour is planned Sunday. All those with children presently enrolled and anyone interested in enrolling for the 1986-87 school year are invited. There will be a program presented by the children and a tour of the classrooms will follow. Refreshments will be served and enrollment will be available.

The new Baptist Mission is in need of used baby beds and other nursery items. If you have any of these articles please call Evelyn Lyles at 364-8245.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A fellowship luncheon is planned Sunday after the worship service. The Women's Bible Study Fellowship will sponsor the meal. Price is $3.50 for adults; $2.50, children; and $12 per family.

The Men's Fellowship Retreat is scheduled May 16-17 at Conchas Lake, N.M. Registration is planned Sunday, May 3 and May 10. You may sign-up in the foyer.

The Toymaker's Dream will be presented at 8 p.m. May 1-2 at 8 p.m. in the Amarillo High School auditorium. Tickets are priced at $1 per person and are available at the church office.

The Chi Rho youth are putting together a cookbook for a fund raising project. If you want to submit a favorite recipe contact Melissa Young, 364-4224; Kathy Turpen, 364-6362, or bring them to the church office by May 1.

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The senior adult choir will have a cookout at the home of Jeff and Kathy Love at 239 Star beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

A single service of revival is planned beginning with the gospel concert at 7 p.m. Saturday. The services will go through Sunday, May 3. Sunday services will begin at 9 a.m. with Sunday school, and are set for 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Services during the week will start at 7 p.m. Gary Haines will be leading the revival.

For the next two weeks only, Sunday school will begin at 9 a.m.

The teens begin their work-a-thon for senior citizens Saturday to raise money for their summer mission projects. If you know of any senior citizen that needs any work done at no charge to them, please contact Ted Taylor.

If anyone has any items to donate to the teen garage sale May 9, contact Ted Taylor. All proceeds go toward the summer mission projects.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Two film showings each Sunday for the next seven weeks are scheduled in First United Methodist Church, a series titled Focus On The Family. All interested persons are invited to see the film at either hour, 9:45 a.m. and 7 p.m., beginning Sunday.

First in the series has the subject,

The Strong-Willed Child. Dr. James C. Dobson, a well-known Christian authority on the family, is presented in these films.

Subjects of the coming films are: Shaping The Will Without Breaking the Spirit, Christian Fathering, Preparing for Adolescence—Origins of Self-Doubt, Preparing for Adolescence—Peer Pressure and Sexuality, What Wives With Their Husbands Knew About Women (two films, "The Lonely Housewife," and "Money, Sex and Children.")

An unusual class reunion, that of a Sunday School class, will be held in First UMC Saturday, when the Fellowship Class will host a gathering of former members, many of them now living in other cities. A dinner in Fellowship Hall will begin at 6 p.m.

Earnest Langley is teacher of the class and Kathryn Ruga assistant teacher. Marjorie Thomas is president this year. Invitations have been sent to former members, and replies indicate a large number to come.

Youth of First UMC will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday for a Spring Fling Car Rally which will send teams with clues driving over the Hereford area to a secret location where the Spring Fling will be held. Youth of the church and their friends are invited.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The Rev. Bruce Kochsmeier's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship is titled "Delivered While Doubting." The scripture lesson is John 20:19-31.

Ann McKay will be at the church Sunday to talk of the services of the Samaritan Counseling Center.

Kerygma will be at 7 p.m. Thursday to consider the theme "Righteousness in the Church."

The Scripture for Lunch Bunch will meet at noon Wednesday to discuss Luke 24:13-35. Bring a lunch.

Beginning Anew Together will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Junior high youth will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday at 138 Liveoak for the "funniest games you've ever played" and to play Youth Sunday.

Senior high youth will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday at 138 Liveoak.

Mission Yearbook: Today we asked to pray for the Presbytery of Wilmington, North Carolina. It has 13,575 members and 74 churches. In the ministry of this Presbytery, Youth groups are refocusing their energies on Christian witness through involvement in service projects. Men and women of the churches have been strengthened by rallies and are experiencing new life in local churches as they work with projects such as Meals on Wheels, hospice programs, and ministries to people who are unable to leave home. Please pray for this renewed growth.

DALLAS (AP) — The loudest cheer in the Dallas Mavericks' record NBA playoff rout of Seattle came with 10 seconds left to play.

they had every scored in a game and a 151-129 victory over the Super-Sonics Thursday night.

The 17,007 fans in Reunion Arena had been calling for Nutt since early in the third period of the runaway game that saw nine Mavericks score in double figures.

The mismatch that gave Dallas a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five series was over in about four minutes when Dallas streaked to a 17-8 lead.

"I knew the game was over after four minutes," said Dallas Coach Dick Motta. "We were very intense. We were real serious. We had practiced that way during the week."

Motta said the lifting of the Midwest Division championship banner to the rafters shortly before the game started got the team fired up.

"We were a little uptight early. It got 'em real emotional," Motta said. "We want Seattle to know we are better. Seattle is very capable of giving us trouble if we don't pay attention."

Mark Aguirre scored 28 points to lead the Mavericks and Tom Chambers was high for Seattle with 35 points. Former Maverick Dale Ellis scored 22.

"We felt something early and just played as well as we can," said rookie Roy Tarpley who came off the bench to score 25 points. "We had a lot of confidence."

Other Mavs in double figures included Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman with 18 points each, James Donaldson with 15, Sam Perkins with 12, Detlef Schrempf, Brad Davis, and Bill Wennington had 10 points each.

Seattle Coach Bernie Bickerstaff gave Dallas its due.

"Dallas is a great team and we're not supposed to be here," Bickerstaff said. "They hit us where they always hit us with defensive pressure. It was over in the first quarter."

"We've got to be realistic," he added. "Dallas is a better team than we are. We've got to solve our problems and don't have much time to do it. We'll come back with something."

Dallas defeated Seattle by an average of 19 points in winning all five regular season games between the two teams. But Motta cautioned against any premature celebration by the Mavericks.

"We can't carry the points over to the next game," Motta said. "We're the favorites, but Bernie is very good at regrouping a team."

Seattle's Eddie Johnson said, "They beat us but they have to win two more. It's going to be tough to beat Dallas if they play this well the rest of the way."

Game two is scheduled for Reunion Arena on Saturday night.

Dallas' score was the fourth highest in NBA playoff history. Milwaukee, which scored 156 points in 1970, holds the record.

Rockets have something to prove in NBA playoffs

By BOB BAUM
AP Sports Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Portland Coach Mike Schuler figures the Houston Rockets have something to prove in the NBA playoffs.

"If you remember in the playoffs a year ago, they were the talk of the NBA," said Schuler, whose Trail Blazers open their best-of-five first-round series with the Rockets tonight.

"When the season started, they were the next dominant team, then they ran into all the injuries and other problems," he said.

"I'm sure they feel they playoffs are a time for them to redeem themselves for not having the type of season people thought they would."

Houston guard Robert Reid agrees.

"Our team is in a position of having to prove itself in Portland," he said. "We've had a lot of unfortunate things happen to us this year, but now everybody is healthy and we start with a clean slate."

The Rockets had a difficult season, finishing at 42-40. They lost Akeem Olajuwon and Ralph Sampson for extended periods because of injuries and lost guards Mitchell Wiggins and Lewis Lloyd for good because of drug abuse.

Portland, on the other hand, had a much better season than most expected after center Sam Bowie suffered a broken leg in the fifth game.

The Blazers wound up at 49-33 in Schuler's first season, tying the second-best record in the franchise's history.

"We've tried to emphasize that to our players all season. They've won. Whether other people respect that, it's still a fact," Schuler said.

Portland won the season series with the Rockets 3-2, but Houston won the last two, including a 114-108 victory April 6 in Portland, one of only seven homecourt losses for the Blazers this season.

In both losses, the Blazers tried to double-team Olajuwon, and wound up giving Reid open jump shots. Reid responded with 30 and 26 points.

"In those two last games against Portland, it wasn't like we were running special plays for Robert," said Houston Coach Bill Fitch. "The shots were there for him because they were so committed to our inside game. It gives them something to think about."

Schuler wasn't tipping his hand on whether he'd change defensive tactics.

"Maybe we'll do something different," he said.

The series would appear to be a confrontation between offense and defense.

Paced by the scoring of Kiki Vandeweghe, fifth in the NBA at 26.9 points per game, and the all-around play of Clyde Drexler, the Blazers led the league in scoring at 117.9 points per contest.

Houston is third in the league defensively, giving up just 105.9 points per contest.

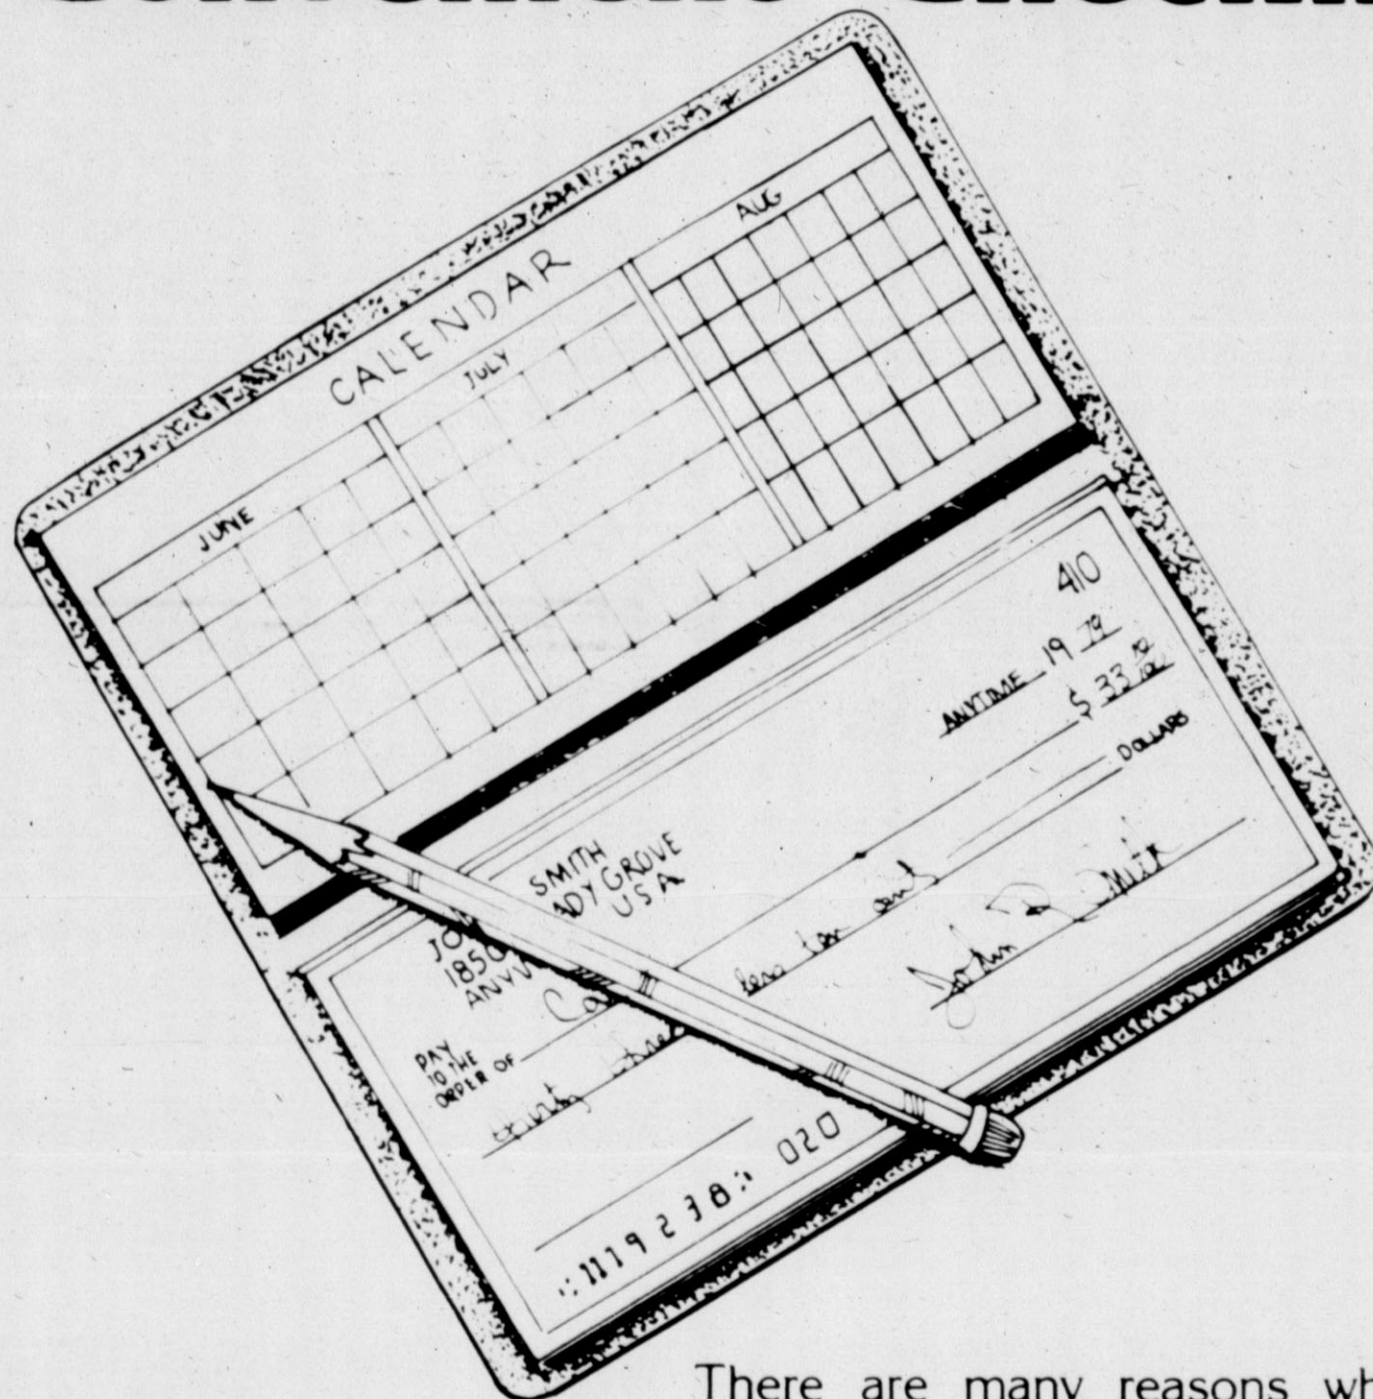

To beat the Rockets, the Blazers will have to keep center Steve Johnson out of foul trouble. Johnson has been the biggest individual surprise for Portland after coming to the Blazers from San Antonio in a trade for Mychal Thompson in the off-season.

He's become one of the league's better post-up players and has given the team some much-needed toughness inside. But he led the league in fouls.

Houston, meanwhile, is counting on continued improvement from Sampson, who still is recovering from a leg injury.

Fitch hasn't said whether Sampson or Jim Peterson will start at power forward.

Ninth straight with 5-3 victory over Atlanta

Astros' home winning streak continues

By The Associated Press

Mike Loynd says the job of the long reliever is a "tough job, an unforgiving job, a thankless job."

But that philosophy went by the boards Thursday night when Loynd, the Texas Rangers' designated long reliever, not only got into a game, but got a victory and a big "thank you" from manager Bobby Valentine.

Loynd took over in the second inning with the Rangers trailing 3-0, and 4 1-3 innings of 3-hit, 1-run relief later, he left with his first win of the season as the Rangers rallied for a 9-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

"I was getting like fine wine, sitting around and aging in the pen," said Loynd. "I was getting up and throwing every game, but I never got the call. I was really surprised to get in there tonight."

He benefitted from a seven-run fourth inning in which the Oriole defense made three errors and the Rangers collected six hits to wipe out a 4-1 deficit for an 8-4 lead.

Loynd, who took over for starter Mike Mason, left in the sixth after loading the bases on a hit and two walks, but Dale Mohorcic fanned Cal Ripken Jr. to end the threat. "That was a great job from the bullpen," said Valentine. "Loynd pitched great and Horse (Mohorcic) was almost perfect. You can't pitch any better than Dale did."

Eric Bell, 2-1, was the starter and loser for the Orioles. He went 3 2-3 innings and was charged with eight of the runs, but five of them were unearned.

"If we could have eliminated the big inning it would have been a great ballgame," said Orioles manager Cal Ripken Sr. "We should have been out of the inning, but they had some seeing-eye hits and we made some errors."

The fatal miscues in the inning were a throwing error by first baseman Eddie Murray that put runners on first and third and kept the inning alive, and third baseman Ray Knight's fielding error that allowed the tie-breaking run to score.

Run-scoring singles by Bob Brower, Scott Fletcher and Pete Incaviglia followed Knight's boot.

"You can't let that bother you," said Bell. "Hits and errors don't bother me because I can't change them."

Don Slaught hit his third home run of the year for the Rangers and Nelson Simmons got his first of the season for the Orioles.

Incaviglia and Fletcher each had three hits and Incaviglia drove in a pair of runs. Both of his RBI singles were of the infield variety.

"I'd rather have those bloopers go for hits than have line drives go right at people for outs," said Valentine.

In other games Thursday night, it was California 7, Minnesota 3, and the New York Yankees 5, Cleveland 4.

Angels 7, Twins 3

John Candelaria continued his winning ways and even got a victory indoors. The left-hander who has not lost since last Aug. 20, allowed four hits in seven innings, then let Donnie Moore finish up.

"I think I've won only two games in 13 years of pitching in domes, so this win really feels good," said Candelaria, 3-0.

Candelaria got plenty of help from Devon White, Wally Joyner and Brian Downing, each of whom homered. Joyner has hit home runs in three straight games.

The win tied California, which made five errors, with Minnesota atop the AL West.

Racquetball

tourney planned

May 1-3 at YMCA

The annual Hereford Cablevision Hereford and Vicinity YMCA Racquetball Tournament will be held on May 1-3.

Site for the tournament will be the YMCA racquetball courts. Entry deadline is Monday, April 27, at 9 p.m.

Entry fees for YMCA members are $10 for the first event and $5 for the second event. Entry fees for non-members of the YMCA are $20 for the first event and $10 for the second event.

Entry fees must be paid when registering for the tournament. Entry fees include a shirt and game balls.

Awards will be trophies for first place, second place, and consolation in each division. Doubles divisions will be men's "A," men's "B," women's "A," women's "B," and open mixed doubles.

Singles divisions will be men's open, men's "A," men's "B," men's "C," junior boys 12 and under, women's "A," women's "B," women's "C," and junior girls 12 and under.

For more information on the tournament, contact Weldon Knabe, tournament director, at the YMCA at 364-6990.

Yankees 5, Indians 4

Dave Winfield's two home runs, including a three-run shot in the ninth inning, gave the Yankees their 10th straight victory. They're only one game behind Milwaukee in the East.

Rickey Henderson also homered, leading off the game, for New York, while Cleveland also got all of its runs on home runs — by Tony Bernazard, Julio Franco, Brook Jacoby and Carmen Castillo. The last two, off starter Dennis Rasmussen in the ninth, brought on Dave Righetti, who got his sixth save.

Winfield has five career at-bats against Cleveland starter Greg Swindell, 1-3. Three times, he has homered. The other homer came in the Yankees' home opener this season.

Lakers overrun

Nuggets, 128-95

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

It didn't take long to prove to the Denver Nuggets and Seattle SuperSonics that they didn't belong on the same court with the Los Angeles Lakers and Dallas Mavericks.

"We wouldn't even show up for the next game if the league would let us," Denver Coach Doug Moe said with a resigned laugh after the Lakers matched an NBA playoff record with 82 points in the first half en route to a 128-95 victory over the Nuggets in their first-round playoff opener Thursday night.

"It was over in the first quarter," Seattle Coach Bernie Bickerstaff said following a 151-129 loss at Dallas in which the Mavericks set a team scoring record. "We've got to be realistic. Dallas is a better team than we are. We've got to solve our problems and don't have much time to do it. We'll come back with something."

The other two playoff openers were closer, with the home team also winning. Boston edged Chicago 108-104 and Utah defeated Golden State 99-85 in the Warriors' first playoff game in 10 years.

In tonight's series openers, it's Indiana at Atlanta, Washington at Detroit, Philadelphia at Milwaukee and Houston at Portland.

The Nuggets-Lakers game was highlighted by an 80-foot basket by Earvin "Magic" Johnson at the halftime buzzer. It gave Los Angeles an 82-53 lead, equalling the NBA record set by San Antonio, also against Denver, in 1983.

Johnson, who had 16 points and 14 assists, rebounded a miss by the Nuggets' Bill Hanzlik, whirled to his right with one second on the clock and threw the ball the length of the court. The ball hit the back of the rim and fell in.

"I saw Fernando (Valenzuela) pitch last night and kinda stole it out of his book," Johnson said. "I just got the ball, threw it and it went on a straight line. I knew it had a chance.

I've done it in practice before, but it's a one-in-a-million shot."

James Worthy scored 21 of his 28 points in the first half for the Lakers, who beat the Nuggets five consecutive times in the regular season by an average of 22 points. Los Angeles went on to a largest lead of 111-64 in the second half.

Celtics 108, Bulls 104
Boston led by as many as 21 points in the first half, but needed a 12-foot jumper with 37 seconds left to beat Chicago and win its 30th consecutive home game.

A 19-5 spurt by the Bulls tied the game 100-100 after they trailed 95-81 with 7:37 left. After an exchange of points tied the score 104-104 in the final minute, Parish's shot from the lane put the Celtics ahead for good.

Michael Jordan, who scored 35 points, was triple-teamed on Chicago's next possession, and he was forced to pass to Brad Sellers, who was standing out of bounds. The turnover with 19 seconds left forced the Bulls to foul Dennis Johnson, and his two free throws 10 seconds later clinched the outcome.

Boston, seeking to become the first repeat champions since the 1969 Celtics, was led by Kevin McHale with 21 points.

Jazz 99, Warriors 85
Utah spoiled Golden State's first playoff appearance in 10 years as Karl Malone and Thurl Bailey scored 20 points each and Mark Eaton had 15 rebounds.

Jazz Coach Frank Layden said a 56-46 rebounding advantage was the key to the victory.

"We're probably the worst rebounding team in the history of the world, but tonight we were grabbing the ball," Layden said.

The Jazz led 89-72 with 6:03 left in the game, but an 11-0 spurt by the Warriors got them within six.

Utah, which never trailed, then got two free throws from Bobby Hansen, three straight baskets from Rickey Green and two more free throws from Bailey to put the game away.

Loynd pitches 4 1/3 innings of relief for Texas

Rangers rally to defeat Orioles, 9-4

By The Associated Press

Dave Meads did what he was told and the Houston Astros kept their nine-game home winning streak alive with a victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Meads faced only one batter, did what manager Hal Lanier told him and was able to pick up his first major league victory, a 5-3 win in relief over the Atlanta Braves Thursday night.

"When I went in, Hal gave me a few key words, he told me how to pitch," Meads said.

Meads came into the game with the score tied 2-2 and runners on first and second and two outs in the seventh. He struck out the only batter he faced, Ken Griffey, on three pitches.

"Hal told me to get ahead with the fastball and then go to the curve. The first pitch I threw was the fastball and I got ahead, then I went with the curves, so his plan worked," Meads said.

"After I got ahead of Griffey 0-2, I never thought of wasting a pitch. It would have been a good idea, but I was just trying to throw good pitches," Meads added.

Rightfielder Kevin Bass, who drove in three runs with three hits, has a simple explanation for Houston's home winning streak.

"This (the Astrodome) is our domain and we play well here," Bass said. "This park fits our club. We have a lot of contact hitters and one guy who can hit the ball out of the park."

But Braves manager Chuck Tanner credits the Houston pitching staff with their success.

"They have as good a pitching staff as any team in this league," Tanner said. "I said that last year before the playoffs and I still believe it."

"It may look like we are more confident when we play at home. I don't think so. This is just a tough place to play on the road," said relief pitcher Dave Smith, who picked up his fifth save. "I don't think the other clubs like to come in here."

Smith pitched 1 1/3 innings of scoreless relief. The loser was Rick Mahler, 2-1, who pitched 6 1/3 innings and gave up four runs on eight hits.

Terry Publ's pinch-hit double started the Astros three-run rally in

Kids Inc. boys' league drafts planned tonight

Today is the final day for boys to sign up for the Hereford Kids Inc. major league, minor league, and Babe Ruth League, and they must register before the league drafts, which are scheduled tonight.

The league drafts for will be held tonight at the organization's baseball complex on Fifteenth Street. The draft for the boys' minor league will start at 6 p.m., and the drafts for the major league and the Babe Ruth League will begin at 7 p.m.

Mike Leavitt, Kids Inc. president, said new players in the major league and minor league will be drafted. Players who are in the same league as last year will play on the teams they played with last season.

Players for all Babe Ruth League team players will be drafted Friday, Leavitt notes. Boys may continue to sign up for those three leagues, as well as the boys' T-ball league. For the leagues holding drafts, boys must be signed up for a league before the draft is held.

Girls may also sign up this week for the T-ball league and softball league. Kids Inc. will hold a sign-up session today starting at 5 p.m. for all boys' and girls' leagues.

Earth junior rodeo is May 1-2

The Earth Junior Rodeo will be held at Earth, Texas, on May 1-2, with 8 p.m. sessions each day.

There will be four divisions in the rodeo — ages 8 and under, ages nine to 12, ages 13 to 15, and ages 16 to 19.

Events will include bull riding, tie down roping, ribbon roping, barrel racing, pole bending, flag race, steer daubing, goat tying, the goat race, the rescue race, calf riding, breakaway roping, steer riding, and team roping. The team roping competition will be an open division for all age groups.

For entry forms, or for more information, contact T-Bar Western Store, Box 396, Earth, TX, 79031, phone 257-3937 between 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; or call Earth V & S Variety at 257-2026 between 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

the seventh inning. He moved to third on Bill Doran's groundout. Billy Hatcher walked and pinch-hitter Phil Garner doubled home Publ. Bass bounced a two-run single into right field one out later.

The Braves took a 2-0 lead in the first. Gerald Perry singled with two out, stole second and scored on a Dale Murphy double. Griffey singled in Murphy.

The Astros tied the score with runs in the second and third. Bass led off the second with a single, Jose Cruz walked and Bass advanced to third when Alan Ashby forced Cruz at second. Craig Reynolds doubled in Bass.

Hatcher extended his hitting streak to all 16 games with a leadoff single in the third inning. He went to second on a groundball, to third on a Glenn Davis single, and scored when Bass' groundball forced Davis at second.

Rafael Ramirez enabled the Braves to cut the deficit to 5-3 when he doubled off reliever Charlie Kerfeld in the eighth inning and scored on a single by pinch-hitter Graig Nettles.

In day games Thursday, it was Cincinnati 3, San Diego 2; St. Louis 5, Chicago 2; and Montreal 6, Philadelphia 5. Houston, Cincinnati and San Francisco share first place in the West at 11-5.

Reds 3, Padres 2

Dave Parker had been fanned his first three times up by Andy Hawkins. But you don't hold down a superb hitter like Parker for long, and Hawkins couldn't handle him in the eighth inning.

Parker hit his fifth homer of the season for the winning run as Cincinnati gained a split of the four-game series in San Diego.

"I could lie and say I was setting him up," Parker joked.

Hawkins had predominantly thrown fastballs high in the strike zone. This time, he tried a low, inside slider and Parker sent it over the right-field fence.

Cardinals 5, Cubs 2

Danny Cox allowed 11 hits in winning his third straight game and rookie Jim Lindeman and Jack Clark drove in two runs apiece for the host Cardinals. St. Louis moved into a first-place tie with the idle New York in the East.

Keith Moreland homered for the Cubs.

"Last year I didn't win my first game until June, so I'm way ahead of schedule," Cox said.

Second baseman Tom Herr left the game in the third inning with a groin injury, and Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog said Herr might be placed on the disabled list. St. Louis has already lost catcher Tony Pena (broken hand) and pitcher John Tudor (broken bone in knee).

Expos 6, Phillies 5

Vance Law hit his third homer of the season and Reid Nichols had three hits to pace the home-standing Expos. Montreal trailed 5-4 entering the seventh inning, but Dave Engle singled to center, scoring one run. Another came home when Phillies centerfielder Milt Thompson misplayed the ball.

Board of education endorses proposals

Members of the State Board of Education have endorsed the proposals of the Industrial Areas Foundation Texas Network to enhance parental and community involvement in public education.

The Board's Long-Range Planning Committee met with representatives of the organization on April 10 and voted unanimously to acknowledge the group's contributions to educational excellence.

"We welcome the working partnerships with the Network in the development of parent-community schools proposals," the committee said, noting that such partnerships represent a significant step toward meeting the Board's long-range goals for public education.

"By building strong parental and community involvement in education at the campus level, the Network is providing essential ingredients for educational improvement," said Committee Chair Rebeca Canning of Waco. "We encourage the Texas Education Agency and local school districts to participate fully in the implementation of the Network's models and encourage community groups across Texas to follow its example."

The Network is a coalition of organizations that include Communities Organized for Public Service (COPS), Valley Interfaith, Austin Interfaith, The Metropolitan Organization (TMO), El Paso Inter-religious Sponsoring Organization (EPISO), Allied Communities of Tarrant (ACT), Metropolitan Congregational Alliance and the East Side Alliance.

Network representatives from Houston, Fort Worth, El Paso and Austin presented descriptions of models and activities underway in their areas at the committee meeting.

An example of the parental/community involvement efforts sponsored by the Network is ACT's project in Fort Worth to bring together campus principals, teachers, ministers, parents, business leaders and others to sponsor various activities in support of public education.

These activities include teaching parents how to become more involved in their children's education, encouraging parents to visit schools, teaching English-as-a-second-language to parents and developing community projects such as Adopt-a-School.

The State Board's Long-range Plan for Texas Public School Education cites the enhancement of parental and community involvement as a key goal.

"The schools cannot work alone to provide a high quality education to our children," Mrs. Canning said. "We need the involvement of parents, communities, churches and businesses to reach our goal of keeping students in school and providing them a truly excellent education."

Seminar will cover job seeking techniques, skills

Since the 1960s and 1970s, skills training programs that enhance interpersonal effectiveness and the general improvement of life have flourished.

Professional counselors and social workers meet clients everyday who need personal assessment, goal-setting motivation, and job-seeking skills. This training seminar presents a format and guidebook for conducting Job-Seeking Techniques/Life Skills Workshops. More than 1000 Panhandle area participants have attended similar workshops at Amarillo College.

Professional counselors and social workers are encouraged to attend this training seminar and learn how to conduct workshops in their own communities. The workshop will be conducted on the campus of Amarillo College, 7-9 p.m., Thursday, April 30; and 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., May 1-2, 1987, at 2201 S. Washington.

Travel and per diem stipends will be available to no more than two people from an agency on a limited basis. In addition to earning continuing education credit, NBCC and LPC credit will be available upon request. Call Donna Moore 371-5450 for more information.

1 day per word	.14	2.80
2 days per word	.24	4.80
3 days per word	.34	6.80
4 days per word	.44	8.80
5th day FREE

Ten days (2 free) is $15.80 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is $23.80 minimum; one month is $31.80 minimum.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALIS
 Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.
