Herd Jumps Into District Lead, Beating Dumas 8-2

Hereford jumped into the District 1AAA baseball lead Tuesday with a convincing 8-2 victory over the Dumas Demons.

Booming Whiteface bats and the canny pitching of Donnie Marcontell were bothered little by strong wind and dust that swept over Babe Ruth Park in Dumas.

A pair of Demon hurlers tried to stop the attack, but had little success as Hereford banged out 11 hits, four of them for extra bases.

The Herd lost little time in scoring its first run. Lead-off batter Greg Combs and Charlie Burrus walked and Burrus was erased as Jimmy Collier was safe on a fielder's choice.

Edwin Thomas singled to drive in Combs in the top of the inning.

Beginning Thursday this week, a daily dispatch of Hereford mail will be made at 7 p. m. which will make connections with the important dispatches of Amarillo Post Office...

"Patrons are urged to avail themselves of this service by depositing mail at the Hereford Post Office or in the courtesy box on the south side of the post office prior to 6:30 p. m."

Low pro of the day was Gidd Falreloth of Kermit, who carded a four-under-par 66 in spite of gusty winds which made the course unusually tough.

Second place team, with a net of 57, consisted of Jimmy O'Brien, Artesia, N.M., professional, Joe Kerr of Hereford, W.B. Holland of Dimmitt and Ben Hill of Dimmitt.

Scoring 58 each, two teams tied for third place. The teams included professional Frank Baker of Hillcrest Country Club of Lubbock, Wendell Burdine of

 That one - run margin was fattened in the top of the fourth when left - hand hitter Wakey Northcutt pounded a homer over the center field fence with none on.
 Hereford really jumped on De-mon hurler Jerry Robinette in the fifth inning, scoring four more runs. Burrus and Marcon-tell singled and were driven in by Edwin Thomas' triple. Robin-ette then was pulled out in favor of lanky Jimmy Morgan. Charlie Thomas, having his best day of the season, doubled in the sixth inning, scoring three runs. Burrus and Marcon-tell then stole third and stole home on Morgan's slow win - up.
 After being held to one single in four innings, Dumas managed to score two runs on two hits in the last of the fifth. Larry Tiner singled and pinch - hitter Burdette Cavin, batting left, hit a hard s m a s h that the wind pushed fair in left field for a triple.
 An unusual play followed as Cavin was waved home on a balk. Herd third - sacker Edwin Thomas had kept the ball and tagged Cavin as he took his lead, but umpire Don Phil-lips ruled Marcon-tell had stepped on the rubber in his fake stretch.
 With two out, Charlie Thomas leaped high above the left field fence to pull in Royce Taylor's booming smash that seemed headed for outer space.
 Hereford then went to work to rebuild its lead. Wes Poarch walked and went to third on sacrifices by Combs and Bur-rus. Collier's triple brought him in.
 The Herd added one more run in the seventh. Edwin Thomas and Wakey Northcutt singled and Charlie Thomas sacrificed to push in Edwin.
 With one out in the last of the seventh, pinch - hitter Joe Myers walked and Larry Tiner singled for Dumas. But Marcon-tell came through with strike-outs against Cavin and lead-off batter David Harjo to cut off the rally.
 The victory raised Hereford back to the 500 mark with a 6-6 record. Dumas, with a week end split at Altus, Okla., now stands 4-6.
 Four Hereford batters carried the offensive load. Jim Collier hit a single and a triple in four trips; Edwin Thomas got a pair of singles and a triple in four trips; Wakey Northcutt got a single and a homer in four times at bat and Charlie Thomas got a single and a double in three of-ficial trips.
 Tiner got half of Dumas' four hits, both singles.
 Marcon-tell struck out 9 and walked four while being charged with one balk.
 Robinette was charged with the loss. He worked four and one - third innings. He gave up 7 hits, 5 runs, walked three and struck out eight. Morgan allowed 3 runs, four hits, walked 1 and struck out 4.
 Greg Combs turned in an unassisted double play in the first inning when he leaped up and speared Mike Milligan's hard drive over second. Then he beat baserunner David Harjo to second for the second out.

A.B.C. REPORTS — FACTS AS A BASIC MEASURE OF ADVERTISING VALUE

HEREFORD BULL
By JIMMIE GILLETINE
Everyone seems fairly busy these days, especially the candidates. Garages are getting a breather, though, since April 15, final day for attaching auto performance stickers.

Jim Roberts went fishing last week and reports that the crappie were biting at Lake Conchas. Jim stayed up all night, fishing from the south pier. He says they run the concession stand on the honor system after 10 p. m. He was also spinning some big yarn about a fellow landing an eight pound pike, hooked while trolling.

Mrs. Roy Sheppard reports that the Bull Column is the darndest thing she ever saw. "I always read it," she said, "not because I like it or expect to find anything worthwhile -- but I am afraid I will miss something."

I keep hearing rumors that Wayne Wallace is going to move back to Hereford, but never get any definite information. I guess Wayne is probably the most active promoter this community ever had. He hardly finished one addition before he had another underway. All in all, he contributed as much to the growth of Hereford as any one I know.

Remember Jim Northcutt? He is now stationed with the armed service in Austria and is one of the few service men who wears civilian togs. His job is checking all dairies from which the Army buys milk, and he is one of the few service men who really likes his job. Jim was studying at Tech to become a vet, when he went into the service.

I notice where the Odd Fellows will be here in drives Friday and Saturday. They are expecting 500 delegates for the 57th convention, according to President Wallace Shelton. Hereford has long been one of the more active Panhandle lodges, and most of the people I see are looking forward to entertaining the visitors.

Hereford lost an old timer and a fine citizen with the passing of County Clerk Ralph Smith. Ralph, among other things, laid the groundwork for our high school band when he was instructor and, prior to that time, did a stint with Brunk's Comedians. He was also a whiz at helping veterans file for service claims, and took a personal interest in each individual case. I expect that Ralph knew more local individuals than probably any other man in Deaf Smith County.

Jack Renfro is making his annual prediction that there will be so many potatoes the market will go sour. The thing I don't like is the fact that he has been right for the last two or three years. Since he has a pretty fair acreage himself, I imagine he would also be happy if his predictions don't materialize this time.

Anyway, the wheat is really looking good. I don't get around much, but that patch Lee Benefield has on the north side of the highway just beyond the town section really looks good. In fact, it couldn't be a lot better at this stage of the game.

And just to prove that the cost of living is on the upgrade, Earnest Langley was trying to sell me a ticket to a political dinner for $15. Furthermore, he didn't even know what they had on the menu. I didn't buy one, but Earnest insisted that I was really making a mistake.

Elmer Patterson was following a city delivery carrier around the other day, charing all of the stops, doors opened, and time spent. He said it is a required post office report. I couldn't figure if they want the information -- or if they want the office boys to appreciate the carriers. Anyway, they seem to be getting both.

So far, no one appears interested in the "Yard with the most dandelions" contest, although it seems to me that a lot of people would be eligible. Bob Lamm says it is on account of those sticks folks drag around over the lawn. He says Kenneth Coker would have been a cinch to win -- but Mrs. Coker got one of those sticks and pretty well put Kenneth out of the running.

My Star Street neighbors are all jealous because I don't have a single dandelion. They have been putting the pressure on my wife to make me plant lawn and get some dandelions -- and I keep telling her I will plant one as soon as I locate some of that grass that will choke out the weeds, but won't grow high enough to need mowing. Meanwhile, the city maintains all of these beautiful parks for folks who like grass and trees -- and I don't think private citizens should compete with them.

Secretary Benson has everything else on quotas, so why can't he do the same thing about lawns? This is one thing he could cut down, and make votes. It would also fit right in with the water conservation program I keep reading about. If I ever run for office, this will be part of my platform.

They're Raised By The Book!

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Ashley Deal is like most 6-year-old girls, except that mother and daddy write novels for a living.

Her father is Borden Deal, whose latest novel, "The Insolent Breed," a story of a hill-billy singer who finds success, is headed for the Broadway stage as a musical.

Her mother is Babs H. Deal, author of "Acres of Afternoon," a first novel.

"And what's your novel going to be about?" little Ashley asked a neighbor one day.

"To her, that's a normal question," said Deal. "She hears it so often around the house. All our friends are writers. We talk about almost nothing else."

Ashley's little brother, 4-year-old Bret, was asked what he was going to do for a living when he grows up.

"Oh," he replied, "I can always take pieces of paper out of the typewriter like daddy does."

Brett's daddy, now 37, has been taking pieces of paper out of a typewriter almost as long as he can remember. Writing fiction in the wee morning hours and writing radio commercials by day for a living, Deal published his first novel, "Walk Through the Valley," in 1936.

With the money from the first novel and the family savings, Deal quit his salaried job and the family moved to Babs' family home at Scottsboro, a tiny town in northeast Alabama.

"We figured we'd give it a year," Deal said.

In that year he turned out "Dunbar's Cove," a smash financial success with money from book clubs and the movies to add to the regular sales.

Like his other books, the setting was in rural Alabama.

It was at Scottsboro that Babs joined her husband at the typewriter.

Writing at night while the children slept, she turned out a short story and then swung into her first novel. She finished it a week before she went to the hospital and gave birth to the youngest of the Deals, Shane, now a blonde and active 2-year-old girl.

With money no longer a ma-

For problem, the Deals moved to Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, where they met while both were students' 10 years ago. They bought a large white frame house near the campus and went to work.

Since then Deal has turned out "Dragon's Wine," to be published this fall, and Babs has finished her second novel, "Three O'Clock in the Morning."

Although both work at the same huge desk in a small room they call "the office," alongside the front porch, their habits differ greatly.

Deal writes on a regular schedule, just as the breadwinner in most families goes to office or factory on a regular schedule. He starts in the morning, five days a week. He works as much as five hours if he's putting down the first draft, maybe longer if he is revising.

For Deal the evening is for the family — conversation, television, playing with the children, or reading.

"A man writing a novel is like a fighter going 15 rounds," Deal says. "He has to pace himself."

For Babs, gone are the days of turning out the wordage at night while the children sleep.

"I'm just too tired to write much at night," she says.

Instead, she catches a few hours in the afternoon when Ashley is out playing. Brett is in kindergarten, and Shane is napping.

Her mornings are devoted to getting Ashley off to school, doing the housework — she never has had a maid and doesn't want one — and keeping Brett and Shane out of daddy's hair while he wrestles with the plot.

One habit the Deals share is coffee drinking. A restaurant-style coffee-maker stands in the corner of the dining room.

"It holds 36 cups — enough to last us all day," says Deal.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Three Measures Introduced To Raise Sugar Production

Last week I introduced three measures designed to provide additional domestic production of sugar.

At the present time, domestic production of sugar is limited. The growers of sugar, both cane and beet, in this country produce approximately 55 per cent of the domestic consumption. The remaining 45 per cent comes from such countries as Peru, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, and other countries, including Cuba.

Cuba, as most of you know, enjoys the biggest percentage of the 45 per cent. At the present time she is authorized under the law to provide approximately 30 per cent of our entire need, which is about 66-2/3 per cent of our imports of sugar. This sugar coming from Cuba is purchased at a price about two cents above the world market, but is still several cents below the United States market price.

The United States market has different ranges, depending upon whether you are trading in the Northeast, the Southeast, the Gulf area, the Chicago-West area, or the Pacific Coast area. The three bills which I have introduced are designed to accomplish one result. This is to provide the sugar growers of this country with quotas which will permit us to produce a larger percentage of our domestic consumption.

As a starter, I propose to increase our domestic production from approximately 55 per cent to approximately 65 per cent. This would no doubt result in lessening the amount which Cuba furnishes this country.

However, it is not intended as an economic sanction against Cuba, nor any other country. It is designed to make it possible for us to grow sugar beets.

We in the Panhandle can grow excellent sugar beets and it occurs to me that we should be allowed to do so. Another of my bills would do away with the acreage controls in the production of sugar beets. At the present time acreage allotments are dependent upon marketing quotas given to sugar producing mills, which marketing quotas are in turn dependent upon the percentage of our domestic sugar consumption which can be produced in this country, which is 55 per cent. If the acreage controls are removed it will provide a free competitive economy between the areas which can grow sugar beets.

This competition will be in the nature of the contracts the sugar beet growers are willing to make with the sugar mills. It will provide a means whereby those areas, having little or no acreage allotments will have an equal opportunity to bid against other areas. The third bill is designed to make it possible for the farmers in this country to obtain the right to grow and produce that amount of sugar represented by the increased demands each year.

In other words, at the present time let us say that because of the annual increase in population we would need an additional 100,000 tons of sugar. As the law presently stands, only

Hold Annual Easter Egg Hunt In School Thursday

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
Easter holidays got underway Thursday afternoon with the annual Easter Egg Hunt at Dawn School. Prizes were won by Douglas May, a fourth-grade pupil, and Kay Ward, a member of the second-grade class.

Pupils of the first and second grades under direction of teacher, Mrs. J. N. Killingsworth, had a style show for their mothers. The girls wore their mothers' dresses, hats, shoes and other accessories. The boys also were dressed in grown-up clothes—some as tramps, pirates and other types.

Hostesses for the Easter Egg Parties were Mrs. Wayne Higgins, Mrs. H. S. Fuller, Mrs. Dick Golden, Mrs. C. C. Stewart, Mrs. H. H. Miller, Mrs. Ted Richardson and Mrs. Burrow. Special guests were Miss Della Stagner and Mrs. Earl Springer of Hereford. Other guests included Mrs. Jack Ward Jr., Mrs. H. E. Miller Jr., Mrs. R. T. Stewart, Mrs. Tony Burrus, Mrs. C. V. Scrivner, Mrs. Don Golden, Mrs. Kate Wilson and Mrs. Orval Galley.

Mrs. L. L. Airhart left by train Thursday for Dallas where she planned to spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Leo McAtter there.

Bobby Miller, student at West Texas State College in Canyon, will portray the part of Lun Tha in the production of "The King and I", which the college music department will present the first week in May.

Audri Miller will be a delegate to the State FHA Convention which will be held the last week of April in Austin. Delegates are chosen on the basis of achievement. (Continued on page 2)

More Supervision Urged For Future Construction

By VERN SANFORD
AUSTIN — First it was $100,000 homes for college presidents. Now it's $36 doorknobs for the State Office Building that have cost-conscious legislators blowing their tops.

Legislation went through an arduous seven-months tax-raising session last year to scrape up enough money to keep state services going. Despite all the problems and criticisms they weathered, it wasn't enough. Now they are face to face with the prospect of another deficit next year and the need to raise more taxes.

It is in this not-so-rosy setting that the House Committee on Saving Taxes is checking into how state money has, and is being spent. When they heard that the terrace floors in the brand new State Office Building had cracked, committee members decided to investigate further into the $3,798,000 building. They learned that the air conditioning system vibrated excessively; that the building had 1,000 elaborate doorknobs, costing $36 apiece; and that there were telephone booths in the hallways lined with expensive marble. Some offices had no doors.

They noted that the Texas Employment Commission Building, just across the street and to the casual observer equally as handsome, cost only $14.33 per square foot compared to $17.40 for the State Office Building.

Cracked floors now are being removed and replaced by the contractor, at no cost to the state. Efforts are under way to smooth out the knicks in the air conditioning. Legislators are unhappy at the lack of supervision and inspection while the building was under construction.

H. R. Nieman, who became director of the State Building

Commission after the building already was built, told the committee he agreed that the structure was probably wasteful in some features. He attributed this to inadequate supervision. Steps are being taken to watch this more closely on future projects, he said.

Gov. Price Daniel has promised to have two sets of ingredients ready when the State Finance Advisory Council meets May 16 to begin shaping up a long-range fiscal policy for the state. Daniel will present to the committee:

(1) 10-year projection of budgets of agencies which represent the state's main money needs—schools, highways, hospitals and welfare.

(2) Five suggested new tax plans.

He does not intend to make the five tax plans public before the committee meeting, said the governor, because he doesn't want them to get involved in the current political campaigns.

It is certain that the governor's proposed tax plans will not include a general sales tax or income tax, both of which

Quarter Horse Program Given

Garford Wilkinson of Amarillo, American Quarter Horse Association representative, spoke at the noon meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club Thursday in I. O. O. F. Hall.

Guests at the regular weekly meeting were J. W. "Lefty" Thomas, Leo Forrest, R. O. Lovan of Amarillo and Dow Hallway of Amarillo.

Introduced by Kiwanian Sam Morgan, April program chairman, Wilkinson showed a color movie on cutting horse contest after his brief talk.

Wilkinson said the quarter horse originated in the South in the Colonial period. The horses were used in races, run on plantations.

The breed could run the 440-yard races exceptionally well, Wilkinson said—hence, the breed was called "quarter horse."

"Quarter horses are used for many things," Wilkinson said. "They are used for travel, ranching, and are the 'greatest cowhorses on Earth.'"

Twenty years ago, the American Quarter Horse Association was formed in Fort Worth.

Wilkinson explained that the quarter horse is rugged, easy to keep, has good balance, and is especially good for cutting and roping. Quarter horse registry is growing three times faster than any other horse registry in the nation, he said.

The breed is owned and raised in 21 nations overseas. Last year, 591 shows in the United States and Canada were approved by the Association.

He said the breed is rapidly increasing in number, and is the "outstanding all-around horse in the world."

Despite the gee-gaws that adorned the tower, the light burned and no ships were lost at Eddystone for five years.

On the night of Nov. 26-27, 1703, the greatest storm on record struck England, a cyclone that killed more than 100 and wrecked about 150 ships, drowning 800 sailors.

And Winstanley, who had boasted of the strength of his lighthouse and a desire to see it weather "The Greatest storm that ever was", was in Eddystone Lighthouse when it vanished from the rock that night.

The second man to battle Eddystone was John Rudyerd, a moderately-wealthy London silk merchant who liked to build things.

Mrs. Jack Higgins of Wildorado has been taking the government census in the north edge of the community. Mrs. Glenn Allred, also of Wildorado, is enumerating the rest of the community.

He decided the approach was to build a structure like a ship, using flexible wooden timbers. He started work in 1706, with a design more simple than Winstanley's.

Rudyerd had a series of seven steps cut into the sloping rock and imbedded 36 iron bars, to which was attached the wooden and granite base.

Rudyerd even carried out the ship idea by sinking a wooden mast through the center of the foundation and up the tower. Within two years the new tower showed a light.

In 1755, shaking and eaten by wood worms and constant exposure to pounding waves

Rudyerd's light caught fire and burned.

John Smeaton was the man chosen to rebuild Eddystone's light. A trained engineer, unlike his predecessors, Smeaton used interlocking granite keystones and the curving spire of an oak tree branch for strength and stability.

Work started in 1756 and was years later, when 24 tallow candles were lighted. Smeaton had built a lighthouse to last forever.

But he reckoned without the gnawing effects of the endless waves around Eddystone. In 1811 the candles were replaced by the stronger Argand lamps. More than 100 years it lasted but the rock on which it was built was found to be undermined. James Douglass was chosen to build the fourth Eddystone light. He started in 1878 and completed it in 1882. It was twice as tall and more than four times as large as the earlier lights.

It still stands, guarding the world's ships from the vicious Eddystone reef.

The Eddystone Light is more than a story of four men and their lighthouses. It is a story of progress in modern civilization from past works, and failures.

Here's one good way to use left-over bread that is a treat as well as a budget aid: A breadcrumb crust, utilizing about 10 slices of ground bread, can be used satisfactorily for one-crust pies. Use one-fourth cup of sugar, six tablespoons of butter, and one teaspoon of cinnamon added to the 10 slices of dry, ground bread for the crust.

TELEPHONE TALK
by Al Leach, Manager

Last month a celebration was held at the Hereford Telephone Office. The reason for the celebration — Mrs. Marie Sears, our Chief Operator, completed 34 years of service with the telephone company on March 23rd. I know a lot of people who work 34 years with one company, but I know of none who have worked 34 years with one company and never missed a day of work as Mrs. Sears has done. A record like this is indicative of several things. One, to compile a record like this a person must really like their work and have a desire to serve, and secondly, they must be blessed with good health. Mrs. Sears has both of these qualities and we are certainly proud of her.

SPRIT OF SERVICE IN ACTION
Every now and again I hear a warm, human story about people that makes me feel pretty good. I think this one will make you feel good, too.
Here's what happened: A man and his wife had come to court to adopt a little girl — a German Orphan. But one of the officials told the man (dressed in a suit and sport shirt) that it was the local custom for a man to wear a tie when appearing before the judge in court.

Protesting, the feeless man said if he were not allowed in court now, the adoption would be postponed, perhaps for months.
At this point, Jerry Sharp, a veteran installation foreman for Southwestern Bell who happened to overhear the conversation, removed his own tie and, handing it to the man, said, "Here, take mine."

Well, a few minutes later, the adoption proceedings were underway and the little girl had a new family. So often it's the "little" extra things you do that help the most.

to present grievances to a school board if they do not claim the right to strike. It overruled the position of the Dallas School Board that dealing with the union would be the same as recognizing it as a bargaining agent for public employees and therefore contrary to law.

In another case the high court struck down the sentences imposed by a Dallas judge on three labor officials for picketing in violation of his court order. Because they were picketing a business that is in interstate commerce, their action was held to be a case for federal, not state, courts.

Annual payments of taxes on corporation franchises and insurance premiums are whittling down the shortage in the state general revenue fund. After hitting an all-time high of $88,000,000 in March, the deficit dropped to $76,496,922. It is expected to drop further through the spring but not enough to get out of the red this year.

Reasons are several: a drop in oil revenue due to the industry's troubles, lawsuits which tie up expected revenue from the new severance beneficiary tax on natural gas, loopholes in the new sales taxes on furs, jewelry, air conditioners, etc., that have caused revenue to fall below expectations.

Texas' winter wheat crop is expected to hit 78,714,000 bushels, third largest crop among the states. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture describes conditions in Northwest Texas as very favorable, with plenty of moisture and light damage from winter weather. An estimated 4,373,000 acres of wheat have been planted in Texas. States with higher crop expectations are (1) Kansas and (2) Oklahoma.

55 per cent of that 100,000 tons increase may be produced by domestic growers. The other 45 per cent is allocated to foreign producers. It seems to me that at least the increase in the domestic consumption should go to our own people. The bill also provides that 85 per cent of the increase is to be allocated to those areas who presently do not have extensive production of sugar beets.

The sugar situation is a highly complicated matter and will take a lot of exhaustive work to get it corrected. However, regardless of the length of the journey, it can never be accomplished unless the first step is taken. I hope that my bills will be the first step in correcting a situation which I feel is somewhat unfair to our own native people.

The parking problem in this country is certainly presenting a dilemma that indicates a marked change in living conditions. Only the other day we had before us a bill providing for the United States to enlarge one of its National Park areas by purchasing 2.76 acres of land at a price of some $600,000, the land to be used for parking purposes. In the questioning, I developed that the high price of the land was because there was a hotel located on it. This pointed up to me that the age-old problem of parking the body had yielded to the new problem of parking the car. Perhaps they intend to sleep in the cars.

Many inquiries have come into the office concerning the use of 2-4-D spray on wheat. I conferred with the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture and was given the following advice: The only criteria in using 2-4-D is that there be no detectable residue at harvest. Both agencies advised the most positive assurance is to follow directions on the label, which has the nearest thing there is to Department of Agriculture sanction. No danger is anticipated on wheat sprayed on its present stage. I understand the most danger occurs when wheat is sprayed within two or four weeks prior to harvest.

I pass this information on to the wheat farmers and will be glad to enlarge upon it if you will call upon me.

HOLLYWOOD — What the movie industry needs is "a good hypo of daring, mixed with imagination and guts," says a young actor who claims type casting is strangling the business.
Jack Lord played all sorts of roles in legitimate theatre and television in New York. In Hollywood, however, he declares: "The majority of people who cast pictures can't see beyond the last part you did. They play it safe."
This tendency has built a star system with a dozen men at the top commanding astronomical salaries and percentage deals, says Lord. He points out the studios all grumble about paying a high price for names which draw customers.
"But they have created the situation themselves by not giving competent young actors the opportunity to do leading roles," he added.

Mechanical Turtle To Explore Continental Shelf Of Caribbean

WASHINGTON (AP) — A weird-looking mechanical sea turtle with buglike eyes for cameras will soon begin exploring the mysteries of the Western Hemisphere's continental shelf at the bottom of the Caribbean Sea. The craft arrived at the Naval Weapons Plant here recently en route to the French West Indies.

The two-man turtle, propelled by water jets, will probe the dark and silent submerged continent of Guadalupe Island, in the Leeward Islands. Capt. Jacques - Yves Cousteau, noted marine explorer, brought the newly developed turtle from France aboard the French research ship Calypso. The turtle, cheaper and smaller than a deep-sea bathyscaphe is the only craft of its kind in the world.

Cousteau, commander of the Calypso and co-inventor of the aqualung, says the turtle "fills the gap between the maximum distance divers can go down, about 200 feet, and the much greater depths on which bathyscaphs are used."

The turtle can carry two persons - a pilot and a scientist - to a depth of about 1,000 feet. Lying on their stomachs on a rubber mattress, they can peer out through two portholes. Eye-like apertures are also provided for taking motion pictures.

The steel-hulled craft is 6½ feet in diameter and 5 feet high. It can move up, down and sideways with its jet power, and has a range of about six miles. It depends on its battery-powered jets to resurface, and can remain on the bottom about 24 hours.

After being dropped overboard from the mother ship by a crane, the turtle's only contact with the upper world is a yellow plastic ball attached to the craft by a nylon line. The ball floats on the surface so that the Calypso can keep track of its movements.

Cousteau says the continental shelf—a submarine plain which stretches out from the mainland toward the ocean depths—is largely unexplored and is the most interesting section of the sea bottom.

"I think we may be able to learn a lot just by turning off the engine and sitting for 24 hours on the ocean floor watching what goes on," he says.

He is particularly interested in exploring the shelf, he says.

Leahy Scheduled Banquet Speaker

CANYON — Frank Leahy, one of college football's most successful coaches at Notre Dame and now general manager of the Los Angeles Chargers professional club, will speak at West Texas State's annual All-Sports Banquet April 26 in the college cafeteria.

Securing of the popular sports figure was announced by Frank Kimbrough, West Texas athletic director, who has known Leahy for many years.

The controversial, blunt-speaking Leahy rolled up a remarkable record at Notre Dame but was forced to retire from the coaching brigade in 1953 because of failing health. He remained in private business until recently, when he assumed leadership of the new American Football League team in Los Angeles.

At the banquet, lettermen in all sports at West Texas will be honored and several special awards will be made.

ent for mimicry that drew laughs at bars and parties. Comic Jonathan Winters happened to overhear one of Harrington's routines.

Winters put him on the Jack Paar show. That was only last April. And Harrington, portraying the language-mangling Italian golfer pro Guido Panzini, was an immediate hit with the late viewers.

This led to a spot with Steve Allen's troupe and, more recently, a regular part on the Danny Thomas Show.

BELLINGER FOR BELLAMY HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ralph Bellamy says he read 200 scripts before he settled on the lead in "Sunrise at Campobello."

Dore Schary, author of the prize-winning play about Franklin D. Roosevelt's fight against polio, first approached the veteran actor for the part in 1957.

But Bellamy wasn't too enthused about it. He thought it would have meant portraying FDR in the White House and he couldn't visualize himself doing that, despite his facial resemblance to the late president.

Then Bellamy's wife, Alice read the play.

"She came into the den with tears in her eyes," says Bellamy. "She told me, 'I guess this is the one you've been looking for.' I read it and the next morning called Schary. We had a deal."

That deal lasted through 657 Broadway performances, 142 more on the road and is still going strong.

MIMICRY PAYS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pat Harrington Jr., one of television's bright new faces, trod the sidewalks of Madison Avenue until his hobby suddenly put him on the home screens.

Harrington, son and namesake of a noted comedian, was content being a network time salesman for National Broadcasting Co. He entered the business world after receiving a master's degree from Fordham.

But the young man in the gray flannel suit had an amazing tal-

THE STANDOUT

When you pray do you position yourself as bold men of God have done through the centuries? Do you kneel, bow your head, close your eyes to the world, or do you disregard these accepted conformities and bark your prayers erect? Do you pray with sincerity of soul or do you petition to be heard of men as did the Pharisees?

Are you a "Standout?"

If so, you may have spiritual paralysis. You may lack the sincerity-of-soul necessary to move mountains with your prayers. You may be a pauper in things religious. Jesus and the Prophets had ideals. They believed... they lived... they prayed so God would hear. They had religion with emotion. Do you feel God when you pray? Or, are you a Pharisaic Standout?

You In The Church

Give Gals A Toe And They Will Take A Foot, Showman Argues

By WILLIAM GLOVER
 NEW YORK (AP) — American women, says Broadway showman Lawrence Langner, are toeing their way back into a look of slavery.

"The most absurd article of feminine wear these days are those long, pointed shoes and spiked heels," comments the man who recently wrote a documentary volume on human garb entitled "The Importance of Wearing Clothes."

Langner found his research cogent because "the theater has been influencing fashions for bad as well as good for a long time."

His protest against milady's current footwear goes like this: "Women spent 25 years finding a shoe they could walk comfortably in. The purpose of these new fashions is to make it difficult for women to walk around."

"That's a throwback to the days when women had no status and binding the feet was done to make it difficult for them to move freely."

"Of course, the feminine kind of women wants to feel helpless. And that's nonsense, because they are lot better equipped to protect themselves than men." The male population also comes in for Langner criticism. He says the damsels are willing to splurge on new looks, but men still wear, virtually unchanged, the clothes they adopted 150 years ago with arrival of the Industrial Revolution.

"The male resistance is extraordinary," the co-founder of the Theatre Guild notes. "It hasn't anything to do with conforming—it is simply that clothing has always been the sign of status."

"Today's man wants to show his power and authority in the world and that he belongs to the ruling class."

Langner estimates that 400 million buttons are uselessly sewed on men's jackets annually — just because of tradition.

"If you could get 100 men to wear something different you could bring change — but you never will."

Neckties to him are the male's "last bit of individuality in clothes. I'd never want to give them up."

When he started putting his book together, Langner says, he was "amazed at how little research has been done on the history of clothing and the major importance of dress in the development of mankind."

Complaints On Parents Listed By Young Folks

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

FAMILIES are wonderful comforts but there are times when the best parents try our patience, letter writers would have us know.

Take that perennial doper of funds, Dad. It doesn't pay to incur his wrath and take a cut on the old allowance, but that's one way Dad can get his small revenge with a stubborn member of the household, so a young girl is likely to think twice about crossing the path of the family power, as this letter indicates:

"I am 16 and am going to my first formal party. I am wearing a green evening gown. My father has laid down the law: no makeup. My mother agrees that this is one dress that needs makeup as I have ashen blonde hair, blue eyes and the dress makes me look washed out. A little lipstick and rouge makes all the difference in the world. Do you think I should pretend to go along with Dad's ideas and put the lipstick and rouge on after I leave home the night of the party, and remove it before I get back home that night?"

It takes a bit of doing to win some Dads over to a point of view, especially when they have preconceived notions about running the family. But it can be done, even when everything seems hopeless on the surface. One thing you could try is this: The night before the party tell Dad you are going to put on a fashion show just for him. Put on the dress, a minimum of lipstick and rouge as makeup. He will probably admire the outfit if it is pretty, and that is the time to sell him on just the touch of makeup you are wearing.

I wouldn't consider the other method which is immature. If you know your father well, you should be able to wheedle him to your way of thinking. Most fathers object to the belligerent attitudes of their offspring, but often will listen to reason if one can present a logical argument.

Here's a letter that brings Mom into focus:

"My mother wants me to learn to cook, and I have no interest in it. Every night I stand in the kitchen while she tells me the same things over and over. I am not showing much progress because I don't like to cook, I am 17½."

You may just as well give in to mother. Some day you will thank her for it, inevitable as it is for the average woman to cook after marriage. You will become much more interested in the project if you learn to do a few dishes well, and then call in your friends for a tasting party.

Many a wife tries to recall how mother made some delectable concoction when her husband begins to complain about culinary prowess, bragging on his mother's doughnuts or apple strudel. Why not ask your mother to teach you a couple of her favorites, sweet potato biscuits, chicken and dumplings, apricot trifles or some other family recipe, and invite the crowd or a best beau and another couple for a Sunday night buffet. That could be one way to sell yourself on the importance of learning to cook.

"My brother is dating a girl who is just using him to make another boy jealous. I told him but he doesn't believe me. I date the other boy occasionally, and he has told me of this girl's attentions to him." I'd stay out of it. It could be the boy you date is having a bout with jealousy, too. If your brother is old enough to date, he

A better life for Rural Texans

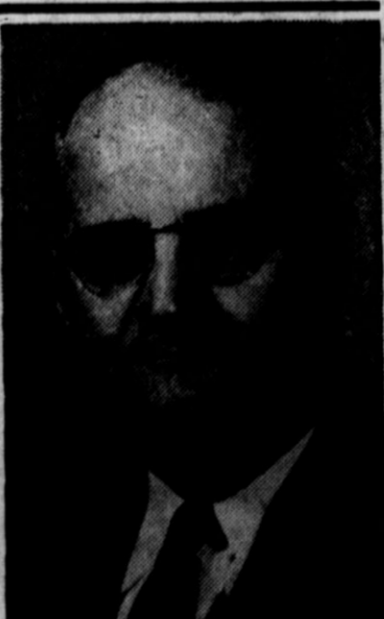

The Electric Cooperative turned the fabled Little Red School house into a modern training ground for our future rural leaders, and provided many advantages their parents were denied.

On the average, today's rural young people will be bigger and healthier. They will have a longer life expectancy. But they will also have responsibilities.

Their mothers and fathers borrowed money at interest to build their own electric systems in rural areas. In most instances, they are ahead of schedule repaying principal and interest on their loans. But, an expanding population and increased rural industry will require heavier lines and equipment to insure continued good electric service. These rural young people are the future member-owners of the electric cooperative serving their area.

Thanks to the Electric Cooperative, they will be far better equipped, mentally and physically, to assume their share of the continuing task of Providing Partnership Power For Progress.
