Biden doubts Thomas really has 'converted'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee says he is in a quandary over whether to accept Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas' disavowal of views he expressed as a Reagan administration official.

"I'm wrestling with what you have all said, in one form or another - the issue of credibility," Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., on Thursday told a group of civil rights leaders who testified against Thomas' nomination.

At the same time, Biden said he was not persuaded by arguments that the conservative nominee showed opposition to abortion in speeches and writings as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in the Reagan administration.

Biden, who says he is undecided on Thomas' nomination, made his comments as the Judiciary Committee continued to hear from public witnesses on both sides of the issue.

The panel planned to take testimony from more than 30 witnesses today on the final day of confirmation hearings.

A committee vote on Thomas' nomination to be the nation's second black Supreme Court justice could come as early as next Thursday, with action by the full Senate the following week.

Democrats and Republicans alike are predicting that Thomas will win confirmation.

Critics contend that Thomas misled the committee by denying that he ever spoke out against abortion and insisting he advocated natural-law principles as political theory not as a method of interpreting the Constitution.

But Biden said abortion-rights activists showed a "failure of logic" by arguing that a 1987 speech by Thomas was evidence that he opposed abortion.

"I did not find anywhere in the record on that issue where he evidenced extreme views," the chairman said.

In the speech to a conservative audience, Thomas praised an anti-abortion article as a "splendid example of applying natural law."

Biden's comments Thursday indicated that he accepted Thomas' explanation that he had mentioned the anti-abortion article by businessman Lewis Lehrman only to sell his audience on his theories of natural law - law inherent in humanity.

"I am trying to decide with some precision about what he did say and what he didn't say," Biden said. "The worrisome parts of all of his speeches have been throwaway lines."

That task wasn't made easier, Biden said, by Thomas' refusal to state his views about abortion and other issues when asked about it during five days of testimony.

Julius L. Chambers, director of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund Inc., argued that Thomas' testimony showed that "his substantive views are too extreme for the Supreme Court" and that he "is not qualified to sit on the court."

But Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., said he didn't find Thomas' views as extreme as those of Robert Bork, whose nomination to the high court he opposed four years ago.

S. Texas hit by heavy rain

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press Writer

Water officials on the Texas-Mexico border near Del Rio are closely monitoring the level of Lake Amistad after heavy rainfall caused rivers emptying into the reservoir to rise.

The International Boundary and Water Commission said Thursday if heavy rains persisted in the Rio Grande watershed, water releases from Lake Amistad might have to increase.

Val Verde County emergency workers prepared for that possibility and urged residents of the Vega Verde and Chaparral Hills communities just below the lake on the Rio Grande to leave for higher ground.

"We've got quite a bit of flooding," said sheriff's communications officer Ray Hernandez. "It hasn't really flooded any residences out, but it's pretty close."

The sheriff's department helped at least five families evacuate with the help of four-wheel-drive vehicles. Several roads in the two neighborhoods were closed because of high water.

The rains tapered off by Thursday afternoon and the roads were reopened by early evening, said Lt. Leon Skeleton, of the Val Verde Sheriff's Department. "It's under control," Skeleton said.

But Skeleton said water releases were continuing through the evening.

Thursday morning, up to four inches of rain fell in Val Verde County, causing the Rio Grande, Pecos and Devils rivers to rise. The three streams form Lake Amistad.

Flash flood watches were issued Thursday for other areas southwest of San Antonio, the Hill Country and regions to the north. Bell and Coryell counties experienced moderate to heavy downpours.

The showers arrived with a cool front that brought the season's first chilly temperatures, in some cases setting record lows. Temperatures in the 40s were reported in parts of West Texas, while farther south, temperatures dipped into the 50s.

Lake Amistad was at 1,118.4 feet Thursday, said Richard Peace, assistant project manager with the International Boundary and Water Commission. The agency took responsibility for releasing flood waters when the lake reached 1,117 feet.

Eldon Kohlman, management assistant for the Amistad National Recreation Area, said park officials closed some boat ramps and campgrounds at the lake Thursday. He urged boaters to stay off the lake and campers to remain on high ground.

Scatting in the rain

Hereford's Scat, Jennifer Hicks, tries to find a dry place under an umbrella during Thursday night's Hereford-Coronado game at Jones Stadium in Lubbock. The Herd won the game, 19-7, to go 3-0 on the season. The contest was played in a steady rain through the evening.

Woman indicted for 36-year-old murder

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - The sisters of an infant girl who died in 1955 in what was ruled an accidental fall say they have lived most of their lives knowing their baby sister was murdered and have come forward to let "the justice system work," according to police reports.

The sisters' testimony resulted in a grand jury indictment Thursday against Colleen Parker McMorris on charges that she killed her 23-month-old stepdaughter 36 years ago.

Mrs. McMorris, 60, now living in the Oklahoma City suburb of Nicoma Park, waived extradition and was expected to be brought to Lubbock today, said Lubbock County District Attorney Travis Ware.

Mrs. McMorris was arrested Wednesday and charged with one count of murder. Bond was recommended at $250,000.

Carolyn Yvonne McMorris died Dec. 5, 1955, in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock of a cerebral hemorrhage. Doctors determined the 23-month-old infant's death was accidental after Mrs. McMorris told them the baby fell from her crib, Ware said.

But Carolyn's sisters, Anita Kay Clark, 41, and Debra Callarman, 39, came forward Tuesday, saying they witnessed Colleen McMorris kill their baby sister when they were 5 and 3, Ware said.

According to Kay Clark's testimony in the police report, she recalled Mrs. McMorris becoming angry with Carolyn because the baby was crying.

"(Kay) saw Colleen throw the baby onto the hardwood floor, and she saw the baby slide across the floor and underneath a rocking chair. The baby didn't move after that," according to the police report.

The sisters say they had repressed the information for years and finally had to clear their consciences to "allow the justice system to work," according to the police report.

Mrs. McMorris caused the death of the child either by "striking the child's head on the floor, by shaking the child or by manner or means unknown to the grand jurors," assistant district attorney Rebecca Atchley said, reading from the indictment.

A woman identifying herself as a friend of the McMorris, answered the phone Thursday at the couple's house in Nicoma Park. The woman, who refused to reveal her name or comment on Mrs. McMorris' arrest, said she had "no idea where (the couple) is."

Kay Clark could not be reached at her residence by The Associated Press.

Cecil McMorris, W.T.'s brother, said Thursday Mrs. McMorris' arrest came as a complete shock to his family.

Legislators miffed by magazine

AUSTIN (AP) - One of the lawmakers branded among the Legislature's "10 Worst" by Texas Monthly magazine has responded by naming the magazine one of the state's worst publications.

Texas Monthly on Thursday released its biennial picks for best and worst lawmakers, angering some legislators and entertaining others.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, was listed among the worst legislators but was given a "special exemption" for helping defeat "a bad bill encouraging development of environmentally sensitive South Padre Island."

Truan's response was to "rank Texas Monthly among the 10 worst publications in Texas."

"I'm in very good company when an upscale magazine filled with glossy ads for expensive jewelry and pretentious clothing puts me on the same list with (Rep. Ernestine) Glossbrenner and (Rep. Eddie) Cavazos," Truan said.

As a whole, the magazine said, "This was a year when the Legislature was as bad as the public has always suspected."

The magazine accused lawmakers of fumbling key education, prison and tax issues, producing "only patches on leaky tires."

The legislators picked as this year's worst, according to executive editor Paul Burka, "seemed to personify the failings of the 72nd Legislature - the absence of courage, comity, vision, integrity, independence, leadership, or commitment to the state."

House Speaker Gib Lewis, criticized by the magazine as having "contributed neither ideas nor leadership" to the session, slammed the article as "smearing the reputations and careers of some dedicated members."

"I have always been disgusted by the superficial and simplistic analyses of the members of the Legislature in the Texas Monthly Best and Worst listings," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

Told that he'd made the list, Cavazos - accused by the magazine of having lost his sense of humor - said, "My goodness," and let out a belly laugh.

"You win some, you lose some," said Cavazos, D-Corpus Christi, who made the 10 Best list in 1987. "You don't like to hear those things said

Also indicted for theft over $750 and under $20,000, Daniel Villarreal, 32, posted $5,000.

Tampering with a government record is the charge against Samuel Jackson, 29. He is in jail in lieu of bond.

about you, but being in politics, you take the good with the bad."

Sen. Temple Dickson was not laughing about being called "the most disappointing member of the Legislature."

"I think it was entirely unfair, and I'm shocked at the shallowness and the inaccuracy in the piece," said Dickson, D-Sweetwater. "It was inaccurate to the degree that one would almost believe it was done maliciously."

Sen. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas, said she also felt the magazine's criticism of how she oversaw the redrawing of congressional districts was inaccurate. Ms. Johnson was likened to "a 2-year-old child on a white silk sofa with a new set of Magic Markers."

Don't underestimate U.S., says Bush

Saddam told force will be used, if needed

LOS ANGELES (AP) - President Bush, still threatening to use force in Iraq, is warning Saddam Hussein not to underestimate U.S. resolve to protect international inspection teams looking for hidden Iraqi weapons.

Bush on Thursday indicated a willingness to renew bombing attacks on Iraq. "We've demonstrated, thanks to our technology and to the ability of our pilots, that we can be very specific as we apply this air power," he said in an interview with Hispanic journalists.

The president repeated in much stronger language what he had said Wednesday - that if Saddam does not allow United Nations helicopters to freely carry inspection teams to Iraqi nuclear, chemical and biological weapons facilities, U.S. military aircraft will provide escorts.

The U.N. inspectors are operating under the mandate of the cease-fire resolution that ended the Persian Gulf War and required destruction of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction.

Bush said the way to defuse the situation "is for Saddam Hussein to do what the U.N. is calling on him to do. One way to have him to do it is to understand that if he doesn't, he is going to find that we are prepared to use military action to see that he does comply."

The United States will not be acting alone if that day comes, Bush added. "We'll have others with us," he said, presumably referring to U.S. allies with whom he has been talking.

He said he wanted to tell Saddam through the media outlets that "he should comply. He should not miscalculate again ... and I've never been more determined."

Bush added: "He can interpret it any way he wants to."

The president said he has set no deadline to activate his contingency military plan, and he wants Americans to know he is "not talking about a massive mobilization" in the gulf or a "son of Desert Storm" operation.

"To allay the concerns of America, I would simply say we're not talking about massive troop movements. What we are talking about, if required, is accompanying helicopters with some air power. And we've got a lot of air power there," he said.

The White House released only the portion of the interview that dealt with Iraq at the end of a day in which the president and his aides seemed to deliberately avoid talking about the Iraq situation.

Bush today was ending a three-day Western swing that had a definite campaign-style flavor even though he has not announced his bid for re-election. The president stumped for Republican Sens. John Seymour in Los Angeles and Bob Packwood in Portland, Ore., making speeches liberally sprinkled with shots at the Democratically controlled Congress.

Bush was flying today to Chicago for a speech to the U.S. Hispanic Chamber of Commerce convention en route home to Washington.

Earlier Thursday, the president was asked about Iraqi allegations that his administration was "spreading false information ... to justify its resumption of aggression."

"I'm not looking for a fight with anybody," he replied.

U.S.S.R. wants know-how, after cash

MOSCOW (AP) - Mikhail Gorbachev, intrigued by the idea of Americans coming to teach business techniques, favors an infusion of Western know-how over cash to solve the country's long-term economic problems, U.S. officials say.

In the short term, however, the Kremlin has doubled the amount of humanitarian aid it is seeking, to $14 billion.

During a nearly two-hour meeting Thursday in the Kremlin, the Soviet president and U.S. Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady discussed the possible creation of a "professional Peace Corps" to teach accounting, marketing, finance and related subjects.

The Soviet president immediately was enamored of the idea, according to a senior U.S. official who spoke on condition of anonymity. The official said Gorbachev "sat right up in his chair" and wanted to talk more about it.

The "professional Peace Corps" of Americans would share expertise with Soviet managers to help them switch from a centrally planned economy to a free market.

While the Soviet Union has expert mathematicians and engineers, chess players and musicians, the senior official said, it is missing people with the types of skills taught by U.S. business schools.

During his meeting with Gorbachev, Brady repeated U.S. promises to provide food aid this winter.

"Not only President Gorbachev

but a number of other colleagues told us here that the winter is approaching, they're worried about conditions in the Soviet Union in the winter," Brady told reporters.

"We of course in the U.S. ... are going to be responsive to those needs when they arise," he said.

In Brussels, Belgium, on Thursday, a senior Soviet official asked the European Community to provide $7 billion in food aid over the next 10 years and said Moscow sought another $7.7 billion in aid from other leading industrial nations.

Yuri Luzhkov, deputy chairman of the Soviet Economic Management Committee, proposed $7 billion in EC grants and credits, with an additional $7.7 billion to come from the United States, Canada, Japan and individual European nations.

"The distinguishing characteristic" of the talks was "the lack of being pressed to come up with any figures" on aid, the official said. The official said the Soviets stressed their need for professional help, such as accountants and marketers.

Brady also had been scheduled to meet with Russian President Boris Yeltsin. But Yeltsin was ill.

House bank bounces checks of members

WASHINGTON (AP) - House members seem to have as much trouble keeping their personal bank accounts in order as they do in getting the government out of the red: they're bouncing thousands of checks at the House bank.

In a recent study of the House's internal bank, the congressional General Accounting Office said lawmakers wrote bad checks totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars during the year ending June 30, 1990.

All of the overdrafts were covered with no-charges whatsoever even though lawmakers took up to four weeks to make their accounts whole, the GAO said.

The House bank in the Capitol provides checking accounts and check-cashing privileges - but is not supposed to provide loans - to the 440 House members and non-voting delegates. The Senate has no comparable institution.

The audit said 8,331 checks were bounced in the year studied, an average of nearly 19 per lawmaker.

The number increased 8 percent during the second half of that year even though House Sergeant-at-Arms Jack Russ, who oversees the bank, established policies that were supposed to cut down on the abuses.

During the second six months, 134 members bounced checks of more than $1,000. Of those, "Twenty-four account holders averaged at least one returned check a month. However, no account holders have had their accounts suspended," as the Russ policy suggested would be done, the GAO said.

Russ was reported out of his office Thursday and not available for comment. But he told the Capitol Hill newspaper Roll Call, which first reported the audit, that the situation had improved since House members' pay increased in January from $96,600 to $125,100.

"That additional $1,500 that they make every month was phenomenal," lowering the number of bounced checks "95 percent," he told Roll Call.

Russ said in a letter included in the GAO report that outside banking consultants have been brought in and changes were planned. Among them: setting up a system of charging members interest on their overdrafts, perhaps in cooperation with the credit union that serves Capitol Hill.

In addition to handling lawmakers' accounts, the House bank operation routinely cashes small checks for congressional aides, members of the news media and former House members. The GAO found significant abuse in this area as well.

The Washington Post reported last year that Russ himself had taken advantage of the check-cashing privilege. One Russ check cashed despite insufficient funds was for more than $10,000, the Post said.

The GAO report does not include any names of offenders. "We're prohibited by law when we do audits from providing the names," said GAO spokesman Cleve Corlett.

Herd's dominating defense tames Mustangs

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Hereford scored two touchdowns in the second quarter on a cold and rainy Thursday night in Lubbock and rolled on to a 19-7 win over Coronado.

The Whitefaces improved their record to 3-0, while the Mustangs fell to 1-2. It was the Herd's fifth consecutive win over Coronado, making the series record 15-3 in Hereford's favor.

In the first half, when the game was won, the Herd dominated. The offense gained 220 yards, but the defense was especially good. Coronado gained only 52 yards and three first downs in the first half. The Mustangs netted 12 yards in its first two possessions.

Coronado's only score came with 44 seconds left in the game.

"Our defense played good," Herd coach Danny Haney said. "I was proud of them. They're getting better every week."

The offense drove the ball and totaled 322 yards for the game: 210 on the ground and 112 in the air. The passing game improved in yardage and completion percentage, but quarterbacks Chad Sandoval and Richard Sanderson each threw an interception, their first of the season.

Sandoval scored two of the touchdowns--the first and the last--when he kept the ball on option runs. The first one was for 12 yards and went to the left and the other was for 10 yards and went to the right, but otherwise they were the same. Sandoval started outside, but a huge hole opened up inside and he jogged untouched into the end zone.

"When your linemen have everybody on the ground, anybody can walk through the hole," he said. "Those touchdowns were the linemen's."

The other TD was a 3-yard run by tailback Leo Brown, capping a drive quarterbacked by Richard Sanderson. Brown rushed for 132 yards Thursday, complementing performances of 162 and 137 yards in the first two games.

The game started with an ill omen for the Mustangs. They were called for an offside penalty when they kicked off. Though it was Coronado's only penalty of the game, not much else went right for the Mustangs.

On the first play from scrimmage, Brown ripped off an 18-yard run. The Herd drove to the Coronado 15 from their own 35 in nine plays, but broke down on the tenth play.

Sandoval tried a screen pass to Brown but it was intercepted by Coronado linebacker Jeremy Young.

"It was a little bit behind (Brown)," Sandoval said. "He got a hand on it and tipped it up. Their guy was at the right place at the right time. It could have been a better pass."

Had Young kept his feet, he had only Sandoval to beat in an 80-yard dash to the end zone, but Young fell after only a few yards. The Herd stopped Coronado possessions twice and got the ball back at the Hereford 33.

Two long-gaining plays speeded up the 67-yard touchdown drive. The first was a 24-yard pass play from Sandoval to split end Tempie Abney; the second was Brown's 24-yard run. Sandoval finished the drive with his 12-yarder, and Ben Perry's kick gave the Herd a 7-0 lead.

Again, Hereford's defense stopped the Mustangs. The key play was when defensive tackle Monroe Timberlake stopped Gilbert Rodriguez for a four-yard loss after a Mustang first down.

After no return on the punt, Hereford started on its own 12 and went 88 yards. Fullback Kyle Hansen started the drive out with a 15-yard run. Other big plays were a 20-yard run on a reverse by Petey Colvin and a 26-yard pass from Sanderson to split end Sean Smith.

The last big play of the drive was tight end Derek Mason's grabbing an 8-yard pass in heavy traffic on third-and-8. He was hit as the ball arrived but held on and fell at the Coronado 3-yard line.

"They had a blitz. He's supposed to go in the middle and post up," said Sanderson, who threw the pass. "He reached out and made a great catch."

"I'm supposed to get in an area that's clear. The linebacker got in front of me," Mason said, explaining that the play wasn't designed to be that close. "I'm supposed to be in better position."

Hereford couldn't have been in much better position. Brown ran for the score on the next play. Perry's kick was wide right, and the Herd took a 13-0 lead into halftime.

The second half was a little sloppy as the weather contributed to several fumbles.

"Anytime it rains like that, you're going to have a couple of fumbles," said Sandoval, who had a couple but recovered them both.

Timberlake fell on a fumble by Coronado running back Kevin McClurg to stop a third quarter drive, then two of Coronado's fourth quarter drives were halted by interceptions. First Colvin, a cornerback, then Sanderson, a safety, hauled in passes which were overthrown by Mustang quarterback Chip Reed.

Reed, a good quarterback, had a bad night. Several times, particularly in the first half, he had a receiver wide open against a busted coverage and badly underthrew him. He finished the game with only five completions in 16 attempts.

Timberlake's fumble recovery set up Hereford's last touchdown drive. The Herd went 67 yards in 12 plays. The drive consisted of 24 yards of Brown rushing and 37 yards worth of Sandoval passes: 15 yards to Smith, 9 to Mason and a 13-yarder to Hansen on fourth-and-4.

On the next play, Sandoval had his 10-yard TD. The run for extra points failed when Sandoval was blindsided and lost the ball. A Mustang scooped it up but was tackled after only a few yards.

That came with 9:05 left in the game. Coronado followed up with the two interceptions and a punt, and they appeared ripe for the shutout. They got their points, though, in the final minute.

Hereford was backed up to its 10-yard line, and Shawn Fogo's punt under heavy pressure went only 25 yards and was returned to the Hereford 31. McClurg ran all the way for the score on the next play. Issac Madrid kicked the extra point to make 19-7 the final score.

Believe it! Herd stays undefeated

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

After the Lubbock Monterey scrimmage on August 22, only the most optimistic Hereford fan would have thought the Whitefaces would be sitting at 3-0 right now.

The Herd looked more like the Nerd on that Thursday night as the Plainsmen ran, and especially threw, at will against Hereford.

Ge, or something like that, most Hereford fans felt. Next is Amarillo High. Then the regular season with Tascosa, Palo Duro and Coronado.

Maybe there were a lot of people thinking 3-0, but the numbers weren't in that order.

"I felt all along that we could be 3-0 at this point in the season," Hereford Coach Danny Haney said Thursday night after the Herd's 19-7 win at Lubbock.

C'mon, coach. Honestly, no coachin' stuff here. Didja really, really, truthfully think so?

"Really, I did. I knew what kind of team we had. This team has got lots of potential, and each week they're gaining the confidence and skills to fulfill that potential. We're getting there week by week."

While Haney may have had an idea all along, not all of his players felt the same way. They began to realize they could have something building after the 20-7 win over Tascosa in the season opener on Sept. 6.

"At the first of the season I wasn't sure how the team was going to play together, but after the first game I realized we were going to play good as a team," said fullback Kyle Hansen. "I knew then we could go all the way. We're gonna do it."

"After we got started going, hey, we just decided we're not going to lose," said offensive tackle Michael Campos.

"It feels great," said defensive tackle Santos Liscano. "This team has potential to go very far, and it really does feel great to be where we are right now."

Defensive end Cody Whitfill says very far would be about 16 games, with the season ending around Christmas.

"We just take it one game at a time," Whitfill said. "All the way to a state championship. That's our ultimate goal."

One of the goals the Herd has every year is to play at Jones Stadium. That means the Herd is in the playoffs in most years. With well over three inches of rain in the Lubbock area, Lowrey Field was unplayable and virtually unreachable because of flooding.

Conditions weren't great during the game. It was bad enough to send the Mighty Maroon Band home early, just after halftime and with the Herd holding a solid 13-0 lead. The artificial surface at Jones Stadium was, well, icky.

"But it wasn't like playing in the mud," said Campos. "I liked it. It really wasn't bad."

"It was good," said Whitfill. "We can't control the weather. We just have to play good no matter what, and it was just as bad on them."

"It was a little slicker (than a muddy grass field) but it wasn't anything to complain about. I really loved it."

The players were happy to get to play at Jones Stadium.

"Lowrey Field is okay, but when the coaches told us (Wednesday) we were going to play at Jones Stadium, well, we were pretty happy," said Liscano.

Elsik challenges Aldine

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer

It isn't the playoffs. It's not even a district game. But Alief Elsik coach Mike Sciba says the third-ranked Rams' match against No. 8 Aldine Friday night has the feeling of a title game.

Elsik, led by tandem running backs Nathan Campbell and Kalief Muhammad, is 2-0 and ranked as the top team in the Houston area. Sciba said his team will have to earn its ranking against the defending Class 5A small school champions.

"This game is probably one of the biggest games that we've ever had here," Sciba said. "This is a real big challenge for us. We'll have a chance to see if we measure up to the Aldines and the (Fort Bend) Willowridges."

Measuring up to No. 4 Willowridge wouldn't be bad. The Eagles beat Aldine 28-22 last week, aided by three fumbles and three interceptions off Mustangs' quarterback Eric Gray.

Gray, who is recovering from leg injuries suffered in a July drive-by shooting, threw for 133 yards and ran for two touchdowns, but Aldine coach Bill Smith said the quarterback still isn't at his best.

"I think it's going to take a while for him to get mentally prepared as well as physically prepared," Smith said. "No one in this world can imagine the things that youngster has gone through. It's just a miracle he's out there."

Sciba said Gray's performance Friday will go far toward determining the game's outcome.

"Defensively, we must contain Eric Gray. If we don't, we'll lose," Sciba said.

Likewise, Aldine's defense must stop Campbell and Muhammad, who combined for five touchdowns in Elsik's 37-3 victory over Fort Bend

Clements last week.

"This year, we're alternating them quite a bit," Sciba said. "Nathan is more of an inside power-type runner. Kalief is what we call a prancer and dancer. He's a more outside, quick-footed kid. They both have the capability of breaking the big play."

In other games involving top 5A teams, No. 1 Arlington Lamar battles Irving MacArthur, No. 2 Dallas Carter meets Fort Worth Wyatt on Saturday and No. 4 Fort Bend Willowridge plays LaMarque, the No. 9 team in 4A.

Lamar struggled in a 17-16 victory over South Grand Prairie last week without starting quarterback Tony Kennedy, who had a bruised knee. Coach Eddy Peach said Kennedy probably will play this week.

No. 5 Huntsville plays Jasper, and it's No. 6 Odessa Permian vs. Amarillo, No. 9 Killeen vs. Dallas South Oak Cliff and No. 10 San Antonio Marshall vs. San Antonio Churchill.

No. 7 Waco continues its brutal schedule, which began with then-No. 1 Huntsville and 1990 state finalist Converse Judson. The Lions tied Huntsville 29-29 and beat Judson 28-21.

This week, Waco plays at defending big school champion Marshall, which was dominated by Dallas Carter last week, 35-6.

Bastrop, the top team in 4A, plays Copperas Cove in the first of two consecutive games against 5A teams. Next week the Bears play Austin Johnston, then Brenham before starting district play.

"Copperas Cove is a good 5A football team. If we survive this schedule, we'll be lucky," Bastrop coach Les Johnson said. "We've got our work cut out for us."

Elsewhere, it's No. 2 Waxahachie vs. Corsicana, No. 3 Burk Burnett vs.

Vernon, No. 4 Houston C.E. King vs. Crosby, No. 5 McKinney vs. Red Oak, No. 8 A&M Consolidated vs. Silsbee and No. 10 Wilmer-Hutchins vs. Paris.

Austin Westlake and West Orange-Stark, which tied for the No. 6 ranking in 4A, play Austin Bowie and Vidor, respectively.

In the lower classifications, top-ranked Cuero in Class 3A plays Beeville and Schulenburg, ranked No. 1 in 2A, takes on Yoakum. Garden City, tops in Class A, plays No. 8 Rankin.

Odessa Permian will be without five of its players in its game against Amarillo High. Permian coach Tam Hollingshead suspended four players after they were charged in connection with the beating of another student.

Lonnie J. Jones, 17, turned himself in to police Thursday after he was charged with aggravated assault and carrying a gun on school property.

Police filed misdemeanor assault charges against Eric Louvin, 17; Tony Daniels, 18; and Antonio Perez, 18, in connection with the beating. A 16-year-old boy, whom police could not identify since he is a minor, was being detained at the Ector County Youth Home, officials said.

A 17-year-old Permian student required surgery to his jaw following a fight in the parking lot of Odessa's Ratliff Stadium, where the Permian junior varsity team was playing Midland, police Cpl. John McAhon said.

Hollingshead would not identify the disciplined players, but said two were suspended before last week's game against Tyler John Tyler, which Permian beat 35-6. Three of those charged played against John Tyler.

Hollingshead said four players have been suspended from this week's game and another has been permanently removed from the team.

Closing In

Hereford's Alvaro Avila (20) flies in toward Coronado quarterback Chip Reed (10) as he releases the ball. Avila didn't get the sack here, but he did get one Thursday.

Ryan happy with health

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Nolan Ryan is feeling so good he's already talking about next year.

Ryan got his 313th victory Thursday night and he can't wait until 1992.

"I'm pleased the way my health is holding up and my stuff is back," the Texas Rangers right-hander said after his 10-3 victory over the California Angels in the first game of a doubleheader. "It sure helps your outlook on the upcoming season."

Ryan (11-6) cruised through six innings, allowing just three earned runs. He struck out seven, walked two and threw 120 pitches, 76 for strikes.

California won the second game 5-2 as Jim Abbott won his 17th game with a six-hitter over 7 2-3 innings.

Ryan (11-6) could get as many as three more starts this season. He's only one victory away from catching Gaylord Perry for No. 13 on the career list.

Twice this season Ryan has come off the disabled list. By doing that, he said he learned something about himself.

"The problem was I was trying to come back too quick the first time I came off the DL," Ryan said.

Texas manager Bobby Valentine said it's important that Ryan finishes the season strong, and it appears that he's going to do so.

"During the winter, I can say I saw him with velocity at the end of the year," Valentine said. "The only thing that is keeping him from going nine innings is that he is overthrowing his changeup. He has his fastball and his curve. The only thing missing is the changeup."

Ryan defeated Chuck Finley (17-9), who lasted only four innings.

The Rangers got 11 hits off five pitchers in the first game, including homers by Dean Palmer and Kevin Reimer.

Palmer had another homer, off Abbott, in the second game along with Rafael Palmeiro, but Kevin Brown took his 11th loss against nine victories.

In the only other AL game, Seattle beat Kansas City 10-5.

Stretching for the extra yard

Hereford split end Tempie Abney leans forward for the last yard of his 24-yard reception in Thursday's game. Making the tackle is Coronado's safety, Elvin Milton (40). Also shown are Jeremy Young (82) and Brian Chilton (80).

Dodgers, Braves in showdown

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Even at Dodger Stadium, the fans might be in their seats early and stay late this weekend.

"In a very California way, it's going to be an exciting time," pitcher Jim Gott said, looking ahead to the NL West showdown with Atlanta.

The Braves and Dodgers each won Thursday, meaning Los Angeles takes a one-half game lead into tonight's opener of a three-game series. The Braves went into last weekend with a one-half game lead and then beat Los Angeles two of three in Atlanta.

"I think being a half-game out, the players will tend to be a little more relaxed and a lot more confident," said Lonnie Smith, who scored the go-ahead run in the 10th inning

Thursday night as Atlanta won in San Diego 4-2.

The Dodgers are the best home team in the majors at 48-24 after beating Houston 4-3. The Braves are the league's second-best road team, next to Pittsburgh, at 39-33. Los Angeles is 9-6 against Atlanta this year.

Smith singled off Craig Lefferts (1-6) to start the 10th. Vinny Castilla's sacrifice bunt was mishandled by McGriff for one error, and McGriff then threw the ball into right field for another error that put runners at second and third. After Terry Pendleton was intentionally walked, David Justice hit an RBI single and Ron Gant followed with a sacrifice fly.

Dodgers 4, Astros 3

Darryl Strawberry again haunted Houston, this time with a two-run homer in the first inning.

Strawberry homered off Mark Portugal (10-9).

In other games Thursday, Pittsburgh rallied past St. Louis 5-1, San Francisco stopped Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia beat Montreal 5-4 in 10 innings and the Chicago at New York game was canceled because of rain.

Hunters' ed class offered

A course in hunter education has been scheduled in Hereford from 5-10 p.m. Sept. 25-27 in Northwest Primary School's Media Center. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has mandated that all persons who were born during the period Sept. 2, 1971-Aug. 31, 1974 must have successfully completed a hunter's education class in order to hunt in Texas. By September 1993, all hunters born on or after Sept. 2, 1971 must have completed the course. The course is open to adults and youngsters and will include instructions in rifle, shotgun and bowhunting handling and safety; outdoor responsibility and ethics; laws and regulations; conservation; hunting traditions; wildlife identification; field care of game; wilderness first aid and survival.

Though the course is mandatory for some hunters, any hunter of any age may take the course and is encouraged to attend regardless of requirements. Students 12 years or older who complete the course will be given a hunter education certificate from TPWD. Those younger than 12 will receive a certificate of attendance, but must take the course again for proper certification.

For more information, contact Gary Billingsley at 364-2751 or TPWD's Hunter Education section in Austin at 1-800-792-1112 or at (512) 389-4999.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Grandpa's Deer Sucker, developed by an old hunter in northern Michigan, is the talk of the hunting world. Jim Deitch (P.O. Box 6711 in San Antonio, 78209) claims this novel idea is legal in Texas. In fact, archery hunters can use the Deer Sucker-on-a-Stick as a yard marker and a delaying device. Camera hunters will love these things because during the time a deer licks on the sucker, focus and shutter speed can be adjusted for several terrific pictures. They cost $5 and the animals love them.

Eva Terrell, a delightful lady from Moore County, caused quite a stir in the KGNC news department when she appeared in person asking for more information about deer suckers. Lady hunters are not all that rare.

Fishing Tip of the Week--Using a toothpick to hold a worm weight in place works but it can also pinch or nick your fishing line. Thanks to fishing pro Tommy Biffle, here's an old trick that is quietly used by many of the touring professional anglers. A piece of rubber band can be inserted into a weight by looping a piece of monofilament line through the center of the worm weight. One should then have a worm weight with approximately a one-inch piece of rubber band sticking out of both ends.

When ready to use these weights, simply pull both ends of the rubber band and thread your fishing line between the stretched rubber and the center hole. Trim off the excess at both ends.

This fishing trick is easy, and eliminates one more possibility of weakening your fishing line, which is the only thing between you and that trophy fish.

Archery season in 1991 opens Oct. 1. This early season is a first-time event in Texas and most rifle hunters will be keeping a close eye on the results.

Sportsman's Calendar:

- Sept. 21, Team tournament--Greenbelt
- Sept. 22, Buddy tournament--Lake Foss
- Sept. 28, Big Bass tournament--Lake Baylor
- Oct. 5, "Old Texas" State Championship--Lake Meredith

Bring a radio to the Greenbelt Team Tournament! Hourly on KGNC-radio (710 AM), I will announce a "Mel's Special Fish." If you are the first team to reach the scales with that described fish, you will win a prize.

Georgia Tech upends UVA

ATLANTA (AP) - Kicking clutch field goals late in a game is nothing new for Scott Sisson of Georgia Tech.

He did it again Thursday night, a 33-yarder on the final play to give the 17th-ranked Yellow Jackets a 24-21 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Virginia.

It was the fifth time in the senior kicker's career he has either won or tied a game in the final 61 seconds, and the second year in a row he's denied Virginia a tie.

The Cavaliers were ranked No. 1 in the nation with a 7-0 record last November when Sisson kicked a 37-yarder with seven seconds remaining to break a 38-38 tie.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A DETECTIVE "WHODUNIT"—IN THE BIBLE?!

YES, INDEED! THE BIBLE IS BELIEVED TO CONTAIN THE WORLD'S TWO OLDEST DETECTIVE STORIES, WRITTEN SOMETIME DURING THE SECOND CENTURY B.C., THEY ARE NOW FOUND IN THE BOOK OF APOCRYPHA AND ARE SMALL MASTERPIECES OF SUSPENSE, PLOT, AND CHARACTERIZATION...EACH TEACHES A MORAL LESSON OF TRUST IN GOD.

"SUSANNA AND THE ELDERS" IS THE TALE OF A YOUNG, BEAUTIFUL WIFE WHO IS LUSTED AFTER BY TWO EVIL JUDGES, CALLED ELDERS. BECAUSE SUSANNA WOULD NOT ACCEPT THEIR OPIOUS ADVANCES THEY FALSELY ACCUSE HER OF ADULTERY WITH AN UNKNOWN MAN—AN OFFENSE PUNISHABLE BY DEATH! FORTUNATELY, DANIEL, HE OF THE LION'S DEN FAME, SUSPECTS THE TWO ELDERS AND, BY SOME GOOD PREDUCTION AND SOME VERY CLEVER QUESTIONING, TRICKS THE TWO ELDERS INTO EXPOSING THEIR OWN FALSE ACCUSATIONS OF SUSANNA. THUS, AN INNOCENT VICTIM IS SAVED FROM DEATH IN TRUE DETECTIVE STORY STYLE! HOW DANIEL DID ALL THIS IS IN THE APOCRYPHA AND IF YOUR OWN BIBLE DOESN'T HAVE IT, JUST RUN UP TO THE ATTIC AND JUST OFF GREAT-GRANDMA'S FAMILY BIBLE—ALL THE OLD-TIME BIBLES INCLUDED THE APOCRYPHA—AND IT'S MORE FUN TO READ THIS EXCITING TALE RIGHT OUT OF THE BOOK ITSELF—YOU'LL SURELY AGREE DANIEL HANDLED THE CASE JUST AS ABLY AS THE GREAT SHERLOCK HOLMES WOULD HAVE!

NEXT WEEK: THE OTHER OLDEST DETECTIVE STORY!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from the Montana reader who complained that a motel keeper wouldn't rent a room to her son because he wasn't "of age" burned me up. Here's how it looks from my side of the registration desk.
I worked in a hotel in North Carolina for several months. Our age requirement for guests went from 18 to 21 to 27, after several "young adults" trashed their rooms. When I say "trashed," I don't mean wet towels on the carpets and a broken lamp or two. I mean they knocked holes in the wall trying to remove the fixtures, ripped out the telephones, tore up the carpeting and sneaked out in the dead of night without paying their bill. We got stuck for a number of expensive long-distance calls.
Another group of young people were selling drugs out of our place. It didn't help business any when the police showed up to make arrests. We suspected something was odd when carloads of friends came to "visit" at all hours of the night. We finally told them to leave after several guests phoned the desk to complain about the noise.
"Montana" said it was unfair to allow a few bad apples to spoil the barrel. I agree. But when the majority of problems are caused by people under 25, the hotel must take whatever steps are necessary to save its reputation, not to mention the business itself. This means we have to keep the troublemakers out. The only way to do it was to raise the age limit, which we did. By the way, we noticed that the people who got upset about the age limit being raised were the very ones who caused the trouble to begin with. We know because we kept a list--K.A.M., West Hempstead, N.Y.

DEAR WEST HEMPSTEAD: Thanks for writing to let us now how that column played in your neck of the woods. Here's a reading from northern Michigan:
DEAR ANN: That motel clerk isn't the only one who has had problems with "young adults." We could relate a few dozen horror stories about how young people in our part of the country behave when they get into a motel.
A few months ago a bunch of high schoolers took it upon themselves to burn the American flag in front of the office. They were protesting something or other. They then decided to throw the lawn furniture into the pool. That same week, some teenagers thought it would be fun to play hockey in the halls in the middle of the night. They also broke the candy machine and helped themselves.
But young adults aren't the only ones who cause problems. Last week a child who couldn't have been more than 4 years old was in the lobby looking for "Mommy and Daddy." Can you believe parents would leave a tot that age alone in a motel room? I am going to sign my name, Ann, and it's OK to use it. In fact, I hope you will--A.F.
DEAR FRIEND: Publishing your name would not do much for your boss' business but thanks for writing. You certainly made your point. Keep reading:
DEAR ANN: As an innkeeper, I can understand why that motel clerk refused a room to that college student. We, too, have had several bad experiences with young people. I'd like to suggest to parent whose college-age sons or daughters need lodging on the way to or from school that they phone us ahead and make reservations. Just give us some idea as to the arrival time. I cannot think of a person in this business who would not welcome such a call and greet your children with open arms.--J.D., Also in Michigan
Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? BALTIMORE (AP) - Things just haven't been the same in Baltimore since the Colts packed up and moved to Indiana, says novelist Tom Clancy, who is putting up $100,000 to try to lure a new professional football team to his hometown.
Clancy, 44, said Thursday he grew up watching the Colts and that a part of him left with the team when owner Robert Irsay moved it to Indianapolis before the 1984 season.
The 28-team National Football League is planning to add two franchises in 1994. Clancy, who wrote "The Hunt for Red October," said he'll pay the city's $100,000 franchise application fee, due next week.
The author would like to be the majority owner of a new team, but says the main thing is that Baltimore get a team, no matter who runs it.
"This is something that I really want to do for the town I grew up in," he said.
