School board okays budget, pay raise

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

All Hereford school teachers and other employees will be receiving a raise this year after the Hereford school board officially adopted a $17 million budget on Tuesday.

The board debated the budget, and the pay raise, for about 30 minutes before voting, 4-2, to adopt the budget.

The budget also provides for a tax rate of 30 cents in the Hereford Independent School District. Combined with the 80.9-cent rate passed recently by the Deaf Smith County Education District, taxpayers in the HISD will have a tax rate of $1.109 cents per $100 valuation. That is a 21 percent increase in the tax rate.

Teachers who have reached Step 10, the highest pay level, administrators and paraprofessionals will receive a 3.5 percent pay increase. That increase will cost the school district $120,000, which pushed the final budget figure to $17,016,895.

With the 30-cent tax rate, the district expects to receive total revenue from local, state and federal sources of $17,474,681. The actual revenue will likely be less: Superintendent Charles Greenawalt pointed out that the state is short $150 million in funds for education this year, so the district will likely lose $200,000 to $250,000 in anticipated state revenue. Last school year, the district lost $441,000 in state funds.

School board president John Fuston and member Ron Weishaar voted against the pay increase.

"I'm kind of the bad guy with the teachers right now, but I want the teachers to know I support them 100 percent although I'm not always in favor of raises," said Weishaar. Weishaar said he was responsible not only to teachers but to taxpayers as well, who face not only the 21 percent increase in school taxes but a 67 percent increase from the Deaf Smith County Hospital District.

"Everyone has got to do their part," said Weishaar. "We're not asking them to take a 3.5 percent cut, we're just asking them to hold the line."

Later, Weishaar said the 3.5 percent pay increase, added to similar increases the last two years, was like compound interest.

"It's 3.5 percent this year, and goes on and on. It's a pyramiding effect," Weishaar said. "There just comes a time when we have to evaluate what we're doing."

"I can't vote for a 21 percent tax increase and vote for a pay increase," said Fuston, whose wife, Joan, is one of the teachers who will receive a raise. "When I took my job (Fuston is the district director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service) I knew what the top step was going to be. This board has always supported its teachers, and we are also responsible to the taxpayers and the community."

Dennis Newton, who joined Sylvia Flores, Mike Veazey and Raymond Schlabs in voting for the budget with the raise, said the board needed to "pay good people who have been with you."

"The way it's set up, you could get to Step 10 and go another 30 years with no salary increase," Newton said. "This ($120,000) is less than 1 percent of the total budget. I think we need to hire good people and take care of them."

Veazey, who made the motion to adopt the budget with the pay raise, said he expected some returns for the salary increase.

"I think the taxpayers of this district will be disappointed if we can't bring our test scores up," said Veazey. "I think we should expect that of our teachers this year."

For teachers who have not reached Step 10, the state has mandated a $1,140 pay increase for this year.

In other business, the board honored Northwest Primary School teacher Jana Davis and Northwest aide Gail Carter as the employees of the month; accepted the low bid of $18,305 from Whiteface Dodge for a 1991 15-passenger van; adopted a

Hereford's tax rate

While the Hereford school board has still not officially adopted a tax rate, it will likely be set at 30 cents later this month. That rate is only eighth-highest among 12 districts polled by Supt. Charles Greenawalt. Listed are the school district, the CED rate, the school district rate and the total rate.

Student prayer circle

Several Hereford High School students arose early this morning to participate in a special "See You At The Pole" prayer service at the flag pole in front of HHS. The special student-led service was sponsored by local Baptist churches.

Charges pending on boys

Charges are pending against two Hereford boys in connection with the destroying of windows with B-B guns in Hereford over the past six weeks.

Charges of felony criminal mischief are pending against the two males, ages 16 and 17. The 16-year-old is being handled as a juvenile, while the 17-year-old is being charged as an adult.

Most of the shootings occurred during August, and included glass breakage at two Hereford banks, Northwest Primary School, other Hereford businesses and several vehicles. The overall damage was estimated at $11,000.

Police, in a news release today, said the boys admitted to causing the damage after being questioned by police. Police plan to charge each of the boys with at least one count of felony criminal mischief, according to the release.

State providing gifts for pregnant women

AUSTIN (AP) - State officials are hoping that gifts being offered to pregnant women through public health clinics will entice more Texas women into receiving prenatal care.

The program was announced Tuesday by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

"This 'Baby's First Gift' is just a beginning. We do hope that it will bring more women into prenatal care in the first three months of pregnancy," acting Health Commissioner Dr. Robert MacLean said.

The campaign is aimed at increasing prenatal care and reducing the number of babies born with problems from maternal use of tobacco, drugs and alcohol during pregnancy, TCADA officials said.

"Babies born to mothers who do not receive prenatal care are much more likely to be born prematurely, have low birth weights or other serious health problems," MacLean said.

"Yet it is a sad fact that about one in three pregnant women in Texas receives inadequate or no prenatal care in this state at this time," he said.

Under the new program, any woman seeking prenatal care at more than 250 public health clinics around the state receives a canvas tote bag. The bag contains information on prenatal care and items such as cosmetic samples for the mother and bowls, bibs and T-shirts for the baby.

Numerous private companies and organizations have donated gift items and other assistance through the Texas Prevention Partnership, a public-private TCADA initiative.

The Texas Department of Health will distribute the bags to the clinics, MacLean said.

TCADA executive director Bob Dickson.

TCADA plans to distribute 100,000 gift bags in the first year of the two-year project. A two-months' supply already is being shipped to clinics statewide, agency spokesman Bill Bricher said.

The cost of the program to TCADA this year is $498,000, which has been supplemented by $2.2 million in corporate donations, he said.

Gov. Ann Richards endorsed the program in a letter distributed Tuesday. She asked individuals and organizations to donate items to place in the bags.

"Using drugs and alcohol during pregnancy not only causes mental and physical health problems for children, it carries an enormous cost for all Texans who pay millions of dollars to care for those problems," Richards said.

Redistricting plan gets nod

A new plan for re-drawing Deaf Smith County commissioner precinct lines received favorable response Tuesday from county officials, even though some adjustments were suggested.

A representative of the Texas Rural Legal Aid also looked favorably on the newest plan.

During a special meeting of Commissioners' Court, Bob Bass of the Austin law firm of Allison and Associates outlined the proposal for realigning precinct lines.

In the plan, three precincts will have minority population of 50 percent or more.

Precinct Two will be 72 percent minorities, with 69.6 percent Hispanic, 28 percent Anglo and lesser percentages of Black, Indian, Asian and others.

Precinct One is shown with 63.14 percent minorities and 36.86 percent Anglo. Hispanic population in the plan is pegged at 60.88 percent in the precinct.

A 51.20 percent minority population is included in the plan for Precinct Four. Anglo population would be 49.03 percent and Hispanic, 48.90 percent.

An Anglo majority of 82.7 percent is in the plan for Precinct Three. Hispanic and other minority population add up to 17.3 percent.

Rodolfo Mares Jr., Texas Rural Legal Aid attorney, reviewed the proposal with commissioners and Bass, attorney with the Austin law firm serving as consultant in the boundary realignment.

Mares expressed general approval of the new plan although he suggested some changes that might result in raising the minority level in Precinct One to 65 percent.

Some other adjustments were asked by commissioners and County Clerk David Ruland.

Ruland requested that a change be made to place the Hereford Community Center in Precinct Four instead of Precinct Two, as the plan indicated.

The Community Center is a site for a voting box for Precinct Four, noted Ruland. If the block is placed in Precinct Two, a new polling place must be designated in Precinct Four.

The realignment plan also would result in the Precinct Four equipment barn being located within the bounds of Precinct One.

The newest proposal for precinct lines returns the San Jose area to Precinct Two. An earlier plan moved San Jose to Precinct One, drawing concern from residents of the area who attended a public hearing in August.

Precinct lines must be drawn to accommodate the one-man, one-vote federal regulations. Laws also require that minority voting strength must not be diluted in drawing lines and precincts must have an equal number of inhabitants.

Based on the 1990 U.S. Census, each precinct in Deaf Smith County should have 4,788.25 residents. Maximum overall deviation must not be more than 10 percent, by federal law.

The plan proposed by the consultant law firm shows 4,778 persons in Precinct One, 4,790 in Precinct Two, 4,804 in Precinct Three and 4,787 in Precinct Four.

Deviation is only .54 percent for the combined precincts, Bass observed.

At a hearing in August, Mares asked commissioners to consider a proposal that would have provided two precincts with 75 percent and 77 percent minority population, respectively.

Bass said Tuesday that he had "pretty well exhausted the options" in the latest plan proposed to commissioners.

Mares, asked by County Judge Tom Simons for his views on the plan, replied, "The numbers look favorable; I have a few suggestions for adjustments... and I reserve the right to object after I study it."

Changes asked by county officials and Mares will be put into the computer, Bass said, and the result should be ready for the commission to act by the next regular meeting.

"I think it should be on the agenda for Sept. 23," said Simons.

County officials and Bass hope to have the plan ready to send to the U.S. Department of Justice by Oct. 1.

Texas is one of nine states required by federal law to submit plans to the Justice Department for preclearance if voting areas are altered.

With county elections scheduled in 1992, officials throughout the state are pushing to complete the precinct realignments in time for candidate filing.

State law sets filing in December for the early March primary elections.

Ruland, whose job as county clerk involves election responsibilities, voiced satisfaction with the new plan, except for the glitch in the Community Center voting box.

"These are cleaner lines than we've had before," says Ruland.

Commissioners John Stribling, Precinct One; Lupe Chavez, Precinct Two; Troy Don Moore, Precinct Three; Johnny Latham, Precinct Four; and Judge Simons agreed with Ruland's assessment.

Speaker claims support for 6th term

AUSTIN (AP) - House Speaker Gib Lewis says he has enough support to win an unprecedented sixth term if he decides to seek the post again in 1993.

"I believe my responsiveness to the concerns of members is the reason that far more than a majority of House members have expressed to me their support should I choose to run again," Lewis said.

His comment came after Rep. Billy Clemons, D-Pollock, on Tuesday announced his own bid for speaker, calling for reform of a House he says is too easily swayed by special interest lobbyists.

"What we've got is not right. It's not democracy," Clemons told a Capitol news conference.

"The system should be one that caters to the will of the public and not to the will of special interests. The public wants ethics in government. And for some reason, we're not representing what the mainstream of society of Texas wants," he said. Clemons, first elected in 1982, said his beef isn't with Lewis, D-Fort Worth, but with the rules under which the House operates.

He also branded as "unfair" a Travis County district attorney's investigation of Lewis that led to two misdemeanor ethics charges. Lewis has pleaded innocent and a trial is pending.

"I'm a big fan of Gib Lewis ... (But) he doesn't feel like the system's broke, so he's not going to want to fix it," Clemons said.

Lewis said all lawmakers, including himself, sometimes are frustrated by the legislative process.

"That is why I created a committee to thoroughly examine the way the House conducts its business," Lewis said. "The final decision on rules changes must be made by the full House of Representatives - not by just a few but a majority of all the members."

Clemons said two major reforms are needed:

- A secret ballot in elections for speaker, rather than the current open vote on the House floor. Since the speaker appoints committee chairmen and committee members, some lawmakers say the public vote and fear of retaliation by the winner discourages opposition.

"Speaker politics are very dangerous. There's a lot of dissension out here. But nobody wants to get involved because they're afraid of the ramifications themselves - not only as a candidate, but if they support a candidate that wants to change the system," Clemons said.

- Overhauling the controversial House Calendars Committee, which schedules bills for debate by the full House and can, in secret, kill legislation.

"I think bills should not be killed in secret," Clemons said. "We have various points in the legislative process where a lobbyist or special interest group can go to a key place and accomplish certain things by getting to certain people. A lobbyist ought to get 76 votes (a House majority) just like I've got to get" to pass or defeat a bill, he said.

Dozens of news reports have detailed lavish spending by lobbyists to entertain lawmakers. In 1989 alone, an Associated Press study found that lobbyist spending totaled more than $2.25 million.

Clemons said he had taken a lobby-sponsored hunting trip, dined with them and attended "a couple baseball games" with lobbyists.

"Each one of us will tell you that we're not influenced by the entertainment, but we think maybe a lot of the others are. So I guess the safe thing to do is just greatly limit the entertainment," he said.

He said lobbyists also recruit House candidates and make campaign contributions that extend their influence.

Shuttle launch nearing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Discovery's astronauts worked the graveyard shift today in preparation for Thursday's nighttime launch on a mission to put an ozone-studying satellite in orbit.

The countdown proceeded without interruption, with the weather in NASA's favor, too. Chances of good weather at liftoff were put at 80 percent.

Discovery is scheduled to blast off on NASA's 43rd shuttle flight at 6:57 p.m. EDT.

Commander John Creighton and the five-member crew underwent medical exams and flight briefings and undertook equipment checks after waking up Tuesday afternoon. A spin in the shuttle training aircraft also was on the schedule.

The crew is working all night and sleeping much of the day in preparation for the mission, which is arranged around the precisely timed release of the satellite shortly before midnight on the third day of the five-day trip.

Discovery's landing also is scheduled for off-hours - 1:55 a.m. EDT at Kennedy Space Center. It will be the first night landing at Kennedy.

The satellite will spend at least 1 1/2 years studying the ozone layer as well as stratospheric winds, chemical composition and solar energy.

Scientists said data beamed back to Earth will improve their ability to predict - and possibly prevent - the ozone loss blamed on pollution.

"We owe it to future generations to watch this dangerous stuff that we put into the stratosphere," said Joe Waters, a researcher on the project.

Baylor, BGCT agreement heals rift

DALLAS - Baylor University and Texas Baptists have moved to bridge a nearly year-long rift, caused when the Waco school shocked religious leaders with a strategy designed to prevent a fundamentalist takeover.

In a 110-36 vote Tuesday, the executive board for the Baptist General Convention of Texas on Tuesday approved an agreement developed by a joint committee comprised of school officials and convention members.

Under the proposal, the BGCT would elect one-fourth of Baylor's board of regents and the university would elect the remainder of the 24-member board. This puts an end to more than 100 years of the BGCT electing all of Baylor's regents.

The agreement also stipulates that in its selection of regents "the university will be receptive to suggestions from Texas Baptists and will give due and careful consideration to the suggestions of the BGCT."

"We felt this was a compromise in fairness ... no victory, no defeat," said convention executive director William M. Pinson.

The proposal, similar to an earlier plan proposed by Baylor, would end the strife that has marked the BGCT's relationship with the school since last Sept. 21, when regents acted to distance themselves from the convention. At that time, the regents amended the university charter, citing a need for independence in case of a fundamentalist takeover of the BGCT.

In response, the BGCT froze some $6 million in funds designated for the university.

The board also moved Tuesday to free this year's funds earmarked for Baylor.

Michael E. Bishop, Baylor vice president of communications, said the BGCT released $1.4 million for 1990 and is expected to give the school $4 million for 1991, which is two-thirds the previously budgeted amount. He Life!

Program promotes good parenting

Hereford Independent School District is offering a training program that teaches and guides adults toward better parenting with the end result being better children. The program is called New Focus.

The class is limited to 30 adults who must be completely committed to the program, said Cindy Simons. Adult training is Sept. 19-21. Positive peer leadership training for students in the 7th through 12th grade will be held Sept. 21 from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the Community Center. Sixty students are needed to complete this class.

The class is help young people make responsible decisions, interact successfully with friends and family and helps adults help children by successfully taking control of their lives.

There is no cost or the program that is being funded through the drug free schools and community grant.

The New Focus campus program provides training to assist your faculty in dealing with the pressures an decisions that young people face.

New focus is a process of motivating people toward "internal management" which activates: love, acceptance, concern, interest and respect or others and love, respect and high esteem for themselves.

Internal management generates self control and accountability which motivates people to take responsibility their lives. Internally managed people make positive, healthy decisions. They are in control of their lives and can handle the changes and problems that occur in life.

Externally controlled people are at higher risk of making negative, unhealthy decisions in such critical areas as chemical use, sexual behaviors, suicide, dropping out, eating disorders, running away, occult activities, negative conduct and school performance.

Externally controlled people allow environmental forces, situations and other people to override any internal control they possess.

New Focus trains adults, not only to identify high risk externally controlled youth, but also how to move them toward internal management.

During the intense 14 hour adult workshop participants are trained in to influence young people toward "internal management." Topics include, classroom management, parenting skills, relationship skills, eating disorders, physical and sexual abuse, sexual conduct, depression, dropping out, violence, cut activity and suicide.

Other important adolescent issues addressed are chemical use patterns among young people, pharmacology, co-dependency and enabling, family dynamics, intervention, prevention assessment and recovery.

Spikers get past Sandies in home debut

Kill!

Hereford's Brek Binder goes up for a kill during the Lady Whitefaces' 15-10, 15-13 win over Amarillo High Tuesday at Whiteface Gym.

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces are perfect at home after edging Amarillo High 15-10, 15-13 Tuesday in Whiteface Gym. They won their first home game of 1991 to bump their season record to 12-1.

Shantel Cornelius came alive with the score tied at 12 in the second game. She had two kills and a stuff to account for the Herd's last three points, and she also had a kill for a sideout in that stretch.

The Herd led for most of the first game, but the second game was tight until the very end. The Sandies jumped out to a 5-1 lead, but Hereford came back to lead 6-5, and it was a see-saw battle after that.

Shantel was highly visible--especially at the end of the second game when she had three of her total of seven kills--but Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said one of the keys to the win was getting the ball to the other hitters.

"Something that helped us is putting the ball out to the outside hitters," Reeh said. "Our outsiders hit the ball hard; they hit it intelligently. That kept the (Amarillo) middle blockers moving all over the court."

Brek Binder contributed seven kills to the cause, and Jennifer Hicks and Lori Sanders each had three. They also had a large amount of successful attacks (attacks which keep the ball in play). The Sandies were able to dig many of Hereford's attacks.

"Their defense was tough," Reeh said. "It's good for us to play against that, to see if we can handle the frustration."

The Lady Whitefaces were able to move the ball around because of good service receiving and passing, Reeh said.

"We passed the ball to our setter well--probably as well as we have all season," Reeh said, singling out Teresa Baker and Kyanne Lindley.

Kara Sandoval led the team with seven service points.

The Lady Whitefaces' next game is Saturday in Lubbock, where they'll face Lubbock High at 2 p.m.

Before the start of the varsity game, the junior varsity lost a close match to the Sandies 11-15, 15-7, 15-11.

Hereford came from behind in the first game. Amarillo led 13-11 when Jennie Barrientez reeled off four service points for the win. In the second game, Hereford was down 13-3 at one point. They clawed their way up to seven points, but a hard kill and a stuff by Amarillo ended it quickly.

The third game was stuck at 12-9 Amarillo for some time, as several exciting volleys resulted in sideouts instead of points. Hereford scored first when Michelle Brock made a diving save of a ball that went off Hereford's block. Unfortunately, Hereford only got one more point before Amarillo rattled off three straight for the victory.

Netters bow to Canyon

The Hereford High School tennis team fell 11-7 to state 3A champion Canyon Tuesday in Canyon. It was the Whitefaces' first official outing of 1991.

The Hereford girls dominated, winning six of nine matches, but the boys faltered with only one win.

Winners for the Herd were Robyn Sublett over Erin Metcalf 6-4, 7-5; Emily Fuston over Tiffany Lindsey 6-4, 6-3; Michelle Berend over Deana Brake 6-4, 6-4; Sherry Fuston over Amanda Evans 6-4, 6-3; and Jennifer LeGate over Jill Hamrick 6-3, 6-1.

LeGate and Berend combined for a doubles win over Evans and Pearcy 7-5, 6-1.

Hereford's Bri Reinauer lost to Tara Van Doren in one of the afternoon's few three-set matches. She won the first set in a tiebreaker 6-7 (7-4), but followed that up with 2-6 losses in the next two sets.

Two of Hereford's girls doubles teams also lost. Fuston and Fuston fell 3-6, 6-1, 6-2 to Metcalf and Lindsey, and Sublett and Weishaar lost to Brake and Van Doren 6-4, 6-3.

The Hereford girls also won three matches that didn't count in the score. In singles, Brooke Weishaar beat Melissa Lair 6-4, 6-2 and Gabriela Gomez beat Camille Nall 6-4, 6-1. In doubles, Gomez and Reinauer beat Sara Park and Sara Schott 6-2, 6-1.

As for the boys, out of six singles and three doubles matches, only Jamie Kapka won for the Herd. He fell behind Canyon's Preetesh Patel, losing the first set 3-6, but he came back and won the next two 6-3, 6-4.

All the other Hereford boys were losers: Satyen Patel def. Torey Sellers 6-2, 6-0; Lane Canon def. Donnie Perales 6-1, 6-4; Markley Wilhite def. Chris Lyles 6-2, 6-3; Steve Trevino def. Jarri Edwards 6-1, 6-3; Brigham Rindlesbacher def. Mario Martinez 6-1, 6-2; and in doubles, Satyen Patel and Joe Browder def. Sellers/Kapka 6-3, 7-5; Preetesh Patel/Canon def. Perales/Lyles 6-2, 6-4; and Lee Hay/Trevino def. Edwards/Martinez 6-1, 6-2.

Brown paces HJH

Hereford Junior High's Maroon "A" football team rode the rushing of Marquise Brown to a 28-0 victory over Plainview Blue Tuesday in Hereford. It was the first junior high game of the season.

Brown scored three times in the first half, and Coach Rodney Allen estimated that Brown totaled 145-150 yards. Brown's touchdowns were of 13 yards in the first quarter and eight and three yards in the second. He ran for a two-point conversion on the first one, while Tanner Murphey threw to Todd Radford for the extra points on the third touchdown.

Joe Rickenbaw finished the Herd's scoring with a 21-yard run in the third quarter. The try for extra point failed. "I thought they did really well for the first game," Allen said. "We've got some things to work on, but they did well for the first game."

Two junior high games will be played in Hereford Thursday as the eighth grade maroon "B" team and the seventh grade maroon "B" team host Friona teams. The seventh grade game starts at 5 p.m. and the eighth grade starts at 6:30.

Several high school games are on tap Thursday. The ninth grade maroon hosts Plainview at 5, and three other teams play out of town: the ninth grade white team goes to Plainview for a 5 p.m. game; the sophomore team plays Friona's JV there at 7; and the junior varsity plays Vega there at 8.

Soviets sweep through gymnastics' world meet

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The Soviet Union may be crumbling, but its men's gymnastics team is uncrackable.

The Soviet men staged a rout at the World Championships, sweeping the top four individual spots in the optional team finals Tuesday to win their fourth straight team gold medal. It was their eighth gold since they started competing in the World Championships in 1954. The Soviets have never finished lower than second place.

Last month's failed coup, in which Soviet president Mikhail Gorbachev was held against his will and tanks rumbled through Moscow's streets, didn't affect the gymnasts' single-minded determination to win.

"It's better to concentrate on your own business and concentrate on what you have to do," 26-year-old Valeri Liukin said.

They trained throughout the three-day coup at a site in Moscow's suburbs. Most of their information came from television, when they paid attention at all.

"It doesn't affect my training," said Liukin, a member of the 1988 Soviet Olympic team and a veteran of two World Championship teams. Liukin, along with teammates Vitaly Scherbo and Grigori Misutin, qualified for Thursday's all-around finals.

Scherbo, who has a history of big performances in international competition, was the Soviets' top scorer with 117.175 points. Their lineup was so tough that defending world champion Igor Korobchinski failed to qualify for the all-around with a fourth-place finish.

The Soviets scored 584.425 points, easily outdistancing China at 577.050 and a united Germany, competing under one flag for the first time since 1954, at 576.125.

Tyson surrenders to rape charges

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Mike Tyson arranged to surrender today on charges he raped a Miss Black America contestant. Nevada's chief athletic commissioner said the boxer's title bout in November should go on.

Tyson was to enter a plea today in Superior Court after being fingerprinted and booked at the Marion County Jail and posting $30,000 bail. The case is not expected to go to trial until early next year.

Prosecutor Jeffrey Modest said, "This will be handled like any other booking."

The 25-year-old former heavyweight champion could get up to 63 years in prison if convicted of rape, deviate conduct and confinement for the alleged assault July 19 on an 18-year-old beauty pageant in his hotel room.

Prosecutors said Tyson forced himself on her after she rejected his advances. He has claimed she consented. Tyson was in Indianapolis at the time to make promotional appearances for the Indiana Black Expo and the pageant.

The charge is the most serious in a string of allegations over the years that the boxer mistreats women. "I've never done anything to hurt any woman," Tyson told the New York Post.

He is scheduled to challenge heavyweight champion Evander Holyfield on Nov. 8 in Las Vegas. Tyson is guaranteed $15 million for the fight.

Luther Mack, vice chairman of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, said on Monday the panel would take up the issue of Tyson's boxing license, which can be revoked for an arrest involving "moral turpitude." However, on Tuesday, Mack said he now agrees with chairman James Nave that Tyson's license is not in jeopardy.

Chuck Minker, executive director of the commission, said Nave "believes you are innocent until proven guilty. You don't lose your rights until convicted."

The World Boxing Council said Tuesday it is "ratifying" the fight.

"As regards the charges against Mike Tyson, the WBC considers him innocent until he is shown to be otherwise. The WBC has full confidence in the U.S. system of justice and also in Mike Tyson's innocence," the WBC said in a statement.

Tyson, who had a criminal record as a juvenile, has been accused of assaulting several people outside the ring since 1987, when he became champion. He paid $105,000 that year in the settlement of an assault case.

His ex-wife, actress Robin Givens, accused Tyson of terrorizing her. They divorced in 1989. Last year, a New York jury ruled in favor of a woman who claimed Tyson grabbed her breasts and behind at a disco. She was awarded $100.

Last month, Rosie Jones, Miss Black America 1990, sued Tyson for $100 million, claiming he fondled her buttocks during the 1991 pageant.

And the pageant's owner filed a $21 million lawsuit against Tyson, claiming he is a "serial buttocks fondler" who molested 10 of 23 contestants at the 1991 pageant and made "lewd, perverted remarks" to two others.

Lasorda's move blows up

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers were looking ahead. Instead, they fell behind.

Manager Tom Lasorda, planning for a big weekend series in Atlanta, moved up Ramon Martinez in the rotation to pitch in Cincinnati on Tuesday night. It didn't work, as the Reds roughed the Los Angeles ace and won 6-0.

The loss dropped the Dodgers into second place in the NL West, one-half game in back of the Braves, who beat San Francisco 4-1.

Martinez worked on three days' rest for the first time this season. The move will enable him to pitch this weekend in Atlanta, but it backfired for now.

"It wasn't his stuff, it was his control. His control put him in a hole, and they got a couple of hits that hurt him. They weren't hit very good, either," Lasorda said.

Martinez (16-10) lasted only 3 2/3 innings. He gave up five hits, including Mariano Duncan's solo homer and two-run doubles by Chris Sabo and Billy Hatcher, and walked three.

"I felt very good," Martinez said. "I don't know what the problem was. I had control (troubles) a little bit."

Jose Rijo (13-4) shut down the Dodgers on two hits for six innings. He won his fifth straight start and improved to 8-0 in 13 games at Riverfront Stadium this season.

Rijo struck out two and walked three. He left with a 6-0 lead after a brief talk with manager Lou Piniella.

"I told Lou, 'I'm feeling too good, get me out of there. I'm afraid.' I wanted out of there before something happened," Rijo said.

Braves 4, Giants 1

Steve Avery shut down visiting San Francisco before needing last-out relief help and also got his first major league RBI as Atlanta won its fifth straight.

Avery (15-8) gave up three hits in 8 2/3 innings and left with two runners on base. Alejandro Pena retired Kevin Mitchell on a grounder back to the mound for his seventh save.

The victory was Avery's first in four career decisions against San Francisco. He was 0-2 with a 12.79 ERA this year.

Avery went 3-for-4. His single in the eighth inning gave him his first RBI in 92 lifetime at-bats.

Terry Pendleton hit his 19th home run as the Braves handed John Burkett (9-10) his fifth consecutive defeat. The Giants have lost eight of nine.

Mets 9, Expos 0

Pete Schourek pitched a one-hitter, allowing only Kenny Williams' single with two outs in the fifth inning, as New York stopped a five-game losing streak.

Schourek (3-3), making his fourth major league start, set down the first 14 batters before Williams singled. He struck out seven and walked two.

Howard Johnson and Mackey Sasser each hit three-run homers as the host Mets snapped Montreal's five-game winning streak. Johnson connected off Mark Gardner (8-10) for his league-leading 33rd homer. Padres 7, Astros 6

Tim Teufel hit a three-run homer, Benito Santiago had a two-run single and Fred McGriff added his 27th home run as San Diego won its seventh straight game, its longest winning streak since 1987.

Dennis Rasmussen (6-11) was the winner and Craig Lefferts pitched the ninth for his 21st save.

Teufel hit his 11th homer in the second inning and Santiago singled in the third off Chris Gardner, who lost his major league debut. Santiago hit a run-scoring double for his third RBI.

The crowd of 4,353 was the smallest of the season at the Astrodome.

Cubs 6, Pirates 2

Ryne Sandberg hit a two-run homer and Jerome Walton also connected for Chicago at Wrigley Field.

Rick Sutcliffe (5-4), given a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Sandberg's 24th home run, lasted into the eighth inning. He gave up six hits and struck out four. Bob Scanlan pitched 1 1/3 innings for his first save.

Randy Tomlin (8-5) got tagged for four runs on eight hits in four innings. Andre Dawson and George Bell hit RBI singles in the third inning, and Walton hit his fifth home run in the eighth.

Phillies 5, Cardinals 2

Tommy Greene pitched eight strong innings and hit an RBI double as Philadelphia sent St. Louis to its sixth straight loss.

Greene (10-7) took a four-hitter a 5-1 lead into the ninth, but left after a pair of singles. Mitch Williams closed for his 26th save.

Charlie Hayes, who had three hits, Steve Lake and Greene each doubled in the second inning for a 2-0 lead against Rheal Cormier (2-3). The Phillies had lost five in a row at Busch Stadium.

Bronchos from Hereford

Two members of the football team at the University of Central Oklahoma are from Hereford: Patrick Mercer (left) and Keith Brown. Mercer, a sophomore, will vie for playing time at split end, while Brown, also a sophomore, will see action at fullback. Brown had only one carry last season, but he caught 15 passes for 186 yards and one touchdown. His 32-yard TD catch was the only UCO score through the air in 1990.

Clemens leads Sox back into race

By The Associated Press

Roger Clemens and his Red Sox seem to be heating up at just the right time. Clemens pitched a two-hitter as Boston beat Detroit 4-0 Tuesday night at Tiger Stadium to move within four games of first-place Toronto in the AL East. The Red Sox have won seven straight and have gone 28-12 since the All-Star break.

The Blue Jays finish the season against the West, and started Tuesday night by losing 5-4 to Seattle at the SkyDome.

"I look at this as a snowball effect," Boston's Jody Reed said. "We've got something going and Roger kept the snowball rolling tonight."

The Red Sox used a similar strategy last season, winning 10 straight in September to edge the Blue Jays.

Clemens lost a perfect game and no-hitter in the seventh inning with one out when Lou Whitaker walked and Alan Trammell grounded a clean single to left field.

"You can't be disappointed at that time," Clemens said. "I mean, you look up and there's Cecil Fielder standing there. One swing and he could have made it a one-run ballgame."

Clemens was consistently throwing 92-94 mph fastballs. He struck out six to surpass the 200 mark for the sixth consecutive season.

"In my two years here, this is the hardest I've ever seen Roger throw," catcher Tony Pena said. "I knew for certain he was going to get the perfect game. I still can't believe he didn't."

Ellis Burks hit a three-run double in the first inning off Frank Tanana (11-10) for all the support Clemens would need.

"He threw really hard tonight but he wasn't trying to strike people out," Detroit manager Sparky Anderson said. "He threw mostly fastballs and sliders and just a couple of forkballs. With a fastball like that, that's how he should pitch."

Twins 7, Royals 2

Pedro Munoz hit a two-run homer and Allan Anderson and four relievers combined on an eight-hitter as Minnesota rolled past Kansas City at Royals Stadium for its fifth straight victory.

Anderson (5-8) stopped the Royals on three hits over five innings in a game delayed 43 minutes in the fourth inning by rain. Mark Guthrie, Terry Leach, Steve Bedrosian and Rick Aguilera finished. Aguilera escaped a bases-loaded jam in the ninth for his 39th save.

Orioles 6, Yankees 3

Mike Devereaux and Cal Ripken hit consecutive home runs in the third inning off loser Eric Plunk (2-4) as Baltimore beat New York, sending the visiting Yankees to their fifth straight loss.

Bill Ripken drove in two runs for the Orioles, who won a second straight game for the first time since Aug. 23. Todd Frohwirth (6-3) got the victory with 4 2/3 innings of two-hit relief.

Indians 5, Brewers 2

Doug Jones, Cleveland's longtime relief ace, won his first major-league start and Reggie Jefferson hit his first grand slam as the Indians beat Milwaukee at County Stadium.

Jones (2-7), whose contract was purchased last week from Cleveland's Triple A affiliate in Colorado Springs, gave up two runs and eight hits over 8 2/3 innings. It was his first start in 272 major-league appearances since 1982.

Bill Wegman (11-7) took the loss.

Mariners 5, Blue Jays 4

Harold Reynolds participated in a triple play in the fifth inning, hit a two-run homer and snapped an eighth-inning tie with an RBI double as Seattle beat Toronto, snapping a 13-game road losing streak.

Omar Vizquel started the Seattle eighth with a leadoff double off Todd Stottlemyre (13-7) and David Valle's fly ball to right sent Vizquel to third. Reliever Mike Timlin struck out Jeff Schaefer before Reynolds sent a roller past second baseman Roberto Alomar to score Vizquel.

Brian Holman improved to 13-13.

Rangers 6, Angels 1

Julio Franco, hitting .341, regained the AL batting lead from Wade Boggs with three hits and Jose Guzman pitched eight strong innings as Texas beat California at Anaheim to spoil the major-league debut of pitcher Kyle Abbott.

Rafael Palmiero had three RBIs with a two-run homer, his 23rd and a RBI single and Ruben Sierra added a two-run homer, his 22nd, as the Rangers ended the Angels' four-game winning streak.

White Sox 3, Athletics 1

Pinch-hitter Warren Newson hit a two-out, two-run double in the eighth inning off Dennis Eckersley to rally visiting Chicago past Oakland.

The blown save was Eckersley's eighth in 47 opportunities and pinned the loss on Rick Honeycutt (2-4), who came in after starter Mike Moore surrendered a leadoff single to Tim Lincecum. Eckersley was trying to become the first reliever ever to record 40 saves in three different seasons.

Melido Perez (7-4), the third White Sox pitcher, worked two innings for the victory, fanning five. Bobby Thigpen got the last out for his 29th save.

Talks break down in Navratilova case

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Martina Navratilova and her longtime companion tentatively reached agreement over the financial aspect of an out-of-court settlement that would end the palimony suit against the tennis star, a publicist says.

But the talks broke down over non-financial matters in the settlement, Navratilova publicist Linda Dozoretz said Tuesday night. The two began talk of a settlement Tuesday, in the second day of a hearing over whether Nelson's attorney should be disqualified from the case.

Dozoretz, who said Nelson made the offer, added she was "optimistic" both sides would come to terms.

Nelson contends Navratilova reneged on a 1986 non-marital cohabitation agreement in which Nelson was to get half of the estimated $5 million to $9 million earned during their seven-year relationship.

An unnamed source close to the case told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that following the couple's break-up in February, Navratilova offered to settle for approximately $1 million. The nine-time Wimbledon champion said in a televised interview with Barbara Walters that Nelson's side refused to begin talking for less than $2 million.

Dozoretz said Nelson had substantially reduced her economic expectations but the stumbling block was Nelson's refusal to acknowledge that the cohabitation agreement was invalid.

Nelson said both sides have compromised in trying to reach a settlement.

"Neither of us ever wanted this to happen. It has, and we're in it, and I think that we would both like to see the pain and the suffering stop so that we can both recover from it and get on with our lives," she said.

Nelson said the lawsuit is about more than the millions of dollars she could win in a judgment.

"It's about Martina honoring a contract, an agreement that she did honestly and that we both wanted," said Nelson, a former beauty queen. "I really don't want to look at the dollars and cents of it. I mean it goes beyond that."

Earlier Tuesday, the two women returned to a state district courtroom for the second day of a preliminary hearing. State District Judge Harry Hopkins was to rule whether Nelson's attorney, Jerry Loftin of Fort Worth, should be disqualified from the case.

Navratilova's attorneys are trying to have Loftin removed, saying he has unfair knowledge of Navratilova's financial status due to previous work for her.

"I would like to have settled this before it ever began," said Nelson, 45, of Fort Worth.

Constitution Week proclaimed

Mayor Tom LeGate has signed a proclamation marking Sept. 17-23 as Constitution Week in Hereford. Looking on are Nell Norvell, chairman of Constitution Week, and Charlotte Clark, regent of the Los Ciboleros Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Tuesday is the 204th anniversary of the drafting of the constitution by the Constitutional Convention.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother died last week. I'm writing this letter because she asked me to. Mom was 77. She had emphysema and said "no" to the respirator which might have bought her a little more time. She opted instead to die with dignity at home, in her own bed, surrounded by her loving children and grandchildren. Letting her do it her way was the 1st gift we could give her.

Coming home from the hospital, Mom asked me to write a letter to Ann Landers. Yes, Ann, YOU. She thought of you in her final hours. She told me to tell you that she would miss you and that she wanted to express her appreciation for what you added to her life. Mom said you had given her a real education in psychology and philosophy. You taught her a lot about different cultures, customs, religions and lifestyles. You helped her raise four kids and got her through the '60s, '70s, '80s and into the '90s with your terrific sense of humor. You also helped her deal with and accept all the tough stuff that life handed her.

Mom wanted to thank you for not being too rigid in your thinking. She said, "If Ann can change her thinking on divorce and homosexuality, I guess I can, too." Mom showed understanding and compassion when both those problems hit close to home and she credited you with helping her handle them.

Mom considered you her friend and she wanted to tell you so. This letter is long, but please print it anyway. You deserve all the compliments she gave you. And thanks from the rest of us for helping so many others. I'm signing this--Rosemarie's Family, Antoinette Troya, Hayward, Calif.

DEAR ANTONINETTE: I don't know when I've received a letter that touched me as much as yours. Bless you for letting me know I meant so much to Rosemarie. She must have been quite a woman. My heartfelt condolences to you all.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was disappointed with your response to the young foreign student who wrote you for help about a stuttering problem.

There is absolutely no evidence that stuttering is caused by "an unresolved emotional problem." There is every reason to believe that stuttering is caused primarily by underlying genetic and neurological factors. It is a chronic problem when taken into adulthood. To tell people that they should be able to overcome the problem is doing them a grave disservice.

Please refer children and adults who stutter to the National Stuttering Project. We have informative brochures, 70 support groups nationwide, a great monthly newsletter, and 3,700 members waiting to befriend all who have this frustrating, misunderstood and often tragic disorder.

On two previous occasions you have referred your readers to us. We hope you will do so again.--John Ahlbach, executive director, national Stuttering Project.

DEAR JOHN AHLBACH: Sorry I dropped the ball on the third bounce. Here is your letter. The address is National Stuttering Project, 4601 Irving St., San Francisco, Calif. 94122-1020. Be sure to send a self-addressed, stamped (75 cents) envelope. And do write, folks, their material is superb.

P.S. John, I hope you get a ton of mail!

Gem of the Day: Hate is like acid. It damages the vessel in which it is stored as well as the object on which it is poured.

An alcohol problem? How can you help yourself or someone you love? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" will give you the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Alcohol, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Accent on Health

The re-emergence this year of cholera as a major public health threat in Central and South America has underscored the dangers still posed by the disease wherever poor sanitation allows its spread.

The first major cholera epidemics to strike the Western Hemisphere in nearly a century began in Peru in January and quickly spread to neighboring countries and northward through Central America. As many as 270,000 cases, including some 3,000 deaths were recorded by late July.

In Mexico, about 400 cases have been counted, some of which were reported in the state of Veracruz, just 220 miles south of the Texas border.

In Texas, health officials expect some cases of cholera, chiefly among travelers returning from countries where the disease is widespread.

However, according to Dennis M. Perrotta, Ph. D., at the Texas Department of Health (TDH), Texans should not expect rampant cholera infections on the scale now being reported in less developed countries. Perrotta is director of the TDH Epidemiology division.

"Because of the high sanitary standards for drinking water and sewage disposal in Texas, it is unlikely that cholera will be widespread in this state," Perrotta said.

"However," Perrotta warned, "there are conditions in some Texas locations which could promote limited spread of the disease. Areas without safe drinking water or with unsanitary sewage disposal are at high risk. Such areas include the border colonies of South and West Texas."

Perrotta said that state and local health officials meeting in El Paso, Aug. 28-30, will review the latest methods for diagnosis, treatment and control of cholera.

Cholera is a sometimes deadly illness caused by the bacterium Vibrio cholera 01. The bacterium thrives in contaminated drinking water, or any water which contains sewage.

Other sources of cholera can be uncooked or mishandled shellfish, or food or drinks handled by infected persons. Since only one in four cholera-infected people will show signs of illness, the disease may be spread by people who appear healthy.

Cholera's main symptom is acute diarrhea, which can lead to lethal dehydration if the patient's natural fluids are not quickly replaced. Early diagnosis is vital since even with prompt hospital treatment, about one percent of victims do not survive the disease.

"There are no restrictions on travel to countries where cholera has spread. However," Perrotta warned, "travelers to affected areas should, as always, pay careful attention to food and alter sources. Such people should avoid untreated or unboiled water--including ice."

Travelers also should not consume raw or partially cooked shellfish or uncooked vegetables and should not bring perishable foods back into the U.S.

"Anyone suffering severe, watery diarrhea should always seek a physician's advice, and food handlers with diarrhea should not process or serve food," Perrotta said. He added that doctors and hospitals are alerted to the cholera threat and have been reminded to report suspected cholera cases to their local health authorities.

Neiman's unveils new catalog

DALLAS (AP) - There's something for just about every budget in the Neiman Marcus Christmas catalog, with gifts ranging from $10 to $200,000.

"We have always strived over the years to find things that are reasonably priced, so that we offer merchandise at every price level. But we've built our reputation on offering the rare, the whimsical, the unusual," said Martha Richardson, spokeswoman for the Dallas-based chain.

Among the unusual offerings are his-and-hers Hummers, like the one recently acquired by box-office star Arnold Schwarzenegger. Neiman's offers civilian versions of the military all-terrain vehicles for $50,000.

Ms. Richardson said the Hummer - the all-terrain vehicle used during the Persian Gulf War - is not only unusual, but also practical.

"Our big push for this year's Hummer was that it was a unique form of transportation," she said Tuesday. "Of course, Operation Desert Storm got everyone to begin thinking about its utility."

But, unlike the camouflaged vehicle used in the war, the Neiman-Marcus version will be available with a squared instead of military back and is offered in white, red or sand. It will be sold only through year's end.

Equipped with air conditioning and stereos, 100 such Hummers will be available in the limited edition.

The four-wheel-drive vehicle is powered by a 150-horsepower diesel engine that can climb a 60-degree grade. It's 15 feet long, with a 16-inch clearance, weighs 2.5 tons and can carry 2,500 pounds. It reaches a top speed of 65 mph.

None of the company's Hummers are yet spoken for, although Ms. Richardson said many of the 2.8 million catalogs mailed worldwide have not yet been received by customers.

Transportation is a recurring theme for annual his-and-hers presents by the company that has marketed hot air balloons, submarines, airplanes - even camels - since the first such gift in 1960.

For $6,500, customers can explore the jungles of Kenya on a two-week photo safari, which also includes a down-river party from the Tana Delta to the Indian Ocean aboard a replica of the African Queen.

The least expensive gift in the catalog is a $10 Christmas platter that Ms. Richardson said is also one of the store's most popular.

The most expensive present? A selection of Thailand sapphires, from which can be built a matched suite of jewelry, would run $200,000, she said.

Soviets pull Cuba troops

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev said today that he was ready to remove a brigade of troops from Cuba, the hard-line Communist holdout in the Western Hemisphere.

At a joint news conference with Secretary of State James A. Baker III, Gorbachev said "we will soon begin discussions with the Cuban leadership about the withdrawal of a Soviet training brigade."

It was not immediately clear how many troops were in a brigade.

Washington has been pressuring Moscow to reduce its economic and military aid to the government of Fidel Castro.

Gorbachev said he told Baker that the Soviet Union intended to convert its relations with Cuba to solely political and economic ties.

"We will remove other elements from that relationship," Gorbachev said.

Baker responded that the U.S. decision to remove troops from the island 90 miles off the U.S. coast "will be very important in terms of public opinion in the United States."

Baker said that he and Gorbachev also "spent quite a bit of time talking about the importance of quickly developing a credible economic reform program for presentation to international financial agencies."

The United States and other countries have withheld aid to Moscow pending more reform.

Soviet Foreign Minister Boris D. Pankin said last Thursday that it was time again to re-examine Soviet ties with Cuba and certain other countries following last month's abortive Kremlin coup.

A day later, Gorbachev and Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin, who has taken on a strong role in the new decentralized Soviet government, both agreed on reassessing ties with Cuba when they were interviewed together on U.S. television.

Gorbachev, however, also indicated he would like to maintain a strong relationship with Cuba.

Castro, in power since his revolution in 1959, has vowed to maintain his hard-line communist policies at any cost, while warning his people that times may very well get worse.

Virtually everything available to Cubans is rationed - ranging from food to paper to shoes - and long lines for scarce items are a common site in Havana.

On Monday, the Cuban government voted to begin tobacco rationing. Havana has said it will start rationing cooking gas Sunday.

Most national flags use one or more of only seven basic colors—red, white, blue, green, yellow, black and orange.

It takes more than blind luck to pin down the right home

Sure, you could go on stumbling through the housing market. Running into dead ends and getting cornered with too little information.

Or you could nail down that new home the easy way. By consulting an experienced real estate agent.

An agent can point out options you may have missed. Get you inside interesting homes that you may never have seen otherwise. Even do a lot of the groundwork, so you don't have to.

Like researching financing packages. Checking through the multiple-listing service for homes that fit your needs -- and your pocketbook. Negotiating with the seller. And arranging for inspections. He or she will even be there at closing.

So instead of forging ahead without knowing what's out there, get some help from an expert. A real estate agent.

Inside The Hereford Brand, you'll find both qualified agents and valuable information about home buying. Everyday, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And The Brand's Sunday Housing section examines the latest market trends and housing opportunities.

With the right guide, hitting your mark can be child's play.

Bill Hames Carnival featured during fair

The Amarillo Tri State Fair, scheduled for Sept. 16-21, will again feature the Bill Hames Carnival during its six-day run.

The Hames Show has been playing the fair here since 1941 and always brings a complete line of kiddie rides and some twenty super rides, including the new Giant Gondola wheel that was introduced to fairgoers here last year. The carnival will open at 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 12 noon on Saturday. Ride specials at the carnival will be offered on Tuesday, Sept. 17 and on Thursday, Sept. 19. In cooperation with Whataburger and Z-93 Radio, all rides will be 50 cents on each Tuesday with a proper coupon from Whataburger Restaurants.

Thursday, Coca-Cola of Amarillo will sponsor unlimited rides from 4 p.m. until closing with six Coke product cans and $8.

You don't want to miss the many exciting rides, game and other shows at the Bill Hames Carnival at the 1991 Tri State Fair.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I think I have a unique problem, and it has been with me all my life. I am in my early 60s and have severe sweating when I become embarrassed, nervous or know I have to be around a lot of people. It seems once I start, the sweat pours off me and I think people are staring at me or making fun of me for this.

Atropine sulphate was prescribed to control this excessive sweating, but is no longer available. Can you tell me what I can do to overcome this? It is devastating me.

DEAR READER: Atropine sulfate is still around. You may recall that our military personnel were issued injections to use in case of a nerve gas attack. That was atropine sulfate. But in medical situations that require atropine-like actions other oral medications are usually prescribed, such as Pro-Banthine (propantheline bromide) and Prantal (diphenamil). They are helpful in some people who have excessive sweating.

Sweating associated with anxiety, which your story suggests, is often helped with one of the beta-blockers used in treating high blood pressure and heart pain. These include Inderal, Tenormin and Blocadren. They neutralize adrenaline. The sweating from anxiety is usually an adrenaline reaction.

The center for emotions in the brain is very near the center for temperature control, and emotions can cause sweating.

For other information on what you might do to control excess sweating, read Special Report 99, About Sweating and Body Odor. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/99, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have often wondered about the use of "dry" type underarm deodorants. I'm concerned about stopping the flow of perspiration. I assume that perspiring is not just for cooling the body, but also for eliminating waste and toxic chemicals. If you block perspiration in one place, won't it come out some other place? I have known several young people whose palms sweat profusely. They have used this type of deodorant exclusively. Is it possible that blocking the normal routes of perspiring all their lives caused their bodies to compensate for the blockage by overdeveloping other routes to the hands?

DEAR READER: It is true that other sweat glands will increase their sweat production, if you block one set of glands, but the change is usually not noticeable. Many deodorants do block sweat glands. It is the local action of aluminum in the preparations. But that is not the usual cause for excessive sweating of the palms. Sweat is not normally an important route for eliminating waste products and is usually related to controlling body temperature.

Well, you aren't the only one who is confused. We get this question all the time.

Our local county extension agent explained the difference among flours.

- Regular flour, also known as all-purpose flour, is a blend of soft and hard wheats.
- Cake flour is a blend of soft wheats

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: When a recipe calls for cake flour, what exactly is that? Is it a special flour or is it just regular flour with baking powder added? — A.M.K., Billings, Mont.

Well, you aren't the only one who is confused. We get this question all the time.

Our local county extension agent explained the difference among flours.

- Regular flour, also known as all-purpose flour, is a blend of soft and hard wheats.
- Cake flour is a blend of soft wheats and has a lighter texture. It can be used in the place of regular flour in a recipe.

• Self-rising flour has baking powder and salt added to it and for this reason cannot be used in recipes in place of regular or cake flour and vice versa. — Heloise

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

What they're saying about "The Roads of Texas"

"When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS... you'll wonder how you ever travelled the state without it."
Texas Highways Magazine
October, 1988

"For details of Texas terrain, oil company maps and the State's Official Highway Map can't match THE ROADS OF TEXAS."
