New name proposed for Deaf Smith General Hospital Hospital to borrow $900,000 for projects

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Directors of Deaf Smith County Hospital District approved an alternate financing plan for hospital renovations and expansion and discussed a name change for the facility during a regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The hospital board approved a motion to borrow $900,000 on a contractual obligation issue and use the funds on the renovations. The 10-year term on the issue will increase the hospital's debt service from about $170,000 a year to approximately $267,000.

Renovations in the project are estimated at $659,500; the new building will cost an estimated $663,600, and personal property acquisitions are pegged at $350,000 for a total cost of $1.7 million.

"We're banking on generating new revenues with this project and with the addition of new physicians," said

Ron Rives, chief executive officer. Two new doctors will start practices soon and three more are contracted to come over the next few years.

The marketing committee has been studying a name change for the hospital, to better reflect the services and the area served. The committee has recommended the name Hereford Regional Medical Center. The board will study the options and formally approve a name at the next meeting.

In other business Tuesday night, the board approved a transfer of endowment funds to the newly-organized Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation, heard a report on the upcoming survey by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), approved a motion to set up a hospital ethics committee, approved operations and financial reports, and heard several progress reports from the administrator.

The importance of drawing primary care patients to the hospital was emphasized by Rives during the operations report. Total inpatient days for adults and children were 3,473 for the year-to-date, compared to 2,634 a year ago.

The increase of 839 patient days, said Rives, means another $1.6 million in gross revenue for the hospital. This is based on statistical records which reflect an average of about $2,000 a day for inpatient care. This does not include newborns, swing bed and observation patients.

The professional performance sheet showed gains in almost all services and procedures at the hospital. The average daily census for adults and children had risen to 12.7, compared to 9.6 a year ago. Newborns added another 1.8 per day. Surgical procedures, outpatient visits, radiology, respiratory and physical therapy, ambulance runs and home health care all showed substantial increases over a year ago.

Patient service revenue for June, however, was down compared to a year ago. An operating loss of $181,432 was listed for June and, with tax revenues added to the financial report, the net loss amounted to $129,998. The year-to-date net was still at a plus $401,107.

Rives reviewed the WorkSmart program which was initiated last year, with an objective of drawing more primary care to the hospital and local physicians. He said the program has been well accepted and that about 1,000 persons have been profiled in the preventive health screening program.

Dr. Duffy McBrayer and Dr. Gerald Payne were at the meeting and expressed concern about Department of Transportation physicals, which are one part of the program. They said the hospital was offering the physicals at a lower cost than local doctors can administer them in their clinics.

Rives said the hospital set a lower price in order to compete with Amarillo, and it was not intended to take away clients from local physicians. John Perrin, board president, said the matter had been discussed in a medical staff meeting. He said Rives and Mark Collier, WorkSmart director, will meet with the doctors and see if a solution could be found.

Rives also informed the board that the JCAH survey was scheduled Aug. 2-3 and he thought the hospital staff was "well prepared for the accreditation test." The lab has already been surveyed and accredited. Nancy Griego reported this in her quality management report to the board.

The administrator explained the financing alternative was suggested by the hospital's investment banker. The first plan was to use revenue bonds, but the hospital's financial record in recent years made it difficult to go that route, said Rives. The contractual obligation issue allows the hospital to finance personal property, and it is backed up by the entity's ad valorem taxes.

Rives announced that Dr. Kent Walker and his wife, Janet, have moved here and he will start practice Aug. 2. Dr. Howard Haysom, who is completing a fellowship on obstetrics, has signed a contract on a house and will start practice here Oct. 1. Dr. Stephen Ringel, an orthopedic surgeon from Lubbock, will start a limited practice here, coming to the hospital once a week.

Directors present for the meeting were Perrin, Merle Clark, Scott Turner, Boyd Foster, Paul Abalos and Jo Beth Shackelford. Mal Manchee was absent. Peggy Fox, administrative secretary, and other hospital staff members were present as well as Dr. Jesse Perales, who gave the medical staff report; hospital attorney Alan Rhodes; Dr. McBrayer, Dr. Payne, Dr. Howard Johnson, and Speedy Nieman, Hereford Brand.

AG clears hospital's land acquisition for expansion

Deaf Smith General Hospital's building expansion plans moved a step closer to reality this week when an opinion by the Attorney General's office cleared the way for the acquisition of a plot of land adjacent to the hospital.

The hospital district announced plans last month to renovate portions of the current facility and build a professional office building.

Preliminary plans call for the new building to be constructed east of the hospital on park land owned by the City of Hereford.

According to the AG ruling, the City can legally convey, at fair market value, a one and one-half acre plot to Deaf Smith County Hospital District. The land currently has no improvements on it.

The hospital's renovation and expansion project is estimated to cost $1.77 million. This includes renovations to the obstetric unit and surgical area of the hospital along with other upgrades in the appearance of the facility.

The proposed new building will be used to house the physical therapy department and physicians' offices. Dr. Kent Walker and Dr. Howard

Hereford to provide some supplies for flood victims

Relief supplies to Midwest flood victims will soon be on its way from Hereford to Missouri, thanks to the efforts of Hereford Relief Project.

Organizers are seeking donations of a variety of items for the effort.

The goods will be collected at 1 p.m. Saturday in the St. Anthony's parking lot.

The truck will leave Hereford on Monday, July 26, and will be delivered to an American Red Cross relief station in Wayland, Mo.

Donations will also be accepted at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for those who will be unable to make gifts on Saturday.

Those items being sought immediately are:

Laundry soap.

- Facial tissue (Kleenex).
- Insect repellent.
- Toilet paper.
- Paper towels.
- Cleaning supplies.
- Mops.
- Brooms.
- Buckets.
- Bed pillows and pillowcases.
- Towels and wash cloths.
- Personal hygiene items.
- Shampoo.
- Shaving foam or soap and razors.
- Deodorants.
- Toothbrushes and toothpaste.
- Baby diapers.
- Handi-wipes.
- Electric coffee pots.
- Pots and pans.
- Silverware.

- Paper plates.
- Plastic silverware.
- Matches.
- Small barbecue grills.
- Electric skillets.
- Small microwave ovens.
- Any non-perishable food items, such as canned goods, soup mixes, canned juices and drink mixes.
- Foil, plastic baggies and trash bags.
- Games for children.
- Playing cards.
- Money. Cash donations should be made directly to the American Red Cross.

Items not needed are clothing and junk. All items should be clean and useable.

Clinton says Texas' senators are hurting Super Collider's chances

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton says Texas' two senators aren't helping the super collider's chances in the Senate with their off-repeated insistence that Congress needs to cut more spending.

"I'll keep doing what I can to save it, but it would certainly help if the people who are going to benefit immediately from it would stop saying things which drive the rest of the Congress up the wall because they're not true," the president said in interviews Tuesday with Louisiana reporters.

Clinton reiterated his "strong" support for the $10 billion giant atom smasher being built south of Dallas, but suggested that Republicans Phil Gramm and Kay Bailey Hutchison will be to blame if Congress pulls the plug on the collider.

The House last month voted for the second year in a row to terminate the collider, leaving its future once again in the hands of the Senate. Action by the Senate isn't expected before September.

Gramm responded angrily to the president's comments, saying that Clinton is trying to assign blame for the House's anti-collider sentiment.

"If the president would do as much in supporting the SSC as Sen. Hutchison and I have already done, it would win by acclamation," said Gramm, who is a likely presidential candidate in 1996.

"I see no evidence that the president is making a strong effort on behalf of the super collider," Gramm said. "Maybe we should stop making excuses and go to work. That's what I've done. That's what Sen. Hutchison has done. That's what I urge the president to do."

Clinton was critical of the two Texans' decision to appear with former presidential candidate Ross Perot to push their message of spending cuts before tax increases just hours before the House's collider vote.

"When the House of Representatives was voting just a couple of weeks ago on the superconducting super collider - which benefits overwhelmingly the state of Texas - the two United States senators from Texas were outside on the steps with Ross Perot telling the House they ought to cut spending and attacking them for not doing it," the president said.

"In fact, it wasn't true, we cut spending $250 billion below the last Bush budget," Clinton said, adding that people were "sick and tired" of the rhetoric.

Gramm defended his appearance with the Dallas billionaire. "Perot was out there to present two and a half million petitions - more from Texas than any other state in the union - to Congress to control spending," he said. "When two and a half million people petition their government ... I'm going to go out and receive their petitions."

Being an advocate of reduced spending doesn't mean being an opponent of all spending, Gramm said. "What people like Clinton want to do is to say 'If you want to control

Ginsburg hearing under way in Senate committee

By LAURIE ASSEO
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Supreme Court nominee Ruth Bader Ginsburg is going through her paces for an admiring Senate Judiciary Committee, discarding the law without giving away how she would rule on any particular case.

Ginsburg charmed committee members Tuesday with stories of how she overcame sex discrimination to become the second woman nominated to the Supreme Court. She also discussed a range of issues, including abortion, criminal appeals and the separation of church and state.

She sought to answer critics who said she was wrong in suggesting the Supreme Court went too far in its 1973 Roe vs. Wade, ruling that legalized abortion nationwide.

Wet driving

This car, traveling through downtown on Tuesday afternoon, makes a miniature wave as it passes through a waterlogged intersection during a rainstorm. Rains dropped .43 of an inch of moisture on the city on Tuesday, adding to the more than 2 inches of rain that fell here last week. The National Weather Service is predicting the possibility of more rain today.

Levee breaks; flood waters inundate soggy St. Louis

By STEPHANIE NANO
Associated Press Writer

Workers trying to shore up a levee had to be rescued by boat after floodwaters broke through and washed over a soggy St. Louis neighborhood.

The collapse came as the Mississippi River bulged to its second crest in as many days, reaching a record 47.1 feet at St. Louis, or more than 17 feet above flood stage. The river hit 46.9 feet Sunday night then dropped slightly.

In Des Moines, Iowa, residents hoped to start turning on faucets and flushing toilets in parts of the city today. Some 250,000 people have been without tap water since a river overran the city water plant 10 days ago.

Workers were shoring up a breach along south St. Louis' River Des Peres when sandbags atop the levee gave way along a one-mile stretch Tuesday night.

"Pretty soon, they were up to their necks in water," said David Weman, a fire battalion chief. The workers were rescued by boat.

Police Lt. Steven Mueller said authorities helped several people leave their homes, but he couldn't say how many.

The neighborhood had been under evacuation orders since the weekend, when sandbags washed off the earthen levee. Earlier Tuesday, emergency workers with bullhorns drove through, pleading with holdouts to flee.

"We're floating on this block. It went real fast," Melanie Bartnick told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The flooding did not reach her house.

At nightfall, some residents sat on their porches in darkness on streets that were still dry. Power and water had been cut to the area. A few blocks away, workers pumped water from streets covered with 8 to 10 inches of water.

The River Des Peres is a concrete-lined storm drain that has been flooded by Mississippi backwash.

St. Louis was hit with drenching rains Tuesday, and thunderstorms were expected to soak parts of the Midwest today.

About 900 households in the Manhattan, Kan., area were urged to get out Tuesday because of water releases from swollen lakes and reservoirs upstream. Sandbaggers were hard at work around town. "It's us against Mother Nature, and Mama is going to win sometimes," said Chris LaRose, a volunteer at a church.

"It smells like fish, and there's only one way to get rid of the smell: bleach, Pine-Sol and lots of elbow grease," said Dorothy McKinzie, owner of an auto repair shop in Davenport, Iowa. Her business was coated with about a quarter-inch of Mississippi River bottom.

Flooding since the start of June in the region has contributed to at least 31 deaths and $10 billion in damage, left 16,000 square miles of farmland under water and damaged more than 22,000 homes.

In Des Moines, city threats to shut off water customers' valves apparently stopped people from using water while the mains were filled and pressure restored.

Officials expected to give the go-ahead today to businesses to reopen. After the water system was knocked out July 11, businesses were barred from downtown buildings, in part because there was no water for fire sprinklers.

Service will be restored gradually and conservation urged. It could be a month before the water is safe to drink.

In other developments:

In Washington, a House committee approved $2.98 billion in emergency aid for flood victims and promised more if needed. The bill goes to the full House on Thursday, then to the Senate. At President Clinton's request, the committee added $500 million to the amount he asked for a week ago.

Officials in New Orleans got so many calls from people asking whether Louisiana would be flooded by the surging Mississippi that they held a news conference to assure everyone there's no danger because the lower Mississippi is much wider and deeper than what lies to the north.

Drum & bugle concert tonight

The Velvet Knights Drum and Bugle Corps of Anaheim, CA., will present a free public concert at Whiteface Stadium at 7 o'clock tonight. The group had a Tuesday show in Albuquerque, N.M., and will have a Thursday show in Tulsa, OK., and HHS band director James Maclaskey arranged for the 128-member corps to make a rest stop here. The group, composed of young people, ages 14 to 21, offered the concert in gratitude for the rest stop. The championship group is on a tour that includes 30 stops.

Rain yesterday, rain today

Hereford recorded a high temperature of 79 degrees at 2 p.m. Tuesday and a low of 63 degrees at 7 a.m. Wednesday. KPAN radio reported .43 of an inch of rain fell here yesterday. The National Weather Service is predicting a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms tonight, with partly cloudy skies. The low will be in the mid-60s, with south winds at 10-15 mph. On Thursday, the high is predicted to be around 90 degrees under partly cloudy skies. South winds will be from 10-20 mph.

Lottery winner will open second bakery

AUSTIN (AP) - Gloria Flores is a millionaire baker. Not banker, baker.

The 40-year-old Corpus Christi woman says she plans to use her earnings from a $4.5 million lottery jackpot to open a second bakery.

Ms. Flores became the fourth winner from Corpus Christi this month on Tuesday when she accepted her first of 20 installments.

Ms. Flores, who matched all six numbers in Saturday's Lotto Texas drawing, said although she now has millions, she will continue to work.

She said she hopes to buy a new truck to transport merchandise to the bakery she manages.

"I hope this will better our business," she said.

State Comptroller John Sharp presented Ms. Flores with a check for about $200,000.

"Something must be in the water in Corpus Christi," Sharp said. "In the last two weeks about $27 million have been won (there)."

Other winners from Corpus Christi in July were: Janie Elizalde, who shared a $50 million jackpot with two others; Gloria Soto, who won $1 million in the lottery's monthly grand prize drawing; and an unidentified winner who will share $10 million from the July 14 lotto drawing.

Ms. Flores said she allowed the lottery's "quick pick" computer to select her numbers. They were: 5, 9, 13, 32, 42, 45.

She said she used to spend $20 per drawing, or $40 each week, on lotto tickets.

"I've been doing it all along and I thought that I would win it one day because I had already won four numbers twice," Ms. Flores said.

Ms. Flores said she did not know she had won until the following day when she saw the numbers in the newspaper.

She will receive annual payments of $227,000 for the next 19 years.

Hereford FFAers receive awards at convention

Several Hereford FFA members were recently awarded the Lone Star FFA Degree during the group's state convention.

Karen Alleman, Trey Skiles and Wade Johnson were presented the award during the 65th annual meeting, held July 13-16 in Corpus Christi.

The award is the highest honor conferred by the state association. To receive the degree, a student must display strong leadership skills, complete a Supervised Agricultural Experience program and demonstrate citizenship and community involvement.

The Hereford students honored were among eight from here to attend the convention.

Joining them were Brittney Binder, Jeremy Paetzold, Erin Killingsworth, Stephanie Wilson and Jeb Skiles.

Advisors for the group are Kevin Kelley and Bill Binder.

Among the convention activities was the election of state FFA officers, selection of the Mister/Miss Texas FFA Team, presentations by guest speakers and business meetings.

FFA is a vocational organization made up of students enrolled in Agricultural Science and Technology classes. Texas FFA has more than 55,000 members in nearly 950 local chapters.

Keywanette banners

HOSPITAL

Haysom, two new family practice physicians, are scheduled to office in the building.

Dr. Walker will open his practice in Hereford on Aug. 2, and Dr. Haysom will begin his practice here Oct. 4.

"We believe the expansion of the hospital will be an asset for the entire community," said Ron Rives, chief executive officer of the hospital.

"The hospital needs additional space, and this land was the only land which would allow the new facilities to be attached to the current hospital building," added Rives.

Rives said DA Roland Saul was asked to seek the attorney general's opinion to determine the correct procedures for the acquisition. The opinion outlined the steps the City and Hospital District must follow. The City must conduct an appraisal to determine the fair market value of the land, which the hospital district must pay.

Also, the attorney general indicated that a Parks & Wildlife requirement, regarding how the land is used, may apply to the transaction. Rives said now that the legalities have been defined, a public hearing will be scheduled by the Hereford City Commission.

Levelland man accused of killing wife confessed crime to a friend

LEVELLAND, Texas (AP) - A man accused of killing his wife by striking her in the head with a glass ketchup bottle 13 years ago confessed the crime to a friend, according to testimony at his murder trial.

Testimony began Tuesday in the trial of Thad Nipper. Nipper, 31, is accused of killing his 20-year-old wife, Denise, in 1980.

Authorities say he hit her in the back of her head with a 32-ounce bottle of ketchup during an argument at their trailer south of Levelland. Then authorities say he placed her body on a road and called for help.

Nipper told authorities his wife had jumped into the back of his pickup as he was driving away and then fell from the back.

But Karen Kinney, a friend of Nipper's since the late 1970s, testified to a different story. Ms. Kinney said Nipper admitted hitting his wife.

"He told me that him and Denise had gone grocery shopping, and they began to fight and start throwing groceries around the house and arguing and that he picked up a ketchup bottle and hit her in the back of the head," she said.

Nipper then told her he was going to take his wife to the hospital, so he put her in the back of his pickup and was driving to town when she fell out, Ms. Kinney testified.

Ms. Kinney said she did not immediately report the conversation to police because she believed it was hearsay and inadmissible in court.

It was not until 1991 that authorities learned of the alleged conversation - after she spoke with her brother, David Kinney, a deputy sheriff with the Hockley County Sheriff's Department.

Prosecutors first took their case against Nipper to a grand jury in 1981 but got no indictment. The initial autopsy found that Mrs. Nipper died when her head struck an immobile object.

But a second autopsy last September concluded she was struck on the head with a blunt object.

The murder trial has become the talk of the town, in which most residents had known Mrs. Nipper. She was homecoming queen, cheerleader, and an honors student at Whiteface High School.

spending, you've got to be against everything," he said. "That's just absurd."

Asked if his support for high-dollar projects in his state such as the super collider and space station doesn't make his position more difficult to defend, Gramm replied: "I don't understand that comment. Are you saying to me that because I would like to see us cut $25 billion more (from the budget) that in the remaining $1.5 trillion I can't support something in Texas? ... It's a nonsense statement."

A spokesman for Ms. Hutchison, Ray Sullivan, defended her position. "In Kay's case, she talked all throughout the campaign of prioritizing spending - and the super collider is a high-priority research project that's important for technological development and the future," Sullivan said.

Gramm's stance is drawing Democratic criticism elsewhere. Last week, former Democratic presidential candidate Paul Tsongas took the Texas on in a Washington speech.

"I want to make it hazardous to his political health to go to New Hampshire saying 'No new taxes. Balance the budget. Cut spending. And, by the way, I'm for the space station and the superconducting super collider down in Texas,'" said Tsongas, who is a co-founder of the Concord Coalition, a bipartisan group focused on deficit reduction.

"If he campaigns that way, I want him to run into a buzz saw," Tsongas said.

Gramm replied of his former Senate colleague: "Tsongas is a person that when he was in the Senate voted for every tax increase and every spending increase."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Words seem so inadequate to express our feelings at this time of change in our lives. While we look forward with anticipation to the opportunity before us, we look back with sadness as we leave a community that has been our home the past 10 years.

To the Mighty Maroon Band: I hope you know how I feel about you. We've been through a lot together--state marching contest, Gov. Ann Richards' phone call, spring trips, summer band, zero-degree temperatures in Lubbock, etc. As we have gone through these things, we have grown as people and we have established a bond that will always remain.

Remember, this is your band! I believe it will continue to grow and accomplish great things. And as you go on in life, I hope you'll continue to persevere, to be proud, to set high goals for yourselves, and to remember that hard work is a reward in itself.

To the parents and community: Thanks so much for the tremendous interest and support you have given over the last 30-plus years and especially during the past 10. The band could not be continually successful without you. My greatest memories will not be of the awards and honors, but of the people whose lives have touched ours. Be proud of these kids, not just for what they have accomplished, but for what they have become.

When we were in Dallas this spring, the motel management called to say how impressed they were with the behavior of our students and asked us to please come back the next time we were in the area. That speaks well of the entire community.

Thanks so much for everything. Our lives are better because of the time we have spent in Hereford. We will always have a special place in our hearts for you. We'll be watching the band and anticipating great things from you. Good luck and God bless. Remember: Success is not the destination, it's the journey.

Sincerely,
James, Gay, Sara & Brian

Dear Editor:

With the recent slow rains, the fly-ash and improved building material mixed together has proven to make real good all-weather roads. The application of this material will nearly eliminate the need for a maintainer after a rain.

When the Castro County Commissioners Court confiscated the two trucks, loader and backhoe from Precinct 1, it certainly proves to me that they don't want me to do my duty as a commissioner--to build all-weather roads for the rural residents of the precinct.

I really appreciate the donations of the people who made this possible. They did this in addition to the taxes they pay...

The money already spent on redistricting would have built 30 or more miles of this all-weather road. It is my opinion that the plan that will finally go through the U.S. Justice Department or Federal District Court in Washington will not cost the county anything.

I was elected on the promise of making all efforts to build improved roads for the residents of Precinct 1. Due to the lack of cooperation from Castro County Commissioners Court, I have been hindered in fulfilling my duties as I see them as Commissioner of Precinct 1.

Harold D. Smith

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently published a letter from a woman who described herself as joyless, useless, friendless, hopeless and "sick and tired of being sick and tired." You correctly replied that she sounded clinically depressed and emphasized, "There is help for you, but you must seek it."

Depression is a serious, disabling medical disorder that affects approximately one in eight adults. This means about 11 million people each year. Clinical depression is not the "blues," nor is it due to personal weakness or moral defect. It exists in men and women of all racial, ethnic, educational, social, income and age groups. Yet today, only one out of three people with depression is diagnosed and treated correctly. This is a tragedy, because once identified, depression almost always can be treated successfully, either with medication, psychotherapy or a combination of both. Most people recover within a few months.

The U.S. Public Health Service's Agency for Health Care Policy and Research recently released new clinical guidelines on depression developed by a panel of experts to help physicians and health care workers detect, diagnose and treat major depression in their patients. These guidelines include a brochure, developed to help people with depression as well as family and friends, that explains symptoms and treatment options.

For a free copy, send a postcard to Depression Guidelines, Dept. A1, P.O. Box 8547, Silver Spring, Md. 20907.-A John Rush, M.D., panel chair, Depression in Primary Care: Diagnosis and Treatment, Agency for Health Care Policy and Research.

DEAR READERS: This booklet contains a gold mine of information. I urge anyone who feels depressed, joyless, friendless and sick and tired of being sick and tired to send for it. It could change your life. Remember, it's free.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A couple of years ago, I wrote to you about my husband's office affairs. You advised me to have a serious talk with him and get professional counseling. My husband said I was mentally unstable, and things went from bad to worse. Finally, I worked up the courage to file for divorce.

My husband is a very powerful man because of his job, and he can be very intimidating. The judge was a female, and this is what I got:

No child custody.
Alimony until I remarry (if I do so).
Half of the proceeds of our home when it is sold.

I must move out of the house in four months, and if it is not sold, I am obligated to pay for half of the mortgage until a sale is made.

My advice to women in my situation is this: SAY WITH THE REPTILE even if the situation is lousy. Almost always, it's better than tearing your life apart and ending up alone, financially wrecked and miserable. Sign me--Coral Springs, Fla.

DEAR C.S.: At the risk of boring millions of readers to death, I will repeat the Ann Landers formula for women who are in unhappy marriages. Ask yourself this question: Are you better off WITH him or WITHOUT him?

Apparently in your case, you were better off WITH him, but this is not true in every instance. No woman should stay with a man who is involved with drugs or who is physically violent. She could end up dead.

On the other hand, a woman who has no marketable skills and four children under 10 should not rush to divorce court because her husband doesn't pay enough attention to her.

What's the truth about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? "The Lowdown on Dope" has up-to-the-minute information on drugs. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Resident honored

Inez Vititow celebrated her 85th birthday Sunday, July 11, with friends and family. A party was hosted by her daughters, Nelda Fortenberry of Hereford and Mary Brown of Olton. Mrs. Vititow was also honored by members of the Golden Kiwanis Club. She has served lunch at their meetings for five years.

Additional officers installed at Ladies Auxiliary meeting

Three new officers were installed when members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Roy Wederbrook VFW Post 4818 met in regular session recently. President Linda Dutton presided.

Doris Wilson, past president, installed the following: Ruth Stethem, chaplain; Terrye Rhyne, two-year trustee; and Erma Murphey, three-year trustee.

Minutes were read and corrected, the treasurer's report given and bills presented and paid.

Betty Boggs reported on the lap robes and bibs presented to Hereford Care Center.

Secret pals were revealed and it was decided to draw names for new secret pals at a later date.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 2 preceded by a salad supper at 6:30 p.m.

A salad supper preceded the meeting. Those present were Betty Boggs, Doris Coffin, Linda Dutton,

NEW YORK (AP)- Rush Limbaugh, conservative Republican, talk show host and - according to the readers of Mad magazine - the celebrity most deserving of unnecessary root canal work.

The Clinton-basher was cited by more Mad readers than anyone else when they were asked, "If you could perform unnecessary root canal on any celebrity, who would you choose and why?"

The results, published in Mad's upcoming October issue, had loud-mouth comedian Gilbert Gottfried as runner-up. The saccharine-sweet Barney the Dinosaur was third. Exact vote totals were not released.

A Limbaugh voter wrote in, "Anyone arrogant enough to write a book titled 'The Way Things Ought to Be' deserves it unanesthetized."

Lovely nails will flower this season

This season's beauty buzz is all about individuality and the choices are endless. Color ranges from sheer to shimmer but no matter the choice, the final mix reflects a very personal perspective.

Nails take center stage and the good news is that getting and keeping them looking great is easier than ever. Companies use state-of-the-art technology to create new products that make nail grooming a cinch. Here are some tips that will help yours shine:

-Protect nails from chlorine and dry heat with a sunny nail enamel shade that's toluene and formaldehyde free (formaldehyde can trigger an allergic reaction!).

-Moisturize cuticles daily, and try a once a week hot oil treatment. Revlon's new Cuticle T.L.C. does both, with Vitamin E and soothing botanicals for softer, more supple and healthy-looking cuticles.

-Walk barefoot on the beach. Not only is it great exercise, the sloughing action of the sand will help wear off dead skin and callouses!

-Thip, weak nails need to get tough. Use nail enamel and nail care items that use the science of strengthening to fortify nails from the inside and from the outside.

-An at-home manicure doesn't have to take all day. Today's products apply easier, dry quicker. Top with one of the new speed-dryers which protects enamel finish and adds a high-lustre finish.

After felling a tree, avoid pinching the saw in any fallen trunk that is under tension. To do this, make the first cut one-third the way into the tree on the side opposite the tension. Then, finish the cut on the side under tension.

Landry to join Ring of Honor

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) - There they were, seated side-by-side with the stadium both have dominated shining in the background.
Tom Landry and Jerry Jones. Jerry Jones and Tom Landry.
Either way, they're an odd couple. But on Tuesday they seemed as chummy as, well, old acquaintances. Still, it didn't matter. Tom Landry had come back home to Texas Stadium and was ready to accept the Dallas Cowboys' greatest honor, even if it was coming from the guy who canned him.

Both men smiled wide as Landry finally accepted Jones' longstanding offer to join the team's Ring of Honor, a delay many thought was caused by the coach's bitterness over his abrupt dismissal in February 1989.
"You know, there's a lot of controversy that's come across my desk over the Ring of Honor. I just want you to know that... it was never a problem with any feeling that I had towards the new management and the football team," Landry said, the quiver in his voice beginning to subside but the sweat on his upper lip still glistening.

"Those people who know me best, you know that when I turn a corner, I don't think about yesterday. When I stepped down from the Cowboys, I moved right on to something else."
For Landry, it wasn't just something. It was everything from corporate boards to a private business with his son. There also was the Dallas Sports Commission, a busy public speaking agenda, television commercials and plenty of charity work especially with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Landry said it was that busy schedule and not any harsh feelings toward Jones that kept him out of the ring and away from Texas Stadium until Tuesday.
Part of the reason Landry has avoided Cowboys games, he said, was the fear of being mobbed by fans. Plus, he joked, he would've had to buy a ticket. "I didn't deserve any more than that," he said.
Tuesday's unlikely reunion came about because of another unlikely gathering in May. A golf tournament brought together Jones, Landry and Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson and the Ring of Honor question came up again.

This time, Landry was ready to consider the invitation. He thought about what it would mean to his family, his former players and the fans. Finally, it all made sense.
Yes, he'd do it. He'd let them put his name where it belonged, along the stadium's walls between the upper and lower decks next to seven of the greats that he coached: Bob Lilly, Don Meredith, Don Perkins, Chuck Howley, Mel Renfro, Roger Staubach and Lee Roy Jordan.

"I should go in because the fans are what made us what we are and the players up there in the Ring of Honor are the ones that put me there," Landry said. "I think it would be foolish for me to say I'm not going to go into that Ring of Honor."
Several other Cowboys greats also were glad to see Landry accept the honor.
"Him being in the Ring of Honor, once again, is another special moment in the history of the Dallas Cowboys," said former running back Tony Dorsett.
Added Tex Schramm, the former team president and general manager who gave Landry the players he forged his career around, said, "I think it's tremendous that Tom has decided to go into the Ring of Honor. I'll be there that day for sure."

Landry, 68, definitely has a resume worthy of the honor. He's the NFL's third-all-time-winningest coach at 270-178-6, reached the Super Bowl five times and went home a winner twice. In 1990, he was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Landry, who began his career as a player and later a coach for the New York Giants, will be honored Nov. 7 when his two former teams meet at Texas Stadium. Landry said that will make the day even more special, especially since his former player and assistant Dan Reeves now coaches the Giants.
But even returning to the stadium Tuesday to publicly accept the honor was a special day for Landry.
"When you come in here, you start thinking about the great games that we played here," Landry said. "That's the feeling you get when you come back in: Roger Staubach against Washington in the last minute. When you think about those great games, it thrills you a lot."
More thrills and strolls down memory lane can be expected Nov. 7. Finally.

Boosters' scramble is Thursday

The Whiteface Booster Club Golf Scramble will be played Thursday, starting at 5:30 p.m., at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.
Hot dogs and refreshments will follow the nine-hole scramble. Free memberships for the booster club will be given away as closest-to-the-pin and longest-drive prizes.
To enter the scramble, call the Pitman pro shop at 364-2782. Entry fee is $15 per player. Proceeds go to the Whiteface Booster Club, which supports all Hereford High School athletics.

Olds Scramble set for Sunday

The local Oldsmobile Scramble, where a hole-in-one could win you a new car, will be held Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Teams could qualify for the sectional scramble, which could lead to the national scramble.
The entry fee is $35 per person, not including green fee and cart. The entry fee includes extras, including a dozen Top Flite Tour balls and a barbecue dinner after the tournament. In addition, the first golfer who aces No. 3 at Pitman wins a 1993 Oldsmobile.
The guidelines for forming a four-man team are based on the special Oldsmobile Scramble Handicap System. It ensures that no one team has too big of an advantage. Furthermore at least two of the team members must have Pitman as their home course.
For more information on the handicapping system or any other aspect of the scramble, or to sign up for the scramble, call the Pitman pro shop at 364-2782. The deadline for entry is noon Friday.

Aikman is far ahead of rehab pace

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - The ball was wobbly and overthrown so the receiver had to make a lunging one-handed catch.
No this wasn't All-Pro Michael Irvin with the acrobatic, fingertip grab. It was injured Troy Aikman, who doesn't act like he had back surgery on June 19.
Aikman is so far ahead of his expected rehabilitation pace that he has coach Jimmy Johnson shaking his head and doctors worried the Cowboys Super Bowl MVP is going too far too fast.
"He's amazed me," Johnson said. "He's looking really good."
The antsy Aikman already has set a tentative date for his playing comeback. It's Aug. 21 against the Houston Oilers in the Alamodome.

He's working like everyone forgot he threw four touchdown passes in the Super Bowl and got $50,000 instant cash for saying "I'm going to Disneyland."
Early in the morning he's up, practicing his backpedal in a harness and tossing a medicine ball. The harness helps Aikman rebuild his back muscles.
Then he's out on the field making longer passes each day. He's already up to 30 yards with a tight spiral. Worried trainers caution him not to cut loose with 50 yard throws.
"I can throw the ball 30 to 35 yards no problem," Aikman said. "The back feels good. Every day in my rehab I do more."
Aikman said he had feared the herniated disc in his back was a ticking bomb.

"It had been wearing down over a period of years and when I did those squats with the weights it pushed things over the edge," he said. "At first I thought the problem was muscular. But it sure wasn't. (Tight end) Jay Novacek had this same operation four years ago and he seems fine. I don't want long-term problems because I want a normal life after I get out of football."
Aikman is a picture of impatience at the Cowboys training camp at St. Edward's University, where the boredom of two-a-day practices drags on.
"Frustrating," he said. "It's frustrating."
Aikman hopes to begin practicing with the team following a London exhibition game against Detroit Aug.

8. He'll be in California working out under the watchful eye of the doctors who operated on him.
"There's been no pain so I'm encouraged," he said. "I plan to play in the last preseason game and possibly the one before that."
What drives Aikman is his experience two years ago when he was injured and Steve Beuerlein took control of the team in the playoffs.
"Watching someone else quarterback this team isn't fun for me," Aikman said.
Aikman then took off to run on a treadmill.
Run, Troy, run.
He'll keep running until he's out on the field with the team in RFK Stadium on Sept. 6, starting against the Washington Redskins.
"I'll be there," he said.

McGriff has fiery debut with Braves

By MICHAEL FLAM
Associated Press Writer
First there was a fire. Then there was a blast. So went the Atlanta debut of Fred McGriff.
McGriff's first appearance in a Braves jersey was delayed Tuesday when a fire broke out in Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium 90 minutes before the Braves were to play the St. Louis Cardinals. The fire was put out 45 minutes after it began but the 7:40 p.m. EDT start was pushed back to 9:38 p.m.
McGriff, wearing No. 27, playing first base and batting fourth, homered in his third at-bat, sending Rene Arocha's first pitch of the sixth inning 407 feet over the center-field wall.

The homer - his 19th of the year - capped a five-run rally and the Braves added three runs in the eighth to defeat St. Louis 8-5.
"With the fire and driving from Tampa - what a day - I need some sleep," said McGriff, who had arrived in Atlanta earlier in the day.
The Braves became the beneficiaries of San Diego's salary purge when they acquired McGriff Sunday for three minor leaguers. Though Atlanta still trails San Francisco by nine games in the NL West, St. Louis manager Joe Torre feels the newest Brave will have an effect on the race.

"I think he'll (McGriff) make a big difference," Torre said. "His presence will take a lot of pressure off everybody trying to carry the load."
(See NL ROUNDUP, Page 7)

They won't have the pressure of thinking they'll have to do it all."
David Justice scored the go-ahead run in the eighth from second when Rhee Cormier (5-6) bobbled Terry Pendleton's sacrifice bunt and threw wildly to first. Justice had opened the inning with a single and took second

Colts acquire Majkowski; Cards' Rosenbach retires

By The Associated Press
A "Missile" landed in Minnesota, a Majik act reappeared in Indianapolis and a Cardinal said he wants to be a cowboy.
Signings and injuries once again provided the bulk of the news Tuesday from training camps, but the surprising story of Timm Rosenbach's apparent retirement was easily the most interesting NFL tidbit so far this summer.
Rosenbach, once one of the most promising quarterbacks in the league, apparently intends to quit the Phoenix Cardinals to raise bulls and cattle and work part-time as a calf-roper on the pro rodeo circuit.
"He likes the dust of the rodeo arena, the camaraderie," Rosenbach's agent, Gary Wichard, said Tuesday.
Rosenbach took every snap for Phoenix in 1990, then missed the 1991 season with a torn knee ligament. He returned last season, but was injured twice and lost the job to Chris Chandler.

The Cardinals also added quarterback Steve Beuerlein in the offseason.
Phoenix coach Joe Bugel said he hasn't heard from Rosenbach since the end of last season, so the quarterback's exact plans were news to him.
Rosenbach was to earn $1.1 million this season, and Wichard also told him he could get as much as $15

McDonald's 1-hitter puts O's on top of AL East

By The Associated Press
There's a new leader in the American League East - for now. The Baltimore Orioles beat the Kansas City Royals, 7-0, Tuesday night at Camden Yards to slip into the top spot by one-half game ahead of New York and Toronto. Boston is only 1 1/2 games out and fifth-place Detroit trails by two.

It's close in the West, too. Chicago leads second-place Texas by two games and Kansas City by four.

Ben McDonald pitched his first career one-hitter and Harold Baines homered and drove in three runs for the Orioles. The Orioles' seventh victory in their last nine games moved them a season-high 10 games over .500.

"The important thing is not so much the standings, but how well the ballclub has been playing," manager Johnny Oates said. "To me, first place on July 20 means absolutely nothing. What means something is winning 32 of 45 games."

The lone hit off McDonald (7-8) came in the fourth inning when Gary Gaetti lined a clean single to left.

"I'm happy with it," McDonald said. "Gaetti hit a pretty good pitch. I threw a fastball on the outside part of the plate and he guessed right and took it to left."

David Cone (6-9) was the loser. "That's the toughest opposing pitcher to throw against us all year," Cone said. "Without a doubt, he was extremely sharp. He just did not give us much to hit."

Rangers 5, Brewers 1
Juan Gonzalez hit his 26th homer to tie Barry Bonds for the major-league lead, a three-run shot in a four-run fifth inning as Texas beat Milwaukee at Arlington. Kevin Brown (7-6) pitched a five-hitter and struck out a career-high 10. Gonzalez's 434-foot homer came off Cal Eldred (10-10), giving the Rangers their eighth victory in their last 10 games.

White Sox 2, Blue Jays 1
Frank Thomas hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning and Alex Fernandez (12-4) pitched a four-hitter at Comiskey Park.

With the White Sox trailing 1-0 on John Olerud's 18th homer in the second inning, Joey Cora looped a one-out double to center and Thomas hit Juan Guzman's next pitch for his 22nd homer into the left-field bleachers. Guzman is 7-3.

in three days helped the Yankees take a 5-0 lead after five innings.

Dave Fleming (6-1) won his sixth straight decision.

Red Sox 2, Angels 1
The Red Sox won their fifth straight game as Scott Cooper scored from third on Scott Fletcher's grounder over the mound in the ninth inning at Fenway Park.

Cooper started the inning with a double off Gene Nelson (0-3) and went to third on John Valentin's sacrifice. Pinch-hitter Mo Vaughn was walked intentionally before Fletcher hit the first pitch over Nelson's head. It was scored a fielder's choice.

Tony Fossas (1-0) was the winner in relief.

(6-6) broke a tie and lifted Minnesota over Detroit at Tiger Stadium. Cecil Fielder hit a 465-foot homer off reliever Rick Aguilera.

Jim Deshaies (10-7) allowed two runs on three hits through the first seven innings. Carl Willis pitched a perfect eighth and Aguilera finished up for his 26th save, allowing Fielder's 25th homer.

Indians 9, Athletics 5
Carlos Baerga spoiled Tony La Russa's new pitching strategy by hitting a grand slam and driving in five runs as Cleveland beat visiting Oakland.

The A's were in the second game of a multiple-pitcher system La Russa installed in hopes of turning their season around. The manager is limiting each of his pitchers to about 50 pitches per game. Starter Mike Mohler fell to 1-2.

Jose Mesa (9-6) won despite allowing four runs and eight hits in five innings.

NL ROUNDUP

when rightfielder Mark Whiten fumbled the ball.

Mark Wohlers (4-0) earned the victory with one scoreless inning of relief and Mike Stanton pitched a perfect ninth for his 26th save.

Giants 8, Expos 3
The hitting of Darren Lewis and the pitching of Bill Swift helped San Francisco extend Montreal's losing streak to three games. Lewis hit a two-run homer, had three hits and scored four runs as host San Francisco's lead in the NL West stayed at nine games.

Swift (13-5) held the Expos hitless until the fifth inning when he allowed singles to Moises Alou and Sean Berry. Swift worked 6 2-3 innings, allowing seven hits and three runs. Expos starter Dennis Martinez (10-7) pitched 5 1-3 innings, allowing nine hits and seven runs.

Reds 8, Cubs 3
Tim Belcher (9-5) ended visiting Chicago's five-game winning streak and extended his own hot streak at the same time. Belcher (9-5) gave up three runs over 6 1-3 innings.

Chris Sabo drove in three runs with a bases-loaded single and a double, and Jerry Spradlin allowed one hit in the final 2 1-3 innings for his second save.

Mike Morgan (7-10) gave up four runs on seven hits in 2 2-3 innings.

Pirates 2, Astros 1
Doug Drabek returned to Pittsburgh and pitched well - but lost. Drabek (7-11), pitching in Pittsburgh against the Pirates for the first time in his career, gave up two runs in seven innings.

Randy Tomlin (3-6) threw a four-hitter for his first complete game in more than a year in outpitching his former teammate.

Padres 4, Mets 1
Rookie Jeff Gardner's first major-league home run and Greg Harris' career-best 10th win halted visiting New York's longest winning streak of the season at three games.

Harris (10-9) pitched a four-hitter and had a shutout until Howard Johnson's homer with one out in the ninth.

Gardner led off the first with his home run, tripled and singled.

Phillies 8, Dodgers 2
Lenny Dykstra homered leading off the seventh to break a 2-all tie in Los Angeles and help Danny Jackson win.

Dykstra drove a pitch from Ramon Martinez (8-5) deep into the right-field pavilion for his 12th homer.

Jackson (8-7) went seven innings and allowed two runs on five hits. He walked four and struck out five.

Rockies 6, Marlins 3
Home runs by Andres Galarraga and Dante Bichette helped the visiting Rockies break their five-game losing streak.

Willie Blair (4-7) gave up two runs in five innings and struck out six.

Chris Hammond (10-6) allowed a 455-foot homer to Galarraga in the fourth inning.

Mariners 9, Yankees 5
Ken Griffey Jr. hit a two-run single off Steve Howe (3-4) during a six-run rally in the seventh inning and also homered, sending Seattle over New York at Yankee Stadium.

Mike Stanley's second grand slam

Twins 4, Tigers 3
Shane Mack's two-run homer in the eighth inning off Mark Leiter

West Texas welcomes rain, most areas of state are dry

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Little rain is forecast this week although most Texas crops have had too much drying time in the weeks since Tropical Storm Arlene, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said the best chances for rain this week will be near Big Bend National Park.

Moist tropical air and an upper level low-pressure trough were expected to produce scattered thunderstorms in West Texas. Heavy rain is possible, and some storm totals may reach two inches, Zeitler said.

Most areas of the state will remain dry, but isolated thunderstorms are possible in the eastern half of the state.

"The Bermuda high pressure system over the southeastern United States has weakened, allowing for some rainfall," he said.

High temperatures will be in the mid to upper 90s with lows in the 60s and 70s.

Land in many areas of the state is beginning to dry out and some crops are heat-stressed because the high pressure system has kept rainfall to a minimum.

Randy Upshaw, district Extension director in Dallas, said plowing, land preparation and fall vegetable planting in some portions of North Central Texas have been halted because it is too dry. Vegetables that are planted need moisture.

"Hot, dry and windy conditions are hurting all the crops, especially corn," Upshaw said. "Most crops in all counties are showing stress from dry weather."

Ronald Woolley, district Extension director in Stephenville, said the drought there has reduced corn silage yields 50 percent. Pastures also are drying out because of the lack of rainfall, he said.

Tony Douglas, district Extension director in Overton, said soybeans in Northeast Texas have a critical need for rain. Hay production and vegetable yields are declining and pastures are drying rapidly, he added.

Bob Robinson, district Extension director in Lubbock, said some corn in the area is stressed from lack of moisture and a rising infestation of banks grass mites.

"When corn is stressed for moisture, it becomes more susceptible to mite damage," Robinson said.

Cotton in the South Plains continues to bloom and has little insect pressure. Producers in the area currently are harvesting potatoes, onions and cucumbers, he added.

Jerry Cox, Extension range specialist in Vernon, said northern and western Rolling Plains counties received between 0.5 and 4 inches of rain last week.

"The rains were gentle and soaking, and there was little runoff," he said.

However, he said, in areas where soil moisture is still limiting, cotton is blooming near the top. Blooms near the top of drought-stressed plants will drop during the next rain. Also, Cox said, insecticides have limited effect during drought conditions, and he advises producers to delay applications until measurable rainfall is recorded.

In the Panhandle, most crops look good, and only two counties have a shortage of soil moisture, according to Paul Gross, district Extension director in Amarillo. However, producers in three counties are having to plow under fields that once were blooming with cotton.

According to a statement released by Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry, the hail storms that damaged cotton and other crops in Collingsworth County and portions of Childress and Hall counties could cost area farmers at least $600,000. It's too late in the season to replant cotton that was destroyed.

"In areas that have not suffered a major storm, Texas farmers report prospects look good," Perry said. "But as we farmers are well aware, the crop is only as good as tomorrow's weather forecast."

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture adequate to short. Cattle, pastures, ranges good. Corn tasseling. Preparing for fall wheat planting. Harvesting onions, potatoes, cabbage. Planting lettuce, broccoli. Plowing under some hauled out areas.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Cotton continues to bloom; little insect pressure. Some corn is stressed by lack of moisture and rising mite infestation. Potato, onion, cucumber harvests under way.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Livestock above average. Range grasses dry; some fires in southwestern counties. Stock tank levels declining. Some cotton drought stressed; insecticides having limited effect.

NORTH CENTRAL: Soil moisture short to very short. Cattle, pastures, ranges excellent to fair. All crops need rain. Wheat harvest winding down. Most vegetables reaching maturity. Harvesting melons, late peach varieties. Pecans good.

Bosnia suffers civilian crisis, reports U.N.

By DAVID CRARY
Associated Press Writer

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) - U.N. officials reported a "humanitarian crisis" across Bosnia today as battles, blockades and bureaucratic obstructions disrupted aid for desperate civilians.

The most significant battle continued for a fifth day on Mount Igman, overlooking Sarajevo's airport, where government troops reportedly were holding out against the largest Serb offensive in the area during the 16-month-old war.

Bosnian radio said a counter-offensive was pushing Serbs back, but there were few details.

Even if the Serbs were repelled, Sarajevo faced increasingly grim conditions because of a four-week water and power outage and disruption of food convoys.

"Many people can't prepare the food they get without fuel to heat rice, boil macaroni, bake bread," said Peter Kessler, a U.N. relief spokesman. "The utility situation is still very grave."

Kessler said two more children had died at a mental institute near the central town of Fojnica, where 230 children and adolescents had been abandoned for three days until a U.N.-led rescue team reached them Monday.

Kessler said the two died of a virus. Two other children had been found dead from lack of care when the U.N. patrol first reached the hospital, caught in a no-man's-land between Croat and government forces.

Kessler said the aid cutoff was aggravating the plight of the other patients, many of whom suffer from dehydration and nutrition.

Bosnian Croat militia leaders, demanding intricate details about convoy destinations, have not allowed any to travel from southern Croatia to central Bosnia since Friday, severing aid to about 1 million people, Kessler said.

"They should be held responsible," he said. "They're creating a humanitarian crisis."

He accused Bosnian Serbs of orchestrating daily protest blockades by women, who have prevented convoys from reaching the besieged Muslim enclave of Gorazde for two weeks.

"These women are being brought there. They are being rotated," he said. Serb troops, meanwhile, continued to assault the enclave.

Gorazde and Sarajevo are among six U.N. "safe areas" designated special protection.

But Serbs were refusing to allow peacekeepers to deploy in Gorazde, and they have continued attacks in the Sarajevo region.

The heavy fighting and aid disruptions appeared aimed at pressuring the government into accepting a plan to divide Bosnia into Serb, Croat and Muslim mini-states.

Bosnia's collective presidency continued closed-door consultations on the crisis.

Belgian Foreign Minister Willy Claes, who holds the rotating European Community presidency, arrived in Sarajevo to meet with U.N. and Bosnian officials.

Although Serbs and Croats have borne the most blame for disrupting relief operations, Frewer said Muslim-led government troops also have blocked convoys, seeking to redirect aid.

The war erupted in April 1992 when Bosnian Serbs rebelled over Bosnia's independence from Yugoslavia. At least 138,000 people are believed to be dead or missing.

Free pesticide safety training offered workers

AUSTIN - Farm workers who want to learn more about pesticide safety are invited to a free Texas Department of Agriculture training session at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 27, in the Texas Migrant Council Head Start Center, 215 Norton St., in Hereford.

This training allows farm workers to protect themselves by working safely around chemicals and treated areas.

Workers completing the training also receive a certification in pesticide safety.

Workers will have an opportunity to ask TDA employees questions during the training session, which lasts about one hour.

"Texas is a pioneer in farm safety programs," Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said. "This training allows farm workers to keep up-to-date on the latest information about pesticides and safe ways of handling them."

The Texas Agricultural Hazard Communication Act, more commonly known as the Right-to-Know law, serves to protect farm workers when they work around pesticides.

Under this law, administered by TDA, workers must be advised about the chemicals they are working around, pesticide exposure symptoms and ways to guard against contamination.

Farmers required to comply with the Right-to-Know law must use at least 500 pounds or 55 gallons of a chemical and have an annual payroll of $50,000 for non-migrant workers or $15,000 for migrant workers in a one-year period.

After taking this course, participants receive a certification card which they can present to employers.

For more information on this program, contact the Texas Department of Agriculture at (512) 463-7622.

NFL ROUNDUP

million over four years as a free agent in 1994.

"He walked away from money that we all kind of envy," Wichard said, "simply because that isn't the world where he feels comfortable."

Vikings

Qadry "The Missile" Ismail, the younger brother of Raghib "Rocket" Ismail, signed a three-year contract with Minnesota.

"The Missile is fueled after this long layoff, and the high octane is ready to burst," said the second-round draft pick, who is expected to return kicks and play backup wide receiver.

Ruth-signed ball returned to boy

AUSTIN (AP) - An Austin boy whose autographed Babe Ruth baseball was stolen over the Christmas holidays has it back.

But now, 9-year-old Graham Williamson is keeping the ball in a bank safety deposit box.

Mona Williamson told radio station KLBJ that the family got a call Monday night, from a "guardian angel," who found the ball and wanted to return it.

Colts

Don Majkowski, a Pro Bowl quarterback in 1989 and a question mark since, signed a one-year contract with Indianapolis, which doesn't know when or if holdout Jeff George plans on reporting.

"Majik" threw for 4,318 yards and 27 touchdowns for Green Bay in 1989, but suffered a shoulder injury and lost his job to Brett Favre last season.

Giants

Lawrence Taylor, who canceled his retirement plans when an Achilles' tendon injury cut short his season last year, said he was a bit apprehensive in his comeback.

"I'm just getting my timing back down, remembering how to play blocks and getting out that initial fear of the guy coming at you," the 10-time Pro Bowl linebacker said.

The Chiefs got a scare when tight end Mike Dyal and linebacker Percy Snow collided, leaving Dyal lying nearly motionless for almost 20 minutes. He was placed on a stretcher and taken to a hospital as a precautionary measure.

Dyal was fine, but the Chiefs were left thinking about Dennis Byrd, the New York Jets' lineman partially paralyzed against Kansas City last season.

"You always think about that," said tight end Jonathan Hayes. "It's always scary at first. But Mike is going to be all right. He wanted to try to get up, but they wanted him to take it easy just in case."

Dolphins

Miami, so loaded at wide receiver it released Mark Duper last weekend, lost its second wideout in three days Tuesday when Irving Fryar went down with a strained knee. On Sunday, Mike Williams broke a finger in a bicycle accident.

Redskins

Carl Banks may not like it, but he's seen as the replacement for Wilber Marshall in the Redskins' defense.

"I don't think I'm replacing Wilber Marshall," Banks said. "I don't think of it as shoes to fill. I can only do what my abilities allow me to do - and that's going to be quite a bit."

Signings

Running back Dalton Hilliard agreed to a contract with New Orleans under which he could earn $1 million if he meets all the performance incentives.

The Pittsburgh Steelers and defensive back Deon Figures agreed to a four-year, $2.8 million contract. Figures, from Colorado, was the 23rd pick overall.

The Cincinnati Bengals signed tight end Tony McGee from Michigan, the 37th player picked overall.

The Los Angeles Rams agreed to a three-year contract with Troy Drayton, the tight end chosen with the 39th pick from Penn State.

ANSWERS TO THE QUIZ

"ALL FORDS ARE CREATED EQUAL"

OPINION:

"THE DEALERS WHO SELL THEM AREN'T"

Roy Riley, Manager
 Western Ford - Lincoln Mercury

Dear Hereford,

Many buyers today are under the impression the "Big City" dealers have a price advantage over small town dealers. That may have been true years ago, but today there are anti-trust laws which prohibit Ford Motor Co. from offering volume pricing, or inequitable freight charges among its dealers.

SO, WHAT DOES THAT MEAN TO THE DEALER? It means that whether I am a dealer who may sell 5,000 units a year, or a dealer selling 50 units a year, I pay exactly the same price per vehicle as the next guy. And furthermore, whether my dealership is one block from the factory or 1,000 miles from the assembly line, my freight charges per vehicle are the same.

SO, WHAT DOES THAT MEAN TO CONSUMERS LIKE YOU? It means that while all Fords are created equal in quality and value, "THE DEALER MAKES THE TRUE DIFFERENCE".

I believe today's customers, such as yourself, are looking for a fair price, good selection, service after the sale, and a friendly no-pressure "Western Deal".

Let me invite you to come by and test drive one of our "Western" Ford or Lincoln Mercury vehicles. I know you'll find a dealer who's single concept is to make a large enough difference to bring you back to Western Ford again, again and again.

Sincerely,

Roy G. Riley
