5-Inch Snow Is Wet, Welcome

HUDDLING TOGETHER FOR WARMTH, a flock of sparrows took over an electric line during the heavy snow here Thursday. The flock, consisting of 70 to 80 of the small birds, settled on the lines as snow covered the ground. Snow began falling during the morning and ended at nightfall. Depth of the snow was estimated at five to six inches bringing an additional .40 to an inch of moisture to the area. (Staff Photo by Gardner Collins)

Chamber Adopts 15-Point Program; Names Chairman

Meeting for the first regular meeting of the year, Directors of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Thursday night adopted a statement of objectives, approved the budget proposed for the 1963 fiscal year, and approved the nominations for committee chairmen presented by the President. The budget adopted recognizes a probable income of $41,000 of which $25,000 will come from membership subscriptions. Approved was a list of 15 objectives for the Chamber of Commerce, through its committees, to attempt to achieve in the coming year. They are listed as follows: 1. Establish a long-range planning board so that area problems may be anticipated. 2. Work with City officials to survey the needs of a growing population as to water, sewage, and street improvements and to work for those projects found to be needed. 3. Continue efforts to attract additional payrolls to the area through expansion of present industry and location of new industries.

Vegetable Meet Held Wednesday

A meeting for vegetable growers in Deaf Smith County and the surrounding area was held here Wednesday, sponsored by the Top of Texas Vegetable Growers Council. Participating in the program were Jim McHaney, Lubbock; Dr. John Larsen, extension horticulturist, Texas A&M College; Dr. Jack Kyle, Lubbock Experiment Station; Gus Roberts, Amarillo, and Raymond Higginbotham, who presided over the meeting. McHaney, a representative of

A slow-falling, heavy snow piled up to a depth of five to six inches here Thursday, adding an additional .40 of an inch of moisture to the area's official total for the year. Moisture has been in short supply here this winter as only .20 was recorded for the month of January. However, so far this month almost an inch of moisture has fallen.

The snow Thursday was the heaviest the area has received this winter. As the snow began piling up, streets within the city became slippery. During the night as temperatures dropped well below the freezing mark, streets, roads, and highways within the area became extremely hazardous.

Shortly before nightfall, slush began to freeze, covering the pavement with one to two inches of ice. Before the snow ended, icy streets and roads were covered with an additional inch of new snow.

As the snow began to accumulate in the area, school was turned out at 2:30 p. m., even though conditions had not yet become hazardous. Schools remained closed Friday.

Despite very hazardous driving conditions in the area Thursday night and early Friday, no major accidents were reported in this area. Only one very minor accident was reported during the period by Hereford Police Department.

Snow and ice in the city and surrounding area began melting and soaking into the ground about mid-morning Friday. Streets also began clearing and most were clear of ice by noon.

Following a high of only 27 degrees Thursday, the temperature dropped to a low of 11 degrees Friday. As snow and ice melted, temperatures warmed to the 40-degree mark Friday.

The heavy snow was welcomed by farmers in the area since the wheat crop has been in need of snow or rain since late fall.

During the relatively dry period which extended from late

November through January, little moisture was recorded as the grazing potential of the winter wheat crop was virtually lost to the county.

Many of the cattle which had been brought into the area for grazing were shipped out during January as moisture amounts only totaled .20 of an inch.

Extremely low temperatures, dipping to 15 below zero, are also said to have damaged the crop, but the extent of the damage has not been determined.

Wheat on irrigated land is reported to be in good condition. The condition of the dryland crop has improved considerably as almost an inch of moisture has been recorded here this month.

Heavy Snow Is Confusing To A Child

A small child, about five, got lost in the snow here Thursday.

The youngster apparently had been sent to the store to pick up a package of cigarettes for one of his parents. But in the heavy snow, he got turned around.

A teacher found the child on the street, crying because he could not find his home. She picked him up and took him to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office.

Law enforcement officers summoned aid and finally determined where the youngster lived.

He was delivered to his home safe and sound by a Hereford Police Department patrolman.

Groups Are Studying Area Daytime Child-Care Needs

Fact-finding committees are exploring the need for daytime child-care nurseries within the Hereford area. These committees are trying to determine the number of Latin-American families and residents who could use these facilities. In the first of two preliminary meetings, the idea was proposed for only migrant workers during the summer months. However, the group felt that there were enough working mothers in Hereford who would participate in the program.

Copies are being sent to Dan True, Don Peoples, KVH-TV and the U. S. Weather Bureau office in Amarillo with the hopes that they will enjoy it, too. It's all right to look at the cartoon now, but please turn back and read this column again.

Hacker's Drawings Record Flavor Of The Old West

By Wain Miller
Brand Staff Reporter
The Panhandle of Texas boasts a colorful history, but a local artist manages to capture the flavor of the West in his black- and white drawings. Drawing ink sketches as a hobby for many years, Bill Hacker of Hereford has a collection showing many of the things which residents of the Panhandle have long cherished — cattle, horses, wildlife, and people. But Hacker's collection also includes drawings of other scenes found in the western portion of the United States. Although his display of pictures is not really large in numbers, the subjects pictured do a lot to arouse interest in the culture of the West. "Drawing is something I have always liked to do," Bill stated, "but I have always done it strictly as a hobby and it seems like I can never find the time to do as much of it as I would like to do." Currently some of Bill's paintings are displayed in the county library. "I had not drawn much recently until they asked me to hang some pictures down there. So I got busy and drew some to put there," he admitted. Hacker's interest in drawing dates back to childhood, but he did not begin to do much drawing until he was about 22 years old. "I took a correspondence art course," he explained, "but I was farming at the time and never really had a chance to study it. "Since then I have enjoyed drawing," he commented. Bill's art differs from that of most local artists in that he uses only India ink. When asked what type of drawing equipment he uses, Bill reached in his desk drawer and pulled out a penstaff, a handful of pens, and a bottle of ink, all of which he gets at local stationary supply stores. "Whenever I see something I want to draw, I try to draw it," Bill stated. "Sometimes I use pictures in magazines for models, but usually I just rely on imagination." Bill's favorite pictures are of local subjects. One, showing a mounted cowboy guarding a herd of Hereford's grazing on a local ranch, seems to be a unanimous favorite of both Bill and the visitors in his home who view it. Texas Dept. Of Agriculture Has Potato Hearing

Two hearings were conducted here Thursday by Texas Department of Agriculture officials on alleged irregularities in marketing and accounting potatoes in 1961. Frank Brinkman and Joe Severance, Deaf Smith County farmers, alleged that they did not receive full payments for potatoes processed and sold for them in 1961 by a Hereford processor and shipper. The hearings were held in the County Courtroom under provisions of state agriculture regulations. In charge of the hearings was a representative of the Texas Department of Agriculture, assisted by an attorney from the State Attorney General's office. Results of the hearings are not expected to be announced for several months.

FINISHING UP a picture of a deer buck, Bill Hacker is shown along with some of the pictures which he has drawn in the past. The local artist favors subjects of a western nature, although his India ink sketches are of a wide variety of subjects. Bill has been doing this type of art for a hobby for many years.  BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — During a recent snow storm, a motorist hooked a towing chain to a ditched automobile and pulled it to the highway.

BEAUTIFUL SCENES such as the one above were the result of a 5-6 inch snow shower (that's the weatherman's term for what Hereford came under) which blanketed the county Thursday. Leaving some .40 inch of moisture for area farmers, the snow was termed by many as one of the most beautiful in recent years. Mildly cool temperatures accompanied the moisture, dropping the thermometer to near 20 degrees. (Staff Photo)

Frank Hergert Shows Film; Speaks At Kiwanis Meeting

Frank Hergert, American Field Service student at Hereford High School, spoke on the Berlin problem at the school's Key Club conducted the regular Thursday meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club.

Presiding over the meeting was Dick Combs, Key Club president. Other guests included Kay Seamands, club sweetheart, and Ronnie Gray.

To better illustrate the problem in Berlin, Hergert showed a German film titled "The Wall of Terror." Commentary of the documentary film was in German.

However, Hergert translated and explained the scenes depicted during the 20-minute movie.

The film pointed out the background of the present Berlin crisis and what had happened as the Wall was constructed by the communists in August, 1961.

In his remarks following the film, the American Field Service student from Nuremberg commented that Germany following World War II had been broken up by the Allies into five parts.

These include the Western Zone, the present West German Republic, East Germany, East and West Berlin, and East Prussia under Soviet and Polish control.

He pointed out that the Iron Curtain separating East and West Germany consists of barbed wire fences, mine fields and over 400 watchtowers.

This curtain, he continued, has been extended to separate West Berlin and East Berlin. With the building of the Wall, free travel between the two parts no longer exists.

"The problem that exists in Berlin," commented the Hereford High School senior, "is not only a German problem, but yours. We are allies and together we can resist communism."

He pointed out that if the Germans Jose West Berlin to the Russians, confidence will probably be lost in the West German Republic.

However, he remarked, West Germany is the only country in Europe strong enough to resist the encroachment of communism.

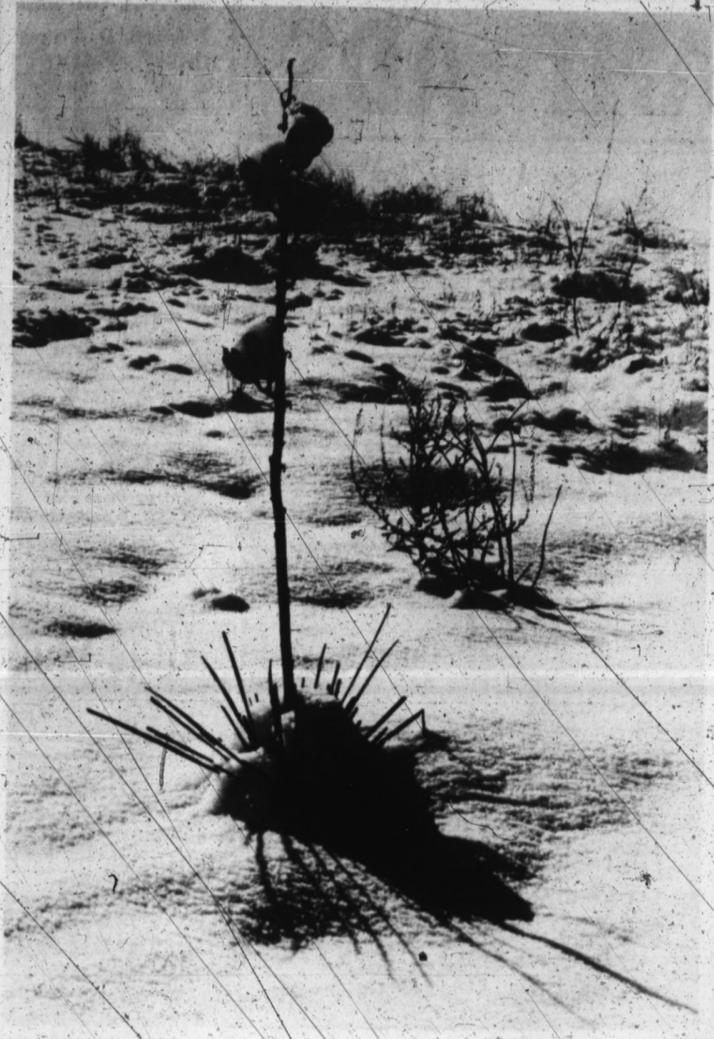

"Your can support us with too much money," said the German youth. "What we need is the support of your ideals. You gave us democracy in 1945 after the fall of the National Socialism (Nazi) regime. We still, however, need the support of your ideals."

In returning to the Berlin problem, he commented that if both parts of the city are united and are free, Germany could probably be united.

He concluded saying: "The most important part of the problem is to keep West Berlin free so that the people of eastern sector will know that we support them and to show them what democracy is."

SPEAKING ON THE BERLIN problem at the Thursday meeting of Hereford Kiwanis was Frank Hergert, (left), American Field Service student from Nuremberg, Germany. The program was presented by Hereford High School Key Club with Dick Combs (right) presiding. In his talk, Hergert pointed out that West Berlin must stay free in order that those in the eastern sector of the city may know what democracy is and what it can do. (Staff Photo)

HEAVY, WET SNOW, piling up to five to six inch depth during the day, clug to trees, fences and bushes Thursday. The snowfall, the heaviest so far this winter, sifted down during the day and ended shortly after sundown. As temperatures dropped well below the freezing mark, streets, highways, and roads became hazardous as frozen slush coated the pavement with one to two inches of ice. (Staff Photo)

CAN'T BRAG
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Michael Lombard can't take too much credit for his son, William Lombard, recently being named Rochester chief of police.
Fifteen years ago the senior Lombard gave his son some advice - not to become a policeman.

BROTHER PRESIDENTS
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Very Rev. James J. Mc Ginley, president of Canisius College in Buffalo is the brother of the Very Rev. Lawrence J. Mc Ginley, president of Fordham University in New York City.

For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake. Titus 1, 10-11.
We hear and read all kinds of things today - over the radio and TV, thru the press, from many official governmental sources, from our neighbors, and even in our churches.
Some of what we hear and read is not always the truth. Sometimes it is only a partial truth, and that can be more dangerous than an outright lie.
Do you believe everything you hear and read? Remember the "managed news" situation we just came thru on Cuba? For a while, you and I were told things that actually were not true, because we were fed only partial truths. Perhaps even now, we are again not getting the full story.
These mouths must be stopped", Paul tells Titus. How? With the truth, of course. Without fear or favor, but in love, the truth must come out.
The greatest truth that we must know and spread which solves most of men's problems is that man is a sinner and in need of God's grace in Christ. Thru the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, we receive forgiveness and love, truthfulness and care for one another. We create and build. We are helpful to one another. Thus the deceivers mouth is stopped.
THUS SAITH THE LORD!

Minstrel...

(Continued from page one) house with laughter and applause. Featured in the 1963 edition will be TWO chorus lines, the Darktown Ramblers band (which Bell insists is the best ever), the Highlanders (local pop music vocal trio), a top hat routine spotlighting a pair of high school beauties, Clyde Wilson and his Dixieland trombone, Amy Gilliland in a moving rendition of "Summertime", and the usual Lions Club chorus. And this is not to mention the End Men - Steve Bavousett, Neil Cooper, John Gilliland, Harold Kids, Albert Maxwell, and Wylie Quattlebaum—who traditionally make a practice of putting real punch into their punchlines. Lions imported Erin Wertemberger, art and drama major at West Texas State College, to take over directing a full production number. Wertemberger will also be in charge of art and sets for the affair. Bell says the Lions are tempted to make out written money-back guarantees that viewers agree that this year's minstrel will top all predecessors; however, what with the high cost of printing and all, they haven't.

Groups...

(Continued from page 1) A progress report meeting to discuss committee findings has been set for Thursday, March 14, in the 60th District Courtroom here. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. In that meeting, commented Mrs. Smith, the group will probably determine the needs of this community. If it is felt that the group should proceed, the pointed out, the type of building, program, use of state, federal or local funds will be decided.

Miss Linda Cox Weds Wendell Trammell Here

MRS. WENDELL TRAMMELL
nee Miss Linda Cox

In a formal, double-ring ceremony Friday afternoon, Miss Linda Cox became the bride of Wendell Trammell of Amarillo. The bride, now a resident of Amarillo, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Cox, 218 North 25 Mile Avenue.

The ceremony was read at 3:30 p. m. in the Avenue Baptist Church by the Rev. C. F. Powell, pastor. Baskets of flowers and two branched candelabra flanked the altar area, which was framed by an arch of greenery and white columns decorated with white chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Mrs. Cecil Trammell of Amarillo, sister of the groom, and bridesmaid was Miss Molly Davis of Hereford. They wore pale pink brocaded satin gowns with matching veils. Bill Blackburn and Don Stewart, both of Amarillo, served as best man and usher, for the occasion. Cindy Wilson, niece of the bride, served as flower girl, wearing a full-skirted pink dress. Her flower bandeau had wisps of pink veil.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length formal gown of satin with a fitted bodice and petal-point sleeves. The rounded neckline was enhanced with a lace overlay and seed pearls. A large satin bow decorated the back of the bouffant skirt and lace length tulle veil. Pink roses and white carnations atop a white Bible made the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Billy Wall, organist, played "Because," "Ave Maria," "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and Lohengrin's "Wedding March."

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. Miss Jo Heaton of Adrian and Glenna Bomar of Hereford served from the bride's table. The table was covered with a lace cloth over pink satin, with small columns entwined with white carnations and pink mums flanking the three-tiered bridal cake, which was topped by a miniature bride and groom and decorated with pink rosebuds.

For her going-away attire, the bride wore a yellow wool knit suit, matching shoes and gloves and wore a corsage of pink roses from the bridal bouquet.

The couple now is at home at 4002 Chicago, Amarillo.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Hereford High School and now is a student at the Space and Form School of Beauty in Amarillo.

The groom was graduated from Amarillo High School in 1958 and is employed by Amarillo Livestock Auction Sales.

Serving as toastmaster for the meeting was Bill Penn with Bill Thompson as the general critic. Serving as topic master was Kenneth Coker whose selected topic was animals.

Best evaluator award was won by Curtis Traweck with Hardy Benson and Thompson named as best table topic speakers.

During the business session of the meeting with Dr. M. C. Adams presiding, the membership voted to sponsor a Toastmaster's Club for women and planned a Gavel Club for high school students.

Members present included Kenneth Rudd, Coker, Rott, Penn, Flores, Benson, Traweck, Thompson, Dr. Adams, and a new member, Stan Knox.

One of them will be named Outstanding Home Demonstration Club Woman of the Year for 1962 and will receive the traditional award, given by The Hereford Brand. There will be a short program, presentation of 25-year pins and a showing of children's fashions.

MRS. RAYMOND SMITH
Ford H. D. Club

Ford Home Demonstration Club's nominee for H. D. Woman of the Year is Mrs. Raymond Smith. Being a member of the club for four years she has been an inspiration for each member to take a more active part in club work and council projects. For the past two years she has served the club as president.

Mrs. Smith has been a farm homemaker for 38 years and is the mother of three children, a daughter and two sons. Since getting her family raised, Mrs. Smith takes an active interest in community work. She also has pursued her hobbies in sewing, gardening, flower arranging, and enjoys cooking and needlework.

MRS. BERTRAM JACK
Messenger H. D. Club

Mrs. Bertram Jack is nominee for H. D. Woman of the Year from the Messenger Home Demonstration Club having had 11 years of club work.

During her years of club work Mrs. Jack has served on several committees and as club secretary and treasurer in 1961. She sponsors the Walcott 4-H Club girls and has learned a great deal in 4-H work.

In rearing her four children, Dianne, Maria, Gale and Kent, there are certain values which have not been overlooked. First, to be spiritually strong and right, and second to be busy at worthwhile things. As a family, their full support is behind all the church activities.

Mrs. Jack feels that through her H. D. work that she has learned many worthwhile things and her children have benefited from their 4-H work and can apply it with practical use.

Could Renovation Help Hereford's Appearance?

We never fail to chuckle when we think of the remark made by the late, Alec O. Thompson relative to the condition of his desk and that of Highway 60 through Hereford. Friends of Alec will remember that his old roll-top desk was always piled high with miscellaneous items, and only a magician (which apparently Alec was) could ever find anything. Particularly anything smaller than a typewriter. Highway 60 may not have been this disheveled, but certainly it was an eyesore to the city. Today, thanks to the widening of the street and a few enterprising business men, we no longer need be ashamed of our main thoroughfare.

On the other hand, we're wondering what impression our visitors get when they turn off the highway and start up North

H. D. Clubs Are Valuable Assets For This County

Improvement is a constant goal, never fully reached. Organized efforts toward this goal often have better results than individual efforts.

A case in point is the Home Demonstration work in Deaf Smith County.

On Monday, the county H. D. Council is to have its annual appreciation dinner for the Commissioners' Court and to honor one of the club members as the outstanding Home Demonstration woman for the year.

Unfortunately, only one woman is so honored each year. Actually it would not be top far-fetched to honor every H. D. club member.

These women are interested in improvement, not just for themselves, but also for their homes, their families and their communities. They take the time to study and to learn better ways.

In the past they have had talks, demonstrations and exhibits on better ways to cook and to can, on how to select clothes for themselves and their families, on first aid, on the new, synthetic fabrics and how they differ, on home and farm safety, on the value of auto seat belts, nutrition, finances and many other topics.

Deaf Smith County, with its large rural population, needs such women as these — well-trained, interested in improving themselves and others, eager to learn new things and to hear new ideas. Our rural population, to contrast to many other areas, has not declined. In fact it keeps growing larger.

Women who live on the farms and ranches are well-educated, well-dressed, informed on current events and among the leaders in both the rural and urban affairs.

We salute the Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Clubs for their achievements and urge them to still more effort in the future.

Main. We believe everyone will agree, the 100 block of Main Street is not a tourist attraction. The business buildings are run-down, and in many cases the rental income is low. At least one of the buildings is unoccupied.

But that brings us back to the proverbial question. Which came first, the chicken or the egg? Property owners tell us that present income from the business buildings do not justify additional expense for remodeling. Yet, prospective renters are not interested in locating in a block that appears to be the small town version of skid-row.

Many businesses, particularly those requiring large amounts of parking space, have moved away from main. For some, this move is ideal. Others however, need the additional walk-in traffic that can be acquired only by being located among other retail businesses. Many times their competitors are their greatest asset due to the additional drawing power for walk-in trade.

Business construction has gone about as far as it can toward the north end of the street, due largely to the location of churches and parks. Those that have tried to operate on side streets such as East and West Third have found that pedestrian traffic on these streets is lacking. Many have failed in these locations.

Of course, there has been some talk of a shopping center for Hereford, and this may be real fine. However, we've always felt that we had the best shopping center in the world right here in the downtown area. But as the city grows, we're going to need additional locations for Main Street businesses; plus, adequate parking facilities to handle the shopping traffic. All of which brings us back to the situation on the lower block of Main. It seems to us that we're letting some of our most valuable business property wither on the vine and die. Why not get a project started to revitalize this section of town? Then, perhaps we can attract more businesses and more customers for our "downtown shopping center".

English, Proper Grammer Should Be Emphaized

A basic law of physics, recalled from a brief exposure to that exacting science, is that there is an opposite effect for each action.

In many respects it seems that the hue and cry toward science, languages and mathematics may be causing an alter-effect on other aspects of education.

Specifically, we are concerned with the trend away from strong emphasis on grammer and spelling. Others, more directly involved with the field of education, also are beginning to find that over emphasis of the exact sciences is detrimental to the so-called "social studies" that include not only English, but history, civics, geography and government.

These also are important. In fact, as our world grows smaller, and associations become broader, it is even more important, to say or write exactly what we mean.

For the most part, students now seem to be further advanced for their age and grade than were their counterparts of 20 or 40 years ago. Yet, as their ability and knowledge increases, so does their pathetic inability to spell or write properly become more apparent.

Spelling can be taught properly or improperly. As those who have studied foreign languages know quite well, English is very difficult. Sometimes there is little rhyme or reason for word construction or letter arrangement. Yet, English is not impossible to learn. Those of you who have listened to spelling contests know that the art of spelling can be carried to a high degree.

Grammer also is vital. There is little reason for the sloppy usage that is so common. Nor does it impress me one bit that Webster's now sees fit to include "ain't" as a permissible word.

We are gratified that at least some educators are beginning to sound a warning against overemphasis of a few fields at the expense of others. The ideal, of course, would be the improvement of all fields, not just a few.

In the meantime, tho, weel jest havta sa that it probly aint gonno make no difference nohow.

Bureau Outline Schemes Which Victimize The Aged

Speakin before the Special Committee on Aging, Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, United States Senate, the president of the National Better Business Bureau recently outlined schemes which are currently victimizing elderly people across the nation.

Kenneth B. Wilson, BBB president whose speech appears in the February, 1963, Better Business Bureau Service Bulletin presented the following facts to the Senate committee on Jan. 16, 1963:

The records of the National Better Business Bureau reveal that our elderly citizens are muled of hundreds of millions of dollars annually by a relatively small group in business which uses advertising to deceive and defraud and by a similarly small group of confidence men which employs a variety of tricks and schemes to victimize the aged.

Older people are perhaps more vulnerable to the blandishments of drug and device quackery and food faddism because of greater anxiety concerning illness, reluctance to face doctors and apparent willingness to accept so-called natural and simple remedies. A small minority of advertisers in the health field takes advantage of these understandable fears and hopes in soliciting sales for vaunted cures for chronic illness, affecting all people but particularly the elderly, and in promoting special geriatric products.

The more prominent of such enterprises in the sale of drugs directly to the public are aimed at long-term, painful illness, such as arthritis and rheumatism, neuralgia and other muscular aches and pains; certain forms of heart disease and cancer; and the well-known ailments of old age such as generalized weakness, loss of vigor and energy, impairment of the senses, especially hearing and vision; and specific problems such as prostatic and neurologic disorders. These conditions have given rise to a variety of extravagantly advertised pain-killing pills, drugs and diets to reduce strain on the heart or to prevent arteriosclerosis, phony cancer cures and various sale-by-mail nostrums for conditions which should have competent individual diagnosis and medical care.

The nutritional quack promotes older folk, through books, lectures and local health stores, as well as by conventional advertising, a series of tonics, restoratives and shotgun remedies. Here, the vitamin-mineral supplements and special diet dealers also hold sway, exacting an estimated $500 million from the American public, including a large percentage of older people.

Mechanical, electronic and magnetic-thermal devices to relieve pain, to tone the body through massage, exercise and vibration also take their toll among many of the elderly. They are led to believe that temporary relief is tantamount to cure. Likewise, dentures, hearing aids, eyeglasses and other aids are sold under the false pretenses of offering cheap answers to conditions that require personalized professional attention.

In addition, the elderly are attracted to so-called clinics and hospitals which claim cures for all types of diseases through chiropractic and other limited-measures. They hold out hope of quick, easy painless treatment, generally provided by practitioners who are not licensed physicians.

In general, the problem in the health area is not so much outright fraud (although some remedies like sea water and sex elixirs are plainly worthless) but actual or implied misrepresentation that the products and services can do more for the elderly of our Nation than is scientifically justified.

Many of our elderly people are being muled of millions of dollars annually by a minority of real estate developers in the purchase of sub-marginal, undeveloped land in far away places, sight unseen, through false and deceptive advertising.

TAXES CUT; PAY HIKED

A ten-cent cut in the tax rate and an across the board raise in salaries for county employees featured Monday's regular session of the Hemphill County Commissioners Court. The tax cut came on a motion by Commissioner Edward Detrixhe to reduce the county ad valorem tax rate from 95 cents per $100 valuation to 85 cents. The motion was seconded and passed by a unanimous vote. The cut does not affect the special 30-cent ad valorem levy for lateral roads, which will bring the total rate to $1.15 per $100 — down ten cents from last year. The salary increases, came on a split decision with County Judge Stanford Cole casting the tie-breaking vote. The pay hike affects all county employees and officials including the commissioners.

ALL-OUT FINANCING DRIVE NEARS END

An all-out drive to complete financing on the Littlefield industrial development corporation Saturday stood at $110,000 towards a $125,000 goal, with all directors of the Chamber of Commerce active in the windup. President Troy Armes led the Chamber directors into the wind-up campaign, with industrial development chairman Jerry Sanders in a Thursday night meeting in which routine Chamber business was pushed aside. "This is the biggest thing in our program for years to come," Armes declared. He and Sanders reported strong response in favor of the industrial corporation has been received from persons contracted to subscribe to shares to complete the $125,000 company. "What we need are additional workers to complete the job of contacting everyone," Sanders pointed out.

JURY VERDICT DELAYS DRAINAGE PROJECT

Northwest Perryton drainage plans suffered a severe setback Thursday night when the city took a "non-suit" in a condemnation action for drainage right-of-way across the G. W. Powers property. When a county court petit jury brought in an award of more than $6000 for the property sought, City Attorney Robert Leman filed the "non-suit" motion before Judge Clarence Morris entered the judgement. By this action, the city declared that it no longer wished to prosecute and seek an easement across three small strips of land. City Manager J. B. Whigham Jr. said Friday morning that conferences were being held to determine what could be done to give drainage relief to northwest area residents, but that the jury's action had dealt a serious blow to plans. "We wish to assure those residents, however, that some course will be pursued to give them relief," Whigham said. "Just what will be done will be left to the City Council, of course, but the situation is being studied."

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm may be misinterpreting a law, but we aren't prepared to say.

Dear editor:

Up to now, I haven't paid too much attention to Congress' struggle to change the tax laws this year, figuring it would take its time and anyway what it has done is not as bad as what it could do.

But I read an article last night that has bowled me over and I'm coming out for some immediate changes. According to it, a Texas millionaire who owns a professional football team of Dallas has been satisfied to let the team lose an enormous amount of money for the past three years, just taking it off his income tax. But under an Internal Revenue Service law, he has only one more year to go, and if the team doesn't show a profit, he has to call it a hobby and go back and pay the taxes written off as losses the last three years.

This is a serious matter. You mean to say if I lose money four years in a row on this bindweed farm the government will call my farming a hobby and make me go back and pay income taxes on something I didn't make? Say I lost money four years in a row raising grain sorghum, you mean to say the government could claim I was raising mulo as a hobby?

This is the first time I ever knew there was a law requiring a man to make a profit. If enforcement of this thing spreads, it'll throw agriculture into a tailspin, not to say the penitentiary.

Up to now, farming was one of the few occupations where a man could lose money every year and still stay in business, and I'm appealing to you to use your influence to get Congress to repeal this law at once. Doesn't Washington know I've had a good year when I can show a smaller loss than the year before?

You set out to tell a farmer he has to make a profit or be taxed for his losses and the bottom will fall out of agriculture.

In the mean time, while Congress is getting around to changing this rule, the least Washington can do is to double my government checks, just to keep me inside the law. I'll go along with such an arrangement, and Congress can take its time on the other part.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Hereford Sky Chiefs won their first game in the YMCA League tournament in Amarillo Tuesday night, downing Pioneer Natural Gas 67 - 55. The Chiefs won the Church League division with an 11-1 victory. Their only loss was at the hands of Pioneer, whom they have now beaten twice. David Seal led the way with 28 points while Bob Shelton had 23. Each of the other Hereford players — Jim Arney, Joe Kerr, Bill Dufur and Charles Skinner — had four points.

Hereford trailed 15 - 18 at the end of the first period, but dropped in 16 points in the second period while allowing just 11 to lead 31 - 29 at halftime. They extended their lead slightly in the third period, by hitting 21. Pioneer hit 18 and trailed 52 - 47.

Hereford's defense really got tough in the final period, as the Chiefs gave up just eight points while hitting 15 for their own cause. Layne Cushenberry had 20 and Richard Sweeney 14 for the losers. Have you read the Classifieds?

Parallel Terraces, Grass Waterways Prove Valuable

Julian Perrin has just completed construction of a system of parallel terraces on his farm northwest of Simms, according to Robert L. Gray, engineer with the Soil Conservation Service in Hereford. Perrin participated in the Great Plains Conservation program in the work.

gh to allow the emptying of a diversion terrace as well as the parallel terraces into the waterway.

A diversion terrace was constructed just at the top of the steeper slope to collect water from outside the Perrin farm and direct farm and direct it to the waterway. After the outside water was taken care of, a system of four parallel terraces was installed below the diversion. All diversions in the field were filled to insure drainage of the water down the furrows instead of down the slope.

Parallel terraces are being used in all parts of the state and are fast becoming a favorite with farmers, Gray reports. Parallel terraces eliminate point rows, thus making farm operations much easier, he continued. All farming can be done on the contour with the terraces.

On small rains, each row handles its own water. This allows more of the rain to soak into the ground and not down a gully.

Parallel terraces can be constructed on almost any farm, if adequate outlets are available. These outlets may be in the form of waterways which have been sown to grass and often can be used for grazing.

Gray says that it is very important to place these waterways where they will be needed prior to the construction of terraces. In some cases, depressions in the centers of fields will make ideal waterways. If they are simply seeded to grass. After the grass is established, farm equipment may be driven across the waterways.

Gray says that there are many farms in Deaf Smith County which need terraces, and that in most cases parallel terraces can be constructed. If desired, cost-share assistance is available through the Great Plains Conservation pro-

What do you mean, "TOO COLD"?

Ice water feels fine to him. But not to you. If you're short of hot water every now and then, your whole family will appreciate an automatic electric water heater.

You'll have all the hot water you want, when you want it, for dishes, laundry and bathing.

Modern electric water heaters are the quick-recovery type. No matter how much hot water you use, there's always plenty more. An electric water heater does the job quietly, quickly, efficiently, economically. It can be installed almost any place.

An electric water heater doesn't have to be placed in the basement or an out-of-the-way place. There are no flues, vents, flames or odor to interfere with where you place it.

You can tuck it neatly away in a clothes closet or under a kitchen counter.

An electric water heater is attractive enough to be out in plain view—for everyone to see. End your hot-water worries. See your electric appliance dealer or your rural electric representative today and take advantage of the modern way to heat water.

 tising. Some of this land is on the slopes of volcanoes in Hawaii; some is in the parched deserts of the Southwest and some is in the Florida swamps; much of it is not habitable now or will it be in the foreseeable future. Many of the retirement "paradises" being offered are in desolate areas, many miles from any established community and with none of the facilities to which purchasers are accustomed, such as electricity, water, telephones, schools, stores, churches, doctors, neighbors and transportation. It would appear that many of the marginal promoters selling sub-marginal land lack the resources needed to develop these tracts.

In many instances, the promoters set up no escrow arrangement to assure purchasers that their monthly payments are safeguarded. When the bubble bursts, the elderly persons who have bought this sub-marginal land blindly for retirement havens will suffer.

Thousands of elderly persons were swindled recently by a save-by-mail scheme of certain state chartered privately insured savings and loan associations which offered very high interest rates and expensive gifts to those intrusting their savings. Following investigation by the authorities many of these institutions have been placed in receivership and some of the promoters have been charged with fraud. Instead of increasing their annual income through higher interest rates many thousands of victims are receiving no earnings and face the loss of as much as 70 per cent of their savings.

The sale of pre-arranged, pre-financed funeral plans with unsound trust provisions has resulted in severe financial losses and grievous disappointment to elderly folks and their survivors. Similarly, the purchase of cemetery lots on a speculative basis with promises of huge profits has generally not been profitable to the aged.

Many lonely old widows have been induced to deplete and sometimes exhaust their savings, by purchasing "lifetime" dancing lessons from greedy dance studio promoters. By means of high pressure, flattery and affectionate attention, con men in the dance studio business have preyed upon the loneliness of old widows and spinsters and provided them with a program whereby they may literally "dance their way to the poorhouse."

Old folks are sometimes shamefully swindled of millions, in the sanctity of their own homes, by schemesters. In the furnace field, for example, millions of dollars have been extracted from old people through the use of "scare" tactics in the sale of furnaces.

By falsely representing that old furnaces are dangerous and will "blow up," furnace salesmen have frightened old ladies into replacing useful equipment with expensive new installations they neither needed nor wanted.

 In addition, a relatively small band of itinerant confidence men constantly prey upon the gullibility of our oldsters. These crooks usually gain entry to the home by some ruse, and then victimize old people by scaring them into authorizing repairs to their roofs, chimneys, septic tanks, home wiring, etc.

whelming majority of business men in this country deal fairly and honestly with their customers, including the elderly.
 Nevertheless, because of the serious harm inflicted upon the aged and the notoriety it engenders, the stigma of shame attaches to all business. It therefore becomes the responsibility of everyone in business to strengthen the forces of self-discipline and public education to meet this problem. The exercise of this responsibility, coupled with vigorous governmental action and community endeavor, should give our aged the protection they deserve.

Their little one act play was entitled "Sign of America," and the youngsters performed like real troupes. The third grade teachers at Shirley are: Miss Walker, Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Christman.

Also on the program was Dr. Clarence Hicks who told those present of his experiences in a union-owned hospital in the coal mining region of West Virginia.

The above program was sponsored by the Americanism Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Ruth Newson is chairman.

Gamez Finishes Special School

Army 2nd Lt. Benjamin Gamez, 24, son of Mrs. Mary V. Gamez, 116 Higgins, Hereford, completed the eight-week officer orientation course at the Quartermaster Center, Fort Lee, Va., on Feb. 8.

Lieutenant Gamez received instruction in the duties and responsibilities of a newly commissioned officer in the Quartermaster Corps.

A member of Sigma Nu and Alpha Kappa Psi fraternities, the lieutenant was graduated from Hereford High School in 1958 and received his bachelor degree in business administration from West Texas State College in 1962.

ly pegged as a "doubting Thomas" when anything like this comes up; and since we were involved with other things when Marvin called and couldn't go see the fish for ourselves; and since we just naturally like fish anyhow, we're trying to wrangle an invitation from Marvin for the big fish fry that's sure to follow. After all, how else can we be sure that Marvin really caught all those fish.

Speaking of fishing reminds us of the story one of our friends told recently. It seems that this gentleman was fishing over at Buffalo and was walking around the lake looking for a frog for bait. Just as he rounded a bend in the lake he spotted a snake with a frog in its mouth. Of course, our friend caught the snake; took the frog away from it; and to compensate for stealing the frog from the reptile, he gave the critter a shot of 90 proof cough medicine that he "just happened" to be carrying in his hip pocket.

The gentleman in question then went on about his business of fishing, using his ill-gotten frog for bait, and generally enjoying the afternoon. Soon however, he felt something bump against his leg. Looking down, there was his old friend the snake with another frog.

Since the preacher is a regular reader of this column, we'll let our friend remain anonymous.

Facts—not "chin music"...
2,193 cattle furnish
"Built-in Roughage" facts!

An average of 47 actual field demonstrations show the kind of results the average feeder should expect on Purina's revolutionary "Built-in Roughage" Program with milo and cottonseed hulls, barley or ground ear corn.

Cattle (both heifers and steers) in these demonstrations were fed an average of 123 days. They went into the feedlot at an average weight of 593.3 lbs. and finished at an average of 935 lbs.

Their average daily gain for the period was 2.70 lbs. A pound of beef was produced on only 7.99 lbs. of total feed. These are facts—not "chin music".

Regardless of your feeding program—remember the supplement holds the key! Others have tried to duplicate our results—but only Purina Dealers have Special Steer Fatena, designed especially for "Built-in Roughage" feeding.
