Snow, 7 Below In Winter Blow

One Hurt In Three Wrecks As Snow, Ice Coat Streets

Three accidents resulting in one injury and heavy property damage were investigated by Hereford Police Department on Friday as bitter winter weather gripped the area.

All of the collisions occurred at intersections after noon Friday. Streets in the city were covered with snow and hazardous.

The most serious of the three accidents occurred at the intersection of West Second and Jackson about 3 p. m. as a 1962 model convertible collided broadside with a 1963 model two door sedan.

Driving the sedan was Bruce Albert Beeter, 19, 515 Irving. Driver of the convertible was Joan Hardwick Streu, 30, 130 Centre.

Injured slightly in the accident was Merle Beeter, 18, 515 Irving. She was treated at Hereford Clinic.

Following the impact, both vehicles skidded out of control. The Beeter vehicle, heading east on West Second, spun around and slid into the curb.

Meanwhile the Streu automobile, headed south on Jackson, spun around in the middle of the intersection near the point of impact.

Damage to the vehicle driven by Beeter and owned by Robert Newton, Route 3, was estimated at $550. Estimates placed damages to the Streu automobile at $275.

Mrs. Streu was ticketed for driving on a closed street. (Continued on page 8)

Sabin Sunday Is Now Set Jan. 20

Bitter winter weather is blamed for cancellation of the Sabin Oral Clinics which were scheduled for Hereford and Deaf Smith County today.

Announcement of the cancellation was made Saturday by Bruce Fink, Junior Chamber of Commerce president.

He pointed out that due to the weather the clinics to be held at Hereford High School Cafeteria and Labor Camp Hospital had been called off.

"We do not think that enough people will be able to show up Sunday to make the clinics worthwhile at the present," he commented.

"However, the clinics will be rescheduled for Sunday, Jan. 20," he continued.

The clinic had been set to administer the Type II dose of the vaccine to all county residents under the joint sponsorship of (Continued on page 8)

March Of Dimes Campaign Lists Activities Here

Deaf Smith County's annual March of Dimes is coming along very nicely, campaign chairman Pat Ferguson said Saturday.

"However, we are going to need more volunteers for the traditional 'Mothers March' next week," he said.

The Mothers March, a house to house canvass for donations, is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 21.

Several women's clubs have volunteered their services, however, more helpers still are needed in order to cover the entire town quickly, he commented.

Persons wishing to help are asked to call Ferguson at EM-4-0778 or EM-4-2276.

There are a number of entries and a lot of interest in the special March of Dimes bowling tournament being held at the Sunset Lanes.

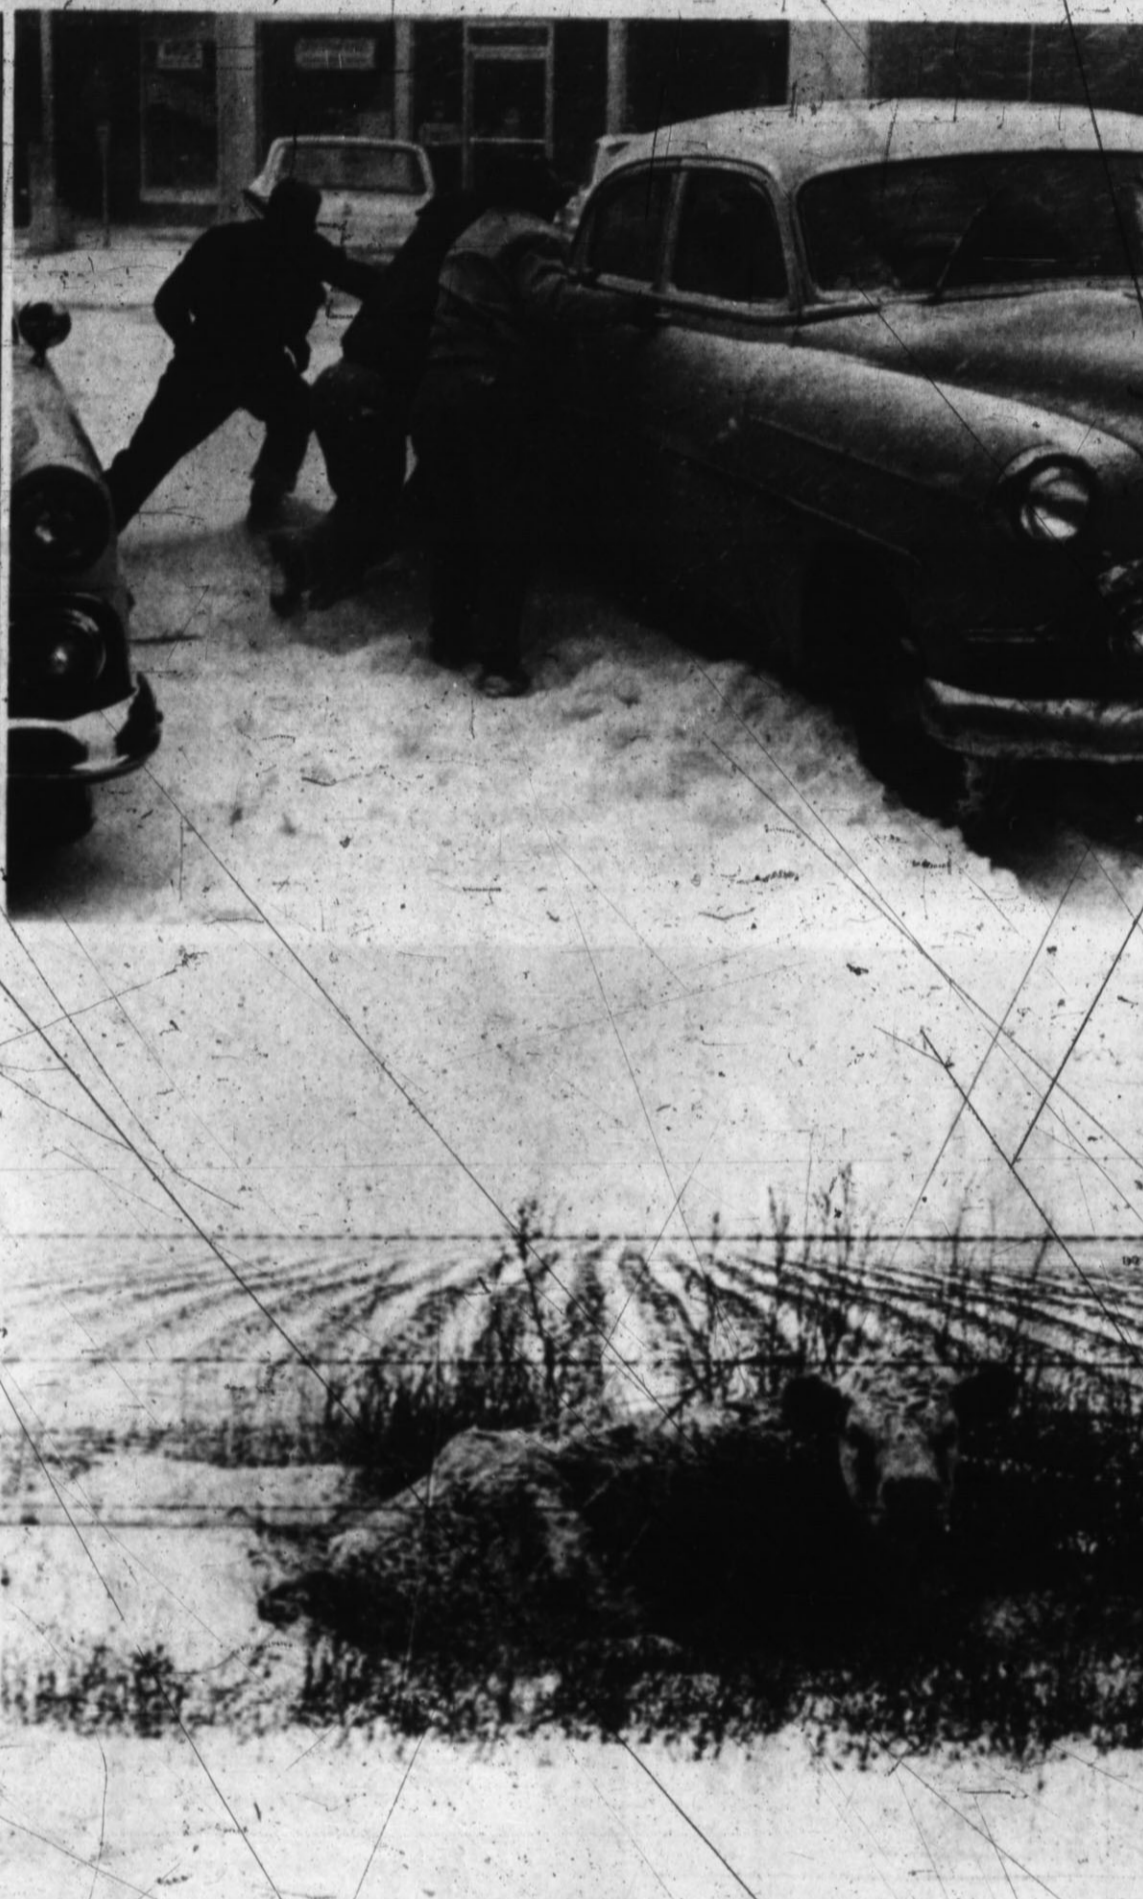

A Coffee Day, with proceeds from coffee sales going to the March of Dimes, is slated in Hereford on Saturday, Jan. 19, at most Hereford restaurants and drug stores.

A Teenage March of Dimes Dance is slated for Friday, Jan. 25, at the Hereford Community Center.

Tickets for the dance will be 50 cents with the Countdowns of Portales, N. M., playing for the dance. The affair will start at 9 p. m., lasting until midnight. It will start following the basketball game here.

Members of the Kiwanis and Key Clubs put out March of Dimes canisters in stores here earlier in the month.

Ferguson pointed out that (Continued on page 8)

Frigid arctic winds brought an end to the mild winter weather in the Deaf Smith County area as temperatures tumbled below the zero mark here Friday.

Official low temperature for Hereford was a chilling seven below zero early Saturday. Friday the high only reached five degrees as strong winds whipped heavy snow across the county area.

While Deaf Smith County residents shivered in the below zero cold, low temperatures in Alaska remained above zero. Low for Fairbanks was five; for Juneau, 22, and Anchorage, 28.

The winter storm struck the area Thursday tumbling the thermometer from a pleasant 55-degree reading to a chilling 32 in only 45 minutes.

During the night the temperature continued to plunge and by early Friday, the temperature reading stood at the zero mark.

Shortly after 8 a.m. heavy snow, driven by wind gusts up to 35 mph, began falling.

At times Friday, visibility was cut to less than two blocks within the city. Schools were dismissed at 10 a.m. due to the storm.

The heavy snow began tapering off just after noon Friday as the sun began trying to break through the heavy overcast.

Between one-and-a-half and two inches of snow had fallen bringing a total of 45 of an inch of moisture to the area.

The light powdery snow caused hazardous driving conditions within the city. All streets were covered and slick. However highways remained open.

Within the city, Hereford Police Department reported three accidents due to the icy conditions. All occurred at intersections.

As the winter storm continued to keep its icy grip on the city, all motorists were being urged to use extreme caution.

The below zero weather and slick streets caused the cancellation of the Hereford-Perryton basketball game Friday and the Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine Clinics scheduled to be held in the city Sunday.

Cancellation of the clinic was announced Saturday by Bruce Fink, Junior Chamber of Commerce president. The clinic is rescheduled for Sunday, Jan. 20.

The bitter cold weather is the worst so far this winter and is more uncomfortable than the eight below weather a year ago due to the high winds.

The snow, the third so far this winter, brought a little of the much-needed moisture to the area's wheat crop. This fall and winter have been described as "one of the driest in years" as area farmers began irrigating wheat.

Even though the moisture was needed, the bitter cold weather will probably cause some loss to the area's stockmen.

Sunday morning temperatures are expected to range down to 10 below in the area with the high Sunday predicted to reach 12 above zero.

No relief from the weather has been predicted. However, the strong winds accompanying the winter blast were expected to diminish Saturday.

Around Town

A Personal Note to Mother Nature: You didn't read my column closely last week. I said seven feet of snow, not seven below! I can take the snow without too much trouble, but this, sub-zero business is for the polar bears.

Even with our measly one to three inches of snow, I can just visualize the downstate headlines, "Raging Blizzard Strikes Panhandle". With just a little more effort, this one would have been a full-grown blizzard. It lacked a bit more snow and a bit more longevity. You really need more than 24 hours to whomp up a real blizzard. But don't misunderstand, this was plenty for a few days.

Jim McDowell is one of the most thoughtful young men we noticed around town Friday. He provided the idle farmers with something to do almost all day. He very kindly lost the instructions for erecting a very large and very complicated display stand. With almost no effort, he got lots of advice, a few worthy suggestions and even a little help from those who found themselves with nothing better (Continued on page 8)

Holt, Ballard Named To Local, District Posts

Earl Holt was named to Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District and Labry Ballard was elected to the Deaf Smith County Committee in a district-wide election held Tuesday.

Holt defeated T. L. Sparkman Jr. for the board of directors post. He will be representing Armstrong, Deaf Smith, Randall and Potter Counties on the district's governing board.

According to complete, but unofficial returns released by High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, Holt polled six votes in Armstrong County, 66 in Deaf Smith County, eight in Potter County and eight in Randall.

In the county committee election, Ballard polled 59 votes to defeat Marvis Southward.

IN BOOSTER CLUB-SPONSORED EVENT

Basketball, Of Sorts, Monday As Teachers, Civic Clubs Meet

Whiteface Booster Club once again stages its annual basketball classic double-header Monday night in the Hereford High School Gym beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Pitting the Kiwanis Club against the Lions Club and then the junior high school faculty against the high school teachers, the double-header promises lots of action.

The Booster Club stages the double-header each year in order to raise funds to use in its many projects. Funds from this year's affair are earmarked for such projects as new baseball dug-outs, chartering buses for the Whitefaces, and buying equipment for the teams.

Announcing plans for the game, project co-chairmen Albert Maxwell and Jim Arney pointed out that in past Booster Club cage games, fans have come to the gym with the idea that the tilts would provide more bally-hoo than basketball.

"Not so this year," they declare. "The teams will be out there playing 'serious' basketball."

However the Brand accepts this statement with doubts. "We have made a few alterations in the standard basketball rules," a spokesman pointed out. "In the game between the Lions Club and the Kiwanis Club, players will play with (Continued on page 8)

Perryton Tilt Delayed A Day; District Muddled

Friday night's game between Hereford and Perryton here got snowed out, but was rescheduled for Saturday night.

The game was Hereford's first conference outing, while the other teams got in games Friday night.

Before Saturday's game, Phillips and Perryton were sharing the district lead with 1-0 records. Dumas and Littlefield are now 1-1 each, and Levelland has two losses.

The Whitefaces will have six days off now before playing their second district game. They are slated to meet the Wildcats at Littlefield on Friday, Jan. 18, then go into a twice-weekly schedule.

Phillips opened its conference schedule Friday night with a convincing 48-35 victory over Levelland. And Dumas rebounded to knock off Littlefield, 76-40 Friday night after losing to Perryton Tuesday, 41-40. Littlefield whipped Levelland last Tuesday 64-57.

The Demons' surprising loss to Perryton last week put a lot of pressure on the defending state champions, who had been expected to waltz through conference play with little difficulty. It now shapes up as a battle (Continued on page 8)

Reeves Heads Firemen With Officers Named

The entire list of officers was re-elected for 1963 by members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, in an annual business meeting Thursday night.

Heading the department as Chief for the fourth consecutive year will be Dub Reeves. Also re-elected were Jap Dickerson, assistant chief; Max Stipe, secretary; and Albert Maxwell, treasurer.

Named to the firemen's pension board was Gerald Wilson. He will serve a three-year term on the board, replacing Albert Maxwell. Also serving on the board are Bill Patton and Joel Treadwell.

Captain of Company One is Gerald Hale, with Kenny Wilson the Captain of Company Two.

All officers and Captains serve one-year terms.

During the meeting, members reviewed the past year and outlined plans for continuous training during 1963.

Register 352 Animals For 17th Jr. Livestock Show

There will be 352 animals in the 17th annual Junior Livestock Show here next weekend. Advance registrations from four counties closed Thursday with slightly fewer entries in number than last year. However, quality of the show animals is expected to be higher than last year.

The animals will start coming into the Bull Barn here on Thursday with the judging slated Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 17, 18 and 19. The sale will start Saturday afternoon for the top animals in the show.

Of the 352 animals registered for the show, there are 72 calves, 78 sheep and 202 barrows. Deaf Smith County registered 25 calves, three sheep and 45 barrows for a total of 73 animals.

Parmer County sent in registrations for 17 calves, 31 sheep and 23 barrows; Castro County plans to bring 23 calves, 22 sheep and 20 barrows.

Parmer County plans to bring 121 animals, Castro County 109 and Oldham County 49.

The annual junior show and sale is sponsored by the Hereford Rotary Club. Members of the Hereford Young Farmers of America chapter have volunteered their services the past three years to assist.

Last year, the show included about 370 animals, with the record entry list in 1961, when 399 were entered.

Jack Nunley, Rotary Club president, announced the following committee assignments for the show, using Rotarians, Young Farmers, and others in the area who are interested in the 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America programs:

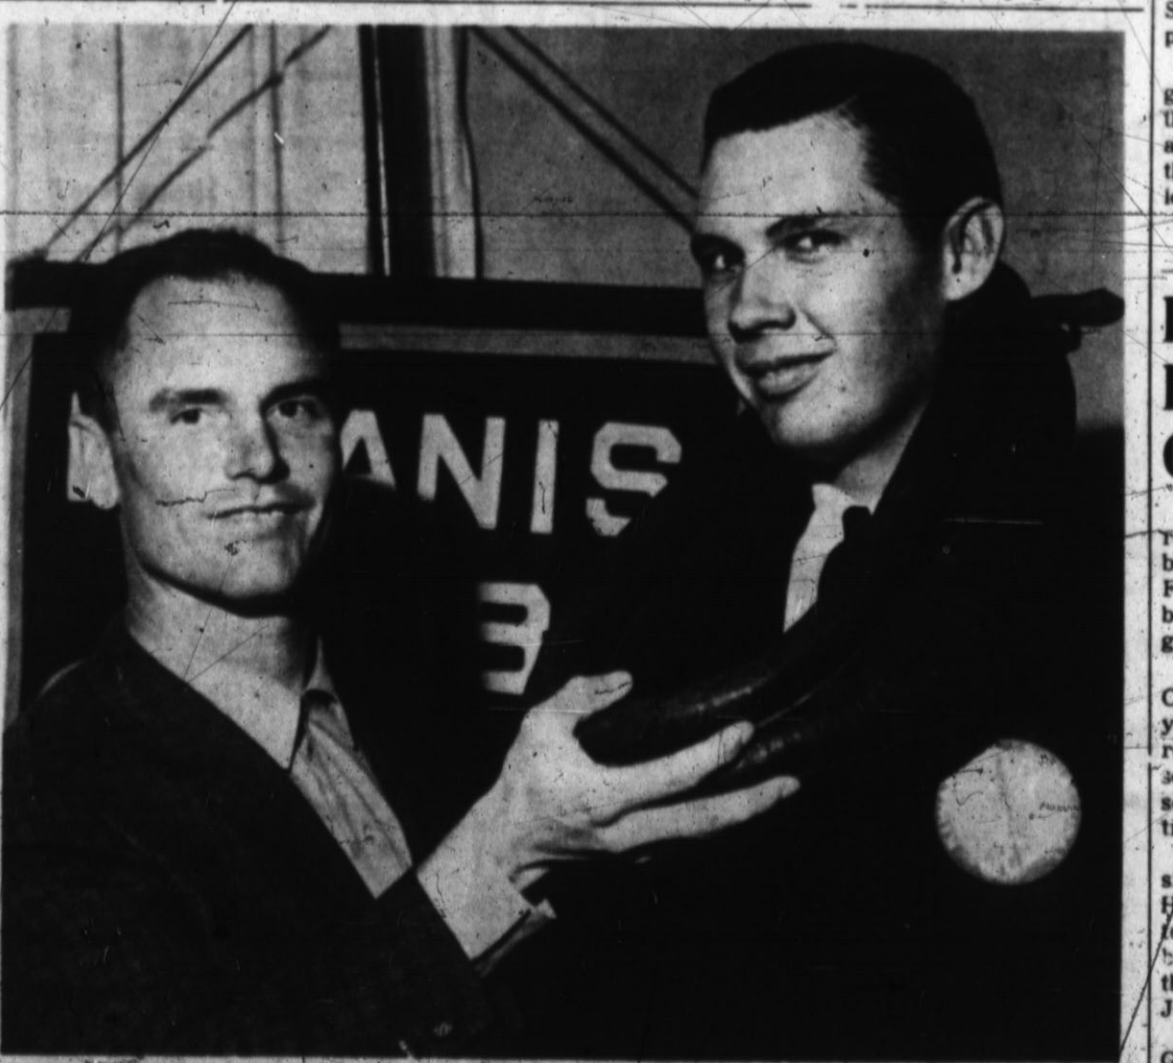

Bibbers Committee: R. C. Pfeifer, chairman; Herm a n P a t z o l d, J. W. Witherspoon, D. C. McWhorter, Henry Sears, V. O. Hennen, Pete Buske, Joel Hodges, Owen Seamonds, Jim Bob Allison, Louis Woodford, Oscar Easley, Ed McLeary of Dimmitt, Ota Dinwiddie of Hart, Hill Dameron, Frank Beizer and Bill Waldrep.

MONA'S COFFEE BREAK

Teenagers Enter A Social Work World

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of three articles by columnist Mona Jette about one of her girlhood experiences. The first appeared in the Sunday Brand on Jan. 6 and the next will be in the Brand on Jan. 20.)

Wava and I walked out the front door of the courthouse, leaving Helga behind as an overnight guest in the city jail. Helga was the itinerant immigrant who seemed convinced she would never again catch a glimpse of the outside world.

We rambled glumly down the street toward our homes, each of us silent with our own secret thoughts about the woman we had just deserted. She had seemed so helpless, so vulnerable! Not a word was spoken for three blocks; we just plodded along, inspecting our scuffed saddle shoes as though they were the most enthralling objects ever seen.

Abruptly, the silence was broken by an unladylike beeh from Wava. Looking at her, I could feel dismay staining my cheeks, like rouge applied by an unseen and inexperienced hand.

rocked gently to and fro, walking like wild branshees. After a time, we remembered where we were. Glancing around sheepishly, we helped each other to our feet; dusted off the soles of our blue jeans, and sniffed our way down the street.

Suddenly, Wava's face lit up as if she had been plugged into a light socket. Her father operated a restaurant, and she had just remembered something he had said at breakfast that morning.

"His dish washer is sick!" she yelled. We looked intently at each other, and as the idea settled itself in our heads, we grinned as we began to run madly down the sidewalk in the direction of the Texan Cafe.

Mr. Conley, Wava's father, recoiled in surprise as we exploded through the back door of the cafe, our words running a furious footrace to see which would reach him first. We bombarded him for 15 minutes with explaining, pleading, tears and wild promises. Then we were galloping back down the street that led to the courthouse...

A few minutes later we walked away from the courthouse for the last time. Wava and I had broad leers of triumph slashed across our faces. And Helga!

plaining that the dish washing job probably wouldn't last but a few days, but the money she earned would get her a little closer to New York. And as we talked to her, Helga just nodded her head jerkily and repeated: "Thanks! Thanks!"

A red and green neon sign tacked to the front of a seedy rooming house caught our attention with its blinking message: "Rooms For Rent." We entered through grimy, fly-specked glass doors, and walked across the faded and threadbare rug to the desk. A disinterested clerk shoved a passkey across the counter to me and told us to "Have a look at number seven."

The three of us walked down the dark hallway, feeling the curious gaze of the desk clerk boring holes in our backs. By the dim light of a single light bulb at the far end of the hall we finally made out which room was number seven. I unlocked the door, pushed it open and flipped on the light switch. It was a small room, stuffed to the very baseboards with an odd conglomeration of furniture in various stages of decay.

Helga seemed pleased, though, for she bent over and untying the knots which held her "suitcase" intact, she opened her Pandora's box. She withdrew her hand, revealing a picture postcard of a flashing village. "This was my home in Denmark," she explained as she walked over to the dresser and propped the dog-eared relic of her homeland against the mirror.

Wava and I stood around for a while longer, then after promising to come see her the next day, we said our good nights and left. We walked down the street in a daze, two teenage girls, feeling as tho we were a combination of the Good Samaritan, PolyAnna, a captain in the Salvation Army and an Eagle Scout.

A DISCUSSION OVER who gets the basketball finds Stanton Junior High School's Steve Hodges (25) busy trying to keep possession of the same. Fighting the spheroid are Joe Winter (33) and Jim White (99) of the Canyon Eagles. In their ninth win of the year, the Freshman Daggers gunned down Canyon by 51-45. (Staff Photo)

Seventh Wins Seventh Over Canyon Thursday

With only two more games on the schedule, the Stanton Junior High School seventh graders have an ambition to go through the entire season undefeated.

And the feat may well be accomplished, as the Dogies have chalked up seven straight wins against no losses. Canyon marked the seventh victim of the Dogies in a duel here Thursday night as Stanton dished out a 30-12 defeat to the visitors.

But the Dogies still have their two toughest foes to tangle with before the season ends. Gattie Junior High of Clovis was slated to come to Hereford Saturday. Then the Dogies close out their season against Coronado Junior High at Plainview on Thursday, Jan. 17.

Playing host to the Canyon Eagles here Thursday night, the Dogies had little trouble creating a 30-12 victory for their record books.

Led by Johnny Cornelius who ripped in 15 points, the Dogies went ahead for keeps only minutes after the game opened. After trailing momentarily by 5-1, the Dogies accelerated to a 7-5 lead before the first quarter ended. Sidney Shaw, Cornelius, Gary Goodin, and Jimmy Childers all tallied during the period.

Then the Dogies powered further into the lead while limiting Canyon to only one point in each of the two following quarters.

Cornelius netted five points in the second round, while Jerry Fowlkes got two and Shaw added a free throw to put the Dogies well ahead by 15-8 at the half.

Lenny Petree led off with a two-pointer for Stanton as the second half opened and then Ren Lee converted a free throw. Scores by Childers, Cornelius, and Fowlkes placed the Dogies well out of reach of the low-flying Eagles.

Stanton led 24-7 entering the fourth stanza, and then coasted in for the win. All scoring duties in the last quarter went to Cornelius, who burned in six for the Dogies. Canyon put through a futile five final points, but lost 30-12.

Mrs. Phillips Hostess For Lone Star Club

Mrs. Earl Springer, school nurse, was the featured speaker for the meeting of the Lone Star Study Club on Tuesday, Jan. 8, in the home of Mrs. Coy Phillips.

Mrs. Springer told of her duties as a school nurse, which includes lectures on basic rules of good health in each of the seven schools. Students in the elementary grades and Junior High School are given vision examinations, hearing tests and other health examinations. Parents are notified if any health problem is detected.

Among some of her other duties are the courses that she teaches on Mother - Child Care and Family Living in the High School. These duties keep her very busy, not only during school, but at other times, too.

Edgar A. Guest's poem "When You Get To Know A Fellow" was read by Mrs. Opal Bookout.

Plans were made during the business meeting, presided over by the president, to assist other clubs in the March of Dimes.

Those attending the meeting were: Mesdames R. G. Blue, Opal Bookout, L. L. Chisum, V. E. Dodson, H. E. Hensler, Jim Higgins, John Jacobsen, C. D. Kelton, Vivian Major, Coy Phillips, Earl Springer, S. S. Williams, Robert Thompson and W. S. Fluitt.

La Afflatus Club Has Tuesday Meet

Mrs. B. A. Reddell was hostess to the La Afflatus Estudio Club that met on Jan. 8 at 3 p. m. Mrs. B. F. Markham read the club collect. Members answered the roll call with New Year's Resolutions.

An interesting program was given by Mrs. Emmitt Hale on "Missionary Work of Gladys Aiyward in China."

Those present for the meeting were: Mesdames Emmitt Hale, A. B. Higgins, B. F. Markham, A. A. Cook, George Suggs, Wiley Roberson, A. N. Hopson, C. E. Johnson and one guest, Mrs. Dexter Fincher, with the hostess, Mrs. Reddell.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

Condottiere by Jan Westcott is an historical novel, but different from most of those that go under such a title.

The author has previously written six other historical novels, most of them about England or Ireland.

This time he shifts his setting to Italy in the 13th Century. His hero, Bartolommeo Colleon, was a real person. That much is known. But Westcott has taken a few basic facts and woven an unusual story.

Colleon was the son of a wealthy feudal lord, who was assassinated by jealous cousins. When he was three he had seen fire and death ravish the castle of his birth. When he was eight, his father was killed.

He escaped, the only survivor of his family, and lived for several years with an old schoolmaster who educated the youth. But he was seized as a hostage and thrown into prison. Upon the whim of a prince, he was released and reared as a nobleman.

But when he was 16, he saw his patron murdered and again escaped. He was alone and penniless, but determined to become the most powerful man in Venice.

For such a youth - short on family and funds - it was a matter of depending upon his skill, daring and courage.

Colleon hired out as a mercenary soldier and learned his trade - quietly and well. Soon he headed his own band and sold his services and the swords of his men to the highest bidder.

In one instance, he was sought desperately by a family which was short on cash. So they gave him the golden-haired Madonna Tisbe, much against her will.

Their marriage was a matter of convenience for both for some time. Colleon continued to roam far and wide, gaining fame as he went. What he often lacked in manpower, he made up in imagination and daring. His exploits became widely known as he increased his holdings and his powers.

Only when he matched himself against the lovely Tisbe did he find that he had met his match.

Little has been written about this period of history in Italy, when the separate feudal states were warring among themselves and a distinctive culture was beginning to emerge. Jan Westcott has handled the period nicely in Condottiere.

The book is available at the Deaf Smith County library.

Teenagers Enter A Social Work World

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of three articles by columnist Mona Jette about one of her girlhood experiences. The first appeared in the Sunday Brand on Jan. 8 and the next will be in the Brand on Jan. 29.)

By Mona Jette
Wava and I walked out the front door of the courthouse, leaving Helga behind, as an overnight guest in the city jail. Helga was the itinerant immigrant who seemed convinced she would never again catch a glimpse of the outside world.

We rambled glumly down the street toward our homes, each of us silent with our own secret thoughts about the woman we had just deserted. She had seemed so helpless, so vulnerable! Not a word was spoken for three blocks; we just plodded along, inspecting our scuffed saddle shoes as though they were the most enthralling objects ever seen.

Abruptly, the silence was broken by an unladylike belch from Wava. Looking at her, I could feel dismay staining my cheeks, like rouge applied by an unseen and inexperienced hand. Her narrow shoulders began to twitch, her childish flat chest commenced to heave with ungovernable spasms. Then, like a sheet yanked off a clothesline by a high wind, she fell to the sidewalk in one swift, flowing movement, elbows and knees jutting out at awkward angles. Deep, convulsed sobs spewed out in spurts between the fingers of a hand I had clamped over her mouth to smother her cries.

It was more than I could bear! With a little whimper, I slumped down beside her. Had any one passed at that moment, they would have blinked their eyes in disbelief at the two teenagers squatting on the sidewalk, arms clenched tightly around each other as they rocked gently to and fro, walling like wild branshees.

After a time, we remembered where we were. Glancing around sheepishly, we helped each other to our feet, dusted off the seats of our bluejeans, and sniffled our way down the street.

Suddenly, Wava's face lit up as if she had been plugged into a light socket. Her father operated a restaurant and she had just remembered something he had said at breakfast that morning.

"His dish washer is sick!" she yelled. We looked intently at each other, and as the idea settled itself in our heads, we grinned as we began to run madly down the sidewalk in the direction of the Texan Cafe.

Mr. Conley, Wava's father, recoiled in surprise as we exploded through the back door of the cafe, our words running a furious footrace to see which would reach him first. We bombarded him for 15 minutes with explaining, pleading, tears and wild promises. Then we were galloping back down the street that led to the courthouse and Helga.

A few minutes later we walked away from the courthouse for the last time. Wava and I had broad leers of triumph flashed across our faces. And Helga!

She paused and drew a deep, shuddering breath that could only have originated from the very soles of her silly white enameled oxfords. It was the breath of a free woman, one who had convinced herself that she would never see the light of day again.

We walked for blocks, searching for a small hotel where Helga could stay for an equally small price. Mr. Conley had contributed ten dollars to the cause, which Wava held clutched tightly in a hot, perspiring hand. As we passed the Texan Cafe, Wava pointed it out to her, explaining that the dish washing job probably wouldn't last but a few days, but the money she earned would get her a little closer to New York. And as we talked to her, Helga just nodded her head jerkily and repeated: "Tanks! Tanks!"

A red and green neon sign tacked to the front of a seedy rooming house caught our attention with its blinking message: "Rooms For Rent". We entered through grimy fly-specked glass doors and walked across the faded and threadbare rug to the desk. A disinterested clerk shoved a passkey across the counter to me and told us to "Have a look at number seven."

The three of us walked down the dark hallway, feeling the curious gaze of the desk clerk boring holes in or backs. By the dim light of a single light bulb at the far end of the hall we finally made out which room was number seven. I unlocked the door, pushed it open and flipped on the light switch.

It was a small room, stuffed to the very baseboards with an odd conglomeration of furniture in various stages of decay. Dinky lace curtains hung lifelessly at the single window and a heavy odor of past inhabitants (obviously unwashed) and the stench of dead aspirations assaulted our nostrils with a musty sting.

Helga seemed pleased, though, for she bent over and untying the knots which held her "suitcase" intact, she opened her Pandora's box. She withdrew her hand, revealing a picture postcard of a fishing village. "This was my home in Denmark," she explained as she walked over to the dresser and propped the discarded relic of her homeland against the mirror.

Wava and I stood around for a while longer, then after promising to come see her the next day, we said our good nights and left. We walked down the

Seventh Wins Seventh Over Canyon Thursday

With only two more games on the schedule, the Stanton Junior High School seventh graders have an ambition to go through the entire season undefeated. And the feat may well be accomplished, as the Dogies have chalked up seven straight wins against no losses; Canyon marked the seventh victim of the Dogies in a duel here Thursday night as Stanton dished out a 30-12 defeat to the visitors. But the Dogies still have their two toughest foes to tangle with before the season ends. Gattie Junior High of Clovis was slated to come to Hereford Saturday. Then the Dogies close out their season against Coronado Junior High at Plainview on Thursday, Jan. 17. Playing host to the Canyon Eagles here Thursday night, the Dogies had little trouble creating a 30-12 victory for their record books.

Mrs. Phillips Hostess For Lone Star Club

Mrs. Earl Springer, school nurse, was the featured speaker for the meeting of the Lone Star Study Club on Tuesday, Jan. 8, in the home of Mrs. Coy Phillips.

Mrs. Springer told of her duties as a school nurse, which includes lectures on basic rules of good health in each of the seven schools. Students in the elementary grades and Junior High School are given vision examinations, hearing tests and other health examinations. Parents are notified if any health problem is detected.

Among some of her other duties are the courses that she teaches on Mother, Child Care and Family Living in the High School. These duties keep her very busy, not only during school, but at other times, too. Edgar A. Guest's poem "When You Get To Know A Fellow" was read by Mrs. O'Neil Bookout.

Plans were made during the business meeting, presided over by the president, to assist other clubs in the March of Dimes.

La Afflatus Club Has Tuesday Meet

Mrs. B. A. Reddell was hostess in the La Afflatus Estudio Club that met on Jan. 8 at 3 p. m. Mrs. B. F. Markham read the club collect. Members answered the roll call with New Year's Resolutions.

An interesting program was given by Mrs. Emmitt Hale on "Missionary Work of Gladys Aiyward in China." Those present for the meeting were: Mesdames Emmitt Hale, A. B. Higgins, B. F. Markham, A. A. Cook, George Suggs, Wiley Robertson, A. N. Hopson, C. E. Johnson and one guest, Mrs. Dexter Fincher, with the hostess, Mrs. Reddell.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK
Condotiere by Jan Westcott is an historical novel, but different from most of those that go under such a title.

The author has previously written six other historical novels, most of them about England or Ireland. The time he shifts his setting to Italy in the 13th Century. His hero, Bartolomeo Colleoni, was a real person. That much is known. But Westcott has taken a few basic facts and woven an unusual story.

Colleoni was the son of a wealthy feudal lord, who was assassinated by jealous cousins. When he was three he had seen fire and death ravish the castle of his birth. When he was eight, his father was killed. He escaped, the only survivor of his family, and lived for several years with an old schoolmaster who educated the youth. But he was seized as a hostage and thrown into prison. Upon the whim of a prince, he was released and reared as a nobleman.

But when he was 16, he saw his patron murdered and again escaped. He was alone and penniless, but determined to become the most powerful man in Venice.

For such a youth - short on family and funds - it was a matter of depending upon his skill, daring and courage.

Colleoni, hired out as a mercenary soldier and learned his trade quickly and well. Soon he headed his own band and sold his services and the swords of his men to the highest bidder.

In one instance, he was sought desperately by a family which was short on cash. So they gave him the golden-haired Madonia Tisbe, much against her will.

Their marriage was a matter of convenience for both for some time. Colleoni continued to roam far and wide, gaining fame as he went. What he often lacked in manpower, he made up in imagination and daring. His exploits became widely known as he increased his holdings and his powers. Only when he matched himself against the lovely Tisbe did he find that he had met his match. Little has been written about this period of history in Italy, when the separate feudal states were warring among themselves and a distinctive culture was beginning to emerge. Jan Westcott has handled the period nicely in Condotiere. The book is available at the Deaf Smith County library.

REALISTIC CENTENNIAL
MEMPHIS (AP) — In observing the centennial of the Civil War battle of Memphis, a local newspaper carried first-hand accounts of the famous event. Apparently they were a little too vivid for one youngster.
After reading one particularly exciting edition, the frightened boy ran to awaken his mother, waving the paper and clearly prepared to run for his hills.
"Mommy," he yelled, "are the Yankees really coming?"

Reader Training Program Improved By New Machine

A controlled reader has recently been purchased for use in the developmental reading program in Stanton Junior High. This device is essentially a 35mm filmstrip projector which presents reading material at controlled rates in either a left to right fashion or line by line.

During controlled reader training, a moving spot travels across the screen from left to right, covering and uncovering reading material as it goes. The reader may stop and start projection for vocabulary presentation or oral reading; or she may present material for silent reading at automatic rates of from 60 to 1,000 words per minute.

The controlled reader is being used at seventh and eighth grade levels. After three trial sessions, the students grouped themselves according to the speed by which they could maintain eighty percent or above comprehension.

A typical controlled reading lesson plan consists of six parts: establishing experience background, introducing the vocabulary, motivating interest in the story, reading the story, checking comprehension, and carrying out follow-up activities. While one group reads the story silently the other students are doing work in their basic reader or doing enrichment reading.

A comprehension check is made immediately after the silent reading period. Before the class period is over the class is brought back in one group and discusses the story and finds out why a question was missed. Follow-up activities are usually done as a class group. It is at this time that the student gets training in word analysis and phonics.

There are three stages of training in controlled reader instruction: (1) developing functional and perceptual skills; (2) improving comprehension and associational skills; (3) stabilizing gains.

The controlled reader is most helpful in improving eye coordination and mobility. As a result of the moving spot, the student is encouraged to approach the line of print in a more orderly and sequential manner and is discouraged from regressing. This machine serves as a motivating influence and demands complete attention. Because rereading is impossible students learn how to focus their attention and develop the habit of concentration while reading.

As the student learns to read more rapidly, he is, in essence, learning to think more rapidly. Vocabulary is stressed every day. New, technical and above level words are introduced and studied with each film.

Throughout the story filmstrips, the student is asked to generalize, to relate, to associate style and structure, to appraise and judge, and to draw conclusions. This, he grows in his ability to respond creatively to the information provided.

Even though it is too early to measure the complete success of controlled reading, progress can be seen among some students even in the short time of use. For instance, one student who was reading 130 words per minute with only 80 percent comprehension in September is now reading successfully at 200 words per minute with an average of 85 percent comprehension.

Another student who was reading 96 words per minute with 70 percent comprehension is now reading junior high level (Continued on page 7)

Honor Students Selected By Homerooms At Stanton

Each six weeks the student body elects a student of the six weeks. It is a very high honor to be a student of the six weeks.

In order to be a student of the six weeks, the student must have the following qualifications: a "B" or better average in grades, no "U" in citizenship, good attitude toward teachers and school, participate in school activities, friendly to all members of the student body, and have had no disciplinary corrections made in the office.

The homerooms had a great deal to do with selecting the student. Each homeroom voted on a student. They had to keep in mind all of the qualifications and not pick a person just because they liked him. After the homeroom members selected one student the homeroom representatives met together to select three from each grade before finally electing the one student of the six weeks.

The three finalists from each grade were Patsy Smith, Jerry Kendrick and Jimmy Childress from the seventh grade; Charlotte Babione, Jimmy Allison and Gary Story from the eighth grade; and Linda Rickman, Randy Tooley and Wynn Buck from the ninth grade.

The students for this six weeks are, Patsy Smith, seventh grade; Gary Story, eighth grade; and Linda Rickman, ninth grade.

Patsy Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith. She is a member of the Junior Red Cross and attends all the pep assemblies and school games.

Gary Story is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Story. He is a member of the eighth grade basketball team.

Linda Rickman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Rickman. She participates in many of the school activities.

The three students were very surprised and honored to have been chosen as the student of the six weeks.

Microphones Are Installed In Auditorium

The students of Stanton Junior High are proud to have three new microphones on the stage. These microphones are suspended from the top of the stage and are spaced to pick up voices from all parts of the stage. They may also be raised or lowered to suit the type of program being presented.

Purpose of these microphones is so that the sound will carry throughout the auditorium without standing immediately in front of the microphone.

These microphones were purchased with money from the all school plays that have been presented over the past two years. The plays were presented by students of Stanton Junior High under the direction of Mrs. Betty Mercer and Mrs. Norma Gripp.

The microphones were installed by the late Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Frank Robbins of the Frio community.

'Greenhands' Busy Working Towards Farming Degree

Vocational Agriculture is offered to boys in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. It is necessary for the boys to have a supervised farming program under the direction of the vocational agriculture teacher in order to become vocational agriculture students.

The first year in vocational agriculture is very important in laying out the plans for each boy. Many awards and accomplishments may be earned by a good project program. Much practical information is learned "first hand" as the boys care for animals or crops. Accurate records are kept concerning the supervised farming program throughout the years.

The scope of the various projects and the accuracy of records is an important step in achieving the degrees of the Future Farmers of America. To achieve the Chapter Farmer Degree, a boy must show a $50 profit on his project; $500 to achieve the Lone Star Farmer Degree; and $1,000 to receive the highest award given to an FFA boy, the American Farmer Degree. The first year as "Greenhand" is important for preparing plans to achieve these degrees.

The Greenhands of Stanton Junior High are to be commended on their project programs. Boys working on a supervised farming program of pigs for pork production are as follows, along with the number of pigs they are raising: Roy Carlson, 2; Duane Diller, 13; Ricky Fangman, 3; Joe James, 2; Jesse Janek, 1; Richard Kuper, 4; Johnny Mars, 2; Jimmy Campbell, 3; and Willie Stewart, 1.

The following boys are working on steers for beef production: Johnny Gilbert, 1; Norman Harder, 1; Donny Eiland, 2; Larry Clements, 4; and James Short, 1.

Wayne Reinart's project is one gilt for development; Ronnie Owens, five acres of wheat for grain production; Virgil Barber, two cows for calf production and two calves for beef production.

Gary Clements, two steers for beef production, one heifer for development and one cow for calf production; Jimmy Gutierrez, one steer for beef production and one heifer for development. (Continued on page 7)

Fodder Box

The men of the junior high faculty have been hard at work or should I say hard at practice. Monday night, Jan. 14, the Stanton faculty will meet the high school faculty on the basketball court. Stanton's cagers will be trying to repeat the victory which they won last year over the high school faculty.

The junior farm skill team entered the area contest in Plainview recently and placed second in the contest. They earned the right to enter the contest by winning first place at District contest in Dumas earlier this fall. The team members were Duane Diller, Jesse Janek, and Dan McWhorter.

Mrs. Wertenberger's art classes had their annual Christmas parties last month. These parties are given to teach correct manners as well as art. Four students were assigned to each table at the first of the six weeks. Each group made napkins, place cards, favors, a center piece, and a table cloth for its table. Before each party, Mrs. Wertenberger looked over the work and effort that had been put into them. Then she graded them accordingly. For refreshments Mrs. Wertenberger made assorted cookies and candies and also furnished soft drinks.

The F. H. A. girls of Stanton Junior High are sponsoring a chili supper for the benefit of the F. H. A. exchange student program. It will be held in the high school cafeteria on Jan. 26. The chili supper will begin at 5:30 and continue until 8 p. m.

The F. H. A. Girls are selling tickets which are one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children.

Eighth grade students have been quite busy. All of them have been writing themes on communism. They had to have several sources and most of them were one thousand words in length. These themes dealt with how communism violates the natural laws of man and (Continued on page 7).

Special Class Helps Students

The special education program in Stanton Junior High is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Lou Knox and Mrs. Mary Carter.

In addition to the regular class work the students may enroll in choir, physical education, home making, shop, or arts and crafts. The special education program is designed to meet the needs of each individual student. As much as possible, opportunities are offered the girls in learning to sew and mend and for the boys work in crafts and shop. These skills will help students in a more practical way.

The program is designed to help the students to develop responsibility and wholesome attitudes that will be of benefit to them in later life.

Sale Of Products Nets Funds For FHA Members

The Stanton Junior High Chapter of the F. H. A. met Tuesday morning in the auditorium. The meeting was brought to order by Barbara Rhodes who turned the meeting over to Mrs. Wilma Bryan. Mrs. Bryan then presented the gifts which the girls had won for the selling of household and beauty products during the month of November.

The girl who received the first place was Peggy Le. She won a hair dryer for selling $161.18 worth of products. Second prize, a vanity set, went to Annelise Kovacs. Third prize, a cosmetics set, went to Armandine Valdez and Lois Bosley.

Also part of the earnings will go to the foreign exchange student fund.

A Tribute To Mr. Baldwin

A great educator, philosopher, teacher, minister and humanitarian has been taken from our midst. Stanton Junior High was saddened by the death of Mr. B. H. Baldwin, school counselor.

Thank you, Mr. Baldwin, for your friendliness, cheerfulness, and for being so understanding, patient, and ready to give encouragement which made students feel free to talk to you. You always seemed to have time to listen to our problems and help us solve them.

You did odd jobs which no one else had time to do. For example, in our last assembly, Mr. Quattlebaum thanked you and Mr. Robbins for installing the microphones to improve the acoustics in our auditorium. Although you were interested in our school work, you guided us in our spiritual life too.

Your influence will continue to live in the hearts of all who knew you for many years.

Junior High Red Crossers Continue Work

The executive meeting of the Junior Red Cross met Tuesday, Dec. 4.

The first project committee is making favors for the King's Manor and the local hospital.

The second project committee is making chess and checker games for the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo. It is making favors for Valentine and for Easter also. The special committees of the executive committee are music, sports, school, different organizations, and art pictures made by the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students. These committees are collecting articles for the scrapbook.

The Red Cross does not know where it will send the scrapbook this year. This will be our fourth scrapbook exchange. The Junior Red Cross now has in the Stanton library scrapbooks from Japan, Thailand and France.

Four Of Faculty Are Interviewed

This is the last in a series of articles and pictures introducing the new teachers at Stanton Junior High.

Mrs. Harley B. Carter, or Mary Carter as she is known to some around Stanton, is one of the special education teachers. This is her first year of teaching in the Hereford schools.

Before coming to Stanton she taught in Dumas. Mrs. Carter calls Adrian her home town, but has made her home in Hereford since her marriage this past summer. Her hobbies are sewing and sports.

Mrs. Mary Lou Knox is also a new teacher and teaches special education. She attended Oklahoma State University and received her Bachelor of Science degree from West Texas State. Mrs. Knox stated "Teaching was a life-long ambition and it is a pleasure to teach at Stanton." Mrs. Knox has four children:

Ralph, Rosemary, Rosalind and Ray. Her hobbies include reading, crossword puzzles, and sewing.

Mrs. Roy Hartman is the new librarian at Stanton. She attended Panhandle A & M College and West Texas State, where she received a Bachelor of Science degree.

Before finishing the requirement for a degree, Mrs. Hartman worked in an office. She states that she enjoys teaching more than office work. Her hobbies are sewing for daughter Angela, age three, and trying out new recipes.

Clyde Wilson is the Stanton Junior High band director. He attends school at West Texas State and will receive his degree in May. Mr. Wilson was in the band at West Texas and also plays in the Amarillo Symphony. His hobbies are golf and water sports. Midland is "home" for Mr. Wilson.

Dogie Dodges Behind Scenes

More than 150 students are working on the Red Cross this year.

The newspaper staff of Stanton decided to follow someone around secretly for one week. Let's look behind the scenes and try to guess who it is.

Math: she did pretty well if she would look to see what problem she was marking wrong - it seemed she had trouble keeping her eyes on the paper.

Choir: she has a real nice voice but please tell her to stay on the right verse! I feel sure Mr. Hopp would agree with this.

Speech: after reaching the classroom she talked and combed her hair before the bell rang. She spent much time talking to Charlotte Hill, Chris Meredith and Bob Gentry.

English: not bad, even though she did talk to a certain someone. She can ask Charlotte B. about this.

History: she usually talked to everyone who might know the answers to a test. Her most frequent comments were "This is rough" or "Please hurry! I've got to study!"

Even though this may have made her sound flighty, she is really a great girl to know and we really enjoyed following Becky Higgins.

The Stanton Junior High vocational agriculture class has on record 53 pigs, 41 cattle, one lamb, seven acres of wheat and 15 acres of milo.

Fire losses have increased 6 per cent for the first three months of 1962 over the first three months of 1961.

(Continued from page 6) those of God. Everyone appeared worried about completing the theme. Many of the students used the public library as well as the school library. Students complained that it was a job to write the themes, but now the teachers must grade all of them!

Attendance records for Stanton is not quite as good as the first six weeks; however, this was expected with the coming of the winter weather. The seventh grade, with a total enrollment of 254 and the ninth grade, with a total enrollment of 235, each had 96.3 percent attendance. The eighth grade, with an enrollment of 240, had a 95.6 percent attendance. The entire school has a 96 percent attendance for the second six weeks.

Miss Sargent has just completed her student teaching in Mrs. Ratcliffe's room. Miss Sargent is from Stinnett, Tex., and plans to teach English and Spanish.

This is just a sample of some of the programs which are presented within the individual homerooms:

Jimmy Young, vice president of Mrs. Collier's homeroom, is in charge of the weekly homeroom program.

Panel discussions are on schedule; these include, "Boys, What do you think about the girls' hairstyles?" and "Sportsmanship and the importance of sports in the school." A discussion on manners has been presented. This pointed out a number of things which were badly needed.

Filmstrips have also been shown. Included were "Which College for Me?", "Do You Win Arguments and Lose Friends?", "Your School Record is Important" and "Getting The Most Out of High School". These films show how school influences your future. The students voted "Which College for Me?" as the most interesting filmstrip.

The panel discussions were favored over the filmstrips. The filmstrips used are property of the school and may be checked out at the library.

BUS GOT TO TEXAS ON ROUNDABOUT ROUTE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A former Fifth Avenue bus from New York, vintage 1925, is one of the attractions this year at Six Flags Over Texas, a recreation spot between Dallas and Fort Worth.

The 67-seat bus, which has a top speed of 44 miles an hour and gets three and a half miles to the gallon, was purchased from a Houston collector who had procured it from a Hollywood movie studio.

The bus will be used as a shuttle between the 310-acre Six Flags Park and Six Flags Inn.

The benefits of this program have been reflected in other ways. Interest has increased because some students are feeling success in reading for the first time and are beginning to know the joy which comes through reading.

Students come into the classroom with a smile and ask, "What is the story about today?" What an incentive to the teacher!

MINDS ON JUST ONE TRACK

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Whenever the horses are running at Churchill Downs, the fever seems to hit almost everyone. Rena M. Hamelfarb, a New Yorker who stopped here on business, called the hotel switchboard to inquire about the weather. "It's going to be hot and rain-

STRETCHING FOR THE BALL a group of freshmen basketball players find it just out of everyone's reach. In on the action here Thursday night were Mike Moore (23) and Randy Tooley (42) of the Stanton Junior High School Dogies, and Earl Winn (88), Gregg Haley (44), and

Jim Hawkins (11) of the Canyon Eagles. Stanton chalked up their ninth win of the season over Canyon, and have had only two losses thus far in the year. Next game for the Dogies will be at Plainview on Jan. 19. (Staff Photo)

STICKING TOGETHER in an attempt to keep warm, these Herefords near Hereford find the grazing somewhat hampered. Although the area recorded record-low temperatures, livestock damage was small due to the advanced warning concerning the approach of the cold wave. (Staff Photo) certain restrictions.

In order that the game may provide more interest for the spectators, the squads will play as normal - except for the following exceptions: (1) In the first quarter, players may not shoot with the hand which they would normally use for this purpose;

(2) In the second quarter, players may use the normal hand for shooting, but are requested not to dribble the ball;

(3) During the third quarter, players may not dribble or shoot with their normal hand; and (4) players must shoot only with the "wrong" hand during the final round.

"Now these rules were adopted in order that the two teams will be more equal," declare the sponsors, "and are not intended to create havoc on the ball court."

Oh yes, there is one more ruling: In order that referees may more easily determine which hand players must shoot with, all cagers will be required to wear a glove on the hand which they normally use for shooting the ball. Also pointed out was the fact that cagers probably will not appear in attire normally associated with basketball players.

In an exclusive pre-game interview with officials Earl Stagner and Debbs Knox, the refs declared that, "No funny business will be allowed during the action on the hardwoods." Officials also announced that in order that they may officiate the game more fairly, two other minor alterations have been made in the rules: (1) In situations normally calling for "jump balls," the refs will flip a coin in order to determine which squad will receive the ball; and:

(2) In order that they may have a better view of the ball, players will be required to BOUNCE the ball through the net when shooting free throws.

Coaching Kiwanis Club cagers is Bill Natzger. The coach declared that the team will be "as ready as may be expected" for the game.

Natzger released the following probable line-up for the game: Chick Hicks, Bill Miller, Jay Hammond, Dwayne Barrett, Mike Justice, Tim Arney, Ralph Owens, Gene Cope, Hap Cavness, and possibly Charlie Stone.

Coach Natzger and his assistant Dick Barrett refused to comment concerning the team's possibilities for the duel. Coach Albert Maxwell of the Hereford Lions assures sportswriters that his Lions will be lying - er, leaping - for victory.

Spurred by the now-famous yells of the Lions Club's own cheerleader, Earnest Langley, the Lions will field a team comprised of the following: Woody Wilson, Charlie Bell, Charles Hoover, Pat Ferguson, Harold Kidds, Carol Collier, Ben Gollehoed, Glen Nelson, Raymond White, John Gilliland, plus one or two more.

Maxwell pointed out that the Lions will feature "a few leftovers from the Negro minstrel" the club stages yearly.

Following the unique Lions-Kiwanis tilt, teachers from Stanton Junior High School and Hereford High School will match wits instead of brains on the court.

Coaching the unknown junior high quintet will be Jesse Geron, who declared that Stanton's cagers "will be out there to play basketball!" However he later confided that he wasn't sure what kind of basketball.

Expected to take the field for Stanton are Jerry Don George, James Balch, Hugh Sullivan, Jerry Cannon, Tom Hartman, B. M. Miller, Roy Hartman (a young recruit from Shirley Elementary School), and the coach.

Commanding the high school squad will be Ray Todd, new to the basketball coaching realm. But coach Todd insists that high school is considered a heavy favorite (in more ways than one).

Todd lists the following as probable starters: James Williams, Bill Gibbs, Harvey Penner, Charlie Holt, Joe Brooks, L. B. Russell, Coby Kitchens, David Patterson, and Ray Todd. (He plans to use a new play in which EVERYBODY gets to start, since he is a strong believer in teamwork.)

The first accident of the period occurred as an automobile driven by Albert Smith, 62, Route 1, collided broadside with a 1962 model sedan driven by John Bob Drake, 19, 307 Ave. I about 12:45 p. m.

Drake is reported to have pulled away from the stop sign at East Third and Lawton into the path of Smith's 1963 model sedan. Smith was headed west at the time of the collision.

D a m a g e to Smith's vehicle was placed at $145, while damage to Drake's automobile was estimated at $350. Drake was ticketed for the collision.

A rear-end collision at the intersection resulted in an estimated $100 worth of damage to both vehicles. The accident occurred at Avenue E and Park about 1:10 p. m.

A 1961-model sedan, driven by James Allen Braley, 510 Union, was stopped for a stop sign when it was hit from behind by a 1959 model sedan driven by William J. Gilliland, 15, Route 4.

Gilliland was ticketed for the accident.

Pat also mentions that a one-hour film on the March of Dimes will be shown Sunday, Jan. 20. The film will be on KFDD - TV at 5:30 p. m. and at 11 p. m. on KGNC - TV.

Coby Kitchens called Satur-day morning to tell us that the Perryton Hereford bas-ketball game, called off Fri-day night, had been set for Saturday night. He said the gym was fairly warm, which was more than one Amarillo team ran into when it played in Lubbock Friday night. The temperature in the gym was 48 degrees and the players were almost as cold as the score was 38 - 32.

One of the really amusing and entertaining events of the year should be the Whiteface Basketball Club's double header basketball game here Monday night. First game is set for 7:30 p. m. and will match the Kiwanis Club and the Lions Club. Next will be the Stanton Junior High faculty and the High School faculty. The rules, we understand, have been modified slightly.

We usually get in trouble when we try to predict the weather. But we can forecast cold temperatures and probably snow or freezing sleet for next weekend. That's when the 17th annual Junior Live-stock Show will be held, and bad weather is traditional. Maybe my forecast will chase away the bad weather, but I doubt it.

Congratulations to Mike Justice for his "Work Horse" award from the Hereford Kiwanis Club. He took a couple of months out for the Air Force and still did enough to more than warrant the honor which shows what kind of hustling young man he is.

NEPHEW DIES

Word was received by Mrs. Connie Johnson of Hereford of the sudden death of her nephew, Doyle Barnes, on Jan. 9, in Colorado Springs, Colo. He was engaged in ranching and raising registered Angus cattle. Barnes lived here most of his life with his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Slagle. Barnes is survived by his wife, Alice, two daughters, one son, two grandchildren, his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barnes, of Denver, Mo., and a half brother. He was the nephew of Mrs. Cecil McNeil of Amarillo and Roy T. Slagle of Friona. Funeral services were held in Colorado Springs on Saturday, Jan. 12.

Clayton Lands Top Assignments In Texas House

Bill Clayton of Springlake, newly-elected state representative from the 91st District, landed in a bowl of cherries when House committee assignments were announced Friday. Clayton drew one of the heaviest and most important committee assignments of any of the 60 freshman legislators. He was one of only four freshmen to be chosen for the important appropriation committee, headed by fellow West Texan Bill Heatley of Paducah.

Clayton was also asked to serve on the Conservation and Reclamation Committee, which is important to this district. In addition, he was named to the Committees on the Municipal and Private Corporations, Public Land and Buildings and Labor.

The new representative made his first appearance on the floor of the house and first address to its 150 members Wednesday when he sponsored Charles Duvall Jr. of Littlefield for the elective office of assistant reading clerk, which resulted in Duvall's election to the post. On opening day, Clayton helped elect Byron Tunnell to the Speakership of the House. Tunnell won over his token opposition by 141 - 9.

"I hit the floor bouncing and have been going ever since," Clayton said by telephone late Friday.

He said the early part of next week would be taken up primarily with formalities. He expects some bills to hit the hopper next Thursday, which will enable the committees to go to work the following Monday.

The second dose of the vaccine is the second step in the mass inoculation of county residents against the crippling disease. Type I was given in December. It has been pointed out that the second type of the vaccine gives an additional 10 per cent immunity against polio. Type I is, however, given first since it provides approximately 85 per cent immunity. Even though a person has not had Type I of the Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine, he is urged to take the second dose. Supplies of the first type are available locally.

Pioneer Study Club Hears Of Migrant Ministry Activities

"These Are Our Migrants" was the subject of the timely program on public affairs which was presented to members of the Pioneer Study Club of Hereford at their regular January luncheon at the Western Wheel Inn on Tuesday, Jan. 8. The program was arranged by Mesdames Delmar Sigle, W. C. Hromas and Henry Hastings.

Mrs. Hromas introduced the program and presented Virgil Dodson, chairman of the Hereford Migrant Committee, which represents five local churches and the United Church Women, who spoke on the migrant worker in the United States, his importance to the economy of the country, the changing picture of migrancy, and the specific picture in our community.

"Migrants are native citizens of the United States," Dodson said. "Their ancestry varies in the different sections of the United States. Today there are more than 300,000 Puerto Rican, Negro, Latin American and Oriental citizens of the United States who follow the harvest. They are so important to the harvesting of cotton and vegetables as machinery is to the harvesting of grain.

"If present trends continue, Texas will be fifty percent Latin American by 1970 and Anglos will be the minority group," he continued.

Dodson explained the work of the Migrant Ministry in Hereford and introduced Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Vargas. Vargas has been employed as full time staff worker with the Migrant Ministry of Hereford.

Use Of Dwarf Fruit Trees Is Meeting Topic

An interesting program was given to the Garden Beautiful Club in the home of Mrs. B. E. Roberson by Mrs. Roy Smith on "Landscaping with Dwarf Fruit Trees." She quoted from Stark's Nurseries saying, "Apple, pear, peach and plum are the kinds of dwarf fruit trees most suitable for this locality. Apples are considered the favorite. Two to three years are required for them to bear fruit."

Mrs. J. Howard Walker, president, read a letter to the club during the business meeting asking for members to participate in the Annual March of Dimes. The Garden Beautiful Club voted to be represented in the campaign.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames J. Howard Walker, Bob Walker, Lloyd Pool, Helen Pipkin, Roy Smith, Tom Carter, W. J. Stanford, Charles Hood, Ray Cowart, E. W. Young, G. P. Owen, Homer Newton, Wynne Owen, Leo Witkowski, Charlie Nolan, and the hostesses, Mrs. Bernard Roberson and Mrs. T. E. Seigler Sr.

Beta Sigma Phi Discusses Plans For Sweetheart Ball

Community Room of the First National Bank was the meeting place on Tuesday evening, Jan. 8, at 8 p. m. for the meeting of the Xi Epsilon Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority with Mrs. Robert Walker and Mrs. Ronald Babione serving as hostesses.

Preceding the business meeting, Exemplar Rituals were conducted in a formal candlelight service for Mrs. Robert Tyler with the chapter president, Mrs. Robert Walker, officiating. Mrs. Tyler has transferred to the Exemplar Chapter from the Kappa Iota Chapter.

During the brief business meeting committee reports were given. Also, the forthcoming Sweetheart Dance, that will be held on Friday, Feb. 8, at the Jim Hill Hotel, was discussed by members present. For the first time this dance is limited only to members, due to the lack of space in which to have it.

Bridge was played after the meeting.

Those present were: Mesdames Robert Tyler, Hicks Robert.

City Council Of Beta Sigma Phi Urges MOD Work

City Council of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Mrs. Howard Gore on Jan. 9 with Mrs. Larry Summers presiding over the meeting.

Mrs. Harold Beauchamp, secretary of the council, read the minutes of the last meeting. Letters of correspondence were read to the group. The Council urged that all members participate in the March of Dimes Mother's March.

Also during the business meeting the Beta Sigma Phi Sweetheart Ball was planned. Various committees were appointed to make arrangements for the dance. Bands were discussed with a final decision to have Charley Bell and his band for the dance.

Chairmen for the committees were: Lois Hollingsworth, decorations; Mrs. John Schneider, admissions; Mrs. Ronald Babione, ceremony and Mrs. Howard Gore, publicity.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Larry Summers, Carl Hollingsworth, Don Baugous, Harold Beauchamp, Ronald Babione and Howard Gore.

Federation Aims Told In Bay View Club's Meeting

At the meeting of the Bay View Club on Jan. 4, in the Community Center Mrs. Colby Conkright presented to the group a program on Federation projects for 1963.

They include: (A) Top of Texas projects, the Lois B. Munday Fund to go to the W.T.-S.C. Opportunity Fund. (B) Texas Federation Projects: the Penny Art and Penny Music Funds. (C) General Federation: the Literacy Project for Guatemala.

Individual donations were made to the Penny Art and Penny Music Funds. The club voted to send funds for the purchase of a desk unit toward the Guatemala Project and the club will support the W.S.S.C. Opportunity Fund.

Those present for the meeting were: Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Phillip Barkley, Richard Barnard, Colby Conkright, Howard Gault, W. J. Gilliland, W. S. Kerr, Carl Ferrin, J. W. Spradley and J. P. Slaton.

Nutrition Studied By Young Mothers

A talk on "Nutrition" given by Mrs. Jean Beene, assistant home demonstration agent, was the main feature on the program for the Young Mother's Study Club when they met recently in the home of Mrs. David Brumley at 312 Western.

Mrs. Beene stresses the point that when training small children to like everything, this should be started with baby food. After her presentation she passed out nutrition charts for each one to have to study.

Mrs. Bobby Shelton, vice president, presided over the short business meeting in which the club discussed the March of Dimes Drive.

Those attending the meeting were: Mesdames Wendell Maloney, Dallas Phillips, Dick Sarata, Darrell Dirks, Jimmy Carnahan, David Brumley, Homer Ruda, Charles Springer, Jim Arney, Bobby Shelton, Pat Ferguson and Bobby Veigel.

Miss Bonnie Wieck Weds Joe Wilhelm In Umbarger

The Rt. Rev. Magr. W. Bosen officiated at the nuptial mass on Monday, Dec. 31, in St. Mary's Catholic Church of Umbarger, uniting Miss Bonnie Wieck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wieck of Umbarger, and Joe Wilhelm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilhelm of Hereford. The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar of red poinsettias with Miss Linda Wieck, cousin of the bride, serving as organist.

Miss Dorothy Wieck served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Gladys Westoff and Miss Cecilia Wilhelm. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of red nylon and slip satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and set-in satin sash over a bell shaped skirt of nylon. They wore matching satin shoes, gloves and bow hats. The maid-of-honor wore an identical white dress with red satin shoes, gloves and bow hat.

They carried red poinsettias. Brother of the groom, George Wilhelm, served his brother as best man. Vernon Wilhelm and Willie Wieck served as groomsmen. Ushers were Fred Wieck and Richard Wilhelm.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of silk taffeta. The embroidered bodice was enhanced with seed pearls and sequins. The long tapered sleeves ended in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt with embroidered front and back panels fell into a chapel sweep. Her veil of imported French silk illusion was attached to a crown of pearls with insets of lace, medallions and sequins. The bride carried an arrangement of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

After the ceremony a reception was held in parish hall. Shortly after the reception the couple left on a honeymoon trip to points of interest in New Mexico.

4-H Club Girls Give Foods Demonstration

Mrs. Tony Hoffman was hostess to the North Hereford Home Demonstration Club meeting that was held on Thursday, Jan. 3. Roll call was answered with "the most useless gift" or "the gift I liked the most this Christmas."

Leader for the meeting was Mrs. O. L. Williams. Mrs. Williams introduced Mrs. C. W. James, who presented three 4-H Club girls for a method demonstration as part of the program.

In turn Mrs. James introduced Joan Marnell, who baked a one-layer cake with a broiled icing. She explained the importance of this altitude and that one should reduce baking powder and sugar and increase the liquid. She explained the difference in cakes and explained about all-purpose flour.

Dawn Music Club Meets Tuesday

Dawn Music Club met Jan. 8 in the home of Mrs. Lester English with Mrs. H. V. McCabe serving as co-hostess.

Hymn of the month, "All Beautiful the March of Days," tune by Forest Green was sung by the group. Mrs. H. H. Miller told of the life of the author Frances Whitmarsh Wile.

Mrs. H. V. McCabe began the program on music of Jerome Kern by reading a sketch of his life and musical folk play have remained on Broadway, in such original native works as Jerome Kern's and Edna Ferber's, "Showboat" with lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein.

"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," a piano solo by Kern, was played by Mrs. L. W. Tooley. "Only Make Believe" and "Look for the Silver Lining" by Kern were sung by the group, being accompanied by Mrs. Carl Wimberley.

Mrs. Carl Wimberley played and sang "Ole Man River" by Kern.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. H. H. Miller with Mrs. J. E. McCabe to serve as co-hostess.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Steve Bavousett, H. H. Miller, Herschel Miller, H. V. McCabe, L. W. Tooley, William Wimberley, Carl Wimberley, H. V. McCabe, Lester English and Miss Bertha Frye.

L'Allegra Club Finishes Course On First Aid

The Standard First Aid Course being taken by the L'Allegra Study Club was completed on Jan. 3 in the Community Center at 9:30 a. m. with Mrs. Arthur Fuston serving as hostess.

John Gilliland, instructor for the course, ended the course for the group by giving a brief quiz on all the facts that had been taught. Now that the Standard First Aid course is completed the group will continue the study and begin the Advanced First Aid Course on Jan. 10. All members of the club will meet every Thursday at 9:30 a. m. at the Community Center for the next 12 weeks until the Advanced Course is completed.

During the business meeting a discussion was made on the husbands' party that will be held on Feb. 7 in the home of the Virgil Marshes.

Those attending and completing the course were: Mesdames Bill Dameron, Joe Easley, Arthur Fuston, Cameron Gault, Walter London, Joe Lyons, Virgil Marsh, John D. Pitman, Alex Schroeter, Oliver Streu and Bob Veigel.

Plank Writes Following End Of Postal Shutdown

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles written by Pete Plank. The Hereford youth is spending six months in South America as a member of the International Farm Youth Exchange program, sponsored by 4-H Clubs. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank of Dawn.)

By Pete Plank
Dec. 29 - Am sorry not to have written before but the post office has been on strike. But now they are working. Yesterday I got 22 letters, the first I had received in over a month. I thought I would never get them. All read. It was like reading a book.

Up until Dec. 8 I lived in the town of Tomas Gomensoro. The house I lived in was on the main street and the windows opened right out into the street. People coming by were always sticking their heads in. This family was real nice and I enjoyed living with them. They had a farm in the country of about 300 acres. Their son had tomatoes and sweet potatoes for his 4-H project. This was the northernmost part of Uruguay and it is possible to raise early tomatoes and the market is usually pretty good. In the morning I would get up at 5:30 and sweep the patio and the side - walk for something to do. At seven I went with the hired man out to the farm in a cart. We picked and sorted cartons of tomatoes and then the boy came and we loaded them on the pickup.

I went to a party at the school on their last day of classes. Saturday nights we went dancing. The courting customs here are for the boys and girls to walk around the plaza to look each other over. The boys walk one way and the girls the other.

I found out while I was in Tomas Gomensoro that the man I met on the bus when coming up there was the president of the Co-Op Sugar company. I also met several of the other owners.

I never know what I am going to get into next. One morning the club leader called and said a group of Americans were flying in and they wanted me to meet them at the airport. Well, it turned out to be the American Ambassador to Uruguay, the First Secretary of the Embassy, the Chief of the Alliance for Progress from the

Two Hereford Students Win ROTC Award

Two Hereford students were presented the Department of Army Distinguished Military Student Award at ceremonies held recently at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater.

Receiving the awards were Joe Frank Reinauer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer, and James M. Brogdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Brogdon. To receive the ROTC award, a cadet must be in the top half of his academic class and the top third of his military class. He must also demonstrate outstanding qualities of leadership and have high moral character and exceptional aptitudes for military service.

Brogdon, a commercial arts major, is a captain in the OSU Cadet Corps. He is also president of the Arts and Sciences Student Council and is chairman of the Arts and Literature Committee for Religious Emphasis Week.

Brogdon is alumni secretary and pledge provost of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. Reinauer, who is majoring in animal husbandry, is a lieutenant colonel in the Corps of Cadets. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, the Flying Aggies, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Zeta, Block and Bridle and the Cadet Officers Club.

U. S., the president of the local sugar cooperative, the president of the Cooperative Organizations of Uruguay, the head of the Banks of Uruguay and the Secretary of Agriculture of Uruguay.

We toured the sugar plantations and had lunch at the home of the local Co-Op president. We were joined here by the manager of the American Sugar Co. He is a young fellow of about 35 or 40 and had just been in Uruguay about three months. He moved here from Hawaii.

He asked me what I planned on doing after my six months were up and if I didn't want to go to work for them, I told him I didn't know. This is nice country but the Panhandle of Texas sure would look good to me if I could just see it.

I hope everyone had a wonderful Christmas. It was hard for me to believe it was Christmas here because it was so hot and dry. However I am not complaining because I was living with the nicest family I have lived with since being in Uruguay. Their ranch was the Estancia "La Virgen". They were closer to being like an American family and their standard of living was more like ours. "La Virgen" was supposed to be the best ranch in this area. It really was nice.

Christmas night they had a big dinner and then waited till midnight to open their gifts. Christmas day we worked all day but that night the 4-H leader and four of the members came out to the Estancia and the family had supper for everyone. We then

Sky Chiefs Trim San Jacinto In YMCA Loop 67-44

Playing more cautiously than usual, the Hereford Sky Chiefs defeated the San Jacinto Nazarenes 67-44 Tuesday night. The Sky Chiefs, sponsored by J. P. Jones Texaco, have won five and lost one in the Amarillo YMCA League.

The reason for the caution on the part of both teams was that they had no spares. Each team had just five players suited out. Fortunately, no one fouled out until Jim Arney was thumbed out on fouls for Hereford in the final minute of play. But by that time, Hereford had a commanding lead.

Hereford jumped off to a 16-13 lead in the first period, then tightened its defenses and forged ahead to a substantial 35-24 margin at half time.

During the final two periods, Hereford limited San Jacinto to ten points per quarter and extended its lead. The Sky Chiefs were in front 52-34 at the end of three quarters and stretched that to 67-44 at the game's end.

David Seal and Chick Hicks each had 20 points for the game, with Joe Kerr hitting 11, Donnie Renfro 10 and Jim Arney 6. Jewell led San Jacinto with 14 and Davis had 12.

had a regular picture show on the front porch. It was an American film starring Jimmy Stewart.

I still haven't made it to church. I thought surely the family would go on Christmas, but no. I am beginning to understand why these people don't go to church. We think of churches in other countries as being the same as in the United States but this is not so. The only way these people can escape being bored completely dry is just not to go.

The Estancia "La Virgen" had 8,000 head of sheep and 1,500 head of cattle. The owner had a veterinarian fly in from Montevideo to show them how to artificial inseminate both the cattle and the sheep. They started artificial insemination of 25-00 head of ewes and 500 cows. The sheep were "Eidale", a cross of Merino, Romney and Rambouillet. The cows were Herefords. In the 20 days I was there we inseminated 150 cows and 754 ewes. It was quite an operation.

My host brother at the ranch was the brother of the owner's wife. The whole family lived and worked on the ranch. This host brother thought he would really work me to death. He didn't know that I was used to a lot more work than they do here, however he was "going easy". I guess this was one of the reasons I liked it better than the other places.

They called the club over at Salto and asked if I couldn't stay with them instead of leaving Dec. 28 but the other club said they had already made plans for me, including a "fiesta" on New Year's. So now I am living 20 miles northeast of Salto, Man, what a let-down.

My host brother on the Estancia "La Virgen" wants me to visit Paraguay with him during my free week. I really would like to. He says they have the best ranch country in South America. What I need is just more "free time".

I sure hated to leave this, my last family in Artigas. I want to make it back up there one weekend while I am living these 40 days near Salto. It is only about 80 miles. I really love Artigas and Brazil. The time I spent in Artigas was worth the trip if the rest of the time is all bad. I really had a wonderful time there.

When it came time for me to leave Estancia "La Virgen" they didn't want me to go. My host father wanted me to stay the rest of my time with them.

On the Estancia they had some old bulls that would have brought 20 cents in the states. We killed and skinned them for the hides because the cost of transportation to market which is 400 miles would have been more than they would bring. The Federal Government owns the railroads. The cost of shipping one steer to Montevideo is nine dollars. He will bring around thirty dollars when you get him there. The steers weigh 950 to 1000 lbs. and are three to four years old.

My host brother at the ranch was the brother of the owner's wife. The whole family lived and worked on the ranch. This host brother thought he would really work me to death. He didn't know that I was used to a lot more work than they do here, however he was "going easy". I guess this was one of the reasons I liked it better than the other places.

WALK AROUND IT. SEE THE DIFFERENCES.

Start at the rear of this Fleetside pickup. Grab the tailgate and pull hard. No give. Two wedge latches keep it tight. Now unfasten them and let down the gate. Jump up and down on it. Does it sag? Notice how the chains are wrapped in rubber so they won't rattle or mar paint.

Now please sit in the cab a minute. Comfortable? It also is double seated and the roof is insulated. Let's start 'er up and look for a washboard road. Chevrolet coil-spring suspensions fight road shock better than other types, good for the truck, load and the driver. There are other things. Heritage Foundation Meet, Amphitheater Tour Sunday

The annual meeting of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc. will be held Sunday, Jan. 13, at 2 p. m. in the Fine Arts Building, West Texas State College, Canyon. Mrs. Ples Harper, president, will preside.

Following the reading of the President's Report and the election of board members, the order of the day will be the reading of parts of the Introduction to the Drama, which playwright Paul Green of Chapel Hill, N. C., has written around Panhandle history. William A. Moore, of the drama department of West Texas State College, is in charge of the presentation.

After adjournment, transportation will be provided, for those who do not wish to use their own cars, to Palo Duro Canyon for inspection of the new theater, the basic unit of which has just been completed, and inspected and accepted by the building committee of the Foundation, headed by R. C. Neely Jr. of Amarillo.

The sections of the amphitheater now completed comprise the approach, a wall at the rear of the seating bowl which will later carry a large map of the Panhandle on which will be featured the counties, and names of the founders. Also finished is the seating area and the paving of the stage, and in its present form the theater will be suitable for any daytime activity where artificial lighting is not required.

Funds now coming in, including memorials to early settlers which will be acknowledged by plaques on the various units, will go toward the production, including lighting, amplification, costumes, scenery, personnel, printing, etc.

Paul Green, who is author of a number of similar, and very successful, historic dramas which are national tourist attractions, has written of the era of the early settlers in the Panhandle, and incorporated in the script Spanish words for conquerors, Indians, cowboys, cattlemen and other brave men and women who came and subdued the then wild country to their use and eventual prosperity. All this is bound up with exciting drama.

FINE PRINT MAKES US WONDER:

Can We Afford This New 'Cut' In Income Taxes?

President Kennedy recently announced the details to be included in his proposed tax reduction, providing joyous surprise for many people. A careful analysis of the proposals, however, indicate that the skeptics may well "have something" when they consistently point out that the United States is in no position to offer a tax cut at this time.

While the proposed cut is aimed at the lower brackets, where it definitely belongs, a careful check of the "fine print" made recently by the Ochiltree County Herald, resulting in several questions which may well indicate that the highly touted tax cut may, instead, create an increase for most people — especially in this part of the country. Here are some of the findings:

Livestock Show Is Area Booster

Once again the stage is set for Hereford's Jr. Livestock Show, sponsored annually by the Hereford Rotary Club. Needless to say, the show this year is expected to establish paramount interest throughout the territory. Despite its up and downs, the show maintains an enviable record of community progress. It has contributed probably more to the community than any other single community effort. When the show started 17 years ago, for instance, this area boasted more fine, purebred cattle than any other single community in the nation — and never came forth with a large-scale stock show winner. More important, you seldom saw the names of Deaf Smith county youngsters winning state, regional and national awards, all of which has been completely reversed during recent years — and we cannot help but feel that the influence of the annual livestock show has been a factor in all phases of agricultural development.

In addition, the annual livestock once again affords this community an opportunity to host visitors from neighboring towns and counties. This is a wonderful way to express appreciation for past considerations, and it has done much to establish Hereford as a "hub" town in this part of the Panhandle.

From experience, we know how hard the Rotarians work on the project. The livestock show is a lot to ask from a single club, but the Rotarians have for 17 years been able to meet the challenge in a grand manner and, like every other citizen in the area, The Brand pledges full cooperation, and expresses sincere appreciation for a job well done.

Second Polio Vaccine Sunday

Sunday is Sabin Oral Polio vaccine time, and judging from the crowds which turned out for the first inoculation there appears little doubt but that the occasion will once again be a success.

Most people were delighted with the first mass inoculation, due in a large measure to the fact that they filled out forms in advance and thus expedited the entire procedure for supporting JayCeas as well as for themselves.

Previous public endorsement of the movement indicates that the big problem this round is a matter of remembering to drop by the cafeteria in order to take advantage of the previous inoculation.

"Since the bulk of the income taxes paid in this country are paid by those in the lower income tax brackets, a small tax cut means billions of dollars lost in revenue. A cut which would average $2 a month or $24 dollars a year to a family in the $5,000 bracket would mean the loss of more than $8 billion in tax revenue, according to the experts."

"This sort of a cut hardly seems worth the effort, if it means going deeper into the red and forcing more inflation which would make the remaining dollars that a family has left buy less merchandise."

"It is pretty apparent that a reduction in federal spending is going to have to accompany any income tax cut or Congress won't pass the needed legislation."

"Along with the tax cut, the President, as expected, released some details of his 'tax reforms' which are aimed at cutting out deductions."

"These are not going to be liked at all, especially here in Texas. First and foremost is the proposal to cut out the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance, or at least drastically reduce it. To an industry which is already in a depression, beset by high operating costs and cheap foreign imports, this reduction in the depletion allowance is going to have a tremendous effect. It will mean more stacking of rigs, more laying off of personnel, more cutting back in drilling and production."

"Also mentioned was eliminating the 'split income' provision of the income tax. This is the provision that allows a man and wife to split the income, although all the income may have been earned by one of them."

"Also mentioned is the elimination of interest on home mortgages, a tidy deduction for those who use the itemized method of deductions on their income tax. The government takes the position that this type of interest is no more than rent and should not be allowed."

"Of course, the travel and entertainment expense allowances are already having the screws tightened down as of the first of this year. This does not bother the average taxpayer, but has a great deal of effect on others."

"The government is also looking at state and local taxes which are now deductible. Some administration advisors say that these should not be a deduction from the federal income tax. Neither should payment of a state income tax, they say, pointing out that payment of Social Security is not a deduction from the federal income tax."

"Also overlooked in the initial announcement was any mention of a tax cut for business, particularly corporations which now pay 52 per cent of their net income to Uncle Sam. This may come later, the President hinted."

"All in all, the first news of a tax cut is not so encouraging. If the deductions are taken away, most of us will find our income taxes greatly increased instead of decreased."

"And when you consider all of the angles, it is anything but logical for the people of this nation to expect any cut in taxes until such a time as the population increases to a point where present tax levels will support current national spending. In the first place, we are consistently spending more than we take into the coffers — and we are not about to halt our spending. Second, the possibility of inflation would become an even greater threat than that we now face and last, but not least, if any form of true tax cut had been possible under our present operation some politician would have come up with it long ago. Such political dynamite would never be overlooked so long by so many eager candidates."

Meanwhile, let us hope we can afford this proposed 'tax cut' or, better still, that Congress will have the good sense to make sufficient adjustments to hold down the increases.

Radio System Helps Firemen

News that Hereford's new fire signal system is working efficiently and economically comes under the heading of "good news for 1963."

The report made this week points out several important factors, including the fact that firemen reach the scene of the fire much faster, due to elimination of a detour by the fire station. Also included was the fact that many fires can be extinguished hurriedly by a few people, rather than calling out the entire department.

In addition, let us add that traffic problems have been greatly decreased, since 2,000 or 3,000 people no longer make a headlong rush as soon as a fire alert is sounded. Firemen no doubt function much more efficiently under the new system, too, as compared with performing their duties amid hundreds of cars and before thousands of onlookers.

IN COLOMBIA

Forrest Foiled By Bull Fighters, Secretaries

By H. A. Tuck
Leo Forrest, manager of the Deaf Smith County Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., is on a 90-day leave of absence to help Colombia set up rural electric cooperatives.
The following is taken from a letter written recently from Cucuta, Colombia:
Last night the bullfighters spent the night here in our hotel. They used up all the hot water last night and I could not get a shower last night or this morning.

This morning I watched them check out their things. One, Jossellio, had a room just down the hall from us. His swords were carried in a case very similar to a case for a musical instrument. He seemed to have several lackeys with him. The other fighter seemed to be able to do more for himself.

We did not go to the fights here yesterday, but did go when we were in Bogota about four weeks ago. I had seen one fight in Mexico City in 1952. I think one fight is enough. It is very colorful but cruel. I never knew of the bull living to tell of his experiences.
In fact, I believe this is the main source of supply of the horns. I know that at Durania they served us something that was too tough to cut with the knife furnished.
The fight here, incidentally, must have been an excellent performance. The newspaper headlined that the fighters cut seven ears and one tail during the corrida, which is outstanding. Bull fights get coverage in these papers like baseball in the United States.
I am enclosing a little story that was taken from the newspaper today. It tells about a group of bandits killing 13 "campesinos" or farmers. Yesterday's paper said 14 were killed. It appears the government has promised to try to exterminate them. They who some of the bandits are and where they hide out. Their area is between here and Bogota. They call it "the violencia area." It is reported that most of these men learned to kill and pillage during the civil wars and haven't gotten in the nation of going back to work for a living.
One of the communities I have surveyed is not too far from this area. You would have to see the country to realize the mountainous conditions and to understand how bandits can still hide out. I do believe, though, that J. Edgar Hoover of the Texas Rangers could catch them and had rather bet on the Texas Rangers.
Perhaps the army and the police here are not very diligent. As an example, Charles Seeliger from the Embassy took us back to the ho-

Irrigation Well Drilled To Help Ranch Land Sale

Garrett A. Dobbins, land commissioner for the XIT Ranch, was all smiles Tuesday morning when he dropped into the Brand office and began to tell how he was the proud father of the newest irrigation well on the Plains of Texas. "You should have seen Dr. W. A. Pitman, the pump expert and general manager of the Crescent Pump Co. of Fort Worth, when we got hooked up and ready for the start," he said. "The Muncie 20 H.P. oil burner engine was started at 6 o'clock last Wednesday evening and we didn't let up until 2 a. m. the following morning. The water began to flow in 10 seconds after the juice was injected and it continued with an increase until all of us were tired out and ready to hunt a bed. The next day the pumping was kept up and the test was entirely satisfactory. This is the first well in this section ever to be put down for irrigation. The well is located near Friona, Farmer County, on the south side of the Santa Fe tracks. The entire depth of the well is 400 feet; water was found at 120 feet; the 7-inch seven-foot cylinder is at 153 feet. The pump delivered 304 gallons per minute during the test, and over a million gallons were pumped."

While the nation awaited President Roosevelt's appointment to fill the Supreme Court vacancy created Jan. 18 by the resignation of Associate Justice George Sutherland, the name of Sam G. Bratton has received general consideration over the nation. Judge Bratton now sits on U. S. BURGLARS ROB CITY FIRM

Burglars battered their way into the Bryan Oil Co. offices sometime Wednesday night and succeeded in hammering open two heavy, insulated filing cabinets and making off with a "considerable amount" of currency. The burglary was discovered by an employee of the firm when he reported for work about 7:30 a. m. Thursday. The sheriff's office was notified and officers immediately began an investigation of the burglary. Entry was gained by getting into a rest room with an outside door at the back of the building. Once inside, the intruders tore a heater off the wall and pounded a hole through to the office. The thieves entered the inside office and went to the accounting room where the two filing cabinets were located. They found a carpenter's axe and chipped into the smaller of the two cabinets until the bottom drawer was opened. From it they took a small amount of cash. They then pried open the bottom drawer of the larger file and took a "considerable amount" of cash.

FIRE DESTROYS GYMNASIUM

Fire destroyed a major portion of the west side of the Panhandle Independent School District gymnasium Wednesday night with damage estimated to run $200,000. The blaze which was reported at 6:30 p. m. was brought under control in just over half an hour by Panhandle Volunteer Fire Department with the assistance of units from White Deer and Claude. Other units standing by were from Pantex and the Amarillo Air Force Base. The fire was reported by Ricky Tyson, a high school student who was driving south on Euclid Street and saw flames in the building. Tyson drove directly to the fire station where he sounded the fire alarm. Within a matter of minutes after the alarm had been turned in, the entire west side of the building was in flames.

BUILDING PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

The Texas Highway Department is planning to construct a maintenance foreman's and resident engineer's office, laboratory building and maintenance storage shop, service station and equipment and storage building at an estimated cost of $1,000,000, it was announced this week by resident engineer Sam Fowler. The proposed improvements will be located on the present location of Lockney highway and Price streets in the northwest area of Floydada. Contract will be let as soon as plans are completed by the Austin office.

BOARD KILLS DAM PROJECT

Joyful last rites were said Wednesday morning in Perryton over the controversial Palo Duro Dam project. Its new directors of the Palo Duro River Authority passed a resolution which in effect kills the entire project. The new directors, who were elected in the November general election, were sworn in by District Judge Max W. Boyer at 10 a. m. Wednesday and promptly set to work. After the board was organized, the business session began. First item to be considered was a resolution from the presently constituted board of directors requesting the Texas Legislature to pass a bill which would repeal previous legislation which created the Palo Duro River Authority. The resolution was passed unanimously. A second motion was passed asking the Texas Water Commission to cancel the water permit which was granted to the authority in a November hearing.

WT BUILDING RECEIVE SHELTER SUPPLIES

Canyon this week received the first two of ten shipments of civil defense supplies to be installed in the recently designated fallout shelters in the Canyon-Umberger area. Bill Sternberg, assistant director of the Randall County Civil Defense program said these first two shipments contain four basic items for survival in the event of nuclear attack — food, water containers (which will soon be filled), and medical and sanitation supplies. Sternberg said the equipment and supplies will probably be installed in two of the three largest public fallout shelters, West Texas State College Library and Administrative Buildings. The college museum is the largest of the shelters.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindwood farm is worrying about a problem this week that so far hadn't bothered us.
Dear editor:
It has long been my theory that if the world keeps on acquiring scientific knowledge and stacking up more history, the time will come when there'll be too much of the stuff for the human mind to master. A boy will have to go to school 65 years in order to learn enough to face the world the last few years of his life.
This theory has been underscored by an article I read in a newspaper yesterday afternoon which fell out of a car on the road near my house sometime New Year's Eve and which was only partly torn by broken glass. According to it, the telephone company has about run out of ordinary numbers for telephone listings, and instead of having to memorize two letters and five numbers, some subscribers now have to memorize seven numbers, if they want to dial home.
This is explained by the fact the number of telephones is increasing by leaps and bounds. In fact, the number of phones in the world has doubled since 1951, and it's getting worse as more and more people are born. The United States alone has over 70 million, or 40 telephones per 100 people. Russians have only 2 telephones for every 100 people, which is all right as they're generally afraid to talk over those.
But what I started out to do was figure out a solution for the telephone company. As I understand it, since there are only 26 letters in the English alphabet and there aren't many phones in China, the combinations of prefixes, using letters, is limited, and the possibilities have about been exhausted, hence the use of seven numbers, with the alphabet dropped altogether.
The solution to this problem is simple. Just start with the number 1 and keep going, with people having bigger and bigger numbers until the last man with a phone winds up with something like 1234567890000000000000000000.
You have no idea how much peace of mind a man could get with a telephone number like 1234567890000000000000000000.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Forrest...

 tel one night. He was driving a 1961 Galaxy. When we got out at the hotel, he placed a long staple of a thing around the gear shift and a spoke on the steering wheel and looked it.

He said that when the car was brand new it was stolen. There were only two cars that make, model and color in the whole Republic, but the police never could find it. Finally a filling station operator nearly 400 miles away noticed a man driving a new car without keys to it, became suspicious and reported it. The car was recovered, but Mr. Seckinger never knew who had been using it.

We will probably have to "duck out" soon as there is a very grand ball taking place in the hotel tonight. All the hotel staff has invited us to attend, but I'm not too sure what the main attraction will be. I saw about 20 large bottles of champagne being put into the cooler while we were eating lunch. I asked how much a bottle would cost. The waiter told, but it sounded high, so I had him write it down. It came out $160, which is about $15 in our money.

But coffee is cheap. Little demitasse cups are shoved at you from the time you come through customs until you escape to the hotel. I even had coffee served free to me away out in the country when I was checking up on the school sponsored by the Coffee Growers Association. We had free coffee delivered every few hours while we were working in the American Embassy in Bogota. We had free coffee delivered twice a day while at the "Instituto de Aprovechamiento de Aguas y Fomento Electrico" in Bogota.

Free coffee is delivered twice as often as it is sold at McDowell's Drug Store here at "Centrales Electricas Del Norte de Santander," which is the office here at Cucuta. And, believe me, these people do not use too much water in making their coffee. I am told they boil this brew and then add whatever water they think is necessary to bring it down to just where it will not kill a person. You see coffee is their main export, accounting for about 70 per cent of their export income. There is now an over-supply of coffee and I think they are trying to get rid of the surplus on me.

My main trouble, however, has been trying to get an English-speaking secretary. I had been promised one about Dec. 16 and she would have been just fine. She had worked several years in England and the manager here said she was excellent.

But I never did get to see her. She called and said that since it was so near Christmas, she would want to go to Bogota on Dec. 26. I was so glad to hear a voice that could speak English that I told her that is she could even work for four days, that I would appreciate it. But she didn't want to work until after Jan. 7. It seems that everyone wants to take off about Dec. 16 and return not earlier than Jan. 7.

The next effort at getting me a secretary was on Friday, Dec. 27. Dr. Hernando Ruan Guerrero came in and said he would like to get some English materials, as he wanted to try out a prospective secretary for me. I gave him loads of materials as I thought I could probably get about five times as much work done if I had an English-speaking secretary.

About five minutes later, he brought in a very, very pretty young girl of about 21 and said that she would like to act as my translator. I asked if she had ever worked before and she said that she had not really worked. She had gone to school in England and could speak English. I asked her if she could type and she said a little.

She was going to come down to work at 9 a. m. on Dec. 22, I thought, but I must have misunderstood. I have not seen her since.

After she left the room, Guillermo de Ronderos, my 16-year-old translator, asked if I knew who the girl really was. I said of course not, since I had never seen her before. He said, "She is the beauty queen of the state of Norte Santander."

I believe it, but I still do not know if she can type. On the night of Dec. 22, I got a call that I was requested to come to Bogota for a conference. I tried for three days to get out by air before I finally made it. I rushed to the Embassy, as I thought the meeting was for 2 p. m. that day. But it turned out that it was set for 9 a. m. the next day.

P. S.: I still need a secretary and maybe if I had not had to leave for Bogota, the very attractive girl could have typed after all. Who knows? Anyway, her salary is paid by Dr. Ruan and one cannot look a gift horse (or a gift secretary, I suppose) in the mouth.

Don't Let the Machine Catch You!

Some months ago, the government opened a new data processing center in West Virginia—the first of a series of such centers to be located across the nation. With them, the government will be able to check every federal income tax return in the country automatically. If anything looks fishy, the giant computers will toss out a return for additional checking.

All of which means that your tax return had better be accurate—right down to such things as drug deductions.

It can be, when you purchase from us, because all of our customers receive absolutely free of charge our special DrugTax service.

When you buy from us, all of your purchases are recorded on "memory" tapes, which are later fed into giant electronic computers. At the end of the year, we send you a DrugTax statement which tells you how much you spent for drugs of a deductible nature.

No guesswork. No cost to you. You may actually save money—because you get the benefit of every single drug deduction to which you are entitled.

(You might be surprised at how many things are of a deductible nature—and you might be surprised, too, at how many millions of dollars the American taxpayer loses each year because he doesn't claim them.)

Come in today and take advantage of our free DrugTax service. It's our way of saying "thank you" for your patronage.
