59,286 diverted acres were included in the 832 signed agreements for Deaf Smith County.

All farmers in the county are being invited to attend a covered dish supper and meeting at 8 p.m., Tuesday, June 6. The discussion will be on the new omnibus farm bill. The Deaf Smith County Farmers Union will furnish the meat, with each person asked to bring one dish (with food, naturally). The color film "Unchained Frontier" will be shown. On hand will be Alex Dickey, president of the Texas Farmers Union, and Donald Wooten, who has been working on the farm bill in Washington, D. C.

The municipal swimming pool was so crowded on opening day that I could have almost walked from one side to the other without getting my feet wet. Within a couple of years, the city probably will need to think about building a second pool. Or maybe just put a roof over this one and use it the year around.

Swimming is not my favorite. I could go years without it. Cause I grew up on the Plains in the 30's and never saw rain.

WRONG CUSTOMER

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — A cactus salesman got off to a bad start in Nogales. He knocked on a door. The home owner listened to his sales pitch and then asked for the salesman's license. He could not produce one. His customer was Mayor Abe Rochlin.

How Can I?

Q. How can I make a good carpet-cleaning compound at home?

A. A good one is a grated raw potato rubbed over the surface of the carpet, and finished off with a warm cloth. This is very good for stained or spotted rugs. Or, use cornstarch, dampened and rubbed on, and then your sweeper to remove.

Q. Can you suggest an easy method of removing yellow stains in a sink or tub, caused by dripping faucets?

A. Here's what might be called a "common cents" method: Even old stains give way if rubbed with a copper penny! Follow this treatment with your usual cleanser.

Q. How can I clean the buttons and buckles on a military uniform?

A. Cleaning these with vinegar has a way of making them sparkle.

ANNIVERSARY PRESENT

BIDDEFORD, Maine (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Sylvestre's best present on their 65th wedding anniversary was birth of a 45th great grandchild.

The baby boy is Gary Louis Nadeau. Besides the 45 great grandchildren, the Sylvestres have nine children, 25 grandchildren and two great, great, grandchildren.

HIGH-LOW

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — What happens when men up high see a low theft?

Here they called police — and their voices were heard from the 14th floor of a new building on which they were working. They saw a young boy get into a car parked by a man and drive away. They shouted to police its route which they could see from their vantage point. The car was found abandoned. The boy had disappeared.

SAFE!

That's a job that an electric home freezer or refrigerator-freezer does to perfection — keeping food safe. And, any family can enjoy the convenience and economy of a freezer now — large or small. The refrigerator-freezer combination with freezer capacity up to 200 pounds makes that possible — makes big money savings, too.

The best news of all is that new freezers and refrigerator-freezers will offer you nearly twice the food capacity in the same amount of space that a refrigerator used to take. Makes it easy to find a convenient place to put it.

Buy now — the food savings start immediately.

WHILE THEY LAST

Five beautiful plastic bowl covers are yours while they last if you will visit your favorite Reddy Kilowatt Dealer and see his freezer or refrigerator-freezer demonstrations. Nothing to buy — but you'll want to.

Breads Are Handy Edibles

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE

Call them tea breads or quick loaves, by either name they're one of the handiest edibles a cook can have around the house. Sliced thin and buttered, or made into cream-cheese sandwiches, they're perfect for morning coffees or afternoon teas. They're fine to pack into lunch boxes and youngsters usually welcome them as an after-school snack.

These quick loaves are leavened with baking powder or baking soda, or a combination of the two. Their base may be flour or flour plus cereal. We prefer brown sugar to white in many of these breads and usually they benefit from the addition of nuts and fruit, or both. When the breads are made with white sugar, you'll find grated orange rind an excellent flavoring.

A crack in the top is considered characteristic of quick loaves, and nothing to worry about. Nevertheless, some cooks cherish the idea of the smooth top! If you're one of these, you will be interested in the following recipe because it produces a tea bread with nary a crack.

In this rule, flour and rolled oats are used for the batter's base, dark brown sugar for the sweetening, buttermilk for the liquid and baking soda for the leavening. An egg goes in but no shortening is called for. A reasonable portion of nuts and a generous number of raisins help give excellent flavor. When the loaf comes out of the oven, cool it thoroughly on a wire rack. Then wrap it tightly in transparent plastic film and store it in a tightly-covered tin box for 24 hours before slicing. This way it will cut beautifully thin; the texture will be moist and the flavors blended. After that, you may wish to store the loaf in its plastic film wrap in the refrigerator. We do this when we plan to have the loaf on hand for about a week. When the loaf is down to its very last slices, try toasting them.

Raisin Nut Quick Bread

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 egg
1/2 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar

1 cup buttermilk
1 cup raisins (rinsed in hot water, drained and dried)
1/2 cup coarsely broken walnuts
Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt; add rolled oats. Beat egg slightly; gradually beat in brown sugar; continue beating until thick and smooth; add buttermilk and beat to mixture, raisins and nuts. Stir just until all dry ingredients are moistened. (Mixture will be thinner than the usual quick bread). Turn into greased loaf pan (8 by 4 by 2 1/2 inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack; cool. Store, tightly covered, for 24 hours before slicing.

Khiva Band To Appear Here

The Khiva Temple Band, one of the official uniformed units of Khiva Shrine Temple, will appear at the regular Oas's Shrine Club meeting on June 5.

The band will be visiting the Nobles of the Hereford area and attempt to recruit local Shrine musicians into the band.

Khiva Band is made up of business and professional Shrine members with musical talent. It is not composed of professional musicians and its membership is limited only to Khiva Temple jurisdiction.

The band has requested that all Shrine members in the Hereford area, who play a musical instrument, go to the meeting on June 5 and bring their instruments to sit in and play numbers with them.

for the lady of fashion

BY JIMMIE GILLENINE

This past week was one not particularly designated for some special event like national pickle week, peanut butter or holes-in-doughnuts. But it might have well be labeled "Cuss the Governor Week." At least that's what most of the people I saw were doing. Many, many local citizens are branding Price Daniel's special tax proposals as immature and impractical. Most of the people I see don't want any more taxes, and they will tell you in a hurry that we can achieve the same result by cutting down on unnecessary bureaus and spending. If they must have more taxes, however, they feel that a state sales tax is the only fair method.

Now that Texas has turned tables and voted Republican, it looks as if we might be getting back into the "average citizen" class, instead of being branded as rebels.

Robert Thompson was telling me the other day that he plans to take a couple more special courses, probably in San Diego, Cal., where he studied this fall on a special scholarship grant. Not many people know it, but Bob has a pharmacy license. I remember when he used to roll pills at the old Close Drug back in the 30's. He was also County Clerk for many years, before he decided to enter the teaching profession, which he says he dearly loves.

Glenn Williams had a pleasant surprise recently, when a picture of his new store appeared in a national trade magazine, "Boot and Shoe Recorder." In addition to mentioning Glenn and Hilrey Aven as co-owners, the item also noted the fact that the store "lantern" burns 24 hours a day, and had some nice things to say about the special open display methods.

Reports have it that work is progressing nicely on the new offices of Witherspoon, Aiken, Thomas and Langley. Moving day, I hear, is scheduled for around June 19, and it will be more than an ordinary chore. I am trying to talk Nell Spradley into using her Riders Club horse, but she only shakes her head and grins.

People are still asking about Southwest Offset, Incorporated, on Highway 60 — and the open house is scheduled for Sunday, June 11, 1-5 p.m. We will still set the type on The Brand in the old location, proof the pages — and take them to the offset plant for printing, this is accomplished by photographing the pages and making special plates, which are placed on the press. Average running speed is around 12,000 copies per hour. In addition to The Brand, the plant will also print newspapers for the Canyon News and The Littlefield Press, both of which own stock in the corporation. We anticipate around 100 pages per week — and hopes to grow.

Cost-wise, we expect it to be a little bit higher — but the quality should improve some, especially reproduction of pictures and advertising. Yes, we will be able to run color. Next issue is scheduled to appear on the new press, and we hope you will notice the difference.

Another big item is the fact that Ulin Streu and Francis Hardwick will have to find something else to gripe about. Both of them consistently complain because our old press makes so much noise; Francis says you can hear it plainly in the picture show, but he has been most patient with us all these years. Frankly, I couldn't be surprised if they don't miss the noise, once it is gone. Streu will have to get a calendar, because he says he uses our press to keep track of his dates, since the press rolls on Wednesday and Saturday.

Several tire dealers are complaining because the new compact cars are running up their inventory. One tire maker estimates that a dealer must carry 235 different auto tires to have a full line — up around one-third from five years ago.

Progress is also about to upset the old pastime of hunting. First, the hunters bought amplifier hearing aids to stalk game. Now it's the game wardens who are buying the hearing aids, which are used to listen for illegal gunshots fired out of season.

John McLean is an old boy many of us will miss. He was one of the first men I met in Hereford when I came out here 24 years ago, and one of the most public spirited men I have ever known anywhere. He tried to retire several times, but always wound up getting into something more complicated than he had before. John was one of those restless people who had to be working to be happy.

Things are beginning to shape up for the Harvest Festival, slated July 24-29. It will run a whole week this year and will likely take on the atmosphere of a community fair, 1961 style. Clint Formby is chairman, and the reports I get say that he is doing a topnotch job.

I don't like to get into politics, but the Republicans did a much better job of getting the mail put up early than do the Democrats. Folks who usually get their mail by a a.m. are yelling their heads off, especially the last two or three days. It is possible that some schedules have changed and, if they have, we will be happy to run a schedule so folks can know when to expect to pick up their mail without making two or three trips. Then, again, it could merely be a temporary situation.

GUESS WHO WON THE ARGUMENT . . . "Let me have that check. I mean't to get it, anyway."

"I had the right-of-way. Besides, you didn't come to a stop at that sign on the last block."

"I said a 'Sour Lime,' not a 'Cherry Lime' . . ."

"I'll help any way you want. Of course, I do have three meetings for the next three mornings, and I play bridge tomorrow afternoon; I take the children to the dentist the next afternoon — and then we always go to Little League baseball every night. Junior is playing, you know!"

"The little boy next door plainly said for me to 'tell my mother' — and that means he thinks I am your son, not your husband."

Tigers Maul Red Sox, 13-5, Friday In Pony League Tilt

Larry Minks held the Red Sox to one run on two hits in five innings Friday night as the Indians won 13-5 in Pony League action.

Gary Stagner led off with a double for the Indians, as Minks got a walk. They came in on a single by David Stevens and a fielder's choice and the Indians had a 2-0 lead.

The Red Sox came back as Wynn Buck walked and scored on Lynn Cook's double.

Four more runs came in for the Indians in the third. Stagner was hit by the pitcher and took second on an error. With two out, Stevens walked and Lynn Warren singled. Gary Royal and Lewis Barnett got on by error.

Stagner scored another for the Tribe in the third as he singled and moved around on fielder's choices.

In the last of the sixth, the Reds got two runs. Robert Strange walked and took second on a balk. Jerry Don McCaslin and Dick Lookingbill singled to load the bases. Runs were forced in as Buck and Joe Harold Childers walked.

Six runs scored for the Indians in the seventh. Warren, Royal and Barnett walked before Gary Payne singled. Brant Knox walked, Stagner, Minks and Alex Guerrero singled and Stevens got on by fielder's choice.

The Reds could pick up just two runs in the last of the seventh. Cook doubled and Strange walked. Both scored on fielder's choices.

Minks was given credit for the victory. He pitched four

Makes Garden Murals For Fun

BY VIVIAN BROWN
You need not give up indoor culture to live al fresco in summer.

The revival of the stone-set-in-stone mural technique, popular during the Italian Renaissance permits you to enjoy pictures and murals on terrace, patio or porch.

When colder weather moves in, your "art gallery" can be transferred to the living room.

"The advantage of stone art outdoors is that it is weather proof. Let the sun beat down, winds howl and hurricanes blow, the stone pictures will maintain their beauty," says the reviver of the art, architect Richard Blow.

He was born in Illinois of Virginia parents, attended Princeton University, but has made his second home in Florence, Italy, since World War II. Blow became interested in the art when he was in England during the war.

"I saw much that had been exported from Italy returned because it was not good," he says. "I had the feeling the ancient art, the glory of the Medici Chapel and Pantheon, could be revived to its former beauty."

Since Florentines have been practicing the art for five centuries it wasn't difficult to assemble a work crew. But he needed new ideas if the art was to make a comeback.

He created modern designs, seascapes, Egyptian figures, landscapes and stylized worry birds framed in various sizes. The smallest piece on view in his collection shown recently in the Architectural League in New York is a head of a Minotaur, 1 1/2 inches by 1/2 inch. The largest piece is 6 by 4 feet. He also has executed handsome lamp bases and fireplaces.

The process is delicate, he points out.

"Once the stone is thin, you can tell whether it can be used and in what way. The grain of the stone becomes an integral part of the design. Once in a while we fake. A recent onyx piece was in the form of a beautiful torso, except it had but one bosom. We had to insert an artificial bosom," he explains.

Blow first makes an exact drawing of the picture to be produced in stone. Next he cuts the paper drawing, figure or object in the layout and lays it over the stone to be used. Stones and drawing must harmonize to provide the right effect.

Cardinals Squeeze Past Giants, 6-4

The Giants and the Cardinals each had five hits Friday night in Little League, but the Cards managed to win 6-4.

In the last of the first, the Cards took a 2-0 lead. Mitchell Bell walked and went to second on a passed ball. Alvin Davis used the same pattern before Jerry Fowlkes singled them in.

The Giants took a lead in the top of the third, 3-2. Gene Drummond walked and stole second. Homer Yocum and Roger Beasley singled before Sidney Shaw doubled.

But the Cards took the lead again, 4-3, in the last of the third. Pat Higgins walked and went to second on a passed ball. Larry Brown walked with Bell and Davis hitting singles to drive in a pair of runs.

Two more runs scored for the Cards in the bottom of the fourth. Jerry Kendrick got on by fielder's choice, David Ruland singled and Brown walked. Additional walks to Phillip Cain and Davis pushed in the runs.

An unearned run scored for the Giants in the top of the sixth. Bob Wagner walked, moved to second on a ground ball, stole third and came home on a balk.

Lee Robinson and Jerry Kendrick pitched three innings each for the Cards. Sydney Shaw went all the way for the Giants.

The Cardinals were charged with four errors while the Giants had only one miscue.

At Annapolis, Shepard Wouldn't Vacate Crew Seat

BY HERR THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Alan Shepard, America's first space man, was a relatively little guy in a wartime world of brawn at the Naval Academy, but he made his mark in Navy sports. Shepard is remembered here for earning and holding a berth on the heavyweight crew, on which he pulled bow oar for three years and was the smallest man in the shell besides the coxswain.

"He looked like the coxswain sitting in the wrong end of the boat," recalls a former crew mate.

Shepard also gave football a whirl his freshman year and, as a 155 pound reserve guard, played in five of the six games for Navy's undefeated 1941 plebe team.

"A guy playing guard at 155 pounds in those days was something," says Cmdr. Lawrence Smith, a member of the same squad. "We had a wartime beef trust then with athletes coming in from other colleges."

Shepard also went out for plebe baseball, but the record books fail to show much activity for him in that sport. As a sailing enthusiast he won an Annapolis Yacht Club trophy.

For the final two years of the speeded-up three-year course at the academy, where he was graduated in 1944, Shepard confined his intercollegiate sports efforts to crew. He excelled in that exacting sport and anyone associated with Navy crew in those days remembers him.

"You couldn't forget him," says veteran crew referee Tip Goes. "He was awfully small to be rowing a heavyweight crew. I also remember that wide grin."

William Jenkins Jr., a Seattle, Wash., sales engineer who rowed with Shepard in the plebe crew, recalled on the day of Shepard's historic space flight he had "amazed the coaches and everybody else, beating out bigger guys for a seat" in the varsity boat.

He remembers his classmate as an athlete who "had lots of nervous energy and bounce without being nervous in the clutch," a coolness also demonstrated in the Mercury capsule.

"He was a mighty fine boy and just as ornery as most of them," recalls Augustus K.

ALAN SHEPARD Needs No Oar Now (Doc) Snyder, former trainer for the Navy crew. "I remember Coach Walsh (the late Buck Walsh) tried to get him out of the boat once. He couldn't do it. They're jealous about that seat when they win it."

Jenkins often wondered which astronaut would be first in space. "Then I saw Shep's picture in the newspaper and I said: 'That is the right guy.'"

(AP)—The booming missile business has made Brevard County, home of Cape Canaveral, the fastest growing county in the United States in the last decade.

The U. S. Census Bureau reported Brevard population rose 370 per cent between 1950 and 1960 — from 23,563 to 111,176. Bureau figures show only 13.5 per cent of this growth due to natural increases. The remainder resulted from the test center and the missile industries it attracted.

In its first year of operation, 1950, Cape Canaveral had 850 workers. The most recent count showed 20,100.

Assign Minister Of Education To First Methodist

The Rev. C. Eugene Matthews has been appointed minister of education at the First Methodist Church of Hereford. That was the only change in assignments made in this area during the annual conference at Lubbock last week.

Reverend Matthews is a graduate of Texas Tech and of Iliff School of Theology in Denver, Colo. He was associate minister at St. Luke's Methodist Church in Lubbock prior to his new appointment.

His father is minister to students, Wesley Foundation, at Texas Tech. He is a nephew of Mrs. Norman Grey of Hereford.

The Rev. Matthews and his wife, Neil, have three daughters: Karen and Sharon, seven-month-old twins; and Gene, 11, three. They will move to Hereford this week.

Jerome Duderstadt, former director of education at First Methodist, will attend the Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

A former Methodist minister here, the Rev. Alby Cockerell has been assigned minister for Forest Heights Methodist Church in Lubbock. He was minister in Littlefield at the time of the new appointment.

Install Judy Bradley Worthy Advisor

Miss Judy Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley, was installed as Worthy Advisor of Hereford Assembly No. 157, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, in an impressive ceremony at the Masonic Temple last Monday evening.

Miss Bradley's theme, "Happiness By Service," was emphasized by an arrangement in the East featuring a large rainbow. The six poles in the hall were wrapped with crepe paper in the seven colors of the rainbow. Stations of the Worthy Associate Advisor, Charity and Hope were decorated with silver vases containing arrangements of pink sweetheart roses.

Jack Bradley installed his daughter as Worthy Advisor, and Miss Mary Walden of Seminole, Grand Worthy Advisor for the state of Texas, installed the other officers. Other installing officers were Beverly Boyer, chaplain; Verita Sanders, recorder; Janie Shelton, marshal; and Gladys Merritt, musician.

New officers to serve with Miss Bradley include Sharon Hill, Worthy Associate Advisor; Joy Story, Charity; Mar-Gwen Lackey, Hope; Janie Noland, Faith; Maribeth Gilliland, recorder; Joyce West, treasurer; Barbara Langley, chaplain; Kay Lemons, drill leader; La Reece Askew, Love; Jo Frances Davenport, Religion; Susan Stapp, Nature; Brenda Beasley, Immortality; Patty Lou Roach, Fidelity; Patti Nobles, Patriotism; Jane Messick, Service; and Carol Coffey, Confidential Observer.

Janice Smith, Outer Observer; Ann Mercer, musician, and Judy Summers, choir director.

Miss Norma Coffey was installed as new Mother Advisor. Mar-Gwen Lackey sang "God Be In My Heart" as the incoming Advisor approached the East. When she was installed, Mary Walden presented the old gavel to her. When Miss Bradley presented her parents, their gift to her was a new gavel engraved with her name. Miss Linda Edwards, who presided at the guest register, presented her with an enormous bouquet of pink roses. Miss Bradley was attired in a floor-length pink net gown. The sides of the bouffant skirt were gathered in swirly and caught with clusters of pink roses.

The Worthy Advisor has chosen pink as her color, the pink rose as her flower and "God Be In My Heart" is her song. Her theme is "Happiness By Service" and her verse is John 13:15-17, which begins "For I have given you an example."

Following the installation, a reception was held in the entertaining rooms of the Temple. The table was laid with a white cutwork cloth over pink and was centered with a silver container laden with pink sweetheart roses and pink swirl candles. Miss Suzanne Langley presided at the punch service.

Needle Club Holds Afternoon Session

Members of the Mothers Needle Club met recently for an afternoon session in the home of Mrs. Luther E. Ellis.

It was decided to change the meeting date to the third Thursday of each month instead of Tuesday.

Next meeting will be an ice-cream supper in the home of Mrs. H. T. Benson at 8:30 p. m., June 16.

The following members were present: Mesdames Earl Cole, A. T. Jones, C. N. McClure, H. E. Lindley, H. D. Robbins, W. T. Gunstinson, Hugh Reynolds, H. T. Benson, Wayne Carthel, W. H. Awtrey Sr. and the hostess, Mrs. Ellis.

Fete Miss Dorothy Daniel At Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Dorothy Faye Daniel, bride-elect of Albin L. Kovar of Ennis, was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine.

Mrs. Gillentine greeted approximately 60 guests and presented them to the honoree; her mother, Mrs. Frank L. Daniel; and her grandmother, Mrs. I. O. Crosthwait.

Miss Sarah Gillentine and Miss Ann Wingert presided at the guest book.

The formal tea table was laid with a white organdy cloth over pale pink. All appointments were in silver. White candles in silver holders flanked a large silver bowl filled with pink Briar Cliff and Queen Elizabeth roses. The arrangement was made by Mrs. Guy Newsom and the flowers were grown in her yard. The entertaining rooms were decorated throughout with pink and white roses, carrying out the bride-elect's chosen colors.

Alternating at the tea table were Mesdames Barbara Neff, Carolyn Williams, Kay Kershner, Mary Katherine Huckert, and Mrs. Fred Ruland.

Hostesses for the courtesy were Mesdames Robert Wagoner, Frank Huckert, Jack Brown, Earl Springer, Earl Holt, Russell Wingert, Henry Hastings, Paul Harvey, D. D. Zimmerman, Lawrence Straffus, Louis Woodford, Dale Tinnin, J. C. Williams, Edgar Skypala, Wayne Dyer, Marlin Gilliland, Andrew Kershner, P. B. Sowell, Guy Newsom and Jimmie Gillentine.

The couple was married Friday evening in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor, officiating.

Miss Scott Honored At Bridal Shower

Mrs. C. R. Allison and daughter, Glenda, and Mrs. S. D. Dufur and daughter, Mary, hosted a lingerie shower for Kay Lynne Scott on Friday evening in the Allison home at 101 Douglas.

Miss Scott is the bride-elect of Edwin Morrison Jr. The couple plans a June 23 wedding.

Miss Jan Scott, sister of the bride-elect, registered approximately 30 guests. A miniature bride graced the registrar table.

Lace cloths over orchid covered the serving table and the table where the bride-to-be's gifts were displayed. The centerpiece for the serving table was an arrangement of pink and white roses in a crystal bowl. Pink and white roses were used throughout the entertaining rooms. Appointments were in crystal. Miss Betty Scott, another sister of the bride, presided at the punch service.

Hereford Group Installs Officers

Installation of officers was the main item of business at a recent luncheon of the Farm and Ranch Club held in the home of Mrs. Paul Rudd.

Mrs. Herschel Burrus, outgoing president, was in charge of the installation service. New officers of the club are Mrs. Jack Weaver, president; Mrs. Glenn Burrus, vice-president; Mrs. Phillip Miller, secretary; Mrs. P. B. Sowell, reporter; Mrs. Harold Bass, historian; Mrs. Paul Rudd, Federation Counselor; and Mrs. Herschel Burrus, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Burrus was presented a gift in appreciation of her service.

Mrs. Joe Wagoner was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Glenn Burrus received the floating prize. Plans were made to meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Johnson on June 11 at 7:30 p. m. for a club family picnic.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames Cliff Johnson, Phillip Miller, Harold Bass, N. E. Tyler, Jack Weaver, Joe Wagoner, John Hill, Herschel Burrus, Glenn Burrus and P. B. Sowell.

MISS MARY WALDEN, Grand Worthy Advisor, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, for the state of Texas, and Miss Cortez Marie Dowling, Grand Representative from Texas to New Mexico, were in Hereford last week to attend installation services for Judy Bradley as Worthy Advisor. (Bradly Photo)

Miss Bezner Takes Degree In Nursing

Miss Bernadette Bezner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bezner, was a member of the graduating class at St. Anthony's School of Nursing in Amarillo on Friday, May 26.

Following the graduating exercises, which were conducted at St. Mary's Hall, a reception was held honoring the nurses, their parents and friends.

Attending from Hereford were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bezner and family, Mrs. Anna Bezner and Ed Bezner.

H. D. Club Fetes Miss Phyllis Ward

Miss Phyllis Ward, bride-elect of Charles Brown, was honored Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Packard.

The serving table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a bouquet of red roses. Miss Kay Packard presided at the crystal punch service.

During the afternoon the guests participated in a number of games directed by Mrs. C. F. Newsom.

Members of the Wyche Home Demonstration Club were hostesses.

Double Wedding Ring Vows Said In Lubbock Chapel

Miss Molly Beddo of Roby, Tex., and Donald Lee Zimmerman of Hereford, were united in marriage on Wednesday, May 24, at 5:30 in the afternoon in the chapel of the First Christian Church of Lubbock. Wayne Harris, of the Lubbock Church of Christ Bible School, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Only relatives and close friends attended.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Beddo, of Roby, and Judge and Mrs. Donald D. Zimmerman, of Hereford.

Tall baskets of gladioli and an arrangement of white stock, flanked by tapered candelabra, formed an attractive background for the wedding.

Taylor Sims, soloist, of Hereford, accompanied by Miss Latene Harris of Lubbock presented traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length wedding gown of white slipper satin and chantilly lace.

The bouffant skirt was overlaid with silk organza. Her fingertip veil of tulle was held in place with a tiara of Aurora Borealis crystals. She carried a white orchid surrounded by white stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Miss Sharon Holt of Enoch, Tex., was the bride's only attendant and Donald D. Zimmerman served as his son's best man. Miss Holt was attired in a street length dress of soft green silk organza with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Beddo, mother of the bride, wore a dress of seafoam green silk with matching accessories. Mrs. Zimmerman's dress was fashioned of mint green silk. She wore matching accessories and each wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. Miss Katie Beddo of Abilene, another sister of the bride, registered.

Recent Dinner Honors HHS Spring Graduates

Messrs. and Mesdames Elmer Patterson, Ernest Highers, Harvey Rowland and Denzil Puffiam were recent hosts for a dinner honoring the spring graduates who are members of the Church of Christ.

The table was laid with an ecru lace cloth over red and centered with an arrangement of red and white peonies in a cutglass bowl. White tapers in crystal holders completed the table decorations. Miniature white scrolls tied with red ribbon listed the menu. A three-course dinner was served to ten graduating seniors.

Following the dinner, the hosts presented the boys with tie racks and the girls with lipstick holders.

Attending were Bud and Rita Martin, Sharon Farmer, Ky-lene Hodges, Martha Duncan, Shirley Hodges, Nancy Green, Jerry Clark, Patsy Fowler, Edwin Thomas, Pat Bell and Sharon Newman.

Antonian Circle Elects Officers

The Antonian Circle held its final meeting of the club year recently. Hostesses for the evening affair were Mrs. Jimmy Jesko and Mrs. J. W. Stengel.

Members voted to change the meeting date from Friday to Tuesday. Mrs. Tony Urbanczyk was elected to serve as president for the coming year.

Other officers elected include Mrs. Duane Albracht, vice-president; Mrs. Wayne Koelzer, recording secretary; Mrs. Vincent Walterscheid, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid, treasurer; and Mrs. Carl Last, parliamentarian and reporter. Mesdames Duane Albracht, Leonard Walterscheid, Johnny Jesko and Guy Williams will serve on the yearbook committee.

Ceramic Club Holds Officer Installation

Mrs. John Roberson was hostess recently to members of the Ceramic Art Club at her home, when the club installed new officers and concluded their work for the year.

New officers installed included Mrs. Carlos Vaughn, president; Mrs. Nell Culpepper, vice-president; Mrs. W. C. Hromas, secretary; Mrs. Neil Norvell, parliamentarian, Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr. reporter; and Mrs. Alice Cox, historian.

Members present were Mesdames Neil Norvell, Mary Denton, F. M. Kester, Nell Culpepper, W. C. Hromas, W. H. Awtrey Sr., Carlos Vaughn and John Roberson.

Auxiliary Attends Two-Day Meeting

Several members of the local auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars were in Canyon recently for a joint meeting of the Auxiliary and the VFW. Main business of the two-day meeting was the election of officers for District 13.

On Sunday morning there was a joint meeting at the VFW Hall in Canyon, followed by a luncheon at the American Legion Hall. After the dinner, the two groups separated to conduct their election.

Mary Yandis of Littlefield was named district president for the Auxiliary. Other officers elected were Dorothy Honeycutt, of Canyon, senior vice; Sis Birge, Wellington, junior vice; Mary Stevens, Canyon, chaplain; Mae Brown, Julia, conductress; and Alta Davis, Hereford, guard.

Ladies attending the meeting from Hereford included Betty Lookingbill, Rosena Evans, Bess Hawkins, Effie Crox, Muriel Wall, Orpha Nickerson, Alta Davis and Olive Lawrence.

DOMICILE FOR THE DISTURBED
Pilot Study at Hillside

Teen Years Too Much

BY MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP) — The four teen-agers playing bridge in the attractive sitting room look like typical American girls. But they are not. These girls are members of a minority — no one knows how large — who have buckled under the stresses and conflicts of the change from child to woman. During their adolescent years they have become emotionally disturbed.

Girls at the Adolescent Pavilion are patients in a pilot project started six years ago by Hillside Hospital, a private mental institution in Queens, interested in the problem of how best to treat a patient who also is a teen-age girl.

Sixteen to 18 girls live together, like residents of a small college dormitory, and receive treatment from a staff of psychiatrists, psychologists, nurses and therapists. One aspect of the program is that a girl's parents are visited by a social worker weekly during her treatment — which usually lasts a year.

AFRAID OF MEN

There's Lynn, one of the four girls playing bridge, who is almost ready to go home. She was afraid of men. If a man accidentally brushed her arm, she was sure he was going to attack her.

Soon after she arrived at the pavilion, Lynn's psychiatrist won her confidence. He also encouraged her to assist the grandfatherly-courtesy man in the cafeteria.

She has gradually grown to trust this man and has planted flowers with him in the pavilion garden. With the doctor's permission, he has taken her on buses to the races where she was able to encounter other men without panic.

Lynn's story, oversimplified of course, illustrates one aspect of treatment of the girls in the pavilion, provision of a parent substitute with whom she can build confidence which later can be transferred to the outer world.

Alice Learns Bridge

When Alice came to the pavilion, she carried on endless physical rituals, wringing her hands, twirling her body as she walked. Since she has been taking dance lessons, some of her rituals have subsided.

Staff analysis of Alice's problems is still under way and her treatment still has far to go. But she is able now to sit quietly enough to play a game of bridge.

Dora, who plays briskly, is the girl the others consult about rules of procedure.

It is hard to imagine that Dora was given to uncontrolled rages when she arrived at the pavilion. She felt her parents considered her worthless and she agreed with their opinion. Dora expressed her self-hatred by destroying her own belongings and the furniture in her room.

Her psychiatrist mentioned that bridge is a game of prestige and later let word leak out that Dora played bridge.

Her rages are being replaced selected as a distinguished military graduate his senior year.

After September 1, the couple plan to make their home in Austin where he will attend the University of Texas. Zimmerman will attend the University law school and Mrs. Zimmerman plans to teach elementary education in the Austin public schools. They will spend the summer in Hereford and will be at home at 504 - B West Fifth Street.

The Erie Canal opened in 1825.

by confidence as she finds herself in demand as a bridge teacher, consultant and player.

After the staff at one of its weekly conferences decided Betty was withdrawing to commune with her dead mother, she was excused from all group activities. A staff member stayed in her room constantly, counteracting memories of her mother by providing association with a real person.

Betty's first interest in the outer world came when she wondered what the other girls were thinking of her. She learned they regarded her as a privileged character.

She began eating in the dining room, later asked for a room with a roommate, finally started going to high school classes. Soon, her doctor says, she will feel like taking off her dark glasses.

Dr. Alice Stahl, Viennese-born director of the pavilion, says: "Our patients have anguish, fear, loneliness, depression, intensified to the point of breakdown. They have the emotional disorders common to some extent in all teen-agers."

Dr. Stahl urges parents who have children that seem to be experiencing serious difficulty in growing up to seek the advice of the family doctor, who will be able to give advice and may in some instances recommend a psychiatrist. She warns against letting symptoms get worse.

The table was laid with an imported white linen cloth and all appointments were in crystal. The cloth used belongs to Mrs. Donald D. Zimmerman and is the one used when she and Mr. Zimmerman celebrated their silver wedding anniversary.
Miss Sally Beck of Roby served the wedding cake and Miss Jodi Reuse of Lubbock presided at the crystal punch bowl. Centerpiece for the table was an arrangement of stock. All members of the house party wore dresses of various shades of green, emphasizing the bride's chosen colors of green and white.
When the couple left for a wedding trip to South Texas, the bride wore a blue silk suit with white accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Fancy Tricks For Teen-Age Cooks

By Cecily Brownstone
These fancy food tricks are designed for short-order teenage cooks.

A Sweetheart party coming up? Then heart-embellished open sandwich cutouts will help you cut up at refreshment time.

These are boy-size sandwiches. If there are canape cutters around the kitchen, each slice of bread and cheese may be cut into 4 squares and a tiny heart-shaped cutter used on the cheese. We advise these small cutouts for an all-girl party.

For dessert, let cupid eat cake. Bake a sponge cake as you would for jelly roll, in a jelly-roll pan. Then cut out hearts of various sizes from the cake. Frost in pink and decorate with slices of candied cherries and silver dragees.

Or serve a chocolate layer cake; fill and cover with pink peppermint frosting. Then outline a big heart and arrow on the top with small pieces of semi-sweet chocolate.

MELTING HEART SANDWICHES
1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham
1/2 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons minced onion
4 slices bread (crusts removed)
4 sandwich-size slices white American cheese

Mix together the ham, chili sauce and onion. Toast bread on one side only under the broiler; spread ham mixture on untoasted sides. Cut out 4 cheese hearts with a heart-shaped cookie cutter. Place the 4 hearts in center of 4 slices of the ham-spread toast; place the 4 heart frames from the cheese on the other 4 slices of the ham-spread toast. Broil until cheese melts slightly.

Gruyere is a full milk cheese named for the town of Gruyere, Switzerland.

OPEN SANDWICHES of deviled ham and Sweetheart party, cheese are perfect snacks for a teenage

Beauty At Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. Just what can I do about crow's feet around my eyes?
A. If your question is directed towards prevention of these tiny criss-cross lines around your eyes, try to avoid some of the things that cause them—squinting or scowling, and also wear sunglasses when you are in strong sunlight. For treatment, make it a regular practice every night to lubricate this delicate area with enriched cream.

Q. What would you say is the prime secret of a beautiful figure?

A. Good, firm abdominal muscles. If you make a habit of resting on these muscles while working or walking, you are throwing all your proportions out of correct alignment. Learn to keep your abdomen pulled in and up. Pulling it up straightens your shoulders, your spine, and forces your head back where it should be. Many fault figures can be made to look good simply through correct carriage and posture.

Q. How can I, through my rouge application, add length to a very short face?

A. By placing your rouge spot as high as possible on the cheek, and blending it carefully outward from the rouge spot.

Q. What are some DON'TS to observe for care of one's complexion?

A. Don't apply cream with one hand, as you're bound to favor one side. DON'T pull down on the skin, since this encourages sagging. DON'T depend on creaming alone to cleanse your face. DON'T skip the daily soap-and-water wash. DON'T skimp on rinsing. DON'T forget your neck. DON'T miss daily care if you want a really good skin.

Q. Please suggest a remedy for "veiny" hands.

A. Wash hands with a good, pure soap and water, and apply some rich hand cream, holding the hands up in the air and stroking them down toward the wrists to encourage the blood away from the hands.

Q. What are some of things I can do to discourage dandruff in my scalp?

A. Try rinsing the hair after your shampoos more thoroughly than you have been doing. Change your brand of shampoo, since the one you're now using may not agree with you. Increase your brushing, and be sure to keep your brush and combs whistle-clean.

Q. What can I do about my upswept hairdo when it begins to hang down about my neck in unsightly strands?

A. Dampen it with a little witch hazel, and you'll find it will comb right back into place and leave the hair bright and shining.

Q. How can I keep an oily skin smoother and less moist?

A. Try using an astringent lotion (witch hazel, for instance) chilled with ice. This should help to firm any flabby muscles and stimulate lazy pore action through which too much oil is exuding. After removing cleansing cream, or after washing, apply the lotion with fresh cotton and then "slap" your face dry.

Q. What is a good, simple exercise to help reduce the hips?

A. Try sitting upright on the floor. Then roll to the right, catching your weight on your right hand—then to the left, catching your weight on your left hand. Do this at least a hundred times to each side, and you'll help to "roll" the pounds off.

Q. What is a good facial beauty mask I can prepare at home for my dry skin?

A. One old—but very good—one is made by mixing finely-ground oatmeal of the best quality with almond oil into a thin paste. Mix just enough for one mask treatment at a time.

HANDLE WITH CARE

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N. Y. — Bathers left their boat to picnic on the Crossman private beach. They left empty beer cans among debris, plus an envelope and a magazine cover with their address. The owner collected the debris, packaged it neatly and on the outside wrapper wrote "Handle With Care."

Inside a note said: "You left this on my beach. I thought maybe you had forgotten something."

CITY OF HEALING
The New Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center

A Hospital 318,000 Women Constructed

BY JOY MILLER

June 6 is moving day. From dawn to dusk strange caravans of trucks and cars and ambulances will move slowly out of Jerusalem and come to a halt three miles away. There on the ageless hills of Judea, overlooking the Biblical town of Ein Karem, 500 patients and 1200 medical personnel will be settled into the largest, most modern hospital establishment in the Middle East. It's the new Hadassah - Hebrew University American women built.

"To get it done all in one day we'll commandeer every kind of vehicle we can," says Mrs. Nathan Perlman, chairman of the Hadassah medical organization committee. "But because we're moving doesn't mean the medical center is finished. The medical school is not built, and we're still trying to raise funds for the Mother and Child Clinic." When it's completed, the center will be a medical city of 21 buildings, combining healing, teaching and research. Including the outpatient clinic, the hospital will treat 200,000 people a year, with Jews, Christians and Arabs given equal treatment. For maximum care of acute cases, the 500-bed teaching hospital incorporates a new concept. Rooms are on corridors radiating from central nurses' stations. Electronic devices enable the patients to speak to the nurse at her station and receive immediate reply. The medical school will give special courses for students from African and Asian countries. ("Do you realize there is not one native doctor in the whole of the Congo?") In addition, there will be a nursing and dental school. The center's history goes back to 1948. In the Arab-Israeli war, the Hadassah hospital on Mt. Scopus was cut off from Israeli use — and it still stands unused, under United Nations jurisdiction. The need for hospitals was pressing, and Hadassah, of America, sent over three members. They quickly threw up five makeshift hospitals, one in a former Arab harem.

One of the women was Mrs. Abraham Tulin, now national chairman of the Hadassah medical center committee. "I remember one evening," she recalls, "we were still under siege and there was no electricity. By candlelight we met with the doctors and professors. They said 'we will come out of this difficulty and we must go forward. For Jerusalem to get a shot in the arm Hadassah should announce it plans to build a medical school.'"

"By the next year we had established a school — in 28 scattered buildings, none with enough room space. Famous professors were working in closet-sized rooms. We knew we had to build."

The foundation stone was laid in 1951 on the hilly site selected by Prime Minister Ben Gurion who was sure Jerusalem would grow westward.

"Because it rains only three months a year, we had to bring water there," continues Mrs. Tulin. "We built five artificial lakes, a power station, a disposal plant to filter water for reuse by an agricultural station at the bottom of the hill."

Dedication was last August, but the building — and fund raising goes on. To date they've raised more than 16 million dollars — and another 6-1/2 million is needed.

"Our women are not wealthy, in general," says Mrs. Tulin. "We do our housework then go out and try to raise money for the center, bazaars, any way we can."

When George Washington resigned as commander-in-chief of the Continental Army after the Revolution, he appeared for the ceremonies attired only in a plain buff and blue uniform. It carried no military insignia.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I eradicate some crayon stains from unwashable and washable materials?

A. For unwashables, sponge with carbon tetrachloride, flushing the stain out onto a towel placed under it. If necessary to lubricate the stain, use some petroleum jelly or white mineral oil. Then flush the area again. For washables, if traces remain after the above treatment, try removing with soap and ammonia, color permitting.

Q. How can I remove some hot-plate marks left on my dining table?

A. By applying spirits of camphor with a soft cloth, rubbing lightly, and wiping dry. Or, try rubbing paraffin vigorously in the marred areas, then polishing with a soft cloth.

Q. Is there anyway to remove small scratches on glass table tops or on the glass screen of a TV set?

A. These are often very effectively obliterated with toothpaste, rubbed on with a soft cloth, and then polished off with another.

Q. How can I clean and renew oil paintings?

A. Best, of course, is to have this done professionally. If you try it yourself, go over the paintings with a wad of cotton dipped in turpentine, rubbing very lightly and carefully. Then apply a coat of special varnish sold in all artists' supply stores.

Q. How can I keep some empty fruit jars fresh and sweet-smelling until they are needed again?

A. Powdered borax sprinkled into these empty jars with the cover screwed tightly on will keep them sweet until they are needed again.

Q. How can I remove some paint spots on my linoleum floor that have become too dry to be removed with turpentine?

A. You can "sand" these off with some fine steel wool. Work carefully, so as to protect your linoleum, then wax, and polish.

Yam Wins Nation's Heart

By Cecily Brownstone

The ladies of Virginia have always known how to set a table. And prominent among their recipes are those for preparing that Southern favorite, the yam. One of the first ladies of American cookery, Mrs. Mary Randolph was enterprising enough in 1824 — to have written "The Virginia Housewife." Among her rules is a way with the yam seldom found up North.

Mrs. Randolph called this recipe "Sweet Potatoes Stewed" but a lot more than yams went into it! Just read her directions:

"Wash and wipe them (sweet potatoes), and if they be large, cut them in two lengths; put them at the bottom of a stewpan, lay over some slices of boiled ham; and on that, one or two chickens cut up with pepper, salt, and a bundle of herbs; pour in some water, and stew them till done, then take out the herbs, serve the stew in a deep dish — thicken the gravy, and pour over it."

We don't know exactly when candied sweet potatoes came into our cookery, but they seem to have the blessing of all eaters — South and North. And so many ways to prepare them! Some cooks use white sugar, some brown. Sometimes maple syrup is added for sweetening, or corn syrup or honey. Sometimes a suspicion of nutmeg goes on the yams; sometimes orange or lemon. This recipe uses honey and lemon and has another interesting addition — walnuts. It's good to put in the oven along with a meat loaf or a roast loin of pork or pork chops.

Fancied up Yams
Ingredients: 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup honey, 1/3 cup lemon juice, 6 medium-sized yams (cooked in skins and peeled), lemon (thinly sliced), 1/2 cup coarsely broken walnuts.

Method: In a small saucepan melt the butter; stir in the honey and lemon juice. Cut peeled yams in half lengthwise; arrange with lemon slices and walnuts in buttered shallow baking dish (1 1/2 quarts). Pour over butter mixture. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until piping hot through. Makes 6 servings.

FOR YAMS WHAT AM: These are only candied yams, mam, but they have been fancied up. Honey, lemon slices and walnuts are the ingredients that give added spice to this old Southern food tradition.

Household Scrapbook

By Roberta Lee
Copper Screens
Copper screens, flashing, and eaves troughs should be given a coat of shellac every year. This will keep the side of the house from being stained as rain water carries away oxidation from the exposed copper. For the best looking and most effective job, clean the copper thoroughly before applying the coat of shellac.

Rice Preparation
An easy way to wash rice is to place it in a sieve and let the cold water run through it until it comes through clear and free from starch. Rice should always be washed before using.

Paint Odor
Much of the annoying odor of some paints will be eliminated if you'll add a teaspoonful of pure vanilla to each gallon of paint used.

Homemade Dishcloths
Large-mesh sacks — the kind that oranges and onions come in — make wonderful dishcloths if you just boil them in water for 15 or 20 minutes. They'll shrink down to proper size — but most of the color will stay in them unless you add laundry bleach to the boiling water.

Attractive Centerpiece
Here's a cute idea for a table centerpiece: Stand a candle in a deep saucer, anchoring it with some wax drippings. Then pour some water into the saucer, and float a few fresh flowers in it.

House Plants
Sponge the leaves of house plants with milk to remove the accumulated dust and to impart a beautiful luster.

Faster Drying
Stockings and socks will dry much more quickly if, after washing, rinsing and wringing, the hand is run through each one all the way to the toe, to thoroughly separate them.

White Sox Beat Tigers 8-2 As Baize Strikes Out 17

S. D. Baize struck out 17 and limited the Tigers to three hits as the White Sox won 8-2 in their first Pony League tilt of the season.

But much of the credit would have to go to Steve Hodges, the White Sox catcher. Last year Baize was troubled with finding someone who could hang on to his streaking fast ball and breaking curve.

And, strange as it sounds, the White Sox had to come from behind in the last two innings to win the ballgame Thursday night.

Darrell Christianson put the White Sox in front 1-0 in the top of the second with a home run.

But the Tigers knocked the score in the last of the inning as Roger Owens walked and moved around on an error to score.

That was all the scoring until the last of the fifth. Jerry Don Edelman singled, took second on an error and came in on Frank Cain's double, to put the Bengals ahead.

Trailing 1-2, the White Sox rallied for four runs in the sixth. David Cabrera was hit by the pitcher, Baize and Christianson singled, Gary Robertson got on by error and Lupe Ramirez singled. At that point, Frank Cain was called in to relieve Mike Ranspot.

And he came through, striking out the next two batters to retire the side.

In the seventh, the White Sox got three more runs. With one out, Cabrera again was hit by a pitcher. He moved to second on a wild pitch before Steve Hodges walked. Baize singled and later scored the final run.

Three more strike-outs closed the game.

Dodgers Score 12 Runs In 6th, But Lose To Yankees

The Yankees scored 13 runs in the first four innings and then held off a tremendous rally by the Dodgers in the sixth inning to win 13-12.

In the bottom of the first, the Yankees picked up four runs on three hits. Randy Baize got on by error and was sacrificed to second. Danny Lester walked and came in on a single by Mike Horton and an error. Johnson Benefield's single drove in Horton.

They picked up two more runs in the second. Gene Duvall got on by fielder's choice and Lester singled. They moved around on a wild pitch, a walk to Danny Baize and singled by Horton and Felix Albiar.

It was two more runs for the Yankees in the third. Randy Baize singled and moved up on an error as Lester got on by fielder's choice. An error and fielder's choice scored both of them.

Final five runs for the Yankees came in the fourth inning. Jimmy Sheppard doubled and Randy Baize walked to start the inning off. Duvall and Lester singled before Jimmy Allison doubled. An error scored Allison.

Then came a burst of runs for the Dodgers. In the top of the sixth, they chalked up 12 runs. Mike Davis singled, David Evans got on by fielder's choice, with Bill Watts and Dusty Duncan getting singled.

credit for the victory. He gave up two runs on three hits, struck out 17, walked three and hit one batter.

Mike Ranspot was charged with the loss. He pitched five and a third innings, gave up five runs on six hits, struck out eight, walked one and hit one batter. In relief, Frank Cain gave up three runs on one hit, struck out four, walked one and hit one batter.

In addition to his pitching, Baize was the leading hitter as he pounded out three singles and a double in four trips. Teammate Darrell Christianson hit a home run and a single in four trips. Edelman's single and Frank Cain's pair of doubles were the only Tiger hits.

Art Display Set This Week

Panhandle residents have been privileged during the past year to view some outstanding art work created by area residents. This week something new is coming to Hereford in the way of art dealing.

Beginning Sunday and lasting through Saturday, some 175 oil paintings will be displayed at Safeway Super Market, 603 East Park.

Hereford was selected as a test market by art dealers Clarence Davis of Amarillo and Herman Dean of Borger for a showing of their tremendous collection of original European oil paintings to see if residents are interested in purchasing the paintings.

The display may be seen today from 12:00 until 8:00 p.m. at Safeway. There is no admission to the exhibit and the public is invited to attend. Courtesy coffee will be served.

The dealers have taken some two years to assemble the collection and this is the first time a sale of original art has been handled in this area in such a manner — through a local super market.

EPICURE'S DELIGHT: Slices of cooked turkey and fresh asparagus topped with a luscious sauce rich with the flavor of Parmesan cheese.

For Supper Party: Asparagus-Turkey

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

If you listen to or read the diet advice given out so plentifully nowadays, it's easy to get the idea that there isn't a single man or woman left in this country who doesn't have to watch his or her weight.

Not true! Look around and you'll see plenty of slim men and women still on the scene. These lucky people either do not gain weight readily or find it easy to eat so moderately that they keep down avoidoipos.

The following recipe is for those guests who feel free to enjoy turkey and fresh asparagus with a white sauce that includes light cream, egg yolks and Parmesan cheese. It is patterned after a well-known restaurant's dish made with chicken, broccoli and a white sauce combined with hollandaise, heavy cream and Parmesan cheese. Our sauce, delicious as it is, is far from being that rich!

If you want a main course for a supper party that even the most conscientious weight-watcher can enjoy, serve sliced turkey with a fresh asparagus salad. To make the salad, marinate cooked asparagus spears; in preparing the marinade be lavish with wine vinegar, miserly with oil and seas on with salt, freshly-ground pepper, prepared mustard and a suspicion of sugar. Arrange the marinated asparagus on crisp greens and garnish with pimiento or sliced tomatoes.

Bingo Question Points Up Unfair Treatment Of Police And Courts

Amarillo and Potter County, we notice, are having "Bingo" troubles. Needless to say, they are no different in this respect than most any other town in the nation.

The trouble in Amarillo began when the sheriff arrested the manager of a club on felony gambling charges, and it became still more complicated this week when a Potter County grand jury refused to indict the manager and cleared the Moose Lodge of the charges.

To a conscientious citizen, the case presents several facets - all highly argumentive. Gambling in the form of Bingo, under the law, is no different from gambling at poker, roulette, dice and numerous other games of chance. This has been held in several cases, and church sponsored Bingo games were closed in New York City only a few months back.

The sheriff who enforced the law last week drew scorn from many of the same people who deplored open gambling in Amarillo during the recent investigations. Nor do we go along with the theory that charitable distribution of the loot justifies the means.

Laws, on the other hand, should be made for people. Action on part of the grand jury, equally as conscientious and civic minded as the sheriff, throws another light on the circumstance. This development says that the people do want and approve of organized Bingo - and that they do not class it in the same category with the more generally accepted forms of gambling. As long as this attitude exists, there seems little doubt but that Bingo will continue and flourish, regardless of the statutes; such at least, was our experience with national prohibition during the 1930's.

This, of course, leaves our law enforcement officers facing a big question mark. Furthermore, such circumstance are the forerunner of graft and corruption in numerous police departments.

It seems to us that the laws should be altered to conform with the welfare and wishes of the people - and that they should then be enforced. As things now stand on this particular issue, along with numerous others, we are not treating our officers, judges and jury panels fairly. We are forcing them to bow to pressure of public opinion, frequently against the dictates of their conscience.

So long as we pursue such a policy, we doubtless will continue to have troubles with law enforcement in general.

Now Is Time To Learn To Swim

Hereford's municipal swimming pool opened Thursday with quite a splash, which will be followed this coming week with registration for all persons interested in the Red Cross swimming and water safety program.

The water program ranges in scope to cover ages from children through adults and offers several classes with hours to provide every possible convenience. For anyone who wishes to learn to swim, or to improve his swimming, these classes afford the best opportunity possible.

During past years, the water program has shifted the percentage of swimmers in this area into the plus column. Probably its highest recommendation is the fact that many of the instructors and leaders themselves learned to swim under the program.

The municipal swimming pool has meant much to the community and, without doubt, a great measure of the enjoyment it provides can be attributed to the Red Cross classes and programs similar to the one currently underway at this time.

As we said before, if you need to learn to swim or wish to improve your swimming, these classes afford an opportunity you should not fail to investigate.

Pioneers Score Another Success

Pioneer Day has come and gone again. Unlike some celebrations in the past, the 1961 occasion occurred without parades, undue fanfare or general celebration.

This does not mean that today's citizens fail to appreciate the old timers who came to the area in covered wagons and often lived in dugouts. On the contrary, it means that the community respects the wishes and the memory of those who paved the way for present day progress in the area.

Pioneers are much like anyone else in respect to the fact that they enjoy most seeing familiar faces, talking over other days and recalling personal incidents. They asked for less fanfare several years back, and the tremendous success of the annual gatherings certainly proves that they were correct. Included in the proposal was also a larger and more general celebration on anniversaries which mark decades.

The Brand, like other citizens, definitely feels that the Pioneer Day gatherings should first and foremost be conducted for the pleasure, interest and happiness of the pioneers themselves. At the same time, it is a pleasure indeed to express our gratitude to these hardy people in behalf of Hereford and Deaf Smith County. No group or individual has ever begun to contribute so much as our early settlers; their courage and privations are points we shall ever respect and admire.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The faith of a 72-year-old minister endured starvation and torture in a concentration camp, and inspired other prisoners to survive. Imprisoned by the Nazis, Dr. Norbert Capek of Czechoslovakia was taken to Dachau, where his words and example strengthened other prisoners to withstand the ordeal. Some who survived testified that the Unitarian leader could not have been sent to a place where he was more needed. Though he was martyred there, his faith lives on in the story of his heroism, and in the sound of some of the 90 hymns he authored in his lifetime.

Appearance Of Roses Marks Month Of June

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
What is so rare as a day in June, the song "June", June brides, June roses, the beginning of summer and the longest day of summer, June 24, Jefferson Davis' Birthday June Oh, there are so many things that make June the month of months for summertime. First of the many things not so glamorous is National Recreation Month, Movie Month, Jefferson Davis' Birthday June 5, Flag Week June 12-18, Flag Day June 14, Bow Tie Week, Humor Week, Children's Day June 12, Father's Day June 18, and of all things, Old Maid's Day - and why not? Can't you think of a dozen ladies who have given up a home of their own to care for parents, brothers and sisters and many, many others. Working most of their lives to send one of the family to college.

I can't think of any one more desiring of a special day than the girl that has gone all out for families and much of the time it was all taken for granted and no one thought that sister might have longed for a home and family of her own. Really, what I had in mind was roses - June is the month of roses and we have had a town full of them. Their fragrance has been waited for all to enjoy.

There are roses and roses and have been from almost the beginning of history. The old fashioned roses are available to some extent, but the newer ones are of course more popular. They were and are called moss roses, cabbage roses and the brier roses that have fragrant leaves as well as blooms, and the miniature roses that grow only 6 to 12 inches tall with half-inch blooms. All of these are lovely in rock gardens.

I remember one of the fragrant-leaved kinds in my grandfather's garden, and he called it, "sweet basil." Whether that is the proper name for it or not I do not know, but if there were any disturbance of the plant it would give forth a lovely fragrance that we children would sniff with delight and would often crush one of which would retain the fragrance for hours.

It is said the Queen of Scots of long ago loved roses and that some of the plants still grow near the castle; and small canes have been shipped to many places of the world where it is still growing today. Judge Nelson of Amarillo has one and he says "it is still very fragrant." These have sing I.e yellow blooms as most of the old fashioned ones did, but there is an Austrian brier that has red blooms, sometimes turning magenta with age.

Today we have almost any color of roses you can name, even orchid and silver gray, but the brighter colors appeal

50 YEARS AGO

Fame Of City, County Continues To Spread

Hereford is again in the saddle ready to start on a new publicity campaign. In the days past, thru the efforts of its splendid commercial organization, the fame of Hereford and the Hereford county was spread far and near, and the benefits that accrued therefore is undisputed; and it will be the constant endeavors of the members of the new organization to surpass in good results. After two meetings in which much preliminary work was done, the reorganization of the club was effected only through strenuous and constant efforts. been instructed at a former meeting to appoint a committee of five, who were in turn to select sixteen men, eight of whom would be selected to act as directors of the new organization. The organization of the club was effected only through strenuous and constant efforts. Up and on its feet now the club should have no divisions, but every citizen should become a member and every member should pull with every other member to the welfare of the club. The dues will be in monthly installments, and whether the amount be large or small the club-wants you for a member, not only in name but in action.

25 YEARS AGO

Veterans adjusted service bonds will be mailed out of 12 post offices beginning at 2 p. m. June 15, and are expected to arrive at the local post office from June 17 to June 30. All veterans receiving their bonds at the local office will be notified when their bonds arrive, and they must be taken out immediately. W. L. Pickett, the postmaster, stressed two points: the bonds cannot be delivered to any other than the addressee, and they cannot be forwarded. There is no excuse to send someone else after them because they cannot be delivered in such a manner. They will be given out through the back office and not through the postal windows. The bonds may be redeemed on and after June 15. Although they earn simple interest at the rate of three per cent per annum, no interest is payable on any bonds redeemed prior to June 15, 1937. Veterans who desire to cash their bonds must sign the request for payment on the back of the bonds in the presence of a certifying officer. If the veteran is personally known to the postmaster or designated employee, witnesses are not necessary. If he is not known, one or two witnesses who know the veteran and who are known to the certifying officer must sign the bond in the space provided, with their addresses in the presence of the certifying officers. Space is also provided on the bond for taking fingerprint impressions in exceptional cases.

FLY-IN BREAKFAST SLATED

A big Fly-In Breakfast sponsored by the Mustang Flying Club Sunday morning was served as an official dedication of the new runways at the Andrews Airport. The breakfast lasted from 6 a. m. until noon Sunday at the airport and featured everything from new plane demonstrators and an Air Force fly-over to sky diving acrobatic acts. Short dedication ceremonies by county officials officially opened the new runway extensions and improvements at the airport which now make it accessible to large aircraft. Highlighting a number of demonstrators for the fly-in breakfast was the appearance of the Ling-Temco. The Aierocar is a four-wheeled, two place pusher-type vehicle when in flight.

BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

Committee reports were heard Saturday afternoon at a final meeting of the Floyd County Pioneers Reunion Association, and at this point it looks as if it will be one of the biggest celebrations ever, when many pioneers and their descendants assemble on May 27. Early comers to the county who blazed the trail for the present days will enjoy chit-chat with friends from all over this area. Activity will continue throughout Saturday. The association expected to feed at least 400 old timers, who resided in the county 50 years ago or longer. The sum of $1,020.50 was reported in contribution for Association funds.

$60,000 BOND APPROVED

Residents of this northwest Hockley County community, in an election held Thursday, have approved a $60,000 bond issue to build a new grade school building, including four classrooms and a modern cafeteria. They also voted to place the school under Senate Bill 116, permitting of levying up to $1.50 for school maintenance, and also permitting a tax rate sufficient to pay off indebtedness voted by residents of the district, which falls within three counties, Hockley, Cochran and Lamb. Both propositions were approved by the voters of the district 40 to 0.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm discusses the television situation this week, without any noticeable effect.

Dear editor:

I was reading a newspaper last night while my wife was watching television, you can say this for television, it's easier to read while it's going on than while your wife is, I mean, whatever faults television has, it sure cuts down on the conversation; at any rate, what I was reading was an article by the new chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, the outfit that's supposed to supervise the airways.

According to Chairman Minow, television has got to get better if it's to stay on the air.

He said if you want to find out how bad television is, "sit down in front of your set when your station comes on in the morning and stay there until it signs off that night." He said you'd see a procession of junk, violence, silliness, and commercials, with only a few things you'll enjoy, and most of all, he added, "boredom."

Now I'm no authority on television, but I'm not sure watching the thing fourteen hours in a stretch and complaining because you came out bored, is any real test. I have a notion if Chairman Minow will get on my tractor, glue himself to the seat, bend his head over, and watch the rows fourteen hours a day while he goes up one and down another, he'll get off extremely bored, not to mention other things.

As for violence on television, I'll admit it's bad, but saying it'll have to be eliminated if T. V. is to stay on the air is like saying crime stories will have to be eliminated from newspapers if they're to stay in business. It's like saying violence will have to be eliminated from history books if they're to be read. It's like saying Shakespeare would have been an enduring success if he had cut out all them suicides and stabbings and swordplay.

Understand, I'm not in favor of violence. For one thing, it takes more energy than I'm interested in spending, but on television, when an outlaw gets shot, even the kids know it's only acting, the bullets are fakes and the same characters will get shot again next week, but where the Federal Communications Commission will run into trouble is when it tries to convince the kids only fake bullets are used in war.

Television can continue its violence and stay on the air, but can man continue his and stay on the earth? I could give you the answer, but excuse me, Wagon Train is coming on, just as soon as the newscast about the violence in the Congo goes off.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Bible Schools Face Challenge

Bible School is just around the corner. Currently plans are being formulated and preparations made by practically every church in the vicinity to conduct the annual classes.

These schools, needless to say, will consume untold hours of time and expend untold energy on the part of scores of volunteer workers. Most of the schools are well planned, and produce worthwhile results.

Bible Schools in general should provide one of the best answers we know toward stopping the spread and advance of communism in our country. At the same time, they afford possibilities of increasing the spread and encouragement of Christianity at a time when it is sorely needed in our nation.

Most of the churches, we hope, are going to considerable ends to stress the beliefs and tenets of their particular denomination. While we definitely believe in religious tolerance, we doubt if all members of any specific denomination fully understand and appreciate the finer points upon which their particular church was established.

It is difficult for most of us to live by the creeds which we understand, much less those which we do not know or grasp. More thorough understanding along these lines can lead to fuller and more Christian lives for all concerned.

Roses...

to most people. Go to any reputable garden center for your rose plants, but never buy them at a bargain counter as from green-houses that have forced them for several years until they are worn out. You will be lucky if you get them to live and luckier still to get them to bloom and grow into rosebearing plants. Ask the manager to suggest roses that do well in the area in which you live, as some roses will not thrive in a too cold area.

When you buy your rose bushes be very careful of the care you give them in planting and never expose the roots to the hot sun. It is a wise thing to put them in a pail of water unless you have already dug the hole you plan to put them in, then "puddle" them in thin mud before putting them into the ground.

Be sure the hole is large enough to spread the roots without crowding or twisting them, and before planting examine carefully to see that there are no diseased roots or branches. If the nurseryman did not prune them cut them back to about twelve inches long and set them in the ground just deep enough to cover the bud-union. This means the knob or swollen joint where the top and roots join. This is the point where the rose has been budded on the understock.

From the knot up is the rose. Pack the soil firmly but not to a rock firmness, and water thoroughly. In fact it is wise to place the hose near the plant and turn the water to a dribble and let it dribble for 12 to 24 hours to thoroughly wet the ground and settle it about the plant, so there will be no air spaces near the roots.

Most roses will live without protection other than a mound of earth if the temperature does go below 10 degrees and stay therefore a good many days but will freeze back to the ground if it stays over a long period.

Do not plant them too close together unless you are planting for a hedge, then eighteen inches or two feet are about right in the north but as much as two and one half feet or even three on the Pacific Coast and in the southern states.

Never leave the labels wired around the plant as the wire will girdle and kill plants. Put the label on a stake and stick it in the ground near the rose. Of course it may be lost but by that time you can remember it.

Now that we have talked about roses I will give you a recipe for making a rose jar. These may take a little time but how wonderful to have them. Open for a short time and they will perfume the whole house with their spicy rose fragrance, or to do the job even quicker hold the open jar before the air conditioner fan for a few minutes and you will marvel at the delightful odor.

Secure an airtight jar to hold at least a pint of petals. Gather them while fresh; do not wait until they are ready to fall from the plant. Spread a layer of petals and sprinkle with salt. Do this until the jar is filled, set the jar in the sun for a few hours or until moisture appears on the petals.

Place in a larger bowl and mix the following ingredients thoroughly, then cover and let ripen for six weeks or more before opening the jar.

To one pint of petals add:
1 teaspoon of cloves.
1 teaspoon cinnamon, ground.
1 teaspoon Orris Root powder.
1 teaspoon of Oil of Sandalwood.

Mix and cover, opening the jar a few minutes only for perfuming room or a bit longer for an entire home.

Yankees Bomb Giants, 13-5

Continuing their winning ways, the Yankees bombed the Giants 13-5 in Monday night's Little League tilt. The Yankees marked up three runs in the first on a single, a double, an error and two walks. They added five more in the second. Randy Baize and Gene Duvall singled and Danny Lester doubled. Jim Allison walked and Danny Baize doubled. Felix Albiar singled to drive in the last run. Robert Wagner scored for the Giants in the last of the second. He was hit by the pitcher and moved around on an error and a fielder's choice. Three more runs came in for the Yankees in the third. Duvall and Lester singled ahead of Allison's double. Danny Baize and Albiar singled to drive in Allison.

Last two Yankee runs came in the fourth. Duvall walked and Lester singled. Duvall scored on a sacrifice fly and Lester got in on an error. The Giants picked up five runs in the fifth. Ronald Otts and Charles Brewton singled before Gene Drummond and Jimmy Childers walked. Sydney Shaw then slammed a double and later scored on an error. Allison pitched one inning and got credit for the victory. Other Yankee hurlers included Lester and Petree. Darrell Dameron and Gene Drummond hurled for the Giants. In a game last Saturday, postponed from the previous night, the Giants eased by the Dodgers, 10-9.

'Deaf' Smith Says

TO: The Spirit of General Sam Houston
FROM: The Spirit of Erastus 'Deaf' Smith
SUBJECT: Scouting Report on Opinion Concerning the Farm Bill

As you know, Sam, my county is entirely dependent upon agriculture and livestock. The only other industry in the county is the tourist industry...

I thought, Sam, that both those who support and those who oppose the bill might be interested in the testimony of one large organization in opposition to the bill...

My name is Walter B. Garver, and I am Manager of the Agriculture Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States...

It would enmesh the farmer and the farm economy irretrievably in a completely regulated and regulated central control which no commodity and no farmer can hope to escape.

It is motivated primarily by farm income objectives impossible of attainment in a free competitive society.

To theoretically increase income the proposals in Title I are designed to achieve a managed scarcity.

Much has been said of the blessings of abundance, but here we are faced with proposals for legislation which specifically seek to throttle the capacity for this abundance.

comes are equally or comparably low. The families in both groups are a part of the challenge facing the nation to achieve economic and industrial growth and progress so that productivity rises make possible material improvement in their status.

The achievement of parity of per capita income as between farm and non-farm people calls for a drastic and unattainable major surgery on the entire economy.

The whole of public policy has supported and encouraged abundance as the primary route to economic progress in our country.

Farmers have made income progress in this century comparable to that made by the nation as a whole.

During the decade 1950 through 1959 this ratio has been 40 per cent. In the supposed 'golden age' of parity, 1910-14, the period that is the basis for parity calculations, the ratio was 38 per cent.

No one can satisfactorily explain all the complex factors that make this one of the economic facts of life.

The language of this bill, especially in Title I, is so complex that it defies comprehension by the layman.

Its proponents say that there are only two alternatives before us. The first is a return to free markets, either abruptly, which few advocate, or by stages that permit farmers to adapt themselves to its rigors.

The second alternative is rigorous control of the market supplies. This, they say, means restricting the entry into agricultural production by farmers, and the control of production, marketing and supplies, commodity by commodity, year by year.

The basic approach of these proponents is that agriculture would be made a 'public utility' - a gigantic public utility made up of millions of small producers acting with the 'aid and consent of government' to produce and market only such quantities and qualities of commodities as consumers will buy at the predetermined 'fair' prices.

Government would establish the machinery and grant the powers to farmers to produce for this kind of market.

In exchange for these 'rights' the federal government would reserve the right to fix rates and prices and thereby the right to determine what are fair returns to farmers.

And how would all this be implemented? The blueprint has been spelled out in four steps:

(1) The federal government (the Secretary of Agriculture) would determine and set the 'fair' price for each commodity, and these prices would be the guides in setting the national sales and production quotas;

(2) The Department of Agriculture would decide how much of each commodity could be marketed at the price fixed in (1);

(3) Each farmer would be allocated by the Department of Agriculture his share in this total marketing quota, 'probably' based to some extent on his historical record of production;

(4) The 'rights' thus allocated would be negotiable, leaving each farmer free to buy or sell these rights as he saw fit.

would become the cost of doing business in a stabilized agriculture. This thus become a windfall profit to those able to claim them when the rights are first allocated.

Throughout the long debate on farm policy, there has been considerable talk about 'corporate farming'.

But it is hard to conceive of any one device that would accelerate corporate farming more than the ability to trade in the rights which proponents would make negotiable.

Most farmers regard production and marketing controls as a nuisance. Production and marketing controls have never reduced total farm output.

Farmers find themselves under pressure to make such shifts. In large part the reason is the increasing importance of fixed costs to each farmer.

To the extent that 'supply management' implements lower output, the individual farmer finds himself in a situation of higher unit costs.

supply implied in the mechanisms of Title I would therefore be multiplied over and above the increased returns to producers which the programs are intended to achieve.

Turning to some of the authorities which Title I of H. R. 640 would create, we would like to offer the following comments for the consideration of this Committee.

We regard the 'farmer advisory committees' as meaningless. These committees would be hand-picked by the county committee. That the latter are elected by farmers is somewhat irrelevant. They are elected to perform other and largely unrelated functions.

Deaf Smith..

"There is no obligation in this bill for a Secretary to follow the advice and recommendations of the advisory committees after they are chosen. Surely a competent Secretary would know the various and often conflicting views and wishes of farmers with respect to the different commodities with this added bureaucratic machinery.

"We object on behalf of our agricultural business members to the 'take - it - or - leave - it' handling by Congress of such specific programs as a Secretary of Agriculture might recommend. The bill does not provide adequate opportunity for expression in open forum of the various views of producers of other commodities, the marketing and processing agencies, and the users of the product. It is the proper sphere of this Committee and the Congress to reconcile such views in the public interest. Title I would short - circuit such review.

"We object to the delegation of the power to the Congress to veto or proposals within 60 days. The Congress, representing all of the people, should retain the power constitutionally bestowed upon it to amend and otherwise give the final legislative sanction to any proposals that are to become the substantive law of the land.

"The provisions for referenda among producers are open to serious question. There is a very limited usefulness to such referenda in the proposed circumstances. If they are to be meaningful, the choices offered producers should be between reasonable alternatives rather than, as is too often the case, 'this or virtually nothing.'

"Moreover, such referenda should reflect also the views of competing producers of other related commodities as well as the users of the commodity under referendum, in fact of all interested parties having a direct interest in the consequences of the choices offered.

"The authority that would be granted to the Secretary to develop control programs for any and every agricultural commodity produced by farmers could easily be used, even with the best of intentions, to force every commodity under a government control program. Since the bill contains no restrictions on the total output of a farmer who might be covered under some one commodity program, the door is open for him to shift to other commodities, just as producers have done in the past under allotment and quota programs. This could then constitute unfair competition with farmers producing other commodities who might prefer no federal program. Yet this competition could force the commodity into such programs that demand for a federal program would appear to them to be the only way out of their difficulties. Thus we see this power as a device conceivably aimed at forcing all commodities under the government's control.

"The power to establish minimum allotments and grant exemptions permits two kinds of abuses. One kind might be to set the limits at such levels as to preclude some producers from having a say in the program. It is proposed to submit to referendum. A second abuse might be the favoring of some small producers at the expense of or to the disadvantage of larger commercial producers. The effect could be to put a ceiling on the business of some farmers.

"The authority to define administratively 'Non - commercial' areas could produce similar abuses, operating not only against some producers but the marketing and processing facilities as well.

"Title I would authorize the Secretary to establish base periods. In view of the dynamic changes that have taken place in the production and marketing of farm commodities, and that seem likely to continue to occur, this power permits the favoring of producers, areas and commodities at the expense of others against a tide of economic change. It seems likely to us that such power would be used to prevent healthy change rather than further it.

"The power to make direct or compensatory payments is one more attempt, as we see it, to edge this device into general farm legislation. This is the power to drive supply and demand further out of balance and to wreck the market system by stimulating excessive production and thus necessitating tighter controls. The bill provides that their use would be limited to situations in which there was a supply management program. We believe that this is such a loose limitation as to be no limitation at all, since it is quite possible to have a nominal supply management program that did not really manage supply. And we find no effective limitation in the bill on the unit amount of such projected payments.

"The bill confers powers upon the Secretary to require as terms and conditions for price-support operations a wide range of authority over the individual farmer, including his marketing practices and a number of phases of the detail of the farm operation. We consider this too broad a scope.

"The American people, farmers and the Congress have come to a cross-roads in farm policy. We believe that the public, as taxpayers, is growing increasingly intolerant of the burden on the public treasury of three to four billion dollars annually for farm programs covering a relatively few commodities. "Nor as consumers are they apt to accept the mere shifting of this burden to their grocery bills, not to mention the increasing of that burden to achieve the farm income goals this bill is designed to achieve. "One of the most urgent pressures for revisions of farm programs is their costs. Programs which Title I would authorize embracing the use of compensatory payments, higher support prices and the broadening of such programs to all farm commodities, seem to us assurance that costs under these programs would be higher than they are now.

"Since Title I authorizes financing the programs proposed directly from Commodity Corporation funds, the Congress would have less control over these costs than it now has.

"We are therefore opposed to the provisions of Title I. We would recommend on behalf of our members that this Committee and the Congress revise farm legislation so that farm programs will come to rely in the main on the interplay of the economic forces of supply, demand and technology. These forces can neither be ignored nor circumvented. Programs should lead ultimately to the determination of the levels of production by the operation of these forces working through the market price system. They should leave to the wisdom and skill of farmers themselves the choice of their use of their labor and resources."

SAM, that is the testimony of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, I hope that all of the citizens of my county, whether they support or oppose this viewpoint, will write to his Congressman today. The bill number is H. R. 646. Letters should be addressed to: The Honorable Walter Rogers, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

Ian Fleming writes concisely and excitingly, but his new book, Thunderball, hits a new high in reader suspense.

In this new novel from the Deaf Smith County library, Fleming presents the blueprint from a monumental crime that would take place in our lifetime.

A hard - living security agent in England, James Bond finds himself in disgrace with his commander because of a monthly fitness report. His superior, M., orders Bond packed off to a nature - cure clinic for a tune-up. During the two weeks, Bond finds himself undergoing the ignominy of carrot juice and nut - cutlets. He also makes a ruthless enemy and thereby inadvertently upsets the plans of S.P.E.C.T.R.E.

This organization - comprised of the most daring, vicious criminals in the world. They have pulled off some of the most daring, and profitable, crimes in recent years.

But their latest project is staggering; they will steal a NATO bomber, complete with two nuclear weapons, and hold up the world governments for ransom. The alternative is to blow up a large city if the money is not given them, and then wait for a terrified world to pay them for returning the second bomb.

The plan is complete to the final detail, but is delayed when one of the key persons lets personal hatred interfere with his nefarious business.

Everything finally works and the plane is stolen, hidden and the bombs cached away.

When the ransom letters arrived in the world capitals, Bond was assigned to work on the case. With thousands of other agents on the job, he felt that he was being struck in the wrong place.

Sent to the Bahama Islands, he finds a beautiful girl and a couple of clues. Joining him in the work is an American agent.

Before the pair is finished, they have scoured a luxurious yacht, fought underwater battles and enlisted the aid of an American atom-powered submarine and a squadron of fighter planes.

For adventure and intrigue, Ian Fleming has written a superb thriller. Thunderball is good reading. The only trouble is that you feel it is just too short.

American Women - Why They Volunteer

BY LYDIA BICKFORD
Plan a mass meeting of all the women volunteers in the United States and you'd have to rent several hundred football stadiums.

You'd find enough talent, too, to run a king-size corporation—and still have ability left over. You can find women who fill every post from switchboard operator to chairman of the board.

Women talk, walk, plan, collect, create, cook, implore, phone, write, enlist, solicit for hundreds of causes that couldn't exist without their efforts.

Is volunteering a satisfying way of life for the bazaar chairman, the hospital worker, the poster designer, the ticket seller?

For some it's therapy, for others creativity, or the feeling of being needed. But for a much smaller number it's a seemingly endless round of frenzied and inconclusive activity.

Women workers point out what they like about volunteer work:

There's its flexibility. "If the children have mumps, I don't feel guilty about canceling. I couldn't do that with a paid job," explains one woman.

Others like the freedom of choice. "which I wouldn't get if I worked for a pay check. I can select the agencies in which I'm most interested."

They like to feel their voluntary activities are not conflicting with their husbands' careers. "If I'd kept on with my work as a fashion designer, I know my husband would have unconsciously resented my success. He has to be top dog to be happy."

Sometimes women who have never held jobs discover hidden abilities. These are the superb home managers who become volunteer chairmen, organizers and planners; the born club women.

Other women given to self-scrutiny volunteer only where they can use their talents. "I'm a former social worker, I'd rather volunteer in a counseling agency and be in the environment where I belong—than do odd jobs any untrained woman an do."

Perhaps the strongest sense of satisfaction comes to women who have a binding emotional tie with the agency for which they work. A mother whose child is retarded throws herself heart and soul into the cause of retarded children, and will work tirelessly for their help.

But what about the worker who feels herself on a treadmill?

One woman, for example, is on the board of the Woman's Club, which means she attends two meetings a month; she models, prepares a dessert and arranges for delivery of 10 card tables for the annual fashion show; drags her protesting husband to three covered dish suppers annually; attends meetings for explorations into the needs of the community's senior citizens; performs liaison with county and state clubs.

She is also a member of the volunteer committee for mental health, for which she spends an hour a day at the telephone trying to recruit volunteers for work at the state hospital.

She is on the speakers' bureau of an anti-highway organization, although she hates to make speeches; makes door-to-door forays to raise money for it; keeps a clipping scrapbook for the group. She is room mother for her daughter's class, works with the Junior Museum helping set up exhibits. When the local hospital has a fair to finance a new wing, she makes five pounds of potato salad and four quarts of chili.

How did this ball of activity ever get rolling?

"I guess I'm a victim of the soft sell," she says. "Everybody tells you the job means no work at all—which is a laugh. 'My other gripe is about meetings, meetings, meetings. Calling a meeting to be the chairman's solution for anything, no matter how trivial. People get way off the point, get very emotional, and hours go by. And nothing has been settled.'"

TO such harried do-gooders, women who are able to keep their volunteer work within reasonable bounds have advice. "Walk with caution before saying yes," says one lady of experience. "I try to find out exactly what the work entails—meetings how often, how long, and what for. Telephoning, the same. How much help I can count on if it's a big planning job. Most of all, do I feel this organization is necessary? Is it doing a job? Or does it seem like made work?"

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

■ Gee! ■ Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. ■ The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engine car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistledown. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. ■ You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. ■ You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

Beauty At Home

Q. What have you to say about foundation makeup for the mature woman?

A. The mature woman should avoid the heavy bases, which will only line the sides of any wrinkles, forming cracks that make them more noticeable. She must use a base that is light in weight, and applied very sparingly. She then tops this with a finishing powder, and brushes it away.

Q. What is a good, emergency camouflage treatment for an unsightly facial pimple?

A. Try covering it with some pink calamine lotion. You can keep this on all day, and when you wash your face you can give it another coating immediately. It will not dry the skin, is mildly antiseptic, and provides an excellent covering for your "hickey."

Q. Please recommend a good dressing for my limp, dry, and lifeless-looking hair.

A. One good one consists of baby oil (containing lanolin), mixed with a few drops of water.

Q. How can I concoct my own cleansing, "general purpose" facial beauty mask?

A. By mixing three teaspoons of powdered milk with the white of an egg, applying this to face and throat, allowing to dry on the skin, then removing with tepid water.

Q. Is there a good, cleansing "homemade" compound I can use on my skin to help eradicate blackheads?

A. One very good one consists of a tablespoonful of oatmeal, one of cornmeal, and some soap and water. Rub this over the skin, then scrub over this with a complex ion brush, and finally rinse off. The "abrasive" quality of this mixture usually proves very effective for digging into the pores and dislodging those unattractive blackheads.

Q. How can I treat excessive perspiration of my feet?

A. With soap - and - water scrubbings - plunges in hot and cold water alternately - using an alcohol or menthol lotion and powdered alum, after the feet have been bathed and dried. If this trouble is chronic with you, better consult your doctor.

WELL-DRESSED FIREMEN

NAVARRE, Ohio - When the house of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baechel caught fire, one of the best-dressed fire departments ever to battle a blaze answered the call.

The alarm went out at 11:45 Sunday morning, catching many of Navarre's volunteer firemen in their Sunday best.

Chief William Evans said their finery didn't detract from their diligence. They confined the fire to one room.

Seniors, Sponsors Return From Trip To West Coast

BY MRS. R. L. PINNELL
At 9:15 Saturday night 12 1961
Seniors and their sponsors arrived home from a 2991-mile trip thru the west coast and the central states to conclude a 10-day Senior trip.

Wayne Milner, Sandy Ferguson, Linda Gruhik, Kippy Morgan, Supt. and Mrs. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank. Mrs. Gene Moore and children returned home with her mother, Mrs. Nelson Seago of Leila Lake, Sunday while the Rev. Moore is attending Methodist conference at Lubbock this week.

Sheryl Pounds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Minor Pounds of Austin, visited ten days with her grandparents, the E. B. Pounds, recently while her mother was sick with the mumps. The Ed Oloman family joined his family, the W. E. Olomans at Wildorado for a Sunday night supper honoring his brother, Jim, who is leaving for the reserve training at Ft. Hood this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill James and boys enjoyed a pre-Memorial Day family gathering at the home of an aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dye in Claude Sunday. The complete James family attended. Mrs. Ralph Perry returned to Childress for a medical check-up after recent surgery Thursday.

It's A Soviet Best Seller — But Why?

BY MILES A. SMITH
Why would a romantic novel published in London and New York in 1897 remain a best seller in Russia all these years? There is no clear cut answer to that question. But it will be asked frequently in this country, now that it has been published by Pyramid Books in paperback form, with a remarkable press run of 500,000 copies. The title is "The Gadfly." The author was E. L. Voynich — the "E" standing for Ethel.

Also in the resistance movement is Jenifer Warren — the Italians call her Gemma — of an English Protestant family, and Arthur begins to fall in love with her, being a little jealous of another patriot named Bolla. A second shock comes when Arthur learns that he is the illegitimate son of the priest Montanelli. In a spirit of revulsion he smashes a crucifix in his room, leaves a note indicating he has drowned himself, and stows away aboard a vessel bound for South America.

E. L. VOYNICH Why Russia?

HABIT BROKEN
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lena Hastings Johansen of Tucson had a habit of leaving her pruning shears on the sill outside her bedroom window. A thief broke that habit by using the shears to cut a window screen, enter the Johansen home and haul out several valuable items.

ODD NAMES
KAYENTA, Ariz. (AP) — Agnes M. Peterson has some interesting names on the books of her motor supply company in Kayenta. They include Trixie Calamity, Pipeline Begishie, Buddy Mustache, Poorboy Kid, James Lefthand, Ernest Yellowhair, Little Laughter, Wee Willie, Lee Sombrero, Little Red house and Ben Franklin. Kayenta is on the Navajo Indian Reservation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Worshaw were in Borger Sunday to help their son, Jackie, enjoy his birthday. Mrs. Bobby Speed, Rita and Dude visited her mother, Mrs. T. H. Foster at Ft. Sumner, N. M., this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kinsey of Clovis, N. M., former Adrianites were back visiting in the community Friday.

Here is the gist of the plot: Arthur Burton, a young man of an English family living in Italy, deeply hurt by the death of his mother, has formed a close attachment to a priest named Montanelli. He also has become interested in an underground movement called Young Italy, smuggling patriotic books into the country.

Obviously, there is nothing of Lenin or Marx in the book. Perhaps it appeals to the Russians because The Gadfly is presented as an indomitable revolutionary. The attacks on the Roman Catholic Church might be a factor. But there is no single, plausible explanation of why the Russians think so highly of a novel that had a brief success in England and America and then was forgotten.

They remained in Las Vegas only one day before traveling on to Anaheim, Calif. Here they settled for five days during which they toured Catalina Island, Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm and the beach. While on Catalina they hired three cars and toured the island. On Friday the group moved to San Diego and crossed the border into Tijuana, Mexico, for two hours of shopping for souvenirs.

Most of the college students have made it home for the summer vacation. The Rev. Gene Grace of Amarillo filled the pulpit Sunday in the First Baptist Church in the absence of the Rev. J. R. Manning. The Mannings are vacationing in South Texas. Rev. Grace was a dinner guest of the E. B. Pounds. The Kenneth Milner family was honored Tuesday night with a going-away party in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church. Many family gifts were presented to the couple who are moving to Jasper, Mo. from their farm home in the Simms community.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown left Friday for Phoenix, Ariz. They returned home Monday afternoon. Clinton Earl remained at home with the Jimmys Browns and Bobby Wayne stayed in Amarillo with his grandmother, Mrs. Pat Maupin. Mrs. Butch Betts and Dana Sue returned to their Bossier City, La., home on Tuesday after an extended visit with the Horace Betts.

Remember When?
BY CHARLIE SEEDS
This was the year of the big swing bands... of the incomparable Benny Goodman, the Dorsey Brothers, Artie Shaw and his clarinet, the fabulous Glenn Miller and many, many more. All over America young people were dancing... and their parents were listening.

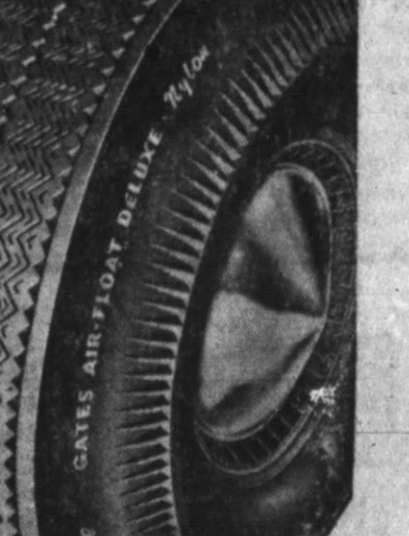

Mr. and Mrs. Don Janssen of Amarillo were Memorial Day guests of her brother, Brother and Mrs. R. I. Blassengame. They were accompanied by friends, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Buck Stringer, Debbie and Mike of Glendale, Calif., visited Sunday in Adrian and were dinner guests of the Bob Caldwell's. They were moving from California to Las Alamos, N. M.

When ordinary tires are worn smooth—ready to be replaced like the one above... Gates "low profile" Nylons still have deep tread left to give thousands more miles.

Because it is built lower and wider—closer to true running shape—this advanced tire flexes less, heats less, scuffs less on the road—brings you thousands and thousands of bonus miles. So tough you get an Unconditional Road Hazard Guarantee No time or mileage limit.

Covers ANY tire failure for entire life of long-wearing tread. Should tire fail for any reason you get a new tire, with full credit for unused mileage, based on Gates standard, nation-wide adjustment schedule.

Table with columns: Size, List Price, Your Price. Rows for Blackwalls and Whitewalls in various sizes.

Remember the year? It was a big year for bands... and for the automobile business, too. America was entering a new period of prosperity. More and more buyers were looking at the new cars... shopping for the best deal. The year was 1939.

Designer Bohan: Dior's Dilemma

BY NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP) — When Marc Bohan accepted the job of designing the spring fashion collection for Christian Dior, he found himself in the middle of what might be called "Dior's dilemma."

His youthful predecessor, Yves Saint-Laurent, provoked the issue by getting a very early discharge from the Army, following a nervous collapse. Will he take his job back from Bohan after a single season? French law assures him, like any draftee, that he can if he chooses.

Driving himself to work in a small red sports car at 10 a.m. yesterday, Bohan dived speedily into his studio. He was still there at midnight, working feverishly on sketches that must prove his perhaps temporary title of "Style Dictator," inherited via Saint-Laurent from Christian "New Look" Dior himself.

Bea Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Barrett and family and Mrs. Evalie Potter of Hereford.

Visiting in the Clark Dobbs home Sunday were Mrs. Dobbs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis, of Portales, N. M., all of her brothers and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Davis and daughters, L. A. and Carl Don Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kennedy of Portales. Carl Don came Friday and plans to spend a while here.

Mrs. Joe Wagoner spent Monday with Mrs. Robert Wagoner in Hereford.

Dale Blakney was in Plainview last weekend.

Mrs. Evalie Potter and Mrs. Glen Boardman of Hereford were supper guests Sunday evening in the C. A. Sauley home.

JACK BRADLEY of Hereford was guest speaker at the noon meeting of Hereford Lions Club Wednesday. He showed color slides he took on a recent trip to the Far East, including visits to India and Burma. The Lions met in the ballroom of Jim Hill Hotel. (Staff Photo) favor of short skirts — "We had enough trouble getting them accepted, and besides, my wife likes them!" — but is "personally against brutal style revolutions."

Modes, he says, "should surprise but not astonish." Loose waistlines, the biggest style news in the past ten years in his estimation, "will still last a long time."

Proving his personal courage, Bohan has come out strongly in favor of Frenchwomen and against certain current fads.

"The Frenchwoman," he declares, "has a gift (which foreigners do not always share) of personalizing what she wears. Good taste distinguishes Frenchwomen and assures that Paris will always be Paris." But he visited America in 1958 and came back with a "good impression." He says, "I appreciate American women's taste for novelty and style in general." He speaks a little English, likes American mannequins, prefers "very thin types."

He does not hesitate to turn thumbs down on these current rages: black-rimmed eyes, gold lame, spit - curls and boot for women. They've all been run to the ground since last season, he comments tersely.

His pet outfit for his debut Dior collection will be casual sports suits, even carried over for evening wear in dressy materials. Black and blue are his favored colors, and he dislikes green, but does not bar it absolutely from his show.

Married at 24 and the father of a six-year-old daughter, Anne-Marie, Bohan defends the privacy of his family to the extent of declining to reveal his wife's first name to interviewers. He has grudgingly admitted that it was his seamstress mother, now dead, who first interested him in fashion designing.

His father, two brothers and two sisters are a subject he considers purely personal and private.

Away from work, theater and home decorating are his two great interests.

Unlike Saint-Laurent, who is shy to the point of seeming wooden in interviews, Bohan enjoys the social side of his job at Dior's. With disarming charm, he admits that he is seared stiff at the thought of his opening January 26, when the Dior salons will as usual be packed into a frantic melee packed from the galleries to the bottom of the stairs with eager spectators.

But he started sketching from that debut from the day—September 28 — when he was named to step into Saint-Laurent's shoes. Three-quarters of his sketches he says he tears up. The rest are expected to supply the sensation that a Dior show must always provide.

The Dior biographies of Bohan do not mention that he opened his own fashion house some eight years ago. It failed after a single season, not for lack of designing talent but for want of financial backing. Although he now says he has no further ambitions for a fashion house of his own Bohan obviously does have a taste for independence. It was rumored that he left Patou, after four years of very successful collections, because he was not given credit as the designer, and he had already resigned as designer of Dior's London collection to go to Revillon when he was invited to take over the top spot on Saint-Laurent's departure for the Army.

ADJUSTMENT DELAYED
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — People who move a short distance into a new community do not adjust as well as those moving from longer distances, a rural sociologist has found.

Dr. Wade Andrews, extension sociologist at Ohio State University, says recent research data also disclosed that some of these people take from five to ten years to completely adjust to a new area.

He says people who move only short distances tend to "commute" back to their old community.

He collected the data to aid rural and urban people in community development in Ohio.

FLOWERS FLUNK OUT
MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — The Board of Education got into trouble when announcements were made at the two high schools telling girls not to wear corsages to school dances. The board received protests from 12 florists.

NO GENIUSES, PLEASE
CLEVELAND (AP) — There won't be any geniuses among the 500 playground instructors-mostly college students — that the city and school system hire this summer.

"I like geniuses," says Recreation Commissioner John S. Nagy, "but not on the playground. I like them in laboratories."

The reason for not hiring anyone who scores 140 or more on the qualifying intelligence test, Nagy said, is:

"After a week, they learn everything there is to know. Then they're not interested in their jobs any more."

Just for the record, no one is signed up who scores less than 70, either.

Bay Leaf, which grows in Mediterranean countries, has multiple uses. The dried leaves are a flavor for soups, fish and meat dishes. An extract is also used as a hair tonic.
