Local Man Attends Washington Fly-In

Twenty-two Texas Farmers Union members spent Monday and Tuesday (June 4 & 5) in the Nation's capital in support of the new farm bill and discussing ways of strengthening the measure with members of the House and Senate. Delbert Watson from Muleshoe was among the delegation of Texas Farmers Union members who went to Washington. The group flew to the Capital Sunday evening and spent Monday morning in a briefing session conducted by Farmers Union staff. During the briefing session, House Agriculture Committee Chairman, W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) told the group that the new Senate farm bill is not perfect but that it is a step in the right direction to protect farm income and that it is salable to the Congress. Among the improvement to the Senate Committee's version of the bill, the Texans cited an amendment by Senator Walter Mondale (D-Minn.) which would provide advance payments for wheat, feed grains and cotton. The measure would direct the Secretary to provide 65% of estimated payments as soon as practicable after the first month of the marketing season for the respective crops. Watson and the other Texas members also called for greater equity for cotton in determining target price payments. He (they) pointed out that cotton payments should be based on the difference between weighted national average price for the five month marketing season and the target price just as proposed for wheat and feed grain payments. Cotton should not be singled out for payments based on any quality differential as the Senate measure would provide. The Texans asked for assurances in the new bill that payments under the cotton program would not be reduced due to checkoffs for other purposes. Cont. on Page 3, col. 2

Clayton Attends Muleshoe Meeting

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake was in Muleshoe Thursday night to meet with Bailey County citizens supporting him in his campaign for Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

At the meeting tentative plans were made to have an appreciation dinner for Clayton here in the near future.

A number of local citizens attended the meeting.

County co-chairmen for Clayton's election to the House of Representatives are Harvey Bass and Corky Green.

Other officers are Nelda Merritt, secretary; Bob Finney, treasurer; Jeff Smith and Joe Harbin, Ticket and Finance chairmen; and Gil Lamb, Publicity chairman.

Six-term State Representative Bill Clayton has ended Capitol speculation by announcing that he was officially a candidate for the office of Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Clayton, a Democrat from the West Texas community of Springlake, is an acclaimed leader in the Texas House legislative chambers. Sponsor of more than forty bills in the past legislative session, Clayton has promised to streamline the bulky and often unworkable House Committee system to enable legislators to have the opportunity to deal with more bills with less haste than has generally been true of past legislative terms.

While dedicating himself to the continuation of many needed reforms enacted in the 1973 session, Clayton spoke of the necessity for encouraging greater productivity during the session, a task which traditionally has been the responsibility of the Speaker. Clayton stated, "During the past session much needed legislation died in the log-jam created by what I consider to be an unworkable committee system, but perhaps this was a blessing in disguise. The legislature has finally met the challenge of trying to become less of a distant, unapproachable entity, and has recognized the principal to which I have long subscribed; that hard work and effectiveness are directly proportional. I believe that with this as the basis for all legislative activity, and under my leadership and administrative programs, the Texas House will become much more of a forum for rational, well-reasoned changes and actions than it has been in the past."

Clayton, a West Texas farmer, is married and has two children.

Herbicide Complaints Filed In Parmer Co.

The following article was submitted to the Journal for publication by the Texas Agricultural Department:

Raymond Houtchens, supervisor for District I of Texas Department of Agriculture, has announced several complaints have been filed with Parmer County Attorney Hurshel Harding regarding the misuse of hormone-type herbicides in Parmer County.

Houtchens explained that there is a penalty of $100-$2,000 which can carry a 30-day jail term for the agricultural use of hormone-type herbicides. He noted that the regulation is being enforced by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Hormone-type herbicides include 2/4/D and its derivatives. Permits to distribute this type of herbicide can be obtained by writing the District I office, 1924 34th Street in Lubbock, or calling 806-747-1656.

Houtchens said it was necessary for anyone wishing to use a hormone-type herbicide to obtain a permit before he would be able to apply it.

He added that the regulation primarily covers agricultural use of the herbicide which would Cont. on Page 3, col. 1

Bailey County FB Has Roll In Dedication

Bailey County will have a roll in the dedication of the Texas Farm Bureau's new $2.7 million headquarters building in Waco on June 13.

A sample of Bailey County soil will be mixed with soil brought in from the other 209 counties that have organized county Farm Bureaus. The collection of earth will be placed around a pecan tree that is to be planted on the grounds of the building at 7420 Fish Pond Road.

Pat Vinson of Muleshoe, president of the local county Farm Bureau, will take the local soil to Waco. He will attend a conference of county presidents being held in Waco in connection with "Farm Bureau Week" in Texas.

A time capsule that will be buried in front of the new TFB structure will contain the names of the more than 140,000 member families of the Texas Farm Bureau as well as the signatures of officers and directors of the TFB and all of the county presidents in attendance. It will also include other historic items.

A delegation of some two persons from this county is expected to go to Waco for the day's activities. They will attend the dedication program and open house that afternoon and the giant barbecue dinner climaxing the day-long activities that evening.

Attending from this county will be Mr. and Mrs. Pat Vinson.

Governor Dolph Briscoe will be dedication speaker. Others on the program include Waco Congressman W.R. (Bob) Poage, chairman of the U.S. House Agriculture Committee, and Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

WASHINGTON REPORT BY Lloyd Bentsen,
United States Senator

SAFETY AND HEALTH ACT UNDERMINED.
Bureaucratic interpretations and regulations threaten to undermine the efforts of Congress to improve health and safety conditions for American workers.

cidents result in more than 14,000 deaths, 2 million injuries and $9 billion in lost wages, insurance, medical expenses and property damage every year.

Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home
24 Hour Ambulance Service
Ph. 272-4574 Muleshoe

new agency, known as OSHA, and gave it broad -- almost unlimited -- authority to set health and safety standards for 5 million employers and 60 million workers.

The agency was instructed to draw up its own standards and empowered to conduct investigations and impose penalties for violations of the standards.

But up to now, the outcome has been far from satisfactory. Some of the regulations are silly. The original OSHA standards required that all electrical outlets be painted orange, that round toilet seats be replaced with horseshoe shaped seats, and they prohibited the placing of ice in drinking water.

Part of this, of course, can be attributed to the normal flaws uncovered during the shake-down period for any large program. Several of the regulations have already been amended.

REGULATIONS CONFUSING
But the confusion and uncertainty about the rules remain.

One midwestern businessman complained that he spent $125,000 to comply with OSHA standards, but was later fined three times for violations.

The National Association of Manufacturers says small businessmen are severely affected. A survey by the Association shows concerns of one to 100 employees estimate they will have to spend about $33,000 each to comply with the rules.

And the President of the Associated General Contractors says OSHA standards, as they now apply, will add $10 billion a year to the price Americans pay for homes, highways, subways, office buildings, apartments and other construction.

The regulations place an unnecessary burden on small businessmen, in particular. And because of all the problems the existence of OSHA is now threatened. Some lawmakers are preparing legislation that would, for practical purposes abolish it.

As it is currently applied, this law which is intended to improve health and safety conditions for millions of American workers is being discredited and is in danger of being wiped out of the books.

I don't think this should happen. The Occupational Safety and Health Act is needed, and the overwhelming number of job-related accidents and sickness bear this need out.

PRECISE DEFINITION OF AUTHORITY NEEDED
I am co-sponsoring legislation that would more precisely define the authority of the Health and Safety Administration. It would remove some of the discretionary powers from the Federal agencies.

The measure would require OSHA to study the economic impact of any new safety standards it proposes and publish the impact before enforcing the standards.

It also removes the requirement that a businessman post notices of a violation even after he has corrected it.

And among its other features, the bill would allow an employer to obtain a variance from OSHA standards if his procedures, though different, are as effective in protection the health and safety of his employees.

In short, this measure would tighten up a law which has been badly discredited during its two years of operation because of regulations that are confusing and costly. If we fail to act, many working men stand in danger of losing the protection they have gained during that period.

And we cannot permit that to happen.

John Tower, Senator (R-Tex.), on John Connally's switch to G.O.P.:

"The timing of this announcement demonstrates the sincerity of his commitment."

Hunting, Fishing Fee Increases Official

AUSTIN -- In ceremonies held at the State Capitol May 23, Governor Dolph Briscoe signed legislation which raised fees charged for both hunting and fishing licenses.

Major changes which will affect most Texas sportsmen are increases in the resident hunting license charges from the previous $3.25 to $5.25 and the fishing fees from $2.15 to $4.25. Something new for this year, a combination resident hunting and fishing license for $8.75, was also approved by the Texas Legislature.

Resident hunting licenses are required of every Texan who hunts outside the county of his residence or who hunts deer or turkey. Exceptions are persons under 17 or over 65 years of age and individuals hunting any species of game except deer or turkey on land where they reside. An exempt license is necessary to hunt deer and turkey because of required tags.

Exempt licenses are 25 cents. A $4.25 fishing license is required of everyone fishing in public waters with the following exceptions: those under 17 or over 65, persons fishing in private waters, anglers using trotlines, throw lines or pole and line with no reel or winding device in the county of their residence and individuals holding a valid Texas commercial fishing license.

In addition to the regular licenses, the Legislature approved a special three-day resident or non-resident saltwater fishing license for $1.25. No license is required of groups of 25 or more tourists who do their saltwater fishing as a group.

Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director Clayton T. Garrison hails the new license fees as a boon to all Texas outdoorsmen.

"Good conservation management costs money," said Garrison. "The monies realized from the increases will enable the Parks and Wildlife Department to expand its level of services offered to the state's hunters and fishermen."

In addition to increases in resident hunting and fishing licenses, the Texas Legislature also approved:

- A raise in the non-resident hunting license from $25 to $37.50.
- Non-resident five-day migratory game bird license raised from $5 to $10.25.
- Shooting preserve licenses raised from $5 to $25.
- Shooting resort licenses increased for $10 to $25.
- A non-resident license for use only on state-licensed shooting resorts raised from $3.15 to $5.
- Game breeder's license increased from $2 to $5.
- Resident trapper's license raised from $1 to $5 and non-resident fee of $200.
- Propagation permit for raising furbearing animals increased from $5 to $10.
- Commercial fishing license raised from $5 to $10.

- Bait dealer's license raised from $2 to $10.
- Fish guide license increased from $2 to $25.
- Commercial bay shrimp boat and commercial bait-shrimp boat licenses raised from $30 to $40.
- Commercial Gulf shrimp boat license raised from $30 to $50.
- Bait shrimp dealer's license increased from $30 to $40.
- Commercial menhaden fishing boat licenses raised from $100 to $200.
- Commercial oyster dredge license raised from $15 to $25.
- Commercial game breeder's license increased from $25 to $50.

All fee increases take effect Sept. 1, 1973.

Texas Senate Passes Bill To Reinstate The Death Penalty

The Texas Senate approved final passage of House Bill 200 which would reinstate the death penalty in Texas. The measure introduced in the Senate by State Senator Jack Ogg, (D), Houston, and Representative Dean Cobb, (D), Dumas, was passed in the Texas Senate in a substantially amended form. The Senate version of the bill would follow the Florida plan which limits the death penalty to certain types of murder. Any murder for hire, the murder of a policeman or fireman in the line of duty, murder committed while escaping from a penal institution or murder by an assailant while committing rape, robbery, burglary, arson, or bombing would subject the defendant to a charge of first degree (Capital) murder. The Senate passed version would allow a finding of guilt or innocence and an advisory opinion on sentencing. The judge before giving the death verdict would have to submit findings of guilt or leniency.

The Supreme Court of the United States knocked out the death penalty in Texas last summer in the now heralded "Furman case." The court, in its far reaching decision, stated that the wide variance of punishment in Texas for the same or similar crimes made the Texas law unconstitutional.

"There is no way to determine what is or is not constitutional from reading the 9 separate opinions in the Furman case. The only way to determine the constitutionality of this bill or any other law is to pass legislation attempting to meet the guidelines of the Furman decision and allow the Supreme Court to rule on that law. I personally thought a mandatory death provision would more nearly have followed the guidelines of Furman, but I believe the Senate bill will also meet Constitutional muster," Ogg stated. "We have attempted to reinstate the death penalty since the last special session and I hope we can get House concurrence in this measure," the Houston Senator added.

I plan to devote my next two Weekly Reports to discussing the various aspects of the Senate legislation and invite you to share your views with me on this matter.

The main purpose of the Senate Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 is to extend the present farm program for a period of five years; however, due to current pressures, the Senate Committee proposed a basic change in the method of determining farm payments to farmers. This new method termed "target price" accepts the optimism for higher prices and causes the government to share the risk with the farmers in the event higher prices do not materialize. The target prices established would be $2.28 per bushel for wheat, $1.53 per bushel for corn, $2.40 cwt for grain sorghum, $1.26 per bushel and 43 cents per pound for cotton. In addition:

 The target price will be evaluated each year and increased or decreased in proportion to an index of production costs (prices paid by farmers for production items, interest, taxes wage rates).

 The producer will receive a payment equal to the difference between this target price and the average price received by farmers the first five months of the marketing year. If USDA prediction for continued increased price levels is true, the amount of the payment to farmers would thereby be reduced. If prices decrease, the payment would thereby increase.

 The maximum payment would be the difference between the target price and the loan level.

 The five month average price will be computed on a

Butz will address the dinner audience that evening in the Waco Convention Center.

The dedication, open house and barbecue on June 13 are feature events of the week of June 10-16 which has been designated by Governor Briscoe as "Farm Bureau Week" in Texas.

A county presidents' conference will be held June 12-13 in Waco, while service agents will have an awards banquet on the evening of June 12. On June 14, servicing agents for the TFB's group purchase program will tour the General Tire plant in Waco and hold a business meeting.

The TFB has been in Waco since 1938 when the Waco Chamber of Commerce lured the fledgling farm organization from Brownwood with the offer of free office space over the Chamber's office in Waco.

weighted basis to reflect the volume of grain sold in each of the five months. If more of the commodity is sold in the first two months of the five month period, the average would be weighted in proportion.

 The Secretary of Agriculture will announce the national allotment needed to produce sufficient supplies after evaluating domestic need, export, and consideration for reasonable carryover stocks. This allotment would be apportioned to the states, to the counties, and to the farms according to existing proportions.

Under this legislation, the existing program for wheat is extended for five years with the following changes:

 Under the "target price" concept, the payments would be made on the projected yield from all allotted acres. The present program makes the payment on the domestic production (which is 33 percent of the entire allotment).

 Proven yield provisions are repealed.

 Due to the change from domestic certificates, the wheat processors' payment of 75 cents per bushel would expire June 30, 1974. The Committee accepted an amendment to repeal the processors' certificate payment January 1, 1974, which would require this portion of the domestic marketing certificate payments to come from the Treasury.

 Wheat marketing quotas and referendums are suspended for five years.

 Allows farmers who have excess wheat stored from quota programs to reduce these Don Waters, president of the Triticale Sales Corporation, will speak on new markets for Triticale.

After the program, tours of corporation manufacturing facilities will be conducted. Available at the open house will be samples of food products that will be made from triticale.

The field day is set to coincide with harvest of several thousand acres of triticale being produced in the Muleshoe area. Tours of triticale fields will be conducted throughout the day.

The manufacturing plant presently has the capacity to process approximately 40,000 pounds of triticale daily. Land west of Muleshoe recently has been purchased for future expansion.

Focus on triticale production shifts to the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway from 2 until 5 p.m. that afternoon. The High Plains Research Foundation has been instrumental in triticale production and feeding trials in swine in this area. Triticale production practices and feeding demonstration will be reviewed in activities at the Research Foundation.

Everyone is urged to attend the open house and field at both Muleshoe and Halfway.

Clayton Sets Record In House

State Representative Bill Clayton set a record in the House last week with the passage of 15 major pieces of legislation presented and passed by one individual in one day.

The legislation, all of statewide importance, included 13 bills relating to water districts, one constitutional amendment to be presented to the voters, and one banking bill. Rep. Clayton, obviously tired after the record-setting effort, stated it had been his busiest day ever spent as a member of the House of Representatives.

If voters approve the constitutional amendment proposed by Clayton, rural water supply co-operatives which furnish water to rural customers for domestic use only, will be exempt from ad valorem taxes. Clayton noted that all the legislation was of concern to his area, as well as the entire State.

The House has been working a six-day schedule for the past three weeks, and over 300 bills have been approved, including the school finance bill and other measures of major importance. Final day for the session will be May 28, and Clayton stated that the penal reform bill was yet to be debated, as well as other bills of great significance to the State.

Rep. Clayton also noted that the school finance bill, though passed in the House, was yet to be approved by the Senate, and could face a veto by the Governor if not certified to by the Comptroller. Also on the agenda this week was the appropriations conference committee report, to be presented for House approval. Clayton said that with approval of this report, the House would have completed all its essential work.

Advice To Gasoline Consumers

AUSTIN -- With predictions of fuel shortages becoming a reality, consumers should be on guard to get the most out of their gasoline dollars, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White cautioned.

"The first thing a driver can do is to make sure that the pump has a Texas Department of Agriculture inspection seal on it," Commissioner White stated.

The weights and measures inspectors of the Texas Department of Agriculture are responsible for making unannounced checks on gasoline pumps to encourage pump owners to keep them in proper working order. "But there are several precautions the consumer should take," Commissioner White said.

A good way to check the accuracy of the pump price and gallon computer is to note the price when the pump has dispensed 10 gallons of gas. If the price is 36.9 cents per gallon, the computer should register $3.69 when the 10-gallon mark rolls around.

Also if the capacity of the gasoline tank on the car is only 18 gallons, and the pump reads 20 gallons, the pump may not have been reset to zero, or it may be malfunctioning.

The date of the latest inspection appears on the seal,

"If you suspect that the gauge is incorrect, notify the district office of the Texas Department of Agriculture immediately," Commissioner White said. The station is in violation of weights and measures laws if the pumps are inaccurate.

Commissioner White also advised the consumer to make sure the attendant reads the right pump, especially at rush hours. This also means checking the credit card sales ticket.

A gas tank cap accidentally left at the station also adds dollars to gasoline expenses and replacement costs. Make sure the attendant replaces the cap.

Any irregularities in gasoline sales should be reported to the Consumer Services Division, Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin 78711, or to the district offices located in Lubbock, Odessa, Stephenville, Tyler, Houston, San Antonio, or Pharr.

Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. find little fault with the theory behind the Senate Agriculture Committee's "target price" approach to farm legislation, but have serious misgivings about the Committee proposal's chances for achieving stated objectives under the stresses and strains of political and marketing reality.

The PCG Board, meeting in Lubbock May 29, neither endorsed nor rejected the Senate Bill, numbered S-1888.

"Pending further study and a better assessment of alternatives and possibilities for changes in key provisions," said PCG President Ray Joe Riley of Hart, "our activities will continue to be guided by our existing position in favor of extending the present cotton program -- which means we'll be working for a farm program as close as possible to the Agriculture Act of 1970."

S-1888 as reported by the Committee would set a "target price" for Strict Low Middling (SLM) inch-and-a-sixteenth cotton, as reflected by spot market quotations for the first five months of the cotton marketing year (August-December), at 43 cents per pound. When the spot quotations for this quality fell below 43 cents, producers would be entitled to a price support payment equal to the difference.

Two major objections to this mechanism for determining producer payments were voiced by PCG directors. First, spot market quotations do not accurately reflect prices paid to farmers, therefore there is no direct relationship between these quotations and a producer's total income from cotton.

Second, basing payments on the difference between market prices for any single quality and a target price could well lead to gross inequities. It was pointed out that SLM 1-1/16 inch cotton, because of a short supply in that particular quality, could sell for 43 cents or more while other qualities available in adequate volume would be selling at prices far below the cost of production.

"Thus we on the High Plains might be selling our cotton for 14 or 15 cents a pound and not be entitled to more than a token payment or perhaps no payment at all," Riley said.

PCG directors therefore voiced a preference for a payment level determined by actual prices paid to farmers, as opposed to spot market quotations, and by the prices paid for "average of the crop" instead of any given quality.

The Senate on Friday, June 1, was considered almost certain to take up the farm bill on the following Monday with a vote probable before the end of that week.

The House Agriculture Committee, chaired by Congressman Bob Poage (D-Tex.), is holding off formal program action pending resolution of the issue in the Senate. But Poage has indicated his support for the Senate Committee concept, with some changes, possibly including lower target prices.

"Should the Senate pass S-1888 without substantial change and the House Committee follow with a program proposal along the same lines," says Riley, "our position in support of extending the present program may become unrealistic and we will consider adoption of a new policy based on whatever is considered at the time to be the best attainable program."

CONGRESSMAN Bob Price 18th Congressional District

UNITED NATIONS ENVIRONMENT PROGRAM PARTICIPATION ACT -- One of the pieces of legislation considered and passed by the House of Representatives this week provides for United States participation in the United Nations environmental program. Due to the sentiment of the citizens of the 13th Congressional District of Texas towards the United Nations in general and our joint desire to see government over-spending curtailed, I could not in all good conscience support this bill which authorizes the appropriation of $40,000,000 for contributions to the United Nations Environment Fund. The United Nations has been lavishly funded by the United States for many years while we have been constantly reminded of our wealth and our obligations to those less fortunate. During this time of inflation and price control programs, I do believe that these funds could be put to greater use in our own country rather than being spent for the benefit of those countries unfriendly in many cases to the United States.

ENERGY -- With energy shortages becoming greater and future predictions concerning this situation worsening, I can only hope that the Congress will act quickly to begin to resolve this situation. For years private industry and scientists have been predicting an energy crisis, yet we failed to heed their warning. During this session of the Congress and during past sessions, I have introduced legislation designed to prevent an energy crisis by establishing a Council on Energy Policy and legislation to provide for tax credits for expenditures made in the exploration and development of new reserves of oil and gas as well as for the secondary recovery of already existing wells. I have also introduced legislation to de-regulate the price of natural gas at the wellhead. To date, the Congress has failed to take any meaningful action on my legislation; however, with the energy problems in our country coming to a head, the Administration is urging that the Congress act quickly on legislation identical in concept to mine. I intend to continue my efforts to assure that every possible step is taken to prevent any further energy shortages.

An investment in Your Future

ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

SCIENCE and GOD

Not too long ago, a man determined from accounts in the bible that oil could be found in certain areas of bible lands . . . now this country is rich in oil wells.

In the past, vigorous arguments arose between some scientists and bible scholars, however with the passing of time, new discoveries in science have helped us to have a better understanding of God's word and now most scientists and bible scholars are in accord. God's word has not needed to be proved, for it will stand forever.

"For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea." ATTEND CHURCH AND STUDY GOD'S WORD.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

AUSTIN, TEX. -- The 63rd Legislature's failure to agree on even a stopgap aid to education revision set off repeated demands from House members for a special session.

Speaker Price Daniel Jr. joined in the chorus, calling on the House Education Committee to "prepare, polish and refine" a school finance bill.

"For legislative action no later than September 15," Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who holds the key to whether or not there is going to be a special session on anything, made clear--twice in writing--that he doesn't plan to call one.

Daniel said his instructions to the Education Committee were offered just in case Briscoe reconsiders his position.

The committee will begin a series of hearings on school finance here June 18. More than 700 of the 1,149 school districts are in financial trouble, according to Committee chairman Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

Briscoe set in motion new studies to develop information for specific legislative proposals in 1975 to equalize educational finances and opportunities. A special session at this time would be "premature," said the Governor, since necessary data cannot be assembled for another two years.

Daniel and other claim the problem of financial inequities among the school districts already has been "studied to death," and that the House had the answer in H.B. 946 last month.

But Briscoe feels proposals before the Legislature this year would "have only added to the present system of programs and budget with no review of current spending or effectiveness." He said he hopes the new study can produce an "educational approach that we can afford (without new taxes), as well as one that will meet the needs of the future."

PETRY HONORED -- The Governor, four former governors, legislators, office holders -- who's who in Texas -- honored Herbert C. Petry Jr., Carrizo Springs, last week for serving 18-1/2 years as State Highway Commissioner.

Petry, who goes off the Highway Commission at the end of this term, has served longer than any other Texan on that important governmental body.

Three hundred Senate bills and 388 House bills were passed, as were two proposed amendments to the constitution introduced in the House and seven introduced in the Senate.

COURTS SPEAK -- The State Supreme Court refused to back Gulf Oil Corporation's claim that its 45,771-acre lease in Crane County of the Permian Basin should be extended 4,661 days due to lost production resulting from Railroad Commission prorations orders. The lease will expire July 14, 1975.

In other recent action, the Court held: -- A common law wife can't collect insurance benefits when she isn't using a man's name. -- An intermediate court was correct in concluding a car cannot be confiscated by the state for drug transportation unless the state can prove the charge beyond a reasonable doubt.

-- An Air Force Village retirement home for officers and their dependents is not entitled to property tax exemption since tenants were not taken in as charity cases exclusively. -- An off-duty cafeteria worker who broke her arm while welcoming other workers on pay day is eligible for job injury requirements.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held requiring movie patrons to have membership cards is no defense for showing obscene films. A district court hearing here ended in an oil company's agreeing to give priority to local consumers of liquefied petroleum products.

AG OPINIONS -- Atty. Gen. John Hill declined to term state tuition equalization grants to private colleges unconstitutional, but advised caution in view of cases before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: * Non-protein sources of nitrogen may be included in the total percentage of crude protein in the guaranteed analysis of feeds required by Commercial Feed Control Act of 1957.

* An attempt by the legislature to appropriate funds for a longer term than two years is inoperative. APPOINTMENTS -- R.J. (Dick) Lindley Jr. of Houston was named to the board of directors of Texas Turnpike Authority, succeeding Cyril J. Smith of Houston.

Carroll Sullivant of Gainesville was reappointed to the North Texas State University Board of Regents.

Garland F. Smith of Weslaco was appointed to the board of directors of Rio Grande Valley Pollution Control Authority. Justo L. Cisneros of Brownsville and Richard Martinez Jr. of McAllen were reappointed to the same authority board.

SHORT SNORTS -- Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby officially announced he will not seek permanent chairmanship of the Constitutional Convention next January.

R.L. Phinney of Austin, Internal Revenue Service District Director for 21 years, announced he will retire this month.

About the only net result of emotionalism is that the speaker perspires freely.
