The city government of Midland seems to have started something. Wires have been sent to state and national officials protesting against the wide spread between prices paid the producers of raw products and the prices they must pay as consumers of finished products. The wires called special attention to low cattle prices and high beef, low crude prices and high gasoline, low wheat prices and no reduction in bread and flour costs. There is too much spread between consumer and producer, they claim.

This recalls the "overall movement" of about ten years ago that caught business flat-footed with loaded shelves. The day that overalls appeared on the streets of Fort Worth, one large mercantile owner said his retail sales were cut in half and remained so throughout the depression. Ever afterwards, instead of dating time since the flood, he referred to the day overalls became so popular.

Tangible results have already appeared in Midland with the announcement of lower rents. The idea of Midland city authorities is to create a national conscience which will demand lower prices to consumers or else high prices to producers.

The crisis of the present period is thought to have passed, however, and no such cataclysm of the post-war deflation is deemed possible. Business houses have refrained from carrying over-loaded shelves, buying on the hand-to-mouth plan, and should a sudden readjustment occur, the effect will not be so disastrous. No one looks for Henry Ford again to cut his car prices one-third and hurl the country into a slump. The spread is recognized as being too large, accounting for the shortness of the public's buying power, and the most effective remedy to be applied, the one without harm, will come about in a gradual improvement in the market for what the producer has to sell, seems to be the sanest opinion.

This is a big week in Texas, the first primary of the Democratic party. Nothing decisive is expected in the governor's race, but it will strip two candidates down for some real action between now and the last week in August. And another thing, Saturday will relieve to a great extent the newspaper offices of the state from a surplussage of impoverished candidates' appeals for columns of publicity. The requests all read about alike: the candidate has little money to spend but it would be a service to the mass of voters and readers if the newspaper would go to its own expense and tell them the good points of the one who has become so ambitious as to seek a high honor.

Our county candidates are not included in such an error. They have paid their way, and what's more, their campaigns have been conducted on a high plane, without rancor and personal ill-will. Deaf Smith county has a splendid corps of office seekers from which to

19 Years Ago In Hereford

H. G. Tucker, well known in Hereford as an inventor, had perfected a new auto wheel which was predicted to revolutionize the auto industry. It had articulating steel springs, the rim holding a solid rubber tire. A million dollar company had been organized to manufacture and sell the wheels. George Karr, the first man to run an auto in Hereford, was a member of the company, and he had planned an endurance trip from Chicago to San Antonio to try out the appliance.

Mrs. H. G. Hayes and sons left to join Mr. Hayes who had accepted a position with the Elgin Watch Co. as a draftsman and architect.

The altitude of Hereford was given officially as 3,810 feet above sea level.

A. H. Elliston attended the first annual meeting of the Panhandle Publicity Association, of which he was a member.

S. B. Edwards of the First State Bank went to New York on business.

J. D. Curtis moved to Memphis where he had established a business.

F. H. Oberthier and family were on a trip into the mountains of Colorado.

Miss Mary Burns had as guests Mrs. Fannie McKemie and Miss Marguerite Burns of Gainesville.

Rev. Loman went to the German colony near Friona and held services in the Lutheran church. He took dinner with the Jacob Tiefel family.

All the Panhandle had been visited by his honor, Jupiter Pluvius. Two weeks before he had opened up his long-kept jug and poured out a generous supply of aqua pura. From day to day he continued the pleasant exercises until the precipitation had been three inches.

Hereford's baseball team, the Threshers, defeated Pampa's Jumbos 10 to 5. Nood Vaughn and Andy Hasser, of the old pumpkin roller team, were the batter for the Threshers.

William Chedister, who made his home with his daughter, Mrs. H. D. Thomas, had taken from his patch on July 17, a sweet potato that measured 8 5/8 inches in circumference.

P. A. Dupre of Moulton, Iowa, offered for sale the SE 1/4 of section 6; block K-6 for $1500. He said he needed some cash for a Canada investment.

E. B. Black Company, funeral directors, was advertising "At your service day or night".

One of the most pleasant evenings of the summer had been spent at the Hawkins home when Mrs. H. H. Hawkins and C. L. Sullivan entertained friends in honor of a number of out-of-town visitors. A diversion was a piano solo by Misses Black and Witherspoon.

J. F. Barker of the Hereford Lumber Co., had attended a banquet at Amarillo given by the president J. M. Rockwell of the Rockwell Bros. & Co.

A. J. Walker of Cisco, a scenic artist of ability, spent a week in Hereford making some artistic signs. As a friend of the editor he presented the Brand office with a landscape scene of the Tierra Blanca creek. (This picture still hangs in the office of the Brand and is well preserved.)

The Wyche Sunday school spent a day on the Tierra Blanca back of Will Womble's, having plenty of fish to eat.

F. H. Wood of Friona, owner of 4000 sheep, reported 2000 lambs from 2200 ewes and a spring clip of 34,000 pounds.

select its governing body for the next two years. The wheel of fortune is turning, and stop where it may, the electorate will be well served.

Misses Bessie and Jessie Sisk and Miss Emid Smith, attending Canyon Normal, spent a day with home folks.

J. A. Stroud left for Hedley where he has charge of a hardware store.

Mrs. A. P. Murchison had as visitors Mrs. H. E. Landers and children of Colorado, Texas; Mrs. M. Phelan and children of Stamford, and Miss Allie Robertson and mother, Mrs. W. C. Robertson.

A contract was closed with L. Gough to manage what was termed the largest farm in the Panhandle, located in Crosby county. The object was to convert a 10,000-acre ranch into a single farm of various crops, and Julian Bassett, Texas manager of the C. & B. livestock and cattle company, secured the Hereford man to supervise the operations because of his success in charge of the Crosbyton demonstration farm.

Prohibition speeches were announced for the following Friday night in front of the Northern hotel by the following local men: J. P. Slaton, W. H. Russell, Carl Gilliland, W. Dameron and W. H. Ray. The question of state-wide prohibition was up for decision.

The little friends of Maurine Hughes had met at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hughes, and helped her celebrate her birthday. Many gifts were brought and her mother gave Maurine a large doll. Home-made candy, cake and cream were served.

A meeting was called for the organization of a truck growers' association to secure uniformity in fruit and vegetables grown and to secure a market for the products. Smith's Jewelry Store was the place of the meeting.

Attention Voters

As the campaign before the primary closes I want to thank each and every one for the consideration and courtesies shown me during the race for the nomination to the office of County Treasurer. I have striven earnestly and diligently to see all voters and explain my candidacy to them personally, but because some were gone when I called, and for similar unavoidable reasons, there are a few whom I did not get to see. To them I want to say I am sorry to have missed them, and to ask their consideration next Saturday when they go to vote.

My many, many friends are familiar with the circumstances which prompted my candidacy. I am thoroughly qualified, competent, and fully aware of the responsibilities attached to the County Treasurer's office. I have made the most active campaign possible in the interest of my candidacy, and assure you that every courtesy shown me next Saturday will be appreciated to the fullest extent.

I do need the salary of the treasurer's office, and ask that all voters before going to the polls next Saturday give my candidacy their thoughtful consideration, and if they feel I am justified in asking for the nomination give me the support of their vote.

Will Entertain With Measuring Party Friday

The ladies and men of Hereford will be corralled at the home of Mrs. M. L. Steele Friday evening, July 25, at 8 o'clock, where they will be measured, branded and passed through the chute, and turned loose on a spacious and inviting lawn to be entertained with an informal program of pleasures and high class amusement.

A committee of the Methodist church is in charge of the affair, and they are extending in this announcement an invitation to all the men and women of the town to be present, regardless of church affiliation.

Guests will be met at the door where they will be measured and assessed a nickel for each foot in height and a penny for every extra inch. The receipts will go into the pipe organ fund of the Methodist church.

After the measuring, each person will be "branded" and put through the chute. The hostess warns that the brands be not lost, as those found on the lawn later untagged will be conducted back to the measurer and collector to buy another identification brand. Chas. Williams and Rev. J. W. Boutinghouse will have charge of the branding irons.

There will be band music and several readings by local talent. Several foot races have been matched, one for the fat men, Bill Ray vs Jack Spratt; one for the fat women, and another for the "boys". E. B. Black and Bill Knox will compete in the latter.

Delicious refreshments will be served to the crowd which will probably run into the hundreds as the entertaining features will be worth much more than the few cents taken in the round-up.

The general invitation to all Hereford folks is made in the following jingle:

A measuring party we will give to you—
 'Tis something pleasant as well as new.
 Bring five pennies for every foot you're tall;
 Measure yourself against the wall.
 An extra cent for each inch you'll give,
 And thereby show how high you live.
 Then with music, games, readings and pleasure
 We will call your measure.

Announcement Party by Mrs. George Guinn

In an elaborate three-course dinner for six tables of bridge given Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Guinn, it was uniquely announced that Miss Mary Valentine would become the bride of Mr. Parker on August 2.

There were little wooden wells in the center of the tables with runners to each place card, a bride. When the ribbons were drawn, little buckets attached contained the announcements written backwards, and the guests were able to read it by visiting a mirror pond in the adjoining room.

Miss Dencie Mae Steele played the piano during the afternoon, and Miss Polly Steele sang three solos. Miss Ruby Faye Bennett also sang and Miss Zella Mae Walser gave a reading.

Those present were Meses. Tom Carter, J. C. Parker, Finis Owen, Egbert Brady, A. C. Hales, Inez Polk, Roger Corbett, J. W. Posey, Misses Eva Skelton, Eloise Pitman, Kathleen Hawkins, Imogene Wilson, Ruth Conkright, Martha Duncan, Gwendolyn Spradley, Margaret Gilliland, Floyd Wilson, Dencie Mae Steele, Ruby Faye Bennett, Zella Mae Walser, Polly Steele, Frances Oberthier and Mrs. J. L. Fuqua.

HEDLEY MAN'S FUNERAL HELD BY REV. FULLER

ASSOCIATION CHARTERED AGAINST FOWL THEIVES

Ray Herehey, committeeman from this district, is attending a called meeting of the Fishhandle Poultry Protective Association in Amarillo today in the chamber of commerce office.

A charter has been granted the organization which has for its object protective measures against stolen chickens, says Mike N. Wink, president.

FRIENDS ENJOY BRIDGE AT HOME OF MRS. JEFF GILBREATH

An unusually pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by a number of friends of Mrs. Jeff Gilbreath when she entertained Tuesday afternoon with ten tables of bridge.

A profusion of flowers created a lovely setting for the games which were played with favors falling to Mrs. J. J. Clark, Mrs. J. A. Neill and Mrs. Chas. Donald.

The hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Imogene Wilson, and daughter, Thornton Sherley, in serving refreshments, to Meses. E. F. Chick, Tom Carter, A. V. Polk, J. J. Clark, Carl Cookrell, Paul Coneway, Hal Bruner, Chas. Donald, V. T. Downs, C. H. Dyar, Chas. C. Ferguson, Homer Fox, Burl Eganee, J. L. Fuqua, W. F. Gahbert, B. F. Guthrie, Geo. CONGRESSMAN MARVIN JONES

In the coming primary, the Democrats of the 18th Congressional District, composed of 53 northwest counties, will no doubt show their appreciation of a conscientious, wise and capable public servant by voting for Marvin Jones for congress.

Mr. Jones was first elected in 1917 and has served continuously since that time. By native ability and through industry and experience he has become one of the most effective and highly respected men in the House.

If the entire House of Representatives were composed of men like Marvin Jones the standing of the National Congress would be a source of general pride. Mr. Jones does not seek the limelight. He does not speak merely to get into the record, but when he does speak he has something to say, and the members of the House always listen to him.

Mr. Jones has had very little opposition, and in the few instances when it has developed his opponent has accepted defeat with little surprise, and everybody seemed to have a good time. His merit is recognized, and each added year finds Mr. Jones more strongly entrenched in the confidence and esteem of his constituents. Even those who disagree with him occasionally on national questions are proud of the manner in which he serves all the people of the district, and of the record he has made.

The people of the Plains are always glad to support Marvin Jones.—The Herald, Perryton. —Ad

After Storm Left Utah in Sea of Mud

Next time you get splashed with mud think of the poor residents of Utah who stopped around in a sea of it following one of the most devastating storms in the state's history. Notice in the above photo how deeply these automobiles have sunk in the mire. The storm caused more than $1,900,000 damage to homes and highways.

Who Moved the Stone from Grave of Christ Is Subject of a Late Book Received by County Library

The Deaf Smith County Library is gradually building up material for real service to all lines of welfare and industry in the county.

A copy of the Register of Merit of Jersey Cattle has been received. This is published by the American Jersey Cattle club and contains complete records of all animals whose tests were accepted to May 15, 1924. It is well indexed and has much valuable information. R. O. Dunkle recommended this as being especially helpful.

Several volumes recommended by Miss Nell Hall for her health work have been received. Among the recent additions are two that seem interesting. The Health of the Rinnabout Child, by W. P. Lucas, has many suggestions as to food, sleep, activities and habits of the growing child, with a chapter on Mental Snags touching on the psychology of the young mind. The other book is the Principles of Home Nursing by E. L. Mohs and gives descriptions and illustrations of the best equipment and methods for the home sick room.

A book of a different nature but equally as interesting, "Jump," by Don Glassman, has just been received. This deals with the Caterpillar Club and Caterpillars are the members of an unofficial society made up of those who have saved their lives by forced, not exhibition, jumps from crippled airplanes or balloons. Lingbergh, king of the Caterpillars and a 4th degree member, leaped 13,000 feet into a cave of darkness and won a night jumping record.

"Who Moved the Stone?" by Frank Morison is a very late book and deals with the most awesome mystery in the history of Christendom—just what happened on that Saturday night when the body of Jesus disappeared from the cave-like tomb outside the gates of Jerusalem. The method used in handling this incident is that of the modern psychological detective and is the work of a profound scholar and a brilliant writer.

Many gifts are being made to the library both of books and magazines. The late donors are E. W. Young, Meses. H. L. Broadwell, F. T. Holston, J. N. Messenger, Effa Rutherford, Rex Tynes, Dean, Wirt Phillips, J. C. Cummins, W. E. Murdock, Miss Mabel

S. L. EASLEY, JR. GETS RADIO THEORY DIPLOMA

S. L. Easley, Jr., has just completed a course in radio theory and practice and has been awarded his diploma from a national institute.

He finished the course of technical training with creditable grades and was congratulated on his achievement by the institute head. His training course covers all branches of radio transmitters, public address systems, television and talking motion pictures. Special emphasis was given to designing, constructing, installing, servicing and repairing radio receiving sets.

Actual Business Conditions Are Better Than Mental Attitude of Business Men, Says Utility Head

The claim has been repeatedly advanced that panics and business depressions are more of the mind than of exterior causes. A mighty effort has been put forth to halt the present slide downward by the use of psychology, and the utility companies responded with something more tangible, a promise to expand several billions of dollars in improvements and extensions to help keep the country's payrolls going.

"My feeling is that our business, taking the nation as a whole, is much better than our business psychology," says the president of the Middle West Utilities Company.

"I think comparisons with 1928 would prove the former and our comparisons with 1929 cause the latter. We seem to forget that 1929 was a year of the greatest business the country ever knew and far above a normal basis. It reached its peak about the middle of the year. So far this year, therefore, we have been comparing with a rising curve. From now on it will be different and our business psychology should improve.

tutions, whether booms or depressions, are not so important in the long run as they appear to be close at hand. The trend of business activity and prosperity is gradually higher every year and this is more significant than the short-term changes."

The stout lady on the scale was eagerly watched by two small boys.

She dropped in her cent, but the machine was out of order and only registered 75 pounds.

"Good night," gasped one of the youngsters in amazement. "She's hollow!"

An Appeal to the Voters to Support

C. W. HUMBLE

FOR COUNTY JUDGE and Ex-Officio County Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Humble is highly qualified to fill the office to which he aspires, with ten years experience as a teacher, two of them in college work. His training and work as a vocational agricultural instructor gives him the most practical ability to deal with the educational problems of Deaf Smith County boys and girls at the present time.

Mr. Humble has lived with us for the past six years—five of them as a teacher in Hereford high school. His worth as a citizen has been recognized by repeated selection to positions of civic trust and honor, and he has very capably filled every obligation entrusted to him. At present he is vice president of the Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the County Health Service, an organization he was largely instrumental in perfecting this past year. He is also chairman of the county chapter of the Red Cross.

No man has ever wielded a better influence among the boys and girls of this county than Mr. Humble. He has helped and will continue to plant in the minds of our youth the seeds of the most desirable purposes and ambitions.

Mr. Humble started as a poor boy, worked his own way through college, and by his frugality and good business judgment in economic management has demonstrated that he is capable. Since he has demonstrated that he is capable of personal success, the county would be fortunate to have such a man to handle its affairs.

In the Interest of Deaf Smith County, We Are Asking You to

Must Organize, Introduce Into Farming Business Principles, and Reduce Acreage, Says Legge

Organize, put business principles into the farm industry, reduce acreage voluntarily or be started into it, was the only consolation Alexander Legge, chairman of the farm relief board, could offer the several thousand people interested in wheat production assembled at the municipal auditorium, Amarillo, last Friday morning. Many Deaf Smith county people heard the farm outlook program.

The government has bought and is holding off the market 60 million bushels of wheat in an effort to sustain the price, according to Mr. Legge, and there is no danger of the government getting out from under by dumping it on the market. It will never be sold until the price rises to what it cost the farm board, the chairman said.

The help of the government has been given and is promised at all times by Mr. Legge, but the wheat man must help himself primarily. Not only must he organize and get a world outlook on the marketing situation, but he must get prepared to reduce the acreage by at least 20 per cent.

The amount of exports must be ignored and only the home consumption be considered in gauging the amount that should be produced, the speaker said, as the exports have become small in view of so much of the world going into wheat production now.

"We are only watchmen set at the tower to spy out dangers and issue warnings to the farmers," said Arthur Hyde, national secretary of agriculture. "We are now pointing out red lights in the big yields of the past few years. The farmers may run through them if they have the nerve. They might win by doing so, might win a brilliant victory as did Admiral Dewey at Manila who consigned the torpedo-infested waters to hades and passed the fleet safely through. Nevertheless, it is a risky thing to do, to keep increasing the acreage in the face of falling markets."

"Under normal conditions of supply and demand, wheat should now be bringing 75 cents a bushel. But an abnormality exists on account of tariffs in foreign countries and the nervousness of American financiers to venture into investments and speculations."

Governor Reed of Kansas has taken issue with Chairman Legge and Secretary Hyde on the reduction of acreage. He claims that instead of asking the farmer to curtail his acreage, thereby possibly reducing his income, the farm machinery industry should be made to curb its output and cease exporting machinery to foreign countries for cheap wheat growing, increasing the American farmer's competition every day.

Another Fine Victory Won by New Konjola

Lady Was About to Give Up Hope of Finding Escape from Stubborn Ills.

MRS. FLORA STANLEY

No wonder Konjola has won a million friends; no wonder seven million bottles were used in two years! Would you not like to know all about the medicine that wins such triumphs? Ask your druggist about it, but right now before you do anything else, read the words of Mrs. Flora Stanley, 315 North McMasters Street, Amarillo, Texas, Praising Konjola, Mrs. Stanley says:

"I was in miserable health for five years, the result of stomach, kidney and liver disorders. My back ached terribly and my feet and ankles were badly swollen. Gas formed after each meal, and I endured awful pains. Dizzy spells and bilious attacks were other sources of distress. My husband insisted that I try Konjola, and now I have a good appetite, food digests as it should, dizziness and biliousness are gone and my weight is back to normal. We will always recommend Konjola after what it did for us."

Konjola does work swiftly, yet a full treatment of from six to eight bottles is advised for best results.

Konjola is sold in Herford at the Corner Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

SLAIN DALHART SHERIFF RELATIVE ON MRS. STEELE

Sheriff George W. Alexander of Dallam county, who was killed Saturday in a gun battle five miles south of Dalhart, was a cousin of Mrs. M. L. Steele of this city. A warrant for Lon Dillinger called the officers to the farm home where the sheriff not only lost his life, but Lon and Orrel Dillinger were shot to death by accompanying deputies.

Sheriff Alexander was said not to be the "hard-boiled" type of officer, but he knew no fear in enforcing the law. He was popular with the law-abiding citizenship, and was a candidate for re-election.

Orrel Dillinger was said by one of the deputies to have shot the sheriff, but just before his death he denied even having a gun.
