

City Council Tables Action On Gas Rate Hike

By TOM PORTER
Staff Writer

Application for a rate increase by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. was tabled by Hereford City Commissioners Monday night until further studies are made.

Pioneer is applying for an increase of 11.5 per cent to gas customers, commissioners were told by Dale Young, local manager, because of "increased costs of doing business." The costs included inflated prices on materials and labor.

The increase for general service users will average 72 cents monthly, Young said, and would become effective August 15, if approved by commissioners. The new prices would show up in readings Sept. 15.

Commissioners were told that the adjustment is being requested at the same time in all of the 55 towns of the West Texas Distribution System for Pioneer. Eighteen of the 55 had already approved the application by Monday night, Pioneer officials said.

Young was accompanied to the meeting by Burt Watson, vice president of PNG, and Jake Huber, company accountant.

City Manager Dudley Bayne presented figures which he and Henry Benson, city tax assessor-collector, had compiled showing that Pioneer had lowered the value of their meters for the first time in a five-year period.

Bayne said "I told Dale (Young) at the time that it was poor public relations and I still think so. I don't see how you can ask for a rate increase when you have lowered the renditions so."

Watson told Bayne that he was not sure why there had been a lowering of the renditions, but assured commissioners he would check with the company's tax official and return to Hereford later in the week. "We want to pay fair value on the property," he stated.

The difference in tax money on renditions compiled by the city and those by Pioneer was just under $500.

By law, public utility companies such as Pioneer have to pay cities 2 per cent tax on the gross receipts. Pioneer officials proposed

Monday night to pay the city 3 per cent tax. The ad valorem tax can be raised by mutual agreement between the city and company involved.

If approved, the proposal would go into effect sometime in October.

Commissioners told the gas company officials they would have a special meeting before August 1 to decide on the matters.

Bill Massie of 101 Beach appeared before the commissioners to "bring to a head" the problem of flooding in northwest Hereford.

"I've lived there 10 years and when we had an open ditch, we had no trouble. About three years ago they repaved it and it's been getting worse ever since," said Massie.

"We got a four-inch rain about 1 1/2 years ago, and the water liked about that much (indicating an inch with his fingers) getting into my house. Last month, we had a two-inch rain and it flooded my house and everyone's around me. There's more property being developed in the northwest section, and it's going to get worse. I just want to know what the city's going to do about it."

City Manager Bayne told Massie that the city could do no more than Massie because it was entirely in the hands of the Texas Highway Department.

Mayor Ray Cowser said "they come in, survey it, tell us how much it is going to cost us; and do it how and when they want to. The city paid the highway department $80,000 for that work and the residents have See CITY COUNCIL Page 3

Missionaries Visit Hereford

On a circuit of visits while they are taking a two-month leave from work as missionaries in Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Crowson have spent several days in Hereford, their former home.

Crowson worked 18 months in Central Church of Christ here as personal evangelist.

House guests of the Alton Hollingsworths, they are leaving today to continue visits with relatives and church associates. They are due to return to their home in Mona Heights, a suburb of Kingston.

They expect to find the weather hot and dry when they get back to the island republic. Jamaica has two seasons with two climates, they have found.

"In summer it's too hot — temperatures range from 70 to 90 degrees, with high humidity — and in winter it's perfect," Crowson describes the climate.

Winter is the tourist season, with days a balmy delight, he says.

Drouth has plagued the island this summer in spite of the humid air "because we didn't get the May rains this year," Mrs. Crowson explains. She adds that as a rule it rains substantially only in May and October but the Jamaicans have no water storage system to cope with a drought, because they expect some rain often enough to supply their needs.

The Crowsons like living in the West Indies and are happy at progress of their work, which has as its main purpose the establishment of a congregation of the Church of Christ in Mona Heights, and training its members to take over the responsibilities so no help will be needed from missionaries.

They began their work in their home area when it became too crowded there, rented a community center part-time. Now the group is ready to buy a building which has been a theater with seats for a thousand.

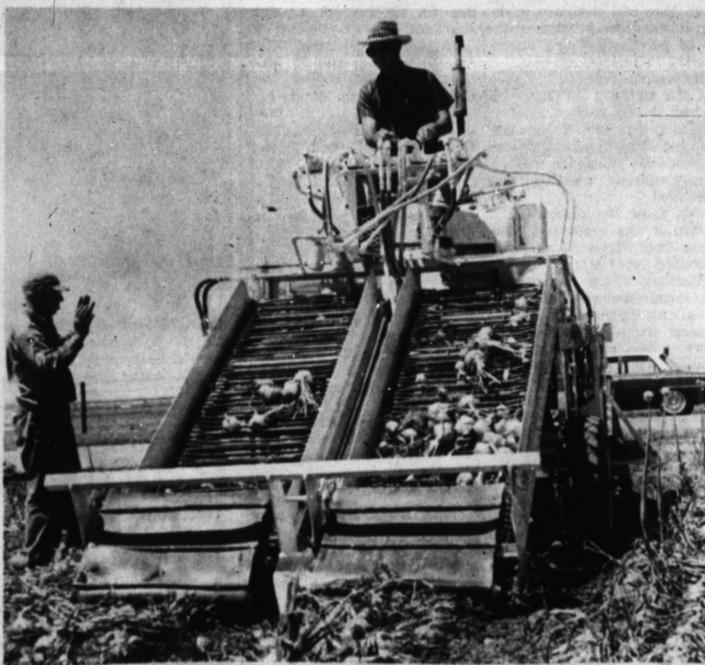

"Of course we don't need that big an auditorium," Crowson says. "So we have plans to partition the building, making classrooms, a library and recreation room. Space for recreation is badly needed, as its lack is a problem for young people in Kingston, and much of our work is with youth."

They, with another couple and a single man from the United States who are working with them, conduct Sunday evening classes for various age groups.

Their work is supported by Jefferson Street Church of Christ at Hobbs, N. M., and a congregation in Bastrop, La., in which Mrs. Crowson's father is an elder.

They are visiting the two churches during this leave. Other stops include visits with Crowson's mother, employed at Boles Children's Home at Quinlan, and his sister in Arkansas. He attended a mission seminar at Harding College, Searcy, Ark. when they first came back.

Residents of Jamaica are generally a pleasant people who like Americans, although they feel free to criticize the powerful United States when they object to American policies, Crowson says. See MISSIONARIES Page 3

Buffalo Lake Reopens

BUFFALO LAKE — A state public health officer authorized Monday the opening of about two-thirds of Buffalo Lake because of low bacteria count in the waters.

Charles Northington of Dallas, chief of the water resources division of the public health service, gave the good news to area swimmers and skiers in a telegram to Gordon Hansen, administrator of the National Wildlife Refuge.

Northington wrote: "Based on results of latest samples analyzed for coliform bacteria by the Texas Department of Health we judge that Buffalo Lake, between the dam and a boundary line from Catfish Point due west across the southern portion of Spring Bay, is now bacteriologically safe for water contact recreation."

The telegram added that "When flushing rains occur over the watershed, portions of the lake will again become unsafe for water contact recreation. Therefore, a continuing evaluation is needed."

Hansen said the latest test results on the waters showed that the area around the ski jump had a fecal count of less than 2. The maximum safe level count as recommended by the health department is 400.

The fecal count in front of the dam was less than 5, the tests revealed. The count in front of Cottonwood Cove was 2; in the vicinity of northwest Spring Bay was 2; in Spring Bay itself, 22; lower Spring Bay, 130; upper eastern part of the lake, 490; upper western part of the lake, 1,790, and on the Tierra Blanca Creek where it comes into the lake, 22,100.

Hansen said Monday that the creek was running slightly at that time.

Also announced Monday was a plan by the Texas Department of Public Health to make an extensive survey of the Tierra Blanca watershed.

The survey, said C. K. Foster, chief engineer of the water supply program of the State Health Department, will be made through the co-operation of the state agency, the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Expected to start within two weeks, the survey would determine the sources of pollution so that action can be taken to prevent further problems in the lake. The survey would take several weeks.

Buffalo Lake was closed to swimmers and skiers June 27, about 10 days after polluted waters hit there. Fishing has not been stopped during the month-long isolation and reports are that catches have not diminished.

B. W. Sisson Is Named To Three Man Committee

Billy Wayne Sisson of Rt. 5, Hereford, Texas, has been appointed to the three man Deaf Smith County Farmers Home Administration Committee, according to an announcement by James Gouley, County Supervisor. The appointment is for a three year term beginning July 1, 1967.

Sisson succeeds Harold Head and will join the other two members of the committee who are George Cassettey of Rt. 4, Hereford, Texas and Steve Bavousett of Dawn, Texas. The three member committee serves in an advisory capacity to the County Supervisor and makes determinations as to eligibility for loan advances for the Agency. They are frequently called upon by the County Supervisor to render assistance in the servicing of loans and the development of other community services.

The Farmers Home Administration does not compete with private lenders in the field of agricultural credit; however, they supplement such sources of credit and make loans on a long-range basis for the development of farms and ranches as well as improvement of community facilities, and provide housing for the rural residents. One of the most important programs is the family-type loan to young farmers in ever-increasing numbers throughout the State. Recent authorizations have been given the agency by Congress to make loans for residents as well as financing multiple housing for senior citizens and labor housing associations. Another of the more extensive loan programs includes that of making loans for small towns and communities for the establishment or improvement of water and waste disposal systems.

Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties are serviced by the Farmers Home Administration office at 313 W. 3rd. Street, Hereford, Texas. The office hours are 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday except on legal holidays.

Post Office To Resume Six-Day Parcel Delivery

Postmaster Nolan Grady today announced that parcel post deliveries in Hereford were expanded from five to six days a week as of July 18.

This is in line with a recent directive from Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien following the signing of the Post Office Department appropriation bill by President Johnson. The legislation contains an $8.5 million item for restoration of the six-day a week delivery which had been cut back in May 1964 as an economy measure.

Nearly 5000 cities are affected, Postmaster Grady said.

The Hereford post office noted that the improved service will remove an inequity for many business and residential routes.

Postal customers served by "motorized" letter carriers have been receiving six-day deliveries all along. They were not covered by the 1964 cut-back inasmuch as carriers on vehicles can deliver parcels of any size. Customers living on routes serviced by foot carriers have received larger parcels from a five-day a week parcel post route covered by a truck. Carriers on foot only deliver small packages.

AT ROTARY

VISTA Worker Speaks

By TOM PORTER
Staff Writer

The VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) program and its work in the Hereford Labor Camp were described in depth during a talk by Keith Schroyer to the Hereford Rotary Club Monday.

Schroyer, a VISTA worker from Jacksonville, Fla., told Rotarians that the VISTA program and the Peace Corps are similarly set up by the federal government. The volunteer is trained for six weeks at one of the several training stations in the United States and then is assigned for one year to an already existing project.

The salary of the VISTA worker, who can extend up to two years more, is paid by the government but his directions come from the local project manager.

The four VISTA workers presently in the Labor Camp, said Schroyer, are sponsored by the Migrant Ministry, which is made up of five local churches and the United Church Women.

SHADES OF THE OLD WEST

Wagon Races To Highlight Rodeo

Dust will rise with the wagon races when the Hereford Riders Club rodeo draws entrants young and old to the arena adjacent to Veterans Park next week.

Scheduled to get underway at 9 p. m. Thursday evening, the 27th, the rodeo will continue for three nights, culminating in a parade and prizes on Saturday. Spectators will have a chance to win a beeve on each of the three nights. The beeves are being donated by the Hereford Feed Yards, Easley Feed Yards and Holly Feed Yards.

Another feature of the annual rodeo will be the Pony Express race at 6:30 Saturday evening, following the parade down Main Street. The race will be run on the parking lot at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn; trophies will be awarded to the winners. Trophies also will be prizes for parade entrant winners.

Several riding clubs from throughout the area have already indicated their intentions of attending the rodeo parade. Among the first to get in line are the Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo and their junior club, the Range Riders Drill Team; the Rolling Hills Riders Club of Amarillo, Swisher County Sheriff's Posse, the XIT Rangers of Dalhart, the Randall County Sheriff's Posse and the Bovina Roping Club.

A particular crowd pleaser sure to bring some contestant some skinned up flesh is the wagon race. In this contest, each entrant will be riding the traditional "little red wagon" as it is pulled around the arena by a horse — at a pretty good clip, we might add, making the corners a little rough going as a wagon gets slung around the barrels.

The only rule on this one is that the rider be in the wagon when he begins, and in it when he finishes. You'll have to see this one to see how a fella keeps his vehicle topside.

Other events will include calf roping, bareback riding, saddle bronc, bull riding, team roping, and the girls' barrel race. Entry fees for all riding events are $16, and roping events $20. Fee for the wagon race will be $10, says Harold Beauchamp, president of the riders club. Prizes will be from the jackpot.

Proceeds from the show go to the riders club, which supports among its charities Boys' Ranch and Girls' Town. The rodeo has been under the chairmanship this year of Spicer Gripp, assisted by John Powers and Corky Marsh. Glen Green of Amarillo will furnish the stock.

Another attraction of the weekend will be the rodeo dance to be going on at the Little Bull Barn Thursday and Friday nights. Music there will be furnished by Tommy Hancock of Lubbock.

Although Beauchamp reported that few entries had been received up to this date, he noted that last year entries had come from as far south as Post and Crane, as far north as Kansas, with several ropers coming out of New Mexico.

The riders club anticipates a crowd of 1500 Saturday night,

17 YEARS AT SAME LOCATION

Newell Operates Progressive Store

Success Is The Ability To Do Better Than Good Enough....

GAYLORD NEWELL — Owner and operator of Piggly Wiggly has been connected with the grocery business since his childhood days. The store has been located at the present site since 1950.

Hereford's oldest major supermarket Piggly Wiggly, has operated in its main street location, 426 North Main Street, since January 1950 — 17 continuous years. The store is owned and operated by Gaylord Newell.

Newell, in the grocery business since he was a youngster, formerly owned and operated the Hereford Super Market, located on U. S. Highway 60 at the present site of A to Z Tire Service.

Newell, secured the Piggly Wiggly franchise when he opened the new store on Main.

He has been associated with the grocery industry ever since he was old enough to sack produce at a local grocery store back in the days when Frank and Wilson Giles owned a store. He sacked produce since he was too small to sack and carry groceries.

After graduating from Hereford High School, he went to work full time at a grocery store here and continued working in the grocery business until he purchased Weir's Supermarket in 1943.

He continued operating it during the war and in 1950, he moved to the present location into a new store. This same building was still being used until some 2 1/2 years ago when it was completely remodeled and expanded.

The name the store carried before it was granted a franchise from Piggly Wiggly was Hereford Super Market.

Marshall Wilson, manager of the local grocery store, has been with the firm for 14 continuous years. He first started working there as a sack boy and continued to work for the store until he was finally made manager. Most of the employees at Piggly Wiggly have been with the firm for a number of years. As Newell puts it, "we all like to be one big happy family as we can accomplish more this way and at the same time enjoy our work."

Chester Harrison, meat market manager, has also been with the store for some 12 years. Harrison is a well-seasoned veteran of all types and cuts of meats and offers his customers the best of quality meats and top service.

Lola Curtsinger is another employee with a long service record. She has worked for the past 15 years and has checked-out groceries for the most part. She was just recently named as the salesperson of the month in the monthly contest held by Radio Station KPAN.

Cora Ward has been with the supermarket for the past 10 years and now she is head of "Grandma's" delicatessen. She worked in the meat market prior to her present position.

L. W. Carlile worked for Newell at the first store on West First and still does. He has been employed there for some 20 years or better.

Pauline Kropff is another Piggly Wiggly employee who has been with the company several years. She joined the Piggly Wiggly staff approximately 6 years ago when Hunter's Supermarket, where she was employed, was destroyed by fire.

In all, Piggly Wiggly employees over 22 persons regularly. The only persons that do not stay for long periods of time are the sack boys. As in another supermarkets, they are the employees which do not last too long, as they are young boys and have need of employment for only short periods of time. Groceries which are handled at the supermarket are of the Shurfine label and most national brands, as well. Shurfine is the private label for Panhandle Associated Groceries firm which has an office in Amarillo. Newell has been a member of that organization for some 20 years.

Newell and his wife, Virginia, live just outside of Hereford in a beautiful home by U. S. Highway 385. They have 3 children — all girls. The two oldest girls are now married with Carol Ann, 26, a resident of Sherman and Marilyn, 25, of Harlingen. Carol Ann has one child and Marilyn two.

Gayle, 19 years of age, will be a sophomore student at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Oklahoma next fall. She previously attended OSU and Texas Tech last year.

Store hours are from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily except on Wednesdays and Saturdays when they stay open until 9 p. m.

Members of Aero, Inc. met with commissioners to discuss the possibility of more hangar space at the Hereford Municipal Airport. John Claypool explained that there are presently 28 spaces for planes and all are filled. Seven permanent or semi-permanent planes are tied down on the outside and several other persons have approached the airport operators about spaces.

Charles Frye told commissioners the plan was to build a T-hangar similar to the present one at a cost of approximately $10,000. The hangar would have 10 spaces, be enclosed and have doors. Houston Frye also accompanied the men.

Commissioners told the men to get specifications on the project and present it again for action.

An application for exception to the zoning ordinances submitted by Morris Hacker of 200 Western was turned down by commissioners.

Hacker had proposed to rebuild a custom meat processing plant which was destroyed by fire last year near the city limits in southeast Hereford.

Mayor Cowser explained to Hacker that "in the past, we've had two applications for exceptions to the ordinance. We turned both of them down and feel that if we permit the exception in your case, we would be facing the same situation in town. It would be leaving the door wide open for the others."

"We'd like to help you but feel like our hands are tied," said Cowser. Hacker told commissioners he had no other alternatives and that he had found another piece of land but no water had been found there yet.

An ordinance turning two railroad tracks located on Progressive Road over to Santa Fe Railroad was adopted by commissioners. The ordinance gives Santa Fe the right to construct, maintain and operate the tracks in the industrial area.

Earnest Langley, attorney for the city, explained that Santa Fe is "looking for appropriate legal authority to operate across the city road."

All of block 18 of the Ricketts Addition, located on Country Club Drive, was rezoned from "A-Single Family Dwelling" to a "C-Multi-Family Dwelling" at the request of Alex Schroeter. The application already had been approved by the Zoning Commission.

Commissioners were reminded that they meet as a Board of Equalization Monday and Tuesday in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

Accident Nets $350 Damages

A total of $350 damages resulted about 3:50 p. m. Tuesday when two cars collided at 8th and Miles streets.

Officers said Jean Watts of 133 Northwest Drive was driving a 1964 Dodge north on Miles, and Elva R. Salazar of 128 Hermosillo Street was driving a 1964 Chevrolet east on 8th Street when the two collided.

The Watts vehicle was hit in the left side and sustained an estimated $200 damage. There was $150 damage to the other car. A citation was issued for failure to yield right of way.

Convalescing From Wounds

Convalescing from wounds received in Viet Nam combat, S/Sgt. Carl Schroeder has spent a two-week leave here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Schroeder, 205 Norton.

He has returned to Fitzsimmons General Hospital at Denver and is scheduled for further surgery and treatment.

Sergeant Schroeder was wounded in a mortar attack May 15, when he was stationed near the demilitarized zone in Viet Nam. He was flown June 13 to the United States from a hospital in Japan.

The Hereford man has an Army service record of 17 years and hopes to complete a 20-year term.

By MELVIN YOUNG
You can bet on it. When it's time for the Lion's Club carnival, the rains will come.

Certainly, Tuesday night's deluge will also stop harvesting operations for a few days. Potatoes were just beginning to roll in and the price has been strong.

Onions, already hurt by earlier rains, will not be helped by the additional rainfall.

And Buffalo Lake, recently exposed to water from the earlier rain, may drown after Tuesday's run-off finds its way to the wallow.

A portion of the Lake was opened to swimmers and skiers earlier this week.

The rain also stopped construction work around town, including at the Hereford Brand where we are trying to get an addition to our building "off the ground."

It has been difficult. But as dry as this country normally is, we just don't feel like complaining when the rains do come.

Frankly, we would like to see the Lake filled again and lots of water in the creek.

Hereford has again made the news in a national circulation newspaper. GRIT, published weekly at Williamsport, Pa. and circulated throughout the United States, this week carried a full page story with pictures about the Beet Sugar industry and Hereford and Holly in particular.

Mrs. Leon McCutchen, a regular subscriber, brought in the paper.

There will be a sidewalk sale at the Mall this weekend. Beginning Thursday, the event will be concluded Saturday evening.

The Mall merchants report that bargains galore will be available for their customers.

Voll, No. 3 of Southwest Heritage Magazine is now on sale at the newsstands.

The third issue of the popular historical magazine contains an array of stories about the panhandle and the southwest. It's worth your while to get a copy.

Said one teenager: "You know, I'm starting to wonder what my parents were up to at my age that makes them so doggoned suspicious of me all the time!"

The expected railroad strike could have created problems for the vegetable people in and around Hereford, but it looks as if that's out of the way for awhile.

However, rain has stopped most harvesting operations anyway and by the time workers are able to get back into the fields, trains should all be running according to schedule.

It seems inconceivable that the government would let the railroad workers strike at this time when trains are badly needed to ship Vietnam war materials to the West Coast for further transportation overseas.

And according to the Gordon (Neb.) Journal, few people are as belligerent as a demonstrating peacenik.

We also noticed with some amusement this past week that a peacenik demonstration was broken up by a bunch of off duty reservists. The reserves waded in and secured the situation while the police looked on.

Reminds us of the problems of World War II with the Zoot Suits of Southern California. If you can remember that incidentally, you're too old for the draft.

Among the English language's many puzzling words is "economy," which means the large size in soap flakes and the small size in automobiles. And it doesn't mean a doggoned thing around our house.

POINTS OUT NEW POSITION — Brenda Beasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beasley, shows location of her residence for the coming year in the South Pacific at Okinawa. Miss Beasley will teach children of U.S. military personnel station in that area.

Brenda Beasley To Teach At Overseas Base

Brenda Beasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beasley of 100 Centre, has been chosen by the federal government for an overseas teaching assignment on Okinawa.

Miss Beasley applied for the job through the Armed Forces overseas teaching department and was accepted after several applications and forms were filed and approved.

Miss Beasley taught school at Roswell for a year. Later she transferred to Sacramento, Calif. Requirements for the overseas job include two years of teaching experience.

Assigned to a base in Okinawa, she will be teaching the children of military personnel. After a year, Miss Beasley plans to return home. She will leave Hereford July 21.

Cruise passengers eat and drink half their weight on a typical two-week Caribbean cruise. For such a voyage from New York, one ship takes aboard 500 pounds of venison, 10,000 pounds of steak, 8,000 pounds of filet mignon, 9,000 pounds of beef ribs, 8,000 pounds of turkeys, 7,000 pounds of chickens, 1,500 pounds of ducks, 2,000 pounds of bacon, 4,000 pounds each of legs of lamb and lamb chops, 60,000 pounds of veal, and 15,000 pounds of other cuts of meat. Also, 200 pounds of fresh caviar, 5,000 pounds of fish, 2,000 pounds of live lobsters, plus great quantities of beverages and fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables.

If that unfilled pie shell is frozen when you bake it, you'll need to increase the baking time by at least three to five minutes.

Scott-Brown Win Trophies

Don Scott and Bob Brown won trophies in the "B" Class and "A" Class, respectively, during action Sunday at the Hereford Speedway.

Sunday's races will be a warmup for the Mid-Season Championship Races, which will be held July 30. Action begins at 2 p. m. on the track just south of East Highway 60.

Frank Easton is currently leading the "B" class with 54 points, followed by Bill Byers with 40. In the "A" Class, Jim Dawson is leading with 40 points, with Jim Culpepper having 33 and David Watson 30.

Mid-Season Championship trophies will be presented July 30, along with the high point winners of the day. Regular admission, which is $1 for adults and children admitted free when accompanied by parents, will not change for the big races.

Prize winners Sunday were Mrs. Marshall Young, Pedro Bollin, Thomas Ponder, Mark Schaffner and Troy Fallor.

Racing results Sunday included: TROPHY RACE, "B" CLASS — Scott, first; Bob Bradley, second, and Marshall Young, third. TROPHY RACE, "A" CLASS — Brown, first; Bill Byers, second, and Don Loafman, third. FIRST HEAT "B" — Scott, first; Byers, second, and Sam Morgan, third. SECOND HEAT "A" — Brown, first; Byers, second, and Jim Dawson, third. FIRST SEMI-MAIN "B" — Coy House, first; Easton, second, and Max Bridges, third. SECOND SEMI-MAIN "A" — David Watson, first; Dawson, second, and Brown, third. "B" MAIN — Easton, first; H. W. Johnson of Lubbock, second; Byers, third, and Bridges, fourth. "A" MAIN — Watson, first; Loafman, second; George Heard, third, and Byers, fourth.

Rodney Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brooks, was awarded second place in the grade mare halter class. Pat Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Cooper, was fourth in the young gelding halter class, and her brother, David, was third in the same category. Pat was then selected to compete in the showmanship class, where she won second place. She also was 10th in the western pleasure performance contest.

VISTA Worker -

Casa de Amigos (House of Friends) in 1960, and is has become the center of activity in the Labor Camp. Eunice Vasquez, a full-time employe, lives in the Casa de Amigos and coordinates activities between the Migrant Ministry and the workers.

Schroyer told the Rotarians that there are 38 barracks in the camp, surrounded by some 100 privately owned houses of all sizes. "The rent is more in the houses and it is a step up for the people to move into them."

Children in the camp, continued Schroyer, are usually American born and speak both English and Spanish. The parents usually speak only Spanish, and want their children to improve.

"There is a big conflict among the parents," said Schroyer. "They know the child must get an education, but they also feel that he must work toward the family income."

Earnings of people in the camp vary greatly. "If they travel with the work the year around, they can earn up to $5,000 or $6,000. Those who stay here usually work five to six months a year and earn about $2,000 to $3,000."

"Many people here wonder why some persons in the camp can't exist on healthy standards after earning $5,000 a year. I believe it's because the cultural standing is so different. What is important to us is not to them."

"Fate plays a great deal in their lives, also," said Schroyer. "They've never been taught to plan for tomorrow."

"And while we don't like to believe it, discrimination does exist. If they do try to climb, they get pushed down several times. Finally, they give up and resign themselves to the state of whatever will be, will be."

Schroyer invited the Rotarians to assist VISTA workers in any of the programs now being carried on in the Camp, including tutoring, pre-school, Cub Scouts, Campfire Girls, recreational activities for boys and girls, and other such programs.

Pony Express Meet Slated July 21-22

The second annual world championship "Inside The Arena" Pony Express tournament is slated this Friday and Saturday at the Randall County Sheriff's Posse Arena, one half mile east of Canyon on the Palo Duro Road.

Hereford Riders Club will participate in the event, competing for the traveling trophy of a hand-tooled set of saddlebags.

The rodeo will be a part of the festivities in the Randall County Round-Up and Old Settlers Reunion.

Purpose of the contest, says the Randall County posse, is "to help maintain the spirit of the Old West." The traveling trophy has to be won three years successively to become the personal property of a riding club. However, even then the club must return to the contest each year to defend its trophy.

Admission to the contest will be $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for students and children. Starting time is 8 p. m.

Redbirds In Championship Playoff Today At Amarillo

Fresh from two top-sided victories over Amarillo and Canyon, the Hereford Redbirds hope to keep their hot streak going at 6 p. m. today when they enter the District 18 American Legion baseball playoff championship.

The locals will be playing the top-ranked team — Pampa, which compiled a record of 17-2. Pampa has won 12 straight.

Potter County Stadium in Amarillo, home of the Texas League Sonics, is site for the tournament, which features games between the top two teams in the North and South Divisions of District 18. Pampa and Palo Duro are representing the North and Tascosa and Hereford the South.

There will be two, nine-inning games each of the three nights of the tournament, with a team having to be defeated twice before being out.

The Redbirds ran their worst record to 14-3 Sunday with a 14-5 victory over Canyon. They had defeated Amarillo 18-2 the day before.

Against Amarillo, Hereford banged out 14 hits — 12 of them for extra bases. Included were doubles by Barry Johnson and Kenny Hagar, three doubles each by Gene Duvall and Alex Diaz and two doubles by Lynn Betts, the pitcher.

Robert Wagner slammed a triple and Ray Martinez connected with a homer to help the Redbirds cause.

Betts allowed Amarillo only four hits as he struck out 13.

The Redbirds also experienced little difficulty with Canyon as they banged out 14 runs on 18 hits. Two of the hits were doubles by Duvall.

Diaz kept Canyon swinging at open space as he struck out 14 and allowed five hits in the seven-inning game.

The Redbirds finished second to Tascosa in league play.

The Monday program topic, 'Is One Religion As Good As Another?', was discussed by Mrs. Forrest Ricketts and the related devotional talk was by Miss Kay McKee. Stated aim of the program was "to awaken adults to the inconsistencies in their beliefs and practices."

Mrs. Harold Beauchamp was welcomed as a new member. Others present were Mmes. B. F. Cain, Bob Renfro, John Hunter, Ervin Robinson Jr. and Ted Panciera.

THE SCORE GOT OUT OF HAND — Ladies playing softball Tuesday evening found the game to be a little one-sided as the score ended at 27-0. Natha Carroll gets her bat and advances to first base for the victors, team four, in the game on a muddy field. The softball league has scheduled games until Aug. 24.

Trains Moving Again

Although the railroad strike across the nation threatened to hold up area produce, vegetable packers and shippers here appeared to take the strike in stride while awaiting railroad cars to ship produce to other parts of the nation.

Service on the Santa Fe had been resumed by Wednesday, with all railroad traffic moving as scheduled.

Since shipping of the potato crop got underway last week, several cars were stranded at various points. Harvest operations are expected to reach their peak late this week or early next week, should good weather conditions allow workers to get into the fields.

At the Santa Fe depot proper, the manager reported employees there to be "having lots of fun drinking coffee" Monday when no railroad traffic passed through the city. There was a picket at the Hereford depot for about two hours that morning.

All garigs work directly out of Amarillo, the manager said. Vegetable shippers here send anywhere from 30 to 50 per cent of their potatoes by railroad; should it not be available, there would not be enough trucks in the area to compensate for the railroad traffic. Only course available here would be to leave the crops in the fields — and hope the strike ends.

In view of the tremendous economic impact the railroad can have on an area, shippers here doubt the success of any such strike. National intervention, as exhibited this week, would probably be immediate.

Fred Clarion, 1967 Kentucky Derby winner won his first race of 1967 by eight lengths over a sloppy track at Hialeah. It was the first race the colt ever won.

Catholics Sponsor All-Star Game

Representatives of baseball teams from seven area cities will participate in an All-Star game at the high school field Sunday afternoon.

Host team for the game will be the Hereford Rebels. The activities will be sponsored by the Association of Catholic Men.

A game between boys from 9 to 12 years of age will kick off the activities at 1 p. m. All boys are invited to participate in the game.

Representing the north zone in the game will be players from Hereford, Amarillo and Muleshoe. From the south will be players from Lubbock, Plainview, Tulia and Edmonson. Charlie Moreno will coach the North team and Sam Ramirez will coach the south.

Admission to the game will be 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children. Moreno said the entire Rebel team will suit out for the game.

In a game Sunday, the Rebels beat St. Anthony's 9-3, collecting the runs on nine hits. St. Anthony's got seven hits, including doubles by Jerry Albracht and Greg Banner.

Winning pitcher was Nacho Gonzales and loser was Mike Ranspot. The Rebels scored five runs in the third inning, three in the fourth and one in the fifth inning for their score and St. Anthony's got all their runs in the second. St. Anthony's had played an earlier Irrigation League game with Nazareth.

Leading batsmen for the Rebels are Robbie Lemons, with a .534 average, and Charlie Moreno with a .486.

Pig Farm Requires Long Hours, Good Records

By JOE BRAN
Staff Writer

The hog-raising business has been termed by many farmers as one of the smallest profit-making operations one could undertake but the truth is that the profit is there although it requires quite a bit of hard work along with long hours at the farm.

Calvin Edwards is one person who has ventured in the hog-raising business and has not regretted it.

He and W. R. "Dub" Hair own a hog farm located just south of Hereford on Main Street known as E and H Pig Farm, Inc. Hair is owner of half interest but does not work much at the farm. He devotes most of his time in his downtown office as public accountant and owner of the local credit bureau.

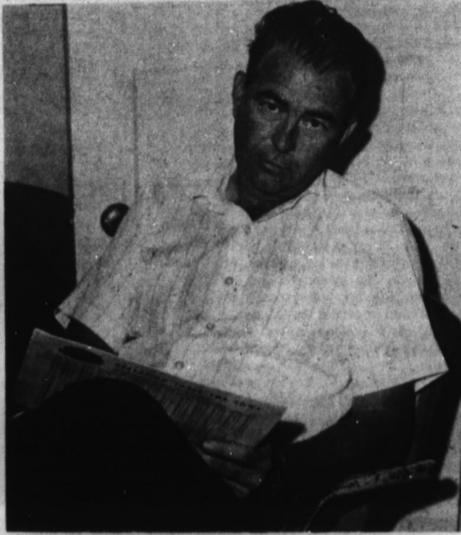

Edwards spends all or most of his time working at the farm along with another employee, Guadalupe Alvarado. Alvarado was actually the one who interested Edwards in the hog-raising operation back in 1966.

He and Edwards started operation with about 50 gilts and 2 boar hogs. An area south of town was purchased from B. F. Cain and converted from a chicken farm to the present operation. In a few months after they started their new business, Hair joined with Edwards and at that time, they added another 50 gilts and 2 more boar hogs. Also, Hair added to the farm a 30-acre tract of land which the corporation was to use to raise hogs. More buildings were constructed and today, the farm has about 185 sows and 54 gilts. About 7 boar hogs are used at the farm.

Plans are in the making now for expansion of the farm. It is hoped that by the end of this year, the operation will have some 300 sows which will be capable of yielding some 5,000 to 6,000 pigs annually.

Edwards explained that a sow can have pigs about 3 times every 14 months. He stressed that the farm has been very fortunate and that most of the sows have had large litters of pigs. He pointed out that cleanliness and a good knowledge of raising hogs is one of the main structures behind their successful operation.

CALVIN EDWARDS, partner of E and H Pig Farm, Inc. He spends most of his time at the farm while his partner, W. R. "Dub" Hair, devotes most of his time at his downtown office.

The sows are bred only by some of the best boars as the farm purchases all of them from Lubbock Swine Breeders, a company which sells hogs to various points in the U. S.

When a sow is bred, it takes about 120 days before she has the litter of pigs. After the birth of the pigs, they (the little pigs) are kept in feeding with their mother for some 6 weeks before they are weaned. Two weeks after birth, they are also fed some other types of feed which is in pellet form along with the mother's milk.

All pigs which have been weaned are purchased from the farm by Worley Mills of Portales, New Mexico.

At the farm, all the gilts are kept for future use, as only the weaned barrows are sold to the Portales firm to be finished.

The hog farm here uses the boar hogs for approximately four years and then sells them to packing houses for the making of sausage. The sows are kept some five years and are then sold for the same purpose.

The boar hogs which are being used now are fairly large, one weighing in the neighborhood of 600 pounds. Others weigh from 250 to 500 pounds. The sows are heavy too, weighing in the range of 300 to 500 pounds.

The pigs which are handled at the farm are kept clean constantly as are their surroundings. Every time a sow has pigs, they are kept indoors at all times and never touch the ground. Each pen in which they are kept is washed thoroughly before being used and all means of preventing disease are used.

After 3 days when the pigs are born, Edwards gives them an injection of medicine. In about 2 weeks afterwards, he then castrates them. He stated that the castrating is done that early because the pigs do not feel as much pain. If the pigs are older, more pain is experienced and sometimes they get sick.

Sows are fed sow ration which is furnished by a local milling company. All means are practiced so as to keep a clean and healthy farm.

An injection of iron is given to the pigs before they leave the farm. The iron is injected since they do not touch ground at any times and thus they are never around dirt which pigs use to obtain some of the iron.

Most pigs which the farm raises are 3/4 Yorks and 1/4 Hampshires. The boar hogs which are used are 3 Yorks, 3 Durocs and 1 Hampshire.

Helping with the farm are 2 other persons. They are Buell Chomlee and Jesse Ramirez. They too have been with the farm since it first began.

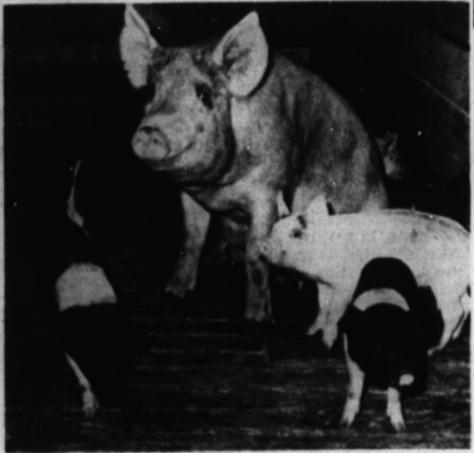

Edwards is a native of Hereford and has lived all of his life here. Having attended Progressive School 6 miles northeast of town, he entered the Army in 1942 where he served for 2 years. He came back and worked on a farm until he and the Sharp brothers, Lowell and Lloyd, joined together and opened a car lot at the corner of 5th and Main. They operated it until 1957 and then he went to work for a fertilizer company until he resigned this past January. After his hog-raising farm started taking up most of his time, he decided to devote all of his business to it.

He and his wife, Anna Mae, live at 518 Star and have 4 children — 1 boy and 3 girls. The oldest is Nancy at 24 who is married to Herman Jesko. They now live in Austin. Wayne, 21, is next and he too is married. He is presently employed at Cooper's Market here. Janice, 15 is next and she is a 9th grader at Stanton. Karen, 13, will be in the 8th grade at the same school.

SOWS AT E AND H PIG FARM, INC., are kept in isolation during the breeding phase and are watched regularly on an hourly basis. The breeds are mostly 3/4 Yorks and 1/4 Hampshires.

SOME OF THE PIGS which are ready to be finished are shown above. The pigs are kept in feeding with their mother until they are about 6 weeks old before they are weaned.

Auto Owners To Pay Higher Rate For Insurance

Despite predictions that safe drivers carrying the legal minimum of insurance would be paying less this year, the rates published by the state board of insurance indicate that they will pay more with the fiscal year beginning Aug. 1.

This is the date when point penalties will first count on a driver's record. All drivers began the year last summer with a clean record, and will find that points can add as much as 90 per cent of the 1A rates to their premiums.

Figuring on the basis of 10/20/5 ($10,000 per person bodily injury, $20,000 per accident, $5,000 property damage), the cost to the single male driver under 25 will be $120 this year for liability insurance, up $6 from the period ending Aug. 1. This is the most expensive driver category.

Comprehensive insurance is the item that has seen the biggest decline in rates. For private passenger automobiles, this insurance has decreased 10.1 per cent in this territory, as compared to a decrease of 4.9 per cent over the state generally. A report from the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office also reveals that fire insurance throughout the state is in store for a 10 per cent reduction, as well as theft insurance.

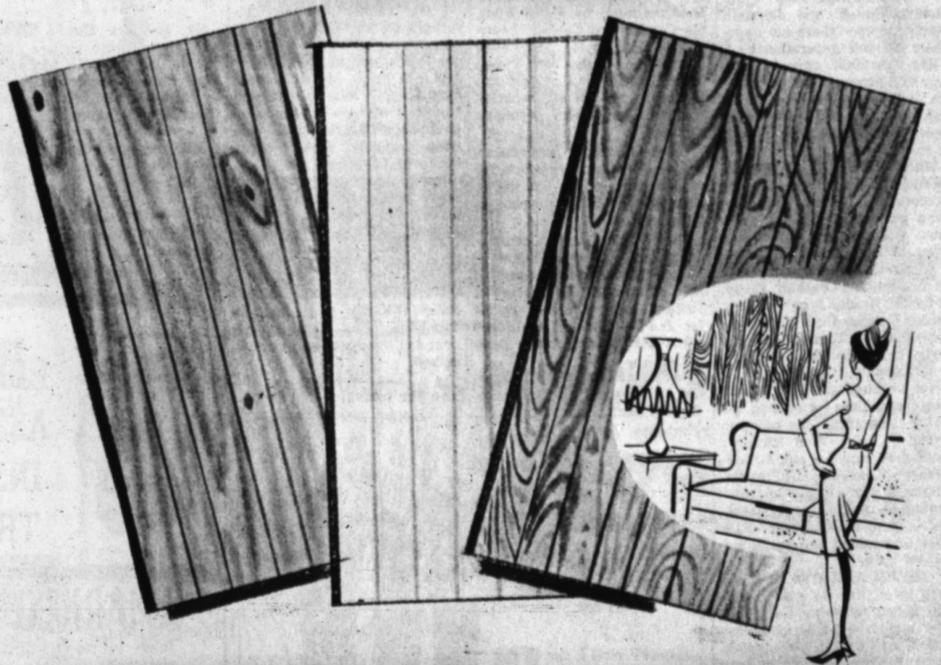

Automobile collision insurance in this territory has been decreased 2.3 per cent on $50 deductible, 6.9 per cent on $100 deductible.

Every driver of a private passenger automobile will pay from $1 to $6 more in premiums on the minimum liability insurance. Hardest hit will be classifications 2A and 2C, those involving the male driver under 25; also, 2CF will go up $5, a farm classification still involving the "male under 25" clause. Other rates will change by $1, $3, or $4.

Although exemption clauses will help "non-repeaters" avoid stacking up points on their record, drivers can be reminded that one charged point will jump See AUTQ OWNERS Page 3

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Family Recipe Roundup

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Family histories are compiled in many forms, but who would think of a cookbook?

MRS. HUGH SHEFFIELD of Dallas did, and gained the cooperation of other members of the Womble clan, descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Womble, Deaf Smith County pioneers.

"We are all good cooks — and good eaters — why shouldn't we have a good cookbook?" Jewell Meeks Sheffield inquired as she asked members of the family for their favorite recipes. The result is a unique and attractive book with a catalog of good cooking through six generations.

Cattle brands, beginning with the JC of the family head, decorate the gold and brown cover of the book and are listed by owners on an inside page. At the back are brief excerpts from a story of the Womble family which Joyce Womble Meeks wrote in 1955 when she was 78 years old.

"LOOKING BACK, I find it hard to believe that we went through some of the hardships we experienced, but I feel that we were more closely united by sharing them than families who never knew such difficulties," so wrote Mrs. Meeks, the last survivor of the original family of 11 children.

Of the family which came here early in 1891 and filed on a section of land in northeast Deaf Smith County, Mrs. Meeks noted that "after many years, when all the children and most of the grandchildren had married, my father and mother could talk by country telephone from their home with every child and grandchild, as they all lived in Deaf Smith County."

Now scattered widely and branched into new generations, the family is still well represented in this county.

GRANDCHILDREN of J. C. and Jeanette Womble who still live here include Mrs. L. N. Shore, Mrs. Doyle Rose, Mrs. J. P. Rose, Coy and Earl Phillips, Mrs. John Renfro, Troy Rose, Miss Ethel Womble, Baker and Benny Womble, Mrs. Carl Williams and Mrs. Robert Thompson.

Widows of two other grandsons, with their families are still residents, are Wilda Womble Jowell and Dyalitha Womble Benson. There are many others of later generations.

Mrs. Sheffield compiled the book and arranged for its printing. It was not intended to be sold, but there are a few extra copies which are being placed on sale now.

MRS. SHEFFIELD'S FOREWORD said the purpose is to "record our family recipes from pioneer fare to the cultivated culinary arts," and the range is from Lewis R. Bradley's Son-of-a-Gun Stew and Uncle Red Smith's Cracklin' Bread to Bruce Bradley Rose's sophisticated Cornish Hens With Rice and Janelle Womble Miller's bridge-luncheon dish, Avocado Jello Salad.

Not forgotten are W. T. Womble's instructions for making lye soap, measuring the water in syrup buckets; Wes Bradley's meat cure mixture and Grandmother Womble's All-Purpose Linament with vinegar and turpentine as the main ingredients, and a note to "Rub on sore back or strained muscles — but do not cover."

THERE ARE OTHER pertinent notes, like the one in capital letters following Earl Phillips' recipe for barbecue sauce: "Then call out the fire department."

ment!" One entire section of recipes is labeled, "For Cast Iron Stomachs Only." Others are grouped as "Cowboy" or "Pioneer" fare.

Along with such confections as Nona Rose Dowell's Caramel Pralines are Mike Laird's directions for Fresh Roasted Peanuts, short and to the point.

"Place fresh goobers in a cookie tin on top rack of the oven. Roast in preheated oven at 350 degrees for 30 minutes," he says, and you can smell those goobers as soon as you walk in the front door!

AUNT JOYCE WOMBLE'S "secret formula" for Osgood Pie, adapted from an old recipe of her mother's, is included; so is Lawrence L. Womble's method of broiling "Million $ Steaks on Gas Grill," and Guy Smith's Cafe Chili.

Such staple items of pioneer meals as sour dough biscuits, Troy Womble's version; Mince Meat, as made by Sheba Womble Combs, and Cowboy Beans cooked by Doyle Rose have their place in the book, while Mart Hart gives a pioneer and a modern method of preparing the cowboy favorite, "Mountain Oysters."

Old-time methods of measuring, and instructions which the modern housewife would hardly know how to follow, appear in many recipes.

For instance, what homemaking major today knows how to "Make a brine strong enough to hold up an egg," as directed in Delia Cassels Womble's recipe for Ten-Day Pickles — or who takes ten-days to make pickles?

AND A PART OF Ollie Womble Bradley's recipe for Watermelon Rind Sweet Pickles calls for making "a strong ginger tea," the cook is supposed to know how to make that.

Handed down from Ella Womble Phillips is a pound cake recipe which sounds good yet and would offer no difficulty to the cook who can measure by the thumbful and doesn't mind mixing a cake by hand.

Baking instructions obviously apply to a coal stove, but some later user of the recipe has added the temperature in parentheses. And a thimble would probably hold a teaspoonful.

PLAIN POUND CAKE

- 1 cup butter
- 2 cups sugar
- 8 egg yolks, well beaten
- 8 egg whites, beaten to stiff froth
- 1 cup sweet milk with 1/2 thimbleful of soda dissolved in it.
- 3 cups flour, sifted twice
- Pinch of salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla or lemon flavoring

Cream together, by hand, sugar and butter for 15 minutes. Add egg yolks and stir three minutes, then add whites and stir three minutes. Add milk-soda mixture and stir well. Add flour gradually, while beating, then add flavoring.

Put in a moderately hot oven, never letting it chill. (275 degrees). Takes one hour or more to bake.

Student Hitchhiking Through U.S. - Mexico

Benjamin Contreras — an educated hitchhiker — kept a number of Hereford residents enthralled Saturday as he described a trip from San Francisco, Calif., to Mexico City and other parts of the United States which has cost him about $26.

Contreras, who is majoring in psychology and minoring in history at San Francisco State College, became the center of attraction at the Big Burger about noon Saturday as he stopped to eat his daily meal.

The 25-year-old "Mexican citizen" said he had left San Francisco June 30 for a month-long vacation which included a three day visit to his former home. He began the trip two weeks after he had received an Associate of Arts Degree in sociology from Diablo Valley Junior College.

Besides wanting to see Texas and other parts of the United States for the first time, Contreras mainly had a desire to see if there had been any changes in his homeland during the five years he had been gone.

Contreras left Laredo last Thursday, spent Friday night in Littlefield and arrived in Hereford about noon Saturday. He said he had left California with $35, and had $9 left for the return trip, which he expected to make in three days. He lives in Quenda, Calif.

Carrying a pack weighing 37 pounds, Contreras had averaged four hours sleep a day. His diet during the trip called for one meal a day — the meal consisting of two hamburgers and plenty of water and salt.

The pack carried by Contreras contained three pairs of pants, seven shirts, 10 changes of underwear, first aid kit, several pieces of literature, shaving kit and foot powder.

Red Cross Confab Held In Amarillo

"Fifty years of caring about others" was the theme picked by members of the Red Cross Youth Council at a conference held in Amarillo, Saturday, July 15.

Five counties, Hutchinson, Ochiltree, Potter, Gray and Deaf Smith were included.

Those present from Hereford were Pam Miller, Penny Young and Arvis Southward.

The meeting opened with outgoing President Richard Barrett of Pampa presiding and discussion was begun on, "What should be the duties of a Red Cross Officer?" Following this, the position of President was officially turned over to the incoming President for 1967-68, Margret Stark of Perryton. The new president then outlined the activities of the council for the following year.

First item on the list was the question of which towns were to take over the building and stocking of three more Community Disaster Chests. Hereford, Borger, and Perryton were voted upon.

A schedule of next year's meetings was then set as follows: September 30 in Hereford, November 18, in Amarillo, February 3 in Pampa, and July 20 in Spearman.

Ceta Glenn in Ceta Canyon was decided upon as the campsite for the Red Cross Youth Council's annual officers camp.

Incoming officers for 1967-68 are as follows: Margret Stark from Perryton, President; Levenie Benefield from Hereford, Vice-President; Donna Germany from Borger, Recording secretary; Penny Young from Hereford, Historian; and Debbie Orsborne from Perryton-Corresponding secretary.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

While his birthday was being celebrated with an informal ice cream-and-cake party after church in First Methodist fellowship hall Sunday night, the Rev. Eugene Naugle was described by his brother minister, Clifford Trotter, as "probably the best known — and liked — man in Hereford."

THAT CHURCH PARTY was just one of several marking the birthday as friends of the friendly retired minister showed their appreciation.

Though he is officially retired, Brother Gene keeps busy, and so keeps spreading his acquaintance among residents of the county.

Ever since his "retirement" he has served as pastor of Bippus Methodist church in the western reaches of Deaf Smith County. He regularly visits hospital patients here, not only members of his own, but those of other churches — or no church.

HE IS LIKELY to drop into a business house at any time, as into a hospital room or the home of a shut-in, and it's easy to see why he is always welcome.

He invariably has a joke or a wisecrack and he follows the adage of the successful old vaudeville stars to "make your turn short and leave 'em laughing."

Whether this was his 76th or 77th birthday was the subject of some discussion as Rev. Trotter used the latter figure in lauding Brother Gene, only to have a correction made in the response. I'll take the lower number — would even believe

48. THE VETERAN MINISTER had preached the sermon at the church service before the party. He first came to Hereford as assistant pastor of First Methodist Church, and is still assisting the pastor, the present minister noted.

There had been a party earlier Sunday at Kings Manor, where Brother Gene has been living several months, and on Friday evening a group from his congregation at Bippus had called to visit him and present a gift.

His fellow members in the Kiwanis Club were at the Sunday church service and party and had a part in the gift from the church membership, a check.

IT WAS A RELIEF to me to read a remark by one official after the recent Federal Communications Commission hassle over regulations to keep popular songs with obscene or treasonable words off the air.

The fuss ended with a decision not to impose censorship, and the official remarked that it wouldn't make much difference anyway, since the songs in question are generally mumbled and moaned by a singer with an impediment in his speech, accompanied by thumping guitars and drums that would drown out even clear diction.

That's been my impression of hit music for a good many months, and it had sort of worried me lest impaired hearing was the difficulty. It's good to learn that experts listening for obscene lines can't hear it either.

Hereford Girl To Attend Youth Meet In Mexico

Selected as one of ten young delegates from over the United States, Miss Cindy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jones, 114 Douglas, expects to attend a Pan-American meeting of church youth in Quernavaca, Mexico Aug. 18 to Sept. 2.

This Youth Encounter, to be held for young people of North, South and Central American nations, is sponsored by the Department of Youth Relations of the National Council of Churches. It includes youth in the ages of 17 to 25.

Miss Jones, a member of the Plains Presbytery Christian Education Committee and active in youth organizations of the local Presbyterian Church, applied for designation to attend the meeting and was recommended by ministers and youth leaders with whom she has worked.

Notice that she has been chosen for the trip was received this week from the Commission

Frank Ford Jr. Returns From Campaign Meet

Frank Ford Jr., Deaf Smith County Republican chairman, has returned from a trip to Norman, Okla., where he attended a seminar sponsored by the Republican national committee. The seminar was held on the campus of the University of Oklahoma.

The campaign managers' school brought representatives, mostly on the state level, from Montana, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Michigan, Louisiana, New Mexico, Nevada and Colorado.

There was a Texas delegation of some 25 persons within the 160 attending.

Among the speakers were Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, Gov. Laxalt of Nevada, and Gov. Bartlett of Oklahoma.

One to two tablespoons of cornstarch will thicken the syrup (plus water to make one cup) from a one-pound can of fruit. The amount of cornstarch you use will depend on how thick you want the sauce; also on how much sugar is added.

Pare a long narrow cucumber with small seeds and cut into thin short strips. Couple the cucumber with cooked whole snapbeans; marinate in French dressing and serve as a delightful salad.

Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA.

She is a 1967 graduate of Hereford High School and has attended a summer session of West Texas State University.

She plans to enter Trinity University as a freshman this fall. Her trip to Mexico City will be made by plane from Dallas.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

LIGHT

GOD said, "Let there be light: and there was light."
How much is shining on you? Are you just sitting there — oblivious to the needs of your fellow-man — and inactive in your church? Then a cloud is hiding you! Want to be a reflector? Then get out in the open — out where the light can beam upon you. Absorb aplenty of it... enough to purify and light up the dark corners of your soul. Lead your family and others to church. That is being a reflector of real light... true light. For, "God is light and in Him is no darkness." 1 John 1-5.

LAWN'S... BACKDROP FOR LANDSCAPING

We are creatures of habit or tradition more or less. For instance last week a friend and I were discussing garden problems and pleasures. In the discussion she asked me a question and without much thinking I said, "This is the way my grandmother and mother used to do, and you know my brother-in-law (Pink H. Gilliland) has planted 'by the moon' for years." Yes many of our garden practices are carry overs, and many have come to us from England and the European countries. One of the ones coming from England is the planting and care of lawns.

After the rains there will be many foreign grasses appear, one of which is crab grass, do not let it seed. Use a well recommended crab grass killer... Some have reported to me that they are having brown spots, and what is known as dollar spots. When first noticed, remove all damaged grass, burn, and then dig to the roots and examine to find out which worms or other insects are causing the trouble. Then treat accordingly Dieldrin or Chlor-dane products are good to use on the spots.

As a preventive, an overall spray with Malathion, or Ortho Lawn Disease Control mixture is suggested. Some prefer to use a dust form of insecticide. This is alright, but care should be used when applying, late evening when it is still or early morning when all sign of dew have disappeared. Use both the spray and dusting powders as directed on the containers.

Remember pesticides are harmful to humans and animals. Avoid breathing the vapors or dust. Do not use around food, or where food is being prepared. When job is completed wash all exposed parts of the body with warm water and soap.

Do this IMMEDIATELY. Dispose all empty containers, or if there is left over materials, be sure the containers are tightly sealed, and placed in a secure place where children or pets cannot get to it. Use extra care that all containers are properly labeled, if pesticide are taken out of the original containers, or you have some of the mixture left over and put in other containers.

The BERMUDA grasses are reaching their peak of growth. Keep bermuda lawns cut short to avoid excess surface runners. Other grasses, such as blue grass or clover should not be cut too short. One and one-half inch is a very good height to set your mower. The roots need to be kept cool, and if cut short damage may result.

There is a large investment in your lawn, so take good care of it. It is nice to drive by one of the beauty spots of the month, The First Christian Church grounds, and enjoy its beauty. One of the special features of the grounds is the Roberson Memorial Rose Garden. The yellow roses have had a profusion of bloom. As I drive hastily by, the blossoms remind me of gorgeous yellow butterflies scattering bits of golden sunshine and happiness.

Gladious are adding their bit of beauty to our gardens now. I have some that are over four feet tall, and the flowers are large and gorgeous. So much enjoyment from them, and real fun to cut several spikes and share with friends and shut-ins. If you would be happy and glad, share your garden.

GLAD P. S. We Garden Glubbers are excited and thrilled over the prospect of the new Garden Center, which we hope soon will be built in the Medical Center at Amarillo.

Members of the North Zone National Judges Group have been kept up to date on all progress, both the set-backs and the gains. Some have shares by making donations, if you would like to so share send your donation to Amarillo Council of Garden Club, Amarillo, Texas % Garden Center.

P. S. No. 2 The BIG weed and pulled, and many others. The flower beds look better.

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 18TH DISTRICT, TEXAS
1322 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 223-3706

Anti-riot legislation which I, and other Republicans, have sponsored, is scheduled for action by the House of Representatives today. This bill, H. R. 421, when enacted, will impose criminal penalties upon persons traveling in or using the facilities of interstate commerce with the intent to incite a riot.

Last year in response to a growing public demand for assistance in maintaining law and order in the streets and urban centers of our land, Republican anti-riot legislation was adopted in the House of Representatives, as an amendment to the proposed Civil Rights Act of 1966, by a vote of 389 to 25. That legislation was permitted to die in the Senate. Now, as a result of continuing pressure and leadership by Republican members, this vital legislation is being brought to the House Floor as an independent measure.

The proposed legislation represents the legitimate exercise of federal criminal power under authority based on the commerce clause of the Constitution. Historically, certain types of conduct have been prohibited by federal statute when the facilities of interstate commerce are used. For example, there is the Mann Act, the prohibition against the interstate transportation of strike breakers, the federal kidnapping statute and the Anti-Racketeering Act.

Law enforcement agencies have reported that familiar faces crop up in riots as far apart as Cleveland and Los Angeles and have concluded that an organized group of agitators either moves into an area as soon as violence occurs or moves into problem areas and encourages riots and violence. This was forcefully proven early this summer when the same crowd of agitators toured several southern states, leaving a path of dead and wounded rioters and police officers. On college campuses they encouraged students to burn their draft cards, attack police and take over the colleges. In some of these colleges where racial troubles existed, the rabble-rousers found supporters and violence erupted, including sniper fire at interceding police officers. This is the type of activity this legislation is meant to stop.

This bill is not intended to and does not limit the right of dissent and peaceful demonstration. Legitimate activities by those who travel in interstate commerce to participate in public gatherings or other lawful demonstrations are not affected. I agree with Representative Richard H. Poff, second ranking minority member of the House Judiciary Committee and Chairman of the Republican Task Force on Crime of which I am a member, when he said, "We are not so much interested in punishing someone for an offense already committed as in preventing it from occurring."

However, those persons who use facilities in interstate commerce or who travel from one State to another or from a foreign country to a State, in order to incite or attempt to incite riots, violence, looting, vandalism, arson, bombing, and physical assaults would be subject to prosecution.

The bill would supplement, not supersede, local law enforcement. Certainly the most effective means of riot control rests with the State and local police. However, by assuring Federal jurisdiction over "out-of-state" inciters, State and local authorities will be substantially assisted in keeping the peace and protecting the public safety.

The proposed law would provide a new and effective law-enforcement weapon in riot situations like those that have occurred in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, Boston, Buffalo and Waterloo. Many of the summer-time riots have been traced to trouble-makers who travel about this nation inciting riots. It is imperative that we rid interstate commerce of these agitators and riot-mongers. The law-abiding citizens in the area where the riots occur may suffer grievous personal injury and untold property damage unless this additional protection is afforded them.

Entire Space Outlay Worth It For Photos Alone, Johnson Asserts

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Last March, during a visit to Tennessee, President Johnson said he often had been criticized for spending too much money on space exploration.

Answering these critics, he said: "If we got nothing else from the space program than the photographic satellite, it is worth 10 times over the money we've spent. Without the satellites, I'd be operating by guess and by God. But I know exactly how many missiles the enemy has got."

To date, the United States has spent nearly $40 billion on military and civilian space programs. Even Johnson's reckoning, that the photographic satellites alone have been worth nearly $400 billion, might be low. Because thanks to knowing how many missiles a potential enemy has, and where they are, Defense Department officials say the United States will not be caught in another scare like the so-called missiles gap of the 1950s.

Then there was a grave fear that the Soviet Union had a tremendous lead in long-range missiles, and the United States poured billions into a program to catch up. Later it was learned that there had been no gap.

The development of reconnaissance and surveillance satellites has been one of the most significant achievements of the space age. Details about them are a tightly kept secret, but it is known that several times each day at least one American spy satellite makes photographic passes over the Soviet Union, Red China and other countries. Soviet observation satellites also fly regularly over the United States.

Both nations place strong emphasis on a military space program. Of 455 U.S. satellites sent into earth orbit through June 1, such as reconnaissance, missile detection, navigation, mapping, missile targets, communications and research.

The Soviet Union orbited 224 satellites in that period, at least 98 for military purposes, according to U.S. sources.

A large number of launchings is necessary because the photographic satellites must return to earth with their film packages and must be replaced on patrol.

TO REDUCE the high launching rate, the United States is testing satellites which electronically will send clear photographs and other data to earth, enabling the payload to operate several months, or even years.

Sources report that an operational system might be two or three years away. It's difficult, they say, to duplicate the clear quality of pictures developed from film returned to earth.

These photos, taken from 150 to 300 miles in space, reportedly show with clarity objects on earth down to the size of a manhole cover.

Even the less clear pictures relayed electronically by weather satellites have considerable military value.

The Air Force recently reported that its bombers were being guided to cloud-free targets in Vietnam by daily photographs received from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Esca and Nimbus weather satellites.

The experimental technique offering the most promise is a so-called multispectral system.

THE heart of the system is multiband color photography. Three or four color photographs, each sensitive to light at a particular narrow band of visible or near-infrared frequencies, show considerable detail about land and water.

Additional information comes from instruments that scan nearly the entire electromagnetic spectrum, from radio waves, through radar and microwaves, the entire infrared spectrum, up to ultraviolet and X-rays.

Using this collection of instruments, NASA is developing a satellite capable of measuring temperatures and density anywhere in the atmosphere and down to a depth of 200 feet in the oceans. The satellite will report on water resources including the location of underground rivers, the movement of schools of fish, an inventory of forests including the health of individual trees, soil fertility, and the location of minerals.

It's easy to see how the Defense Department could use such a satellite to spot submerged submarines, to sight enemy soldiers in deep foliage, or to identify a missile site buried underground.

THE possibility that the Russians will develop such a satellite is causing concern about the security of the Navy's Polaris submarine program and about the Air Force Minuteman ICBM silos. Defense experts are re-examining a plan, once junked as unneeded, to mount Minuteman missiles on trucks and trains that constantly move about the country so they would not be "sitting ducks."

A major problem to be solved before a multispectral satellite system can be deployed operationally is to calibrate and coordinate the information received by the various instruments and to return it to earth as swiftly as it is assembled. Officials are confident this can be done.

The Defense Department also has made rapid strides in developing satellites which are providing valuable navigation beacons for ships and planes, which are mapping the earth with extreme accuracy to provide targeting data for missiles, which are intercepting radio signals from ground, air and space-based facilities of potential enemies, and which are capable of detecting if any nation violates the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

After years of problems, industry finally has produced a satellite sensor that can detect the launching of missiles abroad. The Air Force recently awarded a multimillion-dollar contract to build this advanced early warning satellite.

The Defense Department has 15 military communications satellites circling the earth. They are classed as test vehicles but are being used effectively to speed military messages, including traffic to and from Vietnam. By 1970, an advanced operational network of these satellites is expected to be flying.

Shortly after that, the U.S. hopes to have in orbit a system of the field, using simple equipment, to communicate with one another or with rear headquarters to better coordinate tactics.

In the 1975-80 time period, defense officials would like to have a huge multipurpose satellite that would incorporate many military assignment-observation, communications, navigation etc. Three such satellites, equally spaced in stationary orbit around the equator, would cover the globe, providing an accurate daily record of every military installation and operation on earth.

Eventually, these command posts might be manned by astronauts.

This is how the earth looks to a photographic satellite in orbit 22,300 miles above the surface. (AP Wirephoto)

On Social Security

Congress Certain To Raise Benefits

By EDMOND LEBRETON — WASHINGTON (AP) — Sources closest to the work say Congress almost certainly will increase Social Security benefits before adjourning this year.

But the job of drafting legislation with this and other changes is turning out to be more complicated, and much more time consuming, than had been foreseen.

Only the most optimistic members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has been considering the bill for months, now predict a House vote earlier than late August. Then the round begins in the Senate Finance Committee and the Senate itself.

Without taking any formal votes among themselves, the majority of committee members have picked a working figure of an increase averaging 13 per cent and a financing plan in the wage base on which the payroll tax is levied from the present $6,400 to $7,800.

President Johnson recommended benefit increases of no less than 15 per cent and increases in the tax base bringing it eventually to $10,800.

The committee has found the going slower on other portions of the complex bill. When it recessed for the weekend it was still trying to agree on terms of a revision in the rules for aid to dependent children.

There is sentiment in the committee for provisions encouraging mothers or other guardians of such children to earn funds when they can, without having their benefits reduced. This program is not part of the Social Security system as it is usually thought of but is one of the allied systems of federally aided state welfare programs.

Federal standards for eligibility to state Medicaid not Medicare also are unsettled.

There has been no extended discussion yet in the committee of one of Johnson's most debated proposals, also included in the omnibus bill, for revising the special tax consideration given persons 65 or older. The effect would be to increase taxes on those with higher total incomes and reduce them for those in the lower brackets.

Cropland Retirement Program In Jeopardy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of one of the Johnson administration's most prized farm programs—long-term retirement of less productive cropland—is in doubt, Congress is bucking at providing additional supporting funds.

The program is called a "cropland adjustment program" and is in its second year of operation.

The program's main thrust has been to assist those farmers who because of age, or other employment, desire to reduce or end their farming operations without selling off their land and without giving up financial returns from it.

It also has been emphasizing what Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman calls a "greenspan" operation under which local government units get grants to help them buy small tracts of farmland for recreational uses by the general public.

The program took about two million acres of cropland out of production last year and is calculated to take about the same number this year. Land is retired under contracts ranging from five to 10 years. Owners get rental payments for converting the land to non-crop uses.

It also has made grants totaling about $382,000 to about 140 local government units for purchase of land costing about $1, 200,000. These land tracts are being used for many purposes under a greenspan program. They include wildlife refuges, pollution control, recreation, and space for schools and other public institutions.

The land retirement program, now costing about $50 million annually, has run into trouble in Congress because some lawmakers contend that because of a growing world food shortage problem, this country should be careful about reducing its food-production potential.

This feeling was reflected by action of the House Appropriations Committee in turning down an administration budget request for continuation of the program in 1968.

Freeman is working hard to get the Senate Appropriations Committee to insert the program in its version of the department's money supply bill.

The secretary does not agree with congressmen who say there is a danger of diverting too much land to non-crop uses. He holds that because of the continuous technological advances in farm production, it is most likely that there will be need for many years to limit the use of cropland.

This program has been designed to replace in time the year-to-year cropland retirement provisions of wheat, feed grain and cotton programs.

Freeman believes it would be possible to eliminate the latter programs—which are more expensive than the longer-term cropland adjustment—if more land could be taken out of use under long-term contracts.

Gal Demolition Crew Pains Up Real Equal Rights

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Those four bare-legged women wielding crowbars are at it again.

W. J. Cooper describes his all-girl building demolition crew as "real equal rights, daddy-o."

The girls live in apartments owned by Cooper and volunteered for the wrecking assignment.

They are Ann Pearson, mother of three; her daughter Sheila Ann; Sue Brown, another mother of three; and Estelen Cushing, mother of five.

Saving their housework for evening, the women rip away at partitions, wreck brick walls and load salvage aboard trucks during the day.

"This isn't just a man's world, you know," Mrs. Pearson said.

There are a few disadvantages.

"I used to have nice hands," said Mrs. Pearson, who also drives a truck for Cooper. "My husband won't hold them any more."

Their Problems Go Up In Smoke

GAYLORD, Mich. (AP) — At the opening of this summer's third annual Alpine Festival, residents scribbled their problems on slips of paper and cast them into a fire. Then, according to a custom known as the "burning of boog," their problems went up in a puff of smoke.

18 States Are Updating Outmoded Governments

By KENT ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer

State governments have been under heavy fire lately, with critics charging that they are so outmoded and cumbersome they can't meet the challenges of modern society.

Last week a private research group, the Committee for Economic Development, issued a report charging that most state governments are burdened by obsolete structural organizations, inherent in their constitutions.

There have been some responses to this criticism. At least 18 states will have constitutional revisions of varying importance before the voters this year and next.

FEW states, however, have acted decisively to offset the basic criticism that their constitutions—many dating to the 19th century—are outmoded.

In fact, several states this year vetoed bills calling for conventions to revise the constitutions, and the Oregon Senate rejected for the third straight session a new constitution approved by the House.

Texas Gov. John Connally urged his legislature to rewrite the state's constitution because "our present charter restricts and withholds necessary and needed powers for our state."

The Texas Senate turned Connally down, although the House set up a commission to recommend a new constitution.

Most of the amendments that will be voted on are seen as stopgap and scattered reforms. And many more proposed changes were quashed by the legislatures than were approved.

Exceptions to the piecemeal rule are Maryland, where last fall voters approved a call for a constitutional convention to re-draft the state's 100-year-old charter, and New York, where a constitutional convention has started a complete review of its basic law.

A limited convention begins Dec. 1 in Pennsylvania, and Illinois voters will decide next year whether to hold a rewriting convention.

OKLAHOMA voters approved last Tuesday radical changes in its 60-year-old constitution. The changes dealt mainly with the court system, shaken 14 months ago with bribery scandals.

Of the more important amendments that will be voted on, some would increase the frequency of legislative sessions, increase lawmakers' pay, change the method of selecting officials and lengthen the term of office for legislators and executive officials.

Other changes would create state lotteries, liberalize voting requirements and change tax structures.

So far, these 18 states will have voting through 1968 on constitutional amendments: Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Annual legislative sessions are proposed in Iowa, Idaho and Utah.

West Virginia and Iowa voters will decide whether to give their governors new powers.

The Colorado Legislature has proposed the election of the governor and lieutenant governor on one ticket, rather than separately. Utah voters will decide in 1968 whether to remove the superintendent of public instruction from the list of elected officials.

Various proposals would allow legislators to raise their salaries. Nebraska lawmakers want to eliminate a $200 monthly limit set by the constitution. And legislators in North Carolina and Idaho are asking authority to set their own salaries.

Utah has proposed an increase to $25 per day plus $15 daily expenses from $500 per year and $5 daily expenses. The Washington Legislature will submit to voters a proposal allowing the salaries of public officials to be raised during their terms of office, except for those who set their own salaries.

Texas legislators have asked for an increase to $8,400 a year from $4,800 a year.

Georgia voters will be asked next year to extend the terms of senators and representatives from two to four years.

Several states have proposed changes in their systems of taxation: Wyoming, Texas, Georgia, New Mexico, Michigan, Nebraska and Utah.

Numerous states have studied proposals for reducing the legal voting age, but only Nebraska so far has plans to submit an amendment to its voters for 1968. Voters will decide then whether to lower the voting age from 21 to 19.

NEW Mexico legislators have submitted an amendment to allow absentee voting, now restricted by a 1911 statute to servicemen.

A proposal to permit lotteries, raffles and gift enterprises for business promotions also will be on the 1968 ballot in Nebraska. The Michigan Legislature is considering a measure to eliminate the constitutional ban on lotteries.

Amendments pertaining to streamlining local government will be on the ballot next year in Iowa and Nevada.

Louisiana, the state with the longest—236,000 words—and most frequently amended—460 times—constitution, will have three minor amendments on the ballot in the Feb. 6 election.

work the federal government right out of its job," said Philip C. Gross of Big Stone Gap, Va.

Gross is a planner for Lenowisco, an organization which is trying, with the help of a $35,700 government grant, to develop a self-sustaining economy in the three counties and one city it represents.

Gross said in an interview that some poverty programs have made some progress, but he still is critical of a work relief project known locally as the "Happy Pappy" program.

In this program, unemployed fathers are paid up to $250 a month for such work as patching roads and cutting brush from creek banks.

"In the transition from the welfare program to a permanent job—this is where we come in. A private enterprise economy can do it, but we still have to beat the 'Happy Pappy' program."

Much of Appalachia's hard-core poverty is centered in the western tip of Virginia, where Big Stone Gap is located, and in southwestern West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and eastern Tennessee.

But even in these areas, some towns and some new industries are flourishing.

Greenville, Tenn., is one example.

With extensive local effort and an injection of nearly $2 million in federal grants and loans, Greenville has doubled its population in the past 20 years, to 14,000 residents, and has become the home of more than 50 large and small industrial and commercial enterprises. Included are furniture, electronics and chemical factories.

Troop 177 Nixes Longhair Scout

ENTERPRISE, Calif. (AP) — A boy with long hair can't be a Boy Scout in Troop 177.

"Ours is a short-haired group," contends William Adams, a member of the troop committee which has refused the application by a long-haired boy.

With Uncle Sam

Private Groups Get In Anti-Poverty Act

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Private organizations are using Uncle Sam's dollars to launch anti-poverty programs in Appalachia—in competition with federal efforts.

The government would like nothing better than seeing an economic upsurge stimulate a region where officials say 5.18 million people—one of every three residents—still live in poverty despite long-time concentration and heavy government outlays.

So far Appalachia's mountains and valleys have proved virtually impervious to every sort of anti-poverty attack.

"We're trying to get the private sector to mount some competitive programs," says Samuel C. Sharp, director of the Center for Economic Opportunity at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. "We think the government could use a little competition."

Sharp's center has a $385,000 Office of Economic Opportunity grant. Other groups in Appalachia also have received grants to chart ways to put the government's war on poverty out of business.

It's all perfectly legal. In fact, these competitive programs have the blessing of Congress.

From the university campus just inside the 373-county area of 12 states designated as the Appalachia region, Sharp's center is encouraging businessmen to develop their own programs to aid Appalachia's poor.

The former clergyman, 45, cites as an example a garage owner who trained several unemployed men as mechanics—without government financing.

Sharp is enlisting Jaycees—members of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce—youth business and professional men, in setting up similar human development programs. The project is dubbed Operation Alternative, to be operated on the local level by Jaycee chapters.

In other areas of Appalachia, economic planning is advanced as the key to solving the area's problems.

"Building a strong local economy is the answer—and this will
