Voters Elect Nelson, Hicks; Support Bentsen

Treasurer's Race Goes To Runoff

Deaf Smith County voters turned out in small numbers Saturday to replace Justice of the Peace Bill Rowland with Glenn Nelson and send Wanda Newman and Vesta Mae Nunley into a runoff election to decide the county treasurer's race.

Voters in four of the 11 precincts also balloted for county commissioner and gave incumbent Donald Hicks a slight 119-102 margin, and reelection, over challenger James Bulard.

The county's voters gave Jack Hazelwood a substantial lead, with Max Sherman next in the four-man Democratic fight for state senator, and Walter Knapp and Mrs. Nancy Moyer trailing far behind.

Lloyd Bentsen won by a 3-2 margin in the county (1394-904) over present U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, and with 10 per cent of the statewide vote in Bentsen led by a commanding 20,000 votes.

Only 35 votes were cast in the Republican primary in Deaf Smith County, where the U. S. Senate and governor races were the only ones up for contest. George Bush picked up only a 19-16 edge over Dr. Robert Morris but Paul Eggers ran away with the balloting for governor.

Rowland, who was named last September as Justice of the Peace on the death of Ernest Wade, outpolled Nelson in only two of the 11 precincts — and that by a total of only three votes.

Rowland called Nelson and congratulated him on his victory.

"I told him we both discovered we had a lot of friends," Nelson said. "That's the only bad thing about this; somebody had to lose."

The final vote was Nelson 1382 Rowland 916. Nelson pulled in margins of more than 100 votes in the big No. 1 and 5 precincts and by 30 votes in No. 11.

All 11 precincts were in and complete before 9 p. m., two hours after the polls closed.

The county treasurer's race was the most closely contested, with all three candidates running neck and neck in early returns before the margin widened as the final votes came in.

After the first four precincts reported, the vote was Mrs. Newman 343, Mrs. Nunley 300 and Nell Williams 297. The final tabulation showed Mrs. Nunley with 804, Mrs. Newman only four votes back with 800 and Mrs. Williams with 693.

County Also Hikes Pay For Deputies

By CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

Travis McPherson, 28, is the new sheriff of Deaf Smith County.

The County Commissioners Court elevated him to the job Friday from his old post as a deputy on the staff of former Sheriff Ed Roberson, who resigned Monday.

The county Democratic committee, meeting with the commissioners, voted to put McPherson's name on their ticket for the November general election, which assures that McPherson will serve all of the 2 years 8 months remaining on Roberson's term.

The county Republican committee agreed with the selection.

"It fulfills a dream. I could never be happy doing anything else," McPherson said. "I want to be sheriff for many years. I want to do the best job I can for the county and I intend to do that."

McPherson, who became a butcher after graduating 11 years ago from Texico, N. M. High School but always had his eye on becoming a law officer someday, was one of three that the commissioners and Democratic committee discussed before making the choice. He is considered especially proficient in the field of narcotics investigation.

The two groups met with McPherson, chief deputy Kirvin Roper and former sheriff Lowell Sharp Thursday night concerning their feeling toward the job, and then met in private again Friday morning before inviting in newsmen to announce McPherson had been tabbed.

Sharp had said he would take the job if the salary were raised to $12,000. Under the present census, Deaf Smith County has fewer than 20,000 residents and cannot pay that much to the sheriff.

"We've had a lot of real fine recommendations on Mr. Roper, and we don't mean for this to be critical of him in any way," County Commissioner Bruce Coleman said. "But we had to make a choice."

Roberson, in his resignation statement, asked the commissioners to consider raising the deputies' salaries — especially since they are not subject to a 40-hour week. The grand jury session last week also recommended a look at the salary situation.

In response, the commissioners approved a ceiling of $600 per month for personnel in the sheriff's department, although they told McPherson they felt new personnel should be given a lower salary and rewarded with more money as they proved themselves.

The old wage scale provided $551 for the chief deputy and $514 for other deputies.

McPherson will draw the same $703-a-month that Roberson drew, although the provision of a car and other benefits makes the salary higher actually.

"I appreciate it," McPherson said, when he learned of the increase for department personnel. "I think that's about what they draw in Potter and Randall counties."

"I think we've been making a mistake all along," Commissioner Earl Holt said. "These fellows are subject to call 24 hours a day, where all the other county employees work 40 hours a week."

The commissioners gave Roberson two months' pay (including vacation) because of the short notice under which he is leaving.

McPherson drew apparent support from all facets of the community. In his five years as a deputy, he became known as an officer who got along with almost everyone.

He is married and has two children, Debbie, 9, and Kevin, 6.

"When I was in high school I learned butchering, working at a Piggly Wiggly store, and I enjoyed it," McPherson said. "It was a good job, but I always wanted to get in law enforcement. I fat, breathe and live law enforcement."

His grandfather was sheriff at Birmingham, Ala., for about 15 years.

"I heard a lot about law enforcement from him, and it's just one of those things, I guess. I was just born with it."

From Texico, he worked in Farwell and then Littlefield as a butcher before coming to Hereford (about six years ago).

He was also a butcher in Hereford, at Sunset Food Center, and in his spare time worked on as many law enforcement correspondence courses as he could.

Then one day, about a year after he moved to Hereford, he heard that Deaf Smith County Sheriff Lowell Sharp needed a dispatcher.

"I came to Lowell and told him how bad I wanted to be in law enforcement," McPherson recalled Friday. "He said 'I believe you got it and can do it.' I remember him saying 'he thought I had what it took.'"

The correspondence courses McPherson had been taking, plus his enthusiasm, helped Sharp make up his mind to hire him, despite his lack of experience.

"I had applied at several other places but they wouldn't hire me, because I didn't have any experience. That's what prompted me to take all the correspondence courses. I could," McPherson said.

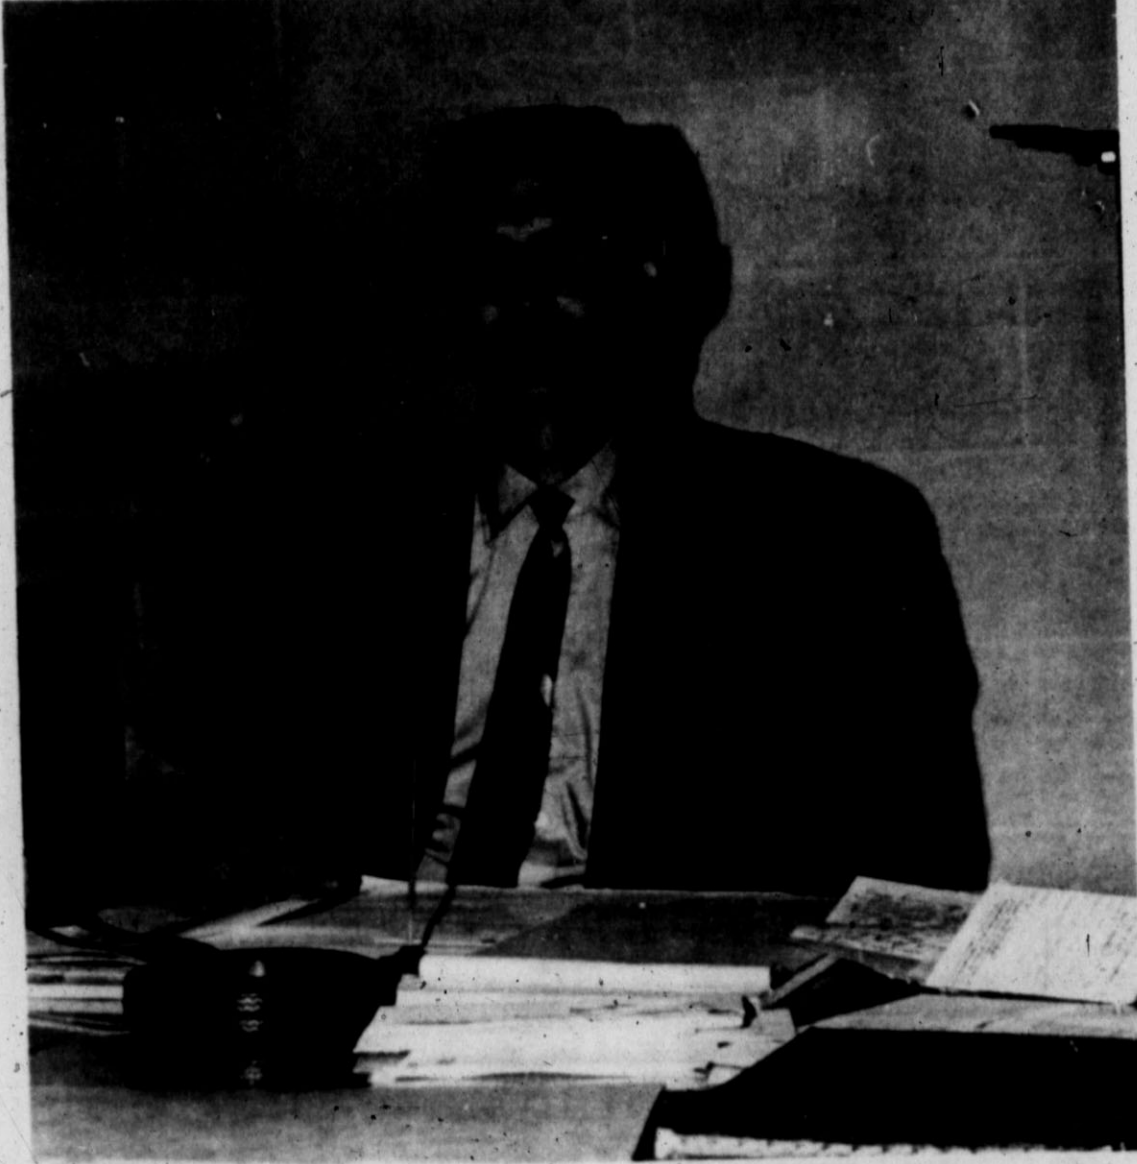

"He was on the graveyard shift in the sheriff's department and then working as a butcher during the day," Sharp said of McPherson. "He was real enthusiastic then and I don't think he's ever stopped to look around since." After a few months, McPherson quit the meat market and put all of his time into the sheriff's department.

Every time any type of law enforcement school has come up since he went to work, McPherson has attended.

He has worked much of his time in narcotics.

"Captain Owsley of the police department and I have worked close on that," he said. "He plans to work hand in hand with the police department."

"I am very close to the police chief, and I think that is the only way we can do good law enforcement — to cooperate with each other, Don Brush and I are very good friends."

Juvenile Court Is Pursued

In accordance with the grand jury's recommendation, the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court is beginning to look into the best way to establish a juvenile board in Hereford.

The general feeling is that the grand jury is pushing for a juvenile board and juvenile officer because of disagreement about the stern discipline practiced by County Judge Hank Williams, but the commissioners say this not a factor at all with them.

"I think the way the judge handles the kids is exactly what's needed, as far as it goes," Hicks said. "But it doesn't go far enough. We need someone who can visit the boys in their homes, get to know them and watch their progress."

Hicks said he feels that if a juvenile board is established, that a strong disciplinary approach such as that practiced by Williams should be one of the things to look for in a juvenile officer. The other three commissioners agreed.

"The way it is now," Holt said, "the judge gets the information on the boy, brings him to court, judges him and then follows up on him after that. I don't think that's in keeping with our Democratic process, for him to do all four, and besides, it spreads him too thin. I would think he would be glad for us to take some of this burden off him."

A juvenile board would act in an advisory capacity, with two representatives from the city, two from the county and two from the school, if set up along the guidelines thrown up by the grand jury as a possibility.

The county judge still would decide on punishment of juveniles, even with a juvenile officer, the commissioners pointed out. But it would be the juvenile officer who counseled with the youths from start to finish.

A letter from the grand jury to the commissioners calling for Williams' resignation was made public Tuesday. The recommendations regarding the juvenile court came in a second letter, dated the same day, which used the contents of the first letter as a start.

After saying it felt "no smooth relationship between the county judge and other elected officers of Deaf Smith County can be had" as long as Williams is judge, the letter continued:

"We recommend that the Commissioner's Court take the necessary steps to create a juvenile board and employ a juvenile officer. Information as to the procedure for the setting up See JUVENILE, Page 2

MEXICANS ARE TOLD

If Hospital Complaints True, Improvements Will Be Made

Mexican-Americans were told Friday night that apparent wrongs had been committed against them concerning admission and treatment in Deaf Smith County Hospital in some instances, and attempts would be made to see that the situations do not again occur.

Dr. Hugh McCrary, a member of a panel who were called on to answer questions on a wide-ranging field of questions, was stunned by a report an expectant mother called a doctor Thursday night and was refused because she had not paid medical bills totaling $100.

"This is a wrong situation. I don't know any more about it, but if this is going on, it is wrong. I don't know if there is a misunderstanding; I don't know any of the particulars, but if this did happen, it should come out," McCrary told the 425 persons at a forum sponsored by Church Women United.

There are only four obstetricians, including him, McCrary said, and each of the four must deliver the baby for one of his patients whenever the time comes, regardless of the ability of the person to pay.

A few minutes earlier, concerning a complaint that Mexican-Americans had been unable to communicate with hospital personnel about admission and other matters because of a language barrier, Ed Linc, president of the Hospital Board, said the hospital appeared at fault.

"This is a very good and very important question. If we're not doing a very good job in this area, then we'll do better in the future," Linc said, indicating an effort will be made to have bilingual personnel on hands at all times.

"I will suggest that if a patient feels he is not being understood that he not be timid to say so. Let us know if you just don't understand. We pledge to do better, that everyone has available a way to be understood."

About 300 Mexican-Americans were in the crowd.

Rev. Jacinto Alderete, director of the Wesley Community Center in Amarillo, served as moderator. He served as interpreter, informing the Spanish-speaking persons of the answers given by panelists.

The panel included county commissioner Bruce Coleman; city manager Dudley Bayne; Supt. Roy Hartman; Asst. Supt. Bob Holman; school business manager Tom Harkey; Police Chief Don Brush; and school nurse Jo Solomon, in addition to Linc and McCrary.

Regarding other points brought out in the forum, which was described by CWU president Mary Jane Pitman as a meeting "to start dissolving the differences between us":

—Unpaved streets in Hereford may be paved if all homestead owners on the block agree to pay an assessment of approximately $5.50 per front foot. Persons on the block who rent, they would be assessed automatically.

—All blocks with buildings on 75 per cent of capacity will be provided with street lights. Lights are put on all intersections in Hereford.

—Anyone with complaints of treatment by Hereford police should inform the police chief, who will investigate the complaint promptly.

—The commissioners court bars Mexican-Americans from using the Bull Barn for dances on Sunday not because of discrimination but because of a policy not to allow dances on Sunday in county facilities, Coleman said. Bayne added that a city ordinance forbids the use of a public facilities for a dance on Sunday.

—A deposit is requested of everyone who enters the hospital, if they do not have medical insurance, but no one is turned away, regardless. They are urged to make a financial arrangement when they leave, but even if they don't they are not prohibited from leaving.

—All persons are considered the same in hiring for the county, regardless of race, but the number of Mexican-Americans on the county payroll is not larger because they often do not have the job qualifications.

—The curricula for the Hereford schools has been designed specifically with the Mexican-American in mind. Some classes, particularly in science, are designed so persons who cannot speak English well can still learn rapidly.

Committee Studies Storm Readiness

The recent tornadoes which struck several area towns have raised many questions about Hereford's readiness for such storms that might occur here.

In discussing these questions, members of the civil emergency planning committee agreed the first moves will include contacting public fallout shelters and studying the possibility of increasing Hereford's warning methods.

Committee director, W. T. Thompson, and deputy civil defense director, Tom Harkey, were designated to contact owners and managers of Hereford's public fallout shelters, to determine the availability of these facilities at the occurrence of storms.

These buildings were declared public shelters in case of nuclear attack: county courthouse, Witherspoon law office building, Deaf Smith County Hospital, Hereford High School, Stanton Junior High, Central School, Conkright and Educational Buildings of the First Baptist Church, U. S. Post Office, Southwestern Public Service Co., Fullwood building, Hereford Country Club, Jim Hill Hotel, La Plata Junior High School, and Charles Bell Insurance Agency.

City Manager Dudley Bayne will check into an increase of local warning facilities, since there are only two storm signals in Hereford — at City Hall and near Grand Street and Ave. I. Residents in the Northwest section of the city would have difficulty hearing these sirens with surrounding noises.

The committee called education of the citizens of Hereford about safety at home one of its most important duties. Under most storm circumstances, families would be safe enough in their homes, rather than risk getting into the path of the storm while traveling to a shelter.

Other members present at the noon meeting Friday at K-Bob's restaurant were Sgt. Bill Wells, Department of Public Safety; Bill Carathere, radio officer, Radio Amateur (RACES); M. C. Knox, Pioneer Natural Gas Co.; Wayne Mayfield, County Defense Board; Dudley Bayne, City of Hereford; Dr. Gerald Payne, medical officer of civil defense; Don French, Southwestern Public Service Co.; and Jim Tucker, radio station, KPAN.

Byron Fullerton, the Republican opponent for the lieutenant governor's job now held by Ben Barnes, will be in Hereford Wednesday.

He will be at the Civic Center at 4:30 p. m. for a reception, where he will make a short talk to those who attend. He probably will visit several downtown businesses during his approximate two-hour stay here.

Fullerton, 47, has a B. S. degree from the University of Texas, a M. S. degree from Colorado, and a law degree from Texas.

Fullerton has listed these issues as the ones he feels are the most important in his battle to unseat Barnes — leadership, taxes, crime, campus disorders, pollution and welfare.

Grand Jury Reaffirms Its Alarm On Crime

The Deaf Smith County Grand Jury has reaffirmed its original report on organized crime in the county. It said in a statement Thursday that despite publicity doubting the severity of the situation, "we do not wish to retract one word."

The grand jury foreman, Lloyd Sharp, gave the statement before the Kiwanis Club Thursday, and it later was circulated to news media both in Hereford and Amarillo.

"These findings resulted after we talked to several individuals, law enforcement officers of the county and city, and county officials including the sheriff and county judge," Sharp said.

"Narcotics, gambling, organized crime, law enforcement and discord among county officials was mentioned in our release. As a result of this report, much speculation has been made by various news media and by individuals who were not on the grand jury that statement is within reason."

He said anyone who feels there is no drug problem in Hereford "has been sitting in a position of total darkness" and said the grand jury itself has been unable to present facts to counteract "the exaggerated or greatly minimized statements" because it is sworn to secrecy.

The report also criticized a report of the Amarillo Daily News that pictured Hereford residents as being afraid because of the reports of increasing organized crime.

Sharp called the story "ridiculously untrue."

The juvenile board that will be a necessity as a result of the creation of the juvenile officer may be made up of equal representatives from each of the above-mentioned agencies. "The employment of a juvenile officer would relieve the County Judge of the duties of acting as unofficial juvenile probation officer."

The letter also contained three other recommendations, not previously made public: —that the commissioners request the county judge to follow state law concerning the filing of appropriate petitions and orders as set out in the Delinquent Child Act and order no child detained in jail without entering appropriate documents of record.

—that the commissioners look at the salaries of the county attorney, the sheriff, sheriff's deputies and the county judge, to see if the pay is in keeping with the amount of work performed and the actual time spent."

—that provisions be made to send deputies to training school on narcotics and all other phases of law enforcement connected to the sheriff's office.

The grand jury ended its 400-word letter to the commissioners by emphasizing that "at no time was there any discussion of misappropriation of county funds in this session. This

On the other hand, Mrs. Nunley had a 32-vote margin over the nearest opponent in Precinct 3, 19-vote lead in No. 8, 4-vote lead in No. 9, 4-vote lead in No. 10 and 26-vote lead in No. 11.

Cigarette Use Lower In County

What changes, if any, have residents of Deaf Smith County made in their smoking habits in the last few years? Have they cut down on cigarettes? Are they smoking more or less than people in other parts of the country?

The indications are, according to nationwide statistics, that the battle against cigarette smoking, despite opposition, is finally achieving results.

In the local area, it appears, a sizeable number of people have given up smoking entirely. Others have been trying, with varying success, to cut down. In Deaf Smith County, on the basis of the statewide figures, an estimated 2,170,000 packs of cigarettes were consumed in the past year.

In terms of the local population over age 18, this amounted to 178 packs per person. It was a lower rate than the national, which averaged 207 packs for those over 18. In the Deaf Smith County Hospital saved its patients approximately $185,000 last year over what they would have paid to other area hospitals, a recent report indicates. The $185,000 savings was based on 369 of 2,239 non-Medicare cases and the total 478 Medicare cases handled by the hospital last year. Figures were available on only 369 of the non-Medicare cases used in the report, but the hospital has only one price for every patient and the average would apply to all the patients, officials said.

COLLEGE STATION — Spring has hit produce counters with strawberries from Louisiana, Mexico and California, excellent quality oranges and grapefruit, cantaloupes, bananas, avocados and pears.

While the local hospital was saving the patients money compared to area hospitals, they were above the statewide average in most categories for non-Medicare patients. Deaf Smith County Hospitals charged $888, 75 less than the state average for the same number of patients, but for Medicare patients charged $6,561.15 more than the state average total for the same number of cases.

The local hospital lost $14, 222.75 last year through bad accounts, depreciation and other causes. Under Blue Cross comparison, Deaf Smith County Hospital charged its non-Medicare patients an average of $193.34 per case. This figure was down considerably compared to the area average of $268.10 and the state average of $227.67.

For the Medicare patients, under the same program, the local cost was $412.84 per case which was about $55 less than the other hospitals in the area. The state average was below both the local and area averages with cost per case at $333.19. This averaged out to $34.76 per day on the local level, $41.70 per day on the area level and $32.04 on the state level.

The speedometer distance from the 16 to the nine-mile sign is about 13 miles, or nearly twice the distance indicated.

Non-Medicare patients saved an average of $72.02 per case in comparison to area hospitals and thus the 2,239 total cases saved a total of $161,252.78 on the area average. The Medicare cases saved an average of $51 compared to other area hospitals for a total of $24,378. The total on both the savings for non-Medicare and Medicare patients brought about the $185, 630, 78 savings during the year.

"We have also paid our own way, maintained one of the six accredited hospitals in the area and are one of the few county hospitals receiving no tax subsidy for charity patients," hospital administrator T. E. Sieglers said.

"We feel," he added, "that we are of benefit to our community not only from a health standpoint but from a chamber of commerce angle."

Hereford Joins Other Cities In Billboard Promotion

Hereford and 13 other Panhandle cities will participate in the third year of the "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion, Lynton Allred, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced.

The "Land of Coronado" program is a joint venture in which area communities join together to highlight area tourist attractions through installation of highway advertising signs on major travel arteries in the region. This effort is supplemented with informational materials available at tourists accommodations, restaurants and service stations throughout the region.

There are 30 highway advertising boards in this year's program, located on U. S. Highways 54, 60, 87, 287 and Interstate 40. The boards welcome tourists to the "Land of Coronado," suggest stops at participating communities for information, highlight area scenic attractions and point out things to see and do in participating communities.

The posters will have a stylized highway map of the region and give information on the communities and their attractions. There is additional details on these facts and features in the tent card which will be placed in guest rooms in tourist accommodations.

"There are around 4,000,000 tourist cars a year going through this area, with nearly 50 percent of them coming through during the months of our "Land of Coronado" promotion, May to September. "It's just like adding an industry to our local economy if we can develop our share of these new tourist dollars and we have the prospects for it," Allred said.

Allred pointed out that the efforts and effects of the "Land of Coronado" promotion could be complemented by newspaper and radio advertising by those businesses most directly aided by tourist stays. "If we could develop a special section on tourist attractions for the paper and have the advertisers use radio to attract overnight visitors, we would have a well rounded program going," Allred added.

"Travellers tell their friends where they enjoyed going. Our natural inclination for friendly approaches to people and several unusual attractions make repeat tourist business a real possibility for us. We can't tell the story of our town and its attractions," Allred concluded.

Head football coach Larry Wartes and staff will begin rebuilding their 1970 grid team tomorrow as Hereford begins its first class AAAA spring training drills.

Among the prospects, Wartes will search for another defensive squad to replace his 1969 senior crew that topped almost all defensive statistics in Hereford's history.

He also needs to find another offensive line, some quarterbacks, and according to him, "some possibilities for every position."

The junior high and B team coaches will get a close look at next year's sophomores to fill their needed slots.

"This will be a teaching type thing," Wartes said. "We're not going to work them like we would for a game but more with fundamentals. We're going to go pretty swift but not too long at time," he added.

"As far as our junior high boys, we'll need to fit them into positions we think they will continue to do best in. This is going to help a great deal because we can look to the future a little better," he said.

Wartes estimates he will have about 120 boys to work with — 60 freshmen from junior high and 60 sophomores and juniors.

"We will work our freshmen separately," he said, "for about an hour and a half after school. After they get finished, then we will work with the older boys."

Though Wartes obviously can't tell who will be in what position next fall, he feels his backs are the most stable.

The Whitefaces will have four backs returning this year who saw a lot of action, last season. One is Jeff Loerwald at wingback. Others are Ricki Ward at fullback, Mike Wartes at quarterback, and Alan Wagner, who was injured last year, at tailback.

"We feel we've got pretty good speed in our linemen," Wartes said. "Like Pat Betzen and Charles Black who both run good. Betzen has run a 4.8 in the 40 and then there is Dan Gorman who can run good when he gets healthy."

Wartes said the team will probably hold a scrimmage session Saturday. At the end of spring training they possibly will have an intersquad game. "We don't know if it'll be at night or when," he said.

More All-Americans Sign For June 27 Grid Classic

LUBBOCK—Cliff Powell, punishing linebacker from the University of Arkansas, and Ohio State's high-scoring fullback Jim Otis, head a list of six footballers signing to play in the Coaches All-America game set for June 27 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Signing with Powell and Otis were Bob Parker, a 6-3, 236-pound defensive end from Memphis State; Bruce Taylor, a 5-11, 190-pound defensive back, Boston University; Dennis Leuthauser, a 5-10, 195-pound kicking specialist from the Air Force Academy; and Billy Parks, a 6-1, 185-pound split end from California State at Long Beach.

Powell, Parks and Leuthauser will play for Coach Dan Devine's West team; and Otis, Taylor and Parker will join Coach Charley McClendon's East squad.

"Fourteen players have now accepted offers to play for the East squad and 15 for the West."

Powell, one of the finest defensive players in the Southwest Conference, led the Razorbacks in tackles in 1969 with 75. A native of Eudora, Ark., Powell is exceptionally strong, quick and mobile and has sound defensive judgment. Majoring in agricultural engineering, he is president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Arkansas. Otis, who led the Buckeyes to an 8-1 record and the Big-ten championship, scored 16 touchdowns and rushed for 1,027 yards on 225 carries. He also caught five passes for 37 yards. Described as extremely durable and strong physically, Otis is a pre-dental major.

A two-year starter at Memphis State, Parker was the fifth-round draft choice of the Detroit Lions. An All-Missouri Valley Conference offensive guard in 1968, he played at defensive end last season. Blessed with quickness and speed, Parker made the position switch with ease. Majoring in physical education, he is a native of Taylorville, Ill.

Taylor established an impressive record during the 1969 season for the Terriers including a run of 104 yards against Massachusetts on a field goal attempt. He scored touchdowns on punt returns of 82, 65 and 56 yards; and the only time he handled the ball on offense, he went 49 yards for a touchdown on an end-around play. Taylor was the first-round draft choice of the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Leuthauser's foot has meant a lot to the Falcons during the last three years. His career totals include 67 of 72 extra-point kicks and 27 of 50 field goals attempts for 142 points. He also played linebacker on defense and garnered 125 tackles during his career. One of his field goals was a 57-yarder against Wyoming in 1968. An engineering major, Leuthauser is from Des Moines, Iowa.

A gifted athlete, Parks caught 22 passes for 421 yards in 1969. During his career at Cal State, he made 169 catches for 2,919 yards and 22 touchdowns. Jack Curtice, former UC Santa Barbara and Stanford coach said of Parks, "He's one of the best I've seen in all my years of coaching. He has the ability to get open and the hands to catch the football." Parks is a sociology major.

Already announced are Jim Reilly, Notre Dame; Buddy Mc-

Clinton, Auburn; Jim McFarlan, Nebraska; Terry McMillan, Missouri; Ken Geddes, Nebraska; Mel Easley, Oregon State; Billy Bridges, Houston; John Ward, Oklahoma State; Butch Davis, Missouri; John Small, The Citadel; Ron Gardin, University of Arizona; Godfrey Zaunbrecher, Eddie Ray, and

George Bevan, all of LSU; Warren Muir, University of South Carolina; Robert Asher, Vanderbilt; Bob Reinhard, Stanford; Ron McBride, Missouri; Rodney Brand, Arkansas; and Bill Pierson, San Diego State.

Tickets for All-Star contest are on sale at the Texas Tech Ticket Office.

SEED X CITERS

OF TEXAS

ENERGIZED SEEDS...

Another step forward in Agricultural development... from earlier emergence to bountiful harvest, energized Seeds make a difference!

Results from over 100 on-farm plantings of energized seed have amazed most farmers who have tried SeedX-citer. Earlier emergence, faster growth, healthier-looking crops, increased yields are factors which appear in enthusiastic reports of growers who have planted energized seeds.

More vigorous roots... larger ears

Differences are very pronounced in this comparison. Energized plants show much more vigorous growth and better root structure. Stalks are heavier. Ears are larger.

To date, all seeds have responded favorably to SeedX-citer's energizing treatment. Benefits have been reported from treated seeds of major farm crops including corn, wheat, oats, sorghum and soybeans. Positive results have been obtained when planting is done within 14 days of processing.

Healthier roots, sturdier stalks

The heavier root structure and larger plants on the left were from energized seed, and show more branches and more pods than the control plants on the right.

Better standing crop... yield improved over 15%

Again, the more vigorous root structure is clearly apparent. Stooling is heavier. During growing season, energized plants withstood high winds much better.

La Plata Wraps Up Season's Final Track Meet

La Plata Junior High's track team, after consistently winning two grade divisions per meet this season, dominated all three places in its final track meets a week ago.

Last Saturday, the La Plata freshmen scored 97½ points in winning the Amarillo Ninth Grade Invitational Track and Field Meet at Dick Bivens Stadium. The same day the La Plata seventh and eighth grade teams scored 118 and 121 points respectively in their victory at the Dumas Junior High track meet.

The Stanton squads, participating in the same meets, finished with the ninth grade in sixth place with 36 points, the eighth grade fifth with 50 points, and the seventh grade third with 88 points.

Competing against Stanton and La Plata's ninth grade were teams such as Houston, Crockett, Caprock, and Pampa Lee. In the Dumas meet were Perryton, North Berger, South Berger, and Dumas.

The Mavericks' big freshman at Amarillo proved to be Danny Harris, who won the long jump at 20 feet 7½ inches and the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.5 seconds.

Joe Coleman took first place in the high jump with a distance of 5 feet 8 inches.

Emilio Cantu pole vaulted 10 feet 3 inches to tie for fourth place while Larry McNutt was sixth in the shot put event with a distance of 48 feet.

McNutt also came in fifth in the discus sat 136 feet 9 inches and fourth in the 100 yard dash timing a 10.55.

Terry Champ was second in the 440 yard dash with a time of 53.9. Ricky Locke was sixth timing a 35.8.

The La Plata 440 yard relay team clocked a 46.2 for second place while the 1320 yard relay squad took first with a time of 2:38.4.

Stanton's 440 relay missed La Plata taking third spot with a time of 46.4, while the 1320 yard relay was fifth with a time of 2:39.0.

Wesley High polevaulted 11 feet for second place for Stanton. Luther Mays was fourth in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:10.3. Sammy Rameriz was second in the 180 yard low hurdles with a time of 22.15.

La Plata's eighth grade 440 yard relay team set a new Dumas meet record with a time of 47.7. Members of the team are Rosendo Condarco, Jim Marsh, James Newton, and James Waits.

The Maverick 880 relay team also nabbed first place with a time of 1:39.2.

La Plata's other first placements were taken by remarkable James Harris, who, in the 120 yard hurdles, timed a 15.8, high jumped 5 feet 6 inches, and long jumped 18 feet 9 inches.

Taking second places were Paul Rudd with a 56.7-time in the 440 yard dash, Jim Marsh with a discus throw of 127 feet 4 inches, and Steve Sandlin who polevaulted 10 feet 3 inches.

Nabbing third spots were Danny Coskrum with a 2:16.5 time in the 880 yard run, and James Waits in the 220 yard dash.

For Stanton the 880 yard relay team took second with a time of 1:43.5. Armondo Gonzales was also second in the 880 run with a clocking of 2:17.2.

Charles High tied for second in the high jump clearing 5 feet 4 inches. He nabbed third in the 120 yard low hurdles with a time of 16.6.

James Higgins likewise took a third in the 660 yard dash.

The youngest Harris lad of La Plata, Marvin, was first in three events at Dumas in the seventh grade action.

His first placements were a 111 feet 2 inch discus throw, 39-6 shot put heave, and a 9.3 time in the 70 yard hurdles.

Danny Wartenberg, with a 142.3 time in the 660, also took first.

La Plata's 440 and 880 yard relay teams placed second. Also in second was Terry Yerby with a time of 58.6 in the 440 yard dash.

Taking third spots were Daryle Williams in the 220 and Yerby in the shot put.

Stanton's 440 and 880 yard relay teams, both consisting of Sammy Rodriguez, Bobby Castillo, Paul Perez, and Daryle Williams, edged La Plata in the events for two first places. The 440 team timed a 50.6 and the 880 a 1:45.2.

Williams tied down two more firsts for Stanton, one in the 100 yard dash with a clocking of 11.3 and the other in the broad jump with a distance of 17 feet 3½ inches.

Perez was second in the 70 yard dash timing a 9.1 to round out Stanton's top placement.

Colt League Slates Tryouts This Week

Tryouts for this year's Tri-City Colt League are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the high school baseball park.

Colt League officials in Hereford have encouraged all interested boys, ages 15 and 16, to participate in tryouts to fill the 45 places available on the three local teams.

Eligible boys that played last year will be on the same team. In selecting players, the team with the least number of players will choose first. When that team has an even number as the next team, then the two squads will alternate in choosing till they are even with the third team.

Then the three teams will alternate till they fill their rosters.

Dimmitt will field a team again this year and possibly Friona. If Friona decides not to, then primarily the same schedule as last year will be followed with the initial action set for June 1.

An organizational meeting of the league was held Friday night at the Community Center.

Selected officers of the year were Dale Scott president, L. B. Worthan vice president, John Pindexter secretary-treasurer, and Don McNeese player agent.

Reese Dawson has accepted the coaching position for the Braves this year and W. C. Beene for the Sonics. A coach has not yet been determined for the Astros.

Livestock Production Series To Appear In Dairy Journal

Dr. Coleman A. O'Brien, associate professor of Animal Science at Texas Tech University, is having a series of articles entitled "Nutritional — Reproductive Interactions in Livestock Production" published in editions of the Western Dairy Journal and the Western Livestock Journal.

The first paper of the series appeared in the March 1970 Western Dairy Journal and will appear in the April issue of the Western Livestock Journal.

In this first article, Dr. O'Brien discussed "rearing intensity." "In this review," he said, "data from a broad spectrum of research information was utilized in preparing a survey of rearing intensity."

"The mode of feeding young livestock from birth to early maturity profoundly affects the onset of puberty, the duration of productive life, the level of fertility and, of special interest to the animal breeder, the economics of production."

"I chose these two publications," he said, "because I feel they were the means whereby I could reach the down-to-earth livestock breeder. That is the specific audience I am writing for."

I hope to help them produce more fertile and productive animals."

Edition titles in the magazine series include: Rearing Intensity, Energy Feed in Reproduction, The Role of Protein in Fertility and Reproductions.

Functions of the Essential Major Minerals in Reproduction, Functions of the Trace Minerals in Reproduction and Functions of the Fat-Soluble Vitamins in Reproduction.

Water Association Discusses Future Supply Of Area

Future water supply in the local area was discussed at the current year organizational meeting of the Board of Directors of Deaf/Smith County Water Association Thursday.

Board members agreed that nearly everyone in the county is gravely concerned about continued depletion of underground water supplies.

"Talking about the water problem is all right," stated Denzil Pulliam, the re-elected President of the water group, "but ...talking is to no avail unless we do something to solve the problem. We must act now to prevent a drastic water shortage in the future," he continued.

Officers elected for the current year besides Pulliam as President are John McNay, Vice-President, Jay Boston, Area Director, and James Hull, Secretary-Treasurer. Elected to the Executive Committee were the officers and Virgil Marsh, who was chosen Chairman of the Membership Committee.

The 21 Board members are Wilburn Axe, Dudley Bayne, Jay Boston, Bruce Brown, Bruce Burney, Homer Garrison, Bob Ginn, Dick Godwin, Charles Hoover, James Hull, Andrew Kershen, John McNay, Virgil Marsh, Palmer Norton, John D. Pitman, Denzil Pulliam, Austin Rose, Jr., Jim Sears, Billy Wayne Sisson, Harlan Vanderzee, and Jim Witherpoon.

Pitman is also a director of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, and Boston and Godwin are directors of Water, Inc.

The importance of getting the most out of water which presently is available was stressed by Godwin, who expressed his opinion that imported water may not be available for use in time to save the area economy.

"If we can utilize our underground water more efficiently, and especially if we could capture and use run-off water from rainfall, we probably could keep agriculture going until we get some sort of relief in the form of imported water," Godwin said.

The "Multiple-Purpose Watershed Projects" of the Federal government was explained by Godwin, pointing out that the government would pay up to half the cost and finance the other half of a program of constructing dams, canals, pumping units, and distribution systems.

"If we all work together in promoting a watershed project for this county, or for several counties together," Godwin concluded, "we might obtain a new source of water for agriculture at an early date, not to mention benefits to be achieved from water recreation and showing Congress that we are concerned enough about our water problem at least to do something about the water we have as well as try to get water from the Mississippi River."

Blind's Center At TT Holds Opening

The Blind Students Service Center at Texas Tech University, Lubbock will be open to the public to witness its operation in an Open House from 2:30 to 4 p. m., today.

"At last we have a home to call our own where we can study on campus," said Bob Wiley, a senior majoring in psychology.

Wiley is one of 34 totally blind and partially sighted students at Tech. The "home" he is referring to is the new Blind Student Service Center situated in Building X-81-A.

"Before this center was established," said Wiley, "blind and partially seeing students had to grab the nearest empty room they could find for a place to study; now the students have a home."

The new center is equipped with four reading and listening rooms, talking book machines, tape recorders, cassette recorders, a braille typewriter and cabinet space for storing materials for safekeeping.

"In addition," said Jim Phillips of Alpha Phi Omega, "our fraternity is currently recruiting readers for the blind and partially seeing students."

Dean of Students Lewis Jones is a faculty sponsor of Alpha Phi Omega. "Now that we have the center," he said, "we are in dire need of blank tapes and other education aids adaptable to use for students handicapped by lack of good sight."

"We have been working on the establishment of the center on and off for five or six years," he said. "It was through the efforts of Dr. Grover E. Murray, president of Tech, and Dr. Sabe M. Kennedy, vice president for Academic Affairs that this center was made possible."

According to Dean Jones, "all help is appreciated. Besides the need of supplies, the blind student on the Tech campus needs the help of his classmates to aid him in the reading of his class materials. Anyone wishing to help may call James Phillips at 742-8713."

"When Dean Jones says the students need help in the way of readers he means it. Just imagine trying to pass a class at Tech without taking a single note or not being able to read the text," he said.

1970 Ditty Bags Project Active

The Deaf Smith County Red Cross office reminds Hereford clubs who wish to make Santa Claus ditty bags for the servicemen in Viet Nam that this project, Program 70, is in process for Christmas delivery.

This year's goal stands at 160 bags. Mrs. Genevieve Miller, executive secretary, said. Due to shortage of funds, however, the cooperating organizations are requested to provide materials for making these bags. These clubs should call the Red Cross office for the name of the store selling this material. Directions for construction of the ditty bags are available from the office also.

Mrs. Miller says that she needs to know by July 30, how many bags will be prepared for the September 1-30 shipping dates.

The local chapter sent 250 Santa Clause ditty bags to Viet Nam last September, and these bags were distributed to service men on Christmas Day.

The following is a letter received in response to this project:

American Red Cross
Deaf Smith County Chapter
Hereford, Texas 79045
Dear Sirs:

On behalf of all the men of the Blackhorse Regiment, I want to extend our appreciation for the Christmas gifts provided through your chapter of American Red Cross.

The gift bags were received at our field director's office and distributed by regimental project officers and our Red Cross Staff. Not only were all the items useful and practical, but they reminded the men that the American people have not forgotten the fighting men in South Vietnam.

Please be assured that the gifts did much for our troops morale and provided a pleasant moment of the Christmas season.

Sincerely yours,

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

From news reports that I have read concerning our recent grand jury's reports and recommendations, I have drawn some conclusions that I would like to share with your other readers: According to your newspaper, the grand jury had discussed "the judge's strict treatment of juveniles" and "the degree of effectiveness in the sheriff's office," finally asking for the resignations of both Sheriff Roberson and Judge Williams. The grand jury also "found discord among elected county officials." Now if the sheriff's obligations were not carried out effectively (and he admitted this), and if the judge is a strict disciplinarian (which he confirmed), then we must conclude that there naturally would not be harmony between those two offices.

The disagreement seems to be whether or not juveniles and others should be strictly disciplined. Then the same grand jury tries to alarm the people about the growing crime problem in our county. It seems to me that the reason we have our system of law is to prevent all this crime by making it so undesirable and unpleasant to those who would engage in such that the crime would be eliminated to every possible degree. The very heart of law enforcement is discipline.

It boils down to whether we really want effective discipline in the law of our county so that we can all live in peace and harmony trusting in the protection of our law and judicial system, or whether we would like to digress to a state of anarchy as in the western frontier days of gunslings.

To my knowledge, Judge Williams has never done anything to actually harm a young person physically or otherwise. His sometimes unusual orders are his method of making the punishment fit the crime, which is usually much more effective than standard punishment because it has personal significance to the youngster involved, and it relates to his misdeed.

Those who so loudly disagree with the judge's philosophy usually turn out to be those parents who have had their own children brought before the judge and who will not accept the fact that in some way they have failed to discipline their children properly in the home first. As human parents, it is possible for us to fail to do our duty.

Having our children brought before the judge definitely shows some degree of failure on our part. At this point, the parents who care will humbly admit their failure, respect the judge's decisions, and try to improve their own methods of child-rearing. The parents who don't really care about the outcome of their own children will always fight back by berating the judge to heal their wounded pride and will continue in their same old ways which led to this point in the first place.

During his years in office here, Judge Williams has turned many young people back in the right direction by his strict discipline. He gives them a chance by not being lax and indifferent to their problems. We need more people like him in our government here and everywhere. If other people in our local county departments are opposed to this then they are on the side of crime and disorder; and they are the ones who should be removed from office. I approve Judge Williams' courage in choosing to continue to try to help Deaf Smith County citizens.

Then, in connection with the controversy on the subject of discrimination of Mexican-Americans: Why do these people always seem to think that either minority or majority has to have the upper hand? It is quite evident that the good of our universe, our nation, and even our town will be lost if we can't all pull together and work for it. Those who scream for equal rights are looking only to selfish interests and not to the good of all. Two or more groups who are always in discord will never help their town or even themselves, but will destroy the good that is there.

In schools, as in local government, discipline must be carried out with respect to all. It must not matter what color or race a person is, we all are subject to our government (and children to the school administration) discipline when we get out of line. When our children are not taught this respect for authority by example in our homes, then they will be the ones who will give the most trouble away from home.

In any community, every citizen must give up some of his personal wishes in order to promote the good of the community as a whole. Then, and only then, can he enjoy living there. If we don't give, how can we expect to receive? We need to all forget our differences of color, race, and creed and recognize each other as fellow human beings. Then we can all work together to make Hereford a good place to live and rear our children.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Burke Inman, Jr.

Dear Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to reply to Melvin Young's column in Thursday's paper of April 30th. I do not wish to discuss my personal views of Judge Williams' conduct of his office here. I believe it would be enough to say that we can not have effective law enforcement in the County and respect for law and order among our citizens unless all our law enforcement officials, which includes officers, attorneys, and judges, themselves are willing to obey and follow the law as given to us by the legislature and the Courts. In this letter I would like to take up for Jerry Tucker, whom I opposed in the District Attorney's race.

I think any citizen would realize immediately that no political gain could come to any elected official by being involved in the present controversy between County officials, especially one who is not even a resident of this County. I am sure that Jerry Tucker would have liked to have been in Canada last week, if such had been possible. However, Jerry Tucker had not been here during the Grand Jury session, he would have been in dereliction of duty.

One thing that needs to be made clear is that the District Attorney does not participate in Grand Jury sessions when they discuss whether to bring any indictments or to make any recommendations. The District Attorney is present in the Grand Jury room when evidence is given. His function is that of a legal advisor and coordinator to the Grand Jury and he follows their orders and brings such witnesses as they want to hear before them. When the Grand Jury actually goes into deliberation as to what action they should take, the District Attorney is excluded from those sessions. Therefore, it would be grossly unfair to blame the District Attorney for any action that the Grand Jury takes.

I believe in all fairness that Melvin Young has not treated Jerry Tucker fairly. This letter is not meant as a defense of Jerry Tucker's record in Court or his service as District Attorney, but rather it is written because I believe a person should not be criticized for what is not his fault. A man should be judged on his record. In this Grand Jury session Mr. Tucker did what the Grand Jury asked him to do.

Finally let me say that this letter is in no way intended to be critical of the Grand Jury. On the contrary, they have the facts, and we do not. We should listen to them and get on with solving the problems.

Sincerely yours,
Andrew J. Shuval

Dear Editor:

I am totally disappointed in the attitude taken by the "Pillars" of our Community. It seems impossible that these people could be so sound asleep concerning the things the Grand Jury has brought to light. Also, not one Juror asked for this job. Too, every person knows full well that a member of the Grand Jury cannot fight back to all the snide remarks being made. This I believe is being done because the general trend is to down-grade the people who try to expose Criminal activity.

How different would be the Path of History if it were not for the "Crime of Un-revealed Facts." Regardless of reason, those who know the facts, outside of a Grand Jury Room, and do not reveal them are as guilty of Crime as are those who commit these crimes themselves. Many of our politicians consider themselves to be upright and honest. They are considered the pillars of their Communities and respected by those who voted them into office. Many of these pillars in the Community also think that a little crookedness or subversion is not really too bad so they do anything to cover it up. They cover up a lot by saying "that's Politics," but I wonder how many think this excuse will be acceptable when they stand before the judgment seat of the Almighty.

They proclaim themselves to be good Americans who are patriotic and love their Country, and then turn around and give aid and comfort to the criminal and further the cause of subversion. They not only keep still on the activities of the criminal, but will even condemn and help persecute those trying to expose such activities.

Can we afford to build our Cities larger on the term of the Criminal?? The forces of evil are among us and will increase progressively to destroy the souls of our people — young and old — alike.

The methods used today have been well planned. Subvert the minds of men. Degrade morality and love of Country, and desire only the dollar bill, bring large industry into the area — under the pretext of this bringing prosperity to our Community. Diversionary tactics are another and very important part of the plan to occupy all of man's time, consume his plans, dreams, thoughts and efforts to accumulate things of a material nature (The "Dollar," position, honor, recognition and fame), and don't worry how these things are acquired. Walk on any one — especially if they try to stand in your way. And most of all push anything Spiritual to the rear.

Has fear of man replaced fear of God??
Sincerely,
Name on File.

Dear Editor:

Your metaphor about the District Attorney's win-loss court case record appears to suffer some after a second reading. "Wad a shotgun." I don't know. Something's wrong. I'd suggest "cook a goose" or "stuff a pig," but they don't seem to fit exactly, especially on the ammunition. You know that second one about a pig, considering the irrational use of that word in the world today.

The problem seems to me to be an imbalance of emotion and information. One can load a shotgun with emotion easily — too easily. Loading one with information requires deliberation. Now and then one needs to lay down his gun and concentrate no brag, just facts.

The community desperately needs information. Enough emotion and opinion has gotten spread on its own. What is Judge Williams' record? What does he believe in besides shaved heads, sex sir, no sir, and "dressing down"? Precisely, what has the Judge done (good and bad)? I might add that it would help if the District Attorney would clarify the other issues, too.

Your being in the Judge's "corner" is disappointing. I was counting on you to be the mature, cool head. The community's integrity is really what's on the line, not Judge Williams.

What are the facts?
Sincerely,
Ted F. Swindle

report there, of the grand jury probe of our area. They had better pick a good replacement for sheriff, because with this kind of advertisement, there should be a trend for the criminal element to locate here. Personally, I believe the only really organized movement here is the one to gain control of power of our local government, and as the panel stated, "We can be in real trouble if the Citizenry does not become aroused."

As for our judge, I for one can do nothing but commend him on the way he exercises his duties with the juvenile department. If there was more discipline at home, his office would not be so crowded at times. As for the lack of cooperation on the judge's part, if we have a local government with no discord, we are going to be in real trouble. I realize there are some of us who are wrong every time, but there is no one right every time, whether they admit it or not.

Dear Smith County has growing pains and with all due respect to the panel of investigation, if they can dig up this much dirt in three days, perhaps they should take a good look at the person or persons on the end of the shovel.

Big V8 and dual exhaust at no extra cost.

Here's how it works. You buy an Impala coupe, sedan or convertible with these extras: Turbo Hydra-matic automatic transmission, radio, white stripe tires, front and rear bumper guards and the very convenient Comfortilt steering wheel.

Then, we include a big 400-cubic-inch V8 that runs on regular fuel, plus dual exhausts at no extra charge.

Not one penny extra. Which means you save the manufacturer's suggested retail price of $93.75. That's a lot off on a car that doesn't leave anything off. ## Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Marjeot

DID YOU KNOW??? That it is estimated that during a 70 year lifetime, the average American spends one year talking on the telephone. (some more) He also eats for four years and sleeps for twenty. He spends three times more time admiring himself in a mirror, than going to church... eighteen and six months respectively. Shame! Shame! shame! It is time to do something else. For instance a bit of gardening.

Yes, gardening, or the language of a gardener, is one of the universal languages. Just the other morning this was re-emphasized to me. While waiting in an office I heard a doctor and lady talking about what were they talking about? Gardening, and flower arranging. Have been re-reading the Life and Adventures of Robinson Crusoe, by Daniel Defoe, and it is most interesting to note how he depended on the plants, fruits, and seeds provided by nature and gardening for his survival. He mentions the aloe plants which date back to Biblical and today are becoming very popular for many uses.

Another project which shows the universality of the soil and gardening, is the observance of Earth Day, and the emphasis which is being placed on the good earth, and its natural potentials, as related to man. The earth is an entrustment to us, and well we should care for it. So let us all get busy and diligent.

For instance, for those who enjoy a bit of indoor gardening in the winter, it is now time to inventory the potted plants and to prepare for the new season. Also it's time to make cuttings from some of these plants, such as geraniums, alocs, ivies, and any other favorite house plants which you have enjoyed throughout the winter. Soon now, the earth will be warm enough that potted plants can be moved outside. That can't be far off as I noticed a very busy family of big red ants coming out to check weather and food, also the bermuda grass is showing some tiny green blades. These are usually sure signs that we can busy ourselves outside working in the good soil.

There are two ways to conserve the potted plants. One is the sinking to the rims the clay pots, in which they have been growing. They should be so placed in a natural light soil with good nutritive values, in a protected area, near a shrub or wall. Don't plunge the pot with the plant too deep; if the rim is flush with the earth, soil may wash into the container and damage the plant stems or roots.

Prepare the place where you are going to place the potted plant, by putting sterile rock or cinders in the bottom of the hole. Then as summer advances and the plant grows, rotate the pot, so that the roots will not have excessive growth, and those growing through the hole in the bottom of the pot, can be pruned off.

Properly placed plants add to the attractiveness of the garden, when used in borders, or grouped in a recessed space, along the terrace walls or walks.

Remember that some house plants will need some shade when transferred some full shade, others will enjoy and respond to full sunlight. Most foliage plants do well in shade, while the flowering plants like sunshine.

When you start this project, determine if the plant needs a larger pot, before placing it in the soil. How can this be determined? Turn the plant out of its pot. If a root network has grown over the entire soil ball and is growing out the sides, the plant is ready for a new home, or to have a root trimming. Really the roots should be trimmed before placing them in the new pot, or back into the old one. Another precaution. If a new pot is being used for the transplanting, it should be soaked in water for at least an hour, and thoroughly sterilized. The latter especially if it has been used. The new container should be at least an inch or two larger than the one previously used.

In removing the plant, cover the top soil with your hand, the main stem through your fingers, invert the pot and tap the edge sharply on a hard surface. Dampen the soil first so that the rootball will hold together. Put the rootball on the new soil and then fill with potting soil, leaving at least an inch of the pot rim showing to hold water. Water thoroughly. It now has a new home for a year or two. A week or so later, the potted plants should have a feeding of a well recommended plant food. To stimulate growth, a bit of pruning may be necessary; pinching encourages branching. Prune to maintain desirable height and remove dead or ailing branches, also yellowed foliage.

Some potted plants which can be so used, are poinsettias, azaleas, sedums, ferns (sturdy type) and sansevieria. Do some experimenting with some of your potted plants, to see their response to the outdoors.

Include some of the delicious tomatoes, carrots, beets, and even onions are attractive when planted with flowers. Beets and carrots are very pretty when used for border plantings. Tomatoes grown and trained on a trellis makes a beauty spot in the yard. Gourd vines can be grown to cover an unsightly fence or vacancy; they are attractive and in the fall gourds make attractive arrangements for the winter shut-in days.

There is nothing quite so beautiful as a strawberry jar, with vines and bright berries. This can be featured in most any type landscaping.

Remember in planting that proper growth and development is promoted by the warmth of the soil. Don't get in too big a hurry to put out plants, seed, or bulbs. Plants grown in containers (from the nurseries) can be planted as late as June. Gladioli corms can be planted now, and after the first planting, an-

School Award Certificates To 22 Printing Students

Certificates of Award were presented to 22 high school students during the Graphic Arts Banquet at the Caison House Friday night.

J. Marvin Hunter, instructor of Graphic Arts, presented the certificates to 12 students who completed the first year's course and to 10 students who completed the second year's course.

Roy Faubion of Radio Station KPAN was speaker for the annual occasion. Mixing humor and serious thought in his address, Mr. Faubion said he felt students of the local high school are fortunate to have such courses of study available to them.

Not only does the school meet state requirements in offering the printing trades classes, but it also gives students the advantage of a full course in the graphic arts field covering both letterpress and lithographic techniques. Musical selections were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Penn. Penn is journalism teacher at high school and Mrs. Penn is a private teacher of piano. Penn, a cornet player, and Mrs. Penn at the piano provided the entertainment.

The affair began with the invocation by Trine Bustamante, a member of the first year's class.

Receiving certificates for the first year's course were Jaki Brownlow, Gail Onstead, Elvira Balderaz, Judy Roberson, Patricia Neill, Trine Bustamante, Manuel Hernandez, David Munoz, Sonny Perales, Fred Tijerina, Jimmie Weddel and Victor Estrada.

Certificates for the second year were presented to Susan Kuykendall, Mary Ann Fisher, Yolanda Pesina, Carmen Diaz, Beatrice Maldonado, Frank Torres, Gilbert Rodriguez, Jesse Martinez, Ernest Lopez and Ronnie McDonald.

Gibson's Head To Be Honored At NY Dinner

Herbert R. Gibson Sr. of Dallas, Chairman of the Board of the Gibson Discount Stores, will be honored for his long-time support of higher education at a testimonial dinner to be given by Brandeis University of Waltham, Mass. Wednesday at the New York Hilton Hotel in New York.

The dinner will be attended by more than 2,000 of Mr. Gibson's friends and business colleagues, many of whom have helped underwrite the new Herbert R. Gibson Sr. Scholarship Program at Brandeis. This program will help provide financial aid for less privileged students.

Herbert R. Sand of East Williston, N.Y., executive vice-president of the Ideal Toy Co. and a member of the Brandeis President's Council, is the chairman of the dinner. Ronald D. Sappol of New York, president of the Lionel Corporation and also a member of the President's Council, is national chairman. Merrill Hassenfeld of Providence, R.I., president of Hasbro Co. and a Fellow of the University, is honorary dinner chairman.

Mr. Gibson operates more than 500 discount stores in 33 states doing a gross business in excess of $1 billion annually. In 1958, he transformed his successful wholesale business into the discount operation that is now the nation's ninth largest. He has opened as many as 70 stores annually. The Gibson stores differ from similar businesses in that they sell only first-line goods, in retail outlets that often exceed 50,000 square feet.

Mr. Gibson has been selected as first recipient of the Oral History Library Award at Harding College and was named to the Mass Merchandiser Hall of Fame sponsored by the University of Massachusetts. He is also active in church work and in organizations caring for orphans.

Linda Carter On Honor Roll

Linda Kay Carter, daughter of Mrs. Mary B. Carter, 340 West 3rd St., has been named to the Honor Roll for the fall semester at Trinity University in San Antonio. She is a graduate of Hereford High School.

The Honor Roll, published twice each year, recognizes those students who have done outstanding academic work during the previous semester. To be included on the Honor Roll, a Trinity student must have an academic average of between "B" and "B-plus," depending on the number of courses in which she is enrolled.

Trinity has a select enrollment of 2,500 students in its highly acclaimed graduate and undergraduate programs. The University in the Sun is engaged in a $7.5 Million Completion Campaign as part of a $60 Million Centennial Program of advancement. Trinity is beginning its second century of higher education in Texas.

Trouble Shooting Contest Tuesday

Earl Brown and Jess Salazar have been selected to represent Hereford High School in this year's Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, according to Jerry Don George, high school principal.

The two students, accompanied by Bill McDowell, auto shop instructor, will attend the competition Tuesday in Lubbock.

The winning team in the local contest will be sent to Indianapolis in June to compete against other top Trouble Shooters from all parts of the country in the National Championship Finals.

Contestants are competing for more than $125,000 worth of scholarships and awards.

In the contest, participants take a written exam which counts as 30 per cent of their team's final score and then they race the clock and the other teams to find and fix several malfunctions deliberately placed under the hoods of new Plymouth cars. This mechanical challenge counts as 70 per cent of a team's score.

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest originated in 1949 as a local event in Los Angeles with 50 students from 17 high schools participating. Today, more than 2,000 high schools and colleges representing all 50 states, with a total auto shop enrollment of more than 150,000 students, participate each year in this nationally-famous competition.

Purpose of the contest is to recognize and honor outstanding young auto mechanic students and to encourage them to make a career as automobile mechanics.

Trouble Shooting has placed more than 16,000 young men in full or part-time jobs as auto mechanics. Since the contest became a national event in 1962, the Chrysler-Plymouth Division of Chrysler Motors Corporation has made available scholarships for 146 students.

Research teams in the United States and in Sweden are experimenting with containers that disintegrate in sunlight when discarded and turn into mulch. A scientist at South Carolina's Clemson University is testing bottles that melt away a few days after being broken.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Honors Miss Curtis

The home of Mrs. R. C. Anderson was the setting Saturday for a pre-nuptial shower honoring Miss Shirley Curtis.

Co-hostesses for the event were Meses. R. B. Hutson, David Honea, G. C. Merritt Jr., Clyde Renfro, J. R. Allison, Aubrey Cook, Leta Hance, Jimmie Allred, May Fralin, Cecil Oglesby, Clyde Rayburn and Jim Clark.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Anderson and received by Miss Curtis with her mother, Mrs. Lorena Curtis.

Mrs. Doyle Morris of Dimmitt was at the guest registry. White net over white satin draped the serving table, centered by an arrangement of white pompon chrysanthemums and blue tapers. Refreshments were served from crystal and silver appointments by Mrs. Merritt.

For the occasion, the honoree wore a 2-piece rose-beige frock with matching shoes and a corsage of blue pompon chrysanthemums.

Miss Curtis is the bride-elect of Don Greene, USN, stationed in Guam.

H.D. CHATTER Study Of Color

By Mrs. Argen Draper Home Demonstration Agent

During May the clubs are studying color in clothing. Color is a very scientific study and difficult to understand and often hard to see. Anyway it is an interesting area and many women we know are very skilled.

It is important to analyze individual coloring of hair, complexion, and eyes to determine individual color ensembles and to experiment under skilled guidance with costume colors which will do flattering things for personal coloring. There is a choice of two methods. Some people may like to remove all make-up and, sitting before a mirror in a strong, north light, see the tricks that color can play when large swatches of colored fabrics are draped about the shoulders. Others may wish to see cosmetics applied before trying on different colors. There is greater value in studying colors without make-up when one is learning to be discriminating. The same fundamental rules used in the making of any color harmony apply here, unity with variety. It will be easier without make-up to see likeness and to decide how much difference will be pleasing. It may be possible in limited instances to increase color choice through slightly different cosmetic tones. However, utmost discretion must be used in this matter.

In choosing colors one should not be influenced by prejudice or attraction to any specific color. Becomingness is the essential factor to consider. This means that the color does pleasant things to the skin, hair, and eyes; that its texture brings out the right characteristics of the person; and it is suited to the occasion. The color should help to impart clearness and the look of health to the skin; it should not draw or drain from the skin its natural color. The skin tone can be reduced to muddiness by color—too light in value, made sallow by bright complements, or may take on an unpleasant florid or red-purple cast when bright green is worn. With the exception of the suntanned skin, a rule to follow is that of keeping the color in a darker value than the skin. Suntanned skins are often agreeably emphasized by cool pastels. Floridness is reduced by any grayed, dark, warm color. Cook skins wear best warm colors in all but the lightest values, and the cool ones when dark and of an intensity related to their own.

Let your clothes dryer do your ironing for you with permanent press clothing.

Just sort and wash all permanent press articles as you do the rest of the laundry. Tumble drying eliminates virtually all wear and wash wrinkles, says Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist.

No new wrinkles will form as long as you remove the items when the dryer stops.

No dryer? Use hot or warm wash water, then a cool rinse so fewer wrinkles will form during the spin cycle. Some new washers offer special permanent press cycles.

Pressing can be kept to a minimum, too, by washing the items in cold water, Mrs. Myers adds.

The Texas Panhandle-It's Not All Flatlands

BY SUE COLEMAN

Even a flatland-lover must sometimes admit that critics of the plains are right; this country can get downright monotonous looking and you get tired of views across long stretches.

In those cases the remedy is simple—a mji-vacation to one of the many spots in easy driving distance from Hereford, where the Plains break off into canyons, gullies, sometimes creeks or rivers, where there are hills and bluffs, slopes of various kinds, and a change in vegetation with native shrubs and trees never seen in this vicinity.

People live in this area for years and are never aware of scenic spots except for Palo Canyon, in the state park and perhaps the cottonwood groves at the Canadian River bridge near Boys Ranch. That's because main highways are routed over level terrain and easy slopes; it takes only a venture onto state highways and farm-to-market roads to find something different to see.

That was our objective last weekend when Atha McIver and

I charted a one-day sightseeing ride to Caprock country, dropping off the High Plains at Quitaque to the lower altitudes where spring is a couple of weeks ahead of our elevation.

Because the change to daylight saving time caught me napping—my favorite Sunday morning occupation—we got an hour's later start than planned. At this time of year that doesn't matter, though, because travel is so pleasant in the heat of the day as in earlier hours, but it did cause us to miss Sunday dinner at Mrs. Bromley's noted dining room in Clarendon.

Such a treat is not to be missed lightly although there are other good places to eat in restaurants on highways in Clarendon and we found a tasty meal served buffet style where State Highway 70 intersects U. S. 287.

Before dinner, however, we had made the Caprock descent at Quitaque after admiring the many shades of green in wheat fields and pastures across the plains route, then we had driven up to Clarendon across canyons gashed in the red soil just below the Caprock by water which rushes off that ledge whenever it rains.

We turned off Highway 385 at Dimmitt, taking State 86 eastward to Silvertown and on to Quitaque the level land breaks abruptly, just as the plains drop suddenly downward at Palo Duro Canyon. If you are looking off the highway to either side, you may notice the beginning of small canyons before you find yourself at the top of a steep bluff where the road winds down quickly to the town in its picturesque location.

The Quitaque Cap has always been one of the most spectacular descents by road, although some people choose the drops to Crosbyton or Post on highways farther south for favorite views of the miles-long geological formation.

Literally, the caprock is the surface layer of the Staked Caprock is the east edge of the plains, the division from the lower prairie country. It is an irregular ledge, hundreds of feet higher in places than the land at its foot.

In other places, the slope downward is gradual, as on highway 287 between Calude and Clarendon, so the drop isn't noticeable although there is a big difference in altitude of those 30-miles-apart cities.

But when you go down the road at Quitaque you know you are going down, and when you look back you can see the level country above from which you have come. All the way up to Clarendon you can look over to the west and see the Caprock ledge looming above the very rugged expanse of gullies and hills.

You cross Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River, not far from where it comes out of the mouth of Palo Duro Canyon, and the highway also is bridged at a couple of creeks that later run into the river.

Down here you notice that mesquite trees are already putting out small leaves—that supposedly sure West Texas sign that there will be no more freezing weather this spring, and you remember that mesquites up on the plains were still bare.

More wild flowers are also seen, stretches of lavender Sweet Williams coral colored prairie roses and white daisies in addition to the very earliest in pastures on the higher levels. About the time the river is reached, the red soil turns sandy and there is plenty of sagebrush in its spring dress of light gray-green.

All along the way there are opportunities to get out and climb a canyon wall or go barefoot in the sand of river or creek—and there is even enough water in the river to wade a little for anyone brave enough to dare the spring chill. Camera fans can find subjects galore, especially with color film.

Coming home, we drove up to Claude and then left the main highways again for the road which leads to Silvertown, a relatively lately-paved FM road not marked on some maps but easily found at its intersection with U. S. 287.

Not far south of Claude it drops off, again with little warning, into Palo Duro Canyon, which here has widened toward its mouth until it is quite different to its look in the park.

Here the road winds several miles down to the creek which is soon to become the river, and several more miles upward on the other side. There are steep climbs on either side, and after you get across to the south side there is one spot where a very deep cut has been made in a sheer wall and the road curves up with a sufficiently thrilling view for any canyon lover.

A little past this is a scenic area which can barely be seen until you turn off the highway into it, but which affords views well worth the stop.

BY MELVIN YOUNG

Whatever you might think, the fact that the roof of the courthouse is being repaired has nothing to do with the recent eruptions from within.

And Bill Thompson, manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce says that the chamber ordered the cool front that swished through the county Thursday and Friday: "Just to cool off a few tempers."

"Bud" Snyder, agriculturist at the First National Bank figures that if we have Mafia members in town, then perhaps we could get a "contract" on a few of those Amarillo reporters.

He also allows that surely the Mafia wouldn't bother with Hereford. There's no river here to drop the victims in.

Emmett Milburn, sage of Sampson Street, figures it's fortunate that we got a census count before the grand jury stopped the city's growth.

And then there comes a letter from Marguerite Terrell, County and District Clerk of Sherman County, who says: "It seems odd to me that the District Court spends so much time in your county if there are no problems there with crime. We have trouble getting our cases tried since there is so much District Court already, on the calendar for your county."

"Well lady, we're wondering the same thing. Not about the crime. We realize we have an ample supply. But we're not getting very many cases tried either.

In all fairness to Mrs. Terrell however, I think we should publish the rest of her letter, which incidentally, was written to Mr. Witherspoon, with a copy coming to our office. It follows.

"If you think there are no drug problems there, you should come down out of your 'Ivory Tower' and wake up to the reality of what is going on around the country. I feel sure from what was uncovered in this little town, you must have a terrible problem there with drugs, whether you realize it or not. You probably do not have a drug problem with the Latins, ours was not either, the leaders here were from the wealthiest families.

"Seems to me the least we can do would be to support our grand jury and at least not question their decisions before the public."

We agree Mrs. Terrell. And as soon as we get the DA back from his Mafia hunt, conducted mostly before the TV cameras, we'll try to get on with the narcotic problems.

And we might comment also that not all our narcotic problems have been with the Latins, who seem to get blamed with about everything that comes along. We have had at least one Anglo indicted by the grand jury, but for some unknown reason his case has not come to trial. Perhaps we have the same problem in both counties?

Deputy Sheriff Travis McPherson has been named sheriff to replace Ed Roberson as you have seen elsewhere in the Brand, and we sincerely hope that Travis will be able to bring a little harmony within the courthouse. He is well liked, and although young, is a fine lawman. He's going to have a big job and will need the help of everyone, especially at this time. We feel that whoever goes into the office following the rihurbars of the past week is going to have a tough time and we certainly don't envy them their jobs.

We also understand that the county commissioners increased the salaries of the sheriff and his deputies at the meeting Friday morning. We would suggest to them that they also check the salary schedule throughout the courthouse and start paying a living wage, not only to the elected officials, but to the clerks as well. The excuse has always been that we can't pay higher salaries without raising taxes, and you know how carefully they look after "taxpayers" money, but as they "view with alarm" the increase in taxes, they might also be concerned about the cost of living which has reduced most working people's pay checks to nothing. After all, this is 1970 and it's a little difficult to get competent help on 1934 wages.

PALO DURO CANYON has a different look here from that which is best known, the view in the state park. Here the canyon has widened and is near its mouth, with Prairie Dog Fork of Red River running down a rugged valley several miles across. This view was photographed from a Scenic Area on the south wall of the canyon, and the north wall can be seen in the distance, far on the other side of the river.

Soybean Produce Soars Rapidly

American soybean producers are selling record quantities of soybeans both at home and abroad this year, according to Frank J. Bezner, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

It is estimated that soybean utilization will increase from 945 million bushels used in 1969 to 1,136 million bushels for this year. This increase in market demand is welcome news to soybean producers.

"In view of the excess production capacity we have in this country, this growth in soybean demand is welcome news to soybean producers and taxpayers," Chairman Bezner commented.

During the period 1966 through 1968 and part of 1969, soybean supplies tended to increase as a result of increased competition from lower-priced imports of fish meal, sunflower oil and other competitive protein substitutes.

However, in recent months demand for soybeans has increased substantially as a result of more competitive pricing, a drop-off in supplies of other high-protein materials, and continued growth in world demand for protein feeds.

As a result of the increased demand at higher prices, soybean producers who placed their crop under loan last fall have been redeeming them prior to the loan maturity date and moving them into the open market, the chairman pointed out.

In past years, with less favorable market, farms have tended to leave their beans under loan until the loan maturity date. Reversal of this trend will result in a substantial saving to the Government and therefore to taxpayers.

"Increased exports have been, and will continue to be, the key to large growth markets for soybeans," Mr. Bezner pointed out.

"Soybeans supply more than four pounds of meal for each pound of oil, while most other vegetable oil products supply about a pound of oil for each pound of meal. The demand for meal is increasing faster than the demand for oil, and this in turn creates a demand for soybeans both in the U. S. and abroad," he explained.

With soybean prices more competitive with other high-protein products, overall market demand has increased faster than processing facilities could profitably be developed.

However, with a somewhat improved operating margin, more crushing plants are being built or planned. "This will increase the demand for farmers' beans and eventually provide a greater volume of soybean oil and meal at more competitive prices," the Chairman emphasized.

Recent action which resulted in a 50 percent reduction in the soybean levy into Japan, and continued efforts by USDA to discourage an import tax on soybean oil and meal moving into the European economic community, has helped exports.

This action, combined with a continued desire by consumers to upgrade their diets, will assist in developing a market for additional supplies of beans. In anticipation of this improveed market demand, soybean growers have reported intentions to plant over 43 million acres in 1970, an increase of almost 1 million acres above 1969. "This increase should boost bean growers' incomes around $100 million next year," the Chairman estimated.

DA's Mafia Hunt Sounds Good On Television, But...

The District Attorney of the 69th Judicial District is apparently trying to make hay while the sun shines with his current Deaf Smith County Mafia hunt. He has availed himself of overly eager Amarillo television stations to go before the people with his tales of a crime-ridden Deaf Smith County and the Mafia connections here. And, like the recent drug investigations held by the DA, it sure looks good on television, but will probably produce few results.

In looking over his record since he took office some 16 months ago, we find it a little difficult to believe that he either has the facts on a crime syndicate within the county or that he could get a conviction if any were brought to trial. If we were to discover organized crime within our county, we would surely have to bring in a special prosecutor to try the cases. Otherwise, the accused would all go scot-free.

We also find it interesting that the DA has gone on television to tell everyone about the situation in this county, but after three weeks of deliberations, the Grand Jury has done little more than call for the resignation of the county judge, whose only crime apparently is his inability to "please" all the other county officials. If, as the DA states, he has so much information about Mafia involvement in our county, why then does he not return a few indictments? After all, isn't that the purpose of it all?

We seriously doubt that all the publicity will strengthen his case and we question the advisability of making headlines by an insidious attack on a trusted county official. Wouldn't he have gained more support within the county by doing that job for which he was elected? Or is the DA, who lost 5 out of 6 counties two years ago, trying desperately to cover up his inability to produce by making a big splash with the Mafia?

Frankly, we believe that the DA's quest of the Mafia in Deaf Smith County is much akin to a child going bear hunting with a fly swatter.

We Praise The Judge

The Deaf Smith County Grand Jury, between Mafia hunts, has recommended to the Commissioner's Court that a juvenile board be created, headed by a juvenile officer and taking the responsibility of the juvenile court out of the hands of the present county judge. The feeling was that most teen-agers who come before the judge are scared because of what they have heard of Williams' strict treatment of other youth, and apparently some of the local parents feel that little Johnny shouldn't be treated so roughly.

We would like to remind the Grand Jury that the purpose of the juvenile judge is not to coddle and caress, but to put the fear of God into a few of these youngsters who have apparently strayed down the wrong road. We would also like to remind the parents that a pat on the back, applied with force about midway down the torso during the formative years, savored with a great deal of love from the parents, might have alleviated the necessity for an appearance before the judge in the first place.

We would also remind the Grand Jury that when the present juvenile judge took office some nine years ago, over 7 per cent of the local school enrollment found themselves in trouble and forced to appear before the judge. That percentage dropped to 2 per cent last year and we feel that the drop is due primarily to the strict policies of the county judge. Certainly his tactics do not always work. There is no sure method. If we had a formula to save each and every youngster, be it a separate juvenile board or whatever, then certainly we would support that wholeheartedly. We all have children and in this day and time the rearing of the child is compli-

A Rat Race

We have the word of a University of Pittsburg researcher that life in the big city really does resemble a rat race — or vice versa. For 11 years now, Dr. Joseph Buckley has been running laboratory rats — some 5,000 of them all told — through a "stress chamber" simulating a few of the characteristic environmental influences of the urban existence — flashing bright lights, blaring noise and constant movement, this last, at 140 jolts to the minute, supposed to duplicate the effects of auto and commuter train travel. After a week of this pace, Dr. Buckley's rats develop high blood pressure, become irritable and tend to nap. In short, the urban syndrome. And in fact, a good description of some of the people we work with." — Sterling, Ill., Gazette

A disgruntled school teacher handed in his resignation with this comment: "In our public schools today, the teachers are afraid of the principals, the principals are afraid of the superintendents, the superintendents are afraid of the board, the board members are afraid of the parents, the parents are afraid of the children and the children are afraid of nobody." — Brooks (Altr.) Bulletin ever, we have not discovered it yet, and until we do, then we believe that we should stay with the method that has proven successful for Hereford.

Besides, after looking over some of the Commissioners' other appointments, we doubt seriously that the public would benefit from any board they could name.

The Public Service Company of Colorado noted that the average American can buy more than three times as much gasoline with one hour's wages now than he could four decades ago. What's more, the quality of today's motor fuel is vastly superior according to the petroleum industry. In 1928, an average hour's wage in U.S. manufacturing industries would buy three gallons of gasoline, before taxes, or 2.5 gallons including taxes. Today's average manufacturing wage of $3 an hour will pay for 12 gallons of gasoline, before taxes, or 8.5 gallons including taxes. As for quality, the motor fuel that was used in the 1920's could not even start today's high-compression automobile engines.

BURNING ISSUE

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

Next Saturday: Red Letter Day For U.S. Taxpayers

BY BERT MILLS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—May 9 will not be widely recognized as a time for celebration but it should be. That's the date when the average taxpayer stops working for the government and starts working for himself. Until then, the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. has figured, John Q. Citizen works only to pay his Federal, state and local taxes.

Last fiscal year, Uncle Sam collected $187.9 billion in taxes. More than half came from individual income taxes, totaling $97.4 billion. Corporation income taxes contributed $38.5 billion. Employment taxes, including Social Security, added $33.1 billion, excises $13.5 billion, and estate and gift taxes $3.5 billion.

Of more than 110 million tax returns of all types received last year, nearly half called for refunds. The U. S. paid refunds to 49 million taxpayers, totaling $12.9 billion. The average refund was about $263. Of the 2.5 million returns that were audited, only 40.2 per cent were accepted as accurate; 53.2 per cent were assessed additional taxes and 6.6 per cent received refunds for overpayments.

What does the U. S. do with all the billions it collects? The Budget, of course, tells the full story but among other things it gives back part of the money collected. Including the military, there are about six million Federal employees drawing a salary. And there are beneficiaries of all sorts. More than 25 million people draw Social Security benefits each month, and the bill last year was nearly $7 billion.

75 People Work on Bird Banding
Some of the things Uncle Sam does with our money are little known. For example, there are 75 people in the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the Department of Interior engaged in a bird-banding program. This has been going on for 50 years, starting with two people in 1920. Only by use of a computer is the number of employees prevented from rising much higher, for there are records on 3 million birds.

The Library of Congress is another relatively obscure activity that consumes tax dollars. Its possessions number 59 million pieces of paper, some of them priceless and some of them the latest comic books. The staff has doubled in the past 20 years and now includes more than 4,000 people.

The Post Office Department has contracted to buy $108,240 worth of dog repellent spray this year. Letter carriers suffer 10,000 dog bites per year — 500 of them serious enough to cause lost time from work. So the mailbag includes an aerosol can to be used to discourage attacking dogs on over 125,000 carrier routes. The spray does not cause permanent injury to either canine or man.

The Department of Transportation is spending $136,000 this year on a pilot program to reduce congestion on city streets by synchronizing traffic signals "before" and "after" studies are 100 or more lights, and roads are being fed to a computer to determine proper timing of the lights. Results will be used by the Bureau of Public Roads in improving traffic signal programs financed by the U. S. U. S. Lends as Well as Spends

Many tax dollars are used to make loans to members of the public. For example, the Farmers Home Administration was responsible for loans of more than $1.4 billion last year, aiding 450,000 rural families. Two-thirds of the money was advanced by private lenders with FHA insuring the loans. The agency had $5.5 billion in loan money outstanding on June 30, 1969.

There are about 27.3 million living veterans, and it takes 147,000 employees of the Veterans Administration to meet their needs. About 87 per cent of the V. A. staff are assigned to the Department of Medicine and Surgery. Nearly half of all the doctors who graduate from medical school are helped in their training by V. A., which operates 166 hospitals plus 85 other medical units.

Bogus money is still a major problem. Last year the Secret Service seized more than $13.7 million in counterfeit money and arrested 1,413 people for making or passing counterfeit money. Bogus bills were passed in all 50 states.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — A ferry started by a chief of the Choctaw Indians served as a major transportation link between Texas and Oklahoma for well over half a century.

The chieftain was B. F. Colbert, who moved to the Indian Territory from Mississippi in 1846. Settling on the Red River, he acquired a 500-acre plantation, steam sawmill, grist mill and cotton gin. In 1853, he established his ferry at a site just north of the present Texas city of Denison.

Later he built a $40,000 wagon bridge across the Red River at that point. His 577-foot wooden bridge (16 feet in width except for a center section 24 feet wide to permit wagons to pass) was one of the first toll spans across the river.

HOW IT BEGAN — Fort Worth's famous slogan, "Where the West Begins," predated the founding of the town by six years.

In 1843, General Edward H. Tarrant and Captain Edward S. Terrell negotiated a treaty with the Indians stipulating that the tribes were to remain west of a line that was traced through the future site of Fort Worth. Thus, when Major Ripley A. Arnold founded Fort Worth on June 6, 1849, his new town literally was located on the line "where the West begins."

NEW TOWN IN TEXAS — It's called Gun Barrel City and it's on the banks of Cedar Creek Lake some 50 miles southeast of Dallas in Henderson County.

The town, named because nearby Farm Road 85 is "as straight as a gun barrel," was incorporated recently because the citizens wanted to hold a local option election on the sale of alcoholic beverages. Voters approved the measure, and now Gun Barrel City (pop. 236) supports all city services by levying a municipal tax of a nickel on every case of beer sold in the two square mile town.

It's one of four Henderson County towns to incorporate in order to legalize the sale of alcohol to Cedar Creek Lake visitors. Three of them — Seven Points and Caney are the other two — now have voted "wet". All collect local taxes on beer, wine and whiskey sales.

IT'S A FACT — Chili is not a meat dish, but rather is the name of the vegetable from which the seasoning known as chile pepper is made.

Anchos, from which the best chile pepper comes, were first discovered by natives in the mountains of Mexico. Cortez told of finding the little red pods hanging to dry in the sun against adobe walls. The natives used the pepper as seasoning for the wild game they killed.

"Chile con carne" literally means chile (or pepper) with meat.

TEXAS FIRST — Mother Neff State Park, 259-acre recreation spot on the Leon River in Coryell County, was the first state park in Texas.

In her will, Mrs. J. E. Neff, mother of former Governor Pat M. Neff, deeded six acres to the state or a park. The remaining acreage was acquired later.

Our attention this week was called to the fact that there is not a single crop produced in the Panhandle which cannot readily be turned into money if the same care is taken in preparing that crop for market which is necessary to market other crops. . . . Jim Lipscomb will join 2,000 other Texas farmers on a special train to Washington in an attempt to fight for the continued life of the AAA. . . . Of the 30 days in April, 20 of them were dusty. . . . Hereford High has produced another sprint champion in Meade Smith who turned out to be the state's best schoolboy running at 220 yards by winning that event in Austin last weekend. Horse Show In Amarillo COLLEGE STATION - The eighth annual State 4-H Horse Show will be held at the Bill Cody Livestock Arena in Amarillo, August 6-8, according to a joint announcement by John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Glenn Gibson, director of tourism and conventions for the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. "We are very proud to have the show in Amarillo this year," Gibson said. "With the addition of the new Bill Cody arena, we think we have one of the best livestock complexes in the nation." The Extension Service is looking forward to the show, Hutchison noted, due to a history of cooperation with Amarillo in conducting various events in the city. B. F. Yeates, Extension horse specialist at Texas A&M University, will serve as show manager, and will be assisted by Tom Davison, assistant state 4-H Club leader. County agricultural agents in the area will serve as ring stewards. A steering committee and other functional committees will be appointed in the near future by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

Women To Learn Defense Tuesday

A "Self Defense Course for Women" will be conducted Tuesday by Chester Fant, Safety Education Officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety at 2:30 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. at the Bull Barn.

Imagine yourself in one of the following situations: - You are suddenly awakened by an unusual noise and discover a man cutting through your screen with a knife; Stopped at an intersection for a traffic signal, a strange suddenly opens your car door and gets in beside you; while driving home late at night you notice the car behind you makes every turn you make and seems to be following you; You are out late taking care of some last-minute shopping. After getting into your car and starting home a strange man suddenly raises up from the back floor-board.

How would you react?

These and many other equally alarming situations occur almost daily in nearly every city across the nation. Most of us besides being completely unnerfed-wouldn't have the slightest idea of what to do in this type of situation.

Time after time women-and men-find themselves in similar circumstances and faced with the decision of either submitting to assault, robbery, rape, etc., or resisting and possible further harm. Perhaps you have given some thought to what you would do if you were involved in something like this. Maybe you have even done some prior planning to protect yourself. But how effective would it really be? Maybe a lengthy course in Judo would be the thing. But what if you're a woman and eight months pregnant? Or just recovering from surgery? Or you have any of a number of physical disabilities or conditions which severely limit any type of physical activity. Actually, the answer is usually much simpler than that. And most of these situations could be prevented entirely.

Are you interested in finding out what you can do, and do legally? We hope so, and you'll have an opportunity to learn what, how and when you can protect yourself and what steps you can take to prevent something like this from happening.

Mark this date on your calendar and make plans to attend. We think you will be amazed at the simple and really effective things every woman can do to protect herself. No physical activities are involved in the course-its all lecture, film and demonstration. Although and material is directed primarily to women and teenage young ladies, your husband is invited to come along.

This program is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce Educational Committee-Mrs. Argen Draper, Chairman.

Other committee members are: Mrs. Don Baugous, Mrs. Bob Spangler, Mrs. Si Darling, Mrs. Wayne Thomas, Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Mrs. Milton Adams, and Mrs. Shepherd Townsend.

March Program Aids 9 Million

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin reports that a total of about 9 million needy persons were aided by USDA's family food-assistance programs in March.

This is a preliminary estimate from USDA's Food and Nutrition Service. Precise figures will be available later.

Secretary Hardin said the month's big gain was in participation in the Food Stamp Program, which has been significantly improved in recent months so that low-income families pay less and get more. Participation in this program climbed to a record high 5 million persons in March - up 18 percent from the 4.3 million persons taking part during February, and up 32 percent from the 3.8 million persons participating in January.

Payments of "bonus" coupons to participating families climbed to approximately $70 million for the month - up 37 percent from the $51 million in February, and up 160 percent from the $26.9 million in bonus stamps a month earlier. Participating families pay in approximately the same amount they would usually spend for food. They are given bonus food coupons to bring their total food buying power up to the level of USDA's "economy diet."

Participation in USDA's other family feeding program - the Commodity Distribution Program - totaled 4.0 million needy persons in February. Participation in March is expected to be approximately the same.

"These results are significant," Secretary Hardin said, "and I am gratified that more people in need of food are actually getting the food. I appreciate the long and hard work that has made it possible for these additional people to participate - work both by USDA's staff, here and in the field and especially by our cooperators in the States, counties, and local governments."

"But, significant as these results are," the Secretary said, "we still have much more work to do. President Nixon has given all of us a commitment to 'wipe out hunger in America,' and we need to continue to push vigorously forward until hunger is indeed wiped out."

Secretary Hardin gave these detailed reports on some individual food stamp areas in different parts of the country:

In Cook County, Ill., bonus coupons issued to participants in March more than tripled the amount issued in February - nearly $2 million worth, against $647,211 worth.

In Shelby County, Tenn., the value of bonus coupons issued to participants rose to $420,948 in March, against $306,47 in February.

In Orleans Parish, La., the value of bonus coupons issued rose to $1,045,105 in March, against $849,628 in February.

Participation in the Food Stamp Program, he said, also increased significantly in all three of these areas.

National Music Week Programs Are Named

National Music Week opens today and will be observed in Hereford with a series of programs sponsored by the Music Study Club, stressing the theme for 1970, Music Brings Understanding. The club is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs which has sponsored the annual observance since 1959.

National Music Week has been observed each year since 1924, when President Calvin Coolidge served as the first honorary chairman. Its objective is to create an understanding and appreciation of the value of music in the home and community, as a common bond among all people and as an instrument of world peace.

Proclaimed by Mayor, James Sears in Hereford, the week will be filled with music in special broadcasts from Radio Station KPAN. Mrs. A. O. Thompson, a member of Music Study Club who has served as general chairman for many years, is again chairman this year. Jim Hannaford, minister of music at First Baptist Church, will be master of ceremonies for the afternoon programs and Darrell Rose will MC the morning programs. Mrs. Thompson has announced the program for the first half of the week.

Opening the week, the mayor's proclamation will be read over the air Sunday morning and the Hymn of the Day will be sung by Mrs. John Messenger.

At 3 p. m. a program of sacred music will be broadcast including music by Jim Hannaford, Mrs. W. T. Carmichael will sing a solo accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Schoretter and Mrs. Mack Casler will sing with accompaniment by Mrs. Jim Bob Allison. Other selections will be by a male quartet!

Other Hymns of the Day will be by Mrs. Gene Streun Monday, Mrs. Laura Walker, Tuesday and Mrs. Dale Young, Wednesday.

Afternoon programs beginning at 4 p. m. will feature award winning bands and choirs of Hereford Schools. La Plata Jr. High band directed by Jim Priest and choirs led by Mrs. Jane Guley will be heard Monday. Hereford High School Band directed by Ben Gollehon and choirs directed by Bill Devers will perform Tuesday. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m., at which time the home demonstration clubs of Hereford will serve coffee and doughnuts to the guests.

Rev. Fred Howard of St. Thomas Episcopal Church will give the invocation and Mrs. Bess Werner, last year's "Pioneer of the Year," will give the address of welcome to the group.

Homer Brumley, president of the pioneer association, will recognize the senior-most citizens and those coming the greatest distance, and Clint Formby of KPAN radio station will name the pioneer of the year.

Open house will be held at the Deaf Smith County Museum throughout the day, with plenty of chairs available for the visitors.

Other officers planning the events of the Pioneer Day celebration are: Earl Phillips, vice president and Glen Witherspoon. Members of the planning committee are: Ezra Norton, Mrs. Pat Lawton, Mrs. Lela Jewell, Mrs. Ralph Sears, Richard Jewell, and Ted Higgins.

Miss Anderson Weds In Church Ceremony

Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints was the setting at 7 p.m. Friday for the wedding of Miss Carolyn Kaye Anderson and Don Dale Diel. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kendon Anderson of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Diel of Burlington, Okla.

The bride's father, Branch President of the church, officiated for the ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an altar setting decorated with a massive pink and white bouquet of gladiolas and carnations secured in a brass stand. Other floral and greenery arrangements decorated the hall.

Mrs. Chris L. Otosen served her sister as matron of honor and Mr. Otosen was best man. Their daughter, Kristiana Otosen, was flower girl and ring bearer was Timothy Anderson, brother of the bride.

A program of wedding music was played at the piano by Miss Linda Hallows.

White bridal satin made the bride's formal gown styled with fitted bodice and long sleeves. Pearl traced lace appliques enhanced the front of the gown and were repeated on the chapel length train. A pearl encrusted headpiece held her shoulder length veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of orchids and carnations.

The matron of honor wore a formal gown of pink whipped cream accented by applied daisies. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The flower girl wore a matching gown.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church where guests were registered by Mrs. Ruben Gonzales.

The bride's table was laid with a pink cloth and held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and groom. Cake was served by Mrs. Robert Bulich and punch was ladled by Miss Sue Miller.

Other members of the house party were Misses Donna and Marsha Lyons, and Katy Thomas.

For traveling the bride wore a pink linen ensemble with matching accessories.

They will be at home at Hereford where Diel is employed by Jake Diel Construction.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Diel, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Diel, Burlington, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bulich and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bulich of Salt Lake City, Utah; and Mrs. Donna Leftwich of Lubbock.

ENMU Plans Clinic To Assist Stutterers

Portales (Special) — An intensive therapy clinic designed to develop fluent speech for teen-age stutterers is being planned for June 16-Aug. 5 by the Speech and Hearing Clinic at Eastern New Mexico University and the division of special education.

The eight-week program, the first of its kind in the area, is open to any young man or woman 14 through 17 years of age who experiences in his or her speech characteristics commonly referred to as stuttering. The clinic will deal specifically with such interferences as repetitions of sounds or words, hesitations, tremors, silent blocks, tensions, and unpleasant facial contortions.

"It has been well demonstrated," explained Dr. John R. Cochran, clinic director, "that intensive therapy designed specifically for adolescent stutterers may bring significant improvement within an eight week period.

"Adolescence provides a prime time for administering intensive therapy because the teen-ager is often highly motivated to seek help," Dr. Cochran added. "He is in a period of self-searching and often self-doubting, and stuttering problems add a serious burden to his efforts at establishing a healthy sense of self-identity. Stuttering is one of the most handicapping of speech problems.

The first day of the clinic June 16 will be "intake day," Dr. Cochran noted. Teen-agers and their parents will spend the day undergoing interviews and speech evaluation and orientation sessions.

Beginning June 17 and running through Aug. 5, the young men and women will take part in therapy sessions from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. five days a week. Faculty at the Speech and Hearing Clinic as well as graduate students in speech pathology will conduct the sessions.

Mrs. Leland Dean and daughters Fawnda and Tonya

Newcomers In Profile

Returns To Hereford

By JANIE REINART
Staff Writer
"They came back!" After four months of living in Longview, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dean and two daughters, Fawnda 6 and Tonya 5, have returned to Hereford.

Born and reared in Muleshoe, Leland and Louise Dean moved to Lubbock where Dean attended Tech and graduated in 1965, then to Farwell and on to Hereford in 1967 where they stayed for two years. Longview was their next home before returning to Hereford.

"Seems like all we've done for the past few years is move from place to place, house to house. I hope this time is more permanent, I'm sure it will be. We like Hereford real well," says Mrs. Dean.

The weather is what they miss most in Longview as it was always so warm and beautiful there. "We've had to face the dirt and wind all the way here and it's just been awful for the family's allergies," she said. The past week Louise has been busy painting and cleaning up their new home at 127 Sunset Drive. They hope to be settled by the end of June, in time for the arrival of their third child expected the first of July. They're hoping for a boy.

Mrs. Dean enjoys the many trials of being housewife and mother, including sewing for un-immunized children in the lower economic groups rather than affecting all ages and socioeconomic groups. In fact, Texas has more than 200,000 newborns every year. Close your eyes to immunizations for just five years and you have more than a million children in the one-through-five age bracket who may be susceptible to polio.

If you are a parent, don't take a chance on your child becoming a statistic, advises the State Health Department.

Polio cases on a national scope now occur primarily in

July Workshop Is Slated For Singing Teachers

Portales (Special) — Singing teachers from 10 states are to attend a workshop on voice teaching, opera production, and choral work July 12-17 sponsored by the Eastern New Mexico University School of Music and the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Delegates from Nebraska, Missouri, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico are to take part in the five-day session featuring several prominent music educators and Eastern faculty members.

Director of the workshop is Louis H. Diercks, visiting professor in music at Eastern. Diercks came to Eastern in 1966 after 33 years of teaching at Ohio State University. His work in developing the vocal and choral departments there brought him national and international recognition.

Dr. George Umberson, chairman of the vocal department at Eastern, will be assistant workshop director. He has become her daughters, baking, cooking, doing yard work, and as a hobby, antiquing.

As a family they enjoy swimming to the full extent of the sport.

Dean, a salesman for Farm Builder, main office in Phoenix, Ariz., travels each Friday to the district office located in Lubbock.

Farm Builder, a new name in Hereford, is spread throughout areas in New Mexico, Arizona and parts of Texas.

Dean will leave today to attend renewal school in Phoenix for the week.

Having received his pilot's license, he also enjoys flying and spends much of his leisure time in doing so. He also likes to hunt during quail and pheasant seasons. He is a member of the Civil Air Patrol.

Six-year-old Fawnda is looking forward to September when she will attend Northwest Elementary as a first grade student.

They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Summer Jobs -- Who'll Get Them?

WASHINGTON — According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, 2.7 million students will be looking for summer jobs this year, along with a million high school and college graduates seeking permanent employment.

In an article in the Spring issue of the Occupational Outlook Quarterly, the Bureau suggests that the best employment opportunities for boys are offered on construction sites and with maintenance crews or in factories and on farms.

A small percentage of college men can hope to find jobs in professional and technical occupations; however, opportunities are limited. Another small group may find employment in the service industries, working as guards or waiters, for example.

Young women will find their best opportunities in clerical positions. About 40 per cent of the girls employed last summer worked as stenographers, secretaries, file clerks, typists, and "girl Fridays." The next largest number worked as counter and fountain workers, hospital attendants, and camp counselors. A few found jobs in factories or in professional and technical occupations.

Many of the choicest summer jobs have already been filled. However, hiring of waitresses and busboys for resort hotels is often done in May and certain other jobs open up around that time. The Bureau warns that competition is expected to be as keen this year as last. The earlier application is made, the better the opportunity of landing that all-important summer job.

Free reflective tape will be applied to youngsters' bicycles Saturday in a "Lite-A-Bike" program to be conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its ladies' auxiliary.

Tape will be applied to bicycles at the parking lot on 4th and Schley, north of the court house, from 10 a. m. to noon and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Strips of reflective tape will be put on the rear fender, handlebars and front forks of the bicycles, making each bike visible after dark from all angles.

"The highly reflective tape — the same material used in reflective traffic signs and license plates — is visible at distances up to 1,500 feet in the headlights of an automobile.

Youngsters shouldn't be out bike riding after dark, but if they are, their bikes ought to have reflective tape," said Dick Oakes, director of the local project.

Paralytic polio is still a disease to be reckoned with, but history has shown that the disease can be eradicated by a comprehensive immunization program, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Before the vaccines were available, polio was a disease to be lived with. But with the coming of vaccines, and their acceptance by the people and the medical profession, the decline in paralytic polio has been dramatic. Research in this field had been underway for years before the development, first, of inactivated poliomyelitis vaccine, licensed in 1953, and then of live oral polio-virus vaccine, licensed in 1961.

Because of the availability and general use of effective polio vaccines, the epidemiologic pattern of poliomyelitis in the United States has changed markedly.

In 1955, for example, there were 14,850 cases of paralytic polio and 1,053 deaths in the United States. Eleven years later there were only 108 paralytic cases and seven deaths. This decline is directly related to mass immunization programs throughout the country.

But what of the incidence of the disease in Texas?

During the last 10 years the number of paralytic cases has fluctuated from a high in 1962 of 186 cases to a low in 1969 of only six cases. Total number of cases in this period, was 485. In 1966, when Texas had 73 reported cases of polio, the Lone Star State had two-thirds of all cases (106) in the United States.

The Texas State Department of Health has led the fight against polio and pushed constantly for immunizations. During the 10 years from 1960 through 1969, the Health Department doses of vaccine.

Tisdale-Wagner Vows Exchanged At Clovis

Mrs. Charles J. Wagner nee Beverly Tisdale

In a morning ceremony Tuesday, Beverly Kay Tisdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lemons of Hereford, and Charles J. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wagner of La Pryor, Tex. exchanged wedding vows in First Methodist Chapel at Clovis, New Mex. Dr. Ed Hamilton officiated for the double ring vows.

Two 7-branched candelabra with cathedral tapers formed a background for the marriage ceremony.

Miss Peggy Lemons, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Richard Sims served as best man.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal empire gown of candlelight knit lace over satin with a satin panel extending from the back waistline to the hemline. Her veil of illusion fell from a beige satin bow and extended to chapel length. She carried a bridal bouquet of orchids with blue, satin streamers. Her only jewelry was her mother's wedding band.

The maid of honor wore a street-length double knit pale blue frock with white accessories and carried a nosegay of orchid pompon chrysanthemums with blue streamers.

For a honeymoon trip to San Antonio and Mexico the bride's traveling ensemble was a black and white silk dress and coat with black patent accessories.

They will be at home after May 4 at 112 Ave. H No. 13.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. J. J. Barlow, Billie Wayne Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Omev and Sabra Tra- weck.

Patty Zaring won third in Poetry Interpretation, Saturday at Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Thompson of Amarillo visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Heiselman and family.

Miss Cynthia Ann Shipp Weds Reese Dawson Jr.

Wedding vows of Miss Cynthia Ann Shipp and Reese Allen Dawson Jr. were spoken in a double ring ceremony at the Avenue Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. Don Larkin, pastor, conducting the service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Shipp of Summerfield and Mr. and Mrs. Reese Dawson, 302 Ave. J in Hereford.

Baskets of pink roses at the altar made a background for the ceremony.

Miss Carla George was maid of honor and best man was Johnny Gooch.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a two-piece white polyester and lace street length dress fashioned with a V-neckline and long sleeves. The hemline of the pleated skirt was ruffled and she wore a bouffant veil of illusion, attached to a pearl tiara. Her shoulder bouquet was pink roses.

A reception honoring the couple was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lance Jr.

The bride's table was laid with white satin and held an arrangement of pink roses. The 3-tiered wedding cake was topped with the traditional bride and groom. Cake was served by

EMBARRASSED ANNOUNCER

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — The announcer on Rhodesia's only television channel began a news item about an African wanted for housebreaking. As he said police were appealing for information about the man, on the screen flashed a picture of Chief Leabua Jonathan, prime minister of the tiny African kingdom of Lesotho. "It was just one of those things," mumbled an embarrassed station spokesman.

Farmers Union Opposes Policies Of State Board

Texas Farmers Union has expressed extreme dissatisfaction at the administration and regulation of programs by the Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Service.

It unanimously adopted a resolution asking the Dean of Agriculture at Texas A&M University as well as the director of the Feed and Fertilizer Service to see that the enforcement of the feed and fertilizer laws is strengthened with adequate manpower and funding.

The resolution said Texas Farmers Union strongly opposes any weakening of the feed and fertilizer enforcement regulations and opposes the diversion of funds to production research until the enforcement of the law is properly manned and funded.

It specifically pointed out that the penalty for enforcement should not be reduced from a "felony" to a "misdemeanor."

The 40 members of the board of directors who attended the meeting in Waco last week adopted a resolution urging the next general session of the Texas Legislature to make a study to see if the consumers of feed and fertilizer are being adequately protected by the Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Act.

Maseru, a tiny African country exported a record 29,787.51 carats of diamonds worth $1,600,903, in 1969, the government announced.

Study Answers Questions On Water Movement

LUBBOCK—What actually happens to water from irrigation or rainfall when it comes in contact with both wet and dry soil? Does the water stay in the upper levels of the soil, or does it move through the soil and into areas where it is not available for plant use?

With these questions in mind, Mohammed Idris, a graduate student from East Pakistan, set out to conduct a study at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. Idris will be the only soil physicist with a doctorate degree in the entire country.

The graduate student began his study at the Lubbock Center in April of last year, working with Dr. Charles Wendt, a soil physicist, and Dr. Otto C. Wilke, an agricultural engineer. Both Wendt and Wilke have been working in the field of plant-soil-moisture relationships, especially concerning water conservation and evaporation suppression.

Idris conducted his research on both wet and dry soil, using tensiometers at different soil depths to measure soil water pressure and a neutron probe to measure the amount of water present in the soil. The soil was loam to clay loam, commonly called "mixed," which is generally found in many locations on the South Plains.

In one of the plots with dry soil, Idris applied three inches of water. By the time measurements could be made following irrigation, all but 1.73 inches of the water had moved through two and one-half feet of soil into a caliche layer. The plot was then covered to prevent evaporation, and after three weeks, only 0.75 inches of the three inches originally applied remained in the soil above the caliche. Only this amount is considered available for plant growth.

In another dry plot, a similar test was conducted with the same general results. A total of 1.2 inches of water of the three inches applied remained in the soil above the caliche immediately after irrigation. The plot was not covered, and at the end of 16 days, all this water had evaporated so there were no benefits from the irrigation.

Idris tried the same test on wet soil, applying 1.2 inches of water and then covering the lot to prevent evaporation. Only 0.53 inches of the water applied remained in the soil above the caliche immediately following irrigation. After 21 days the soil was back to its original moisture level preceding the irrigation.

Wendt believes some practical information can be taken from these studies. "First of all, when preplant irrigation water is applied to mixed soils that are already wet from fall rains, much of the irrigation water will be lost into the caliche," he explains. "Also, if irrigation water is applied a month or more before planting, most of the surface moisture will be lost to evaporation."

Some farmers may feel that irrigating is necessary to settle the land or to wet listed beds. Under these conditions, irrigation every other row may be odds are high for adequate rainfall by planting time, adds the soil physicist.

"All this points to," says Wendt, "is that it would be wise for farmers to check their soil to see if irrigating is really necessary. Every effort should be made to save our water, especially since the underground water supply is diminishing at an alarming rate."

Looking at the future, when water will become even more scarce, Wendt believes that other types of irrigation systems must be considered. These include sprinkler and sub-irrigation systems that apply small amounts of water frequently. Also, the installation of impermeable plastic mulches in the soil profile offers a possibility for retaining moisture in the root zones of plants.

Pollution Expert Speaks At Tech

LUBBOCK — A visiting chemist noted for research in water conservation and problems of pollution will lecture Monday at Texas Tech and also will be a special guest at the annual Awards Banquet sponsored by the university's Department of Chemistry.

J. Fred Wilkes, vice president and technical director of the Dearborn Chemical International Corp., will speak at 8 p. m. in Room 2 of the Chemistry Building under auspices of the South Plains Section of the American Chemical Society. His topic will be "Water and Pollution — Challenges to Chemistry."

Also honored at the 6:30 p. m. dinner meeting in Tech Union preceding the lecture will be the 10 outstanding chemistry students from South Plains high schools who participated in the annual contest sponsored by Tech's chemistry department.

The winner of the contest will be announced at the banquet. Selection is based on grades, recommendations from teachers and quality of an essay on a topic pertaining to water pollution.

The lecture will be open to the public at no charge.

Wilkes, a registered professional engineer, has served as director of research and development at Dearborn and also has taught electronic communications at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

His special interest fields are in ion exchange, cooling water problems, water conditioning for steam generation and nuclear power.

Chemistry has an increasingly important role to play in water conservation he maintains, because "steadily increasing water demands require development of new sources, sophisticated techniques for water conservation, reclamation, purification and reuse."

Here are only two Bailey straw styles — and we've plenty more. This is the brand most Western hat buyers prefer. The patented U-Rollit styling lets you shape the brim to your individual tastes. Plus, you get the extra wear Bailey puts into every straw. No wonder more people prefer the Bailey Brand.

LOOK, BABY SISTER! ELMO GAVE US TWO TICKETS TO THAT HIT SHOW IN TAMPA TONIGHT!

WONDERFUL! I'VE BEEN DYING TO SEE IT!

OH, DEAR! MY HAIR'S A MESS! I'LL HAVE TO GET A WASH AND SET.

OKAY. I'LL GO TO TOWN WITH YOU AND GET A HAIRCUT.

NOW THAT MY HAIR LOOKS SO NICE, I REALLY OUGHT TO GET A NEW DRESS.

WHY NOT?

AND I'LL NEED SOME NEW SHOES AND AN EVENING BAG TO MATCH.

OKAY.

THESE CULTURED PEARLS GO PERFECTLY WITH MY NEW OUTFIT! CAN WE AFFORD THEM?

SURE. NOTHING'S TOO GOOD FOR MY BABY SISTER.

BUT I REALLY DON'T NEED A NEW SUIT, LUCILLE.

NONSENSE, YOU DESERVE SOME NEW CLOTHES, TOO. AND WE'LL HAVE TO EAT OUT...I WON'T HAVE TIME TO COOK ANYTHING.

AFTER THE SHOW...

WASN'T IT A WONDERFUL SHOW, BROTHER? AND THE BEST PART OF ALL IS IT WAS FREE!
