

Non-Graded Teaching To Be Applied At Tierra Blanca

By JERRY ODOM
Staff Writer

After years of study and research in the field of education, Hereford superintendent Roy Hartman and assistant superintendent Robert Holman decided the time had arrived for various changes in relation to teaching methods in the city's school system.

This test ranged from 1.0 to 7.9 — the average student predicted to be at the level of 3.8. "We had some students who scored the lowest possible on the test which is 1.0 and some who scored the highest which is 7.9. The rest of course were spread in between. "The point is that our entire grade teaching system is based upon teaching all students at the level of 3.8. For some this is too much of a load and for others it holds them back from progressing at their capable rate."

be placed in a room with children of their own age but will not necessarily work on the same material. "One seven year-old may be working on first grade level spelling while at the same time his classmate may be working on third grade level. This system allows for a student to advance upon completion of the curriculum rather than coasting along till the end of the school term. Holman said that keeping students in their own age group doesn't stifle their initiative even though a few are progressing faster. There will be twenty four levels of learning in what is now kindergarten through the 6th grade. After a student has completed the entire curriculum available at one level they will then advance to the next level — many times in the midst of the school year. The continuous progress non-graded teaching system is nothing new to the educational field but next fall will be the first time it will be applied here to an entire school. In the past couple of years the same philosophy has been used in the English courses at Hereford High School. A special class has been established which advances students who are capable of comprehending the work at a faster pace. This class began as sophomores studying junior level English and each year have been studying a level ahead."

After initiating the new program in the Tierra Blanca School, the administration hopes to spread the method throughout all the schools here so as Holman stated "to fill up the gaps."

The gaps mentioned by Holman are the ones in junior high and high school. By the time students graduate from Tierra Blanca it is hoped they may continue to progress in the same type situation in junior and senior high schools. Along with the new system will be applied the practice of inductive teaching. This is where the child is involved by discovering for himself instead of learning things in the deductive method. He will not be as forced to learn but will have the chance to learn from his own work. Recent research has revealed to the educator that students learn as much, retain for a longer period of time, can apply knowledge, and is interested in a greater variety of subjects areas, if his program of learning is structured on the inductive-inquiry-discovery approach to learning. On this premise it is the plan of the administration to build a curriculum program for all students in Hereford, kindergarten through grade 12. When questioned about how the new program would work at Tierra Blanca Holman replied "We're sure it will work. It has before without any trouble in the bigger cities and we see no reason why it won't here. "One problem we may run into is that some teachers are simply not capable of teaching on a multi-level system. This is no criticism but a proven fact. They would rather teach students the same level work because it isn't as stressing."

The philosophy of the new method in Holman's words is "to advance the more progressive students when they are ready and not to pressure the slower ones to keep them up with the rest of the class." This way all students are expected to learn more and retain the knowledge longer.

The local sheriff's department then contacted the sheriff's department in Winchester where the sheriff told the local officers that Pittman was wanted in Winchester for $5,000 armed robbery of a service station there. It was believed that Pittman was also the same person who robbed the bank in Muncie, as the description of the robber fit him. Pittman has been living at a local motel and has been employed by a local seed company for a short time. FBI officials and officers of the Indiana sheriff's department were scheduled to pick Pittman up and take him back to Indiana.

Talks Offered During Public Schools Week

In observance of Public Schools Week, which has traditionally been proclaimed by the Governor for the first full week in March, local school officials will be available to give talks to any service, civic, church and women's organizations.

In order to make this year's observance more meaningful to the citizenry of Hereford, several members of the administrative staff of the Hereford Public Schools are making themselves available.

The purpose behind this is to increase public understanding of education in general and of the Hereford school program in particular. These speakers will give figures on growth, patterns in enrollment, descriptions of new programs and teaching strategies that are being piloted here in Hereford, and a succinct picture of what is happening in the curricular areas of science, English, social studies, math, and foreign languages throughout the country. In short, the "what is" and "what is to be" will be presented to the public.

Any club or organization wishing to have a speaker for their meetings during that week is asked to contact the Curriculum Secretary at the School Administration office at 364-0606. Topics listed as available for discussion include, school growth, educational change, school finance, migrant education, new teaching trends, speed reading, reading, new English, linguistics, kindergarten, non-graded elementary school, the elementary education and foreign languages.

Also, social studies, secondary education, vocational education, junior high reading, school health, bilingual education, teaching the 3, 4, and 5 year old, guidance and counseling, teaching the deprived children and how parents can help in preparing children for learning.

The Texas public schools, which observed their 115th birthday on Jan. 31, have witnessed many changes in recent years and because of this, parents are urged to attend the schools and hear the talks offered.

The first week in March will be the 20th observance of "Public Schools Week in Texas," by official proclamation of Governor Preston Smith.

The Governor wrote: "During this period, parents are encouraged to visit the public schools, and all citizens are urged to recognize the tremendous importance of our system of education."

"Our goal is to make Texas public schools the finest and the citizens are urged to take an active interest in the school system."

Indiana Fugitive Is Nabbed Here

Danny Joe Pittman, a 21-year-old employee of a local seed company, was arrested by city police officer Billy Don Hodges here Wednesday after a lengthy investigation led to the discovery that Pittman was wanted for armed robbery of a service station in Winchester, Indiana.

Pittman was arrested Wednesday afternoon in the 300 block of West First after it was discovered by Hodges that a warrant had been issued by the Winchester sheriff's department. Last Tuesday Hodges ran a check on Pittman through the Austin law enforcement office and was informed that he was wanted for theft in Winchester.

A warrant was obtained from Judge Jim Neill and Hodges began the search locally for the fugitive. The warrant was issued for interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

Following the arrest by Hodges, the fugitive was taken to the county jail where he was booked. During the process of going through his personal belongings, two $500 money wrappers were found and a ring estimated to be worth about $500. The wrappers were marked from Muncie, Indiana where a robbery of a bank had been reported on the same days as the markings on the wrappers.

The local sheriff's department then contacted the sheriff's department in Winchester where the sheriff told the local officers that Pittman was wanted in Winchester for $5,000 armed robbery of a service station there.

It was believed that Pittman was also the same person who robbed the bank in Muncie, as the description of the robber fit him.

Pittman has been living at a local motel and has been employed by a local seed company for a short time.

FBI officials and officers of the Indiana sheriff's department were scheduled to pick Pittman up and take him back to Indiana.

AFS Students Need Housing

The local American Field Service chapter is seeking families interested in serving as hosts for next year's exchange students. It is important that these students experience the American way of life as a member of a family.

AFS is looking for a family with a big heart, open mind, and sense of humor who will be understanding, appreciative of individual differences, cheerful and adaptable as well as open to the pleasure of a deeply human experience.

The host family will be responsible for providing affection, care, guidance and food and lodging.

The student's other expenses will be paid by the American AFS chapter, the student's own family, the school, AFS International besides being sponsored locally for the 70-71 school year by the Hereford Lions Club and the Rotary Club, with the Kiwanis generously offering to help with funds and assistance.

The high school student organizations also participate in sponsoring the exchange student's school activities.

The student, through involvement in a U. S. family, school and community, gains an understanding of the United States, its people, educational system, customs and ideals and spreads this understanding among his family and friends in future years after his return home.

In addition, he brings an understanding of his own country to his American school companions, teachers, family and friends while here.

Any family interested in hosting such a student is requested to apply IMMEDIATELY, contacting Mrs. Gid Brown, 364-2384, or Mrs. J. J. Durham, 364-3553.

Appreciation to the many individuals and organizations generously supporting the program during the past sixteen years in Hereford is expressed by the local American Field Service.

We've never announced a car at this time before. But then nobody's ever announced a car like this before.

Super Hugger

If it were an ordinary sportster, we'd have introduced it at the ordinary time.

Instead, we took the time to build a whole new Camaro.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance.

And added more hood. A faster fastback. Wider doors. And new deeply contoured bucket seats.

The instrument panel wraps around you. With enough dials to make you think you're piloting a 747.

There are four transmissions. And six power plants up to the Turbo-Jet 396 V8 that you can order.

Pick the one that best suits your driving. Then go pick on an open road.

And make it one with plenty of twisting turns. Because Camaro has a remarkable new suspension. And standard front disc brakes for a leech-like grip on the road.

New Camaro. The Super Hugger.

Other sportsters always feared it might come to this.

And they were right. Only their timing was wrong.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

See it. At your Chevrolet Sports Dept.

Farmers Union Plans Membership Campaign

Farmers Union will sponsor a Flying Organizer Program in conjunction with the National Farmers Union this week. Forty farmers from Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa will arrive in Amarillo on the Farmers Union Convair Plane at noon February 23 and will be driven into 11 North Plains counties to spark a massive membership campaign.

The farmers will be hosted by Farmers Union families in Armstrong, Deaf Smith, Carson, Dallam-Hartley, Moore, Castro, Briscoe, Gray, Roberts and Swisher counties.

The families hosting the out-of-state organizers in this area are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Witkowski of Hereford.

This is a continuation of the program that began last November when thirty-two farmers from North and South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas were in Texas for a three-day membership campaign.

Twenty Texas farmers from Collingsworth, Swisher, Randall, Gray, and Hale counties will board the Farmers Union plane at Amarillo to fly to the Lamar, Colorado area for a membership campaign in that area. The Texans will be hosted in Colorado by farm families who are members of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union.

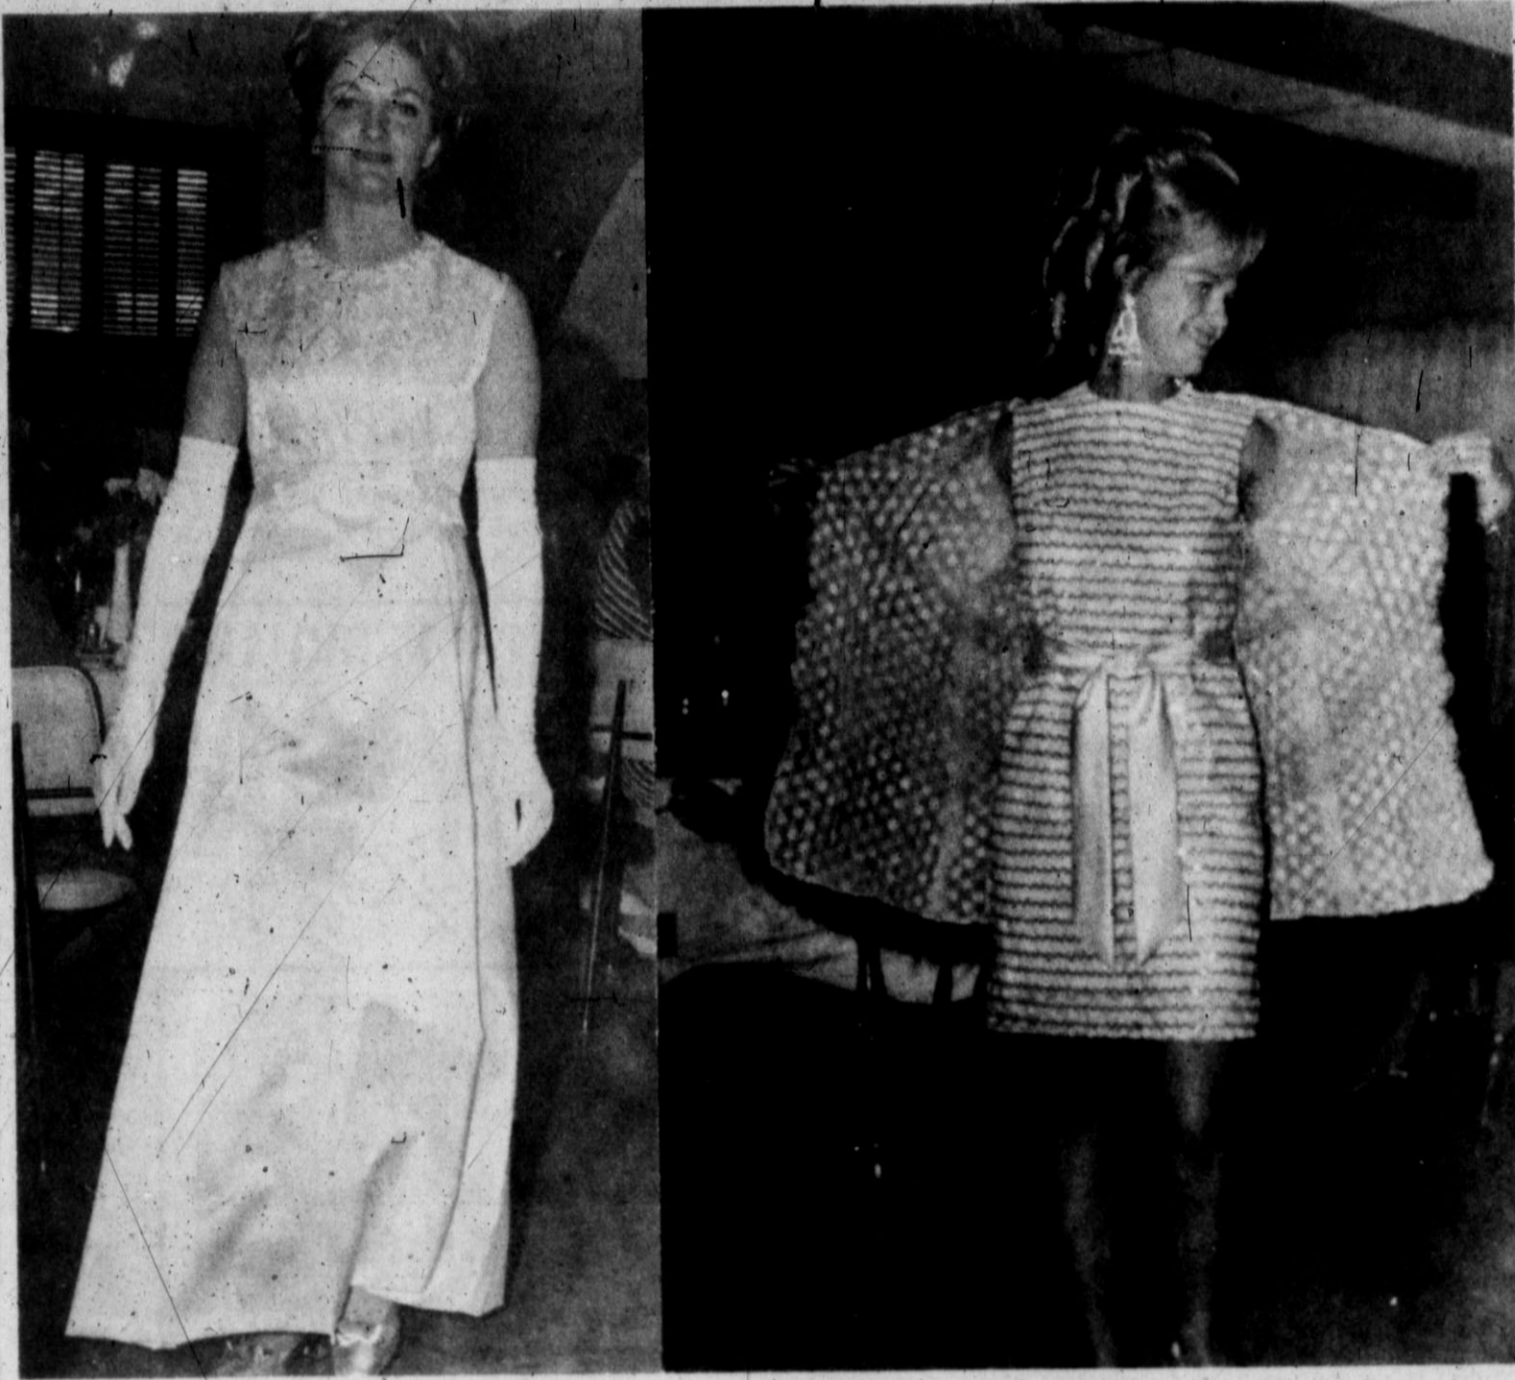

The out-of-state group will be in Texas from Monday, February 23, until Thursday, February 26, when they will be picked up in Amarillo by the plane that will be returning the Texas participants.

In commenting on the second phase of the Farmers Union Flying Organizer Program, Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman said:

"During the three days, February 23-25, we expect to give several hundred North Plains farmers and ranchers the opportunity to join Farmers Union. During the last such program, over one thousand new members were enrolled in National Farmers Union through the membership campaign in six states. We feel that this effort will be even more successful than the previous one."

"Farmers, ranchers, and rural community leaders are concerned about future farm policy and their stake in the loss or weakening of farm programs. I feel that most of them are anxious to get on the Farmers Union team which is working with other farm groups in a Coalition for rural survival."

"This is an important time for farmers across the Nation to understand each other better and to find better ways of working together."

The brilliance of sequins over nylon net is captured in the stunning dress with matching coat and dark brown ostrich feathers added to blend with the natural color of the dress. —Staff Photo

James Gentry To Be Honored At Meeting

James Gentry of Hereford, with a yield of 171.03 bushels of No. 2 corn per acre, has been entered in the 1969 DeKalb 200 Bushel Club. He will be honored at a meeting and banquet of 200 Bushel Club members.

Test weight of the corn was 37 lbs. at 19 per cent moisture. Generally, the weight increases even further as moisture goes down to 15 1/4 percent.

His entry was mechanically harvested and verified by an impartial third party. The yield came from a field of PL-45.

Gentry used such progressive management practices as early and thick planting, good weed and insect control, heavy fertilization and a high population hybrid to attain his yield.

He planted on April 5 in 30 inch rows at a seeding rate of 34,000 plants per acre. His estimated harvest stand was 30,000 plants.

His fertilizer program included

240 lbs. of nitrogen and 92 lbs. of phosphate. Weeds were controlled with Aatrex.

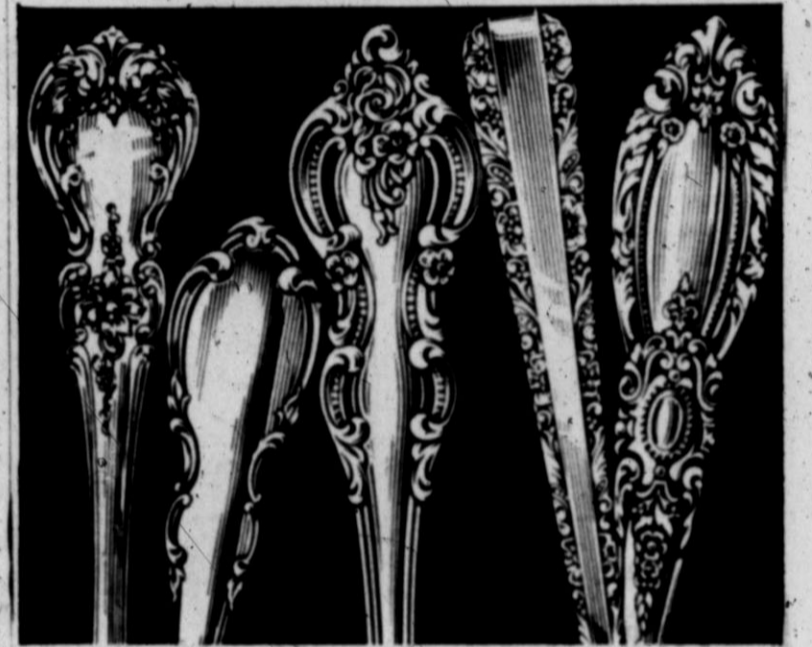

The purpose of the DeKalb 200 Bushel Club is to promote idea exchange, stimulated by friendly competition, among the nation's leading corn farmers. Each entrant in the program provides detailed information on his own corn-growing practices. These data are organized by program officials and a composite of results is tabulated. Through the sharing of this information, the program attempts to encourage practices which will help farmers gain the maximum amount of net profit from each acre of corn.

Here's how it works: Come in and buy a Towle sterling pattern and eat with it for a year. We will even monogram it if you like. If at any time during those twelve months you decide this pattern is wrong for you, return your sterling to Towle. They'll exchange it for another Towle pattern. No questions asked.

Towle's "Second Chance." Now you have something every woman deserves when she is selecting a sterling pattern. The right to be wrong.

Travelers Settle Down

"My husband and I have met some very nice people here in Hereford in a short time and are proud to be a part of the friendliest community we have found in these United States," says lovely Mrs. Ben Larsen.

Having lived "in a suitcase," that is, in motels and apartments for the past 9 years of marriage, the Larsens are very happy to have finally acquired their own home.

Larsen has been with the Wilson Company for twenty years and has recently transferred from Kansas City to Hereford's plant to take on the position as office manager. He has been traveling internal auditor all over the United States most of the time with the company and since his marriage to Carmen in 1961, they have enjoyed every minute of it together.

Mrs. Larsen said when they entered a town they immediately began searching for the interesting points of the town and soon after set out sightseeing.

Carmen regrets not keeping a diary of their travels but instead has over one thousand slides of their trips to Ft. Lauderdale in Florida, Minnesota, New Jersey, Philadelphia, Georgia and many other states, excluding California. She admits to being a "camera bug," and she and her husband hope to catalogue the slides someday soon for further enjoyment.

"Hereford is not a new area to us as we have passed through here many times on our way to visit my parents in El Paso," said Mrs. Larsen. While traveling she took up sewing and sketching and the two of them are now taking bridge lessons, an unusual way to celebrate their settling down.

The Larsens once had some strong hobbies which have deteriorated over the years because of their constant travels.

Born in Minnesota, Larsen's family is scattered somewhat all over the states which contributes to their traveling enjoyment.

Members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, the Larsens recently attended a Knights of Columbus dinner and dance event at which time they "met many wonderful people." Larsen has just transferred his K of C membership from Memphis, Tennessee and Carmen is a prospective member of the Guild. She was elected treasurer of the Newcomers Club last Tuesday afternoon also.

Making their beautiful home at 232 Fir, the Larsens plan to spend the next few months growing a front-and-backyard lawn.

The Union Jack received its name from its use on the jack-staff of naval vessels.

The hummingbird is capable of flying forward, backward, sideways or returning stationary in the air.

Methodist Church Plans Week-end Of Activities

A week-end of Lay witnessing and renewal is to be experienced at First United Methodist Church here this Friday Saturday and Sunday.

The Lay Witness Mission is a week-end of spiritual activity which is a movement of the Holy Spirit being used in a dynamic way to bring a new awakening to our day. Lay people from other Methodist churches in other cities will come and share with this congregation their experiences of how Jesus Christ is working in their lives. This is a Mission of Love to testify that God is alive and working today. This week-end in First United Methodist Church will be "people to people" evangelism to help meet the searching in many lives for spiritual reality.

The activities will begin with a church covered dish supper on Friday, at 6:30 p. m., with some of the visiting lay men, women and youth sharing their witness during the evening. Following this, there will be small group participation for all those in attendance.

Saturday, the church is invited to morning coffees in different homes for more opportunity for sharing together. The youth of the church will have a coke party that evening.

At twelve noon Saturday, the men of the church will have lunch together at Hanna's Coffee Shop. The women will lunch together at the Caison House.

The youth will have lunch in the Fellowship Hall of the Wesley Methodist Church.

On Saturday evening at 6:30, the church will come for covered dish dinner again and will hear more from our visiting lay people, and also have small group meetings again.

Sunday morning the visiting Team members will lead all Sunday School Classes above the nursery and kindergarten ages. All teachers will meet in a special class.

The morning message at the eleven o'clock hour will be given by the Coordinator of the Lay Witness Mission, Mr. Wendell Stewart of Midland. The congregation will all have lunch in Fellowship Hall immediately following the worship service.

Sunday, March 1, at 7 p. m., there will be an evaluation and sharing service and the first service of a Preaching Mission with Dr. Timothy Guthrie of First United Methodist Church, Midland. The Revival will be concluded March 5.

First United Methodist Church in Hereford is extending a cordial welcome to the visiting Team members.

Hereford Study Club Sweetheart Party Held

Hereford Study Club members' husbands were honored with a Sweetheart Party Thursday at the First National Bank Community Room.

A patriotic theme featuring George Washington's birthday was used to decorate the party rooms with quartet tables being covered with red, white, and blue cloth centered with red candles and miniature flags placed in white stars.

The buffet dinner featured barbecued beef served with salads and a dessert. The dinner was followed by games of cards. Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. O. Z. Golden, T.E. Braddy, and Roy Hartman with Miss Gladys Setliff acting as co-hostess.

Messes. and Mmes. attending were Labry Ballard, N. D. Bartlett, T. E. Braddy, S. L. Garrison, W. H. Gentry, Noble Ballard, Merlin Kaul, Bob Poston, Don Robinson, Garland Solomon, Maurice Tamplin, C. R. Winget, J. W. Witherspoon, and Roy Hartman.

Also Mmes. O. Z. Golden, Marvin Knox, Art Stoy, R.N. Yarbro, and Miss Gladys Setliff.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 19 in the home of Mrs. Ed Wilson with Mrs. Melvin Kaul, co-hostess.

on various earlier collections: SPRING THUNDER and OTHER POEMS, 7 p. m. and OTHER POEMS, NOW THE SKY and OTHER POEMS. The subject matter of the poems ranges from "Spring Thunder" and "Former Barn Lot" to "Civil War" and "Most Difficult," this last poem being a conversation with God in which the initiator finds it increasingly more difficult to define the nature of God. All of life, the personal in time and eternity is considered in the poems of Van Doren.

For little children the realities of love are defined in a lovely volume written by Martha Evers and illustrated by Paul Bacon. It is entitled LOVE IS and love is described as being "SPECIAL like a rainbow," "HAPPY," "GENTLE," "BEAUTIFUL like Christmas," etc. For grown-ups it will evoke nostalgic memories of the impressions felt in childhood. Not to be resisted!

THE SILVER CHAIR by C.S. Lewis is the fourth book in the series written about the magical land of Narnia. In this book captive Prince Rilian escapes from the Emerald Witch's underground kingdom. Even adults will appreciate the satire and discriminating statements such as "It's always the stupidest children who are most childish and the stupidest grown-ups who are most grown-up!"

C. S. Lewis also wrote THE GREAT DIVORCE as well as THE PROBLEM OF PAIN, MERE CHRISTIANITY and books of a more serious nature.

Miss Marla Jan Jack Marries Colorado Man

Gilliland Rose Chapel was the setting at 3 p. m. Saturday when Miss Marla Jan Jack of Lubbock and Elliot Wayne Baker of Durango, Colo. were united in marriage. Garland Lipe, of Havana, Ark., officiated for the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Jack, Route 2, Friona and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker of Littleton, Colo.

Large baskets of chrysanthemums and gladiolas in the bride's colors of wine and pink, flanked a branched candelabra entwined with greenery at the church altar.

Mrs. James Perkins of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and best man was Albert Goodwin of Fort Collins, Colo.

Serving as ushers were Galen and Kent Jack of Friona, both brothers of the bride, and James Perkins, brother-in-law of the bride.

Candle lighters were Brian Baker of Littleton, brother of the bridegroom and Miss Deloris Wily of Friona, cousin of the bride.

A program of wedding music was played at the organ by Miss Sue Shirley of Hereford, and she accompanied Mrs. Lon Miller of Lubbock as she sang Because and O Perfect Love.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin and Chantilly lace with fitted bodice and long sleeves. Chantilly lace appliques extended down the front of the slimline skirt and were repeated on the chapel train which extended from the shoulders.

Her short bouffant veil of illusion was caught to a cluster of satin rosettes and she carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias surrounded by chrysanthemums.

The formal wine velvet gown of the matron of honor was complimented at the empire waistline by pink sequin trim. She wore small velvet bows in her hair and carried a long stemmed pink rosebud with wine and pink streamers.

Miss Wily wore a formal pink velvet gown with a wine velvet sash marking the empire waistline, with a wine bow in her hair.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shirley.

The three-tiered wedding cake was served by Miss Trudi Miller of Floydada and punch was ladled by Miss Linda Coward of Lubbock.

Other members of the houseparty were Miss Michelle Sniezek of Albuquerque and Mrs. Thurman Hoover of Floydada.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Michael Wilson of Lubbock.

At The Library

Novel Tells Witty Cinderella Story

At the Deaf Smith County Library this week is the incredible, delightful, and amusing story of a woman caught up in a whirlwind courtship between two men — one whom she loves and the other someone she is only attracted to. Be there when she reaches the moment of realization.

Take What You Want
by Faith Baldwin
For her sixty-fourth novel, Faith Baldwin has given us a delightful, gay, romantic, incredible, and amusing Cinderella story.

Janice Cooper, just over a disastrous love affair with Dave

Peters, to whom she was once engaged, meets handsome, single, friendly, wealthy Whitney Dennis in the law office in which she works as a secretary. Whit is immediately attracted to her, but Janice rebuffs him and reacts most casually to his whirlwind courtship. He follows her to Jamaica, where she is vacationing. He proposes marriage; he knows that Janice is not in love with him, and it is to a business like arrangement. All Whit wants is a warm, responsive wife who isn't romantically in love with him. Janice accepts.

After some months of enchantment, Dave again enters Janice's life, and she must see him. Then comes the moment of realization that she is in love with her husband. This had not been part of their bargain, how can she keep him from knowing? A thoroughly satisfying ending to this charming and engrossing story will delight Miss Baldwin's evergrowing circle of readers.

Mrs. Hewitt Hosts LAE

She stated that her family is especially fond of camping and hiking and in her country, one can walk for three days without meeting another person.

Mrs. Colby Conkright presided at the business session with minutes of previous meet read by Mrs. W. J. Gilliland.

Others attending were Mmes. J. R. Allison, H. L. Benefield, Si Darling, Herman Ford, Francis Hrdwick, W. S. Kerr, Justin McBride, Carl Swanson and Jack Wilcox.

The next meeting is scheduled at 2:30 p. m. on March 5 in the Fine Arts Room of the Deaf Smith County Museum.

had seemingly been smashed beyond hope of solution by a speeding hit-and-run car in New York. No one had claimed her body, and the dark lovely young girl remained an enigma in death as she had been in life. Jane Warren, apparently her only friend, had one clue to Laura's past. She had mentioned a visit to Garth on Cape Cod. The memory of Laura's restless spirit as well as a desire for solitude to recover from a humiliating jilting had brought Jane there in April. Gabe Harmon, the owner of the local hotel, was the first to tell Jane who Laura really was. But neither he or anyone else knew why she had fled to New York, or why she should have acted as if she were hiding from some secret enemy.

Gabe helped Jane to rent the lonely cottage on the sand dunes. Then as the days passed, the peaceful beauty of the place was destroyed by the long shadows of fear, the shadows where a faceless shape of evil waited.

Once again the author of I Came to a Castle has written a memorable novel of love and spine-chilling danger.

GOOD FOOD IS MY LINE

By Red Hagan

Perhaps you'd like to give a "different" kind of party, but you'd like to keep the cost within your budget. For this, I suggest a Hawaiian aloha party. Aloha parties are noted for their informality and friendly sincerity. The hostess can be care-free, setting the time for the whole affair, because the party is easy to prepare. Serve foods that can be eaten with the fingers without knives or forks in wooden bowls, if you have them. You can serve two hot dishes and two cold dishes. For your hot dishes, I'd suggest Crab Puffs, a mixture of crab meat, cheese and onion, wrapped a la Chinese in Won Ton paste; and Rumpaki, a Japanese combination of bacon, chicken livers and water chestnuts. Cold foods could be thin sliced roast pork and shrimp. For fruit, serve pineapple, of course.

Reforms Long Past Due

In October, 1966, the 13-story, 60-acre Chicago Post Office — the world's largest postal facility — stopped functioning. For three weeks.

The backlog of mail amounted to 10 million pieces. Similar incidents have occurred in many other cities. Former Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien has characterized the Post Office's operation a "race with catastrophe." In spite of hard, dedicated work by Postal employees, day-to-day service gets less and less dependable. And the threat of total breakdown hangs over everyone's head. Only true Postal Reform can avert it.

Those profound words may be found in a pamphlet titled "The Post Office in Crisis," now being circulated throughout the nation under the auspices of the Citizens Committee for Postal Reform, Lawrence F. O'Brien and Thurston B. Morton, Co-Chairmen, in support of HR 11750, a substitute bill for HR 4, now before Congress.

The pamphlet details the long, arduous and sometimes almost impossible procedures now required to get approval to build a Post Office, however great they need may be. Because detailed managerial authority rests not with the Postmaster General, nor with the management structure of the Post Office Department, but with 535 members of Congress (435 Representatives, 100 Senators). It is apparent by the bipartisan support of HR 11750, that the people in Washington are duly concerned with what was a great organization when it was founded with the Republic in 1789. The information which we received lists such formidable support as that of President Nixon, Postmaster-General Blount, former President Lyndon Johnson and his Postmaster-General, Lawrence O'Brien. All apparently believe we must have the true postal reform called for in the provisions of HR 11750.

The provisions of HR 11750 will reorganize the Post Office on a self-supporting basis, thereby cutting out of the Federal Budget the $1.2 billion dollars a year taxpayers now pay to subsidize an inefficient service. (Congress will retain it will no longer be trying to run it.) It will provide the means for raising capital to modernize facilities, increase efficiency, improve service and pay better wages, without depending upon government appropriations. The Post Office will no longer have to stand in line and compete for its money with other, more politically attractive, appropriations bills. And supposedly, it will ensure better working conditions, salaries competitive with other like jobs, and increased career opportunities for all postal employees.

It sounds good. And we're assuming, without reading the entire report, that the "self-supporting basis" mentioned above would mean a higher rate for much of the unwanted, junk mail that each of us receives daily. If so, then we offer our wholehearted support. We're tired of paying, through taxes, the cost of getting junk mail that we didn't want in the first place.

Some Other Year

The Nixon Administration's "family assistance plan" is one of those perfectly fine theories absolutely doomed to be nibbled to death as it is put into practice. As the accompanying survey of past experience suggests, in practice the plan almost certainly will not mean a solution to the welfare mess but more of the same.

A solution to the problem requires an outright reassessment of the presumptions and premises that have shaped the present policy and would twist the Nixon proposals. That is, reconsideration of things like the presumption that it is the duty of government to provide a full subsistence income to every fatherless family, or the simple-minded faith that doing so is good for the individuals involved, or that no welfare recipient should be induced into "menial" job. We are not aware that these principles have ever been declared explicit policy, but they undeniably underline the welfare system, especially in the industrial states.

These principles have been most completely applied in New York City, and what have been the results? Relief rolls rose to 12.8 percent of the population in 1969 from 4.4 percent in 1961. A family of four is paid some $3,500 or $3,700 plus free medical care. Poverty has been abolished: is everyone happy now? Any fool can see that this has not resulted in any improvement in the city's general social health, and we entirely doubt it has solved the problems of the families now on welfare.

Reform of welfare means reducing the rate of dependency, and that means starting to draw some distinction tions relevant to the size of benefits. Clearly society has an obligation to the fatherless family, but is it really the same obligation as the one to the blind, disabled or aged? If a family is headed by an able-bodied adult, is it really unreasonable to ask that it contribute something, say $1,000 a year, $20 a week, to its own subsistence? We think not, and we think the family's trouble in earning this amount would be far outweighed by distinctly beneficial effects on its work patterns, cohesiveness and self-image.

Thus we find the Federal portion of the Nixon proposals — which exists chiefly in theory — just about what a welfare system ought to be. The disabled and aged would be supported at a higher level, but most low-income families would be guaranteed some $2,400 a year. They would escape poverty by earning their first $1,300 and as earnings mounted benefits would be cut slowly enough to give them a net gain of 50 cents per dollar earned.

The reality of the Nixon plan, though, is how it would mesh with state systems. In reality, it results in no meaningful change in the industrial states, the very ones that have the dependency problem. In those states, the initial support levels would be near a full subsistence income, and reductions of benefits resulting from earnings would amount to tax rates of 67 percent indeed 80 percent plus at certain levels.

The high rates of "taxation" are a direct result of high initial benefits. If benefits are reduced 50 cents for each dollar earned, and the initial benefit is $3,500, the obvious result is paying some subsidy to every family earning less than $7,000. This is clearly untenable when the average American family earns only $8,000. There are only two ways out of this dilemma, and if you refuse to start with a lower initial level you must reduce benefits so rapidly incentive becomes nearly meaningless.

Or you can forget incentive and rely on bureaucracy to sort out applicants who could work and force them into jobs. This is the thrust of the Nixon plan's work requirement, but this requirement is ineffective because it applies only to "suitable" employment, which means recipients are required to accept only those jobs for which they cannot qualify. In any event, we are not aware of any work requirement that has actually proved enforceable.

One plausible approach to the welfare problem would be to offer the Federal part of the Nixon plan, to get the states out of the welfare business gradually but entirely, and to let the benefit levels in present high-benefit states sink in the process. There is little likelihood, however, that so politically unpopular a course would appeal either to Mr. Nixon or the House Ways and Means Committee.

GOOD NIGHT, SWEET YOUTH

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

Individual Education May Be Forthcoming

Washington, D. C. — Old-fashioned methods of teaching children their 3 R's in elementary school may be discarded in favor of individually guided education in multiunit schools which abandon the traditional six grades, self-contained classrooms and one teacher spending most of a day with a score or more pupils.

Aided by seed money from the U. S. Office of Education, 40,000 youngsters in seven states are participating in the experiment this year. Half of them are in Wisconsin where the new techniques were developed and tested. The method has spread to Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.

Nor is the experiment confined to big cities. It is being used in Cassadega Valley, N.Y., near Lake Erie in Chautauq County. Cassadega Valley had a population of 820 when the last census was taken, or less than the enrollment in some of the individual schools in Wisconsin where the same system is in use.

A multiunit school need not be installed in a building especially made for the purpose. A 115-year-old school in Racine, Wis., is using the new teaching techniques, after only minor alterations in the ancient building. Its wide hallways proved to be an asset and are used as learning centers linking adjoining classrooms.

4 Units Replace 6 Grades

In a typical multiunit school, there are four units in place of the traditional six grades. Each has 150 students, guided by a staff comprising a unit leader, five teachers, a teacher aide, an instructional secretary, and an intern. The leader's role is primarily instructional, so each pupil is exposed to six qualified teachers, not counting specialists in such fields as art, music, and physical education.

Team teaching allows each instructor to concentrate on areas of special competence. It also allows group decisions on the needs of individual children. As one Racine teacher expressed it, "You pool ideas and pick each other's brains. You just don't do this in a self-contained classroom."

Educators have known for years that some children of the same age learn faster than others. A teacher with 20-odd pupils in one room has trouble challenging the fast learners and may rush the slow learners, while trying to set a pace acceptable to the majority.

The multiunit school eliminates this problem by having different groups doing different things at the same time, often in different rooms. Individual study or in groups as small as two is practiced in Wisconsin.

In reading, for example, one teacher may have a group of 25 in a relatively traditional classroom setting. However, at the same time in the next room, 14 students are being given remedial reading. And simultaneously one bright girl is off by herself following a pattern specially arranged for her quick mind.

Foundation Aiding Program
The rule-of-thumb in education is that it takes 10 to 15 years for any innovative program to gain wide acceptance. Since the multiunit plan is less than five years old, it is too new to assess results or determine how widespread will be its adoption.

However, the Charles F. Kettering Foundation, through its Institute for Development of Educational Activities, is lending a hand. It is developing a package of specialized materials for multiunit schools, which will make it easier for the system to be adopted nationally.

The day may come when a person will recall not that "Mrs. Smith was my sixth grade teacher" but instead will say that "Mrs. Smith was our leader in Unit D."

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

GOATS OF THE DEVIL — A unique chapter of Texas history is folded away in the ruins of Camp Verde, in Kerr County. It is the story of how the camel got the Army mule's job, then lost it again.

In 1854, when Secretary of War Jefferson Davis got Congress to appropriate $30,000 so the Army could experiment with camels as beasts of burden, Camp Verde was selected as the training site for the imported beasts which the Comanche Indians called "goats of the devil." From 1854 until the Civil War, Camp Verde camels roamed the West, packing supplies to California, helping to survey the Big Bend of Texas and performing a thousand tasks.

Failure of the Congress to appropriate more funds, plus the beginning of the Civil War, ended the unique experiment to find a pack animal that could replace the mule. By 1869, Camp Verde, "home of the camels," had been deactivated.

On March 26, 1919, fire destroyed most of what still remained of the camp. However, one of the old adobe quarters used by Camp Verde officers has been reconstructed as a ranch home. The visitor who looks carefully can still find the rock outlines of the old camel caravansara.

NON-PARTISAN FORUM — Loafers are welcome at The Country Store in Salado, Bell County, but they can't sit on the front gallery of the general merchandise emporium without revealing their politics.

Two comfortable wooden benches sit on either side of the store's main entrance. One is labeled "Democrats" and the other Republicans.

HOW IT BEGAN — In July, 1878, a group of buffalo hunters camped on the high plains 25 miles from where Lubbock now stands.

They had come from all over the west for this last professional buffalo hunt. The main herd of the South Plains had been slaughtered, and the remaining animals were too scattered to make hunting them for their hides the profitable work it once had been. So the men had gathered for their last hunt.

As they sat around the campfire, one of the weathered hunters began to sing, making up the words as he went along: "Where seldom is heard."

A discouraging word. The moment he finished, a man across the fire from him added another verse. And thus was born the song that all the world was to come to know as "Home on the Range."

CULTURE AT THE CORRAL — When the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo opens February 25, visitors who don't care for cows and cowboys can spend their time at an art exhibit.

As an extra added attraction, the stock show will present one of the largest and best collections of western art ever put together under one roof. Called the "Art for Heart" corral, the exhibit will benefit the Houston chapter of the American Heart Association.

FACTS TO FORGET — Interns at the emergency room of Dallas' Parkland Hospital, which treats an average of more than 100 persons a month for gunshot wounds, facetiously call their facility the "Dallas Knife and Gun Society."

Woman Of The Year To Be Named Monday

Woman Of The Year for Home Demonstration clubs will be honored at an appreciation luncheon in the County Bull Barn Monday at noon.

The winner will be chosen from nine nominees of the clubs judged by an impartial out-of-county committee.

Melvin Young, manager of the Hereford Brand, will present the winner with an engraved silver covered salad tray.

The nominees begin with Mrs. Wayne Sifford who was nominated by the Bippus H. D. Club members.

Mrs. Sifford and her husband and small son live 55 miles from Hereford on the Bridwell Ranch where he is foreman.

She became a 4-H member at an early age and continued as such until marriage. She then joined the Vega Home Demonstration Club until they moved to the ranch, at which time she joined the Bippus club.

Home demonstration work is not new to her as her mother was a club member for 38 years so she was reared in such a home.

She has been an active member of the Bippus club for 5 years and was elected president in 1968, and served for two years.

In 1969 she was elected delegate to the State H. D. meeting in Dallas and is now serving as reporter for the council.

She is a member of the Bippus Church.

Mrs. Leroy Bodkin has been chosen to represent the Wyche H. D. Club as its nominee for "Woman of the Year."

Mrs. Bodkin has been an active member of the club since moving here from Olton in 1963. During her seven years membership she has served a two year term as president, council delegate, one year as clothing leader, vice president for two years, and served on the yearbook committee for two years, and one year for the council. She has currently been appointed to serve on the council decorating committee.

The Bodkins live southeast of town where Mr. Bodkin is engaged in farming. He is an NFQ member and he and his wife have three children. They are members of the Presbyterian church where Mrs. Bodkin has taught Sunday School class for the past six and a half years.

She is employed as dental assistant to Dr. Joe Whitley.

Dawn Club nominee, Mrs. Leroy Johnson, is club president.

past reporter for the Council and is chairman of the arrangement committee for District THDA meeting in Hereford.

She lives on a farm with her husband and three sons and uses the knowledge she has gained from active H. D. work to run her home.

A member of the Dawn Baptist Church, she is a primary teacher in Training Union and a Junior GA leader.

She is active in all the Dawn Community affairs and feels that the rural community must be kept alive.

Members of West Hereford Club nominated Miss Mary Bradley as their choice for Woman of the Year.

A club member for ten years, she is serving the second year as club president and has attended county, state and national conventions of THDA.

She enjoys working with people and teaches a Sunday School class in the Presbyterian Church where she has been a member since she was in high school.

A retired teacher, she is active in Rebekah Lodge and has served in all offices of the local chapter.

An active participant in H. D. Club work for twenty-five years, and a member of Cultural Club since 1956, Mrs. James G. Gandy has been selected by members of the Cultural Club as their nominee for Woman of the Year.

She has served in many of the club offices and has held every office of the county council as well as many committees.

She has attended district and state meetings and has been a 4-H leader for five years.

Members of the First Baptist Church, the Gandys have four children and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Gandy is a member of American Legion Auxiliary and serves in the capacity of secretary-treasurer.

Members of the North Hereford H. D. Club have nominated as their candidate for "Woman of the Year" Mrs. C. L. Whitehead, who has been a member of the club since its organization in September 14, 1931. She is the only living charter member still in the club.

During the depression the North Hereford Club made quilts and cup towels for Boys Ranch and canned food for the boys, both activities in which Mrs. Whitehead participated.

She is now 82 years old and seldom misses a meeting. She has served on the telephone committee for the past several years.

Formerly from Greenville, Texas the Whiteheads moved to Hereford in 1917 and in 1946 lost their only son in a train wreck in Illinois.

Mrs. Whitehead has two daughters, four grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

She is a member of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Frank Brorman, nominee from Ford H. D. Club, has been a club member of six years and has served in various offices, on numerous committees, and has been reporter for the County Council. She strongly supports the Oldham County 4-H program where her daughter is a second year member, and is active in PTA there.

BEWARE OF HIPPOPOTAMI

GABORONE, Botswana — Hippopotami are among Botswana's electoral hazards. Paddling down the Okavango River to attend a political meeting in northern Shakawe, an African tribesman known as 'Dingalo' was seized by a hippo which overturned his boat. As the beast tried to drag him under water, Dingalo kicked it in the mouth and it let go. He swam to safety and nearby tribesmen took him to hospital for treatment of his mauled leg.

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES!

LOSE 10 LBS. IN 10 DAYS ON GRAPEFRUIT DIET

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Word of its success has spread like wildfire. Because this is the diet that really works. We have testimonials in our files reporting on the success of this diet. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 3 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pound every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all there will be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden," such as big steaks trimmed with fat, roasts or fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fat, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still lose 10 pounds in the first ten days plus 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain constant. A copy of this new and startlingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2 to GRAPEFRUIT DIET PUBLISHERS, 1213 Premier Way, Calgary 6, Alberta. Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim, attractive figure of your youth, while enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners.

Miss Kathleen Diller Weds James Knoeber

Miss Kathleen Diller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Diller, Route one, became the bride of James J. Knoeber of Spearville, Kansas, in an impressive ceremony solemnized at 2 p. m. Saturday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Officiating for the double-ring vows was the bride's uncle, Msgr. George A. Husmann, of Sacred Heart Church, Larned, Kan.

Nuptial music was played by Sister Alyce Ann, organist, and she accompanied Sister Lucille as she sang "Mass of the Angels."

Vows were exchanged before a candlelighted altar decorated with an arrangement of white gladiolas.

Miss Colette Ann Diller of Amarillo served her sister as maid of honor and Clem Knoeber of Spearville, was his brother's best man.

Ushers were Larry Hornung, Merle Aistrup, Eugene Diller and Phillip Diller. Given in marriage by her father, the young bride was a lovely picture in her formal gown and chapel train of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace. Seed pearls and crystals enhanced the empire bodice which featured appliques of Chantilly lace with wedding ring collar and elbow length sleeves. The A-line skirt of trellised Chantilly lace fell to a scalloped finish bound in peau de soie at the formal hemline.

Her veil of silk illusion, which flowed to chapel length, fell from a peau and satin coronet and she carried a long stemmed red rose with her rosary.

Red cranberry velvet made the formal A-line gown and train of the maid of honor. Her headpiece was red and white roses and she carried a single long stemmed red rose. White gloves, and shoes completed the ensemble.

The reception honoring the bride and groom was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall where guests were registered by Mrs. Julia Kessen and Mrs. Emily Diller.

The bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake and an arrangement of white carnations with gladiolas and candy tuft.

Presiding at the table were Mrs. Sue Diller, Mrs. Gertrude Kesson, and Mrs. Frank Devine. For traveling the bride wore a cranberry red knit suit.

The couple will be at home after March 1 in Spearville where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

The bride was graduated from Sacred Heart College, Wichita, Kan. and worked for two years with Hope Project in Nicaragua. The bridegroom attended schools at Spearville.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Devine and family and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kesson and family, of Fowler, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Kesson and Mrs. Floydene Husmann, Dodge City, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Diller and family, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Diller of Texline, Sister Mary Margaret and Sisters Raphael and Carmelita, all of Wichita; Sister Mary Marcella and Sister Alyce Ann, of Denver; Miss Margaret Diller of Crownpoint, N.M., Sister Mary Geneva of Hobbs, N.M., Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Husmann and family and Miss Janie Diller of Larned, Kan.

Miss Donna Woodward Weds Charles T. Dean

Wedding vows of Miss Donna Louise Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dean of Summerfield, and Charles Thomas Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dean of Hope, N. M., were solemnized at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Summerfield Baptist Church. The Rev. Clarence Powell officiated for the double ring vows.

Baskets of daisies with blue accents formed the background for the nuptial setting at the church altar.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Johnson of Hereford were honor attendants for the bride and groom and ushers were Jacob Woodward, the bride's brother, and Jim Marsh, her cousin, both of Hereford.

A program of wedding music, which included the traditional wedding marches, was played by Mrs. Gene Streun, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white satin brocade and sheer nylon. The three piece dress was fashioned with high-rise collar and leg of mutton sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was held by a headpiece of satin leaves encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a bridal Bible.

The matron of honor wore a blue satin A-line dress with V-neckline and leg of mutton sleeves with a matching headpiece.

A reception was held in the church parlor where wedding guests were registered by Miss Kathy Haworth.

The bride's table was laid with white lace over blue and held the three tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and groom. Misses Kim Marsh and Jan Dean presided at the table.

The newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Dallas where they will make their home. The bride is a 1968 graduate of Hereford High School and attended West Texas State University.

The bridegroom attended schools in Artesia, N.M. and served three years in the U. S.

Army.

GOOD DEED

CAERVARVON, Wales, — Prince Charles, invested as Prince of Wales here in July, has made a "substantial" donation toward a fund for an 11-year-old boy injured in an explosion four days after the ceremony.

The money, from the Prince's own private income, will go to the 4,300 pounds ($10,320) already collected for Ian Cox.

Ian was playing near the ceremonial route when he stepped on a bomb booby trap. His right leg had to be amputated below the knee.

An aide of the Prince said he had been "personally affected and deeply distressed" by the incident.

The term "Indian" was first given aborigines of the New World by Columbus in 1492 on the false assumption that he had landed in the vicinity of India.

everything."

What they mean by this is that they spill out to their spouse, and the TV audience all past, present and potential future indiscretions. Whether this would be a wise course for the day life is a mute point.

The counselors at Family Service often see husbands and wives who wonder whether they are in some way obligated to discuss with their spouse every action or thought about which they feel anxious or guilty.

Sometimes the situation involves a child. Johnny came home with a bent fender on the Pontiac. Mother had it fixed quietly, because she didn't want to upset Dad. Now she wonders, should she tell.

Sometimes the situation involves a problem on the job. The office is being reorganized, and Joe is terribly worried that he might be fired in the process. Should he tell his wife?

In both cases the chances are

The first English Prince of Wales was the son of Edward I, and was born in Caernarvon, Wales, on April 25, 1284.

that the spouse probably suspects something is wrong anyway. Mother had been feeding the family baked beans and spaghetti in order to pay for the fender, and Joe has been alternating between irritability and hystericalness. Probably telling the truth would avoid more unpleasantness that it would create.

However, there is another kind of situation where the question of whether or not to confess is much more serious. For instance, Jane had an affair before she became engaged. Should she tell her fiancé?

Bob has been taking his secretary out for several months. He's decided that the relationship has gotten out of hand, and that he will no longer see her. Should he tell his wife?

Counselors would not advise such people on the course of action they should take. But they might want to discuss with Jane why she had the love affair in the first place, and why she feels that she must tell her young man all about it. Is it really a question of honesty, or is she trying to indicate to her fiancé that he ought to be more attentive to her, by making him feel insecure about her future behavior? Or is she trying to punish herself by endangering their relationship? Is she afraid that she is misrepresenting herself to him and will be found out? Or does she think someone else will tell him?

Is the husband who took out the secretary really being honest with his wife? Or is he, underneath it all, feeling rather proud of himself because a younger girl showed an interest in him? In other words, is he confessing or is he boasting. And why did he start seeing the girl in the first place? Was it to punish his wife for some real or imagined slight?

Anyone who feels that he must confess to a spouse who would be terribly hurt or horrified by the confession might well consider discussing the whole situation with an objective family counselor first.

It certainly would be helpful to find out why the incident took place, and why it seems so important to tell it to the one person who might be most hurt by the knowledge. There may be a good reason to tell, but the social workers on the staff at Family Service feel it would be wiser to sort out one's feelings and thoughts before opening a Pandora's box.
