

Co-op Pays Off Loans That Gave Rural Areas Electricity

The Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, Inc., made the final payment recently on the original two loans that made it possible for rural areas of Deaf Smith, Oldham, Parmor and Castro counties to have their first electricity.

The loans — totaling $254,000 — were taken out in 1937 when farmers had to use lanterns for the most part once the sun went down.

"This is something that affects not just the rural people but the town people. And not just the town people but the rural people," James Hull, manager of the electric cooperative, said Friday.

"When this program started, for farmers to pay a minimum of $2.45 a month was something that had never been done before in history. Farmers had just never done anything like this."

The local company was organized as a cooperative, non-profit, with the first loan of $135,000 and then quickly added the second loan of $119,000.

Thirty-three years later, the plant is worth about $7.5 million, with 2,500 miles of electric lines in the four counties it serves.

Last year the cooperative realized almost $390,000 in receipts above operation expenses that will go to a fund for emergency expenses for the next 10 years and then be allocated in full to the members. The return will be about 21 per cent of what the persons spent for electricity in 1969, $1,789,637.

"And this is really more important to the economy of the area," Hull added.

"We actually gave away $140,469 in checks last Thursday at our annual meeting." Figuring that the average dollar is spent four times before it leaves the community, that's more than $560,000 extra revenue in the four-county area. About 2,200 persons — those who bought electricity from the company in 1958 — received the capital credits checks, which amounted to 18 per cent of their payment to the cooperative in 1958.

The $140,000 has been in the cooperative's emergency fund drawing interest for the past year. As it leaves, it is replaced by the $390,000 in new "profit."

"Right now we have $700,000 for emergencies. For example, in case a tornado hits. We did have much damage last month, but many did. One cooperative lost 400 poles, which cost them about $100,000. That would have to come out of their emergency fund," Hull said.

The cooperative was originally conceived as a firm to serve farmers in rural areas, but it has expanded to include industrial companies.

"We still serve rural areas, but the complexion has changed because now we also serve commercial electrical loads such as feedlots, cafes, grain elevators, fertilizer plants and other similar businesses," he said.

The change started about 10 years ago, when the first feedyard set up operation in the area. With Holly Sugar and with cattle-oriented industry moving in, the totals leaped upward.

In 1950, the cooperative's members received about 500,000 kilowatt hours. It climbed gradually to a total of three million kilowatt hours in 1961, then began the big jump.

By 1964 — just three years later — the total had almost tripled to eight million kilowatt hours.

By 1968 — another four years later — the kilowatt hours had already doubled again, to about 18 million.

By 1970 — just two years later — the total has doubled again, to 36 million.

"We think it will continue to climb. We don't think it has reached a ceiling. I think it will continue to go up by 10 per cent a year anyway," Hull said.

"The rural growth here is tremendous, it really is. When we go to meetings and hear talk of how the agriculture business is slumping, it's something foreign to us. In other places they talk about the farmers getting older — 50 and 60 years of age. It's not the case here. We have young farmers, aggressive."

A recent survey showed only three cooperatives in Texas that netted more money than the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, in terms of money left over after operating expenses. Eight cooperatives sold more kilowatt hours; 33 had more employees.

The local cooperative has $3,086,000 in loans it still must repay. It must make a payment to the government each quarter toward the loans, according to the payment schedule.

Currently, however, the cooperative is nine years ahead of schedule. The cooperative is more than 50 per cent paid for.

Banks' Deposits Increase

Total deposits in the Hereford State Bank and First National Bank, for the period ending April 30, showed a net gain of $394,287.59 over the total a year ago.

Together, the banks show a total of $32,776,437.36 in deposits and $37,891,037.03 in resources. This compares to the 1969 April call total of $36,353,605.12 in resources and $32,382,149.77 in deposits.

The call revealed $21,737,421.39 in deposits on hand at the First National Bank and $25,633,122.65 in resources. For the Hereford State Bank, they showed $12,257,914.38 in resources and $11,639,015.97 in deposits.

While the deposits and resources were up almost $400,000 over the same period a year ago, they were down $4,599,680.24 from the final call three months ago. At that time, total deposits totaled $36,981,230.01 and resources, $40,924,064.91.

At the last call, the First National showed $28,189,057.72 in resources and $25,342,750.25 in deposits. The Hereford State Bank had $12,735,007.19 in resources and $11,638,479.76 in deposits.

Candidate Sees Change In Politics

By BETTY KOELZER
Staff Writer

The trend in Texas politics is changing, Byron Fullerton, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says.

Fullerton spoke to about 50 interested persons, Wednesday at a reception at the Civic Center.

The candidate sees the voters becoming unhinged from party identity and moving into independence, while "looking at the candidates more and more."

"I brought good humor into this campaign, and I will take good humor out of it," Fullerton said in defining his qualities for the candidacy.

"If you can't remember Byron Fullerton, just remember Ben Barnes and vote for the man that is running against him," he continued.

He called himself a "serious" candidate and not a "token" candidate.

"I have never been a 'token' anything in my life, and I am certainly not a 'token' candidate."

Fullerton made his brief appearance in Hereford, during a whirlwind tour of Panhandle cities, going on to Fort Worth and Houston.

"We're going to make a race out of it," he said determinedly.

"The key issue in this campaign is leadership. My definition of leadership does not include fighting with the governor in a test of political muscle," continued Fullerton.

Fullerton objects vigorously to the proposal to lower penalties for marijuana users.

"No illegal situation was ever corrected by reducing penalties," he said.

His views include discouraging the use of drugs, controlling the use of same, and stopping it, if possible.

Fullerton considers the proposal during the last legislative session to place a tax on groceries a social injustice as well as a political blunder.

Concerning the college riots, Fullerton said, "Listen to what the students are saying. Sometimes, they have good ideas. The students deserve reasoning. Campuses should not be sanctuaries for those exempt from law. See CHANGE, Page 2

Demos Advise Of New Changes In Election Code

The Democratic County Executive Committee Tuesday issued a reminder to precinct judges in Deaf Smith County that they should record a vote for a particular candidate only if the square beside his name on the ballot has been specifically marked.

In a resolution the executive committee passed, it was charged that there were "some inadvertent errors in the tabulations in several precincts."

The Democratic committee emphasized that the errors came in instances where a candidate was running unopposed, and therefore any errors did not affect the outcome of any race. Such mistakes in counting votes, however, "do affect the total number of votes received by unopposed candidates," the resolution continued.

The executive committee instructed its chairman, Lee Witkowski, to contact the Hereford Brand and KPAN "to prepare an educational program to acquaint people with the proper way of marking their ballots under the new Election Code."

The Election Code recently was changed, so that instead of lining out the names of those a voter wants to vote "against," a voter now must place a mark beside the name of the candidate he wants to vote "for."

Under the new election provisions, the precinct judge is to count a vote for a candidate — even an unopposed candidate — only if the square beside his name is marked.

Mike Wartes Wins Election For Student Council Prexy

Staff Writer
By JERRY ODOM

Graduating senior Paul Hendon gave up his position of Student Council President to newly elected Mike Wartes Friday morning in a special assembly at Hereford High School.

Hendon, who was elected to the office this time last year, presided over the Student Council and student body for the 1969-70 school year.

Also announced Friday were the other elected officers to the council executive committee: David Thomas is vice president and Angela Grubbs parliamentary.

Chosen as next year's senior class president was Donny McDermitt. Charles Allison, named junior class president, and McDermitt will work the coming summer with the council executive committee in preparation for next year's activities.

The only office remaining to be filled is Student Council secretary, which will be filled in the fall from students in the upcoming sophomore class.

The new executive group and class officers will now begin working together. This summer they will engage in a summer student council workshop and plan some activities for our student body for the coming year," high school principal Jerry Don George said.

"We want to emphasize the high quality of students we had running for all our offices. They showed this in their speeches, platforms, and the way they conducted their entire campaigns," he said.

"We had several students with a high caliber of leadership running for our offices like, for instance, in the parliamentary race. Even though some weren't elected to an office we hope and feel they will continue to work closely with the student council by becoming a part of it."

The candidates for the executive committee conducted campaigns similar to those carried out on the local, state, and national levels in politics.

The students started their campaign two weeks ago by circulating petitions throughout the student body in behalf of their candidacies.

Music Festival For Schools Is Set For May 21

Preparation is underway in the local school system for the Spring Music Festival May 21 in the La Plata Junior High gymnasium.

The performance, scheduled for 8 p. m., will be a combined effort of all the music departments in the Hereford schools — the bands and choirs of Stanton, La Plata, and Hereford High and the orchestras from the grade schools.

Proceeds from the festival will go toward the establishment of a new and better sound system for the high school auditorium.

Ben Gollehon, high school band director, has been chosen to direct the concert.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Special Census Drive Continues

Have you been counted in the 1970 Census? The number of persons recorded as Deaf Smith County residents could affect a number of programs, especially since the county is expected to be near the 20,000 mark in populations.

Another "Were You Counted?" form appears on Page 6, Section 1, of the Sunday Brand in cooperation with an effort by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to locate all residents who believe they were missed in the official U. S. Census enumeration.

Top Students Are Honored At Banquet

The three vocational departments of Hereford High School — ICT, DE, and VOE — named the outstanding students of each Friday night in the annual Co-op Employer-Employee Banquet at the Civic Center.

Honored were Jerry Odom as top Industrial Cooperative Training student, Juanita Reinart as top Distributive Education student and Linda Vogel as top Vocational-Office Education student.

Each of the students in the program introduced their job supervisors and presented them with certificates of appreciation.

About 250 persons attended. They heard Murray Edwards of Clyde, Tex., the state president of Future Farmers of America, challenge the students to "give 100 per cent every day, every minute, every hour" to achieve their ambitions.

A pound of iron is worth about $5, Edwards said. But if made into horse shoes it is worth about $10, if made into pins and

Mother's Day Calls To Total 5,000

Mother's Day phone calls will require seven additional operators on duty today, says Mike Patrick, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Hereford.

Patrick says that about 2,700 operators handled telephone calls are expected to be made; this is an addition of 1,050 calls more than the normal 1,650 Sunday calls.

About 2,750 directed — dial-coded calls will be made from Hereford today, also, Patrick said.

The peak calling hours are from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and 6 p. m. to 12 midnight. Patrick suggests customers place their calls in the early morning hours or during the early afternoon to equally spread the load.

The lowest possible long distance rates are in effect all day Sunday and since Direct Distance Dialing is designed to spread calling, we encourage customers to use DDD for station-to-station calls," Patrick concluded.

Yes, we'll be the first to admit that it has been rather noisy over at the Hereford State Bank, and we're certainly aware of the inconvenience that we have caused our customers by having the parking lot torn up, but the end result will be something that you will appreciate.

The Hereford State Bank is now in the midst of a construction program that will eventually see a complete new banking building, designed to offer our customers more convenience and more efficient service. At the present time however, we are adding three new drive-in teller windows which will allow our many customers to handle much of their banking business without ever leaving their autos. We think you're going to like it and we know it will be worth whatever inconvenience you have suffered during the construction period.

Amarillo Youth Attempts Suicide In Local Jail

A 15-year-old Amarillo boy almost succeeded Friday afternoon in hanging himself in the Deaf Smith County Jail.

When a local officer walked into the cell to hand the boy over to an Amarillo juvenile official, the youth "was already black." His feet were flat on the floor, and he was leaning backwards, with an old belt tied around his neck and suspended from the cell.

Officers took the boy to the hospital, where he regained consciousness then suffered an apparent reaction to some type of drugs. He wildly fought those around him, and it took eight persons to subdue him long enough to strap him to a stretcher.

The youth was transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, where he was to be hospitalized in the psychiatric ward.

The boy and a 14-year-old Amarillo boy were picked up by a Hereford policeman about 2 a. m. Friday and confined in the jail after the youths said they were runaways, officers said. The parents were notified in Amarillo and told to pick up the boys at 8:30 a. m. Friday morning.

The grandmother of the 14-year-old picked him up, but the 15-year-old refused to go with his father when he arrived. Instead, the youth pleaded with sheriff's officers to let him return to Amarillo with a juvenile officer from that city.

A member of the juvenile office in Amarillo, who was aware of the boy's background, already told Deaf Smith County officials by telephone to let the boy go with his father unless he protested. If the boy didn't want to go with his father, the juvenile officer said, he would have someone from his office pick the boy up.

About 3 p. m., while the member of the juvenile office waited outside, an officer went in to get the boy and found him hanging on the end of the rope, unconscious.

Micronized Grain Shows Well In Lubbock Test

COLLEGE STATION — Preliminary evaluation of micronized grain sorghum, second cousin to popcorn, as a quality feedlot ration base has been completed recently at a Lubbock feedlot, an area livestock specialist has announced.

The term micronization was coined to describe the method of dry heating sorghum grain with gas fired infrared generators, Dr. L. M. Schake explained.

"Originally, popping of the grain was thought to be essential to increase nutrient availability," he said. "However, data derived from feeding and digestion trials indicated that popping was not essential, and suggested that dry heat treatment reducing the grain to about 7 per cent moisture followed by rolling may produce a feed grain with certain unique feeding qualities."

Four hundred uniform Hereford steers were made available for the study by the Lubbock Feedlot of Lubbock, Schake said. They were randomly placed in one of four lots of 100 head each and all were maintained on a high roughage ration containing some steam flaked grain for 20 days previous to the start of the trial, he continued.

"Mr. Chardo Pierce, who devised the process of micronizing grain, was responsible for micronizing the grain which was obtained from the same source as the grain fed by the Lubbock Feedlot," Schake said. "Half of the test animals were fed steam flaked grain and the other half was fed the micronized grain."

"One half of each group was treated with drugs to destroy worms in the digestive tract before the test was started."

Feedlot performance of steers fed rations containing micronized grain rations gained 0.12 pound more a day than steers fed rations containing steam flaked grain, Schake said.

"Conversely, pounds of ration required per pound of live animal gain was 0.20 pound less for steers fed steam flaked grain rations," he noted, adding that these data are consistent with field observations comparing steam flaked and popped grain rations.

Carcass characteristics tend to be rather uniform except for several minor advantages for carcasses resulting from steers fed micronized grain rations, he said. Most of these differences appear in accordance with observed differences in feedlot performance of the steers, Schake said.

"Results of the field trial indicate that both of these processed grains produced carcasses with near equal value with slightly improved feedlot performance of steers fed steam flaked grain rations was $348.09, while steers fed micronized grain rations had an average carcass value of $355.00."

HHS Gridders Improve On Air Attack

Helmets hit helmets in Hereford Saturday and Larry Wartes saw some offensive movement.

ing drills and fundamentals, the Hereford gridsters locked horns in a scrimmage session which revealed excellent prospects of a passing and running game directed by Wartes' son, quarterback Mike Wartes. "He's throwing the ball good, and he's got some good receivers to catch it. Harold Schmucker has made some tremendous catches. Jeff Loerwald and John Sparks also look good as receivers," the coach said. "Wartes" said backs Alan Wagner, Page and Ward are beginning to make good receivers. Ward appeared so Saturday making several receptions and picking up valuable yardage afterward.

We have some offensive players so we're trying to develop our offense," the coach said. Wartes feels that linemen such as Gorman and Lemons along with backs John Page, Danny Charest, and Ricky Ward can stabilize his defense.

"We may run a multiple-type defense again. We're not quite as deep in linebackers as we are in the secondary and the line but they may come on," he said.

"We've got some depth in our secondary with several boys that can play back there. Boys like Gary Lemons, Donny McDermitt, Dan Gorman, and Pat Betzen, guys who have played before, look good on the line. Right now we're trying to find out where boys like these can play on our offense," he added.

"That's actually the purpose of spring training — to get 2 good offensive and defensive boys who are ready when somebody gets hurt. The positions we play a boy on offense, we'll try to play him about the same on defense. We think that's the best way to do it," Wartes said.

"We spent Thursday working on defense and the rest of the time with our offense. We know Wartes said he hopes to know more this week concerning his offense.

"We haven't gone into all our offensive attack," he said, "just eight or nine plays is all we've worked on."

In next year's sophomores Wartes sees Wayne Moton, Ricky Locke, Dale Hollingsworth and Wym Short as good line prospects.

Terry Champ and Danny Harris are our best-looking backs so far. Another boy that looks good offensively is Barry McNutt at quarterback. At quarterback, Rudy Gonzales shows signs of a good future.

year," Wartes said, "and he's had to lay out." Hereford will wind up its first spring training May 22 with a scrimmage game in Whiteface stadium. "We'll try to play late in the evening or that night," Wartes added. "But for now we'll keep working on the fundamentals."

Damage To Trees Needs Attention

COLLEGE STATION.—Tree limbs can be simplified and damage to the bark can be prevented if care is exercised. Make a cut from the underside of the limb about eight inches from the underside of the limb about eight inches from the main trunk. Make this cut at least one-third of the way through the limb or until the saw binds. Then make the second cut from above and several inches farther out on the limb and continue cutting until it can be removed. Make the final cut, he says, flush and parallel to the main trunk. Then apply tree wound dressing to the exposed surface. If trees around the home do not get immediate attention, they may fall victim to insects and diseases which can enter through the damaged areas.

May Is Senior Citizens Month In Texas

May celebrates Senior Citizens Month in Texas and the rest of the country — for the eighth time. Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon have issued proclamations each year since 1963 honoring those people 65 years and older.

The movement actually began in 1953 when New York celebrated May as Senior Citizens Month.

When the movement to select a month for senior citizens began to shape up in the early 1950's those first leaders were impressed with trends in longevity and the increasing life span. They believed that a senior citizens month observed nationally would emphasize this new fact: older persons would be recognized for their judgment, skills, experience and wisdom; outstanding service by senior citizens could be recognized; it was very important to begin early in life to prepare for the senior years; and that such a celebration could tend to discourage or counteract the tendency to segregate older persons as a group apart.

Most people credit a Fort Worth woman, Miss Anna C. Leahy, who was director (in 1956) of Senior Citizens of America, as the one person who so diligently pursued the idea. She is credited, also, with persuading President Kennedy to sign the first proclamation.

In 1959 thirty-nine state heads proclaimed May as Senior Citizens Month and nationwide observance was sponsored by the Senior Citizens of America. By 1960 forty-eight states participated in the observance.

Finally in 1963 the hope for recognition of older Americans came with the first presidential proclamation.

This year 207 Texas county committees on aging will proclaim May as Senior Citizens Month and hold suitable affairs in honor of it.

Following the early pattern for celebration, states, counties, and communities were and still are urged to implement special programs, activities and events to honor senior citizens.

Some of the other aims dealt with unifying agencies and groups working on needs and problems of the aging; to help familiarize senior citizens with services from government, private and educational institutions and to encourage home, school, church, community, state and do about it. Dr. Ted Nicklaus, of Amarillo will speak at Central School at 8 p. m. Thursday. A Spanish interpreter will be present and Dr. Nicklaus will answer any questions directed to him.

A film on tuberculin testing will show what a positive skin test means, and what a parent should do if his child receives a test that shows positive.

"We urge residents in and around Hereford to take advantage of this important meeting," said Mrs. Jewel Smith, of Hereford, a director of the Top of Texas Tuberculosis Association.

JESUIT MOVE LONDON — The Jesuit House of Studies at Hethrop, Oxfordshire, is expected soon to become a part of London University. The move follows concern expressed at the Vatican Council that theological colleges should be linked with secular universities. The idea is that in future Jesuit and non-Jesuit, Roman Catholic and non-Catholic, teachers and students can approach their theology in an ecumenical setting. The Hethrop library, containing 200,000 rare books, will be available to London University students.

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

NEW YORK — Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms—brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and

Life 10 Miles From Town Is More Fun, --And Almost As Convenient As Town

BY SUE COLEMAN

"No different from life in town, so far as conveniences go, and a better place to enjoy living" a young ranch wife describes her everyday routine in a home 10 miles north of Hereford.

In her spacious brick home, furnished and decorated for comfortable family living with touches of elegance, Mrs. Bobby Veigel points to wide views across greening pastures as one of the reasons she prefers to live where she does.

The Veigels enjoy such citted luxuries as air conditioning, twice-a-week deliveries of bread and milk, and daily papers left at the gate, besides taken-for-granted conveniences of paving to the door, school buses and reliable electric and telephone service.

As a bonus, they have elbow room, space for things they couldn't have on a city lot, such as fruit and pecan orchards and stables. From the south front windows they can look in daytime through a grove of young pecan trees to a grassy pasture sloping down into a lake, and at night to the lights of Hereford in the distance.

Ella Marie Veigel's day goes much like that of any busy young mother. She does most of the homemaking chores, with only occasional help. She cares for her three children, shares in their varied activities and in social and church interests with her husband.

"Wherever I want to go in Hereford, I can get there in 10 or 15 minutes," explains the petite blonde mistress of the ranch home, "and if we lived in a city even the size of Amarillo, it would take that long to get downtown or to another part of town. From out here, there isn't the annoyance of crowded traffic and stop signs."

It's no problem, she says, to drive one of the children to music or dancing lessons, and she plans to add kindergarten trips for 5-year-old daughter Holly next year. Just as easy are her drives in for meetings of L'Allegria Club or a group from First Christian Church, or shopping or visiting.

The Veigels' children include Steve, who rides the school bus daily as a second grader, and Vicki, one- and one-half years old.

Married while they were students in Texas Tech, Ella Marie and Bobby Veigel have lived on the ranch practically ever since. Their parents are ranchers, but both families lived in Hereford while the couple attended high school.

When she was a child, Mrs. Veigel's parents, the S. S. Williams, lived west of Hereford before they moved into town where school attendance was more convenient. Williams operated a ranch in New Mexico but the family never lived there because it was located far from schools.

Until Bobby was ready for high school, the Robert Veigel family lived on the ranch but in an older residence, a two-story white house which stands down the drive past the brick home and is now occupied by ranch employees.

Life on the range 10 miles from town lacked many of the present advantages when Genevieve and Robert Veigel began their residence there in 1935, and many of the modernizing changes were made before they moved in to Hereford in 1951. Their home now is at 511 N. Roosevelt, including a studio for her painting hobby. The senior Veigel keeps in touch with ranch interests although he is not so active as formerly.

When Genevieve Veigel was a young ranchwoman as her son's wife is today, her situation was already a far cry from those days when pioneer ranchers lived miles from a neighbor an improved road, minus electricity, gas and phone, so that contact with other people was rare and loneliness was the common complaint of the women.

There was still no paved highway and when it rained the Veigels often had to use a tractor to pull their car to Progressive Road, their main route to town. For a long time there was no telephone service.

"We got the phone just about the time we were ready to move from the ranch," Mrs. Veigel says. At first they used gasoline stoves, "and one caught fire once," and kerosene lamps or the brighter carbide lights, both requiring daily care. Later they installed their own electric system powered with a gasoline motor, and for the first time the housewife could have aids to her work such as electric refrigeration, laundry equipment and vacuum cleaners like those enjoyed by her city sisters. Butane was installed for heat and cooking during their later years there.

Mail delivery and school bus routes were already in operation during their time on the ranch, offering services undreamed of by early-day ranch families in Deaf Smith County and its area.

KEVIN RIGGS wins Spelling Bee

Son Of Former Hereford Woman Is Top Speller

Kevin Riggs, a 13-year-old boy whose mother graduated from Hereford High School, recently won the regional Spelling Bee competition at Ventura, Calif., and will compete in the national contest in Washington, D. C., June 1-4.

His mother is Jacqueline Newell Riggs and his father is Bill Riggs.

Still living in Hereford are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newell, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. J. O. Newell.

Kevin and his parents live now in Oxnard, Calif. He won the regional bee after five years trying. He was a finalist in the 1969 contest.

The contest this year was over in about an hour. To win, Kevin correctly spelled the word the runnerup missed, "vender," and then spelled "urbanism."

The Yakutsk Autonomous Soviet Socialist Republic, or Yakutia, sprawls over an eastern Siberian area equal in size to Alaska, Texas, California and Montana combined.

ON A BREEZY SPRING DAY, with her hair blown across her face, Mrs. Bobby Veigel stands with her two daughters, Holly, 5, and Vicki, a year and a half, beside the high wooden fence which screens the backyard play area of their home on the Veigel ranch just off the Vega Highway north of Hereford.

Ladies' Fly-In Stresses Dilemma Of Rising Costs

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28 — Nearly 200 farm and rural community leaders, taking part here this week in the 1970 National Farmers Union Ladies "Fly-In," emphasized the need to retain farm parity and to make improvements in farm programs which will lead to improved net farm income.

Among the Ladies Fly-In participants was Mrs. Tony Hoffman and Mrs. F. L. Eicke of Hereford.

Calling at the office of every U.S. Senate and House member, the Farmers Union ladies from ten states posed the question, "How are we to survive with lower farm prices and higher farm costs?"

The Ladies Fly-In had converged on Washington at the time that a comprehensive farm bill is in its final developmental stages in the House Agriculture Committee.

The Fly-In participants heard a somber warning from Rep. Graham Purcell, author of the Coalition-Farm Bill and chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Grains and Livestock, that the farm programs are in greater danger than at any time in the past 30 years.

Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, told the women at a House breakfast session that "This is the year of decision for agriculture."

Also speaking at the breakfast, Erma Angevine, executive director of the Consumer Federation of America, praised the Fly-In members for their efforts and urged them to speak up in simple terms of how the various farm and food programs affect them and their rural communities.

At a meeting with Senators from the participating states, the Farmers Union ladies head from North Dakota Senators Milton Young and Quentin Burdick, Minnesota Senator Walter F. Mondale, South Dakota Senator George McGovern, Wisconsin Senators William Proxmire and Gaylor Nelson, Colorado Senator Peter Dominick, and from Gene Godley, administrative aide to Senator Ralph Yarborough of Texas.

At their opening session Sunday evening, National Farmers

Union President Tony T. Dechant told the rural leaders that "agriculture is the only major group being asked to volunteer to accept lower prices and income in the face of steadily and inexorably rising costs."

It is with a feeling of deep gratitude and humility that I say "Thank You" for your support in my election to the Office of Justice of the Peace of Deaf Smith County.

I will do my best to fulfill the confidence you have placed in me by conducting the office in a dignified, efficient and orderly manner.

FTC Imposes Restrictions On Package Coupons

New rulings from the Federal Trade Commission say coupons enclosed in consumer products may contain no expiration date. If a date is necessary, it must be such as to allow purchasers of the product at least six months to redeem the coupons.

The ruling resulted from complaints by homemakers that the coupons too often have expired before the product ever left the grocer's shelf.

Manufacturers who state on the outside of a package or in their ads that a coupon is enclosed also must clearly define the limits of the coupon. They must state what it is for, how much it is worth and what limitations are placed on its redemption.

Smith Honors Veterinarians With Week

AUSTIN — Citing the important role veterinarians play in protecting the public health in Texas, Gov. Preston Smith has proclaimed the week of May 10-16 as Veterinary Medicine Week in the state.

Smith, during a proclamation ceremony at the state capitol, said, "The more than 1,900 veterinarians licensed in Texas have the responsibility of health care and disease protection of the state's $12 billion livestock and meat industry and the medical care of the millions of pet animals that mean so much to our citizens of all ages."

Smith noted that veterinary medicine is a fast growing profession in the state and nation, and has almost 30 interest fields ranging from practice to research, regulatory veterinary medicine, and public health.

A recent nationwide survey revealed that there is one new graduate veterinarian for each 23 veterinarians now in the field. For dentistry and medicine, the figures are 1-33 and 1-40.

A recent $4 million expansion program at Texas A&M's college of veterinary medicine is now producing 125 new veterinarians a year, or one veterinarian for each 15 veterinarians in the field. This rate exceeds dentistry and medicine in Texas 1-24 and 1-39 respectively, according to Dr. A. A. Price, dean of the college of veterinary medicine at Texas A&M.

Smith noted in his proclamation of Veterinary Medicine Week the important role of the veterinarian in health care for the state's livestock industry. Figures for 1970 show approximately 17 million head of cattle, sheep and swine on Texas farms and ranches valued at $1.5 billion.

Drug Workshop Set Next Month At Portales

PORTALES — A workshop to help teachers, counselors, administrators, and ministers design a program for educating students on drug abuse is being offered June 4-12 at Eastern New Mexico University. National, state, and local experts on the problem are scheduled to address sessions of the workshop. It is being cosponsored by Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The course was organized as a result of recent legislative action calling for the education of all seventh grade students in New Mexico on the dangers of drug abuse.

Directors of the workshop are Henry Hahn, associate professor in psychology; Dr. Gordon Thomas, professor in chemistry; and Dr. Garland Tipps, professor in sociology. "An Educational Approach to the Problems of Drug Abuse" is the title of the course.

Mrs. Sue Boe, educational director of the National Pharmaceutical Association, Washington D. C., will lecture June 8 on "The Drugs — Use and Misuse." Dr. Thomas P. Lowery and Nicholas H. Hashey from the New Mexico State Medical Center at Las Vegas will discuss "The Drug Scene and Drug Uses."

The second annual meeting of the Panhandle Economic Program was held Thursday afternoon in Amarillo. Leo Forrest, chairman of the district organization presided. As always, he was very outstanding in conducting the meeting. The membership was enthusiastic about the next twelve months in PEP. We'd like to see the programs brought back to our county or tri-county area.

Those from Deaf Smith County who attended with the agents were: Mrs. Leo Witkowski, chairman of the local Program Building Committee; Hugh Clearman, vice chairman and Sam Morgan, past chairman.

All Texas counties are beginning to work on the state-wide program to increase farm income by a million dollars by 1976. We learned that this date was set because the United States will be 200 years old in 1976 and A&M will be 100 years old.

All areas of farming are included in the scientific planning and improvement. Don't we all hope we can increase farm income by some magic formula?

The membership of the local Electric Co-op was grateful for the payment of the first notes signed to the Rural Electric Administration. It was exciting to get the notes paid in full and also to have them paid ahead of schedule. Two of the directors who signed those notes were Lester Galley and Joe Warren. Others of the original directors may have been at the meeting on the 30th, but I didn't see them.

Who has been riding in a Model A Ford the last week? I have. Gordon Gearn asked us to go for a ride in his remodeled Model A. It brought back some memories of high school days of trips to ball games and school events. Gordon's car is a 1929 Ford and I'd think there's envy of a lot of mechanically-minded people. I never owned a Model A. My first car was a used 1928 Chevrolet which took me to my first teaching job. I remember the exact dollar I paid for it, the good service it gave me and the figure traded in on my next car. There have been many cars in my career of traveling, but none I appreciated quite as much as the first I owned.

State Officials Plan Checks For Water Safety

Respect for water safety regulations and just plain horse sense are two possessions each boater should have as he makes plans to launch his favorite craft this season. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind boating enthusiasts that game management officers will be checking for violations in water safety as well as for fishing licenses as they patrol the State's waterways.

ers or ring life buoys. A motorboat towing water skiers must be prepared to take the skier on board at any time because of accident, sea conditions, skier fatigue, or other causes. Accordingly, water skiers shall be counted as 'persons on board' when determining the number of lifesaving devices required by motorboats towing skiers. At least one lifesaving device is required for each person on board. Lifesaving devices must have the Coast Guard approval number stamped on either the device itself or on a label sewn onto the device. Just having 'Coast Guard Approved' written on the device is not sufficient. Kapok or fibrous glass lifesaving devices are not considered serviceable unless they are encased in sealed plastic bags. Cork or balsawood life preservers are no longer approved by the Coast Guard; however, those reservers having been manufactured and labeled before the effective date of the approval suspension are approved until such time as they become unserviceable. There are a lot of these life preservers in service at this time and if they are stamped with the Coast Guard approval number, they are acceptable. Kapok or fibrous glass life preservers can be checked for serviceability by applying pressure to the flotation part of the preserver. If they collapse under normal pressure, then apparently there is a hole in the plastic bag and they would not be considered serviceable. All life preservers are checked for serviceability by the condition of the flotation itself, the straps, and the condition of the fabric. If the fabric is rotted or torn to the extent that it will not properly hold the flotation material, then it is no longer serviceable. All lifesaving devices on board must be readily accessible to the persons aboard the boat. If they are in unopened shipping bags, display boxes, store containers or stowed in cabins, or locked in deck boxes or otherwise concealed, they are not readily accessible. Texas Press Association AUSTIN — State Board of Mental Health-Mental Retardation accepted the resignation of state MH-MR Commissioner John Kinross-Wright and appointed a committee to look for a new commissioner. Committee consists of MH-MR Chairman Ward Burke of Lufkin; Dr. Charles H. Brown, a Wichita Falls psychiatrist; Dr. Robert S. Tate Jr., pastor of the First Methodist Church of Austin, and Edwin R. Van Zandt, Beaumont newspaper executive.

First three appointees were among the six board members who had requested Kinross-Wright's resignation. Van Zandt was one of three board members who wanted the commissioner to continue heading the health center program. Controversy flared into a firing when Kinross-Wright asked for the resignation of Deputy MH Commissioner Dr. Gary Miller, and Kinross-Wright ultimately bowed out.

Finding a new commissioner will not be an easy task. When the old Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools was converted into the Board for Mental Health-Mental Retardation in 1963—and the new law charged that a commissioner must be a physician. Finally, Dr. Shervert Frazier of Baylor University Medical College was persuaded to take the job on a part-time basis. That didn't work out well for Frazier, or the system, and Kinross-Wright was lured from the Texas Research Institute for Mental Sciences in Houston three years ago.

His tenure was ridden with strife, as a segment of board members led by Dr. Tate charged that the commissioner neglected the community mental health center program. Controversy flared into a firing when Kinross-Wright asked for the resignation of Deputy MH Commissioner Dr. Gary Miller, and Kinross-Wright ultimately bowed out.

Miller literally was waiting in the wings this week (having refused to accept his firing) as a hopeful for the vacancy. Gov. Preston Smith's comprehensive health planning director, Dr. David Wade of Austin, a psychiatrist who formerly headed the Texas Medical Association, was being mentioned as a possibility. But Wade insists he is committed to his present health planning pursuit. Whatever the committee does will be subject to criticism by some segments of state mental health and state mental retardation organizations.

AG OPINIONS — Attorney General Crawford Martin ruled that Hidalgo County voters who signed a petition to nominate Raza Unida Party candidates for county and precinct offices signed a valid document, but could invalidate it if they participated in any other party primary. So, the candidates may not have a clear path until the primary lists are checked against the petition signatures. Martin also held that:

— An independent school district may deduct union dues from the wages of its custodial and maintenance employees with their authorization.

— New Texas Commission for Rehabilitation is the legal successor to all functions of the Texas Education Agency's divisions of vocational rehabilitation and vocational determination.

— In Harris County, probate instruments must be filed under the direction of the county clerk.

— Funds subject to escheat and held in trust by a district or county clerk are subject to being reported to the state as abandoned personal property.

PARKS & WILDLIFE — State Director of Wildlife Services, E. A. Walker informed the Parks & Wildlife Commission that LBJ State Park will be completed by June 15. Only the National Park Service's exhibits and amphitheater in the state park remain to be completed. Walker said the federal service is making exhibits and taping former Pres. and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson for "accents" for exhibits. Commission approved construction of a $3 million Corpus Christi water exchange pass across Mustang Island, and estimated that construction will begin in August.

Computer would send a print back to the apprehending officer within 30 seconds, indicating whether a person is wanted, the number of previous traffic violations, and so forth.

"TALKING LICENSE" — Texas Public Safety Commission is considering possible future use of a "talking driver's license." Project is under development by DEK Processes Division, the firm that makes pictorial licenses for the state.

Purposed "talking" license would resemble a credit card and provide DPS officers with an instantaneous method of checking on drivers. Card would have a magnetic number on the back (in computer code) which could be fed to a computer center over police radio.

Computer would send a print back to the apprehending officer within 30 seconds, indicating whether a person is wanted, the number of previous traffic violations, and so forth.

NATURAL FIBER STUDY — Chairman Charles Scruggs of the Interim Committee on Natural Fibers appointed subcommittees to assault the problems of the state's natural fiber industry. "Our goal is to add a billion dollars to Texas' farm income in five years," Scruggs said. "That's why we don't just want to write a report. We hope this will be an action committee."

Scruggs named the following to the subcommittee on cotton, wool and mohair export development: Rep. Hilary Doran of Del Rio, Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville, Hillsboro Cotton Farmer Dan Putejovsky and Natural Wool Growers Pres. James Powell of Fort McKavett.

To study textile industry development he appointed Sens. J. P. Word of Meridian and W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland, Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday and Scruggs. To study producing and marketing systems development, he appointed Rep. Delvin Jones of Lubbock, Sen. Snelson, Powell and Pustejovsky.

JUDGES' VIEWS ON MARIJUANA SOUGHT — While other politicians and state officials argue about what penalties should be applied to persons possessing marijuana, Governor Smith decided to ask the men who mete out the punishment.

So, he had Harold K. Dudley, director of the Governor's State Program on Narcotics and Drug Abuse, and send a six-part questionnaire to every district judge in Texas. Query asks if the penalty for possession should remain a felony or be changed to a misdemeanor. And — if a change is advocated — should it be changed on the first offense, or the second and subsequent offenses.

Dr. E. S. Cox, U.S.D.A. Animal Health Division Regional Director, announced the lifting of federal hog cholera quarantines from Bosque, McLennan, Falls, Lavaca, and Lee Counties.

Texas Association of Sigma Celta Chi, the professional journalism society, named Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston "Friend of Journalism for 1969" in recognition of his sponsorship of the 1969 Open Meetings Law.

Mrs. Patti Lynn Glenn of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Vicki Jean McArthur of Houston were highest scorers in the Texas of Vocational Nurse Examiners' examination. They scored 718 when only 350 was required for passing. A total of 785 persons took the exam.

Governor Smith appointed Jim T. Goodwin, currently with the Texas Water Development Board, to be his Natural Resources Coordinator for the Interagency Natural Resources Council.

American Cowboy Still Exists Today

Available at the Deaf Smith County Library this week is a novel about a cowboy, content with the cowboy life, cattle trading, and bronc busting ways rather than planes or cars. If you're a cowboy fan check into this book today.

JIM KANE

by J. P. S. Brown

So much has been written about the American cowboy of the past that most readers assume that real cowboys no longer exist. This is not true, and it will never be true as long as we keep eating beef. Throughout the western states there are still to be found huge ranches where men ride out horseback tending cattle and they use skills and techniques much the same as those used a hundred years ago when cowboying began.

This virile novel is about one of these men and his way of life in Arizona and Mexico. Jim Kane is a cowboy, a cattle trader, a bronc buster, and a man determined to live according to his own private principles. When airplanes or trucks or cars serve his purpose best he uses them, but he is never happier than when he is on horseback, and if other men make more money sitting at a desk he would not trade places.

The story begins when Kane is deep in the mountainous interior of Mexico bringing out five truckloads of horses he has bought with borrowed money.

He has hopes of turning a considerable profit, but a combination of calamities conspire to deny those hopes and he is forced to return to Arizona and a job of breaking colts on a desert ranch. Later he returns to Mexico to buy cattle on a commission basis for rodeo stock, only to be betrayed by the men he thought he represented; but his great love of the land and the people keeps drawing him back to the lonely mountains and wild ranges of Mexico where a man with his skills is still valued.

As a 'gringo' Kane knows that he will never be totally accepted by all the Mexicans, but by dealing with them with scrupulous integrity and by recognizing their values as valid he makes many friends. He is severely tested along the way, but his triumphs outweigh his failures and the reader is left with the conviction that Jim Kane and his kind will endure.

THE LAST CONCUBINE

by Frances Shelley Wees
The last emperor of China had a concubine with whom he was much in love. In the year of the Boxer Rebellion he was forced to flee the Forbidden City. The concubine also escaped, taking with her the magnificent jewels he had given her, chief among them a historic necklace of great beauty. In a few months she had a daughter, but the Emperor never knew that there had been a child.

It is the year of the Great Leap Forward. Lyn and Michael Brian, a gem buyer, are touring China with the Canada League for International Understanding. Lyn wears a copy of a beautiful old Chinese necklace which arouses strange reactions wherever they go, and she apparently despises her husband.

Nora Miller, with a journalist's instincts, suspects a plot to smuggle jewels out of the country. Fearing that the entire group may be endangered, she trails Lyn through the crumbly streets of Peking.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: I am enclosing a copy of a Resolution passed by the Democratic County Executive Committee on May 5, 1970. It should have been published in the Thursday edition of the Brand, but I understand that you were not given a copy. The resolution follows:

"WHEREAS it has come to the attention of the County Committee that there has been some inadvertent errors in the tabulations in several precincts; and

"WHEREAS these errors consisted of counting a vote for an unopposed candidate even though his square was not marked on the ballot; and

"WHEREAS these errors do not affect the outcome of any contested races but do affect the total number of votes received by unopposed candidates;

"NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Democratic Executive Committee ask the Chairman to remind all precinct judges that the law requires voters to vote for a candidate for their vote to be counted unless another intent by the voter is clearly intended on the ballot; and

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Chairman be instructed to contact the paper and radio station to prepare an educational program to acquaint people with the proper way of marking their ballots under the new Election Code."

As a rule, resolutions are usually dull and uninteresting to most people, appealing to only "in groups." However, this resolution is of striking importance to all voters, and should be read and studied by all concerned people in our county.

The new election code in the State of Texas implements a number of changes from the way we used to vote. The major change is that we now vote FOR candidates by placing a mark beside their name instead of voting against those we do not want by lining through their names. This means that if the voter does not mark on the ballot beside a name, he does not vote for that candidate.

As a citizen of this County and the State of Texas, I resent my ballot being counted as votes for candidates in those places where I purposely did not mark because I did not wish to vote FOR particular candidates. I consider my right to vote to be a serious responsibility; and after study and contemplation about how I shall vote, it is frustrating to know that my ballot may have been erroneously counted.

I would add that I do not raise the question of intent on the part of those who counted the ballots, I do understand how the errors could have happened in light of the changes in the Election Code. It does not change the outcome of the Primary Election in races where two or more candidates were running for an office. But it does make a difference in the number of votes reported for candidates who ran unopposed. And there is some danger in that.

There were 2,343 total votes cast in the Democratic Primary in our County. (Incidentally, this was not the figure quoted by the Amarillo paper.) In the unopposed races, some of the candidates received far less than 2,343 votes. This would indicate that either there were a large number of voters who not only left the marking boxes blank, but also scratched through the candidates' names; or that some of the ballots were, indeed, counted correctly.

A friend (who wishes to remain nameless because of political pressure) spent two days calling and checking the election results. He reported to me an approximation of 500 to 600 votes that were left blank on the ballots but that were counted as votes FOR candidates in unopposed races. There is no way of substantiating the accuracy of this estimate — but it does raise some questions.

Our elected officials should be chosen by an informed electorate. However, due to the pressures of time, most of the electorate is more impressed by well run campaigns rather than informed by facts. One way of impressing voters is to show how a particular candidate is favored in polls or in a PRIMARY ELECTION. Thus, if a

Narcotics Is Topic of H. D. Club Program

Cultural H. D. Club members met Friday for lunch at the Caisson House with program speaker Dr. Duffy McBrayer.

McBrayer spoke on narcotics and stated that three to four per cent of all high school students today smoke marijuana and most don't realize that if used by a girl within a year before the birth of her child it can interfere with the pregnancy and over-all health of the child.

In business it was asked that particular candidate can claim 75 per cent of votes cast in a primary — when an accurate counting may have shown more like 50 per cent then that candidate is impressing the electorate with improper facts (of which he may not even be aware.)

Therefore, I would urge the Brand to report the news as it is; and to keep in mind the difference between news reporting and news editorializing — there are separate sections of the paper for each. What ever the electorate chooses by balloting will be the decision, but the electorate should be able to choose wisely by having information that is accurate and factual. And then the votes cast by the electorate should be tabulated correctly according to the election code.

And when it's all said and done, decisions will be made in accordance with our system of democracy. Those who disagree with the decisions — even editors or ministers — will find themselves in that group called, "The Loyal Opposition." This is what our concept of Law AND Order is all about. I would hope that we keep it that way.

For Women Needn't Lose Femininity

By ARLEEN ABRAHAM'S AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK — Can a bright, energetic motivated young woman capture and hold down a high salaried, executive position in the male-oriented business world without losing any of her femininity or forgoing the traditional roles of marriage and motherhood?

"Certainly. I've done it; my friends have done it," says Letty Cottin Pogrebin, author of "How To Make It in a Man's World." And adds the petite, attractive, publishing executive, as she tosses her below-the-shoulder-length straight blonde hair for emphasis, "I don't see any reason why other bright girls can't enjoy the advantages of all three worlds."

The wife of an attorney and the mother of three — twin girls, 5, and a son, 2, — finds it "a challenge but not a problem to successfully lead a triple life. You can do it as long as you have a sense of yourself. Let's say I manage by being a healthy compulsive," she says in her distinctive little girl voice, which together with her petite figure and "now" style of dressing, makes her appear far younger than her 30 years.

As director of publicity, advertising and subsidiary rights for Bernard Geis Associates, Letty has planned and directed promotion campaigns for "Valley of the Dolls," "Sex and the Single Girl" among other books. She sees her job primarily as fun, but ranks it behind her roles of wife and mother in terms of importance.

"Sure there's drudgework — even in an executive's life, but overall it's fun, fun, fun. Imagine throwing parties for 200 marvelous people with somebody else's money, traveling to Rome to get a manuscript from Roberto Rossellini, enjoying fabulous lunches and dinners and European travel — all in the name of business," she says, opening her green eyes wide in astonishment as though she still has to pinch herself to believe it's real.

Yet, she claims, "Too many girls don't even attempt to pierce the executive ranks. The fear of sacrificing femininity on the altar of success has kept thousands of women 'in their places.' Subconsciously these women believe in that absurd myth of the necessarily manish woman executive."

Letty doesn't believe the militant feminists have done much to improve the situation. "They're also either-or people," she points out. "They believe it's a choice of career or marriage, motherhood and enslavement. I say forget about the or. Be an everything person like me."

The effervescent dynamo claims she is militant about the moderate approach to women's rights. "I'm afraid the feminist movement may end up by having women throw the baby out with the bathwater. In order to liberate us, they may destroy the whole romantic essence of life between the sexes. I'm not willing to give up my femininity for feminism and I don't want to castrate my husband in order to get a better job."

Although she agrees that much remains to be done before the equality of opportunity for women in business is an established fact — "many, times women get the job and the responsibility before they get the salary" — Letty does not belong to any women's rights groups. "No group represents me adequately and I'm not really a joiner," she explains without attempting to apologize. "Perhaps if there were a women's union, a sort of a trade union movement . . ."

It's doubtful whether a trade union could have helped her achieve the executive position she now holds. By the time New York City born Letty graduated from Brandeis University at age 19, she already had held three summer office jobs in different phases of the publishing world. "I know I wanted an affair with words, but I didn't know exactly where, so I investigated everything," she comments.

After failing to make a go of a job as a copywriter — "I was awful" — she sent out "millions of resumes and feelers in hopes of finding a job as a junior editor." Bernard Geis took the bait. No, they didn't need a junior editor, but they did need an assistant to the director. Six months later when Letty had just turned 21 her boss resigned. "They gave me a six month trial and I've been there ever since," she says, adding "Except for the six months retirement when I had the twins." The birth of her third child only kept her out of the business world for six weeks; she used the time to finish writing her own book.

Although she admits her climb to the executive suite was not typical, Letty believes that any creative, bright gal with ability and determination can get there, too, provided she knows the rules for making it in a man's world.

"The No. 1 thing to remember is that too many skills are deadly. Learn survival typing; you need that to get in the door, but don't do it too well, she cautions. A crackerjack secretary is the most irreplaceable commodity in the job market and the advice that a girl has to take shorthand and typing to prepare for a business career is simply a myth perpetrated by businessmen who want good secretaries." Once you've landed a job, no matter how trivial, don't react like a computer to orders. "Read everything, the files, the back files, the correspondence," she advises. "With the knowledge you've gained about the boss's thinking processes and how he reaches a decision, begin to contribute ideas on the job. He may ignore your suggestions 12 times out of 20, but the last eight ideas just may get you out of the secretarial job."

It's likely that you'll get the job and the job title before getting the salary that comes with the job, she says. "To get the salary, you must demand it and be willing to walk out if your demands aren't met. It may be the best thing to go elsewhere. I know of very few girls who reached the executive ranks in the same company in which they started."

All of Mr. Moore's brothers and sisters attended. They were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, Red Springs; Mrs. Viola Hudgens, Olton; Mrs. Irene Davenport, Seymour; and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moore of Wildorado.

A yellow cloth overlaid with lace covered the service table which held a 3-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells and the number 60. Centering the table was an arrangement of yellow carnations and greenery.

Refreshments of cake and golden punch were served from crystal appointments by Mrs. Davy Finney and Mrs. J. Q. Finney. Assisting were Mrs. Elsie Jones and Mrs. Alemeta Reed of Kress.

Mr. Moore, 80, was born in Cherokee County, Tex. and Mrs. Moore, 75, in Chickosha, Indian Territory, Okla.

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

"I still find each day too short for all the thoughts I want to think, all the walks I want to take, all the books I want to read, all the deeds of kindness I want to do, and all the friends I want to see. The longer I live the more my mind dwells upon the beauty and the WONDER of the world." — John Burroughs.

The above words really express many of my feelings. When we made our recent trip to Kansas, I was fascinated with the beauty of the world, in its lovely bright spring dress. The hills around Canadian were so alluring with their golden patches of yellow daisies. Many of them looked like large blankets of gold had been tossed upon them.

Then as we approached Kansas, the wheat fields were so beautiful. The green color was exquisite, and the promise of a good harvest was very evident. Really made one want to take off his shoes and walk in the luscious greens. The running streams, the frolicking young calves on the green pastures, all together created a beauty that will linger on and on.

Upon reaching Wichita, we learned they were having their early Iris Flower Show. The red-bud trees were in their very prettiest form. Their lacy red-purple blossoms etched against the clear blue sky, created a living picture.

The spirea was in full bloom, as was the flowering almonds and the creeping plox were very attractive, especially when used for island plantings, which we noted in many of the parks and home gardens. This is a plant that is very good to use on landscaping. Its many uses are so varied, and the colors adaptable.

Now that May has arrived, it is time to do transplanting of the perennials, and to select the annuals which you plan to use in the garden plans.

A very good rule to remember relative to transplanting chrysanthemums is to set them out when the tulips have shed their blossoms. In the fall, put out the tulips when the chrysanthemums are in bloom, the fall varieties, that is.

Lest I forget, I want to remind all gardeners not to let their bulb stalks or spikes form seed pods. Either break the bloom pod or cut it with a sharp knife. This is necessary because if left, the formation of seed will draw much of the strength from the bulbs, and the next year's blossoms will not be as good.

If you made cuttings from your potted plants, such as geraniums, coleus, etc., they should be about ready for planting. Do not let them become too tall and straggly, and roots all matted. Plant in the flower beds when the roots appear and are just long enough to take root in the new placement. The stems of the plants should be stronger. When planted, they should be protected, at least until the spring weather is more settled.

If you transplant a spotted geranium, the entire plant as grown, then it should be pruned so that the root system will

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Richardson, Route 1, Hereford, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Martha Lue, to Gary D. McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. McPherson, Route 1, Hereford.

Vows will be exchanged June 5 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood.

Miss Richardson was a 1969 graduate of Vega High School.

Mr. McPherson was graduated from Hereford High School in 1965.

They will make their home in Hereford where she is employed by Easley Feed Yards and McPherson is with the Texas Highway Department.

The Non-residential Beauty Spot was awarded to The Pioneer Study Club on their "Mother's Park." The tulips around the fountain and in other areas are beautiful, and soon the iris will add its bit of color to the picture.

Our hats are off to The Hereford Garden Club for awards won at The Texas State Garden Club Convention. Competition is real stiff in the state organization and to win an award is very commendable. The contributions of the Garden Clubs, by way of beautification, and civic improvement, have been MANY, and we as citizens should be very grateful.

Must quit and go plant the garlic among our roses. Thanks to The Horace Hershey for the plants. This is done to assist in keeping down insects, and diseases. The plants also add interest to the garden.

The grape-hyacinths at the First Christian Church have been beautiful. Deep purple with the green created a lovely contrasting picture, as did the two-tone (Fireside Cottage) tulips at The Harding home, 108 Centre. The harmony of the flowering tulips was very lovely with the color of the house.

Congratulations to the Edd Jesko's, on being awarded the Beauty Spot of the month in the residential category. If you like pansies (and who doesn't) be sure and go by and see the myriad colors in the pansies. The hyacinths are also very pretty, and one can readily note that the entire yard receives tender loving care.

Vera Deason, the Amarillo garden columnist, calls attention to the moon calendar. Moon signs indicate that seed planted for above-ground crops should go in on May 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 17, 18 and 19. May 20, 23, 24, 27, and 29 are dates for roots crops. Flower seeds,

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
Your article of March 29th concerning trucking service to and from Hereford failed to mention that Santa Fe is a licensed carrier for such service from Texas points. In fact, we offer two (2) day trucking service to Hereford from Dallas, except on shipments originating on the weekend, and daily service from Amarillo.

In the month of February, 1970, the Santa Fe Trail Transportation, our trucking subsidiary, had 76 shipments for 30,890 pounds from Dallas to Hereford, 160 shipments for 76,271 pounds from Amarillo to Hereford, 8 shipments for 22,000 pounds from Houston to Hereford and 61 shipments for 21,700 pounds from Lubbock to Hereford.

Sincerely yours,
Bruce L. Miller
Local Attorney for Santa Fe
