Corn Harvest Moving Into Full Swing

Judge Answers Food Stamp Questions

Controversy and questions have surrounded the Food Stamp Program in Bailey County since it began just a year ago.

The Journal gathered questions most often asked about the program and requested Bailey County Judge Glen Williams to answer them.

Judge Williams has answered these questions which hopefully clear up any questions that the citizens of Bailey County may have.

The food stamp program in Bailey County has been very successful this past year. Several hundred applications have been made for food stamps, although not all of them have been qualified to receive the stamps.

It has been estimated that there are from 305 to 325 families on food stamps in Bailey County at this time. The figure varies due to migrant workers and to the fact that families' situations vary from time to time.

The following questions have been asked of Judge Williams and his answers follow:

Q. Are applicants thoroughly checked before they receive stamps?

A. Yes, all applicants undergo a thorough investigation. They must fill out detailed applications listing all financial information including all income, such as wages, Social Security checks, disability income, etc. Also to be included on the statement are the number of people in the household and all of those between 18 and 65 who are eligible for work. These must register with the Texas Employment Commission. Applicants are also queried about monthly bills and other debts. These are only a very few of the extensive questions to be answered.

Q. Are aliens eligible for food stamps?

A. No, not any longer. At one time they were eligible, but this practice has been abandoned.

Q. What does it take to qualify for food stamps?

A. The applicant must be head of the household first. All persons who receive disabling pension.

MHS HOMECOMING QUEEN . . . Miss Terri Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crane of Muleshoe was crowned the 1974 Muleshoe High School Homecoming Queen Friday night, during Homecoming activities. She was escorted by Max Buhrman.

Wednesday Meeting On Estate Planning

Planning for the distribution of your assets and the care of your loved ones after your death is equally necessary and distasteful. No one wishes to contemplate his own death, but death and taxes are among the few things that are certain about life. This will be the tone of an estate planning meeting to be held in Muleshoe on Wednesday, October 9, at 10 a.m. at the Muleshoe State Bank Community Room.

Marvin Sartin, Area Economist in Management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be on hand to present the program.

The subject of estate planning is complex because consideration must be given to both federal and state laws governing the transfer of property at death. Even though estate planning is a complicated legal matter and the need for competent legal counsel is paramount, your understanding of the basic planning principles are requirements is helpful to your attorney.

Too often the vast majority of adults do not recognize the immediate need for an urgency of estate planning. It is easily put off until next week or is viewed as being applicable only to old people. Very few young adults concern themselves with the subject when they may have the greatest need for action.

Some of the topics to be covered by Sartin at the meeting will be Federal and State Laws governing property transfers; need for a will; estate planning reduces property taxes and inheritance tax; gifts and trust will be discussed.

Estate planning should be of concern to everyone. Each of us must realize that one day we will die

The Police Department arrested one alien, one for no driver's license and two for being drunk.

Erosion On Cultivated Land Shows Land Is Not Protected

If you can see signs of erosion on cultivated land, you are probably losing soil at the rate of more than 14 tons per year.

"A loss this high shows that the land is inadequately protected," Jerry Wenmohs, Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist of Muleshoe, says. "Generally, losses much higher than this occur when rain or wind can strike bare cropland. Very steep unprotected land can lose more than 300 tons of soil per year."

"It is not particularly important that the farmer or gardener is able to tell how many tons of soil is lost," Wenmohs continued. "SCS conservationists can figure this for those who really want a good estimate. The important thing is that if the farmer and gardener can see erosion something needs to be done fast."

"A common misconception is to blame all visible water erosion on running water, which we call 'runoff,'" Wenmohs said. "Runoff does cut ditches and rills, but is generally a sign of advanced problems, which actually start with raindrops striking bare soil. You can prove this to yourself by observing bare soil in a small flower box or enclosure. Beating raindrops will actually erode the surface of the soil by splash action with no runoff at all. On the other hand, if you cover the box of soil with clippings, or plant it thickly in grass, no measurable splash erosion will occur. What this tells us is that a cover on the cultivated land -- either vegetation or a mulch -- is the best soil protection.

"There are several things that farmers and gardeners can do about erosion," Wenmohs said. "First, practices can be used that keep a cover on the land. Believe it or not, this can be done even in fields of sorghum, cotton, corn, or soybeans with a practice called minimum tillage.

"Contouring, crop rotation, terracing, and other methods are also helpful to keep runoff from carrying sediment from the field," Wenmohs said.

"For the gardener, a compost heap is a good investment in erosion control," Wenmohs said. "Just build a big box of old boards or wire fence in a shady place in your back yard and put all your leaves, grass clippings, and organic waste in it. Over time, nature will transform this material into excellent organic fertilizer. Mixed into the garden, compost will make the soil more spongy. It will absorb and hold more water. Used as a surface mulch, it will prevent water erosion.

Home gardeners can also use farm-tested practices,

Conservation District To Hold Election

Doug Bales, Chairman of the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District has announced that an election for a Director from Zone one will be held October 10, 1974 at the Westcamp Grocery from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

"The new director will be elected by nomination and balloting," stated Chairman Bales, Bailey County residents who are 21 years of age or older with

Rams Charge Past Mules Friday 6-0

Friday night, Muleshoe's homecoming and bid for their first win was spoiled by the Portales Rams as they blanked the Mules 6-0.

The game was marked by outstanding defensive play by both teams. In the first quarter, neither team was able to make any notable yardage as both teams were held inside their own 35 yard line.

In the second quarter, Muleshoe lost one of five turnovers, this one leading to the only score of the game. The turnover came as Muleshoe's QB Carey Sudduth had his pass batted into the air by Kiki Dominguez, the Ram's defensive tackle, and Jimmy Amerson got the interception for Portales with the ball on the 35 yard line of Muleshoe. Six plays later Ricky McBroon to right end Jesse Segovic. The run for two failed. Muleshoe received the following kick off and drove 45 yards before the half ended.

Included in the half-time activities was the crowning of the homecoming queen. The candidates and their escorts were: Janna Bruns escorted by Dusty Davis; Jan Harlin escorted by

Trucks Jam Into Local Elevators

Trucks loaded with corn piled up at local elevators this week as the corn harvest went into full swing. Farmers are harvesting as much as the moisture percentage will allow. All corn that is ready to be harvested is being harvested as fast as farmers can get it out of the fields.

It has been estimated that as much as 20 percent of the area corn has been harvested at this time.

If the weather stays good, by next week, 75 to 80 percent of the crop will be out. The corn needs some good hot, sunny weather to finish maturing and reduce the moisture.

Some farmers are harvesting the corn with a higher moisture percent than usual and are paying drying fees to the elevators.

At the present time corn prices are high with white corn selling for $8.20 cwt and yellow corn at $6.10 cwt. Due to a killing freeze in the corn belt last week, rumors are that prices may go down if the United States has a short crop and has to stop exporting.

Cotton bolls have started to open this week around the county since the weather has been more favorable. If a killing freeze holds off until next month, the cotton should be in good shape for harvesting.

The grain sorghum harvest in this area should begin any day now in earnest. During the wet weather, the grain sorghum was virtually at a standstill.

Bailey County Electric Receives Loan

Congressman George Mahon and the Rural Electrification Association announced this week that Bailey County Electric Association has received a loan of $598,000 at five percent interest.

The borrower will obtain additional supplements from the National Rural Utilities Cooperative Financial Corporation.

The purpose of the loan is to finance service for 257 consumers. Also, it will finance 27 miles of distribution line and finance system improvements.

WE CAN MAKE IT HAPPEN

With the many problems we face as a nation, it is refreshing to see our young people ready and willing to help bring about solutions to these pressing concerns. Enthusiasm and optimism has always been an admirable quality of American youth. Their vigor inspires all of us to do a better job in coping with our problems.

Youthful exuberance, combined with the guidance and experience of adults provides an unbeatable combination. The results of that cooperation are evident in the 4-H program.

We salute the combined efforts of 4-H'ers and their leaders "to make the best better" on the occasion of 1974 National 4-H Week, October 6-12.

The theme of the annual observance is 'We Can Make It Happen.' Those five words emphasize the commitment and cooperation of nearly 5.3 million youths and 560,000 volunteer leaders working together to solve common problems. With their enthusiasm and energy, in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and Washington, DC, 4-H'ers from all economic, ethnic and social backgrounds are helping clean-up and protect the environment and natural resources. The youths work to conserve energy, assist in agricultural production, and help improve health and nutrition habits of the community. In the process, the 4-H'ers develop good citizenship and leadership traits and acquire skills that will help them in later life.

Youthful enthusiasm and energy, combined with adult guidance and support and working together in a common purpose -- that's the 4-H story in 1974. And we support the efforts of 4-H'ers, their parents, their leaders and alumni "to make the best better."

And we would encourage our young readers, who have plenty of enthusiasm and our adult readers who may wish to volunteer their time and talents to get involved in 4-H and help "make it happen."

Information on 4-H programs and activities in the area can be obtained from the county extension service office or state 4-H office.

WASHINGTON BUREAU

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

The Oil Squeeze - Ford's Choice - Israel's Attitude - A New War?

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Oil prices being paid today by most western world countries threaten to produce two very serious consequences; economic crisis and political dislocation.

Italy is the first western nation likely to collapse, if it comes to that. And Italy could move into the Communist orbit for it is the home of the largest communist party in Europe.

Oil prices continue to unbalance the international payments of most of the western world; the U.S. deficit in August was the largest on record, over a billion dollars! With this comes the power and disruptive effect of billions of surplus Arab money, which may now be headed toward the U.S.

President Nixon realized after the war a year ago that compelling circumstances dictated a turn toward a more neutral U.S. policy in the Middle East, as the only hope to bringing about a negotiated solution.

Toward that end he pledged the U.S. -- for the first time -- to support the many U.N. resolutions calling for Israel to withdraw from seized Arab lands (the 1967 war). Nixon had a pledge to withdraw from the government of Golda Meir. But, of course, the Israeli government changed; the new regime is more militant. There is even now talk of a preventative strike by Israel.

President Ford, rather than pressuring Israel, decided in the last days of September to pressure the Arabs. He and Secretary of State Kissinger warned that oil prices must be lowered. The implied threat was economic dislocation (depression) or war, or both, would follow.

These threats alarmed certain European governments, which saw the Ford-Kissinger turn as a harder line. And, some feel, the only solution which can avoid war is pressure from Washington on Israel -- perhaps new military aid conditioned on this pressure -- for Israel to be conciliatory, to give back most Arab land taken by military force in 1967 and 1973.

The world may be plunged into depression or war because Tel Aviv, now militarily stronger than the Arabs, and perhaps with nuclear weapons or their component parts, refuses to take such an unpopular (in Israel) long-term position. Israel, of course, counts on the political and media power of Jews in America to influence enough politicians to block such withdrawal pressure.

In fact, Israel has just asked for another four billions for military aid from the U.S.

 sions, aid to dependent children and welfare recipients are automatically qualified. All other applicants must be certified through the local office. All applications are based on a formula, depicting the amount of food stamps can be purchased each month and how much the stamps will cost relating to the wages earned each month.
 Each applicant, after meeting requirements, receives an ATP card (Authority to Purchase). This card must be presented each month at the Post Office for an applicant to receive stamps.
 Q. Does the Welfare Department have the final say in whether or not an applicant will receive food stamps.
 A. Yes although applicants do have a right to appeal the decision if they are refused food stamps.
 Q. After receiving stamps are they checked for new employment of increased salary?

 A. Each applicant must submit a wage verification slip from his or her employer. On this slip, the employer must state the wages he is paying. Failure to report increases in salary will result in the applicant having to pay penalty. With each new application, a wage slip must be presented. Most applicants are certified for six months if their situation looks stable. Some are certified for only one month and must reapply each month.
 Q. What jeopardy is an employee or employer placed in if he reports a short salary on a falsified wage verification slip?
 A. Falsifying the slips is considered a federal offense since it involves the mis-handling of federal funds and both persons involved are subject to prosecution by the government. Any abuse of the food stamp program can be prosecuted.

 "For the farmer, reduction of erosion starts with wise land use planning," Wenmohs said. "A conservation plan utilizing up-to-date conservation methods is the farmer's best bet for full production and income over the long term with the smallest loss of his basic soil resource."
 Conservation planning assistance is available. For more information, contact your soil and water district office or the Soil Conservation Service. cut.
 Q. How can more than one member of the same family apply for food stamps?
 A. Only the head of the household is eligible to receive food stamps. This requirement makes it impossible for two people in the same household to receive food stamps. Another requirement is that the house in which the person resides, must have cooking facilities.
 Q. What part does the Texas Employment Commission play in food stamps?

A. Anyone who refuses a job he is qualified for will be automatically cut off of food stamps and will no longer be eligible to receive them unless the situation of the applicant changes. Each member of a household receiving stamps between the ages of 18 and 65 must register for work at the Employment Office.
 Q. What part does Bailey County play in the food stamp program?
 A. Bailey County is not involved in the food stamp program in any way except that the county provides an office building for the program.

 All information pertaining to applications for the Food Stamp program is classified as confidential information by the Department of Welfare. Local managers of food stamp offices are not authorized to release information on applicants.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION----- Meat outlook for coming weeks--"unpredictable," especially for beef.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, this week forecast a gloomy picture for beef eaters during the winter.

"As we get farther into the winter, less choice meat will be in markets, and we'll be dealing with a lower grade beef that has a slightly different flavor and is less tender," she said.

Pork values this week include picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and pork liver.

At fruit counters, Bartlett pears are available, and higher-priced prunes reflect this year's smaller crop. Golden Delicious apples are a versatile fruit choice, and Texas oranges are on the market.

Peach and nectarine prices are moderate, while bananas, grapes, oranges, grapefruit, plums, pineapples, honeydew, and cantaloupe feature various price levels. Buy them according to budget limits, the specialist said.

"Fall vegetables are appearing at markets---namely acorn, butternut, and several other hard-shell squash varieties.

Also, summer supplies of potatoes are plentiful, and sweet potatoes are in most stores. Other vegetable buys include cabbage, carrots, cooking greens, dry yellow onions, rutabagas, and cushaw.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Pork prices likely will decrease for a while this fall, but the situation will change as feed costs increase.

letter from a member of another chapter about why she enjoyed Beta Sigma Phi.

Girls Lead Twin Lives

LEVELLAND - - Like right and left-handed gloves, Leola Killough and Peggy Grissom do most everything as pairs.

For instance, blonde-haired Leola won the title of 1973 New Mexico High School Rodeo Queen. Not to be outdone, Peggy, a petite brunette, copied the title in 1974.

Leola, however, was the first to pack up her suitcases for college and leave the ranchland around Fort Sumner, N.M., where she and Peggy grew up.

Leola is the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Joe Killough of Alamo Route, Fort Sumner, Peggy, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Grissom of Taiban, N.M., a small community 15 miles east of Fort Sumner.

Leola enrolled at South Plains College last year but didn't have long to wait as her dark-haired friend joined her at SPC this fall.

Friends since elementary school, the pair has left behind twin strings of accomplishments. "We were cheerleaders for four years together during junior high and high school," Peggy said. "We played basketball on the school team, the Fort Sumner Foxes," she laughed. Naturally, both girls played guard.

They have been longtime members of the De Baca County Cloverleaf 4-H Club (this is Leola's ninth year as a member, Peggy's eighth). Both have served as vice president and junior leader in the group and Leola was once elected secretary. Peggy was chosen the state 4-H Queen in 1972.

Both girls were named Future Farmers of America sweethearts in high school, Leola in 1970 and Peggy in 1974. And both are members of the New Mexico Junior Rodeo Association.

Peggy served as secretary of the NMJRA during 1973-74 and Leola served as treasurer last year. Leola is currently the girls' event director of the NMJRA.

Ever since they have been able to sit in the saddle, they have ridden and loved horses. But it was only a few years ago that the two seriously started "rodeoing."

Leola, a native of Fort Sumner, has helped her father work cattle on horseback. Peggy, who was born in Clovis, N.M., recalled, "I rode horses when I was little; then I stopped for awhile when my sister broke her collarbone riding a horse." However, she resumed the four-legged sport about four years ago. After a lapse, Leola, too, began riding in earnest.

They have competed in both state and national horsemanship events. Leola won the state pole bending championships in 1972 and 1973 and placed third in the national pole bending championships in 1972 in Denver.

Peggy took time out during rodeoing to enter the Miss New Mexico Teenage Pageant in 1973. She walked away as first runner-up -- toting an award as Miss Photogenic.

The girls' interest in rodeo led to competition for Miss New Mexico High School Rodeo Queen. After Leola won the state contest at Santa Rosa, M.M., she went on to compete in the national contest that year in Ogden, Utah.

When Peggy's turn came, she took fourth runner-up in the national High School Rodeo Queen Contest in Tomah, Wis., in 1974.

Leola was featured on the cover of the May 1974 issue of "The New Mexico Stockman" magazine as the New Mexico High School Rodeo Queen. Next spring, Peggy will take her place on the magazine cover.

And at college, too, their interests converge. Both girls are majoring in fashion merchandising at SPC. "My goal is to become a fashion coordinator or some like that," Leola said. Peggy's aim is similar. "I would like to be a bridal consultant or fashion coordinator," she said.

And the girls both reside in Mary Gillespie Hall at SPC. However, their ways seem to be parting slightly. They are not roommates.

Mrs. Camp, Mrs. Millsap Attend Workshop

Storyhours at the library will begin on October 9th with the children from the Goodwill center as guests. On October 16th there will be storytime for all preschool age children of the area. Then through the fall and winter season there will be storyhours on the first and third Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. The Muleshoe Young Homemakers will sponsor and conduct one of the groups, and the Library will conduct storyhours for the Goodwill center children.

Mrs. Bernis Camp and Mrs. Ted Millsap attended a one-day workshop in Lubbock, Wednesday, October 2, at the new library. This workshop was co-sponsored by the Texas State Library. The subject matter was from Reader to Resource thru Interlibrary Loans. The new Manual of Policy and Procedures was thoroughly covered by Kaylyn Robbins and Linda Schexnaydre, staff members from the Texas State Library. The local Library should be better prepared and informed to serve patrons and obtain any book not in our collection via Interlibrary Loan. This is a valuable free service, especially for those who are furthering their education beyond the high school level thru correspondence courses, or attendance at school some distance away . . . ask about it . . . we will be happy to take your requests.

The Library is always trying to serve the public better and would like to know if the public would like to enlarge services by programs such as Study groups on the classics; or contemporary interest books; by hobby demonstrations - such as learning to crochet or knit; by circulating Art prints; or other fields or interest . . . If you have suggestions call the Library 272-4707.

Area Officer Participates In Workshop

Cindy Harvey, Area I HERO-FHA Third Vice-President, along with Dani Reinstein, Area I President and Ann Moore, Area I Second-Vice President, conducted three workshops for FHA members. The first workshop was September 12 at Sudan. Their local FHA officers attended the workshop. The other two were September 19 and September 26, in Levelland and Idalou.

The workshops were held to give suggestions for building successful HERO/FHA chapters. Each chapter was presented with a SEARCH booklet. Inside were several ideas on Impact, Encounter, The good and the wise lead quiet lives.

Resources, Group Involvement, and Leadership suggestions.

The workshop began with a Get Acquainted game. Then the students were divided up into small groups and given open-ended questions to stimulate thinking. One person from each group read the responses. There was a break for refreshments; then the large group was divided into smaller groups and told to plan an indepth project using either Encounter or Impact. These projects were shared in front of the group. Evaluation sheets were handed out and the group was encouraged to take back all the ideas to their own HERO-FHA chapters.

Cindy feels that each workshop was a success in promoting interest in HERO-FHA. They were all well attended and she hopes that the HERO-FHA chapters will be active and work hard this year. Cindy is presenting programs over what she learned to try and promote interest in the Muleshoe HERO-FHA chapters.

Twirp Week Observed This Week

The Week of September 30 thru October 4 was designated as Twirp Week at M.H.S. The Student Council sponsored the week which began Monday night with the kick-off of the F.T.A. Powder Puff football game.

Twirp week has been a tradition at M.H.S. where the girls carry the boys books, open doors, and ask the guys out for the dates. The girls take their own cars and pay for all the activities.

During school hours, students cannot speak to the opposite sex until he (or she) buys a twirp license for 10¢.

For the first time, officers have been appointed to enforce the twirp week laws. Kim Smith and Matt Williams are the "Campus Fuzz".

If students are caught violating the laws, Officers Smith and Williams give them a citation. The victims are given a choice of either paying a 25¢ fine of facing personal disaster and embarrassment over the intercom.

Roses Hold Party For Rosebuds

The Rose chapter of FHA gave the Freshmen a get acquainted party Tuesday, October 1 in the High School Homemaking department. Frances Brown won a cookbook for having the most names on her fish. A picture of a "Crying FHA Girl" was presented to Susan Crittenden for having the fewest signatures. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the party.

The Rose officers met during lunch Thursday to discuss installation which will be held Monday, October 7. Immediate plans for money projects were discussed.

HERO Chapter Gets Going

On September 27, 1974, the HERO girls held a pre-game football supper. In preparation for this supper, the girls made posters that were distributed in the businesses in both Muleshoe and Littlefield. Tickets were sold by the HERO girls, their advisor, and at Harvey Bass's Appliance. The chicken supper was a tremendous success and the HERO chapter wishes to say a special "Thank You" to their mothers for helping to make it a success, food-wise.

about HECE program she replied, "The experience is good and it will help me in the future."

Cindy Harvey, Area I Third Vice-President and First Vice-President of her local chapter is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Harvey. Having recently attended the National F.H.A. meeting in Chicago, she is really enthused about HERO-F.H.A. Some of her interests and activities include: playing tennis, Sunday School secretary and assistant pianist at the Calvary Baptist Church, member of the F.H.A. Rose Chapter, Chaplain of the National Honor Society, singing, and enjoys cooking and collecting recipes. When asked to make a comment on the HERO program she said, "HERO is a great organization for those who like to be involved and also for those who would like to get experience in the world of work." Congratulations to these two girls.

Juniors Have Meeting Monday

Monday, September 30, the Junior Class held a meeting in the cafeteria. President, Tommy St. Clair held several items up for discussion. Many ideas were brought before the class concerning Homecoming hall decorations. Much thought was put into this matter before they reached a definite decision. The theme, "The All-American Mule" was chosen by the majority of the class.

The juniors then discussed the outcome of the mum sales thus far. The junior girls have put much effort into the sale of these mums. The results of the mum sale will be brought up at the next meeting.

Coaches' Comments

Friday night September 27, the Littlefield Wildcats traveled to Muleshoe to meet the Muleshoe Mules. The game was a hard fought defensive battle, the score ended up as 8-0. The defense put everything together and held the Wildcats to no touchdowns. The Wildcats scored three points in the second quarter by kicking a 30 yard field goal. Later in the fourth quarter Littlefield scored by tackling a Muleshoe Back behind their own goal line, this put two more points on the scoreboard for Littlefield. At the beginning of the fourth quarter Littlefield booted a 43 yard field goal for an extra three points. The Muleshoe offense came alive in the fourth quarter and they made a good drive down the field but were unable to take it on in for a touchdown. Hector Posados carried the ball very well all through the game, and showed a great deal of speed and determination. David Watson did a fine job as guard.

1974-75 Statewide Hunting Outlook

AUSTIN -- Late summer rains have brightened the overall hunting picture for most of Texas. If range conditions continue to improve, Texas hunters can expect generally good hunting this fall.

A mid-September poll of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens, biologists and information officers throughout the state came up with these outlooks:

Deer: Out in the Trans-Pecos, Brewster, Presidio and Jeff Davis should offer the best mule deer hunting. Wardens and ranchers in these traditionally strong deer-hunting counties have observed some losses of fawns but deer seem to be recovering rapidly with the late rains.

East of the Pecos River, in the Permian Basin, the best prospects for deer are in Tom Green, Schleicher, Sutton and Crockett Counties as whitetail habitat increases.

TP&WD information officer J.D. Peer in Lubbock looks for only an average whitetail season but biologists in the Edwards Plateau and Possum Kingdom area of northcentral Texas are very optimistic about the season.

According to department project leader Donnie Harmel of Kerrville, a bumper acorn crop in the Hill Country will fatten deer prior to the season. A deer census is just underway but early indications are of a good fawn crop in many areas.

And up in the Possum Kingdom, project leader C.E. Holt of Decatur is equally optimistic about both the body condition and antler quality of white-tailed deer.

Biologist Gary Spencer in southeast Texas says that this year's acorn crop is only average so the deer might have to move around more to find food. This should boost the harvest figure. There was a good fawn crop but these deer will not show up in the bag until next season.

Hunters can expect to bag a higher percentage of older deer this year since last year's fawn crop in northeast Texas was below average.

To the north, regional wildlife director Bob Van Cleave at Tyler has much the same to say: a good acorn crop should mean fat deer this season.

Biologist Jay Williams of San Antonio is expecting an average to above-average deer season in most of South Texas. Antlers are good and body conditions are prime.

Turkey: The consensus among TP&WD officials is that Rio Grande turkey numbers will be down this year because of the dry spring and summer. Turkey seem to be less flexible than quail in nesting times and few poults have been observed. The best prediction anyone could muster is a qualified "fair" for turkey.

Quail: Just the opposite of turkey, bobwhite and blue quail took advantage of late rains and increased food and re-nested where earlier efforts were unsuccessful. Jay Williams says that the highlight quail hunting in south Texas is to be found in Live Oaks, Jim Wells, Duval and Bee Counties. Indications show that quail shooting in those counties will be exceptionally good this fall and winter.

Gary Spencer says that good quail crops should be found in the transition zone between East Texas woodlands and coastal prairies in northern Orange, Jefferson and Liberty counties.

Up in the Panhandle, Don Davis at the department's Matador Wildlife Management Area says that quail on the area are down. This is usually better - than - average quail country and could be an indication of Panhandle quail hunting for the year.

Javelina: Plentiful and in good shape in South Texas. Early javelina hunting is still available in Real, Herr, Kenny, Edwards, Schleicher and Frio Counties where the season is open year round.

Squirrel: Good mast crops in remaining squirrel habitat throughout eastern Texas will fatten the little animals. Squirrels in southeast Texas are already plentiful and fall productions should swell the numbers even more.

Antelope: Better luck next year. Drought hit Texas antelope herds hard this year with overall losses of adults ranging from 25 to 40 percent in the western half of the state. A total of only 626 permits will be issued by the Parks and Wildlife Department this year to harvest antelope. Last year, some 1,305 such permits were issued in the Trans-Pecos alone.

Waterfowl: Good hatches of both ducks and geese have been reported in Canada. There is ample water over most of Texas to receive the birds; Peer in Lubbock already reports numerous blue-winged teal in Texas with many pintails and gadwalls. Grain fields are covered with water at both ends of the state.

Pheasants, prairie chickens: The main population of pheasants is to be found around irrigated fields which received water through the summer. Peer says the best hunting should be in the Hereford area.

It's a bit early to predict how hunting will be during the brief Oct. 19-20 prairie chicken season. Biologist Dick DeArment reports sighting some young birds in the Panhandle.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore and Neal were in Ruidoso this weekend for the "Aspenade", an annual event held to mark the time of the turning of the aspens. The celebration features a parade of bands and floats and includes motorcycle races and other contests.

Two graduates of Lazbuddie High School are attending TSTI in Waco, this semester. They are Jimmy Harvey, senior of 74, and Mike Fred, who graduated in 1973. Gilbert Longoria is attending Texas A&M at College Station.

The Lazbuddie Longhorns fell Friday night to the Nazareth Swifts by a score of 20 to 0. This was the first District 2-B game for both teams.

With 1:34 left in the second quarter, Charles Heck went around the end for 10 yards and the first score, completing a 46 yard drive. The extra point try failed.

It was not until the fourth quarter that the Swifts could add their last two TD's. The first of these came with 1:06 remaining in the game. QB Doyle Klemman, on a sneak for one yard. This ended only a ten yard drive, which was set up after a Longhorn try on a 4th down situation to keep possession of the ball. QB Klemman passed to end Mark Holting for the conversion. And with only 28 seconds left in the game, QB Klemman threw to Highway improvements in Bailey County are included in a $50.2 million safety and improvement program for 1975 approved recently by the Texas Highway Commission.

District Engineer George C. Wall of Lubbock, said the work includes such projects as widening, providing additional surfacing, resurfacing, sodding, improvement of shoulder and other types of work.

The 1975 State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program statewide include 709 projects in 201 counties of the state, involving 4,328.2 miles of roads.

Fifty-two per cent of the work is on U.S. and State numbered routes, 47 per cent is on Farm to Market Roads and one per cent is reserved for later assignments.

Projects in Bailey County include U.S. 84 from East Sixth Street in Muleshoe to the Lamb County Line, seal coat, 8.3 miles. There is a $137,000 estimated cost on the project.

SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

MULESHOE, TEXAS

The High Plains is not the only area in which cotton production prospects have been eroded by unfavorable September weather, according to Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

After canvassing the major cotton producing areas, Johnson says only a few sections of the Cotton Belt now expect to harvest crops equal to projections made in September. "So it looks like the 13.2 million bale U.S. production forecast, made by USDA based on crop conditions September 1, may be 600,000 bales or more too high."

In South Central cotton states, from which USDA's September 11 report showed prospects for 4,740,000 bales, cloudy, cool and wet conditions have caused varying degrees of boll rot in Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee. Boll weevil infestations have been severe in Tennessee. The crops in Louisiana are termed only "fair."

In the Southeast, Alabama cotton may not have lost too much ground in September, but wet weather in the northern part of the state and a heavy bollworm outbreak have not enhanced the outlook. Georgia crops are reported to be in reasonably good shape. Temperatures have been warm, but too much rain in some areas makes it doubtful that USDA's forecast of record yields will be achieved. North Carolina cotton, earlier than last year, has progressed at a fairly normal pace and the state has a good chance to make USDA's production estimate of 465 pounds per acre.

South Carolina on the other hand has had more wet weather and bollworm problems, making growers considerably more pessimistic.

USDA's forecast for the Southeastern states projected production of 1,510,000 bales.

The only real bright spot in the production picture is found in the Far West, where New Mexico, Arizona and California are expected to turn out over 3,400,000 bales. Arizona, where yields are estimated at 1,045 pounds per acre, has had an excellent cotton growing year with little insect damage and almost ideal weather. California crops, over all, are also good; but there are some reports of crop deterioration in the San Joaquin Valley. Too much rain has plagued growers in some areas of New Mexico, but with improved weather the state should produce an average crop.

Texas and Oklahoma, according to USDA's September estimate, were expected to produce 3,526,000 bales. However it is generally agreed now that the figure is too high. The Rio Grande Valley and the Coastal Bend areas of Texas have done well this year. The Valley, where ginning is complete, reports production of 283,000 bales, about 100,000 bales above 1973 production. The Coastal Bend area, where the harvest is almost over, also produced one of its better crops. However other areas of the State have had troubles, mostly in the form of too much rain and cold weather at the wrong time of year. The same is true for Oklahoma.

For the High Plains, USDA predicted about 1,700,000 bales. The joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange estimate for the same 25-county area, also based on September 1 conditions, was only 1,555,000. There is no doubt that the crop has suffered severely since September 1. Because of rain and low temperatures, there was almost no fiber development on the Plains or in Oklahoma from the first of the month through September 25.

As is true for most of the Cotton Belt, eventual production on the Plains and in Oklahoma will depend on weather conditions from here forward. Even with "normal" weather and a normal frost date, the crop cannot completely make up for time lost. The most frequent comment being heard on the Plains is that the area may have lost about 20 per cent to 25 per cent of its potential.

Applying the higher 25 per cent loss to USDA's 1,700,000 bale estimate for the High Plains would reduce production by 425,000 bales—over 2/3 of Johnson's estimated 600,000 bale minimum loss for the U.S. as a whole.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas governmental units need to spend $852 million over the next five years to improve transportation systems, according to a Texas Mass Transportation Commission staff estimate.

A TMTCC preliminary development plan proposes $566 million worth of rail system improvements and construction and $286 million for bus systems.

The state, the report concluded, must come up with ideas for moving an increasing number of travelers among major cities by rail, new expressways paralleling existing ones or other means.

If travel increases as fast as expected, according to one authority, traffic on Interstate 35 between San Antonio and Dallas may be as congested by the year 2,000 as it is on the Gulf Freeway in the Houston area.

Cost of developing mail passenger facilities presents a generally unhappy picture. Railroads, according to TMTCC Director Russell Cummings, are not enthusiastic about starting up new passenger service or turning their tracks over to any agency for passenger hauling in conflict with their freight business.

Only 18 cities in the state still maintain transit systems, as compared with 37 such systems 20 years ago, TMTCC was informed. But use of transit systems is expected to increase three-fold by 1990. Buses are projected to handle 75 per cent of the future load, rail systems 18 per cent and "specialized systems" seven per cent.

LEASES TAKE UP—Cash bonus payments totalling more than $7.8 million reached the state Permanent University Fund from a recent oil and gas lease auction on University of Texas-owned lands.

More than 123,540 acres were leased for oil and gas exploration. With deposits of the cash bonus payments the Permanent University Fund increased to $678,332,143.

Biggest areas of interest were Loving and Ward counties.

Superior Oil Company paid the largest cash bonus—$810,000 for a 640-acre tract in Ward County. Chalfant, Magee and Hansen were successful bidders on a 320-acre tract in Ward and Loving counties with a $435,000 cash bonus.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, chairman of the Board for Lease of University Lands, said increased demands for energy are being reflected in all public land lease sales.

INDUSTRIES INCREASE—Thirty-one new industries with a combined annual output of over $8 million located in Texas during August.

Total economic impact of the 31 firms was estimated by Texas Industrial Commission and the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research at more than $129 million a year.

The 31 new industries are expected to generate $7.7 million a year in federal taxes, $559,943 in local taxes and $502,943 in state taxes, and to create 1,743 new jobs with a spinoff of another 2,243.

The industries located in Alice, Amarillo, Athens, Austin, Fort Arthur, Brownsville, Center, Coles Creek, Channelview, Del Rio, Diboll, Freeport, Houston, La Porte, Laredo, Longview, Lufkin, Madisonville, Mineral Wells, Mount Pleasant, Rockswold, Texarkana, Wharton, Weatherford and Wichita Falls.

DPS LOOKED OVER—A Senate sub-committee began its hearings on rights to personal privacy and Department of Public Safety surveillance activities involving private citizens.

DPS Chief Col. Wilson Speir agreed the legislature should furnish guidelines, but he warned against restraints so strict as to interfere with law enforcement efforts.

ENROLLMENT UP—State-wide enrollment at Texas colleges and universities is up about five and a half per cent above 1973, far above the national projection of a 1.3 per cent nationwide increase.

Preliminary tabulation shows total enrollment of 549,830 students at Texas public, private, junior and senior institutions. This is 28,300 more than the fall semester of 1973. Two hundred and seventy five thousand of the students are attending public senior colleges, 201,400 at public community colleges.

Even the private institutions in Texas are growing. Their total enrollment of 70,800 represents a 1.4 per cent increase over the 1973 headcount. About 10 of the 37 may experience some decline in enrollments.

AG OPINIONS—Voters who participate in party primary elections are not eligible to sign applications of independent candidates where nominations for the office sought are made in primaries, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- State employees who leave their jobs before completing six months' service are eligible for no accrued vacation time.
- State licensing of private child care facilities does not sufficiently implicate the state in the policies of the institutions to make their discriminatory practices a "state action" for constitutional protection purposes.

- Receipt of guaranteed annual wage payments does not render an individual out of work ineligible for state unemployment compensation.
- When an employee given a merit pay raise is promoted, funds become available for merit raises to others in the agency.
- Director of the Division of Parole Supervision is not the executive head of a state agency, and the Board of Pardons and Paroles is legally responsible for his conduct.
- County clerks have no authority to issue certified copies of letters testamentary.

APPOINTMENTS—Dr. Lorene Rogers was named acting president of The University of Texas, Austin, after Dr. Stephen Spurr was fired.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed Ronald Lee Wilson of Texas City to be 212th district attorney for Galveston County, succeeding Jules Damiani who became district judge.

COURTS SPEAK—Texas Court of Criminal Appeals unanimously upheld 1972 convictions of former House Speaker Gus Mutscher, former State Rep. Tommy Shannon and Rush McGinty for conspiring to accept a bribe in the famous Sharpstown case. All received five-year probation sentences.

The State Supreme Court ordered Secretary of State Mark White Jr. to certify Socialist Workers Party candidates for the November general election ballot unless he could prove their petitions insufficient with a name-by-name check of 55,000 signatures. White, changing his September 11 decision, certified the candidates.

SHORT SNORTS

A new Calendar of Texas Events for October-March lists 20 state, county and regional fairs.

The State Textbook Committee meets here Tuesday (Oct. 1) to hear protests against textbooks being submitted for adoption. Contracts will total nearly $20 million.

Texas cut gasoline consumption sharply, but electricity consumption increased 8.1 per cent from last year (based on a May figure), according to a governor's office energy report.

Governor Briscoe approved more than $1.9 million in criminal justice grants for 41 projects.

Way has been cleared for final application to transfer 12 old ships to four deep-water sites where they will be sunk to enhance the fish harvest.

Farm-facts

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

YOU OFTEN hear it said that Texas has become urbanized, and it is true. The urban influence, especially in politics, is dominant, yet agriculture is the basis of our country's wealth and probably always will be. The large towns have many of the people who used to live on farms and ranches of this State. What is not realized so readily is that they get a large share of their income each year from agricultural products. For example, Neal R. Peirce said in his "The Great Plains States of America," published in 1972, that Harris County (Houston) ranks second in Texas in the number of cattle, the region provides nearly 30 per cent of the national rice production, and the Port of Houston gets more than half of its annual tonnage from farm products! Most of the exported cotton that is grown in the Lubbock area (another city dominated by agriculture) goes out through the ports of Houston and Galveston, creating thousands of jobs in those communities. The late, great Jesse Jones, one of the developers of Houston, once said that "cotton and cattle kept it (Houston) rich..." The same story is true in Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, El Paso, and other big cities. Dallas ranks fourth in the Nation as a cotton market and farm implement center. Even though the big cities have paved over many of the acres in their counties, most such counties still produce crops and livestock. For instance, in 1970, Harris County produced crops and livestock valued at $22,497,000, El Paso County $21,728,000, Bexar County $21,626,000, Nueces County $19,149,000.

RAIN HAS perked up pastures over Texas and made it easier to send cattle into the winter months in good condition. Good pastures also possibly affected the number of cattle on feed during August. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reported that there were 1,760,000 head of cattle and calves on feed September 1, which is 24 per cent below a year ago and two per cent below the previous month. Texas feeders put 264,000 head into lots in August, which is 28 per cent fewer than in August, 1973 and 23 per cent fewer than in July, 1974. During August, there were 299,000 head of fat cattle sold, 16 per cent below August, 1973 and eight per cent below July, 1974.

THE USDA reports that it expects its new screwworm fly production plant in Tuxtla Gutierrez, Chiapas State, Mexico to be in operation by mid-1975. The 10-member Joint Mexico-U.S. Commission for the Eradication of Screwworms inspected the new construction earlier in September. The site is in southern Mexico where it is hoped the two countries can establish a "barrier zone" of sterile flies which would prevent the threat of reinfestation of screwworms in this country and in Mexico.

DESPITE RAIN, harvest of all crops is progressing well over the State. The rice harvest (first crop) is practically over, and corn and sorghum harvest is about 50 per cent complete. A few fields of sorghum on the High Plains have been harvested. Cotton harvest is about 20 per cent complete over the State compared to about eight per cent at this time last year. Cool weather has slowed cotton maturity on the Low and High Plains, but picking is almost over in the Coastal Bend area. Peanut harvest, at 23 per cent complete, is slightly behind what it was at this time last year. Seeding of a new crop of wheat is over 30 per cent complete, and of a new oat crop is over 20 per cent complete. Land preparation and planting is underway in the Rio Grande Valley for the fall and winter vegetable crops.

ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

DESTINATION?

Postal employees do their best to interpret accurately the addresses written on our mail. However, some are so hastily written, and so poorly addressed that they may never reach their intended destination. A good many people go hastily through life, not realizing that they are headed in the wrong direction. The church points the way to salvation and desires that all should choose the way of our Lord and Saviour.

TAKE TIME FOR THE LORD
ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

They all brought a big birthday cake for her birthday, which made her happy.

Mr. Gilbreath had a heart attack on Wednesday and is in the Hospital.

Mrs. Gladys Phillips comes to see her mother, Mrs. Hardin every day after coming from school.

Mrs. Artie Faye O'Hair of Bovina came to see her mother, Mrs. Miller on Friday and took her to Clovis for lunch and dinner.

Mrs. Opal Baylock and her son, Jerry Baylock came to see her mother, Mrs. Hall, Sunday afternoon. They had a nice visit together since it has been two years since they had seen each other.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Guinn are visiting their son and family and Pete's mother, Mrs. Guinn. They are from Arizona and expect to be here several days. They also visited the Roy Dyers and their many friends while here.

I read recently this part of a paragraph and it impressed me so I wish you would read it too. It follows, "I have found that when I try to take over my own problems and what I think the answer is, I am quiet often wrong. But when I let Jesus take over; I find the problems aren't really as big as I thought they were." My trust in my Savior and my God are more secure and steadfast and my trust in God and my faith in Him is my life. Each day as I live may God be your as you live may God be your own guide at all times too.

Terraces Control Erosion

Building terraces can help control erosion, at least for a while. But how terraces do their job depends on how they are farmed.

So says Jerry Wenmohs, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Muleshoe.

"Unfortunately, too many farmers plow across their terraces of fall to maintain them properly," Wenmohs said. "Gradually, the terraces lose their capacity to intercept runoff water. Then when heavy rain strikes, many terraces are broken."

Wenmohs said SCS has published a new booklet "Farming Terraced Land" which describes ways to farm terraces so that their original capacity is maintained. The illustrated publication gives step-by-step methods for plowing terraced land with a minimum number of trips.
