County Tax Rate Increases 33 Percent

Reagan Seeks Veep Choice

DETROIT (AP) — With everything going his way on the Republican Convention floor, Ronald Reagan is inviting party leaders to his hotel suite today for private chats designed to help with his decision on a vice presidential candidate and with his effort to close party ranks.

On Reagan's guest list for today were Henry A. Kissinger, Gerald R. Ford, supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment and, quite likely, some of the men mentioned as leading his list of vice presidential possibilities.

During morning and evening sessions of the convention on Monday, everything went off on schedule with hardly a ripple of controversy to provide any work for the Reagan political directors who roamed the floor.

The highlight of the opening day occurred Monday night when Ford received a warm emotional welcome from the delegates and pledged that "this Republican is going to do everything in his power to elect our nominee to the presidency of the United States."

It was Ford's 67th birthday and when he finished speaking and cheers had died down, the delegates sang "Happy Birthday" to the former president.

On the floor after the Ford speech, William Casey, Reagan's campaign manager, said a Reagan-Ford combination "would be a great ticket."

But Ford has made it clear he would not accept the vice presidential nomination and Casey said he doubted there would be any effort to try to draft Ford.

Kissinger was interviewed Monday night on CBS and when asked if he thought he might be offered his old job as secretary of state in a Reagan administration, he replied that "I have no expectancy one way or the other."

Reagan aides, while acknowledging that much of the candidate's day would be devoted to the vice presidential decision, refused to say which of the potential choices might be invited to his suite for a chat.

Sen. Richard Lugar of Indiana, one of the opening day speakers, said that he had not been invited to any meeting with Reagan, but that he had been asked for material to supplement the personal and financial data the Reagan staff had requested from several vice presidential prospects.

The deadline was drawing near for a decision from Reagan who will receive the presidential nomination from the convention on Wednesday night. He is expected to make his choice late that night and announce it at an 11 a.m. news conference on Thursday.

While Reagan pondered, others lobbied. Gov. William Milliken of Michigan, who had supported George Bush for the presidential nomination, now is boosting the former U.N. ambassador for the second spot on the ticket.

Pennsylvania delegates were considering a resolution urging Reagan to choose Bush.

Meanwhile, Bush made the rounds Monday of delegations where he still had support for the presidential nomination and told his backers he was releasing them and urged them to vote for Reagan on Wednesday night.

The convention reconvenes at 5 p.m., EDT, today, with the speakers to include Kissinger, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Reps. Jack Kemp of New York and Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan, both vice presidential possibilities, and former Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

Vander Jagt will deliver the convention keynote address. Whether by coincidence or by design, all the names on Deaf Smith County Commissioners Monday changed the tax rate from $1.25 to 40 cents per $100 valuation, but the assessed value was changed from 24 percent to 100 percent.

That amounts to a 33.3 percent increase in the tax rate, because a 30-cent rate would have been equivalent to last year's $1.25 rate under the lower assessment. If the assessment had remained at 24 percent, the rate would have jumped to $1.67.

Commissioners blame a $30 million tax-base loss due to the new Tax Relief Amendment, inflationary fuel costs, and a nine percent pay hike to county employees for the tax increase.

Under the Tax Relief Amendment, the state requires 100 percent of assessed value by 1981. The commissioners decided to make the switch this year. County auditor Alex Schroeter told commissioners it would take a 30-cent rate to produce the same revenue as last year.

Tax Relief Law Confuses Issue

To make up for the loss in the tax base—due to ag values on farmland rather than market value, another three cents would be needed, said Schroeter. To take care of pay raises and other budget increases, another seven cents was necessary, he added.

Schroeter said the county's tax base had been reduced from $429 million last year to $399 million this year because of the ag value factor in the Tax Relief Amendment.

Included in the $2.7 million budget for 1980-81 was a three percent across-the-board salary increase. Commissioners also approved the payment of employee retirement benefits, adding another six percent to salaries.

Because of the new Tax Relief Amendment, it appears that not all taxes will be increased by 33.3 percent.

For example, a farm worth $103,880 market value last year (one pulled from the tax rolls) will have an ag value of $93,725 this year. Under the new tax rate and assessment, that property owner will have his taxes increased by 20 percent.

If a house or business carried the same value of $103,880, the tax hike would amount to 33.3 percent increase, from $311.62 last year to $415.52 the coming year.

All commissioners were present for the meeting Monday. The commission had approved the budget last month. The budget will increase only $247,337, but Schroeter said the county started with some "favorable balances" last year and these had been depleted by about $400,000.

Woman Injured

Hereford firemen wash down spilled fuel from the rear of this overturned car following a one vehicle accident at Whittier and Forest Saturday night. The driver of the car, Sally Galvan, 27, of Hereford, apparently lost control of the vehicle and hit a power pole guywire. The vehicle overturned and Ms. Galvan suffered a fractured pelvis in the accident. She received emergency treatment at Deaf Smith General Hospital and was later transferred to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. A passenger in the car, four-year-old Kimberly Padilla of Abilene suffered minor injuries and was hospitalized here overnight while her brother, Ignacio, also a passenger, was not injured. ## Corporation To Allow Bonds

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday approved a resolution authorizing the creation of the Deaf Smith County Industrial Development Corporation, which chamber of commerce officials said would allow prospective industries to use industrial revenue bonds to build in the Hereford area.

The bonds, chamber officials told the commission, also would allow existing industries to expand. The state requires corporations to be set up within counties before bonds can be issued.

The resolution, requested by chamber president Ken Rogers and executive vice president Michael Carr, establishes a corporation which will act on behalf of the county "in the promotion and development of commercial, industrial and manufacturing enterprises."

Commissioners, in approving the resolution, accepted a set of bylaws governing the corporation and appointed a board of directors.

The corporation board will consist of Craig Smith, James Sears, Dick Montgomery, Tom Burdett and Bob Gentry. Montgomery, Burdett and Gentry attended Monday's commission meeting.

Last year's state Legislature approved the issuance of the bonds, effective Sept. 1, 1979. The bonds, Carr said, put no liability on the county since they are purchased by independent buyers for qualified industry.

"Does this take any prospective bond issue out of the hands of the commissioners' court?" Commissioner Bruce Coleman asked.

"No, you will have a direct voice into the board of directors," Carr said. "This is only a way that the industrial-revenue bonds can be applied for. It doesn't issue bonds; it just approves the application, then the application is sent on to the Texas Industrial Commission for final approval."

Gentry told Coleman that if bonds are to be requested from the state, "this court would first have to approve it."

Coleman asked "who would pick up the tab" if a prospective industry defaulted.

"Whoever bought the bonds," Commissioner Austin Rose responded. "The county has no obligation whatsoever, from what I understand about it."

Commissioners turned over the corporation bylaws and articles of incorporation to Assistant District Atty. Jerry Smith, who later agreed Monday that the county would not be liable for any fudgs. The chamber request was unanimously approved.

The court Monday considered another resolution—one which would have asked the state to grant the county ordinance-making authority concerning a ban on the sale and use of fireworks outside the city limits.

The resolution was requested by Potter County Judge Cliff Roberts, who convinced his commissioners' court Monday to approve it. The Randall and Gray County courts approved similar resolutions.

Deaf Smith County commissioners tabled the request until they receive more information from Roberts.

"We've got a whole year before we have a problem, so we can vote on it at our next meeting," Commissioner James Voyles said, while asking County Judge Glen Nelson to receive additional information from Roberts concerning what action the county should take.

Fireworks were blamed for at least 26 fires in the city and county since they first went on sale during the last week of June. Damage is expected to run at least $40,000, according to fire department officials.

Counties do not have ordinance-making authority. The Potter County resolution will ask the state to allow the county to ban the sale and use of fireworks. Roberts said Monday the resolution will be submitted to the Panhandle and state judges and commissioners associations, along with the 1981 Legislature.

Texas Rural Legal Aid attorney Bill Beardall attended Monday's meeting to clarify the role of the Texas Advisory Council.

The clarification was the

Ammonia Sprayed on Picketers

Strike Begins 4th Week

By JIM STEIERT
Farm Editor

A flurry of activities Monday marked the launching of the fourth straight week of a strike on onion fields by the Texas Farm Workers Union.

TFWU members and supporters filed a complaint against a Hart man Monday stemming from an ammonia spraying incident Saturday.

In addition, TFWU officials met Monday afternoon with representatives of the Hereford and Lubbock chapters of the American GI forum as well as the president of the Lubbock chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens to discuss fund raising activities for the TFWU.

On another note Monday, TFWU members claimed a local vegetable packing firm had hiked its piecework rate to 90 cents per bushel, well above the 50 cent per bushel rate being widely paid in the onion fields of the area at this time.

Charges of simple assault were filed Monday afternoon against Howard "Byck" Mitchel of Hart after an incident Saturday in which TFWU picketers and Castro County sheriff's deputies were sprayed with anhydrous ammonia from a tank being pulled by a pickup.

According to Castro County District Attorney Jimmy Davis, the ammonia spraying occurred about two miles east of Hart near an onion field contracted to the Dimmitt packing shed of La Mantia-Cullum-Collier & Co.

Davis reported that pickets had gathered along a county road next to an onion field being picketed when an individual "apparently came through with an ammonia tank hookup, spraying ammonia in the area."

TFWU picketers and Castro County deputies were hit by a cloud of ammonia, a substance used as a source of nitrogen fertilizer that can severely injure the respiratory tract.

TFWU members at the scene reported that the

Were You Counted? Officials Concerned

The preliminary Census 80 figures are in and city and county officials are concerned that several thousand citizens have not been counted.

The preliminary total for Hereford was reported by the district census office at 14,814. City officials feel that a conservative estimate of the population is more than 17,000.

Mayor Bartley Dowell contacted William Soule, district census officer in Amarillo, Monday and asked for clarification on how the city should challenge the totals. Dowell noted that the preliminary printout sheets showed many vacant houses.

The mayor has requested that The Brand again publish a "Were You Counted" form so that citizens who have not sent in a form can make sure they are counted. The form can be found inside today's issue of the newspaper.

Soule said the office would require no more information than a mere headcount. He also invited citizens who have not been counted to call the district census office collect and give the information on the phone. The number is 806-335-1656.

The district census officer indicated that enumerators are still checking back on units that had been marked vacant. He emphasized that his office, at this point, is only interested in a population count.

As has been pointed out in much publicity about the census, the totals have an important bearing on government funds and on congressional representation of states and areas.

The Hereford mayor feels many citizens simply did not fill out a form because they didn't want to answer "a lot of questions." Even though responses on the questionnaires were confidential, this probably kept some people from returning the forms.

The preliminary count for Deaf Smith County was reported at 19,450. City, county and chamber of commerce officials feel the figures are definitely low. City Manager Dudley Bayne says the city total appears to be at least 3,000

Texas Workers May Reorganize

DETROIT (AP) - There may be some bruised feelings among longtime Republican local leaders, but statewide directors of the Ronald Reagan campaign say they intend to arrange party workers however they feel necessary to win in November in Texas.

"Some indeed will have lesser roles in the campaign and some will have larger," said Gov. Bill Clements, state chairman for Reagan.

He was backed up by Ernest Angelo, Midland, state campaign director for Reagan, and State GOP Chairman Chet Upham, Mineral Wells.

The three top leaders called a news conference Monday after it was learned that 77 Texas delegates and alternates met Sunday night in an unannounced session to discuss Reagan's general election campaign.

Some delegates said there was a grassroots feeling, particularly in north and south Texas, that the developing general election campaign might drop some local leaders who had supported the party for years.

Afterwards, Jesse Brookshire, Texarkana, who presided at the unofficial caucus, said "it was basically a lack of communication."

The Texas delegation had two caucuses scheduled today, one including an appearance by Nancy Reagan, wife of the expected GOP presidential nominee.

Clements quickly let the Monday news conference know who was in charge of the November campaign for Reagan.

"There is no question of who is chairman of the Reagan drive in Texas. You're looking at him. I'm it," he said, glaring at reporters.

Later the Republican governor said that "for people to be concerned at this point (about campaign organization) is not helpful."

Angelo said that the Reagan organization that won 52 percent of the presidential primary vote, and 61 of the 80 delegates, had been disbanded. The makeup of the new organization for the general election has not been announced.

"I expect most if not all of those who helped us in the primary will have a part in the fall campaign," he said, "but there will be other people too. No decision has been made who will be involved. Maybe we will know something next week."

Nigh Rejoins Brand

Bob Nigh has rejoined The Hereford Brand staff as advertising manager, it was announced Monday by publisher O.G. Nieman.

Nigh had announced plans two weeks ago to move to a job in Borger, but he changed those plans last week and returned to the newspaper staff Monday. Bob Hillerby, who was named recently to succeed Nigh, has been re-assigned as production manager and ad salesman.

With the changes, the advertising staff now includes Nigh, Hillerby and Janet Snyder in sales and layout, and Jerry Klechak in advertising composition. Delight Williams is in charge of classified advertising.

"We are happy that Nigh made the decision to stay with The Brand," stated Nieman. "Not only has he been an asset to the newspaper, but he has been a good citizen of the community."

Nigh, a native of Oklahoma, graduated from high school in Oklahoma City and earned a journalism degree at Central State University in Edmond, Okla. He worked on the Marlin Daily Democrat before coming to Hereford in July, 1976.

Nigh and his wife, Glenda, have two children. They are members of the First Baptist Church. He has been active in the Lions Club, chamber of commerce, The American Cancer Society, and in YMCA programs.

Arabs Preparing Anti-Israel Statement

By The Associated Press Arab nations are preparing a new U.N. resolution demanding Israel give the Palestine Liberation Organization territories it captured during the 1967 Middle East War. The resolution to be introduced at an emergency meeting of the 152-nation General Assembly next Tuesday will call on Israel to start withdrawing from all occupied territories "including Jerusalem" by Nov. 15 and for a U.N. military force to supervise the withdrawal.

Under the resolution, Secretary General Kurt Waldheim would be authorized to take over the evacuated territories and hand over "Palestinian areas" to the PLO to satisfy the Palestinians' "right to national independence and sovereignty." "Palestinian areas" were understood to mean the Gaza Strip and the West Bank of the Jordan River, which were under Egyptian and Jordanian rule respectively prior to Israel's occupation of them during the "Six-Day War" in 1967.

Police Search For Slaying Suspects

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Police searched today for two men wanted in connection with the slayings of four men, including three members of a family, outside a small East Lubbock pool hall.

Detectives said the shootings apparently arose from a fist fight. Several persons were questioned Monday, but no arrests were made.

The suspects were described as Mexican-Americans in their early 20s, police said. Witnesses told officers the pair fled in a late model white-and-maroon Ford.

Police said several hispanic men entered the hall Sunday night and followed several patrons outside, where shots were fired.

The victims were identified as Geronimo Cavarrubio and Leo Cavarrubio, owner of the pool hall, both in their 60s; Jim Cavarrubio, 20, son of Geronimo Cavarrubio, and Willie Guerra, 20.

The elder men were pronounced dead outside the pool hall, and the younger men died at Lubbock General Hospital about an hour after the shooting, police said.

Militants Publish Interview with 'Spy'

By The Associated Press The Iranian militants holding the U.S. Embassy in Tehran have published a purported interview with one of their American captives, Thomas Ahern, 48, of Fond du Lac, Wis., in which he admitted being a CIA agent and named two high-level Iranians among his contacts.

The account published in the Tehran newspaper Azadgan said Ahern, a State Department employee who has been accused previously of spying by the militants, told an interviewer he had four Iranian contacts who provided him with details of the Iranian revolution including "information about individuals... information about Kurdistan... and brief reports about the leadership and morale in the armed forces."

According to the report, Ahern named two of his sources: Amir Entezam, a former ambassador to the Scandinavian countries who was jailed in Iran last October for allegedly cooperating with the CIA, and Khosrow Quashqai, who was elected to the new Majlis Parliament but has been barred from taking his seat because of accusations that he served the deposed shah's secret police.

Nursing-Home Fire Kills 15, Hurts 35

MISSISSAUGA, Ontario (AP) - A fire at a nursing home killed at least 15 people Monday night and 35 more were being treated for smoke inhalation, fire officials said.

A spokesman for the Extendicare Ltd. nursing home, in this community west of Toronto, said the fire started on the third floor - where most of the chronically-ill patients were located - and forced the removal of all 198 residents of the home.

About 20 ambulances helped with the evacuation. Some patients were being treated for smoke inhalation across the street at Mississauga General Hospital.

Mayor Hazel McCallion went into the building after the fire and said it was hard to believe anyone came out alive.

There are about 18 rooms on the third floor and a fire official said it was difficult to get people out.

A morgue was set up at a nearby recreation center so relatives could identify the victims.

Weather

West Texas - Mostly sunny and hot through Wednesday. Widely scattered afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms west of mountains and northwest Panhandle. Highs 95 to 107. Lows 63 to 78.

Reagan

Reagan's list are addressing the convention.

Former cabinet members William Simon and Donald Rumsfeld spoke Monday night and concentrated on attacking Carter administration policies.

Simon, a former treasury secretary, said the Democratic administration was "one of the worst stewards of the economy in our lifetime."

Rumsfeld, who headed the Pentagon during the Ford administration, called the Carter administration "a dangerous and embarrassing episode" and said the president "has been sleepwalking."

Sen. Nancy Landon Kassebaum of Kansas, introduced on film by her father, Alf Landon, the 1936 GOP presidential nominee, called the Carter administration a government "at odds with itself."

While Ford's reiteration of support for his one-time rival was welcome to Reagan, the former president also has made it clear he expects to influence Reagan decisions; including the one on the vice presidential nomination.

Strike

ammonia gas caused gagging and respiratory problems, especially among the young children present on the strike line."

Castro County deputies were hit hard by the gas as they moved in to halt the spraying.

Davis pointed out that Mitchell is not a vegetable grower and had not been involved with either growers or strikers.

A warrant was issued for Mitchell's arrest late Monday after complaints were signed in Dimmitt by Delia Gamez, 21, of Hereford, Ruben Rios, 13, of Hereford, and Martha Owen, 23, a law student from the University of Texas who is working with the TFWU office at the San Jose Labor camp in Hereford.

According to Davis, the maximum punishment for the Class C assault is a $200 fine. TFWU picketers also reported that another farmer in the Hart area exposed himself and urinated in front of a group of women picketers Saturday.

According to a TFWU press release Monday, complaints have also been filed in that case with the Castro County DA's office.

Davis reported Monday afternoon that no charges had been filed in the incident as yet, and further investigation would probably be required.

While charges were filed late Monday against Mitchell about 35 TFWU pickets returned to a field west of Hereford owned by the Howard Gault Co. Monday morning and remained for much of the day.

Antonio Orendain, TFWU director, reported that a sign had been posted at the Gault field indicating a piecework rate of 90 cents per bushel was being paid in that particular field.

Jesus Moya, a TFWU strike organizer here report-

While refusing to say whom he would recommend, Ford has said he will tell Reagan which possibility he favors and that it certainly would be someone considered a moderate.

Sources close to Ford say he would find Bush, Vander Jagt, Rumsfeld and Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., acceptable.

Ford also symbolizes the problems Reagan has with backers of ERA. Reagan opposes ERA while saying he supports equal rights for women.

Ford supports the amendment and was sharply critical of the Republican platform committee's action in dropping the party's traditional backing for ERA.

In an effort to smooth ill feelings over the platform committee action, Reagan agreed to meet with several ERA supporters. Despite efforts to generate enough support for a floor fight, ERA backers fell short of obtaining the 27 signatures needed from the 106 members of the platform committee to issue a minority report.

ed that pickets remained on the scene at the Gault field "to make sure the rate remains high."

Cameron Gault of Hereford, part owner of the local packing shed, was questioned on whether the TFWU had negotiated for the new rate.

Gault declined to comment on the rate being paid in the field but stated, "There have been no negotiations of any kind for a different rate."

According to Gault, the piecework rate is varying by field.

"It will be a different rate again Tuesday because we'll be in a different field. Our rate all season has been according to the field conditions. There have been no negotiations for a higher rate and there is nothing to any claims that a hike to 90 cents per bushel has been negotiated," stated Gault.

Gault emphasized that any higher rate being paid onion harvesters by his firm "does not set a standard for the rest of the local vegetable industry" and added that any higher rate was in effect "only on a small acreage where yields are extremely light."

Orendain and Moya met Monday afternoon with Chevo Morales, president of the Lubbock chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens, Roy Medina of the GI Forum in Lubbock, and Teresa Munoz of the Hereford GI Forum.

The meeting occurred at the TFWU headquarters at the San Jose Labor Camp.

Orendain reported that further financial support for the TFWU office here was expected to be secured as a result of Monday afternoon's session.

According to Orendain, the Hereford chapter of the GI Forum has already provided the TFWU with "excellent support."

County

result of Sheriff Travis McPherson's recent report to commissioners concerning the fact that the state council should be made aware of alleged TRLA abuses of taxpayers' money in Deaf Smith County.

Beardall told the court that the council was established under the Legal Services Corporation Act. Legal Services Corporation created legal-aid offices in Texas, including the farmworker office in Hereford. "The council's function is to receive any complaints of alleged violation of the Legal Services Corporation Act, screen those complaints, screen out frivolous complaints and take any apparent violations and pass them on to Legal Services Corporation," Beardall said.

He added that "All of the complaints" against the Hereford TRLA office have been due "to a misunderstanding of our office."

Beardall said he "would encourage" anyone with a complaint against TRLA to bring it to the attention of the Texas Advisory Council "or any of the other mechanisms where complaints should be aired."

Commissioners questioned Beardall concerning the local office, asking him about eligible clients, the office's board of directors and TRLA's role in the county.

Beardall explained that clients are strictly farmworkers and that the office is governed by a statewide board of directors working under the auspices of Legal Services Corporation.

short. In the 1970 census, Hereford had 4,086 water meters and, with a total of 13,414 population, the citizens per household averaged 3.28.

Now the city has 5,386 water meters and multiplying that total by the 3.28 ratio, the present population could be projected at 17,666.

The mayor urges all citizens who feel they may not have been counted to fill out one of the forms

Heat Toll Climbs Past 600

As the skyrocketing death toll topped 600 in the nation's three-week-old heat wave, police in Atlanta blared warnings over loudspeakers urging people to leave home for cool shelters and an army of Red Cross volunteers in Kansas City delivered fans to the poor and elderly languishing in Missouri's deadly heat.

Missouri's governor placed the National Guard on alert and declared a state of emergency Monday as the state's heat-related deaths mounted to 131.

"Missourians are suffering and dying," said Gov. Joseph Teasdale, who is seeking $5 million to $8 million in federal aid to provide fans for the poor and old.

Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton also declared a state of emergency as hundreds of miles of highway buckled and melted and farmers assessed cattle and crop losses in the millions of dollars. He has requested $11.7 million in federal aid for the highway system.

The heat wave has claimed 91 lives in Arkansas, and in an unusual weekend accident, a Little Rock girl was burned when she was sprayed with water from an outdoor hose that had been in the sunlight, doctors said.

Police Probe Threat

By DENISE SMITH and DAWN OAKLEY Brand Staff Writers

The life of Jamie DeLeon of Plainview was threatened last weekend at Big Daddy's Truck Stop, police reported.

Although the threat was only verbal, a suspect may still be charged with assault, according to the law, police said.

Nine thefts were reported to police over the weekend. A Nikon camera, valued at $750 to $800 was taken from the home of Gordon Slade, 524 Ave. G. Police said there was no sign of forced entry.

A stack of plywood valued at $300 was taken from the front yard of Ovel Mendoza, 711 Lee.

Fourteen dollars was taken from a cash register at Thames Pharmacy, 110 S. Centre. Burglars apparently entered through a window they had broken.

At the Credit Bureau, 415 N. Main, burglars weren't content to merely take $16 in cash, but made off with the box that held the money, too. Kester's Jewelry, 409 N. Main, had more luck when a burglar was unable to gain entry.

An employee reported to police that the rear door there had been pryed.

Thieves not only raided homes and businesses over the weekend, but garnered several goods from local vehicles.

A pickup parked at the residence of Hilton Jones Jr., 116 Ave. D, was broken into, and a 40-channel CB, and eight track tape player, an assorted collection of stereo tapes, and a matching pair of CB antennas were taken.

Doug Wayne Bryan, 122 Ave. D, was taken for around $800 when his truck was broken into, police said.

Bryan lost a 23-channel Cobra CB, a 40-channel side band radio, a radar detector, two pillows, six eight track tapes, a speaker, a CB antenna and two rings.

Another CB antenna was taken from a car at Cantu Auto Sales, 143 E. 1st, where another antenna was bent and a windshield on a third vehicle broken with an unknown object.

Police said they have no complete estimate of damages at this time.

A tool box and assorted tools were stolen from the garage of Ray Anderson, 201 Ave. J.

Some food stamps belonging to Rita Torres, 508 Brevard, valued at $180, are missing. Ms. Torres thinks she misplaced them.

A harrassing phone call was reported to police by C.L. Fields, 525 Willow Lane.

Vandals were not idle over the weekend, letting the air out of all four tires on a vehicle belonging to Jack Conrad, 617 Ave. I. Police said they have a suspect.

A rock was thrown through the window of the L.D. Neumayer house, 227 Ranger.

To round out the weekend's business, police reportedly arrested two drunks, issued 59 traffic citations and investigated 11 non-offense reports.

Final results of the fashion revue were Robin Conkwright, first place in intermediates; Kelly Stokesberry, runner-up in intermediates, and Alison Lady, third place in intermediates.

Junior winners were first place, Heather Gee; Leslie Conkwright, runner-up; and third place Kristi Powell.

Senior winners were Cynthia Streun, first place and her runner-up Glena West.

Chosen as best models were Penni Parker, intermediate; Leslie Conkwright, junior; and Cynthia Streun, senior.

Those 4-H'ers will represent Deaf Smith County at the District I Fashion Revue to be held in Amarillo, July 22.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

My baby's first words were, "There's nothing to do." I had hoped it might be something like "ma-ma" or "da-da," but it was still exciting for us. I called my husband at work and as he listened to this small voice form the words clearly on the phone he was astounded. "That's a whole sentence," he said proudly.

"I know. He's been saying it since he got up this morning."

He was to continue saying it until he got his own apartment at the age of 23.

In all that time, we never agreed on what is "something to do."

His idea was always something that involved either a car, lots of running water, something from the attic, permission from the police, refreshments, a ladder to the roof, his father's tools, a credit card, music, hats and horns or a Blue Cross card.

My idea included the basics: putting things in boxes, sorting, cutting grass, running errands, hanging things on hangers, growing up, doing homework, clearing the table, helping the elderly and developing an attitude toward social change.

The problem is that children are taught to be spectators from the moment they are born.

We stand over their cribs entertaining them with funny faces, hide behind our hands and try to scare them half to death, put a rattle in each hand and dance, sing to them, give monologues while we change diapers, play games when we feed them, and tell them stories when we bed them down at night.

Their potty chairs have recordings in them, their cribs have twirling mobiles, their chairs have springs and wheels, their car seats have horns and steering wheels, their eating bowls have pictures in the bottom, their dolls talk and their pillows squeak.

As they get older, math becomes a game and athletics become a spectator sport. They don't live life...they're an audience for it.

The cure for "There's nothing to do" should be obvious. Always keep a list of chores on hand to fill the void. After awhile my children got so fed up with my suggestions, they'd be halfway through. "There's nothing..." get a stricken look on their faces and finish with, "I'd like better than to chat, but I've got a busy day."

How did I get so wise? That solution worked so well when my husband used it on me...I decided to use it on the kids.

Ann Landers

Vomiting For Weight Control

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was in high school I was fat and miserable. Staying on a diet was impossible, and I hated myself.

I read in your column about a girl who had the habit of gorging herself and then throwing it up. You told her it was dangerous and to stop it before she ran into serious physical and emotional problems.

I decided I was smarter than you and that it was a neat way to take off weight and stay thin. Since that time, I have been forcing myself to throw up three or four times a week. That was 10 years ago. I am still not thin but I have done some awful things to myself. Please let me use your column to warn anyone who may be tempted to try it.

After throwing up, I feel physically exhausted. My skin becomes blotched and greenish in color. My eyes hurt and I get sores around my mouth.

As the years go by it is harder to make myself throw up. When I was 16 I used my finger. Now I use all sorts of instruments and have to stick them farther down my throat. Sometimes it takes me an hour or more to vomit.

I am trapped in this behavior and am so embarrassed I haven't been able to ask for help. It's horrible, just like drug addiction or alcoholism, because it controls me. The more I do it, the worse I feel and the more I want to do it again. I know it's crazy, but aren't all addictions?

Can you tell me more about the damage I am doing to my eyes, ears, stomach, skin and glands in my throat? It might help me stop. Thank you.--Having A Devil Of A Time In Denver

DEAR DENVER: Telling you more about the damage you are doing to your body will not help you stop. You are trapped in a compulsive pattern of behavior and common sense won't work.

You need the help of a trained professional, and I urge you to get it at once. Look in the phone book under "mental health." Denver has some excellent facilities. You can get counseling for little money or maybe without charge. Get going immediately and please let me hear from you. I want to know how you are doing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I was told by a knowledgeable person that it is against the law to engage in sex with a female sheep. The reason given was that the offspring of such a relationship would be half-sheep and half-human. This person also said the reproductive system of the female sheep is almost identical to that of a human, which is why the sheep would become pregnant.

I realize this sounds awfully crazy, but it was explained to me in such a logical and convincing way that I believe it. Please advise me of the validity of this statement in the paper. I need to show it to a person in the office who claims it's a lot of nonsense.--Ba-Ba-Baffled In Trenton, N.J.

DEAR TRENTON: Have you ever heard of a half-sheep, half-human? Well, neither has anyone else. A few years ago someone wrote and asked me the same question about a dog. I replied, "No way." I was promptly inundated with letters from readers who said they had heard of babies born of such unions, covered with hair, that barked and had tails.

Nowhere in medical literature is there any evidence of half-human, half-animal births. You can bet the rent that I am right about this.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? Ann Landers' completely new "The Bride's Guide" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send a dollar, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (15 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Elks Schedule MD Swim-A-Thon

Entries for the second annual "Elks Against Distrophy Swim-a-thon" are now being taken.

Entry forms for the event, which is to be held August 6 at the Elks pool, may be picked up at the pool any day after 2 p.m.

Entrants will obtain pledges for every hour they swim, and prizes will be given to those bringing in the most money.

First prize is a 10 speed bike, second is a pair of outdoor roller skates, and third is a Jerry Lewis wristwatch.

Contestants must not touch the sides or the bottoms of the pool, while swimming, but they may float. Ten minute breaks will be taken every hour, and around 5:30 p.m. a 30 minute break will be taken for supper.

Life guards and certified personnel will be on duty to make sure there are no mishaps.

The Elks raised $1400 last year with only 13 or 14 participants, they said. They hope to do better this year.

Information may be obtained at the Elk's pool or at 364-4511.

4-H Offers Projects In Health Related Areas For Local Students

By: AGNES TAYLOR
County Extension Agent
 4-H offers very interesting projects in health and health related areas. As part of a special project in the health area, Agnes Taylor, the County 4-H Coordinator, has developed a program on "Meeting Family Emergency Needs Through Individualized First Aid Kits." Also, she is a certified CPR instructor through the American Red Cross.

A timely health topic is how to deal with the heat wave and avoid hot weather problems. If you become overexposed to the sun or overexert during extreme heat and humidity this summer, you may get heat cramps, heat exhaustion, or possibly even the rare but serious heatstroke.

Avoiding these hot-weather complications is more than simply a matter of staying in cool or air-conditioned areas and walking on the shady side of the street as important as those precautions are. You'll also need to pay attention to medically sound preventive steps.

1. Wear loose-fitting, light colored clothing that reflects the sun's rays and allows for better sweat evaporation, and wear a wide-brimmed hat for added protection.

2. Avoid sudden changes of temperature, such as dashing from an air-conditioned building to a hot sidewalk or car. Before getting into a car that's been parked in the sun, open it up for a few minutes.

3. Stick to cool drinks and food, and salt your food liberally. Salt tablets are seldom necessary if you have a well-balanced diet. If you feel the need for salt tablets, check first with your doctor. (See #12)

4. Don't overeat. Don't overindulge in alcoholic drinks. Your body system needs extra water in hot weather, whether or not your thirst sensation increases. Drink water often, even when you don't feel the urge.

5. Acclimate yourself by limiting exposure to the sun or strenuous outdoor activities to just 15 minutes on the first hot day, adding 15-30 minutes each day over a week or 10 days.

6. Avoid outdoor physical activity between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. whenever possible.

7. When you exercise in the heat, take a 5-10 minute break every halfhour. Don't exercise just before or after meals.

8. Drink plenty of water or salted lemonade when you're exercising. You may have heard that drinking water when you're hot and active will bring on stomach cramps, but it is not true; you need to keep up your water intake or replace what you're losing in sweat - so drink when you're thirsty.

9. Also take extra precautions when ever the humidity is high during a heat wave. When the relative humidity gets above 60 percent, the air won't absorb as much sweat as your body needs to get rid of, and by 75 percent relative humidity, it won't absorb any. This, coupled with high temperatures, is particularly dangerous.

10. If the weather is hot and dry, you may not feel sweaty, but in high temperatures you indeed are sweating; the dry air is evaporating the sweat so effectively that you don't get damp skin or soaked clothes. Drink plenty of water; don't be lulled by the false idea that you're not losing any.

11. Take extra care when the official temperature is higher than 85 degrees F. If the official temperature is, say, 95 degrees F, it may be well over 105 degrees F on a tennis court or in your backyard garden, even in the shade. Official readings are often taken from towers or high buildings.

12. If you are on a low-salt or salt-free diet, or if you have a chronic disease - heart disease, hypertension, diabetes, or lung disease, for example - high heat and humidity will put an especially heavy burden on you. Consult your doctor before engaging in any unusual activity or changing your salt intake.

13. If you do feel the effects of the heat and humidity - unexplained stomach or arm and leg cramps, extreme fatigue, nausea, headache, or dizziness - get medical attention as soon as possible.

Take care of your bodies and get interested in health. 4-H can offer you vital information and learning experience in the health area. If you are interested, contact the County Extension Office for more information.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Recent events in the Hereford area have again raised the moral questions of just wages and acceptable working conditions for farm workers, as well as of the right of growers and packers to a fair return on their investment.

While recognizing and reaffirming the right of owners to a fair profit, we once more assert the right of laborers, including farm workers, to a just wage and to decent working conditions, including the right of workers to form a union, if they wish to do so, to help them achieve these goals through collective bargaining.

This right of workers to unionize has repeatedly been affirmed by the Texas Conference of Churches, the Texas Catholic Conference, and by the United States Catholic Conference. In The Church in the Modern World, bishops of the entire world stated: "Among the basic rights of the human person is to be numbered the right of freely founding unions for working people. These should be able truly to represent them and to contribute to the organizing of economic life in the right way. Included is the right of freely taking part in the activity of these unions without risk of reprisal. Through this orderly participation joined to progressive economic and social formation, all will grow day by day in the awareness of their own function and responsibility, and thus they will be brought to feel that they are comrades in the whole task of economic development and in the attainment of the universal common good according to their capacities and aptitudes."

We call upon all people of good will to renew their efforts to come to a peaceful settlement.

L.T. Matthiesen
 Bishop of Amarillo

The Newspaper Bible

IF YOU KNOW IT, DO IT!

Beware then of your own hearts, dear brothers, lest you find that they, too, are evil and unbelieving and are leading you away from the living God.

Speak to each other about these things every day while there is still time, so that none of you will become hardened against God, being blinded by the glamor of sin.

For if we are faithful to the end, trusting God just as we did when we first became Christians, we will share in all that belongs to Christ.

But now is the time. Never forget the warning. "Today if you hear God's voice speaking to you, do not harden your hearts against Him, as the people of Israel did when they rebelled against Him in the desert."

And who were those people I speak of, who heard God's voice speaking to them but then rebelled against Him? They were the ones who came out of Egypt with Moses their leader.

And who was it who made God angry for all those forty years? These same people who sinned and as a result died in the wilderness.

And to whom was God speaking when He swore with an oath that they could never go into the land He had promised His people? He was speaking to all those who disobeyed Him.

And why couldn't they go in? Because they didn't trust Him.

Hebrews 3:12-19

Trevino, Ballestros Have Trouble

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Two of the prime favorites, Lee Trevino and defending champion Seve Ballestros, had their problems going into the 109th British Open golf championship which begins Thursday.

Trevino, who won in 1972, the last time this ancient event was played on the 6,926-yard, par 71 Muirfield golf links, was keeping an anxious eye on the weather.

"When I won here before, it was warm, really warm," said Trevino, bundled in layers of sweaters after a practice round in the cold, windy, sometimes-rainy weather.

"I don't do that well in this weather," he said.

"I'm not a cold weather player, never have been. I don't like the cold. I can't get loose. I'm all tightened up. My back hurts. I miss too many shots in the cold because I'm not loose and I'm restricted by all the clothes you have to wear.

"And if you miss a shot here, miss a fairway or a green, it's a bogey. That simple.

"It's the toughest rough I've ever see at a British Open," Trevino said. He spread his hands about two feet apart. "Man, it's up to here," he said.

The long-range forecast is for "unsettled conditions" which often translates to cold, wind and rain.

"If it stays cold," Trevino said, "I like the long hitters, and the British players because they're used to playing in these conditions." He specifically mentioned Brian Barnes, Tony Jacklin and Sandy Lyle.

And Ballestros.

"Seve's used to playing in the cold, too, and he's a long hitter. I'd like his chances," Trevino said.

Grand Slam

Redbird first baseman and catcher Steve Bartles puts a firm jaw and swing into an oncoming pitch during the opener of a double-header between the Hereford American Legion squad and Amarillo Caprock Sunday. Mike Mason stands in the batters box and watches what later became an out-of-the-park home run for Bartles. The Hereford team dropped the opener 15-5, but bounced back in the nightcap by taking the decision 12-2. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

'Birds Split Twinbill

The Hereford American Legion Redbirds, withstanding the setback of seven missing players due to injuries, out-of-town baseball play or job related absences, rewrote an eight game losing epitaph after the squad lambasted Amarillo Caprock 12-2 in the night cap of a double-header here this past weekend.

"I'll tell you what, we're definitely on the running boards of the hospital ward," said head coach Joe Don Cummings. "We've had several of our players get injured these past couple of weeks and those hurts are starting to hurt us."

Among that injured list include, catcher Don Delozier who was taken out of the opening encounter with Caprock following a wrist injury, short stop and third baseman Ken Cosper who has seen limited batting time after a shoulder injury he sustained, and injured outfielder John Phibbs.

Those injured players combined with the losses of Friona ballplayers Mike Tucker and Randy Kerr to the squad.

And the missing personnel became evident in the opener of the contest as the Redbird team succumbed to Caprock's fifteen run onslaught in the first three innings of play, while Hereford managed only five scores in the first frame (and five runs that would last the Hereford team throughout the duration of the tilt.

But the long standing Hereford losing streak plummeted in the nightcap however as hurler Ron Plummer bolstered his record to 2-1, and extended the Herd's season mark to 5-18 after he tossed a six hitter in the winning 15-5 victory.

The Redbird crew, lead by singles from Plummer, Matt Collier and outfielder De Wayne Kilpatrick racked up a total of nine runs in the first stanza of play in the nightcap while holding the Longhorns to a meager tally of two.

Then in the third inning, Plummer creased a triple deep in right field territory that added two more scores to Hereford's spree, and inevitably shut the door on Caprock's hopes for a return into the contest.

The final winning notch for the Redbird team came in the ninth frame as Jeff Hazelrigg singled to leftfield and then was brought home by a Kilpatrick single to leftfield.

The Redbirds are slated to pair off against Amarillo Palo Duro Thursday night in a scheduled double-header, and then will finish out season play against Canyon here July 20 followed by a contest with Borger July 22 in Amarillo.

SPORTS

Ballestros, however, was considerably less enthusiastic.

"Golf is a game of ups and downs," said the young Spaniard who added the 1980 Masters crown to the British Open title he won last year in England. "Right now I am down.

"I have no confidence. My swing is bad. My irons are bad. I'm not comfortable over the ball. I don't have the feel. My game is not as good as I'd like it to be. The only thing good is the putting."

He admitted he was worried going into the defense of his title in the first round.

"When you don't play well, you worry. I need to find something, the key. Just some little thing in my swing," he said.

"There is time. Maybe I find it. Maybe not."

If he doesn't, Trevino pointed to other big hitters as the probable choices in the tournament that offers more than $400,000 in total prizes.

"In the wind and cold, you got to go with the long hitters," Trevino said, "guys like (Tom) Weiskopf, (Andy) Bean, and, of course, (Jack) Nicklaus. I'm sure he's been working extra hard for this championship. After winning the U.S. Open, he's got his confidence up. He's playing good. He's got a great chance.

"Yes, I think you have to look at Jack."

The Bear Becomes Bumbling Giant

Russian Security A Hassle

MOSCOW (AP) — Here we've been in the Soviet Union 24 hours and already our pockets have been emptied nine times.

Then they take your watch. After that, the computer timer. Then they start looking suspiciously at your belt buckle.

"Maybe it's the fountain pen. Let's have the fountain pen."

All legal, of course, after awhile you get everything back. Then you're on your way again. Until you have to pass through another portal — like the entrance to the press headquarters or your hotel.

Beep. Beep. There it goes again.

Off with the watch. Everything out of your pockets, please. All your kopeks on the tray, sir. Let's have a look at that belt buckle.

No real damage. Nothing lost but your patience. It's the tribute exacted in the name of Olympic security.

The Russian bear has put on his best face for the fractured 1980 Olympic Games — and it's a nice face indeed. — but the anxiety over security has turned him into an edgy, bumbling giant.

It seems incredulous that a country which could send the first man into outer space and achieve other notable scientific gains is unable to get its overseas guests out of the airport and into their hotel in less than four hours.

That's the going average. Once established, the hassle just begins. An electronic shakedown — the kind you get at airports — has become a compulsory ritual as the Soviet Union seeks to forestall any incident comparable to the Arab terrorists' raid on the Israelis at Munich in 1972.

An iron ring has been drawn around this Olympic capital. Those who legitimately pierce it — newsmen, tourists, team officials and even the athletes — are kept under constant scrutiny.

In no Olympics ever — Montreal in 1976, Innsbruck in 1964 — have security measures been more stringent. One doesn't run the electronic surveillance steeplechase course once but a half-dozen to a dozen times a day — everytime he enters his hotel, the various official complexes, the Olympic village.

It never ends. A look at the identity card or passport. Does the picture match the face? Then through the metal detector arch. Beep. Beep. The queues grow. Tempers shorten.

Newsmen and athletes worry about what will happen when the full complement arrives, and they've formally urged relief.

While the tight surveillance has been aggravating and seemingly overdone, Moscow generally has prepared well for the Games and is striving to be a good host. In most cases, it has succeeded.

The city has been spruced up like a debutante going to the ball. Everywhere you look statues and landmarks have been given new gloss. St. Basil's has a coat of fresh orange and green paint and its golden domes gleam in the sun.

The facilities are perhaps the best of any Olympic Games — a stadium which seats 103,000; other venues comparable with those anywhere; a press center which is both spacious and functional. New, modern hotels have risen over the skyline. Accommodations are generally exceptional.

Texas Clips Cleveland 4-2

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Rusty Staub was in a 5-30 slump and felt he had no complaints coming when Texas manager Pat Corrales left him out of the starting lineup of Monday night's game with the Cleveland Indians.

But Corrales called on Staub as a pinch hitter in the seventh inning after Billy Sample's ground out had the bases loaded had brought Texas into a 2-2 tie.

Staub responded with a two-run double for the winning runs in a 4-2 Texas victory.

Even Record To .500 Mark With 7th Straight Win

Giants Sweep Series From Cincinnati

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Don't look now, but suddenly there are four teams in what was supposed to be a three-way race in the National League West.

The streaking San Francisco Giants are the party of the fourth part. They won their seventh consecutive game Monday night, defeating the Cincinnati Reds 5-3 and evening their record at 43-43, the first time they have been at the .500 mark since July 3, 1979.

The Giants also became the first team in the 10-year history of Riverfront Stadium to sweep a four-game series from the Reds in Cincinnati. Not since a series in Philadelphia in May of 1975 had the Reds been swept in a four-game set.

San Francisco is only six games out of first and trails third-place Cincinnati by one-half game. The front-running Houston Astros lost to the Atlanta Braves 2-0 but maintained their half-game lead over Los Angeles when the Dodgers were beaten for the third time in a row by the San Diego Padres, 6-3. In the only other NL contest, the Pittsburgh Pirates outslugged the Philadelphia Phillies 13-11.

The Giants aren't doing it with mirrors but rather with some new young pitchers. The starters — and winners — in the last three games have been Bill Bordley, Allen Ripley and Alan Hargesheimer, who allowed one run and five hits in five innings in his major league debut Monday night.

"The only time I really had any doubts was in the second inning when I lofted a couple of bad pitches to both Johnny Bench and George Foster," the 23-year-old right-hander said. "Both of them just missed by a small fraction. I knew I was lucky that they didn't force me out of the game then."

Jack Clark got the Giants started in the first inning with his 17th home run of the season. In the fourth, Cincinnati starter Charlie Leibrandt issued two-out walks to Joe Pettini and Johnnie LeMaster, who both scored on Mike Sadek's double. Hargesheimer then blooped a double behind first base, scoring Sadek to make it 4-0. LeMaster doubled in the sixth and scored on an error for the final San Francisco run.

Hargesheimer, who is only in his third year of pro ball, knows he probably will go back to the minors after some injured pitchers return from the disabled list.

"Realistically, when Vida (Blue) and Randy (Moffitt) return, they will probably send me back to Phoenix for more polishing," he said. "I won't be heartbroken. I know that my big days are ahead of me."

Braves 2, Astros 0

Knuckleballer Phil Niekro, pitching despite a bruised elbow, hurled a two-hitter and struck out 11 as the Braves ended a five-game losing streak. Niekro, who was hit on the right elbow while pitching batting practice before Saturday night's game, yielded only a third-inning double to Houston pitcher J.R. Richard and a leadoff single by pinch-hitter Joe Morgan in the ninth. Richard, who recently complained about a tired arm, allowed only one hit but left after 31-3 innings with what was described as an upset stomach.

Atlanta got a run off Gordy Pladson in the fifth when Jeff Burroughs reached base on third baseman Enos Cabell's fielding error, stole second and scored on a double by Bruce Benedict. Bob Horner's 12th home run made it 2-0 in the seventh.

Padres 6, Dodgers 3

Gene Richards collected three hits and scored three runs and Ozzie Smith drove in a pair of runs with a single and a double as the Padres completed a three-game sweep and made it five of six over the Dodgers in San Diego this season.

"They played like the 1927 Yankees against us," said Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda. "I'm not at all pleased, but the pennant wasn't decided here."

Steve Mura survived a three-run Los Angeles third inning to finish with a six-hitter and record only San Diego's fourth complete game this year. The other three belong to Randy Jones, who pitched shutouts on May 6, 11 and 16.

Pirates 13, Phillies 11

Dave Parker's two-run ninth-inning homer, his second of the night, gave Pittsburgh the victory in a game that featured 36 hits and saw 35 players pressed into service. Tim Foli opened the Pittsburgh ninth with his fourth hit, a single.

High School Tennis Coach Offers Clinic

Atlanta Shuts Out Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Atlanta Braves knuckleball pitcher Phil Niekro can be a very convincing fellow when trying to talk his way into a game.

And Braves manager Bobby Cox wasn't really that hard to convince.

"I'd say it took me about two minutes to convince Bobby to let me pitch," Niekro said Monday night after allowing only two hits and striking out 11 batters en route to a 2-0 shutout of the Houston Astros.

Cox was hesitant to let his star pitcher take his regular turn because Niekro suffered a bruised elbow while throwing batting practice prior to Saturday's game.

"This is a guy I expect to win another 10 games for us this season. I just didn't want him to get hurt," Cox said. "But he told me he felt like pitching and the only way was to go out there."

It didn't take long for Niekro and the Astros to discover Niekro's effectiveness.

Niekro walked two batters in the first inning, but allowed only four base runners the rest of the game, including a double in the third by Houston starter J.R. Richard and a pinch hit single by Joe Morgan in the ninth.

Richard also was an unexpected starter in the game. He said last week he needed 30 days rest for what he described as a tired arm. Astros team physician Harold Brelsford said prior to Monday's game, however, that two examinations could find nothing wrong with Richard's arm.

Richard pitched 13 innings and allowed one hit, but he departed in the fourth complaining of an upset stomach. Gordy Pladson, 0-1, was the loser.

"This is the best knuckleball I've had in a long while," said Niekro, 7-11.

"I was just testing my arm in the first inning. By the fourth, the ball was moving very nicely."

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don Henslee

Q. Suddenly my 1974 Mercury has developed an expensive habit in addition to its gasoline consumption. It's now doubled the amount of oil used. What do I do to pinpoint the cause?

A. The older the engine, the more oil it can be expected to use. But twice as much is too much. It sounds like you may be losing oil. Spread a clean paper beneath the engine and transmission. Start the car and let the engine warm up at a speed equal to about 20-25 mph. When it's warm, race it briefly at wide-open throttle and let it come back to fast idle. Do this about five times. Shut off the engine and examine the paper for oil. Look beneath the oil filter connection, oil pan, front and rear oil seals, valve covers, and timing-chain cover. Replace worn parts where oil is discovered.

Legal Notices

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids addressed to the City of Hereford, Texas will be received at the City Hall until 2:00 PM, August 4, 1980, and then publicly opened and read for furnishing all plant, labor, material and equipment and performing all work required for an additional clarifier to the sewage treatment plant.

Bids shall be submitted in sealed envelopes upon the blank form of the proposal attached hereto and marked in the upper left hand corner. All proposals shall be accompanied by a cashier's check or certified check upon a national or state bank in the amount of five (5) percent of the total maximum bid price payable without recourse to the City or a bid bond in the same amount from a reliable surety company, as a guarantee that bidder will enter into a contract and execute performance bond within ten days after notice of award of contract to him. The bid security must be enclosed in the same envelope with the bid. Bids without check or bid bond will not be considered.

The successful bidder must furnish performance and payment bonds upon the forms which are attached hereto in the amount of 100 percent of the contract price from an approved surety company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as surety or other surety or sureties acceptable to the Owner. (If contract is less than $25,000, no performance or payment bond is required.)

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids and to waive any informality in bids received.

Plans, specifications and bidding documents may be secured from the office of Bill R. McMorries & Associates, Inc., 6300 Canyon Dr., Amarillo, Texas 79109, on deposit of Fifty ($50.00) Dollars per set which sum so deposited will be refunded, provided: (1) All documents are returned in good condition to Bill R. McMorries & Associates, Inc. not later than 48 hours prior to the time for receiving bids; or (2) The Contractor submits a bid and all documents are returned in good condition to Bill R. McMorries & Associates, Inc. at the time that bids are opened.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The killer heat wave which has hurt Texas crops has also caused Mexico to look north of the Rio Grande for grain.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown conferred with Mexican and U.S. officials last week about increasing agricultural exchanges between the two countries.

Mexico seeks to trade more fruits and vegetables for U.S.-grown grains. At present, the United States exports some 11 million metric tons of grain to Mexico and imports almost 1 million metric tons of beef, fruits and vegetables from its neighbor.

Texas fruit and vegetable growers and beef raisers are wary the Mexican imports will undermine the Texas producers. One consumer concern is that the imported fruits and vegetables have more pesticide residue.

Brown said last week that Mexican-grown products are "as clean or cleaner" of pesticide residue than American produce, and Mexican officials at the talks echoed his point.

The Commissioner's statements apparently reflect a growing desire at the State Capitol to have Mexico as a firm-fast trading partner. Another chief advocate is Gov. Bill Clements.

Brown also estimated the current drought has set Texas agriculture losses at between $750 million to $1 billion.

Union Pickers Strike

In the Panhandle, an onion-pickers strike by the farm-workers union underlines another problem facing Texas agriculture — wages for stoop labor.

The issue raises heated emotions on either side of the argument and is sure to be among the most controversial agricultural issues in the Legislature next spring.

Many Texas producers feel squeezed between labor's wage demands and the competition from other markets which might hamper raising the price to pay a higher wage.

Other aspects of the issue are whether or not the laborers should be allowed to strike during harvest time and whether they have the right to organize a strike on a farmer's private property.

Clayton Trial

House Speaker Bill Clayton's lawyer wants to try the Brilab case in late August or early September. He said Clayton's defense team cannot examine the federal evidence, which includes some 63 tapes via wiretaps, in time to prepare for the set July 21 trial date.

Briscoe Stumping?

Former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who lost a Democratic primary election to John Hill two years ago, may be dusting off his political clothes for a new shot at public office.

Briscoe spoke last week at the Archer County Centennial Celebration and earlier to the San Antonio convention of the Independent Cattlemen's Association.

Politico watchers are speculating Briscoe may be preparing for a race against Clements or for the U.S. Senate seat now filled by Lloyd Bentsen.

Briscoe says he intends to help Texas Railroad Commission candidates Jim Nugent and Buddy Temple (both Democrats) "but that will be about it." But he said he's not closing the door to any future options either.

Anderson Campaign

Illinois congressman John B. Anderson's bid as an independent presidential candidate may be slowing in Texas because of dissension in volunteer ranks and problems with county records.

Anderson's campaign must verify 40,719 petition signatures by July 14 for him to gain a spot on the Texas ballot.

AG Opinions
In legal opinions issued last week Texas Attorney General Mark White ruled:

—A city may allow discounts for advance payment of taxes only if its governing body adopts the provisions of Article 7255b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes.

—Tangible personal property purchased by an industrial development corporation or medical development corporation is exempt from the sales and use tax.

—The offense of "public intoxication" may sometimes be a lesser included offense when "driving while intoxicated" is the offense charged.

—A person licensed to dispense hearing aids may not fill a prescription for a hearing aid from a physician without first testing the individual's hearing.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Too dependent on laxatives

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 27-year-old female. I'm 5 feet 5 and weigh 110 pounds. I have had a problem with constipation for about 10 years since the birth of my first child when my tailbone popped during delivery. I have been to doctor after doctor and they've told me I have spastic colon.

I have had upper and lower GI X-rays and a sigmoidoscope many times and nothing was found to be wrong. I have tried different diets, stool softeners, Metamucil, tablets from health food stores and I still have this problem. The only thing that seems to work is laxatives. My questions are, could it be my nerves and could there be some kind of blockage that would not show up on these tests?

I get plenty of exercise and drink plenty of liquids. Is there anything you can suggest for me to do? I don't want to be dependent on laxatives for the rest of my life.

DEAR READER — You'll probably need some help to get off the laxative habit. Since you've had sigmoidoscopic examinations, you obviously do not have any significant obstruction of the outlet.

I'm not sure what you mean occurred during your delivery, but if you mean your coccyx bone (the little extension of the vertebral column) broke, that's not a cause for constipation.

Sometimes there are mechanical problems associated with elimination. This could be from faulty reflex action. A common cause in women who have had several pregnancies is a rectocele where the rectum actually ruptures through the wall between the rectum and the vagina. Your examination should have made it clear whether you had such a defect or not.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I know you've tried a lot of different things in the past and apparently have used bulk agents but I wonder if you've used enough and whether you've stayed with the program long enough. I would suggest that you try to increase the amount of bran in your diet and if you wish you may also want to use the bulk-forming agents such as Metamucil that you've used in the past.

In addition, try the stool training method described in The Health Letter I'm sending you. There is a normal reflex mechanism that helps aid elimination and if it's properly trained, it often helps a person develop a regular habit.

You should eliminate the use of all chemical laxatives entirely and use only bulk-forming agents. If you continue to have trouble in the early stages of bowel training, you might want to use a tap water enema about every three days if you need to. But eventually I would hope you could get off that habit as well.

Now about nerves. Yes, they certainly can cause a lot of bowel problems. It's often overlooked that symptoms such as constipation can be caused by underlying emotional problems. Constipation can even be a sign of depression. Nevertheless, a good dietary regimen along with bowel training to develop good habits will be helpful. If your doctor has any reason to think you have underlying emotional problems, he might recommend a professional consultation for you in that area.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you stated that diabetes affects the nervous system and that's how diabetes could cause a man to become impotent. I'm 47, married and the father of two children. Three years ago I was discovered to be a diabetic. Today I'm totally impotent. Is there any treatment or cure for this? My wife tells me not to worry so much and it will go away. I don't believe this. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER — You're probably correct. However, impotence frequently occurs for psychological reasons and diabetes is fairly common so there's no guarantee that a diabetic won't have psychological reasons for being impotent just the same as the nondiabetic.

There are studies which can be done to determine whether your nerve mechanism is affected and causing the impotence.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 3-12, Impotence. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The Health Letter I'm sending you explains that impotence is a symptom and discusses the numerous causes for it. Obviously, a medical examination is necessary to find out what the cause is before proper treatment can be instituted.

I did not discuss in The Health Letter I'm sending you some of the new prostheses that are available. Individuals who have damage to the nerves that cause impotence problems can be helped with an implanted device. One device is a permanent, flexible silicone rod. The other inflates and then deflates mechanically. I'm sure that if you'll visit a urologist, he will be able to discuss these recent advances with you and help you decide whether either one of these approaches is indicated in your case.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know something about lymphangitis. Four years ago I hit my thumb and it became very sore with a small blister and then a red line started two-thirds up my arm. I went to a doctor and was given large doses of antibiotics. Last year and again this past week this happened again and always it's the same thumb. Is there anything I can do to prevent this? How dangerous is it?

DEAR READER — While most people know all about the arteries and veins that comprise the main circulation, they are not so aware that we have still another part of our circulation — the lymphatic system. These are little vessels all over the body that carry a clear substance called lymph. The lymph is full of lymph cells which are one form of white blood cells.

These lymph vessels are all connected to lymph nodes, the place where lymph cells are formed. We're usually unaware of these lymph nodes unless they get infected. But you have some in the arm pits, in the neck and throughout the body. When they're inflamed, they become swollen and tender.

Obviously, you developed an inflammation of one of the lymph vessels between your thumb and the lymph nodes underneath your arm. Since "itis" means inflammation and these involve lymph vessels, the disorder is called lymphangitis. I do not know why you get a recurrent infection of your thumb. In most instances, these problems can be quickly treated with antibiotics as has been done in your case.

Some otopici can change from shades of light aqua to a deep red-brown within seconds, blending with the sea or mimicking a coral mass to fool their prey and enemies.

Mopping tight areas

DEAR POLLY — Does anyone have an idea for cleaning under big appliances such as the washer and dryer without having to move them? I tried using a dust mop but the space is not wide enough for it to go under them. — DONA

DEAR DONA — Have you tried wrapping a cloth or sponge around a yardstick? A rubber band will hold it in place. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have found that the nylon bags that onions come in are perfect to protect my hair when I am outdoors gardening, fishing, etc. The edge does not ravel, they are cool, have no chin straps and do not come off. Last but not least they cost nothing. — FRIEDA

DEAR POLLY — When wearing shoes with heel straps a piece of moleskin applied to the back of the straps will keep them from slipping off the heels. — MRS. R.F.

DEAR POLLY — I had great success washing an old plastic shower curtain with some old towels in hot water in the washing machine. I also dried them together in the dryer but removed the shower curtain before the towels were dry and it came out looking like new, was very soft and had no wrinkles. An old vinyl-lace tablecloth was washed the same way and also looks great. I had discarded so many of them before trying to wash them this way. — MRS. P.B.

DEAR POLLY — When you find a bee or beetle in the house just reach for your hair spray and give the insect a spray that will stiffen its wings so it cannot fly. — WINOMA

DEAR POLLY — Use the handle of a toothbrush to flatten a toothpaste or other such tube. Then roll up from the bottom and there is little waste. — THERESA

Grand Opening

The TG&Y Family Center in Hereford held a "grand opening" Monday for its newly-expanded store in the Park Plaza Shopping Center. The Hustlers of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce conducted a ribbon-cutting ceremony for the event at 8:30 a.m. Monday. Store manager J.W. McMillan said the expansion increased the square footage from 30,000 to 50,000. All departments have been expanded while the automotive parts and builder supply areas were greatly increased.

The store regularly employs about 55 people and has 70 on hand during the grand opening week. Two assistants--Dan Calderala and Jesse Perez--were named as co-managers this week. James West is assistant manager. On hand Monday were J.A. Russell, division vice president; and area supervisors D.E. Parrish, Wes Rickman and Carl Adkins. "We appreciate our customers being patient during this construction period," said McMillan. "Customer service is still our number one priority."

Diagnosis: Hostage Has MS

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP) — Richard Queen, the 28-year-old U.S. vice consul freed from 250 days' captivity in Iran because of ill health, suffers from multiple sclerosis and will return to the United States "in the next few days," a doctor at the U.S. Air Force hospital here said today.

"He will resume his duties as a foreign service officer as soon as his health permits," Dr. Jerome Michael Korcak told a news conference at this sprawling base.

"Mr. Queen developed symptoms of the disease in December 1979 while he was held hostage in Tehran," Korcak said. "His symptoms during the past eight months have included numbness and abnormal sensations in his upper extremities and some difficulty with balance associated with nausea and vomiting."

"Mr. Queen's physicians have every hope that he will be among that group of patients with mild and transient manifestations of the illness," Korcak said.

"There was no indication that the (U.S.) embassy 'occupiers' worsened his condition," the doctor said, adding, "They (the Iranian militants) were very forthcoming." He did not elaborate.

Korcak described multiple sclerosis as a disease of unknown cause, the effects of which vary very widely from patient to patient. Webster's Dictionary describes it as "a chronic disease in which there is scattered demyelination of the central nervous system; it is characterized by speech defects, loss of muscular coordination, etc."

Queen's parents, Harold and Jeanne, were present during the press conference, appearing at ease and smiling.

"We are very much more relaxed than before," the father said, indicating relief that they finally understood their son's affliction.

Suzuki Named Lender Of Japan Government

By JIM ABRAMS
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Zenko Suzuki, a skilled negotiator and backstage mediator of political squabbles, was chosen president of Japan's ruling Liberal Democratic Party today, succeeding the late Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira.

Suzuki, 69, will be the LDP candidate for prime minister when the lower house of the new Diet, the Japanese Parliament, meets Thursday. He is certain of election because his party controls 287 of the 511 seats, a majority of 63.

A meeting of LDP members of both houses of the Diet named Suzuki party president, unanimously endorsing a decision of the party elders.

The vote ended a month of maneuvering following the death of Ohira June 12. Suzuki, a longtime Ohira aide who was chairman of the party Executive Council, emerged from relative obscurity to take over Ohira's party faction. With the elevation of more powerful factional leaders blocked for one reason or another, he became the compromise choice.

Suzuki told the party meeting he would "work for unity and harmony within the party." He said in a speech Monday that he would give priority to national defense, energy, social welfare and ridding the government of deficit financing. He is not expected to veer from the conservative course set by the LDP in its control of the government since 1948 — strongly pro-business with close economic, political and military ties with the United States.

The party has moved toward the U.S. position that Japan should boost its defense budget from the current 0.9 percent of the Gross National Product to help contain Soviet military expansionism.

Suzuki, the son of a well-to-do fisherman, graduated before the war from the Agriculture Ministry's fisheries college. After working with a fishery cooperative and a year of military service at the end of the war, he was elected to the Diet as a Socialist in 1947.

He switched to the ruling conservatives two years later to improve his chances of getting disaster relief funds for his district after a typhoon. A member of the Diet ever since, he has been minister of posts and communications, chief cabinet minister, minister of health and welfare and most recently minister of agriculture, forestry and fisheries.

Amendments

Of the proposed amendments clarifying individual's and state's rights in the Constitution and originally submitted to the states by the First Congress in 1789, two were not approved. These related to the apportionment of representatives to Congress and compensation of members. The 10 amendments that were adopted are known as the Bill of Rights.
