

For Study Of Alcohol Plant Feasibility

$835,000 Grant is Approved by DOE

Approval of a $835,000 grant from the Department of Energy paves the way for construction of a gasohol plant in Hereford, it was announced Wednesday afternoon by Ken Rogers, president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

"We are happy to announce that Congressman Kent Hance's office notified us today that the DOE grant has been approved for a feasibility study of the plant," stated Rogers.

He said the grant was approved for Hereford

Energy, Inc. Rogers said he could give no other details on the corporation at this time, but The Brand learned that it is a Dallas-based company.

Rogers did say the facility plans to use grain sorghum in its process. The type of grant given the corporation is based on using grain sorghum stalks and waste to fire the boilers, rather than using conventional power.

"We feel sure that construction on the plant will start soon. The announcement has been pending since this summer, and we think the grant approval will open the door on construction as soon as the company makes other financing arrangements," Rogers added.

The proposal this past summer reportedly called for a plant cost of approximately $68 million. Mike Carr, C of C executive vice president, said he felt some construction would be involved in the feasibility study.

"I think it is a boost we have been needing in the community," added Carr. "It is positive news and it will provide more job opportunities in the community." Carr said many of the details were not ready for release, but he expected the company to make a statement soon.

The Brand learned that preliminary plans had called for a plant that would produce about 15.8 million gallons of alcohol a year. It was also reported that a subsidiary of U.S. Steel would design, engineer and supervise construction of the facility.

Hunter Hordes Will Begin Arriving Tomorrow

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

The hunter hordes will begin descending on Hereford tomorrow as sportsmen from throughout the state and many areas of the nation zero in on Deaf Smith County and the opening day of pheasant season in the Panhandle on Saturday.

Literally thousands of hunters will be coming to the Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer County areas for the first weekend of the season, and according to a local source, bookings of motel rooms here are already heavy for the subsequent two weekends of the season.

Hunting is scheduled to get underway 30 minutes before sunrise Saturday and the season will continue through Sunday, Dec. 28.

Potential for a larger-than-usual influx of out-of-state hunters into the area is great this year due to the sporting media's coverage of the Texas Panhandle area and particularly Deaf Smith County as one of the choice locations in the nation to hunt pheasant and waterfowl.

The huge influx of hunters here spells an annual boon to sporting goods sales in the community and also gives a boost to local lodging establishments and restaurants.

The boom in pheasant hunting is so big this year, in fact, that the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring a guided pheasant hunt of its own, has made arrangements with the county commission to utilize the Bull Barn for an overflow of hunters who could not find lodging with local motels, and who will bed down on cots and bedrolls in the Bull Barn.

While pheasant season 1979 was an experimental 30-day affair, the 1980 version has been returned to the traditional two-week, three-weekend affair at the urging of local landowners and sportsmen who sent a message to the Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission via county commissioners early this year asking for such a move.

Opening day is also a week later this year, thus extending pheasant season over the Christmas holidays and providing more hunting opportunity for students and other individuals.

With the top population density of pheasant in the Texas Panhandle, Deaf Smith County should provide the finest pheasant hunting available in the state again this year.

Motels in Hereford were booked full for this weekend as early as October and local civic clubs at Dimmitt, Dawn and Easter will be handling a full complement of hunters again this year as they conduct guided pheasant hunts as fund-raising projects.

Regulations for hunting pheasant remain very much the same as in past seasons with the bag limit two cocks per day and possession limit four after the first day of the season. Hens are not fair game and it is illegal to take pheasant by dragging cable or chain through fields with a vehicle.

Hunting from roadways is also illegal. Hunters need not have their shotguns plugged to three shell capacity for pheasant hunting, but if they plan to double up and hunt waterfowl during the weekend as well they should probably consider leaving the plug in their shotgun so as to avoid the possibility of forgetting to replace it and facing a citation. Shooting pheasant with rifles is legal but may be dangerous with many hunters and livestock in the field.

Local landowners, who have faced a growing number of abuses from individuals who have failed to abide by rule of good sportsmanship afield in recent years may be of a mood to file a greater number of trespassing charges against offenders this year.

Landowners must have their property posted at the main entrance or completely enclosed, or have given individuals a verbal command not to enter the property in order to file trespassing charges.

In the event a landowner wishes to file trespassing charges he will be asked to sign a complaint form, and the signing of this form is necessary for authorities to press the trespassing charge.

A beefed-up crew of game wardens from the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department will be on hand in the area this weekend to assist in policing hunter conduct and they will be on the lookout for the most common offenses which include illegally bagging hens, shooting over the limit and hunting from the roadway.

Landowners encountering problems with hunters trespassing or violating game laws are advised to take down vehicle license numbers and descriptions when possible and to contact the Deaf Smith County sheriff's office in order for game wardens to be dispatched.

While there are always some problems of regulation of a hunt of the magnitude of the opening day of pheasant season here, prospects are outstanding for the ethical hunters who will compose the majority of those taking the field at first light on opening morning.

Pheasant numbers in Deaf Smith

County this year rival the peak population of 1979, when the season proved one of the best ever in the local area.

According to David Rideout, Texas Parks & Wildlife Department biologist at Childress, the annual survey of the pheasant population in Deaf Smith County showed a count of 176 birds over the 20 mile survey area driven by census takers in September and October.

That figure compared to a count of 207 birds observed over the census course in 1979, denoting a decline of only 15 percent in ringneck numbers here, despite a brutally hot and dry summer that could easily have damaged pheasant nesting here.

Neighboring Castro County and Hale and Swisher counties showed a 90 percent decline in pheasant numbers during the same survey period.

The local survey also revealed a relatively even ratio of cocks to hens.

While pheasant numbers were reportedly down in Castro and Parmer County, the other two corners of the famed "Magic Triangle" of pheasant hunting here, prospects are still for relatively good hunting in the Dimmitt and Friona regions.

Sportsmen afield Saturday will likely find Deaf Smith County's highest concentration of birds in the area ranging from Hereford northward to Simms and good concentrations should also be found in the vicinity of the Dawn community.

In Castro County, good pheasant hunting should be available in the Easter vicinity as well as north and west of Dimmitt and in the area surrounding the Hart community.

Parmer County's top pheasant hunting should be had in the Friona and Bovina areas.

Boosting CSF

Goheen, and CSF treasurer Childers. The VFW has been active for a number of years in helping needy families at Christmas time, and will still help a few families this year, according to Goheen.

Fund Gives Holiday Hope

Mrs. C is a 72-year-old widow who is trying to make ends meet with a monthly check of just over $250. Although she is not really able, she takes baby-sitting jobs occasionally to earn extra income.

Mrs. C is not concerned about buying a new dress, only with buying groceries, paying utility bills and insurance. If you'd like to make Christmas brighter for people like Mrs. C, you can do this by participating in the Christmas Stocking Fund program.

Send a check, cash or money order to the CSF, in care of The Hereford Brand, Box 673. Contributions will also be accepted at The Brand office. A list of contributors is being acknowledged in the newspaper, and names will be listed as specified by the donor.

A group of anonymous businessmen are conducting the stocking fund program. All funds collected will be spent for items for the less fortunate—there are no expenses involved in the program.

Readers who know of needy families should write to the Christmas Stocking Fund, Box 673, and give as many details as possible. No phone calls, please, as the committee needs the written information.

Hunter's Breakfast Will Launch Season

An opening morning tradition will help local sportsmen and their guests kick off pheasant season 1980 Saturday as the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary stages its annual pheasant hunter's breakfast from 5-7:30 a.m. at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

A hearty meal will greet early-rising hunters as Auxiliary members will prepare ham and eggs, biscuits and gravy and steaming hot coffee for a crowd which may number as high as 500 sportsmen this year.

Price of the meal is $2.50 per plate and sportsmen may also obtain coffee to take afield with them for a fee of $1 for a Thermos bottle and $1.50 for air pots.

For the forgetful sportsmen who neglected to obtain hunting licenses, Auxiliary members will have those items on hand for both state and out-of-state hunters.

Exhibits of mounted pheasants are also planned and those attending the breakfast can make arrangements to have pheasants mounted by local taxidermists.

The Hereford VFD will also conduct a drawing for a Remington Model 1100 automatic shotgun in conjunction with the other breakfast activities.

All proceeds from the hunter's breakfast, one of the prime fund-raising events staged by the Auxiliary, will be used to purchase equipment for the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department.

Dressing Skill Could Pay

Enterprising youngsters and other individuals might find an opportunity to make some extra pocket money this weekend if they are skilled in the art of dressing gamebirds.

With a large contingent of visiting hunters coming to the area this weekend, many sportsmen will be looking for help in cleaning their kill at the end of their day of hunting, and in many instances, these sportsmen will be willing to pay to get it.

According to Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, bird cleaning help could also be used by the Chamber as it conducts its own pheasant hunting project.

Individuals who would be interested in providing pheasant cleaning service for sportsmen for a fee are invited to contact Carr at the Chamber office at 364-3333.

Christmas Cantata Sunday

The Hereford Chamber Singers will brighten the holiday season by presenting a "Christmas Cantata," Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Christian Church.

Several duets and solos will highlight the performance including a vocal and piano duet performed by Elva Devers and Jan Walsler, a vocal duet performed by Bill Devers and Mrs. Walsler and solos performed by Duffy McBrayer, Carmen Flood, Bobby Boyd, Mrs. Walsler and Jane Gulley.

The public is invited to attend the concert which is free of charge.

Vehicle Theft Reported

Hereford police are investigating the theft of a motor vehicle from the parking lot of Bowling's Bowl here Wednesday.

Jim Arney of 2025 Plains informed officers that his 1978 model bronze-colored Jeep was taken from the bowling alley lot while he was inside.

The vehicle was still missing at Brand presstime. Louis Cabarrua of 204 Ave.

I reported the theft of a 19-inch color TV from his home yesterday. Value of the television was not known.

Perfecto Mancha of Grand Trailer Park informed police that someone had broken a mirror on his vehicle yesterday. Police arrested a suspect in the incident.

Delia Martinez of 121 Ave. F informed police that while she was shopping at Taylor &

Sons Food yesterday she either lost a billfold or had it stolen. The billfold contained $65 in stamps and a Medicaid card.

Police made one arrest on a warrant from Amarillo Wednesday and investigated four minor traffic accidents, in addition to issuing five traffic citations.

update thursday

11-Cent Child Support Ordered

HARTLEPOOL, England (AP) — A 16-year-old schoolboy has been ordered to pay 11 cents a week from his pocket money to the 18-year-old mother of a baby she says he fathered when he was 14.

A court in this northeast seaport issued the order Wednesday, saying it was made so that when the boy leaves school and starts earning money, a full maintenance allowance can be established.

"I am delighted with the verdict," said the mother. "The baby is fine and looks just like her father."

She claimed the boy had sexual relations with her at her home regularly beginning in the summer of 1977, when she was 15 and he 13. She became pregnant in November 1978 and had a daughter in July 1979.

The boy denied having sexual relations with the girl and said he was not the infant's father. But he agreed that a blood test strongly indicated his paternity.

Neither of the teen-agers was identified in the paternity suit, which was brought by the Department of Health and Social Security.

The case brought to light a generally overlooked and apparently out-of-date presumption in English criminal law — that a boy under 14 cannot commit sexual intercourse.

Rapist Stalks

Campus Area

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — For students at Arkansas State University, short trips to parties off campus are no longer light-hearted jaunts.

Fifteen assaults and rapes, allegedly by a black, on or near the campus since February have changed that. And while female students are taking elaborate security precautions, black students are wondering if their peers are looking at them with fear and suspicion.

The two most recent rapes occurred Sunday night, and police believe all 15 incidents are related. No arrests have been made.

"Girls are scared," said sophomore Angela Brown, who recently telephoned ahead to an off-campus party before she and a friend left their dormitory. When they arrived, they honked their car horn and partygoers watched as the two approached.

But tension at the Jonesboro campus is not limited to women.

"The description of the suspect could fit almost any black guy," said Dwight Love, 21, a black student.

Love said most black males at the school now stay in at night. Those who go out don't tarry.

Police have described the suspect as a black male between 5-foot-8 and 5-foot-10 and weighing about 160 to 170 pounds. He also is described as having a short afro hairstyle.

Love called that description is "broad" and "vague."

The senior accounting major said he had heard students talk of forming vigilante groups to look for the suspect although he had not seen such a group. He also had heard reports that the groups are armed with knives and handguns.

University news service director Tom Manning said there was no panic, but that many of the 7,600 students were taking additional precautions.

Charges Filed

In Playing Rich

HOUSTON (AP) — Felony theft charges have been filed against a 47-year-old Houston woman who allegedly told a jeweler and a real estate agent she was wealthy and tricked them into extending her enough credit to steal $111,888 worth of jewelry, authorities say.

Mary J. Hamilton was charged Wednesday after authorities found several items, valued at $24,151, in her home, said Assistant District Attorney Paul Mewis.

The frail-looking woman told the two she was rich and good friends with Houston attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes and former Treasury Secretary and Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

"They both thought they'd found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," Mewis said.

Ms. Hamilton built up enough credit with a local jeweler between March and December to obtain watches, crystal, diamonds and gold worth thousands of dollars, Mewis said.

She claimed she was dying of cancer, had funds tied up in a California bank but planned to repay the jeweler's kindness with generous gifts, he said.

Ms. Hamilton became acquainted with the real estate agent when she began shopping for several condominiums, Mewis said.

She said she had deposited $40,000 into the agent's bank account, Mewis said. The agent was to help her by writing personal checks for additional jewelry purchases.

Carter Aides

Soaking Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several members of President Carter's lame-duck Cabinet and their aides are spending their last days in office on taxpayer-financed trips to some of the world's glamour spots: London, Paris, Hawaii, Peking.

The journeys all involve official business, but at least two Cabinet members canceled international tours because of their belief that such travel would seem inappropriate during their transition from office. Even these secretaries sent assistants in their place. Destination: China.

China is particularly attractive to the Carter lame ducks. Three delegations were headed there; others were headed for Europe and the Orient.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall was arriving today in Paris, where he will spend two days before heading to China for five days.

Meanwhile, Energy Secretary Charles W. Duncan Jr. was returning from a four-day trip to Paris, where he attended an international meeting of energy ministers.

Child Rapist Sentenced To 40 Years in Prison

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A state district court jury has recommended a 40-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine for a teen-ager convicted in the brutal rape of an 8-year-old girl.

Jurors deliberated about 5½ hours Wednesday before recommending the sentence for Johnny Fancher, 17, of Amarillo.

The same jury deliberated only about 10 minutes Tuesday before convicting Fancher of aggravated rape of a child in the trial moved here from Amarillo on a change of venue.

The girl, who prosecutors said may never be able to bear children or enjoy normal sexual relations because of the attack, told jurors Tuesday that Fancher lured her into a growths of weeds behind an Amarillo bowling alley on the pretext of helping him "find a good hiding place."

Prosecutors contended Fancher choked the child and started to rape her. When the girl attempt to fight back, prosecutors said Fancher beat the girl with a large rock.

Police found a blood-covered rock and large board at the scene of the Sept. 3 rape.

The girl told jurors the next thing she remembered after being choked was seeing her father and then waking up in the hospital.

Defense attorney John Mann did not present any witnesses prior to the punishment phase of the trial and waived his chance to present a final argument. However, he put Fancher on the stand during the punishment phase in an effort to convince Judge George Dowlan to probate the sentence. Assistant District Attorney Tom Hughes read to jurors Tuesday a portion of Fancher's statement to police.

"While I was at the bowling alley I raped a little girl — about 10 years old," Fancher said in the statement.

The prosecutor said Fancher said he beat the girl when she tried to fight him off because "I have a bad temper."

The trial was moved to Lubbock from Amarillo on a change of venue granted because of pretrial publicity.

Polish Union Defies Communists

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's biggest independent union defied the communist regime by launching an investigation of political detentions but rejected charges that it is spreading chaos and anarchy.

Solidarity, which claims to represent 10 million of Poland's 18 million workers, also offered a moratorium on wage demands.

Union leaders met in the Baltic port of Gdansk Wednesday, accused the government of breaking an agreement to end repression, demanded the release of 10 jailed dissidents and set up a group to investigate all political detentions.

This appeared certain to bring new charges from Moscow and its allies in East Germany and Czechoslovakia that Solidarity was meddling in political matters that were not the business of unions.

The jailed dissidents are members of the Confederation of Independent Poland. Its leader, Leszek Moczulski, has been accused of opposition to the government and was detained several weeks ago.

Solidarity spokesman Tadeusz Mazowiecki said the union was "not endorsing Moczulski's line or his organization" but wanted to defend anyone arrested because of political beliefs.

"This may seem a political action but it is much rather a social endeavor," he said. Solidarity and Poland's other independent unions were formed after a nationwide strike wave last summer forced the Communist Party to agree to the formation of independent trade unions and the right to strike for the first time in a communist country.

The government also agreed in principle to free all political prisoners but has continued rounding them up since the accord was signed in Gdansk Aug. 31. And although the party's leaders have repeatedly pledged to honor the Gdansk agreement, they have insisted that the unions must stay out of the political sphere.

Leaders of Solidarity also issued a statement Wednesday rejecting accusations from the union's that it was encouraging chaos and anarchy.

"It is not Solidarity that brings about chaos and anarchy; we have to stress that our union is the force trying to overcome them," it said.

The statement stressed that the union favored negotiations, not strikes, to settle worker disputes. It said it would stop all pay demands by its members until a general wage policy could be developed.

Poland's army newspaper, Zolnierz Wolnosci, in its third day of attacks on the independent labor movement implied that it was cooperating in Western plans to disrupt Soviet transport and communication lines across Poland to East Germany.

In Moscow, Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri F. Ustinov accused Western "imperialists" of trying to "to damage the positions of the socialist countries, specifically socialist Poland, of developing countries and of the national liberation movement."

Jenrette Leaves House In Emotional Outburst

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Jenrette, the only target of the Abscam investigation to resign from Congress, choked with emotion and said he's leaving "to spare the House ... from further embarrassment."

The South Carolina Democrat, who would have had to give up his seat next month anyway, told the House ethics committee Wednesday he would resign rather than face the possibility of further moves to expel him in the last days of the lame-duck session.

"With the desire to spare the House ... from further embarrassment, I'm submitting to the speaker my resignation," Jenrette told the committee, and paused as his voice choked, "effective today."

A spokesman for the congressman said a letter of resignation was sent to House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill later Wednesday, although it had not arrived by the time O'Neill's office closed for the day.

The House ethics committee was meeting today to decide whether to drop a proposal that it recommend Jenrette's ouster to the full House, although one panel member called the action "probably moot" in light of the congressman's resignation.

Jenrette was defeated in his re-election bid last month. Less than a month earlier, on Oct. 7, he was convicted of splitting a $50,000 bribe from an FBI agent posing as a representative of two non-existent Arab sheiks seeking legislation to allow them to immigrate to the United States.

But Jenrette told the ethics committee that he took no bribe and is confident the courts ultimately will clear him.

He said he tried only to help his co-defendant, Virginia businessman John Stowe, get what he thought was Arab financing for a munitions plant to save 550 jobs in Jenrette's district.

Key Club Gift, Visit Brightened Final Days

Members of the Hereford High School Key Club in conjunction with Roberts Appliance presented an early Christmas gift to Joey Mazurek, 17, a victim of muscular dystrophy last week and helped to brighten his holidays a bit.

Ten members of the club drove to Joey's home Dec. 5 to present a remote control color television and a stereo to him. Two days later, Dec. 7, Joey died.

Though Joey was not a member of the Key Club, several members had become close friends with him through their association at high school.

According to Sam Metcalf and Scott Zevely, both seniors and club members, "The group met last week and when the idea of giving Joey something was presented the group voted unanimously to help."

After presenting the gifts to Joey, Metcalf and Zevely said the group shared the warm feeling of being able to help.

"When we gave him the TV and stereo, it was like he was in shock. He was really surprised," Metcalf said.

Family members told Gene Brock, club advisor that Joey had "enjoyed the gifts tremendously."

"We appreciate what the Key Club did for Joey. The gifts meant so much to him. The last days of his life were more joyful because of the gifts," Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mazurek, Joey's parents said.

MX

by shipping in water from other areas, using water-saving features in the construction and operation of the system and locating wells in areas that would not have a direct impact on existing wells.

The report focused on two possible locations for the proposed system, the Great Basin in Nevada and Utah and an area in New Mexico and west Texas. It did not rule out the possibility that parts of the system could be built in both areas.

But it noted the Texas-New Mexico area has a population about 20 times that of the proposed Nevada-Utah site and most of the land there is privately owned. Land in the Nevada-Utah area proposed for the MX is largely government owned.

If the system is located in Nevada and Utah, the draft statement recommends that the main control bases be built at Coyote Spring northeast of Las Vegas and at Milford, Utah. If the system is divided between the two areas, the report recommends building the control bases at Coyote Spring and Clovis, N.M. The draft statement also eliminated a number of areas from consideration as a site for the MX for a variety of reasons, including too-high population levels, an extensive agricultural industry and a predominance of privately owned land. Those areas were located in California, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Arizona.

Nevada's MX coordinator, Steve Bradhurst, said the state would analyze the statement to determine just how seriously building the proposed missile system would affect water resources.

"Water has always been one of our major concerns," he said, adding that "everything is going to be looked at closely."

The report also said the thinning herds of protected bighorn sheep near Coyote Spring could be threatened by crowds of construction workers brought in to build the system. The report suggested that high-powered rifles be prohibited in construction camps for workers "both on and off duty."

Clayton Wipes Out Indebtedness Incurred During Brilab Trial

DALLAS (AP) — Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton has wiped out the $250,000 debt he incurred while winning acquittal in his Texas Brilab trial, thanks to back-to-back fund-raising dinners in Uvalde and Dallas.

The Dallas function alone netted $245,000 Wednesday night, as 560 supporters attended a $500-a-plate dinner at a fashionable downtown hotel and heard former Gov. Dolph Briscoe and longtime Democrat Jess Hay of Dallas praise Clayton and his wife, Delma.

"After a long, hot summer, it's nice to be with you in Dallas on a fall afternoon and evening," Clayton said, in an apparent reference to his Houston trial, which lasted several weeks.

The crowd included more than 50 people from Clayton's home district in West Texas, and they were asked to stand for special recognition.

Hay, a longtime party fundraiser, was master of ceremonies for the dinner.

"We are here to express our appreciation to a great public servant who is our kind of Democrat, our kind of Texan, our kind of American," Hay said of Clayton, who has been elected to three straight two-year terms as speaker and is expected to be returned again.

"We are here to express our abiding conviction that life is good, that they are good, and that our system is big enough to cope with and correct injustice when and if it occurs," Hay added. Hay praised Clayton and his wife "for the sacrifice they have been willing to endure as a price too frequently extracted for those in public office," and the crowd broke into applause.

Clayton and Austin attorneys Randall Wood and Donald Ray were acquitted Oct. 22 in Houston of all federal racketeering, extortion, bribery and conspiracy charges stemming from a 10-month FBI undercover Brilab (bribery-labor) investigation.

Clayton, the attorneys and Deer Park labor leader L.G. Moore were indicted June 12 in connection with an alleged insurance kickback scheme. L.G. Moore is to be tried at a later date.

Prosecutors charged Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe from FBI informant Joseph Hauser to use his influence to reopen the bidding on a lucrative state employees insurance contract.

Clayton, however, argued he thought the money was a campaign contribution and he planned to return it.

Briscoe was listed as honorary co-chairman for the fund-raising dinner, along with former Gov. Allan Shivers, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Comptroller Bob Bullock. Shivers, Hobby and Bullock could not attend but sent messages of support for Clayton.

Briscoe, in short remarks, said in the 48 years since Briscoe was first elected to the Texas Legislature, "I have never known a more dedicated, sincere or hard working legislator than Bill Clayton."

"He is the most effective speaker I have ever known." The former governor called Clayton a man of "integrity, honor and dignity. I am pleased he is going to serve another term as speaker of the Texas House."

Christmas Release Seen for Hostages?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A leftist Beirut newspaper reported to be close to Iran's revolutionary regime reported today that the 52 American hostages are expected to be freed on Christmas Day. But there was no evidence that the report was any more reliable than numerous others like it in the past.

Quoting unnamed informed Iranian sources, the newspaper As-Safir said: "Agreement has been completed between the United States and Iran to resolve the hostage issue. They are expected to be freed on the 25th of this month."

No authoritative officials in Tehran or Washington were immediately available for comment on the report.

As-Safir said a compromise has been reached on the Iranian demand that the wealth of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi transferred abroad be returned to Iran. It said the U.S. government agreed to freeze the shah's deposits in American banks pending a court verdict on whether to turn the money over to the government of Iran or his heirs.

The sources said the Iranian government accepted this position, which was set forth in a U.S. communication delivered to the Algerian government last week and relayed by it to Tehran.

As-Safir's report said nothing about the three other conditions set by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and the Majlis, Iran's parliament, for the release of the Americans who today were spending their 404th in captivity.

Rulings Disappoint The Libertarians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has given civil libertarians a double dose of disappointment.

First, the court ruled Tuesday that prosecutors may seek stiffer sentences for convicted criminals who the prosecutors believe got off too lightly.

In a separate ruling, the justices said police officers may not be sued on charges of violating someone's civil rights if the police tactics were condoned in a previous criminal trial.

The American Civil Liberties Union had urged the court to reach an opposite legal conclusion in each case.

Both rulings produced deep vote divisions on the court.

The sentencing decision, allowing federal prosecutors to seek a longer prison sentence for convicted arson-for-hire conspirator Eugene DiFrancesco of Rochester, N.Y., was reached by a 5-4 vote.

The decision to close off federal court access for certain people who believe their rights were trampled by police came on a 6-3 vote. In DiFrancesco's case, prosecutors seeking to appeal his one-year sentence were rebuffed by a 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that allowing such an appeal would violate the constitutional protection against "double jeopardy."

The appeals court struck down as unconstitutional a federal law that allowed prosecutors to appeal sentences in cases of "dangerous special offenders."

The court's second ruling kills a $1 million lawsuit a convicted criminal from St. Louis had filed against the police officers who searched his apartment.

Willie McCurry, convicted of heroin possession, based his lawsuit on an often-used 1871 civil rights law. He said his constitutional right to be free from unreasonable police searches was violated.

The Supreme Court ruled that because a state court had rejected McCurry's unconstitutional-search argument during his criminal trial, McCurry could not later file a civil lawsuit seeking damages growing out of the same search.

The Old-New Law

The old-new law of the asphalt jungle: citizens fighting for their own lives.

In Santa Barbara, California, a jewelry store was being robbed for the third time in five years. The owner shot to death the three armed robbers.

In Brooklyn, when a man motorist was robbed and his girlfriend raped, the man motorist in his car then chased the rapist.

Pinned him against a building.

And with the front bumper of the car severed the rapist's legs.

That's not the way.

The problem is with the courts. Since the Earl Warren Supreme Court the American judiciary has been so preoccupied with the rights of rascals that it has neglected to protect the rights of decent people.

In Raleigh, North Carolina, Sarah Williams was tending her grocery store alone, stocking a shelf, when she turned to see a man behind the counter where he had no business being - emptying the contents of the cash register into his own pockets.

She shouted for him to stop; he did not stop.

With the money, he headed for the door.

Sarah Williams, no match for the larger man, drew her storekeeper husband's gun from beneath the counter and, aiming at the floor, fired a warning shot.

The warning shot hit the fleeing man in the foot.

Guess who was arrested. She was.

The man cannot be charged with armed robbery because he was unarmed. He cannot be charged with felony larceny because the $600 he took never left the store.

The one arrested is Mrs. Williams - for "assault with a deadly weapon."

The problem, is I say, is with the courts.

More important than anything else our new president does will be his selection of judges.

Historically, judgeships have been passed out as political payoffs or purposely to promote an administration's social philosophy.

Historically, the only non-political advice any president has had available on this subject came from the American Bar Association. That's not been good enough.

Now the American Family Institute - a Washington-based, independent, non-partisan research and educational organization - has designated a 22-member panel of prominent persons to recommend and evaluate judicial nominees.

That should help.

The Republican platform recognizes the need, pledges the party "to work for the appointment of judges at all levels of the judiciary who respect traditional values."

It's about time.

Yoko : Lennon's 'Goddess' 'Dragon Lady' of the Beatles

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people called her a "Dragon Lady," the woman who destroyed the Beatles. But to John Lennon, she was a "goddess of love," his musical muse and the source of his happiness for 14 years.

He hardly ever gave an interview without speaking about his love for his wife, Yoko Ono. And in his last interview, hours before his death Monday, he told the RKO radio network that he hoped to die before his wife.

"If Yoko died, I wouldn't know how to survive. I couldn't carry on," he said.

The affair between the singer-songwriter, a member of the most popular group in rock history, and the Japanese-born avant-garde artist began in 1966 when Lennon saw her as he looked at one of her art works, a nail and hammer.

And their activities soon provoked criticism that a "Japanese witch has made him crazy and he's gone bananas."

He protested in the interview Monday that "all she did, was take the bananas part and take it out of the closet. I really needed her, wanted to be with her and could not literally survive without her as a functioning human being."

But others regarded her as an emasculating female who made him change the baby's diapers while she contended with lawyers and agents. They regarded her as a dabbler in art and music, more concerned with her own self-expression than with Lennon's musical development.

She was blamed for their honeymoon "bed-ins for peace" when they appeared pajama-clad in bed on public view; for their stage appearance tied up together in a black plastic bag; and for an album cover showing both nude.

In the RKO network, Lennon, again defending that cover, said: "We wanted to say, 'We met, we're in love, we want to share it.'"

Miss Ono was born into a rich Tokyo banking family on Feb. 18, 1933, seven years before Lennon's birth to a working-class family in Liverpool.

After World War II, her family moved to New York and she attended Sarah Lawrence College. She dropped out after her third year, married a Japanese violinist and was cut off by her disapproving family.

In a rented Greenwich Village loft, she began a career as a poet, artist and film-maker.

One of her poems, "Touch Poem for Group of People," read in its entirety "Touch each other." Among her films was one consisting only of 365 pairs of naked buttocks and another of a fly walking over a nude woman.

She also gave concerts at Carnegie Recital Hall and the Village Gate, one featuring amplified breathing in the dark and one with a microphone in the rest room so when a toilet was flushed it was heard onstage.

"I did a lot of interesting things like that, which nobody noticed because they were too complex," she said in a recent Soho News interview.

When Miss Ono met Lennon, she was married to film producer Anthony Cox. Their daughter, Kyoko, was living with Cox in Japan. After her divorce and remarriage, the Lennons eventually won custody of the girl, but never were able to locate her.

When Lennon and Miss Ono separated in the early 1970s, she explained that "I'm what I call a 'moving on' kind of girl... That's why I'm one of the very few survivors as a woman..."

But they reunited, and after several miscarriages she had a son in 1975.

After acting as "househusband" and caring for Sean during his first five years, Lennon had just made an album, "Double Fantasy," released this fall. It features an equal number of songs by Miss Ono and Lennon.

Widow Hits Intruder Over Head with Cane

ATLANTA (AP) — Dorothy Pugh didn't like seeing a young man trying to rob 80-year-old Ralph Davis. So the 73-year-old lady grabbed Davis' cane and whacked the assailant on the head until he fled.

Davis, a retired painter, and Mrs. Pugh are residents of an Atlanta apartment building for the elderly, but they were not well acquainted before the incident. Now, Davis says, they will be close friends.

"I love her," he said. "I even bought her a (soft drink) after it was all over."

The two were in the lobby of the building Sunday night when an assailant attacked Davis, frisking him in search of money.

"Mr. Davis had the cane in his hand when the man began to frisk him," Mrs. Pugh said. "I just had to twist and twist to get the cane out of his hand. I finally got ahold of the cane, took it with both hands and hit him (the assailant) across the head."

Reagan Must Determine Power

NEW YORK (AP) — Once President-elect Ronald Reagan has put the pomp and ceremony of the inauguration behind him he must obtain a map that identifies the power centers in the Washington bureaucracy.

If he seeks to attack that bureaucracy without first determining who holds that power, says Eugene Jennings, his efforts to get government off our backs will be doomed from the start.

"The natives will win," said Jennings, a professor, author, and adviser to members of the corporate hierarchy, who wrote the book, so to speak, on ascending into the top levels of the corporate hierarchy.

Because of the special challenge in Reagan's promise to cut government, Jennings has been studying the federal bureaucracy and all its rites and powers in recent weeks. He is impressed with its power.

"Reagan may blunder if he follows advice to strike out immediately against the bureaucracy," said Jennings. "As formidable as the power of the presidency is, it is no match for the intractable bureaucracy."

In effect, said Jennings, the new president will be an enemy among the natives, and whether it is Vietnam, Afghanistan or the Rose Bowl, the natives have the advantage. "In Reagan's case, it is especially so."

"The home team that is lined against the Reagan cadre of appointees are bureaucrats protected by their GS ratings and 'years of service' who may not give a damn about what their new master wants," he said.

An intelligent "immigrant," said Jennings, "would know that to turn an organization around he must first find and control the center of gravity in each department and agency."

"It is the middle managers. Here lies the real power of government. They are the ones who have the greatest competency about the law, policy, rules and regulations," Jennings stated.

What the immigrants must do, he continued, is obtain a map from the natives about who are the people occupying these centers. In short, determine who does and who doesn't know how to exercise power.

To seek to overwhelm the centers of gravity from the top, through appointments by Reagan, would fail for several reasons, said Jennings.

1. The law of nature is to survive. The need of new immigrants is to control. The natives survive by being controlled just enough. Smart natives eventually co-opt immigrants by teaching them how to survive.

2. Hierarchical authority — such as appointments made by the president — are no match for constituency or radial power. "Bureaucrats are no longer public servants but constituency servants," said Jennings.

He explained that "directions coming down from on top, as from a Reagan appointee, may be offset by bureaucrats reaching out to their constituencies, who have a vested interest in their survival."

These constituencies might include senators, representatives, and public interest groups. "In no time at all the immigrant chief is flooded with threats and litigation, and native power has won."

3. Any information that advance people may get from natives is subject to the law of survival. "Usually, immigrants don't know what they don't know, but natives know what the immigrants don't know." What the wise native supplies to the immigrant, claims Jennings, is whatever information the native needs to give the impression of cooperating.

4. Business management is no match for bureaucratic expertise. "Nowhere in the book of business management will you find rules for shrinking a bureaucracy. In short, Reagan is moving against a whole culture established before he got there and which no president in 40 years has mastered."

Jennings offers this advice: Do not be in a rush to seize control. Rather, take time to learn the power centers, and then cut with a fine, delicate knife rather than a poleax.

In six months, he declares, Reagan can acquire enough information to control sensitive positions in the center of government and then go on from there to cut back the size and cost of government.

Man May be Connected With Disappearances

ATLANTA (AP) — Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown declined today to confirm a published report that a former Atlanta resident arrested on a child molestation charge is a suspect in the deaths and disappearances of 15 black children here.

"As you know, the Fulton County police have made an arrest. As long as we have not solved this case, a lot of people are going to be suspects," Brown told a news conference. "And that's about all I have to say about it."

The Atlanta Constitution reported today that a 64-year-old man was arrested by county police Saturday while visiting Atlanta from his temporary home in Dallas. He was charged with causing a 12-year-old Atlanta girl to commit sexual acts, the newspaper said.

The man was not identified. Brown called today's news conference to announce that Telephone Broadcasting Systems Inc. of Dallas has donated use of a computerized telephone system which can direct a recorded appeal for information in the child slayings and disappearances.

The system will make it possible to direct the appeal to homes and businesses in the areas where the dead and missing children lived, and can promise privacy and anonymity to informants.

The man in custody on the child molestation charge is white and is known to the Baugus family, The Constitution said.

Bradley Paces Pacers to Neutralize Phoenix Suns

By The Associated Press

What basketball fans learned three years ago about the way Dudley Bradley plays defense, Walter Davis knew two years before that.

"He played behind me in college and didn't get that much of a chance to play until I graduated," said Davis, a perennial National Basketball Association All-Star at Phoenix, about his former

North Carolina teammate. "But he sure showed what he could do in practice."

Bradley, in his second year as a pro, will never be a big scorer in the NBA — he wasn't at North Carolina, either — but what he showed with the Tar Heels he is also showing as an Indiana Pacer.

His five steals Wednesday night increased his NBA lead to 97 and he also neutralized

Davis offensively as the Pacers defeated the Suns 102-90, only the Pacific Division leaders' seventh loss in 32 games. Indiana is now 18-12, the first time the Pacers have been six games above the .500 mark in their five NBA seasons.

In other NBA games, Philadelphia stopped Chicago 113-100, New York edged New Jersey 106-104, Atlanta beat Detroit 100-92, Kansas City clipped San Diego 112-100, Boston nipped Washington 101-99, Los Angeles trimmed Houston 109-108, Denver defeated Dallas 116-107 and Seattle beat Golden State 108-103.

76ers 113, Bulls 100
Philadelphia, with the best record in the league at 27-4, won its fourth in a row and handed Chicago its fourth straight loss as Bobby Jones scored 25 points, Julius Erving 24 and Darryl Dawkins 21. Celtics 101, Bullets 99

Larry Bird scored 21 points and rookie Kevin McHale hit two turnaround jumpers in the final 72 seconds to lead Boston to its 13th victory in 16 games.

Knicks 106, Nets 104
Mike Newlin scored 38 points for New Jersey, but had the ball stolen from him by Mike Glenn in the last minute to help New York edge the Nets.

Hawks 100, Pistons 92
Atlanta snapped a 12-game losing streak on the road as John Drew scored 36 points, continuing a recent hot streak.

Kings 112, Clippers 100
Scott Wedman scored 22 points and Otis Birdsong added 20 for Kansas City to offset the 41 points by San Diego's Freeman Williams.

Lakers 109, Rockets 108
Jamaal Wilkes scored 32 points, including 15 in the fourth quarter and the last six for Los Angeles in its victory over Houston.

Nuggets 116, Mavericks 107
Denver halted a five-game losing streak and extended

Dallas' skien to 12 as Alex English scored 27 points. Kiki Vandeweghe, Dallas' No. 1 draft pick who was traded to the Nuggets earlier in the day, played his first NBA game and scored six points.

Sonics 108, Warriors 103
Jack Sikma scored 11 of his 27 points in the third quarter, when Seattle outscored Golden State 31-17, to pace the winners.

76ers Honored as Greatest Cage Squad

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There are championship teams and there are great teams, but now a team from this sports-hungry city has laid claim to the title of greatest pro basketball team in history.

The 1966-67 Philadelphia 76ers, winners of the National Basketball Association championship in a record-setting, dynasty-busting year, were honored here Wednesday night as the greatest team in the 35-year history of the NBA.

The selection was made last month by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, and NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien presented plaques commemorating the title to 11 team members, in a nostalgic reunion before a game between the 1980 76ers and the Chicago Bulls. Philadelphia won the game, 113-100.

"The basketball writers made a tremendous selection," said O'Brien. "It's historic in basketball and historic in sports. I congratulate the 76ers."

In their best-ever year, the Sixers finished the regular season with a record-setting 68-13 season. They followed that with the NBA championship, ending Boston's eight-year reign by defeating the Celtics in the Eastern finals.

They defeated the Golden State Warriors in six games for the title.

Present from the championship team were starting forwards Chet "The Jet" Walker and Lucius Jackson; starting guards Hal Greer and Larry Costello; former coach Alex Hannum; Billy Cunningham, now coaching the team; and Dave Gambee, Matt Goukas, Wali "By Golly" Jones and Bill Melchioni.

But the standout was 7-foot-1 Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain, the center whose stature and play have left a permanent mark on pro basketball.

The 13,871 fans were cheering for "The Big Dipper," before he stepped onto the court at the Spectrum, wearing his black-and-orange jacket from Philadelphia's Overbrook High School. No introduction was necessary.

Chamberlain, hoarse after talking to fans and friends all day, rasped out a thank-you to the fans, praising them for their support.

Big Ten Dominates Poll

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten has proved its mettle for years as one of the best, if not the best, basketball conferences in the nation.

Four teams from the Big Ten are in this week's Top 20 basketball ratings, and one more put in a strong bid for national recognition Wednesday night.

Illinois won its third straight game by swamping a 14th-ranked Missouri 84-62, but Coach Lou Henson and several Illini players denied interest in the rankings.

"I'd just as soon not be ranked," Henson said. "Rankings really mean nothing. We're just trying to get in the top 50."

Craig Tucker and Eddie Johnson, who both had 20 points for Illinois, basically agreed with their coach's sentiments.

"Rankings don't mean anything," said Johnson, a 6-foot-8 forward. "But if we beat Marquette (Saturday), we definitely belong."

Bowden Says Seminoles Need Help from Sooners to Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Florida State is the second best college football team in the nation, according to The Associated Press poll, but Coach Bobby Bowden says the Seminoles will need some help from Oklahoma to win their Orange Bowl rematch against Oklahoma.

"If they don't make mistakes, I don't know if we have a chance," Bowden said Wednesday during an NBC-TV Orange Bowl luncheon that also featured Coach Barry Switzer of fourth-ranked Oklahoma and the respective quarterbacks, Florida State's Rick Stockstill and OU's J.C. Watts.

"I don't know if anyone can beat Oklahoma if they don't make mistakes," Bowden said. "I think we've got a chance, no matter what they do, but most coaches feel that if they don't fumble, they don't lose."

"I know we don't have the speed and possibly the physical strength of Oklahoma. We have to win with perfection — great kicking, keep the other team backed up and our offense has to cash in on the mistakes other team makes. If Oklahoma doesn't make mistakes you don't stop Oklahoma."

Fumbling is something

Oklahoma did as "well" as anyone until mid-season, when the Sooners suddenly found the handle on the football. After fumbling 33 times in their first five games and losing 18 of them, they coughed up the ball only 16 times in the final six contests and turned it over just eight times.

Accordingly, their Wishbone attack, run by Watts, perked up so much that Bowden refers to the standard triple option as a "quadruple option."

"They take the triple option one step further," he said. "I've never seen a quarterback take the ball as far as Watts does before pitching it. He's the most daring one I've seen."

Switzer said the Sooners "became a football team when we received a challenge in the seventh game against an unbeaten North Carolina team which was ranked sixth nationally and first in scoring defense. The team accepted the challenge and controlled the game on both offense and defense. We had 500 yards in total offense, scored 41 points, gained respect and confidence and became the type of team Oklahoma had been in the past.

"It's important where you fumble the ball," he continued. "Fumbles are never very good but in the past we had the ability to offset it. We fumbled 13 times once and won by something like 41-10. This year, we haven't had the ability to overcome those mistakes.

"By Oklahoma standards, this is not quite as a good a team as we've been in the past, but it's a pretty good team. We still have the same type of philosophy — run the ball — but Billy Sims' not being there has made us a more balanced team, more versatile."

Trophy Winners

Members of the 6th Street Church of Christ show off the trophy they received as winners of the YMCA's Church League Volleyball League. Play concluded this past weekend after the squad downed St. Anthony's 15-9, 16-4. Players making

Vandeweghe Hits Low Score in Debut

DENVER (AP) — Kiki Vandeweghe, who had failed to come to contract terms with the Dallas Mavericks since being selected by that team in the first round of last June's National Basketball Association draft, finally made his NBA debut in a Mavericks' game.

But Vandeweghe was wearing a Denver Nuggets' uniform when he began his pro career Wednesday night in a game against, ironically, the team he had feuded with for six months. Seeing considerable playing time, Vandeweghe scored six points in the Nuggets' 116-107 victory.

The 6-foot-8 former UCLA forward signed a multi-year contract with the Nuggets earlier Wednesday. Denver obtained his rights after Dallas had unsuccessfully sought a trade with various other clubs. In exchange for Vandeweghe, Dallas will receive Denver's first-round choice in the 1981 draft. In addition, Dallas will receive Denver's No. 1 draft choice in 1985, with the Nuggets getting Dallas' top selection in 1986.

"We're tremendously pleased to have Kiki Vandeweghe join our organization," said Carl Scheer, Nuggets president and general manager. "He's an outstanding player who comes from a winning program."

"Signing him now is like getting our 1981 draft choice a year early. We'll have the benefit of working with him for the remainder of this season, and that gives us a big head start over any rookie we could have drafted last year."

Vandeweghe, a 21-year-old Los Angeles resident, finished his college career as the eighth best scorer in UCLA history. His career field-goal percentage of .570 was third behind only Bill Walton and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, and he established a school record for forwards with a .622 field-goal percentage as a junior.

Vandeweghe averaged 19.5 points per game last season, second best in the Pac-10 Conference, and he helped lead the Bruins into the championship game of the NCAA Tournament. He was the 11th player selected overall in the draft last summer.

Denver Coach Donnie Walsh said he felt "Kiki's type of game will fit into our style immediately, and although he'll have some things to learn about the NBA, we think he's good enough to help us in a matter of weeks. We know he'll give us scoring off the bench right now."

Vandeweghe said he was "grateful to the Nuggets for expressing an interest in me. Otherwise, I might have sat out all year."

Sports Briefs

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Second-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia stunned tournament officials by pulling out of the $125,000 National Panasonic Women's Open because of an injured right shoulder.

In third round play, Romania's Virginia Ruzici downed Aussie Brenda Catton 6-4, 6-3 while Betty Stove of The Netherlands whipped Ranata Tomanova of Czechoslovakia 7-5, 6-2, and Barbara Hagist beat Rosie Casals 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 in second-round matches.
