WHITEFACES BEAT DALHART IN SNOW; ENTER FINALS OF CLASS B THANKSGIVING DAY

Will Face Either Perryton or Memphis Turkey Day; Place to Be Decided Friday. Local Team Defeats Dalhart Here Saturday In Semi-Finals by Score of 19 to 0, In Game Postponed From Previous Day. Whitefaces Working Out Every Day.

Hereford High's football eleven will enter the finals for Class B, District One, as a result of their argument here last Saturday afternoon on a snow-swept temporary gridiron with the semi-finalists from Dalhart High. The score was 19 to 0. The game had been postponed from Friday, as the Dalhart team was unable to get further than Amarillo during the day. They came down at night and the game was played Saturday afternoon on the sod north of the regular field, with the grass deep in snow. It was not muddy, but exceedingly slippery, and neither team could show all its wares.

Memphis High is scheduled to play at Perryton on Friday of this week and the winner of this contest will play Hereford Thanksgiving day for the district championship. Little is known here of the strength of either of these teams and the outcome Thanksgiving is clouded in doubt. But the Hereford coach and the boys are plugging along, practicing every day, and getting ready for the battle of the century when they take on the finalists.

Fans are inquiring as to where the Thanksgiving game will be played. That will depend upon a conference which will be called at Perryton after the game Friday with Memphis. Coach McCollum and Business Manager Humble will attend this game and arrange details of the Thanksgiving contest with the winner. Hereford has a fifty-fifty chance to secure the game.

Saturday's Game.
Dalhart's eleven was game, but outclassed Saturday. The teams looked to be of about even weight, but the offensive of the locals was too fast for the visitors. The latter had two pretty plays, one a line "push" play that was nearly always good for short gains, and a short diagonal pass that they worked on numerous occasions. But they did not have the punch to put on a sustained march. Their line was fairly good but unequal to stopping the plunges of the Hereford backs when yardage was needed. The Hereford forwards invariably opened gaps in that wall that yawned. Meanwhile, Bill Mitchell and George Jewell were ripping away through the line and Captain Babe Russell was giving the visitors several exhibitions of end running that left them gasping.

Hereford kicked off in the first quarter and after Dalhart had been held with slight gain they punted. The game was blocked and

The Rev. J. W. Boutinghouse, new pastor of the Christian church, will be formally introduced, and welcomed by Rev. E. B. Bowen of the Methodist church, and the Christian minister will preach the Thanksgiving sermon.

A collection will be taken for the benefit of the Charity Fund of the city. The different choirs of the city will merge into one huge organization for the occasion, under the leadership of Mrs. G. A. F. Parker, organist. The detailed program is shown on another page of this issue.

N. O. Bendickson Coming To Help With Creamery

N. O. Bendickson has written the creamery committee of the Chamber of Commerce that he will arrive in Hereford to assist in the organization of the creamery about December 1.

Mr. Bendickson is general manager of the Traer Cooperative Creamery at Traer, Iowa, and has the reputation of being one of the best posted men on dairy products in the State of Iowa.

"We know that we want a creamery," said Herman Schultz, chairman of the committee, "but we are very anxious to get started right. We are paying this man's expenses to come and help us organize this movement, and thereby eliminate many of the mistakes that are often made by those not familiar with creameries."

The services of Mr. Bendickson were secured through Lester Galley local dairyman, whose father resides in the Iowa town, and from reports received regarding him Hereford is fortunate in securing his services.

In all probability a cooperative creamery along the lines of organization used in the Northern States will be the plan put into effect.

Quick Meal Co. Has Expert Here Demonstrating Wares

The Quick Meal Stove Company, of St. Louis, Mo., have a demonstrator at the Streu Hardware all this week up to Saturday noon explaining the uses of gas ranges, the tricks of gas, and the methods best used in cooking with it. He was baking some delicious cake Wednesday that attracted many compliments.

The demonstrator is T. H. Greenwood, Jr., from the Research Laboratories of the Quick Meal Company. Mr. Greenwood's usual work is lecturing in the schools and before classes of ladies, but in Hereford he is kept busy doing the actual cooking work in the rush of selling stoves for the newly arrived gas.

Panhandle Lumber Co. Gives Hereford Radio Publicity

The Panhandle Lumber Company of Amarillo, with yards in practically all of the Plains towns and cities, broadcasted a development program over the radio Wednesday night from Station WDAG, Amarillo.

John E. Hill, general manager of the company, is a man who has worked intelligently for the development of the Panhandle Plains, and is considered one of the real factors in the development made in this section during the past few years.

The Hereford Chamber of Commerce has furnished Mr. Hill with data on Hereford and Deaf Smith county which went on the air to thousands of listeners. The recent dairy cow census of the county which was virtually completed in one day and is claimed to be the only county on the Plains in which this method has been used, was one of the facts mentioned.

That Deaf Smith county had contributed more than any other county of all Plains counties, except Potter, in the financing of the Panhandle-Plains exhibits through the Northern states was also mentioned.

President Seliger of the Chamber of Commerce stated recently that arrangements were being made to broadcast a program over the new station at Wichita Falls.

DECEMBER 14 DATE SET FOR C. C. BANQUET

Football Eleven To Be Guests of Chamber of Commerce On Monday, November 26. Committee Report to Body.

The Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual banquet on Friday night, December 14, it was unanimously decided at the Monday luncheon. President Seliger stated it had been impossible in the spring to hold the affair, and the announcement that it would be held next month met with universal favor.

It was further stated that efforts would be renewed to get Frank Kell, capitalist and railroad builder of Wichita Falls, to be the main speaker, negotiations with Mr. Kell having been made last spring. Other speakers mentioned included Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurray College, Abilene, who is recognized as one of the greatest after dinner speakers in the state; Walter D. Cline and H. E. Shepherd of Wichita Falls, are other possibilities.

Efforts will be made to have every part of Deaf Smith county represented at the banquet, according to those in charge, and a possible attendance of 400 is estimated.

A. O. Thompson is chairman in charge of the delegation which will visit Dimmitt next Wednesday morning and greet the special trains from various cities who will be there at that time. One thousand pamphlets are being prepared to distribute among the visitors by Hereford trippers and the officials of the Denver and South Plains will be invited to extend their railroad on to Hereford. The band will also accompany the delegation if roads will permit the trip.

Chairman Herman Schultz announced that the creamery committee had engaged N. O. Bendickson manager of the Traer Co-operative Creamery of Traer, Iowa, to assist in the organization of the local creamery; and this announcement caused much satisfaction. A letter to the local chamber stated that Mr. Bendickson will probably visit Hereford on Wednesday.

Announcement was made that Trades Day drawing will be held Saturday afternoon, November 24, because of the condition of the roads.

The body voted unanimously to have the Hereford high school football team as guests at the luncheon next Monday which will also be held at the Methodist church and be served by Mrs. Easley's Sunday school class.

President Seliger stressed the need of concerted action at this time in forward moves, such as securing a hotel, extension of the railroad from Dimmitt, settling of many new people, etc. and urged everyone to join the body.

Lee Conklin Visits Walter Fullwood On Rio Grande

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Conklin and children arrived from the Rio Grande Valley Sunday morning where they had a vacation and visited Walter Fullwood and his people. Mr. Fullwood formerly lived here. The tourists brought back some specimens of the Lower Valley fruits, raised by Mr. Fullwood, including a huge lemon from which several pies could be made, a miniature orange about two inches in diameter and a big lime.

May Brothers Lease Borden Ranch and Plan Expansion

May Brothers have leased the main headquarters section of the Borden ranch, located some twelve miles northeast of Hereford. This is one of the best improved sections in Deaf Smith county and is in a high state of cultivation, with irrigation plant and good buildings. May Brothers now have more than 1000 acres in wheat on this and adjoining land and are looking upon as among the most successful farmers in the county. Early last spring they broke out eighty acres of sod land, one wayed it twice, harrowed it once, then planted it to kafir corn, using a wheat drill by stopping up enough of the openings to plant about thirty inches apart. This was never touched again until they combined it this fall. The eighty acres produced 4500 bushels or fifty-seven bushels per acre and was sold at the elevator in Dawn for $2,145.48, or $26.81 per acre.

C. of C. Questionnaires Follow Up Exhibit Work

More than 1,000 questionnaires are being mailed to farmers in Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska by the Hereford Chamber of Commerce. Accompanying these questionnaires are letters giving some facts on Deaf Smith county as an agricultural section.

This step is being taken to eliminate sending much useless literature to those who are not interested in buying land. The farmers are asked if they are in the market for Texas land, number of acres wanted, crop most interested in, whether land owner or not, and various questions that will place the matter in definite form. Answers received from these men showing interest in this section will receive concentrated efforts, while those not answering or signifying that they are not interested will be dropped from the mailing list.

Names and letters from those interested and their replies will be furnished local real estate men, land owners and others interested in getting new land owners to Deaf Smith county.

Santa Fe Thanked for the Special Train to Panhandle

Letters have been written to officials of the Santa Fe thanking them for the efficient manner in which the recent Panhandle-Hereford special train was handled. Local agents have also been thanked for their part in making the train a success, and Hereford citizens generally are loud in their praise of the service rendered by the Santa Fe on this occasion.

GAS COMPANY PURCHASES FOUR LOTS FOR BORDER STATION; PLAN BUILDING

The West Texas Gas Company has installed their border station on four lots purchased from L. Baskin in Durant subdivision of Block 25, Mabry addition. The company will likely make this their main supply depot and build a number of structures thereon. A high metal wire fence has been erected about the four lots and regulator plants installed. The gas comes into this station under a seventy pound pressure, comes to the city limits from there under five pounds pressure, and is later reduced through three other regular plants in the city down to eight ounces, at which pressure it is distributed throughout the city mains.

The Durant subdivision, consisting of about 200 lots now has both gas and electricity and in addition faces on Federal highway No. 596. This addition is located about one-half mile east of the Nursery and is owned by Mr. Baskin. We are informed that he intends to place these lots on sale soon after January 1, and that a store, filling station and modern camp ground is now being considered.

T. B. Kellow Says "There Is No Place Like Old Home"

T. B. Kellow, long a resident of this community but now of Dallas, writes in renewing his subscription and has the following to say that may be of interest to his many friends here: "With best wishes to Hereford and the Hereford Brand. I love Hereford and its people. It's a fine town in which to live. You can better realize this when you get away, when you can see the difference."

The Weather Man put his soul into the job when he decided, about 3:30 a. m. last Friday to switch the beautiful fall weather which had prevailed here for weeks to a brand more in keeping with the time of year.

First it was rain, steady and wet—it descended all forenoon and all day, changing late in the afternoon to mixed rain, sleet, hail and snow, and Saturday morning there was a gorgeous covering of the "beautiful" over everything. Temperatures dropped day by day. Sunday it snowed again. Estimates show that there were between six and seven inches all told in this immediate vicinity, although there are regions roundabouts that report twice that amount. Tuesday the show had nearly all vanished in town, with lots of it still banked out in the country. The official weather gauge showed a total of rain and melted snow in the cup of 1.65 inches of moisture.

The few people in town who had gas burning, or had retained their coal stoves, however, about them and laughed at the scores who had nothing better than oil and electric heaters to ward off the bitter cold. The top of the ground had been freezing every night and thawing out into deep, thick mud during the day. Roads and city streets where not paved are almost impassable. Stage service has been discontinued for the time being. West bound trains have nearly all been late. Telegraph and telephone service east and west was completely cut off for two days. The wet snow would accumulate on the lines, then freeze, and more would adhere to it until finally the weight broke a pole. That would take down several other poles. Eventually there were hundreds of poles down between Texico and Canyon. Hereford was completely cut off from the world for two days and night with the exception of train service, operated without the aid of telegraph or telephone service.

Tuesday was fair and cold; Wednesday was fair and warmer. And all indications point to a complete clearing up of the elemental disturbance. The season in the ground is tremendous and of incalculable benefit. The wheat men are smiling, and with good cause. It begins to look like a banner wheat year for the Panhandle of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Neal returned last Sunday from Lawrenceville, Illinois, where they have been spending several weeks with friends and relatives.

New Brick To House Stone Chain Store

Another new Main Street brick building for Hereford was announced this week by A. H. Elliston. Mr. Elliston stated that early in December he will wreck his old landmark, next door north of the Ray Jewelry Store, and begin the construction of a modern 25x100 foot brick building, which has been leased by the C. E. Stone Chain Store Dry Goods Company of Texas and Oklahoma, who operate about thirty different stores.

Mr. Elliston's contract calls for a modern store front, fifteen foot ceilings and an up-to-date structure in every particular. The Stone Company will occupy the building as soon as it is completed. The H. & M. Grocery, occupants of the present building, announce a Close Out Sale of their stock in this issue of The Brand.

DEAR FRIENDS:

November 22, 1928.

When little Johnny spills strawberry jam down the front of his new suit, don't scold him. He couldn't help it.

And besides it isn't serious anyway because a spot of jam on a suit of clothes is a simple matter at this establishment.

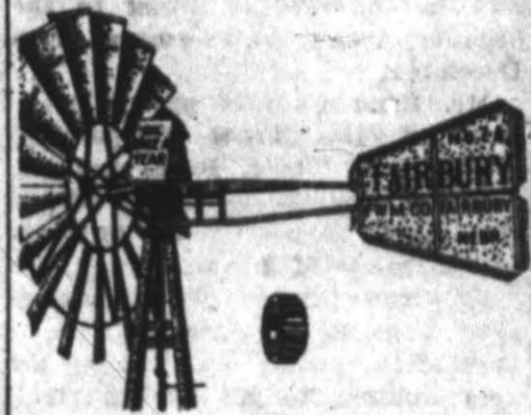

The boss takes particular interest in children's clothes. They get pretty dirty sometimes—the clothes, I mean—but they look like new pure power, wash ea, four wash pressed.

Send the little suits and dresses in.

ZONE MEETING.

Zone No. Two of the Amarillo District of the Woman's Missionary Society met in the First Methodist church of Hereford November 14 with a splendid delegation from Bovina and Friona. Owing to a heavy rain the night before there was no morning session. Lunch was served in the church basement after which we were called to the auditorium by strains of the beautiful old song, "The Rock that is Higher than I." The program opening with singing, followed by prayer by the pastor, Rev. Bowen. Mrs. R. O. Dunkle gave us Old and new versions of Missionary Service, which was interesting and made us realize the great task of the pioneers in the work. "How to keep step with youth" by Rev. Bowen. He read II Cor. 14, giving Paul's version of the church represented by the human body as many members, yet indivisible.

and with a definite task and applied it to youth and age, how each needs and must have the other.

The first thing to enable us to keep step with youth is to remember our own boyhood and girlhood days and realize that youth only follows our example. The pleasures of youth have been shamefully commercialized, says Rev. Bowen. Let us examine ourselves and see if the blame is rightly placed and have an attitude of helpfulness and not criticism for our young people.

Forget the Calendar and measure time by heart throbs and not years; associate with youth, take an interest in the things they are interested in, remembering that the ability to keep step with youth depends upon three things, perfect sincerity, definite patience, self-denial and sacrifice.

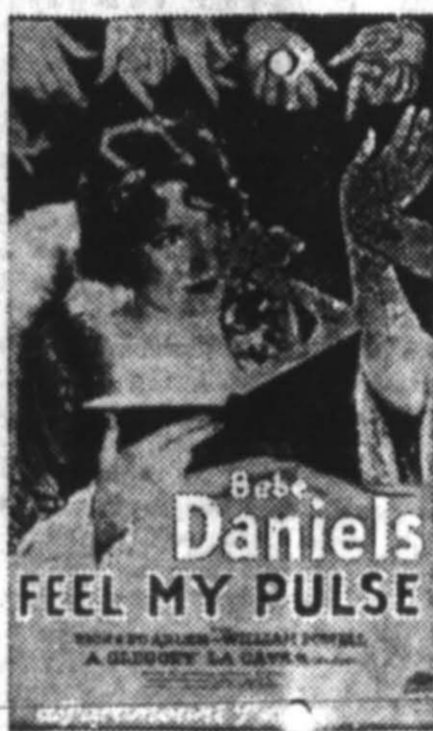

Reports as to work accomplished this year were given as follows: Hereford adults, Mrs. H. L. Rice. Friona, Mrs. Raymond Jones. Bovina, Mrs. W. E. Williams. Hereford Matrons, Mrs. Wesley Anthony.

Each reported the constructional work up in full. Hereford adults have a strong young peoples' and children's department.

After the reports a round table discussion was given on Aux problems, led by Mrs. C. F. Hastings of Bovina.

money. But the President could save plenty of it. More than one law firm would be glad to guarantee him three times his presidential salary. And he would not have to work hard. Perhaps the President chooses to wait awhile, look around and possibly take a second elective term in the White House eight years hence.

The erection of a fine statue to the great Frenchman, Pasteur, honors Chicago. Excepting the Lincoln statue, none in Chicago is erected to so noble and useful a man.

Dr. Leopold Steiglitz, of New York, able scientist and brilliant diagnostician, brother of Professor Julius Steiglitz, who teaches chemistry at Chicago University, says: "We need a Pasteur to solve the cancer problem. That task calls for a man free of preconceived notions and prejudice; not a man of medical training, seeking to explain cancer according to old methods."

The ignorant sometimes ask, "Of what real use is science?" Bismarck taking five billion francs from France after the war of 1870, thought he had reached the limit. Dr. Steiglitz reminds you that the cash value to France of Pasteur's discoveries far exceeds five billion francs to say nothing of his work against human disaster and suffering.

What Dr. Steiglitz says of Pasteur and the cancer problem, encourages men of no special training. Clear thought and accurate observation work wonders. The inventor of the sewing machine did not know how to sew. Had he known it would have not occurred to him to put the eye of the sewing machine needle in the point of the needle rather than in the old place, farthest from the point.

That one idea made the sewing machine possible. Mussolini, wiser than superficial critics in America, has only praise for moving pictures. Quite accurately he classes them among the greatest agencies for the education of mankind. The other two are movable type and photography.

The "loafer hen" who eats much and lays little, is the greatest drag on farm poultry profits. Replace non-layers with good reliable stocks, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and watch the profits grow.

"Hatchery chicks for greater profits" is the slogan of a national organization of hatcherymen who have united in the interest of better farm flocks through better breeding of chicks coming from the incubators.

Egg production, hatchable eggs and the health of the farm poultry flock in the winter often depend upon the amount of direct sunshine to which the birds are exposed. Sunlight that has passed through ordinary window glass is not effective.

A well selected pure-bred dairy bull coupled by care management and selection means "not more, but better cows."

RED CROSS FIGHTS DEATH AND DISEASE

Four Nation-wide Services Promote Health Preservation and Accident Prevention.

A nation-wide program for preservation of health and prevention of accidental death is one of the great services of the American Red Cross. Four bureaus, manned by experts, direct this work. They are the Public Health Nursing Service; the First Aid and Life Saving Service; the Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick Service, and the Nutrition Service.

These services aim at preservation of health through skilled nursing care; prevention of loss of life in accidents; prevention of illness, through cleanliness in the home and knowledge of methods of care of the sick; and raising the standard of physical efficiency through proper eating.

This nation-wide campaign against disease and accidental death is conducted through a majority of the 3,532 Chapters of the Red Cross. It is a community campaign, fitted to the health problems of each section.

The Red Cross, through its Chapters, is the largest employer of trained Public Health nurses in rural work in the United States. In its campaign for preservation of health and prevention of disease it has aided in establishing 2,000 or more community nursing services.

At the national headquarters an enrollment of nurses is maintained, which forms a great nursing reserve. Under its Charter from Congress this Red Cross Nursing Service is the official reserve for the United States Army and Navy Nurse Corps. In addition, these nurses are available in time of disaster or epidemic. This reserve list of trained nurses has in 1923 reached its peak in number enrolled—there being now 47,000 nurses qualified under Red Cross regulations who may be mobilized in time of emergency.

The comprehensive, nation-wide program of instruction in First Aid and Life Saving maintained by the Red Cross is in answer to the appalling total of accidental deaths each year in the United States. In its First Aid instruction among firemen and police forces, in factories, railroad centers, great industries, and public utilities; the Red Cross annually reaches more than 160,000 men and women, whom it teaches to be alert, ready in case of accident, to apply first aid treatment.

The campaign against accidental deaths through drowning has been carried throughout the country, and there now are 173,596 men and women, boys and girls, qualified as Red Cross life savers, expert in resuscitation, etc.

Labor Head Asks Nation's Workers to Support Red Cross

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement to the workers of the nation to support the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, November 11-25, in the following statement:

"Through the American Red Cross we find expression for some of our noblest ideals. It is an effective instrument for magnifying many times our personal service to humanity.

"In the face of great disasters, when the injured and homeless run into the thousands, there is little we can do individually. Consolidating our strength through membership in this great organization, our opportunity for service is unlimited.

We must not forget that every day is a day of disaster to thousands. Into homes where disaster strikes your Red Cross goes in your name to be friend and counselor to those upon whom misfortune has laid her heavy hand.

"As President of the American Federation of Labor, I hope and feel confident that the workers of the nation will respond to the Red Cross Roll Call and have a part in this organization's great work."

(Signed)
WILLIAM GREEN,
President
American Federation of Labor.

Hints for the Home

When planning the table decorations for Thanksgiving do not forget that fall fruits and vegetables are as decorative as flowers for the centerpiece—and far more expressive symbols of harvest time.

One of the most beautiful Thanksgiving tables I have ever seen had for its centerpiece a large flat bowl of amber glass holding a small pumpkin, a purple egg plant, an ear of corn, a tiny winter squash and apples, plums, oranges, purple and wine-red grapes. Tall compots of amber glass filled with small fruits and grapes were placed at either side of the large bowl. Amber goblets and ivory bodied china in a colorful pattern were used for service.

Although the table was planned for a sophisticated New York home it seems to me it bears a special message for all who live far from good florist shops.

This time use prepared cake flour to make your pie crust and condensed milk where your pumpkin recipe calls for milk—and you will have a richer, creamier filling and a flakier crust than usual for it is placed de resistance of your Thanksgiving meal.

A New Salad.

Chop 12 stuffed olives and 1 cup celery. Heat 1 cup water and 1 cup tomato soup to boiling; add 2 tbs vinegar, salt and paprika to taste. Dissolve in this 1 package lemon flavored gelatin. When cool and slightly thick stir in celery mixture and pour in molds to harden. Very good with "turkey and trimmings."

A RECORD IN POLITICS. A STATUE TO PASTEUR THE EYE OF THE NEEDLY PRAISE FOR THE MOVIES

The President cast his first vote in Northampton, was elected congressman there long ago and has been steadily in office ever since, nominated nineteen or twenty times—never beaten. A record in politics as good as Cromwell's in war. Cromwell never lost a battle.

The old farmers would observe with pleasure that being president with $75,000 a year salary, a White House and a big yacht have not spoiled Calvin Coolidge. Next March he will move from the White House to Northampton and resume life in a small house which he rents for $32.50 a month.

Frigidaire breaks all sales records

With more than fifty kinds and types of electric refrigerators on the market, it is a significant fact that there are now more Frigidaires in use than all other makes combined.

There are definite reasons for Frigidaire's predominant leadership.

There are reasons why Frigidaire sales today are greater than in any similar period in the history of the business.

There are reasons why production of the past sixty days is more than double that of a year ago—and yet thousands of orders remain unfilled.

The choice of rulers throughout the world

The preference for this one make of electric refrigerator is world wide. Frigidaire is serving in the homes of Lloyd George of England, The President of France, the Premier of Italy, the King of Spain, the King of Egypt, the Amir of Afghanistan, the President of Switzerland, and others.

Leviathan is Frigidaire-equipped

Experienced engineers chose Frigidaire for the equipment of the Leviathan, flagship of the United States Lines. It supplies the refrigeration for some of the world's most modern trains in England and America.

Choice of apartment owners everywhere

From coast to coast Frigidaire is the standard equipment for apartment houses. Among the thousands of buildings equipped, the following are typical: Tudor City, the great apartment development of New York City, has 843 Frigidaires. The Lee Plaza of Detroit has 196 Frigidaires. The Schenley Apartments of Pittsburgh have 231 Frigidaires. The Seneca of Chicago has 185 Frigidaires and the Marshall Field Garden Apartment Homes have just ordered 628 Frigidaires.

Wherever dependability, economy, quiet operation and long life are the requirements, the choice is Frigidaire.

Frigidaire for important hospital service

Hospitals throughout the world have selected Frigidaire equipment, including Walter Reid at Washington, Johns Hopkins at Baltimore, Providence Hospital at Detroit, Battle Creek Sanitarium, and the leading hospitals in almost every city. Frigidaire provides the electric refrigeration for hotels, for club houses, for Y. M. C. A's, for Y. W. C. A's, and institutions where careful analysis precedes choice.

Saving one manufacturer $40,000 a year

Frigidaire is the equipment chosen by large manufacturing plants such as the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Baldwin Locomotive Works, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the H. J.

Heinz Company, Standard Oil; and a typical example is the Carnegie Steel Company, where 340 Frigidaire-equipped water coolers are effecting a saving estimated at over $40,000 a year.

What happened at Houston

At the Democratic Convention in Houston, where the heat was excessive, ninety per cent of the water coolers in the great Convention Hall were Frigidaires, and everyone of them served without interruption throughout the convention.

Chain stores are Frigidaire-equipped

Frigidaires are used by the great chain store systems, including A. & P., Kresge, Lyons Incorporated, of England, Independent Grocers' Alliance, Piggly Wiggly, and seventy-five others.

Frigidaire is the overwhelming choice of ice cream manufacturers, where the savings effected are enormous.

Frigidaire is the choice of thousands of the most modern dairy farms in the United States, and ninety per cent of the leading soda fountain manufacturers of America have chosen this one make of electric refrigeration because of its dependability and economy.

New Frigidaire is incredibly quiet

The announcement of the New Frigidaire has met with a universal response. Its beauty, its power, its ease of installation, its incredibly quiet operation, its economy, and its low price have given added impetus to an already overwhelming public preference.

Careful analysis, engineering tests, actual experience have led the vast majority of careful buyers to choose Frigidaire.

Proven dependability and low cost

If you are considering the purchase of an electric refrigerator from which you are entitled to expect long years of service, economy in the use of current, absolute dependability, Frigidaire, with its limitless resources, its vast experience and the economies it effects through mass production, offers value that has no equal.

RED CROSS NURSES AID IN HURRICANE DISASTER

In addition to their year around work in the Public Health field, the Public Health nurses of the American Red Cross have answered a number of calls to combat epidemics, and in disaster work during the year just ending, the Red Cross states.

Their greatest task was in the relief following the West Indies hurricane when 20 nurses were dispatched to Florida and 32 to Porto Rico, to assume charge of the health work there. Epidemic conditions were especially grave in both places, and inoculation of several hundred thousand persons had to be arranged in order to prevent spread of contagions. Nursing the injured, the sick, aged and young—and caring for the newborn were heavy tasks in both areas.

The Red Cross nurses also were called upon for work in epidemics in communities, including the serious septic sore throat epidemic in New England and a typhoid epidemic in New York state.

More than 550 Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation operate nursing services which they support altogether or in part.

Progression of Hate

There are few people who, when they have treated a person shabbily, fail to avenge themselves on their victim by another offense, compensating for this second by a third, and so on. Whereby you may imagine how much spite must accumulate in a man who hates you and has not yet found his first opportunity to do you a bad turn.—Arthur Schnitzler in Vanity Fair.

Soft Gem

Opals are not durable stones. If worn carefully in an ordinary ring, they should last indefinitely. Often they wear down and must be reset and cleaned. If given hard knocks or dropped, they are not much stronger than glass. They are classed as the softest of all gems, with possibly the exception of the oriental pearl.

The habit of a bird putting its head under its wing to go to sleep had its origin most probably in the necessity of protecting its eyes from freezing. All birds, however, do not do this.

Football

Hereford took the ball. On the first play Russell ran thirty yards to the Dalhart five yard line, and on the second Hereford play Mitchell sliced through the line for a touchdown. Goal was missed by inches on a pass across the line. Score, Hereford 6, Dalhart 0.

The real thrill of the contest came in the second quarter when, after the ball had changed hands several times, Russell took it on his own ten yard line and ran ninety yards around the entire Dalhart team to a touchdown. Russell's interference on this run was perfect and he stiff-armed the safety man, the only one between himself and the goal. A pass for point after touchdown again missed. Score, Hereford 12, Dalhart 0.

There was no scoring in the third quarter, but in the fourth the last score was chalked up. This quarter was featured by both plunging by George Jowell and Sandy Jowell and end sweeps by Russell. George finally going through for a touchdown. On a fake pass for point after touchdown the ball was carried through the line for the one point that made the count, Hereford 19, Dalhart 0.

The crowd was small, owing to the weather, but the rooters present enjoyed the game and the Pep Squad, arrayed in overalls and booties, put up their usual peppy exhibition in support of their team. The starting lineup Saturday was composed of Longbottom, left end;

Ragsdale Raises Fine Crops On Basin Irrigated Farm

C. L. Ragsdale, living on one of the Baskin five acre tracts in South Hereford, raised six head of cabbage this year which weighed ninety-six pounds, or an average of sixteen pounds per head. He is now strong and healthy and says he is glad to be numbered with the many happy citizens of the South Side.

WORK OF VOLUNTEERS RED CROSS BACKBONE

Men and Women Who Give Services Aid Greatly—Surgical Dressings, Knitting, Sewing Still Carried On.

Thousands of women, who were first enrolled as Red Cross workers during the period of the World War, have never ceased in their labors for that organization, but still carry on knitting garments for disabled soldiers, making dresses and layettes for children and infants, and giving hours of their time in the various volunteer activities of Red Cross work. Volunteer work by men also plays a large part in the organization of Red Cross.

This volunteer work is the backbone of Red Cross. Fully eighty-five per cent of the service this humanitarian organization is able to render the public, through public health, American Junior Red Cross, service to disabled veterans of the World War, and the service men of the regular establishment, and its many other activities, must fall upon the shoulder of the volunteer worker. Not only is this true of the national headquarters where such distinguished volunteers are enrolled as Judge John Barton Payne, chairman, and Miss Mabel Boardman, secretary of the Red Cross, and Col. E. P. Bicknell, vice chairman in charge of foreign operation, but also in every community where Chapter chairmen and other men and women devote hours of their time to fostering and planning the valuable and humane work of Red Cross, so that it may be ever ready to serve in time of distress, catastrophe or great national emergency.

In the year just ended, 253,000 garments were provided by Red Cross Chapters, including 1,399 layettes, with nineteen articles each, for use in disaster areas.

Women who rolled surgical dressings ten years ago; with the help of new volunteers, still carry on this work for hospitals in their communities, and for the Chapter's stock, where a supply must be maintained to answer emergency calls. In the year just ended, the women made 2,276,000 dressings.

No type of volunteer work is more interesting or meets greater appreciation from its beneficiaries than the distribution each December of Christmas bags—one of which goes to every service man in the Army and Navy stationed on a distant post. Each year the request comes for more bags, until for Christmas, 1928, Red Cross volunteers have been asked to provide 12,000. The bags, containing small necessities dear to a service man's heart, go to the Philippines, China, Guam, Nicaragua, and all the distant ports where Uncle Sam's men are stationed.

Another service these volunteers perform, which has generally gripped the imagination of all who have come in touch with it, is the transcription into Braille for the blind of hundreds of books. Need of certain types of books for the blind first came to the attention of Red Cross through the blinded veterans of the World War. From work begun for the war blind, with a few devoted workers, this transcription of books now is being carried on by 1,029 Braille transcribers, who during this year have hand-copied 150,705 pages, and 348 titles have been completed.

Things You Should Know About Your HEALTH

Jno. Jos. Gaines, M. D.

"GLAND TREATMENT"

"Why don't you try gland therapy?" is heard so often now that a brief talk here may not be out of place. "Gland treatment" is not very new. The theory of it is, that when a certain gland or set of glands within the human body become incapacitated from disease or over-use, we should at once restore them by administering to the patient, the substances of similar glands taken from the animals; this procedure, we are assured, will rapidly regenerate the broken-down human organism and make it like new.

Therefore the quack! Upon his shelves stand rows of bottles with mysterious labels and filled with button-sized discs of greyish color—some of them are kidney, some ovary, some thyroid, some liver, some spleen, and so on—all good for the corresponding gland in the patient so good, indeed, this guileless victims will gladly shell out from five to fifty dollars per "course" to the "great specialist" whose picture peering through a microscope we see so often. Will some folks ever learn better?

A few glands—very few—are known by educated, experienced physicians, to be valuable through their extracts, in treating certain ailments successfully. Some of these are utterly unknown to laymen and the advertising quack is fully as ignorant. The reader may well take this to heart: No "tablet" that is marketed to the public through commercial channels by advertising is either worthy of faith or the perfectly good money it costs the purchaser. The field is a broad one—for the medical impostor. Don't be stung.

THE TIGER TRAIL

By Edison Marshall

First he took us down to the boat beside the water and lifted the tarpaulin that covered the thing in a bottom. A dead animal lay therein, a creature large as the largest hound, yellow, with spots of black. It was a powerful animal, long clawed and white fanged; and my breath stopped at the sight of it.

"A tiger?" I demanded. "Tiger, nothing!" Alexander answered. "You ought to be enough of a naturalist to know a tiger has stripes. This beast has spots. He weighs two hundred pounds, and a tiger twice as much. Besides, you don't find tigers in Southern Florida. It's plain to me, old Doc Long, that you don't know the history of Florida very well."

"Evidently I don't. I don't remember reading about such a creature as this—"

"Please speak respectfully of him. I'd have much preferred to have let him live, but we'll need him for proof of that wild story we have to tell the coroner's jury tomorrow afternoon. If you remember, there was a time when Southern Florida was still the home of the jaguars—the greatest of American felines."

I remembered that I had heard something about it.

"Most of them were exterminated a good many years ago. You can still find them in a few remote regions in Southern Texas. I suppose myself that they were all gone here even in such a wild part of the state as this. Long, you see here what is probably the last of the Florida jaguars, a creature as heavy as a leopard and one of the strongest jawed and shouldered felines in the world."

"And since you won't rest till I tell you the rest of it, I might as well say that this big cat was the base on which Ahmad and Southley worked out their plot. They knew about this jaguar."

"When Hayward and his son bore down upon them here after tracing them all the way from England, Southley and Ahmad saw a chance to take advantage of this big, tawny creature in the swamp. I suppose you know by now what the Haywards were?"

"Blackmaller, of course," I answered.

Alexander gritted his teeth. "You have taken plenty long to guess it, but you are right at last."

"Their real name is Strumburg. They are crooks themselves. The elder Strumburg was a confederate in crime in Southley's own youth. I use the word guardedly, Long, and I think it is true. I haven't any doubt but that Southley's early life wouldn't bear investigation. But that doesn't matter now. It's a joy, my boy, to come to the aid of one who has come to his own aid. Southley rose above that other life."

"I think he escaped after a particularly reckless crime. It wasn't a crime that benefited him financially, he says, but yet the hue and cry that was raised scared him from his criminal ways. A man was shot and though they were extenuating circumstances he certainly would have gone to prison for twenty years at least, according to the way men were sentenced in those days. First he went to India and Africa and made his fortune. Then he came to America, as Andrew Lasson. And all the time he lived in deadly fear that the long arm of the British law would reach out for him."

"Then the elder Strumburg discovered him. He adopted the name of Roderick and sent inquiries for this Andrew Lasson. He offered a huge reward to be paid a year after we found him and of course Lasson, or Southley as we call him now, was to pay the reward. He came here at last, with his vicious son, and the work of blackmail began. They told old Southley—in the gray twilight of his days—what to expect in case he didn't come through with all of their demands."

"They said they had proofs that would put him in prison. The terror of his long years came back as never before and he didn't have the strength and judgment to fight it any longer. Old age was upon him. He gave way again and again. And even today he wouldn't be free if it hadn't been for the real hero of Southley Downs—his servant, Ahmad Das.

"Ahmad Das is a mystic. Long, you're a doctor, and you don't believe in prenatal influence. You say it's all bunk. Yet it is true that Ahmad Das' mother was attacked by a tiger, that the creature died when Ahmad Das was born—and it is true that Ahmad has the most remarkable, natural, catlike grace of any man I ever saw. Of course he just pretended the rest—his propensities toward creeping around on his hands and knees. It all lent toward the effect. He's a mystic, I tell you—perhaps a believer in the theory of reincarnation of souls; and that dark, oriental mind of his conceived an idea that I don't think most Anglo-Saxons would have ever thought of."

"He knew he couldn't kill the Haywards. That was murder, and would defeat their own ends in that it might draw attention to the past life of Southley. He knew that Southley couldn't satisfy their rapacious appetites. They would cling and suck till the last cent was gone. Southley bought those clothes—paid for their cars. Other things were planned for this winner. So Ahmad Das conceived of the desperate scheme of scaring the Strumburgs—or Haywards, as they called themselves—from the estate by means of the tiger legend."

"Ahmad Das had all the material in the world to work with. He knew it when he thought out the plan. This jaguar—a tawny streak in the jungle and leaving tracks in the mud, was of course his greatest card. His own natural feline grace and Hayward's naturally superstitious nature were cards, too. Wicked men usually are superstitious. Of course Ahmad couldn't get the jaguar into the house but it was a simple matter to rig up that tiger skin. Every day he put a piece of meat out on a certain flat rock on the hillside. It wasn't human blood and flesh you saw there. It was good red beef, and Ahmad Das got blood stains on his shirt carrying it down there. And it wasn't any time at all until they got that big cat so that he stayed around the jungle at the base of the hill. The inside work couldn't be done in the bright light, so it was necessary to pretend that the lighting plant was broken. The faint light of candles gave just the proper atmosphere."

"I'm crazy about the whole scheme, Long. It worked out to perfection, except for one thing. Nobody had counted on the jaguar killing Hayward."

"What were you doing with that shirt—and the beef blood?" "Simply making the necessary tests—so to prove my story to the jury tomorrow. If I hadn't Freeman would have had poor Ahmad—the most faithful soul in the world—convicted and hung for murder by now—mentally, at least."

"And lastly how did you come to be involved in this affair at all? Did you come out just because I sent for you?"

"I'm a private detective, Long," was his quiet answer. "I don't work for the State, although the State employs me some times. Southley himself wrote for me to come to help him out. I told him I couldn't at first—that was some weeks ago—but I knew a young man that would be the greatest assistance to him in the hour of need. That young man had been in two or three bad messes before—the affair at Wildmarsh, and the story of the cobra curse, and the Moie. Southley had met the young man in a visit in Tampa, and he liked him. So the next lay this young chappie—and what a bone-head he has been—got a letter from Southley asking him down for a week's shooting, fishing and rest. He was a doctor, and his name was Long."

Vilas left on the night train. He packed his bag in silence and was rowed over to the railroad track whence he could get to the station.

When midnight hung still and mysterious over the water world, Josephine and I found ourselves alone on the great veranda.

"Let's walk down to the water's edge," she suggested. "It's drying up so quickly. It will be gone in a few days more."

"And I will be gone, too," I told her.

She walked in front of me down the narrow path. And I was struggling for words that would not come.

"Did you know, Miss Southley, that Alexander was responsible for my invitation here?" I asked her at last.

She did not even turn her head. "I found it out tonight."

"Do you see what that means? That I was sent here to serve. And Continued on next page."

Much more is involved in prayer than merely asking for what we may desire. There are conditions that we must meet before we can begin the asking. Jesus offered a safeguard in prayer that we will do well to follow invariably as we also say "Thy will be done." Then there is an orderly sequence as we are having an audience with the Most High God, such as Adoration, Thanksgiving, Confession, Petition, and further Thanksgiving before we say "Amen," so let it be. Two books by the late Andrew Murray have been very helpful, "With Christ in the School of Prayer," and "Ministry of Intercession." Yes the subject of is one for life study and practice. Paul gives us a helpful start.

Ephesians was written from Rome during the first imprisonment. Paul was limited in the flesh as he was constantly chained to some Roman soldier, but his mind and spirit were free to reach Ephesus by way of the throne of Jehovah. He rejoices at the good report which comes concerning the continuing and enlarging faith of his beloved in Ephesus. Then he reminds them of his positive help he is obtaining for them through intercessory prayer. Just as long as one can reach up to God he can through the power of the Almighty reach out to any person or place in the world. Such was Paul's habit in maintaining his life work. He did not make self interest the burden of his petitions but asked great things for others through Jesus Christ, for such a joyous privilege was according to the promise given to him and to every one of us. Samuel refused to lay down his prayers though his judgeship had been taken away by the people when they asked for a king. This prophet said "God forbid that I should sin against Him in ceasing to pray for you," I Samuel 12:23.

Some of the content of one of Paul's prayers is indicated in Ephesians 3:15-21. For five verses there is a massing of petitions before we find a single period. His posture is down on both knees, but in mind he faces the Throne. Read that prayer a number of times. Better still, commit it to memory and use it as you seek large blessings for others, and especially for any one who is ill-treating you. A fine indication that you have forgiven is when you pray wholeheartedly for the one who has wronged you. There is no limitation in the love or forgiveness of the Christ. Who can do "exceeding abundant above all that we ask or think." It is mighty to be on praying terms with such a King!

When pullets are housed and set to their winter task of egg laying, care must be taken to see that they get plenty of green feed. Rape, green clover, and alfalfa are satisfactory for this purpose.

The farm flock should not be a "pin money" proposition. Poultry and egg prices for the coming year indicate a good profit for the farmer who has the proper stock and gives it good care. Put good laying stock on the farm and realize a profit.

THE PRAYERS OF PAUL

Acts 20:36-38; Ephesians 1:15-16; 3:14-21

REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, D. D.

Limitless opportunities to help others are within the power of every one who knows how to pray. When Paul could not give direct aid where he would or when his title was not enough he always had recourse to prayer. He had written to the Thessalonians, "Pray without ceasing," and he constantly practiced his own preaching. The Scripture chosen for this lesson suggests only a few of the many prayer experiences of Paul. Others indicated by the Lesson Committee are Romans 1:8-10; Ephesians 1:15-23, 1 Thessalonians 12:5. In addition there are many prayer references in the thirteen letters that Paul wrote. A fine book for general reading is "The Man Paul," by Robert E. Speer, D. D., in which there is an especially helpful chapter on "His prayer life."

Building in Texas.

One who attempts to keep informed as to the building going on in Texas must be amazed at the progress in all parts of the state. The towns and cities are nearly all growing at a remarkable rate and building permits are far in excess of those of any previous period. There is no other way to account for it than to attribute it to the general prosperity of the people. The state itself is the greatest builder and is spending the largest sums in constructing permanent and semi-permanent highways. These highways in turn result in the building up of cities and towns and in the improvements of country homes. People are no longer satisfied to live in dilapidated dwellings if they can afford better. Having better homes they naturally want better school buildings and churches, better places of business, better hotels and court houses. So, one improvement calls for another and there grows up a regular circle of constructive activities.

Railroad Building.

Those who predicted a few years ago that railroad building in Texas would have to stop because of the improved highways have another guess coming. The vast Panhandle section, naturally adapted to the building of good highways, is not only building such roads, but is almost changing the map with railroads newly built and planned. That "Duff" railroad enterprise, connecting Waco with Beaumont and Port Arthur is now assured after years of delay. It looks like the West Texas and Gulf railway from Corpus Christi through San Antonio to San Angelo will soon be built as the people along the proposed route are rapidly subscribing the required stock. Much needed railroads have been built in the Rio Grande valley. The Orient railroad, now a part of the Santa Fe system will soon be extended to its Mexican terminus. All this means that the capitalists throughout the country feel sure of the future growth of Texas.

Public Utilities.

Have you noticed how the public utilities companies—most of which are largely financed by Eastern capitalists, are reaching out for what ever local utilities they can acquire. Recently the West Texas Telephone Company, operating in that rich section around Brownwood, was acquired by a subsidiary of the Bell Telephone Company. The financially strong power and light companies are paying top prices for any local companies that are offered for sale and every day new extensions of the utilities are reported. In some parts of the state tempting offers are being made to get control of the milk products plant—that has recently been built over the state. Many of the best newspaper properties have lately passed into chain newspaper groups, most of which are financed by Northern capital and others are being bought up. Texas looks good to those who have money to invest in public or semi-public utilities.

Creamery Building.

A few years ago the vast areas of West Texas thousands of acres were included in one pasture for cattle, which were owned in vast and uncounted numbers. This is changing, and the dairy cow is taking the place of her predecessor of the ranges. San Angelo the western city that once took its greatest pride in its immense cattle ranches is building a $100,000 milk products plant—forced to it by changing conditions, and taking a degree of pride in the change.

How They Grow.

A capitalist at Big Spring has recently put a 394 lot subdivision on the market, a 200 lot subdivision at Brady and another 100 lot addition at Menard have changed ownership. All these places are having remarkable growth and have gotten out of the village class. Many other Texas towns are doing as well, but this progress is noticed here because it is the substance of just one news item showing what is going on in a constructive way in Texas.

Flying to School.

Lieut. Jas. W. Andrews, an instructor in flying at Kelly Field, San Antonio, is working toward a Ph. D. degree at the University of Texas. He flies from San Antonio to Austin three times a week to attend classes and gives the rest of his time to teaching others to fly. Who can tell but that in a few years thousands of students will be flying to school? It has been only a few years since people thought that going to school two miles from their homes was something about which to talk. Now large numbers of students drive fifty or more miles to school each day. The world is moving rapidly.

Sunflower Crop.

A farmer living near Lamesa, Dawson county, last year raised a crop of sunflowers from which he realized from $35 to $40 an acre. This year the yield is from 500 to 700 pounds to the acre and it is selling for about 15c a pound. The crop is largely used in poultry feeds after being ground. In some countries the stalk is ground into pulp and used for slage. The Dawson farmer has demonstrated that diversification, even in crops very largely untried and unknown can be made to pay.

What's Doing IN WEST TEXAS

Two companies in Brady have already opened business to handle the turkey market. It is not known how the turkey crop will compare with former years, although it is known that a large number of the birds will be sold.

W. E. Weatherby of Del Rio recently purchased 82 registered Hereford bulls from W. F. Lewis of Gainesville and took them to his ranch in Mexico. These pure bred bulls will be used for breeding purposes.

Canyon has a Children's Theatre which offers juvenile plays for very young children. One of its objectives is to develop the dramatic and literary sense of the child. The plans range from Red Ridinghood to Treasure Island.

Authorities at Spearman are co-operating with the towns of Perryton, Woodward and others in improving roads in that community, particularly between Shattuck and Woodward. Telephone service will also be improved.

Removal of the sand from the roadbed of the Midland to Andrews road has lately been completed at a cost of only $264.00, which was taken from the regular chamber of commerce budget at Midland. H. L. Hart, McCarleyville farmer supervised the work.

Thirty cents per pound is the price live turkeys are bringing in Childress. Reports from the Childress Produce Co. says the supply will be about the same as last year. The demand from the wholesale companies is good at this time, but local demand is not heavy.

Material arrives daily at Crowell for construction work on the Lee highway. A car of steel to be used in re-inforced concrete work on culverts and bridges is the latest to arrive. Work on this stretch of the highway is progressing rapidly.

HOSE OR LEAD PIPE RISKY GAS CONNECTIONS—

Flexible connections for gas stoves are dangerous. They are likely at any time to become leaky or disconnected, with the danger of resultant injury to health and property.

This is true not only of rubber hose, but also of lead or copper-coated pipe, which, bent a time or two, may crack and leak. There is this additional objection to lead or copper-coated pipe: the aperture in the usual lead pipe connection is only one-eighth inch in diameter. A bend reduces even this small diameter. The result is that an insufficient amount of gas reaches the burners. A three-eighths-inch iron pipe connection is the safest and most efficient for the ordinary room heater.

Natural gas, when properly used, not only is the cleanest, most convenient and efficient of fuels, but it is also one of the safest and most economical.

If you are in doubt regarding the safety or efficiency of your gas equipment, call our Service Department. It is maintained for the free use of our customers.

It was a beautiful Thanksgiving morning when Br'er Rabbit started out for a walk before he had the wonderful dinner which his wife was preparing for him and the bunnies.

By and by he came to where Mister Jay Bird was seated on the limb of a hickory tree and he sat down for a few moments to talk to the bird.

"Do you know," began Mister Jay Bird, "I can't see why you haven't a tall like Mrs. Squirrel. With those lovely ears of yours and a large, bushy tail you'd be the handsomest animal in the forest."

"I really think so myself," replied the rabbit.

"I tell you what you can do," said the bird. "You can take some paw-paw bark and tie up your tail real tight. You're going to have Thanksgiving dinner, aren't you?"

"Yes," answered Br'er Rabbit.

"Well, by the time you are all ready to eat your tail will be as large and as bushy as Mrs. Squirrel's."

"It will take longer than that," said Br'er Rabbit, anxiously.

"No, it only takes a short while, that is, if you tie your tail tight enough. But be sure to take the bark off before you get home."

Br'er Rabbit disappeared and soon was winding his tail with a piece of paw-paw bark. He wound it as tight as he could and then took a little nap, waking up when the sun had started down hill.

"Merry me!" exclaimed Br'er Rabbit, when he awoke. "I'll be late for dinner." He rushed towards his home and arrived just in time for the Thanksgiving meal.

He took his place at the head of the table and was surprised to hear the bunnies snickering.

"What's the matter?" he asked in surprise.

"Look at your tail!" shouted Mister Bunnale.

"Gracious!" exclaimed Br'er Rabbit. "I wanted to make my tail like Mrs. Squirrel's, so I tied it up like Mister Jay Bird told me."

"You know Mister Jay Bird is a joker," laughed Mrs. Rabbit.

"Next time be your own sweet self—we like you better. Now, ask the blessing."

V. I. Pierce of Ozona, Crockett county, breeder of registered Rambouillet lambs, has purchased 50 head of registered lambs from Geo. Williams of Eldorado at $50.00 a head.

The sixth annual registered Hereford cattle auction will be held at Hereford on January 30 and 31. Members of the committee sponsoring the sale announce that over a hundred head of cattle will be sold. The sale will be widely advertised.

THE TIGER TRAIL.

all I did was make mistakes. "They started on the day we met—when I let you go without providing means of ever seeing you again," I went on. "Fate protected me then. I wonder if I can ask it to protect me now—after all the other mistakes I've made. And the worst of them all—the ones that I said and thought of you."

Her voice was scarcely more than a whisper when she answered me. "They hurt me, too." "They showed me up as the poorer clay," I told her sadly. "They exposed me—a doubting and suspicious man, and a blind man, too. One who is unable to believe in his finest instincts. Of course, I see now why you brought the pistol in your vanity bag. Tell me, Josephine! It was for no other reason than to protect yourself from Vilas Hayward, if worse came to worst?"

"I don't believe you are done doubting yet or you wouldn't ask," she said. "That was just part of the reason, Dr. Long. The other was that I was so afraid, so afraid, all the time."

"You were with Vilas always as part of the blackmail your father paid. You were part of the price of silence and you submitted because you realized something of the power the Haywards held over your father. What your father told the detective—that you were to be Vilas' wife—was from compulsion, not from choice."

She nodded. "And for the same reason you couldn't come to my defense that night in the den, when I struck Vilas. And the reason that you told the detective of my quarrel with Hayward that day as I was leaving was not that you were afraid Vilas would be implicated, but why was it, Josephine?"

Our new samples of CHRISTMAS CARDS are here. They are beautiful and we will be glad to show them. Do not buy until you have seen them. AT THE BRAND

"I don't think you should ask me that. You've thought of it so many times. The reason was—"

"That I wanted you to stay, Dr. Long."

We were silent a long time. And all the while I was searching about in a mind suddenly gone empty for the words I wanted to say. They simply would not come.

And then I became aware of something rapturous past words to tell. Something was stealing along my arm, so light that I could hardly feel it through my coat sleeve, and finally it nestled in the hollow of my elbow. And then I found myself whirling and speaking breathless words.

"You'll forgive me, Josephine—all those things I said and did?" I pleaded. "Oh, sweetheart—"

And no mortal eye could believe the change in her that came when I spoke these words. It was one of the miracles of these latter days. At first she simply waited—as if for me to continue. And then after a while she made me an answer. Part of it was just words. Part was the look that the moonlight showed on her face. But what was by a thousand times the biggest part, the part no human being could have been hopeful enough to believe, was a thing that her arms did. And then—

What happened then is a secret between us and the marshes; and the marshes are famous for not telling their secrets. One of their secrets is a ring that Vilas had given Josephine and it lies in the mud of their bottom today. After a while a great owl hooted and called from the island, hoping to repeat his triumph of a few nights before. But Josephine turned her face just long enough to laugh at him. THE END.

CALVES IN FEEDING DEMONSTRATION.
The boys in this picture are G. C. and Elwin Hartman, members of the Baby Beef Calf Club. There are eighteen of these calves being fed in the county, each boy feeding two calves. The calves are to be shown at the Amarillo and Fort Worth Fat Stock Shows in March. They are fed a balanced ration composed of 150 pounds milo chops, forty pounds ground oats, twenty-five pounds bran and twenty-five pounds cotton seed meal. Each calf is consuming twelve pounds per day of this grain mixture. In connection with this ration, six pounds of sorghum roughage is fed each day.

The cooperative work of the boys, their "Dads" and the First State Bank of Hereford made this feeding project possible. The demonstration is progressing nicely and the calves are making an average gain of about two pounds daily. The club members and vocational agricultural students feeding calves are G. C. and Elwin Hartman, Jim Ricketts, Lewis Sherman, Junior Sherman, Ezra Bagwell, Paul Bagwell, Henard East and Harry Look-Ingbill.

Cooperation, through the Boys and Girls Clubs of the County Agents in the various counties of Texas makes these demonstrations of great value in training the youngsters for the future. R. O. Dunkie, Deaf Smith county agent, has been successful in his club activities and is laying a splendid foundation for future development here. A boy who does not join one of these clubs has no chance to participate in the benefits derived and is depriving himself of a tremendous aid in preparing himself for the battle of life just ahead.

T. C. U. Bell Has Ancient History; Breaks Girls' Dates

FORT WORTH.—The bell that rings at Jarvis Hall at Texas Christian University each morning to awaken the girls is as old as the school itself. The bell was used back in the '70 and '80s at Thorp Springs, was taken to Waco when the school was moved there in 1893 and was brought to Fort Worth in 1910 when the school was again moved.

One Halloween afternoon a few years ago the bell disappeared. Search as she might, Mrs. Sadie Beckham, supervisor of the girls at T. C. U., could not find the bell. About thirty of the girls had been invited to a Halloween party in Fort Worth and Mrs. Beckham calmly announced that no one would go to the party until the bell was returned. "By the time every one was ready to go to the party the bell was standing in its place on my desk," Mrs. Beckham relates.

"One of the reasons why the bell is disliked by some of the girls," explains Mrs. Beckham, "is because it brings them in from their dates to study hour each evening. It is so hard for them to leave."

VETERAN RELIEF IS BIG RED CROSS TASK
Service to Disabled in Ten Years Since Armistice Has Cost $65,800,000.

In this year of the tenth anniversary of the Armistice, which ended the world war, the American Red Cross still finds a great army of disabled and sick veterans requiring assistance, and whose families also must be aided, according to a statement by James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations of the Red Cross at Washington. In the ten years since November 11, 1918, the Red Cross has expended approximately $65,800,000 in veteran relief work, Mr. Fieser said.

There is a daily average of 25,500 disabled and sick world war veterans enrolled in Veterans' Bureau and other government hospitals which care for these men and women, and about the same annual average of veterans succumbing to wounds and illness, for whose dependents the Red Cross is pledged to give required assistance, Mr. Fieser pointed out.

In addition, the Red Cross under its charter granted by Congress, has a definite duty towards service men of the regular establishment of Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and follows them to all foreign ports of duty. The expenditure in this work for the year ending June 30, 1928, was $307,458, the annual report states.

"Upon the Red Cross rests the sacred obligation of carrying on relief work for the disabled service and ex-service men and women and their dependents, taking up the work where the Government is not able to carry on," Mr. Fieser said. "The Red Cross has 349 trained workers, serving either full or part time in the field, in liaison work, camps and hospitals, who are always in personal contact with the sick and disabled in hospitals, with the men in the regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and who stand ready to serve veterans back in civil life, who need the help of a friendly agency to aid in establishing their rights and claims.

"To maintain this staff and to support the practical services they render, the Red Cross made expenditure of $1,169,795 for the year ending June 30, 1928. In addition 2,700 Red Cross Chapters, in that number of communities, who have established special work for the disabled service and ex-service people, expending during the past year $1,732,000."

The annual report states that the number of death claims alone of veterans which are handled through the War Service at national headquarters of the Red Cross, has increased from 12,010 in 1923-24 to 24,603 in 1927-28. During the year ending June 30, 1928, War Service assisted Chapters in adjusting Government claims amounting, in benefits to veterans or their dependents, to $693,303.42 in awards for compensation, insurance, adjusted compensation, burial expenses, etc. In addition to this amount, which represented lump sum payments, awards were obtained for $185,889 in monthly installments of insurance and compensation and in quarterly adjusted compensation payments.

Mr. Fieser points out that Red Cross Roll Call comes once each year, and that it is the only occasion upon which the Red Cross asks for funds with which to carry on its activities.

Girls who have finished at T. C. U. and return for a visit invariably ask about the bell. One girl, recently back at T. C. U., for a visit, told Mrs. Beckham, "I didn't think I would ever live to see the day that I would be glad to hear that bell ringing, but I am now!"

Lubbock Man Leaves Tech College Student Loan Fund

LUBBOCK.—Twenty thousand dollars has been left to be used as a student loan fund in Texas Tech, according to the will of the late George T. Morrow, Lubbock pioneer, who died recently at the age of 73. His funeral was held in the Tech auditorium.

The loan fund is to be administered by the president of the College, the business manager and the registrar. There were no other provisions in the will as to how the fund should be administered.

Mr. Morrow becomes, according to President Paul W. Horn, the first benefactor to remember the College in his will.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING DONE AT HOME
"Goodness!" sighed Mrs. Martin, "I feel like the old woman in the shoe. I have three children of my own to buy Christmas presents for, as well as numerous nieces and nephews. My ideas are completely exhausted even before I begin actually buy."

"Well," said her companion, "I have no horrors at all of Christmas shopping since I heard about the plan that Skelton's store is following. They're going to send out a beautiful circular showing all sorts of toys and gift suggestions that they will have on display at their store. I'm going to sit right down at home with the circular and make out my Christmas list. Then I'm going to the 'Toy Town' and do all my buying in a few minutes."

"That sounds marvelous—almost too good to be true. When will the circular be out?"

"Soon now. It's to be the feature in Skelton's Christmas program. Then aside from the lovely folder they are going to have special decorations to 'dress up' the store and an exclusive line of toys and gifts that will make Christmas shopping a real pleasure. Actually, I'm looking forward to their 'Toy Town' opening as my shopping which is usually such a bugbear."

"Well, you certainly have relieved my mind. I'll follow your plan—wait for the circular and right out my shopping list in my favorite chair at home. That will surely be an improvement on tramping the streets all day in search of suitable gifts."—Adv.

Take the little folks a Home Saving Bank and show them how it works—how it will buy them their own presents, later on, many times more satisfactorily than can you. They will thank you.
