Relief Office Finishes Work Last Saturday

DISTRICT ORGANIZATION TAKES CHARGE; FOX IS RELEASED

Administration of relief through county office ended here last Saturday. Homer Fox, county head for the past several months, was released on that day. Under the new set up, the district office at Amarillo will direct activities at Deaf Smith. M. V. Compton is administrator for the district. Activities of the office here will be continued with Mrs. Egbert Brady as chief clerk. Mrs. Carl Cockrell is case supervisor and Basil McKinley is in charge of surplus commodities. Other office help was released.

Work relief projects now going on include the community garden, canner and county-wide road repair job. Direct relief is also being continued. Under the new set up, allocations will continue to be made to counties, but funds will be disbursed through district offices. County relief boards are to continue as advisory bodies.

Abolishment of the county administration was announced last week by the state office with the explanation that curtailed administrative costs in line with the reduced program of FERA, which is being partially supplied by WPA, necessitated the business end of county offices being taken over by district offices whose staffs will administer relief over larger areas.

Baseball Series Will Begin Today

The world series will start this afternoon at the town ball orchard with the Firemen and Midgets battling tooth and nail for the city league championship. The Firemen battled their way into the play-off by trouncing the Odd Fellows 5 to 2 last Thursday. Mercer's Smoke Eaters finished the last half with a perfect record and won the right to meet the Midgets, first half champs, for the crown.

Three games, if necessary, will be played in the final series. The clubs will meet today, Sunday and again next Tuesday should the third contest be required. Today's battle will start at 5:30. J. M. Posey, Midget manager, has not named his starting hurler. And the same is true of the Firemen.

A charge of a dime will be made for the games in this series. The money will be used to send the Hereford team to the Clovis tournament which begins on August 14. The boys are also giving a dance Friday night at the Fireman's hall to help raise expense money.

County Will Decide On Erosion District With Election Soon

TO VOTE ON SEPTEMBER 7; $40,000 YEARLY AVAILABLE

Whether Deaf Smith will take advantage of the new state law granting the county authority to use its state tax money to fight wind erosion will be decided by voters on September 7. Commissioners Monday set the election for that day upon being presented a petition asking for the election. Favorable vote would create within the county a wind erosion conservation district and would empower the county to prescribe and enforce rules to prevent blowing of soil. Furthermore, all state ad valorem taxes for 1935 and 1936 would be remitted to the county to be used in the fight to save the soil.

"Favorable vote on this proposition will result in great good being done in the county," declared Judge C. W. Humble. "It will give us a chance to do something for ourselves without running to Austin or Washington to beg for it."

Approximately $40,000 each year will be available to the county for use in the campaign. In addition, non-resident land owners can be forced to do something about neglected fields and negligent neighbors would no longer be permitted to let their fields blow over into a well kept tract.

Voting will be in the established precincts at the regular voting places. Election judges will be named by the commissioners immediately.

AUGUST 31 IS LAST DAY FOR WHEAT SEED LOANS

August 31 will be the final day for farmers to submit applications for summer fallowing or wheat seed loans, it has been announced by the regional crop loan office. Officials state definitely there will not be a further extension.

Miss Peggy Mitchell at the chamber of commerce office in the city hall is taking the applications. She urges farmers not to wait until the final days to make their applications. The papers must be in the Dallas office by the last day of the month.

Corn-Hog Checks Arrive This Week

Approximately two-thirds of the county's corn-hog checks, covering first 1935 allotment payment, have arrived at the county agent's office. There are 189 checks in the group and they total $7,399.75.

This leaves checks on 60 contracts totaling $3,500 yet to come before the first payment is completed. The other checks have been made out in Washington and are on their way here. Dewey Reed expects them shortly.

Cards are being mailed out to all contract signers who have checks at the office.

Boy Scouts Will Gather Tonight

An organization meeting for boys between the ages of 15 and 18 who want to become Boy Scouts will be held tonight at the American Legion Hall, announces Jerry Behrends, scoutmaster. The Legion is to sponsor this troop of older boys and Behrends has been appointed scoutmaster.

Younger boys, between the ages of 10 and 14, are to be in a troop headed by Ray Conway and sponsored by the Lions. Mr. Conway asks that the youngsters get in touch with him at their earliest convenience.

It is Behrends' plan to complete organization of the older troop at once. They will obtain national affiliation. It has not been decided whether the troops here will become members of the Amarillo Area Council.

Finnell to Plan Erosion Project

Plans for the erosion demonstration project which will be conducted in this county by the Soil Conservation Service will be almost entirely in the hands of H. H. Finnell, district chief. Such was the information brought from Washington by Judge C. W. Humble after a conference last week with H. H. Bennett, head of the conservation service.

Bennett suggested that Humble and Finnell, along with other judges of the counties included in the new state erosion law, coordinate the methods of erosion control. The judges fostered the state law authorizing them to use state taxes for the next two years in fighting wind erosion.

The demonstration project in this county will be a federal enterprise for the purpose of demonstrating to farmers the most effective methods of tillage for conservation of moisture and prevention of erosion.

Gasoline Accident Is Fatal To Child

Burned while playing with gasoline Tuesday afternoon at the farm home in Easter community, Edwin Buell Braly, 11-year-old son of W. L. Braly, died Wednesday afternoon at the hospital.

The youngster was playing with other children trying to kill ants with gasoline. Later they built a fire and the little victim's clothing was ignited. He was brought to the hospital here.

Besides the father, the step-mother and a sister, Daphne Palmer Braly, survive. The body will be taken to Honey Grove for burial.

Enrolling For High Students Starts Friday

COURSE OF STUDY AND REQUIREMENTS ARE OUTLINED

Enrollment of high school students will begin tomorrow and continue on each week day except Saturday, August 24, until school starts. Superintendent C. H. Dillehay announces that the office will be open each morning from 10 to 12 and each afternoon from 2 to 4. Seventh grade and high school students may enroll.

Parents are invited to accompany children in order to get a better understanding of the requirements. Students from other high schools should have transcripts of their records sent to the superintendent. Children from the rural schools of this county may obtain this information at the county judge's office.

Subjects one year below the classification of the student may be taken, although senior girls may take second year home economics and boys may take agriculture three with the approval of the teacher.

Required Languages. "Some colleges," Dillehay pointed out, "require foreign languages, and prospective engineering students should take all the mathematics possible. The high school does not require any foreign languages for graduation and only one year each of algebra and geometry. First year algebra may be taken by students with two or more units and those repeating the course. Plane geometry is offered to juniors and sophomores. Solid geometry and second year algebra will be offered if the demand justifies it."

Required units are four in English, two or three in history, chemistry or physics and one other laboratory course, first year algebra, geometry and civics.

Work offered by years includes the following subjects: eighth grade, English 1, ancient history, Spanish 1, general science, home economics 1, agriculture 1, occupations followed by commercial arithmetic. Ninth grade, English 2, history 2, world history, Spanish 2, biology, home economics 2, agriculture 2, algebra 1. Tenth grade, English 3, history 3, plane geometry, chemistry, home economics 3, agriculture 3. Eleventh grade, English 4, civics, public speaking, physics, commercial law and algebra 2. Band and orchestra are now affiliated and one unit may be obtained in each. The maximum amount that any student may take in one year is five accredited units including band and orchestra, unless special approval is given by the faculty in individual cases.

Textbooks Furnished. Textbooks are furnished by the state in all of the subjects except occupations, home economics, commercial.

Children, 7 to 16, Must Attend School Under New Law

(By C. H. Dillehay)

The following bits of information were gleaned from the educational conference conducted by State Superintendent L. A. Woods last week at Canyon.

The compulsory school law was amended to require attendance of all children from seven to 16 inclusive, for 120 days each year. This change added four years to the compulsory school ages and also added 20 days to the number of school days of attendance required.

The legislature appropriated $150,000 to continue hospitalization and surgical care of crippled children. This was an increase over the previous appropriation and when supplemented by funds raised by the Crippled Children's Council through the sale of stamps, and a possible federal contribution, should make it possible to do a great deal for the children of Texas who would be seriously handicapped in many cases without this care.

School gymnasiums may now be built and a mortgage given to secure the payment of bonds, notes or warrants, to be retired from revenues.

Taxes may be paid on the installment plan though no information was given as to the detail of the law, or the taxes to which it applies.

No license will be required on school owned buses, but a state license must be paid if the bus is privately owned, though it may be operated for the school district.

The new transfer law provides for closing the transfer period on August 1. Transfers may be ordered after that date if the county board has lowered the classification of a school after August 1. Transfers will be paid from Austin with the apportionment. In cases where tuition is paid on a child, the sending district may pay to the receiving district an amount equal to the transfer and

County Wheat Papers Given Okay; Checks To Come Soon

CITY DADS SLASH MUNICIPAL LEVY DIME LAST WEEK

A reduction of 10 cents per $100 valuation on city taxes for 1935, has been voted by commissioners of Hereford. This cuts the rate from $1.45 to $1.35. The levy had been at $1.45 since 1933. The reduction was made possible because the principal of the city's bonded indebtedness will be cut by at least $12,000 by the end of the year, according to Mayor Charles J. Paddock.

"We are counting on a high percentage of collections and a substantial increase in payment of delinquent taxes in order to get by on the lower rate," Paddock said.

The bulk of the levy is used in debt service, $1.17 going into interest and sinking fund, and 18 cents into the general fund. City valuation for 1935 will be approximately the same as in 1934 when the total was $1,675,000.

BALL TEAM WILL ENTER TOURNAMENT AT CLOVIS

Providing sufficient funds can be raised, a Hereford baseball team will enter the tournament at Clovis beginning August 24. In order to obtain money, the boys are giving a dance tomorrow night at the Firemen's Hall.

The play-off games of the world series between the Firemen and Midgets will also aid the pot, a dime being charged for the contests today, Sunday and Tuesday.

On Vacation Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wayland and Mrs. Seth B. Holman left last Saturday for a ten-day vacation trip to Colorado. They planned to spend a few days fishing on the upper Rio Grande and to visit in Lake City.

SUBSCRIBERS TO GET PICTURES OF QUINTS

All five of the Dionne Quintuplets—Emelle, Yvonne, Marie, Cecile, Annette—in a colored photograph can be had by subscribers to The Brand. The famous five babies appear on a calendar being offered by this paper. One will be given with each new subscription or renewal.

The picture is one of the best ever made of the Canadian tots. In addition to the calendar, there is a leaflet giving a brief history of their interesting lives.

On the day of their birth, the father of the quintuplets, Orville Dionne, telephoned the local newspapers, inquired the cost of inserting a notice of the birth of quintuplets. It was a call heard 'round the world, brought newspaper men, photographers, gifts, and—most important—sorely needed help.

Any Brand subscriber, new or old, will receive one of these calendars free. Because of the cost, only those who pay subscriptions may have one.

Beautyies to Vie In Final Contest

Chosen "Miss Hereford" a couple of weeks ago, Miss Anna Ruth New is this week competing with 25 other young women of the Panhandle, Oklahoma and New Mexico at Roswell for the title "Miss Queen of the Southwest."

The girls met at Clovis Tuesday, where they appeared on the stage of the Lyceum Theatre. They went on to Carlsbad yesterday and tomorrow night the final contest will be staged. The winner will be given a trip to Hollywood, where she will get a screen test and attend various social gatherings in her honor.

RURAL SCHOOLS GIVEN FINANCIAL AID BY FERA

Almost $1,000 in FERA money for aid of common schools of the county has been received during recent days, announces Judge C. W. Humble.

Tuition funds for Westway totaled $109.00. Bippus and Walcott received $30.00. District 7 was aided to the extent of $130. The Westway school also received $671.90 to complete its term.

get credit for the free school term. Failure to pay the amount due will result in the withholding of the apportionment money if the receiving district notifies the state superintendent. The district must also pay one half of the tuition in January if tuition is to be paid by the district and not the state.

Under the plan of standardizing rural schools, one and two teacher schools must teach only seven grades, three and four teacher schools only eight grades, and schools employing more than four teachers must not teach above the fifth grade unless they can fully accredit the work done.

FARMERS WILL RECEIVE $366,000 IN CASH PAYMENTS

Within the next six weeks wheat farmers of Deaf Smith county will receive $366,000 in allotment payments. More than $100,000 of that sum will be delivered immediately, probably within the next two weeks.

The money will be the second 1934 and first 1935 allotment payments. The smaller sum will be the last 1934 payment of 8.2 cents per bushel of the allotment. This is somewhat higher than was expected, because of low cost of administration in Deaf Smith.

Acceptance notice informing local officials that the Deaf Smith county compliance papers and contracts had been audited and accepted were received here Monday morning. Notice that checks were being made out was also received.

County Agent Dewey Reed and C. W. Humble, county judge, were in Washington last week to speed work on the wheat contracts. They interviewed George Farrell, chief of the wheat section of AAA, and Guy Peterson, supervisor, who arranged to speed the work on this county's papers.

Compliance certificates from Deaf Smith were the second from Texas to be sent to Washington and twentieth in the entire nation to be audited. Every assurance was given Reed and Humble last week that checks would be completed within two weeks.

Farrell explained that the 8.2 cents per bushel was considerably higher than the national average for the second 1934 payment because administration costs here were held to eight-tenths of one cent per bushel. The average for the country is 1.42 cents per bushel and some counties went as high as five cents.

Peterson worked in the state office at Amarillo checking compliance papers before going to Washington. It was through his cooperation that this county was favored. He assured officials, Reed said, that this county's papers were in good order. Only 12 contracts of 855 were set aside for corrections.

Congressman Marvin Jones also assisted the county while the local men were in Washington. It was through his efforts that the quota was raised to include the acreage of the new contract signers, thereby raising the county allotment substantially.

Reed explained that officials in the AAA would not send out two sets of wheat checks at one time. Officials assured him, however, that the first 1935 payment would be made within a few weeks after the last 1934 checks were delivered.

Corn-Hog State Board Is Named

Officers of the Texas Corn-Hog advisory committee who were elected during the 26th annual Farmers' Short Course were J. P. Strader, Canadian, chairman; J. S. Sharp, Paris, vice chairman, and S. M. Aainsworth, Gonzales, secretary-treasurer.

The committee, which acts for the approximately 38,000 corn-hog producers in 225 Texas counties, commend the national administration for its effort to give farmers parity prices for commodities and to give producers of agricultural commodities a protection similar to that given manufacturers and other commercial interests. In setting forth plans for the year, the committee insisted upon the continuation of agricultural adjustment programs and processing taxes and expressed the determination of Texas farmers to hold the adjustment programs regardless of attacks made on them.

In endorsing the Texas Agricultural Association in its effort to expose the unconstitutionality of high industrial tariff, the committee said: "We call on all the people of Texas to assist us in our struggle for a fair deal which is of great importance to the people in all occupations just as well as to those engaged in farming."

New Wheat Pacts Prepared

The new wheat adjustment plan, asked for by wheat producers in their referendum of May 26, is virtually completed and the contract is expected to be ready to offer farmers soon in substantially its present form, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announces.

The new contract follows the lines worked out by producers and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in the conference of representative wheat farmers in Washington July 1 and 2.

It will cover the four-year period 1936 to 1939 inclusive, but will be subject to termination at the end of any marketing year by the Secretary of Agriculture, and any grower has the option of withdrawal at the end of the first two-year period. A two year instead of a one-year withdrawal period is provided for because in the dry farming regions wheat production fluctuates with seasons following a commonly a two-year operation. The contract will be effective first on the wheat crop for 1936, but as winter wheat plantings for that crop will soon begin, it is necessary to offer the contract to farmers as soon as possible.

No Hesitancy Needed.

Chester C. Davis, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment act, said that neither the decision of the First Circuit Court of Appeals holding the processing tax unconstitutional nor any other attacks in court on the tax and the Adjustment Administration should cause farmers any hesitancy about signing the new contract.

Mr. Davis emphasized several reasons why wheat farmers may launch their new program with confidence, as follows:

First, the new amendments of the adjustment act as passed by both senate and house, specifically enact the rates of processing tax, thus meeting fully the question of delegation of legislative power, which was decisive in every instance in which the lower courts held the processing tax provisions in the original act unconstitutional.

Second, the provisions in the new contract permitting termination by the secretary at the end of any year, and allowing grower withdrawal at the end of the first two years, give ample machinery for ending the program in the event of an adverse decision in the Supreme Court.

Third, signers will be fully protected as to compensation for actual performance of compliance with the contract up to the time of termination.

"Even if an adverse decision by the Supreme Court should materialize at some future time," Mr. Davis said, "the contract in its present form is admirably devised to protect both the farmer and the government."

"The government would have both a moral and legal obligation to compensate farmers fully for performance up to the date of such a decision. The government, in fairness and honesty, would pay, and legally would be bound to pay in full for their compliance up to that time, but not beyond that time."

Campaign Planned.

As soon as the contract and supplementary forms are approved and printed, a sign-up campaign is planned among wheat farmers. The campaign will seek to place from 50 to 53 million acres of wheat land of the country under contract. In the first campaign in 1933, approximately 51 million acres were placed under contract, representing approximately 78 per cent of the 66 million acres of wheat land in the United States.

To inform winter wheat growers of the probabilities as quickly as possible, so they may start their planting plans, it is announced that the required reduction, with respect to the 1936 crop year will be 15 per cent of the base acreage. With the adjustment of 15 per cent, any contract signer may plant not more than 85 per cent nor less than 54 per cent of his base acreage for 1936. Plantings in subsequent years can be varied up or down with a 25

Amendments Are Explained By Secretary of State

By Gerald Mann, Secretary of State

Proposition No. 5 on the ballot of the August 24 special election reads: "For (or Against) the amendment to the state constitution authorizing the courts to place defendants on probation."

Proponents claim that if this amendment is passed, many who are now sent to the penitentiary for first offenses will be permitted to enjoy suspended sentences under restrictions of the court.

The only restriction under the present suspended sentence law is the fact that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony—that is, a crime punishable by confinement in the penitentiary. The judge or court has no control nor can it set up or oppose any other restrictions.

It is the understanding of those who have studied the amendment that if passed it would permit the legislature to pass laws, giving the courts the right to suspend sentences and place defendants on such probation as the court might deem proper. In other words, the court could suspend sentences subject to certain limitations. If those restrictions or limitations were not observed the court would have the authority to have the defendant committed to the penitentiary without further ado. Many courts now refuse to grant suspended sentences for the reason that they have no control over the defendant after the same is granted. It is pointed out that this would prevent many first offenders from having to go to the penitentiary and reclaim many of them for society.

If a suspended sentence is given under the present law the only limitation is that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony. The court has no control over him nor can it impose other conditions.

Two years ago a Senate investigating committee discovered a number of flagrant abuses of the fee system as practiced in Texas for recompensing certain public officials. The fee system was established and written into the Texas Constitution at a time when it was impossible to pay salaries and the theory was that an official was entitled to "all he could make." Since the Senate committee discovered and revealed the malpractices existing under the system there has been a demand for a Constitutional change on this score, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

Proposed Amendment No. 1 on the ballot provides that the fee system as a method of paying certain precinct, county and district officials shall be abolished in counties having 20,000 or more population according to the last Federal census. The legislature will, if the amendment is adopted, set the salaries for officials now receiving fees in such counties. In counties of under 20,000 population the Commissioners Courts may pay their county and precinct officials on a salary basis if they so desire. The amendment does not specifically state who shall set the salaries of such officials in this case.

If this amendment is adopted all district officials must be compensated on a salary basis. The amendment provides that fees shall continue to be collected as at present but they shall go to the county instead of the officer. The evident purpose of this amendment is to place as many public officials on straight salaries as is possible and thus abolish, insofar as is possible the payment of officials through the present fee system.

THE PENSION AMENDMENT

Arousing only desultory comment is the repeal question, and it is likely to be superseded by the deceptive old age pension amendment as public interest waxes hotter.

The idea of protecting the aged against the vicissitudes of life is one to inspire humanitarian sympathy, but that it can be dangerous when politically administered is pointed out by the press.

But, indeed, the articulate press is generally in opposition. The Bonham Favorite declares in straight-forward fashion: "Somehow we hesitate about voting to pay a man a fifteen dollar a month pension just because he is 65 years old and owns a good blackland farm and a lot of government bonds.

The fallacy which the Favorite detects is that the amendment, loosely drawn, does not restrict the payment of pensions to the indigent but lists as eligible to be pensioned everyone over 65 years old.

The Pittsburg Gazette, adding its voice to the chorus against the amendment, believes the movement for old age pensions "is another beautiful dream that may end in a financial nightmare." And Austin Callan discusses the question humanly in a column published in many Texas papers: "I'm not in favor of soaking innocent taxpayers for my hard luck in getting bent and bald. . . . I don't hold the Government responsible for my age any more than for my corns.

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From The Hereford Brand, August 19, 1904.)

A beet 26 inches long and 18 inches thick had been grown by Jacob Buttram and was on exhibit at the Brand office.

A third member, S. J. Dodson, had been added to the law firm of Witherspoon and Gough.

The Japanese had routed the Russians in an important naval engagement in the Strait of Korea.

Walter Farwell of Chicago, a trustee of the Capitol Land Syndicate, made his first visit to Hereford in seven years. And he expressed amazement at the growth and development.

Weather item: "The hearts of many of the farmers of Castro county and those living in the southeast part of Deaf Smith were made to rejoice Tuesday night by a down-pour of rain which continued for two or three hours."

J. P. Snyder made a present of 20 acres of New Mexico oil land to the Panhandle Christian College.

Public schools were to open Monday, September 5.

Jack Garvin had been employed by the Brand.

As is still the case, the dry folks were getting ready to take up the battle against John Barleycorn and the wets were not doing anything for their side of the cause.

(From The Hereford Brand, August 21, 1914.)

Mrs. N. C. Vogele had returned from Chicago where she had been studying the latest fashions in millinery, and was preparing her new store which was soon to be opened.

The Panama Canal was newly opened to the world's commerce.

All Europe had become embroiled within the space of a few short weeks in a conflict which threatened to involve the whole civilized world. The Brand was filled with pictures from the war zone.

Prohibitionists were still battling for the dry cause.

Misses Bertha and Frances Dameron had just returned from a vacation visit in Colorado.

Judge C. F. Kerr of Dimmitt had been here on business.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walker Bradley had surprised Mr. Bradley with a party at his home. It was his birthday.

Miss Louise Oberthier had entertained her Sunday school class with a lawn party.

CAPT. ROY E. ADAIR IS NEW CCC CHIEF; LAFIELD DEPARTS

After having been with Company 1862 since its organization 13 months ago, Lieut. Wm. C. Lafield left yesterday for San Antonio where he will enter private business. For the past six months Lieut. Lafield has been Company Commander.

In leaving, Lieut. Lafield carried with him the hearty good wishes of the men for success in his business and happiness in private life. In the opinion of the men of his command, the company has, under his leadership, developed into an organization second to none in the district in spirit of cooperation and high morale.

John Barrett of the technical service returned Monday from a week's leave, spent at Burnett of business.

In a rough and ready game where the umpires were relegated to the limbo of the long forgotten, Company 1862, CCC, won the first leg of a five-game playoff for conference championship Sunday afternoon over Company 1828 by a score of 10 to 5.

The next two games will be played on Company 1821's diamond at Palo Duro, and in the event a fourth is necessary this will be played on the home grounds. Should a fifth game be played it will be on grounds selected by mutual agreement of both teams. To the winner goes the handsome trophy purchased by Capt. Louis D. Cooper.

James T. Fox of 1862 scored a home run with the bases full which clinched the game for the home team.

Permitted for the first time in several weeks to use truck transportation to attend the Palo Duro dance, 35 men of the company took advantage of the opportunity Friday evening and attended en masse. So many more applied for permission to attend than the one company truck could accommodate, the technical service furnished an additional truck.

Almost an evening from after supper until dark will find the two croquet courts busily engaged. Officers and enrollees alike enjoy this game, and spectators get as much entertainment from the sport as do the players themselves. The two courts were recently graded and leveled with the grader and hand tools.

Robert E. (Big Boy) Williams, whose leg was broken last week by a cave-in at the caliche pit one-half miles east of the camp, was transferred to Station Hospital at Fort Sill for observation and treatment.

Close Child Hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Close and sons returned Monday from Lake City, Colorado, where they spent a couple of weeks vacationing. Freddy, the younger boy, rolled and tumbled down a mountain he was descending, cutting painful gashes on his head and suffering severe bruises. One of the cuts became infected and was quite serious early this week. He is somewhat improved now.

New Law Provides For Absentee Vote

Absentee votes may be cast in the election on the Texas Constitution Amendments August 24 whether a person is out of the county or not if the person is unable to appear at the polling place because of sickness or physical disability.

The last legislature changed the absentee voting law to this effect. It now reads: "Any qualified elector of this state who, through the nature of his business is absent from the county of his residence or who because of sickness or physical disability cannot appear at the polling place in the election precinct of his residence on the days of holding any general or special primary election, may, nevertheless, cause his vote to be cast at such election in the precinct of his residence."

Heretofore, only absence from the county gave the right of an absentee vote. In order to secure this privilege the voter must make application in writing to the county clerk, sending the poll tax receipt or exemption or in lieu thereof, his affidavit in writing that the receipt or exemption has been lost or misplaced. If the cause is illness a certificate from a licensed physician must accompany the application.

Absentee voting must be done not more than 15 days nor less than three prior to the election and will be at the office of the county clerk.

Umbarger Farmer Dies.

By Their Words AND OURS

The new relief set-up embodies details learned by experience of administrators. But it is not permanent. When the year ends local communities will face the necessity of assuming much of the burden the government has borne for several years—care of the unemployables. The definition of an unemployable is rather obscure. Few persons of fair health are wholly unable to work, unless they are of very advanced age. For several years, however, old age pensions have been advocated on the theory that employability ceases at about 65 years. . . .

Pampa, like every city of its size, has accumulated a large number of so-called "unemployables." How to care for them, or find them jobs, or both is a problem which will require the best thought of public officials and civic leaders.—Olin Hinkle, Pampa News.

Too many compliments and gifts are only traded.

It Happened One Night

Remember the picture "It Happened One Night?" Those who saw it, want to see it, and those who missed it are still trying to get a chance to see it.

And that will be the way with the Surprise Picture of the month. It's brand new and you haven't had a chance yet to hear from your friends. Just how good it is and what you'll be missing if you don't see it.

The title of it is "EVERY NIGHT AT EIGHT" and it stars George Hart and Alice Faye. But Patsy Kelly darn near steals the picture from them. It's one of the busiest pictures you've ever seen. There's something doing every minute. Romance. Comedy. Catchy songs and action. It breaks the record for the longest continuous laugh.

Whatever you do please don't miss seeing "Every Night at Eight" when it is shown here. It is really the Surprise Picture of the Month. An evening of Splendid Fun! Charley Hardwick, Mgr., Star Theatre.

MARTHA OSTENSO

W.N.U. SERVICE

The shining metal of the separator made whirling disks before her eyes. Jim—Gentleman Jim! Her only brother, younger than herself, handsome and wild as their grandfather had been. Not made for this land their grandfather had homesteaded on, though. Going off the deep end when his wife, Anna Egstrom, that lovely Swede, had died without asking your leave! Jim had gone away then, leaving her, Sophronia, in possession of half this farm that had belonged to their father and their grandfather—leaving her with the responsibility of the entire farm; his own half as well as hers! Going off after his wife's death, with his seven-year-old daughter, as though the earth had swallowed them up. What had there been for Sophronia to do but to marry Roderick Willard, the widower on a farm in the next county? He had built this new house on the ridge, not more than a stone's throw above the little old place in which the Grenobles had lived for three generations, in which Silver Grenoble had been born and Anna Egstrom had died.

Roderick Willard had been kind. Sophronia had loved him, she supposed, so far as she knew anything of love. And his two sons in their early teens then, had responded to her mothering, had affectionately accepted her. But Roderick, who had sold his own farm before his marriage to Sophronia, had wanted to secure complete possession of the Grenoble farm. Jim Grenoble, for some romantic reason, had refused to sell his section, although Roderick and his sons had worked it through all the years.

Two years after her marriage to Roderick Willard, when her steps were in high school at Heron River, Sophronia had had her first news of Jim. He and Silver were in Alaska. Jim did not say what he was doing, but Silver was being looked after in a convent school. Jim sent two thousand dollars, that time, for Phronie to carry on the work of the farm—and no questions asked. The farm was paying its way then, and more. Phronie thought Jim had probably gone crazy!

Next year Jim was in Nevada. And later in Mexico. Mining, he said. His daughter was also in Mexico, in the care of nuns, and was learning Spanish and German and French. Sophronia, remembering the fair child of seven, who was so much like that dreamy, foreign mother of hers, wondered. Sophronia wrote Jim then that her husband, Roderick Willard, wanted to buy him out. But Jim had some sentimental attachment for the place, because of his wife Anna, who had called it Ygdrasil. That word, in Norse mythology, Anna had said, meant the Tree of Life. There was a huge oak in front of the old Grenoble farm house.

They couldn't budge Jim. He refused to sell. Why did he want to hang on to a farm that he never meant to visit again? He was gambling for a living. Sophronia would have guessed that, even though Newt Fisher, who had run into him in Nevada, hadn't brought the news back. But his wife Anna had curiously loved her Ygdrasil—silly name, silly woman! Sophronia always grew uncomfortable when she thought of Anna. Well, who hadn't loved her? She was gentle as spring rain.

And what would this daughter of hers be like? Sophronia wondered with misgiving. Product of convents (of all things—and Jim raised a Presbyterian!) and boarding schools from Nome to Nicaragua—daughter of a fairy mother who had died at twenty-eight, and a father madder than his own grandfather, who would lay bets with the moon as to the color of its back hair—what would the daughter be like? She had been born on this farm, it was true, but would she remember anything of it that was sane and sound?

Phronie had gone on washing the separator. She struggled to thrust back her memories of Jim, to recall only his unfairness, his selfishness. But it was no good. D—n him! D—n him! Why couldn't he have come back, just once? She had wheeled him through the potato patch in his go-cart when he was a year old, and had been spanked for it afterwards. She, five years his senior, had taught him to play mumblety-peg and to skin slippery elm. And he hadn't come back!

Now this young Anna Grenoble—Silver, Phronie amended, with a sniff—would probably sell her share of the land immediately to one of those confemns in the city that was buying up sections around here for a pittance against the time when the land would be worth something again. Silver Grenoble would have no use for a dreary existence on a northern farm, where taxes were a nightmare that continued through the day, through every hour of merciless toil. No doubt Jim had left her well provided for, and it would mean only the turn of a wrist, pen in hand, for her to dispose of a negligible property. To young Roddy, twenty-seven now, with agriculture college behind him, it would be a staggering blow. He had never given up hope of one day owning the entire farm. It was like Roddy that yesterday he should have gone off to Ballantyne in his car, saying only that he had to go. Sophronia had her own ideas as to why he had gone; but she did not press his confidence. She thought uneasily of the letters that had come to him from Ballantyne in the past week or so, and of his niggardly disclosure of their contents. It was no secret to anyone that the Ballantyne bank had failed that summer, but that Corinne Meader, the president's daughter, should be writing so persistently to Roddy! Willard was a curious thing.

A few summers ago, when the girl was a house guest at a cottage on Twin Deer lake to the north she had driven over and spent the afternoon at the farm, and Sophronia had learned then who it was that had become Roddy's ideal at college. She was a vivacious creature, Phronie recalled, very smartly dressed, with curly brown hair and brown eyes that had a way of widening innocently at Roddy—a way that had made Phronie grimly sick when she stalked through the barnyard showing the young thing from the city how old "Stumpy," the hen with one foot, was rearing a brood of turkey chicks. Corinne had pouted prettily over her own ignorance concerning all farm lore, and Roddy, tickled, indulgent, had laughed.

The neighbors did not know where Roddy had gone. It was just as well. They talked too much, anyhow.

But had he been here now he might have prepared himself for Silver's arrival. It would go hard with Roddy if she meant to sell her land for cash. But if she could be persuaded to accept a fair rental . . . Sophronia resolved to take the bull by the horns and suggest it to her before Roddy got home.

The train came to a stop in Heron River. People crowded forward looking eagerly along the line of coaches. Perhaps for the most part they did not know just what they expected to see when Silver Grenoble stepped down upon the platform.

What they did see was a tallish, thin girl in a tailored suit of dove-gray silk and a felt hat of the same color—a hat that showed beneath it a white, immobile face and enormous dark eyes, and plainly dressed hair that seemed colorless. For a moment she stood looking uncertainly about, and then Sophronia Willard advanced upon her with black-gloved hand outstretched.

Shad Finney, craning a little, saw an unmistakable tear glide down the older woman's weathered cheek.

A porter had deposited on the platform two traveling bags of fine black leather, a name stamped on each in silver. Two little boys scampered up to the cases and read the name loudly enough for all to hear.

A murmur moved about the platform. "She goes by the name of Silver, eh? Kind o' funny."

Shad Finney and Nils Ulevik stood at a decent distance, their watery old eyes taking in the scene. They saw the girl seize one of the traveling bags. Sophronia the other. A baggageman spoke to them about a trunk that had been taken off the train, and after a word of instruction, Sophronia moved away with Silver to the steps at the head of the platform.

But just as the two women reached the platform steps Duke Melbank cleared his throat with a long, profound rumble, and then coughed lightly behind his hand. A titter arose, Sophronia, setting down the suitcase she carried, swung about.

"That was you, wasn't it, Duke?" she said in her explosive voice.

"Me what?" Duke asked innocently.

"It was him," a small boy piped, and darted behind his mother's skirts.

"You know what I mean," Sophronia said loudly, "it was you that coughed."

"Can't a guy cough?" Duke demanded with an injured air.

Sophronia Willard was not one to mince matters. Her long arm shot forward, and her large, bony fist came accurately home just beneath the soft cleft of Duke Melbank's chin. A gasp rose from the crowd. Duke reeled backward, struck his shoulder blade against the depot wall and uttered a sound half way between a grunt and a whimper.

Phronie stood back from him, her face alight with satisfaction. She was about to turn away when Jess Melbank, with amazing alacrity for one of her weight, suddenly stepped between Phronie and Duke.

Jess screamed maledictions. She shook her fist in Sophronia's face. Her language was of the cellar of cellars. She knew—everybody else in Heron River knew—what the daughter of Jim Grenoble was! Small boys stood rooted, little girls sped back in terror. Women turned pale and men's mouths twisted. But Jess Melbank did not strike Phronie Willard. And Phronie remained motionless as granite. While Jess was drawing breath to begin anew, Phronie turned haughtily away, swept up the suitcase and led Silver down the steps. The two old men saw the women get into the old Willard car and vanish down the street.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN" THE FORD V-8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. The Ford V-8 gives you fine-car construction, along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

"Yes sir, Phillips 66 helps the police. The radiators on our radio squad cars were boiling over like teakettles . . . and mileage per gallon was as low as a racketeer's . . . and gasolines that just culprit—gasoline that just wasn't suited for hot weather driving. Now, with Phillips 66 we're getting cool running, plenty power, and plenty more mileage. For real performance at low cost, this gas sure rates a gold star."

mercial law and public speaking. In some classes it is necessary for the student to purchase supplementary materials and work books. The state will furnish selections in literature for the eighth and ninth grades for the first time this fall, and for that reason no classics fee will be charged those in English classes as has been done for several years.

No fee is charged home economics students, though the girls will have to furnish new or used materials for sewing projects in the clothing classes. These materials need not be expensive and parents should confer with the teacher concerned before buying expensive materials.

Wheat Pacts

per cent maximum, as demanded by conditions.

To Divert Use of Soil.

By means of the new contract it is expected to divert excess wheat acreage to soil improving and erosion-preventing crops and to return some of it permanently to grass or to tree crops.

The plan for a four-year contract covering the years 1936 to 1939, inclusive, was overwhelmingly approved by the wheat growers in the referendum taken this spring. The proposed contract follows the general outlines of the first program but contains changes which experience with the initial wheat program indicated would be helpful.

The main differences between the contract now under consideration and the original one signed in 1933 include: A more specific provision for adjustment payments based on actual average farm prices of wheat during the market year; a four-year program instead of a three-year one, but with option for growers to drop out of the plan at the end of two years if they wish to do so; maximum reduction from the total base acreage of 25 per cent instead of 20; provision that changes in the division of adjustment payments resulting from changes of lease arrangements by landholders must be approved by county allotment committees and a provision under which a signer may designate a beneficiary to receive adjustment payments in the case of death or disappearance of the signer. Great responsibility for county allotment committees and increased local participation in administration of the program is provided in several ways.

Within a county the new contract will permit minor adjustments in acreage among contract signers in line with sound farming practices. This provision is intended to correct inequalities which would occur, in some instances, from strict adherence to the historical base.

The provision of the new wheat adjustment contract in the form in which it is now being studied may be grouped according to the performance of the producer, the performance by the government, and the various protections offered the producer who signs a contract.

Performance by Farmer. In the proposed contract the producer has the option of withdrawing from the contract at the end of 1937, if he has met all requirements up to that time. The contract may also be terminated by the Secretary of Agriculture at the end of any contract year by proclamation before July 1 of each year. The producer agrees to adjust his acreage as may be required, but not by more than 25 per cent of his base acreage. Producers also agree to plant at least 54 per cent of their adjusted base acreage, and if they have other farms not under contract they agree not to increase acreage on those farms. The producer agrees that land diverted from wheat production is to be used in general for soil improving and erosion preventing crops.

Performance by Government.

As consideration for his performance under the contract, the government agrees to make adjustment payments to producers in such an amount as will tend to bring producers as a whole a parity or fair exchange value return on their allotments, which are 54 per cent of their adjusted average base production.

Adjustment payments are to be made in two installments. The first payment is to be approximately two-thirds of the difference between the average farm price and parity price on a representative date before July 1 of the year for which the payment is to be made.

The second payment is to be made at the end of the contract year.

This second payment will be adjusted upward or downward, depending upon the average price of wheat during the marketing year, and will be in such an amount as will tend to give the producer a parity return on his allotment, which is the share of his average production consumed in this country. The provision makes the adjustment payment for the year as a whole a mathematical determination and removes the necessity of an estimate at the beginning of the year of what the difference in parity and for the farm price for the year will be. The first installment for each year is to be made after the producer submits proof of compliance with the contract for that year and the second payment is to be made after similar proof of compliance has been submitted for the crop of the following year. This arrangement will permit making the last payment for one year and the first payment for the next year, at the same time. Producers agree to pay their pro rata share of the cost of administration of the county wheat associations. During the first year of the program this local administrative cost averaged 1.42 cents per allotted bushel for the United States as a whole.

Production for Producer.

Under the terms of the contract in the present tentative form, adjustment payments cannot be sold, transferred, pledged or assigned in any way. In the new contract, as in the old, the principles of dividing adjustments payments according to the division of the crop between landlords and tenants has been followed.

In order to prevent changes in lease arrangements which would defeat the purpose of the act, or change the division of the crop in order that one party to the contract might receive a larger share of the adjustment payments, the contract signers state that no scheme or device has been used which would have such an effect.

When the contract is signed the exact share of the crop going to each signer is set forth in the contract and payments are to be made on that basis. Where changes are made in the lease, such change must be approved by the county allotment committee before any change can be made in the division of the adjustment payments. Producers have the privilege of naming a beneficiary to receive adjustment payments in the event of the death, disappearance or incompetence of the signer.

In the event of attachment, garnishment, or other legal process against the adjustments the payments may be held up until such time as the producer can receive them free from such legal process.

Failure to comply with the contract makes the producer liable to termination of his contract and repayment of adjustment payments received on the previous crop.
