School Setup Will Remain Unchanged

AROUND TOWN

Sights and Faces Seen

ONE POSITION DROPPED BUT ALL OTHERS TO REMAIN SAME

All school board officials, school heads and instructors, with only one exception, and other employees, were re-elected for another year at the board's meeting last Friday night. All contracts were signed.

In the one exception, the contract was not renewed because of conditions at the school which it is believed will prevent the reduction of the teaching staff.

James Stinson was re-elected president of the board. Dave Alexander was re-elected vice president and E. B. Paddy was again selected.

Following the re-election of Bill Kerr and Gus Strou to the board's first year.

Superintendent C. H. Dillehay was approved for the second year of a two-year contract, completing 22 years as a part of the local school system, an outstanding record for service. G. M. Hudson was again selected as high school principal. He is now completing his fourth year. Jimmie Gammill, Central School principal, was re-named for a second year.

Teachers re-elected and the subjects taught this year are listed below. Mr. Dillehay pointed out that the subjects will be about the same next year; however, a few changes will be necessary.

List of Teachers:

High school: Irene Crawford, English, public speaking and library; Lillian Chambers, English and history; Virginia Vaughn, English; Sayde Rigler, English and Spanish; Neville Wrenn, science; Fern Daniels, history; Edna Jean Sullivan, home economics; James M. Wilson, mathematics; T. E. McCollum, athletic coach and mathematics; W. M. Emmons, vocational agriculture, and Halpa Smith, band and orchestra.

Elementary grades: Frances Fallington, arithmetic; Katherine Kirby, geography and physics; Gwendolyn Spradley, English and reading; Thelma McMinna, music and history; Belle Harris, art and penmanship; Eleanor Plarie, fifth grade; Madeline Bell, fourth grade; Tallie Bell, third grade; Mary Brady, third grade; Emice Rutherford, second grade; Ella Aikman.

Conservation Program Plan Is Explained

TO FORM COMMUNITIES, START EDUCATIONAL MEETINGS SOON

Plans for the new agricultural program to be put into effect by the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act have been received by the county agents, officials of the county.

Agent Alex J. Bateman announced that the formation of "communities" in Hereford county will start soon and that education meetings will then be inaugurated to acquaint farmers with the program. Payments will be based on soil conserving and soil building operations, while a minimum will be set on the amount of soil conserving crops to be planted. This will cause two kinds of payments, although money will be received in single checks. Bases established in old production contracts will be taken as a guide for establishing the base for 1936, with the allowance for crops not included in the former contracts.

The program was illustrated with a 20-acre farm with 13 acres of active pasture and land around barn and house, two acres in garden and orchard. The remainder is normally divided between 40 acres in "money" crops and 15 acres in feed, mostly grain sorghums.

The soil depleting bases would be 35 acres in this case. The minimum requirement to qualify for a grant calls for at least 20 per cent, or in this example 11 acres, devoted to soil conserving or soil building crops or practices.

Meanwhile, Mr. Bateman said, his office was disappointed with the slowness with which farmers are calling for their warrants under the emergency conservation program. After their applications are approved, they can get gasoline and oil with which to start work, without waiting for the checks to arrive.

Central School Work Order Calls For Start of PWA Project Monday

Board Receives Copy of Order Last Week-End

140 WORKING DAYS ARE LIMIT; COST TO BE ABOUT $49,500

Construction of additions to Central School is definitely to start Monday. The work order was issued last Tuesday, specifying this date and local school officials received a copy of this order last week end.

The contractor, G. S. Lambie, of Amarillo, was instructed to enter his requisition for labor immediately to meet the requirement of 140 days prior to the start of construction. Although no information was available, it was believed that National Reemployment Service representatives could be here this week and to sign up workers so that the project may start on schedule.

To Cost $49,500.

The project calls for the expenditure of $49,500. Of this amount, a $22,500 grant was secured from the Public Works Administration. This money arrived several weeks ago. The contractor is allowed 140 working days in which to complete the job, which calls for completion on about September 20. Mr. Lambie said he would do everything possible to have the building ready for the opening of school next fall.

School officials also expect many more workers to be employed.

Holton, at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon under the direction of Miss Thelma McMinna, with Joyce Davis as accompanist, and the Civic Chorus presented Immortality, by E. M. Stultz, at 7:45 o'clock under the direction of Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, with Mrs. Jesse Stanford as pianist.

SLANDER

"To speak no slander; no, nor to listen to it" was one of the rules of King Arthur's Round Table. This should be a rule of every good American, whether man, woman or child.

Like wild oats, slander grows from little things carelessly sown. Slander begins with gossip and gossip begins with idleness. Idleness is an evil and slander is a greater evil for slander is poison. It robs the person who speaks it and the person who listens to it of a virtuous quality which is hard to regain. But worst of all it robs the person of whom it is spoken. Not that it would rob him of riches, for these are valueless; but robs him of a priceless treasure which does not benefit the slanderer. This treasure is a good reputation.

It is so easy to exaggerate "something we have heard," for the danger of exaggerated talk besets us all. We must be careful in things that we repeat, lest we turn the truth into a lie. We should never repeat things that we do not know to be a fact. If our eyes and ears often deceive us, then surely dozens of eyes and ears deceive us in the truth. Let us then think and speak good of all until we find them unworthy.

Dehorning Pen

Asked what he understood was meant by foreign entanglements, Roger B replied, "Spaghetti." Mary Ann in office: "You told me to file these letters, Mr. Hudson?"

"Yes."
 "Well, I was just thinking it'd be easier to trim them with shears."
 "This afternoon we will take Mr. Frog apart and see what makes him croak," said Mr. Wilson to his biology class. "I have a frog in my pocket to be used as a specimen." He reached into his pocket and drew out a paper bag which he emptied on the table. Out rolled a badly squashed ham sandwich.

Mr. Wilson mopped his brow. "My goodness," he stammered, "I distinctly remember eating my lunch."

Mrs. Willett, taking Wilbur to the doctor. "It's his head, doctor. He's had it off and on ever since he was born."

Jack Dean: "Who is Mike Huntry?"

Father Dean: "Why?"
 Jack: "Well, in school we sing 'Mike Huntry 'tis of Thee.'"
 Mr. Emmons: "The watch on the Rhine is now an alarm clock."

The senior footballers are beginning to wonder when next year's team intends to start paying off their malts.

Miss Crawford: "Ray, can you make a sentence using 'income'?"

Ray: "Income a cat."

Helen D: "Squeaky, did you hear about the explosion?"

Squeaky: "No."

Helen: "The wind blew up the street."

Why does Mr. Dillehay give Miss Crawford senior English literature containing "Baby Ray" primers?

Coach, in Texas History: If a number of cattle is called a herd and a number of sheep is called a flock, then what would a number of camels be called.

Bunky: "A carton."

Irene K.: "Uncle, I'm glad you have a brown cow; now I won't have to miss my chocolate drink every night."

A Freshman: Some people have all the luck. Look at Washington and Lincoln--both born on holidays.

Herbert B: Each time I kiss you I become a better man.

Jean S: Well, I would advise you not to try to reform in one evening.

Gertrude W, visiting a fox farm: Mr. Keeper, how often do you skin your foxes?

The new arrangement of seating students in English seemed to worry one particular student. Friday morning Miss Rigler received a note which read: "Dear Miss Rigler: I am a boy sitting on the back row. I know my lesson very good. If no other one can answer the questions I would be very glad to. Your friend, Billy Smith."

Roundup Stampede

COWHANDS

The Cowhands held their regular meeting Tuesday night to discuss the possibility of taking a trip the first week after school is dismissed. A much needed call for order was issued by the boss and the banker called the roll. The boys discussed the merits and demerits of several well known places for the trip. They decided the most suitable place was Red River. Among the places discussed and eliminated are Carlsbad Caverns, Lake Kemp, Dallas to the Centennial, and Rudoso. There was other necessary discussion about the trip and the meeting was adjourned.

A most remarkable fact about the meeting deserves mention: This was the very first time this year that no person received the hot hand or belt line. This is certainly a mark in favor of the Cowhands.

DEBATE

The debate club has had several meetings since they attended the speech tournament in Amarillo March 14. The following Wednesday the club met with coach, Miss Crawford. Only three members were present, as Sybil Calloway, the fourth member, was ill. The next Wednesday, County Agent Bateman met with the club and gave them valuable information concerning cotton control. His visit was helpful and was appreciated by the debaters.

The next meeting was April 1. Two debaters were playing April fool or were really ill, as they claimed to be. Anyway Bettie Jo Roberts and Meredith Montgomery were absent. The two remaining debaters, George Conklin and Sybil Calloway, worked on their speeches.

The boys debate team won the county championship while the honor was forfeited to the girl team. Therefore both teams will go to Amarillo April 16, where they hope to win district meet.

GLEE CLUB

The glee club received books for the annual operetta, which is entitled "The Ghost of Lollypop Boy." We wish to thank John Roberts, manager of the Star Theatre, for his invitation to see "Rose Marie" last Friday night. Everyone enjoyed this and thank Mr. Roberts for his invitation to see this wonderful picture.

HI-Y

HI-Y boys returned April 5 from the Older Boys' HI-Y Conference in Amarillo over the week end. Hereford boys, as delegates to the conference, were Ted Clancy, Billy Roberson, Basil McKinley, Charles Wilson, Byron George, Clyde Posey, J. W. Cockrell and Bill Stanford. The sponsor, Mr. Hudson, was also there.

The theme of the conference was "The Christian Use of Leisure Time." Adult speakers were Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, chairman South-west Division of National Labor Relations Board, Fort Worth; Roy Breg, Washington, D. C., executive secretary Allied Youth; Dr. Roy Snodgrass, Amarillo, and Dr. J. A. Hill, Canyon. Kenneth Mauldin, Dalhart, was president of the conference. The most outstanding boy speaker for the occasion was Bud Thompson, Texas Tech.

Our HI-Y club is very proud to have an officer for the conference next year. Ted Clancy was elected vice president of the 1937 conference. The place of this meeting has not been fixed.

BAND

The band sponsored an amateur program Thursday night, April 9. There was a large number of contestants. They paid no entrance fee but first place received $7.50 cash, second $5.00, third $2.50. The last prizes were just their pleasure of getting honorable mention. First place went to a group of three girls and a seven-year-old boy who sang My Darling. The girls were Marie and Virginia Miller and Melba Sawyer, the boy was Jack Miller. Second place went to the boys quartet composed of Donald Brotherton, Henry Turner, Jerry Jowell and Byron George, who sang Sleepy Hollow June. Third went to Miss Nadine Newell, who sang I Got Rhythm. In My Nursery Rhymes.

EXCHANGE

There is a new legal method of note passing in the grade school which makes the dignified high school students jealous. This is a post office in a grade school room. This post office has a general delivery and a parcel post. All students that wish, write letters and put them in the post office. They go to their individual box and receive their mail. It is a great honor to be postmaster. The postmaster received a compliment to our school and superintendent. Mr. Dillehay also visited PWA offices in Fort Worth to try to get an increased grant from the federal government for work on both schools. While in Austin he discussed home economics, reimbursements, library standards, high school credits and school finances with the Department of Education. "It looked as though we might lose our standing with the Southern Association because of inability to keep a full time librarian, but a talk with the chief supervisor of high schools let us keep the standard." Mr. Dillehay also visited the state treasurer, an old friend, and found him worrying about three or four million dollars that he did not know what to do with. We appreciate our superintendent's work to benefit the school.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Suzanne Shop, a fashion operetta given by the home economics group, was presented in the high school auditorium last Friday night. The general theme was to show how girls can select more suitable clothes after having studied home economics. The dresses modeled were made by the classes. The operetta was given to help raise money to send representatives to the home economics rally in San Angelo April 23. Some of the work already sponsored by the club consists of a skating party, candy sale, doughnut sale and a motion picture show. It is our hope to secure more funds in the future to make the trip possible.

ALUMNI NEWS

Did you ever stop to think what the many hundreds who have graduated from dear old HHS are doing?

Suppose we begin with one graduated in 1909. Frances Dameron has done much in bookkeeping and has been teaching shorthand in Hereford.

1910--Nellie Black now lives in Hereford. She is organist at the Methodist church. Not only this, but she has an industrious boy as a Junior here.

1911--Bessie Sisk is an important church worker in the Baptist church here. Her son has his name placed on the honor shield.

1912--Calla Lambert is another housewife living in Hereford. She uses her wonderful voice in church work. Her two children, Carl and Ruth Marie, both graduated from HHS also.

1913--Lois Garrison now lives in Chicago.

1914--Jonnie Estes lives in Hereford. She is caring for the old home place.

1915--Myrtle Bennett lives in Hereford. She has two daughters enlisted as students in HHS.

1916--Miles Roberson is now vice-president of the First State Bank here.

1917--Paul Guthrie is now controller of the Frigidaire Corporation in Chicago.

Many others who need not be mentioned have graduated also.

Wayne Evans is a very popular student in Simmons University.

Noel Bryant, 1932, completes his course at McMurry this year. He plans to attend SMU.

Mary Posey, Ora West and Avis Matthews are attending Wayland, Plainview.

Many students, including Mary Line, Hugh Harman, J. T. Carroll and Christine Fincher, are in WTSTC, Canyon.

Billie Ross Phillips is at Tech. His name was placed on the honor shield. He certainly has a record. His mother and four aunts graduated from Hereford before him.

Carl Mounitz is in California. His sister, Ruth Marie, lives in Hereford.

This time next year what do you suppose the seniors of this year will be doing. One must only wait to answer this question.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Tuesday morning, April 7, the Music Study Club presented an unusual assembly program, with Miss Mattie Mae Swisher in charge. Spanish Gardens was given by Miss. Prentice Rosson, A. J. Schroeter, Wiley Roberson, A. O. Thompson, Homer Fox, A. C. Thompson, G. H. Dyar and Miss Swisher, with Mrs. Glenn Snyder as accompanist. This was followed by "Texas Flags." Miss Swisher talked on cowboy and folk songs, many of which are yet popular.

Mrs. Wiley Roberson, dressed as a cowgirl, gave several appreciated numbers. A pageant of the Alamo was given. Music by Mrs. Roberson accompanied a complete history of Texas by Mrs. Travis Dameron. Mrs. Rose was in charge of make-up of those taking part.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

HHS had a distinguished visitor April 9, Prince Alibonso, from the Orient. He was introduced by LaNelle Schelhaugen. The students were delighted to have a person in their crowd who had appeared before royalty. He astounded the students by his ability to read and answer questions, written by students on slips of paper and answered by the Prince, who was blindfolded. The seniors sponsored this visit, and the student body appreciated this effort by the seniors who made it possible for them to be royally entertained. The prince is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George, who live on 25-Mile Avenue.

NEWS

Mr. Dillehay went to Austin last week to sell to the State Board of Education $5,000 worth of bonds that were not voted for last October. The money is to be used for improvements on the high school. He waited in Austin two days before the board was able to consider the bonds. Friday

Plans were made and characters have been rehearsing. The play is progressing nicely. The seniors have been discussing Senior Day enthusiastically, and it has been planned for the near future.

SENIORS OF '36

George Conklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Conklin, was born in Hereford in 1919. He attended Canyon school while in the third grade. He has won a medal each of three years for being one of the highest 10 per cent. Member of the band five years; member of boys debate team; leading character in senior play. Now secretary of HI-Y and president senior class. George has been a good student but at the time he has no idea of the college he shall honor by attending.

Billy Patton, Alas Willis, is the beautiful son of Mr. and Mrs. John Patton. It seems from all records, Mr. Dillehay regrets to say, that he has desired this town upon which to force his school day education for the 11th year. He has been a good band member, though, and thrilled many hearts into terrific pounding on that good old football field this past season. Billy is a very likeable kid, especially does this seem true from the viewpoint of a certain junior girl. Luck to you, Bill.

Then we can't leave Gaytha out any longer. . . . Gaytha, the beautiful, bewitching daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wilson, seems not to be a Texan by birth--that's all we have against her. She was born in Falls City, Nebraska, in 1918. She has, however, made a profession of not staying in one place as she has lived in Comstock, White Deer, Hereford and almost Pampa. She has been a member of the pep club for three years, basketball team three years and only in the senior class one year--so far. She is treasurer of pep club. Her favorite expression is "Nertz to you," but seems as if she wants it to be "Nurse to you." Can you feature Gaytha being a nurse in some big hospital? She likes washing dishes and writing letters. Well, I've always heard that washing dishes and married life went good together.

LaNelle Schelhaugen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Schelhaugen, Sr., was born at Kress in 1917--wonder if she knew my aunt. She then moved to Black where she lived five years. Has been in Hereford five years; happens to be a band and orchestra member, and a good one. LaNelle plans to go to WTSTC--wonder how long Her favorite hobby is collecting souvenirs.

Alma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Paetzold, was born in Groom in 1918. Has lived in Hereford most of the time since. At present a member of home economics club and alumni editor of the Roundup. Has no idea what college she will attend. Her favorite hobby is dancing and I can't say I blame her much.

Miss Sybil Calloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Calloway, was born in Cuervo, New Mexico. She moved to Plainview and then to Amarillo. A member of the girls debate team. She is a character in the senior play and also a librarian. Plans to be a short story writer or painter. Sybil plans to go to AOC, Athens, or University of New Mexico. She was valedictorian of her class when she graduated from the seventh grade.

Why Gulf is the Gas for April

"APRIL SHOWERS bring May flowers." And warmer weather, too. That means a brand-new gasoline is shipped to Gulf stations--a gas especially made for April driving. For unless gasoline is changed to meet Spring's higher temperatures it can't give the highest mileage. Get That Good Gulf--it's "Kept in Step with the Calendar" so that all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste.

Ford - FOR ECONOMY

"The Ford V-8 uses less fuel and oil for the power it gives than any other car we have ever made

AND ITS UP-KEEP COST IS THE LOWEST"

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But drivers ought to know better. For the fact is, it's way down the list.

The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor.

Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than $10 for a whole year's average driving (8400 miles at 18 cents a gallon). Here are the big items that make the Ford the most economical car: More value for every dollar you pay. Lower cost for repairs and service. Long life. Slow depreciation.

Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost.

Methods Crude But Successful

SCATTERING OF GRASS HAY RETURNS FIELD TO PASTURE

Editor's Note—The following story will be of special interest to local farmers. Although it does not concern local news, it discusses a matter in which many farmers are especially interested today and circumstances which they are facing.

Seeing is believing for the doubting Thomas, in the case of revegetating an abandoned field on the John R. Knight farm near Stratford, according to T. V. Weaver of the soil conservation service.

After having cultivated a field consisting of 20 acres for a period of 20 years, H. Altringer, who owned the farm until his death in 1931 when Mr. Knight acquired it, decided to revegetate this 20 acre field because of its rocky and gravelly nature.

According to Bert Cook, local resident of Stratford who lived on the farm from 1927 to 1933, the owner took advantage of the favorable moisture conditions which produced a luxuriant growth of blue grama grass on his bottom prairie land. He cut five acres of this grass with a mowing machine in the fall of 1927. After letting the grass hay cure for one day he raked and stacked it.

The following spring the grass was scattered from a wagon on the field. The maize crop the preceding year was cut with a row binder. Therefore, the only residue remaining was the stubble of these milo stalks which were about 12 inches high. The milo rows were counter-wise to the prevailing slope but not on the contour. The slope was approximately three per cent.

This 20-acre plot was not fenced separately from the wheat field the first two years after reseeding, thus the livestock had access to this piece of ground while grazing on the wheat pasture during the fall and winter of 1928 and 1929. In the spring of 1929 it was fenced in with the big pasture. According to Mr. Cook, this was the best pasture on the farm in the summer of 1929.

This pasture is in fair condition and has a good sod today, according to T. V. Weaver, agronomist, soil conservation service. The grass is thicker than on the adjacent native pasture, or on adjacent land which was sowed to sweet clover in the spring of 1928, but which died out because of dry weather conditions in 1932. The grama grass, however, has begun to encroach on this area from the revegetated plot and is dotted with scattered bunches of blue grama grass, the line of demarcation between the seeded and the unseeded plot being very evident.

This method of retiring cultivated land to permanent pasture got the job done, even though it was somewhat crude and could not be depended upon except in years with extremely favorable moisture conditions.

A 100 acre field on this same farm was taken out of cultivation in 1911 after having been cultivated five years. The reason for taking this field out of cultivation was desertion of the farm by its owner. Succeeding owners did not cultivate the field again. No seed was added except those which nature added from adjoining pastures. It does not have over one-fourth the sod that the reseeded plot referred to above has.

There are several years difference in the period of time of the two processes, viz: the revegetation of cultivated fields by mechanical means and simply the abandonment of a field hoping that nature would cause it to "hair over" with native pasture grasses. The revegetated plot proves conclusively that it pays to sow grass seed rather than depend upon nature to do the job.

The soil conservation service of Region 6 has 48,000 pounds of blue grama grass seed for seeding cultivated fields which are to go back to native grass.

Land on the Dalhart project which is being seeded to grass was planted on the contour last spring to sudan grass. The sudan crop was left as a cover on the soil and grass seed was broadcasted in the past two months.

Care of Chicks Is Outlined By Poultry Expert

The big thing in brooding chicks is not how many chicks are started or even the percentage kept alive, but how many good pullets will there be in the fall. Most folks start about twice as many chicks as they can handle. They get along all right while the chicks are small but when they are 6 to 12 weeks old they don't have houses or facilities to care for them properly.

"Provide peat moss, shavings or good straw, chaff removed, for litter," advises C. S. Johnson, head of the Poultry Department, in speaking of things to do for successful rearing of chicks. "When chicks are put down, cover litter with several thicknesses of paper around brooder stove. Remove top layer daily. By the third day the chicks will have learned what food and drink are and may be safely allowed on litter.

Johnson goes on to point out that the particular kind of heat used for brooding is not the important thing. Successful brooding depends on keeping the chicks comfortable. The most expensive equipment will fail unless this is done.

"No matter what type brooder stove you use," he says, "run your stoves at least three full days before your chicks arrive. Watch the temperature closely. Be sure of accurate temperature control. Keep temperature about 92 degrees the first two days and reduce steadily until end of second week when temperature should be 80 degrees.

"During the first 3 weeks chicks are more apt to suffer from too much heat than from the temperature being a few degrees too cold. However, a quick variation from hot to cold is even worse. The tendency for chicks to pile and crowd when 3 or 4 weeks old is usually due to either too high temperature or too much variation in temperature."

Regarding feeding Johnson says, "The newly discovered ingredient puterene should be in the chick ration. It assures chicks getting enough vitamin A, so essential to chick life, health and growth."

Queen Crowned After Death.

The Queen who was enthroned after her death was Inez de Castro, who was married to Pedro I of Portugal. The marriage was performed clandestinely on January 1, 1347, before his accession to the throne. His father objected to the union and three years later, at his instigation, Inez was murdered. When Pedro became king he had the body of Inez taken from the grave, placed on a magnificent throne arrayed in all the royal robes and crowned queen of Portugal.

CHILD HEALTH DAY CALL ISSUED BY DR. J. W. BROWN

Call has gone out from the State Department of Health to county health officers, to act as chairmen and organize committees for observance of Child Health Day in May. Dr. J. E. H. Beck, field director of the maternal and child health division, is state chairman by designation of Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer.

Although May Day is Child Health Day by act of Congress, communities are free to choose any day for the observance. This slogan has been officially adopted for Texas Child Health Day.

"Annual physical examination by your physician and dentist. Immunization against diphtheria, typhoid fever and smallpox. Safe water and proper sanitary equipment for home and school."

These suggestions are set forth in Dr. Beck's letter to county health officers:

"May Day—Child Health Day, is a challenge to all parents to take stock of the health needs of their children, with special reference to immunization of those of pre-school age. The records of this office reveal that during 1935 64 per cent of the deaths caused by diphtheria occurred before the child reached five years of age; 23 per cent between the ages of five and nine years; six per cent between 10 and 14 years, and seven per cent were over 15 years of age. Therefore it is imperative that you have your children immunized against diphtheria during that first year of age.

"We recommend an annual examination for each child by your family physician now, and hereafter this annual examination should precede the opening of the fall school term. Your physician and dentist may find some serious defects. If so, they are in positions to advise the parents of the proper treatment and by so doing serious illness will be prevented.

"It is suggested that the parents of the children in Texas take special interest in pure drinking water for their homes and schools and make every effort to secure for their children the proper sanitary disposal equipment.

"We strongly urge that provisions be made throughout the state for suitable places where children may have proper exercise, sanitary swimming pools and places for play and pleasure."

LONG FINGERNAILS PAY ELDERLY CHINESE

Scores of elderly Chinese at Soochow, China, make a living by growing eight-inch fingernails for a patent medicine manufacturer. The nails are ground into a powder which is the base of a medicine for sore throat.

A Soochow fingernail grower is paid enough to enable him to remain absolutely idle, as the nails must be perfect and have no cracks or other blemishes.

The medicine is prepared as a tiny black pill not larger than a pinhead, invented many years ago by a Soochow physician. His descendants retain the secret formula and sell the medicine all over China as well as in Japan and the Dutch East Indies.

WISE BUYER READS LABEL ON ALL CANNED PRODUCTS

Canned chicken is one of the happy packaged foods selected for summer picnics and meals out-of-doors, as well as for home meals when a minimum of work and cooking is desired. It is an excellent choice from the standpoint of convenience and flavor.

But a wise buyer of home supplies, points out the Food and Drug Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture, makes a practice of reading labels on all packaged goods to be sure the family food money is well spent. She wants information as to the weight and purity of the contents. Canned chicken is no exception. In the case of chicken mixtures, she wants to know what else she is getting and how much of it. No one wants to pay chicken prices for canned noodles—in a chicken and noodle mixture. "Boned chicken" or "boneless chicken" is meat, with or without a small amount of skin, sterilized in cans and jars. It generally is packed with a little salt, chicken fat, and sometimes a small quantity of chicken broth for moisture. This is the chicken for sandwiches and salads or for slicing as jellyed chicken. Sometimes the natural jelling power of the broth is increased by the addition of gelatin or agar-agar. These do not injure flavor or food value, but the law requires their presence be stated on the label. "Potted" or "deviled" chicken is a sandwich spread everyone likes. It is made of ground pieces of meat, often spiced. Canned products such as "chicken à la king" and "chicken chop suey" contain in addition to the meat, various quantities of vegetables, condiments and flavoring materials. The names themselves suggest the nature of the products with which the chicken is packed, but they must be truthful. —Well Strike Me Pink!

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF CHEAPER WATER

Cheaper water means more flowers and shrubs, more beautiful lawns and trees—in general, a more beautiful city. For this reason the city commission again offers its 10 per cent cut in water rates for the summer months. This will encourage a more liberal use, and therefore, better results. Later on when the volume increases there probably will be a more liberal offer for those who use greater amounts.

This inducement undoubtedly accounts in part for Hereford's beauty in the summer—along with the natural love for beautiful surroundings which most local people seem to have. Here is something that should never be lost. Next to the friendly attitude of its people, Hereford's most impressive point is its beauty. Like an oasis in a desert, it stands out above any other community in the Panhandle, due largely to the care given private homesites and its attractive parks.

Some will take advantage of the reduced water rate to make their bills smaller, but this should be discouraged. It violates the spirit of the offer, and if it should ever become widespread would ruin one of the city's most valuable assets.

ANOTHER ANGLE TO JEFFERSONISM

How often have we said the country would be much better off if the Government would get back to the principles of Thomas Jefferson! His views on government have not yet been disproven, and despite the work of the New Deal and the other governmental trends since his day, it is a fact that most of Jefferson's ideas could be put into practice today with great results. Republicans and a great number of Democrats probably would deny that.

But now comes the knowledge that Jefferson extended his advanced ideas in lines other than government, ideas that today, long years after he served as the United States' third president, are considered modern and a product of this generation.

Jefferson was a practical farmer and he knew the vital importance of soil conservation to lasting and successful farming. In 1813 he wrote about his farm in Albemarle county Virginia:

"Our country is hilly and we have been in the habit of plowing in straight rows, whether up or down hill, or however they lead, and our soil was rapidly running into the rivers. We now plow horizontally following the curvature of the hills and hollows on dead levels, however crooked the lines may be. Every furrow thus acts as a reservoir to receive and retain the waters, all of which go to the benefit of the growing plant instead of running off into the streams."

Imagine how revolutionary that idea must have been in the days when farmers boasted of how straight they could plow and looked with disdain upon the man who allowed his rows to curve! Today many farmers are learning the value of contour plowing and planting to check serious soil losses by wind and water, and in the future this practice will become universal.

Thomas Jefferson was one of the foremost thinkers of his day. In farming and in government we would do well to take his advice and heed his counsel.

By Their Words AND OURS

Man manages to get along with more or less standardized dress; why not women? Madame Paquin, the Paris authority, furnishes the answer from 33 years experience with the follies of fashion. "There can never be a set, uniform style for women so long as women wish to be beautiful and men wish to have them so." The great tragedy of a woman's life, she says, "often is that she is not good-looking; the fear of not looking well has brought them to me in tears." Of course, we all know that it did not require a generation of fashion making to discover the psychology of styles, but Madame Paquin has put it into epigrammatic brevity and pontificates with the air of authority. Women, especially, will stress the division of equal responsibility, that while women wish to be beautiful men wish to have them so. The fashion cannot be blamed on either alone.—Lars Stock Reporter.

America is accused of extreme inhumanity by the European press and by persons in high places in those states who say the Hauptmann matter is only another illustration of our lack of civilization. No where in Europe, they say, would a man have to "die" three times for any crime no matter how heinous. Perhaps the European system is more humane. There a man rarely is permitted to live more than a few days after he is condemned to death. They have it over with, whereas in our country we give the condemned man a sporting chance to save his neck. It depends on the viewpoint.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Man is the only animal that blushes. The other animals don't need to.—Southwest Plainsman.

Warning to parents: Taking children to the climate, the lot are apt to get away when it rains.—Lars Stock Reporter.

Some people think the foundations of civilization are being shaken, but perhaps the trouble is that the people step so high that everything feels unsteady under them.—Sudan News.

It is nothing new for West Texas to hear that they have been paying more than their share of the state taxes; but it is new to hear a state official admit that this section has been imposed upon. If the present tax survey will adjust the taxes of the state in favor of West Texas, the money spent for the survey will be wisely invested so far as the state is concerned, says the Canyon News. If the survey brings tax dodgers into the state, it is a loss to the state, regardless of the area it benefits. Probably the most ludicrous...

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From The Hereford Brand, April 14, 1905.)

Says the Boom correspondent: "From the way the snow is falling today we rather believe that Omar Dundy, Clyde and Herman Roberson were rushing the season a little bit, as they were seen in J. P. Roberson's tank bathing Sunday."

E. B. Black was making extensive interior improvements on his furniture store.

Charles and J. H. Donald of Denton county had just purchased two and a half sections of land north of town.

Messrs. Tucker and Jacobson had completed purchase of machinery with which to install a modern electric light system in Hereford. The plant, costing around $6,000, had been shipped and was expected to be in operation in 60 days.

Hereford and Amarillo were scheduled to play a "match" game of baseball here, officially opening the season.

Edwin Ramey had been up from Dimmitt to buy material with which to improve this ranch properties.

(From The Hereford Brand, April 16, 1915.)

C. R. Smith and George Guinn had formed a partnership for the purpose of dealing in cattle and land.

Born to Messrs. and Mmes. G. A. Cook, boy; P. L. Good-boy; Samuel Wales, twin boys; L. A. Smith, girl; Rex Tynes, boy; David Grimes, boy.

Beginning Thursday, three inches of rain had fallen, and on Friday it was still raining.

The commissioners court had approved the expenditure of $150 toward employing a lady demonstrator for this county and Farmer, the latter agreeing to pay a like sum.

Chas. Purcell had been named constable and L. S. Bryant surveyor in Deaf Smith county.

Miss Wills Robinson had become the bride of Mr. Cris Renfro at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. G. A. Paris, on the evening of Easter Sunday.

Revival Meeting to Start Sunday

The leaders of the Church of Christ have announced a series of gospel meetings to be conducted at the local church beginning next Sunday morning. Evangelist Jas. O. Wilburn, who is soon to begin a summer evangelistic tour, and who has been working with the church here during the winter and spring, is to have charge of the preaching at all services.

Meetings will be conducted twice each day and will continue for a period of two weeks or more. Members of the church are to use their cars in bringing both country and city residents who have no way of attending. Mr. Wilburn has announced his sermon topics for the first few days of the meeting as follows: Sunday, Rebuilding the Walls of Jerusalem; Monday, Why I Believe in God; Tuesday, The World's Greatest Book; Wednesday, The Beginning of the Kingdom; and Thursday, Why I Am Neither Catholic, Protestant, Fundamentalist, nor Methodist. The public is invited to attend.

FARMERS ARE AWAKE TO SOIL-SAVING PROBLEMS

Farmers of the United States are becoming conscientious conservationists as regards the soil from which they make their living. Requests to the Department of Agriculture for solutions to soil erosion problems show their interest. The Soil Conservation Service usually can refer them to regional directors and to specific local erosion control projects, of which about 50 are now in operation, with others getting under way in all states. The average size of these demonstration areas is 25,000 acres.

In these areas farmers see the soil-saving problems caused by gullying, sheet erosion, flood and wind destruction—and the solutions—check dams, terraces, strip cropping, contour cultivation and forestation. Plant introductions and native vegetation are being used.

Farmers who have watched the washing of their land with slight concern in years past, go into action when actual measurements show that a single flood may wash away 20 tons of an acre of valuable topsoil, as in Ohio last summer, or even 65 tons in an acre, as in New York. Many, who by careful cultivation and cropping methods have kept their fields free of visible gullies are amazed to learn of unseen soil losses by sheet erosion.

No nation-wide move for farm betterment could meet a more whole-hearted response, say Soil Conservation workers.

Hay fever sufferers take notice. Carveth Wells, explorer and lecturer, says that hay fever appears to be rare as the dodo bird in the lake regions of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. The farther north you go the more sneeze proof you become, he has discovered.

statement that has emanated from the Republican caucus is the one that the great collapse that occurred before Roosevelt was inaugurated were caused by his shadow falling across the White House. There is not a banker in the country who honestly believes it. Most of them say it coming long before the election before even the nomination, and none could prevent it, not even Hoover and Mills. It is safe to say that the bank holiday brought to the people of this country a new sense of their native resources. Right then they began to look forward. From that time conditions began to improve.—Curry County News.

ONE PLOWING OF POTATOES ENOUGH, EXCEPT FOR WEEDS

If weed control in potatoes is not a major problem, the extra work of more than one good, deep cultivation probably will not pay. In a three-year test by the United States Department of Agriculture at Presque Isle, Maine, one-cultivation potatoes yielded slightly more on the average than potatoes cultivated five times.

In both cases there was a light cultivation two weeks after the potatoes were planted and before they were up. The one-cultivation potatoes were well ridged. The potatoes cultivated five times were ridged moderately. Both plots were hand-hoed to kill the weeds.

When cultivation is necessary to control weeds it should be shallow. Deep cultivation prunes the potato roots and the freshly-filled soil loses moisture. These cultivation experiments were on fall-plowing and land fitted in the spring for a good seed bed.

Up to 10 or 15 years ago farmers and crop specialists believed that row crop tillage aerated the soil, conserved moisture, increased availability of plant food in the soil and suppressed weed growth. Other studies besides those on potatoes indicate the fallacy of some of the supposed benefits from frequent tillage.

VACCINATION WILL PREVENT SMALLPOX EPIDEMICS

Smallpox epidemics would never occur if everyone, especially children, could be effectively vaccinated, stated Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. At present there is an increasing lack of vaccination among school children and this constitutes a menace. Modern safeguards have removed every legitimate objection to vaccination. The virus is made from calves, and consequently, is incapable of transmitting human blood diseases. Among some ten million vaccinations performed in the Philippine Islands, there was no loss of life or limb or demonstrable injury to health.

A primary vaccination with one successful revaccination will, as a rule, protect throughout life from the milder forms of smallpox, but this is not true in the several types of this disease. Therefore, be vaccinated and revaccinated at least every five years, so that you will have the greatest protection possible and the least chance of being sick. Revaccination should also be done after each time you have been near a known case of smallpox, for you know that the old vaccination protects if the new one fails to "take". Vaccination is not to be feared but rather to be sought as the only safe, positive safeguard against smallpox. See your doctor today and be sure that you are protected.

LEAK DETECTOR INVENTION

After working seven years for the Cincinnati water works as a valveman, J. O. Newell, Othmar Pies, 30, is in the "big money". Pies decided unknown leaks of water were costing the city $1,000,000 annually. Othmar Pies, 30, is in the "big money". Pies decided unknown leaks of water were costing the city $1,000,000 annually. ANNOUNCE FEATURE FOR ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH

Several special features have been announced for next week at the Assembly of God church. The high school quartet will give special music Sunday morning, and Rev. John Thomas, Sr., will speak Sunday night, using as his subject Glorifying in the Cross. Tuesday night Mrs. Hansford of Amarillo, district president of the W. M. C., will address the church. She will be accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Hooley and Mrs. Guy Shields, who will render musical numbers.

Miss Maurine Spradley Becomes Bride of Mr. W. B. O'Brien

In a quiet home wedding, Miss Maurine Spradley became the bride of W. B. O'Brien Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Spradley.

Mrs. Ray Conaway sang the nuptial song, "Because," accompanied at the piano by Miss Gwen Spradley, sister of the bride, and on the violin by Mrs. Alvin C. Thompson. Miss Spradley also played the wedding march using the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.

The couple entered unattended and stood at an altar formed of yellow roses and fern in floor baskets, and in the presence of their families and friends they pledged their troth. Rev. T. C. Willett, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a dark blue tailored suit with blue and white accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held, after which the couple left on a trip to points in South Texas, and Monterey, Mexico.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will O'Brien and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil O'Brien and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Oliver and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Grub Killough and daughter, and Mrs. W. E. Oliver, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Dewey, Dumas; Misses Edith Shields, Christine Warren and Frances Grimes, of Canyon.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fuqua, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Conaway, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pitman, Mrs. S. J. Easley, Morris Easley, Miss Eloise Pitman, Miss Helen Ann Pitman, Miss Lillian Chambers, Miss Barbara Burney and Louis Woodford.

The bride spent her girlhood in Hereford and finished Hereford high school, later attending and getting her degree from WTSTC, Canyon. During the past year she has been teaching at Dean.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Will O'Brien of Amarillo, who formerly lived in Hereford. He is a graduate of Amarillo high school and attended A. & M. College and the University of Texas.

The couple will make their home in Clovis, where Mr. O'Brien is manager of the Piggly Wiggly store.

Two tables of players enjoyed an afternoon of bridge, high score going to Mrs. Oscar Easley.

Attending were Misses J. C. McCracken, B. M. Wilshire, W. L. Davis, Colby Conkright, Jack Wayland, Easley and a guest, Mrs. W. M. Eumons, and the hostess.

"MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION" WHAT IS IT?

What is "the magnificent obsession?" It refers to a magical pattern of living which theatre-goers will have opportunity to learn when they see "Magnificent Obsession," which opens at the Star Theatre Sunday afternoon, with Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor in starring roles.

Primarily the story deals with the romance of Miss Dunne, portraying a beautiful young bride, and Taylor, delineating a wastrel scion of a wealth family. The climax of the story comes six years later in a series of events filled with heart-rending tenderness, culminating a sweetly poignant love drama such as rarely reaches the screen. The large cast supporting Miss Dunne and Taylor includes Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Sara Haden, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta, Gilbert Emery and Arthur Treacher.

Read what some of the women of Hereford have to say about "Magnificent Obsession":

"The picture of Magnificent Obsession glorifies the faith, hope and love of the book in a magnificent manner." Mrs. D. H. Alexander.

"A strong play that no one can afford to miss. The action is superb. The real play is not all on the surface and is not casually discovered. It creates an obsession to re-read the book." Mrs. B. F. Guthrie.

"A fitting portrayal of an unusual story. The most interesting thing to me is the delicate, yet dignified, treatment of the underlying thought." Lillie Hostetter.

PIONEER CLUB MEETS AT GILLILAND HOME

The Pioneer Club met in regular session at the E. H. Gilliland home Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with Mrs. C. C. Gilliland as joint hostess.

What Makes a Bank Good?

The answer is people.

- a teller who can smile even when he has a toothache because he likes his customers and wants them to like him...
- and works a little harder because of it...
- a vice-president who will shove aside a deskload of work to advise a puzzled widow and then work at home at night...
- People make a good bank good—because only people can turn the facilities of a bank, however modern, into that imponderable thing called service.

HALF OUR HAWKS DO MORE GOOD THAN HARM ON FARM

Contrary to common opinion not all hawks are chicken thieves. Six of the 17 most common species are good friends of the farmer. At least half do more good than harm, says the Bureau of Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture in a new circular, Food Habits of Common Hawks. The stomach contents of 5,185 hawks examined showed which kinds deserve protection.

Some hawks occasionally kill chickens or useful birds, but for each of these a hawk usually eats dozens of rodents and many insects. Sparrow hawks, for example, seldom prey upon other birds—yet they often are blamed for misdeeds of other hawks. They could be more appropriately called grasshopper hawks, says the circular, as the chief food found in 491 of 703 sparrow hawk stomachs was grasshoppers. Studies of the Swainson and American roughlegged hawks show they are almost entirely beneficial in feeding habits.

Red-shouldered, broad-winged, and ferruginous roughleg hawks are preponderantly beneficial, seldom in need of control. The red-tailed hawk and the golden eagle are more beneficial than injurious. The marsh hawk and prairie falcon each have about equal proportions of harmful and beneficial habits. Both the bald eagle osprey are harmful and beneficial in about equal proportion. Pigeon hawks tend to be destructive but may be tolerated in small numbers. Goshawks, sharp-shinned, Cooper's and duck hawks do more harm than good.

Remains of poultry were found in nearly half of the 243 goshawk stomachs examined, and in only two of the 1044 sharp-shinned hawk stomachs. The sharp-shinned hawk, however, feeds largely upon useful birds.

One out of every 12 meals eaten by the red-tailed hawk, or hen hawk, probably consists of chicken. Otherwise, it is a good "monster" and does more good than harm. Where poultry is not protected by pens or runs, this hawk has to be controlled.

Control measures are advised against offending hawks only and not against the entire race. Copies of the Circular, No. 370, may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., at five cents each.

TERRACING PAYS FOR ITSELF IN ONE YEAR

"Terracing on my farm paid for itself the first year in increased yields," said C. T. Colgrave, a farmer living in Carson county, seven miles north of White Deer.

Mr. Colgrave ran the lines and constructed level terraces on 170 acres of his farm a year ago. The increase in production of hedges and cane, due to terracing, was enough to pay for the construction of the terraces in one year. Mr. Colgrave arrived at this information by comparison of his terraced and unterraced fields. In addition to the increase in yields due to conservation of moisture, the terraced land has a good protective cover of stubble, which is preventing wind erosion during this blowing season.

Conservation of water by the use of terraces and contour farming is one of the major factors of the soil conservation program in increasing the possibility of getting a cover crop. The Panhandle A. & M. College experiment station has shown that wheat and grain sorghum yields can be increased 34 per cent over a period of 11 years by the use of terraces and the practice of contour farming.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

If you are suffering from indigestion, stoma dyspepsia, sour stomach, gas pains, "raw stomach," inflammation of the intestine (enteritis), gastric acidity and stomachache, due to excessive acidity, you can't afford to ignore these warning signs. You should try at once the Doctor's Prescription, known as Gass Tablets. If you allow these conditions to become worse, the acids may eat into the delicate mucous membrane of your stomach and intestine and possibly cause dangerous ulcers. Gass Tablets soothe the raw, inflamed lining of the "acid stomach" and help convert starchy foods into destros, which is so essential to energy of the body, and preservation of health. Take just one or two Gass Tablets and see how they help your stomach to "tackle a hearty meal." The first bottle must produce results or money back. On sale at

TEXAS STREAMS OFFSET WITH NUMBER THEIR LACK IN SIZE

"The rivers of Texas, though not so large, are, in proportion to the extent of the territory, more numerous than those of the United States," wrote Arthur Ikin, English consul to Texas, in his "Guide to Emigrants," published in London in 1841.

Just as, in describing Texas geography, he included considerable areas to the north and east that are no longer a part of Texas, in his discussion of the waters of the republic, he mentioned several streams which flow outside the present boundaries of this State. His information concerning the country he was seeking to colonize, however, is remarkably correct in the main. One of the few known copies of this little book is now in the rare book division of the Texas Collection, in the University of Texas Library.

The rivers of Texas "rise in the upper country, and, receiving as they descend the innumerable tributary rivulets (usually called creeks, they flow in a southerly direction toward the Gulf of Mexico," he continued. "Most of them do not, however, empty immediately into the Gulf, but into bays or basins of smooth water, formed by the exterior chain of long, low islands already noticed. Between these islands numerous inlets form the sea communication. The interior bays are generally shallow, with the exception of the channel worked by the current of the rivers. The time will probably come when these bays will form, with the islands, one continuation of the mainland, the river channels alone remaining; such at least is the apparent tendency of the land here to encroach upon the sea; an effect contributable to the influence of the gulf stream, and which, judging from the fossilated marine substances found at the base of the now far inland mountains, appears to have been in operation for a long period. In the upper country the Texian rivers and their tributaries offer abundant facilities for the employment of water power. In the level region their course is more sluggish, though even here they seldom overflow their banks. The principal rivers are:

"1. The Arkansas, a mighty tributary of the Mississippi, which waters the extreme northern boundary of Texas for several hundred miles: The Canadian river, and other large streams flow into it.

"2. The Red river, so called from the influence of oxide of iron upon the colour of its waters, is also a principal tributary of the Mississippi. It rises in Texas, and for a great distance forms its northern boundary, at a parallel far south of the Arkansas. It has a course of 1,500 miles, 1,200 of which are now said to be rendered navigable. The navigation of the Red River is, throughout its whole course, secured to Texas by treaty. Upon this stream lie the cultivated Red-lands, where some of the most productive cotton plantations in the world are to be found. The Washitas are the chief tributaries.

"3. The Sabine River, which rises in Texas, and at a certain point becomes its eastern boundary, continues so until it empties itself into the Sabine Bay, which has a sand-bar, with eight or nine feet water. Steam boats have proceeded up this river for several hundred miles. There are numerous flourishing settlements on its banks.

"4. The Neches also flows into Sabine Bay. Its navigation is not equal to that of the Sabine. The principal tributaries are the Attoyac and the Angelina.

"5. The Trinity, San Jacinto and Buffalo all empty into Galveston Bay. The first is a noble stream, and its fertile banks are rapidly becoming populated. It offers fewer impediments to navigation than any other Texas river and its easy communication with Galveston presents great facilities to the grower of products. It has a course of probably 700 miles. Its chief tributaries are the three forks of the same name. Galveston Bay is a broad and beautiful sheet of water about 30 miles across. Between it and the gulf, lies Galveston Island, at each end of which are inlets, having sandbars over which vessels may pass drawing 12 feet of water.

"6. The Brazos River, after a course of nearly a thousand miles, empties immediately into the Gulf over a bar with a mean depth of about six feet of water. The alluvial lands on this stream are celebrated throughout America for their inexhaustible fertility. The oldest American settlements are on the Brazos, and the produce of its valley at present far exceeds that of any other portion of Texas. It is navigable for a considerable distance. Among the numerous tributaries, the Navasota may be considered the most important.

"7. The San Bernard, Oyster, Caneby and some other small streams which flow into the Gulf near the Brazos, are all equally celebrated for the extraordinary fertility of the lands they water.

"8. The Colorado, Navidad and Lavaca fall into Matagorda Bay, which is upwards of 60 miles in length, and averages about seven in breadth. At the bar, on the pass or inlet, it has a depth of from nine to eleven feet.

"The Colorado is one of the noblest rivers in Texas, flowing for 800 miles through the heart of the Republic, and watering scarcely an acre of inferior land. It offers, however, at present, many obstacles to navigation. The Passigona, San Saba, Llano and Piedrales, are its main tributaries.

"9. Into Espiritu Santo Bay, which is a continuation of that of Matagorda, flow the confluent waters of the Guadalupe and San Antonio, two of the most bright and beautiful streams in the world, and for some distance capable of navigation. The Blanco, San Marco, Coloto and Cibolo are the main tributaries. Nothing can surpass the scenery on these rivers.

"10. Beyond Espiritu Santo Bay is that of Aransas, a very fine body of water, surrounded by land fully equal to any in Texas. On this bay the shores are no longer flat, but rise in conspicuous bluffs. On the bar there is seldom more than 8 1/2 feet of water. The Mission and Aransas rivers here empty themselves.

"11. The Nueces river runs into the Bay of Corpus Christi, where the banks are loftier and the water deeper than in any of the other bays on the Texian coast. The bar, however, does not admit vessels drawing more than five or six feet. The Nueces has a course of about 300 miles, and its valley is eminently fertile and healthy. The Rio, Leona and San Miguel are the principal tributaries.

"12. The Rio Grande, or Rio Bravo del Norte, the largest Mexican river, and throughout its whole course the boundary between the hostile republics, rises in the Rocky Mountains, and after running 1000 to 1800 miles through rich and often populous districts, discharges its waters in the Gulf over a bar which is often not more than three feet of water. The Puerco is the chief tributary of the Rio Grande; it runs through the back part of Texas and has a course of about 500 miles.

"There are several large and valuable salt lakes in the republic. Fresh water lakes are not very numerous or extensive.

"I have been thus explicit in enumerating the Texian rivers, believing them to form the most important feature in the topography of the country. The spread of population has hitherto been chiefly confined to the borders of these streams, each of which thus forms as it were, its own isolated community. Instead, therefore, of particularly dwelling on the artificial distinction of counties, it appears more practical to view the country as divided into its different river districts."

THE QUICKER THE COOLING, THE LESS COLD IT TAKES

Cooling fruits and vegetables differs from the cooling of water and other things that are refrigerated, because plant tissues produce heat as long as they are alive. A warm fruit or vegetable evolves more heat than a cool one. One of the objects of cold storage is to cool fruits and vegetables to a point where changes will be extremely slow. Bartlett pears, for example, stored at 70 degrees "heat" themselves as a result of chemical changes. It takes considerable refrigeration just to keep them at 70 degrees. But when they are cooled nearly to the freezing point life processes are slowed down and it does not take much refrigeration to keep them cold.

This explains, say fruit specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, why it does not take as much total refrigeration to quickly cool a quantity of produce as it does to cool the same quantity slowly. It also helps explain why "pre-cooling" of fruit saves ice on a transcontinental trip.

If a shipment is cold when it goes into the car, it does not evolve much of any heat within itself. If it is not cool to start with the ice not only has to cool the fruit but also has to take care of considerable heat that develops while it is slowly cooling.

10 Panhandle Counties Have Erosion Laws

Ten counties in Northwest Texas have formed legal conservancy districts for combating wind erosion. The counties organized under provision of Texas House Bill No. 978 are Dallam, Hartley, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Sherman, Moore, Lipscomb, Hansford, Ochiltree and Randall.

The counties through their conservancy district governing body, the commissioners court, have the authority to treat blowing lands which are a hazard to adjoining lands, if and when the owner is unwilling or unable to do the work. The cost of work done is charged to the land and becomes a first lien payable in three equal installments over a period of three years.

Due to extreme wind erosion conditions which existed in the first nine counties named, the conservancy law provided for the refunding of the state ad valorem taxes, to the conservancy districts for the years 1935 and 1936, for erosion work. These and other counties organized under law may use 20 per cent of the automobile fees and part or all of the special road and bridge fund in carrying out the work of the district.

Through cooperative working agreements between the Extension Service, the soil conservation service and the conservancy districts, assistant county agents are being employed in four of the counties to do soil conservation work.

HEREFORD, TEXAS

CAUGHT IN THE WILD

ROBERT AMES BENNET

Garth caught Mr. Ramill's hungry look and shook his head. "Not yet for us, sir. We'll pack in some more of the meat before the wolves get it."

He laid a mat of willow foliage, sliced up what was left of the second liver, and started off with Ramill.

Though at first stiff, the millionaire did not get out of breath so quickly as before. This was an encouraging sign. That easy climb to the claim and the fast return had been violent exercise for the mine investor. He could not have recovered so soon if his heart had been bad.

But when he opened his cigar case, Garth interposed.

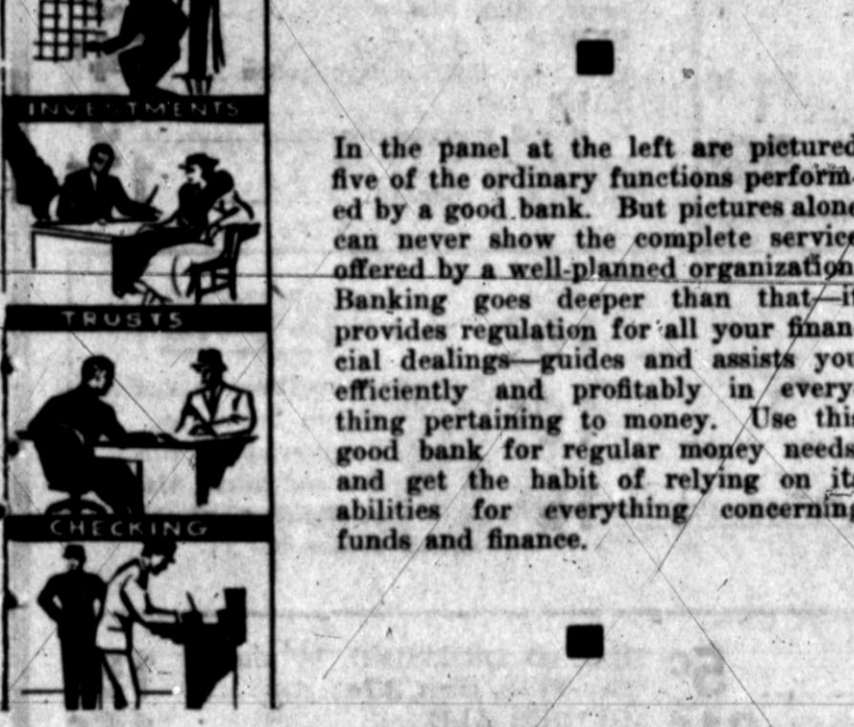

"You have only four left, sir, better hold them back to taper off gradually. This change of diet is going to jolt you hard enough. No wine or whisky, either."

Mr. Ramill walked along quite a distance with the cigar case open, his face impassive inside the mosquito gauze of the headnet. When at last he looked up, he closed the cigar case and handed it to Garth. "You're the doctor."

Garth put the case in his shirt pocket.

See What A Good Bank Can Do For You

In the panel at the left are pictured five of the ordinary functions performed by a good bank. But pictures alone can never show the complete service offered by a well-planned organization. Banking goes deeper than that—it provides regulation for all your financial dealings—guides and assists you efficiently and profitably in everything pertaining to money. Use this good bank for regular money needs, and get the habit of relying on its abilities for everything concerning funds and finance.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

OF HEREFORD MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM A Strong Bank Thoughtfully Managed

"All right, sir. You'll get them when they'll do you the most good—and you'll get them all."

Again Mr. Ramill walked along with his gaze on the ground. They were near the muskew swamp before he looked up. He turned his shrewd gaze upon Garth and spoke with blunt directness: "What's your game?"

Garth chuckled. "Did you ever outwit a fox, corner a pack of wolves, or trap a crafty old bear?"

The rudy face of the millionaire pursed. "What's the connection?"

"Nothing insidious," Garth assured him. "I had in mind only the fun of the game."

"So? Well, young man, it has already been admitted that you've so far taken all the tricks. I gave you credit for more sense, however, than you showed when you cast loose the plane. You had no need to walk up like a dupe and permit Vivian to get the drop on you. Easy enough for you to've come out of cover with your rifle up. Don't tell me you'd rather travel afoot to the Maskenzie than fly out in a plane."

"That depends, sir. Perhaps I did not wish to part company with you so soon. Over at the river I could of course have invited myself to fly out to Fort Smith with you. But that would hardly have given us time to get acquainted. As it is, in the weeks of close companionship to come we may even learn to be friends."

Mr. Ramill frowned. "Is that a taunt or maudlin sob stuff?"

"Neither."

"Then what's your game? If you think, after marooning us here in these d-d wilds you can win our friendship or gratitude by guiding us out, you're a sadly mistaken young man."

Garth agreed. "It would be a stupid mistake to expect anything decent of you or your daughter or Huxby. But think of the fun I've already had, facing that pistol and telling Huxby he dared not use it."

"Fun? You must be crazy."

"Not at all. I had him sized up. The game was to let him think he had me trapped, then give him the laugh."

The big man chewed on this. "That's clear enough. But why wreck the plane? Will your next lode be to walk off and leave us to starve?"

"Does it look that way? Two moose make a deal of eating."

As Garth spoke he pointed ahead at the red chunks on the spruce branches. Almost at the same instant his rifle jerked up. The second shot was followed by a snarling squall. The squall shrilled into a shriek that nipped off into silence.

When Mr. Ramill rather hesitatingly followed Garth to the hanging legs of moose, he saw a three-foot, stub-tailed wildcat with black-tufted ears lying under a torn shoulder of moose meat. A second cat, slightly larger, had leaped several yards away before dropping.

Garth drew his knife. "Only a pair of lynx. Not much for two shots. We haven't any cartridges to throw away. But we can use the skins, and the meat will make a change from moose."

He flayed the bodies, bagged the best cuts of meat in the skins and hung them high. The next move was to see if Mr. Ramill could pack the hide of the cow moose. He made a game attempt to walk off under it, but at once began to stagger. Garth relieved him of the load, and in place of it gave him one of the bagged lynx hides. He himself bagged one of the bull moose quarters in the cowhide and heaved it upon his back.

They came back to camp with Mr. Ramill panting and sweating. Garth swung lightly ahead of him. He slipped off his heavy pack and stood looking at the idle couple on the rib bank. They had eaten their fill of liver, and stretched out to rest. No smoke was rising from the embers of the smudge-fire. Flies were beginning to cluster on the moose tongues and other meat.

The girl met his look with contemptuous indifference. Huxby stared with bloodshot hostility from between his swollen eyelids.

Instead of speaking to the couple, Garth addressed the girl's father as he relieved him of the lynx pack.

"As I remember, sir, I told Miss Ramill she could cook on the smudge-fire if she kept it going. I will say now that I do not intend to shoot any more meat until use is made of what we have. There are none too many rifle cartridges left. If the three of you prefer rotten, maggoty meat, I'll go you to the last mouthful. I've lived for weeks at a time on spoiled fish and rotten walrus."

Huxby's face and neck were as swollen and sore as if covered with boils. His temper was no less sore. "You're the one who put us in this fix, you wood louse."

Garth gave him a pitying look. "That's the fly venom talking. No cool, calculating schemer in his right senses would ask for trouble when his hands were tied. I might point out, however, that the venom was due to your haste in trying—uh—to appropriate my discovery claim."

"That's a lie. You cast the plane adrift. I was stung while trying to save it. Curse the luck! I came within an ace of reaching the snagged line. Almost had it, when the plane dragged it loose and went down over those hellish falls."

"I might remind you that you ordered me to cast off the line—at the point of your pistol."

The thrust proved too much for Huxby. He sat silent. Garth went on with his quiet argument.

"All that is now past history. We're more concerned with the present and future. Mr. Ramill has shown common sense by facing the facts of the situation. He has fallen into line. The question is, do you and Miss Ramill throw in with us, or do you go on your own? If with us, I'm to be chief. How about it?"

Huxby had cooled down enough to see the point. "You win. I join up."

Miss Ramill looked puzzled and a bit alarmed. "What's the great idea, Vivian?"

"Very simple, my dear. He has the whip hand. He is boss. We must obey his orders or we'll never get back to civilization."

"Oh! The deplorable coward—She met Garth's cool gaze and fell silent."

He nodded. "You'll begin by rebuilding that fire. After that you'll cook the other liver for your father and yourself. You will then start graining the hair off the moosehide while Huxby and your father go back for more meat."

"I will do no such thing."

"Very well. That means you get no moccasins to replace your boots when those flimsy soles wear through on the rocks."

She flared: "Gallant Sir Gilla-had!"

"Leave her be, Garth," her father interposed. "I'll tend the fire and scrape the skins."

"No. Lie down. Whenever you work, it's to be on your feet. We must build up both your wind and your muscle. Huxby, I'll ask you to fetch that pot and the gold pan."

The mining engineer rose and started up towards the trough without a word of inquiry or protest. Miss Ramill's eyes widened. She gazed wonderingly from him to her father. Mr. Ramill had no less obediently laid down as ordered.

Hen's Eggs Are Worth More.

Chicks coming from hen's eggs are more valuable than chicks from pullet's eggs, says the Texas agricultural experiment station. Although the pullet eggs have a greater percentage of hatch, the chicks are not so strong and not so healthy and are not so productive as chicks hatched from mature hens.

county judge, and the expense will be carried by the society. The Lions Club completed its organization to handle the work Wednesday at its regular luncheon.

The Texas society has banded 800 children since September. Mr. McGlamery said. He pointed out that there are 20,000 crippled children in the state who have not been reached. The normal increase is 1,200 a year. The society spent $13,223 in the state last year for hospitalization and $1,862 for braces and mechanical appliances. It is in connection with the National Association for the Cripple that the Texas society is doing its work.

second grade; Ruth Conkright, first grade; Edna Daughtee, first grade; Eloyse Pittman, first grade. Other employes include W. I. Kucker, high school janitor, and Arthur Davis, central school janitor.

Changes Announced.
Due to the fact that only one seventh grade section will move up this year, making the eighth grade smaller than usual, and that there will be an extra elementary grade section, Miss Chambers is to devote all her time next year to elementary work. This year she is teaching both high school and elementary subjects.

The smaller eighth grade enrollment and the resulting drop in requirements for home economics on the tentative schedule, recently filed out for next year, combined with a decrease in school income due to a smaller number of scholars, have brought about an attempt to conduct the home economics department with only one teacher. This change may also result in a temporary dropping of physical education for freshmen and sophomore girls. These announcements were made by Superintendent Dillehay. The drop in scholars was caused largely by the moving of the CCC camp which last fall brought a number of new students into the school.

Central School

materials and tools to start arriving on the scene this week end. This too will be necessary if the actual breaking of ground for the two wings to be added to the building is to get under way Monday morning.

Start On Wings.

The work will get on for approximately a month before school closes for the summer. The contractor plans to confine all work to the wings during this time in order not to interfere with classroom activities. Later, work will be carried forward on the entire building. A fence will be constructed around the area under construction in order to keep children out of the danger zone.

Work to be done includes the two wings, which will be two stories high and consist of four classrooms each, the construction of fireproof stairways and new toilet facilities, the flattening of the roof of the present structure to eliminate the attic and auditorium, changing of partitions in the basement to provide an assembly room, cafeteria and indoor playground and other improvements.

The PWA grant and loan were accepted by the school board last September 14 and an election passed October 7 to provide bonds to cover the $27,000 loan. Since that time officials have been working toward a completion of the project, and on several occasions during the last few months thought that work was about to get under way. This time the order is official and apparently there is no need of further delay.

A bachelor tax on priests and members of monastic orders has been voted in one Spanish province, 131 snakes.

the progress of this area during the past 100 years. It will be headed by a characterization of Deaf Smith, hero of the Texas Revolution for whom this county was named.

Formal Program.
At 2:30 o'clock the crowd will again invade the Bull Barn for the formal program of the afternoon, featuring Centennial music, readings, the address of Bishop Seaman, orchestra music, a pioneer skit and the presentation of Centennial essay contest winners and prizes.

The folk festival that winds up the occasion will be the first to be presented in the Panhandle. It is the original folk festival, others being planned over the Panhandle being fashioned after plans originated here. The old timers will again be the guests of honor, taking active part in the folk dancing. A small admission charge will be made for this portion of the program; the proceeds to go to the Centennial board's permanent beautification project at the dump grounds east of Hereford.

County Agent Alex E. Bateman stressed the point that stalks must be driven at each corner of the seeded and retired acres. He said there probably would be some difficulty in handling this work accurately on some farms, but regardless of the difficulty, the requirements state that this must be done and there is no way to get around it if those complying with the old program wish to receive pay for their agreement.

Cantatas Are

Those taking part, not including the choruses, in the school program were Nancy Millard, Irene Knox, Virginia Carlie, Faye Crosthwait, Mildred Hucker, Lavina West, Martha Nole Ewton, Gaytha Wilson, Mary Thiel, Mary Ann Baird, Genece Standish, Mildred Cutsinger, Elizabeth Rice, Lenella Scheffgen, Dorothy Thompson, Barbara Brotherton, Viola Beryl Phillips, Virginia Eric Reed, Jean Snyder, Jerry Jewell, Donald Brotherton, Henry Turner and Bill Stanford.

The Civic Chorus presentation was given in three parts, picturing the Prophecies, the Resurrection and Life Evermore. Scripture readings at the opening of each part were given by Rev. J. C. Thorns, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Those taking leading parts were Mrs. Ray Conway, Mrs. Carl Mounts, Mrs. A. C. Thompson, J. E. Bayer, Elmer Patterson and O. T. Williams.

Rattles Cost County.

Taylor county paid $180.91 for rattlesnakes' rattlers in two weeks recently. A bounty of 5 cents per rattle for the first five on a snake and two cents for each additional one has been paid for more than a year. Recently one man brought in the rattlers off 131 snakes.

YOU MAY BE BLUE AND NOT KNOW IT, DOCTOR DECLARES

One can have measles without knowing it and become the center of a large epidemic, Dr. Karl F. Meyer of the University of California School of Medicine has found. A person so infected will not run a fever, Dr. Meyer said; after a study of "symptomless" diseases and the disease's characteristic spots will not appear. Attention was focused on such latent infections during the World War when it was found that tetanus and gas gangrene often set in long after the wound with which they were originally associated.

Reviewing these cases in a recent scientific paper, Dr. Meyer pointed out that infection could be dormant for long periods and was not infrequently stirred up by operations to remove bullets or bits of shrapnel.

TEXAS HIGHWAY DEATHS RISE WHILE U. S. DROPS

Deaths from automobile accidents in Texas increased 15 percent last year, while the national average showed a drop of one percent, according to information in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. In 1935 the deaths from automobiles totaled 1,173, while in 1935 they had jumped to 1,350—an increase of 58.7 per cent. To date, statistics apparently have had little effect upon the motoring public. The evident desire to get there in a hurry overcomes judgment and prompts the use of power under prohibited conditions, with the consequent and inevitable sacrifice of human life.

Somebody must be made to realize that a high-powered machine rolling along even at legal speed upon the highways is far from a plaything. A clearer conception on the part of the driver that the other fellow is likely to disregard the rules of the road also must be generated. An egotism which prompts one to imagine that he owns the highway, that he is not held down to warning signs and highway regulations, that pedestrians are pests, and that the operation of a car is so simple that the driver is the only one on the road—such egotism is frequently fatal. But unfortunately, in many instances, the innocent and law-abiding motorist pays the supreme penalty for this type of folly.

When is this appalling loss of life we add the million others who in the same period have been mangled or has seriously become ill because of the motor car, the problem assumes vital importance not only to the safety first people, but to the general public, whose members are fundamentally interested in the conservation of human life. Let us all cooperate.
