Budget has large deficit

By SALLY JACOBSEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan today sent Congress a $25.5 billion budget plan for 1985 that would rein in domestic spending for another year but press ahead with a military buildup. The result: a $180.4 billion deficit that will occupy much of Congress' attention. Despite the hefty budget deficit, the financial blueprint offers no major action — either through sharp spending cuts or a major tax hike — to wash away the red ink. If the president's financial guide is followed, there would be a decade-long freeze on domestic spending, after adjustment for inflation. Nevertheless, the deficit would impose huge burdens. The budget projects that taxpayers will pick up a $164.7 billion tab just in interest payments on the national debt in the upcoming fiscal year that starts on Oct. 1. Those payments are estimated at $149.5 billion this year. The deficit hit a record $195.4 billion in the 1983 fiscal year and is projected at $183.7 billion this year. Reagan, in his message accompanying the document, took note of the red ink, saying: "Only the threat of indefinitely prolonged high budget deficits threatens the continuation of sustained non-inflationary growth and prosperity. It raises the specter of sharply higher interest rates, choked-off investment, renewed recession and rising unemployment." He called for the deficit problem to be "laid to rest" through a bipartisan effort to curb spending. He also urged, as he has previously, enactment of constitutional amendments that would require a balanced budget and give the president line-item veto authority so he could pare individual items from appropriations bills rather than accepting — or rejecting — the measures in total. In an election year, the administration apparently decided against adding controversial spending cuts or taxing proposals to its financial blueprint, especially since the likelihood of Congress heeding such suggestions — even to pare the troublesome deficits — is considered slim. Overall, the blueprint calls for spending $925.5 billion next year, up from the $853.8 billion estimated for this year. As a result, government spending would account for nearly 24 percent of the value of nation's output of goods and services in 1985, above the 22.4 percent in 1980, the year before Reagan took office. The budget document lauds the administration efforts to keep domestic spending under control. It said spending on domestic programs would run $523.1 billion next year, virtually the same as last year, when adjusted for inflation. Underpinning the budget plan are the administration's assumptions that the economy will continue expanding at a solid pace through the end of the decade, despite the deficits that private economists worry could sink the recovery. The projections also forecast that inflation, interest rates and unemployment will decline. With that rosy economic outlook, the deficits are projected to decline to $152 billion in 1986 and $123.4 billion in 1989. Overall, the budget blueprint urges spending cuts of about $9 billion in a variety of non-defense programs, about half of which would be wiped out by fresh increases in other areas. Turning to the military, the document asks Congress to boost spending next year by 14.5 percent, to $264.4 billion, by far the biggest increase for any major agency. After (See BUDGET, page 2)

'No major action' offered

Defense spending to decrease

By FRED S. HOFFMAN AP
Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger promised Congress today that Pentagon budget increases "can begin to slow dramatically" in fiscal 1987 if it allows the Reagan administration to pursue its record military buildup. Weinberger asked to spend $264.4 billion in fiscal 1985, which starts Oct. 1. This amounts to a 14.5 percent increase over this year's spending level without accounting for inflation and a 9.3 percent increase if inflation is taken into account. If approved, that would bring the cost of the administration's defense program to $683.3 billion in the four years since it began "rearming America." In a 297-page report, Weinberger contended "we have made great progress" in restoring the military balance with the Soviet Union. He and Reagan have blamed "a decade of neglect" by previous administrations for allowing U.S. defenses to slide. "Unfortunately, we cannot make up for a decade of neglect in only three years of higher defense budgets," Weinberger said. "If we stop in mid-course, we will only endanger the progress we have made in re-

But not this year, Weinberger says

cent years, and invite speculation by friends and adversaries alike that the United States can sustain neither its will nor its leadership," he added. "By the same token, if we are allowed to continue on the path we have set, we can look forward to a time, only two fiscal years from now, when defense increases can begin to slow dramatically." The defense secretary said the United States has not regained military parity with the Soviets. He said the Soviet buildup of strategic nuclear missile and bomber forces "shows no sign of slowing." And he said the Soviets have widened their advantage in numbers of conventional weapons "by producing major weapons at rates exceeding those of the United States and its NATO allies combined." However, Weinberger insisted that "we have a lot better position now than in 1981" when the Reagan administration came into power. With much of the Reagan administration program already under way, the fiscal 1985 budget contained no surprises and few significant new elements. It calls for spending nearly $1.8 billion on the much-touted Reagan plan to drive for a virtually impregnable anti-missile defensive shield, probably based in space, by the end of the century. Only $250 million of this would be "new money," Weinberger said, explaining that the rest of the nearly $1.8 billion would be shifted from other less promising anti-missile programs. The administration also is making a third attempt to win congressional approval to start producing a new generation of nerve-gas shells and bombs, something Congress has rejected twice previously. It requested $121 million to prepare for this production. And Weinberger said the budget proposes about $200 million for a highly controversial Mideast crisis strike force that, under an administration concept, would be made up of Jordanian soldiers trained and equipped by the United States. The administration's overall request, which Weinberger described as "prudent and responsible," seeks budget authority totaling $305 billion. This amount, some of which would be spent in future years, is about 13 percent over the authority granted by Congress for this year. According to budget documents, the Air Force would get $104.3 billion in fiscal 1985, the Navy and Marine Corps $96.7 billion and the Army $72 billion. The remainder is earmarked for various defense agencies and retirement pay. The Pentagon notified Congress that it is making bookkeeping changes in the retirement system designed to more accurately reflect those costs. The new budget carries forward major strategic programs, which Weinberger said will result in "a proper balance" with the Soviet Union in long-range nuclear weaponry by 1989, if allowed to reach their planned potential. Among other things, the new budget provides for: —Forty of the new MX intercontinental ballistic missiles at a cost of slightly over $5 billion, an additional 34 new B-1B bombers for $8.2 billion and continued development of an advanced Trident II submarine-launched missile for $2.2 billion. —Purchase of 720 M-1 tanks and 710 armored vehicles from which infantrymen can shoot on the move, as well as 292 light armored vehicles for the Marine Corps.

A break between lectures allowed those attending the West Texas Vegetable Conference time to look over a seed company exhibit. At least 130 persons heard research and marketing reports from Texas A&M and Texas Tech University professors as well as research scientists from agricultural experiment stations.

Computers may help crop prices

BY KIM THOGMARTIN

A marketing and agribusiness economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service told around 130 vegetable growers on Tuesday that computerized marketing will bring them higher prices for their crops. Dr. Forrest Steglin of Texas A&M University in College Station was one of more than a dozen speakers addressing members of the High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council during the day-long West Texas Vegetable Conference held at the Hereford Community Center. Steglin explained the benefits of the portable micro-computer now being used with the telephone which allows marketing to take place without having the buyers, sellers and products at one location. He said computerized marketing lowers the cost of transportation, labor and shrinkage. He added there are drawbacks at first, such as the investment needed to switch to computers, the labor layoffs that result and the adjustment problems faced by everyone involved. "But as much as 90 percent of marketing costs could be eliminated with computerized marketing," he concluded, "and that money would go to you." During the business session, Truman Touchstone was installed as president for the coming year. A farmer and part-owner and president of DIMCO, Inc. at Dimmitt, he served as president once before, about 15 years ago, and last year was vice president of the council. Named vice president was Danny Smith of Smith Potato at Hart, Dwight Colville of Colville-Wilson in Hereford was elected secretary-treasurer. Members of the board of directors of the High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council are Jim Campbell of American Dusting in Hereford, Chuck Holmes of Plainview and Kenneth Gray of Lorenzo.

Drip irrigation, currently being tested by Texas A&M researchers at Halfway, was reported on by Texas Tech University Professor Dr. William Lipe and J.P. Bordovsky, a research engineer at the experiment station. The claimed a low-energy drip irrigation technique was proved effective with potatoes and onions by reducing required water and increasing yields, although Bordovsky said the onions did not grow quite as large as with more conventional irrigation methods. Lipe said drip is also being tested on chili, jalapeno, green and paprika peppers and that scientists will continue to work at developing (See VEGETABLE, page 2)

Network hours expanded

Beginning this evening, Channel 7B on the Hereford Cablevision system will feature eight hours of Arts & Entertainment Network programming instead of the previous three hours. Nickelodeon shows, catering to children, are to be aired on Channel 7B from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. Tonight and Thursday evening, A&E is to present approximately 24 four-minute highlights on the new range of programming it intends to offer. Each subsequent night is to have a special emphasis, with the normal pattern being major stage on Sunday, series Monday, dramatic variety Tuesday, performing arts Wednesday and Thursday, comedy Friday and double features Saturday. Among those contributing to A&E is the British Broadcasting Company. There will also be various music, opera and theatre specials.

Immunizations scheduled

Immunization shots are to be given free of charge every Tuesday and Thursday in February at Deaf Smith Public Health Clinic, 902 E. Fourth St. The injections are slated for 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3:45 p.m. They are for protection against polio, diphtheria, lock jaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella and mumps.

Chemical People to meet

Chemical People, a group aiming to help prevent drug and alcohol abuse by young Americans, has a local meeting slated for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford Community Center. In the meantime, the first regional gathering of Chemical People is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Amarillo's Psychiatric Pavilion Auditorium, 7201 Evans. According to Jeffrey Hill, the local chapter's founder, the Amarillo meeting will begin with award presentations to those who have helped Chemical People become established in the Panhandle. It will also allow involved citizens to meet and exchange ideas, he said. The local meeting is primarily intended, Hill explained, to see what ideas and projects the various committees have been examining.

Memorial funds set

Memorial funds have been established at both local banks for the families of two Hereford men killed Friday night in a one-vehicle accident north of the city. Phillip Dexter Carnahan, 28, and 29-year-old Larry Richard Lomas died when a truck driven by Lomas and pulling a tank of anhydrous ammonia swerved off Highway 385 just before midnight. Joint funeral services were held Monday at the First Christian Church in Hereford. Both men were natives of the area. Carnahan is survived by his wife Jeannette and five children, while Lomas is survived by three kids and wife Jeanne. Those wishing to make donations may contact Irene McKinster at the Hereford State Bank or Liz Hodge at First National Bank.

United Way to gather

The United Way's annual meeting is to be held Wednesday, Feb. 8 at 7 a.m. in the Thompson House Restaurant. All interested participants and supporters are invited to attend.

TUESDAY'S HIGH: 60 (normal high this date: 50 record: 88 (1963))
OVERNIGHT LOW: 30 (normal: 23 record: -14 (1951))
OUTLOOK: Tonight should have a low in the mid-20s, while Thursday's high is expected to be in the mid-50s.

New C of C Leaders

Four testify against Moreno

RICHMOND, Texas (AP) — A 30-year-old maintenance man says Eliseo "Joe" Moreno, the man who allegedly abducted him during a 5 1/2-hour crime spree across Southeast Texas, admitted killing a highway patrolman during the rampage.

"He told me that he killed a DPS trooper, that he took his gun," Robert Wayne Gangle, of Friendswood, testified Tuesday at Moreno's capital murder trial.

Moreno, a lawn mower repairman from Bryan, is charged in the Oct. 11 slaying of Russell Lynn Boyd, 25, a rookie Texas Department of Public Safety trooper. Five other people also died in the gunfire.

Moreno, 24, has pleaded innocent to the charge.

Gangle, who at the time was working at an apartment complex in Pasadena, testified Moreno offered him $20 for a ride to Hobby Airport in Houston.

Customs agents halt work

DEL RIO, Texas (AP) — About 600 mourners gathered in a light rain for a graveside service and U.S. Customs workers throughout the nation momentarily paused to honor a Customs inspector abducted at the border and then killed.

Richard Latham was buried Tuesday afternoon while a minister told his solemn relatives, colleagues and friends they should be better people for having known and worked with Latham.

Latham's body was found Saturday in a ditch north of Eagle Pass, a border town 55 miles southeast of the checkpoint where he was abducted Friday. Investigators said Latham, who was still wearing his uniform, had been handcuffed and shot once in the back.

Prison director leaves job

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — W.J. "Jim" Estelle quietly left the tumultuous Texas prison system that he headed for 11 years and changed from a small rural operation to one of the nation's largest.

Estelle, 52, resigned in October from the $56,000-a-year post as director of the Texas Department of Corrections but agreed to work temporarily as a consultant at the same salary. Prison spokesman Rick Hartley confirmed that Tuesday was Estelle's last day with the TDC.

Daniel V. McKaskle, former head of prison security, was named acting director until the TDC board selects a permanent replacement later this year.

Budget to affect pocketbooks

WASHINGTON (AP) — With impacts ranging from dimes to thousands of dollars, President Reagan's budget will reach out and change the lives and finances of millions of Americans — students and the elderly, veterans and housewives, doctors and lawyers.

The fiscal 1985 budget talks of millions and billions of dollars, but the real impact is in the budgets of American families where the numbers are just plain old dollars, often hard-earned and carefully spent.

For the elderly person paying for supplemental health insurance, Reagan's budget would mean 40 more cents every month in premiums, going up from $17.30 to $17.70.

Flynt jailed for contempt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge has sentenced Larry Flynt to 15 months in prison for contempt of court after a six-hour, obscenity-laced hearing in which the paraplegic Hustler magazine publisher was gagged and handcuffed to his wheelchair.

Flynt, 43, crippled by a 1978 assassination attempt, was calm at first on Tuesday when U.S. District Judge Manuel Real ruled him in contempt for a Dec. 12 outburst before a federal magistrate.

At the court's invitation, Flynt spoke for about five minutes.

"I either want to be free or put me away forever," he said.

Grace period ends, arrests begin

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Twenty-seven thousand people had reason to look over their shoulders today as police began rounding up suspects who failed to turn themselves in for traffic offenses, misdemeanors and felonies during a 50-day grace period.

Police made 132 arrests after the grace period ended Tuesday, and 50 officers from several jurisdictions were continuing the roundup today, said Lt. Jerry Barker, public relations officer for the Indianapolis Police Department.

"They got me at work," said one handcuffed man who was being led into the reception area of the county lockup. "Isn't there some sort of law against that?"

But police Chief Joseph G. McAtee had no sympathy for those caught in the dragnet.

Druse predicting civil war

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two Lebanese soldiers were killed today in battles with Shiite Muslim militiamen, and opposition Druse leader Walid Jumblatt said a new round of full-scale civil warfare was "inescapable."

An army spokesman said an officer and a sergeant were killed during machine gun and rocket-propelled grenade exchanges between army positions and Shiite strongholds in a southern Beirut suburb at midday.

The spokesman, who refused to be identified, said army gunners shot back after coming under fire.

The state radio said army troops in the hilltop village of Souk el-Gharb came under sniper fire at noon, but no casualties were reported in the village overlooking the U.S. Marine base at Beirut International Airport.

Shultz travels to Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz arrived here today to help celebrate 25 years of democratic rule after telling leaders in El Salvador the same path is open to them if they defeat "barbaric extremism."

Shultz will attend the inauguration Thursday of President-elect Jaime Lusinchi, a ceremony that will mark the fourth consecutive peaceful transfer of power here from one party to another.

Shultz's visit to this bulwark of Latin American democracy followed a day-long stay in El Salvador.

Handing Over the Gavel

Bobby Owen, right, accepts the president's gavel as the 1984 leader of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Bob Sims, past president, made the formal presentation Tuesday

Judge to rule on testimony query

By KEN HERMAN Associated Press Writer

GEORGETOWN, Texas (AP) — A Kerrville doctor in whose office six children mysteriously went limp has a harrowing story to tell. Now a judge must decide whether jurors in the murder trial of the doctor's nurse can hear the story.

State District Judge John Carter previewed Dr. Kathleen Holland's testimony Tuesday. Jurors were sent home while lawyers in nurse Genevieve Jones' murder trial argued whether the "extraneous" offense testimony should be allowed.

Ms. Jones, 33, is being tried in the Sept. 17, 1982, death of Chelsea McClellan, a 15-month-old girl who died after receiving two injections from the nurse. Prosecutors say Ms. Jones injected the girl with a fatal dose of succinylcholine, a powerful muscle relaxant.

Ms. Holland calmly recalled Tuesday that Chelsea was one of six children who suffered mysterious seizures during the month Ms. Jones worked for her.

"In retrospect, there was a pattern of physical signs in each of the children, similarities," the doctor testified.

There also was a pattern of occurrences, according to her testimony. Each child fell ill after either being alone with Ms. Jones or getting an injection from her.

Chelsea was the first case. She came to the office on Aug. 24, 1982, one day after Ms. Holland opened her practice. The baby went limp while alone with the nurse, but recovered.

Ms. Holland on Tuesday gave this account of the other cases in which Ms. Jones is charged with injury to a child:

On Aug. 27, Brandy Benitez, 1-month-old, was brought to the office because of diarrhea. The baby was left alone with Ms. Jones in a treatment room. When Ms. Holland returned to the room, the infant "began looking more and more lethargic."

"Then, she just all of a sudden went limp," the doctor said. The child recovered, but Ms. Holland said she could not, at the time, figure out what caused the incident.

Two Army medics testified about an Aug. 30 incident in their helicopter, sent to transfer a 7-year-old patient of Ms. Holland to San Antonio. Jimmy Pearson suffered heart disease and was severely retarded and deformed.

Sgt. David Maywhort said that Ms. Jones looked at the boy, decided he was "really going downhill," and injected something into his intravenous line. Maywhort said, contrary to the nurse's diagnosis, the boy seemed stable before the shot.

He also said Ms. Jones stethoscope examination of Jimmy was pointless because of the noise of the helicopter. Maywhort said he tried to get another medic to stop her, but Ms. Jones gave the shot before he could get to her.

Jimmy reacted within three minutes, according to Maywhort.

"We noted extreme reduction in his respiratory rate and his color" looked worse, he said.

The helicopter landed in a pasture, Jimmy was treated, and the flight to San Antonio continued.

Jimmy died several weeks later. Ms. Jones is not charged in the death, only in the injury.

On Sept. 3, Misty Reichnau, 21-months-old, came to the office with an ear infection. The nurse was ordered to prepare an intravenous solution to give the girl. Ms. Jones was alone when she made the preparations.

"I was holding the child,"

Ms. Holland testified. "Shortly after starting the IV the child, while screaming during the procedure, suddenly stopped screaming and went limp."

Misty later recovered. On Sept. 17, according to earlier testimony, Chelsea died after a similar incident in the pediatrician's office. The girl was given two shots by the nurse. The injections — supposed to give immunizations — included succinylcholine, prosecutors say.

Ms. Holland testified Tuesday that the next mysterious case arose that same day — while she was planning for Chelsea's autopsy. A hospital official told her to return to her office. There she found Jacob Green on a stretcher in an ambulance.

"I asked Genevieve what the hell happened," she testified. "Jacob had a seizure," was the reply, she added.

The boy later recovered.

On Sept. 23, the doctor told her nurse to prepare an intravenous solution for 5-month-old Rolinda Ruff, who also was brought in with diarrhea symptoms. Shortly after the IV was started the girl "began crying quite loudly," Ms. Holland said.

"She took one deep breath as if she was about to make another screaming cry and didn't cry," she said. "She went limp and stopped breathing."

Rolinda recovered. Ms. Jones was fired on Sept. 28 after her boss confronted her with a bottle of succinylcholine that had two unexplained holes. Ms. Holland has testified that Ms. Jones suggested throwing the bottle away.

The punctured bottle was nearly full, but a Department of Public Safety chemist testified Tuesday that it had been greatly diluted with salt water.

Going nude would raise occupancy rate

By ANDREW M. WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Owners of a Houston apartment development want to turn part of the complex into a nudist colony, but some residents are outraged at being asked to either take it all off or move out.

Owners of the Fieldstone Apartments in southwest Houston decided to try the no-clothes policy after the vacancy rate at the 270-unit wood and stucco garden apartments rose to 31 percent.

To manage the complex, where rents range from $300 to $525 a month, they brought in Veal Johnson, who says he has been a nudist for 13 years and is president of the Southwest Sunbathing Association.

But some tenants are indignant over their landlord's plan and have launched a petition drive. They say they will present the City Council with papers today opposing the conversion, which is scheduled to begin April 1.

"I'm personally asking an attorney for advice on my options," said Les Moreland, a leader of the protesting tenants. "I feel that having to move or go nude is the same as forcible eviction. Other tenants feel the same way."

Johnson insists there's nothing wrong with the proposal, which he said was announced 2 1/2 months ahead of time to give residents plenty of warning if they chose to move out. He said most leases at the complex require the management to give only 30 days notice before evicting tenants.

"The law is on our side," Johnson said. "We've got nothing here to hide."

Inquiries from prospective tenants are up from about 30 a month to close to 100 a week since the nudist concept was mentioned, Johnson said. About 75 percent of the callers have been men claiming to be single.

"We've had a few men come in say at first they were single, then admitted later they're married and looking for some place to go on weekends," Johnson said. "They'll never get in. This is not a sexual playground."

Assistant City Attorney Ed Cazares said he has not been asked to study the issue of an apartment complex for nudists, but he seriously doubts "we have the power to regulate it as the law now stands. It wouldn't be an orgy type of thing."

Ideally, Johnson said, only 40 percent of the residents will be single men and the remaining 60 percent will be couples, families and single women.

Bill Harper, vice president of the Houston Apartment Association, says about 10 Fieldstone residents have called the group's resident relations division to inquire about their rights under their leases.

VEGETABLES

peppers with more marketable horticultural characteristics.

Gordon Powell, a fruit and vegetable marketing economist from College Station, presented the vegetable market outlook for 1984.

He told growers that Texas ranked fourth in vegetable production last year topped only by California, Florida and Arizona. Michigan came in fifth. Powell explained those five states represented 80 percent of total production last year in the United States.

Telling the farmers to think carefully about what to plant this year, Powell said the United States Department of Agriculture is predicting a 19 to 35 percent increase in acreage planted this year. He said that is based primarily on the fact that less of those crops were planted last year.

The retail prices of all foods during 1984 are expected to rise four to seven percent, he told growers, with an increased demand for fresh vegetables.

"The outlook is good, but don't plant a lot of any one product without first making marketing arrangements," Powell advised.

The conference was co-sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Deaf Smith County Extension Vegetable Program Planning Committee, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Tech University.

An Amarillo businessman with a background in health care has announced his candidacy for the 86th District State Representative post.

Roger Ponce, 59, is seeking the Republican nomination for the seat being vacated by Bob Simpson.

"There are many critical issues facing the State of Texas including education, water and high level nuclear waste," he said last week. "All are important to this area and I plan to research each and every issue thoroughly and talk with community leaders and any citizen in the Panhandle that has an opinion about state government."

Ponce began working for the Texas Department of Health after completing radiologic training in New York in 1945. He served as the state's chief radiologic technician for 11 years, then took a position with St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

He spent 19 years with the hospital before resigning as administrative technician to establish his own business.

He and his wife Elva live at 3407 Bristol Road and have four grown children. They attend St. Joseph's Catholic Church where Ponce is a 4th Degree Knight of Columbus.

"It is my genuine intention to see that the 86th District continues to receive the same kind of conservative representation it has received for the last 10 years under the quality-effective leadership of Bob Simpson," Ponce said.

"My past experience at St. Anthony's Hospital and my business involvement gives me the background needed to represent the 86th District in a manner that truly reflects the wishes and the views of a majority of the constituents in Randall and Deaf Smith counties."

Ponce files candidacy for state legislature

Since 1973 he has been the owner of a gold and silver refining and reclamation business.

A current member of the city's Industrial Revenue Bond Committee, Ponce is a past board member of United Way and YMCA of Amarillo.

His professional experience includes memberships with the High Plains Society of Radiologic Technicians, the Emergency School Aid Program, the Governing Body Health Systems Agency and St. Anthony's Hospice.

Ponce is a member of the International Good Neighbor Council and a past member of the Five-County Draft Board which includes Deaf Smith County.

Volunteers of the Year

Fred Ruland and Susie Bainum were recognized as Volunteers of the Year at the annual Red Cross chili supper held Saturday at the Community Center. Plaques were presented by Betty Henson, center, executive director of the local chapter. Ruland is a member of the disaster action team, disaster committee, building committee and board of directors, and donated 100 hours to chapter activities this year. Ms. Bainum, a member of the uniformed volunteers, disaster action team and disaster committee, donated 136 hours during 1983. Proceeds from the chili supper, in the amount of $448, will be used for Red Cross disaster relief.

Ann Landers

All guns dangerous

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son-in-law bought my grandson a BB gun for his sixth birthday. His wife tried to talk him out of it, but nobody can tell him anything.

How many other idiots are there walking around who don't know that air rifles can be dangerous? When I was in grade school a neighbor kid shot me with one of those guns and it hurt like to devil, but no permanent damage was done. A friend of mine was not so lucky. He was hit in the eye and half-blinded for life. This kid loved basketball, but after that accident he couldn't excel in it because of his impaired vision.

Children don't have the judgement to own any kind of gun. Isn't there a law against a six-year-old handling one of those things? If there isn't, there should be. — A Grandma In Austin, Tex.

DEAR GRANDMA: Although no one ever died from an air rifle wound (actually an air rifle is no more dangerous than a slingshot), I am pleased to receive such a letter from Texas. It is a mystery to me why a state that has so much to be proud of seems to go out of its way to glorify guns.

A few weeks ago, Miss United States, a 22-year-old beauty from Fort Worth, held a pistol as she paraded in a cowboy-style gown at the Miss World contest in London. The officials told her to put the pistol away.

Of course, there should be a law against allowing a six-year-old to have a gun of any kind, but first let's get a law banning the sale of handguns to every Tom, Dick and Harry who feels he must "protect" himself. More children, family members and neighbors are killed every year by handguns than are intruders, would-be muggers and rapists.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How should I tell my Mom that Dad is cheating on her? I am not guessing. I know it for a fact. I have seen him with the same woman three times. — twice on Saturdays, driving around town, and once having lunch with her in a hamburger place.

Please tell me how to go about it, Miss Landers. I am only 14 and can't seem to get the right words lined up. — Kitchener Problem.

DEAR KITCH: Line up the words for your father — not your mother. Maybe she already knows and doesn't want to do anything about it. Telling her might force her to do something she doesn't want to do in order to hold her head up.

If your father knows you are aware of his woman friend, he may decide to stop seeing her. Or he might decide to tell your mother about it and get the situation resolved — one way or another. Wither of these alternatives is better than putting your mother on the spot.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I must respond to "No Name, No City" so she will know she is not alone. There are countless "closet widows" who rejoice secretly when death releases them from a miserable marriage. I know, because I was trapped in one for 40 years.

I stayed because I needed financial help to raise the children. They all turned out beautifully, no thanks to their father. "Free at Last" described it perfectly.

The peace of mind and freedom from stress are marvelous. "No Name" has no need to feel guilty. She paid her dues. And so did I. — Content In Chicago.

DEAR CONTENT: You and thousands of others. The number of women who wrote to say the same thing was a shocker. — and more than a little depressing.

Hutson hosts Past Matrons

The Past Matrons of the Order of the Eastern Star met with Bea Hutson Monday evening. Wanda Brown assisted as hostess to the 14 members present.

The meeting opened with Lucile Naylor leading in prayer, and members gave the Creed in unison.

Three members who passed away recently, Sister Florence Fluitt, Sister Ethel Curry, and Sister Mollie Ritter, were honored by sending memorials to the Eastern Star Home in Arlington.

The book, "I Came to Love You Late" by Joyce Landorf, was reviewed by Bea Noland.

The meeting was closed by the group repeating in unison the closing prayer. Refreshments were served from a decorated table by the hostesses.

Boys varsity plagued by 'bad luck'

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

AMARILLO—The Hereford High School boys varsity basketball team nearly pulled the District 3-5A upset of the year as it lost a close game, 43-40, to first-place Amarillo High.

"We should have beaten them," a disappointed Whiteface coach Bobby Decker said after the contest. "We turned the ball over a couple of times in the fourth quarter ... missed a couple of layups and short shots. We just could not get the ball to fall.

"If we didn't have any bad luck, we wouldn't have any luck at all ... This one really hurt me because we were so close" to winning the game, Decker said.

The Herd played the much taller Sandies tough the entire game and even led as late as the fourth quarter, 34-33, after two free throws by senior Eric Walterscheid.

If it was not bad luck, Sandie head coach Allen Simpson gave a different reason for the near upset.

"Hereford didn't do anything different that we didn't work on," Amarillo would have won more easily "except for the idiots we have working here," Simpson said of his assistant coaches after the game.

"We didn't execute and they did. Hereford did a good job of handling the pressure ... You have to give coach Decker credit. His kids put pressure on us and forced us to take bad shots ... We were lucky to win this one," a relieved Simpson added.

The Sandies jumped out to an early 8-2 advantage, but consecutive buckets by senior Jeff Streun, junior Sammy Suarez, and senior Mike Scott pulled the Herd within two, 10-8. The teams then exchanged buckets toward the end of the first period.

HHS relied mostly on free throws in the second period, converting seven of 10, to keep the game close. The score at halftime stood 27-23 in favor of AHS.

The Herd relied on a pestering defense during the third quarter and held the Sandies to only four points. But the Whitefaces only scored seven points themselves and the period ended with Amarillo up by one, 31-30.

The fourth quarter opened with a jumper by Sandie Gary Hassenfratz, but Streun answered with one of his own. Walterscheid hit his two free throws to put the Herd up by one, at the 5:52 mark.

The Sandies came back to take the lead, 39-36, on two free throws by 6-foot-6 center Kevin Gleghorn. Then luck went against the Herd as they intercepted passes, and stole the ball, but time after time, the ball would ride the rim and would not fall.

Kelly Calvin, a 6-foot-4 forward, led AHS with 14 points. The Sandies leading scorer coming into the game, Kelly Calvin, a 6-foot-4 forward, led AHS scorers with 14 points. The Sandies leading scorer coming into the game, Tim Gilbreath, was held to just eight game points. Streun paced the Herd with 13 points.

The win lifted Amarillo's district record to 12-0 and 21-2 overall. Hereford now has a 3-8 district won-lost record and is 7-14 on the season.

HHS's junior varsity lost its game, 74-58, to the Sandies JV squad. Rodney Torres led HHS scorers with 12 points.

In another big district game, second-place Monterey topped third-place Caprock, 58-52.

The Herd will travel to Amarillo again Friday to play Tascosa in its next district game.

Amarillo 12 15 4 12-43
Hereford 10 13 7 10-40

SANDIES: Calvin 6 2-2 14, Gilbreath 3 2-5 8, Hassenfratz 4 0-0 8, Solis 2 2-2 6, Gleghorn 1 2-3 4, McCoon 1 0-0 2, Edleman 0 1-2 1. TOTALS 17 9-14-43.

WHITEFACES: Streun 5 3-4 13, Brockman 4 2-2 10, Walterscheid 1 5-7 7, Scott 2 1-3 5, Suarez 1 3-4 5. TOTALS 13 14-20-40.

Sand Attack

Amarillo's 6-foot-6 junior center Kevin Gleghorn prepares to snare an offensive rebound in second-quarter action Tuesday. Even with their height advantage, the Sandies had trouble beating a gutsy Hereford team. AHS eventually won the District 3-5A varsity contest, 43-40.

Whiteface girls lose to Amarillo, 59-40 Tuesday

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

AMARILLO—Aside from the first and fourth periods, the Hereford girls varsity basketball team played District 3-5A co-leader Amarillo an even ballgame while losing the contest 59-40.

"I didn't feel we played as bad as the 19 points (the losing margin) sounds like," HHS coach Larry Sowers said after the game.

"We tried a lot of different things. I think at times we were effective, we just gave up too many easy buckets. The difference was probably our mental lapses offensively," Sowers explained.

Sandie head coach Rosemary Jackson said she was impressed with the way Hereford moved the ball.

"Consequently they scored a lot from the outside," Jackson said.

Jackson said she was referring mostly to sophomore Natalie Sims, who hit seven field goals to lead Whiteface scorers with 14 points.

HHS tried to work the ball in the first period and were somewhat successful, but got hurt by the Sandies full-court press which resulted in a number of cheap baskets for Amarillo.

The game slowed down considerably in the second period and the Sandies took a 24-14 lead into halftime.

Hereford opened things up in the third period and outscored AHS, 18-17.

"Against their man-to-man defense we took good shots and hit," Sowers said of the third quarter.

Amarillo then switched back to a zone defense and the Whitefaces did not seem to adjust. But what really did HHS in during the final stanza was fouling the Sandies.

"They killed us at the free throw line," Sowers said referring to the final period.

AHS hit 10 of 12 free throws in the quarter to ice the victory.

Kids Inc. to meet today

Plans for the upcoming baseball and softball season will get underway at tonight's meeting of Kids, Inc.

The 15-member board of directors will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Hereford State Bank.

The win raised Amarillo's district won-lost record to 13-1 and 17-4 on the season. Hereford now stands at 6-7 in the district and 9-10 overall.

HHS's girls JV team lost a close game to Amarillo, 38-36.

Terry Valdez and Kim Williams each netted nine points in the losing cause.

Hereford will play in Amarillo against Tascosa Friday in next district action.

Amarillo 17 7 17 18-59
Hereford 8 6 18 8-40

SANDIES: Bolk 8 0-0 16, Watson 6 4-7 16, Thrash 5 3-4 12, Posey 1 5-4 7, Boxwell 2 1-1 5. TOTALS 22 13-18-59.

WHITEFACES: Sims 7 0-0 14, Bartels 6 0-0 12, D. Alford 4 0-0 8, High 2 0-0 4, Pibbs 0 2-2 4. TOTALS 19 2-2 40.

Moving Against The Press

HHS's Stacy High dribbles upcourt against Veronica Thrash of Amarillo in second-period play Tuesday. The Whitefaces had trouble against the first-period Sandies, losing the district game 59-40. HHS will try to rebound Friday when it again travels to Amarillo to play Tascosa.

Says he wants to play pro ball

Dupree drops out of USM

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Running back Marcus Dupree has said he will drop out of the University of Southern Mississippi because he wants to play football in 1984. NCAA rules would bar him from playing there until 1985.

But school is not totally out of the picture. Dupree Tuesday night said he hopes to enroll in an NAIA school or Millsaps College, a non-scholarship Division III school near his home. By doing so, he would be eligible to play next fall.

"I want to stay in college and play ball and enjoy the college life. That's my first love, but right now I've got four semesters before I'll be able to play again (for an NCAA school)," he told USA Today before making himself available for further comment.

Dupree is also leaving USM for personal financial reasons. NCAA rules bar him from holding a job, a longtime personal friend says.

Dupree said his immediate plans were to withdraw from 14 hours of classes at Southern Miss and take a construction job or a job at a local funeral home owned by his friend Kenneth Fairley, a Hattiesburg businessman. Dupree said his family in Philadelphia, Miss., needs the money.

The one-time Oklahoma star said he was waiting to see if he would get feelers from teams in the National Football League or United States Football League. He said his "very last option" would be to wage a court fight against NFL rules which bar undergraduates.

Dupree also told the newspaper he was considering court challenge of the NCAA regulation that keeps him ineligible until 1985.

Jim Heffernan, NFL director of public relations, said that even if Dupree wanted to go professional, he is "not eligible for the draft and won't be until a year after his class graduates, (1987). We have our rules and we have no plans to change them."

Doug Kelly, coordinator of information for the USFL, which signed Herschel Walker last year after his junior year at Georgia, said "any statements or questions regarding his future would be purely speculative on anyone's part."

After Dupree dropped out of Oklahoma, USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons said the league would adhere to its policy of signing no more undergraduates. Tuesday he declined comment. Kelly said Dupree's USFL rights belong to the New Jersey Generals under the league's territorial system.

Dupree, highly recruited after a standout career at Philadelphia, Miss., High School, drew national attention his freshman year at Oklahoma, gaining 905 yards. He was heralded before the 1983 season as a leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy but walked away from Oklahoma after the Sooners' loss to Texas 28-16 on Oct. 8.

He spent several days at his home in Philadelphia before enrolling at Southern Mississippi on Oct. 19.

Southern Mississippi coach Jim Carmody issued a statement saying he had hoped Dupree would be able to play for Southern Mississippi next season. But NCAA rules require that an athlete sit out a year after transferring from one school to another.

College Roundup

Maryland tops Virginia

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Without Adrian Branch, the Maryland Terrapins weren't the same team. But as far as Terry Holland was concerned, it didn't matter.

"It was another tough loss for us," the Virginia coach said after Tuesday night's 67-66 loss to the nation's 10th-ranked college basketball team. "We can compete with anyone — but we just can't get over the hump and beat anyone. The toughest part is getting so close and still not beating people."

Actually, the Cavaliers have a 12-5 record overall, but all five losses have come in the Atlantic Coast Conference. With a 2-5 record, the Cavaliers are a far cry from the Ralph Sampson-led teams of the previous four years.

The Terps, meanwhile, managed to win despite the absence of Branch, their starting guard who was suspended Monday by Coach Lefty Driesell along with substitute Steve Rivers after the two were arrested Saturday on a misdemeanor charge of possession of $10 worth of marijuana.

In other games involving the nation's ranked teams,

No. 12 Oklahoma walloped Kansas 103-84, and No. 19 Auburn turned back Mississippi 60-50.

Jeff Adkins led Maryland with 15 points, including the game-winning free throws with three seconds left, while Keith Gatlin, starting in place of Branch, scored 14 points for the Terps.

Mark Fothergill's short hook from five feet gave Maryland a 65-64 lead. Rick Carlisle then missed a jumper from the right corner for Virginia, and Adkins hit a pair of free throws to wrap up the Terrapins' 14th win in 17 starts.

Virginia, losing its third straight game for the first time in four years, was paced by freshman forward Tom Sheehy with a career-high 27 points.

Wayman Tisdale scored 28 points and Tim McCallister had 27 to lead Oklahoma's rout of Kansas. The Sooners built a 59-37 halftime lead over the Jayhawks and never led by fewer than nine points the rest of the way as they improved their record to 17-3.

Kansas was paced by Carl Henry with 18 points and Kelly Knight with 17.

"They deserved everything they got," Kansas Coach Larry Brown said of Oklahoma. "They made shots tonight that I've never seen any team make consistently."

Charles Barkley scored six of his game-high 22 points in the final 94 seconds and Auburn withstood a late Mississippi rally to down the Rebels.

Ole Miss, which had trailed 43-27 with 12:33 remaining, got two baskets apiece from Don Royster, Eric Laird and Ken Coghlan during a spurt that chopped the Auburn lead to 45-40 with 5:57 to play. Two free throws by Andre Laird trimmed the lead to 52-48 with 2:41 to go before Barkley went to work.

Barkley, a burly 260-pounder, scored off a missed free throw with 1:34 to play and came up with two free throws and another rebound basket.

Cliff Robinson becomes hero on misguided play in NBA action

By The Associated Press

Cliff Robinson was the "last option." He turned out to be the hero.

"When Lonnie (Shelton) was taking the ball out, I said I'd be the outlet," Robinson said. "The play was supposed to go to World (Free) or Paul (Thompson). But they were covered."

Instead, Robinson took an inbound pass, whirled and threw up his first three-point attempt of the season.

"I was hoping it would go in," said Robinson. "God brought that one home."

The three-pointer, which came at the buzzer in overtime, lifted the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 114-112 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

In other games Tuesday, it was Washington 118, Atlanta 94; Indiana 111, San Diego 97; New York 117, San Antonio 113; Boston 106, Chicago 83; Houston 122, Kansas City 107; Utah 98, Seattle 94 in overtime; Los Angeles 129, Portland 124; and Milwaukee 123, Golden State 119 in overtime.

"We had the game won," said Detroit Coach Chuck Daly, who saw his team lose for the fifth time in its last six games. "We were in the four corners — that's hold the ball until you get fouled, and you try to avoid going to the free throw line."

Detroit had the ball with a 112-111 lead and 24 seconds left in the extra session. But John Long shot — and missed — with Cleveland grabbing the rebound with one second to go.

Robinson's winning three-pointer gave him 32 points for the night along with 21 rebounds. Kelly Tripuka led Detroit with 24 points.

Bucks 123, Warriors 119
Sidney Moncrief sank two free throws with eight seconds left in overtime to boost Milwaukee past Golden State. The victory snapped a three-game Milwaukee losing streak and handed the Warriors their fifth straight loss.

Moncrief finished with 31 points, and had sent the game into overtime when he hit a reverse layup with 12 seconds to go in regulation.

Purvis Short had 31 points for the Warriors.

Jazz 98, Sonics 94
Darrell Griffith scored five points in overtime, giving him 21 for the game, to help lead Utah past Seattle. Andrian Dantley led all scorers with 34 points, including a 15-footer that gave the Jazz a 97-90 lead with 40 seconds remaining.

Jack Sikma led Seattle with 20 points.

Lakers 129, Trail Blazers 124
Five Lakers scored 20 or more points — led by 23 each by Jamaal Wilkes and rookie Byron Scott — as Los Angeles defeated Portland.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had

21 points, scoring in double figures for the 500th consecutive game in his 15-year career, while Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Bob McAdoo each added 20.

Portland's Calvin Nat'l led all scorers with 33 points.

Rockets 122, Kings 107
Rookie Ralph Sampson scored 33 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to pace Houston over Kansas City.

The 7-foot-4 Sampson scored the Rockets' first six points and finished the first period with 12.

Mike Woodson had 26 points for the Kings, who fell behind by 17 points in the third period and could get no closer than nine the rest of the way.

Knicks 117, Spurs 113

Bernard King tied his NBA career-high regular-season game total of 50 points as New York fought off San Antonio.

The Spurs were paced by George Gervin, who had 41 points, including his 23,000th career point. But the Spurs were able to score only three points in the final 4½ minutes of the game as the Knicks' defense stiffened.

Bullets 118, Hawks 94

Jeff Ruland scored 30 points and grabbed 15 rebounds as Washington pulled away in the second half to bury Atlanta. Trailing 56-54 at halftime, the Bullets outscored the Hawks 50-18 to begin the second half to turn the game into a runaway.

Atlanta was led by Dominique Wilkins, who had 18 points — 14 of those in the first half.

Celtics 106, Bulls 83

Larry Bird scored 22 of his game-high 28 points in the first half as Boston crushed Chicago. It was the Celtics' 26th victory in their last 30 games, while the Bulls lost for the eighth time in their last nine games.

Bird also had 12 rebounds, five steals and five assists.

Reggie Theus, who played for only the fourth time since Dec. 3, played 26 minutes, the longest he has seen action this season, and led Chicago with 15 points.

Pacers 111, Clippers 97

Herb Williams scored 14 of his game-high 28 points in the fourth quarter as Indiana pulled away to defeat San Diego. After Williams gave Indiana the lead for good, 57-56 with 10:05 left in the third quarter, the Pacers outscored the Clippers 12-4 in the next three minutes.

James Donaldson led San Diego with 21 points, while Terry Cummings added 19 points and 15 rebounds for the losers.

What do these taxpayers have in common? One left the armed forces to take a high-paying job. The second had a spouse who returned to the job market after several years of staying home to raise children.

Each is a candidate for income averaging under a rule that lets some save hundreds, or even thousands, of dollars in taxes.

TAX TIP: If you've had a major increase in earnings, be sure to make an income-averaging computation before you complete your return. You'll need income information for five years. You can obtain earlier data from the tax returns you filed in the four prior years.

Income averaging lets you treat your income during the five-year period as though it was earned in essentially equal chunks. As a result, assuming you did unusually well in 1983, part of that income can be taxed at a lower rate and this will reduce your tax bill.

This test will help you decide whether to income average.

1. Add taxable income for years 1982, 1981, 1980 and 1979.
2. Multiply this total by 30 percent.
3. Now subtract $3,000 from your 1983 taxable income.

If your entry on line 3 is greater than that on line 2, income averaging could save you tax — assuming you pass three further tests.

First, you must have been a citizen or resident of the United States during 1983 and for the four years immediately preceding.

Second, you must have provided at least half of your own support for the years 1979 through 1982. There are some exceptions to this rule. (You'll find an explanation on the back of schedule G.)

Third, you must give up any right to exclude income earned outside the United States even though you excluded such income in the past.

Once you've decided you may be eligible, you must calculate whether you have "averageable income" of more than $3,000. In general, averageable income is the amount by which your 1983 adjusted taxable income exceeds 30 percent of total income during the prior four years.

That may seem a bit confusing. The point is, averageable income is a measure of how much your income increased during 1983.

The four-year period immediately preceding your "computation year" is called your base period, and each one of these years is called a base period year. If you do not have copies of your base year income tax returns on hand, copies of them can be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service for a fee. Do not wait until the last minute to request your prior tax returns. It will take the IRS up to six weeks to send them.

Let's look at an example: Gene and Shirley Johnson had taxable income of $56,200 for 1983. That was high compared to their four preceding years. That is, taxable income during the four prior years was: 1982, $37,200; 1981, $28,800; 1980, $21,800; 1979, $25,200 for a total of $113,000. Note that in figuring taxable income for 1979 and 1980, you must make a subtraction for exemptions on the space provided in Schedule G.

It is helpful to obtain a copy of Schedule G and do the arithmetic on this combination work sheet and tax form. The Johnsons enter these amounts on schedule G, step 1, lines 1 through 10. In step 2, they calculate 30 percent of that total — $33,840. In the rest of step 2, they check to see if they had to reduce 1983 taxable income for early pay-out on a Keogh plan (they did not) and if they should adjust 1983 income under a state community-property rule (no).

When they subtracted $33,840 from their 1983 taxable income on line 12, they found an averageable income of $22,360. Because this was far more than $3,000, it was clear that they would save by averaging.

Step 3 does the important arithmetic. It's a little hard to follow the IRS's reasoning, but it's easy to follow the computations.

Income averaging results in a lower tax because averageable income is cut into five equal parts. The result is that the taxpayer is dropped into and taxed at a lower tax bracket than he would have been.

This is the form to use if you income average.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Governor Mark White found himself on the political hot seat last week for what has been pictured as lavish expenditures of both state and political campaign funds.

The criticism in the press followed on the heels of White's, and other public officials', quarterly financial reports required by law.

White came under fire for different reasons:

—Republican Party chairman George Strake, a natural foe, said White could have pared $1 million in frills from the $3.1 million cost of his new, foreign-made jet which will carry White on official state business. White recently replaced the 20-year-old twin engine plane used by previous governors.

Strake, in essence, accused White of spending too much money for "luxuries" at the same time that White is seeking a major tax increase to supplement teachers salaries.

—The press scrutinized the legality of White's diverting state money appropriated for the Texas Film Commission to build a children's playroom at the Governor's Mansion. The cost was $35,500, and the method was apparently legal.

"They were doing such a fine job at the film commission they didn't need that $43,000, and my children were having to play in the terrible weather conditions," White explained.

—The press also lumped White with several other public officials in asking to what extent they should be allowed to defray private expenses from public officeholder accounts. Expenditures listed in '83 topped $1.5 million for such items as Christmas cards, luxury hotel suites, food and liquor, etc., for a bevy of officials.

Optimism shown

Outlook favorable as prices soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crop and livestock prices continue to show muscle this winter, gaining another 2.1 percent in January, says the Agriculture Department. That put prices 12 percent above year-ago levels, on the average.

Higher prices for cattle, eggs, tomatoes, hogs and broilers contributed most to the gain, the department said Tuesday in its monthly report. However, lower prices were reported for oranges, lettuce, soybeans, cotton and milk, which helped offset the increase for other items.

Prices paid by farmers to meet expenses, meanwhile, rose 0.6 percent from December and averaged 3.8 percent more than a year ago.

Drought and the government's payment-in-kind program reduced crop production sharply last year, which has helped push some commodity prices higher this season. In January, the report said, crop prices were up 20 percent from a year ago, and livestock prices up 5.6 percent.

Food prices rose 2.1 percent last year, according to USDA, the smallest annual increase since 1967, compared to a 4 percent gain in 1982. Department economists say food prices may rise about 4 percent in 1984, with last year's drought accounting for 1 to 1.5 percentage points of the increase. Higher farm prices, inflation and increased middleman costs also will have an effect.

In the preliminary January figures, which are based mostly on mid-month averages, the index for poultry and eggs was a record high for the third straight month, up 12 percent from December and 62 percent above a year ago. Poultry flocks have been trimmed the past year to help offset rising production costs. Hot weather last summer and recent bouts of avian influenza also have reduced bird numbers.

Fruit prices were down 9.2 percent from December, averaging 4.4 percent below year-earlier levels, the report said. Lower prices for oranges were mainly responsible.

Vegetable prices as of mid-January were up 11 percent from December and 52 percent above a year earlier, the report said. Higher prices for tomatoes and sweet corn were mostly responsible, while lower prices were reported for lettuce.

Overall, farm prices in January averaged 143 percent of a 1977 base price average used for comparison, according to the preliminary figures, compared to 140 percent in December and 128 percent in Jan. 1983.

The January parity ratio of 58 percent was up from a revised reading of 57 percent in December. A year ago it was 54 percent.

Under the parity formula, prices farmers get for commodities are compared with prices they pay to meet expenses. It then uses a 1910-14 measurement to gauge what happened. At 100 percent, the indicator would theoretically mean that farmers have the same buying power they had in 1910-14.

For example, the average price of corn in January was $3.15 per bushel, according to the preliminary figures. That was 60 percent of the January parity price of $5.29 per bushel.

The report also said:

- Cattle averaged $56.50 per 100 pounds of live weight nationally compared with $54.20 in December and $54.30 a year earlier. These are averages for all types of cattle sold as beef.
- Hogs averaged $47.30 per 100 pounds compared with $44.20 in December and $55.30 a year ago.
- Corn, at $3.15 a bushel, was unchanged from December. Corn was $2.36 a bushel a year ago.
- Wheat prices at the farm, according to the preliminary figures, averaged $3.43 a bushel, compared with $3.47 in December and $3.57 year ago.
- Rice averaged $8.74 per 100 pounds, compared with $8.66 in December and $8.05 in January of last year.

This tax is multiplied by five and added to the tax on 30 percent of base period income. This results in your tax for 1983.

Remember this house-keeping detail: If you income average, you won't use the tax tables. Instead you will have to use one of the tax rate schedules — X, Y or Z. Which one will depend on your filing status.

When you've finished, transfer your answer from line 32 of Schedule G to your income tax form 1040, line 39. Check the box marked "Schedule G" on form 1040 so the IRS will know what you're doing.

Brownlow receives Eagle Scout award

RUSSELL BROWNLOW ...awarded honor

Russell Kent Brownlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Brownlow, was awarded rank of Eagle Scout of Troop 50 Court of Honor Monday in ceremonies held in Deaf Smith County Library Heritage Room. Russell joined Troop 50 Sept. 8, 1980, and earned Eagle Rank Sept. 12, 1983. Scoutmaster for his troop is Gary Billingsley.

To receive rank of Eagle one must have advanced from rank of Scout to Life and earned at least a total of 21 merit badges of which 11 are required along with eight skill awards. One must do a service project which is to be helpful to his community. Russell's project was painting the playground equipment for Hereford Day Care Center. Betty Dickson, director of the center, presented Russell with a plaque of appreciation for his project.

New officers installed during monthly meeting

New officers were installed last week when the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary held its monthly meeting at the Fire Station. Marva Spain will serve as president; Cindy Henson, first vice-president; Deidra Drake, second vice-president; Abby Watts, secretary; and Kim Bigham, treasurer. Members discussed holding April Fools dance for the first money-making project of the year. More information will be available at the next meeting.

George Ochs served as Master of Ceremonies for Court of Honor with presentation of colors by members of Troop 50. Pledge of Allegiance was led by Life Scout Marcus Loyd. Troop 50 committee members Joe Hacker, Scott Ward, Jay Parks and Wes Gulley, explained the obligation of the Eagle Scout and Kurt Claussen, district executive of Tierra Blanca district, presented the Eagle charge.

Invocation and benediction was given by Pat Maupin. Life Scout Rodney Loyd and Star Scout Jim Bob Parker served as honor guard. Russell is presently serving as junior assistant Scoutmaster while in the past he served as patrol leader, assistant senior patrol leader, senior patrol leader and Leadership Corp of Troop 50. He is a Brotherhood member of the Order of Arrow. A large crowd was present among whom were members of Troop 51 with Scoutmaster Al Sinnacher and Cub pack 151 and Cubmaster Robert Ray. Guests were served refreshments by Cynamid Brownlow, the honoree's sister, and Pam Brown.

Entrants sought for photogenic contest

Women between the ages of 18 and 36 are invited to enter the Ms. PP of A Photogenic Contest, sponsored by the Professional Photographers of America Inc.

Finalists will be selected on the basis of the subject's photogenic appearance. Expression, poise, lighting and print quality will also be determining factors.

Entries from each of the 50 states will be judged by a qualified panel of jurors at PP of A headquarters in May.

State finalists will compete for one of four national finalist positions and these four will vie for the national title, receiving an all-expense paid trip to PP of A's Atlantic City convention June 18-22.

The national winner will receive a $2,500 grand prize; first runner-up, $1,500; second runner-up, $750; and third runner-up, $250.

Entry deadline is April 17. To obtain information about the contest contact Mary R. Hamby at 364-6905.

Abundant Life

By BOB WEAR

There is need for a flexible personality organization, because this is essential for personal health, comfort and general well-being.

THIS MEANS that we must not permit rigidity to become part of our life style. Rigidity will make life undesirable and unpleasant, because it is made up of such undesirables as prejudice, unreasonableness, closed-mindedness and inconsiderateness.

THIS IS NOT a reference to justified convictions which are being handled wisely. Without such convictions, there is little or no strength of character and personality; however, this will not be a rigid condition of mind. Neither is it a condition of being tossed to and fro by everything to which we may be subjected. The point is that a wisely formed and intelligently-held conviction does not cause rigidity - firmness, but not rigidity.

THE FLEXIBLE personality organization enables us to adjust and cooperate in every way a situation may require; short of compromising a wisely held conviction. When it becomes necessary to stand firm, we will be able to do this with all of the graciousness and kindly consideration befitting mature and desirable persons.

IN OUR THINKING, we must be flexible enough to adjust and make whatever changes additional truth may require. Without being unstable, flexibility is essential to the continuous adjustments that we must make to reality.

IN MANY aspects of life, it is much wiser to bend a little than it is to be broken.

Lefty O'Doul of the Philadelphia Phillies set a National League record in 1929 by reaching base 334 times. He made 254 hits, drew 76 walks, and was hit by a pitched ball four times.

Little rules of life: Remember to wear your rubbers and the rain will trickle down your garments - INSIDE the shoes.

Vinegar's a savior!

DEAR POLLY - I recently let out the hem on my child's pants. It left a white mark where the old hemline was. Is there any way to eliminate this white mark? - PAT
DEAR PAT - Wring a soft cloth out in white vinegar and place it over the old hemline (if the pants are washable and colorfast; if not, test the vinegar on a hidden seam allowance to make sure it will not cause color change or damage the fabric). Iron over this cloth as if it were a press cloth. If necessary, redampen the cloth with vinegar and repeat until the line and crease are gone. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - We had a houseful of smoke when I forgot something on the stove. The smell in the house was terrible. I put a quart of vinegar in a pot on the stove and kept it simmering until most of the vinegar evaporated. It surely helped to get rid of the odor. Good old vinegar to the rescue again! - MRS. E.S.

DEAR POLLY - Try this for removing strong seafood odor: Mix baking soda with dishwashing liquid and wash your smelly hands in it. The strong odor will disappear. This also works to remove the odor of liquid bleach. - MRS. P.L.

DEAR POLLY - Here are some traditions I am establishing for my 2-year-old daughter. I thought your readers would like to share them.

Each year on her birthday, I write her a short letter, telling her all the new things she did over the year and the things we've done together. When she's older, I think she'll be interested in looking back over these letters to see what her early years were like.

Each Christmas, I buy a dated Christmas ornament for her. When she is grown and ready to move out on her own, I will present her with all the Christmas ornaments. She'll then have a good start on decorations for her own tree. - FRANCES

YES, IT'S LEGAL, BUT IS IT HELPFUL?

You are certainly free to eat food offered to idols if you want to; it's not against God's laws to eat such meat, but that doesn't mean that you should go ahead and do it. It may be perfectly legal, but it may not be best and helpful.

Don't think only of yourself. Try to think of the other fellow, too, and what is best for him.

Here's what you should do. Take any meat you want that is sold at the market. Don't ask whether or not it was offered to idols, lest the answer hurt your conscience.

For the earth and every good thing in it belongs to the Lord and is yours to enjoy.

If someone who isn't a Christian asks you out to dinner, go ahead; accept the invitation if you want to. Eat whatever is on the table and don't ask any questions about it. Then you won't know whether or not it had been used as a sacrifice to idols, and you won't risk having a bad conscience over eating it.

But if someone warns you that this meat has been offered to idols; then don't eat it for the sake of the man who told you, and of his conscience.

In this case his feeling about it is the important thing, not yours. But why, you may ask, must I be guided and limited by what someone else thinks?

If I can thank God for the food and enjoy it, why let someone spoil everything just because he thinks I am wrong?

Well, I'll tell you why. It is because you must do everything for the glory of God, even your eating and drinking.

So don't be a stumbling block to anyone, whether they are Jews or Gentiles or Christians.

That is the plan I follow, too. I try to please everyone in everything I do, not doing what I like or what is best for me, but what is best for them, so that they may be saved.

And you should follow my example, just as I follow Christ's.

1 Corinthians 10:23-33: 11:1

Travel program given at recent club meeting

Sherry Sargent, representing Hereford Travel Center, presented an informative travel program to members of La Madre Mia Study Club Thursday in the home of Mary Beth White.

She showed a film about trips to Hawaii and outlined services provided by the travel center, and several of the trips available.

The speaker was introduced by Carolyn Baxter, who served as co-hostess for the meeting.

Roll call was answered with members telling a trip they would like to take. Committee reports were given during the business meeting conducted by President Marlene Watson.

The social committee reported that the Valentine-Husbands Party will be Feb.

16 at the Hereford State Bank. The project committee presented several ideas for members to consider.

It was decided to establish a permanent $250 scholarship fund to be given to a Hereford High graduate each year.

Other members present were Frances Berry, Beverly Bryant, Janice Faulkner, Sarah Hazelrigg, Mary Herring, Sharon Hodges, Betty Lady, Betty Owen, Lucy Rogers, Carrell Ann Simmons, Jenna Simmons, Tricia Sims, Mysydia Smith, Georgia Sparks, Debbie Tardy, Betty Taylor and Pat Walsh.

Cholesterol not only factor involved

COLLEGE STATION - A low-cholesterol diet alone is no insurance against coronary heart disease.

"Although cholesterol has received a great deal of publicity, it is not the only factor associated with heart attacks," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"High blood pressure, smoking, obesity and physical inactivity are also involved," she adds. "So those concerned about heart disease really need to examine several different lifestyle changes they can make to reduce this risk."

For example, restricting total calories to reduce weight is effective in lowering cholesterol levels for anyone, but especially for those who are overweight, says Hunt.

Because physical activity is also an important factor in keeping cholesterol levels low, the American Heart Association advocates regular exercise. Studies show an inverse relationship between exercise and cholesterol levels, she explains. Many people who eat large amounts of fat and cholesterol, but are also heavy exercisers - like athletes or laborers - have normal cholesterol levels.

A recent study by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute which showed that reducing cholesterol with diet and drugs can reduce the risk of heart disease, has generated more public interest in low-fat diets, says the nutritionist.

But not everyone needs to be concerned with cholesterol, she says, since it's estimated that only about 25 percent of American adult men and women need to lower their cholesterol levels.

If you are considering a low-cholesterol diet, Hunt suggests having your blood cholesterol level checked by your doctor. If it is above 240 mg-dl, your doctor may recommend that is be reduced.

A cholesterol-lowering diet involves restricting consumption of meat, eggs and shellfish while also reducing overall fat consumption to less than 30 percent of your calories.

Even with such a diet, cholesterol reductions may not be highly significant. Participants in the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute study who were on low-cholesterol diets for 7 to 10 years reduced their levels by an average of only four percent.

Those participants who took the cholesterol lowering drug had an 18-25 percent drop. Since all the participants were already in a high risk category for heart disease, the strict diets and drug treatment were understandable, says Hunt.

A low cholesterol diet may not be necessary for everyone, but a well-balanced diet is, says Hunt. Trimming the visible fat from meat, using cooking methods other than frying, and not overeating fried foods will do a lot to moderate fat consumption in any diet, she notes.

Esophageal reflux

DEAR DR. LAMB - I went to my doctor for a swallowing problem and he found a slight hiatal hernia. He prescribed an antacid, but I only took Rolaids.

I sent for your Health Letter on hiatal hernias and it has been very helpful. Now I only take an occasional Rolaid and I've eliminated the heartburn.

But I still have trouble swallowing food. The food builds up in the esophagus and I have to drink a lot of water about three glasses with every meal. Is this due to the hernia?

DEAR READER - The fact that you had heartburn suggests you had esophageal reflux. The acid contents of the stomach leaked backward into your lower esophagus. The constant irritation of the lower esophagus can cause scarring. The contracted scar may make it difficult for food to pass easily into your stomach.

You also can have the same problem if the esophagus goes into a spasm. The food lodges in the lower esophagus. In some people, the amount of food that accumulates in the esophagus without passing into the stomach can provoke the vomiting of undigested food.

Anyone having trouble swallowing needs a careful examination. You must be sure there's no malignancy in the esophagus. A diverticulum (pocket) of the esophagus can cause similar problems. A doctor may need to put a scope down your esophagus to see directly what's there.

You also may need some dilatations if the lower part of the esophagus is contracted. That often helps to relieve the situation before the scar contracts further.

In any case, go back to your doctor for a follow-up examination. I'm glad the Health Letter Esophageal Reflux, helped you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

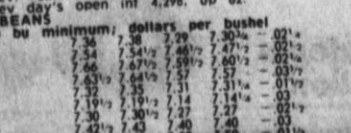

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have a small, innocuous sebaceous cyst on my back, which the doctors say I don't have to remove unless it becomes infected. I'd rather not have it removed, but my spouse feels I should.

What exactly is a sebaceous cyst? I know it has to do with sebum, but I'm not sure what sebum is.

DEAR READER - Sebum is an oily secretion produced by glands inside your skin. It's the same material that forms whiteheads, some of which change color and become blackheads. The oily material normally comes to the surface of the skin to work as a natural moisturizer and lubricator.

When the ducts that drain the sebaceous glands become obstructed, the material accumulates within the skin and forms a cyst. They usually contain this sebaceous material in a little sac. These cysts can be small or large. If they are unsightly or in a location where they might cause a mechanical problem, a simple incision can be made over the cyst and the entire cyst removed.

The cyst aren't cancerous. As your doctor has told you, they are harmless unless they become infected.
