

Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday Night

By LAVON NIEMAN
A new Miss Hereford will be chosen Saturday night when 26 girls vie for the title. The Miss Hereford Pageant will be staged at the Hereford High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Theme of the pageant will be "Raisin a Ruckus." The winner will reign over the Hereford Town & Country Jubilee which is set for Aug. 20-23.

All contestants will participate in a talent contest beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium. The top 10 chosen will perform their talent Saturday evening. Admission for the afternoon presentation will be $1 with tickets available at the door. The 26 entrants will be seen Saturday night in evening-wear competition. The girls will also be interviewed by the three judges prior to the evening show. Each division of judging, including talent, interview and evening wear, are scored one third for each.

The Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring the Miss Hereford Pageant for its 10th consecutive year. This is first year there have been enough contestants to have preliminary judging in the afternoon. The Women's Division feels like there will be a "full house" with so many girls entered and especially because the talent division has been brought back.

Admission tickets are on sale for $2.50 which includes a 32 page program book. They can be purchased in advance at the Chamber of Commerce office, Casey's Books and Records, First National Bank, Hereford State Bank, Etcetera, Pants Cage, Funny Farm and Boots and Saddles. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The new Miss Hereford will receive the crown now held by Diane Warden, along with $600 in cash provided by the Women's Division.

Candidates for the title range between the ages of 15-18. First runnerup and second runnerup will receive $300 and $200 cash, respectively.

Special entertainment will be presented by Miss Hereford of 1980, Holly Hodges and the Country Four.

The stage show is under the direction of Keith Ann Gearn, assisted by Terri Morgan.

Chairman of the steering committee for the pageant is Shirley Wilson. Members of her committee are Betty Gilbert (president of the Women's Division), Betty Lady, Donna Jones, Janice Faulkner and Carolyn Hays.

John Dawson, program director for KGNC AM-FM in Amarillo since 1974 will emcee the pageant.

Judges for the event will be Dr. Billy Ross and his wife Avis Ross of Lubbock, and Walter Maynard of Dimmitt. Dr. Ross is chairman of the Mass Communications Department at Texas Tech University. His wife is an academic program assistant in the registrar's office at Tech. Both are former judges of the local pageant.

Mrs. Maynard has served on the steering committees of the Miss Grain Sorghum of the Nation pageant and the Miss Dimmitt pageant, and she is a talent consultant for both of the pageants. She has also been a judge for the Miss Wilbarger County contest and the District Lions Club Queen's contest. She attended Sherwood School of Music in Chicago and West Texas State University.

Up to 8 Inches in 4 Days

Rain Boosts Crops Outlook

By O.G. NIEMAN
Publisher

Gentle, soaking rainfall over the past four days—ranging from 3 inches up to more than 8 inches—have boosted crop prospects tremendously in Deaf Smith County.

"It has just been super," exclaimed John Fuston of the local ASCS office. "As far as the corn, milo and '82 wheat is concerned, it couldn't have been better.

"The moisture might have hurt the potatoes and onions. These crops were about 80 percent harvested. When the fields get dry, we might get some more potatoes," commented Fuston. He added that the rain might have hurt the cotton crops some, "but overall it's hard to sound a sour note."

Heaviest rainfall in the past 24 hours was reported at the

J.F. Martin farm in the Walcott area. A total of 2.8 inches was reported since yesterday morning, and a total of more than 8 inches since last Thursday. The Bruce Coleman farm in the Walcott area recorded 4.5 inches for the past four days.

Dawn Co-Op reported 1.25 inches since yesterday morning, with a total of more than 6 inches during the rainy spell. Easter Grain reported 1.3 inches yesterday and a four-day total of more than 3 inches.

Only a trace of rainfall was recorded yesterday at Simms and other northwest areas, but the four-day total ranged from 3.6 to more than 6 inches in that part of the county. The Perrin farm, 43 miles northwest, had totals of 4.5 and 5.7 just several miles apart.

Northwest Grain recorded more than 6 inches.

Only two-tenths was recorded at the H.L. Hershey farm, 13 miles northeast, yesterday. Their four-day total was 3.5 inches. Milo Center reported .25 of an inch yesterday and a total of 5.8 inches for the rainy period.

Most farmers are predicting bright crop potentials because of the beneficial moisture, but they are also hoping for good market prices to make the dreams come true.

Hereford and Deaf Smith County apparently was one of the wettest areas around the Panhandle and South Plains. Reports Thursday morning showed Dimmitt with almost 2 inches; Friona 1.1, Olton 2.89, Littlefield, 1.93, Floydada 3.88, Muleshoe 1.75, Plainview 2.04, Tulia 2.02, Amarillo 1.14.

Germans Observe Wall's Anniversary

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFFER Associated Press Writer

BERLIN (AP) — "Do you remember?" says the TV announcer's voice. Shadowy film clips show thin, elderly women leaping from second-story windows to the upstrech arms of a crowd below.

With such programs and with speeches, parades and memorial services, Germans both east and west of the Berlin Wall observed the 20th anniversary today of the communist barrier.

As they do every year, thousands of workers were to parade in East Berlin and hear a celebratory address by Communist Party chief Erich Honnecker, who supervised the construction of the wall.

East German newspapers have been publishing daily interviews with officials hailing the wall as an "anti-fascist protection" that prevented war during a period of East-West tension.

In West Berlin, wreaths were to be placed at points along the whitewashed wall where black crosses memorialize 71 escaping East Germans who leaped to death from houses on the border or were shot by border guards.

In West Germany, government officials called for improved ties between the two nations despite recent setbacks, including the doubling last winter of fees for visitors to the East.

"To this day, the wall has not lost its inhumanity," said Egon Franke, the West German minister for inner-German relations, in a statement. "It remains a symbol for the division of Germany."

East German militiamen threw up a barbed-wire barrier between the Soviet occupation zone of Berlin and the French, British and American zones during the early morning hours of Aug. 13, 1961, to stem a flood of workers escaping from communist-ruled East Germany.

The year before, 150,000 had fled, and West Berlin was the easiest route. With Cold War tensions mounting, escapes were averaging 1,800 a day. Many were trained technicians and skilled workers, imperiling the limping East German economy.

Later the barrier was replaced by a 100-mile wall ringing the western half of divided Berlin with tank traps, watch towers and automatic machine guns. It reduced escapes into West Berlin to a trickle.

Most newspapers published long articles about the anniversary. West German television, which can be picked up in nearly three-fourths of East Germany, scheduled several hours of programs showing the construction of the wall and efforts of people to deal with its existence.

Films shot during the first days of the construction showed workmen bricking up windows in houses along the borders. There were films of several escape attempts, including one young East German soldier who heaved his rifle over the barbed wire and leaped after it.

A dramatization titled "The Border" portrayed two groups of men from East and West Germany who must

Reagan Signature Today Marks 'Change in Course of America'

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer
SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan is reversing the course of government with the stroke of a pen by signing into law the largest tax and spending cuts in American history.

By placing his signature on the legislation today in an outdoor ceremony at his secluded mountaintop ranch, Reagan is achieving the No. 1 goal of his first six months in office.

The bills slash planned federal spending on domestic programs by an estimated $130.5 billion over the next three years and reduce individual and business income taxes by $749 billion through fiscal 1985 — the cure Reagan prescribed to revitalize the nation's economy.

Federal income tax rates will be cut 25 percent over 33 months, beginning Oct. 1, when the amount withheld from most workers' paychecks will drop about 5 percent.

Additional 10 percent reductions in withholding will be made next July and in July 1983.

Starting in 1985, personal tax rates, the standard deduction and the $1,000-per-person exemption will be adjusted each year to help offset inflation.

Seventy-five reporters, photographers and television cameramen were assembled for the signing ceremony at Reagan's 688-acre ranch in the Santa Ynez Mountains, his first public appearance since he began a four-week vacation last Thursday.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said the president's top priority after he returns to the White House next month will be "to make the economic program work."

He also is promising further budget cuts and plans to meet next week with budget director David A. Stockman to begin plotting those reductions.

The legislation being signed today set a federal budget of about $700 billion for fiscal year 1982, $35.2 billion lower than the spending plan submitted by former President Carter before he left office in January.

It reduces spending for Social Security by $2.2 billion, mostly by eliminating the $122-a-month minimum benefit. Food stamps are cut $1.7 billion and employment training $4.6 billion.

It also reduces by $11.6

billion the government's authority to enter into contracts to build low-income subsidized housing.

Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., chairman of the House Budget Committee, has called the Reagan budget "the most monumental and historic turnaround in fiscal policy that has ever occurred."

The legislation cutting taxes is equally staggering.

Three-quarters of the cuts will go to individuals, mostly through rate reductions averaging about 25 percent at each income level.

For a typical family of four with one earner and a $20,000 income, the tax reduction will be about $25 this year, $226 in 1982, $371 in 1983 and $464 in 1984. By the time the bill is fully effective in 1984, the

South Main Allsup's Hit by Holdup Man

Hereford police are searching today for a Mexican male who reportedly held up the Allsup's Convenience Store on South Main around 11 p.m. Wednesday. An undetermined amount of cash was taken in the robbery, during which the suspect held a "small, black pistol" on the clerk and ordered her to fill a paper sack with money.

According to HPD sergeant Vernon Hope, the suspect was described as about 6-1, weighing around 165 pounds. He was wearing a red plaid shirt, levis, and had a red bandana around his head and over his mouth. After getting the money from the clerk, the robber told her to lie down on the floor, and he left the scene. Hope said no description of the vehicle was obtained.

In other reports Wednesday, Bill Kirk, 212 Northwest Drive, reported that items totaling $680 were taken from his garage sometime within the past week. Missing were a set of golf clubs valued at $575, golf shoes valued at $55, and a red shag bag valued at $50.

Corena Valdez, 308 Knight Street, reported that someone slashed all four tires on her car early Thursday morning. Value of the tires was $300.

The Sherwin-Williams paint company at 1003 West Park, told police someone threw a rock through a sign at that business during the night Tuesday, causing $35 damage.

Four wheels and tires were removed from a vehicle at Walker's Used Cars, 400 West

Cowgirl Hall May Receive Property

While still in the embryo stage, the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame may be the recipient of a large gift for a possible future home for the hall's museum and art gallery. Word has been received by HOF president Margaret Formby that former Hereford resident Marsh Pitman is considering donating his former residence at 14th and Ave. B to the hall.

Mrs. Formby said the groundwork for the transfer of title to the 6,000 square-foot home to the HOF has been laid, but that much work still needs to be done before a definite decision can be made.

Pitman, formerly associated with Pitman Commodities here, recently moved to Chicago.

Mrs. Formby said she was "very excited" about the prospects of the transfer, which would provide a permanent home for the museum and gallery, which are currently housed in the Deaf Smith County Library.

Defense Heads Accuse Air Force of 'Warfare'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some defense officials are accusing the Air Force of waging guerrilla warfare to keep the Reagan administration from dropping a plan to base the new MX missile in shelters in Western states.

The idea, the officials say, is to head off a substitute plan to deploy the new missile in giant airplanes. The airborne plan reportedly is favored by Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

The officials imply that Air Force officers have been trying to muster support in Congress via back-door contacts and have been indicating to some outside sources that

Horse Stealing Still Around

HOUSTON (AP) — The hanging of horse thieves may have gone out with the Old West, but horse stealing is still around and one modern-day rustler says inflation made him do it.

Milton Ray Oliver, 19, was sentenced to 10 years in prison Wednesday on charges of stealing two horses and a trailer to carry them in.

He said he started rustling horseflesh after he was laid off his job with a homebuilder when interest rates went up.

"I used to steal horses just for myself. Then one day someone offered me money for them," said Oliver, an unemployed electrician. "I had to do something to make money, so I started stealing horses."

Assistant District Attorney Mike McSpadden said, "This guy is just like an old-fashioned horse rustler. Detectives think he's taken more than 20 horses."

He said Oliver sold most of the horses at an auction in Buffalo, about 80 miles north of Houston.

Harry Ellis, one of the owners of the Buffalo Livestock Co., said Oliver had brought about 30 horses there recently. He said most were returned to their owners when brands were checked.

"He's the only horse thief we've caught lately, but there's been horse stealing going on as long as there's been horses," Ellis said.

Erikson Completes 3 Way Crossing Of Channel

DOVER, England (AP) — John Erikson, 26-year-old physical education teacher from Chicago, went to sleep happy Thursday after becoming the first swimmer to complete a three-way crossing of the English Channel.

"That's my life's ambition, I've done it," he said after emerging from the surf at Wissant on the French side of the 21-mile wide crossing just before midnight Wednesday.

He had entered the water in England Tuesday morning in Dover and spent a total of 38 hours 27 minutes in the sea, sustained by cups of mashed peaches, high protein drinks and milk chocolate.

"We are absolutely in awe of it because we didn't think it could be done — John is a superman," said Audrey Scott, secretary of the Dover-based Channel Swimming Association which organizes the swims.

Erikson swam the first stage to France in 10 hours 10 minutes, the second stage back to England in 13 hours 14 minutes and the third stage back to France in 15 hours 3 minutes.

He was called the "fittest man I have ever seen," by one of his British observers, mailman Tom Watch, a trainer of Channel swimmers who kept an eye on the American's marathon effort from the 40-foot trawler Accord.

Also in the boat was Erikson's father Ted, himself a marathon swimmer whose 33-hour time for a two-way crossing of the English Channel was clipped by three hours by his son in an earlier swim.

John Erikson has now swum the English Channel 11 times, once three ways and twice two ways.

Swimmers are allowed 10 minutes on the beach between stages.

LULAC Requests

Legal Aid Requests

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The League of United Latin American Citizens requested legal aid Wednesday in reviewing the congressional redistricting bill approved by the recent special legislative session.

LULAC asked the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund — MALDEF — to conduct a "searching investigation" into redistricting.

Of particular interest, LULAC said, is whether the redistricting plan violates the 1975 federal Voting Rights Act.

"Unfortunately, it seems that the best interest of Texas' ethnic and racial minority groups may have been disserved by the political maneuverings of our state's illustrious leaders in the Capitol," said LULAC President Tony Bonilla and general counsel Ruben Bonilla. "This sham is clearly manifested in the congressional redistricting plans that have been adopted, and is an open invitation to a court challenge where justice may finally be found."

Based on MALDEF's findings, the LULAC officers said, a decision would be made on whether to sue to overturn the plan. If LULAC files suit, they said, it would want MALDEF to represent LULAC.

Boarding Home Operator Vanishes

MIAMI (AP) — A boarding home operator who vanished with six of her elderly tenants, including a 91-year-old woman whose bank accounts had dropped by $17,000, had a sweet personality and treated her renters respectfully, a state social worker says.

But in Michigan, a state official said the boarding home operator, Cora Galvin, had been denied licenses for adult foster-care homes in Detroit because of "substandard conditions" at the facilities.

Mrs. Galvin is "very familiar" to the Michigan Department of Social Services and used "several aliases" while operating homes before the state began licensing them, James Quigley, director of the Adult Foster Care Licensing Division in the department, said Wednesday.

Detroit officials weren't with Florida about Mrs. Galvin, who has become the subject of an interstate search by the Dade County state attorney's office. Officials hope that finding Mrs. Galvin will help them trace the missing boarders, who range in age from 62 to 91.

"We're very concerned that no trace of these people has turned up," said Lianne S. Palacin, director of aging and adult services in the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. "You don't just flush six people down the drain."

Solidarity Calls for End of Strikes

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Heading the Communist Party's back-to-work call, national leaders of Solidarity called for an end to strikes and street marches protesting Poland's food crisis.

They also urged the workers to improve the economy by working a six-day week for the next two months, giving up the Saturday holidays they won through strikes six months ago.

But the independent labor federation threatened to call off its 10 million members if the government doesn't stop trying to blame it for the wave of demonstrations against the reduced meat ration, food shortages and the government's proposal to hike the prices of staple foods as much as 400 percent.

"It is not Solidarity who caused the strikes, they evolved from public protest which the union is trying to channel. ... We reject the government attempt to blame us for the country's deepening crisis," the labor leaders said in a statement issued at the end of a three-day meeting in Gdansk.

The appeal for calm came in response to a resolution by the Communist Party Central Committee calling on the government for "firm" action to end the strikes, street demonstrations and "political marches which are a greater danger to social peace."

"The union found itself at a major crossroad," Solidarity chief Lech Walesa explained. "For the first time it is facing the question whether it should act as a union or give priority to civic duties in the present situation."

The labor leaders appealed to all Poles "to abstain from hunger marches and strikes called to improve food supplies because of the tense situation in the country."

They also urged a moratorium on planned marches to seek the release of political prisoners. But they said they would pursue the issue of prisoners' rights later.

"In the present tense situation, the union should oppose all actions... which might be used for provocations or diverting public opinion from our country's tragic state," their statement said.

Protests against the food crisis climaxed last Friday when nearly a million workers paralyzed the Silesian industrial heartland with a four-hour warning strike.

The government claims it cannot pay for more food imports because of its $27 billion debt to the West and a sharp drop in production, particularly in the coal fields which provide most of the nation's export earnings.

Foreign Flights Nearly Normal

by BRIAN FRIEDMAN
Associated Press Writer

Overnight flights to Europe went off close to schedule from New York after Canadian air controllers returned to work and officials on both sides of the Atlantic predicted "normal schedule" today.

Meanwhile, members of the International Federation of Air Traffic Controllers Associations were meeting in Amsterdam to discuss whether action should be taken to support striking controllers in the United States.

There were some delays Wednesday on flights from Europe to the United States and hundreds of would-be travelers spent the night sleeping where they could at London's Heathrow Airport, but the problems were expected to clear up quickly.

"By tomorrow morning, assuming the lanes stay open, we should be down to a normal schedule" across the North Atlantic, U.S. Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis said Wednesday. He said delays of only a half-hour are foreseen today.

The flight zone "has opened up again and it is our feeling that we will be getting things back to normal," said Gerald Fitzgerald, operations manager at Kennedy International Airport, the nation's busiest handler of international flights. On a normal day, 120 jets depart over the North Atlantic from the airport.

Trans-Atlantic travel was thrown into havoc Monday and thousands of passengers were stranded when Canadian controllers refused to handle flights to or from the United States, claiming that a strike by American controllers had made the U.S. air traffic system unsafe. Many flights were canceled and there were lengthy delays on others.

The Canadian controllers agreed on Wednesday to end the boycott, in return for an inquiry into the safety question. U.S. authorities deny that the system is unsafe.

Jean-Luc Pepin, Canada's minister of transport, had begun actions that could have led to $5,000 fines, job suspensions and firings against the Canadian controllers. More than 25 controllers were suspended.

Lewis said domestic air service remained at about three-fourths of normal as the strike by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization over wages and working conditions entered its 11th day today.

Although Lewis said the lengthy delays for international fliers had abated, he also said there was the possibility of some disruption of trans-Atlantic flights this weekend if Portuguese controllers carry out a planned boycott of flights to and from the U.S. that go over the Azores.

Family's tax liability will have dropped to $1,549 from the current $2,013.

Business will get general tax relief totaling $152.8 billion through 1986. An additional $20.4 billion is earmarked as incentives to savings and $11.8 billion is tailored specifically for oil producers and royalty owners.

Reagan won the biggest legislative victory of his administration when he defeated congressional Democrats in a battle over how to shape the tax cut. Although the final version is different from his original proposal, the president embraced most of what ended up in the new law, including:

- A new deduction for 17 million married working couples who pay more tax than if they were single.
- A larger tax credit for child care expenses.
- Tax-deferred treatment of up to $2,000 set aside each year in a retirement plan.
- A limited tax-free savings certificate that will benefit people with incomes of more than $30,000 a year.
- Repeat of a $200-per-person exemption for interest.

-A limited deduction for those who do not itemize for charitable contributions.

-Elimination of estate taxes for all but about 6,000 of the nation's wealthiest persons who die each year.

Becarecentage reduction regardless of income, the dollars and cents impact is tilted toward upper-income Americans who pay most of the taxes. Reagan contended this was needed because people with incomes of more than $50,000 make the investments that benefit the economy.

First. Value of the missing items was set at $300.

Damage to a vehicle belonging to Linda Lopez, 112 Hereford Calle, was done Wednesday afternoon by a three-year-old child. Ms. Lopez returned home from running an errand, and found the child sitting on the hood of her car, with the windshield broken and hood dented. The child's parents have agreed to pay for the damages, and no charges have been filed in the case.

And, Gloria Rodriguez, 705 Stanton, reported to police that someone had taken her wallet from a shopping cart at a local grocery store Sunday afternoon. Taken in the theft were credit cards, Ms. Rodriguez's driver's license, and about $10 in cash.

Police issued six traffic citations Wednesday.

The director, Juergen Klaus, said in an interview that the drama was based on an actual event in 1978.

"The story has no spectacular finale," he said, "nobody leaves the East for the West, but the desire for understanding the absurdity that this wall brings to our lives is clearly shown."

Charities Can Take Slack

With less federal government involvement in social services and medical research, privately endowed charities can take up the slack.

But privately endowed charities are altogether as vulnerable as are federal agencies — to fraud, waste and foolishness.

Why does the National Kidney Foundation enlist Sugar Ray Leonard to solicit contributions from you?

For that matter, why does the American Association of Ophthalmology use Loni Anderson and the American Cancer Society use Farrah Fawcett and the American Heart Association use

Gregory Peck.

Or is it the other way around? Are these show business luminaries "using" the charities to promote themselves?

Dr. Lois DeBakey resents and resists the "manipulation of serious national health problems for the promotional benefit of entertainers." She was particularly indignant when members of Congress set aside such grave and urgent matters as crime, inflation and energy to showcase themselves and sex-symbol actress Brooke Shields during a frivolous televised hearing relating to her anti-smoking ads.

Officials on both sides discussed the budding controversy only on the condition they not be identified by name since neither Weinberger nor other senior administration officials have made public their intentions on how to deploy the new missile to immunize it from Soviet attack.

Denying any underground campaign to head off the airborne plan, Air Force officials said they have been open in backing a plan approved by the Carter administration and Congress to shuttle 200 MX missiles among thousands of reinforced horizontal shelters spread through desert valleys in Utah and Nevada.

However, President Reagan is on record as opposing that so-called shell game deployment. It also is opposed by officials of the states involved, environmentalists and other powerful forces such as the Mormon Church. Referring to growing tributions for the American Diabetes Association, Cliff Stone for the American Heart Association, Gergory Peck for the American Hospital Association, Joan Davis for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Della Reese for Epilepsy, Muhammad Ali for Multiple Sclerosis, Reggie Jackson for Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis and so on...

Dr. DeBakey is aware that the "superstars" command attention but says that promoting the notion that they are "health authorities" is demeaning to the medical profession and insulting to the public intelligence.

During the height of Atlanta's recent concern over killings of black boys, an organization was created calling itself the Committee To Stop Children's Murders.

Celebrities invited, convened, contributed.

The committee has been criticized for not registering with the state and for not reporting what it is doing with all of the money it is collecting.

But it continues to collect. Americans are the most generous people on earth. In 1978 we contributed $39.6 billion to charitable causes. In 1979, $43.3 billion. In 1980, a record $47.7 billion.

It's big business. The stakes are enormous. In most charities, the overhead is enormous.

And, yes, I have been invited to "front" for some of the professional fund-raisers. I have declined—not because their objectives are unworthy—but because the very worthiness of the charity should enable it to stand on its own feet, plead its own case.

Rather than to use—and be used by—persons who are utterly lacking in professional medical expertise.

Kent Herring Graduates From Culinary Institute in N.Y.

HYDE PARK, N.Y. - Kent Herring son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Herring of Hereford graduated with special honors from The Culinary Institute of America on July 24 after completing a two-year course in food preparation and service.

With an enrollment of 1625 students and a faculty of 94 chefs, bakers, maitres d'hotel and operational procedures educators, the Culinary Institute is the largest facility of its kind in the world. Founded in 1946, it is the only private, non-profit professional college in the United States devoting its curriculum exclusively to education in the culinary arts.

In May, 1976, the Institute initiated a Progressive Learning Year schedule, which permits admission of new students every three weeks. This system insures that every student pursues his or her studies in the most beneficial order, progressing from basic to advanced subject matter in proper sequence. Students learn and practice a full range of food preparation methods, as well as food and beverage service techniques.

The Culinary Institute offers the degrees of Associate in Occupational Studies and Associate in Applied Sciences, under a charter from the New York State Board of Regents.

A 1977 graduate of Hereford High School, Herring is married to the former Christine Chapman and they have one daughter, Kristen. He is a member of the American Culinary Federation.

The family has moved to Denver, Colo. where he is a chef at Chateau Pyrennes.

His parents attended the graduation ceremonies.

Entry Forms Available For Knitting Contest

LUBBOCK - Entry forms are available for the district "Make It With Wool" contest Nov. 21 in the Texas Tech University Home Economics Building.

The annual contest recognizes outstanding sewing, knitting and crocheting skills in the use of wool fabrics. For entry forms, write clothing and textiles Professor Myra Timmons, College of Home Economics, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409. The deadline for completing and returning forms is Nov. 16.

A minimum of 60 percent wool and no more than 40 percent synthetic fiber is required of all entries which are from loomed, knitted or felted fabric or yarn. Trimmings, interfacings, facings, linings and underlinings can

Promotion of the total fashion look is the main goal of the fashion competition, Timmons said. Contestants will model their own clothes before judges who will look for coordination of the fabric to the pattern, poise and suitability of the garment to the contestant's age and way of life.

Age divisions for the contest are pre-teen (through 13), junior (14-16), senior (17-24) and adult (over 24).

District winners will compete for scholarships, vacation trips and sewing machines at the state contest Dec. 5 in Denton.

"We do everything together, for us, there is no other way to live," according to Curtis Hall who, along with his wife Martha, co-owns and operates The Cut Above Hair Styling Center. "We work together, play together, and sometimes even cry together," adds Mrs. Hall.

Calling Portales, N.M. home, Hall trained at West Texas Barber College in Amarillo.

Raised in Amarillo, Martha Hall trained at the Pampa College of Hairdressing and Beauty Culture.

"Curtis and I have worked together everyday for eight years," said Mrs. Hall, adding that they both are members of the Hair Research Division for Redken.

Hall explains that since his wife is a beautician and he is a barber they feel they can provide complete services for an entire family and they prefer running the business free of any other employees so they alone are responsible for the quality control of their shop.

The couple moved to Hereford in September of 1979 and she says, "The people of Hereford have the fastest growing hair of anywhere I have ever seen." She jokingly insists that the smell of the local feedlots "fertilizes" the hair.

When not styling hair the couple enjoy water skiing, fishing, motor cycling, enjoying the snow, or sipping Pina Colodas together. In fact, Hall insists the only thing they don't do together is chase women - she leaves that to him. Grinning at his joke she adds, "Yes, Curtis chased me, until I caught him."

The couple are members of the Road Riders Motorcycle Club and Newcomer's Club of Hereford.

Recently returning from a vacation of motorcycling, Hall quips, "I ride in front and she drives from the back."

With five sons and one daughter raised, Martha has had considerable experience preparing after-school snacks. Here she shares an old favorite of us all.

Vacation Spots Hard To Find

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet constitution provides that every citizen has "a right to rest and leisure." Each summer, including this one, citizens stand on that constitutional right — many of them in a line.

In Yalta, the popular Black Sea resort, a million more visitors show up than the public facilities can handle, forcing vacationers to scramble for rooms in private homes.

Individual Soviet families have the right to buy their own plane or train tickets and go wherever they want in the Soviet Union on their vacations. But such trips can be difficult.

"There are so many people competing for tickets and hotels that getting a reservation is a problem," said one young Moscow worker. "It's better if you can get a pre-organized package."

These packages are available from trade unions and government travel agencies. About 55 million people participated in trade-union package tours last year; many others couldn't get bookings because of limited facilities.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

When you come right down to it, there are two kinds of people in this world: those who can tolerate a cricket in the bedroom at night and those who can't.

I won't tell you which group I'm in. I will only say it's a very revealing trait and offers an insight into the person's total personality.

Those who tolerate crickets at bedtime are the kind of people who can sit through "Aida" and not hear a person sitting behind them who is ripping a breath mint out of a wrapper at 82 decibels.

They're the kind of people who can go camping and be oblivious to a party across the lake where the thump-thump of a stereo playing weird music is carried by the winds to your campsite.

They're the insensitive kind of people who can sleep right through a crying baby at 3 a.m. and have the gall to say the next morning, "Why didn't you wake me? I'd have warmed the bottle."

They can play poker with the guys until 3 a.m. and then come home and tell you with a straight face they don't know if the Floyds are getting a divorce or not. Ha!Ha!

You can't miss 'em. Whenever you see a mouse in the house in the fall, these are the flakes who will tell you, "It's only a field mouse and he's just as scared as you are" ...when you know in your heart the mouse is pregnant and is building a condo in your spices.

Oh, make no mistake, it takes a special breed of person who can lie in bed and hear a cricket's blood-curdling screech heard in the closet, then the bathroom, then under the bed, and feel nothing.

That's it. These people don't feel. They don't acknowledge a dripping faucet, a hook that isn't fastened above a zipper, a stamp put on a letter crooked, a cupboard door in the kitchen standing ajar.

They're just animals! They can put a book down in the middle of a page, never wash their hands after playing with the dog, don't brush after every meal, and call their mother on Mother's Day...COLLECT!

But mostly, they're people who can sleep while an animal is under their bed rubbing its legs together with a sound that shatters glass. As I said, I won't tell you which group I'm in, but you all know who you are out there.

Ann Landers

Fails 5 Out Of 6

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 48, once divorced, now happily married to my boss (who is 52. I will call him Mr. X).

We are well known in this community and I cannot discuss this problem with anyone, for obvious reasons. Will you please advise me?

Mr. X fails about five times out of six. I think it has something to do with his drinking. He becomes furious when I mention it, but the facts are these: When we first became intimate, it was during lunch hour and he was always sober. Those episodes were exciting and highly satisfactory. His failures seem to occur after he has had several highballs and a big meal in the evening.

This problem is beginning to make me nervous. I am unfulfilled and Mr. X is frustrated and defensive.—No in Sacramento

DEAR SAC: Alcohol is a depressant. True, it can give a person a high and remove inhibitions (which may be helpful to a shy guy), but the high is temporary. In the end, booze is a downer and can make an erection impossible.

Clinical tests have shown that alcohol has a direct effect on the testicles and destroys the male hormones known as testosterone. I suggest you revitalize the "nooners." It will illustrate the point far better than anything you can say.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a child of the Holocaust. I am alive today because my parents had the foresight to send me away—a girl of 14, alone and friendless in a foreign country. Only after I had children myself did I understand what courage they had to do it.

Mother, father, brother, three aunts, four uncles and several other relatives perished in the gas chambers of Auschwitz and Treblinka. Grandmother, 72, was left to starve in the "model camp" of Theresienstadt.

For the next 38 years I shunned anything that might remind me of the past. I avoided books, movies, television, even newspaper write-ups dealing with the atrocities. It was as if I were trying to deny that part of my life.

Suddenly I realized I could bear to read about the Holocaust, think about it, even watch TV programs dealing with the subject. At about the same time I noticed many new books appearing in the library, some historical, others written by survivors of the death camps.

Please consult your experts on this phenomenon. Does it take nearly 40 years to deal with happenings of such horror? Or, is it a mere coincidence that all the survivors waited 40 years before writing their memoirs—the same span of time it took me to talk about prison camp experiences?—Richmond, Va.

DEAR VA.: There is nothing magic about the number 40. Some survivors were able to write and talk about the Holocaust many years ago—and did. It's good that you can now talk about what happened. A most poignant book on Holocaust survival is "Of Blood and Hope," written by Samuel Pisar. (Publisher, Little Brown & Co.)

CONFIDENTIAL to Test Your Memory and Come to the Rescue: My memory is quite good—on some things. I can recall when I bought $10 worth of groceries and had to hold the sack at the bottom. (But that was very long ago!) My advice is shop by the ads in this paper, clip coupons, avoid prepared foods. The "convenience" is costly. Buy fresh fruits and vegetables in season and can what you can. What you can't can—freeze.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Puttin' Around

Dr. Milton Adams will get the first chance to try out his new putter at a Toastmaster's International Tournament at Clarendon this weekend. Dr. Adams was presented with the new club by the Lions Club yesterday in recognition of 35 years of perfect attendance in the organization. (Brand Photo).

The first coin-operated telephone was installed in the Hartford Bank, Hartford, Connecticut, by the Southern New England Telephone Company in 1889.

Around the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Herring have been spending a lot of time traveling this summer. Their first trip was to the Kiwanian International Convention held in New Orleans, La. Then they drove to San Diego, Calif. for Mrs. Herring's family reunion. They visited in Los Angeles and then traveled to Las Vegas, Nev. where they met their daughter Monica, for a visit. After returning from California, the Herrings headed for Hyde Park N.Y. where they attended the graduation services of their son, Kent, who graduated from the Culinary Institute of America. Kent and his wife, Christine, and their daughter, Kristen, traveled along with the Herrings to Boston and Denver where they did some sightseeing.

House guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Mehlberg are several relatives who came to Texas from Illinois to enjoy some Texas sun (but instead have enjoyed the rain with the rest of us). Visiting are their children Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Scranton and grandchildren John and Lynn; Les's mother, Mrs. Elsie Mehlberg and Jerry Scranton's mother, Mrs. Leona Scranton.

It seems there are always some Hereford folk spending some vacation time in Ruidosa, N.M. Enjoying the mountain air in Ruidosa last week were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brown, Greg and Kerri; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robinson, Scott and Jill; and they took along their baby sitter, Michelle Mason. Going for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKinster.

Others in Ruidosa last week were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wartes and Mr. and Mrs. Cuby Kitchens. Another party included Mrs. Charles Hoover, her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Greg Black and Eric, and her mother, Blanche Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. Speedy Nieman attended the West Texas Press Convention in Lubbock last week where he was on the program to give the report from the Texas Press Association.

Mrs. Ken Roger's mother, Mable Hunt, is visiting in the Rogers home this week. She lives at Rocksprings.

Josie Haby of Leakey, mother of Mrs. Roy Rogers, and Liz Schackel of San Antonio, Mrs. Roger's cousin, are both guests in the Roy Rogers home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mercer recently returned from a two-week vacation. They toured Yellowstone National Park, Salt Lake City, Reno where they saw some shows. From there they traveled to Sonoma, Calif. where they visited Mrs. Mercer's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Housley, and a nephew at Napa, Calif. They also went sightseeing in San Francisco and Sausalito On The Bay.

Guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Eades are their daughter and grandsons, Carol Vasconcellos, Scott and Brent. They are from El Toro, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Bub Sparks visited their son, Jerry, in Colorado Springs, Colo. last weekend.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, Aug. 13, the 225th day of 1981. There are 140 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On Aug. 13, 1980 — one year ago — President Jimmy Carter was nominated by the Democratic Party to run for a second term.
On this date:
In 1521, Spanish Conqueror Hernando Cortez captured Mexico City from the Aztec Indians.
On 1624, France's Louis XIII named Cardinal Richelieu as his first minister.
In 1792, French revolutionaries imprisoned the royal family.
And in 1961, East Germany sealed off the border between East and West Berlin, closing the Brandenburg Gate, to halt the flight of refugees to the west.
Ten years ago: East Germany celebrated the tenth anniversary of the Berlin Wall with parades of groups that built it.
Five years ago: South Africa pledged support for the U.S. effort to bring about a negotiated settlement in Rhodesia.
Today's birthdays: Cuba's President Fidel Castro is 55 years old. Golf legend Ben Hogan is 69.

Army Of Protesters Vow To Blockade Nuclear Plant

By ROBERT LOCKE AP Science Writer

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — In a valley with a view of long-dead volcanic peaks, rows of tents and bare wooden lean-to frames await the "troops" in the next major battle against atomic power.

An army of protesters organized by the Abalone Alliance vows to blockade — by land and by sea — the 735-acre site of the Diablo Canyon nuclear plant when a license is issued, possibly within the next several weeks.

They hope to keep Pacific

Gas & Electric Co. from loading fuel, igniting the nuclear chain reactor and beginning a series of low-power tests at the $2 billion twin-reactor complex.

"We will do everything we can non-violently to stop the plant from operating," Joyce Howerton of the alliance told a Los Angeles news conference Wednesday, which included remarks by actor Robert Blake and singer Jackson Browne.

Alliance members oppose all nuclear energy as inherently unsafe. But Diablo, they say, raises the specter of a potentially devastating disaster due to earthquake — the Hosgri Fault is located just 2½ miles offshore.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission, however, has concluded that the plant can withstand any earthquake likely to strike the area.

Alliance organizers are training recruits in non-violent protest and advising blockaders to bring provisions for 30 days.

"We are telling people to be prepared for the possibility of arrest," spokeswoman Pam Metcalf said earlier. "Our intent is to actually obstruct operation of the plant physically and non-violently with our bodies."

PG&E remains confident that it will be ready for tests soon after the NRC issues a license, and all sides expect the NRC to approve the plant.

"There's no doubt in my mind or in the company's mind whatsoever," PG&E spokesman Greg Pruett said. "Two weeks after the NRC rules ... we will be ready to load fuel."

Fuel rods have been on the site for years. PG&E says it will bring workers in by helicopter and house them inside the complex if necessary.

No electricity will be generated by the tests. The application for a fullscale operating license will be considered separately.

But what will likely ignite the Abalone Alliance protest is a ruling on PG&E's security plans, which in turn would clear the way for granting the interim testing license.

The NRC's Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board is expected to rule on the safety plan "anytime at all," according to NRC spokesman Jim Hanchett. Approval would permit the NRC to consider the test license application, a process that could take up to 10 days.

"As soon as the security decision comes down, we will put out an alert," Ms. Metcalf said Wednesday. "People should start coming to San Luis Obispo and the blockade should begin shortly."

Ms. Metcalf said protesters will block all gates into the property, others will hike into the hills and still more are to swim ashore from a mini-armada led by a 70-foot schooner provided by The Greenpeace Foundation.

Sheriff George Whiting of San Luis Obispo County said his deputies, along with the state Highway Patrol and potential support services from the National Guard, are prepared to handle whatever develops. A mounted patrol will comb the hills on horseback, he said.

"People have a right to demonstrate," he said, "unless they break the law. And if they break the law, they'll be arrested and hopefully they'll be convicted and sent to jail."

In past demonstrations, Whiting and the protesters have discussed ground rules. Each side has kind, if cautious, words for the other. Past demonstrations have meant hundreds of arrests, but they have been free of violence.

Although the Alliance promises to break a few laws, such as trespassing, Ms. Howerton said. "At no time, under no circumstances, will we penetrate the security fences around the reactor itself." The double fences are patrolled by guards and dogs.

Browne, the singer and a longtime opponent of the plant, told reporters at the news conference: "The plant at Diablo Canyon is the most important one in the country right now. If they can open one on an earthquake fault, they can put one anywhere."

PG&E's Pruett countered: "I believe it's the safest nuclear plant in the United States because it has been the most thoroughly reviewed" through 13 years of hearings and study.

Browne is one of a number of celebrities publicly allied with the Abalone Alliance.

The list includes President Reagan's daughter, actress Patti Davis, and former President Gerald Ford's son, Steven, although neither plans to take part in the blockade.

Actor Blake has no such reservations.

"When the thing is issued, I'll get in my car and drive up there and get in front of the gate," he told reporters. "I'll do everything I can to stop it."

"We ain't commies or loonies," he continued. "Maybe these sane, reasonable people have a point of view that needs to be heard."

NASA Catching Falling Stars As Substitute

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists who found even the cosmos subject to whims of the economy say they have a poor man's alternative to an ambitious international "flyby" of Halley's Comet scrubbed by budget cutbacks.

Johnson Space Center Scientists wanted to study Halley's Comet — due in 1986 to streak past earth for the first time in 76 years — because they believe comets may contain material dating back to the origin of the solar system.

But one scientist says they may find a cheaper, if less effective, peak at a comet in a meteor shower that has been pelting the earth's atmosphere in recent nights.

High-altitude aircraft are capturing particles of cosmic dust from the meteor shower, specks Johnson Space Center scientist Uel S. Clanton said he hopes prove to be part of another ancient comet.

"If we aren't going to have a Halley's Comet mission, what we are doing may be a poor man's way of sampling a comet," said Clanton, curator of the JSC's still-under-construction Cosmic Dust Laboratory.

"I think the meteor shower going on now will add little to our collection of cosmic dust," he said.

Clanton said he designed special dust collectors — about the size of a cigarette package — that stick under the wing of a high-altitude airplane.

The one used in this project is a WB57-F operated by the Department of Energy from nearby Ellington Air Force Base.

The collectors open at 60,000 feet or higher, Clanton said. When the plane begins to descend, they close up again, to shut out pollutants and other earthly specks that would contaminate the sample. The collector is covered with a thin layer of oil that traps the tiny particles.

Once the collectors are returned to earth, a powerful electron microscope is needed to spot the particles, Clanton said.

"A big one would be, say, from three-thousandths to five-thousandths of an inch," he said.

Clanton's collectors have sampled about 1.2 million cubic meters of air in 65 flying hours, he says. Before his study, only about 900,000 cubic meters of air had been sampled over ten years.

He is not positive he is collecting dust from a comet, but Clanton says his sample is far different from the dust contained in the average meteorite that strikes earth. It is much more fragile and porous, he says.

Clanton said some of the dust particles have been sent to the University of Washington for analysis until the JSC's own laboratory begins operating in mid-September.

The JSC lab is specially designed to prevent contamination of the cosmic dust. He says it will be about 100 times cleaner than the lab where the moon rocks are studied.

Controllers Have Uncertain Future

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Air traffic controllers say they weren't surprised by the toughness of President Reagan's response to their illegal strike — only by the speed with which he moved. And most of them also say they expect that they and the administration will come to terms — eventually.

"I think it's only a matter of time before there will be a very definite breakthrough," said Bob Cameron, 35, of Norfolk, Va. "The economic pressures will be the key to the termination of this whole thing."

The controllers walked off the job at 7 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 3, defying court orders and risking fines and jail. At 11 a.m. the same day, Reagan gave them 48 hours to return to work or be fired. Most controllers ignored the threat. The government started mailing dismissal letters a week ago Wednesday and took the position that there was no more strike; there were merely empty jobs to be filled.

"We were prepared to be fired, or we wouldn't have walked out to begin with," said Ben Grimes, 36, of Charlotte, N.C. "We were surprised by the quickness of it all."

Jim O'Connor, 35, of Hanover Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb, said the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization "anticipated everything that happened."

O'Connor added, however:

"On the first day of a strike to walk out and fire 12,000 people is unheard of. It was a mistake and unfair. I'm not surprised because he (Reagan) is a conservative Republican and probably a bit of a reactionary."

Larry Hartman, 33, of Tucson, Ariz., wasn't quite so prepared. "We had expected some of the things they were going to do. We didn't expect all of them," he said. "We didn't think they were going to fire us and then throw us in jail and then fine us."

Westra predicted that the government would change its stance and re-open negotiations. "It's a matter of how long they can weather the storm. The government is going to have to deal with us." He said that when the public realizes the impact of the controllers' actions, the administration will "find it a very cheap solution indeed to sit down and negotiate some of the issues that have been brewing in this field for 10 or 15 years."

The issues, according to Westra and other strikers, are not monetary, although PATCO demanded a pay hike of $10,000 a year for controllers who earned an average of $33,000 annually. The real issues, say the men and women on the picket line, are long hours, retirement benefits and working conditions that they claim are filled with a dangerous amount of stress.

Rodeo Winners

Two Hereford cowboys captured first-place money and trophies at the recent XIT Rodeo in Dalhart. John Wilson, left, won the calf-roping title in competition with 156 ropers. He had a time of 11.4 seconds. Tony Wilcox, right, took the bull-riding crown at the rodeo, riding his way to the victory over 105 other bull riders. Wilson lives northwest of Hereford, and Wilcox is a Summerfield resident.

Eddie Feigner's Name Is 'Magic' to Softball Fans

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent
When some baseball hot-shot breaks a record — as Pete Rose did this week with his 3,631st basehit in the National League — Eddie Feigner stifles a yawn and strikes out another batter with a 100 mph ball thrown while blindfolded, underhand and through his legs.
"My records? Geez, I lost count of most of them," says the 54-year-old onetime truck driver, logger, crane operator and accountant who is generally recognized as the greatest softball pitcher of all time.
His counterparts in the major leagues would have to be such immortals as Cy Young and Walter Johnson or, of more recent vintage, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale. Their records leave him cold.

"Cy Young won 511 games in his career," someone reminded Feigner. "How would you stack up against that?"
"Well, let's see," replied the crew-cut ex-Marine from Walla Walla, Wash. "The brochure here says I have won 5,721 and that's not counting 150 so far this year."
"Old John Chesbro had 48 complete games one season," an interviewer said.
"My record is 257," replied Feigner.
"And Walter Johnson's 113 career shutouts?"
"Guess I've had 10 times as many."
"And lifetime strikeouts?"

Johnson had 3,508."
Feigner shrugged his burly shoulders and sniffed defiantly.
"The book says I have 107,520. That's not counting 1981." The book also showed 781 no-hitters, 223 perfect games in 11,750 exhibitions in 3,648 cities.
Feigner is one of sport's most amazing personalities. You don't see his name in newspaper headlines. The world isn't keeping tab on his statistics, a la Pete Rose. He doesn't throw the joint into a tizzy when he goes into the 21 Club for lunch.
But, to the guys and gals who don those fancy uniforms and populate the sandlots in the commercial softball leagues, his name is magic.

SWC Football Series

Alborn has Confidence in Owls

HOUSTON (AP) — One glance at his offensive backfield can give Rice Coach Ray Alborn simultaneous reactions — chills of fright and a confident smile.
The Owls, coming off their most successful season since 1973, may have the most quarterbacking depth in the Southwest Conference with three legitimate starting contenders in Michael Calhoun, the early leader, and sophomores Doug Johnson and Phillip Money.
Then comes the horror show.
"Right now our running back situation is not very stable," Alborn said. "I think the only guy in the spring that showed any signs of being capable of playing Southwest Conference football was Tim Sanders."
Sanders, the top returning rusher, and a group of untested freshmen may have to carry the running brunt for the Owls, who hope to improve on last year's 5-6 record and fourth place tie in the SWC.
"We had nobody else with any consistency," Alborn said. "And I'm worried about Sanders. He's never made it through a season without injury.

"It's somewhat frightening to think you might have to start freshmen running backs in those first three ball games but based right now on what we've got, unless somebody really comes to the front, those freshmen will have to jump in there."
Freshmen contenders include Antonio Brinkley, Wharton; Herbert Payton, Aldine MacArthur; Charles Hester, Navasota; Larry Collins, Houston Yates and Mark Hatch, Brazoswood.
Johnson and Money were expected to duel in spring training for the No. 1 quarterbacking job. But it was Calhoun, a junior college transfer, who emerged as the heir apparent.
Rice coaches noticed Calhoun during a recruiting foray to California and convinced Alborn to sign the former Wichita Falls Hirschi product.

"Last year we went with three and started the guy with the hot hand," Alborn said. "That's not too bad a situation."
Rice scored upset victories over Arkansas, Texas A&M, Louisiana State and Houston and defeated Texas Christian on even terms last year.

The loss of 16 starters, eight each on offense and defense, plus a rugged opening slate of Texas, Missouri and LSU, will make 1980's successes difficult to repeat. In fact, the Owls are generally considered to be the SWC pre-season cellar-dweller.
All-SWC tight end Robert Hubble and senior flanker Hosea Fortune head up the Owls' receiving corps. Hubble, 6-6, 250, caught 38 passes last season.
Defensively, the Owls must replace their entire secondary, four-year lettermen safeties David Darr and Mike Downs and two-year letter winners Freddy Johnson and David England.

Cowboy Star In Limbo

Pearson Won't Play Without New Contract

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys star wide receiver Drew Pearson says his National Football Career is fast drawing to a close, and he won't play in the 1981 season unless his contract is improved.
With three years and an option season to go on his current contract, Pearson has been discussing renegotiation with Cowboy management since February. The two sides are still far apart.
"At this point, I don't feel optimistic, not in the least," Pearson said Wednesday. "Right now there's no way I'm going to play the '81 season with my contract."

Pearson, who came into the National Football League as a free agent in 1973, is the Cowboys' all-time leading receiver, an All-Pro and Pro-Bowl player, and a member of the 1970s All-Decade team.
"If football ended for me today, I've fulfilled my dreams," he said. "I've reached every height, personally and team-wise, that the game offers ... Without football, I don't think I'd curl up and die."

"Either this season or next will probably be my last regardless. The only way I would consider playing any longer after a couple more years maximum would be if they were to offer me a great deal of money to stay on."
He said the two sides were $50,000 to $60,000 a year apart.
His attorney, Roy McCoy of Dallas, talked to Cowboys player personnel director Gil Brandt last weekend, but Pearson said no progress was made and management appears to be "saying, in essence, that I should settle for less."
He accused Cowboy management of being "unrealistic" and said contract talks were a "one-way street" with management in "complete control."
"Being part of what makes this team go makes it additionally frustrating," he said. "And I really don't see why it has to be that way. That's what's driving me out of the game."

He said he would retire if he does not play in the 1981 season, and that he believed he could match his current income by working in television or radio, although he has not had any concrete offers.
"Right now, I'm in limbo. It wouldn't do me any good to walk out of camp at this point. All they would do is fife me ... and try to let things blow over. Maybe later that would be the right strategy."

He said locker room talk is beginning to focus on contracts and money, even among younger players, and "any time money becomes the primary issue rather than football you've got problems."

Junior Golf Tourney Scheduled Aug. 18-19

The annual Hereford Junior Golf Tournament is scheduled Aug. 18-19, it was announced today by Mike Horton, golf pro at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.
The tourney will be divided into four age divisions: 15-17, 13-14, 11-12, and 10 and under. Entry fee is $6 and the action starts at 8:30 a.m. each day. Interested golfers should call Horton at the golf shop.
The tourney was played in three divisions last year with Steve Fairweather capturing the 15-and-up group. Guy Goebel won the 13-14 age division, and Bobby Baker took the 12-and-under title.

Pacific-10 Nearer to Full Strength for 1981 Season

The Associated Press Pacific-10, known as the "Pac-5" season, will be near full strength again for the 1981 football season.

academic improprieties. This season only Arizona State remains on football probation and the Sun Devils will still be able to contend for the Pac-10 title.

Washington is the reigning conference king, but the league appears well balanced and the Run for the Roses could be a wide-open race. The Huskies, who lost to Michigan in the 1981 Rose Bowl, were 9-2 and captured the league crown with a 6-1 record. But they face a massive rebuilding task offensively, with those gone including quarterback Tom Flick and tackle Curt Marsh.

Southern Cal, 8-2-1 and 4-2-1 last season, has tailback Marcus Allen and linebacker Chip Banks heading a fine group of returnees, and the Trojans might well be considered the team to beat. UCLA, coming off a 9-2 and 5-2 season, lost safety Kenny Easley and tailback Freamey McNeil, but appears to have the personnel to make another strong bid for the league title.

Stanford, featuring quarterback John Elway and Darrin Nelson, could break through this time after a disappointing 6-5, 3-4 campaign. Oregon, where Coach Rich Brooks' rebuilding program is progressing nicely, and Arizona State, where second-year Coach Darryl Rogers has a host of talented players returning, can't be counted out of the conference title picture.

Arizona, Washington State, California and Oregon State figure to make things tough for the others at times, but would have to improve greatly to figure heavily in the Pac-10 race.

Don James' Washington squad may be hurting offensively, but the defense appears strong again. The Huskies have seven starters, including tackle Fletcher Jones and linebacker Mark Stewart, returning from a unit that was the conference's best in scoring defense.

Sophomore Steve Pelluer appears to have the inside track on the Huskies' quarterback job, with wide receivers Paul Skansi and Aaron Williams among the few returning starters on offense. Also back is place-kicker Chuck Nelson, who led the Pac-10 in scoring last season.

At Southern Cal, tailback Allen, the nation's second-leading rusher in 1980, will spearhead the Trojans' wear-'em-down ground attack. Banks, who led the team in tackles last season, and offensive guard Roy Foster seem the prototype big, strong linemen that have characterized Southern Cal teams. At quarterback, John Mazur seems to have a slight edge among the group bidding for the starting job.

UCLA Coach Terry Donahue has a fine defensive unit returning, including tackle Irv Eatman. Offensively, Kevin Nelson will try to fill McNeil's shoes, with tight end Tim Wrightman and split end Cormac Carney among a good group of returning receivers.

Stanford, as usual, will have a quick-strike offense, and second-year Coach Paul Wiggin, a former defensive standout in the National Football League, says he hopes to make marked improvement in the Cardinals' defense.

Elway, a junior who passed for 2,889 yards and 27 touchdowns last year, will have Andre Tyler (53 catches) as a target again. Nelson, who has gained almost 3,000 yards rushing in three seasons and also is a threat as a receiver, adds an extra dimension. Oregon's Brooks, whose Ducks were 6-3-2 and 4-3-1 last year, predicts he'll field a "valid championship contender" featuring fullback Vince Williams, tailback Reggie Brown and center Mike Delegato offensively.

Arizona State quarterback Mike Pagel, who threw for 2,025 yards last fall as the Sun Devils went 7-4 and 5-3, heads an impressive list of returnees. The team's top three rushers — Willie Giltens, Robert Weathers and Gerald Riggs — also are back.

Coach Larry Smith, in his second year at the helm of the Arizona Wildcats, intends to put the ball in the air a lot, predicting his quarterbacks will throw some 45 times a game. Tom Tunncliffe, who threw for 1,204 yards as a freshman last season, figures to do most of the passing.

Cal Coach Roger Theder's job may be on the line this season, and the Bears, 3-8 last season, will go with a new "Run and Shoot" offense installed by assistant Mouse

Davis, former head coach at high-scoring Portland State. Cal will have an unproven quarterback, either Gale Gilbert or J.Torchio.

Washington State, 4-7 and 3-4 in 1980, may have the players to improve that record this fall. Tight end Pat Beach and running back Tim Harris are among the regulars back offensively, with linebacker Lee Blakney and safety Paul Sorensen heading the defense.

Oregon State Coach Joe Avezzano still is looking for his first victory after an 0-11 campaign. Hopes for a running game hinge on the return of running back Darryl Minor, who missed all of last season. Senior quarterback Ed Singler, who threw for 1,166 yards last year, is among the offensive returnees.

The PCAA race shapes up as close one, with the new California Bowl between the PCAA and Mid-American Conference champions on Dec. 19 in Fresno State's new 30,000-seat Stadium as an added incentive.

In addition to San Jose State and Long Beach State, Utah State and Fresno State are expected to have good shots at the league title, with Pacific and Fullerton State in rebuilding stages.

Networks Make Up Time Lost During Strike

ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

After two midsummer months without major league baseball, television stations plan to make up for lost time — and make up lost advertising revenue — by showing just about every game they can focus their cameras on for the remainder of the season.

While NBC and ABC are sticking with their announced schedules, partly because they are locked in by football commitments, local stations have added many games to their programming logs for Part II of the strike-interrupted 1981 season.

Most station officials concede there were some losses in advertising revenue because of the strike, without giving dollar figures, but are hopeful of recouping those losses in the second half of the split season. There should be enough baseball on TV to satisfy the appetite of even the hungriest fanatic — especially if his TV is hooked up to cable and he gets the USA Network (which shows Thursday night doubleheaders) and the various superstations.

WTBS, Ted Turner's Atlanta-based station which carries the Braves games and beams them via satellite to cable companies around the country, plans to televise all but two of the team's games in the second season — six more than scheduled. The only reason it's not doing every game is that the networks are showing games in prime time those nights, and their contracts prohibit competing local telecasts.

During the strike WTBS showed 24 games of the Braves' Richmond farm team, and when Richmond went on a winning streak these games frequently pulled higher ratings than the Braves telecasts.

Another superstation, WGN in Chicago, plans to televise 49 Cubs and 29 White Sox games, nine more than scheduled. That's an average of more than a game a day — surely enough for the most rabid fan.

During the strike WGN showed Japanese and minor-league baseball, movies, specials and repeats of past Cubs and White Sox games. Pete Marino, director of special programming, said no sponsors dropped out during the strike.

That was not the case in Boston, where WSBK intends to show 50 of the 52 Red Sox games — all but the two which are prohibited by the network exclusivity clause. Originally WSBK had intended to show 24 games, but by more than doubling that number it will finish the season with 92 telecasts, not far below the scheduled 100.

Joseph C. Dimino, WSBK's vice president-general manager, said that during the strike sponsors didn't automatically switch to the station's substitute programming, which consisted mostly of movies.

"People who bought baseball bought baseball," said Dimino. "Those dollars were put in limbo." He was unsure about the effect of the strike on net revenue but said, "I suspect when the dust settles, we'll probably do a little less."

Jules Moreland, program director of KFMB in San Diego, conceded that the loss of revenue during the strike "was a substantial amount. A great many baseball advertisers never came back." The station lost 20 Padres games and has added four to its remaining schedule of six.

The upshot of it all is an abundance of baseball on television. If the people who run the sport ever were worried about over-saturation, this might be a good time to check out its effects.

WHO AM I?

It's funny what people recall. I was a major leaguer for 14 seasons — all but two as a regular. I ended in Washington in 1970. Yet the first thing most people remember about me is something that happened during a game in 1965.

ANSWER: John Roseboro, a catcher for the Dodgers (1957-67). With (1964) and (1965) Roseboro was the first player to be hit with a bat.

Pinch-Hitter Walling Bats Houston Past Giants, 5-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants have seen Dennis Walling bat just twice in the last three days, and must feel by now that it's more than enough.

Walling laced a run-scoring single Wednesday to lead the Houston Astros to a 5-4 National League victory over the Giants. On Monday he delivered a two-run double to key a 6-5 victory by the Astros.

The recent successes have given him new life as a pinch-hitter, he feels. He was 1-for-9 without a run batted in during the first half of the season.

"I can accept coming off the bench if I can get mentally prepared to be a pinch-hitter," Walling said. "Everybody wants an identity. We made some moves and my role is more defined now."

Luis Pujols opened the Houston eighth with a single and Kiko Garcia ran for him. After a wild pitch and a sacrifice by Terry Puhl, Greg Minton replaced Al Holland, 3-3. Minton walked pinch-hitter Harry Spilman and Walling, hitting for Joe Sambito, 3-3, lined his game-winning hit.

In other NL action, it was St. Louis 11, Philadelphia 3; Montreal 3, Pittsburgh 2; New York 7, Chicago 4 in 10 innings; Atlanta 4, San Diego 3 in 11 and Los Angeles 8, Cincinnati 5.

The Astros chased All-Star Game winner Vida Blue with three runs and six hits in the third inning. Dickie Thon doubled home one run, and the other two scored on base hits by Tony Scott and Jose Cruz. The Astros added an unearned run in the fifth off Fred Breining, staking Vern Ruhle to a 4-0 lead.

The Giants scored four times in the sixth to tie the game. Enos Cabell doubled with one out and scored on Jack Clark's single. Darrell Evans followed with a two-run homer, his 10th of the season. One out later, Jerry Martin belted his third homer of the year.

Rudi Sparks Boston Win; Yankees Edge Texas, 5-4

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

It's been a long time since Joe Rudi was a hero. Wednesday night, he proved he hadn't forgotten how.

The 13-year veteran outfielder belted a pair of home runs Wednesday in leading a six-homer blitz by the Boston Red Sox in an 8-1 romp over the Chicago White Sox. Being in the spotlight again felt good to Rudi, a star with the World Champion Oakland A's in 1972 through '74, but something of a bust since then.

"I feel as good as ever, just great," said Rudi, who will be 35 next month. "I can hit as well as I ever did. I just need the opportunity to play."

Rudi hasn't gotten that opportunity very much in recent years. After joining California as a free agent in November 1976, Rudi was plagued by injuries and slumps. He made it into only 34 games in his first season as an Angel, batting .264, his lowest average as a full-time major leaguer.

In 1978, Rudi knocked in 79 runs but hit only .256 in 133 games, then appeared in just 90 contests in '79 and 104 games (.237) in '80.

The Angels, fed up with Rudi's declining average each season, dealt him to Boston last winter, but it's been more of the same for the outfielder this year. He's batting a miniscule .169 in 22 games.

That made Wednesday's performance even more gratifying.

"He's an old pro who can help us a lot down the stretch," said Boston Manager Ralph Houk. "He had trouble with his legs at the start of the year, but now he's in excellent shape. He's been through the pressure a lot during his career and I just hope he stays hot."

Also hot Wednesday night for Boston were Jim Rice, Dwight Evans, Dave Stapleton and Gary Allenson, all of whom homered. The six homers set an American League high for the year.

Bobby Ojeda, called up from Pawtucket of the International League Sunday, scattered seven hits, including three by Ron LeFlore, in his 1981 major league debut. He had a 1-1 record with Boston last year.

Rice also threw out two runners for his sixth and seventh assists of the year.

Elsewhere, it was California 4, Seattle 1; the New York Yankees 5, Texas 4; Cleveland 9, Milwaukee 4; Minnesota 4, Oakland 3; Toronto 4, Detroit 3, and, in a doubleheader, Kansas City bombed Baltimore 10-0, then was edged by the Orioles 4-3 in the second game.

MONTREAL (AP) — Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia and John McEnroe, the odds-on favorites to clash in the finals, drew one step closer with second-round victories in the $200,000 Player's International for the Canadian Open men's tennis championships.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Unseeded David Sieglar upset third-seeded Stan Smith 1-6, 7-5, 7-6 in a second-round match of the $75,000 Volvo Grand Prix Western Open tennis tournament at Harold T. Clark Tennis Stadium.

Strikers' Families Are Pitching In

DALLAS (AP) — John Germata never thought he would have to ask his children to pay for their rooms, and Gary Hockensmith couldn't envision his teen-agers working in restaurants so they could eat for free.

A week into the air controllers' strike, the unthinkable has become reality for both families.

Germata, 45, of Richland Hills, walked away from a $45,000-a-year job at the Federal Aviation Administration's Fort Worth Center, joining 12,000 other union members in a nationwide walkout.

He and his wife Judy began planning for the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization strike in March, but with five children at home, there were few opportunities to save money.

"We started trying to put money back, and we haven't had a vacation in over a year," Germata said. "There have been no new purchases. We've really watched it."

"We asked for a token amount of money for room from our teen-agers."

Since the strike started, "all the kids offered their money, even the high school kids who are saving for college," he added. "In fact ... the littlest one offered her mother her life savings, $30."

"We haven't had the air conditioner on in three weeks," Mrs. Germata said. "And I'm pretty good with buying groceries, knowing how to cut corners. We're buying a lot of the store brands these days, which are cheaper, instead of the name brands."

The Germata children will be starting school in a few weeks, but they might not be as well-equipped as in previous years.

"We've looked to see if maybe they don't need as many jeans this year, or as many shirts; maybe they can wear what they have a while longer," Germata said.

Like the Germatas, Gary and Cari Hockensmith are digging into their savings and they expect the money to last about another month. Although they haven't been forced to ask their children for help, the three children have promised financial assistance from their jobs at fast-food restaurants and convenience stores.

Hockensmith, a 38-year-old air controller who was fired from his $41,000 job at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport when he went on strike, says his family has cut expenses to the essentials.

"We tried to project what might happen, what we might do. We started our financial planning about a year ago. We tucked a little extra away. But savings in this day and age won't go far."

"I'm not trying to lie to anybody. It's a scary experience. We've never been through anything quite like this before," said Hockensmith, a 14-year FAA worker who previously controlled air traffic in El Paso and Lubbock.

He plans to wait another month before seeking employment, but Germata says he is not optimistic about an end to the strike anytime soon.

He has talked with a trucking company about a job and is looking through the telephone directory for possible employers.

"We're not sleeping too well right now," said the 23-year FAA veteran. "It's a very emotional thing for us, seeing some of our friends going back to work. It's difficult to forget your friendships, but the lines were drawn and they crossed them."

"I'm willing to go look for something else so I don't burn all my money. But I don't know if I can get a job because I'll have to be honest with an employer and tell him that if they call me back, I'll have to go."

Hispanic Americans are the nation's fastest growing ethnic minority, numbering 14.6 million in the 1980 Census, a 61 percent increase over the 1970 count. The majority, some three-fifths, is concentrated in three states: California, where 31.1 percent of the entire population is Hispanic, followed by Texas and New York. Twelve other states have Hispanic populations of 100,000 or more. New York heads the list of 25 cities with more than 50,000 Hispanic residents.

Crayfish Season Opens In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The stroke of midnight opened Sweden's crayfish season, launching weeks of netting and feasting on the country's most prized delicacy.

Fishing rights are restricted because crayfish are rare in the country where they are cherished the most. So the lucky few tossed their nets into lakes and rivers Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the first catch at midnight.

The sale of imported crayfish also was banned until well right now," said the 23-year FAA veteran. "It's a very emotional thing for us, seeing some of our friends going back to work. It's difficult to forget your friendships, but the lines were drawn and they crossed them."

Crab is forbidden to eat crayfish shorter than 3½ inches, but the youngest specimen, born in June, usually have grown big enough by mid-August.

Pollution and a parasitic mold long ago made the Swedish crayfish scarce, pushing the supermarket price up to nearly $16 a pound, a meal for one.

Many years ago parasite-resistant American crayfish were introduced in Swedish waters to compensate for the shortage of the local variety. But imports are still needed to meet Swedish demand.

About 2,200 tons, most of them from Turkey and the United States, are consumed every fall by the 8.2 million Swedes.

As much as 1,800 tons come from mountain lakes in Turkey. Consequently, Turkish crayfish are the cheapest.

Martin Worried About Family

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — A state representative wounded by a shotgun blast says he won't travel to Austin to answer any grand jury questions about the shooting until authorities give him and his family round-the-clock protection.

"I told them I was not coming back unless they come and get me, provide me with 24-hour security guards and have someone stay with my wife," State Rep. Mike Martin said Wednesday after he refused to appear before an Austin grand jury investigating the shooting.

The 29-year-old freshman legislator who was shot Aug. 1 as he stepped out of his car in front of his Austin mobile home, was subpoenaed to appear Tuesday, said Travis County Assistant District Attorney H. Allen Hill.

Hill, who is in charge of the special crimes division, said authorities had not decided what to do about Martin's refusal to comply with the subpoena.

"When I spoke with him yesterday he certainly didn't request any protection," Hill said Wednesday.

Martin, who wants to require "creation-science" lessons in public schools, said he was provided "very little" security when he went to Austin last weekend to vote on congressional redistricting.

He said his failure to obey the subpoena was "a pure and simple case of I don't want to go back to Austin."

Martin said he has no qualms about discussing his testimony under oath "if they don't mind coming here."

He said when he told officers last Friday he would not return to Austin again until they found a suspect, one of the officers handed him the subpoena and said, "We will see if this will get you back."

He said the shooting has left him a scared man who has trouble sleeping and nightmares.

"The whole thing has made me gun shy," he said.

"It is terrifying to step outside in the dark all alone, except for my aide," he said. "Just knowing who shot me and why would help a lot."

Martin received an elbow wound and his car was riddled with 12-gauge shotgun pellets in the early-morning shooting. Officers say they have no suspect or motive.

Martin said he was not sure why officers want him to appear before the grand jury unless it is to determine whether to keep five or six officers assigned to the case.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Importance of checkups

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband died of a cerebral vascular accident. What causes that? Is it hereditary? Can a person be aware of it from danger signs? My husband seemed to be in the best of health, slim at 165 pounds and 49 years old. His mother is 94. He was under stress as we were trying to finish a new house and he was doing most of the work himself. He was driving about 60 miles to work each day and was a night foreman in a machine shop.

He was coming home from work and stopped his car and apparently died immediately. We didn't find him for over 24 hours. My son wondered if he might die at 49 also and has been skeptical of some of the things my husband ate, such as ham and eggs. My son used to smoke, and now keeps snuff in his mouth quite a bit of the time. It worries me that the snuff might cause cancer or sores in his mouth as well as being hard on his teeth and gums.

DEAR READER - It is always a shock when an apparently healthy vigorous young person dies suddenly without warning. Your husband's story is not unusual. Often the first sign of either a heart attack or a stroke is sudden death. That is why it is so important to correct the factors that increase a person's likelihood or risk of having such an event.

While there are often no outward signs, a person who has high blood pressure, smokes or has high cholesterol levels is more likely to have a stroke. Incidentally, a cerebral vascular accident is a stroke. And you don't have to be overweight to have either high cholesterol or high blood pressure. That is why checkups to find such people are so important.

We know smoking cigarettes increase the risk. We know less about snuff or chewing tobacco, but since nicotine is a factor and can be absorbed from the mouth I would be happier if your son didn't use it - not to mention its bad effects in the mouth, of which you are aware.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have read that interferon may be useful for colds. I inquired about it and it is not on the market here. I don't know why but I would like to get some. I have lost one lung and hate to get a cold. I do take flu shots and also pneumonia shots.

DEAR READER - You are going to have to wait awhile for that one. Interferon, the new immune substance that has received so much publicity in trials to treat cancer, is a long way from being available on the market here. And it is enormously expensive. Our body produces a tiny bit as the first line of defense against viral infections. When interferon has been produced in sufficient quantity at reasonable prices for long-term testing it may well prove to be effective against colds and other virus illnesses.

We are close to developing an arsenal of agents that can be used to treat viruses the way antibiotics have been used to treat bacterial infections but the day has not yet arrived. When it does, a lot of foolish notions about how to treat colds, which are contagious illnesses, will become past history and we will all be better off.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to know if loose skin over the abdomen can ever be toned up through diet and exercise. I am 52 years old and 12 to 15 pounds overweight. I had two children and only gained, nine pounds with each pregnancy so there has never been an excessive amount of stretching.

However, I have at least a handful of excess skin over my lower abdomen and would like to get rid of it. When I lose weight and exercise I note that the muscles tone up well but the loose skin remains. I hesitate to lose too much weight to flatten my tummy because of the loose skin. My husband absolutely refuses to let me have any surgical procedure to get rid of the skin.

DEAR READER - Skin tends to grow as we get older and it loses its elasticity. The more it has been stretched, the worse the problem is. You can expect some retraction of loose skin but you get the best results when you lose unwanted fat, while still young. If there is a lot or if you are no longer a teen-ager, you can't expect much without surgery. There is nothing wrong with having such cosmetic procedures done. If it would encourage you to stay lean it would actually be a plus for your health.
