Negative Attitudes Irk Burdett

By BOB NIGH MANAGING EDITOR

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce President Tom Burdett is a man proud of his community, and he let the Noon Lions know his feelings Wednesday as he spoke to the civic club at the community center.

Burdett was a fount of enthusiasm for Deaf Smith County and Hereford as he made a report of chamber progress this year, and gave some insight to the future.

"I, for one, am tired of the negative talk which has been circulating in the donut shops and other places in town," Burdett told the attentive Lions, many business and civic leaders themselves.

As a barometer of his confidence in Hereford Burdeft unofficially made the announcement to the Lions that a new industry has begun to establish roots in the city with a three-building, 25,000 square-foot complex in seatheast Hereford.

A&A Coating, Inc., is a pipe-wrapping company, which will bring in 40 employees with the move.

While he confirmed that a call to the Armour Foods Company office has confirmed that the local plant will close down Oct. 2, Burdett said he was "confident" that the plant would not be idle for long, and that prospective buyers for the plant are now Gault, former president of the Lions Club, died Sunday of a brief illness. He was also a former president of the chamber.

As to talk that Hereford is in a depressed economy and growth, Burdett was quick to point out that several local businesses have made or are in the process of making expansion

"I think these are excellent examples of the faith some of our business leaders have in the future of Hereford." Burdett said.

Burdett concluded his talk by mentioning the upcoming Hereford Town & Country Jubilee, telling the Lions that he hoped the event will become an annual event, celebrating life here in Hereford and on the High Taken in both of the burglaries in question were household items. Most of the items taken have been recovered according to Saul.

Researcher Says SW Bell Rate Request Too High

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. is a "low-risk" operation, and regulators should give it less profit than it wants, a Public Utility Commission researcher says.

Gail Odell of the economic research division turned in her findings this week, and they became part of a staff recommendation that new Bell rates should be far less than the company requested.

Bell wants increases totaling $469.8 million a year, with 87 percent of that amount coming from higher rates for basic residential telephone service.

The PUC staff said Bell needs additional revenue of $249.28 million a year. Staff members are expected to WASHINGTON (AP) -The United States wasn't looking for a fight when it shot down two Libyan jets but was "keenly aware" there might be one when it ordered war games off the Libyan coast, the Reagan administration says.

Top-ranking officials said Wednesday that Navy pilots had no choice but to shoot back when they were attacked over international waters 60 miles from Libya and would react the same way again.

"There's no question that past experience with the Libyan government suggested that we were keenly aware of the possibility" of being attacked, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said. "We hoped that such a thing would not happen, but unfortunately it did."

Labor, Airport Officials At Odds Over Protest

HOUSTON (AP) - A "labor solidarity" march on Houston's Intercontinental Airport will go off as planned Saturday, even though airport police say it is illegal, a local labor leader says.

Chuck Bertani, local president of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said Wednesday he expects up to 5,000 members of various local unions to march up the airport road to show support for striking air traffic con-Airport police chief Wilfred Navarro said he understands there will be a rally Saturday, but "there will be no march whatsoever.

"The (labor) leadership I've spoken to say (their activities) won't affect traffic at the airport in any way whatsoever. Impeding traffic would be a violation of the law," Navarro said.

Bertani said he doesn't "really care if we cause any problems. We want to show the scabs that we are in support of the strike.'

Meanwhile, local Professional Air Traffic Controllers union spokesman Roger Hicks said PATCO was not participating in planning a march.

Bertani has said it is just a rally," Hicks said. "We're not involved in that (march) at all. He may have other plans."

Social Security Recipients Ripping Off System

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Social Security system is being abused by recipients living overseas who fake marriages and adoptions to get more money, the head of the agency said Wednesday.

In an interview, John A. Svahn said he was searching for ways to reduce fraud among the system's 330,000 beneficiaries who live abroad and receive a total of $1 billion in monthly Social Security payments.

The problem of overseas payments, he said, "is not a new one...in certain areas of the world we have real problems. There's a kind of industry built up of so-called claims-fixers who for a percentage of the benefit will work to insure that somebody gets the maximum benefit they can possibly get out of the system.'

Mexico, Italy and the Philippines are a source of many problems, said the Social Security commissioner.

The amount of Social Security money that goes overseas, Svahn said, "isn't that big in the total Social Security program," which is paying $140 billion in benefits this year.

Mayor Finds Himself On Tax List

PASO, Texas (AP) - Even the bestlaid plans of mayors and men sometimes result in red faces.

El Paso Mayor Jonathan Rogers decided three weeks ago to get tough with companies that had delinquent city taxes. He began releasing lists of people owing delinquent taxes to the local media in hope of embarrassing them into paying up.

Wednesday, Rogers disclosed that he had found himself on the list.

The mayor said he owns 16 percent in Co-op Disposal Inc., a garbage collection company shown on the list to owe $4,553.45 in taxes for the past three years.

"The sword cuts two ways, doesn't it?" Rogers said. "I found out that the sword cuts deep.

Rogers said he told the company's managers they had better pay the tax immediately. He said later the check would be delivered Thursday.

Woman Gets 20 Years, Used Stolen Money To Set Up Church Fund

HOUSTON (AP) - Jurors have handed down a 20-year prison sentence in the case of an accountant who used a portion of the $810,000 she stole from her employer to set up a church trust fund.

Laurita L. Graber, 33, charged with theft, was assessed the prison term and a $10,000 fine Wednesday.

Prosecutors said Graber, an accountant for Petro-Search Inc., a subsidiary of Howell Petroleum Corp., funneled oil and gas payment checks into an account she set up for herself. They said she then used the money to buy luxuries and set up a $100,000 Catholic church trust fund.

Reagan Was Awake But Went To Bed Unaware of Dogfight

LOS ANGELES (AP) -President Reagan was awake when the White House first learned of the dogfight between American and Libyan fighter planes but went to bed without being told.

By the time he was informed six hours later, word had gone out to the vice president and administration officials from Maine to California and at least one key member of Congress as well as the nation through the news media and world leaders through U.S. embassies.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said top Reagan aides decided not to disturb him because "there was no need for any presidential decisions."

Under sharp questioning from reporters, Speakes would not say who was in charge during the six hours.

The Pentagon said two American F-14s involved in a routine naval exercise shot down two Libyan fighters that had fired upon them 60 miles off the coast of Libya at 1:20 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

That was 10:20 p.m. EDT Tuesday in Los Angeles, where Speakes said Reagan was entertaining his son Michael and other guests in his $750-a-day suite at the Century Plaza Hotel.

"His family and his grandchild were still up there with him, so he was not asleep at 10:20 p.m.," Speakes said, adding later that he would refuse to ask Reagan what time he went to bed.

Reagan was called at 4:24 a.m. PDT Wednesday by presidential counselor Edwin Meese III, Speakes said.

When Reagan was awakened, Speakes said, he "indicated he regretted there was an attack on the aircraft that made necessary the action. ... The president's reaction when he was told was Carlucci said the United States had conducted eight previous exercises in Gulf of Sidra since 1977. He said the United States routinely notified aviators and mariners, as well as the Libyan government, last week that the maneuvers were scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday. In London, Libyan diplomats said that the Americans initiated the fight and that eight U.S. planes not two as the Pentagon said engaged the Libyan jets.

Libya has said the United States itself engages in international terrorism, citing U.S. weapons development and unspecified actions in Vietnam, Nicaragua and El Salvador.

Air Controllers Unions Divided

WASHINGTON (AP) -The unions representing the pilots who fly commercial planes and the controllers who guide them from the ground are divided over the issue of whether it is safe to fly with 12,000 controllers off the job.

The Air Line Pilots Association, with 33,000 members, said Wednesday that the skies are safe despite the Aug. 3 walkout by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

But PATCO president Robert E. Poli quickly labeled ALPA's assessment a

At Wits End BY ERMA BOMBECK

All you fathers of brides out there ... and you all know who you are...please rise to your feet and say goodbye to an old friend...barefoot-in-the-fields-weddings.

Boy, those were the days, weren't they. Dad? A little knoll under a tree somewhere, a minister from the Hey Man What's Happening center, a flute player in a $12 pair of jeans and $5,000 worth of amplifiers.

The bride and groom arrived in a van painted with serpents on the side and after a toast of organic juices, they crushed their Styrofoam cups on the rock and took off to Big Sur.

It's been fun and it's been cheap, but it's all over. According to the current Bride's magazine, barefoot-inthe-park weddings are out. After a decade of negative attitudes about marriage, today's couples are embracing the institution, flaws and all. A whopping 98 percent of brides queried in a survey said they want a formal wedding with all the trimmings.

Sir, maybe you'd better sit down.

They're not talking just a long, white dress and an urn of seasonal flowers on either side of the altar. They're talking symbolism and romance. Have you any idea how much symbolism and romance cost these days?

One page is devoted to having symbolic candles to light the entire church. (A birthday candle that measures an inch and a half and burns three seconds costs 59 cents!)

Diamonds are coming back, combined with a stone from a family heirloom or fashioned into a special design of their own choosing and your own paying.

Transportation to the church will be romantic with perhaps a horse and carriage ride to and from the ceremony. If a horse and carriage can't be found, a limousine is suggested. Big bands for receptions are returning, and my goodness. what kind of a father would not tape the wedding so he could enjoy it at his leisure again and again and again? Tradition will demand the bride carry flowers that are symbolic...and out of season, like violets in December and sprigs of poinsettia in August.

Oh, and look for the return of another tradition..the one where the father of the bride is taking his future son-in-law aside and saying, "I'll give you $10,000 and a van with serpents painted on the side if you'll run away and get married on a surfboard at Big Sur.'

COMMENTARY Don Graff

By Don Graff

The news from the post-commencement campus is both good and bad, depending upon what this year's graduates may have gotten out of their four years of blood, sweat and black coffee.

black coffee.

If it is a degree in engineering, the recipients are at the top of the class as far as prospects for getting a good start in their profession are concerned. The College Placement Council, an academic survey organization based in Bethlehem, Pa., reports that engineering graduates are most in demand by employers hiring talent fresh from the campus — 65 percent of all job offers — and can also expect higher beginning salaries than other four-year majors — in the $25,000 range. $25,000 range.

Business graduates did not do quite so well, receiving 22 percent of the offers with the highest salaries going to accounting majors — an average $17,016.

And now we come to the academic welfare cases — the graduates in humanities and the social sciences. They represent 33 percent of all '81 degree recipients (compared with 7 percent for the engineers) but had to scramble for only 4 percent of the offers. And the rewards for the few successful seekers of jobs in their chosen fields were not all that sweet beginning salaries averaging some $14,000.

That would appear to be a discouraging commentary on the standing of the arts and softer sciences in our society. On the other hand, it may reveal precisely the opposite. Although the practical professions are clearly where the money is, great numbers of younger Americans are still willing to settle for less to pursue more aesthetic interests.

The arts are not only alive, but persistently popular. Final note: In a class by themselves are the top graduates of the law schools. The very best from the best schools have been recruited by New York City's most prestigious firms, highly competitive standard-setters for the profession, at starting salaries of as much as $43,000.

That could be even more revealing about our litigious society, if you want to make a case of it.

Proposed Auto Insurance Hike Averages 16.3%

By LEE JONES

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN, Texas (AP) Automobile insurance rate increases averaging 16.3 percent will be recommended this week by State Insurance Board experts.

Gaylon Daniel, staff actuary, will make the formal recommendation at the board's annual car insurance hearing on Thursday. If adopted, Daniel's recommendation would mean increases ranging as high as high as $78 for a typical driver in Rockwall County, northeast of Dallas. Only one county, Tom Green, would get a decrease, with the typical driver paying $1 less for his coverage.

The recommendations would mean a $46 increase for a typical motorist in Houston, $42 in Dallas, $36 in San Antonio, $37 in Fort Worth, $16 in El Paso, $35 in Corpus Christi and $13 in Austin.

The board defines the typical motorist as a man over 24 or a woman over 20 who drives a 1981 low-priced Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth to work but does not use it for business. Coverage consists of minimal liability - up to $20,000 for injuries and $5,000 for property damage; $5,000 personal injury protection; $50-deductible comprehen-

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) - An American Airlines official says a pilot used good judgment when he chose to abort a landing rather than touch down on a Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport runway as a second plane was taking off.

"The pilot felt he could have done it either way,' Becker said. "He could have touched down just as the other airplane was lifting off the runway, but it was was his judgment that he did not want to do that."

Becker said the pilot decided to pull up and pass the aircraft on the ground, then banked his plane and was cleared by the tower for a landing on another runway about 10 minutes later. The flight was arriving from Cleveland.

Daniel said his recommended increase would have been greater if he had not applied insurance companies' investment income - $6.3 billion in 1980 - directly to the rating formula.

"If we had used (the traditional) 5 percent profit factor in there, it would have been almost 22 percent," Daniel said in an interview Monday.

In the past, the board had allowed five cents of the premium dollar for beforetaxes profit. This time, Daniel used a 1.8-cent profit factor that would give insurers a penny on the dollar after taxes for writing auto coverage. It is assumed that investment returns would combine with this for a 5.75 percent after-taxes return on assets.

Daniel's written recommendations include only one decrease, a 0.3 percent drop in the cost of bodily injury liability that pays up to $10,000 per person or $20,000 per accident.

Employer Sanctions Posed in Illegal Alien Law

By ROBERT B. CULLEN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) Restaurateur Ulysses "Blackie" Auger bristles at the suggestion that the workers in his kitchen, chattering among themselves in Spanish, may be illegal

"What illegal aliens?" he protests. All his employees produce Social Security cards and numbers when they are hired, he insists.

Does he know that the cards and numbers are genuine?

"As long as it looks legitimate, we don't ask any questions," he says.

Auger, owner of Washington's popular "Blackie's House of Beef" and 56 other restaurants, has had his problems on that ing contested. Now the Reagan administration, grabbing at any means to staunch the flow of illegal immigrants, is proposing a law that would change the way Auger and thousands

The new law would, for the first time, make it a federal offense for an employer to hire illegal aliens knowingly. It would subject employers to a $1,000 fine for each illegal person on their payrolls.

The proposal, Attorney General William French Smith says, was difficult for him to support at first. But after studying the immigration problem, Smith concludtional enforcement device left to us."

"As long as illegal aliens can find jobs in the United States at wages six or seven times those paid in their country, they will be drawn to this country," Smith said.

Employer sanctions are not a new idea. The House passed them in 1974, but the Senate balked. The Carter administration recommended recommended them to Congress earlier this year.

Studies have found that the jobs taken by illegal aliens are less and less on the farms and ranches of the Southwest and more and more in businesses like Blackie's in cities where millions of unemployed Americans already live.

Businessmen like Auger, who employs 2,000 people,

They also do not form unions. That's important to Auger, a man whose distaste for the restaurant workers union is indicated by an enlargement of a Washington Post article framed on his office wall. The article links the union to organized crime.

Hispanic groups are also 30 against the proposal. The League of United Latin American Citizens suggests the government improve enforcement of existing wage and safety laws. LULAC feels that many employers hire illegals because they can flout those laws without worrying about worker complaints, said spokesman Arnold Tor-

Others say the Reagan proposal wouldn't work because it does not solve the problem of how an employer is to identify which applicants are legally entitled to work.

The identification question has been a stumbling block for proponents of employer sanctions. Hispanic groups fear that without some means of identification, employers might refuse to hire anyone who looked or sounded . foreign, including Mexican-American citizens.

The Select Commission on Immigration recommended establishing a universal card to identify legal workers, as !. did the Reagan administration's task force on immigra-

The trouble is that any such universal card could easily be counterfeited.

The White House rejected the recommendation and proposed instead that workers be required to show employers only two identifying documents, such as a driver's license or a Social Security card, and to sign a certificate saying they were legal workers.

Reagan rejected the universal identification card "because it smacked of a na- "/ tional identity card," explain- w ed a White House official who asked not to be identified.

"And it just didn't seem cost effective," the official added. "It would be very expensive to process applica-03 tions and manufacture the cards, and you'd have to base them on forgeable documents like a birth certificate anyway. So how much of an improvement would it be?"

The White House proposal on identifying legal workers has not satisfied Sen. Alan of Simpson, R-Wyo., chairman 30 of the Senate subcommittee it on immigration. Simpson plans to hold extensive hear-ivi ings this fall on the identification system, hoping to find a be more reliable method. Auger, a Greek-American who has lived the dream that draws migrants to this coun-il try, says an employer sanc-01 tions law won't work without some sort of rational system.

By decree of the NCAA there will be no television and no bowls for the Mustangs in *1981 for recruiting violations.

Blue Jays' Singles As Potent As Home Runs

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Lloyd Moseby and Al Woods didn't exactly make the best of their opportunities. After all, a home run is more productive than a single in any given situation in baseball.

But few players in baseball ever got better mileage out of five singles and a ground ball than the two Toronto Blue Jays did Wednesday night.

Coming to bat with runners in scoring position all night, Moseby knocked in six runs with three singles and a grounder and Woods added three more RBI with two of his three singles as Toronto bunched 17 hits for a 9-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

For Moseby, it was the best game he's had since he was in Medicine Hat, a tiny community in Western Canada with the Pioneer rookie An AP Sports Analysis By league.

"I drove in seven runs in Medicine Hat one night," he said. "My previous best in the big leagues was four against Tommy John."

The Blue Jays, 16-42 before the players' strike, are 6-4 since the second season started, good enough for second place in the American League East.

In other AL games, Chicago edged New York 6-5, Oakland tripped Boston 4-2, Texas topped Milwaukee 4-1, Detroit blanked Minnesota 4-0, California beat Baltimore 6-3 and Seattle edged Cleveland 4-3 in 10 innings.

Moseby's six RBI came on a pair of two-run singles in the sixth and seventh innings. a run-scoring single in the fourth and the fielder's choice grounder in the third.

Browns Want to Forget 1980 Season

PITTSBURGH (AP) - In Cleveland, the Browns are raring to go and they'd rather forget "The Play" that ended their otherwise glorious 1980

In Pittsburgh, the Steelers say they're young at heart and they've heard enough about "The Season" that spoiled their bid for a fifth Super Bowl ring.

In Houston, the Oilers have a new head coach and a new quarterback who aren't looking back on the departures of "The Bum" and "The Snake."

And in Cincinnati, the Bengals have "The Helmet," decorated with Tiger stripes that General Manager Paul Brown hopes will add a distinctive touch to a new winning era.

That's how the 1981 season shapes up in the American Football Conference Central Division, which has traditionally featured tight races even in years when the Steelers were winning Super Bowls.

Last season, the Browns. 11-5, ousted the Steelers as division champs. But Cleveland's bid for a Super Bowl berth went awry when

ALEX SACHARE AP Sports

All last week ABC had been heralding the debut of "Sportsbeat," a 30-minute sports magazine show hosted by Howard Cosell that was scheduled to air for the first time at 4:30 p.m., EDT, last Sunday.

It never made it, a victim of the vagaries of sports programming. The show was ready. Cosell had taped a segment with heavyweight boxers Larry Holmes and Gerry Cooney at a studio in New York earlier Sunday afternoon. There also were tapes of Russ Francis. the New England Patriots' tight end, explaining why he retired from football at the peak of his career, and John McEnroe, the tempestuous tennis star, speaking about his talent and his tantrums. It looked like a good show - only nobody got to see it.

The problem was the time slot. While it was listed for 4:30, it was really in a floating time period, schedulABC's "Sunday Afternoon Baseball," whenever that might be. Since the baseball telecast started at 2 p.m., network executives figured there would be no problem getting the show on before local affiliates took over with their highly profitable news shows at 6 p.m.

They were wrong. The baseball game ran long, way long. First Chicago scored four runs in the top of the ninth inning to take a 7-5 lead, then Baltimore's Eddie Murray belted a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth to send it into extra innings. By the time Chicago finally completed its 8-7, 10-inning victory, it was 5:59 p.m. - and "Sportsbeat" had gone by the boards.

"We knew going in that the potential for runover existed, but we would not have skedded it as we did if we didn't think we had sufficient flexibility," said Jim Spence. ABC Sports senior vice president. "It could have aired as late as 5:53 for one segment. ed to be shown in the half but to get the entire show on hour following the ending of the air we would have had to start by 5:30. We figured an hour pad, from 4:30 to 5:30, would be sufficient." They figured wrong - they

Ironically, while baseball was postponing the debut of "Sportsbeat," CBS was airing an interesting report on the scandal-riddled University of New Mexico baskeball program on its "Sports Sunday" anthology series. Because that program was built around taped coverage of other events, there were no time problems.

CBS regularly does news, highlights and features as part of the studio-based wraparound for its "Sports Saturday" and "Sports Sunday" anthologies. NBC's magazine format "Sports Journal" runs as a periodic segment of the weekend "SportsWorld" anthology.

But "Sportsbeat" is unique as a self-contained magazinetype network show, and as such its reception will be closely watched. It is scheduled for monthly airing in a flexible time period through the football season, but in February it will go weekly and be given a fixed time slot. The first show has been rescheduled for Saturday Aug. 29.

Gaither Remembers A Kid Named Bob Hayes

The ceremony will take place at halftime of the Urban League's annual Football Classic matching Florida A&M and Grambling College in Yankee Stadium.

Guess who is almost certain to be in the audience? Bob Hayes.

"He is a fine kid," said Gaither in New York Tuesday when the award was announced. "I looked upon him

Nittany Lions Are Optimistic

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - in the Top 10 eight of the last If optimism wins football 10 years and reached bowls 13 games, Penn State should wind up No.1 in the country.

Coach Joe Paterno, usually cautious with any preseason predictions, says he expects to have a "fine football. team."

He'll need it with an 11-game schedule that has an away date with Nebraska as the second game and finishes with Alabama, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh.

In between is no picnic, with Cincinnati, Temple, Boston College, Syracuse, West Virginia, Miami, Fla., and North Carolina State on the slate.

"We have to have a strong team to operate against our schedule, which is the most difficult in Penn State history," Paterno observed as he prepared for fall prac-

We have to avoid injuries," said the coach.

"Our first concern is to rebuild the defense. We stressed that in the spring and made considerable progress. We have some good, young defensive linemen to go with (senior) tackle Leo Wisniewski who could be an outstanding player," said Paterno, whose team was ranked eighth at the end of "The first year on campus, a kid of 16, he and another kid were arrested for robbery and assault. What they took was a nickel pack of gum and a penny coin - altogether worth six cents."

Hayes spent five days in fail and then was assigned to Gaither on 10-year probation, a harsh sentence not lifted until five years later by the governor of Florida.

"Afterward he came to me and said, 'Coach, you'll never have to worry about me again." Gaither said. "After that, Bob ran from trouble, but, as it turned out, not fast or far enough."

Hayes became a football sensation at the black school while making world headlines as a record-setting sprinter and establishing himself as one of America's brightest Olympic hopefuls.

"He was a very sensitive kid, easily influenced," Gaither said. "All the publicity made him uncomfortable. He had been deprived of so much, all he wanted was to belong. He was naive and picked bad friends. "Once, I remember, he came to me disturbed because the kids on the team were teasing him about being. a big shot and going Hoilywood. I called a squad meeting but told Bob to get lost. I then lectured the other players: 'You boys should be proud to play on a team with someone as good as Bob.' Then I told them, 'If you want to get as much attention as he does, just outrun him.' They got the message."

Hayes won the 100 meter dash in Tokyo in 1964 and anchored the winning 400-meter relay team. He came home to sign a football contract with the Cowboys. Blinding speed and good hands made him a standout pass receiver, catching 365 passes for 7.295 yards and 76 touchdowns.

'Then, the Cowboys began drafting fresh talent, Gaither explained. "Bob was benched. Later he was traded to the 49ers. He was cut and he sued the 49ers for breach of contract. That's when his real trouble started."

In April, 1978 Hayes was arrested on drug charges. In March, 1979, after pleading guilty to selling cocaine to an undercover agent, he drew a five-year prison sentence.

"It was very involved and a case of Bob being betrayed by a man he had befriended," Gaither said. "My wife and I were character witnesses at his trial."

On Feb. 27, 1980, after serving some 11 months, Hayes was released.

Faust Under Irish Pressure

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) Gerry Faust has had absolutely no college coaching experience but is convinced he can handle the mindboggling pressure that goes hand-in-hand with the Notre Dame football coaching job.

Faust will make his Notre Dame debut after compiling an amazing record of 174-17-2 at Cincinnati's Moeller High School.

"I realize I've never coached at the college level before. but we were under a lot of pressure to win at Moeller. too," Faust says. "I know the high school level isn't the same thing, but when you've won 30 or 35 games straight, there's pressure involved."

Faust inherits a team that d a 9-2-1 record in Dan Devine's final season as head coach of the Fighting Irish. Notre Dame has 38 lettermen returning, including eight starters on offense and eight on defense from the team that lost 17-10 to national champion Georgia in the Sugar Bowl.

Six of the veterans, including wingback Tony Hunter, linebacker Bob Crable and quarterback Tim Koegel, played under Faust at Moeller, in addition to three incoming freshmen.

From the outset, Faust will be measured against Notre Dame legends Knute Rockne. Frank Leahy, Parseghian and Devine, all of whom won national championships.

Faust could become the first Irish coach to win a national championship in his first season. Parseghian came close in 1964 but saw it slip away at Southern Cal when the Trojans rallied for a 20-17 victory in the final game of what could have been a perfect season.

Faust's undoing could be a crushing schedule. The Irish start out against Louisiana State, Michigan, Purdue, Michigan State, Florida State and Southern Cal and later catch Penn State.

Faust's first big decision will be naming his starting quarterback. There are sophomores Blair Kiel and Scott Grooms and senior Koegel. Kiel started most of the games last season but all three were impressive in the spring.

Whoever wins the job will have such talented receivers as tight end Dean Masztak, wingback Hunter and split ends Mike Boushka and Dave

Coe, Nehemiah Break Records

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) - Britain's Sebastian Coe, who clocked the best-ever mile, and American Renaldo Nehemiah, pulverizing his own 110-meter hurdles world mark highlighted an international track and field meet Wednesday night before 25,000 wildly cheering fans at Letzi Grund Stadium.

Coe surged ahead in the mile at the completion of two laps after being paced by American Tom Byers, then took firm command, finishing in 3 minutes, 48.53 seconds as he recaptured the world mark from fellow Briton and archrival Steve Ovett.

Nehemiah, who skipped the U.S. championships at Coe expressed disappointment that he did not break the 1,500 meter mark as well. The last one to better both records in one race was Australia's John Landy in 1954.

Coe, who also holds the world records in the 800 and 1,000 meters, said, "At first, I thought I would miss both marks. That was after about 1,000 meters. But then I gave Sacramento, Calif., last May it all I had and it paid off."

Bryant, trying to steer the Crimson Tide to its eighth Southeastern Conference title in 10 years, says he'd prefer that fans and members of the news media forget about his chase of the all-time record for coaching victories.

Bryant enters the campaign with 306, eight shy of the record held by the legendary Amos Alonzo Stagg,

Much to his dismay, that chase will overshadow the battles for conference championships and independent supremacy in the South this

Alabama, as usual, is favored to win the SEC and Dick Crum's North Carolina Tar Heels are a solid pick to repeat in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Coach Howard Schnellenberger has Miami of Florida primed to head the list of a dozen Southern independents and Furman and Tennessee-Chattanooga are expected to wage a battle for the Southern Conference crown. "It embarrasses me," Bryant says of the attention his chase of Stagg has generated.

"He (Stagg) is the Huckleberry Finn of football, like Babe Ruth. Nobody will ever replace him in the record book. There's no way you can compare two totally different eras of football.

"I wish everyone would forget about it," he added. "If you subtracted the games my teams won despite me, there wouldn't be any record chase."

The area's top individual performer is a mere sophomore — All-American tailback Herschel Walker of defending national champion

Georgia. Walker smashed the NCAA record for yards rushing by a freshman last fall when he dashed for 1,616 in the regular season and added another 150 in the Bulldogs' Sugar Bowl victory over Notre Dame, leaving Georgia with college football's only perfect record,

Since Alabama captured championships in 1978 and 1979, the SEC would be the first league ever to win four straight Associated Press national crowns if one of its members accomplishes that feat this year. There are several teams capable of winning the SEC besides Alabama, which lost 14 starters from last year's Cotton Bowl championship

Georgia, the defending champion, has to be considered with Walker and All-SEC quarterback Buck Belue back, but Coach Vince Dooley has to rebuild his offensive could make it to the championship behind sophomore quarterback John Bond and such defensive standouts as linebacker Johnie Cooks and tackle Glen Collins.

Charley Pell has Florida on the rebound, going 8-4 last year after a 0-10-1 disaster the previous season. The Gators will be tough, but won't have the element of surprise again.

Jerry Stovall begins his second season at Louisiana State with 15 starters back and Johnny Majors has 13 starters returning at Tennessee. LSU and the Vols are darkhorses in the SEC race.

Auburn has a new coach, Pat Dye, but lost a brilliant runner, James Brooks and Mississippi received a blow during the summer when quarterback John Fourcade broke his hand in a softball

Both Kentucky and Vanderbilt return 17 starters, but still don't figure to challenge in the conference. Vandy has lost 30 consecutive conference outings. Carolina will build its offense around All-ACC running back Kelvin Bryant and quarterback Rod Elkins. There should be a threeway battle for second among Clemson, North Carolina

State and Maryland. Clemson features an excellent receiver in Perry Tuttle, N.C. State has 15 starters back and Maryland counts All-ACC running back Charlie Wysocki among four returning offensive starters.

Virginia expects to be better, Duke has 18 starters returning and Wake Forest will be in a transition period under new coach Al Groh.

Georgia Tech, which again faces a tough slate, is still not eligible to compete for the ACC title, but has an excellent quarterback in Mike Kelley, who has 4,362 career passing yards.

Miami is counting on Jim Kelly, who threw for 1,519 yards and 11 scores, to keep the Hurricane in the Top 20 rankings.

AFC East Now Pro Football's Least Predictable Division

Sports Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) -The AFC East used to belong to the Miami Dolphins, but it has produced four champions in the last five years and developed a reputation as one of the National Football League's least predictable divisions.

New England has the best talent in the division but somehow usually finds a way to lose near the end of the season. The most explosive offenses belong to the Baltimore Colts and New York Jets, but their defenses keep them from winning consistently. With Miami rebuilding, that left the Buffalo Bills to climb to the top last season.

In its first decade, the division knew only three champions - the Dolphins, Patriots and Colts. But the Bills changed that in 1980. winning the title with an 11-5 record built on a strong defense and versatile rookie back Joe Cribbs.

Buffalo Coach Chuck Knox, the NFL's Coach of the Year in 1980, has built a favorite for consecutive titles with judicious draft choices and a blend of seasoned veterans. The Bills are expecially tough on defense.

"It's the Bermuda Triangle because ballcarriers have a habit of getting lost in our territory," says 270-pound nose tackle Fred Smerlas, a Pro Bowler in his second season. The other points of the triangle are inside linebackers Shane Nelson and Jim Haslett, whose 125 tackles led the team. Isiah Robertson and Lucius Sanford play outside in the 3-4.

Left end Ben Williams had 12 sacks last year, while Sherman White complements the pass rush on the other side.

Strong safety Steve Freeman led the team in interceptions with seven, while free safeties Jeff Nixon and Bill Simpson and cornerbacks Mario Clark and Charles Romes complete a solid, veteran unit.

With 225-pound fullback Booker Moore, this year's No. 1 draft choice, out of action because of a nerve ailment, the Bills again will rely on 203-pound Curtis Brown to carry the ball or block for Cribbs.

Cribbs set a Buffalo rookie record with 1,185 yards rushing and also caught 52 passes, a team record for a back.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson threw for 2,805 yards and 20 touchdowns last year. His top receivers are Jerry Butler and Frank Lewis and tight end Mark Brammer.

The offensive line is strong, with underrated tackles Ken Jones and Joe Devlin flanking guards Reggie McKenzie and Conrad Dobler and

New England is a statistician's dream and an analyst's nightmare with five first-round draft choices in the secondary, a 441-point output and 10-6 record in 1980 and no playoff berth. Tight end Russ Francis has retired, but Coach Ron Erhardt still has reserve Don Hasselbeck and wide receivers Stanley Morgan and Harold Jackson, the top active receiver in the NFL with 532 receptions.

Strong-armed quarterback Steve Grogan has been incon-

Completing the backfield are Vagas Ferguson, who rushed for 818 yards as a rookie, and Don Calhoun.

Miami Coach Don Shula has 193 career victories in 18 years of NFL coaching despite an 8-8 mark last

In the fourth game last year, he put David Woodley at quarterback, and the eightround pick passed for 1,850 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Now Shula must rehabilitate the running game, which wasn't helped when No. 1 choice David Overstreet defected to Montreal of the Canadian Football League.

Tony Nathan and rookie show promise. Nathan caught 57 passes for 588 yards last year, better than wide receivers Nat Moore (47 catches) and Duriel Harris (33).

Bokamper and Doug Betters play ahead of linebackers A.J. Duhe, Larry Gordon and newcomer Bob Brudzinski.

Injury-riddled quarterback Bert Jones gives the Colts another dimension on the field, and he stayed healthy long enough last year to set personal records with 348 completions for 3,134 yards. Baltimore whipped Buffalo twice in 1980 and could be the sleeper of the division with a revved-up offense based around receivers Roger Carr and with first-round choice fullback Randy McMillan to pair with 800-yard rusher Curtis Dickey.

Miami defensive ends Kim

The Colts finished 21st in pass defense, but should improve with a stronger pass rush and the work of strong safety Bruce Laird, cornerback Derrick Hatchett and linebackers Barry Krauss, Mike Woods and Sanders Shiver.

At 4-12 after an 8-8 season the previous year, the Jets were the AFC's disappointment of 1980.

Injuries, a woeful defense and the unsteady play of quarterback Richard Todd knocked Coach Walt Michaels' club off schedule.

Todd completed 264 passes: for 3,329 yards but also threw 30 interceptions. Many of his passes went to backs - kick returner Bruce Harper caught 50 and led the NFL in all-purpose yardage with 2,072 — but this year he will seek to take advantage of the speed of wide receivers Johnny Jones (25 receptions) and Wesley Walker (19).

New York draft choices. Freeman McNeil and Marion Barber are running backs. who should help.

Defensively, New York has: enormous potential in 285-pound end Mark Gastineau, tackle Joe Klecko and linebackers Greg Buttle and Stan Blinka.

dèvelops some osteoporosis. This is the gradual loss of bone tissue with bone calcium. The amount of loss is what makes the difference. Anglo-Saxon women, particularly those of small stature, are more prone to severe bone loss than others. Small Japanese women also have the problem. This has lead some investigators to think that the size of the skeleton is important and that people with large skeletons are less likely to have significant bone loss.

All of the medicines you mention have been used to treat the problem. Small doses of estrogen have also been found to be very effective in stopping bone loss and may be used in some cases. Your Os-Cal provides calcium for you, otherwise I would recommend sufficient milk and milk products to be sure you have a high calci-um intake. People with osteoporosis have an increased requirement for dietary calcium to help prevent bone loss.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-10, Osteoporosis: Bone Softening, which outlines the problem for you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Exercises are important but you need to use the right kind. In your case strength-ening the muscles that hold your back up are important. Lifting is a no-no. You may live" a normal life span developing only minimal changes such as the dowager's hump that is so common. Osteoporosis is the underlying cause of weak bones in many people who develop fractures easily when they get older. If you enjoy working stay with it until your doctor advises otherwise for you

DEAR DR. LAMB - I wish you would give us middle-aged women some advice about middle-aged spread. I'm 4 and aon't eat as much as I did 10 years ago but I am spreading and I don't like it. I have been doing situps and even go to a health club to use their fanny shakers and rollers. Despite this I am not making any progress and it is disgusting. What kind of exercises should I be doing? If you have any printed material on this, please send it to me. Why do women have this problem anyway? Is it glandular?
DEAR READER — It is not just women but men as well and for some it begins well before middle age. A major factor is obesity. As people mature they often stop doing the types of exercise that build and maintain strong muscles.

Studies show that women begin to have less muscle mass after age 40. This in turn decreases their use of calories, even when they are sitting still. So if you keep eating the same number of calories but your body uses fewer calories, the end result is body fat. You can help prevent this by doing a good exercise program that uses all your muscles and puts a lot of them under load to maintain muscle size and strength. Now, situps are good. But you need to do leg lifts, too, since situps will not help strengthen the lower abdominal muscles. Leg lifts will.

Voluntary contraction and relaxation of the abdominal muscles help, too.

Per your request I am sending you my new Health Letter number 17-12, Winning the Battle of the Bulge. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will explain what you need to know about exercises to help you.

Softening brown sugar

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I always keep brown sugar in a tightly sealed plastic bag in the refrigerator to keep it moist, However, recently a bag had a hole in it and the sugar got hard. Do you know of any way to make the sugar soft and usable? — DOROTHY

DEAR DOROTHY — A favorite remedy of mine is to put the sugar in a tightly closed plastic bag (and make sure there are no holes in this one!) or airtight container with a slice of apple or a lettuce leaf. After a few days the sugar should soften up and be ready to

If you want to use the sugar right away, you can put it in a shallow baking pan in a warm oven for several minutes. This also works in a microwave oven. However er, you should use the sugar immediately, since it will probably harden again if left to cool. You can also grate hard lumps of brown sugar on a regular four-sided grater, or break the mass into smaller lumps and give it a quick whirl in a food processor or blender.— POLLY

DEAR POLLY — For emergency first aid treatments, keep a small ice bag in your freezer filled with one part rubbing alcohol and three parts water. This will stay pliable though very cold, and is always ready to use. — RUTH DEAR POLLY — I use a medium-sized dish drainer in my kitchen cabinet to store pot lids, pie pans, hot plates, trivets and other flat pans. I can easily see the lid or pan I want and my cupboard stays much neater. - T.M. DEAR POLLY — You can use the odd bits of soap to make all your laundry soap. Collect the tiny slivers of any kind and any color soap in a large-mouth gallon or half gallon in a large-mouth gallon in a large-mouth gallon or half gallon in a large-mouth gallon lon jar, adding only enough water to cover the parts. When the jar is filled, dump the contents into a large pan, sim ner and stir until the entire lot is dissolved. Let the mixture ool at which time it will have thickened like gelatin. One detergent load of wash. You .. be amazed at how well your clothes are cleaned with this soap and how soft they are.
