WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are urging the administration to reduce spending on Social Security, food stamp and Medicaid programs, cuts that the White House says President Reagan now is considering.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said Monday that Reagan would look into the possibility of cutting government benefit, or entitlement, programs as he tries to trim federal spending by almost $18 billion next year.

Republican congressional leaders were invited to the White House this morning, and such cuts were on the agenda, officials said.

Speakes was forced Monday to reverse an earlier statement that there were no plans "right now" to touch entitlements after White House chief of staff James A. Baker III conferred with the Republican leaders in the Senate. Baker agreed to consider such areas for possible cuts because there is "some sentiment" on Capitol Hill for them, Speakes said.

Senate Republican leaders also planned to bring to today's meeting a set of "proposed ideas" about cutting interest rates, a congressional source said.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said the senators were suggesting that Reagan consider forming a presidential commission on interest rates to monitor the situation.

However, the source added, the senators also felt there "should be no effort to overreact" by taking such steps as imposing credit controls.

Some legislators, Republicans as well as Democrats, indicated last week that they may seek enactment of credit controls if interest rates do not soon decline significantly.

In addition, the senators agreed to ask Reagan to increase his proposed 1982 defense spending reductions to $4 billion to $5 billion. Reagan has proposed reducing defense spending next year by $2 billion as part of his plan to trim the overall military budget by $13 billion over the next three fiscal years.

The source said there are indications the president

"may accept more defense cuts."

The GOP senators also were expected to suggest that appropriations for operations of the federal government be reduced and that the president make a nationally broadcast address to explain why the cuts are necessary.

But the "biggest disagreement" between the senators and the administration is over whether entitlement programs should be cut, the source said.

One senior White House aide, who asked not to be identified, sought to dampen speculation that the entitlement programs would be cut. "The president has not been inclined to go that way. He is willing to listen to the arguments. He hasn't been persuaded," the official said.

Asked repeatedly whether he would rule out cuts in Social Security payments, Speakes avoided a direct answer.

Speakes said it was unlikely that the Reagan budget decisions would be formally announced until next week. The earliest a Cabinet meeting will be held to discuss the proposed changes, as well as those for fiscal 1983 and 1984, is Wednesday. Last week, it was anticipated the president's decisions would be unveiled this week.

County Rejects Bids Again On Sheriff's Cars

BY BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR
The Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court is having a tough time trying to buy three new vehicles for the county sheriff's department, and they have decided to try for a third time to get bids submitted on those items.

The county fathers rejected bids on cars submitted to them Monday, and agreed to advertise for bids a third time for the new vehicles requested by Sheriff Travis McPherson's office.

The problem lies in the auto dealers not having up-to-date pricing information on "police package" units. Steven's Chevrolet-

Oldsmobile and Stanger-Orsborn Buick, Pontiac, GMC submitted bids on one vehicle each to the court Monday, but the figures and equipment didn't suit the commissioners.

In other action the commissioners purchased a tractor for Precinct 3, discussed an intercom system for the county jail, briefly discussed renovations to the Walker Building recently purchased by the county, and approved a contract with an Amarillo firm for a survey and evaluation of county jobs and personnel.

The court purchased a used Case tractor from Case Power & Equipment of Hereford for $12,600 for use in Precinct 3. Other bids submitted were a second bid from Case of $14,200 and a bid of $17,000 from White Implement Co. for a used John Deere unit.

Sheriff's Deputy Dean Butcher presented preliminary specifications for a new sound system for the jail as required of the county by the Jail Standards Commission. Butcher said the jail needs 26 speakers in the "staff" or interior stations, and main base station to facilitate communication 24 hours a day between the dispatcher and the inmates held in the jail.

The commissioners authorized County Auditor Alex Schroeter to advertise for bids on the job, which was estimated to cost around $8,000 by Butcher.

The county fathers approved a contract with Talentmax of Amarillo, a firm which surveys existing jobs and personnel and derives job descriptions for each position and evaluates employees.

The process will begin with the date of the contract signed Monday, and continue through July 31, 1982 at a cost of $22,500 to the county.

Schroeter asked the commissioners for permission to present budget amendments to the court at its next meeting Sept. 28. He received permission to do so.

And, Vicki Jacobs of the Amarillo CETA office, proposed splitting up local CETA representative Loretta Kindsfather's time between the two offices since CETA funds are in the process of being cut drastically.

Mims to Head Cancer Society

Dr. A.T. Mims will be installed as president of the Deaf Smith County chapter of the American Cancer Society when the unit meets at noon Wednesday at the country club.

All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting. Dr. Mims will succeed Bob Nigh as president of the local unit's board. Nigh has served as president the last three years.

Panel to Hear Suit On Redistricting Plan

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A three-judge panel has been named to hear a suit challenging Texas' congressional redistricting plan.

The panel will consist of U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, in whose court the suit was filed, U.S. Circuit Judge Sam D. Johnson of Austin and U.S. District Judge Robert M. Parker of Beaumont. The judges have 20 days in which to respond to the appointment, announced Monday. Under federal law, all congressional reapportionment cases must be heard by three judges, one of whom must be a circuit judge. The panel is appointed by the chief judge of the circuit, in this case John C. Godbold of the 5th U.S. Court of Criminal Appeals in New Orleans. Justice wrote to Godbold asking him to make the appointments.

The suit was filed last week by the Rev. A.M. Seamon

Lindley Is Grid Champ

Pam Lindley of 200 Ironwood in Hereford bested some 300 Football Contest armchair quarterbacks this past week to take top prize $25 with only three misses of the twenty-six games.

Second prize of $15 goes to Jane Duggan of 204 Ironwood in Hereford. Third prize and $10 was captured by Dr. H.R. Johnson of 318 Centre in Hereford.

Second and Third prize winners each missed four games, edging out to other contestants who also missed four games. The most accurate guess on the tie-breaker games made the difference in the Hereford Bucks.

So, sharpen your pencil and join the fun. Win some bucks and enter this week's contest which appear in today's Hereford Brand.

Good, Clean Fun?

Like happy hogs, about fifty teenagers and elementary students "walled" in milkshake thick mire Saturday during Mud Bowl IV.

After nearly two hours of good clean fun, the game was over with a tie of 6-6. The annual event is sponsored by the Hereford Church of the Nazarene.

Pope Calls for Pay Scales To Keep Mothers at Home

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II in the third encyclical of his papacy called today for wage scales sufficient for family support so that mothers do not have to abandon the care and education of their children.

The pope's 99-page statement on social issues also — Called for "radical and urgent changes" in the Third World to improve life for the masses there.

— Gave strong backing to labor unions and said they should be guaranteed the right to strike except for political purposes or in essential public services.

— Repeated his previous criticisms of both the capitalist and communist systems and called for an economy based on a mixture of private and public ownership.

The pope said workers should receive a "just" wage, which he defined as big enough to support the entire family. If the father earns such a wage, he said, the mother is free to take care of her children and educate them.

"Having to abandon these tasks in order to take up paid work outside the home is wrong from the point of view of the good of society and of the family when it contradicts or hinders these primary goals of the mission of a mother," the pontiff said.

He noted that "in many societies women work in nearly every sector of life."

"But it is fitting," he continued, "that they should be able to fulfill their tasks in accordance with their own nature, without being discriminated against and without being excluded from jobs for which they are capable, but also without lack of respect for their family aspirations and for their specific role in contributing, together with men, to the good of society."

Women, said the pope, must "not have to pay for their advancement by abandoning what is specific to them and at the expense of the family in which women as mothers have an irreplaceable role."

The encyclical, a letter informing the Roman Catholic Church of the pope's views on a particular subject, carried the Latin title "Laborem Exercens," which the Vatican translated as "On Human Work."

John Paul said he would have published it in May on the 90th anniversary of the first major papal encyclical on social questions, Pope Leo XIII's "Rerum Novarum," but the attempt on his life May 13 delayed the publication.

The pope was wounded in the abdomen, leg and finger by Turkish terrorist Mehmet Ali Agca two days before the anniversary of the 1891 encyclical, a milestone in church policy that questioned capitalism but also said

Longtime State Leader Dies

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sybil Dickinson, who frequently was called "the secretary of state behind the scenes," died Monday at her Austin home after a long illness.

A state employee since 1940, Ms. Dickinson had been director of the administrative division in the Texas secretary of state's office since 1950.

As top administrative assistant in the department, she had been an aide to 17 secretaries of state before she retired about two years ago.

Before comparatively new election laws were enacted that made the secretary of state the state's chief election officer, she handled all election and campaign reports.

Her great grandfather came to Texas with Stephen F. Austin. Her father was assistant postmaster at Yoakum. She attended Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos and the University of Texas. She began her state work as a secretary for the late Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson and later for Commissioner Beauford Jester.

She was appointed a member of the first Commission on the Status of Women in Texas by Gov. John Connally.

At the time of her death, Ms. Dickinson was a member of the Texas Historical Commission, the Texas Arts Alliance, the Austin Heritage Society, the Texas Historical Foundation and the Texas Heritage Council.

Rosary will be said Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at Weed-Corley Funeral Home. Funeral mass will be Wednesday, 11 a.m., at St. Austin's, followed by burial in the State Cemetery.

Gas Pipeline Delivery Questioned

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Railroad Commission called upon pipeline companies Monday to report by Nov. 1 how quickly they can move natural gas around the state.

Commissioner Mack Wallace said a natural gas expert had told him a normally cold winter would cause gas curtailments. "We must reassure ourselves that we are able to respond to any natural gas shortage which may occur this winter," he said.

Wallace said, however, "It is my belief that human needs customers need not worry about the availability of their gas supply, and it is unlikely that electric utilities without alternate fuel capability need worry about their supply."

The commission said it would select a committee to encourage cooperation between natural gas pipelines and to advise the commission on the pipelines' ability to respond in time of shortages.

Council to Screen Iran Candidates

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hojatolislam Ali Khamenei is the front-runner among the 44 candidates registered to run in Iran's Oct. 2 election to replace the nation's assassinated president, Interior Ministry officials in Tehran said today.

The officials, reached by phone from The Associated Press office in Beirut, declined to be identified.

A ministry statement broadcast by Tehran Radio gave the number of candidates who registered during the three-day period that ended at the close of office hours Monday but did not announce any names.

The statement said the nation's Council of Guardians would consider for five days which of the 44 candidates will be eligible in the voting to replace the late President Mohammad Ali Rajai, killed with Prime Minister Mohammad Bahonar in a firebomb blast Aug. 30.

Khamenei was hospitalized for seven weeks after a booby-trapped tape recorded exploded June 27 during his sermon at a Tehran mosque.

Conservatives Victorious in Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A conservative coalition has won enough seats in Parliament to replace the Labor government of Prime Minister Gro Harlem Brundtland.

With more than 95 percent of the votes counted, Labor Party spokesmen conceded Monday that a ticket led by Conservative Party leader Kaare Willoch had ended eight years of socialist government.

Willoch, 52, said he would begin negotiations Wednesday with leaders of the Christian Democratic Party and the Center Party to form a government.

"Our prime goal is to form a three-party coalition by Oct. 12," he said.

Willoch's coalition campaigned for less taxes and government spending and more cooperation with other members of the NATO military alliance.

Mrs. Brundtland's government froze prices last month in an effort to combat 14 percent inflation.

Fishermen, Wildlife Officials In Round 2 of Redfish Battle

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Commercial fishermen and state wildlife officials opened round two of the Texas redfish battle with conflicting testimony from marine biologists on whether the species is declining.

Present were many of the same faces that watched round one last spring when the Texas Legislature passed the bill to outlaw commercial redfish and trout harvests.

The two sides lined up Monday in a small federal courtroom crowded with commercial fishermen from Houston, Palacios, Seadrift and other coastal communities.

"I just been sitting at home," said local commercial fisherman Alfonso Ortiz.

"We've just been waiting to see what's going to happen at this trial," said Bo Cunningham of Seadrift. "Some of the boys have been trying to find other employment but not many of them have been successful."

Commercial fishermen have asked U.S. District Judge James DeAnda to strike down a new state law that banned commercial harvests of redfish and speckled sea trout beginning Sept. 1. The hearing was to continue today.

Sports fishermen may continue landing the two popular species. Commercial fishermen argue they are being discriminated against.

"The population of red drum (redfish) will go up and down with environmental conditions. There is no proof that fishing pressure causes these ups and downs," testified Dr. Henry Hildebrand of Corpus Christi, a marine biologist and private fisheries consultant.

Hildebrand called the redfish law "overkill" and said the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department should have charted the redfish population over more than a five-year period before concluding that commercial fishermen were overharvesting it.

He said redfish go through 10-year population cycles during which their numbers increase or decrease.

"This is not a conservation bill. It's an allocation bill," said Hildebrand, who retired after 30 years with the Texas Wildlife Department. "It allocates all the fish to one group (sportsmen)."

The Gulf Coast Conservation Association and other sportsmen's groups lobbied heavily for passage of the law.

In opposing testimony, state fisheries director Bob Kemp said studies document the decline in numbers of large redfish formerly found in Texas bays. He said commercial fishermen are cutting down on the spawning population.

He said the wildlife department made an economic decision to allow continued sports catches of redfish while banning commercial catches.

State officials estimated that redfish sportsmen contribute $400 million to the state economy, compared to $6 million annually from commercial fishermen.

"The impact would be certainly felt by individual fishermen but it would be a minor impact on the overall commercial fishing industry," Kemp said to audible groans from the spectators. "But it would have a major impact on the sports fishing industry."

Kemp added, "I don't think red drum is in danger of becoming extinct but if this downward trend continues and if we had the worst freeze on record, the red drum would be in trouble."

John Short, a Salt Lake City economist, disputed the state wildlife estimates of the impact a redfish ban on sportsmen would have. He said it was ridiculous to assume that half the state's 800,000 sportsmen would "break their rods and reels" and sink their boats if they could not catch redfish and trout.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to share some ideas concerning mental health and criminal justice programs. Through my work with mental health programs, I see some progress in de-institutionalization, and I believe something can be accomplished in the criminal justice area.

The Kennedy administration acted upon the common conclusion that human warehousing in state institutions rarely improved the condition of sick people. It was thought that 3,000 community centers across the nation could reduce hospital population while providing services for those in need in a home situation.

Though only 1,000 clinics were funded, mental hospital population was reduced greatly. Even so, hospital budgets have skyrocketed—due to inflation, government mandates, civil rights cases and other factors.

The change from categorical to block grants, with the pie split by state rather than federal decisions, is increasing the dollar battles. Legislators with state hospitals and payrolls in their districts fight for increases.

Those of us wanting the dollars to follow the clinics would prefer the dollars go to the community centers and out-patient systems. Both are needed. Community mental health in Texas serves 62 percent of the people receiving service on 12 percent of the state budget. Over 80 percent of state funds are spent on 1 percent of those served.

The Amarillo system of MHMR, of which Hereford is a part, served 4,500 people last year. I have served on the 21-county regional board of MHMR since it was first formed. I am now also on the executive committee of the Texas Council of Community Centers.

We seek to reduce red tape and bring practicality to our state system and want the dollar to follow the client load. I'm very proud of the progress we've made, both in the regional system and the Hereford Family Services Center. The path has not been easy and we are fighting reductions in service, now.

I wonder if we can do something similar in Criminal Justice.

Our countrymen, sick and well, must be helped to see them as they really are. Conscientious stewards of mankind's noblest cause.

Doing their thing despite all the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune.

Better than their counterparts anywhere else in the world.

Flagman Killed Near Friona

A flagman for Borsberry Construction was killed Monday afternoon by a pickup truck avoiding a collision with a tractor trailer rig west of Friona on U.S. 60.

Pedro Guerrero, 17, Bovina, was reported dead at the scene by Wayne Spear, Palmer County Justice of the Peace. He had been hit by the right front tire of the pickup at about 5:30 p.m.

According to Art Lopez, investigation Highway Patrolman, Jimmie Edward Owens, Bovina, was westbound on one lane of construction when he saw the semi rig approaching in that lane. He swerved to avoid the collision and hit Guerrero.

Authorities have no leads on the tractor trailer rig or the driver. Officers are not sure the driver of the rig realized there had been an accident.

No administrative action has been taken against Texas highway patrolman Ken Britten who is awaiting trial for an alleged assault on a Dimmitt man, according to Sgt. Bill Scott, Department of Public Safety.

"He is still working here and will be until further notice," Scott said today.

Scott said Britten has not been re-assigned or transferred from his regular duties as a result of his charge.

George Hyman alleges Britten assaulted him while stopped for a traffic violation.

For many years, your county commissioners court showed wisdom in building and continually upgrading the county jail. When federal jail standards called for our jail's renovation at $1 million, we helped form a state jail standards commission with a much more practical approach that buffered us against federal standards.

We renovated into state compliance for one-quarter million dollars and continue to upgrade to remain in compliance. Federal jail standards advocates are growing and threaten to override state positions.

Our courts and prison systems are where our mental health systems were 15 years ago—overwhelmed with demand and facing costs that cannot be met. There is not enough money in Texas to build enough federally-approved maximum security facilities to contain the masses that rigidly enforced laws would place in them. This is a common cause for loose enforcement and early release.

The cost is staggering when you add construction in the billions, $20,000 per inmate per year, fantastic legal, court and appeal costs in getting the criminal to jail, the welfare to his family, and the police costs.

The taxpaying public is being punished too much and the criminal too little. I mean no disrespect to the many fine people who strive in our present system, but we must become more effective and less costly.

I am now serving as Deaf Smith County's representative on the National Association of Counties criminal justice and public safety committee. I worked more than a year securing NACO's official position calling for reduced funding and local control of Legal Services Corporation and its agencies, such as TRIA.

We seek to reduce red tape and bring practicality to our state system and want the dollar to follow the client load. ## Pope from page 1

Marxian socialism was insufficient.

John Paul did not refer specifically to the labor unrest in his native Poland, but there were strong echoes of his earlier expressions of support for the independent Polish labor federation Solidarity and his counsel that it pursue its aims with moderation.

"In order to achieve social justice in the various parts of the world," he wrote in the encyclical, "...there is a need for ever new movements of solidarity of the workers and with the workers."

He said unions are "a mouthpiece for the struggle for social justice" but added that they must be aware of their nations' economic problems when pressing their demands.

The pope said workers in the capitalist system have a right to participate to some extent in the management of their companies.

"In consideration of human labor and of common access to the goods meant for man, one cannot exclude the socialization, in suitable conditions, of certain means of production," he said.

But he warned that communist managers may carry out their tasks badly by "claiming...a monopoly of the administration and disposal of the means of production and not refraining even from offending basic human rights."

John Paul made a special plea for the poverty-stricken agricultural inhabitants of the Third World, saying millions of them are exploited, without hope of ever owning land, paid "miserably," and without legal protection in case of old age, sickness or unemployment.

"In many situations, radical and urgent changes are therefore needed in order to restore to agriculture — and to rural people — their just value as the basis for a healthy economy," he said.

The pope said industrial nations and multinational corporations set high prices for their products while trying to keep down prices for the raw materials and less sophisticated manufactured goods of the developing nations.

"The gap between most of the richest countries and the poorest ones is not diminishing or being stabilized," he said, "but is increasing more and more, to the detriment, obviously, of the poor countries."

In his first encyclical, issued in March 1979, John Paul criticized the materialism of both capitalist and communist societies and warned that the arms race threatens mankind with "unimaginable self-destruction."

In the second, published in December, the pope condemned political torture and said the church must speak out for mercy.

Runaway Still Missing

A runaway teenager was reported missing to Hereford police Monday when her parents were informed she was absent from school.

The girl had a friend call her home to let them know she was safe, however her location is still unknown.

Owen Stagner, 132 Ave. D, reported that his tires had been punctured sometime Sunday night while his car was parked at Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

About $25 in cash and checks were taken from a garage sale at 501 Irving, according to a report filed by Molly Rodriguez. Ms. Rodriguez told police she had gone into the house for a drink of water when the money was taken.

A Deaf Smith County Deputy has been hospitalized after a one car accident at Highways 385 and 60. Carrol Darrell, 217 Ave. B, was answering a call when his car went out of control and slammed into a traffic light pole.

Three reserve officers were in the car but were treated and released.

Police issued 10 citations and recovered a stolen bicycle Monday.

During the weekend nine persons were arrested for driving while intoxicated, eight for public intoxication, and 44 traffic tickets were issued. Three accidents were investigated.

Hospital Management

We are not doing nothing about rising hospital costs. In Mendocino County, California, local schoolteachers are rewarded for staying out of the hospital. If a beneficiary under the city's health plan claims less than $500 a year, the unspent balance is added to his retirement fund.

While the costs of other health care plans have increased 25 percent, the costs for this one have not increased at all for three years!

For 20 years I have watched Servicemaster's increasing involvement in hospital cleaning and, more recently, materials management.

Most impressive has been this contribution to the AHA's cost containment efforts.

I know of one hospital which has delegated materials management to these specialists — a 450-bed hospital and medical center — which has saved $189,000 in purchases, $18,000 in labor, $192,000 in reduced inventory and has generated $196,000 additional revenue by updating pricing. That is a total of more than half a million dollars which the patients of that hospital will not have to pay.

A favorite golfing companion, Ken Wessner of Servicemaster, keeps me updated on what you are doing. In 270 of your hospitals this past year, professional management of operations and maintenance has accomplished an energy saving of 18 percent. (That's 5.7 million dollars' worth.)

Said another way, the energy thus saved would have been enough to run 31 100-bed hospitals for a full year.

I've always thought one good example is worth a thousand admonitions.

Each year for five during National Hospital Week I have publicly applauded the AHA and the V.E. and the facilities which have demonstrated cost containment.

I am proud to salute their administrators. They deserve to be proud, too.

And could be, would be, if the eyes of the news were less myopic.

Our countrymen, sick and well, must be helped to see them as they really are. Conscientious stewards of mankind's noblest cause.

Doing their thing despite all the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I know a lot of people who are letting television reruns get through to them. Viewers who used to be doleful and uncomplaining are now doing strange things.

One man in San Diego turned off Dan Rather saying he'd heard that news last April.

A woman I talked with at the supermarket said she turned her set off to read and still hears Laverne's and Shirley's voices.

And a mar, in a bar in St. Louis was charged with disorderly conduct when he threw a bottle into a set shouting, "When's the new season going to start? Dallas was in Texas last year!"

Other than singing along with the Mandrell Sisters, laughing before Mork gives the punch line, and beginning to hum Louis Rukeysers' theme song, I don't think the monotony has affected me one way or another.

After dinner the other night, I sat down to watch a rerun of "Barney Miller." My husband said, "Weren't you wearing that dress the last time you watched this segment of 'Barney Miller'?"

"I think you're right," I said, "because I remember your saying the same thing the time before when I watched this segment. Come to think of it, you say it every time. And I'm getting sick of it!"

"You wanta talk sick," he said, "we had the same thing for dinner the night we watched this segment. pork chops, macaroni and cheese and applesauce."

"Can you think of something better to go with 'Barney Miller'?"

"Why do I get the feeling the phone is going to ring right now and it's going to be your mother telling us to watch the movie on the other channel?"

"Because," I said, "she called us precisely at this time before during this segment and the same movie she likes is being repeated tonight on the other channel. There goes the phone. You want me to get it?"

"You did the last time," he sighed. When I returned she said, "Did your mother tell you to change the channel?"

"It wasn't mother. It was a storm door salesman." "Why didn't you tell me?" he demanded. "The excitement would kill you."

Ann Landers

Help for Depression

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 12-year-old girl who is a daily reader of the Chicago Sun-Times. A while back I saw an article that told about how kids can be depressed. I didn't pay a lot of attention to it when I read it, and now I wish I had. I have a friend who seems so sad since her father died a few months ago. I think she is in a depression. Please, Ann, try to find that article. It had a quiz to help kids tell if they were just unhappy for a little while or truly depressed. Thank you for a lot of good advice. I have been reading your column since I was nine.—Your Admirer In Glencoe

- (1) Do you feel sad?
—depressed
—empty?
—very unhappy?
—have a bad feeling inside more than two times a week?
- (2) Are you having less fun in some or many of the things you used to enjoy, such as:
—playing with your friends?
—going outside?
—reading books?
—watching TV?
- (3) Even though you are trying hard to pay attention at school, is it more difficult to:
—listen?
—remember what you learn?
- (4) Is it taking more than one hour to fall asleep at night?
- (5) Do you wake up in the middle of the night or early in the morning and have trouble falling asleep again?
- (6) Is your life so unhappy or painful that you wish you were dead?
- (7) Do you think about killing yourself?

- (8) Has anyone told you lately that you look sad?
- (9) Have you been having trouble going to school?
Any child who tests himself and comes out "depressed" should talk to his parents about this. Depression is a condition that can be helped with medication. No one has to accept these painful feelings and surrender to them. Adults can take his test, substituting "work" for "school," and see how they come out. Remember, depression is an illness that is treatable. If you can't afford a private therapist, look in the phone book under "mental health" for local, county, state and federal agencies that can help you. And don't overlook the excellent service agencies in the larger cities. (Salvation Army, Family Service Assn., Catholic Charities, Jewish Federation, and on and on.)
CONFIDENTIAL to Disillusioned, Disenchanted and Feeling Used: I'm sorry about your trouble but I still believe it pays to be decent to people. Don't let that nut sour you on the Ten Commandments. What else can you name that still works after 3,000 years?

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting - What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois, 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR AD: The quiz you asked about was supplied by Dr. Mary Ann Tabrizi of the Columbia University Medical School. Here it is: Please note that a depressed child will answer yes to more than half the questions and will say he feels the symptoms two or three times a week - or all the time.

'Freak Mayor' Won Election By 10 Votes

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Mayor Bernard Sanders left City Hall a few days ago and found a ticket in the windshield of his battered, rust-flecked Dasher.

His offense? Parking in the mayor's parking spot. Six months after the avowed socialist scored a surprise victory to become mayor of Vermont's largest city, he's discovering that having an office inside City Hall doesn't make him an insider. "I'm not in the clique," says the 39-year-old Sanders, who forged a coalition of students, union activists, neighborhood organizers, college professors and low-income people to win election as an independent by 10 votes.

"Not exactly a landslide," he concedes, running his hands through his tousled, graying hair. "But we hit a nerve. We sent a message to the people who run this city."

The election of a man who had denounced the capitalist ethic and called for the rise of the working class set some Burlington merchants quaking. One waggish state lawmaker had "People's Republic of Burlington" T-shirts printed up and gave them to the local legislative delegation.

And the national publicity that came with topping the five-term Democratic incumbent led Sanders to dub himself sardonically "the freak mayor."

"I was treated as a novelty," says the Brooklyn, N.Y. native, who has been active in Vermont leftist politics for a decade and mounted four losing campaigns for statewide office before winning the head job in this city of 40,000. "There are people who will see this administration that way, no matter what we accomplish."

Sanders can point to some successes during his short tenure, but also to some painful batterings at the hands of the conservative coalition that has retained control of the board of aldermen.

"Oh, he rubs me the wrong way sometimes. He just really does," says William Blanchard, president of the board.

"My ideas are radical," Sanders admits. "But I know I can't be on a soapbox all the time. I have to work with all kinds of people, or I'll be totally isolated."

Being mayor is the first steady job in years for Sanders, who eked out a living as a filmmaker and a writer after coming to Vermont. For a time, he lived in a converted sugarhouse with no plumbing or electricity.

"It's so strange, just having money, things like that," he says. "For years I could never afford the rent, and now I'm looking over these budgets of thousands of dollars."

What kind of a job is he doing? "That depends who you ask," he says. "If you're a senior citizen and just got back from a free concert, you might think things aren't too bad. If you're a bank president, you might think this is the worst thing to hit the city."

Herluf Olsen is president of the Medical Center Hospital. Sanders has opposed a hospital expansion program, and Olsen does seem to think he is the worst thing to hit Burlington: "When I heard on my car radio that he'd been elected, I almost drove off the road."

Sanders won a big battle within weeks of his election when he persuaded voters to adopt a tax increase they had spurned only two months before, averting layoffs of police and firefighters and deep cuts into city services.

But voters buried a housing reform initiative Sanders had backed, after landlords threatened huge rent increases if it passed.

In another major defeat, aldermen rejected all of Sanders' appointees for top City Hall jobs without even a hearing on their qualifications. The jobs are still held by people left over from the last administration.

Alderman Joyce Desautels said the current city workers "are good people, loyal people, and they've served this city well. There's no reason to replace them. I hope the one who's replaced is Mr. Sanders."

Sanders called the board's action an "insult" and took it to court, but a judge refused to hear the case. The mayor said he may appeal to the state Supreme Court.

There have been occasional blunders, too. Sanders winces when he mentions his nominee for a minor city post, a city constable who had been a familiar figure in Burlington for years — and who had been dead about a month. "It was silly, just dumb," he says.

But Sanders believes he had strength through his ties with community groups, people he contends were ignored by the previous administration.

Members of an advisory task force include a police detective, an active feminist and a youth counselor. They meet regularly with Sanders, discussing everything from politics in El Salvador to whether the bushes should be trimmed at a local ball field.

"Some of these people had never set foot in City Hall," Sanders says. "Bringing them in has been the greatest accomplishment. They can come to me. A year ago, the door to this office was locked."

With a year and a half remaining in his term, Sanders says he's not sure if he will run again. He is divorced and shares custody of an 11-year-old son, Levi.

"It's hard, it's so hard," he says. "Your life changes. I'm always very preoccupied. I don't know if I'm ever really happy, but there's a certain satisfaction in it."

Constitution Week Proclaimed

Misses Illinois, Washington Win Pageant Preliminaries

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A second opera singer carried home a trophy and a $2,500 scholarship after winning a talent competition that is preliminary to tonight's crowning of Miss America.

Miss Illinois, Sandra Truitt, won the talent competition in the third night of preliminaries Friday with her rendition of an operatic solo from "Carmen."

Thursday night, Miss New York, Suzanne Alexander, won the second night of preliminaries with an operatic solo from "Tosca."

A former javelin thrower captured the swimsuit competition. Miss Washington, Kristine Weitz, wore a teal swimsuit with an aqua stripe across the shoulder.

Miss Truitt, 25, said she would use the scholarship money, if she is crowned Miss America tonight, to study opera singing in Europe.

"That's what I'm here for," she said after winning the competition.

The second-year doctoral student in voice performance at Northwestern University has performed with New York tours with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

She said she gives herself five more years to make it in the opera world. "If I don't reach my goals by the time I'm 30, I will try another career," she said.

The mezzo soprano said she likes to practice "two or three hours a day," and said professional singing takes an "innate drive."

"You would rather die than not sing," she said. "But it also takes talent and musical sensibility."

Miss Truitt said she thought she performed well, but was surprised when she was announced the winner.

"There were so many different kinds of talent, you just couldn't compare them," she said.

Miss Weitz, 19, of Pasco, Wash., is a sophomore at the University of Washington, where she is studying vocal performance and public relations.

When she was in high school, she was a javelin thrower and needed to lose weight and extra muscle after she gave it up.

"I weighed 170 pounds, and I would fast for a couple of days, then eat lightly, and then fast again," she said.

She was able to lose nearly 40 pounds and now weighs 133 pounds.

Miss Weitz said she stays in shape by running, walking and eating "very, very lightly."

Talent preliminary winners receive an additional $2,500 scholarship, and swimsuit preliminary winners get an extra $1,500 scholarship. Evening gown winners are not announced.

Each of the 50 contestants receive a $1,000 scholarship just for participating in the pageant.

The Higher Cost of Higher Education

Source: The College Board

It will come as no news to parents of college-age sons and daughters, but tuition and other costs are up sharply this year — 13 percent, according to a current survey. The most expensive schools are in the $11,000-and-up range with Bennington College in Vermont maintaining its position as the most costly at all at $12,830. The highest-priced public schools now run about $6,000 per year. Average costs for both public and private institutions are considerably lower, but charges in all categories are still double what they were in 1972. However, that is still better than the inflation rate which is up 123 percent in the same period.

Trials Set For Texas County Commissioners

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — A new phase in an on-going federal investigation of political corruption opens this week with the trials of several northeast Texas county commissioners allegedly involved in kickback schemes.

U.S. District Judge William Steger set the trial of Titus County Commissioner Ivan Parish Jr. for 9 a.m. Wednesday. The trials of Bowie County Commissioner J.C. Arnold, and former county commissioners Bernard Brown of Bowie County and Carthel "Shorty" Reese of Titus are to follow Parish's.

Prosecutors say the kickback schemes, alleged to have operated between 1977 and 1981, generally worked two ways. The road equipment vendor might offer to give a 10 percent kickback off the top of the purchase price; or the vendor and the official might "split a ticket" — share the payment for a piece of equipment that was never delivered to the county.

Officials in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas are accused of participating in such schemes, and investigators say more indictments may be issued.

The four panels that will hear the northeast Texas cases were selected Monday in a seven-hour session involving 75 prospective jurors.

Parish is accused of three counts of extortion, 11 counts of mail fraud, and one count of conspiracy.

Brown is charged with four counts of extortion, 32 counts of mail fraud, and two counts of conspiracy. Arnold is accused of four counts of extortion, 30 counts of mail fraud, and two counts of conspiracy. Charges against Reese include three counts of extortion, six counts of mail fraud, and one count conspiracy.

The extortion counts each carry a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Mail fraud is punishable by a maximum of five years and a $1,000 fine, and conspiracy is penalized by five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Six commissioners and road building equipment salesmen have already pleaded guilty to similar charges in the alleged kickback arrangements. Former Bowie County Commissioner Carlos Tidwell was to be sentenced Monday, but Steger postponed sentencing until the end of the four trials.

The judge also delayed trial of Titus County Commissioner Bert Parr because Parr is undergoing chemotherapy treatments in Houston.

indictments Monday afternoon against Drew Foster Wood, 20, Thomas Scott Daley, 20, and Duane Stephen Williams, 21. State District Judge Larry Sullivan set bond at $100,000 each.

The men, who were roommates, are accused of opening fire Saturday on Alexander Bugg, 45, and 36-year-old Thomas Pat Green, both of South Jacksonville Beach, Fla., at a roadside park on I-35 about one mile from the Oklahoma state line.

Bugg was killed and Green was hospitalized in serious condition in Fort Worth.

Cooke County Sheriff Dan Tiller said Bugg got a telephone call Sept. 9 from a man in Dallas who offered to abduct Bugg's children from his estranged wife, who was living in Texas.

Bugg borrowed $5,000 from his mother, Tiller said, and met three men Friday afternoon at a Dallas motel. About 12:15 a.m. Saturday, Bugg and Green were waiting at the rest stop — believed to be a rendezvous point — when a car drove up, three men got out and started shooting.

Tiller said Green crawled about 150 yards to a service road to summon help after he had been shot three times with a shotgun and four times with a .45-caliber pistol.

The children were not kidnapped. Wood was arrested Saturday afternoon. Daley and Williams were taken into custody Sunday.

Insurance Against Law Suits

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the biggest potential expenses a small company faces today is the cost of defending itself against a lawsuit brought by a customer, employee, government agency or competitor. And the latest wrinkle in business insurance is a policy that allows the company to say, "So sue, we're covered."

ISU Companies Inc., a San Francisco-based franchisor of independent agents and brokers, has developed what it calls Defense and Judgment Insurance for companies with 100 or fewer employees. D&J insurance, says ISU President T.J. Ryan, will protect small firms against lawsuits filed by plaintiffs who figure the company will find it easier to settle than fight.

"Your chances of being sued if you are in business are better than one in three, and the majority of those lawsuits touch on subjects other than bodily injury or property damage, which is what most small companies are insured for," Ryan said in a telephone interview.

"We have the concept in this country of contingent representation — the lawyer takes the case figuring, 'If we win, I'll get a part.' As a result there are many, many cases where firms find themselves to be reluctant defendants in suits handled by attorneys on a contingency basis," he said. "For the small businessman who doesn't put into his budget the cost of $25,000 or $50,000 to defend himself, it can be a devastating blow."

D&J insurance covers companies against suits brought by government agencies for violations of rules and regulations, Ryan said.

"When you consider the proliferation of acts, ordinances and laws of all different types covering business conduct, you can easily see that lawsuits facing the small businessman can become very staggering indeed," said Ryan.

Dallas Men Indicted

GAINESVILLE, Texas (AP) — Three young Dallas-area men have been indicted for capital murder in the slaying of a Florida man who reportedly borrowed money from his mother to finance the abduction of his children.

Cooke County grand jurors returned the capital murder

Tennis Teams Split Matches

The Hereford Whiteface tennis team earned split decisions in matches with Pampa and Borger Saturday.

The boys won a 5-4 decision over Borger and lost by a 5-4 count against Pampa. The Hereford girls reversed the decisions, winning 5-4 over Pampa and losing 7-2 to Borger.

Matches were played Saturday morning at Borger, then the Hereford team travelled to Pampa for the afternoon matches.

Kelly Cassels, Donny Anderson and Monte Hutto scored victories against Borger in singles play, while Cassels and Trent Thomas and Hutto and Greg Reinauer teamed to win doubles matches.

At Pampa in the afternoon, Anderson, Hutto and Reinauer won singles matches, while Hutto and Reinauer scored the only doubles victory.

Vanessa Sims and Sharon Mitts scored the only triumphs for the girls against Borger.

At Pampa, Kim and Vanessa Sims took singles victories, along with Sharon Mitts. Lisa Snyder and Carol Zinser took the top doubles match, and the Sims-Sims team also won in doubles to pace Hereford to a 5-4 win.

Akers Warns Longhorns To Beware of Upset Factor

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — John Walker, who ran for 155 yards and scored on an 18-yard run against Rice, almost was lost to the team in spring training, says Coach Fred Akers.

"At one point John Walker wasn't going to be with the team," Akers told his weekly news conference Monday.

Akers declined to expand on his statement, but when he was told that Walker — whose picture is not even included in the Longhorn press book — had pledged himself to "more work and less talk," Akers responded:

"I'll vote for that."
Longhorn coaches selected Walker, a Killeen sophomore, as the most valuable player on offense in Texas' 31-3 victory Saturday, and chose senior cornerback Vance Bedford of Beaumont Hebert as the MVP on defense.

Akers said Walker "had a good performance, results-wise ... (but) he missed several opportunities" and would "have gained a lot more yardage if he had paid attention."

Asked what he meant by missing opportunities, Akers said Walker needs to learn "when to turn it on, make a cut or lower his shoulder."

Akers added, however, "It took Earl Campbell six games to realize that."

Campbell led college football in rushing his senior year in 1977 and won the Heisman Trophy.

Akers also said even though Texas' next opponent — North Texas State — is 0-2, he hopes upsets in college football last Saturday had taught his team that "you go into every ball game with an honest-to-goodness chance to win — or lose."

Akers mentioned the Michigan and Alabama losses and said, "I don't know how much longer we'll be able to use the word 'upset.'"

"There has been enough evidence the last couple of weeks that the players should know you don't underestimate any opponent," he said.

Against Rice, Texas' offense rolled up 478 yards running and passing, and the defense gave up only 109 yards and five first downs, including two on penalties.

Akers said, however, "I'm not happy with the overall kicking game. It's not as intense as it has been. We have to get much, much better. The overall kicking (game) was kind of sloppy, by our standards. ... That's the only thing in the ball game I was disappointed in."

Herkie Walls fumbled the ball on one runback, and Rice recovered, and Donnie Little

College Poll Ranks Irish First; Texas Only SWC Team Listed

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Last fall, Jerry Faust was coaching high school football in Cincinnati and now he finds himself coaching a Notre Dame team ranked No. 1 in college football.

Faust had his debut with the Fighting Irish Saturday and his team jumped to the top spot in The Associated Press college football poll this week after defeating Louisiana State 27-9.

"I think I'll retire now. At least I can say I was No. 1 once in my life," the coach said Monday after learning the Irish had taken over first place in the AP poll.

Notre Dame's climb to the top was helped by a pair of upsets of Michigan and Alabama, last week's top two teams. Michigan, which meets Notre Dame this Saturday, fell from the top spot after losing its Big Ten opener to Wisconsin.

"Seriously, it's great, a real honor, but it will be tough to stay there. It's really too early in the season to worry about being No. 1, but we'll take it," said Faust, 46, who left Cincinnati's Moeller High School after last season to take over the reins at Notre Dame from Dan Devine.

"The end of the year is when it really counts. The pressure of being No. 1 doesn't bother me."

Notre Dame, Southern California, Oklahoma, Georgia and Penn State are the top five teams in this week's AP poll while Michigan, Alabama and Nebraska dropped to 11th, 12th and 17th, respectively. Nebraska, ranked No. 7 last week, also was an upset victim last Saturday.

Notre Dame, fourth a week ago, hurdled to the top with 24 of 65 first-place votes and 1,233 of a possible 1,300 points. Southern Cal, which buried Tennessee 43-7, jumped from fifth to second with 12 first-place votes and 1,181 points.

Oklahoma, a 37-20 winner over Wyoming, held onto third with 12 first-place ballots and 1,153 points. The defending champion Georgia Bulldogs climbed from sixth to fourth and received 12 firsts and 1,113 points following a 27-13 triumph over California.

The fifth- and sixth-place teams, Penn State and Texas, each received one first-place vote. Penn State crushed Cincinnati 52-0 and jumped from a ninth-place tie to fifth with 996 points while Texas trounced Rice 31-3 and shot from eighth to sixth with 963 points.

Pitt, idle last weekend, went from a tie for ninth to seventh place with 763 points while Ohio State whipped Duke and climbed from 11th to eighth with 710 points.

UCLA and North Carolina, 12th and 13th a week ago, rose to ninth and 10th, respectively. UCLA received 690 points following a 35-18 triumph over Arizona while North Carolina mauled East

McEnroe, Austin Win Open One More Time

NEW YORK (AP) — A telephone call detracted from John McEnroe's triumph, and Tracy Austin's baseline perfection ruined Martina Navratilova's dream.

The U.S. Open ended in a blaze of glory for McEnroe and Austin as they etched their names once again on the list of champions. And it ended for at least one more year the hopes of Bjorn Borg and Navratilova.

McEnroe crushed Borg 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 Sunday as the two adversaries failed to match the excitement of their 1980 U.S. Open encounter or their Wimbledon battles of the past two years.

Navratilova lost a three-set thriller to Austin 1-6, 7-6, 7-6 Saturday but gained the respect and admiration of the crowd which had filled the National Tennis Center in Flushing Meadow.

But when it was all over, the talk was not about the winners. It was about Borg, the masterful Swede who disappeared after losing for the 10th time in America's premier tennis event.

While officials of the United States Tennis Association waited to award Borg his runner-up award and check, Borg quickly walked out of Louis Armstrong Stadium, showered, changed clothes and entered a waiting station wagon that sped him and his entourage to their Long Island home.

A telephoned threat also was made on Saturday, when Borg defeated Jimmy Connors in the semifinals, 6-2, 7-5, 3-4. At that time, Lennart Bergelin, Borg's coach, was notified, but the player wasn't told about the call until his match ended.

McEnroe's victory was his third straight in America's national tournament, the first time the feat has been accomplished since the legendary Bill Tilden won six straight from 1920-25.

McEnroe became the first man to win both Wimbledon and the U.S. Open in the same year since Connors performed the feat in 1974.

Navratilova, who defected from her native Czechoslovakia after the 1975 U.S. Open and became a naturalized American citizen earlier this year, has said the U.S. title is the one she wants the most. After upsetting top-

Carolina 56-0 and received 661 points.

Michigan and Alabama head the Second Ten this week after leading the Top Ten one week earlier. Michigan lost to Wisconsin 21-14 while Alabama was shocked 24-21 by Georgia Tech.

Rounding out the Top Twenty are Brigham Young, Mississippi State, Washington, Miami of Florida, Nebraska, Arizona State, Florida State and Wisconsin, which appears in the rankings for the first time in many years.

Leonard, Hearns Meet In Record Money Fight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — All the cards are on the table for one of the biggest games of showdown this town has seen.

Sugar Ray Leonard and Thomas Hearns are set to meet in the biggest money fight ever for the undisputed welterweight championship Wednesday night at Caesars Palace.

The stakes are high and both fighters know it. Hearns, who figures to make about $5 million, says: "Ray has had everything. Now I want everything."

And Leonard, who will make at least $8 million and possibly as much as $13 million, lets it be known he intends not only to keep what he has, but add Hearns' World Boxing Association welterweight title to his own World Boxing Council version.

When Rome besieged Carthage in 146 B.C., Carthaginian women sacrificed their long hair to make catapult slings for the defense of the city.

HHS Girls 3rd In C-C Meet

Kellie Howell placed 15th and Dana Cabbiness was right on her heels in 16th place as the HHS girls cross country team finished third at a meet in Levelland last weekend. Hereford's boys placed sixth in their division, led by George Arroyos' 13th place finish and a 19th place effort by Fernando Carrasco.

Tulia won the girls varsity division with 69 points, while Lubbock Coronado was second with 78 and Hereford was third with 106. In boys action San Angelo Central was tops with 53 points, just ahead of Hobbs, N.M., which had 55.

Miss Howell ran a 13:49, six seconds ahead of Miss Cabbiness, to lead the herd feds at the meet. Other HHS runners included Olga Alaniz (19th-13:58), Deborah Rogers (29th-14:14), Yolanda Alaniz (49th-14:56), Sara Martinez (50th-15:04), and Patricia Salazar (62nd-15:36). The Herd boys totaled 170 points in the meet as Arroyos tuned the course in a time of 16:41, and Carrasco was clocked in 16:57. Other Herd finishers included Edward Flores (50th-18:12), Chris Kahlick (59th-18:41), Gary Blevins (64th-18:49), Tim Riley (86th-19:57), and Elisio Ramirez (78th-19:37).

In junior varsity action Hereford had Clay Osburn (21:12) and Greg Palmer (22:14) in boys action. HHS JV girls included Linda Serrino (14:56), Cheri Barker (15:32), Allyson Thomas (15:40), Lori Waterscheid (15:40), Michelle Osborn (15:47), Rox Anne Gamez (16:19), Laurie High (17:35), and Dede Dobbins (16:37).

La Plata's Cindy Morgan (15:25) and Stanton's Patricia Garcia (17:54) and also ran for Hereford in the girls' JV race.

Coach Biles Not Using Decoy System

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oiler Coach Ed Biles won't be using the Earl Campbell decoy system against the Miami Dolphins, Sunday's opponent in the Astro Dome.

"You don't beat Miami with decoys," said Biles, an avowed admirer of Dolphins Coach Don Schula and the rejuvenated Dolphins. "Against Miami, you've got to line up and play hard-nosed football. That's the only way to beat them. You can't trick them."

Campbell gained only 47 yards on 17 carries in Sunday's 9-3 victory over Cleveland after missing most of the week's practice with a bruised shoulder.

Although Campbell was clearly off-form he stayed in the game primarily as a decoy, a decision he later regretted.

"It's extremely difficult to play a game on Sunday without practicing during the week," Biles said. "Earl didn't workout Thursday, Friday or Saturday. I could easily second guess myself for playing Earl with no more practice than he had last week."

"But we all make some mistakes. Hopefully he didn't aggravate the injury any more."

Biles said he hoped to know more today about Campbell's status for Sunday's home opener.

The Oiler offense struggled against the Browns, having to win on three field goals by Toni Fritsch. Even after an 88-yard kickoff return by Carl Roaches to open the second half, the Oilers had to settle for a field goal.

"We can't make the mistakes offensively against Miami and expect to win," Biles said. "We are getting better but we're still not a good football team offensively."

First half offensive errors spurred the Browns defense, Biles said.

"I'm not taking anything away from their defense," Biles said. "They played great but when we'd make one of those mistakes, it just encouraged Cleveland to continue playing great defense."

The Oiler defense got most of the praise from Biles.

Biles said linebackers Robert Brazile lost 17 pounds during the game and Gregg Bingham shed 15 pounds.

"That shows you what kind of effort was being put forth by our defense," Biles said.

Lopes Sparks Dodger Win; Astros Beaten

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Davey Lopes hopes to steal back the hearts of Los Angeles Dodger fans with his fast bat and quick feet.

He showed both to good advantage Monday night while helping the Dodgers beat the San Diego Padres 10-5.

"He looks like the Lopes of old," said Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda after watching Lopes belt four hits, including a three-run homer, and drive in four runs. "He can beat you so many ways — base hits, stolen bases and hitting the ball out of the park."

After struggling below the .200 mark for most of the season and incurring the wrath of Dodger fans, Lopes has come to life in September as a hitter. Coming off a groin injury that sidelined him for two weeks, the 35-year-old veteran has collected 14 hits in his last 35 at bats for a .400 clip.

"I wanted him to know he wasn't going to lose his job when he was on the disabled list," said Lasorda. "I told Davey when he was ready to come back, he was our second baseman."

Lopes: "I never lost confidence in myself. There has been no pressure. Pressure is when you are afraid of failure. It makes me believe in myself even more. I felt given the opportunity I would produce, regardless of what other people think."

In other National League action, San Francisco beat Atlanta 4-2 and Cincinnati turned back Houston 4-2.

Lopes' homer keyed a six-run seventh inning for the Dodgers. The game was tied 4-4 when Mike Scioscia and Mike Marshall each stroked two-out pinch singles off reliever Eric Show, 0-2, to start the rally before Lopes blasted his fifth homer of the year. Lopes, hitting just .202 at the start of the game, led a 17-hit Dodger attack against six Padre pitchers and also stole a base.

Rookie Ted Power, 1-1, got the victory, working 22-3 innings in relief of Dodger starter Burt Hooton.

Giants 4, Braves 2
Jerry Martin capped a three-run first-inning outburst with a two-run single, sparking San Francisco over Atlanta. Martin's single off loser Tommy Boggs, 3-11, followed two Atlanta errors and two walks, the second one a base-loaded pass to Milt May that gave the Giants their first run.

The Giants increased their lead to 4-0 in the fourth when Martin tripled and scored on Johnnie LeMaster's squeeze bunt. The Braves scored their runs off Tom Griffin, 8-6, in the fifth on an RBI single by Bob Horner and a sacrifice fly by Chris Chambliss.

Reds 4, Astros 2
Bruce Berenyi hurled a four-hitter and Johnny Bench drove in three runs with three hits to pace Cincinnati over Houston.

Berenyi, 8-5, allowed two runs in the first inning but settled down to retire 21 straight batters and 24 of the next 26 he faced before Dennis Walling singled with two down in the ninth. Berenyi struck out 12 and walked one in giving Houston its first home loss in 13 starts and only its second defeat at home during the second season.

Red Sox Knock Off Detroit; Oakland Tops Rangers Again

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Jerry Remy won't win any runs-batted-in titles, but he's not such a bad guy to have at the plate in a crucial situation.

The diminutive Boston second baseman never has had more than 46 RBI in a year and has averaged only one home run for each of his seven major-league seasons.

However, he is hitting .325 this year and has a .411 average with men on base. And his two-run single with the bases loaded and two outs in the sixth inning Monday night propelled the Red Sox to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

"I wish I knew the secret because I'd do it for the next five or six years. I've just been lucky," said Remy, who has 28 RBI in 71 games this year. "I concentrate as hard as I can every time. I'm a leadoff man and my job is to get on base. I'm just lucky the guys on the bottom of the lineup are getting on base."

In other American League games, Minnesota beat Toronto 6-3, New York blasted Milwaukee 10-2, Oakland defeated Texas 5-2, Kansas City edged California 4-3 and Chicago tripped Seattle 5-2.

Boston's victory was particularly crucial because the Tigers are in first place in the AL East. With three games left in the series with Detroit, the Red Sox, now 3½ games behind, can make up ground or fall far off the pace in the race.

Bob Stanley, who won his ninth game in 15 decisions with 31-3 innings of shutout relief Monday, said the Red Sox are feeling far less pressure under new Manager Ralph Houk this season than in past years when controversy surrounded Manager Don Zimmer.

With the score tied 2-2 in the sixth, Remy lined his two-out single to left-center off Dan Petry, 8-7, after Tony Perez and Rich Gedman singled and pinch-hitter Dave Stapleton walked to load the bases. The Red Sox added a run in the seventh on Perez's RBI single.

Steve Kemp knocked in both Detroit runs off starter Mike Torrez with a groundout in the first and his ninth home run of the year in the sixth.

Boston tied the game 1-1 in the first when Carney Lansford singled in a run and went ahead 2-1 in the third on Jim Rice's 14th homer.

Yankees 10, Brewers 2
Reggie Jackson hit a two-run homer and an RBI double and knocked in a fourth run with a groundout as New York pounded Milwaukee.

Lou Piniella and Bob Watson also homered for the Yankees, who cut Detroit's lead in the East to two games.

Tommy John won his ninth game in 14 decisions with a nine-hit complete game. One of the hits was Charlie Moore's first homer of the season.

Twins 6, Blue Jays 3
Minnesota continued to play well, winning its seventh game in a row behind Brad Havens' three-hit pitching for seven innings.

The Twins scored three runs in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie. The first run came home when Roy Lee Jackson issued a bases-loaded walk to Glenn Adams, and then Ron Washington, a 29-year-old rookie, picked up his first major-league RBI with a two-run single.

Hosken Powell homered in the third inning for the Twins.

A's 5, Rangers 2
Cliff Johnson doubled and scored a run in the first inning and added a two-run single in the second as Oakland took control early and coasted to victory over Texas behind the seven-hit pitching of Rick Langford.

The A's right-hander had trouble only in the second inning when he gave up singles to Buddy Bell, Pat Putnam and Jim Sundberg, plus an RBI grounder by Tom Poquette. Langford improved his record to 9-9 in pitching his 15th complete game.

Royals 4, Angels 3
Don Baylor hit a three-run homer in the first inning, but California didn't score again and lost for the ninth time in 10 games when Frank White hit a two-run homer for Kansas City in the eighth inning.

Bruce Kison, who was starting a game for the first time since July 14, 1980, after undergoing surgery on his right wrist and elbow, had a five-hitter and a 3-1 lead going into the eighth. He was relieved by Andy Hassler after a double by U.L. Washington and Willie Wilson's RBI single before White's game-winning homer.

Washington homered for the Royals' first run.

White Sox 5, Mariners 2
Dennis Lamp pitched a five-hitter to improve his record to 6-4 and Jim Morrison homered for Chicago against Seattle.

Raiders Romp Over Minnesota

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Balanced scoring doesn't always mean the running-passing ratio. At times it can be an offensive-defensive ratio. Whatever, the Oakland Raiders have it.

That balance between offense and defense was evident in the Raiders' 36-10 romp over the struggling and injury-plagued Minnesota Vikings in the National Football League's Monday night showcase event.

"For a time there I wasn't sure whether our defense might not outscore the offense," said quarterback Jim Plunkett, who tossed two touchdown passes but also watched his teammates score a pair of touchdowns on an interception return and a fumble return.

Burgess Owens picked off a Steve Dils screen pass and sprinted 30 yards for Oakland's first touchdown in the second quarter for a 10-0 lead. Midway through the fourth quarter 12-year veteran Cedric Hardman scooped up a fumble by rookie quarterback Wade Wilson and rumbled 52 yards untouched into the end zone to give the inspired Raiders a 30-10 lead.

"They teach us from day one that you pick up the ball and go," said Hardman, who grabbed the ball after a hit by teammate Howard Long forced Wilson's fumble.

The defending Super Bowl champion Raiders were coming off a 9-7 loss to Denver last week and were determined to get back on the track to the playoffs. Oakland also kept intact its incredible success record for Monday night games, recording its 13th consecutive victory and raising its overall record to 17-1-1 since 1970.

"We kept our Monday night record alive with a powerful performance both offensively and defensively," said Flores. "And we needed it after losing to Denver last Sunday."

Plunkett fired scoring passes of 21 yards to Todd Christensen and 12 yards to Morris Bradshaw. Chris Bahr added a 21-yard field goal and backup Marc Wilson lofted a 61-yard TD pass to Malcolm Barnwell with just 4:14 to play to round out the scoring.

Minnesota's only touchdown came courtesy of Eddie Payton, who returned a Bahr kickoff 99 yards for a TD late in the first half to cut Oakland's lead to 16-7.

"We played the world champions and they kicked our butts, no matter how you spell it," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, whose club dropped to 0-2, the Vikings' worst start since 1967.

The Raiders sacked Minnesota quarterbacks eight times and held the Vikings to just 42 yards rushing — 27 of those in the Vikings' final possession late in the game — but had to overcome 124 yards in penalties.

"There were a lot of flags, especially ours," Plunkett admitted.

Oakland lost safety Mike Davis in the first three minutes of the game with a broken leg.

High Temperatures Not Good Conditions For Players

DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

Charlie Waters sagged to one knee at the 20-yard line for a full minute before he moved after the final gun.

He was so weak he could barely raise his head to acknowledge the congratulations of several St. Louis Cardinal players.

"It was hot out there and I was feeling it," he said later when he could drag himself to the Dallas Cowboys' locker room.

The official temperature was 98-degrees at the 3 p.m. kickoff Sunday in Texas Stadium. But it worse, much worse than that on the field.

The house that Cowboys' owner Clint Murchison built has a hole in the top and a merciless sun filtered through to the artificial turf below.

A thermometer on a wall four feet above the turf read 120 degrees.

Football was no more meant to be played in those kind of conditions than it was in the "Ice Bowl" game against Green Bay in the late 1960s when the Cowboys and Packers teed it up at 13 below zero.

In fact, football wasn't meant to be played in the daytime in Texas in September unless it's in the Astrodome where the mercury is controlled in the 70s.

The average temperature in Dallas in September is around 90 degrees.

The National Football

League is flirting with disaster. Somebody, someday is going to be permanently disabled.

There are other options open to the NFL.

They could schedule Saturday night games which is what Tampa Bay does to avoid the Florida heat and humidity.

They could schedule the Cowboys on Sunday nights which they do anyway when ABC-TV wants a national game. (The Cowboys play Los Angeles Oct. 18 on an ABC-TV special).

Why not start the Dallas games at 6 p.m. when the field is at least covered with shade?

Legal Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE ON REGISTERING LIVESTOCK BRANDS

The attorney general is reminding every citizen who has registered a brand prior to Aug. 30, 1981 that citizens must re-register each brand with the county clerk within six months in order to protect their right to it. If everyone follows the registration schedule set out by the law, county clerks will have a correct, revised set of records every ten years, and there should be no dispute about the correct ownership of livestock.

To register or re-register marks and brands, the livestock owner may obtain forms either by mail or in person from his or her county clerk's office. There will be blank spaces on the form in which to describe the mark or brand and the location on the animal where the brand is recorded.

The forms should then be mailed or delivered in person to the county clerk, who will keep the forms in an indexed bound volume or on microfilm for easy reference.

B.F. CAIN, County Clerk Deaf Smith County 40-29

40-29

PUBLIC NOTICE Notice is hereby given that Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Inc. (The "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service by adding a purchased power adjustment clause to all rates as soon as may be permitted by law. The changes are applicable to all areas to which the utility provides electric utility service. All classes of customers are affected by the proposed changes. The proposed rates will not immediately produce any increase in the operating revenues of the utility, however, if Southwestern Public Service Company is authorized to increase charges to the utility for wholesale power, then such increases will be charged to ratepayers of the utility.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent including the Proposed revisions of tariff and scheduled and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change, the effect the proposed change is expected to have on the revenues of the utility and the classes and numbers of utility customers affected is on file with the public utility commission of Texas and the municipalities of Hereford and Nazareth.

The statement of intent is available for public inspection at the general office of the utility located at Hereford, Texas.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Unwind toward bedtime

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been suffering from insomnia for several years. Basically I am a night person, having worked in the food and beverage service for most of my adult life, which in most cases entails late evening or late night work.

I have lately become addicted to patent medicine sleeping pills. And, of course, as usage and dependency become more acute and I become more and more immune I have to rely on increased usage and dosages. I'm sure eventually even this will not work. Then I wonder what?

I am in my middle 40s, quite healthy and in good physical condition. Will the continued use of these pills be injurious to my health?

I have always relied on at least 12 hours of sleep per day. I know I need some form of exercise to make me tired, but what? I would appreciate any advice you can give me.

DEAR READER — I don't like to see people depend upon any sleep medicine regularly to obtain sleep. Those preparations you can buy yourself are usually harmless if used occasionally in the amounts recommended. The problem is as you have described it, a person stops getting relief from the usual dose and increases it. The increased amount can drug the body with enough powerful medicines to cause medical emergencies. Some people coming to emergency rooms look like they have been on an LSD trip.

You probably don't need 12 hours of sleep. Very few people do. This and other aspects of sleep are discussed in more detail in The Health Letter number 10-6.

The best advice I can give you is to unwind toward bedtime. Avoid physical activity, mental activity and read something boring or at least something that won't turn on your mind. Exercise is good for you during the day, but if you exercise too close to bedtime it will keep you awake. Recent studies show that a person gets sleepy as the body temperature decreases. Exercise raises the body temperature, decreasing your tendency to sleep. Eliminate all sensory input into your bedroom, such as light or sound and form a regular sleep habit.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like any information you can give on venereal diseases — causes, effects and treatment. Someone dear to me is infected but doesn't think it serious enough to seek medical help — perhaps ashamed to. Please answer quickly as every moment may count.

DEAR READER — Venereal disease covers a lot of territory these days, from some forms of hepatitis to herpes. It also includes trichomonas that causes vaginal discharge plus the old standards, gonorrhea and syphilis. The effects of all are different and so is the treatment. Today we call these sexually transmitted diseases.

Your friend should see a doctor without delay. Some of these infections, particularly gonorrhea, can cause sterility by inflammation and then scarring and blockage of the tubes in a woman and the vas deferens in the male. Women are more often rendered sterile.

Then there is the problem of transmission of any of these diseases to one or more other parties. Remind your friend that it is the norm for people to have sexual relations, not to be embarrassed and see a doctor.

Soviets Accuse Poland Of 'Counter-Revolution'

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Echoing a charge that preceded Soviet intervention in Hungary and Czechoslovakia years ago, the Communist Party is accusing Poland's independent labor federation Solidarity of "counter-revolution."

The party attack came Friday after radical member of Solidarity suggested the 9.5 million member union now has people capable of running the Polish government.

Meanwhile, about 100,000 Soviet army, navy and air force troops were scheduled to end nine days of war games near the Polish border today — one of the largest Soviet military maneuvers since World War II.

The U.S. government said the current Soviet exercises may have been staged at this time to intimidate the Solidarity congress. Similar NATO exercises are under way, with land operations to begin next week.

In Moscow, state television escalated the propaganda campaign against the Polish workers' movement Friday night, showing rallies of Soviet workers denouncing Solidarity, and troops in Baltic coast war games near Poland.

The Soviet Union, Hungary and Czechoslovakia have sharply criticized Solidarity's national congress for its bold challenge to the Polish Communist Party and its "open attack" on Warsaw Pact countries.

Solidarity's congress, unprecedented in the Soviet bloc, adjourned Thursday until Sept. 26 after calling for free elections and for more worker control of state-run industries. The 896 delegates also expressed support for free trade unions elsewhere in the Soviet bloc.

The resolutions unleashed a torrent of Soviet attacks unrivaled in verbal ferocity by any in the year of Solidarity's existence. Communist officials widely condemned its actions as direct interference in the internal affairs of neighboring countries.

The Warsaw chapter of the Communist Party said Solidarity "was developing, in defiance of agreements and the statutes, as a socio-political movement aiming at a counter-revolutionary change of the political system in Poland."

Zolnierz Wolnosci, the army newspaper, said the congress manifested an "anti-state, tough course" that posed a "sharp challenge to the state authorities."

A radical Solidarity leader in the Baltic port city of Szczecin on the East German border hinted the union could now run the government.

Marian Jurczyk, in an interview with Solidarity's news service, said the union "didn't have the proper people to nominate the government" when it threatened a general strike in March, but probably could now in case of a strike.

Jurczyk used "nominate" to mean install or replace the current government, which Solidarity is unable to do since it still is not regarded officially as a political party and has no role in the Parliament.

Moscow's main evening news program said workers at the country's biggest factories and plants "gave a rebuff to the anti-Soviet and anti-socialist statements of the politicians from Solidarity."

Horses Make Comeback In the Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — The horse is winning new respect in the Soviet Union, with some experts claiming it can help boost food production and make up for a shortage of small tractors.

A spate of recent newspaper stories says more horses could help raise already high productivity on privately owned farm plots, which produce nearly 30 percent of the nation's meat and substantial supplies of fruit, vegetables and other products.

More horses could also increase the supply of horsemeat and mares' milk, which are popular in Soviet Asia.

But a 50-year-old law, put on the books when Stalin was collectivizing agriculture, bars individual ownership of horses in the European part of the Soviet Union.

"The anachronism of this law should be obvious to anybody," Fyodor T. Morgun, a member of the Communist Party's central committee from the Ukrainian breadbasket, wrote in a newspaper article.

"By law, a citizen of Russia is allowed to own a cow, a calf, pigs, sheep — but not a horse. Why?"

The Stalinist law classified horses as a "means of production" that should not be in private hands in a socialist state. Millions of peasants, called upon to hand over their animals to government and collective farms, instead butchered them for meat.

According to official statistics, the number of horses in the country dropped from 38 million in 1914 to less than 6 million today.

ANGOLA and NAMIBIA: Africa's Hottest Spots

South Africa's incursion into Angola to strike at guerrillas challenging its control of South-West Africa has made the region a top international issue. South Africa opposes independence for the territory — which it has controlled since it was taken from Germany in World War I — under a black political organization, the South-West Africa People's Organization (SWAPO), recognized by black African governments and most United Nations members. SWAPO is aided by the government of Angola, which is supported by some 20,000 Cuban soldiers and a thousand or more Soviet advisers.

Sun-Times Says Son Got Large Commission

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Sun-Times reported today that a son of a woman with close personal ties to Cardinal John P. Cody has received at least $150,000 in commissions on insurance programs purchased by the Archdiocese of Chicago.

In the third story of a copyright series on the finances of the leader of the largest Roman Catholic archdiocese in the nation, the Sun-Times quoted unidentified church sources as saying Cody personally steered lucrative contracts to David Dolan Wilson, a St. Louis-based insurance agent and broker.

Wilson is the only son of Helen Dolan Wilson, 74, a lifelong friend of Cody who the Sun-Times alleges received up to $1 million in church funds from the cardinal for a Florida home, a luxury car, expensive clothes and furs.

The U.S. attorney's office said Thursday it was investigating allegations that Cody misused church funds, but stressed that the inquiry did not mean evidence of financial wrongdoing had been found. U.S. attorney Dan K. Webb refused to say whether a grand jury investigation was under way, as the Sun-Times had reported Thursday.

The newspaper said in today's editions that Wilson received substantial commissions in Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans, all cities where Cody has held church positions.

church business. He said he submitted proposals to the archdiocese on two insurance plans, but didn't know whether bids from other insurance firms were submitted, according to the newspaper.

Wilson, asked how much in commissions he received on Chicago church business, said the information was in records filed with the U.S. Labor Department by an insurance company that underwrote the plans, the Sun-Times reported.

However, the newspaper said, a spokesman for the company said it was up to the church to file the information. A Labor Department spokesman said it had no record of the church ever doing so, the Sun-Times said.

It said the church pension business was only a small part of Wilson's work. The newspaper said Wilson told reporters that 95 percent of his insurance business in St. Louis is in the property and casualty fields.

WHO IS GREATEST OF THEM ALL?

The disciples began to argue among themselves as to who would have the highest rank in the coming Kingdom.

Jesus told them, "In this world the kings and great men order their slaves around, and the slaves have no choice but to like it! But among you, the one who serves you best will be your leader."

"Out in the world the master sits at the table and is served by his servants. But not here! For I am your servant. Nevertheless, because you have stood true to Me in these terrible days, and because My Father has granted Me a Kingdom, I, here and now, grant you the right to eat and drink at My table in the Kingdom; and you will sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

"Simon, Simon, Satan has asked to have you, to sift you like wheat, but I have pleaded in prayer for you that your faith should not completely fail. So when you have repented and turned to Me again, strengthen and build up the faith of your brothers."

Simon said, "Lord, I am ready to go to jail with You, and even to die with You." But Jesus said, "Peter, let Me tell you something. Between now and tomorrow morning when the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times, declaring that you don't even know Me." Luke 22:24-34
