'81-82 Budget $8.4 Million

School Board To Increase Taxes

By BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR

The Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees unanimously adopted an $8.4 million budget for the 1981-82 school year Tuesday night, but they're going to have to raise taxes 7.69 percent in order to come up with the funds for the budget put together by Assistant Superintendent Bill Phillips.

The 1981-82 HISD budget calls for $8,470,815 in revenues, with estimated expenditures of $8,470,840, including payroll costs of $3,707,500 for teachers and $441,000 for school district administrators.

Following the adoption of the budget, the trustees passed a motion to declare their intent to increase taxes. Such intent must be published on specified dates, and a formal public hearing on the higher tax question will be held Thursday, Aug. 20. A meeting will follow on Aug. 25 at which time the new tax rate will be formally adopted.

The new budget is based on a tax base of $374,250,000 with a collection rate of 90 percent at a rate of 72 cents, bringing in an estimated $2,525,140 in revenues. In addition, $100,000 in delinquent tax collections is figured in.

Total local funds is estimated at $2,870,140, with an additional $5,790,675 estimated revenues from state funds, and $10,000 in miscellaneous receipts.

Board member Bill Townsend, a member of the Budget and Salary Committee, recommended that the budget be accepted. "This is a fairly streamlined budget in the face of inflation, and about as well as we could do this year," Townsend told the board.

After passing on the new budget the board went through the process of amending the 1980-81 budget. Revenues for that budget were adjusted down from $7,708,740 to $7,708,225, a difference of only $515. 1980-81 expenditures were adjusted up from an original figure of $7,742,730 to 17,838,635, a difference of $95,905. However, an increase of the fund balance from $265,280 to $429,754 offset the higher expenditure figure to give the school system a fund balance of $299,344 as of Aug. 31, 1981.

In other business Tuesday evening the board said goodbye to one member, and witnessed the swearing in of his replacement. Outgoing board member David Hutchins was presented with a plaque recognizing his service to the school system and community. Hutchins had

Due to difficulties experienced in the past, the Hereford High School Class of 1982 will be required to pose for yearbook photographs when they register for their final year of high school Thursday, Aug. 20. The announcement of the change was made by new HHS principal John Walch in a letter to the seniors mailed this week.

In the past HHS seniors were permitted to go to a local photographer to have their picture taken for the yearbook. "Over the past two years, over 150 of our graduating seniors have failed, after several promptings and reminders, to have their pictures made," Walch said. "This meant that they did not get included in their senior yearbook, and that we did not get a picture for their counseling folder."

HHS seniors will not be charged for the photographs, but will get an option to purchase prints in five separate packages. They may also have pictures made by local photographers after registration, and substitute that photo for the one taken at registration.

All students at HHS will register for classes on Thursday, Aug. 20. Seniors will register from 8:30-10 a.m. with juniors registering from 10-12 noon, and sophomore from 1-3 p.m.

Yearbook pictures for juniors and sophomores will also be taken at the time of registration. According to the school the proper dress for class photos is coat and tie for boys and high-necked blouse or dress for girls.

All sophomores and other new students to HHS will attend an orientation session at 1 p.m. Friday, Aug. 21 in the high school auditorium. At the orientation the administration and counseling staff of the high school will be introduced, and some general school policies will be explained. After the orientation sophomores will pick up their class schedules.

"Any student who is new to Hereford High School who did not attend La Plata or Stanton Junior High last year, should call the high school counseling office at 364-0617 to make an appointment to discuss schedules and HHS' graduation requirements," Walch said. "This needs to be done between August 10 and August 14 if possible."

Classwork for HHS students will begin Aug. 24.

A third straight day of rainfall in Hereford and the area has started racking up unusual and beneficial amounts of moisture, with the official city recording at 4.16 inches this morning.

The weather station at KPAN Radio recorded 2.24 inches since Tuesday morning, and the reading for Sunday-Monday was tabbed at 1.92.

The moisture was apparently well spread over the county and area. Readings for the three days ranged from 2.4 inches near the airport to the more-than 4-inch total here in town.

Rainfall reports for the past 24 hours included 1.6 north of Walcott, 2.6 at Walcott, 1.8 inches east of the airport, 1.6 at the Hershey farm 13 miles northeast of Hereford, and 1.4 inches at Easter Grain.

The forecast called for more showers and thunderstorms in the north and central parts of West Texas. It should remain cloudy with a chance of showers tonight in the West Texas area.

The temperatures were expected to rise from a high in the mid 70s today to the mid 80s on Thursday. A flash flood watch was in effect for southwest Texas, from the mountains westward.

The rainfall was the first general moisture this year that covered the entire state, and the end of the summer drought was seen in most areas. The rain should be beneficial on all farmland.

Vote 115-14 In Favor

Gasohol Credit Passes

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Rep. Dan Kubiak, facing what a colleague called the "last call for gasohol," mustered an overwhelming House majority that gave him a legislative victory for the alcohol-gasoline fuel. In last-day action, the House voted 115-14 Tuesday to exempt gasohol distributors from paying the five-cent per gallon motor fuels tax for five years. After that the credit would drop a penny a gallon until it expired in 1992.

The Senate, which passed the bill Monday, on Tuesday approved minor changes made by the House. The bill now goes to Gov. Bill Clements' desk.

"It's the last shot for Texas," Kubiak said before the crucial vote. The Rockdale Democrat has been working for years to give gasohol a legislative boost.

The idea of the bill, sponsored by Sen. Bill Sarpalius, D-Hereford, is to give gasohol the competitive break it needs to win popularity in Texas. Gasohol is a mix of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent unleaded gasoline.

The Sarpalius bill does not guarantee that the five-cent saving could be passed on to consumers, but the Hereford senator predicted it would be.

"Gasohol's been on the runway for six years. This is an opportunity for it to take off in Texas," Kubiak told the House.

The only opposition on the House floor came, predictably, from Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I've had more opposition from Davis than I can stomach," Kubiak told reporters.

Davis said there would be no significant amounts of gasohol produced in Texas for at least two years, meaning the state would be subsidizing out-of-state production.

Davis also complained about allowing distributors to keep the five-cent tax they collect from customers.

"The person who sells it keeps the tax and puts it in his pocket," he said.

Sarpalius had said there was a good chance that the savings would be passed on to consumers.

Gasohol, a mix of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent unleaded gasoline, has not won much of a market in Texas. Diamond Shamrock, citing poor sales, recently announced it would stop selling the fuel in the state.

Canadian Controllers End Flight Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Reagan administration, bolstered by the support of airlines and Canadian air traffic controllers' resumed handling of U.S. flights, appears to be strengthening its hand in a strike by 12,000 U.S. controllers.

Officials sought to restore air traffic between Europe and the United States to near-normal levels today as Canadian controllers ended a two-day boycott that had cut trans-Atlantic flights to a trickle.

Dick Stafford, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman, said the key trans-Atlantic control center near Gander, Newfoundland, reopened at 6:30 a.m. EDT today after being closed since 4 a.m. Tuesday.

Transport Canada, the government agency that operates Canadian airports, said controllers throughout Canada agreed shortly after midnight today to resume handling flights to and from the United States.

Airline executives, after meeting Tuesday with Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis, said they staunchly support President Reagan's handling of the crisis and his decision to fire the striking controllers.

But the executives said the strike, now in its 10th day, will have far-reaching effects on their industry, forcing layoffs, pay cuts and strapping of marginal routes. Some companies may have to be restructured, they said.

The end of the Canadian boycott and of one in New Zealand leaves only Spanish controllers refusing to handle flights to the United States in support of the American strikers.

But action by controllers in other foreign countries sympathetic to their American counterparts could still create havoc for international travelers.

Australian controllers, saying U.S. skies are not safe because of the strike, were seeking a court injunction to stop flights between Australia and the United States. That same safety argument was used by the Canadian controllers in their boycott.

Portuguese controllers have voted a boycott beginning Saturday and the international federation of controllers.

Scouts Return From 150-Mile Bike Hike

By LAVON NIEMAN

Two determined local Boy Scouts earned cycling merit badges when they returned from a 150-mile bike hike Tuesday. Even though they were wet and muddy from the rains that happened to fall on them, they were wearing grins from ear to ear revealing their feelings.

The boys were Jimmy Gowdy, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gowdy, 416 Ave. J, and Scott DeBord, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude DeBord, 215 Beach.

Jimmy represented Troop 52 of which Neal Lemmons is scoutmaster. Scott is from Troop 51 of which Joe Ramirez is scoutmaster.

Only one other Hereford boy has received such a merit badge, according to a mother of one of the boys.

The boys started their ride at 11 a.m. from Hereford on Saturday morning, arriving in Dimmitt at 1:30 p.m. They spent the night with Morris Gowdy, Jimmy's grandfather.

Sunday morning saw the boys on the road to Plainview, arriving at 11:15 a.m. at the home of the Sam Kennedys, family friends of the DeBords, where they spent the night. At 1 p.m.

Monday, the boys headed back to Dimmitt, arriving at the Gowdy residence at 7:10 p.m. where they again rested for the night.

Tuesday morning, through a light rain, they rode from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. when they arrived in Hereford.

The boys commented on their adventure by noting that people were helpful along the way as they soon became known to the people on the road. Stopped by a Dimmitt policeman at 5:30 Sunday morning, the boys were questioned to see if the parents were aware of their

Mexican-Americans Want Veto of Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Mexican-Americans have fired the first shots in an expected courtroom test of the congressional redistricting bill passed this week by the Texas Legislature.

Three Hispanic legislators asked Gov. Bill Clements on Tuesday to veto the bill and said he undoubtedly would be questioned in court about his response to their letter.

Tony Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said LULAC had hired the Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund to challenge the remap under the federal Voting Rights Act.

Bonilla and Reps. Matt

Garcia, D-San Antonio; Al Luna, D-Houston; and Arnold Gonzales, D-Corpus Christi, all said the bill dilutes the voting power of Hispanics.

"I see no point in responding to Mr. Bonilla," Clements told a news conference Tuesday, adding he will sign the bill.

The redistricting bill is expected to increase the number of Texas Republican congressmen from five to at least seven, and perhaps nine, but Clements continued to assert the issue was "liberal-conservative" and not Democrat-Republican.

Garcia, Luna and Gonzales mentioned in their letter that

The big topic of conversation around town this week is the rain. It's been a rain spell for this part of the country and most folks are pleased as punch! One old timer says this may be the wettest August on record.

All the rain reminds us of a story about a traveling salesman who was caught in a storm and stopped over night at a farmhouse. In the morning, he looked out on a flood tearing through the front yard.

He watched branches, pieces of the chicken coop and an old straw hat floating past in the current. Then he saw the straw hat come back, this time moving upstream past the house. Then he saw it go down again, and it came floating by again back upstream. Finally he called the farmer's daughter and asked her what was going on.

"Oh," said the rural miss, after a glance out the window, "That must be grandpa. He said yesterday that he was going to mow the lawn today come hell or high water!"

The countdown has started on Hereford's Town & Country Jubilee, with the Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday night launching a full week of community activities. Most of the programs are scheduled Thursday through Sunday, Aug. 20-23. Organizations and individuals are preparing for such events as the All-Girl Rodeo, a parade, a barbecue in the park, a county fair, arts and crafts show, art show, a Fun-fiesta, and marathon races.

All of the planners of the Jubilee are hoping this will be the first of a big annual event for the community. Participation is the key in making the Jubilee a fun-filled event for everyone, so join in the celebration!

Of great interest to all area residents was a public hearing held in Friona Monday to discuss the possibility of constructing two additional lanes on U.S. 60 to form a four-lane divided facility from Farwell to the Deaf Smith County line.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation was to present three basic proposals: (1) do nothing; (2) improve the existing highway and, (3) construct a new four-lane divided highway.

We haven't heard the results of the meeting, but we hope the proposal is approved sometime in the future. This section of US-60 carries a heavy concentration of truck traffic due to the concentration of feed yards and packing plants in the area.

update wednesday Autopsy Ordered For Bystander

BORGER, Texas (AP) - An autopsy has been ordered to determine who fired the shot that killed a ranch foreman who died during a gun battle between police and an Oklahoma fugitive.

Texas Ranger Jim Gillespie said the autopsy will be performed on the body of James C. Grandstaff, 32, a foreman at the 130,000-acre 8066 ranch who was killed early Tuesday.

The fugitive, Lonnie Cox, 26, of Elk City, Okla., was wounded in the back during the shootout and was listed in critical condition Tuesday at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, Gillespie said.

Gillespie said the shooting occurred at the ranch, located six miles east of Borger in the Texas Panhandle, after police were tipped that Cox, charged with grand larceny in Sayre, Okla., had been seen in Borger.

The ranger said police saw Cox driving a pickup and attempted to stop him, but that he opened fire on them and sped away toward the ranch.

Cox reportedly crashed his pickup through a barbed wire gate at the ranch and stopped it near the ranch house, Gillespie said.

A witness at the scene said Grandstaff apparently heard the noise of the vehicle hitting the gate and went outside to investigate at about the same time Cox and as many as five officers began trading shots.

Captive Shark Moved To Smaller Tank

SAN DIEGO (AP) - A great white shark that has been in captivity longer than any other of its kind was taken from a public exhibition tank and transferred to a smaller tank Tuesday because of erratic swimming, Sea World officials said.

The 5 1/2-foot, 180-pound shark has shown a lack of appetite while swimming in a 15-foot deep, 14,000-gallon tank open to public viewing, said Jackie O'Connor, spokeswoman at the marine park.

But she said that was not worrying scientists as much as the abnormal swimming patterns.

O'Connor rejected the possibility that people watching the shark caused the trouble.

A veterinarian and park fish curator have been monitoring the 1-year-old male since he was turned over to Sea World Aug. 3 by a fisherman who caught him in a net one mile off the San Diego coastline.

By noon Tuesday, the shark had survived eight full days, twice as long as the previous record.

Ten days before it took in the shark, Sea World had failed to keep two other great whites for longer than two days. One died suddenly and another was released after showing signs of stress.

Smith Announced Candidacy

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Rep. Carlyle Smith, a conservative Democrat who took a leading role in the Legislature's fight over congressional redistricting, has announced as candidate for speaker of the 1983 Texas House.

Smith, a Grand Prairie architect, said Tuesday he decided to run because other speaker candidates had failed to show any leadership.

Announced candidates for speaker are Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, the acknowledged front-runner, and Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee.

Others eyeing the post at one time or another have included Reps. Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels; Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood; and Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad.

During the special legislative session that ended Tuesday, Smith was a leader of the unsuccessful effort by party-line Democrats to draw a redistricting bill denying Republicans any more Texas congressional seats.

His major issue during the regular session was an attempt to submit to the voters a constitutional amendment giving Texans the right of initiative and referendum.

Decision Changed, Knight Innocent

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Florida officials have reversed course and decided not to charge Tampa Bay pilot Harry E. Knight with negligence in a 1980 collision that killed 23 Coast Guardsmen.

Department of Professional Regulation Secretary Nancy Wittenberg quietly signed an order last week clearing Knight in the collision of the Coast Guard cutter Blackthorn and the tanker Capricorn, which he was piloting.

Knight said Tuesday he was satisfied with the decision.

"We felt that the probable cause panel made the proper decision way back when," he said. "This is just putting it back in the original position."

National Governor's Assoc. Meeting Hot With Criticism

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - The National Governors' Association meeting concluded with a fiery exchange between the White House and Democratic governors over the economy and propriety of criticizing President Reagan.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. accused Reagan on Tuesday of wrecking the economy, the states and the cities, and Vice President George Bush called into question the national spirit of anyone who could say such a thing.

"For us to criticize and quibble at this time only damages the national interest," Bush told the governors shortly after Brown had delivered his broadside at a news conference.

Although Republicans have invoked Reagan's election mandate - his sweep over incumbent Democrat Jimmy Carter - in the face of past criticism, Bush took it a step further in suggesting that criticism of Reagan is bad for America.

Brown's comments, coming as chairman of the Democratic caucus, also reached a new level of anti-Reagan rhetoric from prominent national Democrats. And the caucus resolved to demand a voice when the party responds to Reagan's public policy statements.

While Brown said many Democrats have been reluctant to take Reagan on, "because he's so darn popular," he predicted that the popularity will crumble when federal budget cuts begin to affect the public directly.

"I can tell you from my own state that even though the euphoria of Mr. Reagan is quite stunning on the nightly news, the increase of bankruptcies among businesses of almost 100 percent in the last two years, the devastation of the housing market, the auto industry and countless other people in this country will rise up as a specter to haunt this follower and descendant of Coolidge, Hoover, Eisenhower, Ford and Nixon," Brown said.

Gov. John N. Dalton of Virginia, chairman of the Republican governors, said his side of the aisle sees no such erosion of Reagan's mandate.

"Our poll in Virginia indicates that what he has done, insofar as budgetary matters are concerned, fiscal affairs of the government are concerned, is what the people of our state were looking for, and they're very pleased with it," Dalton said.

But Dalton also noted that "all governors are concerned with how to go about their budgets," in the face of federal budget cuts.

By a strong bipartisan vote, the governors tossed aside a challenge to Reagan and Congress with a resolution that sort out program responsibilities instead of just shifting them to the states.

The resolution said Washington should take over such federally oriented programs as Medicaid and welfare, a move that would lift a great financial burden from the states but which Reagan has opposed.

In return, the governors said they might gradually assume full responsibility in other areas such as education and transportation.

Petty Theft Reported

Hereford City Police had a relatively quiet time Tuesday, issuing only nine traffic tickets and no accidents were reported.

Damage to a garden and fence and the theft of some soft-drink bottles were reported at 435 Ave. C. Police found the culprits—a couple of 9-year-olds, and parents paid for the damages.

One juvenile run-away was reported to police, but the boy was found several hours later here in Hereford.

Clements had vetoed a Senate redistricting bill because it did not give blacks a strong enough chance to elect a state senator from Dallas.

The same argument, they said, applies to Hispanics and congressional districts.

"We believe, based upon your statements and philosophy of the law in that veto message that you will have no other alternative than to veto the congressional redistricting bill as well," the Hispanic legislators said.

They particularly attacked the redrawn 23rd district, represented by Abraham Kazen or Laredo, because it has only 53.06 percent Hispanics, and the new 27th district of South Texas because its Mexican-American concentration is only 52.9 percent.

A few changes in boundary lines would boost the Hispanic population of each district to more than 60 percent, they said.

"We are sure you will share our belief that the Legislature did not do the best job it could do in enhancing the prospects for electing a Mexican-American to the U.S. Congress from those two districts," said Garcia, Luna and Gonzales.

They also said more could have been done to strengthen minority impact on congressional districts in Houston and Dallas.

The lawmakers told Clements congressional redistricting "will unquestionably be in litigation no matter what you do and you will be asked about this letter in court."

been a school board member since appointed to the board in 1978. He was elected in 1977 to fill an unexpired two-year term, and was elected to a three-year term in his own right in 1979.

"I want to thank Hereford citizens for allowing me to serve as a school board member," Hutchins said. "I have really enjoyed working with the other board members, administration, teachers, tax office, and taxpayers. I think we have a very fine school system that Hereford can be very proud of."

Hutchins' replacement, Bobby Griego, was sworn in by Deaf Smith County Clerk B.F. Cain at the meeting. Hutchins resigned from the board at its June meeting for "personal reasons." Griego was named as his replacement at the July school board meeting.

The board accepted the low bid for milk for the 1981-82 year Tuesday, with the 16 cents per half-pint of milk submitted by Borden's. A bid of 16 1/2 cents was submitted by Bell Dairy. The two firms will split the contract as they did last year, according to Assistant Superintendent Larry Wartes. "We'll work again with both firms to provide the milk service," Wartes told the board. "This worked out very nicely last year."

The board also accepted a recommendation by Wartes to increase some local lunch prices. Wartes recommended prices as follows for lunches locally: 75 cents for grades K-3, 85 cents for grades 4-6; and 95 cents for grades 7-12. The K-3 price will remain the same for next year, while the two older brackets reflect an increase of five cents per meal.

In general reports, Randy Farr gave a report on the recent NEA National Convention in Minneapolis, Minn. and CTA president Nancy Priest gave a brief report on a CTA Leadership Conference held in Austin recently.

Mrs. Priest also announced that the annual New Teachers' Banquet will be held Sept. 14 with State Senator Bill Sarpalius to be the guest speaker.

School Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder presented a personnel report to the board. Nine resignations were accepted, while 13 persons were recommended for employment.

Resignation included Mary Tom Shipley at Aikman; Jose Ramirez and Robert Stewart at Bluebonnet; Lynette Dudding at Shirley; and Eliza Rodriguez at Tierra Blanca. Also, Anne Ramirez at La Plata, Carol Marrs at Stanton, and Becky Price and Yolanda Padilla at the high school.

Stewart resigned to accept the principalship at Adrian. He will be replaced as assistant principal at Bluebonnet by Leslie Paschel.

Other persons recommended for employment by the school system included Vickie LaFrance, Aikman; Heather Bostic, Northwest; Cynthia Kiker, Shirley; Mary Jones, Tierra Blanca; Joan Fuston and Katherine Shackelford, La Plata; Mary Kiser and James Summersgill, Stanton. Also, Billie Jo Farr, Dianne Perkins, and Dianne Wilson at the high school; and Donna Rankin in special education.

All board members were present for the meeting except for R.C. Hoelscher, who was out of town.

Boycott

trollers' unions met Thursday in Amsterdam to discuss joint international action.

The Federal Aviation Administration is seeking ways to ensure service on overseas flights in the event Portuguese controllers carry out a threat to begin blocking a trans-Atlantic route over the Azores on Saturday.

FAA Administrator J. Lynn Helms said that if both the northern route over Gander and the Santa Maria route over the Azores were interrupted, "we'd have difficulty, major difficulty."

But he said he had a plan that he hoped would prevent total interruption of trans-Atlantic flights should that occur. He would not give details of the plan.

The protest by the Canadian controllers had resulted in scores of cancellations and delays of eight to 10 hours in those flights that were able to depart. Thousands of passengers were stranded at many European airports.

Flights normally going over Gander were rerouted to a new east-west route just south of Canadian air space. The new route, however, could handle only four planes an hour, a fifth of the normal traffic load during peak periods.

The airline industry, which has lost about $430 million over the past 18 months, acknowledged that its attempts at economic recovery were dealt a severe blow by the controllers strike. Industry analysts, nonetheless, said the reduction of services might be beneficial to some carriers in the long run.

"It's not a blessing, it's a curse to our industry," said John J. Casey, chairman of Braniff International. He said his airline already has cut 2,000 people from the payroll since the strike.

A spokesman for the industry put losses at $25 million to $30 million a day since the strike began Aug. 3, but said those figures could drop substantially once flights are stabilized and customers return.

"What we must now do is adjust to the realities of the situation," Paul Ignatius, president of the Air Transport Association, said after he and about 50 other airline executives met Tuesday with government officials.

Lewis told reporters after the meeting that commercial flights probably will be kept 25 percent below normal levels until next April, when additional controllers might be ready to begin directing air traffic.

There was little activity Tuesday from the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, although the union won a victory of sorts in U.S. District Court in Washington.

Judge Harold H. Green reduced a fine of $4.75 million he had tentatively imposed against the union and said the controllers could not be penalized for refusing to work after they had been fired. He reduced the fine to $750,000, the amount originally imposed for the first two days of the strike.

A federal judge in New York City, however, threatened to arrest union president Robert E. Poli if he did not appear in his courtroom today. Judge Thomas C. Platt, who fined the union $100,000 an hour after the strike began, wants to know where the union's money is so it can pay the fine.

A lawyer for the union said Poli is expected to appear before Platt today.

Meanwhile, an administrative law judge may decide Thursday whether to recommend that the Federal Labor Relations Authority strip PATCO of authority to represent controllers in collective bargaining. The government asked Judge John Fenton to make such a recommendation Tuesday.

Wedding Held For Miss Burgess, Hicks

Wedding vows were exchanged by Mona Jean Burgess of South Bend and Robert Britt Hicks of Graham Friday evening in the First Baptist Church at South Bend.

The double-ring nuptial service was read by the Rev. Barry Roberts, associated with the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Fort Worth.

Cathedral tapers set in gold branches decorated with greenery and large blue bows decorated the church altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J.W. Burgess and the late Mr. J.W. Burgess of South Bend. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hicks of Hereford.

Dona Burgess of South Bend, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Best man was Scott Reese of Naples, Fla., cousin of the groom.

Also attending the bride was Joni Hicks of Hereford, sister of the groom. Kent Hicks of Hereford, brother of the groom, served as groomsmen.

Ushers were Kent Burgess of South Bend, brother of the bride, and Ron Coleman of Naples, Fla., cousin of the groom. Burgess also served as candle lighter.

Kelly Miller of South Bend was flower girl. Music selections were by Mrs. Nellie Clay.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Roger Carey of Caddo, was gowned in a formal-length white wedding dress made of chiffon and venise lace on the bodice. It was decorated with seed pearls and short butterfly sleeves. The full skirt extended to a short chapel length train.

Her veil was a ring of white chantilly tulle edged with lace and pearls falling to floor length.

The bride carried a bouquet of white silk roses and blue baby's breath with blue and white streamers.

Formal length baby blue dresses were worn by the bridal attendants. The dresses featured a ruffle at the neck and they carried bouquets of white carnations with blue ribbon streamers.

The wedding party received guests immediately following the wedding at a garden reception at the bride's home. Wedding cake was served by Kim Rogers of South Bend. Tamara Whitworth of Cisco, Jennifer and Brandee Gary of Graham served punch and coffee.

The registry was attended by Janna Elliott of Graham.

The refreshment table was laid with a blue lace over white linen cloth that belonged to the bride's great-grandmother who had received it as a wedding gift. Two white net rings joined together forming wedding rings with white silk flowers and blue baby's breath decorated the table. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with blue flowers.

The couple will be home in Graham after a wedding trip to San Antonio and Corpus Christi. As a traveling costume the bride chose a bright blue two-piece knit dress with white accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

A 1980 graduate of Graham High School, the bride attended Cisco Junior College.

The groom is a 1976 graduate of Hereford High School and graduated from Texas A&M University in 1980. He is an extension agent for Young County.

Out of town guests attended from Tulla, Garland, Mesquite, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Waxahachie and Spiro, Okla.

Ann Landers

Views on Sex in 60's

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thank you for printing the letter from "The Old Gray Mare" - the lady who found sex in her 60s something less than fun and games.

There must be many more of us around who fit into this category, but we have been shamed into silence because the media play up antique sex as the norm rather than the exception.

Ann, I have wondered how many old goats have dropped dead from bedroom acrobatics due to your frequently-repeated concept that sex is wonderful and it can go on and on, regardless of age, until the lid of the coffin is closed.

My social acquaintances do not discuss their sex lives, but a very wise doctor once told me that all mortals must accept a slowing-down of life's clock in every area. Common sense bears this out. But so few of us use what common sense we have that you would be doing the public-at-large a great favor by calling this to their attention. They need to know that no human can operate on perpetual motion.

You might save a few lives if you print this letter, Ann. For sure, you would save lots of arguments in the bedroom. - Another Gray Mare

DEAR MARE: Your reference to sex among people in their 60s as "antique" made me shudder. For people who are in good physical condition, the 60s are the prime of life. Obviously, Dear Old Gray Mare, you ain't what you used to be - but surely you aren't ready for the glue factory yet!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Help, please, before our state legislators do something crazy. They are trying to pass a law that would force the opening of sealed records to help adopted children learn the identity of their natural parents. If the legislators succeed, they are going to ruin a lot of lives.

When I was 15 I became pregnant by a married man. I decided to have the child and put it up for adoption. Although it was very difficult to part with my little girl, I knew it would be best for her. I have not regretted that decision.

I worked my way through college, met a wonderful assistant professor and married him three years later. Today we have three children of our own. He knows about my out-of-wedlock child, but no one else does. (My parents knew, but they are deceased.)

We keep hearing about the rights of adopted children.

Well, what about the rights of the natural mother? When I put my daughter up for adoption I was guaranteed that my privacy would be respected. If this law that is now being debated by the state legislators is passed, it would certainly be a violation of trust by the government.

I know your position on this topic because you have expressed it in the column. But please, Ann, say it one more time. - Anonymous In Illinois

DEAR ANON.: This same battle is raging in many state legislatures at this very moment. The column you read today was written from four to six weeks ago, and should appear in your paper on Aug. 12 - probably too late to influence anyone. But here it is. I go on record as being opposed to opening up sealed adoption records, on the grounds that it violates a sacred promise made to the unwed mother. It could create horrendous problems for her and her new family and ruin lives.

Is pot a drug? Can LSD and pills open new worlds for you? Stop guessing. Get the facts in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar, plus a long, self-addressed stamped envelope (28 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Installation Held For Newcomers Club

Using the word "Thanks" as the theme, Marge Mehlberg installed new officers for the Newcomers Club of Hereford Tuesday at a noon luncheon at K-Bobs.

Louann Morgan was installed as the new president for the coming year. Other officers are Kim Brackett, first vice president; Cecilia Martinez, second vice president; Linda Shipp, secretary; Barbara Garnett, treasurer; Judy Baker, reporter; and Katherine Ruga, advisor.

The Newcomers Club meets the second Tuesday of each month at noon. All newcomers of the Hereford area invited to attend these luncheons and are encouraged to call Mrs. Martinez at 364-5171 for further information.

Each member present Tuesday introduced herself and told a little about herself so they could all get better acquainted.

During the business meeting, plans were discussed for participating in the upcoming Hereford Town & Country Jubilee. It was announced that members will be making some of their favorite desserts and hand crafts to sell in a mini-bazaar booth at the jubilee.

OVER THE CENTURIES, artisans sought to create works of art appropriate to Jewish observances. For Passover, the festival commemorating the exodus from Egypt, craftsmen were inspired by the ritual meal, the Seder, to create plates on which to place foods symbolic of bondage and redemption. This silver Seder plate from 19th century Germany is from the permanent collection of New York's Jewish Museum.

Second Set of Indictments Filed

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - A second set of indictments charging seven Mission school employees with conspiracy to bilk the federal government out of almost $500,000 culminated a year-long investigation into the operation of a school lunch program.

Federal grand jurors Tuesday accused an assistant school superintendent and six employees, who already had been named in a July 14 indictment, with participating in a five-year-long phony invoice scheme.

School workers were accused in Tuesday's indictments of conspiring with employees of Golden Jersey Creamery in Edinburg to file false claims with the U.S. Agriculture Department on undelivered half pints of milk.

Grand jurors alleged school workers called the dairy with the number of half-pints needed for a certain amount of federal reimbursement, and then dairy employees completed phony delivery papers that school officials signed and filed with federal offices. Assistant school superintendent Robert Harold Wicks was the only defendant charged with all counts in both indictment.

Wicks and food services director Michael Jon McCarthy were accused in the 12-count indictment Tuesday of making and mailing false claims for summer lunch program reimbursements.

Others indicted Tuesday included school employees Doyleene Elliott Thompson, Gerardo Montoya Cortez, Angelica Hernandez Padron and former employees Edelmiro Garcia and Jane Alice Cook.

Five other people named in the seven-count July indictment, including four dairy workers, pleaded guilty Monday to one count of conspiracy in a plea bargain to drop the remaining counts.

Those who pleaded guilty were dairy general manager Frederick Norman Hagerdorn, dairy employees Jeanette Jay Hall, Duane Leroy Towne and Irma Marie Cortez and former school food services director Myrtice Irene Caddell. The dairy, through Hagerdorn, also pleaded guilty.

The new indictments dropped all charges against dairy worker Jose Trevino Martinez, but named him and the five who pleaded guilty Monday as unindicted co-conspirators.

Criminal charges against the Mission Consolidated Independent School District also were dropped, Medrano said. The district will be investigated by the U.S. Justice Department office in Houston for possible civil violations, he added.

Wicks declined comment on charges against him but said the new indictments should vindicate the school system. "We felt it was not legal for the school district to be indicted," Wicks said.

Medrano said the defendants will not be arrested as in July, when most of them spent a night in jail awaiting arraignment. All have posted bonds on the earlier charges and will be notified of new arraignment dates, the prosecutor said.

Over $17 Million Has Been Approved By WTSU

WTSU - A budget of more than $17 million for 1981-82 has been approved by the West Texas State University Board of Regents during the August quarterly meeting.

The operating budget outlines $17,603,958 in budgeted revenues and $17,896,911 in total budgeted expenditures. More than $16 million of the budget is the appropriation provided by the Texas Legislature and Gov. Bill Clements. The fiscal year begins Sept. 1 and ends Aug. 31.

The budget is an increase over last year's operating budget of $13,434,844 and includes a 14.3 percent increase in staff salaries and an average faculty salary increase of 17.06 percent.

Wind energy research, the University Police and major renovations to the Education Building also received increases through the legislative appropriation and the budget.

A portion of the operating funds allocated in the budget include $1,193,145 for faculty salaries; $1,614,647 for utilities; $725,098 for major renovations to the Education Building; $95,617 for Wind Energy research; and $1,114,087 for inter-collegiate athletics.

Regents also approved an increase in the Student Service Fee of which 57 percent or $282,836 has been allocated to athletics. The fee has been increased from $3 per semester hour and maximum of $36 for 12 or more semester credit hours to $3.50 per hour and a maximum of $42. The Texas Legislature has set a ceiling of $60.

Following a two-hour executive session, regents voted to approve a land trade with Palo Duro Village Cooperative of Canyon which plans to build a retirement village.

The group will purchase property east of Jones Hall, a men's residence hall, and exchange for WTSU property near Palo Duro Hospital. Regent Stan Davis of Amarillo, who is chairperson of the property committee, said the trade will involve about 20 acres.

Regents also approved the increase of the medical services fee from $11 to $14 to provide for 24-hour emergency room service at Palo Duro Hospital.

Approval also was granted for WTSU to proceed with financial studies for the construction and equipping of the Computer Center Building and research wing of the Science Center. The construction is discussed in the five-year Master plan which was issued in 1979.

In addition to approving the employment of 16 new faculty members, regents approved the resignation of Dr. Bill Davis, assistant professor of music; Ed McAllister, track and cross-country coach; Dr. Ron McBride, assistant professor of Agricultural Business and Economics; and Connie Wootton, instructor in education and Student Teacher Center coordinator.

Regents also learned of the retirement of Dr. Wilma Jo Bush, professor of education, effective Aug. 31.

Regent Dee Osborn of Houston presided over his first meeting as a chairperson.

Regents also authorized commendation for three of the members whose terms expire Aug. 31 including Jack Shelton of Amarillo, Lennie Sims of Wellington and James Lovell of Dumas.

ATTENTION RETAILERS!

...are co-op advertising dollars slipping through your fingers?

Are you missing out on co-op advertising funds that are available to you? Did you know that co-op advertising help from many of your manufacturers and suppliers can pay anywhere from half to all of your advertising costs? Every year manufacturers and suppliers make millions of dollars available to retailers, yet a good part of that help is lost because many retailers are not even aware of the fact that this money is available to them. Our advertising staff has been especially trained to help you locate hidden co-op opportunities. They will help you prepare your ads, supply you with attractive, attention compelling art, write your copy and put it all together in an eye-catching layout. Our staff can produce results for you, and best of all, the co-op available to you can pay as much as 100% of the costs. Don't let co-op money slip through your fingers. It is really your money and if you don't use it, you'll lose it and all the potential sales that it can produce. Call your local newspaper advertising representative now and take advantage of the hard-hitting results this paper can generate. If you're not already advertising and using valuable co-op dollars, we'll show you how co-op can stretch your promotional budget and, at times, pay the entire bill.

Longhorns Favored by Most

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — After a near-national football championship in 1977, Texas has slipped in the football rankings, and Coach Fred Akers says the Longhorns must stay healthy to rebound. "I'll guarantee you health is the No. 1 factor," Akers said. "The (Southwest) conference is an exciting one because the talent is distributed so evenly. That tells you that keeping players healthy is as important as anything you can name." Five running backs and guard Joe Shearin and tackle John Tobolka on the left side of the offensive line were sidelined with injuries for part of last year as Texas fell 7-5. In 1979 the loss of starting backs A.J. "Jam" Jones and Rodney Tate late in the season ruined a possible outstanding year as Texas dropped its final two games and finished 9-3. "It's our year to stay healthy," Akers said in an interview. "I hope it (string of injuries) has run its course. The last two years we were hurt badly, but we're through with that." Whether it is Texas' year to return to the Cotton Bowl as SWC champions depends largely on the play of Rick McIvor at quarterback. Akers granted Donnie Little's request to switch from starting quarterback to wide receiver in spring training, and he installed McIvor, a 6-foot-4 junior with a strong throwing arm, as the No. 1 quarterback.

"Quarterback is the key for us," Akers said. "We're not proven there. ... It's a big question mark. You have to be honest about it. ... I don't know that I remember a team that won the championship that didn't have an established quarterback. It may have been us in '77." Jones returns for his senior year with 2,040 yards rushing, and the line is the largest in Akers' five years as head coach at Texas. Akers describes 260-pound tackle Terry Tausch as a "bona fide" All-American, and he rates center Mike Babb — "the strongest football player we've had around here" — as another possible all-star. Defensive leaders include tackle Kenneth Sims, 6-6 and 285, and linebackers Doug Shankle and Bruce Scholtz. "Kenneth Sims has got a shot at being the best lineman in college football," said Akers. Akers has been described in published reports as a man under pressure to win big in 1981, but he said, "I feel the same way I've felt any other season I've coached. A coach who's worth his salt gets involved in pressure only when it comes from within himself. Good coaches don't pay any attention to outside pressures. They put enough on themselves — they want to win." "All I can ask is that they (the Longhorns) go out there and do the best they can," said Akers. I can't ask them to do any more. If our best doesn't get us there, someone else deserves it."

Rangers Blank Yanks

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer
Cecil Cooper is ready, which means bombs away for the Milwaukee Brewers. Cooper was a one-man hitting machine for the Brewers Tuesday night, going 7-for-9 with three doubles, two homers and two singles, boosting his batting average 19 points and leading Milwaukee to a doubleheader sweep of Cleveland, 6-5 and 6-1. Milwaukee has won all three of its games since the season resumed after a 59-day interruption that included a 50-day players' strike, while Cleveland is 0-3, extending its losing streak to seven games.

Rangers 1, Yankees 0
Rick Honeycutt, Jim Kern, John Henry Johnson and Dave Schmidt combined for a four-hitter. Consecutive first-inning singles by Bump Wills, Al Oliver and Buddy Bell produced the game's only run. "The biggest problem following the 50-day players' strike is getting command of all my pitches," said Honeycutt, 7-1. "I had trouble getting my breaking pitches across the plate tonight." Mariners 4, Angels 1
Jim Beattie threw eight innings of five-hit ball, Tom Paciorek had a two-run double and Richie Zisk homered for Seattle. Beattie, 1-0, was 6-9 with Spokane of the Pacific Coast League before being recalled Sunday. In three early-season appearances with Seattle, he posted a 16.62 earned run average. He was relieved by Larry Andersen in the ninth.

A's 6, Twins 5
A's reliever Jeff Jones preserved the A's victory with 2 2-3 innings of scoreless relief. Oakland, led by speedsters Paciorek and Zisk, grabbed a 6-0 lead after two innings. The Twins came back within one run before Jones stopped them cold. Henderson and Murphy each had two singles, scored twice and knocked in a run for the A's, champions of the West for the first half of the season.

Danny Goodwin doubled twice and scored three times for the Twins and Pete Mackanin blasted a pinch-hit homer for Minnesota.

Giants Slip by Astros

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer
When you're 42 years old and closing in on baseball history, two months must seem like an eternity. Unlike Pete Rose, who got the one hit he needed to break the all-time National League record on the first day of the 50-day players' strike, Gaylord Perry still needs five more victories to reach the milestone he dearly craves — 300 wins. "The Atlanta Braves right-hander said after collecting his 295th triumph Tuesday night, "If I pitch the way I pitched tonight, I'm going to be tough to beat."

knock in an insurance run. Phillies 6, Cardinals 5
Keith Moreland knocked in the tying run in the eighth inning as a pinch-hitter and then won the game for Philadelphia with a bases-loaded, one-out single off ace St. Louis reliever Bruce Sutter in the bottom of the 10th. Dane Iorg's run-scoring double and a two-run triple by Ken Oberkfell had given the Cardinals a 5-3 lead in the top of the eighth, but the Phillies tied it in their half of the inning on doubles by Larry Bowa and Bob Boone and Moreland's single. Mike Schmidt had his 15th homer for the Phillies. Pirates 6, Expos 3
Pittsburgh, shut out on one hit for seven innings by Bill Gullickson, exploded for six runs in the final two innings off two Montreal relievers. Trailing 2-1 going into the ninth, Tim Lincecum and Dave Parker cracked consecutive doubles to tie the game before Mike Easler put the Pirates ahead with a single. Then John Milner's three-run homer capped the rally.

first on Bob Horner's RBI single and took a 3-0 lead in the next inning on a two-run triple by rookie left-fielder Rufino Linares. Perry, 6-4, coasted through the first four innings before being touched for a run in the fifth on pinch-hitter Broderick Perkins' run-scoring single. Perry, who won Cy Young awards in 1978 with the Padre and in 1972 with Cleveland, said he stayed in shape during the strike by working hard on his peanut farm in South Carolina, "playing some catch and just having fun." Perry said he figures to get 10 more starts before this season ends. Mets 4, Cubs 2
New York won its second in a row over Chicago as Hubie Brooks knocked in a run in both the eighth and ninth innings and Doug Flynn singled home the tiebreaking tally. Trailing 2-1 going into the eighth, the Mets scored two runs on Brooks' sacrifice fly and a single by Flynn. Brooks added a double in the ninth to

"It doesn't take me that long to get ready for action," said Miner, referring to the long strike layoff. "I practice every day, even swinging a bat in front of a mirror as often as I can." Giants 3, Astros 2
Tom Griffin, in the longest pitching stint in the two days since major league play resumed, hurled a six-hitter for 81-3 innings to place San Francisco over Houston. The victory snapped a six-game losing streak for the Giants, dating back to June 5. Joe Morgan scored a run and knocked in another with a double for San Francisco. Reds 7, Dodgers 6
Dan Driessen slugged a three-run homer to highlight Cincinnati's four-run seventh inning that beat Los Angeles. Fernando Valenzuela, the NL's starting All Star pitcher, allowed three runs in 41-3 innings for the Dodgers but wasn't involved in the decision. Dave Concepcion also homered for the Reds and Dusty Baker had a two-run shot for the Dodgers.

Actually, his 5-1 decision over the San Diego Padres must have been one of the easiest victories of his career. He had to go only the required five innings, allowing five hits and one run before leaving the game with a 4-1 lead. In other NL games, the New York Mets beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2, Pittsburgh rallied to beat Montreal 6-3, Philadelphia outlasted St. Louis 6-5 in 10 innings, Cincinnati tripped Los Angeles 7-6 and San Francisco trimmed Houston 3-2.

Crowds throughout the league were near average, although Philadelphia and San Diego had much smaller turnouts than they had Monday for the reopening of the major league baseball season. The Padres drew only 5,364 after Monday night's game in which all seats were free and a record 52,606 showed up. Philadelphia, attracted by Rose's attempt to break Stan Musial's record, had 60,000 Monday night and a more nearly normal 24,549 Tuesday night. The Braves got a run in the

Barber Proving Puzzle

By The Associated Press
Running back Marion Barber is proving a puzzle to the New York Jets. The National Football League team has no complaints about the performance of their No. 2 draft choice from the University of Minnesota. In fact, they have hardly had a chance to see him in action. Barber, who suffered a concussion three weeks ago, left practice Tuesday still feeling dizzy, leaving the Jets' physicians to try and cure something they can't diagnose. "In my 19 years with the Jets I've never had one like this," said Dr. Cal Nicholas, the team's internist. "Most people get over a concussion the same day, but a concussion can take bizarre roads of behavior. Neurologically, Marion checks out fine. Every test he's come back negative. I hope we'll find something out these next tests scheduled for Thursday. You don't like to find everything normal in someone who's not feeling well."

Supplemental Feeding Works Best Year-Round

COLLEGE STATION -- Although supplemental feeding of cattle is usually considered a fall and winter chore, it actually deserves year-round attention.

"Supplemental feeding is necessary since cattle can only store protein and minerals in limited amounts," points out Dr. Dennis B. Herd, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. However, he suggests providing supplement only if the increase in performance will more than offset its cost or if it's necessary for humane treatment of cattle.

"Symptoms of protein, energy, vitamin and mineral deficiencies and symptoms of parasite and disease afflictions are practically impossible to distinguish visually," notes Herd. "So animal health is an important part of any production program.

"A systematic approach to supplemental feeding can make management decisions concerning animal health and nutrition easy and accurate," adds Herd. He offers the following general guidelines:

1. Feed salt and an 8-12 percent phosphorus supplement of similar calcium content free choice the year round unless the mineral is included in a complete supplement.
2. Inject or feed vitamin A if in doubt.
3. Feed enough protein to maintain at least a 6 percent ration for proper digestive functions and to increase feed intake. As a rule of thumb, one pound of 40 percent protein supplement will meet the supplemental protein needs of a dry pregnant cow, and two pounds will take care of a cow nursing a calf.

4. Use cow condition or fatness as a guide to additional feeding. Loss of weight or condition suggests the need for additional supplement to furnish more energy. The protein content can be decreased in proportion to the increased level of supplemental feeding.

The beef cattle specialist also has these suggestions on supplemental feeding.

Since cows graze selectively, the forage they eat will be slightly more digestible and contain more protein than the average forage in the pasture. Overstocking eliminates the potential for selective grazing and greatly increases the need for, and the expense of, supplementation. So don't overgraze pastures, emphasizes Herd.

Adequate protein is essential for normal feed or energy intake and digestion. Adding one-half to one-and-a-half pounds of a 30 to 40 percent protein supplement to rations with less than 6 percent crude protein can increase forage intake 30 to 60 percent and digestion 6 to 12 percent.

The energy in 1 to 2 pounds of high energy supplement

(grain) may slightly stimulate digestibility and forage intake. However, levels above 10 to 12 percent of the diet may slightly depress forage digestibility and have a substitution effect on total energy intake. Still, a pound of grain supplies more energy than a pound of forage. In spite of the substitution effort, many situations call for greater amounts of energy supplementation.

Stay away from energy deficient situations, advises Herd. Try to feed high quality hay, and control the calving season so quality forage is available when cows and calves need it most. Use fertilization and limited supplements to make sure cows are in good condition starting the winter. This greatly reduces the need for high levels of supplementation later in the season.

Where cows are getting too poor, feed higher levels of supplement to maintain proper condition or get ready to pay the price of reduced calf crops and weaning weights.

To stimulate cows to increase feed intake and clean up dead grass in the fall, feed 1 to 2 pounds of a high-protein, high-energy supplement. Then haul hay to cattle as the total feed in late winter when pastures are poor. Don't tease them with only portion of the hay they need to maintain body condition.

Finally, manage your program to stay out of situations calling for high levels of supplementation--it's seldom profitable, says Herd. On the other hand, a little supplement at the right time can be a profitable management tool.

Plan to Increase Beef Demand Shows Success

Texas cattlemen are concerned about beef's current demand level -- and they're doing something about it.

On July 1, Texas cattlemen initiated a voluntary 25-cent beef market investment program whereby all money collected is remitted to the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board for national programs of research, education and promotion, all of which are designed to increase beef demand.

Thus far, the voluntary investment plan has been quite successful. As of August 1, more than half of all cattle in Texas were passing through participating checkoff collection points (auction markets, order buyers and packing plants).

This type of participation has been encouraging to the Beef Industry Council and the other five Texas cattle organizations -- Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., Texas Cattle Feeders Assn., Texas Farm Bureau, the Independent Cattlemen's Assn., and the Livestock Marketing Assn. of Texas -- all of which have been working with collection points since last May.

Why have certain collection points decided to encourage their customers to participate in this investment program?

"Because I feel we (the beef industry) have done a very poor job of merchandising our product in relation to our competition. Who would have thought ten years ago that turkey and chicken would make such marketplace gains," said Cecil Sellers, Sweetwater (Texas) Auction Market manager and president of the Livestock Marketing Association of Texas.

"We need to get something going now more than ever," said Sellers, "and the way to do it is by aggressively promoting our product. That's why the Sweetwater market is participating in the Texas beef investment program."

George McDonald, manager-owner of Longview Livestock Commission Inc. agrees that now is the time to try a new approach to return the beef industry to profitability.

"We (cattlemen) can no longer sit back and say that this or that program may or may not work. We should be giving this new investment program a try -- we can't sit back and watch our market share erode," McDonald said.

How will funds collected from Texas cattlemen be used by the Meat Board's Beef Industry Council?

For openers, the BIC has earmarked a substantial portion of funds for a fall media blitz of its highly successful "Make Ends Meet - With the Great Taste of Beef" campaign, which promotes lesser-priced cuts of beef to budget-conscious shoppers. The campaign calls for television advertising in six major U.S. consumer markets, including Dallas-Fort Worth.

Long-term beef industry plans (1982 and beyond) include an extensive television, magazine, radio and billboard advertising campaign which will bring messages about beef's value, versatility, convenience, taste appeal and nutrition to consumers in either the nation's top 10 consumer markets, top 20 markets or the entire U.S., depending on budget levels.

The plans also call for extensive retail tie-ins and annual consumer attitude and awareness studies to measure the effectiveness of the campaign in general.

Deaf Smith 5th In Fresh Vegetables

AUSTIN - Deaf Smith County was fifth in harvested acres of fresh vegetables in 1980 with 4,930 acres, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Hidalgo County was first with a 59,620-acre harvest. Other counties in the top 10 were Starr, Frio, Cameron, Zavala, Castro, Uvalde, Duval and Webb.

Figures from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service show Deaf Smith second in carrots, 1,440 acres and fifth in onions, 980 acres.

Texas was third in fresh market vegetables with a 155,520-acre harvest and fifth in total vegetables with 173,920 acres.

Lyng Featured Speaker At The Livestock, Money Symposium

LUBBOCK -- Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng of the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be the featured luncheon speaker at the Livestock and Money Symposium at Texas Tech University Sept. 10.

Lyng, who was appointed to his position by President Ronald Reagan in February, will speak on "Economic Recovery and the United States Livestock Industry."

The symposium will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 18 in the Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University with a welcome by Texas Tech President Lauro F. Cavazos. Registration is at 9:30 a.m.

Two economists will open the program with addresses on monetary policy. The economists are Dr. Joseph E. Burns, a senior vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, and Dr. James W. "Jim" Riley, economist for the National Cattlemen's Association, Denver.

Following the 11:30 a.m. luncheon and Lyng's address at 12:30 p.m., the "Presidents' Panel," with representatives of six livestock associations, will convene at 1:30 p.m. in the Ranching Heritage Center.

The symposium is part of the National Golden Spur Award weekend, which will honor Watt Reynolds Matthews of Albany, Texas, for his contributions to the livestock and ranching industries. The award was presented at the National Golden Spur Award and Prairie Party beginning at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 18 in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. Ranch Day, the occasion for Insects can be real pests. They bite and sting us, often passing on serious diseases, destroy our crops, and as California's Mediterranean fruit fly epidemic demonstrates, they can threaten an entire state's economy. But according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine, farmers and gardeners are fighting back without using harmful pesticides by "trying to give diseases to insects."

Many growers use a sort of "germ warfare" to rid their crops and gardens of harmful insects. Their weapons are various micro-organisms such as bacteria, viruses, protozoa, and fungi. The environmental advantage to these micro-organisms is that they are "species specific," meaning they do their dirty work on only one insect species. Unlike pesticides, they don't wipe out all the bugs in their path, some of which may be beneficial to the gardener.

The National Wildlife Federation monthly publication for young people notes that a strain of bacteria called milky spore disease is often used to kill Japanese beetles, a common garden pest. Cotton growers also use germ warfare to fight what is probably the most commercially damaging insect, the cotton bollworm. The insects' larvae are buried deep inside the cotton boll, where pesticides can't reach. So nematodes, tiny wormlike organisms usually regarded as pests themselves, are applied to the cotton crop. Carrying with them a bacteria that kills the bollworm larvae, the nematodes consume the dead embryo, leaving the plant intact. Certain bacteria-carrying nematodes are also responsible for leveling such insects as corn borers, cabbageworm larvae, and tobacco budworm larvae.

Unfortunately, some strains of micro-organisms can harm beneficial insects, for as Ranger Rick points out, "just like people, insects can be infected with different kinds of bacteria, viruses, and fungi." While we don't usually notice a bug with a bug, the honeybee can be struck by two serious diseases feared by beekeepers.

"One of the worst diseases bee larvae can get is called foulbrood," says Ranger Rick. The disease is caused by a type of bacterium which kills the honeybee larvae, leaving behind a badsmelling hive. No cure has been found.
