Reagan Announces Economic Crusade

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Reagan, leading a "crusade to save our economy," is asking Congress to reduce next year's budget deficit by $16 billion with spending cuts and tax increases that even his allies admit face a perilous path. Reagan had barely outlined his plan Thursday night for $13 billion in program reduc-tions and $3 billion in higher tax revenues for 1982 when Senate Republican Whip Ted Stevens of Alaska said, "I don't believe we can get the cuts" in the form proposed. "It would be very difficult to

WASHINGTON (AP) With Congress doing it anyway, President Reagan is shelving his package of longrange Social Security cuts and urging restoration of the minimum benefit eliminated at his behest earlier this year. Instead, Reagan told the nation Thursday night, he now favors mingling the system's three trust funds to keep the main retirement fund from running out of money by the end of next year and "to give us time to seek a permanent solution."

At the same time, he challenged majority Democrats in the House to join in a bipartisan effort to restore fiscal integrity to politics." Reagan defended his May 12 proposal to eliminate the $122-a-month minimum benefit, slash early retirement, disability and other benefits and delay next July's cost-of-living increase for three months. But he did not urge Congress to adopt any elements of that plan.

He said he never intended to take the minimum away "from those who truly need it" and asked Congress to restore it for "current beneficiaries with low incomes."

He did not elaborate, but a senior aide, who asked not to be identified, said the White (See FUNDS, Page 2) before the panel today.

House Republican leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois, like Stevens a strong backer of the president, predicted in advance that Congress would probably trim defense spending by more than the $2 billion the president requested.

Aware that a group of moderate and liberal Republicans already has indicated dissatisfaction with parts of Reagan's plan, Michel said, "I can't have more than token slippage on my side to make a credible showing out there."

Reagan mentioned none of those problems in a nationally broadcast speech from the Oval Office that backed away from cuts in Social Security, including elimination of the minimum benefit, and rejected delays in the threeyear personal income tax cut Congress approved earlier this year.

"We are just starting down a road I believe will lead us out of the economic swamp we've been in for so long," he declared. "The important thing now is to hold to a firm, steady course."

He recommended acrossthe-board reductions of 12 percent in non-defense and non-benefit programs, slashing the federal work force by 75,000 jobs, cutting

Mrs. Pierson moved to Hereford from Camden, Ark.. when she married Dale Pierson, a self-employed farmer. Having received her bachelor of science degree in English and speech from West Texas State University in 1976, Mrs.

Pierson began working for the county library as services coordinator in June of 1978. After serving as Assistant Librarian for two years Mrs. Pierson became head librarian in October of 1980.

"Our main goal is to get across to people that we are here to serve them and help them gather information or spend their leisure hours," says Mrs. Pierson.

Though she says pleasuretype reading is higher in the summer, the library is also

To keep up with the increasing demand of patrons Mrs. Pierson orders approximately 150 new books per month. "There is a wide variety of people to reach in Hereford so we have also initiated programs to reach being used more frequently various age level audiences. One example is our summer reading program. This year we had over 800 children enrolled in the summer reading program, with 275 attending the weekly program," she said.

Statistics show that in the month of June the local library checked out 24,000 books to children. According to Mrs. Pierson the average monthly circulation is about 3,500 for adults and 8,000 for children.

One reason of the local summer program is that bookmark contest winner 11-year-old Sherri Shaw, has been honored by having her "Monster Madness" design chosen as one of the bst entries and used for the backdrop of the Library Association booth at the Tri-State Fair currently in progress in Amarillo.

Texas Water Plan

HOUSTON (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements called the threat of a water phortage a metropolitan problem more than a rural one and urged flouston businessmen to support a constitutional amendment financing a state water plan.

"I want to emphasize that water is not a West Texas problem," Clements told the Houston Rotary Club Thursday. "It is not an agricultural problem alone. It is in fact a metropolitan problem, first and foremost."

The proposed amendment, which will be on the ballot Nov. 3, was passed in the special legislative session in August. It would dedicate half of the state's excess revenues to a water projects fund to be administered by the Texas Board of Water Resources.

Clements warned that Texas must prepare for a population of 21 million in the year 2000.

DEAR READERS: A recent letter from a woman who complained that her married children never invited her for a meal generated thousands of letters. Sorry to say, almost all sounded like these:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column today got to me. Why doesn't mother get invited to our home to eat? Because-she tells me I'm a lousy cook, the meat is tough, the potatoes are runny, the coffee is weak, the sink is dir-

Then she starts on the kids. They all need haircuts. They have no manners and they interrupt when adults are speaking. She must straighten the pictures on the wall and pick lint off the furniture. I could scream. Her conversation is a running diatribe against every member of the family, dredging up petty slights going back 40 years.

No one wants her on any holiday, let alone other times. This lady has eight children who live close enough to be of real service, but she has driven them all away with her constant criticism and sharp tongue.

She holds her money over our heads like the sword of Damocies and intends to punish each and every one of us from her grave by writing a will that would knock your socks off. We all decided some time ago it was not worth it. So we visit occasionally to see that she is OK and call, but the less she knows about us, the less she has to talk about to others-Scrry Mom, I Mean YOU

And another: DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been furning ever since I read that letter in your column by the mother who invited her son and his family for dinner and holidays and wondered why she was never invited to their place. I'm sure that letter was written by my mother-in-law. She is right. We DO accept her invitations for meals because otherwise we would never see her. But never again will I invite her to our home for dinner. For three years I put up with her criticism, and every time she left I was in tears. Finally,my husband (her son) told me, "We'll go to her house, but we're not having her here again." What follows is a sample of the conversation from the last time she came for dinner:

"Your living room draperies look shabby. are they sun-split, or has the cat been running up and down

"The sofa is lumpy. You really should have it reupholstered."

"You didn't put enough salt in the noodle water."

'The coffee has a peculiar taste. Is it the water or the brand?"

"The vegetables are overcooked. Actually steaming is better than boiling."

formed for educational purposes with particular reference to the area of homemaking.

Members learn new skills and gain information contributing to home and family living, and community membership.

The organization, under the advisement of Mrs. M.T. Burelsmith, homemaking teacher at LaPlata Junior High School, have planned educational, fun programs and projects for the coming year. They will include: 'Back to Nature" with Beverly Harder of Arrowhead Mills; Right to Life film; "Christmas Cookies and Crafts" with Joy Gibson of Energas; Creative Stitchery; and a spring fashion show.

They plan to have preschool eye screening at the annual health fair. They will have their annual Young Homemakers-Young

The Newspaper BIBLE

THE KISS OF DEATH

As Jesus spoke, a mob approached, led by Judas, one of His twelve disciples. Judas walked over to Jesus and kissed Him on the cheek in friendly greeting.

But Jesus said, "Judas, how can you do thisbetray the Messiah with a kiss?"

When the other disciples saw what was about to happen, they exclaimed, "Master, shall we fight? We brought along the swords!" And one of them slashed at the High Priest's servant, and cut off his

But Jesus said, "Don't resist anymore." And He touched the place where the man's ear had been and restored it. Then Jesus addressed the chief priests and captains of the Temple guards and the religious leaders who headed the mob. "Am La robber," He asked, "that you have come armed with swords and clubs to get Me? Why didn't you arrest Me in the Temple? I was there every day! But this is your moment--the time when Satan's power reigns supreme.

So they seized Him and led Him to the High Priest's residence, and Peter followed at a distance. Luke 22:47-54

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -The State Board of Human Resources has decided on Medicaid changes a consultant says will save Texas $6 million a year but also could leave electronics millionaire H. Ross Perot as the only bid-

Texas will continue using a mechanism under which it pays tax dollars to an insurance company to buy medical coverage for 700,000 needy Texans.

More than 600 insurers and computer companies were contacted by the board's consultants, and only Perot who holds the current contract - said he definitely would bid for Texas' $400 million-a-year Medicaid

After soliciting and receiving bids, the board will award a new contract next year, to take effect March 1, 1983.

The board adopted a "quota share" insurance approach recommended by the Touche Ross & Co. consulting firm, which received more than $100,000 to evaluate the current system and offer alternatives.

The Texas Medical Association and the Texas Hospital Association said they like the present system. Less than half the state's doctors participate in Medicaid, according to board staff members.

"No compelling reasons have been presented to date to reverse a progressive system - many years ahead of the understanding of other states," said Burnham Jones, a vice president of the hospital association.

Perot's National Heritage Insurance Co. has had the Medicaid contract since 1977. It was underbid last summer by Bradford National Corp. of New York City, but the board - after first voting to award the contract to Bradford decided to accept neither bid.

The Department of Human Resources avoided a lawsuit by paying Bradford a settlement of more than $3 million.

The state now pays premiums to Perot's company, which pays doctors and hospitals on behalf of Medicaid recipients. A huge 'reserve" - which hit $163.7 million on July 31 - is available to the company for investment and for excess

Federal officials have criticized the large reserve, which consists mainly of federal money, because it "contributes to the federal

The new system also uses the premium mechanism but reserve and imposes less risk on the insurer.

A company would have to pay only 10 percent of claims in excess of premiums but also would get 10 percent of any savings. A company's maximum loss or gain would be 0.9 percent of total premium.

In approving the "quota share" insurance system, the board rejected a "contract program administrator" approach similar to what most other states use.

Touche Ross said there would be three bidders in addition to Perot if the administrator approach was used, while Perot very likely would be the only bidder under the insurance mechanism.

His review of public education contrasted with Dr. Vic Arnold's upbeat predictions about the Texas economy, which he said serves as a "magnet" for attracting newcomers to the state.

Arnold, a University of Texas professor in charge of the Texas 2000 project. predicted that in the next 20 years the state's economy will grow by 17 percent to 20 percent above the national average.

He and Ashworth testified before the Select Committee on Public Education, which includes legislative leaders such as Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton and educators.

Ashworth said the Southern Regional Education Board released figures "that say something about what our priorities really are. In the entire South in one year recently (1978), our colleges graduated 445 math education majors; but that same year we graduated 7,502 coaches and PE (physical education) majors. "We have simply got to find ways to get students to take more math and science, and more than the minimum amounts required by our high schools to graduate and by our colleges to get by," he said. "And we need to keep them going in tough subjects once they get to college."

"The colleges are alarmed about the inadequate preparation of many high school graduates upon admission to college. Yet the colleges have been lowering and easing their admission requirements, which, in turn, has said to the high schools that they are free to eliminate certain graduation requirements," Ashworth said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) :-Reagan administration welfare cuts mean 32,000 Texans won't be getting Aid to Families with Dependent Children, says an official of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

family with income above $301 a month may not receive AFDC, nor may people 19 and 20 years old, even though they might be in school.

The board took an option available to it and said 18-year-olds can get AFDC if they are in high school or vocational school. It could have cut out 18-year-olds altogether.

Removal from the AFDC rolls also means 19- and 20-year-olds, and 18-year-olds out of school, may not have their medical bills paid by Medicaid.

Administration food stamp rules adopted by the board said families with incomes 30 percent above the poverty line can't get food stamps. The current poverty level is $8,450 for a family of four. That means four-person families with incomes of

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) - On rainy days and lazy summer afternoons in Dixon, Ill., 12-year-old Ronald Reagan read "Frank Merriwell at Yale," the legends of King Arthur, Tarzan's jungle adventure, Zane Grey westerns and a favorite animal book called "Northern Trails."

AP Special Correspondent

That very boy, as both Howard Cosell and the late Bill Stern would put it, grew up to become the incarnation of George Gipp and the president of the United States, combining fantasy with reality from those boyhood dreams.

"I am a sucker for hero worship to this day," Reagan confessed autobiography. He listed the favorite books of his boyhood in a letter four years ago to librarian O.D. Baillio in Mobile, Ala., who had polled 100 famous people on "five books that influenced you."

Then at a recent White House reception for Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser, the president listened to a recitation of the ballads of Yukon poet Robert W. Service another boyhood favorite and revealed that at age 8 he could deliver "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" by heart.

On this stormy Connecticut afternoon, with the wood unchopped, the golf course deserted and the column as yet unwritten, I have been trying to think which five books made the most impression on me at age 12 and wondering whether lynching parties should be sworn in to deal with the authors after weighing the evidence of the intervening years.

That night few dared leave the tent, even to go to the latrine, small animals stirre ing in the bushes became ogreish monsters and disembodied spirits, especially skulls at large, waiting to pounce. By the end of the Hereford Junior Varsity game last night, fans had gotten used to seeing Hereford cross the goal line. During the night of football ball carriers for the Whitefaces on the sophomore team and the junior varsity crossed the goal 10 times, as both teams won; the sophs over the Muleshoe Junior Varsity by a score of 27-14 and the Longhorns in a 41-0 rout of Tascosa.

The Junior Varsity Longhorns used every kind of offense imaginable in scoring their six tallies. Larry Jimenez, the tailback for the Herd, carried the ball across the first two times, a seven year carry on the host team's initial series and the second time on a 20 yard jaunt.

Kickers for the Longhorns got in plenty of practice with David Zuniga converting after the first three scores, and Roy Salinas tacking on the extra points to the fourth and fifth touchdowns.

The Longhorns' third score and last before the first half ended came through the airways as quarterback Jeff Streun hooked up with split end Tony Yosten on a 40 yard bomb to make the first half score read 21-0.

The third quarter brought out yet another scoring personality, this time under the name of Robert Martinez, a sophomore wingback, as he scooted 40 yards for the fourth TD.

Martinez wasn't through in the quarter though, as he took a medium range strike of 25 yards from Streun to scamper for the fifth tally of the game. After the extra point by Salinas, the score read 35-0 with the fourth quarter yet to come.

The scoring finally slowed in the final period as Hereford was able to put across only one more score, a one yard push by Edward

The Shorthorn defense played a strong game also, according to the coaches as Hereford led the entire game. The host team scored all of their points before allowing the visiting Mules the chance to cross the goal line.

Dogies, Mavericks Split With Clovis Teams

not prove to be the easiest teams to play yesterday as the La Plata Mavericks and the Stanton Dogies came away with one victory and a tie out of four games against the Gattis and Marshall

Here in Hereford, the Maverick eighth graders proved they had the ability to move the ball, but mistakes and big plays by the Clovis defense kept them out of the end zone as Gattis took an 8-0

The visiting eighth graders scored the only tally of the game in the second period, with the defenses of both teams controlling the game from there on.

In the ninth grade game against Gattis, the freshman Mavericks turned the tables on the Gattis team and used the big play to score a hard fought 7-0 victory.

The score game after the Maverick defense pinned the Gattis team deep in their own territory and then used a blocked punt to get the ball on the one yard line. The next play brought six points as quarterback Mike Scott sneaked over to give the host team a 6-0 lead. Chris Cortez ended the scoring with a perfect point after.

The score came after three scoreless quarters with neither team able to gain an upper hand. Coach Joe Spann noted that the pursuit by the May defense prove to be the factor in containing the explosive Gattis offense.

In the other two games. Stanton played the visiting team as they played the always tough Clovis Marshall team in New Mexico. The eighth grade suffered from untimely mistakes as they fell 40-22.

The bright spot for the Dogies was the play of Alan Dudding as he scored all three of the touchdowns for the visiting team. His runs, 18, 22 and 25 yards kept the Marshall defense busy, but not enough to turn the tide.

The Dogie Freshmen had the curse of the mistake hurt their chances of victory also as they took an 8-8 tie to the dressing room. Coach Kitchens noted that Stanton controlled the game for the most part on both sides of the ball. but the mistakes bug kept them from victory.

"We should have won the game," Kitchens said. "We were able to drive on them penalty or a fumble always seemed to keep us out of the

The Marshall score came after Stanton had a penalty stop their drive in the first quarter. The Dogies then tied it up with the 25 yard run by Kevin Redus and then a two point conversion pass from Sammy Suarez to Mark Salas.

"Our defense played very well," Kitchen said. "They kept the Marshall offense from using their talents of speed and the long run."

Coghlan's soul perked up at the suggestion. "Sure," he said. "As long as we finish in front of the Irish Tourist Board."

Well, Coghlan, Steve Scott, Mike Boit, Sydney Maree, John Walker and the rest of the racers will finish just a few blocks north of the Tourist Board office, but that is a minor detail. The point is into a milers' showcase and the runners are excited by the prospect. "This will be the greatest mile race the world has ever seen," Coghlan said. "Fans lined up on both sides of Fifth Avenue for 20 blocks. I can feel the adrenaline."

The unique part of the Fifth Avenue Mile is that it is a point-to-point race. Most miles are run around a track - 11 laps indoors, four laps outdoors. This is a straightaway consisting simply of 20 city blocks. How fast will this race go? "I predict 3:50," Coghlan said. "That would be the fastest in the United States. I wouldn't be surprised if it went as low as 3:45. Remember, this is a brand new event." Lebow hopes the Fifth Avenue Mile is the start of something big in road racing. "I would like to see races like this someday on Market Street in San Francisco, the Miracle Mile in Chicago, the Mall in London, the Champs Elysee in Paris," he said.

Fifth Ave Mile Brings New Concept For Runners

By HAL BOCK AP Sports

The idea is slightly outrageous. And that, of course, is why Fred Lebow likes it so much.

Here is Fifth Avenue, site of every kind of parade you can imagine, from Columbus

Day to St. Patrick's Day, from Easter Sunday to Labor Monday, closed from 82nd Street to 62nd Street. There will be no buses, no taxis, no horse-drawn caleches strolling lazily alongside Central Park. There will only be runners.

The best milers in the world take over one of the world's most famous streets Saturday for the Fifth Avenue Mile, a dream race born out of a casual conversation.

It all began last winter. Ireland's Eammon Coghlan, who holds the record for the fastest indoor mile (3:50.6), had just won the prestigious Wanamaker Mile at the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden. He was on his way to a post-meet reception, walking with Lebow, president of the New York Road Runners Club.

The Saints' George Rogers has rolled up 298 yards, third among league groundgainers behind Dorsett and Philadelphia's Wilbert Montgomery (346 yards). But a hamstring injury to No.1 quarterback Archie Manning and ineffective relief from Bobby Scott (who was pulled last week and replaced by rookie David Wilson), has hindered them this year.

Although the 49ers were burned 34-17 by Atlanta last Sunday, Montana had an excellent day, completing 24 of 34 passes for 274 yards and two touchdowns. He ranks first among NFC passers. His 66 percent completion rate is the best in the league and his 756 yards is second in the conference only to Washington's Joe Theismann (987).

Dan Fouts, who shattered his own passing record last year when he rolled up 4,715 yards, is well on the way to surpassing that. He's already got 930 this year, is tied for the touchdown lead with seven and leads the league in passing. What's more, the Chargers also have the American Conference's rushing leader, Chuck Muncie with 290 yards.

That's fine with Coghlan. Just arrange to finish them all at the Irish Tourist Board.

Kansas City Royals Battling For Playoff Spot in West

AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals, who should know what a pennant race feels like since they captured the American League West four times in the ast five years, say the ingredients are missing this year.

"It doesn't seem like a pennant race," said Willie Wilson after he knocked in two runs with a single and a triple in Thursday night's 9-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins. "It seems like it should be August or the late part of July. We just have to force ourselves to go out and play hard because every game counts."

"This a very unusual year. We can finish second and still get in the payoffs. It's kind of weird." said Dennis Leonard, who notched his fourth triumph in his last five starts.

"The top two teams, Oakland and us, are not even fighting it out. It's us against Minnesota and Texas.'

Leonard was referring to the fact that the Royals can get into the division playoffs by finishing first in the second-half race or by finishing second behind Oakland, the first-half win-

"We've been getting the hits but just not at the right time," said U.L. Washington, who had one of five consecutive Kansas City singles during a four-run second inning. "It's to win with just two runs a game.

"I'm just like the players. I like big innings too," said Royals Manager Dick Howser. "But they just don't ple, Frank White's runscoring double and Otisave Engle hit a leadoff home run in the eighth for Minnesota. Indians 5, Red Sox 2 Cleveland kept Boston from moving into a first-place tie with Detroit in the East as Mike Hargrove and Toby Harrah keyed a three-run seventh inning.

With the Red Sox ahead 2-1, Hargrove tied the score with a single and Harrah doubled home the second run of the inning. Hargrove, Harrah and Ron Hassey all had three hits for the Indians.

Dan Spillner blanked Boston the final 323 innings for his third victory in seven decisions.

Oklahoma, Southern Cal Highlight College Football Weekend Matchups

It has all the makings of a game for the national championship. It's No.2 Oklahoma, with the nation's leading rushing offense, against Southern California, the country's top-ranked team. It's just too bad that it's the fourth week of the season instead of a bowl game.

"I don't think in the 16 years I've been in Oklahoma...that anybody has presented the challenge these people do," said Sooners Coach Barry Switzer about Saturday's matchup in Los Angeles. "They are awesome

Hall of Fame Golf Classic Has Unknown Leading After 1st Round

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) -The performance, while better than normal, was not all that unusual for Morris Hatalsky. "Somehow," observed the career struggler, "you get accustomed to missing greens, needing to get it up and in." And Hatalsky, who has yet to win in six years on the pro golf tour, was at his scrambling best when he one-putted 12 times and chipped in once on the way to a 6-under-par 65 and a 1-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $250,000 Hall of Fame Classic.

"Maybe it will continue all week," said Hatalsky, who sed only 21 strokes on the bumpy, sandy greens at the No.2 course at Pinehurst Country Club, "but if I'm to do well this week, I'd think I'd need to hit more fairways and greens."

He managed to hit only six fairways and half the greens, but saved it all with his scrambling through the pines and sand dunes, capping it off with a birdie-birdie finish one of those on a 90-foot chip-

That fast close left him a stroke in front of Jerry Pate, who fought back with eight birdies after making a double bogey off a bad drive on the first hole. He had a 66.

closing his American season and seeking his first title of the year, was one more back after a very solid, no-bogey 67 in the cool, sunny weather. "I played a pretty good round of golf," said Nicklaus, who hasn't won since extending his record to 17 major professional titles with a victory in the 1980 PGA. "I missed only two greens, hit the ball well, made a couple of putts."

He was tied with Bill Kratzert, Bob Gilder and Gary Trivisonno, also 4 under Tied at 68 were Allen Miller, Jim Booros, Scott Watkins and Tim Simpson.

Ray Floyd, winner of three U.S. tour titles and hoping to pick up some ground on absent rivals in the race for Player of the Year, could do no btter than a 70 that left him 5 shots back.

Lee Trevino, inducted into the Hall of Fame in ceremonies earlier in the week, had to rally to match par 71.

Hatalsky, 111th on the season's money-winning list, saved one par by from 75 yards short of the green, got a share of the top spot with the chip-in on the 17th hole and cut a 6-iron shot to within 2 feet of the flag for the goahead birdie on the 18th.

Avoiding asthma attacks

DEAR DR. LAMB Would you please send me some information on bronchial asthma? My husband, 49, who has never been ill, suddenly developed bronchial asthma. He has attacks that will last for a week or two He goes to sleep then in two. He goes to sleep, then in an hour's time he comes up gasping for air.

He has a good health record. His heart and blood pressure are all right. What causes these attacks? Will he get over having them? Can they be prevented?

DEAR READER — Most cases of asthma begin in childhood and are caused by an allergy, usually some-thing external to the body. These attacks are often called extrinsic asthma. A few cases are in response to something within the body. such as a respiratory infec-tion, and these are called intrinsic asthma. It is important that your husband see a physician. He should be tested for possible allergies. For example, he may be allergic to some-thing in the bedroom that precipitates these attacks. I note you live in Hawaii which reminds me that some geographic areas have substances that seem to cause asthma. The air pollution in the Tokyo-Yokohama area is well known to cause asthma in some people and the asth-ma disappears when the person leaves the area: Desensitization and antihistaminics do not work as well for asthma as they often do for some other allergies, as explained in The Health Letter number 8-6, Asthma, which I am send-Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspa-per, P.O. Box 1551, Radio 10019. But there are lots of different medicines avail-like the incision on the able now to help in the management of asthma.

Some new medicines, such as cromolyn sodium, can be used to help prevent attacks in some people. It has been particularly beneficial in enabling asthmatics to exercise without having attacks. Incidentally, cold air inhaled during exercise appears to be a major factor in causing such attacks. If your husband is merely having attacks related to an allergic substance he can avoid, he may be able to eliminate them entirely Otherwise, most mild asthmatics can learn to manage the attacks or prevent them. Severe attacks require complicated medical management, usually in the hospital.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Four years ago I had a C-section done on me because of hemorrhaging. The doctor said I had a premature separation of the placenta. My Csection is a bikini one, across instead of up and down. The incision inside is also across

Now I'm going to have my second baby. The doctors want me to have this baby by normal delivery. I've heard that sometimes the C-section stitches burst when having another baby by a normal delivery. Is this true? How will I know if they burst? Will I bleed and have pain? How will the dochave pain? How will the doc-tors know? Please tell me what I might expect.

DEAR READER - Don't borrow trouble. Many wom-en with a good normal scar, particularly the transverse, type you have, are able to have a normal delivery with later pregnancies. Of course, women who have too small a pelvis will always have an indication for a Cesarean delivery. A good scar will not rupture with normal delivery. Your doctors can tell what is going on by how strong your labor pains may need to be to accomplish the delivery and they can help if you should need it. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Freezing egg yolks DEAR POLLY - Can egg yolks be frozen? How long can they be kept in the refrigerator after being separated from the whites? I love to make meringues and angel food cakes, but I always end up throwing a number of leftover egg yolks away. — C.G.

DEAR C.G. — The best way to keep "naked" egg yolks in the refrigerator is to place them unbroken in a sealed container, covering them with water. They should stay fresh for three or four days this way.

To freeze yolks, scramble them and add salt to those you're planning to use for savory dishes and sugar to those.

you'll be using in desserts. The salt or sugar keeps the yolks from becoming watery and separated. A teaspoon of salt or a tablespoon of sugar is about right for each cup of egg

On the other hand, you could solve the whole problem by using those egg yolks immediately. A wonderful custard sauce would be marvelous poured over both those meringues and that angel food cake — especially if you flavor it with my favorite, almond extract! Yummm! — POLLY DEAR POLLY — To peel tomatoes easily, run the back side of a knife firmly over the whole tomato. This will wrinkle the skin. Then cut out the core of the tomato with the you've cut into the tomato. The peel will strip right off smoothly. - ROSALIE DEAR POLLY - After cleaning my bathroom sink, I polish the chrome fixtures with a piece of waxed paper. Gives a point of a knife and catch the edge of the peeling where nice bright shine! — K.L.

DEAR POLLY — To keep spices fresh and potent, I store them in airtight containers in the refrigerator. Aroma, flavor and even color all stay stronger. — TRACY

DEAR POLLY — To keep ice cube trays from sticking to the freezer shelf, place the trays on top of a sheet of foil or waxed paper. A sheet of foil between stacked ice cube trays will also keep them from sticking to each other. — FRAN

FAITH WILL PROVIDE YOU WITH STRENGTH

some time, we have been regaled with dire predictions of recession, depression and other ominous terms that depict a general worsening of our economic situation; all of which must cause many of us to wonder if our own source of life's basic needs might soon be in jeopardy. The fancy words would indeed appear to forecast a grim future when translated into terms of next week's groceries or next month's rent. Throughout history, in time of trouble man has always turned to religion as a last resort, even when it should have been his first. There is no better time than now to go to your Church and pray to God for His ever-present help and guidance

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."
