HOSPITALS IN OTHER PANHANDLE COUNTIES

Standifer Sanitarium at Vernon, Texas

This is a small but beautiful little plant of ten beds. It is built of stucco, of a very attractive design, and would cost $20,000. There are two similar ones at Vernon.

Carpenters Are Already Busy on Coop Platforms For the Hereford Poultry Show, January 3-4-5, 1924

OFFICERS ARE WORKING OUT THE DETAILS AND ARRANGING RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THIRD ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Officers and members of the Hereford Poultry Association have been working steadily this week talking Show and preparing details for the exhibition, to be held at the Stock Pavilion January 3-4-5.

Last year the Show was held in the rear of the Pavilion, but this year the coops will be placed in the spaces below the seats of the auditorium in the front of the building.

Indications are that the Show this year will be bigger and better than ever and the officers are much "hepped up" over the prospects.

Rules and Regulations

- 1. This Show is for members of the Hereford Poultry Association, only. The membership fee is $1.00 per annum, payable in advance. Anyone not now a member who pays $1.00 at any time up to the date of the Show will receive a membership card for 1924 and will automatically be entitled to enter any number of birds in the Show without entry fees.

Very truly, CARL GILLILAND.

Table with poultry prizes: Grand champion Tom $5.00, Grand Champion Hen $5.00, Grand Champion Pen $5.00, Best Pen, each variety $2.00, Second Best Pen $1.00, Third Best Pen $1.00.

Table with ducks and geese prizes: For best display of each variety $2.00, Second best display $1.00, Third best display $1.00.

Grain Rates Are Lowered on Certain Shipments

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce advises the Hereford Chamber of Commerce as follows: "We are pleased to call your attention to the fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission has issued orders putting into effect December 9, 1923, the new rate scale on grain shipments between points in West Texas and the Southwestern states."

The reductions in this tariff range from five cents to twenty three and a half cents per 100 pounds, which we hope will enable our dealers to get back into the Mississippi Valley and the Southeastern trade.

Weather Causes Postponement of Wrestling Match

The proposed wrestling match at the Stock Pavilion Friday night between Thor Jensen and Kala Paaba under the auspices of the Hereford Firemen has been postponed for the time on account of the snow storm.

Two Small Boys Are Frozen To Death Near Friona Monday in Blinding Snowstorm

Two small boys, one four years old and the other eleven, were frozen to death near Friona in the driving snow storm Monday night, while a third, aged six, narrowly escaped death, according to information obtained by The Brand from its Friona correspondent Tuesday afternoon just before going to press.

The three boys, sons of Mrs. Jessie Cantrell, who lives nine miles southeast of Friona, had been left at home Monday afternoon by their mother, who went over to visit neighbors.

The boys became frightened when the "stove began popping," and they feared the house would catch on fire. They started out to find their mother, became confused in the driving snow, and finally wound up in an old school house about a half mile from their home.

Finally found them in the old school house between nine and ten o'clock Monday night. The youngest and the oldest boy were frozen stiff while the six year old boy, the only one who had a coat apparently, was still alive, though in a bad way.

Porto Rico Now In Touch With Us Thru Radio

The recent post cards prepared by local Radio devotees for answering long distance connections have already brought a response from far-off Porto Rico. Leland Lee heard some of their concerts and sent them a post card telling them so. In response he received the following letter this week from the Radio Corporation of Porto Rico:

"We desire to thank you for your communication relative to WKAQ and will greatly appreciate reports or suggestions from you at any time."

"The Radio Corporation of Porto Rico is affiliated with the International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation, of New York, as is our companion station PWN, of the Cuban Telephone Company, Havana."

"Our station is erected in the center of the city of San Juan, Porto Rico, and has been heard in a radius of over 4000 miles."

"Its equipment consists of Western Electric 500 Watt installation of the highest type."

"At the present time we are broadcasting every Tuesday and Friday from 9 to 10:30 p. m. and Wednesdays from 8 to 9 p. m. Porto Rico time. (One hour earlier than Eastern Standard time); for experimental purposes."

"It is our hope that you will have the greatest success in receiving WKAQ and we thank you for your interest."

Storm Weather Cuts Out Band Practice Monday

Band practice Monday night was "snowed under" by the storm, and no attempt was made by the boys to turn out. It is hoped that regular practice can be resumed next Monday night.

SECOND BIG SNOW STORM FOR SEASON

HIGH WINDS DRIFT IT BADLY AND PILES IT UP HIGH

ABOUT 6 INCHES

On Level is Estimate of the Total to Date. Will Cause Damage

The second severe snow storm of the season struck here Sunday night and the ground was covered an inch or so Monday morning. All day Monday and Monday night the snow fell steadily, driven before a sharp northerly wind that whipped the snow into great drifts.

"The winter of 1923-24 is closely resembling that of 1918-19, and is the first snow of any consequence since that memorable season. At that time the snow was fourteen inches deep and laid on the ground over eight weeks."

"This year there has been nothing like such figures, but the two storms so far have been plenty and sufficient and will cause a lot of damage to both farmers and cattlemen."

"Three open winters had about led people to believe there never would be much more weather in this Panhandle but these two spells bring memory of the 'old days.'" Commenting on the snow storm over the Panhandle the Amarillo Daily News of Tuesday says:

"All over the Panhandle from Amarillo south to Texico and from Amarillo north to Spearman and Dalhart was covered by an average of about six inches of snow at 10 o'clock last night. It was still snowing then."

"The snow did not extend northeast of Amarillo any further than Miami and was negligible east of Memphis."

"The gauge here registered 5.5 inches at the last reading last night, which was at 7 p. m. The mercury then stood at 24 degrees, which was three degrees lower than 12 hours previously."

"The highest temperature yesterday was 28 degrees, which represented a climb of about one degree since 7 a. m. The wind died down, however, about 1:30 and signs of relief were seen. The snowstorm broke again a short time later, however, and the mercury dropped steadily."

"The Santa Fe reported 5 inches of snow at Texico up to 7:30 last night. Hereford had 4 inches, Panhandle 3, White Deer 4, Black 5 and a temperature—"

HOSPITAL FACTS

The hospital can be built without increasing taxes. The improvement tax of 26c on the $100.00 now being levied, if continued during 1924 and 1925 will take care of a hospital bond issue and also take care of the county debt.

Ferguson Tells Moralizing Tale About Chickens

Howard A. Ferguson, president of the Panhandle Poultry Association, who is a strong booster of the Tri-State Poultry Show to be held here Dec. 6 to 11, said yesterday:

"The chicken in the tree can truthfully say, 'Nobody cares for me.' It reminds me of an actual occurrence and conversation with a farmer several years ago.

"The farm poultry flock was composed of mongrels of every description, size, age and color. The hens were bred to dodge rocks, corn cobs and pieces of wood, and to develop speed with which to avoid these missiles, which made them feel that every thing was 'coming their way.' They laid a few eggs of various sizes, shapes and colors, mostly in stolen nests. They roosted in trees and similar places. They were scavengers on the place.

"When a certain farmer's attention was called to some of these facts by a good home remonstrance agent, he replied: 'It is a right smart trouble picking up the eggs and taking them to town twice a week.' In our observation, we find that such farm folk have a right smart trouble making both ends meet, nine years out of ten. We find such farm folks always complaining about hard times and hard luck: When the bottom drops out of the cotton market or the drought hits them, they pack up a few belongings and join the moving caravan, just to be going.

"On such farms the mongrel dog barks at you when you enter; the scrub hog, a bunch of hide and bones, may be seen swiftly moving around the farm, making speed instead of fat. The cross-bred cow, with long horns and thick hide, is a beautiful illustration of the survival of the fittest. The next thing to move about the place with the speed of a slow freight, is a horse, or it may be a mule, all ears, fears, gears. Last of all, if you stay long enough, toward evening you may hear an occasional flutter in one of the nearby trees, indicating the location of the 'right smart trouble-hen house' that requires no litter on the floor, no cleaning and the windows are always open to let in the fresh air and the roof never requires patching."

POULTRY ON THE FARM—MONEY

By M. E. Avery, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture, Dimmitt, Texas.

The purpose of this article is to call your attention to a few facts and to keep the poultry men from neglecting their flocks this winter.

First: Adequate housing should be constructed, giving plenty of sunshine and light, at the same time prevent the cold chilly winds from blowing upon the birds. All poultry houses should be located on a well drained piece of land.

Second: We should have as our aim to improve our flocks. That can be done by either buying a few pure breeds to be used as our foundation stock or purchasing some pure bred cockerels to run with our present flock of hens. The former is the quickest way to develop the desired flock, but the latter is the cheaper, and after four years of careful selection will give a very desirable egg laying strain.

The successful poultry raisers of today are egg producers and have eggs for sale when no one else can get them, but there is only money in eggs when poultry is properly raised. The egg crop is annually growing in value, it is at the same time annually growing in size; the days have passed when the hen ran around and scratched in the barn yard for food and laid an egg or two when and how she pleased. Today she has become a real machine out of which eggs can be produced very largely when the owner desires.

Is it sufficient to let the flock of hens range around the feed stacks? May we expect the flock to produce enough eggs to pay for their feed and our trouble or labor fed in that manner? I answer no, simply because such feeds as are stacked about the feed lot does not contain all of the necessary elements to produce the egg. Feeding the hen is important, but before we begin this operation lets see what to feed.

What does the egg contain? By a careful and scientific study of the egg, we find that it contains many component parts, chiefly they are: 1st Protein, 2nd Fat, 3rd Water, 4th Mineral Matter, including Phosphorus, Salt, Sulphur, Calcium Potassium and Iron.

A hen must have all of the above elements in her ration before she can successfully produce the maximum egg crop, for in the profitable feeding of poultry four things are absolutely essential.

First: They must receive the things in their rations which are needed for egg production.

Second: The food or ration should be palatable and easily digested and not use up her energy in trying to digest unprepared foods.

Third: Her food must be such as will keep her in a healthy and prolific condition.

Fourth: Protein is so important to all animal life that we largely estimate the value of any feed by the amount it contains; not withstanding the fact that other substances are essential. Protein is one element often found lacking and is hard to obtain.

If we expect profit from our poultry lets always provide green foods for them to graze on at will, some good mash should be kept before the flock and plenty of grain twice per day.

We offer the following as a good

JOE. Mrs. Ray Hershey has not been well the past week or so, we hope she will soon be well again.

Master Geo. Conklin has not been in his usual health. That can't be laid to eating too much Thanksgiving dinner, as he was sick the day before Thanksgiving.

Our neighborhood now has one more family in it, as "Red" Smith's family moved onto the Ashbrook farm. We are glad to have them with us.

Mr. Sam Wales has been in the neighborhood looking after the renting of his farm. He rented it another year to Mr. Felix Robinson.

Mrs. M. O. Meeks and Miss Hazel Green stayed all night Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Galley.

"The best laid plans of mice and men, oft gang aglee." We were reminded of these lines of the poet when the snow came Tuesday and snuffed all our plans for Thanksgiving. The program may be given later.

The snow was so heavy that it broke down the telephone posts in places and we have been out of telephone service ever since. However work has been commenced on it and it will be in better shape than before as new post are to be put in and it will be made much stronger.

The roads were too bad and the weather so threatening there was no Sunday school Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Conklin ate their Thanksgiving dinner with the Hershey family. Mrs. Conklin stayed until the first of the week with her mother.

If the old "saying" is true that the first three days of December rule the winter we are not promised much pleasant weather. Let us hope it falls as most all signs do in Texas, for we are a bunch of snobs,—of fellows that I thought would try to do the best they could, and not be playen poker or a lot of games that would demoralize their character if the people got the news, but if they wanted to be real sports, they'd learn to pitch Horse Shoes.

K., and not
