Challenger astronauts skip Florida, land in California

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Challenger's astronauts, diverted from a Florida landing by bad weather, swooped out of orbit and glided to Earth today on a California desert lakebed after a weeklong mission that saved a derelict satellite and opened an era of spacecraft servicing.

prefers landing there because of the time and money it saves preparing for future flights.

But after realizing that the Florida weather was only going to get worse, Mission Control waved the astronauts off.

The other crewmen are mission specialist Terry Hart and spacewalkers George Wilson and James van Hoften.

A batch of firsts and bests were logged during the mission: Highest shuttle orbit, 310 miles; longest manned space walk, seven hours seven minutes; first shuttle rendezvous, capture, repair and re-deployment of a satellite; first operational use of the rocket-powered backpack.

The astronauts headed home one day late because of problems snaring the disabled Solar Max satellite. But Challenger's empty cargo hold testified to the twin successes in delivering one satellite and repairing another.

After fixing and returning to orbit the Solar Max satellite, the space travelers appeared on television Thursday wearing T-shirts proclaiming: "Ace Satellite Repair Co." Said commander Crippen: "We pick up, repair and deliver."

Inviting Bad Luck

Friday the 13th—a time to beware for some people. The old sayings, "Don't walk under a ladder," "Don't open an umbrella indoors," "Don't crack a mirror—it means seven years of bad luck," "Don't let a black cat walk in your path" are taken seriously by some but Ruth Black thinks differently. She was born on a Friday the 13th and has decided that the day is a good sign of good luck, not bad. But to be on the safe side, what will throwing a little salt over the shoulder hurt? (Photo by Sandy Pankey)

Increased March food costs outweigh dip in energy prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices sputtered 0.5 percent in March, the second-biggest jump in 16 months, as increases in food costs outweighed a decline in energy prices, the government reported today.

The overall increase in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index for finished goods followed rises of 0.6 percent in January and 0.4 percent in February.

Prices so far this year are rising at an annual rate of 6.1 percent, a level well above the rates of 0.6 percent for all of 1983 and 3.7 percent for 1982.

Economists and government officials are now forecasting an inflation rate of about 4 percent for all of this year.

In March, today's report said, food prices rose 0.8 percent. That means food costs have surged at an annual rate of 17.8 percent in the first three months of this year, pushed upward at least partly by unusually bad weather in the South.

On the other hand, energy costs declined 1.2 percent in March, marking the seventh decrease in nine months.

Details of the report said:

—Auto prices rose 0.7 percent after jumping 1.4 percent in February.

—Capital equipment climbed 0.3 percent following a 0.5 percent rise the previous month.

—Clothing costs rose 0.5 percent after increasing 0.6 percent in February.

Within the overall food category, prices rose for fish, vegetables, poultry, beef and veal while declining for fresh fruits, pork, dairy products and eggs.

In the energy category, prices declined 2.3 percent for natural gas and 1.5 percent for gasoline. Heating oil costs rose 1.4 percent, but that was well down from February's 8.2 percent.

If March's overall price increase of 0.5 percent were to be repeated 12 straight months, the yearly advance would be 5.9 percent. That annual rate computed by Labor Department economists is based on more precise calculations of monthly prices than the figures made public.

In all, the Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 291.7 in March, meaning that goods costing $10 in the base year of 1967 would have cost $29.17.

Hart seeks to revive race in Texas with same issues

HOUSTON (AP) — Gary Hart is seeking to revive his faltering presidential campaign by stressing the same issues in the Southwest and West that hurt him against Walter F. Mondale in the industrialized states of the Northeast and Midwest.

Moving into the second half of the primary season, Hart challenged Mondale to come to Texas and other oil-producing states and make the same arguments there as he did in Michigan, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania, where the former vice president won big victories over the last three weeks.

Hart, for example, came under heavy attack from Mondale for proposing a standby energy tax on oil imports to encourage domestic production and reduce dependence on oil from volatile Middle Eastern nations.

The tax proposal is unpopular in energy-consuming states in the North but appealing to independent oil producers in Texas, Colorado, Louisiana and other energy-rich areas.

"I am waiting for my principal opponent to come to Texas and attack me as he did in the Northeast for putting forward an energy tax that would make this nation independent of Persian Gulf oil," Hart told a fund-raising rally Thursday night.

"I would like to see what he has to say about energy security in Texas and Louisiana."

On another touchy economic question, Hart said he also wants to hear what Mondale will say in the Southwest about pending legislation to limit foreign car imports by requiring their parts to be made in the United States.

Mondale stressed the so-called domestic content legislation among autoworkers in Michigan and among union members in New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Hart, who strongly opposed the legislation in the Senate, said, "I was not afraid to go to Detroit and say that domestic content legislation would be a travesty and tragedy for this nation and for this economy."

Hart's press secretary, Kathy Bushkin, said later that Hart would also hit hard on other issues like defense and the windfall profits tax, on which the Colorado senator and Mondale differ, and which might cut differently among voters in Texas than those in the Northeast.

As Hart continued campaigning through the West with stops in Arizona today, most of his top campaign aides planned a meeting today in Washington hoping to map a winning strategy for the remaining weeks of the primary campaign.

Tax many in favor of special interests

Senate approves hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved $48 billion in tax increases today, capping a week of congressional action to cut federal budget deficits by raising taxes on many people rather than reducing government payments to a few special interests.

Bleary-eyed senators voted 76-5 to endorse the tax measure at the end of a 19-hour session. The Senate then joined the House in adjourning for a recess until after Easter.

The legislation would raise revenues $48 billion over the next three years. The House passed a similar $49 billion measure on Wednesday.

Negotiators from both chambers will work out a compromise version of the measure later. But since the Senate measure is being folded into a larger omnibus deficit-reduction package, it is unclear how and when such a compromise will be reached.

Drafting a compromise is weeks away because the House and Senate also want to settle on significant reductions in federal spending that, with the tax increases, would cut record budget deficits by up to $150 billion to $200 billion over the next three years. During that same period, the deficits are expected to total between $50 billion and $70 billion.

Major provisions of the Senate bill that affect individuals include:

—An extension through 1987 of the 3 percent excise tax on local and long distance telephone service that otherwise would expire after 1985.

—Raising the liquor tax of $10.50 per proof gallon to $12.50. Beer and wine would not be affected.

—Ending in 1988 the practice by which a taxpayer could avoid taxation on up to $450 of interest earned each year.

—Dropping from four years to three years the period over which couples and individuals could "income average," or cut their taxes by averaging current earnings against those of the preceding years.

The other deficit-reduction move in Congress this week was House approval Thursday of a bill to cut federal spending by almost $4 billion over three years.

However, that measure was passed 261-152 only after the rejection of a provision that would have limited the fees paid to doctors treating Medicare hospital patients. The provision would have saved nearly another $1 billion.

"All we are asking today is that doctors accept their fair share of some of the burden," Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said during debate on the measure.

But the American Medical Association lobbied heavily against the provision.

The provision, reducing the overall value of the bill by about 20 percent, was rejected simply by voice vote.

It wasn't only the female models that were applauded during the spring style show held Tuesday evening at the Community Center. Eric Walterscheid received high praise for his "well-dressed western look" attired in half-calf boots, leather chaps over denim jeans accented with a button down shirt with satin scarf and straw hat. Completing the ensemble was the traditional full-length all-weather coat. The event was sponsored by the Miss Hereford Pageant steering committee and proceeds will be used to benefit the Miss Hereford Pageant scheduled Aug. 4. See picture spread, Page 3. Israeli troops free hijacked-bus hostages

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following story was submitted to the Israeli military censor, who ordered deletion of some material.

By DAVID NORDELL Associated Press Writer

DIR AL BALAH, Occupied Gaza Strip (AP) — Israeli troops today stormed a bus hijacked by four Arab terrorists and freed about two dozen passengers who had been threatened by a bomb during their 10-hour ordeal, Israeli military officials said.

A female passenger and all four hijackers were killed in a fierce pre-dawn assault on the bus that lasted only seconds, Israeli Army radio reported.

The military identified the slain woman as an Israeli soldier, and it said seven other passengers were wounded.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a Marxist wing of the Palestine

Liberation Organization, issued a statement in Damascus, Syria, claiming responsibility for the attack. It added: "The forthcoming days will see a number of spectacular operations in the occupied territories."

The red-and-white bus, carrying 35 passengers, was hijacked near the Mediterranean coast city of Ashdod. About nine of the passengers escaped before the bus was disabled 10 miles north of the Egyptian border by army sharpshooters who shot the tires out.

From there, authorities negotiated for hours with the terrorists, who demanded the release of 500 guerrillas held in Israeli jails and safe passage to Egypt for themselves, said Defense Minister Moshe Arens, who watched the rescue mission from the scene.

"They had a bomb they threatened to explode, but we managed to take control before they had a chance to detonate it," Arens told Israel radio.

The hijackers also were armed with bottles of acid, knives and a grenade, officials said. Passenger Esther Ziv said one threatened repeatedly to kill everyone aboard.

Police arrest two juveniles

Hereford police arrested two juvenile boys Thursday night, charging them with criminal mischief.

The boys confessed to bending a flagpole at the Campfire Lodge by swinging on it. A woman living across the street had recognized the boys when the alleged offense took place on April 8.

A 17-year-old girl reported missing on Wednesday night returned home, having spent the evening with an aunt who took her to Amarillo.

Police investigated a dispute between two local women for the second time in a week. Each was expected to file assault charges on the other today following a fight last night.

A complaint of possible criminal mischief and arson was investigated after a man found a burned towel in his bathroom, and a window was discovered broken out at a local business. Nothing appeared to be missing.

Police looked into a complaint of telephone harassment and issued 12 traffic citations on Thursday.

Hereford Volunteer Firemen fought two grass fires on Thursday, both just west of Hereford on Highway 60. The blazes were extinguished within minutes.

Hart speaks about energy

HOUSTON (AP) — Gary Hart kicked off his campaign in Texas by telling supporters the United States must return to an issue which dominated the 1970s by devising a policy to meet its energy needs.

Hart appeared Thursday at a fund-raiser and a dinner honoring a Harris County Democratic party official. He said Texas could "be a turnaround state in the nomination process."

Hart said the nation is risking catastrophe by ignoring its energy problems.

He charged Walter Mondale, his chief opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination, and the Reagan administration have failed to deal with the issue.

"Given the energy resources God has given this great nation ... it would be a tragedy to lose the life of one young American fighting for someone else's oil," Hart told a group of about 600 supporters at a fund-raiser.

Special session likely this summer

AUSTIN (AP) — House Speaker Gib Lewis says a special session of the Legislature to deal with education appears likely, but that Gov. Mark White must tell lawmakers what reforms are needed.

An aide to White said he is preparing to do so.

Lewis and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Thursday they expect the session to convene in late May or early June to consider a package of education reforms that will cost about $1.6 billion.

However, Lewis said it would be fruitless for White to call the session unless there is substantial agreement among lawmakers as to what action should be taken.

Freight trains crash and burn

WIGGINS, Colo. (AP) — Two Burlington Northern freight trains collided head-on this morning, causing an explosion and fire, the Colorado State Patrol reported.

Two train crew members were taken to the hospital and five others were missing, the patrol said.

The patrol said the trains collided about 4:30 a.m. near this northeastern Colorado town.

Crews were fighting the fire, the patrol said.

Baby weighs in at 17 pounds

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — "We just came here to have a baby, not set a record," said the surprised father of a 17-pound, 3-ounce newborn daughter who may be the largest infant ever born in Pennsylvania.

"We knew it was going to be big, but had no idea it was going to be this big," said 29-year-old Dorothy Himes, mother of 24-inch-long Jennifer. Both were in excellent condition today at Saint Vincent Health Center, where hospital spokeswoman Jane Anderson said Jennifer broke the hospital's record for birth weight.

Ms. Anderson said she suspected the baby would also prove to break the statewide record, but added that a three-day search of all Pennsylvania birth certificates would have to be completed to be sure.

Reagans to get tax refund

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Reagan will get a $50,526 income tax refund but still paid $128,639 to the Internal Revenue Service, according to their 1983 tax return released today by the White House.

The return, which they signed April 3, shows the Reagans had an income last year of $422,834, more than $300,000 less than 1982 when they sold their house in Pacific Palisades outside Los Angeles and realized a substantial capital gain.

It also shows that due to withholding from Reagan's government paychecks — he earns $200,000 a year — and estimated tax payments during the year, the Reagans overpaid their income tax by $70,526 and asked the government to refund all but $20,000 of that, which will be put toward next year's tax bill.

Mining appears over in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A top Nicaraguan military official says mining of the nation's harbors by U.S.-backed rebels appears to have ended, since no port traffic has been disrupted for two weeks.

In Panama, a spokesman for a Nicaraguan rebel group claimed his forces overran a major town in southern Nicaragua on Thursday, killing 150 of the leftist government's troops, as well as a Cuban commander who was carrying a Panamanian passport.

That clash was the latest in a series of guerrilla attacks that Nicaraguan Interior Minister Tomas Borge called "the biggest offensive since the triumph of the revolution" in 1979.

At a news conference Thursday, Borge said the Sandinista government was engaged in a "war against imperialism."

Egypt ends military trials

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt's military completed its second major set of maneuvers in two weeks with a mock tank-infantry assault supported by artillery and aircraft.

The five-day maneuvers in the desert between Cairo and the Red Sea Port of Suez ended Thursday a week after completion of another five-day exercise near the western border with Libya.

The maneuvers were conducted in the wake of new strains in relations with Libya. But Defense Minister Field Marshal Abdel-Halim Abu-Ghazala denied Egypt had strengthened its forces along the Libyan border or was sending a signal to Libya with the maneuvers.

Ousted minister making comeback

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Former Defense Minister Ariel Sharon gained momentum for a political comeback by receiving 42 percent of the votes as his party nominated incumbent Yitzhak Shamir to run for prime minister.

Sharon, ousted from the defense post 14 months ago because of the Beirut refugee camp massacres, was mobbed by jubilant supporters and was clearly pleased by the results of Thursday night's vote at the Herut Party convention.

However, he promised loyalty to Shamir and to a united front against the Labor Party "for the benefit and the security of the state of Israel."

Herut is the dominant party in the governing Likud bloc, and Shamir's nomination to run in Israel's July 23 national elections had been a foregone conclusion.

Looking For Changes

Congressional candidate Tom Schaefer carries a monkey wrench — which he claims represents problems existing in federal government. He visited Hereford on Wednesday.

Visiting GOP candidate calls for emergency farm plan

A Republican candidate for U.S. Congress from the 19th District is calling for an emergency preparedness plan to aid farmers and ranchers in the event of drought.

Tom Schaefer, 46, a professor of business management at the University of Texas at Permian Basin in Odessa, stopped in Hereford on Wednesday to explain his position.

"I will call on the congress to pass legislation making emergency preparedness—emergency relief—for drought-stricken ranchers and farmers, the law of the land," he said.

"Last summer," he continued, "when we all realized here in West Texas that no water was equalling no food for cattle, we asked for help, and help was offered. While state officials called on Washington to release grains stored in silos for our cattle to eat, the Washington bureaucracy, as usual, snagged down."

Schaefer explained that while it would be easy to blame the administration, that was not the real problem. "No one, either here on the state level or on the national level in Washington, knew exactly who was authorized to release the surplus grains."

The first-time political candidate said he believes that solution is quite simple: "Let's put together a drought relief program on standby, just like other emergency relief programs."

Schaefer said he is not going to wait until he's in Washington to call on congress to pass such legislation.

"I am contacting members of the Texas congressional delegation, to ask them to initiate a bipartisan action to introduce, and pass, emergency drought relief legislation during the current session," he said.

A native of New Jersey, Schaefer holds degrees in business and philosophy from Santa Clara University, the University of San Francisco, Loyola University and Georgetown University. He has held his present teaching position since 1979.

He speaks fluent Spanish and has twice worked out of the country, as a dean at the University of Puerto Rico and as chairman of the business department at the University of Alaska.

His business experience includes past interests in a gymnasium, hotel and motel chain, an export business and a restaurant and bar in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

He is now a partner in a consulting firm in Odessa and has served as chairman of the Small Business Institute there.

While in California, he worked for Ronald Reagan before Reagan became governor of the state, and was employed by Bill Maillard, then U.S. Congressman from San Francisco. Schaefer worked for Governor Romero Barcelo while living in Puerto Rico.

He and his wife Francis have eight children ranging in age from seven to 21. Francis is a housewife and part-time real estate agent.

Schaefer emphasizes that he is "not a Lubbock person." He said congressmen from Lubbock have tended to represent that city alone, and "I'm an alternative to the Lubbock politician."

difficult Congress is finding it to take election-year action to reduce government payments to well organized groups.

Another example came earlier in the week when President Reagan signed into law a measure he hailed as the "first installment of the deficit down payment" he and members of Congress have called for.

The measure allows the government to freeze the so-called "target prices" it guarantees to farmers for their crops. Administration economists estimate the subsidy freeze may cut up to $3.2 billion from the anticipated deficits over the next four years.

But what made the legislation palatable to Congress in an election year was a provision providing for cash payments to wheat farmers who idle part of their land this year, and extends that offer to corn, cotton and rice farmers in 1985, if stocks of those commodities exceed certain trigger levels.

Meanwhile, the Senate spent Thursday searching for relatively easy ways to raise money.

Senators cast a series of votes to raise the liquor tax by $2 a gallon while rejecting a move to add another 20 cents to the cost of a gallon of wine. The action reflected the fact that more than two dozen states have a wine industry of some size while the liquor industry is concentrated in three states — Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana.

The wine increase, which would have been 4 cents on a typical bottle, "is unfair to the point of being unconscionable," charged Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., whose state is a big wine producer.

The tax bill passed by the House on Wednesday would raise the $10.50-a-gallon liquor tax by $3.75 a gallon. It would not raise the wine tax. Neither bill would touch the tax on beer.

In other tax action on Thursday, the Senate:

—Overrode the Finance Committee and voted to retain a tax credit of up to $300 for home insulation, storm windows and other home energy-conservation measures.

Veterans Land Board official here Monday

Veterans and other interested persons are invited to learn more about the Texas Veterans Land Program and the Veterans Housing Assistance Program here in the Deaf Smith Courthouse Monday afternoon.

Lorenzo M. Sedeno, Veterans Land Board outreach representative, will be in the County Courtroom from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Monday to answer questions on the programs and distribute literature.

He said all veterans and interested persons—such as Realtors and land sellers—are invited to visit with him. Sedeno reported there are 2,160 veterans listed for Deaf Smith County.

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who administers both programs, says he intends "for these to be the finest veterans' programs in the country." He added that "we don't need to do our veterans a favor, just repay one."

The Veterans Land Program

offers long-term, low-interest loans to eligible veterans to purchase a minimum of 10 acres of land. Veterans can receive an application form at the presentation by submitting a nonrefundable $25 fee.

The newly-created housing program offers low-interest loans up to $20,000 to apply toward the purchase of a home. The program is available to veterans who wish to purchase an existing home or to build a new home.

Congress speaks out against CIA-backed covert action

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is firmly on record against CIA-backed mining of Nicaraguan harbors, a group of House Democrats is demanding an investigation of U.S. policy in Central America, and President Reagan must wait for a decision on emergency military aid to El Salvador.

This was the situation today as the House started an 11-day recess and the Senate also prepared to take time off for Easter after a week in which Reagan's program to stem communism in Central America suffered unprecedented reverses.

The Democrat-led House passed, 281-111 Thursday night, a non-binding resolution calling for an end to the spending of U.S. funds to help rebels against Nicaragua's leftist government lay mines in the seaports of the Central American country.

The Republican-dominated Senate approved a resolution to the same effect by a vote of 84-12 Tuesday. Administration officials say privately that the mining had already been stopped and will probably not be resumed.

Meanwhile, Rep. Peter

Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and 12 committee Democrats wrote Attorney General William French Smith asking for appointment of a special prosecutor to see whether the administration is violating the Neutrality Act by helping Nicaraguan guerrillas.

Their letter suggested the prosecutor should "investigate and, if necessary, prosecute" the president and other officials including Secretary of State George P. Shultz and CIA Director William Casey. A spokesman for Smith, who has 30 days to respond to the letter, said the attorney general would have no immediate comment.

The letter said the CIA, at Reagan's request, had outlined "a plan to covertly aid, fund and participate in a military expedition and enterprise utilizing Nicaraguan exiles for the purpose of attacking and overthrowing the government of Nicaragua."

The Neutrality Act, passed in 1794, forbids U.S. citizens from supporting or taking part in a military action against a foreign country with whom the United States is not at war.

The administration says its program of undercover aid to Nicaraguan rebels is aimed at stopping Nicaragua from funneling Soviet and Cuban arms to leftist guerrillas in El Salvador, not overthrowing Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

It was the first time House Judiciary Committee has made a request under the special prosecutor law since it was enacted in the wake of the Watergate scandals, in which the committee recommended the impeachment of President Nixon.

Supporters of the measure charged that Reagan administration policies were drawing the United States nearer to war, but opponents said strong steps must be taken to stem the spread of communism in the Western Hemisphere.

Shortly before the House adjourned, Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, announced that Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., and Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., the chairmen of the two appropriations committees, had agreed there would not be time to settle the issue of emergency aid to El Salvador before the recess.

something that's here to stay," he added.

The delivery part of the mission came last Saturday, when Hart guided the shuttle's 50-foot arm to a bus-size satellite in the cargo bay and put it overboard for recovery in 10 months by another crew. The 11-ton cylinder holds 57 experiments that will be exposed to micrometeorites, cosmic rays and atomic oxygen in studies vital to building space stations.

The initial attempt at retrieval was the flight's big disappointment. Nelson, flying free with a jet-pack, was unable to attach a docking device to Solar Max to steady it for pickup by the arm. Nelson's efforts started the satellite gyrating wildly, but engineers on Earth were able to stabilize it with radio commands.

The astronauts lost a day while the satellite was being stabilized and experts worked out an alternate retrieval plan in ground simulators.

Members of the First Christian Church sanctuary choir will reenact the Last Supper, crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ during their presentation of the Easter musical "Hosanna!" at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in the church sanctuary. The public is invited to attend.

Local Church News

FIRST CHRISTIAN
The sanctuary choir will present John Lee's Easter musical celebration "Hosanna!" at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday morning in the sanctuary of First Christian Church. The performance will be highlighted with costumes, lighting and dramatic effects.

Narrator will be Marc Hardt, and soloists include Kippi West, Steve Gilbert, Ed Wandling, David Burns and Glenda Keenan.

Everyone is welcome to attend. A freewill offering will be taken, and a nursery will be provided.

The choir will present the same musical for a sunrise service at the amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon at 7 a.m. on Easter Sunday.

A candlelight communion service is planned at 7 p.m. on Maundy Thursday, April 19.

Dr. Gilbert Davis, former pastor of the local congregation, will preach on Sunday, April 29, for Senior Saints Sunday. There will be a fellowship meal honoring "Senior Saints" immediately following the morning worship service.

SUMMERFIELD BAPTIST
"Power of the Resurrection," a film which deals with the trial, death and resurrection of Jesus as seen through the eyes of Peter, is to be shown at 6 p.m. Sunday at Summerfield Baptist Church. Everyone is invited.

On April 22 Summerfield Baptist will host an Easter sunrise service at 6:15 a.m. Three other area churches will be participating, including Westway Baptist, Dawn Baptist and Frio Baptist.

Immediately following the service a fellowship is planned.

ed with coffee and doughnuts. A nursery will be provided, and if the weather prevents holding the service outdoors, it will be held inside the church.

"We look forward to a very meaningful time celebrating the resurrection of Jesus. Everyone is invited to attend," said the Rev. Dusty Stout, pastor.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST
Holy Week services in First United Methodist Church will bring three former pastors back to conduct a series of evening meetings beginning Monday. Dr. Weldon Butler, present pastor, will preach at morning worship on Palm Sunday.

The Rev. Herschel Thurston will give the sermon Monday evening, Dr. Jordan Grooms Tuesday, and Dr. Clifford Trotter Wednesday. Each service will begin at 7:30 p.m. with music of the season presented by the sanctuary choir under direction of Oveta White.

Grooms, now of Amarillo, and Thurston of Hereford have retired as ministers since they were pastors of the church here. Trotter is the present pastor of Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo.

After each evening service there will be a fellowship hour in the church fellowship hall, to give the congregation and other friends of the speakers an opportunity to see and visit with them. Brother T's Sunday School class, which Thurston organized and taught for some time, will be host for the Monday social.

The Seekers Class will act as the Tuesday host group, and the Fellowship Class Wednesday.

After the series of services with visiting speakers, Maundy Thursday will be observed with the traditional rites of Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. Special Easter services will be a climax to the week.

NAZARENE
At 6 p.m. Sunday First Church of the Nazarene will host Miss Maudie, also known as Kathryn Maftin of Nashville, Tenn., along with her co-worker, Jackie Shockley.

Miss Maudie's presentation has been compared to that of Minnie Pearl of the Grand "Ole Opry. She utilizes an entertaining format to present the gospel message. The speaker holds a master's degree in psychology and has taught at several universities.

The public is invited to this unusual program which is free of charge.

During the morning worship service on Sunday the Kingdom Kids, a choir made up of children 4 years old through the second grade, will present a special number, "I am a Promise." The service begins at 10:40 a.m.

FIRST BAPTIST
The First Baptist Kindergarten will be having open house at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The children will present a program of songs in the sanctuary and information about the school will be presented. A tour of the children's rooms is to follow and refreshments will be served.

Parents interested in enrolling children for the 1984-85 school year are urged to attend. Children 4 or 5 years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1984, are eligible.

The first workers' meeting for Vacation Bible School is set for 7 p.m. Monday. Age group leaders are still needed for three children's departments, according to Kaye Matthews, director. Vacation Bible School is scheduled June 18-22.

The third in a four-part film series for young people will be shown, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the church. The film is entitled "Dating: Turning Your Love Over to Jesus." The film series features well-known minister, sociologist, T.V. personality and author Anthony Campolo.

Pegasus program explained to club

Tricia Sims served as hostess and Nancy Priest as co-hostess for La Madre Mia Study Club's regular meeting on Thursday. Members answered roll call by responding to the question, "If I knew then what I know now..."

Ms. Sims introduced Leslie Paschel and Mary Robinson, who spoke to the club about the Pegasus program of the Hereford Independent School District.

The purpose of the program is to provide an opportunity for gifted students to have their unique needs and requirements met, working directly with other gifted students, stated the speakers.

Because a student has been identified as having outstanding intellectual ability, he will also be given the opportunity to work with scholarly, cultured and talented persons in many fields of endeavor through the program.

Ms. Paschel presented the curriculum as well as the goals and program design, and members were given an opportunity to ask questions at the end of the presentation.

President Marlene Watson conducted the business session. Committee reports were given, and the nominating committee announced plans for an election party to be held April 26 at 7 p.m. at Hereford State Bank.

Jeri Bezner invited members to participate in the St. Anthony's Carnival, and Sharon Hodges announced the musical presentation, "Hosanna!" to be given by the First Christian Church choir Saturday and Sunday.

Ann Landers Authority syndrome

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I can't believe I am writing to you. In all the years I have been reading your column I have never seen this problem discussed.

Ever since I was in junior high I have fallen for the glee club instructor. In high school it was the same thing. I am now in my third church choir and it is happening again — for the third time.

I am no teeny-bopper. I am in my 30s and my happy with my life. The men, it seems, are always married. (I am single.) I am scared to death they will see it in my eyes and avoid me out of embarrassment or, worse yet, start coming on to me. (I was so nutty about the last choir director I would have taken him up on any kind of offer).

Why do I have these feelings? Do other choir members experience them also? Are there any studies on this kind of behavior? Please don't print my name, initials, city, state or country.—Messed-Up Mezzo

DEAR MEZZO: Women sometimes fall for their bosses, physicians, therapists, lawyers, clergymen, professors, tennis, swimming and ski instructors. They also fall for their choir directors.

It's the authority syndrome, Honey. The man in charge.

You have managed to keep it under control all these years, for which you are to be commended. If the present situation gets too hot to handle, get some counseling and break the cycle.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read the letter in your column from the person who received a photocopy of a thank-you card for a floral arrangement. (The occasion was a funeral.)

You said you had never heard of such a thing and thought it "inexcusably vulgar."

I have just opened an envelope and read something that has left me speechless. Please tell me if I am off my rocker or is this mighty strange?

Perhaps you sent a lovely card.

Or sat quietly in a chair. Perhaps you sent a funeral spray.

If so, we saw it there.

Perhaps you spoke the kindest words.

That any friend could say: Perhaps you were not there at all. Just thought of us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts.

We thank you so much, whatever the part.

—The family of N.H.

Any comment you care to make will be greatly appreciated.—Bemused In Bethesda

DEAR B IN B.: That acknowledgment was also "inexcusably vulgar."

It is obvious that "The family of N.H." made a mass mailing with no attempt to differentiate between those who had sent flowers and those who did no more than stay at home and think about the bereaved.

Such a blatant generalization is more of an insult than an expression of gratitude. It would have been better to have sent nothing.

Got those wedding bell blues over cost...guest list...what to wear...and other details? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send $2.00 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (37 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Music club members enjoy program of sacred music

Mrs. H.V. McCabe and Mrs. R.L. Curtsinger served as hostesses at the Monday afternoon meeting of Dawn Music Club. Twelve members were present at the Dawn Baptist Church.

President Ruby Wimberley presided at the business meeting, during which Mrs. Curtsinger accepted the nomination for recording secretary and Mrs. Bill Caraway, choral director. The women are to be installed in May.

Plans were discussed for a salad luncheon to be held May 8 in the home of Mrs. John Stribling. Mrs. Gerald Parker will serve as co-hostess.

Mrs. Wimberley asked members to give program suggestions to the yearbook committee, and then she, Mrs. Alfred Smith and Mrs. J.B. Caraway reported on the Texas Federation of Music Clubs convention held in Amarillo.

Mrs. McCabe read Psalm 100 to open the musical program and Mrs. Bill Caraway sang "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Orval Galley. Mrs. Galley and Mrs. Wimberley played a piano and organ duet, "Intermezzo from Cavalier Rustica Mascagni."

"Kumba-Ya," a Nigerian folk hymn, was vocalized by Mrs. J.B. Caraway accompanied by Mrs. Wimberley, and Mrs. Genevieve Miller and Mrs. Edgar Sowell read inspirational poems. Mrs. Wimberley played a hymn from "Finlandia" on the organ and then accompanied Mrs. Curtsinger as she read "The Last Stanza."

"The Doll's Funeral" was presented as a piano solo by Mrs. Stribling. "Behold the Man of Sorrow" and "He Lives" were organ solos by Mrs. Galley, followed by a piano and organ duet, "Lamb of God," by Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Wimberley.

Mrs. Stribling concluded the program with a piano solo, "Consolation," and the meeting adjourned with the group, singing the Hymn of the Month, "He Lives" by Alfred Ackley.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

QUESTION: Will smoking a low-tar/low-nicotine brand of cigarettes reduce the risk of lung cancer and other diseases?

ANSWERline: It may slightly. But this does not compare to the benefits of quitting smoking. When some smokers switch to cigarettes containing less tar and nicotine, they compensate by smoking more or inhaling deeper and longer, thus negating whatever risk reduction these cigarettes might offer.

QUESTION: What is a baseline mammogram?

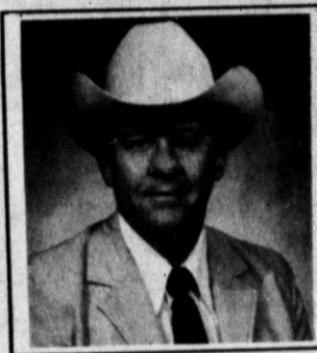

ANSWERline: A baseline mammogram is an initial X ray of the breast which can be used as a source of comparison for any future mammograms a woman might have. A baseline can enable a physician to evaluate properly any changes in breast tissue that may show up on subsequent mammograms, and which may indicate early breast cancer. The American Cancer Society advises women to have a baseline mammogram between the ages of 35 and 40. Starting at age 40, women should have mammograms performed at one to two year intervals. After age 50, women should receive yearly mammograms.

Hayden passes city en route to capital

By STAN Godek
Sports Editor
A 38-year-old Vietnam veteran passed through Hereford Thursday as he was running on U.S. Highway 60 toward Amarillo. Chris Hayden is trekking some 3,000 miles across the country. He began his run March 11 from Norton Air Force Base in San Bernardino, Calif. and is scheduled to finish July 4 at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. escorted the final few miles by a platoon of U.S. Marines. Hayden said he is hopeful that he may be able to meet with President Ronald Reagan to discuss some of the problems facing Vietnam Veterans. Bringing forth attention to the plight of certain veterans who served in Vietnam is the major purpose for the run. "I want to make people aware of vets and that they deserve a chance," Hayden said. "And I want vets to know that their dreams live on." Hayden said at a road-side interview just outside of Hereford that some of the major problems the government must deal with is unemployment amongst veterans of foreign wars, bad memories of Vietnam and 2,400 American soldiers classified as Missing In Action.

"Vietnam ended in 1973 and we still have over 2,400 MIAs. We as Americans owe those men and their families a solution. I encourage everyone to write their elected officials and lobby for legislation...It's been more than 10 years this should have been solved when the war ended." Another reason the former helicopter door gunner chose to run was 1984 is an election year and politicians cannot ignore the issues, Hayden said. "I had bad memories of Vietnam - memories that almost ruined my life. I want to help others who can't get rid of their memories realize that the war belongs in the past."

Texans score well in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw played better than anyone else in the first round of the Masters — yet the easy-going Texan felt his score was not as good as it should have been.

"I could have easily shot two to three shots better," he said after a 5-under-par 67 Thursday gave him a one-shot lead over Lee Trevino in the 48th edition of this storied golf tournament.

"I missed some makeable putts," he said. "The putts were good angles to make putts, too, and that's what leaves me a little perplexed." It's also a little unusual for Crenshaw, generally considered to be one of the better putters on tour.

"My putter hasn't been that sharp this year," he said. His previous best opening round in the Masters was a 70 in 1976 when he went on to the first of his two second-place finishes. He also was second last year.

Trevino's 68 was his best score ever on the 6,905-yard, par 72 Augusta National Golf Club course, a layout he has insisted really doesn't suit his game.

It left him in a jovial mood. "I'm putting extremely well," he said. "Today I made 'em all, and if it keeps going, I wear a 42 short, but I'll take a 46 long."

was shot down three times. He has been awarded a number of honors including a Purple Heart for his service with the Marine Corp.

After the war Hayden said he had to overcome alcohol and drug addiction before he got his life straightened out. He has been averaging nearly 30 miles a day and is about two days ahead of schedule. He itinerary lists Monday as the time he was to arrive in Hereford.

"I've just been running faster than I've expected," Hayden said. His wife, Jill drives a van and parks a few miles up the road and he catches up. Sometimes he said he stops for a break and sometimes he tells her to drive farther.

The run is being endorsed by the VFW and sponsored by Adolph Coors Co. Hayden said he runs in a "slow, easy, Marine Corps pace" he learned when he enlisted at age 17. After he passes his midpoint of Oklahoma City, he said he expects to gain more publicity.

The television show "Real People" has said they would catch up to me...I will spend about three days in Nashville doing media interviews and be on the Grand Ole Opry...as well as a hopeful meeting with President Reagan when I arrive in Washington," according to Hayden.

Just Passing Through

Ex-Marine helicopter door gunner Chris Hayden made his way from Friona through Hereford Thursday. Hayden is in route of a 3,000-mile run from Southern California to the nation's capital to make legislators aware of problems confronting veterans, particularly those from the Vietnam Era. (Photo by Stan Godek)

Stevenson says Olympics easier

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teofilo Stevenson doesn't think there will be as much quality in his competition at the 1984 Olympics as there was in previous three gold-medal winning performances in the Games.

The 33-year-old Cuban made that observation at a brief news conference Thursday, the day before he will fight on a card packed with most of the world amateur champions, including the two super heavyweights ranked ahead of him by the International Amateur Boxing Association (AIBA).

While Stevenson, the No. 3 ranked super heavyweight (more than 201 pounds) faces Biagi Chianesi in meaningless three-rounder, except for pride, Tyrell Biggs of Philadelphia, ranked No. 2, will defend the super heavyweight championship against Francesco Damiani of Italy, ranked No. 1.

Stevenson has beaten Biggs twice in dual meets, knocked him out in the second round Nov. 2, 1982, and outpointed him 3-2 last Feb. 18. But in the 10-day World Championships tournament in 1982 at Munich, West Germany, Stevenson lost 5-0 to Damiani in the quarter-finals. In the final, Biggs scored a 4-1 decision over Damiani, who is the 1983 World Cup champion.

Biggs apparently will be one of 11 of the 12 world amateur champions to defend a title tonight in the World Championships' Challenge at the Sports Arena, which will be the site of the Summer Olympics boxing competition.

The champion who is not expected to fight was Willie deWit of Canada. His opponent Angelo Musone of Italy withdrew.

The World Championships Challenge was begun last year by the AIBA.

Tigers down Texas for seventh straight

By BEN WALKER AP Sports Writer

No-hitter or not, the Detroit Tigers are on a roll.

Alan Trammell, Chet Lemon and Lou Whitaker belted home runs, Jack Morris again pitched well and the end result was a 9-4 triumph Thursday over the Texas Rangers.

The Tigers, now 7-0, are the only undefeated team in the major leagues and are off to the best start in their 84-year history.

"The record speaks for itself, we're hot," Morris said. "We want eight now. We're playing again Friday. We want to win that one, too."

In the only other AL game, California got past Oakland 3-2 and Minnesota downed New York 3-0.

Morris, making his first start since no-hitting Chicago on Saturday, breezed to his third victory of the season. The right-hander went seven innings, yielding no earned runs and seven hits, including a single by Mickey Rivers to lead off the game.

"I was pretty sure he wasn't going to another no-hitter," Rivers said.

Said Morris: "I didn't have the greatest stuff today. But, I'm a crafty son of a gun with six runs out there."

Detroit went to work in the first inning as Trammell walked and went to third on a single by Barbaro Garbey. Larry Herndon and Rod Allen then delivered run-scoring singles to send the Tigers on their way against Frank Tanana, 0-1.

In the fourth, Trammell singled and later scored on Lance Parrish's single. Trammell smacked a solo homer in the sixth and later that inning, Lemon unloaded a three-run shot to make it 7-1.

Trammell's performance, which included three runs scored and a stolen base, raised his batting average to .423. He has already scored nine runs and stolen five bases.

"It's too early," the short-stop said, downplaying his early effort. "I'm not a cold weather player."

Whitaker cracked a solo homer in the seventh, while Bobby Jones drilled a two-run homer for the visiting Rangers.

"Every time we get an inning going, we just can't seem to bunch 'em up," lamented Texas Manager Doug Rader. "When you're playing a good ball club, they don't fall. That's part of life."

Angels 3, A's 2

Gary Pettis, who began the day with an .067 average, led off the game with a bloop double and later scored on Fred Lynn's sacrifice fly, putting California ahead for good.

The visiting Angels added two runs in the third off Oakland starter Mike Warren, 0-2. A double-play grounder by Lynn produced the first run and a single by Doug D'Inches, who has hit in all eight California games this year, drove in Pettis, who had walked.

Geoff Zahn, making his first start of the season after spending two weeks on the disabled list with a pulled thigh muscle, went 6 2-3 innings for the victory. Luis Sanchez got the save when he relieved in the ninth with runners on first and second and Mike Heath lined into a double play.

Dave Kingman hit a two-run homer in the seventh for Oakland's runs.

Twins 3, Yankees 0

Six-foot-8 Mike Smithson, the tallest player in the majors, won his second start for Minnesota with some late relief help from Ron Davis.

Smithson took a five-hitter into the ninth, but departed with one out after an error and a single put runners at first and third. Davis earned his second save by inducing Butch Wynegar to bounce into a game-ending double play in New York.

The Twins struck quickly for the game's only runs. After Ray Fontenot, 0-2, retired the first five batters, Dave Engle singled with two outs in the second.

Singles by Gary Gaetti and Tim Lardner produced one run, and another scored on Lenny Faedo's bloop double.

Inkster seeks $1 million

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A relatively easy course posed the challenge in rookie Juli Inkster's quest for $1 million.

Observing that she "played really well," in carding a 2-under par 70 over the Desert Inn Country Club layout Thursday, Inkster moved to the Las Vegas CC for the second round today in the $200,000 J&B Scotch Pro-

Am Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

That's the course where the current leader, Canadian Barb Bunkowsky, carded a 66 and seven others had lower scores than any at Desert Inn, where Inkster's 70 was the best.

Bunkowsky, 25, who in her 16 months as a pro had never led a tournament round before, said Thursday "was a perfect day for golf. I told myself, this is the course and day you have to score well."

MOST-WANTED WORKERS

Fields with most demand for the '80s

Changes in the job market tend to be slow, predictable and based on economic factors. New doors are opening, however, in such fields as biotechnology, solar energy and computer science.

Curtsinger gives altar program

Susie Curtsinger presented the altar program before the opening of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 meeting when the group met in regular session Tuesday evening with 20 members present.

Noble Grand Anna Conklin presided during the business session in which 29 visits to the sick and 20 cheer cards were reported. Lydia Hopson announced plans for a salad supper Easter party scheduled April 17. An Easter Parade with costumes is planned with prizes to be awarded for best dressed.

Work day was scheduled Saturday in order to clean the hall in preparation for the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs set for April 27-29. Billie Sims was hostess to Mmes. Conklin, Curtsinger, and Hopson. Also, Karol Rettman, Ruth Rogers, Stella Hershey, Ben Conklin, Ada Hollabaugh, Edna Mathes, Irene Merritt, Verna Sowell, Faye Brownlow, Helen Bishop, Beth Hall, Nellie Beauford, Kee Ruland, Peggy Lemons, Fred Ruland and Gene Bishop.

Homfeld selected as district delegate

Mariellen Homfeld hosted members of Bippus Extension Homemakers Club Wednesday.

During the business session conducted by Lou Hall it was announced that Ms. Homfeld is to be one of the delegates representing Deaf Smith County at the district meeting in Pampa April 24.

The council report was given by Kate Bradley, and plans were finalized for the Easter sunrise service to be held at 6 a.m. April 22 at the Bippus Community Building.

Louise Walker, county extension agent, presented a program about how lingerie influences one's appearance. She stressed the importance of correct fit and comfort. The group was reminded that the next meeting will be the annual tour for all members and their families. Others in attendance were Juanita Perrin, Margaret Hall, Cindy Freeman and her sons, Roy Homfeld, and three visitors, Elaine Pinnell, Madge Brimhall and Amy Perrin.

Former resident receives award

Rosa Cash Cowart, a former resident of Hereford who now resides in Riverside, Calif., was honored by the California Speech-Language and Hearing Association at its annual convention in Palo Alto, Calif., April 5-8.

She received the Outstanding Achievement Award based on service to CSHA in the areas of student teacher preparation, guest lecturer in a university program, and a new approach to therapy which includes an innovative program of language through perceptual development.

Mrs. Cowart and her husband, Pete, lived in Hereford from 1945 to 1953 while he served as manager of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce. Her three children were all born in Hereford and she served in many civic and social clubs.

She presently serves as speech specialist in the Riverside City Schools, is a member of the board of directors of CSHA, and chairs various committees throughout the state on language development.

Paul Harvey Dreamers, doers

America needs dreamers who are free to dream big dreams.

But we also need "doers," competent to put rivets in those dreams.

I first spoke on campus at Baylor University 25 years ago.

My notes from that earlier visit remind me that it, too, was a turbulent time.

Some would have considered it a "discouraging time."

Castro had taken over Cuba, confiscated our sugar mills.

There was anti-Semitic rioting in West Germany.

The president of Ceylon was assassinated.

President Eisenhower had invoked federal law to end a 100-day strike by steelworkers--and longshoremen struck.

Yet, against that backdrop of ferment and foreboding and with war looming, many in that audience and since have prospered themselves and us.

Baylor's entrepreneurship education - vocational, industrial, technical -- a specific Center for Private Enterprise and Entrepreneurship - has been a launching pad for so many.

Four of Texas' top five elected officials are Baylor graduates - including Gov. Mark White.

But scores of national and international corporations have their roots on that campus.

Mister Businessman, I owe you an apology.

You put up the money to start the business which creates jobs for the rest of us.

You import the raw materials from wherever, devise salable products, advertise them and sell them.

You do all the accounting, pay taxes and all other operating expenses. You pay your employees 90 percent of the dollars that are left.

Your assume all the risk, invest most of your profit in additional equipment, additional facilities, new research.

All of which creates more jobs, more productivity. You pay out in taxes an amount three times what you pay yourself.

You businessmen and businesswomen create, work, provide jobs, goods, services.

You give more generously than anybody to churches, schools, foundations and charities of all sizes.

By any reasonable rationale, you should be the focus of a grateful nation's primary appreciation.

As a real public servant, public provider, you should be on the cover of Time and Newsweek. You should be heralded on CBS, NBC and ABC. You should be esteemed by government, by media and by your fellow man.

You seldom are.

For my part in a non-producing profession which prefers to pillory or ignore you--I apologize. I wish I could promise it's going to be different. I can't.

KIT 'N' CARLYLE © by Larry Wright

INCOME TAX TIPS FOR THE KITTEN OWNER:
You may not claim your kitten as a dependent. Neither can you deduct the furniture he has scratched, the clothing he has ripped, nor the curtains he has clawed. For your kitten's safety, the IRS urges that you keep him out of sight until after you have mailed your return.

For political conventions

Corporations helping pay

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bank of America gave the Democrats $100,000. Banks in Dallas gave the Republicans $300,000.

It's all perfectly legal, despite the federal law barring corporations from giving money directly to national political parties or directly to presidential candidates.

Once every four years, a loophole opens in federal law allowing millions of dollars from corporations to flow to the Democratic and Republican parties to help pay for national conventions.

"The business community and the entire Bay Area community has been very supportive," said Nancy Pelosi, the Democratic Party activist who is head of the San Francisco Host Committee. "We were able to get such strong corporate support because the benefits to the San Francisco Bay Area are so considerable - over $60 million spent directly."

"The convention will be good economically for Dallas for years to come," added William Cooper, head of the Dallas Convention Fund, which is raising the money for the GOP event.

This year, corporations are the main source for the $1.5 million in private funds needed for the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco in July. The Bank of America, Crocker National Bank, Bechtel Corp., Chevron USA and Diamond Shamrock head the list of big contributors, chipping in $75,000 to $100,000 each for the Democratic meeting.

Businesses are also picking up most of the $3.9 million tab for the extra costs of the Republicans' meeting in Dallas in August, when Ronald Reagan will be renominated.

Sometimes the local city government picks up the costs. In San Francisco, for example, the city is paying $4.5 million to fix up Moscone Center for the convention.

But in Dallas, the city is paying nothing, with all the extra costs funded by the private convention fund.

In each case, the money goes to the local committee. "We're not raising money for the Republicans, we're raising money for the city of Dallas," Cooper said.

But in each city, the parties have a large say in how the money is spent through the convention contracts with each city.

For most - but not all - of the contributors, there is no direct obvious business benefit from the contributions. The Bank of America and Bechtel Corp. get nothing directly from the convention, although it does benefit the entire area.

"Most of the people who have given money have zero direct benefit," Ms. Pelosi said.

But the Dallas hotels obviously have much to gain from a convention, where more than 20,000 rooms are needed for all those attending.

There are changes needed in most convention halls to accommodate the thousands of delegates, press and spectators. There are overtime costs for police. Someone must pay for the buses to haul delegates from hotels to convention centers and back.

And local committees also spend money on the care and feeding of the mob of reporters, editors and technicians who cover each of the events.

Another method that has been recommended is to wash the sweater in cold water and synthetic shampoo (most inexpensive shampoos are synthetic; that is, detergent rather than soap), then proceed with the reblocking as described above. As I said, neither method is guaranteed, but if the sweater is no longer wearable as is, it's worth a try! - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - I have heard that wool sweaters that have shrunk can be rescued. I need desperately to know the first-aid procedure that will bring a sweater back to size. - HILDA

DEAR HILDA - There's no guaranteed method, but you might want to give this procedure a try. Soak the sweater in one part vinegar to two parts water, then squeeze out most of the moisture by rolling the sweater in a towel. Block the sweater on a thick, dry towel, stretching it gently to the original size (or slightly larger if possible). Pin the sweater to the towel to hold the shape and size and let dry thoroughly. You may not be able to restore the sweater to its original size if it is very badly shrunk.

DEAR POLLY - I have an infant son who is 4 1/2 months old. After Christmas, we purchased a stroller with a tray on the front and a reclining back seat. Surprisingly, we've been using it in the house all winter. I can push it from room to room as I work. His big brothers can take him for a little ride around the house and get some practice for doing this outside in the spring. The baby can see what's going on and play with toys on the tray. When he couldn't sit up very well, we rolled baby blankets up and put them on either side to hold him securely. The stroller has saved many of my days and helped me find time to do household chores. - FRANCES

While the Dallas fund would not provide a contributors' list, Cooper did say the Dallas hotel association had chipped in $300,000 and the city's banking association another $300,000.

This is all well within the law, but corporations' helping to pay for political conventions has generated problems in the past.

For example, one of the sidlight scandals to the Watergate affair came when it was revealed that International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. had pledged $400,000 to the 1972 Republican convention scheduled in San Diego just before the Nixon administration dropped an antitrust action against the giant conglomerate. The GOP moved its convention to Miami Beach, without the ITT contribution.

The federal government pays most of the cost of the conventions. It has handed out $6,060,000 already to both.

But that doesn't cover all the costs.

There are changes needed in most convention halls to accommodate the thousands of delegates, press and spectators. There are overtime costs for police. Someone must pay for the buses to haul delegates from hotels to convention centers and back.

And local committees also spend money on the care and feeding of the mob of reporters, editors and technicians who cover each of the events.

And on the Democratic side, there is at least one company benefiting directly from the convention that made a sizable contribution - Pacific Telephone.

The local phone company won the bid to be telecommunications manager for the convention, a contract which could be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars for the company.

Ms. Pelosi said the phone company gave between $75,000 and $100,000, but that there is no connection between the contribution and the contract - which were handled by two separate groups.

"I think they gave money because they always do. They have a history of contributing," she said. "Pacific Bell is very, very civic minded.... They have a history of supporting the community in its various endeavors. Pacific Bell is a natural for us to call on for many of our fund-raising efforts here in the city."
