A total of 9,887 persons have registered to vote in the Nov. 6 general election, Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland announced this morning.

Absentee voting began Wednesday and continues through Nov. 2. Ballots can be requested through the mail, or a registered voter can mark his ballot in person from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the county clerk's office on the second floor of the courthouse.

Ruland said curbside service will be provided for the handicapped during absentee balloting and on election day at each of the precincts. He said the person who wants a ballot taken to his car should call and indicate his anticipated arrival time at the polls.

The clerk's office will also be open for absentee voting on Saturday, Oct. 27, Ruland said, from 2 to 6 p.m.

While there has been an influx of voter registration since the May primary election, Ruland said the total has stayed about the same because of the many "blue cards" that were returned to his office. If the post office is unable to deliver the voter registration card to the person indicated at the last address known by the county clerk, it is returned and that name is removed from the county's voter registration list.

Absentees being taken

Along with Republican candidate Ronald Reagan and George Bush and Democratic contenders Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro, Lyndon H. La Rouché and Billy M. Davis will appear on this year's presidential ballot as candidates for the Independent Party.

Certified write-in candidates for the nation's highest office are Gus Hall and Angela Y. Davis, Sonia Johnson and Richard J. Walton and Dennis L. Serrette and Nancy Ross.

In 1980, Reagan garnered 4,073 votes in the county while opponent Jimmy Carter lost with 1,666. John Anderson and Milton Eisenhower got 77 of the county's votes that year and Ed Clark and David Koch 47. One person favored Barry Commoner and La Donna Harris.

Ruland said about 56 percent of the county's registered voters made it to the polls in 1980.

In 1976 the county also went Republican, although Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale were favored by the nation as a whole. Gerald Ford and Robert Dole captured 2,776 votes, followed closely by Carter and Mondale with 2,613.

Thomas J. Anderson and Rufus Schackelford had 16 votes that year and 21 people stood by Eugene J. McCarthy.

Ferraro intensifying criticism

Of president's foreign policy

SEATTLE (AP) — Gerald Ferraro is using her campaign appearances the rest of the week to turn up the heat in her criticism of President Reagan's foreign policy and set the stage for Walter F. Mondale's confrontation with Reagan on Sunday.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee was making a foreign policy address today at the University of Washington. She was scheduled to deliver a speech on nuclear arms control Saturday at the University of Massachusetts.

Both speeches are aimed at appealing to young voters to back the Democratic ticket, but the emphasis is on Reagan's foreign policy, which the Democrats say has failed.

"We want to leave the week on a foreign policy note," and lead into the Sunday debate between Mondale and Reagan, said Francis O'Brien, Ms. Ferraro's press secretary.

Meanwhile, an ABC News-Washington Post poll shows Reagan's lead down to 12 points, 54-42, with 4 percent undecided, a solid gain for Mondale since their Oct. 7 debate.

An ABC-Post poll before the debate had Reagan ahead 55-37 with 8 percent undecided. The latest poll was conducted Friday through Tuesday among 1,505 registered voters, and had a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percentage points.

Both Reagan and Mondale were in Washington today studying for the debate, televised live at 8 p.m. EDT Sunday from Kansas City.

Reagan was traveling to New York this evening to attend the Al Smith dinner, a traditional political dinner sponsored by the Catholic Archdiocese of New York. Mondale wasn't attending, citing the debate preparations, and the church sponsors refused to allow Ms. Ferraro to go as a stand-in.

White wants new dump search

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Gov. Mark White has asked the current search for the nation's first high-level nuclear waste dump facility be abandoned and a better one take its place.

White's request was expressed in an Oct. 9 letter to Donald Hodel, secretary of the U.S. Department of Energy, which is conducting the repository search.

The current quest for a dump site, White said, is "sufficiently flawed" to show DOE would not be able to demonstrate requisite safety at the eventually selected location. The governor therefore "strongly recommended" the DOE start "a full and competent national screening process" based on the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982.

Deaf Smith and nearby Swisher counties each contain one of the nine dump sites still being considered by the DOE. The other candidate locations are in Louisiana, Mississippi, Utah, Nevada and Washington.

Current process 'sufficiently flawed'

As now planned, the field of possible sites is to be reduced to five in January and three sometime next spring. Detailed site characterization studies are to then be conducted at the three remaining locations, from which one will be chosen in the early 1990s.

On-site storage of nuclear waste is to commence in 1998, when the federal government has assured private nuclear power companies it will take their waste. The independent plants are helping sponsor the repository search project.

Among the several reasons White told Hodel he has "lost faith" in the DOE's search is "the appearance" of the candidates' stature being based on generalized characteristics rather than adequately in-depth scientific data.

"Application of the guidelines is highly questionable in that the sites must be compared against each other, although they do not share common types and levels of available information," the governor wrote.

"This design and application of the guidelines," he continued, "leads me to question the ultimate acceptability of any of the current sites since the sites themselves appear to be the standards of review rather than the subject of evaluation against rational standards."

Energy Department officials have failed to fully describe nor consult with anyone else about their methodology in the search process, White claimed. This could, he penned, "result in all sites characterized failing to meet the necessary and rigorous tests of suitability for a repository under all applicable law and regulation."

White also complained about an unresolved issue concerning interpretation of the NWPA and took exception to remarks Hodel made Sept. 7. On that date, the secretary said in Houston that U.S. Senatorial candidate Phil Gramm's opposition to a dump being placed in Texas would help keep one from ever being placed in the state.

"The Congress, in simplest terms," White wrote concerning the Gramm remark, "intended in the (NWPA) that a high-level nuclear waste repository site decision at the secretarial and presidential levels be based upon the sound scientific and technical facts and other required data, not the inaccurately portrayed early objections of a candidate for public office."

Failure to adequately communicate with White's office staff was another gripe issued to Hodel by the governor. White cited three correspondences which he said were either ignored or inadequately answered by the DOE between May 30 and July 2.

White concluded by urging Hodel "to provide timely response to the issues and questions summarized here and in the cited letters."

Hodel could not be reached for comment.

Vice president gets ambushed

Several issues marring campaign

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — In a little more than a week, Vice President George Bush's campaign has become filled with charges about salty remarks, accusations about shame, demands for apologies, and now, comments about his manhood.

The strange agenda of issues has emerged in what had been a low-key campaign up until Bush's debate last Thursday with Geraldine Ferraro.

Ever since that encounter, Bush has been trading fire with White House challenger Walter Mondale and his running mate, Ms. Ferraro, about his comments both in the debate and afterwards.

Peter Teeley, press secretary to the vice president, said Wednesday he was not disturbed by the odd twist of developments.

"We are very surprised that the Mondale-Ferraro campaign would waste five days by throwing bombs at us," Teeley said.

Bush, whose family nickname is "Poppy," seems to be relishing the sudden new attention he has received since offering this post-debate assessment: "We tried to kick a little ass last night."

Calling attention to the controversy, Bush opened a foreign policy address Wednesday by saying that he and his wife Barbara "have been washing our mouths out with soap ever since" he made his off-color remark and his wife called Ms. Ferraro something that rhymes with "rich."

Teeley, asked why Bush keeps referring to his off-color remark, said, "We were just trying to laugh off the issue. They're (Democrats) trying to make it a serious one."

In the debate, Bush also said that Mondale and Ms. Ferraro had suggested that American servicemen killed in Lebanon had "died in shame." Ms. Ferraro protested immediately that they had never said that, and Mondale demanded an apology.

When Bush refused, Mondale said, "He doesn't have an answer and he doesn't have the manhood to apologize."

Asked about Mondale's charge, Bush, in a somewhat confusing answer, replied, "I'll lay my record on any forum, whatever it is, on the manhood up against his. I'll just leave it at that."

While responding to questions at a citizens' forum in Portland on Wednesday, the vice president was challenged repeatedly on U.S. policy in Nicaragua and drew loud boos from some people on U.S. policy about nuclear war.

Denying an assertion by a woman that U.S. policy says a nuclear war could be won, Bush said, "Our policy is a nuclear war is not winnable and must not be fought."

When the vice president was challenged by someone else on the same point, Bush snapped, "I just answered it, I answered it fella, don't worry about it."

Candidates forum set today

Candidates in three of the races being voted on Nov. 6 have agreed to participate in a forum at 7 p.m. today in Hereford Community Center.

The event has been organized and is being conducted by the legislative affairs committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

County Commissioner Precinct 3 hopefuls Bill Allen - a Republican - and Democrat Troy Don Moore are supposed to attend. They are vying for the seat being vacated by Bruce Coleman, who has been on the county governing body for 20 years.

Also to be at the forum tonight are Democrat Justin McBride and Republican John Smithee, who are both running for the 66th District seat in the Texas House of Representatives. Bob Simpson now occupies that position.

Larry Combast, a Republican, and Democratic candidate Don Richards have also accepted invitations to appear. They are competing for the post of 19th District U.S. Representative, for which Kent Hance did not seek re-election due to his unsuccessful bid for the U.S. Senate.

Clothes stolen over weekend

While away for the weekend, a Hereford woman's home was apparently broken into and $65 worth of clothes were stolen, Hereford police reported this morning.

Among the incidents handled by officers Wednesday was a father accidentally hitting his baby. He had allegedly tried to smack his wife, but the glancing blow ended up striking the youngster full-force in the head. A check of the infant at Deaf Smith General Hospital revealed no serious injuries.

WEDNESDAY'S HIGH: 68 (normal: 72 record: 89 (1943))

OVERNIGHT LOW: 49 (normal: 45 record: 23 (1948))

OUTLOOK: Mostly fair tonight with a low in the middle 30s and northerly winds of 15 to 20 miles per hour, decreasing in velocity by daybreak. Friday is to be fair, have a high in the lower 60s and southerly winds of 10 to 15 miles per hour.

The forum, sponsored by the Legislative Affairs committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, will present candidates in three races. The one local race has Demo Troy D. Congressman Kent Hance was here Tuesday night to endorse Justin McBride in the state representative's race. Hance emphasized the importance of getting out the local vote. "If anyone knows the importance of getting folks to vote, it's me," he said. If just a couple of West Texas counties had turned out with more voters, Hance could still be in the Senate race.

McBride has been doing a lot of door-knocking in south Amarillo, and he thinks one of the keys to his success may be in getting the independent vote in Randall County.

Hance is working for at least two Demos in the area. He came here Tuesday after attending a reception for Don Richards in Lubbock. Richards, a former Hance aide, is seeking the congressional seat being vacated by Hance. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen was in Lubbock Tuesday to endorse Richards as "the heir apparent to the Mahon-Hance dynasty." Hance is also a strong supporter for Richards.

Hance said he and his family are moving to Lubbock in December. He has not announced any specific political plans for the future, but a lot of people in this area expect to be supporting Hance for an important political post sometime in the future.

Parents' latest request denied

HOUSTON (AP) - For the ninth time, a Houston couple failed to convince a judge to release them from jail for refusing to testify before a grand jury investigating allegations that their teen-age son murdered a female mail carrier.

Bernard and Odette Port have been jailed since Sept. 12 on a contempt citation for refusing to answer questions before grand jurors looking into the June 7 slaying of postal workers Debora Sue Schatz. The Ports' son, David, 17, remains free on $20,000 on a charge of murder in the slaying. Ms. Schatz's body was found June 9 in a remote, wooded area northwest of Houston.

The couple's attorney, Randy Schaffer, tried to convince a federal judge that his clients cannot be kept in jail any longer because their son has been indicted.

But U.S. District Judge Norman Black said Wednesday that the Ports "cannot challenge the jurisdiction of the grand jury investigation nor question the scope of the subject matter under investigation."

Schaffer said he probably will ask Black to reconsider his decision since it may be too late to take the appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Sheriff temporarily leaves job

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - An attorney for Hudspeth County Sheriff Mike Armstrong says his client has agreed to temporarily leave office while he stands trial on federal drug charges because it's in the best interests of all concerned.

Lawyer John Langford said he and the district attorney's office in El Paso, which had filed a lawsuit seeking Armstrong's removal from office, reached a compromise agreement Tuesday that would suspend the sheriff without pay until his trial.

A hearing on the lawsuit was to have been held Friday in Sierra Blanca, the county seat of Hudspeth County in far West Texas.

The settlement was filed with the district court clerk's office in Sierra Blanca about 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, according to clerk Pat Bramblett. She said retired state District Judge William H. Earney of Marfa, who was to preside over the removal hearing, had selected chief Deputy Sheriff Tom Burns as acting sheriff.

Burns was to be sworn in today.

Klansman testifies in trial

DALLAS (AP) - A former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan confirmed on the witness stand that it is Klan policy to punish informants, but said he was unaware Ward S. Keeton was an informant until after Keeton had already been killed by a pipe bomb.

Keeton died when he opened a booby-trapped newsrack in the parking lot of the apartment complex where he lived in far north Dallas.

Closing arguments were scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. today in the federal trial of Keeton's stepson, Marshall Dewayne "Dodie" Williams, accused of illegally manufacturing and possessing the pipe bomb that killed the 60-year-old Keeton last Jan. 27.

Defense attorneys contended an unidentified member of the Klan and a disgruntled former employee of Keeton killed him. But the defense closed its case Wednesday without presenting evidence to substantiate the allegations.

Louis Beam, who served as the Klan's grand dragon in Texas from November 1979 to June 1981, testified Wednesday that Keeton was "very active" in the organization when he met him in 1970 and 1971.

Nine picked up in FBI raid

NEW YORK (AP) - More than 300 FBI agents and police carried out pre-dawn raids today and rounded up nine radicals associated with defendants convicted in the bungled Brink's armored car robbery that left three people dead, according to network reports.

CBS News said the nine arrested were said by authorities to be part of the New African Freedom Fighters. The report said the big show of force was used to discourage resistance by those arrested.

Authorities said some weapons were recovered. NBC News reported that the suspects had been overheard on FBI vtaps planning a robbery of an armored truck cash shipment and had "scouted sites" in the New York area. ABC News also carried an account of the raid.

The raid was made at a high-rise apartment complex on the site of Ebbetts Field, the former home of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The $1.6 million Brink's robbery, in which two Nyack, N.Y., police officers and a security guard were killed, occurred on Oct. 20, 1981, in Rockland County, north of New York City.

Five people convicted in the robbery are serving prison terms.

Heavy snow falls on Nevada

Parts of Nevada were buried under up to 10 inches of snow today as a storm blew across the central Rockies, and thunderstorms drenched much of the nation.

Thunderstorms dumped rain on much of the eastern Great Lakes region, the mid and south Atlantic Coast states, the upper and middle Mississippi Valley, Southern Texas and the northern Pacific Coast.

The second Western snowstorm of the week was moving across the central Rockies. Some parts of Utah's mountains were under "near blizzard-like conditions," the National Weather Service said.

Winter storm warnings and travelers advisories were issued from as far south as northern Arizona and New Mexico to Utah and southern Idaho.

"It's typically what you'd get in December or January," said forecaster Ed Carle in Salt Lake City.

Iran launches attack on Iraq

Iran announced an offensive against Iraq in the mountains east of Baghdad today, and Iraq said it repulsed the attacking Iranians when they tried to cross the border.

The attacks marked the first major Iranian offensive against Iraq since last February, when Iraq said the Iranians lost 50,000 soldiers in an abortive attempt to occupy southern Iraq's Huwaziah marsh and isolate the port city of Basra.

However, there was no statement by Iran to indicate that its attacks marked the beginning of its long-expected "final offensive" to end the war, launched four years ago by Iraq to regain the rights to several disputed land and water border areas.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in London, said Iranian units launched the offensive late Wednesday along a 30-mile front in the Ilam area in a bid to secure positions in the mountain heights, silence Iraqi artillery fire and halt Iraqi ground attacks against Iranian border villages in the Meimark region.

Iraq, however, said its forces repulsed three Iranian attacks today aimed at crossing into Iraqi territory about 120 miles east of Baghdad, the capital.

Kid recovered from drugging

By SHEILA ALLEE Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Rolando Santos, the child former nurse Gene Jones is accused of injecting with a blood-thinning drug, appears well more than two years after the incident, his mother testified in district court.

Jesusa Santos of Pearsall, Texas, told the court Wednesday her son will be 3 years old next month.

"He seems alright," she testified in Ms. Jones' trial on a charge of injury to a child.

Ms. Jones, 33, already is serving a 99-year term for the murder of a 15-month-old patient in Kerrville.

She faces an additional seven injury to a child charges in Kerrville and could draw another 99-year sentence if she is convicted in the current case.

Mrs. Santos said her son was born Nov. 30, 1981, and a month later he contracted pneumonia and had to be taken to Medical Center Hospital.

Ms. Jones is accused of injecting him with a dangerous dosage of heparin, an anti-coagulant.

In earlier testimony Wednesday, Dr. Lawrence Hooghuis, a former intern in the pediatric intensive care unit at Medical Center, told the court Ms. Jones appeared unaware she was administering too-high dosages of the drug.

Hooghuis, who now practices medicine in Gainesville, Fla., said one of his patients, Albert Garza, had problems with his blood failing to clot.

The doctor said he discussed the dosage of heparin the child was getting with Ms. Jones, who told him she was giving the infant 600 times the normal amount.

Hooghuis said Ms. Jones appeared unaware of the proper dosage for the drug, which could cause the patient to bleed excessively.

The doctor said he explained the proper dosage by drawing it out on a bed sheet.

After the conversation, he said, "She mumbled and walked away."

Hooghuis told prosecutor Nick Rothe he aergued horehan average with Ms. Jones.

"Did you notice any affect on the progress of your patients as a result of your relationship with Ms. Jones?" Rothe asked.

"Yes," he responded. "The babies would more often have a downhill course if we had a bad relationship."

Also testifying Wednesday was Dr. Greg Istre, state epidemiologist for Oklahoma. He conducted an investigation of infant mortality at Medical Center from 1979 to 1982.

Istre, who conducted his inquiry for the Centers for Disease Control, told the court he found an increased incidence of deaths and cardiopulmonary resuscitations in the pediatric intensive care unit for the epidemic period investigated.

Using detailed charts of his findings, Istre referred numerous times to Nurse 32.

"We associated Nurse 32 with increases in deaths and CPRs during the epidemic period," he said.

Prosecutor Ray Fuchs asked Istre, "Who is Nurse 32?"

"Gene Jones," Istre responded.

Telephone company says

Mattox' complaint about Bell 'off base'

By MICHAEL HOLMES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - A complaint filed by Attorney General Jim Mattox and consumers' groups is off base, a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. official says.

Mattox and the consumers' groups Wednesday asked for an investigation of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to determine whether money paid by telephone customers is being funneled to Bell's other business interests.

"We suspect that Southwestern Bell is using revenues from its regulated services to finance its unregulated businesses, such as telephones, mobile phones and the Yellow Pages publications," Mattox said.

"What we're seeking in this complaint is the information that would show us if our suspicion is correct," he said.

Southwestern Bell officials denied the allegations, saying that no mixing of funds is taking place.

"We have nothing to hide," said Richard Harris, a Bell vice president.

Blaze kills at least 13

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) - A fire that authorities said was started by a disgruntled employee swept through an eight-story residence hotel early today, trapping some residents and forcing others to jump from windows. At least 13 people were killed and 55 injured.

A part-time employee who had argued with the night manager of the 60-year-old Hotel Alexander Hamilton was arrested in the case, said Mayor Frank X. Graves Jr.

Russell William Conklin, 44, was being held at the city jail pending arraignment on charges of aggravated arson and murder, said police Capt. William E. Dolan. Authorities said only one murder charge was filed initially.

Fire Capt. Domenick Cotroneo said 15 people had died in the blaze, but the mayor, police and the prosecutor's office said they could only confirm 13 deaths.

The blaze broke out about 12:15 a.m. in the 150-room downtown hotel occupied by about 300 permanent residents and transients, many of them clients of "various agencies of government," Graves said. The fire was under control at 3:40 a.m.

He said the companies are set up as separate subsidiaries and the books and records are "clear."

"There can be no intermingling because they are stand-alone corporations," Harris said.

Mattox and the consumers' groups, the Consumers Union, Public Citizen, the Gray Panthers and the Texas Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now, filed the complaint with the Public Utility Commission.

"Ratepayers are, have been and will continue funding of the new Southwestern Bell subsidiaries from which they receive no profits. Commission action is needed to stop this victimization of Texas consumers," said Carol Barger, regional director of the Consumers Union.

While Bell has been saying it needs more money to maintain high-quality basic phone service, Ms. Barger said, "the record shows that the telephone company has embarked on building a multi-billion-dollar system that will have no appreciable effect on the quality or reliability of basic telephone communications."

"But Bell, its holding company and all of their subsidiaries will then be in a very favorable market position to sell all of their services, gadgets and whistles which have nothing to do with basic phone service," she said.

Ms. Barger said that costs to consumers could be reduced 20 percent to 40 percent if the complaint proves accurate.

The complaint asks the PUC to investigate several issues, including: How much of the company's construction program being funded by Texas rate payers will benefit unregulated businesses. How much of Bell's assets have been transferred to subsidiaries and the holding company without adequate compensation to Southwestern Bell.

Whether phone customers are being asked to pay an unfair portion of advertising costs and charitable contributions made by the company.

Whether revenue from Yellow Pages advertising is being diverted from the telephone company into another business interest.

Paul Harvey Debate helps race

The debate jury is in now. From politicians, polls and pundits we have enough reaction to confirm a winner in that Oct. 7 100 minutes on TV.

Mondale. There are several reasons the challenger came off looking and sounding better.

First, from Reagan, viewers expected too much. He's been a professional performer. He's been called an "incomparable communicator."

His sometimes halting response to questions was disappointing. Also, Reagan had been prepared and rehearsed in anticipation of a hostile challenger and was suddenly confronted by an affable one.

Reagan, with a big lead, had to be hyper-cautious not to say anything wrong.

Mondale, with nothing to lose, could be more relaxed—and was.

Whether it changed any minds we cannot know, but it brought Mondale's supporters out of hiding. Suddenly, as Mondale campaign adviser Richard Leone says, "We're all walking several inches taller."

Why in the world did Reagan, with his lead, agree to debate Mondale? He had to.

The debates, since TV, have become a political tradition.

Reagan could not deny Mondale the same confrontation which Carter had offered Reagan four years before.

So, busy as a president is carrying the burdens of that office plus an exhausting campaign schedule, he had to debate.

About the "burdens of the office..." Some have suggested that the debate brought into focus the difference in the candidates' ages. Tony Coelho, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said bluntly, "The president looked old and acted old."

If President Reagan brought less freshness to that debate that night, it was not a reflection of his 73 years. Clearing brush, building fences, riding, exercising daily; this president even has the stride of a man half his years.

If "health" is brought into the campaign, it is Mondale who has the high blood pressure for which he takes three different pills a day.

Whether debates are good or bad, for us media people they have given some life to a dull campaign. And America's voters rarely confuse popularity with qualifications—else Elvis Presley would have been president.

"...but Santa Claus can get me one!"

How many times have the parents of younger children been told that? Seems like every time there is a toy craze, there is more demand than supply and the Cabbage Patch dolls are no exception. But try explaining to the child that even Santa Claus and his elves can't get one made in time for Christmas.

Kelly Wagner, at the pleadings of her daughters, decided to take matters into her own hands, literally, and began making soft sculpture creations using a combination of three patterns.

"It's been a lot of fun and it doesn't require that much time," Mrs. Wagner explained. "I usually complete the doll as well as an outfit of clothes in approximately 12 hours. I try to make a variety of ensembles such as jumpers, blouses, dresses, short pants for the boy doll and matching shirts. Then I purchase baby shoes to coordinate with the clothes."

Ms. Wagner uses a polyester fabric so that the doll may be washed whenever necessary. The dolls, which range from 14 to 18 inches in length, are stuffed and then the soft sculpture is done with a needle and thread to add detail.

"I make the dolls hair out of yarn. I'm currently making 'preemie' dolls and they don't have hair so I'm thinking about making little hats and bonnets to match their clothing," she added.

My daughters wanted Cabbage Patch dolls but they were next to impossible to purchase," she continued, "so I made a doll that even my eight-year-old was proud to have. Since then I have begun making them for family and friends. It's relaxing and it's fun to make their garments. They actually seem to develop their own personality."

Other personal hobbies Mrs. Wagner enjoys includes doing counted cross stitch work. "I began doing the cross stitch about three years ago. I find that working with my hands at night after the children have gone to bed is very relaxing," she said. "Also, when the two older children are at school, I can sit down early in the mornings and do the cross stitch. I have done approximately 50 pieces for myself and for friends."

"My next project is to start metal punch. I bought a book of instructions and it doesn't look too difficult."

In ancient Greece, a boxing match began with two boxers standing face to face, their noses touching.

Basically, you just punch holes in soft metal such as copper or tin and uses tensile type patterns," she added.

She and her husband, Ronnie, who is employed by Town West Ford and Jeep in Amarillo, have one major project they have been undertaking for several years, remodeling their 83-year-old home at 610 E. Fifth St.

"This is a never ending project, there is always something going on," Mrs. Wagner said. "We have completely remodeled two bedrooms, one upstairs and one downstairs, and one bathroom. Our kitchen is almost finished and we are currently working on the living and dining area."

The homemaker also believes in saving special time for herself such as getting involved in various activities including being the junior high youth sponsor at Wesley United Methodist Church. She coordinates activities which includes concerts, parties, lock-ins and Bible studies.

"I work well and relate well to junior high school age kids," she emphasized. "I began substituting in the Hereford Independent School District last year and that is definitely the age I prefer."

Mrs. Wagner is also involved in other church activities, is vice president of the United Methodist Women and is a member of Young Mothers Club.

She stays very active being a mother and homemaker. She sews for her three children; Leslie, 8, Amy, 4 and Aaron, 3.

She has a garden each summer in which she grows cucumbers, tomatoes, corn, squash, okra, blackeye peas and spinach. "I try to freeze as many vegetables as I can such as corn and peas and I can the rest. Last week I canned 48 quarts of tomatoes and put up 16 quarts of pickles," she explained. "It's a lot of work and I have to let the housework go for a few days when I'm in the process of canning, but having homegrown vegetables from your own garden in the winter is well-worth the added work."

Because, there isn't much extra time during the day to cook and bake, Mrs. Wagner likes to prepare simple, nutritious meals for her family. Casseroles and easy dessert bread recipes are her favorites.

BAKED OR BROILED CHICKEN
(Serves 6 to 8)

2 (2½ lbs.) fryers
Cut each in serving pieces and arrange in 10x15x2 pan.

SAUCE:
½ c. margarine, melted
½ tsp. chicken seasoning or 1 tsp. chicken bouillon
½ tsp. butter flavor
¼ c. lemon juice
1¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. Accent

Pour over chicken. Bake in 375 degree oven for approximately 1 hour and 15 minutes. Baste occasionally with sauce.

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

2 lbs. squash
¼ c. chopped onion
1 can cream of chicken soup
½ c. sour cream (optional)
1 c. shredded carrots
1 8 oz. pkg. herb seasoned stuffing mix

½ c. melted margarine or butter
Cook squash and onion in boiling salted water for 5 minutes; drain. Stir soup, sour cream and grated carrots into squash. Combine stuffing mix and melted margarine. Place ¼ mixture in bottom of 12x7x2 baking dish.

Jalepeno cheese whiz may be spooned onto stuffing mix. Spoon on vegetable mixture and sprinkle with remaining stuffing. Bake in 350 degree oven for 25-30 minutes.

BANANA BREAD

1 and one-third c flour
2¼ tsp. baking powder
Blend one-third c. oil
Two-thirds c. sugar
2 eggs
1½ c. ripe mashed bananas
Nuts if desired

Oil bread loaf pan and bake approximately 1 hour in 350 degree oven. (This bread recipe is excellent for school lunches as it stays moist)

Gilliland gives book review

Highlighting the La Plata Study Club's meeting held Tuesday evening in the home of Lavon Nieman was a book review given by Amy Gilliland.

Ms. Gilliland reviewed "Motherhood, The Second Oldest Profession" by Irma Bombeck. Following her presentation, the club presented the speaker with a brass book holder.

Sunny Brush, president, conducted a brief business meeting in which Mary Lyles was welcomed as a new member. Also, it was announced that the club's next meeting will be a Thanksgiving dinner held at 7 p.m. Nov. 20 at the Hereford Country Club.

Ms. Nieman and co-hostess, Julie Helms, served refreshments of pumpkin cake topped with orange icing, peanuts, hot spiced tea, coffee and iced tea. Depicting the Halloween theme, holiday plates and napkins were used on the table and pumpkins and lighted orange candles decorated the house.

Members attending included Mary Bartlett, Ruby Boston, Clora Brown, Peggie Fox, Sarah Hazelrigg, Elizabeth McDowell, Dorothy Mercer, Mozelle Neill, Dorothea Prowell, Margaret Schroeter, Betty Taylor, Donna VanderZee, Avis White and Virginia Woodford.

Newscaster Dan Rather was born in Wharton, Texas, on Oct. 31, 1931.

Ann Landers

Humiliation makes it worse

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been reading your column a long time and believe it is the best service a newspaper can offer.

The problem I would like to see you address is how to treat bed-wetting children. Better yet, how NOT to treat them.

My cousin has a 7-year-old boy who is a bed-wetter. The way she humiliates him borders on child abuse.

She makes the boy sleep in diapers. I've known of other bed-wetters who wore diapers at late ages and I see no harm in it as long as it's private. It does protect the bed and makes the child more comfortable.

However, my cousin feels that not keeping it private will give the child an incentive to stay dry. In other words, she hopes to shame the boy into breaking the habit.

How can I convince her that she is damaging her son emotionally?—Bewildered in Illinois in this area he is woefully immature and his coolness has nothing to do with his feelings for you.

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It — A Guide for Teens and Their Parents." Send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Generally, political debates consist of two monologues.

DEAR B IN ILL: The mother's cruel exploitation of the boy's problem is pathetic. She must be made to understand that humiliating him will make matters worse.

The woman needs professional guidance. Her pediatrician can recommend someone. Most children who consistently wet the bed beyond three years of age have emotional problems related to a lack of parental time, attention and affection.

Of course, you cannot tell your cousin what I have written because she would view your concern as "meddling." You can, however, tell her there is a letter in my column today that perhaps she ought to read. Let's hope the woman has the good sense to accept this advice. My heart goes out to that sad little boy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I live on the East Coast. George travels a great deal and I go with him when I can. We visit his mother and father in the South and his brother in the Midwest several times a year. I like his family and they like me. No problems there.

The trouble is that George has a hard time being both a son and a husband when his parents are around and he can't be a brother and a husband when he is with his brother and his family. When he telephones me from either his mother's or brother's home he sounds as though he is talking to a casual acquaintance. When he calls from a hotel or motel, he is the loving man I've been married to for 24 years.

If I had the money I would see a professional about this. It has bothered me for years. I'm hoping you can nail down the cause and tell me why George is so peculiar. Also, what can I do about it—Cold Shoulder In White Plains

DEAR SHOULDER: Unfortunately, George never outgrew his shyness about having a girl. This hangup is standard behavior for boys between 9 and 17 but rather unusual for a man about to celebrate his silver wedding anniversary.

When George treats you casually in front of his family, recognize that

A new meeting time will be effective for the next meeting on Nov. 5. This meeting will begin with a supper at 6:30 p.m. for the members and their families. The business meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and the group is expecting a good attendance.

USFL files antitrust suit against NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Football League filed a $1.32 billion antitrust suit against the National Football League Wednesday, seeking the voiding of the NFL's television contracts with the three major networks and charging that "a conspiracy" exists to put it out of business.

The USFL also asked the court to break up what it calls the NFL's monopoly on player contracts and stadiums in the nation's major cities.

NFL spokesman Joe Browne said the league would have no comment until it had seen the court papers.

In the suit filed in Federal court here, the USFL, which has played two spring-summer seasons, said it "seeks redress for past and ongoing violations of the federal antitrust laws" by the NFL. It names as defendants all 28 NFL teams as well as commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Filed on behalf of the league by New York attorney Roy Cohn, the suit accuses the NFL of "numerous predatory and unlawful actions" by which it "sought to perpetuate the monopoly of the NFL by making successful entry by a competing professional football league into the business of major league football impossible."

It claims "there is a conspiracy" among NFL clubs "to create a complete barrier to the entry of a competitive league into the business of major league competitive football." Since the emergence of the NFL "the efforts of the defendants and their co-conspirators have been specifically directed at the elimination of the plaintiff USFL member clubs as competitors."

The USFL, which voted last August to switch to a fall schedule starting in 1986, was formed in 1982 as what its founders said was an alternative to the NFL to provide spring-summer football for the American public. It came into being with two-year television contracts

McNamara now Red Sox boss

BOSTON (AP) — John McNamara, 52, who rejected an offer to remain with the California Angels last week, is expected to be named today as the 36th manager of the Boston Red Sox.

The Red Sox announced Wednesday a news conference will be held to introduce their new manager.

Club officials declined to comment on speculation, but the naming of McNamara was considered a mere formality by most observers.

A long-time friend of Red Sox co-owner and chief operating officer Haywood Sullivan, McNamara cleared the way to become Boston manager on Oct. 9 by turning down a contract to remain with California.

Sullivan and Boston general manager Lou Gorman conceded that McNamara was their first choice after Ralph Houk, 65, decided to retire.

After the Angels announced that McNamara had resigned, quoting him as saying "it's time for a change," he sat with Sullivan at National League playoff games in San Diego.

"I'll do whatever he wants me to do," McNamara said with a laugh.

estimated at from $18 to $22 million.

Last season, the league expanded from 12 to 18 teams and several of the franchises were sold, leaving only six of the original owners. It also spent millions to sign college stars like Steve Young, Herschel Walker and Mike Rozier and finished last season with losses estimated at $63 million.

Then, last August, despite ABC's extension of its contract for $15 million in 1985 and a new pact with ESPN valued at about $17 million a year, the USFL voted to switch seasons. It also has decided to consolidate from 18 to 14 or 12 teams for next year, the details of which may be worked out in meetings this weekend at Amelia Island, Fla.

The suit seeks $440 million in damages, which under antitrust law would be automatically trebled if the court finds in favor of the USFL.

The suit also asks that the NFL be "enjoined from negotiating with or making contractual offers with players currently under USFL contracts" before their contracts expire. Last year, the USFL signed a number of NFL players, including Cris Collinsworth of the Cincinnati Bengals, who is currently playing in the NFL and will report to the Tampa Bay Bandits of the USFL after the season.

The suit also challenges the NFL's contracts with the three major television networks and asks the court to declare them illegal. It also requests the court to order one of two possible revampings of the NFL-network contracts.

In one, it asks that "the NFL be divided into two separate, competing 14-team leagues, with each league limited to maintaining a network television contract with only one of the three major networks."

In the alternative request, the NFL and the NFL clubs could maintain contracts with "no more than two of the three major networks."

The court papers claimed that NFL clubs strengthened "their monopoly position by increasing their control over virtually every facet of the business of professional football."

One of their weapons, it said, was long-term contracts for the "most desirable stadia in metropolitan areas," granting expansion franchises in major metropolitan areas "to perpetuate their monopoly and preclude entry by any competitive professional football league into those areas."

It also noted the NFL had a body of league rules "to control the available pool of professional football players well beyond the reasonable player needs" of the NFL clubs.

Hereford Homecoming

'Horns, Herd battle for survival

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

Caprock High School football coach Ray Basinger and Hereford football Jerry Taylor find themselves facing similar dilemmas this week.

The Longhorns and Whitefaces meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Whiteface Stadium for a Homecoming game. Both teams enter the game with two losses on their District 3-5A ledgers, and neither club can afford another one. At least not if they plan to participate in post-season play.

"We're like almost five or six other teams," Basinger said. "With two losses right now, we all have a mathematical chance at the playoffs if we don't lose any more games."

Taylor echoed Basinger's statements.

"We know we have to beat Caprock to get into post-season play," he said. "I told our players the other day that we'd probably be out of business if we didn't win."

"It's going to be a battle." Caprock's league record is 2-2-1 and season record 3-2-1. Hereford is 2-2 and 3-3, respectively.

On paper, the game shapes up to be a dog fight. Caprock fields an offense that is averaging just more than 240 yards per game. Hereford is gaining 162.3 yards per game for the season, but 215.3 the last three ball games, including last week's 305-yard output.

Defensively, the teams are very close statistically. The Longhorns are allowing 232.2 each game, and the Herd is giving up 235.8.

"Their (the Whitefaces) defense is very sound," Basinger said. "We're going to have to stick to our game, play our best and keep the number of mistakes to a minimum in order to win."

To add to the closeness of the ball clubs, Caprock is coming off a 7-7 tie with Coronado last week. Two weeks ago, Hereford defeated Coronado in Lubbock 7-3.

"Coronado wasn't the same team when we played them, though," Basinger said. "(Chris) Moore didn't play at all and another player in their secondary didn't play against us."

Taylor doesn't buy that, however. In fact, he pointed out some similarities between the two teams.

"I'm sure Caprock is just as good a team as Coronado is," Taylor said. "That's indicative by their tie with them last week. Just like Coronado, Caprock runs from the I-formation, and they are very good at that (running), too."

Taylor was speaking of running backs Freddie Watts (5-8, 150) and Lonnie Buchanan (5-9, 165). Buchanan, the tailback of the pair, is the leading rusher in the district, averaging 116.2 yards per game, or a little more than six yards each time he touches the football. Buchanan has rushed for seven touchdowns this fall.

Much of Buchanan's success has come behind the blocking of offensive tackle Doug Roberts. Taylor said the 6-2, 205-pound senior was one of 3-5A's best.

"Their number 72, Roberts, probably is your all-district type of player," he said. "Their quarterback (Lee Meza) is a scrappy type of player, too. And both backs are good. They surely can run."

The festivities associated with Homecoming should pose no unforeseen problems for the Longhorns, Basinger said. He said the fact the game was Hereford's Homecoming could work in Caprock's favor.

"We play a lot of Homecoming games," he said. "Our players are used to it and if anything, it could hurt Hereford with all the things going on besides football."

While the run seems to be the main thrust of Caprock's offense, Basinger thinks the Herd will throw.

"Mike Scott is a good athlete," he said. "I don't know if there is anyone in the state who is more accurate on passing."

"But at the same time, you have to worry about the sweeps, the draws, the options and about making a yard yourself."

In other District 3-5A matchups Friday, league-leading Plainview is at Coronado, Monterey is at Amarillo and Tascosa is at Lubbock. Palo Duro has the week off.

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) — Fuzzy Zoeller, the 1984 U.S. Open Golf Championship winner in a playoff against Greg Norman, thinks that fate sometimes takes a hand in big events.

Gilbert Tijerina, a receiver for the Hereford White junior varsity, hauls in a touchdown pass that was just out of reach of a Coronado defender during last Thursday's ball game. Hereford won that game 26-6. In this week's action, the White junior varsity is again at home against Lubbock at 6 p.m. in Whiteface Stadium while the Maroon J.V. plays Saturday at Monterey. La Plata is in Plainview for two games against the Plainview Blue squad, and Stanton plays two games against Gattis.

Receives 16 of 24 NL first-place votes

Writers select Frey as best manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Frey, who turned the Chicago Cubs from a lower-echelon team to a division winner in his first year with the club, Wednesday was named the National League's Manager of the Year by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Frey received 16 of the possible 24 first-place BBWA votes and seven for second for a total of 101 points to win easily over Dave Johnson of the New York Mets, whose team contended most of the season with the Cubs for the NL East championship and finished second in the division.

"I'm honored and proud that people thought I did a good job," Frey said. "But it was the organization that went out and spent the money to get the ballplayers. A lot of people deserve credit. I'm just the guy who happens to be standing here."

He added that "individual awards are nice" but "the biggest thrill is being on a championship team."

While Frey was left off one writer's ballot, Johnson was named on all 24 with four votes for first place, 16 for second and four for third.

Dick Williams of the San Diego Padres, the National League champions, finished in third place in the balloting, also with four votes for first place, one for second and 18 for third.

Houston's Bob Lillis was the only other manager receiving a vote, collecting two for third.

Two writers in each of the NL cities voted and the point system is based on five for first place, three for second and one for third. This was only the second year that the BBWA writers have voted for the Manager of the Year award, which they gave last year in the NL to Tom Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Associated Press, which previously had awarded manager of the year in each league, this year will make only one award — major league manager of the year.

Frey, in 1980 as a freshman major league manager, led the Kansas City Royals to the American League pennant.

Prior to managing in Kansas City, Frey spent 15 years in the Baltimore Orioles' system, beginning in 1964 after retiring as an active player.

The Cubs in 1983 finished fifth in the NL East with a 71-81 record, but Frey got them turned around with a blend of youngsters and veterans acquired in some sharp trade acquisitions by general manager

Huskies picked by touchdown

By The Associated Press

The Washington Huskies are No. 1 this week, but the word "dynasty" isn't in Coach Don James' vocabulary.

"First of all," James says, "I don't think there's a real dominant team. Last year's Nebraska team was as fine as any team in college football that I can remember and they didn't win the national championship."

"With the teams so closely matched, if you're not ready to play when you're No. 1, you're not going to be No. 1 very long. Everybody likes to go around and put their index finger up in the air and say, 'We're No. 1.' Well, the guys that are 3-3 and 4-4, if

When it comes to more tax increases, which candidate stands for YOU?

Here is what the two candidates for State Representative, Randall & Deaf Smith Counties, are saying about tax increases.

JUSTON McBRIDE (Democrat)	JOHN SMITHEE (Republican)
FOR HIGHER TAXES	OPPOSES HIGHER TAXES
"It will be necessary that the Legislature support an increase in some taxes. A careful examination of the economic status of Texas in January 1985 will determine the amount of such an increase and the sources best suited at that time from which to draw the increased taxes." — Amarillo Classroom Teachers Questionnaire	"I will not commit to any new taxes." — Amarillo Classroom Teachers Questionnaire
"The (1985) Legislature will probably be in a more positive frame of mind about tax increases." — Amarillo Classroom Teachers Questionnaire	"Instead of raising taxes, we need to re-examine our spending priorities. Texas is collecting and spending more money now than ever and a tax increase would severely retard our economic climate." — League of Women Voters Guide
"I would support increased 'sin' taxes, sales tax increase and would be open to other options as they are presented in the Legislature." — Amarillo Classroom Teachers Questionnaire	"Specifically, we must resist a tax increase. Tax increases are counterproductive. They take capital out of the marketplace and make government bigger and bulkier." — Amarillo Daily News February 5, 1984
"McBride says he is 'flexible' (about tax increases) if the need arises. (If necessary), he would suggest a one cent sales tax increase. He also says he would consider new suggestions for taxing methods if they were feasible..." — Amarillo Sunday News-Globe April 29, 1984	"We are impressed by Smithee's dedication to fiscal restraint during a time when the governor and some state legislative leaders are considering as many as four major tax increases during the next year." — Amarillo Daily News April 30, 1984

they can beat the No. 1 team it's a dream come true."

The Huskies' first test as the nation's new No. 1 team won't come against a 3-3 or 4-4 team, but rather against 4-2 Oregon in Seattle.

"I think a lot of coaches are anxious to get up into the Top Twenty," James says. "It's important for a lot of programs to get that kind of recognition for selling tickets and recruiting."

As befits a No. 1 team, the Huskies are 19-point favorites. That seems a little much, but let's try . . .

Washington 24-17.
Last week's score was 34 right, 14 wrong and four ties for a percentage of .708; for the season, 237-86-9-.734. Against the spread, last week was 18-16-1-.529; on the year, 92-91-2-.503.

No. 2 Oklahoma (favored by 27) at Iowa State: Oklahoma 42-14.
Arkansas at No. 3 Texas (by 12): Texas 24-10.

No. 4 Boston College (by 4) at West Virginia: Boston College 27-17.

Couple to be honored during dance Sunday

A combination square, round and western dance will be held in honor of Al and Olga Harris Sunday afternoon in St. Anthony's School gymnasium. Friends and former dance students of the couple are invited to attend the event which is being hosted by the Merry Mixers Square Dance club of Hereford as well as clubs in Amarillo and Lubbock.

There will be no admission charge but a money tree will be presented to the honorees following the dance.

Rounds will begin at 3 p.m. and will be cued by Leonard and Arlene Marchbanks of Amarillo and square dancing is scheduled from 4 to 6 p.m. with Freddie McKee of Merry Mixers calling. He will be assisted by Roy Johnson, Randy Wilson and Larry Kuper, all of Amarillo.

There will be a refreshment break and the dance will conclude with western dancing cued by Daryle and Bobbie Stephens of Clovis, N.M.

The Harrises moved to Hereford from Colorado Springs, Colo. in January of 1970 where Harris was employed by Sugarland Feed Yards until 1974. He then began working for Amstar in Dimmitt where he remained until his retirement in October 1983.

The couple immediately began organizing a square dance club upon their arrival in Hereford and their first caller was Herrick Allen. The dances were held in the former Jim Hill Hotel ballroom.

A round dance club, the Merry-Go-Rounds, was formed here with Wes and Alberta Grumke as instructors and in 1980 the Harrises became instructors for the club.

They also began teaching western dance and have taught approximately 450 couples in Hereford and the surrounding area. Due to ill health, Harris was forced to retire from teaching in March of this year.

The couple have three daughters, Sheryl McCausland of Amarillo, Judy Thompson of Stamford, and Becky Barlow of Orick Calif.

Bluebirds name group, Omimi

St. Anthony's School's second and third grade Bluebird group met Tuesday afternoon to select a name for their group, Omimi, and to elect officers.

Brianna Reinauer was elected president; Megan Sanderson, vice-president; and Shannon Mannschreck, secretary.

Chilled candles

DEAR POLLY — Can you store candles in the refrigerator to keep them from melting? — A.M.

DEAR A.M. — Indeed, you can. You can also store them in the freezer, which some folks say has the added benefit of making them burn more slowly. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To make your own frozen pops, mix any fruit-flavored drink mix in pop molds or paper cups. To make pudding pops, simply freeze prepared instant pudding in the same way. You can also make a good pop by preparing any flavor of gelatin, then mixing in whipped topping as the gelatin starts to thicken and freezing the mixture in pop molds. I use two parts gelatin to one part topping. All these frozen pops are much less expensive to make than to buy ready-made. — SHARON

DEAR POLLY — When I buy watermelon or canteloupe, I peel and seed it, cut it up into cubes and pack the fruit into quart glass jars or other airtight containers before storing it in the refrigerator. It is then ready to use for salads or snacks for the children. The fruit is colorful and refreshing and the children often eat a few melon cubes instead of drinking a soft drink. Melon prepared this way is ready to eat and you avoid having the odor of melon in the refrigerator. — MARGARET

DEAR POLLY — On Sunday, I buy a pound of chipped ham and serve some of it for a quick and easy lunch. Then it is used for my husband's sandwiches that week. If there are any leftovers, I make barbecued chipped ham for Friday's or Monday's supper.

When the ketchup bottle is almost empty, I rinse it with a small amount of water and add it to the barbecued chipped ham or a sloppy Joe mix. — GAIL

New From First National Bank The Super N.O.W. Account

As part of our continuing program of offering you the best possible banking services, it gives us great pleasure to offer you an account that gives you the best of savings and checking — in one package.

It's better than a traditional N.O.W. Account because, instead of 5 1/4% interest, you earn some of the highest interest rates available in today's competitive market place.

You do have to deposit a minimum of $2,500 to open your account. And you must maintain $2,500 to earn the top interest. If your balance falls below $2,500, you earn 5 1/4% interest.

We're excited about this new account. And, while not everyone will want to open one of these accounts, we think you should investigate the advantages of having your account all in one location — right here at home.

'Burning Bed,' baseball team up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC's coverage of World Series baseball helped give the network a runaway victory in the Nielsen ratings last week, but it was Farrah Fawcett and "The Burning Bed" that delivered the grand-slam homerun.

The rating for the movie, the fourth highest for a TV movie and the highest of any program for the week, was 36.2 and it had a 52 percent share of the audience.

That put it far ahead of the fifth and final game of the World Series, which took second place. The game, in which the Detroit Tigers beat the San Diego Padres for the title, had a rating of 29.7.

In all, with the movie, baseball and an assist from Bill Cosby, NBC had its biggest victory in four years. CBS, winner for the first two weeks of the fall season, sank to second place. ABC was third. NBC also moved into first place for the three-week-old season.

"The Burning Bed," was a story about a woman who kills her husband after years of abuse and is found innocent by a jury.

Like a consolation prize, third-place ABC's "Dynasty" was the top-rated regular show for the week, placing fifth.

NBC had a network average of 22.1 in the A.C. Nielsen Co. survey for the week ended Oct. 14. CBS was second with 15.3 and ABC was third with 15.0. The networks say this means that in an average prime-time minute 22.1 percent of the TV homes were tuned to NBC.

It was NBC's best performance in the ratings since the week of Sept. 15, 1980, when the miniseries "Shogun" was on.

Here are the five bottom shows in descending order: The CBS movie

"Attack on Fear," ABC's "Jessie," ABC's "Ripley's Believe It or Not," CBS' National League Football prime-time runner, and ABC's "20-20."

CBS remained ahead among the evening news shows. ABC was second and NBC third. The ratings: CBS 11.5, ABC 10.1, NBC 9.2.

Here are the week's Top 10 shows:

1. Movie—"The Burning Bed," NBC, a rating of 36.2 or 30.7 million households.
2. World Series Game No. 5, NBC, 29.7 or 25.2 million.
3. World Series Game No. 1, NBC, 27.7 or 23.5 million.
4. World Series Game No. 2, NBC, 26.0 or 22.0 million.
5. "Dynasty," ABC, 25.1 or 21.3 million.
6. World Series Post Game No. 5, NBC, 24.8 or 21.0 million.

Department asked to compensate nurseries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has been asked by Florida officials to compensate nurseries for future losses in the fight against citrus canker, a disease deadly to trees that threatens the state's citrus industry.

Doyle Conner, Florida state agriculture commissioner, said Monday he asked the Agriculture Department to declare an "extraordinary emergency" in the canker situation, a technical move that would clear the way for payments.

The outbreak of citrus canker is just as serious to the nation's citrus growers as an outbreak of foreign foot-and-mouth disease would be to U.S. livestock producers, Conner said.

Assistant Secretary C.W. McMillan, who appeared with Conner at a USDA news conference, said no decision was reached but that an answer would be forthcoming by Wednesday.

No dollar amount was mentioned. Conner said the first step would be to determine whether the federal government would provide the payments. The state, he said, already is committed to indemnifying nurseries for the destruction of plants found to have the disease or exposed to it.

In all, more than four million young plants have been destroyed in the eradication effort, all nursery stock. No canker has been found in commercial groves.

McMillan said that if indemnities are approved they would begin on the date that an "extraordinary emergency" is declared. There is no provision for the payments to be retroactive, he said.

Such an indemnity strategy was used to combat the recent outbreaks of avian influenza, a disease which resulted in the destruction of millions of birds on poultry farms in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. The federal payments totaled more than $60 million.

McMillan said that if the program is approved for Florida citrus canker, it would be the first for a disease of plants.

Conner said there is a great demand for nursery stock in the citrus industry, which has been trying to recover from freeze losses to more than 100,000 acres.

"We feel that it's absolutely necessary for the (canker) eradication program to continue," Conner said. "But the question has been raised: should we continue to destroy private property without compensation?"

The canker eradication program is carried out cooperatively on a 50-50 basis by the federal and state governments. McMillan said that program will continue irrespective of the indemnity decision.
