Eleven students in the Hereford High Building Trades Program, directed by Jerry Rawley-Whitaker, are about three-fourths done with this year's project at La Plata and Hickory. The 1600-square foot house has four times as much insulation as the average home and will stay heated electrically for about $25 to $30 a month in the winter. Student in two classes are involved in the project and welcome visitors on the site.

Financial outlook brighter for DSGH

Deaf Smith General Hospital's financial outlook brightened in March, board members were told during Tuesday's regular noon meeting.

Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard announced that Medicare payments which have been behind for several months were caught up with Medicare's March remittance to the hospital. Bullard said the hospital was able to put some of that money in the renovation fund and make a construction progress payment due the contractor.

Bullard also discussed an audit being made on all Texas hospitals by a peer review organization. He said the records of a certain percentage of Medicare patients are audited to determine if the patient was admitted for a true medical necessity rather than just custodial care.

If the panel finds a case of abuse, Bullard explained, Medicare will not pay for that patient's care. In addition, he said, the review body may then decide to audit every Medicare patient admitted to the hospital. The local hospital has had no problems, Bullard told the board, and currently only a small, random percentage of Medicare patients is being looked at. Board President Frank Zinser announced that Hap Cavness will chair this year's finance committee, with Margie Ford, John Gilliland and Dr. Gerald Payne to serve on the committee.

The hospital's average daily census was 27.9 for the month of March, compared with 30.1 patients last year. So far this year, the census is about one patient per day less than last year's figure.

Spring primary proposal passes Senate on voice vote

After filibuster

AUSTIN (AP) — House members now have the job of deciding what to do about Texas Democratic Party proposals for an early March presidential primary.

The bill was approved by the Senate Tuesday on voice vote, without additional comment, following a six-hour filibuster on Monday.

A similar House bill has been held in a subcommittee for several weeks.

The Senate's six Republicans opposed the presidential primary Monday in a series of votes with Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, leading the filibuster. Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, joined them in a 24-7 test vote although the bill was given tentative approval on a voice vote.

On Tuesday, nine senators voted against bringing up the measure for final approval. Joining the Republicans and Blake on the debate vote were Sens. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, and Bill Sims, D-San Angelo.

The presidential primary measure, which originated from a move by the State Democratic Executive Committee, would allow Texans to vote in a "Super Tuesday" presidential primary in March 1988.

Sen. Chet Edwards' bill would set up a presidential primary for Democrats and Republicans on the second Tuesday of March in presidential election years.

The May primary date for state and local candidates would remain the same, but a person voting in the presidential primary would have to vote in the same party's primary in May.

For several years, Texas Republicans have been holding presidential primaries at the same time they vote in the May primary. Texas Democrats in the past have chosen their delegates for national conventions, where the presidential nominee is selected, through a complex caucus system.

Under Edwards' bill, at least 75 percent of the delegates, excluding elected and party officials, would be named according to the popular vote in the presidential primary. Party conventions would choose the remaining 25 percent.

Republicans also objected to the estimated $10 million cost for the primary, and Edwards responded that amount represented "one thousandth of the state budget but would give us an opportunity to cast a vote and a vote that will count in the single most important election in the nation."

The Senate also approved 29-0 and sent to the governor a House-approved bill that would reauthorize the Temporary Emergency Relief Program first approved by the 1983 (See PRIMARY, Page 2)

Concentration camp added to Reagan's Germany itinerary

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan is trying to make amends to American Jewish and veterans leaders by adding a visit to a concentration camp site to his German travel plans next month, but his critics remain dissatisfied.

"It's not a balancing act, with a concentration camp visit equalling a SS cemetery," said Daniel Thursz, executive vice president of B'nai B'rith International. "I think a visit to a cemetery that contains SS troops is inappropriate under any circumstances."

Faced with outrage over his planned visit to the German military cemetery at Bitburg, Reagan on Tuesday said he would include a stop at the site of a former Nazi death camp or some other symbol of the Holocaust, when millions of Jews were murdered.

Reagan triggered the protests of Jewish groups and veterans last week by announcing plans to lay a wreath at the Bitburg cemetery, the German staging area for the bloody "Battle of the Bulge" and the place where many SS troops are buried. Less than a month earlier he had ruled out a visit to a concentration camp site, saying he wanted to avoid "reawakening the memories...and the passion of the time."

The president acknowledged the controversy in a meeting with 200 religious leaders, saying West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl had invited him to visit both the Bitburg cemetery and a concentration camp. Reagan said the decision to bypass the camp site was taken "because of my mistaken impression that such a visit was outside the official agenda."

Chancellor Kohl's recent letter to me, however, has made it plain that my invitation to visit a concentration camp was indeed a part of his planned itinerary. So I have now accepted that invitation and my staff is in Germany exploring a site that would fit into our schedule there."

Reagan is keeping the Bitburg ceremony on his schedule and said it would show how the two countries are able "to cement the 40 years of friendship" since the war.

"That's why I accepted the invitation to Bitburg and that's why I'm going to Bitburg," Reagan said.

Reagan will be in Germany for the economic summit in Bonn. His trip nearly coincides with the 40th anniversary of the Allied victory over Germany ending World War II.

Lebanon chief resigns

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Prime Minister Rashid Karami resigned today as Moslem militiamen fought fierce house-to-house battles in west Beirut, killing more than 20 people and imperiling hundreds of children in an orphanage.

The Sunni Moslem premier announced his resignation in a recorded statement broadcast by local radio stations, describing the heaviest street clashes that rocked Beirut in a year as a "horrific nightmare."

His resignation constitutionally means the collapse of his nine-man national coalition Cabinet he formed with Syria's blessing last April 30 to try to end Lebanon's 10-year civil war.

Members of the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union met for the 48th annual membership meeting Tuesday night in the Hereford Community Center.

According to Kerr's president's report, the credit union has increased deposits by 2.9 percent for a total of $12,818,233.88. Loans have increased 16 percent for a total of $8,169,880.65. Total assets are at $13,864,817.46 for a 2.2 percent increase from last year.

Senior Center grand opening Sunday

The realization of a dream will be celebrated Sunday with grand opening ceremonies at the new Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Activities get underway at 1:15 p.m. with the leveling of the cornerstone, conducted by the Grand Lodge of Texas.

The program, to feature Doug Manning as master of ceremonies, will begin at 2 p.m. in the dining room area of the center. The ceremony includes a pledge to the flag, welcome by Hereford Senior Citizens Association President Homer Garrison, music by the Hereford Chamber Singers and a keynote address by Bob Bobbett, Director of the Texas Department on Aging.

Tours will begin after the program and continue until 6 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The 15,500 square foot center, located near the corner of Ranger and Sycamore, was financed entirely from donations.

The Hereford Senior Citizens Association boasts more than 1,000 members, with 350 to 400 persons enjoying a noon meal either at the center or courtesy of the home delivery program.

"We're really excited about the open house," commented Executive Director Margie Daniels. "We want people in the community to see what we have."

Daniels said the facility, built expressly for senior citizens, is unique not only for a town the size of Hereford but for any city in the state. She said senior citizens programs are often housed in a portion of a building used for other purposes as well.

Board members instrumental in the design and construction of the building were Garrison, J.O. Robinson, B.E. Roberson, Nell Culpepper, J.L. Bozeman, Lucille Martin, Homer Brumley, Mrs. R.L. Wilson, Mrs. Cecil Lady, Mrs. Howard Hershey and L.B. Russell.

Ready For Grand Opening

Tours of the new Hereford Senior Citizens Center will be conducted Sunday during the grand opening and dedication ceremony. An Austin official with the Texas Department on Aging is scheduled to speak during the 2 p.m. program, with tours to continue through 6 p.m.

Guards suspended in investigation

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Two more Texas prison guards were suspended as part of an investigation into an alleged prostitution business run by a Texas Department of Corrections inmate, a spokesman said.

The action Tuesday brings to three the number of TDC guards suspended in connection with the case.

Suspended without pay were Eastham Unit guards Tomas Sanchez and Brian Tolley, both 25, TDC spokesman Phil Guthrie said.

Guthrie declined to say what connection the guards may have had with the investigation.

Last month Eastham inmate Raymond Carl Freda Sr., 51, was indicted on organized crime charges alleging he ran the alleged prostitution business, named Hot Tub Club No. 1, from his cell near Lovelady.

Also indicted in the case were Freda's wife, Dolores Conti, 44; her brother, Tony Rubino, 34; former TDC guard Francisco Olicas, 23; and Patsy Inez Perkins, an employee at the club. All remained jailed Tuesday.

Two other employees of the club were indicted but have not been arrested.

Sanchez and Tolley were suspended pending completion of investigations by TDC and law enforcement authorities, Guthrie said.

Sanchez is a 4-year employee of TDC and Tolley became a guard in December 1984.

Thousands may be involved

HOUSTON (AP) — A lawsuit alleging San Jacinto County authorities violated the civil rights of motorists stopped in a highway trap could involve "hundreds, if not thousands of plaintiffs," attorneys said.

U.S. District Judge approved a request by American Civil Liberties Union attorneys to include all people arrested after August 1977 on U.S. Highway 59 in San Jacinto County.

But the judge on Monday also said he may limit the number of plaintiffs as the case gets closer to trial.

ACLU attorneys allege the people arrested were victims of sheriff's deputies, bondsmen or wrecker drivers.

The alleged abuses include stopping cars without legal justification, illegal searches, improper arrests, denying suspects the right to contact attorneys, coercing defendants to plead guilty and denying defendants the right to a trial.

Defendants in the lawsuit, including former San Jacinto County Sheriff James "Humpty" Parker and his son, former Deputy Gary Parker, either pleaded guilty or were convicted at a jury trial of civil rights charges stemming from the highway trap and the torturing of prisoners.

Black on Monday ruled the suit a class action case, but defense attorneys said the case should be limited to its four original plaintiffs.

ACLU attorneys Val Perkins and Ruben Rendon said the cases of "certainly hundreds, if not thousands" of people in San Jacinto County were so similar that the it would be more practical to handle them all at once.

But defense attorney Ed McAninch said the class is defined so broadly that some potential plaintiffs may not be contacted and could unwittingly be parties to a lawsuit with which they disagree.

"Maybe they don't want to get involved. Maybe they do want to forget about it," McAninch said.

The judge told lawyers to be ready for a trial in November, but he noted the volume of the complaints may delay the trial further.

Pickens decries Unocal 'Poison Pill'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Texas oilman T. Boone Pickens Jr., decriing Unocal Corp.'s proposed massive stock buyback as a "poison pill," has pledged to continue his fight to take over the parent of Union Oil Co. of California.

"We regard this latest defensive maneuver as a thinly disguised ploy designed to coerce us into abandoning our offer for Unocal," Pickens said Tuesday.

Pickens, the chairman of Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo, Texas, commented several hours after Unocal unveiled a plan to buy back 87.2 million of its 173.9 million shares with securities worth $72 a share, or $6.28 billion.

Unocal's offer, which begins today and expires May 14, is more lucrative than what is being offered by the Pickens' group, Mesa Partners II, and would burden Unocal with substantially more debt than the Pickens offer.

Under Unocal's proposal, stock would be repurchased only if Pickens succeeds in the next step of his attempt to acquire the nation's 13th largest oil company, a cash offer of $54 a share for 64 million shares of Unocal stock.

That offer, to raise Mesa Partner's share in Unocal to 50.1 percent from the 13.6 percent it now holds, is scheduled to expire May 3.

If successful in that bid, Mesa Partners has said it will offer debt securities worth $54 a share, or $4.65 billion, for the remaining stock. The entire buyout would cost $9.21 billion, including $1.1 billion that Mesa Partners already has spent.

Unocal, whose board over the weekend rejected Mesa Partners' proposal as "grossly inadequate," said its own offer is "designed to provide the shareholders with an opportunity ... to exchange their shares for a fair value."

It also said the proposal is "intended to make it more difficult for the Mesa offer to be completed."

But Pickens termed Unocal's offer "illusory" and said Mesa Partners would "take whatever actions are necessary to deal with the poison pill and continue our efforts to purchase Unocal."

On Wall Street, the term "poison pill" refers to a takeover defense designed to make a company so expensive to acquire that it is poisonous to a hostile suitor.

Pickens again urged shareholders to side with him in a proxy fight aimed at postponing for two months Unocal's April 29 annual meeting and election of directors.

Saccharin expected to win okay

New investigation needed

By The Associated Press

The Department of Public Safety chief says authorities may never know how many people serial murderer Henry Lee Lucas killed, but Attorney General Jim Mattox says he'll ask for money to try and find out.

DPS head Col. Jim Adams said at an Austin press conference Tuesday that Lucas' latest claim that he killed only three people — he said earlier that he has slain as many as 600 — is "ludicrous."

"I don't think we'll ever know," Adams said, "and I don't think he will tell or ever remember everything."

Meanwhile in Waco, where Lucas is to face a grand jury hearing this morning, Mattox interviewed Lucas for hours and then said he wants a special investigation into all Lucas' confessions.

Mattox says his office couldn't afford such a sweeping investigation and that the money would have to come from the governor's office, the Waco Tribune-Herald reported today.

"It will most certainly take a number of investigators to quickly review these different travels Lucas has taken," he said. "And it would take a good deal of out-of-state travel."

Mattox says the new investigation is needed because the Texas Rangers

Homicide Task Force, which has been investigating Lucas' confessions since 1983, did not believe it was its responsibility to determine the validity of Lucas' confessions.

"Much of the investigation ... has been an effort to establish that (Lucas) did commit certain crimes," Mattox said. "And perhaps we need to look at it from the other perspective and see what crimes he did not commit."

At various times, Lucas has claimed to have committed 100 to 600 killings. Adams said police nationwide currently attribute 189 murders to the one-eyed drifter.

This week, the Dallas Times Herald quoted Lucas as saying most of his confessions were bogus — a hoax to show up authorities. Lucas told the newspaper he really killed just three people.

But Adams said in Austin that Lucas provided investigators with details only the murderer could have known about numerous killings.

"In over 100 cases we know of, he ... took (officers) to the scene of the crime. And some of these read like a whodunit as far as the detail he was able to give them," Adams said. "If he is claiming only three people, I think that assertion is ludicrous."

But Adams said some police agencies may have been too quick to credit Lucas with killings to clear pending cases of the books.

Adams and Texas Ranger Sgt. Bob Prince, a task force member, said they know of 15 to 20 cases that were initially blamed on Lucas only to be reopened later.

"There's no question whatsoever that some of the cases that have been credited to him by those departments are not cases that were committed by Henry Lee Lucas," Adams said.

The DPS chief defended the task force his department established to deal with Lucas cases.

Some critics suggest the task force should have noticed apparent discrepancies which indicate Lucas couldn't have committed some crimes to which he confessed.

Adams said the task force never was designed to investigate the slayings Lucas said he committed in 26 states, but to make Lucas available to investigators from around the country. To date, Lucas has talked to some 1,000 lawmen, Adams said.

Asked why Lucas now might be trying to recant earlier confessions, Adams replied, "Maybe he's beginning to see the cases picking up a little bit down at Huntsville on executions."

Cult still fascinates believers

ESPINAZO, Mexico (AP) — It is said a healer once lived here and that he died before his time.

It is believed by many that the healer's work continues, that his spirit empowers his followers to heal others as he did.

Twice each year, thousands of believers gather here to celebrate the birth and death of the healer, Fidencio S. Constantino — El Nino.

On March 19, about 15,000 fedencistas jammed the main street of this isolated rural community in the northern Mexican state of Nuevo Leon, normally populated by scarcely more than 200 people.

They were singing "Las Mananitas," the birthday song, to El Nino, who was legendary for his powers of healing even as an adolescent.

The festival of the Nino's birth was a mixture of piety, con artists, food stalls and sellers of soft goods — everything from underwear to religious memorabilia.

The smell of incense mingled with the wood fires of pilgrims' campsites and cooking odors heavy with chicken, kid, beef, beans, rice, cactus and corn tortillas.

From a cemetery on a hill south of Espinazo, one looks north toward town, across a broad, dusty valley of the Sierra Madre Oriental, from the state of Coahuila into the state of Nuevo Leon.

The cemetery is one of several places in and near Espinazo where groups of pilgrims gather with group leaders who "take on the spirit of the Nino" to perform a multitude of healing and blessing rituals.

They also lead processions of penitents, who punish themselves in order to feel worthy of the Nino's "friendship," and those who have made promises of devotional acts in exchange for a favor from the Nino.

The processions, which range in size from half a dozen to several hundred, make their way three times around the Pirulito, a pepper tree where, it is said, the Nino once fought a demon and where, according to the songs, the spirit of the Nino descends from heaven to earth.

The processions end at La Tumba, where Constantino is buried in a large building that was once his hospital, but now it is a shrine filled with memorabilia and testimonies from those who claim they have been healed by the Nino.

Adjacent to the shrine is the mudhole where pilgrims bathe with muddy, mineral-laden water said to have healing qualities. The mudhole was created by the Nino for use by hospital patients.

During his lifetime, Fidencio Constantino was besieged by supplicants. The details of his life are a hazy blend of myth and history, but detractors and adherents agree that he was an extraordinary man.

Those who knew him say he was melancholy and self-effacing, that he lived simply in spite of his notoriety, that he went hatless and shoeless, spending hours and days at a time in solitude and prayer in nearby mountain caves and at the Pirulito.

Ann Landers

Wake up, America!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your response to "Mother of Two Brown Grads" was right on target with one exception. Students today must take on large debts in order to finance their educations - the average student who borrows leaves Bryn Mawr College owing $8,500 to the federal government. (Over half of our students get financial aid from college funds, federal funds, loans and jobs.)

We must understand that debt may be a factor in career decision-making for this generation. Even after a career choice has been made, decisions within the field may also be determined by the need to pay back large debts - surgery may be preferred to family medicine, for example.

As we ponder the messages from Washington proposing reductions in federal financial aid, we should consider the long-term consequences of such action for our nation as a whole. -Sincerely Yours, Mary Patterson McPherson, President of Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

DEAR MARY MARGARET MCPHERSON: You are right on!

President Kennedy said the youth of our country is its richest natural resource. Surely President Reagan agrees. It would be foolhardy and short-sighted to reduce federal financial aid to students. We can ill afford to tamper with this segment of our society. Too much is at stake. We must help our young people to be all they CAN be, and education is what will make the difference. Student aid is the biggest bargain in the country.

To the smug or complacent among us, I have a statistic. This is from a book called "Illiterate America," by Jonathan Kozol: One third of us - 60 million Americans - cannot read the poison warning on a can of pesticide, a letter from their child's teacher, or the front page of a daily newspaper. It is shocking to realize that the United States ranks 49th in literacy levels among the 158 United Nations countries.

Wake up, America! It's later than you think!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please warn your readers of all ages to make proper wills and leave their personal items to those they wish to have them.

When Dad got engaged to be married, we were all happy for him. Mom had been dead a year and he was so lonely. But when he gave his fiancée a diamond ring that had been in Mom's family for three generations and announced that all of Mom's inherited china and silver were to be his bride's, we told him we didn't think Mom would have wanted that. He told us the decision was HIS and that we should mind our own business.

Leagly, Dad has every right to do these things because Mom's will left him everything. Had she known the heartache we kids are experiencing, I know she would have written codicils to be sure her children would inherit her personal possessions.

Study club members meet for home tour

Keith Ann Gearn welcomed members of Veleda Study Club when the group met for a tour of her recently redecorated home.

She shared her knowledge of antiques as she showed how she has decorated her home using various antiques and collectables. Included were many pieces of English oak furniture.

She has used wooden egg crates, a sugar paddle, and all kinds of boxes and scales as accent pieces, all of which are American primitives.

Gearn emphasized that there is no antique furniture from this area because "no trees, no furniture." During the tour, she pointed out that her carved oak framed mirrors survived the house fire they had about a year ago.

Following the informative program, the group met in the home of Marjorie lasiter for a business

Vilas eliminates Amritraj

HOUSTON (AP) — Argentina's Guillermo Vilas, unaccustomed to the wilting Texas Gulf Coast humidity, beat the heat and India's Vijay Amritraj in the first round of the $200,000 River Oaks International Tennis Tournament but he wasn't certain which was the greater foe. "We were playing more against the heat and the conditions than anything else," said Vilas, dripping with sweat after he had eliminated Amritraj 7-5, 6-2. "Today was a good test."

Amritraj spurred to a 4-1 lead in the first set but faded quickly in the 87-degree, 39 percent humidity on the Stadium Court. "I was running him around more than he was running me," Vilas said. "He was making some strange shots." Amritraj lost his serve in the seventh and fifth games of the opening set and was broken in the first and seventh games of the second set. "I'm always at a loss on what to do on this stuff," Amritraj said of the clay court surface. In earlier singles matches, Ramesh Krishnan of India, a house guest of Houston's Sammy Giammalva, took advantage of his host and rolled to a 6-0, 6-4 and Boris Becker of West Germany beat John Boytim, United States, 6-4, 6-4. Finals in singles and doubles are scheduled Sunday with $40,000 going to the singles champion. The doubles winners will split $8,000.

Hereford popular on track honor roll

Seven Hereford athletes and two relay teams have been named to this week's Amarillo Globe News Girls' Track Honor Roll. Lisa Redmon and Falecia Redmon, with times of 26.0, made the list in the 200 meter dash. Selma Morena is listed in the 1600 meter run, with the third best time of 5:44.3, and in the 3200 meter run at 12:47.2. Teammate Lina Esqueda, with 12:33.7, is also on the 3200 meter honor roll. Shot put honorees are Stephanie Thomas, with the third best throw of 37' 8"; and Diana Devers at 36' 8", in eighth. Thomas also made the discus list with her 110-6 effort. Stacey Sanders is tied for fifth with a Dumas long jumper with a distance of 17' 4". The 400 meter relay team and the 800 meter relay team are in third places with times of 49.8 and 1:44.8.

Hereford tied for seventh place

Hereford is tied for seventh place in the District 3-5A baseball standings following Tuesday evening's loss to Caprock, 8-7, at Whiteface field. The Whitefaces are 7-10 on the season. Caprock's Hondo McKinney pitched the whole game for the Longhorns.

Drexler, Trail Blazers finally adjust to each other

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Clyde Drexler and the Portland Trail Blazers seem finally to have adjusted to one another. The multi-talented Drexler, who felt like an outcast on the bench last season, is the main man in the team's rush to the playoffs. But he admits some bitterness remains. "It kind of hurt me when they didn't give me a chance to show what I could do," he said. "I don't think I'll ever forgive them for that." The Trail Blazers and Drexler were a strange mix from the start. He was a spectacular member of the University of Houston's Phi Slamma Jamma fraternity, the slam-dunking, run-and-gun team that advanced in 1983 to NCAA's championship game before being upset by North Carolina State. The Trail Blazers long have been known as the most disciplined, structured team in the National Basketball Association. Rarely have they had players with spectacular abilities and they've never had anyone like Drexler. When the 6-foot-7 Drexler left Houston after his junior year, the Blazers tabbed him in the first round. The transition from Houston to Portland was tough; the switch from the loose reins of Coach Guy Lewis to the Blazers' Jack Ramsay was tougher. "It was like night and day," Drexler said. "I was a free-wheeling type of player and they were all disciplined...Last year was the worst year of my life, if you want to know the truth." "It was 'this is Portland, we don't play that way here,'" Drexler said. "But that's basketball. That's the way I've always played," he said. Drexler grumbled about lack of playing time. "I said they should trade me if they weren't going to play me," he said. Ramsay told him to be patient, saying he still had a lot to learn. This season, Drexler got his chance. He was a starter at the outset when Jim Paxson was injured, then became the first man off the bench when Paxson returned. Shortly thereafter, he moved to starting small forward when Kiki Vandeweghe was hurt, then he shifted to guard again when Paxson suffered a dislocated finger. Paxson is back, but there's no dislodging Drexler from the starting lineup. "I've started most of the season," he said. "Only now I'm starting because of the way I'm playing." Drexler figures he always should have been a starter. "There was no question in my mind," he said. "He (Ramsay) has no one out there who has a better total game than I have." There are plenty who agree with him: Los Angeles Lakers Coach Pat Riley, for example. "Drexler came into this league as a great package," Riley said. "But just like a lot of the young Portland players, he had to learn the style. He is very gifted, a great talent, and I believe one of the best players in the league." "He has great floor speed. He is a good jump shooter, one of the best leapers around, plays good defense and is an excellent passer," the Lakers' coach said. "He could improve his ball handling a little, but that's a minor matter." "A lot of people may have figured he was just a leaper from Houston," Riley said. "But he has great instincts for this game that few players can develop in their careers." And he's only 22 years old. While Drexler figures he should have been able to start as a rookie, the coach disagrees. Ramsay says Drexler is playing now because he's playing better. "He's made great strides from where he was last year," Ramsay said. "He's playing under control." Drexler played 80 games this season, averaged 16.5 points per game, was second on the team in assists with 441, third in rebounding at nearly six per game, and was eighth in the NBA in steals at 2.2 per contest. Twice this season he accomplished the "triple double," hitting double figures in scoring, rebounding and assists.

Except for Astros, scores were low in National League action

By BEN WALKER
AP Sports Writer

Ron Darling pitched a great game for the New York Mets. Jose DeLeon threw superbly for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Yet all that either of them had after the Mets' 2-1 victory Tuesday night was an empty feeling.

"We won the game and that's the big thing, but I'd be lying if I didn't say I was frustrated," said Darling.

Zandejas

USFL honoree

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles Express place-kicker Tony Zandejas, who kicked four field goals in his team's 18-17 upset victory over Houston Sunday, was named the United States Football League Player of the Week.

Zandejas made field goals of 35, 20, 22 and 47 yards as he helped Los Angeles win only its second game in eight starts. He has made 17 of 20 field goals this season.

who allowed just one hit — a single by Johnny Ray to lead off the first inning — but left after walking two batters to start the eighth. "I've pitched well for two games and have nothing to show for it except the thanks of my teammates."

DeLeon gave up just four hits over eight innings and struck out 14.

"I just don't want to talk to anybody right now," said DeLeon, who struggled to a 7-13 record last season — with the Pirates either being shut out or held to one run in all but two of those losses.

As it turned out, the game was decided in the ninth inning. New York's Mookie Wilson led off the top half of the inning with a triple against John Candelaria, 1-1, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Keith Hernandez.

Jesse Orosco, 1-0, who allowed Pittsburgh's tying run to score in the eighth on a groundout, struck out the side in the bottom of the ninth to complete the combined one-hitter.

The victory boosted New York's record to 6-1.

In other NL games on a low-scoring day, Chicago nipped Philadelphia 1-0 in 10 innings, Cincinnati edged Atlanta 2-1, San Diego tipped San Francisco 2-1 and Houston rallied past Los Angeles 7-3.

Cubs 1, Phillies 0

There were no 1-0 games at Wrigley Field last season, but fine efforts by Chicago's Dennis Eckersley and Philadelphia's Jerry Koonsman — along with a 24 mph wind blowing in from center field — produced one this time.

Eckersley, 1-1, went the entire 10 innings, giving up five hits while striking out 11. It was his first shutout in three years.

Koonsman went eight innings and gave up five hits.

Astros 7, Dodgers 3

Bill Doran's suicide-squeeze bunt, coupled with an error by reliever Ken Howell on the play, allowed two runs to score as Houston rallied for six runs in the top of the ninth inning against three Los Angeles pitchers.

Houston trailed 3-1 going into the ninth, but Kevin Bass led off with a double against Tom Niedenfuer. Steve Howe, the eventual losing pitcher, relieved and gave up an RBI single to pinch hitter Jim Pankovits and a one-out infield hit to Jerry Mumphy.

Howell then took over; but promptly yielded a single to pinch hitter Enos Cabell that made it 3-3. After Mark Bailey walked on four pitches to load the bases, the Astros put on the squeeze and Doran bunted back to the mound. Howell's throw to the plate was late and wild, allowing two runs to score. Doran was credited with a sacrifice.

Another run scored when second baseman Mariano Duncan mishandled catcher Steve Yeager's throw on a stolen base and pinch hitter Craig Reynolds singled home the final run of the uprising.

Reds 2, Braves 1

Mario Soto pitched a seven-hitter and Eric Davis broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning to give Cincinnati its victory in Atlanta.

The only blemish on Soto's performance was a home run by Dale Murphy in the second inning. It was the fifth homer of the year for Murphy, who also singled and is now 13-for-27 this season with 14 RBIs.

Soto, 2-1, struck out eight and walked two.

Padres 2, Giants 1

Kevin McReynolds hit a sacrifice fly in the first inning, Garry Templeton singled home a run in the second and San Diego starter Andy Hawkins and two relievers made it stand up.

Hawkins, 2-0, worked 6 2-3 innings and gave up seven hits.

The host Padres turned four double plays, all started by Templeton at shortstop, to stay out of trouble.

Dave LaPoint, 0-2, took the loss.

Tigers can thank shortstop Trammell for marvelous 6-0 season start

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers are doing everything they can to duplicate last year's marvelous start. And they have shortstop Alan Trammell to thank for it so far.

Sporting a .417 batting average, Trammell is one of the main reasons the Tigers have a 6-0 record. Trammell's home run and sacrifice fly Tuesday night keyed the Tigers' 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Trammell gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead with a sacrifice fly in the first inning. Then, after the Brewers tied it in the fourth, Trammell delivered the winning run with a homer in the fifth.

In other American League games, Kansas City beat Boston 2-0; Cleveland tripped Baltimore 6-3; Texas stopped Toronto 9-4; New York edged Chicago 5-4, and Oakland outscored Seattle 9-7.

Royals 2, Red Sox 0

Danny Jackson pitched a three-hitter and Steve Balboni slammed a two-run homer in the second inning as Kansas City beat Boston to end a four-game losing streak.

Jackson held Boston hitless for 5 2-3 innings before Dwight Evans singled to center. The other Boston hits were singles by Bill Buckner in the seventh and Mike Easler in the ninth.

Jackson, 1-0, struck out two and walked four as he handed the Red Sox their first shutout since July 30, 1984.

Indians 6, Orioles 3

Vern Ruhle pitched 6 1-3 shutout innings and Julio Franco drove in three runs to lead Cleveland over Baltimore for the Indians' first victory of the season after five losses.

Ruhle is now 1-1. Dennis Martinez, 0-1, took the loss.

Rangers 9, Blue Jays 4

Run-scoring triples by Don Slaught and Pete O'Brien highlighted a four-run fifth inning that triggered Texas over Toronto.

All nine Texas starters drove in a run, and eight of them scored in the Rangers' balanced attack, as they won for the first time in six games this season and spoiled the Blue Jays' home opener.

Yankees 5, White Sox 4

Don Baylor slammed a home run off the left field foul pole screen in the bottom of the ninth, boosting New York over Chicago and making the Yankees' home opener a success.

Baylor's first homer of the year came with one out off Dan Spillner, 0-1, the fourth Chicago pitcher, who had retired the previous five batters he faced.

A's 9, Mariners 7

Bruce Bochte drove in three runs with a pair of doubles for the Oakland A's, who survived four Seattle home runs to edge the Mariners.

Seattle suffered its second straight loss after opening the season with six consecutive victories.

Mike Warren, 1-1, was winner in relief.

Ulysses S. Grant's middle name was Simpson.

Mantle returns after exile

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a lot shorter than a throw from center field when former baseball great Mickey Mantle tossed out the first ball at the New York Yankees home opener, back after two years' banishment from the sport.

Mantle, 53, made the official appearance at Yankee Stadium Tuesday for the first time since he was barred by former baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn because of the former center fielder's public relations work for an Atlantic City casino.

He was restored to baseball's good graces by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth last month.

Mantle was joined in the ceremonies by former Yankee teammate Roger Maris, who in 1961 broke Babe Ruth's single season home run record by belting 61 out of the park. Mantle made it a doubly exciting year for Yankee fans by banging out 54 homers of his own that year.

Club schedules work day

The Bippus Extension Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Flora Homfeld. After roll call by Kate Bradley, the group made plans to allow five members and a visitor attend the district meeting in Canyon on April 18. May 8 was set as a work day in the community building. The club also discussed its annual tour in May, but took no action.

It was reported that the club's project of making lap robes for West Gate Nursing Home was continuing.

Becky Mays was announced as a new member.

Extension agent Louise Walker presented a program on "Cooking and Eating Light." She gave the club members a quiz on calorie control, then suggested ways to cut calories such as eating lower calorie foods from the basic food groups, and trimming fats from meats. She concluded by handing out low-calorie recipes.

Also attending the meeting were Lynn Clark, her daughter, Joy, and Lafonda Mays.

Youth to donate services

Free work by a teenager is available to senior citizens through the "Labor of Love" project of the Good Guys Youth Ministries of Hereford Church of the Nazarene.

Saturday of this week and next week, the youth will be donating services to senior citizens who will call in their work request by Friday of the week. Persons wanting the free work should call 364-8303.

Sponsors of the working teens will be making pledges to a fund to support the Good Guys' youth missions trip to Haiti in June. The teens will be assisting in the construction of a school.

Girl Scout meeting scheduled Monday

A program entitled "An introduction to the world of Girl Scouting," will be given April 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center lounge. The program will be presented by Susie Garcia, field director of the Hereford Service Unit.

Girl Scouting is a movement dedicated to the development of girls and women from all segments of American life. Based on ethical values, girl scouting offers to its members opportunities to fulfill their individual potential, make new friends and make positive contributions to the larger community.

The girl scout program of informal education features a broad range of activities that allow girls to have fun while they develop skills and self confidence. Girls are encouraged to participate in meaningful community service projects so that they may acquire understanding of themselves and others.

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., with a membership of nearly three million, is the largest voluntary organization for girls in the world. The Amarillo Girl Scout Council serves approximately 6 counties, including Deaf Smith County, and has 2,475 members.

Shareholders to meet in Dimmitt

Shareholders of American Maize Products Company and American Fructose Corporation will meet in Dimmitt April 25 and 26 for the companies' annual meeting.

Dimmitt was selected since the new high fructose corn syrup plant is located there.

For more information or to find out how to become involved, call the Amarillo Girl Scout Council at 373-3031.

April 30 to mark Tax Freedom Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Tax Freedom Day, that day on which, theoretically, the average toiling taxpayer finally will have worked long enough and earned enough money to pay his 1985 taxes, will fall on April 30 this year.

But it is hardly a cause for celebration. It is, in fact, one day later than last year, when taxpayers had to work only to April 29 to earn enough cash to support their indigent, spendthrift uncle in Washington, and his cousins in state and local offices.

That means that in theory the ordinary taxpayer will have worked 17 weeks without having given a cent directly to his or her family — nothing at all for food, clothing, shelter. No milk for the baby. Not a dime for the movies.

After that date, suggests the Tax Foundation, the ordinary taxpayer can go about the business of earning his or her own living.

If only it were true. Governments — federal, state and local — sometimes spend beyond needs, which means citizens pay in ways other than taxes.

They may pay, for instance, through the hidden tax of inflation, which most people agree is partly a consequence of the government's big budget deficits.

Taxing by inflation can be worse than taxing by law, particularly to savers, even if it is now running at only 4 percent or so.

The 13.3 percent inflation of 1979, for example, was double the return from interest earned by many savers. At that rate, it whittled a $10,000 savings account to about $9,335. And then Uncle Sam taxed the "profits."

Uncle Sam's overspending taxes people in other ways, such as in higher interest rates to those who borrow money for houses.

Economists agree mortgage rates would be at least a couple of percentage points lower if those annual budget deficits, and a big national debt, weren't hanging over the market.

The Newspaper BIBLE

BETTER STICK WITH THE BIBLE!

"Don't let others spoil your faith and joy with their philosophies, their wrong and shallow answers built on men's thoughts and ideas, instead of on what Christ has said. For in Christ there is all of God in a human body; SO YOU HAVE EVERYTHING WHEN YOU HAVE CHRIST, and you are filled with God through your union with Christ. He is the highest Ruler, with authority over every other power." (Colossians 2:8-10)

"I am amazed that you are turning away so soon from God who, in his love and mercy, invited you to share the eternal life he gives through Christ; you are already following a different "way to heaven", which—really doesn't go to heaven at all. For there is no other way than the one we showed you; you are being fooled by those who twist and change the truth concerning Christ.

Let God's curse fall on anyone, including myself, who preaches any other way to be saved than the one we told you about; yes, if an angel comes from heaven and preaches any other message, let him be forever cursed. I will say it again: if anyone preaches any other Gospel than the one you welcomed, let God's curse fall upon him.

You can see that I am not trying to please you by sweet talk and flattery; no I am trying to please God. If I were still trying to please men I could not be Christ's servant." (Galatians 1:6-10)

Of Spanish-American War Veterans to observe anniversary

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph W. Taylor says he often thinks about his old war buddies, but few are left who can reminisce with him. At 103, he's one of a dwindling number of veterans of the Spanish-American War.

Just 16 men are surviving veterans of that 1898 conflict. And Taylor is the last one alive who fought in the battle at San Juan Hill, where Teddy Roosevelt led the Rough Riders, according to the organization of veterans from that war.

"I could write a book about that; I remember all of it," said Taylor, of Pompano Beach, Fla. "I can see them all now, lined up now in regimental formation, all those fellows in uniform, black and white, the generals, 25,000 of them. All gone," he recalled in a telephone interview.

"It does make you feel a little queer to think you're the only one left."

The United Spanish War Veterans will mark the 87th anniversary of the start of that war April 21 by laying a wreath at the Hiker Monument, an overlooked memorial in Washington honoring the soldiers who hiked in the tropics during that war.

It's not likely any of the veterans will show up, however. The youngest is 99, and most are in nursing homes.

Keeping track of these oldest war veterans is 84-year-old Beulah Cope, "adjutant general" and sole staffer of the United Spanish War Veterans, the niece of a Spanish-American veteran.

Operating from an office in the basement of the Veterans Administration building, cluttered with old files and memorabilia, she helps remaining veterans and their families with pension and benefit problems and plans their annual convention.

An estimated 392,000 Americans fought in the Spanish-American War. Begun in the fury over the sinking of the battleship Maine, the war ended Aug. 12, 1898, with Spain relinquishing Cuba, Puerto Rico and what became Guam. The VA, however, designates the Spanish-American War era as running until July 4, 1902 — encompassing the Cuban and Puerto Rican campaigns, the Philippine Insurrection and also the Boxer Rebellion expedition into China.

There were 7,829 documented deaths during the war, but only 1,239 were from battle wounds, according to the veterans' group. The rest were lost to disease. The servicemen were all volunteers. The pay was $15 a month.

About 100 members of the war's association showed up last year in Dubuque, Iowa, for their "national encampment." Two were veterans, the rest family and descendants, members of the affiliated groups, Daughters of 98, Sons of the Spanish-American War, and the auxiliary. They're meeting in Cleveland this September.

"When the last member of the organization dies, we'll have to turn our charter in," Mrs. Cope said. "I don't think we'll be around much longer."
