McBride presented Bull Chip Award

Bull Chip Winner

Former county agent Juston McBride (left) was presented with the Bull Chip Award at this morning's fun breakfast at the community center. Former chamber president Speedy Nieman made the presentation, even using his singing voice to heap praise upon the winner.

Recently retired Deaf Smith County Extension Agent Juston McBride was presented with the Bull Chip Award in a highlight of the chamber's bi-monthly Fun Breakfast held at the community center this morning.

Hereford Brand publisher Speedy Nieman made the presentation to McBride, longtime agent here before his recent retirement.

Nieman raised more than a few eyebrows in the crowd with his musical salute to McBride. The Brand publisher sang a salute to the winner, which he had composed "in the shower" last night.

Gene Ehler, manager of the local Energas, Co., office, won a drawing for $200 to headline giveaways at the breakfast. Freda Davis won $25, while Brad Hunter walked away with $75. Also, County Clerk David Ruland won a set of eight Hereford Whiteface glasses, and John Metcalf and Danny Boyer claimed community concert association tickets.

As usual, the breakfast, which was the 39th held by the chamber according to co-ecmee Doug Manning, featured games and announcements of upcoming events. The event was sponsored by the three local new car dealers.

K. Don Spurgin of Hereford Ford-Lincoln, Steve Stevens of Stevens Chevrolet-Oldsmobile, and Earl Stagner of Stagner-Orsborn Buick, Pontiac, GMC, introduced their employees to the crowd, while chamber membership chairman Melvin Jayroe introduced guests and new members of the chamber.

Upcoming events announced at the breakfast included:

-The Hereford & Vicinity YMCA's "Vandura Ball," set for Monday at the Hereford Country Club. Tickets are $100 per person, with a 1983 van to be given away during the evening.

-The Hereford Lions Club

garage sale. To begin at 6 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 1 at the old Montgomery Ward building.

-The Hereford Rotary Club Antique Car Show, set for Oct. 22-23 at the Bull Barn. Admission will be $3.

-The Hereford Chamber Singers fall concert, set for 3 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 23 at the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

-The Whiteface Kiwanis Club's annual Arts & Crafts Show, to be held in the community center Nov. 4-5.

-The Rebekah Lodge chili supper, 5-8:30 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 15. Price is $2.75 per person with children six and under admitted free.

-The Community Concert Association's first concert, featuring the story of Gilbert & Sullivan.

Grid tickets becoming rare

It's not listed as a "sell-out" as yet, but tickets for the Hereford-Monterey game here Friday night are becoming a rare commodity.

Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent, reported this morning that very few, if any, tickets are left on the home (West) side of the stadium.

Wartes does not expect Monterey to use all of the tickets for the visitor's side, and those tickets will be available Friday night. "We will try to put the Hereford fans in one group," he added.

The Hereford-Monterey game has been a popular contest for several years, and it will be an important District 3-5A clash again Friday night. Hereford goes into the fray with a 1-0 district record and 3-0 on the season.

The Plainsmen from Lubbock are 1-1 in district action and battling to bounce back for at least a share of the league championship.

The Whiteface Booster Club is promoting a "Maroon Madness" night, urging all fans to attend the game and wear maroon clothing. Boosters are also preparing signs to place along US-385 and around the community.

The HHS junior class will sponsor a supper prior to the game at the high school cafeteria. Serving time will be 5 to 7 p.m.

New HISD reading program outlined

By REED PARSELL
Staff Writer

This is the first and last year all Hereford Independent School District elementary students will be extensively tested on their reading skills, administrator John Walch said.

In future years, only first graders and other students new to the school district will be required to take all the reading skills tests introduced this year.

Walch, assistant superintendent for instruction, is through Oct. 6 conducting six meetings which describe to parents and other interested citizens the new reading program. The second is scheduled for 7:30 tonight at Alkman Elementary School, 900 Ave. K. The first was hosted Tuesday at Bluebonnet Elementary School.

"I thought it went very well," Walch said about Tuesday's gathering. Though he felt the turnout was a bit disappointing, Walch said he was pleased with the many questions asked.

The main query, he believed, was why the program was adopted. "I tried to say it wasn't that we're dissatisfied with (students') current achievement," Walch said, "but that we are trying to improve it."

What supposedly makes the new program effective, Walch explained, is that it attempts to "target" each student for the type and level of instruction he needs to receive. Every elementary student has been individually tested this fall for his vocabulary and reading comprehension abilities.

Since the tests are administered orally, Walch claimed they provide a far better indication of a student's skill level than do standardized, multiple-choice-type exams. "The student has to pay attention and has to respond," the administrator said. "That's why it's a superior test."

The first step in the program is an evaluation of vocabulary knowledge. From those results, teachers should have a good idea at what reading comprehension level the student would be best suited for, Walch said. Results of the comprehension exams are used to place a student in one of 14 reading levels.

There are five levels for first graders, two each for second and third graders and one apiece for grades four, five and six. Students within each grade are grouped according to the levels for which their tests have targeted them.

Consequently, many students will be determined to have less-developed reading skills than what is designated average for their age group. Such students, Walch said, become frustrated if forced to try and keep up with the level of reading instruction traditionally presented in their grade.

The new program is based on the belief a student will make the most progress if placed in a level in which he is initially capable of being only 50-80 percent effective. That percentage would indicate his "instructional level," Walch said, whereas lower efficiency would make that level "frustrating" while higher marks would make it "independent," or too easy.

There are students, of course, who test above their current grades. For the first time in HISD, Walch said, such children will be able to receive accelerated instruction of their reading abilities. For example, sixth graders may reach an eighth-grade level if they have passed the 13 other levels with at least 80 percent efficiency, he said.

"Our goal is what you'd expect," Walch said. "We want to have a kid make at least a year's progress in one year's time."

Walch wished all parents to be aware testing will not need to be so extensive in the future. Elementary teachers will have a good idea in what level all returning students should be placed. There will be some evaluation made, though, to allow for changes in children's reading skills over the summer.

There will also be changes made during the school year. No student, Walch said, will necessarily move up or down the skill levels with everyone else initially tested to have similar reading skills. Therefore, classes may undergo several alterations between September and May.

Some of the local elementary schools have already completed the introductory tests and grouped their students according to skill levels. All the other schools, Walch said, are nearly finished with that phase.

Among the drawbacks of the program, Walch thought, is that some of the more-advanced students have had to take more tests than others to determine their level. This is necessary, he said, so that teachers will be certain not to skip over any weak areas the students may possess.

The program has also proved to be time-consuming.

Gramm launches Senate bid

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas Rep. Phil Gramm, who turned Republican early this year after a tiff with fellow Democrats over his support for President Reagan's economic programs, formally launched his bid for a U.S. Senate seat today.

Gramm, speaking before a crowd of about 200 friends and neighbors at Easterwood Airport, said that in his five years in politics, he has been part of an "important effort to change the direction of the country."

"I didn't go to Congress to go along, to get along, but to get things done," said Gramm.

He said he was "proud to co-author budgets that reorder priorities and begin to rebuild America's national security."

The Reagan administration has "ignited strong economic recovery," making 1.7 million jobs available since January, cutting federal spending growth by two-thirds and slashing inflation by three-quarters, Gramm said.

He said he hoped to take the "can-do optimism of Texans and apply it to dealing with the problems of America."

Gramm spoke from a portable podium in front of a twin-engine plane that was scheduled to take him to Austin, then 19 other Texas cities during a four-day tour.

Gramm, 41, is seeking the Republican nomination in next year's primary to fill the seat being vacated by Republican Sen. John Tower, the four-term veteran who recently announced that he would not seek re-election.

It will Gramm's second bid for a Senate nomination, the first coming in 1976 as a Democrat when he lost the primary to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Two years later, Gramm, a former economics professor at Texas A&M University, ran for the House and won. He was re-elected by large margins in 1980 and 1982.

In 1981, Gramm, a staunch conservative, angered many in the Democratic leadership when he helped lead the fight for Reagan's budget cutting program. In retaliation, the Democratic leadership early

Watt apologizes once again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary James Watt, who in the past has apologized to Indians, American Jews and a rock music group, has now added blacks, women and the handicapped to his list.

The apology came after Watt said a coal-leasing advisory commission he appointed included a black, a woman, "two Jews and a cripple."

Watt's remarks came in a speech Wednesday to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in which he attacked Congress for failing to support his energy development program and charged that the news media was only interested in "sex and controversy and scandal."

Watt was clearly upset at a Senate vote Tuesday barring him from leasing any more federal land for coal mining until the Commission on Federal Coal Leasing, created by Congress this summer, reviews the program and recommends reforms.

Referring to the coal-leasing advisory commission, Watt said, "We have every kind of mixture you can have.

I have a black, I have a woman, two Jews and a cripple."

The remark prompted laughter, but within hours Watt was issuing a statement calling his choice of words "unfortunate" and saying he had apologized personally to the handicapped member of the commission.

"I remain very proud of the commission, which is made up of highly talented people, reflecting a broad cross-section of our population," Watt said.

David Linowes, chairman of the coal-leasing commission, said Watt had called him immediately after the speech to explain his comments were a joke and he took them that way.

The other commission members include Donald C. Alexander, a former Internal Revenue Service Commissioner, Andrew Brimmer, a black who is a former member of the Federal Reserve Board; Julia Walsh, a Washington investment adviser and regular panelist on PBS television's "Wall Street Week in Review" and Richard Gordon, a professor of minerals economics at Pennsylvania State University.

Ms. Walsh said she was disappointed in any implication that she was the "token woman" and was not selected for her qualifications and experience.

Gordon, who is Jewish and has a paralyzed arm, said Watt had seemed sincere in his telephone apology but that he was still upset by incident.

Watt provoked a furor last year when he wrote a letter to Four charged in burglaries

Three juveniles and one 17-year-old male were arrested Wednesday in connection with several recent burglaries, Hereford police reported this morning.

Vernon Hope, a lieutenant on the local force, said another 17-year-old is to be arrested, though as of this morning the suspect was believed to be out of state.

Details of the burglaries, along with a list of recovered goods, should be available Friday.

Police reported two other arrests were made Wednesday, one for shoplifting and the other for public intoxication.

There were also two incidents of criminal mischief and one of disorderly conduct. One non-injury accident occurred this morning.

Schedules Press Conference

Don R. Richards of Lubbock, a former Hereford resident, has scheduled a press conference for 4:30 p.m. Friday on the steps of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. Richards is expected to announce his candidacy for U.S. Representative of the 19th District. Rep. Kent Hance will be vacating the post to seek election to the Senate. A coffee reception is also scheduled for Richards in the Hereford State Bank Community Room at 4:45 p.m., and the public is invited.

Caterpillar Time

One of the zany games played at the fun breakfast this morning was a race between two caterpillars, each made up of three adults and three youngsters. The female "critter" proved its prowess, using an abundance of gigue power to win the race. (Brand Photo).

In San Antonio

Policewomen walk a lonely beat

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—The first arrest of the evening was fast and easy. He was a lean, bony transient sleeping on a bench in Travis Park.

Foot Patrolman Chris Vieyra leaned over and smelled the man's breath for alcohol. He frisked the suspect, then nodded to his partner.

Sherry Caruso snapped on the handcuffs and yanked the man to a sitting position.

"Why are you taking me in?" the transient asked, blinking his eyes in confusion. The two officers told him he was being booked for public intoxication and reassured him it would be only for the night.

It was a simple arrest. No muss, no fuss.

But they're not all like that. Especially on hot summer nights when tempers flare and violence lurks behind the next call.

Those are the nights that separate the men from the boys—and the male officers from their female counterparts.

Those are the nights when grizzled officers say privately that a "brood with a badge" is worthless.

"Being arrested by a woman is like being sent to your room by your mama," a veteran patrolman grumbled.

Such remarks are not merely locker-room

"machismo." Depite official lip service about the effectiveness of policewomen and their growing role in the department, many male officers fear a woman at their back in a tight situation is worse than no back-up at all.

"Sometimes a soft touch can help control a guy, but I'd rather see someone 6-foot-3 and 200 pounds standing behind me," said one young patrolman.

"Sometimes there is a need to go ahead and get physical," he said. "Women have a tendency to delay doing that and a call can be blown out of proportion because they didn't act in a physical way."

Patrolman Geri Garcia, a soft-spoken mother of two, came up against such attitudes when she graduated from the police academy in October.

She readily acknowledges that most female officers are physically smaller than their male counterparts. But sometimes the "machismo" of a male officer only serves to inflame a confrontation, she said.

"The majority of us are not the same size and strength as men, so you have to use more tact," she said. "If a guy needs to go to jail, he goes to jail. There's a big difference between going in there and screaming back and being part of the problem, or resolving it in another way."

The more chauvinistic officers claim women are spared more physical confrontations simply because of their sex.

"A man is less likely to jump on a woman just because she's a woman," a young patrolman said. "There's no honor in it."

Women have come a long way in the San Antonio Police Department since World War II, when the first "powder puff squad" was activated to control prostitutes at Fort Sam Houston.

Today, the feminine influence can be felt almost everywhere. But statistics indicate it still is a minor influence, at best.

Women constitute less than 4 percent of the entire department. Of 1,116 officers, only 40 are women.

Despite the figures, there is a general consensus among the rank-and-file that women are here to stay. Most agree women are needed vitally in such areas as the juvenile division and sex crimes.

For Mrs. Garcia, like other women in the department, becoming a police officer was not a carefully plotted plan she nurtured from childhood.

Nor was it the pay, the hours or life on the streets that attracted her.

"It's some kind of fever you catch that stays with you," she said.

Male officers concede the sensitivity that female officers bring to the job is an asset when dealing with the traumatized rape victim or an abused child.

But it is that same quality that also is criticized in the male-dominated world of the San Antonio Police Department.

Deputy Chief Marion Talbert, one of the high-ranking officers, is well-known for his outspoken views on female officers.

Women share the pay, but not the danger, Talbert contends.

Women are fine when it comes to "writing reports or handling children," but in a barroom brawl situation, they can't deal with it, he said.

"It's my opinion that they're not earning their equal pay," he said. "I haven't seen any of them that could handle the rough, physical aspects of the job."

"When they get to be a significant portion of the force, you're going to get in trouble," he said. "But if the city manager says we're going to hire women—we will."

Mahalia Ritchey, one of the department's two female detectives, began mulling over the idea of becoming a police officer when her father, a robbery detective, informed her the department was accepting applications from women.

At first, she thought her father was kidding. But Ms. Ritchey nevertheless decided to undergo the initial examinations.

The tall, lanky woman soon found herself in uniform. That was nine years ago. Since then, she has worked her way through the department and recently was promoted to detective.

"I feel no sense of added pressure," she said. "I just try to be myself and do what I can. I enjoy being here and enjoy dressing like a woman. I'm not trying to be a man. I know I've got limitations."

One of Ms. Ritchey's strongest supporters is her father, Bill Tefteller, a 26-year police veteran.

Until his daughter made it into the department, "I told her I wasn't going to lift one finger to help her."

"Then I told her I'd help her all I could," he said. The veteran detective briefed his rookie daughter on what to expect from within the department, as well as what she would experience on the streets.

Ms. Ritchey was 3 three years old when her father joined the force. Today, she holds the same rank.

"Yes, we're the same rank," Tefteller said, with a laugh.

Weapon trial defendants acquitted

DALLAS (AP)—A federal jury has acquitted five men of charges they conspired to illegally export infrared radar units for the use by the Libyan army on Soviet-made helicopters.

The verdicts of innocence late Wednesday afternoon elicited hugs and tears among the defense attorneys and the defendants, who argued they were entrapped by overzealous government informants.

"This should be a notice to the federal government that this type of investigation will not be condoned," said one of the defendants, Hugh Briscoe, 51, of Fort Worth, owner of H&K Oil Co.

The verdicts came three months to the day after the five defendants were arrested in a sting operation. U.S. Customs agents secretly recorded two meetings between some of the defendants and a man posing as a wealthy Arab who claimed to have a market for military equipment obtained through Briscoe's company.

"Justice was done. It's a shame that the government and our system puts up with these scams," said Briscoe, who said the Justice Department should investigate the operation that led to the arrests.

The other defendants were Lawrence Edward Fraser, 39, of Garland, a former employee of Briscoe's; a helicopter pilot, Greg Zwarycz, 40, of Houston; and two former Harris County deputy constables, Mike Deans, 32, and Tom Johnson, 27.

Mike Heiskell, an assistant U.S. attorney, said, "I'm disappointed that the jury returned that verdict."

Deans and Johnson, who had been under suspension pending resolution of the trial, are eager "to get back to work enforcing the law," said Michael Hinton, the attorney for the two men.

"I felt as confident about the innocence of my clients as I ever have in any trial, in any state, in any court. Everyone had to endure the stress and trauma of a trial, and the jury's verdict was so very proper," said Hinton.

The two constables, who run a bodyguard service in Houston, had contended they felt they were hired solely to provide security for the pending sale of infrared radar units.

"Any law enforcement officer could find himself in this type of sting operation," Deans said.

For him, one of the difficult things about the trial "was just finding myself in this situation. Because I am so anti-communist," Deans said.

"I'm happy to be over a 90-day nightmare," Deans added.

"The evidence proved what we were saying all along," said Johnson.

The charges alleged that the five were conspiring to sell to the Socialist People's Republic of Libya articles that are designated by the United States as restricted arms and munitions.

The defendants claimed they considered the radar units only in their use in a commercial application and had no idea they were intended for use by Libya.

Fraser said after the verdict, "I'm going to my church, fall on my knees and thank God, because it's his work that did it."

Fraser said religion has become a more important part of his life since his arrest three months ago. His wife, Charlene, and his pastor and pastor's wife were with him throughout the trial.

"I felt like a girl that went in the bar and got picked up," Fraser said of the way he said he and other defendants were coaxed into discussions about obtaining the infrared radar units and passing them along to a man who called himself Muhammad El-Issa.

"I felt like I was used," he added. For the past three months, "my mental state was so messed up it was the worst period of time in my life."

New show permits ABC to top ratings

By JERRY BUCK AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—ABC's "Hardcastle & McCormick" show, about an unlikely crime-fighting duo, came on like gangbusters in its two-hour debut—giving ABC two straight weeks on top of the ratings for the first time since May.

The premiere finished No. 1 for the week ended Sept. 18, five points ahead of its nearest rival, and helped give ABC its first Sunday victory in non-special programming since October 1960.

The lighthearted adventure stars Brian Keith as a tough, retired judge who collars Daniel Hugh Kelly, a race car driver with a prison record, as his partner against crime.

"Hardcastle & McCormick" was created by Stephen J. Cannell, whose other creation, NBC's "The A-Team," finished fourth for the week. Cannell has yet another tongue-in-cheek adventure coming up, NBC's "The Roustabouts."

ABC won the A.C. Nielsen Co. ratings with a network average of 16.2. CBS was second with 14.0 and NBC was third with 13.8. The networks say this means that in an average prime-time minute 16.2 percent of the nation's television homes were tuned to ABC.

Tied for second were the season premiere of CBS' "60 Minutes" and an original ABC special, "Life's Most Embarrassing Moments II."

NBC's "First Camera," a revamp of its magazine show "Monitor," in its new spot opposite CBS' "60 Minutes," finished dead last in 65th place.

"The CBS Evening News with Dan Rather" was once again the highest-rated news show. NBC, in third place last week, moved ahead of ABC to take second place. ABC slipped into third place. The ratings: CBS 12.6, NBC 9.8, ABC 8.8.

Aiding American veterans is a joint project for Beverly Jesko and her husband, Jimmy, who was appointed Deaf Smith County Veterans service officer by the county commissioners three years ago.

On a volunteer level, both Beverly and Jimmy have been members of the local American Legion units for 13 years, she with the Legion Auxiliary and he with the Legion. She has served as president of the auxiliary twice and he has served two terms as commander.

When the couple moved into their home at the south edge of town 16 years ago, Jimmy began selling life, auto and homeowners insurance from an office at home. Because he works from his home, Beverly has ample opportunity to assist him in his duties as veterans service officer, through telephone and personal contact with veterans.

Jimmy assists veterans in applying for loans and finding employment, aids them in filing for pensions, puts them in contact with the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo and makes appointments when the need arises, and even takes the role of a counselor to veterans.

This ties in very nicely with Beverly's position in the American Legion Auxiliary. For the past two years she has served as hospital representative through the Department of Texas American Legion and is responsible for scheduling of all volunteer auxiliary functions at the VA Hospital in Amarillo.

She has been going to the hospital to help out ever since she started in the auxiliary and she currently works at the hospital one day a week, going from room to room distributing comfort items to the patients.

Beverly is starting to plan for the auxiliary's annual Christmas gift shop in the VA Hospital, scheduled to be open Dec. 4, 5, and 6.

Area auxiliary units donate money or new articles to the gift shop and patients select Christmas gifts for members of their families, all free of charge to the veterans. The items are gift-wrapped and mailed to the families by auxiliary members.

Jimmy, who served in the U.S. Navy during World War II, and his wife became active in the American Legion and veterans work after their oldest son, Steve, was killed in Vietnam.

"It was a very hard thing to accept - losing a child - and we could have felt sorry for ourselves and turned away from all veterans organizations, but we felt there was a real need to assist veterans and help them re-adjust after serving their country," stated Beverly, "so we got involved."

"The gift shop is a very special part of my Christmas," she continued. "It gives you a good feeling when you see how happy it makes them."

Beverly also periodically takes boxes of clothing for the clothes closet in Amarillo, set up for veterans who need this type of assistance. "Organizations as well as individuals may donate clothing," she commented.

Church work is also very important to the Jeskos. They are members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, where Beverly participates in the St. Anthony's Women's Organization and Jimmy is Grand Knight of the Third Degree in Knights of Columbus. Jimmy was born and raised near Lazbuddie, and Beverly grew up in Colorado. Both moved here with their families while they were still in school and they were married in 1948. "We've lived here all but five years that we spent in California since we've been married," said Beverly. The family lived on a farm in the Westway Community before moving to their present home.

The youngest of their six children, Jennifer, is a senior at Hereford High School, where she is co-editor of the yearbook and a member of band, orchestra and choir. She enjoys playing piano, organ, flute and piccolo, and helps with music at church and in other areas of the community.

Beverly shares this love of music and plays the piano by ear. She also does various types of handwork, including crochet, latch hook and sewing. She makes her own clothing and enjoys sewing for her five daughters.

"My daughters and I have been cutting double knit fabric squares to make quilts this winter," said Beverly. "I hope to get one made for each of my 16 grandchildren."

Beverly has helped with the Red Cross physical therapy program at Westgate Nursing Home for the past two years and she enjoys growing African violets and other house plants.

She has recently been busy canning food from their garden. "Jimmy loves to garden," she commented. "He also enjoys carpentry work and keeps busy with volunteer work in addition to his job."

Printed below are three of Beverly's favorite recipes.

Eight members of the Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary attended the District 1 and 2 area meeting of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries Monday at the First United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Eighteen auxiliaries were represented with 181 members in attendance.

Jake Henry, administrator of St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, was the keynote speaker. He discussed hospital concerns for the future. After a noon luncheon, Mrs. Henry Paine delivered the president's message.

Braves' squeeze play backfires, Reds gain split

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

A botched suicide squeeze play by the Atlanta Braves may have killed their chances to catch Los Angeles in the National League West pennant race.

The Braves, who already had beaten Cincinnati 9-1 in the first game of the double-header Wednesday, had Dale Murphy on third, Chris Chambliss on first and Rafael Ramirez at the plate with no outs in the eighth inning of the second game with the score tied 3-3.

Ramirez blooped the ball down the first-base line and Reds first baseman Dan Driessen made a diving catch that was disputed by the Braves. Driessen threw to third to easily double off Murphy and kill the threat.

In the top of the ninth, Ron Oester hit a sacrifice fly to give the Reds a 4-3 victory. The split, combined with the Dodgers' 2-1 triumph over Houston, dropped the Braves four games behind.

"When you go at the ball straight, on like that, it sometimes is hard to tell if it's trapped or not," Driessen said. "It was very close."

"I swear he trapped it," said Atlanta Manager Joe Torre. "But my decision is not the one that counts. We haven't bunted well lately anyway. It's too late with 12 games left to have extra bunting practice."

In other NL games, Chicago beat Pittsburgh 7-6 to knock the Pirates 2½ games off the pace in the East. San Francisco edged

San Diego 5-4, St. Louis clubbed New York 9-3 and Philadelphia at Montreal was rained out. The Expos are two games behind the first-place Phillies in the East.

Cincinnati's Gary Redus led off the ninth of the nightcap with a double off reliever Steve Bedrosian, 9-9. After Dave Concepcion struck out, Driessen and Paul Householder walked to load the bases, setting the stage for Oester's fly to left.

The Braves took a 3-1 lead in the second game as pitcher

Phil Niekro had a two-run single and Glenn Hubbard a run-scoring double.

But the Reds tied the game in the eighth against reliever Terry Forster on a walk to Driessen, a double by Householder and a two-run single by Dann Bilardello.

The Braves won the first game behind the five-hit pitching of Craig McMurtry and the power hitting of Chambliss and Murphy.

Murphy hit his 35th homer, a three-run blast that chased Cincinnati starter

Charlie Puleo, 5-11, in the third inning. Chambliss followed with his 19th, against reliever Rich Gale. Chambliss added a three-run homer in the fourth.

"Today we had to win a double-header," said the Braves' Jerry Royster. "You don't know if any one game is the must game until the season's over, and even then you can't always tell. Last year it went down to the last game, and it might again this time."

Los Angeles increased its lead over the Braves as Fernando Valenzuela earned his first victory since Aug. 20, snapping a personal four-game losing streak with a six-hitter.

"Yes, I feel very much relieved," said Valenzuela, 14-10. "I couldn't win for a long time, I couldn't finish for a long time.

Bill Russell doubled home Steve Sax with two outs in the seventh to break a 1-1 tie. Sax had two singles, two stolen bases and scored both Dodger runs.

The only run for the Astros, who lost the season series with the Dodgers 12-6, came on a sixth-inning single by Bill Doran, his stolen base and a single by Dickie Thon.

Cubs 7, Pirates 6
Pittsburgh missed a chance to pick up ground on Philadelphia when Chicago scored the tying and winning runs in the seventh inning on Jody Davis' sacrifice fly and Larry Bowa's infield single.

If the Pirates fail to come back and win the East Division flag, they will look at Chicago as the place where they lost it.

Orioles silence Tiger fans with sweep

By BEN WALKER
AP Sports Writer

It was business as usual for the Baltimore Orioles.

Rookie Mike Boddicker calmly quieted the whooping fans at Tiger Stadium with a first-game shutout, and then John Lowenstein blasted a two-out grand slam to cap a six-run rally in the ninth inning of the second game to complete a sweep of Detroit in their Wednesday two-night double-header.

"They go about their jobs so well, it's hard to say where they won it," said Tigers Manager Sparky Anderson after absorbing 6-0 and 7-3 losses.

Detroit had blasted Baltimore 14-1 Tuesday night to pull within 8½ games of American League East Orioles. The Tigers already faced an uphill battle, and a crowd of 32,198 turned out Wednesday, hoping to see the team continue its climb.

When the night ended, however, Baltimore had reduced its magic number to three and led the second-place Tigers by 8½ games. The Orioles have 11 games remaining; Detroit has 10 left.

"That's a pretty good baseball team over there," Anderson said.

In other AL games, Chicago swept a two-nighter from Minnesota, winning 2-1 and 7-6; Toronto beat Seattle 4-3; Boston downed New York 3-1; Milwaukee clubbed Cleveland 10-7; California blanked Kansas City 3-0, and Texas defeated Oakland 4-2.

Boddicker, 15-7, pitched a five-hitter and struck out a career-high 12, including the side in the ninth. It was his fifth shutout, tops in the AL.

Lowenstein, Eddie Murray and Cal Ripken each homered in the first game to pin the loss on Jack Morris, 19-12.

The second game was going Detroit's way until the ninth inning. Rick Leach's two-run homer had offset Murray's 30th homer and the Tigers led 3-1 before Baltimore loaded the bases against reliever Dave Gumpert, 0-2, on a walk to pinch hitter Jim Dwyer and singles by John Shelby and Dan Ford.

Reliever Aurelio Lopez came in and threw a wild pitch, making it 3-2. Cal Ripken then popped up, Murray was intentionally walked, reloading the bases, and Mike Young fanned for the second out.

But Lowenstein, who had entered the game in the eighth inning as a pinch hitter, blasted an 0-1 pitch into the upper deck in right field, his 14th home run of the season, and Joe Nolan followed with his fourth homer.

Sammy Stewart, 9-3, went the final three innings for the win. "We have a decent bench. We have a pretty good platoon system. We like our setup," said Baltimore Manager Joe Altobelli. "I don't think you can get this far without talent - and we do have that."

Sain Lowenstein: "When I hit it, I knew it was over right fielder Rick Leach's head. But I didn't think it was over the fence. It was a very pleasant sight to see it disappear."

LaMarr Hoyt won his 11th consecutive game in the opener and now leads the majors with 22 victories.

Hoyt, 22-10, allowed seven hits and Chicago won it when Harold Baines ripped an RBI single in the seventh to snap a 1-1 tie.

The nightcap in Chicago was tied 6-6 in the ninth inning when Tom Paciorek walked, took second on Ron Kittle's single and scored on Scott Fletcher's one-out single.

Baines now has a 17-game hitting streak and Paciorek has hit in 16 straight.

Blue Jays 4, Mariners 3
Doyle Alexander, who lost his first eight decisions of the season, continued his resurgence with his fifth consecutive victory. Alexander, 5-8, gave up eight hits and struck out five in pitching his fourth complete game of the season.

Visiting Seattle scored three runs in the first inning on a two-run single by Al Cowens and an RBI single by Dave Henderson before Toronto struck for four runs in the third, keyed by RBI singles by Alfredo Griffin and Jesse Barfield.

Landry high on rookie Bates

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry seldom goes overboard about any rookie, but free agent Billy Bates of Tennessee has proved the exception.
 Bates has been a wild man on special teams and his role as a defensive back-linebacker in Dallas' pass prevent defense has been an eye opener.
 "Bates is super, he's everywhere," Landry said. Bates has been particularly adept at blitzing the quarterback and registered a resounding sack of Scott Brunner in Dallas' 28-13 victory Sunday over the New York Giants.

 "Bates likes to play and has done a great job," Landry said. "We knew his (lack of) speed might be a limitation. He moves fast enough for us. You like to see a guy like him on the field. He's what defense is all about."
 As far as the other free agent from Tennessee, punter John Warren, Landry laughed, "I like him sometimes better than others. That one (a 25-yard punt) he fouled off almost put us out of business."

 Landry on Tuesday named Doug Donley as a starting wide receiver should Tony Hill not be able to play against the New Orleans Saints Sunday.
 The decision followed a meeting with unhappy Butch Johnson, who was given a rare day off by Landry Monday.

Australia II remains in cup chase

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) - Resilient Australia II stayed alive in the America's Cup battle thanks to a must-win, comeback victory.
 That meant she needed only two more must-win victories.
 Still, Aussie Skipper John Bertrand, who conquered crippled Liberty in Wednesday's fifth race, says the tide is flowing his way.
 "We certainly have momentum now," Bertrand said after Australia II sailed to a one-minute, 47-second victory that cut Liberty's lead in the best-of-seven series to 3-2. "Now, we've got two races to win."
 "I think we could win 50 in a row with this yacht," said

Australia II syndicate chief Alan Bond, whose boats won just one of 13 races in his three previous Cup campaigns. "The victory today proves we can win in any wind conditions."
 Winds in the 10-20 knot range were forecast for today's sixth race.
 Australia II was thought to be vulnerable in the fairly strong winds of 16-18 knots and choppy seas on Rhode Island Sound Wednesday. But it charged ahead of Liberty late on the first of six legs and never trailed again.
 A victory by Australia II today would send the America's Cup to a seventh race for the first time. A victory by Liberty would make America's 25th defense of the Cup, which it has held since the first competition in 1851, a successful one.

 "I won't feel comfortable until we win, but I'd rather be three wins and two losses than two wins and three losses," said Liberty skipper

Dennis Conner. "Obviously, Australia II's a very good boat and very strong in all wind conditions."
 That smoke drifting on the early autumn breeze is probably from the malfunctioning incinerator down the street.

Ann Landers Plead insanity

DEAR READERS: Have you ever made a mistake so stupid that you couldn't believe you did it? Join the club. In a recent column I identified Clifton Wharton Jr. as "president of the University of Michigan." Hundreds of people wrote to say, "Michigan STATE, you dummy!" I KNEW it was Michigan State, which is in "East Lansing." The University of Michigan is in "Ann Arbor." I was in East Lansing—as a guest of the Whartons—and had a wonderful time. I plead insanity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You probably can't print this letter due to its subject matter, but I do hope you'll try.

I am an attractive blonde American female 22. When I was eight years old, I discovered that certain men would mess around with me sexually. It really turned me on. For the next five or six years, I actively sought men. I learned from eye contact alone that I could tell which man would and which wouldn't.

My mother's boyfriends were often willing. I discovered that my uncle and my grandfather were both interested. I also found men out in shopping malls, parks, theaters and stores. By the time I was 10 I had been introduced to intercourse.

What I'm trying to tell you is that "child molesting" is not solely the man's fault. In fact, I was more guilty than 75 percent of the men I fooled around with between the ages of eight and 13. I lured them. They didn't lure me. So let's be fair, Ann.—The Blonde

DEAR BLONDE: So you are 22, have been having sex since age 10 and you insist it's not the fault of the men because you "lured" them.

Sorry, dear, any man who would allow himself to be "lured" by a 10-year-old child must accept responsibility for whatever went on because he knew a lot more about what he was doing than she did. Without a shadow of a doubt your early conditioning by these men is what kept you sexually active all through adolescence.

I hope you have had some counseling, but I suspect you haven't—or you'd have a better understanding of the situation. I urge you to get some psychological help at once. It's free and there's plenty available. Look in the yellow pages under "Child Abuse." Even though you are no longer a child, you need to free yourself from the shackles of the past.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teenager who has read your column for a long time and learned a lot from it. A certain subject has never come up and I wonder if you would give me some help with it. I would ask my orthodontist but he is a guy and I am too embarrassed. It's about braces.

Can two people who wear braces get caught together if they kiss? The boy I like best wears braces like mine and I think he is just about ready to kiss me but something is holding him back. Could it be that he is worried about this same thing? Thank you loads for answering this in the paper.—Birdcage Smile in Chicago

DEAR CHICAGO: Braces properly attached should not have any loose wires that can get hooked into. Moreover, most people's teeth are not involved when they kiss, so I'd say neither of you has anything to worry about. (You're welcome.)

Study club members enjoy salad supper

Marcella Bradley hosted members of Valeda Study Club Monday evening at a salad supper. The meeting was called to order by President Joyce Ritter and roll call was answered with "the big event of the summer."

The club voted to purchase four student memberships in the Community Concert Association. A note from Billie Birdwell requesting associate membership was read. Marcella McLain was appointed to the telephone committee and Jean Ruther was appointed to the service committee.

Frances Crume, vice-president, previewed the course of study for the coming year and presented club yearbooks, which have been planned around the theme, "A Cornucopia of Wisdom."

Other members in attendance were Betty Gilbert, Ms. McLain, Norma Martin, DeAun Sisson, Norma Walden, Carolyn Waters, Patricia Weldon, Margaret Zinser, and Ms. Ruther.

Q. Something strange has been happening to the cruise control on my '81 Buick. Occasionally, if I set it at 55, it will drop to 45, then jump to 65 - without my touching the control, accelerator or brake. A mechanic friend suggested I replace the control. Isn't there something much simpler - and less expensive?

A. You are right in looking for the simple before getting into the major; possibly an unnecessary major. In your case, there are a couple of minors to look for. First, a binding speedometer cable. Now, that really is simple - but it could be the problem. Solution: Grease the cable. Another possibility - and we sort of tend toward this one, although it's equally as simple - could be a vacuum line which is being pinched somehow intermittently. This may be a more time-consuming diagnostic process, but go through the systems, and look for signs of a pinched vacuum hose.

The Newspaper BIBLE

THIS IS YOUR ONLY HOPE!

While the apostles were talking to the people, the chief priests, the captain of the Temple police, and some of the Sadducees came over to them, very disturbed that Peter and John were claiming that Jesus had risen from the dead. They arrested them and since it was already evening, jailed them overnight.

Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, "Honorable leaders and elders of our nation, if you mean the good deed done to the cripple, and how he was healed, let me clearly state to you and to all the people of Israel that it was done in the name and power of Jesus from Nazareth, the Messiah, the man you crucified--but God raised back to life again. It is by His authority that this man stands here healed!

"For Jesus the Messiah is the one referred to in the Scriptures when they speak of a stone discarded by the builders which became the capstone of the arch. There is salvation in no one else! Under all heaven there is no other name for men to call upon to save them."

YHT hints

These helpful microwave oven hints are provided courtesy of Hereford Young Homemakers, who are currently observing Young Homemakers of Texas Week.

If the microwave oven is used mainly for reheating and defrosting, little energy is saved, only convenience is gained. However, if most of the food is cooked in the microwave, a substantial savings can be measured.

When adapting a conventional recipe, find a similar recipe in a microwave cookbook. If unable to find one similar, adjust cooking time to 20 to 25 percent of conventional cooking time at the setting which seems to work best.

Food continues to cook after it is removed from the microwave oven so allow for this in cooking times.

Shaping meatloaves into a ring around a glass can eliminate undercooked centers.

Do not salt foods on the surface as this causes dehydration and toughens foods. Salt after food is removed from the microwave unless the recipe calls for salt in the mixture.

Cataracts and vision

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had my eyes examined by a qualified eye specialist and he told me that my eyes show early signs of cataracts which may or may not occur. I do not have any eye trouble except that sometimes I feel spots before my vision.

I have heard there is no treatment for a cataract once the cataract has started. If I do get a cataract, what will be the state of my vision when the cataract is removed by operation? I am very fond of reading and hope to live an active life until the end. After the operation, will I be able to do my normal reading and lead a normal life?

Since I have been told the diagnosis of cataracts I remain awfully worried. Is this mental tension harmful for cataracts?

DEAR READER - It is natural to be very concerned when you think you may lose your vision and you do not understand exactly what the problem is or if it can be treated.

Let me assure you many people have small cataracts or opacities in the lens of one or both eyes and continue to have good vision. That is why everyone who has a cataract does not need an operation. Depending on your health and age, you may never have enough opacification of your lenses to require surgery.

If you do develop sufficient clouding of the lenses to interfere with vision, you may still be able to see well with glasses. If not - and if the rest of your eyes are normal - you can simply have the cataract removed. With contact lenses or implants you will have good vision provided the rest of your eye is healthy. Now if you did develop changes in the retina, then that would be the limitation to your vision, not the cataract problem.

You will understand the problem of cataracts as related to your vision better after reading The Health Letter 13-6. Your Cataracts Are Coming, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I read your column about the young woman with the rumbling stomach. I used to have the same problem. I've found that if I eat a peanut butter sandwich before I go out this solves my problem.

This seems too simple to be true, but it works for me. The young lady might try it and I hope it helps her.

DEAR READER - Thank you for your interest in helping others. And eating does stop the rumbling stomach that is caused by hunger contractions. Another reader wrote about stopping the rumbles from hunger contractions by eating crackers.

Stopping the hunger contractions and the noise they make by eating proves the point that you do not rest the stomach by not eating. On the contrary, eating may quiet the beast.

Unfortunately some individuals, which I believe is true of the lady who wrote originally, have gas formations that pass through liquid. These will continue to occur even if you eat something before going out. The intestines are usually active and gas formed in the stomach or swallowed will cause sounds when the small intestines are making their normal rhythmic contractions. But it is always worth trying a snack to see if that will help as it did for you.

Secretaries meet for salad supper

The Peak of the Panhandle Educational Secretaries met Monday night, in the home of Nancy West of Dimmitt for a salad supper and business meeting.

The program featured a fall fashion showing of clothing from The Village Shop in Dimmitt, modeled by Bessie Strickland, Billye Gwen Davis, and Frances Frazier.

Plans were begun for an area workshop to be held in Hereford on Saturday, April 7, 1984. This will be for all educational office personnel within an area of 100 miles.

Book donations being accepted

The Friends of the Deaf Smith County Library are currently accepting book donations for the annual book sale, scheduled Oct. 15 at Sugarland Mall.

This sale enables the Friends to provide needed assistance to the library. Books may be left at donation sites located in Sugarland Mall, Moore's Jack and Jill, and the library.
