

Captured pilot maintains attacks directed by CIA

By FILADELFO ALEMAN
Associated Press Writer

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A captured rebel pilot claims CIA officers are directing anti-government attacks from Honduran bases, prompting Nicaragua to protest the "generous assistance" provided to the rebels by Washington.

At a Managua news conference Thursday, Nicaragua's Deputy Foreign Minister Nora Astorga presented the man, identified as former National Guard Maj. Roberto Amador Narvaez, as "proof of the growing involvement of the CIA" in rebel attacks on targets in the leftist-ruled country.

His claims could not be confirmed independently.

The Honduran-based rebels, meanwhile, said they mined the coast off Nicaragua's only oil unloading port and threatened to blow up any approaching oil tanker.

Also in Honduras, police said Nicaraguan troops attacked the border town of Las Dificultades and killed a civilian, the latest in a series of border incidents that has strained relations between the neighboring nations.

And in El Salvador, an army spokesman said Thursday that U.S.-trained troops trapped a guerrilla column in an abandoned resort and killed 157 of them. He said troops surprised the rebels Tuesday at Amapulapa, 40 miles east of San Salvador.

Mrs. Astorga said the rebel pilot, whose plane was shot down Monday 90 miles north of Managua, was a member of the Honduran-based Nicaraguan Democratic Force. Many leaders of the Force are former officers of the national guard of late President Anastasio Somoza, a U.S.-backed rightist who was deposed by the Sandinistas in 1979.

"North American elements of the CIA direct the war against Nicaragua, along with some Argentinian and Honduran officers who work in the same mission," said the pilot, who was brought before reporters along with two other rebels.

Ms. Astorga said she sent a letter Thursday to Secretary of State George P. Shultz protesting the "generous assistance given by the U.S. government to mercenary Somocista forces it has at its disposal."

Amador said two former

U.S. colonels he identified only as "Reina" and "Miguel," and an American known as "Raymond" were the top CIA agents in Honduras.

He said the U.S.-registered DC-3 took off from the jungles of Honduras' Olancho province, where a former U.S. army major directed operations.

"The Americans never flew with us, they just directed the flights," Amador said, adding he was second-in-command in the rebel air force.

Intelligence sources in Washington told The Associated Press on Thursday the CIA had provided rebels with at least one of the planes used in bombing runs in Nicaragua last month.

The sources said the planes were part of aid given Eden Pastora, known as Commander Zero, who leads the Costa Rica-based Revolu-

Reagan knocks democrats today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — President Reagan today accused Democrats of sabotaging a balanced budget and promised to reduce deficits by "handcuffing the big spenders."

With his political rhetoric growing stronger as the 1984 campaign season draws closer, Reagan charged, "It is their profligacy, not our economic recovery program, that is the source of federal red ink."

But in a speech prepared for the Louisville convention of the National Federation of Republican Women, Reagan pledged to "continue the lonely battle to restrain spending."

Reagan defended his economic policies, saying unemployment is on a downward path with 2.3 million more women holding jobs now than in 1980. Accompanying that, he said, is a 9.7 percent annual growth rate in the gross national product last quarter and a reduction in inflation to 2.6 percent over the last 12 months.

"But I won't be satisfied until inflation is zero," Reagan said. "The trouble is ... our opponents refuse to see any progress, to admit America is getting well."

Reagan, whose own record budget deficits have supplied the Democrats their political ammunition, acknowledged that "No one should minimize the danger of those budget deficits."

But he accused the Democrats of "using every trick in the book to sabotage what the American people really want: a balanced federal budget...Incredibly, the liberal House leadership, the same people who now take the well of the House each morning to decry deficits, claimed that a balanced budget would wreck our economy."

The president's prepared speech to the women's group barely mentioned the women's issue, which has become a political liability pundits and pollsters refer to as the gender gap.

Without citing his administration's figures, which have been challenged by women's political groups and the Civil Rights Commission, Reagan said, "I want you to know that back in Washington, we're appointing top-quality people to responsible positions throughout the government. And because we're looking for the best, we're appointing many women to key jobs ... Throughout the administration, women are involved in making the serious decisions that are shaping America's destiny."

Labor Department figures indicate

Unemployment slowly declining as economy rallies

By ROBERT FURLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's high unemployment, a persistent reminder of the 1981-82 recession, appears to be declining, according to economists who also caution that the downward movement will be slow.

Labor Department figures were due today on the September rate, and analysts were saying in advance that it could be down one- or two-tenths of a point from the 9.5 percent plateau it reached in July and August.

The rate, though still high, has been declining through most of this year from last December's 10.8 percent of the civilian labor force — not only the highest level of the recession but the highest in 42 years.

Both government and private analysts have said they expect the rate to continue declining, with companies calling back laid-off workers or hiring people for newly created jobs as the economy expands in its recovery from the 1981-82 recession. But those analysts have also said the improvement is likely to be slow.

Today's report said total U.S. civilian employment climbed to a record 101.9 million in September, up 382,000 from August. At the same time, the labor force of people holding or wanting jobs increased by 107,000 to 112.4 million.

An alternate unemployment rate, which includes the more than 1.6 million armed forces personnel stationed in the United States, dipped to 9.1 percent from August's 9.4 percent.

In further encouraging news, the department said the number of "discouraged workers" — those not even counted as unemployed because they have given up looking for jobs — totaled 1.6 million in September, down 100,000 since June, when the statistic was last calculated, and off 240,000 from the recession high of more than 1.8 million at the end of 1982.

"Whites accounted for most of this improvement as blacks continued to account for a disproportionate share of the discouraged total (31 percent)," the report said.

In addition, the number of people who have been looking for work for six months or longer rose slightly — to 2,506 million from August's total of 2,447 million.

The report said about 2.9 million jobs have been created this year. Economists have said those increases should continue, even if the recovery is slowing down as many believe. If business can keep opening jobs faster than Americans stream into the labor force, the unemployment rate will decline even further.

"This gain was about evenly divided between adult men and women, with no appreciable rise for teenagers," the report said.

Commenting on today's report, Janet L. Norwood, the commissioner of labor statistics, told a meeting of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, "In a longer-term perspective, the improvements in the labor market that have occurred during the current recovery compare reasonably well with prior recoveries."

She added, "Unemployment is still very high, however."

Commenting before release of today's report, Robert Westcott, an economist with Wharton Econometrics in Philadelphia, said declines in the jobless rate are limited by the amount the nation's economy can expand, even during a period of strong growth.

"You just can't drop from 9.5 percent to 6.5 percent in a month," he said.

Westcott added, "Three years of very weak economic performance left unemployment so high, it's unlikely we could have anything like 'full employment' — about 6.5 percent — before 1987."

Still, he noted that the economy has been creating 300,000 to 400,000 new jobs per month since last spring. And

Trio of capital murder indictments given Lucas

CONROE, Texas (AP) — Henry Lee Lucas, a drifter sentenced to 75 years in prison for one of the 150 murders he claims to have committed in 16 states, could face the death penalty if convicted under his latest indictment.

Lucas, a 47-year-old former mental patient, was indicted Thursday on three counts of capital murder after leading officers to sites where he claims to have buried bodies. Lucas was charged with the deaths of two Houston women and an unidentified woman.

Frank Newton, an investigator with the Montgomery County district attorney's office, said it was the first capital murder charge against Lucas.

Newton identified the victims as Laura Doney, 16, of Houston; Gloria Stephan of Houston, and an unidentified woman, but the investigator was unable to say when or where the bodies were found.

The indictment alleges Lucas kidnapped, sexually assaulted and killed the women.

Lucas also has been charged in the death of his 15-year-old traveling companion, Frieda Powell, a runaway from Jacksonville, Fla. whose remains were found in Denton County.

A pretrial hearing was scheduled today in that case before State District Judge Sam Houston.

Lucas was found mentally competent to stand trial on Sept. 13 and pleaded guilty in Montague, Texas, to murdering Kate Rich, 80, of Ringgold. He was sentenced to 75 years in prison.

Lucas was convicted in 1960 of murdering his 74-year-old mother and spent six years in a mental institution before he was paroled from a Michigan prison in 1970.

He also faces charges in the slaying of an unidentified woman whose headless body was found near Plainview in February 1982; in the March, 1981 strangulation death of Beverly Joyce Luttrell, 46, of Odessa, and in the strangulation death of an unidentified woman whose body was found last month near Georgetown.

Grand jurors in Fort Bend County indicted Lucas Sept. 7 in the stabbing death of Deion Marie Wilkinson, 22, of Houston. Her body was found March 4, 1981, under the Brazos River Bridge near Richmond.

Thursday's indictments came after Lucas led officers to graves sites in wooded areas in Montgomery County, but there was no other information as to when or where the murders took place, Newton said. He said an autopsy confirmed the women had been raped.

Newton said that Lucas spent several days here leading officers from site to site where he claims to have left bodies. Newton said some of the bodies had been burned, but he was unable to say which ones.

Ms. Stephan was found stabbed, strangled and sexually abused Oct. 2, 1982 at the site, near a gravel pit.

Ms. Doney and the unidentified woman were killed at the locations to which Lucas brought investigators. Officials said Lucas detailed he said were the positions of the two bodies when he left them.

The descriptions closely resembled the positions in which the bodies were found, authorities said.

"He claims remorse, and that's why he's telling about the killings," said sheriff's detective Capt. Art Collins. "He says he has a tough time sleeping at night."

Swift Packing gives big check to United Way

The United Way of Deaf Smith County received a "Swift" boost to its campaign drive Thursday when Swift Independent Packing Co. contributed checks and pledges totaling $12,893.88.

Added to last week's report of $29,900, the total moved up to $41,894 before Friday's weekly progress report was released. The contributions from Swift and its employees represented 10 percent of the goal of $125,000.

"We're part of the community and we want to support it in whatever way we can," Swift manager Harold Ecton said Thursday. "I am proud of our employees. I thought it was good participation for a company that's been here less than a year."

Ecton said the employee pledges amounted to $12,243.88. Of that, 64 percent of the salaried employees made a pledge and 54 percent of the hourly workers contributed on the payroll deduction plan.

Swift Independent Packing Co. provided a big boost to the Deaf Smith County United Way Fund drive Thursday when Harold Ecton, general manager, presented checks and pledges for $12,893.88 on behalf of the company and its employees. Bud Eades, left, a volunteer worker, accepted on behalf of United Way. The contribution represented about 10 percent of the total UW goal.

Nuclear gathering set 2-9 p.m. today

A public information exchange on the nuclear waste repository issue will be held here today by the U.S. Department of Energy, and interested citizens are urged to attend the 2 to 9 p.m. forum at the Community Center.

Linda McClain, DOE project manager, will open the meeting and introduce some 10 panelists who will speak on different topics concerning the location of a waste repository.

They are expected to discuss some of the questions raised by citizens in a public meeting held here in May. The panelists will include representatives of DOE and Battelle's Office of Nuclear Waste Isolation.

When not participating on the panel, the scientists will staff information tables in the lobby. They will have printed information and will be available for individual questions and discussion.

Using this format, McClain, some citizens can come-and-go at the event if they choose not to sit through the entire forum. Another public forum will be held in Tulsa Saturday beginning at 11 a.m.

She said DOE hopes these sessions will give people a chance to see all sides of the waste issue, give them enough information to separate fact from rumor, and make up their own minds.

The Deaf Smith-Swisher area is among sites being considered for the installation of the nation's first high-level nuclear waste repository.

Property taxes increase 14.4 percent in 1982

AUSTIN (AP) — School districts, counties, cities and other local taxing authorities in Texas levied nearly $6.6 billion in property taxes last year — an increase of 14.4 percent over 1981.

Kenneth E. Graeber, executive director of the State Property Tax Board, said in 1982, the property tax levy per capita in Texas was $377, compared to $336 the previous year.

He said in conjunction with the 1982 tax year, voters in 35 taxing jurisdictions held rollback elections, in which voters decide whether to put an 8 percent ceiling on tax hikes. In 21 units, voters favored the rollback. It failed in the other 14.

Other statistics compiled by the board:

- Half the property taxes in 1982 were levied by school districts.
- The amount of property taxes levied in 1981 was $5.75 billion, a 16.3 increase over 1980. The biggest jump in property taxes came in 1980, when tax levies rose by more than 19 percent over those of 1979.
- Property taxes accounted for 38 percent of the total state and local tax burden in Texas in 1982.
- The largest single contributor to property taxes last year was the single-family homeowner, who accounted for 28 percent of taxes levied. Second was commercial and industrial property at 21 percent, and oil and gas taxpayers contributed 14 percent.
- Five rollback elections were held in Montgomery County, the most in any county; all five passed. No rollback elections were held in West Texas.

Ship rescues fishermen missing 11 days in gulf

HOUSTON (AP) — Three Florida fishermen, hungry and sunburned but apparently escaping serious injury, have been rescued by a freighter in the Gulf of Mexico after floating undetected for 11 days on their 18-foot fishing boat.

"They're fine, we spoke to the ship. They're slightly sunburned," said Ardley Hanemann, director of public affairs for Lykes Shipping of New Orleans.

The freighter Leslie Lykes, en route from the Mediterranean to Houston, spotted the trio in their boat Wednesday about 200 miles offshore from Fort Myers, Fla.

The men were scheduled to arrive at the Port of Houston aboard the freighter early today.

The Coast Guard in Miami, which abandoned an extensive search for the three, identified the missing men as Roger Ulrich, 38; his stepson, Thomas W. Beasley, 25; and the owner of the boat, Donald M. Balsley, 42. All are from the Fort Myers area.

Balsley's wife, Margaret, said the trio, who once worked together as appliance repairmen, left Fort Myers in their "old beat-up boat" early Sept. 25 to go grouper fishing in Redfish Pass on Captiva Island, a barrier island off the Florida coast. Winds at the time were about 30 mph.

They were not heard from until about 5:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday when the crew aboard the Leslie Lykes saw them waving clothing and life jackets and blowing a whistle.

"I don't know precisely how they got out there," Hanemann said.

Their boat, which had been outfitted with a 65-horsepower outboard motor, was abandoned after they were picked up, Hanemann said.

Eastern announced third-quarter loss

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Airlines lost $34.4 million in the third quarter, bringing the carrier's losses to nearly $128.9 million for the first nine months of 1983, the airline said today.

In the same quarter last year, Eastern posted a $32.8 million loss.

Meanwhile, Eastern chairman FraBorman and leaders of the Miami-based company's three major unions were to announce a breakthrough today in an 18-month-old labor dispute.

William Usery, a former U.S. labor secretary hired as an Eastern labor consultant, said the announcement would include news of "a breakthrough in this situation."

Borman told the company's employees Sept. 26 that they must accept a 15 percent pay cut or else the company would have to turn to bankruptcy court or shut down all together.

Eastern and the union representing the airline's flight attendants reopened negotiations for a new contract Thursday and Borman appealed for a speedy compromise.

Banks says customers lining up

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Officials at the financially ailing First National Bank of Midland said customer transactions have increased following the announcement of an emergency shareholders' meeting, but they attributed that to the upcoming Columbus Day weekend.

Texas' largest independent bank announced this week to shareholders that it needed at least $40 million in new capital to offset energy loan losses, was entertaining merger offers and was under investigation by two federal agencies.

"There's slightly more activity than usual," bank spokesman Guy McCrary said Thursday. "We're coming up on a long weekend and in addition there is some more interest as a function of the special meeting."

Bank directors called the emergency meeting to seek stockholders' approval for offering 10 million shares of preferred stock at $1 per share, raising common stock shares from five million to 50 million, and declaring a 2-for-1 split of the existing five million common stock shares.

The bank said in the statement Tuesday that it needed to raise at least $40 million from the sale of new stock to bolster dwindling equity that had slipped below $1 million because of energy-related loan losses.

It also said the bank was under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the U.S. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

The bank lost $114.7 million in the first six months of this year.

McCrary said "the (customer) situation is as we expected."

Dorothy McNeill told the Midland Reporter-Telegram that she went to the bank to close out her account. "I figure they've had long enough to straighten out things," she said.

Pat McDaniel, a Midland tire dealer who does business with First National, described the situation at the bank Thursday afternoon as a "semi-panic," saying that there was "a lot more activity than usual."

"I think the bank put out some information too soon, which scared some people," McDaniel said.

McDaniel also said many depositors had more than $100,000 in accounts, the maximum protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. He said many were at the bank Thursday moving money to different accounts within First National.

McCrary, however, said customers were making deposits as well as withdrawals.

"We have a little more active day than usual. A number are withdrawing as well as depositing," he said.

Another customer said at mid-afternoon people were 10 to 20 deep at 20 cages, unusual for a Thursday, but not for a Friday.

Customer Sylvia Borrego said she went to the bank to take out money for the Columbus Day weekend. "Monday is a state holiday and I want some money to spend," she said, adding that she was not overly concerned about the bank's troubles.

Added another customer, Frank Villa, "I'm in here to deposit my paycheck. I'm concerned but I don't think they'll go under."

The bank's stockholder's equity stood at $122 million last December, but had dwindled to $7 million on June 30 and to $862,000 on Aug. 31, the statement said.

The bank also disclosed it had borrowed $535 million in emergency loans from the Federal Reserve System. That amount is believed to be a record for a bank of First National's size, the Wall Street Journal reported Thursday.

The statement said the investment firm of First Boston Corp. has been hired to explore the bank's financial alternatives. A merger has been sought since the first of the year, but no prospects are imminent, the statement added.

"Due to the large losses in 1983, the bank's capital has been seriously eroded. The current capital level is inadequate from a regulatory and operating viewpoint and will not be adequate to absorb future losses," the bank report stated.

First National said it has considerable other capital, mostly loan-loss reserves that amounted to $85 million in June. The bank's capital base was $129.3 million in June and was still above $100 million Wednesday, said bank chairman Thomas Wageman.

"Our situation today is no different than it was yesterday or will be tomorrow," Wageman told the Dallas Times Herald Wednesday.

The bank's total deposits have declined to $854 million as of Aug. 31, compared with $1.47 billion for June 30, 1982, the earlier statement said.

Delinquent loans doubled in 1983 from $150.4 million to $314 million on June 30, the statement said.

Two West Texas banks have failed in the last three months, largely because of energy loan losses.

The National Bank of Odessa was closed last Friday and reopened Monday under new ownership as First State Bank of Odessa. Metro Bank of Midland was ordered closed July 29 and later reopened as Mid-Cities National Bank.

CIA

tionary Democratic Alliance rebel group.

The CIA was known to be funding the Honduran-based rebels, but Pastora's sources of funds and weapons had been shrouded in mystery. The Washington sources said the CIA spent $33 million to aid the 7,000 to 10,000 rebels battling Nicaragua in fiscal 1983, which ended Sept. 30, and had a $48 million budget for 1984.

The top Nicaraguan rebel in Honduras, Adolfo Calero Portocarrero, said his forces "have mined the whole area of Puerto Sandino and will be obliged to destroy any boat transporting fuel to the Sandinista dictatorship."

Rebels last month blew up most installations at Puerto Sandino, 30 miles west of Managua, as well as two big fuel tanks on the Atlantic Coast.

But Nicaraguan authorities said they would repair the damage and Mexico, the Sandinistas' sole oil supplier, has said "it would continue shipments."

In Honduras, police spokesman Lt. Anael Perez said Nicaraguan troops toting Soviet-made assault rifles and backed by mortars attacked Las Dificultades on Tuesday and a peasant who was asleep in his house died when a mortar fell on it.

A Honduran Foreign Ministry spokesman said a formal complaint would be lodged with Nicaragua, and the army beefed up patrols at the town 150 miles southeast of Tegucigalpa.

On the diplomatic front, Nicaragua's new ambassador to Costa Rica, Leonor Arguello, was not permitted to present her credentials Thursday. A foreign ministry spokesman said Vice President Alberto Fajal canceled the ceremony.

No explanation was given, but Nicaragua's relations with Costa Rica, which has no army and has attempted to maintain neutrality in regional conflicts, have been worsening recently because of border incidents.

At the United Nations, five Central American governments, including El Salvador and Nicaragua, have agreed on a 21-point list of principles for peace in the area, Mexican Foreign Minister Bernardo Sepulveda said Thursday.

He said the principles include an end to outside military intervention, "the growing traffic in weapons" and "armed and political activities to destabilize others."

he said he expected that trend to continue, leading to further modest declines in the jobless rate, assuming no new surge of unemployed Americans into the job market.

Meanwhile, Michael K. Evans, president of Evans Economics in Washington, said in his latest economic report, "It now appears that increased hiring came back into vogue in September, which will lead to a gradual decline in the unemployment rate of about 0.1 percent per month for the remainder of the year."

President Reagan, who inherited a 7.4 percent jobless rate when he took office in January 1981, said recently he was concerned that "there are still too many unemployed." He has also said repeatedly that the best medicine for the ills of unemployment is continued recovery in the economy.

By all accounts, the recovery has become well established since the start of the year, but some companies are still doing poorly and therefore are still laying off workers.

That was shown again Thursday in the Labor Department's report that about 407,000 jobless Americans filed first-time claims for unemployment benefits in the week ending Sept. 24, an increase of 20,000 from the previous week. The weekly initial-claims figure has been fluctuating around the 400,000 mark since last June after declining from last fall's levels of more than 600,000 per week.

Hispanics build church amid vandalism

GODLEY, Texas (AP) — Southern Baptist churches normally thrive in this rolling dairy country, but Lynn Godsey feared bigotry was trying to destroy his small congregation.

On July 30, amid threats that a new Spanish-language mission would be torn down if the First Baptist Church insisted on building it, someone clipped the fences that surrounded the construction site.

The next day in East Texas, a mission pastor, Jose Amaya, was picking up parishioners for a Sunday afternoon service when he was allegedly assaulted by a farmer.

Godsey, a portly seminary graduate whose mother was Mexican-American, said he feared the attacks sprang from a new round of racism, this one aimed at Spanish-speaking clergy and their congregations.

A newspaper publisher in nearby Cleburne called on the tiny community "to put the 'God' back in Godley."

"Apparently people don't think we have the right to worship," said Godsey. "We've been here for years working, worshipping God and minding our business and now we're being persecuted."

Rumors about the mission still circulate around Godley among disgruntled residents, certain that the church will become a sanctuary for undocumented workers.

But Godsey, and members of First Baptist, pressed forward with their plans to build the new church and a record 100 people attend a Spanish-language service after the vandalism.

"If these people think they'll scare us off, they're wrong," Godsey said.

The threats have subsided, and Saturday about 40 volunteers, many members of churches in nearby Fort Worth, are expected to help frame the small sanctuary which will be the site of the community's annual Thanksgiving service.

The situation "seems to have smoothed out a whole lot," says the Rev. Gordon Bergstrom, pastor of First Baptist. "It's a minor irritation, not really confrontation."

Angers had begun simmering this summer in Godley, population 512, after Roy Carrell, a dairy farmer and First Baptist deacon, donated two acres of his land to the church on which to build the Spanish-language mission.

Residents near the church site, located about a mile northwest of town, submitted a petition to Johnson County Judge Tommy Altaras demanding that the project be stopped and claiming the church would really be a sanctuary for illegal aliens.

Altaras acknowledged that there was nothing the county could do. But rumors of further vandalism persisted for a while.

"I moved to the country for the peace and quiet," said Nan Grimsley, whose home is several hundred feet toward town from the church site. "I feel that they definitely need a place of fellowship, but I think they should be where they're wanted."

Mrs. Grimsley said she was resigned to the fact that the mission would be built but convinced that illegal aliens would flock there.

"I haven't heard anybody say they wanted it next to them," she said.

Bergstrom says the church and mission members "didn't do a good job of letting people know that we were here."

The Spanish-language program began 3 1/2 years ago when the church took a survey and found that at least 300 people of Mexican descent along with a few Cubans and Salvadorans lived in the area.

Godsey, then a student at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, took over the mission, which eventually hopes to become an autonomous church when its membership and contributions increase.

The 90 people who now attend the Spanish services squeeze into a Sunday-school room at First Baptist. They were using the civic center, but left when the city tripled the rent after complaints the mission members weren't keeping the building clean.

Carrell then offered a corner of his farm for a new church, and later began receiving threats aimed at the church.

"They just don't want illegals there," he said. "We can't help that. They're already here .... They come here to work. They don't come here to rape and steal."

A few rumors about the church still persist. One has it that the plumbing roughed in at one end of the slab poured recently for the church is for a washer and dryer — further proof that the church will become a sanctuary, says Bergstrom. The plumbing is actually for the church baptistry.

Publicity about the vandalism brought letters of support from across the state, and Bergstrom says the mission members can even thank its opponents.

"I hate to encourage them more or antagonize them, but they did us more good in the long run than they did harm," Bergstrom says.

Continental, pilots schedule final negotiating session

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Airlines representatives and striking pilots were set to return to the negotiating table today for what the airline described as "one final attempt" to reach a contract settlement.

Continental spokesman Bruce Hicks declined to say what moves the company planned if negotiations failed. Hicks also said the two groups met for several hours on Thursday and that the airline made a new proposal but he declined to elaborate.

In other developments Thursday, the troubled airline started advertising for replacements for the striking pilots and announced a profit sharing plan under which employees would get 15 to 20 percent of the company's profits.

The profit sharing plan is subject to approval of the bankruptcy court and the Internal Revenue Service, Continental said.

In announcing the plan, Continental chairman Frank Lorenzo said, "As we work together to strengthen and enhance our airline's position in the deregulated marketplace, the 4,000 employees here today, as well as many, many more we rehire as Continental grows, will realize the fruits of their labor by sharing in the company's profitability."

While negotiations with the striking pilots continued Thursday, the classified ads appeared in Houston and Dallas newspapers seeking pilots licensed to fly three types of passenger jets. The ads were to begin in Denver and Los Angeles papers today, Hicks said.

The ads were purchased because the airline had "no way of knowing how many more of our employees will come back to work," Hicks said. He also conceded more pilots were observing the strike than airline officials had anticipated.

"There were a number of pilots who had made commitments to us that have not honored those commitments," Hicks said. Hicks refused to say how many pilots are working through the strike.

"There's a pretty intense peer pressure campaign going right now," Hicks said. "We're not going to provide information to ALPA (the Air Line Pilots Association)."

Pilots and flight attendants struck after the airline halted flights Sept. 24, reorganized under federal bankruptcy laws and reopened Sept. 27, instituting a contract that pays workers about half what they made previously.

The attempt to hire replacements "indicates the company is severely lacking in flight crews," said Julie Graves, a spokeswoman for the flight attendants' union. "There are not that many professionals who will fly under the unsafe working conditions that have been unilaterally imposed."

The Los Angeles Times reported Thursday that the airline was prepared to concede two noneconomic issues.

Continental was prepared to rescind a demand that pilots surrender their seniority rights and remove a clause from the new contract that would allow the airline to suspend the work agreement whenever officials deem it necessary, the newspaper said.

Hicks said Continental had sent out memos to pilots some time ago that "clarified that those were some of the issues that the company was planning on changing from the emergency work rules." Those rules are in the contract imposed after the reorganization.

Continental filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act, suspending all domestic flights for two days and resuming service to only 25 of the 78 U.S. destinations it previously served. It laid off about 70 percent of its 12,000 workers.

The autopsy report on Della Knight, killed Sept. 16 in Hereford, was received earlier this week by the police department. Amarillo pathologist Dr. Ralph Erdmann placed the cause of death as "multiple stabbing and incised wounds to neck, chest, dorsum and upper extremities."

Class Cake Project

Students in Cathy Brock's VEH (Vocational Education for the Handicapped) class are using coupons to provide money for a class project of baking birthday cakes for patients of the Home Health Agency of Texas. The cakes will be delivered to the patients, most who are age 65 or older, on their birthdays and the class will also provide special holiday treats. They have been working on the project since summer. Members of the class are Hereford High School students in grades 10-12. Representing the Home Health Agency are Doris Morgan and Donna Charanza, at right.

Mitchell welcomed as new extension member

JoLyn Mitchell was welcomed as a new member when the Draper Extension Homemakers Club met Wednesday at K-Bob's Steak House for a luncheon and brief business meeting.

Nominations were made for new club members. They included Sherrie Blackwell, Carmen Rickman and Janice Jones.

Other business items discussed included a Halloween party for members' children in which Anna Messer will serve as chairman. Also, various money making projects were discussed and tabled until the Nov. 2 meeting to be held in the home of Ms. Jones.

For the club program members filled out a questionnaire concerning extension homemakers.

Those present included Mmes. Blackwell, Rickman, Jones, Mitchell, Messer and Ruth Romero, Martha Paetzold, Toni Blackwell and Johnnie Messer.

All visitors and new members are welcome to attend club meetings. For more information contact the County Extension Agents office at 364-3573.

Informative program given to club members

River Jordan of River Jordan Dog Training Kennel in Amarillo spoke to members of L'Allegria Study Club Thursday evening in the Hereford State Bank Friendship Room.

Jordan presented an informative program on obedience training with the aid of Angus, a 17-week-old Great Dane.

Following the program Betty Martin, club president, called the group to order for a brief business meeting. Members discussed possibilities for a project for the current year.

Sour cream coffee cake, coffee and almond tea were served by hostesses, Jody Skiles and Mary McWhorter to members present. They included Lynne Carlile, Janice Carr, Janette Caviness, Kay Lynn Caviness, Janice Conkright, Carolyn Hays, Glen Keenan. Also, Mary Kay McQuigg, Selsey Metz, Karen Payne, Hilda Perales, Susan Perrin, Naomi Schroeter and Ella Marie Veigel.

Church News

Greenwood Baptist Church will conduct their Fall Revival Oct. 12-16. The featured speaker will be Rev. Cabel Roberts of Ft. Worth. Pastor Steve Forcade invites all to come and hear this notable speaker.

Rev. Roberts has been greatly used by God in both evangelism and church-planting.

The schedule for services are 7 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 15 at 7:30 p.m., the church will also show the movie, "The Second Coming." Following the morning services Sunday, the ladies auxiliary will sponsor a get-acquainted reception at the Community Center.

Rev. Ed Cooper, director of Trinity Ministry center, the local outreach of Trinity Church in Lubbock, will be ministering at Christian Assembly Church on South Main for both the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services Sunday.

Rev. Cooper, a former juvenile probation officer, works with street people, drug addicts, and neglected and abused children. He earned his B.A. degree from Texas Tech in sociology and psychology and is presently working toward his Master's in education and counseling. He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Texas Coalition for Juvenile Justice.

Rev. Waylon Bruton, pastor of Christian Assembly

Church, explained, "I have known Ed Cooper for twelve years. You will not find a more dedicated or dynamic preacher. We cordially invite the public to attend these services."

The Church of the Nazarene will have a reception for Ted Taylor, former youth pastor, at the church gym following the homecoming game this evening. Also a hayride for the singles and teenagers has been planned that evening.

Sunday morning several guest singers will entertain. They include Taylor, Erik Murray, Sherri Gilliland and Margaret Bundy. The youth choir, Destiny, will provide the choir special.

Today In History

Today is Sunday, Oct. 9, the 282nd day of 1983. There are 83 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Oct. 9, 1000, Lief Ericson, the Norse mariner and adventurer, landed in what is now North America.

On this date:

In 1701, Yale College was founded in New Haven, Conn.

In 1871, the Great Chicago Fire was extinguished.

In 1888, the Washington Monument was opened.

In 1940, slain former Beatle John Lennon was born in Liverpool, England.

In 1958, Pope Pius XII died.

In 1975, Andrei Sakharov became the first Soviet citizen to win the Nobel Peace Prize. He was cited for his "personal and fearless effort" in the cause of peace and his "fight against violence and brutality."

Ten years ago: Israeli jets attacked Damascus, and Syrian sources said about 100 civilians had been killed or wounded.

Five years ago: The International Olympic Committee approved an accord under which Los Angeles would host the 1984 Summer Games without being liable for any financial loss.

One year ago: President Reagan responded to the Polish government's outlawing of Solidarity by suspending Poland's most-favored-nation trade status.

Today's birthday: Singer-songwriter Jackson Browne is 34.

Thought for Today: "The generation which commences a revolution rarely completes it." - President Thomas Jefferson (1743-1826).

Top Whiteface fullback won't play

Unbeaten Herd hosts Tascosa tonight

Hereford's Whitefaces will be shooting for their sixth straight victory tonight as the Amarillo Tascosa Rebels come to Whiteface Stadium for an HHS Homecoming encounter. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m. with an almost capacity crowd expected.

The Herd will try to keep its unbeaten record intact without the services of fullback Ronnie Terry, the league's top rusher. Coach Jerry Taylor announced Friday morning that disciplinary action had been taken against Terry for violation of school rules. The length of suspension had not been determined this morning.

Terry had averaged more than 100 yards a game for the Whitefaces, providing a major share of the offensive punch. Aside from that setback, the Herd will be in its best physical condition since the start of the season, according to Coach Taylor. Senior tackle Mark Lytal will be ready to return to action after being sidelined with a knee injury, and linebacker Alan Ritchie came through the Caprock game without re-injuring his shoulder.

Tascosa has had injury problems, losing the starting quarterback, Brad Pemberton, who was one of the top passers in the district, with a dislocated shoulder. Fullback Arthur Guerrero is also sidelined with injured ribs.

The contest will be an important District 3-5A contest for the Whitefaces, who are 3-0 in league play. The Amarillo Sandies are 4-0 and will be playing a big game with Palo Duro Friday night.

In a Thursday district game, the Caprock Longhorns rolled to a 41-0 victory over the hapless Lubbock Westerners. It was Caprock's first district win and left them 2-4 for the season. Lubbock suffered its 18th consecutive defeat and is 0-5 for the year.

Junior varsity teams lose games

Hereford's two junior varsity grid teams lost games on the road Thursday—the Maroon JV losing a 29-20 struggle against Amarillo, and the White JV being blanked by Coronado, 28-0.

At Amarillo, the Maroon squad jumped to an 8-0 lead in the first quarter on a 15-yard run by Danny Castillo, and a two-point conversion by Stefan Hacker. Amarillo tied the score later in the first period on a 25-yard pass play and a throw for two points.

Castillo broke on a 12-yard scoring run in the second period as Hereford took the lead again, 14-8. Amarillo rallied for two scores before the half to gain a 22-14 advantage.

Amarillo upped the lead to 29-14 in the third period, before Hacker connected with Rodney Torres on a 45-yard pass for a touchdown. However, Amarillo returned the ensuing kickoff for 80 yards to put the victory away. There was no scoring in the final period.

At Lubbock, the White JV fell to a Coronado squad that tallied in each quarter except the third. Coronado forged to an 18-0 lead at halftime, then added 10 points in the final stanza.

The Maroon JV will host Monterey next Thursday at 7 p.m. in Whiteface Stadium. The White JV travels to Lubbock for a game with the Lubbock High soph.

UT-Oklahoma game in spotlight, but SWC eyes SMU-Baylor clash

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

The eyes of the nation will be on the Cotton Bowl Saturday afternoon when No. 2 ranked Texas meets No. 8-rated Oklahoma but the game of most importance to the Southwest Conference football race will occur several hours later and 20 miles away.

Southern Methodist, ranked No. 13 and owning a 20-game unbeaten streak, will host in Texas Stadium a team that annually gives the Mustangs a hassle, the Baylor Bears.

Seven of the last eight games between SMU and Baylor have been last-second thrillers. Since 1975, the two schools have split 4-4.

SMU won 22-19 in Waco last year.

"It's always a good battle," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "They've beaten us the last two years. They're tough."

The Bears are fresh off a 42-21 thumping of Houston while SMU routed Texas-Arlington 34-0.

SMU Coach Bobby Collins, who has yet to see his team lose since he became the Mustang boss two years ago, said, "You have to be impressed with a team that beat Brigham Young."

"There is no doubt they will be fired up for us. Last year they really shut us down. They had us down 13-0 at half."

While Texas was a four-point favorite over Oklahoma, the Mustangs were a 7-point choice over the Bears.

In other games involving SWC teams, Texas Tech was a 10-point favorite over New Mexico, Texas Christian was picked by 9 points over Rice, and Texas A&M was a 2-point selection over Houston.

The Texas Aggies will have a new starting quarterback at the controls, freshman Kevin Murray, when they host the Cougars.

Murray replaces the much heralded John Mazur, who has yet to get the Aggie offense into gear.

The Aggies lost 3-0 to Texas Tech last week with Murray playing most of the second half.

Houston also has made some changes at quarterback with Quince Harris and Gerald Landry taking over from senior Lionel Wilson.

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said the Longhorns will be "the best team we've faced yet. They probably will have the best defense we will see all season."

He added, "It's a typical Texas team, one that doesn't beat itself, uses the kicking game expertly, and comes after you aggressively."

Texas Coach Fred Akers is 4-2 versus the Sooners since he replaced Darrell Royal. Oklahoma won 28-22 last year with Marcus DuPree breaking a 63-yard touchdown run.

"Our game with Oklahoma is one of a small number of true classics in inter-collegiate football," said Akers. "It's always very exciting and a tough physical game."

It's also financially rewarding.

Each school will earn $550,000 for playing in the contest.

Payne Stewart leads Southern Open Golf

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Payne Stewart's outfit was as spectacular as his iron shots.

His shocking pink knickers and matching attire drew attention. His irons helped put him up front going into today's second round of the $250,000 Southern Open golf tournament.

Stewart fired a 5-under-par 65 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead over Gary Hallberg and Sam Torrance, a European Ryder Cup player from Scotland.

Stewart had seven birdies ranging from a 25-foot chip on the fifth hole to a 3-inch gimme on the seventh hole to go with two bogeys.

At 67 were Gary Koch and Grier Jones while 10 golfers were at 68 led by defending champion Bobby Clampett, Bob Murphy and 1980 winner Mike Sullivan.

A mob scene of 20 golfers at 69 included J.C. Snead, Forrest Fezler and DeWitt Weaver, all former winners here, and Jim Simons and Lee Elder.

HOW IT WORKS:
This temperature stabilizer is designed to save you money throughout the heating and cooling season. The unit economically stabilizes the temperature by gently blowing and recirculation conditioned air. Stabilized air temperature will result in a more comfortable atmosphere, by elimination of annoying drafts, and hot or cold spots. By keeping the air in a treated area in constant motion, humidity doesn't have a chance to settle, which eliminates mold, mildew, and the odors they cause.

An unidentified defender seems more interested in the Brand's camera than the interception occurring behind him. Stealing the pass is Stacey Sanders, who proceeded to take the ball more than half the length of the La

Phillies must find bat power if they hope to beat Dodgers in series

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies must find their bats if they hope to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League Championship Series. The Phillies have scored just 15 runs in 14 games against the Dodgers this season, including one in each of the first two games of the best-of-five playoff, which is tied 1-1.

Owens was asked if he could pinpoint the Phillies' failure to score against Los Angeles. "Darn right, good Dodgers' pitching," snapped Owens.

The Phillies' left-handed hitters took hitting practice Thursday in a voluntary workout for today's third game in the Series, set to start at 3:05 p.m. EDT.

The Dodgers are scheduled to go with right-hander Bob Welch, and Owens will use left-handed hitters Joe Lefebvre and Greg Gross in the outfield in place of right-handers Sixto Lezcano and Garry Maddox.

"We hit the ball a lot better Wednesday night than we did Tuesday," Owens said.

"But we hit into three double plays and that always takes the wind out of any club. I think we're swinging better than we did earlier against this team."

Owens was happy to get out of Los Angeles with a split.

"You go on the other guy's turf you have to feel fortunate to get out, 1-1. I never thought it would be a sweep. These are two evenly matched clubs. It well could go to a fifth game."

Although the Phillies haven't hit much in the first two games, the Dodgers are nothing to brag about. They averaged .206 to .190 for the Phillies.

Mike Marshall, who contributed a nice running catch of a liner by Joe Morgan to save a couple of runs in the sixth inning Wednesday night, has left 10 on base.

"Sure I'm frustrated," said Marshall, who hit .300 in the stretch for the Dodgers. "My defense did not make up for it (lack of offense). I'm like anyone else. I want to get a hit every time I go up," Marshall said.

Marshall said he expected to get a lot of chances to get some hits in Philadelphia.

The Phillies are going with rookie pitcher Charles Hudson in game three.

Cowboys hope to slow down Nebraska's potent offense

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Oklahoma State Coach Jimmy Johnson knows exactly what he expects from his team when the Cowboys take on No. 1-ranked Nebraska in a Big Eight college football game.

"We're certainly not planning on stopping them," Johnson said. "We just want to slow them down a little."

The Oklahoma State defense is ranked fifth in the nation against the rush, allowing opponents only 59.5 yards a contest. But the Cornhusker offense it must slow down on Saturday is averaging 420 yards rushing, 586 yards total offense and nearly 58 points every time it has taken the field this year.

"What can I say that hasn't been said?" Johnson asked of Nebraska. "There are many who think this is the best college football team ever. All we can do is our best."

The Cowboys, 4-0 are off to their best start in eight years, despite the absence of tailback Ernest Anderson, who is sidelined with a pulled groin muscle. Last season, Anderson led the nation with 1,877 yards rushing. This year, he gained only 80 yards before being injured.

"It hurts quite a bit not to have him, even though Shawn (Jones) has done a good job," Johnson said. "Our offense has been stymied at times and we'd like to be able to use both of their running styles."

While Oklahoma State is trying to figure out a way to stop Nebraska, Oklahoma will take its No. 8 ranking to Dallas to take on No. 2 Texas.

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said the Longhorns will be "the best team we've faced yet. They probably will have the best defense we will see all season."

In games involving other teams in the Top Twenty, No. 3 Alabama is at Penn State, Wake Forest is at No. 4 North Carolina, Purdue is at No. 6 Ohio State, Vanderbilt is at

No. 9 Florida, No. 11 Georgia is at Mississippi, No. 14 Michigan is at Michigan State, Northwestern is at No. 15 Iowa, Syracuse is at No. 16 Maryland, Oregon State is at No. 16 Washington, No. 19 Illinois is at Wisconsin and No. 20 Brigham Young is at Wyoming.

In night games, No. 7 Auburn is at undefeated Kentucky, Colorado State is at No. 10 Arizona, Louisville is at No. 12 Miami, Fla., and Baylor is at No. 13 Southern Methodist.

In an unusual Thursday night game, The Citadel snapped a three-game losing streak with a 27-6 Southern Conference victory over winless Virginia Military. The first night game ever played at VMI — which ended a string of 13 consecutive quarters without scoring by taking a 6-3 lead in the opening period — was televised nationally on WTBS, a cable network.

Stanton splits pair

Stanton Junior School had its eighth-grade football team win while its ninth graders lost Thursday at Yucca.

The younger local boys prevailed 20-14 on the strength of three long touchdowns by Marcus Brown, which included kickoff returns of 60 and 80 yards. His other TD came on a 40-yard scamper from scrimmage. Chad Larkin added the other Dogie points by recording a safety.

In the second contest, Yucca won 22-20 despite TD runs of 50 and 3 yards from Stanton's Vincent Brown. Keith Herrea scored the other touchdown for the locals on a 10-yard pass from Kyle Streun.

Whiteface volleyball teams bow to MHS

Another pair of defeats were suffered Thursday at Lubbock's Monterey High School by Hereford's varsity and junior varsity volleyball squads.

The varsity Whitefaces were downed 15-4, 15-11 with junior Shawna Umsted's five points leading the team. "We got pretty down because they scored four times before we could get going," HHS coach Sharma Smith.

"I think we've got a mental problem," she continued. "We just need to get psyched up."

In the JV match, Monterey prevailed 15-1, 15-6. Donann Cummings and Nancy Escabada each netted two points for Hereford.

Both local clubs swing into action again next week, hosting Caprock Tuesday and Amarillo Thursday.

Akron, Ohio is the location of the annual All-American Soap Box Derby.

Oriole rookie blanks White Sox, series moves to Chicago tonight

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Boddicker spent part of his day installing a CB radio in his pickup. Gary Roenicke used the time to play with his children. Then they went to work, and helped the Baltimore Orioles escape a dangerous situation in the American League Championship Series.

Boddicker, a 26-year-old rookie, registered a record-breaking 14 strikeouts and Roenicke, a veteran at age 28, hit a two-run homer and scored two other runs Thursday night as the Orioles beat the Chicago White Sox 4-0 to tie the series at one game apiece.

The best-of-five championship set resumes tonight in Chicago, with Rich Dotson, 22-7, pitching for the White Sox against Baltimore's Mike Flanagan, 12-4, and the situation facing them is drastically different than if the White Sox had won Game No. 2.

Since the league championship series began in 1969, no team has ever dropped the first two at home and come back to win the pennant, a point not lost on either manager.

"I feel an awful lot better than I did last night," Baltimore's Joe Altobelli said.

"Am I happy with a split? Not particularly," said Chicago's Tony LaRussa.

Boddicker became the first rookie to hurl a shutout in AL championship play, limiting the White Sox to five hits. His 14 strikeouts were a career high and the most by an American League pitcher this year, but his chief thought after the game was more of pain than elation.

"All I have in mind right now is ice," he said as he waited for reporters' questions to end so he could soak his tired right arm.

Told he had struck out 14 batters, the Norway, Iowa, resident grimaced and said:

"No wonder my arm hurts." Boddicker inflicted some pain himself Thursday night, both physically and psychologically.

He tied a championship series record by hitting two batters, Tom Paciorek and Greg Luzinski. And the White Sox conceded that they were constantly out of tempo with his curves and sliders. Boddicker's 14 strikeouts tied a playoff record set by Detroit's Joe Coleman in 1972 and matched by Pittsburgh's John Candelaria in 1975. But the historic day started like any other, he said.

Until he got to Memorial Stadium, Roenicke's day also was rather routine.

"I have two sons, ages 1 and 4, and I spent the day with them," the left-fielder said. "We went out and bought a toy box, and we watched movies and washed the car."

The idea, Roenicke said, was to take his mind off the game. A platoon player who gives way to left-handed batter John Lowenstein against right-handed pitching, Roenicke sat out Wednesday night's series-opening 2-1 loss to the White Sox and righty LaMarr Hoyt.

"I've been thinking about this game a lot," he said. "I did a lot of things to take my mind off it, but nothing worked."

The wait was worth it. "In six years of professional ball, this is the best game I've ever had," Roenicke said, after going 2-for-2.

Roenicke doubled leading off the second inning and scored the game's first run when Law first bobbled Ken Singleton's grounder, then threw it past first baseman Paciorek.

He walked with one out in the fourth and came home on Ken Singleton's ground-ball double to left, then finished the scoring with a two-run homer to left-center field following a leadoff double by Cal Ripken in the sixth.

Boxer's death brings toll to 8 this year

NEW YORK (AP) — The death of Isidro "Gino" Perez was the eighth this year of a boxer after suffering injuries in the ring and the second this month.

Perez, 24, a native of Mexico who lived in West New York, N.J., died Thursday, six days after being knocked out by Juan Ramon Cruz of New York in the seventh round of a lightweight fight at the Felt Forum.

Perez died at 10:20 a.m., said Dan Sorrenti, a spokesman for St. Vincent's Hospital Medical Center of New York.

Perez, who was ahead after six rounds on the cards of two of the three officials scoring the fight, collapsed in his corner after congratulating Cruz. The cause of death was not given pending an autopsy.

Perez is the first boxer to die in New York since Willie Classen was injured fatally in a fight against Wilford Scypion at the Felt Forum on Nov. 23, 1979.

On Feb. 28, 1981, Perez knocked out Fred Bowman in the sixth round at Atlantic City, N.J. Bowman lapsed into coma and died a year later.

Ann Landers Suicide rate tripled

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Are more people killing themselves these days or are we just hearing more about it? Some people believe the world is more stressful and folks are finding it harder to cope. Also the fact that guns and pills are so easy to get might be a factor.

deaths that appeared to be accidents were actually deliberate. Also, for every person who succeeds in taking his or her life, at least 10 try and fail. Please don't ignore subtle signals that a loved one prefers death to life.

The man is undoubtedly depressed (who wouldn't be—without work for 14 months?) and he needs counseling. If he is a churchgoer, your clergyman can help. Also consider a therapist. Look under "mental health" in the phone book.

DEAR ANN: Mother recently died after long bout with cancer. She left her emerald ring to me, her pearl and diamond earrings to my sister Tracy and her ruby and sapphire wedding ring to my sister Ann.

Tracy claims she should get the emerald ring because I have a husband who can buy me lovely things. She also says my ring is worth more than her earrings and that she was gypped. What is your opinion of this? Is she sick?—S.J. In Jamaica, N.Y.

DEAR S.J.: Ignore your sister's avariciousness and abide by your mother's wishes. She could be sick. It sounds as if the money in her blood is interfering with the oxygen supply to the brain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently ran a short letter from a woman in Maine who asked for words of wisdom that might help her with her children. They were very difficult to handle and turned out to be a disappointment.

Your advice was good, but I wish you had added a line I saw in your column about five years ago. I read it at a time I desperately needed it and was really helped. You said, "Love the child who is least lovable, for he needs it the most." That bit of wisdom pulled me through some very bad times.

Those "unlovable" kids are often acting up for a reason. If we have some understanding of why they misbehave, it can turn the whole situation around.

Thank you for the wonderful job you do. You've helped me raise some very nice children.—Mother of Four In Grass Valley, Calif.

DEAR GRASS VALLEY: A letter like yours gives me a great deal of pleasure. To know I have made a difference to a mother of four is a real thrill. Thanks for the upper.

I ask these questions because someone close to me was laid off 14 months ago, and he is getting more and more depressed. He has said more than once, when a friend or relative has died, "I wish I could trade places with him." Please answer my questions.—I Am Worried In New Mexico

DEAR N.M.: The suicide rate in the United States has tripled in the last 10 years. More than 30,000 suicides were recorded in 1982, and heaven only knows how many

Butler speaks to Bayview members

Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor of First United Methodist Church, spoke on "Faith and Love" when members of Bayview Study Club met Thursday at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Earnest Langley, club president. During the business meeting, minutes were read and the club voted to support both the blood drive contest and the Returning Student Program at West Texas State University.

Refreshments of coffee, tea, sandwiches and chocolate cream pie were served from a table covered with an autumn red cloth.

Mrs. Jack Case served as hostess to members present. They included Mmes. Aaron Hutto, Austin Rose, Langley, Robert Josserand, J.R. Allison, Jack Gilliland, Juston McBride, John Gilliland, W.S. Kerr, R.W. Eades, Dial Garner, Dudley Bayne, Jimmie Gillentine, W.K. Golden and Howard Gault.

Banks agree on loans, postponed repayment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of more than 800 banks worldwide favor lending Brazil an additional $6.5 billion while postponing repayment of $5 billion to ease the financial troubles that have made it the Third World's biggest debtor. Brazil owes over $90 billion, and is about $3 billion in arrears on its interest payments.

The deal was completed at the Washington headquarters of the International Monetary Fund by Affonso Celso Pastore, governor of the Central Bank of Brazil, and 66 banks on the Bank Advisory Committee for Brazil, chaired by William R. Rhodes of Citibank.

The deal, agreed to Thursday, depends heavily on the political and labor situation in Brazil, which is trying to move toward free elections and at the same time cope with inflation running at the rate of 153 percent a year.

It also depends on a promise to the International Monetary Fund by Brazil's military government to limit wage increases as a way of fighting inflation.

To meet the pledge, the government decided to limit wage increases to 80 percent of inflation — instead of 100 percent. The decision has run into heavy opposition, with some strikes and rioting. President Joao Figueiredo promised Wednesday he will reconsider it.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Improving memory

DEAR DR. LAMB — I want to comment on your excellent advice about memory problems and senility. Four years ago I thought I was washed up and had trouble with memory and concentration. Today I have a full-time job, as a bookkeeper, at age 66. I feel more alive than I did years ago.

I'm sure that a lot of my recovery is due to my starting to do crossword puzzles and cryptograms two years ago. I have progressed to a point where I now pass up the easy, medium and hard and go right to the "expert."

I am now able to concentrate and my memory improves all the time. It is so nice, for instance, to be introduced to a group of strangers and remember their names. I hope your other readers do as well.

DEAR READER — Thank you for sharing your success story. There are many reasons for a failing memory with advancing years but in many cases the problem can be helped by simply trying harder. It takes more effort but in time it gets easier. Don't forget the brain has some similarities to ordinary muscles and it must be exercised and used regularly to be able to perform at its best.

Not everyone will be as fortunate as you have been but it really does help to start training your memory. Memory exercises in books on training your memory — and above all training yourself to concentrate — helps. Poor concentration is often the real cause of a poor memory.

Another neglected problem that masquerades as senility with memory loss is depression. I'm struck by your comment about feeling more "alive." I wonder if that means you were actually depressed and have gotten over it.

Anyone who has signs of "senility" or severe memory and concentration problems needs a complete medical evaluation. Many medical problems can cause the same behavior. This is discussed in The Aging Mind in The Health Letter 14-2 which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What does endocrine therapy consist of? What is involved and are there side effects? Can it be administered by a regular M.D. rather than an endocrinologist? Is there an age limit for the recipient of this type of therapy?

DEAR READER — Endocrines are hormones and come from endocrine glands. Hormones (endocrines) are chemicals that are carried by your bloodstream. They include insulin, thyroid, adrenaline, steroids from the adrenal gland or both male and female sex hormones to name a few.

They are used as medicines to correct a hormone imbalance. Insulin, for instance, is given to diabetics and replacement female hormones are used to combat the symptoms of the menopause. Some are used in the treatment of certain cancers. For example, female hormones may be used in the treatment of prostate cancer in men.

Obviously they are used by all kinds of doctors, from the family physician to the obstetrician and gynecologist, the cancer specialist and the endocrinologist. It depends entirely on why hormones are needed and how they are used.

Senate acts on drought, rejects border aid plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas, suffering from the double whammy of drought in West Texas and economic turmoil along the Mexican border, has won one and lost one in Congress in the battle to provide additional federal aid to those areas.

Texas over the next two years. Supporters had said they wanted a good chunk of that money used in high unemployment areas, such as those along the U.S.-Mexico border.

Last week, Block announced a reduction in interest rates on emergency loans for farmers and ranchers. But Bentson said Thursday that "most ranchers tell me they already have too much debt."

was provided for in legislation approved by the House that would extend the program of supplemental unemployment benefits for workers whose regular benefits have expired.

Senator says Watt hurt by allies; successors rumored

WASHINGTON (AP) — A longtime friend of James Watt says the embattled interior secretary is "in anguish" as he hears calls for his resignation from senators he once counted as allies.

years, had a long telephone conversation with Watt before the interior secretary left Wednesday on a vacation with his wife in California. "I was listening to an old friend who was in anguish," Simpson recalled.

with the bleak assessment that support for Watt had seriously eroded and a no-confidence vote was likely to pass the Senate by a wide margin.

Human bones unearthed during gutting of house

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Medical examiners said they would begin the task today of reassembling "several bags" of human bones found under a house in the hope that they can piece together clues to what police believe was the murder of at least one person.

On a Friday and he killed himself on a Saturday," she said. Police said that tractor operator J.T. Kenard dug up the bones Thursday morning.

This source, who spoke on condition he not be named, said a prime candidate to succeed Watt was Simmons, now the undersecretary of interior.

Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the explorer, took his pet fox terrier "Igloo" with him to the Antarctic.

Border city recovers from flooding

NOGALES, Mexico (AP) — Soldiers and volunteers delivered food, water and clothing Thursday to victims of torrential rains that meteorologists say were the worst to hit the area in at least four decades.

million in damage from the flooding. The rains began to taper off over the weekend. Lopez, who participated in the rescue efforts, said no deaths were reported in Sonora, but many people were rescued from partially submerged homes.

as much damage as Nogales. He said the cities were Imuris, about 24 miles (40km) south of Nogales, Magdalena, about 48 miles (80km) south of Nogales, and Santa Ana, which is about 63 miles (103km) south of Nogales.

The Arizona side of Nogales was flooded last week, but has more provisions and has been better able to recover from the disaster, Lopez said.

LET FAITH BE YOUR GUIDEPOST AT THE CROSSROADS

Have you come to a fork in the road? Are you confronted with a major decision which you must make and make wisely, in order to travel the road of greater benefit to yourself and your loved ones? Each of us must at some time decide whether to move, to change jobs, to begin a new life in a different area, or some such question of far-reaching consequences. As others before you have done, let your faith in God give you the wisdom, strength and resolution to make the correct choice. Beginning this Sunday, go to your Church and trust Him to point your footsteps in the right direction for all concerned.

Have you come to the Red Sea place in your life, Where, in spite of all you can do, There is no way out, there is no way back, There is no other way but through?
— Annie Johnson Flint

"But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering, for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed."
— James 1:6
