

State Rests Its Case In Washburn Trial

WACO (AP)—The state rested today in the car-bomb murder trial of Harry Washburn after surprise testimony about a mysterious telephone caller who said, shortly after the blast, "We missed."

Defense attorney Cliff Tupper said he would ask for an instructed verdict of innocence, on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Testimony about the telephone call came from Mrs. Ed Blackburn of Houston, a daughter of Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver, the wealthy West Texas ranch woman killed Jan. 19 by a car-bomb at San Angelo.

Washburn, 39, a Houston businessman and former son-in-law of Mrs. Weaver, is charged with murder.

Mrs. Blackburn said that after she and a sister offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to conviction of the killer she received, a telephone call from a San Angelo resident.

She met this man and he told of overhearing a telephone conversation in which another San Angelo man said "We missed but Mr. Weaver will never come between a man and woman again."

The state has contended Washburn intended to kill Harry Weaver, 60, husband of the slain woman, and not Mrs. Weaver.

The jury was dismissed during Mrs. Blackburn's testimony. Judge D. W. Bartlett ruled later her testimony was not admissible as evidence.

J. D. Chastain, an explosives expert from the Department of Public Safety in Austin, testified fragments of wire found at the San Angelo explosion scene were identical to those found at the scene of an explosion in a wooded area near Houston. The state has offered testimony that a "test" explosion was detonated in the wooded area before the fatal blast in West Texas.

Chastain also testified the San Angelo bomb was set off by a detonating cap wired to the car generator and that the fatal device could have been wired in place in less than 10 minutes.

Waco Station KWTX-TV is giving live television coverage to the trial.

Mrs. Adelle Heninger, 24, a trim young woman who once wrestled as "Nature Girl," testified yesterday Washburn once offered her $10,000 to kill Weaver. She said Washburn asked her to go to the Weaver ranch near San Angelo where "I was to get him to show me his gun collection and I was to shoot him accidentally."

The first witness today was Edward Norton, Houston Press reporter. Norton said he interviewed Washburn the day after his arrest and that Washburn told him he was home baby-sitting the night before the blast.

Mrs. Heninger, about 5 feet 3 and weighing a little over 100 pounds, said Washburn first approached her last year at Houston.

"He said, 'I know where you can make some money, and there is nothing wrong with it,'" she testified in a low voice.

Another time, Washburn told her "Weaver was a hard touch and that you couldn't do anything to him but that Mrs. Weaver got upset easily."

Mrs. Heninger said she did not appear in previous hearings in the case because "I was in a family way." She recently became a mother and said she was in Perla, Ill., for 6 or 8 months.

Andrew Nelson, serving life as an habitual criminal, refused to answer questions. The state charges he bought dynamite at Rosenberg and showed Washburn how to detonate it while out on parole a few days before the San Angelo blast.

Other testimony tried to show Washburn, who claims he was 400 miles away, could have rigged the bomb the night before.

Police Chief E. Y. Ginn of Columbus told of giving Washburn a ticket for running a red light early on the morning of the explosion.

Ranger Ralph Rohatsch told of finding evidence of a dynamite explosion in a wooded area near Houston where the state claims the test was made.

Bobby Clayton said he serviced an auto driven by a man resembling Washburn about 9:30 p.m. at his San Angelo station the evening before the explosion.

A. W. McLendon, Houston business acquaintance of Washburn, said Washburn told him a few days after being questioned by Houston police that "They're gonna pin it on me if it takes the last dime they've (the Weavers) got. But I did not do it."

McLendon quoted Washburn as cursing Weaver and saying: "That old lady (Mrs. Weaver) didn't ever hurt anyone. If it hadn't been for my children they would have probably kept me in jail."

Washburn was awarded court custody of the two children when he and Mrs. Weaver's daughter were divorced.

Television coverage continued to be routine. Judge D. W. Bartlett indicated he will permit future trials to be televised live.

Union Near End Of Meet Amid Peace Pact Tiff

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO neared the end of its historic founding convention today amid a disagreement over arranging talks for a labor peace pact with business.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said representatives of the National Assn. of Manufacturers had talked with him and accepted a bid by Meany to discuss a live-and-let-live arrangement.

The NAM denied having agreed to any such discussions.

While Meany indicated he would try to straighten out the difficulty today, there remained the solid fact that this No. 1 leader of organized labor was courting the idea of working out a nonaggression deal with industry.

Charles R. Sligh Jr., the NAM's board chairman, expressed surprise at Meany's overture. Sligh did not, however, throw any cold water on the underlying suggestion that labor and management could work out an agreement narrowing their differences.

The more than 1,400 AFL-CIO convention delegates heard an address today by Adlai Stevenson, announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

After Stevenson's talk, the convention was due to take up a resolution outlining AFL-CIO political plans for the 1956 election campaign and wind up convention sessions.

Meany said talks with the NAM looking toward a labor-management nonaggression pact have been arranged to start soon, "on a staff level." He said he would not be in on them at the beginning.

Sligh said that while Meany has been invited to address an NAM luncheon tomorrow, "no authorized representative of the NAM has been in contact with George Meany except to invite and make arrangements for him to speak."

"It should be quite possible," Meany said, "to reach an agreement if they (the NAM) have any good will in our American system and I am sure they do. Continuing to snipe at each other is a bit archaic."

"After all, they are just as interested in seeing the American system work as we are. There is no harm, at least, in seeing what can be worked out. We in labor don't introduce legislation to hurt them or put them out of business."

Previous attempts at working out labor-management accords have generally resulted in failure. The last major one was called by President Truman in the fall of 1945, after the close of World War II.

In AFL-CIO convention developments yesterday, the newly merged union organization established its Industrial Union Department without any fireworks.

The IUD is the unit created within the AFL-CIO as a home for former CIO unions, and there had been hints at trouble because of the application of some former AFL unions for entry into the IUD.

However, the former CIO unions extended an open welcome and 35 former AFL unions, with an estimated membership of 2,200,000, were admitted. All former CIO unions with the exception of the former CIO Transport Workers Union, which is talking at the AFL-CIO merger, became part of the IUD. Meany estimated the former CIO membership in IUD at 3,800,000. This makes the IUD the AFL-CIO's largest division with approximately six million members.

Without opposition or even debate, Walter Reuther and James Carey, president and secretary-treasurer of the now-dissolved CIO, were elected to similar posts in the IUD, with Al Whitehouse, Cincinnati regional director of the United Steelworkers, chosen to be IUD director.

SAINBURG AT YUMA JAIL
Doctor in custody of Police Sgt. Bert Power

LOSES SON Sainburg Makes Bid For Freedom

Dr. Frank Sainburg, who last Friday abandoned his Big Spring home and job in a futile attempt to keep the son he is accused of kidnapping, was to go before an Arizona judge this afternoon.

He hoped to be freed from the Yuma, Ariz., jail on a writ of habeas corpus. He already has lost custody of his son.

Sainburg was being held on a "fugitive complaint" similar to the one filed against him here two weeks ago. His Yuma attorney, John H. Westover, contends that since Sainburg posted $2,000 bond in connection with the Big Spring charge, he is still under jurisdiction of the Texas court.

Since he has not violated his Big Spring bond, he should not be held in Arizona, the attorney was to argue.

Certified copies of the local complaint, warrant and bonds were forwarded from Big Spring to Yuma last night, and were to be introduced at the hearing.

Sainburg awaited the hearing in the Arizona jail while his son and step-daughter were en route to Longview aboard a commercial airliner. The doctor was held under $50,000 bail.

Westover said the petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which would free the doctor, is based on two points.

First, Westover said, "no testimony was taken or evidence introduced" at a hearing held on a fugitive complaint here yesterday.

Second, he said, Sainburg was arrested on a fugitive complaint earlier in Texas. The doctor posted bond and has not violated it, Westover said, and consequently is still under jurisdiction of the Texas court and should not be held here.

The children are his son Phillip, and Mary Jean Nance, daughter of his present wife by a previous marriage. Both are 4. They were with him and unharmed when he was arrested at a motel in this southwestern Arizona desert city yesterday.

Sainburg is charged with kidnapping his son at Ithaca, N.Y., Nov. 14, after the boy's mother had been granted custody.

Sainburg's attorney, John Westover, said the children will be cared for by Sainburg's father-in-law, Neal Smith, a Longview lawyer.

Mrs. Connie Sainburg, who had been held in the county jail at Longview in protective custody, signed "Thank God, Mary Jean is safe" when she heard of her husband's arrest.

Sheriff Noble Crawford said Mrs. Sainburg told him her leaving jail depended on whether her husband is freed on bond.

She said Sainburg threatened her and her father in a phone call, saying "if unless charges were dropped they wouldn't see the little girl again."

Sainburg was charged at Longview with threatening a human life.

Sainburg refused to talk, saying "publicity won't do me any good." Police quoted him as saying "This is all a big mistake."

Sainburg, on the staff of the Big Spring Veterans Hospital, fled Friday. He had been ordered jailed at Longview for contempt because he failed to surrender Phillip to the mother, Miss Doris Blanchard of Ithaca.

Yuma Police said Chief of Police William Simmers of Ithaca told them Sainburg fled Tuesday night from the Flamingo motel, where he was admitted to arrest quietly at 3:07 a.m. yesterday.

He was registered as Jack Carpenter and family of Snyder, Tex.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department, in a final report of the year, estimated this year's government-controlled cotton crop at 14,663,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This figure is 180,000 bales less than last month's forecast of 14,843,000. It compares with 13,696,000 produced last year and 12,952,000 for the ten-year (1944-53) average. It is far above the government's goal of 10 million bales.

Added to reserve and surplus supplies accumulated from past crops, the crop will contribute to stocks of record proportions.

The department estimated the acre yield at an average of 416 pounds compared with 341 pounds last year and 279 for the ten-year average.

Acres harvested was reported at 16,882,000 acres compared with 19,251,000 last year and 22,096,000 for the ten-year average.

Texas production was estimated at 4,025,000 bales from 6,800,000 acres yielding an average of 282 pounds.

The new production estimate comes as the department prepares to hold a grower referendum Dec. 13 on a proposal to continue marketing quotas and acreage limitations on next year's crop. Approval by at least two-thirds of the growers voting is required to make the quotas effective.

The department estimated the production of cottonseed at 6,043,000 tons compared with 5,702,000 last year and 5,260,000 for the 10-year average.

Revised estimates put this year's acreage in cultivation on July 1 at 17,489,000 acres compared with 19,791,000 a year earlier and 22,763,000 for the 10-year average.

The Census Bureau said 13,052,000 bales were ginned to Dec. 1 compared with 12,454,945 a year earlier.

Production of American-Egyptian type cotton was reported at 44,200 bales compared with 42,100 last year and 29,600 two years ago.

The acreage harvested, the yield per acre and the production, respectively, of cotton in other states included: Georgia 890,000; 380 and 705,000; Tennessee 570,000; 512 and 610,000; Alabama 1,050,000; 478 and 1,045,000; Mississippi 1,700,000; 584 and 1,850,000; Louisiana 615,000; 615,000; 437 and 585,000; Oklahoma 785,000; 275 and 450,000; New Mexico 183,000; 694 and 265,000; and California 745,000; 803 and 1,250,000.

Texas ginnings were placed at 2,535,193 bales prior to Dec. 1 compared to 3,482,116 last year.

Ginnings in other states this year and last include: Alabama 1,023,279 for 1955 and 735,653 for 1954; Arkansas 1,322,251 and 1,301,514; California 923,483 and 1,139,213; Georgia 681,376 and 610,506; Louisiana 536,021 and 537,154; Mississippi 1,900,041 and 1,534,724; New Mexico 208,534 and 298,720; Oklahoma 419,671 and 260,949; and Tennessee 531,594 and 526,154.

East, Central Texans Plan Cotton Suit

TEMPLE (AP)—Representatives of East and Central Texas farmers decided yesterday to file a countersuit if present state cotton allotments are overthrown in an action brought by four West Texas cotton growers.

The West Texans assert the 1956 formula for allotting cotton acreage is unfair to West and South Texas. Their suit comes up in Federal Court at Houston soon.

The executive committee of the Old Cotton Belt Assn. will file suit if the Houston case goes against its area. It will claim that 1954 and 1955 allotments were unfair and that 1953 should not be counted in determining the cotton planting history of an area on which allotments are based.

There were no acreage restrictions in 1953. The Department of Agriculture asked a voluntary 15 per cent cut.

John Stiles of the association, said that most of the Old South and the traditional cotton growing areas of Texas made a voluntary cut while West and South Texas producers almost doubled their acreage.

Rep. Bob Poage of Waco said that if the East and Central Texas farmers were to win the threatened suit, West Texans might be subject to a 50 per cent penalty for some acreage planted in 1954 and 1955.

Rep. Homer Thornberry of Austin also attended the meeting.

The group decided to try to have 1953 thrown out in future consideration of cotton planting history even if it doesn't file a suit. The association also will seek to freeze the 1947-1952 period as the only years to be considered in determining planting history.

The association also said it will: Attempt to stabilize the state acreage reserve for hardship and other causes to 10 per cent of the allotment.

Seek review of 1951 and 1952 allotments in East and Central Texas as compared with West and South Texas to determine if allotments were made fairly.

The association took under consideration possible action on the two-price farm plan, whereby a part of production would be supported at stable domestic prices and the rest allowed to go on the world market for whatever it will bring.

Another meeting will be held Dec. 15 to study the proposals.

Last Hospital Escapee Nabbed

R. H. Crutcher, the last of three escaped State Hospital patients, has been apprehended in Idaho. Dr. Roy Sloan, manager of the hospital here, said the patient would probably be returned here in the next few days. The patients escaped Nov. 23.

The other two were Wayne Lee Patterson and J. W. Van Nees. The trio took two cars, which were parked at local churches here, to make the escape.

Van Nees was apprehended the same night of the escape at his family's home in Snyder and one of the cars were recovered. Patterson was arrested in Hobbs, N. M., a few days later. He and Crutcher drove a car to Odessa and attempted to another one before driving on to Hobbs. Crutcher eluded officers when Patton was arrested.

Mental Test Planned For Slaying Suspect

GALVESTON (AP)—Robert Wallace, 78, of Texas City, who beat his granddaughter, 9, to death with a hammer Aug. 24, is under guard at St. Mary's Infirmary for treatment. The county health officer, Dr. E. S. McLarty, said yesterday he plans to have a psychiatrist examine Wallace.

PILOT TRAINING GROUP AT WEBB BOOSTS CHEER FUND BY $511.05

There is a Santa Claus — in uniform. And the needy kids of Big Spring certainly will be aware of this on Christmas.

This is because the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND today has taken a mighty jump, with a gift from officers and men of the Pilot Training Group at Webb Air Force Base. The Webb people brought in $511.05 for the fund — more than all civilian contributions have totaled to date.

There was no "drive" at Webb. It was a spontaneous gesture on the part of young military men who want to see to it that every child, no matter how destitute the family's circumstances, has some of the delights of Christmas. A great many of the Pilot Training Group donors were young student officers, in Big Spring only a few months for training. But while they have passed this way briefly, their imprint of generosity will not be forgotten. Sponsors of the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND extend a grateful salute to the Webb benefactors.

Fremmen administer this fund, without a penny of overhead. They will see to it that children who need Christmas help are helped. If you want to further this holiday cause, send your CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND check to The Herald. The Fund today:

Pilot Training Group, WAFB	$511.05

PLANE EXPERT Red Air Buildup Called Formidable

LONDON (AP)—A world authority on aircraft said today that Russia's progress in jet planes soon will give the Soviets a "formidable bomber striking force."

It said the Soviets are turning out planes at 300 factories scattered from the Polish border to the Far East.

The new edition of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft" cited the latest known types of Soviet jet bombers displayed in formation strength over Moscow last July. These include the Type 37 four-jet heavy bomber believed capable of carrying an atom bomb and the Type 39 medium twin-jet bomber.

Jane's emphasized that the Russians are turning these planes out at what is probably not the eventual full capacity production rate. It added America's aircraft industry "has probably reached its greatest production peak in peacetime."

The publication gave this appraisal of output:

"The capacity for production on the large scale of medium and heavy jet bombers may not yet be so great as for fighters... (but) the Type 39 has been shown off publicly in a formation of 54, and though the production figures have probably reached nothing like those for the (American) Boeing B47, it is felt in the West that Russia will very shortly possess a formidable bomber striking force."

Type 37 is the nearest Russian equivalent to the U.S. Air Force's eight-jet intercontinental bomber designed to carry the H-bomb, the B52. However, air experts have pointed out that the Soviets have come up with unusually powerful jet engines. Four of them in the Type 37 apparently do almost the same job that eight engines do for the B52.

The United States is believed to have held for a long time the production lead in medium jet bombers with the six-jet B47. This is the plane with which the Russian Type 39, with only two jets, would have to compete.

Jane's said the Russians also have a new single-jet, single-seat fighter plane, apparently an improved MIG17, a large swept-wing bomber powered by four turbo-prop engines; a twin-jet night or all-weather fighter and a small rocket-propelled interceptor.

Mild Norther Crosses Texas

A moderate norther has pushed across Texas into the Gulf. Skies were generally fair except at Brownsville where fog cut visibility to a quarter mile.

The Weather Bureau said the cool air should pour into the state Thursday and drop temperatures 10 degrees by night.

Overnight temperatures ranged from 18 at Dalhart to 56 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi. Other minimums included Amarillo 23; Lubbock 25; Childress and Wink 32; El Paso, Abilene and Wichita Falls 36; Texarkana 38; Dallas 39; Lufkin 41; Houston and Austin 49; and San Antonio, 53.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour in gusts sent a haze of dust over the South Plains and Big Spring areas Wednesday.

Ladies, Don't Let This Give You Ideas

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Mrs. Gerda Thimm, 22, has been sentenced to six years in prison for mistreating her husband and trying to poison him.

Mrs. Thimm was convicted yesterday of:

1. Dropping — on 13 nights — hydrochloric acid into the ears of her sleeping spouse.
2. Placing a splinter of a razor blade under his eyelid.
3. Placing rat poison in his bed.

"I wanted to make him look ugly because he flirted with other women," she told the court.

Sports Spotlited In School Race Argument

By BILL LOFTUS

MILFORD, Del. (AP)—Fourteen months after a dispute over continued segregation of white and Negro pupils, the Milford School District is involved today in a disagreement over relations with integrated schools.

The situation now has not aroused the intense feelings apparent last fall when 10 Negro boys and girls sought admission to the all-white Milford school in this south-central Delaware town of 5,700.

At first, the Negroes were accepted as students. Then resentment arose and after a boycott of the school by parents and white pupils, the Negroes were ordered from the school. The Delaware State Supreme Court has since ruled the Milford School Board erred in admitting the Negro pupils without first receiving acceptance from the State Board of Education of an integration schedule.

The Negroes now are attending a segregated high school in Georgetown, Del., 17 miles south of Milford.

Recently, the Milford student council wrote a letter to the School Board which asked the board to spell out just what the integration policy would be in the future with regard to sports, and other activities.

The student council, headed by Edward J. Steiner, a tackle on the football team, then asked the board for a meeting to have the questions answered. The students asked to be allowed to bring their parents to the meeting. The board agreed to the meeting but canceled it Nov. 29.

The board, elected last May, after it campaigned on a pro-segregation platform, defeated a slate of candidates headed by Steiner's father Edmund F. Steiner, a wool processor. Steiner had served on an interim board which ran the system after the original board involved in the integration dispute last fall resigned. The Steiner slate advocated a go-slow integration policy.

The 17-year-old Steiner, a 225-pound six-footer, and Dr. Paul Mallie, high school mathematics teacher and student council adviser, said the student council is not interested in whether the School Board follows a pro-segregation or integration policy.

"What we want is for the board to lay down a line and how to it in their future decisions."

The board in its statements said politics was involved, that the defeated board candidates were trying to embarrass the present board. The elder Steiner denies this.

New Airline Speed Mark Set By Delta

ATLANTA (AP)—A new record of one hour and 46 minutes for the 721 mile distance from Dallas to Atlanta was set yesterday by a Delta Airlines DC7 passenger plane. The four-engine, 60-passenger plane flew at an average of 410 m.p.h.

LOOKING FOR A CASHWORD WINNER
Puzzle checkers run through thousands of entries

SUBSCRIBER ANSWERED

Cashword Puzzle Checkers
Have Fast, Accurate System

From Forsan came this letter from S. Howard Starr:
"Please don't compare me with the irate lady that called your office some three or four weeks ago and read the riot act to you because she was unable to solve your Cashword Puzzle. I'm only after a little information.
"I was just wondering by what means, methods and by whom are the Cashword Puzzles judged each week. I am curious to know how so many puzzles are judged so accurately and quickly by your staff.
"I am an avid reader of the Herald and think it's doing a splendid job of keeping us informed. After all this is the primary purpose of the press, is it not?
"I have always considered myself as one of the masses and if I don't want to get my feet wet, I don't dangle them over the side of the boat. Even though I goofed on last week's puzzle, so did 15,000 others. I don't feel badly about it. When going fishing it's not the amount of fish I catch but the fun I have trying to outsmart him on his own playing field. Who knows, some day I might land a whopper right before the very eyes and lens of a Herald photographer.
Now the Herald would like to have the pleasure of handing out a check and sending down a photographer, but this is, of course, up to Subscriber Starr and the mathematics of the thing.
But to get to the heart of the question, it is the mathematics of the thing which enables members of the Herald staff to rapidly and accurately judge puzzles. The process of elimination quickly whittles down the number to workable size.

Let's start at the beginning, however, when thousands — around 15,000 or more — of entries pour into the Herald. These came through the postoffice (the force there is good enough to tie most puzzle entries in separate bundles), from the big barrel in front of the Herald office, and from Edwards Heights Pharmacy, Big Spring Drug and Lewis' Five & Ten, where special bonus prizes are offered.
Each group must be worked separately because the source of the puzzle may determine the amount of prize.
Usually the working force consists of James Horton, Jack Kimble, Gene Kimble, Mrs. Betty Priest, Dolores Mickels, and Mrs. Charlotte Lansing, although from time to time other staff members are enlisted.
First step is to straighten (and trim some) entries so that they will be in workable form.
Staff members have a set of preliminary clues — or key words. As fast as they can deal a puzzle form-off the stack, they can — at a glance — tell if any of the three clues are wrong. Those with all three words correct go in one stack, the others into a discard pile.
The mathematics of the thing cuts the thousands of entries down to hundreds after the first go around.
Then comes the final step. A sealed envelope from the puzzle maker is delivered from the bank where it has been under lock and key until well past deadline time.
When this final clue (or the final solution of the puzzle) is made available the final round of elimination begins. The entire process is repeated — and since May 17 all of them have unfortunately missed matching the official solution.
After the checking process is complete, the entries are counted. These are bundled and stored so that if an entrant raises a question, the entire stack may be re-examined so that the entries in question may be checked for certainty. (This has been done, although it is seldom necessary.)
The entire process is basically one of eliminations and manpower. Sorting the puzzles can be done as rapidly as sorting the suits of decks of cards. In our case, it takes several people working many hours.

ly populated Harris County where the increase went from 107,000 to 113,000 during the nine year period.
These figures were taken from a publicity letter sent out by the Cattleman Magazine. It contributed the shift of cattle to the drought in West Texas and the acreage restrictions in East Texas. Right now the leading cattle counties are all in East and South Texas. Big Brewster County had one of the greatest drops, going from 66,000 to 18,000 in nine years.
Several farmers in Dawson County filled their silos this fall and are feeding out cattle, says Leroy Colgan, county agent at Lamesa.
Ray Adams, who lives just north-east of Ackerly, was one who filled his silos with grain sorghums, and is feeding it to his Angus cattle. Adams has been using ensilage every year when he got enough rain to grow a feed crop. During the summer he runs his cattle on sudan, then feeds them out during the winter.
R. H. Stricklin of the Key community east of Lamesa is still irrigating out of a well that was drilled six years ago. It is just about the oldest well in Dawson County, but he says it still pumps as much water as it did the first year.
Stricklin has small wells and is debating whether or not to water a winter vetch crop. The vetch is not doing so well right now, and he doubts if it is worthwhile to irrigate it during the winter.
"Raising soil improving crops is quite a problem with little wells," he said. "I may try soil-building crops on dryland during the summer, though. With cotton acreage dropping and feed hardly worth gathering, I think a lot of farmers may have to do this. Maybe then the second year we can raise our cotton yields."

Gabe Hammack of the local ASC office has been mailing out 1956 cotton allotments to farmers in Howard County. For most cotton producers the reduction from this year's acreage will be about seven per cent. In 1955 farmers got an average of 42.5 per cent cotton of their total cultivated acre. Next year it will be only 40 per cent of the total.
Hammack said there were only a few hardship cases in the county. It is possible that a farmer with from five to 15 acres might get a little more than he had this year, providing he had a high percentage of his land in cotton during 1953-'54 and '55.
Farmers in the 15 to 25 acre bracket could get as much as a 47 per cent allotment. All this is worked out according to the acres in cotton the last three years. Perhaps a very few of these small cotton fields will get a slight increase, but Hammack says there are not many farmers with farms this small.
The man who has planted more than 37 acres will get no increase at all. He will have to take his cut just like the fellow with several hundred acres. Hammack said they followed the rules laid down by the higher authorities in determining next year's allotments.
Thad Reeves of the Grandview community north of Lamesa was in Big Spring one night this week attending a basketball game. He said cotton north of Lamesa was not as good as that south of town. A few farmers in his area are turning to irrigation, although the water is salty.
Reeves said that some land being irrigated was turning white, and one patch of feed seemed to have been burnt by the salt. He is thinking of drilling a well, but wonders if the water might finally ruin the land.
Boll pulling is practically over around Knott, said Henry Samples, bookkeeper at the Planter's Gin. Most of the braceros and native laborers are gone, and the biggest part of cotton coming in now is from mechanical strippers. He said there was a lot less sand in the machined cotton than where it was hand pulled. The machines take it around until the sand falls out. Not many workers bother with this. The sand weighs more than cotton, and the workers know it. Some farmers think a little extra sand is sometimes scooped up on purpose.
There has been a noticeable shift in cattle numbers in Texas the last few years. Howard County had over 22,000 in 1945, but this dropped to around 13,000 by 1954. During the same period Glasscock County dropped from 12,000 to 8,000. Martin from 12,500 to 8,500. And Dawson from 18,000 to 10,000. Midland County gained from 18,000 to 21,800 for the only increase in this area.
While West Texas cattle were going to market in large numbers, the East Texas cattle population was on the increase. The largest number of cattle was found in thick-question, it is the mathematics of the thing which enables members of the Herald staff to rapidly and accurately judge puzzles. The process of elimination quickly whittles down the number to workable size.

Let's start at the beginning, however, when thousands — around 15,000 or more — of entries pour into the Herald. These came through the postoffice (the force there is good enough to tie most puzzle entries in separate bundles), from the big barrel in front of the Herald office, and from Edwards Heights Pharmacy, Big Spring Drug and Lewis' Five & Ten, where special bonus prizes are offered.
Each group must be worked separately because the source of the puzzle may determine the amount of prize.
Usually the working force consists of James Horton, Jack Kimble, Gene Kimble, Mrs. Betty Priest, Dolores Mickels, and Mrs. Charlotte Lansing, although from time to time other staff members are enlisted.
First step is to straighten (and trim some) entries so that they will be in workable form.
Staff members have a set of preliminary clues — or key words. As fast as they can deal a puzzle form-off the stack, they can — at a glance — tell if any of the three clues are wrong. Those with all three words correct go in one stack, the others into a discard pile.
The mathematics of the thing cuts the thousands of entries down to hundreds after the first go around.
Then comes the final step. A sealed envelope from the puzzle maker is delivered from the bank where it has been under lock and key until well past deadline time.
When this final clue (or the final solution of the puzzle) is made available the final round of elimination begins. The entire process is repeated — and since May 17 all of them have unfortunately missed matching the official solution.
After the checking process is complete, the entries are counted. These are bundled and stored so that if an entrant raises a question, the entire stack may be re-examined so that the entries in question may be checked for certainty. (This has been done, although it is seldom necessary.)
The entire process is basically one of eliminations and manpower. Sorting the puzzles can be done as rapidly as sorting the suits of decks of cards. In our case, it takes several people working many hours.

Marion Wilkerson of Garden City says blueongie has almost disappeared from his area. Last year some of their sheep were afflicted with it, but the Wilkersons vaccinated, as did everyone else, and the disease has almost stopped.
"We didn't have any losses last year," he said "but the animals got stiff and lost weight. Most of them finally got over it."
Local Hereford breeders are getting ready for the Howard-South Plains Hereford Association Annual Sale to be held in Big Spring on January 4, according to Charley Creighton.
Bill Reed of Sterling will be judge of the show, and Walter Britten is to be auctioneer. Sales manager is Pete Peterson of Fort Worth, who is well known in livestock circles.
Consignors from this area are as follows: S. F. Buchanan, C. A. Walker, Leland Wallace and Creighton of Big Spring; Sam Cox and George W. (Tex) Knox of Tarsan; F. A. Youngblood and Son of Lamesa, and R. E. Odum, Jr. and Winston Brothers from Snyder. Altogether 42 bulls and 10 females will be sold.
The sale will be held in the Fair Building at the rodeo grounds.

Drought Aid
Due In Howard
And Glasscock

Howard was one of 13 counties in Texas designated drought disaster areas Wednesday by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, making farmers in these counties eligible to obtain certain feed grains at a reduced price.
Gabe Hammack, director of the local Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office, said this morning he had been notified by a farmer here before he received word via a telegram from the State office.
The farmer had read the announcement in a newspaper today. The telegram stated that "applications may be received until closing time Jan. 13, 1956, for supply of feed grain sufficient to carry eligible livestock until Feb. 15, 1956." The telegram from the state office at Texas A.M. went on to say information and application blanks were being mailed.
Hammack expected the blanks and additional information Monday.
The counties besides Howard placed on the disaster list were Blanco, Coke, Concho, Glasscock, Guadalupe, Hays, Irion, Reagan, Schleicher, Sterling, Tom Green, and Upton.
Under the disaster plan, eligible farmers and stockmen may obtain certain feed grains at a reduced price of $1 per 100 pounds.
The amount they may purchase under the reduced price is determined by the number of cattle they have and the number of days remaining from the time they apply until — in this present case — Feb. 15.

ABClub Gives Yule Trees To Hospital
Thirteen Christmas trees will be placed in the VA Hospital the week of Dec. 18 by a local civic organization.
The American Business Club has purchased the 13 trees and will place them in the wards, dining rooms, chapel, and the lobby, Tom South, president of the club, has announced. The trees will be placed in the hospital and decorated the same week.
Refreshments will be served.

'Little Theatre'
Organization Set
Formal organization and election of permanent officers for a "Little Theatre" in Big Spring is scheduled tonight in the Chamber of Commerce conference room. The group will meet at 7 p.m.
All persons interested in participating in a "little theater" program in Big Spring are invited to attend the meeting, according to Glenn Cootes, temporary chairman.
The group will probably decide tonight on a selection of one-act plays to be presented in the near future and all persons attending tonight's meeting will be included as charter members. Del McComb, high school speech teacher, is to direct the major productions of the theater.
No acting experience is necessary to join, Cootes said. Anyone who thinks they would like to act or who would like to lend moral support is invited.
Approximately 20 persons attended the first meeting of the group Monday. Cootes said about 30 are expected tonight. The Scurry Street door of the Permian Building will be open for interested persons and the conference room door will also be open.

Safety Lectures Slated At Webb
Two Midland men will be at Webb AFB Friday giving lectures on safety as part of the base's pre-holiday safety program.
Speaking to the men at different times during the day in the base theater will be Bob Schultz and Fred Maxwell. They are appearing in behalf of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service of Dallas, which furnished speakers for organizations.
Maxwell and Schultz are with the Texas Employe Insurance Association in Midland. The latter is district safety engineer, while the former is field engineer.
The programs will be presented starting Friday at 8 a.m. and continue through 4:30 p.m. They are mandatory for all personnel. Two sessions for officers and non-commissioned officers have been set, and two for the other enlisted men.

Barber Shop Singers
Slate Yule Party
The annual Christmas dinner party of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday. Time for the event is 7:30 p.m.
All interested persons are invited to attend. However, non-members are asked to call Mrs. Allen Orr at 4-6093 Friday for reservations.
The SPEBSQSA is a group primarily interested in harmony and the old time songs. Persons who like to sing are invited to become members of the group.

Sixth Grade Groups To Hear Policeman
Police officer Curley Brown will speak to the three Sixth Grade classes at Washington Place school Friday morning. Brown is to discuss bicycle traffic safety.
Mrs. Henry Derrick made the arrangements for the program. Brown will also show a safety film supplied by the Humble Oil Company.

Bigger Rush Feared
By Postal Officials

Although postal receipts for the year are running ahead of the same period in 1954, the first seven days in December this year are falling short of the same time in 1954, causing alarm in the post office.
The reason: this year is expected to be the biggest in history, and if this materializes, a bigger rush must come later in the month.
Postmaster E. C. Boatler urged the public to get their mailing of packages and cards done immediately to avoid getting their deliveries made after Christmas.
For the first seven days of this month, collections totaled $5,699, while last year's same seven days saw $6,976.42 business carried.
The post office will make available to all citizens labels reading "all for city delivery" and "all for out-of-town delivery" to help separate Christmas cards. Boatler said the labels will be given out by postmen Monday, but anyone desiring them before then can pick them up at the post office.
Also the postmaster stated that mail sacks will be placed in the lobby labeled "city," "east," and "west" for quicker service to trains and also for the convenience of the postal employees. These mail bags will probably be placed Monday. The system was used effectively here last year.
No extra employees have been added yet, but Boatler noted that the first help will start Monday and others will be added as they are needed.
Postal receipts for November of this year totaled $19,384.16 as compared with $17,408.98 during a like period in 1954. Through November, collections this year reached $210,156.88 while 11-month totals in '54 were only $200,541.28.
Boatler is expecting the year to top the record of $234,100.18 established in 1954. The top December was in 1953, when $38,137.24 went through the till. Boatler is looking for that monthly record to fall also, but not at the rate collections were made the first seven days this month.
Thus, the postmaster urged all persons to start now or their packages and cards might be delivered after Christmas.

Thieves Planning
Merry Christmas
Christmas trees and hubcaps were reported stolen Tuesday night.
Bud Tucker, 900 Gregg, told police that about 16 Christmas trees were taken from his lot. Dick Madison, 303 Lorilla, said two Oldsmobile hubcaps were taken from his Ford while the car was parked at the high school Tuesday.

Volume Of Mail Gains Steadily, Postmaster Says

Postmaster E. C. Boatler says there has been a steady increase in the flow of Christmas cards and packages through the post office the past few days. He said he was glad to see that many people are getting their Christmas gifts for distant points into the mail this week, pointing out that packages should all be mailed before Dec. 10.

Stressing the need for everyone to cooperate on his 1955 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster Boatler says that by following these three simple rules, you're certain to have your gifts delivered before Christmas Day: wrap them securely, address them correctly, and mail them early.

"Of course early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is a big factor in getting everything delivered before Christmas. Keep in mind that careful packing and correct addressing is equally important. Every year many poorly wrapped packages break open despite careful handling and we often have to puzzle over addresses which are incomplete or simply cannot be read at all," he said.

Boatler urged that patrons ask for free copies of a new publication, "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing," now available at the Big Spring post office. Advance care in preparing gift packages for the mails and making sure that all addresses are legible and complete will prevent disappointment to sender and receiver alike.

"If you have any articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the post office before attempting to mail them," the postmaster warned. "The limits on size and weight of packages varies, depending on where you mail your package from."

Some post offices cannot accept packages that are more than 72 inches in combined length and girth, nor more than 20 pounds in weight. In others, the limits go up to 100 inches in combined length and girth and 70 pounds in weight.

It is always better to use corrugated cartons for shipping your gifts especially where there are a number of various sized objects. Use plenty of wadded tissue or newspaper in the cartons for extra protection against shock. Complete each package by wrapping in heavy paper and tying it with strong cord.

As extra precaution against loss, the postmaster advised placing both return address and the recipient's address inside the carton or package before it is wrapped.

Don't send your parcel unless you include a notice reading "Contents merchandise — may be opened for postal inspection" along with return address and the recipient's address on the mailing label. If you use Christmas stickers or seals put them on the back of your Christmas cards and packages so that they will not conflict with the address on the front. Before you release your packages be sure that proper postage is firmly affixed to each. This information can be obtained from another free publication, "Domestic Rates and Fees."

Sales Manager For Gerber Appointed

DALLAS—Forrest L. White has been named Dallas district sales manager for Gerber baby foods, according to an announcement by Joseph Robertson, south central division sales manager.

The Dallas district includes Abilene, Fort Worth, Big Spring, Lubbock, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Waco.

White joined Gerber in 1946 as a retail salesman in San Francisco. In 1948 he was transferred to Sacramento and was promoted to territory manager. Earlier this year he was moved to Dallas to work for the firm's district sales office on special assignments.

Robertson also announced the appointment of Louis Willeford as Dallas district assistant sales manager.

Willeford started to work for Gerber in 1948 as a retail salesman in Dallas. In 1951 he was promoted to territory manager in Dallas, in which capacity he has served until his new appointment.

Both White and Willeford will headquarter at Gerber offices located here at 4520 N. Central Expressway.

BODY FOUND IN CELLAR

Mother Charged With Murder In Death Of Husband's Ex-Wife

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — A 42-year-old mother was arrested and charged with murder yesterday in the death of her husband's former wife.

Mrs. Rose Alexander was jailed without bond after telling a coroner's jury she buried the body of Mrs. Barbara Alexander, 27, in the cellar of a Casper home and concealed her death because "it would hurt the children."

Ray Whitaker, Natrona County attorney, said the short, heavy-set woman would be arraigned today. The grey-haired mother of two was arrested before the jury decided that Barbara Alexander "came to her death by a fractured skull as result of a blow or blows struck by a person or persons unknown."

Town Brings Aid To Polio Victims

By The Associated Press

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — It could have been a bleak Christmas for Betty and Herb Smith.

But thanks to their neighbors in the closely knit California city of Ojai, Christmas won't be too bad, and the new year will shine bright for the future.

The Smiths are William H., 31, and Betty, 29, formerly of Spokane, Wash. He is a teacher at Nordhoff High School, and she teaches at the Ojai Cooperative Nursery School.

Both have been in iron lungs at Ventura County General Hospital since Oct. 10. He has been out of the respirator on rare occasions since then. She has been in her lung continuously.

They contracted polio within 24 hours of each other, and the first problem doctors faced was that of morale.

The Smiths have two children, Debra Susan, 5, and Jody Lyn, 2. They have a home. It has a mortgage.

They have payments to keep up. Herb had added to his teacher's salary by coaching the Nordhoff High School junior varsity football team.

It was in September that Jody became ill. She was treated for fevers and headaches, but no one thought of polio. The child appeared to recover.

Then, on a brisk October weekend, Mrs. Smith complained of the headache - dizziness - fever symptoms. She was rushed to the hospital.

Eighteen hours later Smith was in an iron lung next to her.

Jody had recovered from a mild polio attack, the doctors decided. Mrs. Ernestine Hix, Mrs. Smith's mother, rushed down from Spokan, took charge of the house and set things right. Among her more pleasant chores: "I had to give the children a lot of loving."

And then the Ojai Valley Teachers Assn. set to work. It promoted a benefit raffle, made $2,200 on a television set giveaway.

Smith's students at Nordhoff donated $300—the complete receipts—from the Ojai-Santa Barbara Catholic High School football game. Town folks collected $300.

Where did the money go? Debra blew out the candles on a fancily decorated birthday cake. The youngsters are eating three meals a day. They look healthy and happy.

Three nurses on round-the-clock duty for the Smith are paid by the March of Dimes and the fund.

There will be a Christmas tree and presents for Debra and Jody. Students from the high school will act as Santa's helpers.

When the Smiths leave the hospital, the mortgage will be paid up to date.

"We've only done what should be done," say the teachers and townspeople.

1950. After his marriage to Barbara, Alexander said, Rose came to live with them for about a year.

Later, Rose left the home and he said Barbara warned him she also would leave if she found out he ever visited his former wife. Alexander said that after Barbara disappeared, he assumed she had learned he had been visiting Rose and carried out her threat.

"If someone else would make her happier than I did, it was all right with me," he said. "I would just sit and wait until I heard from her."

Rose testified she went to Barbara's home the day of the death to ask Alexander for money to support their two children.

At a side door, Rose said, Barbara slipped and fell into an enclosed pit. A broken banister toppled a stack of bricks and cinder blocks onto the prone woman, killing her, Rose related.

She testified Alexander called on her the next night to ask her to care for the three children who were living with Alexander and Barbara. She said Alexander told her Barbara had gone and he had to leave town on business.

On July 20, Rose said she returned to Alexander's home and buried Barbara in the unfinished cellar, under a six-inch layer of dirt. The next month, Alexander laid a 4½-inch concrete floor.

Rose explained a crude cross found in Barbara's hands as something she had prepared "to add religious significance" to the burial.

The tomb was unearthed by police at midnight Monday.

Two of Barbara's children were by a former marriage.

Publisher-Broadcaster Is Cleared Of Red Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Publisher-broadcaster Edward Lamb has been cleared by a government examiner of charges that he ever was involved in Communist activities.

But the 53-year-old Toledo, Ohio, millionaire still must wait 40 days before he can know whether the license of his Erie, Pa., television station, WICU, can be renewed.

During that period, the Federal Communications Commission can either (1) remain silent, automatically renewing Lamb's Erie license, or (2) disagree with FCC Examiner Herbert Sharfman's finding that nothing in Lamb's conduct or writings indicates a "guilty knowledge" of Red activities, and refuse to renew.

Lamb is publisher of the Erie (Pa.) Dispatch and operates radio and television stations in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Florida. Specifically at issue during the eight-month hearing was renewal of his license for the Erie station.

In a statement at Aspen, Colo., where he was on a skiing holiday, Lamb welcomed the examiner's finding as "evidence of the integrity of our administrative processes," and added:

"The ordeal has been an unfortunate one, but I am thankful that the outcome assures the broadcasting industry that freedom of speech and freedom of conscience will be retained in this country."

3 Of 10 Saved In Plane Crash

HONOLULU (AP) — A two-engine Navy patrol bomber on maneuvers crashed at sea last night and the Navy reported today three of the 10 men aboard were rescued by a sub.

Seven submarines and four planes searched the flare-lit ocean for the seven missing airmen. Two escort destroyers raced toward the scene, 26 miles east of Kauai — a point roughly 40 miles northwest of Oahu on which Honomoluli is situated.

Three survivors, picked up shortly after the crash by the submarine Bashaw, were identified by the Navy as Lt. K. C. Guedel, pilot; Lt. (j.g.) E. J. O'Malley, copilot; and Lt. (j.g.) Robert S. Smith, navigator.

Another P2V patrol bomber on the maneuvers reported the crash.

People Can Change

Dear Miss Brandow:

Last summer my sister dated, and I palled around with a certain boy who turned out to be a complete cad. When we found out about his complete lack of integrity we felt it was "good riddance."

Now, suddenly, he has turned up at church acting very smooth and gentlemanly. He is good looking and is wooing the girls there.

Should I warn them what he is like underneath this new approach and perhaps save a few hearts from getting broken on his line or keep quiet?

James

Keep your mouth closed and your eyes open. Your desire to avert trouble is admirable, but your efforts would only boomerang I fear. First of all, the girls would likely think you were just jealous of his popularity.

Second, "none is so blind as she who will not see." If they are hypnotized by his personality, they won't ever hear you.

Third, girls are pretty smart and it usually doesn't take long to spy the wolf in Grandma's night cap.

Last of all his motives are not yours to judge. The church seeks to redeem the sinner, not the saint. Leopards can't change their spots, and people can and sometimes do. If he has had a change of heart which prompted him to come to church and be a new person, how terrible you would feel about turning your friends against him.

It is natural for you to have doubts, and they are well-grounded. Let your mind put him on probation. If you find he is the same warn your friends, but for the time being, your eyes should be open and your mouth closed.

Address your problems to Miss Brandow in care of The Herald.

Legion Chief Calls For Efforts To Undermine Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Addington Wagner, national commander of the American Legion, said today the efforts of the United States "must be directed toward the collapse of the Communist movement rather than toward coexistence with it."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the anti-CIO merger convention, Wagner said the United States "cannot hope to win the cold war by negotiating with communism," he added.

"As terrible and unpleasant as are the prospects of such things, it is absolutely essential that the American people remain psychologically prepared to meet and re-

More Added To School Fund

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil companies deposited more than one and a half million dollars in the permanent school fund yesterday to secure leases of 23,679 acres of surveyed school lands.

Land Commr. Earl Rudder said the average price an acre on the bids was $6.95 with a top bid of $136,592 made by Sinclair.

The highest bid was for 390 acres of Red Fish Bay in Nueces County. Sinclair also made the second and third highest bids and wound up gambling $735,730 on 3,553 acres. Bids totaled $1,532,294.

In Anderson County, the Game Commission offered four tracts of the Engeling Wildlife Management Area totalling 2,838 acres. Texas Trading Co. paid $22,913 for the tracts.

GM Spokesman Levels On Critical Dealers At Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A General Motors official told senators today that one GM dealer who complained to them made a million dollars in less than 15 years but now has an "inadequate performance" on car sales.

William F. Hufstader, GM vice president in charge of distribution, singled out M. H. Yager, Pontiac dealer at Albany, N. Y., in a statement prepared for the Senate Anti-trust and Monopoly subcommittee studying GM operations.

Yager, a former GM and Ford executive who quit to become a retail dealer, told Hufstader, GM president Harlow H. Curtis and a roomful of other GM executives last week that they were "becoming dictators and little Napoleons."

Yager said the recent administration of GM had "proved to be a bully of greatest magnitude." He said it used a "gun-in-the-ribs approach," threatening that a dealer's "head will roll" unless he meets sales quotas.

Two other active GM dealers also voiced complaints about GM policies to the committee headed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.). Hufstader yesterday said car dealers who protest GM policies are those who were unprepared for the day when sales competition would get tougher, and he said the vast majority of GM's 17,000 dealers "are among the most successful small businessmen in the country."

2 American Soldiers Are Turned Over To Soviets

BERLIN (AP) — Reports from Communist East Berlin say two American soldiers arrested after a street fight have been turned over to Soviet military authorities.

A U. S. Army spokesman said the Russians had made no reply yet to an American inquiry addressed to them after the government-controlled press and radio in East Berlin reported the two soldiers arrested yesterday.

The soldiers were not identified in the Soviet accounts. U. S. authorities said a quick check of records did not show any men absent without leave.

The first reports from East Berlin made no mention of what would happen to the soldiers and led to speculation that East Germany might seek to assert its newly claimed "sovereignty" by trying them before its own Communist court.

The Reds recently have declared East Berlin is a sovereign capital of the East German state and that Berlin is no longer under four-power control.

U. S. Army officials said they were "pleasantly surprised" that the two men had been turned over to the Russians. They said they feared the East Germans might make a test case of the incident and "the Soviets would back them up."

Contributions to the First Christmas Seal Sale in the world, in Denmark in 1904, went to build a hospital for children with tuberculosis.

Air Gas Hauler Given Damages

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Claims ruled yesterday that the government should pay Lyman Newman of Plainview, Tex., $35,109 on a contract for hauling aviation gasoline between Borger and Kansas air bases in 1944 and 1945.

Newman claimed the government owed him $170,424 as a difference between what he received for truck haulage and existing rail rates.

The court denied him payment at the rail rate but held that he should receive $43,067 more on the basis of his scheduled rates. It deducted from that amount $9,958 for damage to government equipment and loss of gasoline during his operation of the service between Borger and bases at Liberal, Pratt and Sears Junction.

Uncle Roy: Arabian City Has Famous Black Stone

By RAMON COFFMAN

Two pupils of the sixth grade—Dana L. Costinger and Jackie Lee—have asked me to tell about Arabia. This leads me to answer several questions today.

Q. How big is Arabia?

A. The area is almost a million square miles. Arabia is about one third the size of the United States.

Q. How many people live in Arabia?

A. Estimates made three years ago placed the total population at 12 and one third million.

Q. If Arabia is mainly a desert how can so many people live there?

A. The word "mainly" is important. Some parts of Arabia—especially near the coasts—have fertile land and enough rainfall for the raising of crops. The huge Arabian Desert has green spots—oases—here and there.

Q. Which bodies of water touch Arabia?

A. Chiefly the Red Sea, the Gulf of Aden, the Arabian Sea and the Persian Gulf. All of these may be described as arms of the Indian Ocean.

Q. Is Arabia a single country, or is it made up of several countries?

A. There are two independent

Two Arab chiefs, or sheiks, smoking a water pipe together.

countries in Arabia, the kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the kingdom of Yemen. These two contain about two-thirds of the area and 80 percent of the population.

Other parts of Arabia are under British control. Chief among them is Aden, which borders the Red Sea.

Q. What is the Kaaba?

A. It is a small building in Mecca, a holy city in Arabia. It was built to hold the Black Stone, often called the Kaaba Stone. The Black Stone is the most holy object known to the Moslems, who say that it "came down from heaven." The truth seems to be that it is a meteoric clinker which reached the ground from outer space.

SA Establishes Christmas Aid Clearing Bureau

The Salvation Army has set up a Christmas Clearing Bureau at its offices in the Dora Roberts Citadel, Fourth and Aylford Streets.

All organizations, churches, schools and individuals who have taken names of needy families for Christmas are asked to check the Salvation Army to clear names in order to avoid missing some needy person or unnecessary duplication.

Capt. Ruth Dexter is in charge of this work, and she urged that all names of families be cleared with the office by calling Phone 4-6141.

In a town not far from here, she said, where there was no coordinated program for distribution, two families of equal need lived side by side. One family received seven baskets of food and loads of toys, while the other family was forgotten completely.

Not only will closer cooperation in listing names prevent duplications and make sure none is overlooked, but it will make funds of the Salvation Army and other agencies, etc. so further through more efficient application, Capt. Breazale said.

Meanwhile, applications for Christmas baskets are coming in rapidly, she said. Many families, a large percent of them, Latin-Americans, are large in number and low in income. The need looms as a large one this Christmas.

Among those mailing contributions to the Salvation Army for Christmas use are Mrs. C. L. Rowe, Mrs. W. A. Hutchinson, Mrs. Jessie Griffith, Louis B. Conrad, T. H. Humble, Dr. J. M. Woodall, E. T. O'Daniel, O. B. Bryan.

Those who find it more convenient may want to drop their gifts into one of the kettles or the well house—downtown, she said.

MEN IN SERVICE

Sgt. Jerry G. Fowler of Foran, who has been in Mannheim, Germany for the past seven months, has completed a signal corps school there and is now rated as a radio repairman.

SGT. JERRY FOWLER

He also is captain of the 62nd Division basketball team. He expects to be in Germany for another eight months.

Before going overseas, Sgt. Fowler attended radio school at Fort Sill, Okla., and completed an engineering course at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton D. Fowler of Foran.

Gene A. Gross, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gross, 506 Douglas, serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Wasp at the Naval Shipyard, Hunter's Point, San Francisco, Calif. The Wasp is in the finishing stages of a seven-month overhaul and conversion to the new "angled deck" and "hurricane bow," safety features being built into new carriers and those already in operation.

Two Coahoma men are currently taking part in the Army's gigantic game, Exercise Sagebrush, which is being staged throughout the Southwest.

They are Pvt. R. J. Echols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Echols, and Cpl. Rodney B. Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Cramer, of Coahoma.

The maneuverers are being directed from Fort Polk, La.

Personal Income Up Sharply in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another sharp increase in Americans' personal income during October raised the 10-month total to the rate of 301 billion dollars a year, the Commerce Department reported today.

'Yo-Yo' Contest Slated Saturday

A city-wide "yo-yo" championship will be decided at the YMCA Saturday morning, according to Bob Hardy, program secretary.

Hardy said Jimmy Anderson, United States yo-yo champion, would judge the event. Anderson will also hold an exhibition of his skill.

The championship will be in two divisions. One for the elementary school age boys and the other for junior high school age. All boys are invited to participate in the event.

Pearl Harbor Memorial Set

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—A 10-foot memorial of lava rock, raised to the memory of Americans killed in the Pearl Harbor attack 14 years ago, was dedicated Wednesday with these solemn words:

"We know the cost of not being prepared."

The words were spoken by Charles R. Topp, Davenport, Iowa, national commander of the Navy Club of the United States, sponsor of the memorial.

Fourteen years ago, almost to the hour when Topp spoke, his cousin, Capt. Lynn Valkenberg, skipper of the Arizona, perished as the battleship sank in a storm of Japanese bombs.

"We paid a high price along a rough way," said Topp, "and at a cost that staggers the imagination, but it meant our survival as a nation—and it meant survival of the dignity of man."

The memorial thrusts into the sky from Ford Island a few feet from the gangplank leading to the sunken Arizona. More than 1,000 men of the Arizona who died in the attack still are entombed there.

Lake Water For Odessa Planned

Engineers and officials representing the City of Odessa and the Colorado River Municipal Water District will confer Saturday on coordinating planning for utilization of lake water in Odessa.

Mid-1957 has been set as a tentative date for delivery of water from Lake J. B. Thomas to Odessa. In the meantime, Odessa must design and construct a filtration plant, and the CRMWD must also install two booster pump stations.

Currently, Odessa is drawing the major part of its supply from the District's well field in Martin County. When the lake water becomes available, however, it is envisioned that the well field supply will be used principally for peaking purposes.

Representing the CRMWD at the conference will be E. V. Spencer, general manager, O. H. Ivie, production engineer, and Larry Eads, Fort Worth, member of the firm of consulting engineers of Freese & Nichols.

Relative Held In Death Of Negro Leader

GONZALES, Tex. (AP)—A 15-year-old distant relative was held today in the murder of a leading Negro citizen, but it wasn't established whether it was for $17 or because of a family quarrel.

Sheriff L. O. McGinty said yesterday L. C. Henry admitted slugging Herbert Johnson, 58, with a fence post, dragging the body behind a car for half a mile and setting fire to it and the car.

Johnson was a leader in the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People at nearby Schulenburg, owned a farm and did considerable livestock trading. The boy is a grandson of Willie Tennon, an uncle of Johnson.

Authorities said the boy was unable clearly to state his motive, although he said at one time his grandfather had argued with Johnson two years ago.

The sheriff said Henry told of taking Johnson's wallet containing $17 and hiding his bloody trousers.

Under Texas law, the heaviest penalty Henry can receive is being held in a boys' reformatory until he is 21.

Fresh Fronts Cool Nation

By The Associated Press

Two fresh masses of cold air, from the North and the Pacific, lowered temperatures over broad areas of the nation today.

Readings were between 10 and 13 degrees lower in the central Rockies and the upper Mississippi Valley. Below zero temperatures were reported in Utah, the eastern Dakotas and western Minnesota. Lowest early morning readings was -12 at Minot, N. D.

It was freezing and below from the mid-Atlantic states southwestward through the Ohio Valley into northern New Mexico. The fresh blasts of icy air extended from the Rockies as far east as the eastern Great Lakes but did not touch southern Texas and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Precipitation was confined to light snow or flurries in the Northern Plains, the northern Great Lakes region and near Lake Erie, and showers in the Carolinas.

Rare, early Christmas Seals, sold since 1907 to raise funds to fight tuberculosis, are collectors' items. Most valuable is the 1913 Type One Seal of which only 100 were printed.

Tournament Loot

Coach Harold Davis eyes two of the many prizes that will be given away during the Howard College Basketball Tournament here Dec. 29-30-31. The drill kit was donated by F. D. Rogers of R&H Hardware and is valued at $39.95. It goes to the coach of the championship team. The Baylor wrist watch, valued at $20, will be awarded to the Most Valuable Player. Davis said he would appreciate calls from anyone who would like to furnish prizes for the meet. He hasn't had time to get around to see them all. A complete list of the awards will be announced in a later edition of The Daily Herald.

Eagles Choice In Playoffs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
The Associated Press

The four-way fight for state schoolboy football championships trims to a dozen teams this week with some familiar faces like Abilene, Fort Neches, Breckenridge and Deer Park expected to be around for the big showdowns. Classes AAAA and AAA punch into their finals. Classes AA and A reach the semi-finals. Abilene, swaggering champion of AAAA, plays Dallas Sunset at Abilene Saturday as overwhelmingly favored as any team in history. Tyler plays at Baytown Saturday in a battle of undefeated, untied teams. This one is considered a tossup with Tyler rating an edge with a better offense. Abilene often has been in the finals and Baytown has twice reached the big game, but not lately.

Port Neches is the veteran of AAA. The Indians were state champions in 1953 and finalists in 1954. They will be mild favorites Saturday to beat undefeated, untied Alice at Alice and again push into the finals. Alice never got this far before. The other AAA semi-final matches are undefeated, untied Garland with once-beaten, twice tied Texarkana at Garland Saturday. Garland is a paper-edge choice. Breckenridge, 1954 champion of Class AAA but in AA this year, tests the state championship favorite of that class in a game at Breckenridge Saturday. The Buckaroos meet undefeated, untied Stamford. The Buckies have lost two games but they still are likely to knock down Stamford. Breckenridge's defeats were by Abilene and Wichita Falls of AAAA.

The other three quarter-final games of Class AA match Olney with New London at Denton and Hillsboro at Lockhart Friday night, and Nederland at Weslaco Saturday night. The Nederland-Weslaco contest is the only one that has unbeaten teams. Nederland has a tie on its record. Weslaco is undefeated and untied. In Class A Stinnett meets Ranger at Childress Saturday and Chillicothe plays Levert's Chapel at Hillsboro. Crosby takes on Luling at Brenham. Deer Park, the defending champion, meets Hebronville at Deer Park Friday night. Deer Park is expected to hurry past Hebronville. Ranger may knock over unbeaten Stinnett. Chillicothe is the choice over Levert's Chapel. Luling is the pick over Crosby.

with 19 selections out of 24 games. This week looks tougher, but here goes.

AAAA—Dallas Sunset at Abilene, Saturday, 2 p.m.; If Sunset comes within three touchdowns it will be doing well.

Tyler at Baytown, Saturday, 2 p.m.: A weak vote for Tyler. AAA—Texarkana at Garland, Saturday, 2 p.m.; Garland to roll on undefeated after a terrific struggle.

Port Neches at Alice, Saturday, 2 p.m.: End of the road for Alice but it'll be a grand ball game.

Class AA—Stamford at Breckenridge, Saturday, 2 p.m.; Stamford will be picked by most but here's a vote for rugged Breckenridge. Olney vs New London at Denton, Friday, 7:30 p.m.; New London by a touchdown.

Hillsboro at Lockhart, Friday, 8 p.m.: Hillsboro is the biggest surprise of the season and will continue with a solid victory over Lockhart.

Nederland at Weslaco, Saturday, 8 p.m.: May be the best game of the week with Nederland the choice, sotto voce.

A—Stinnett vs. Ranger at Childress, Saturday 2 p.m.: Stinnett will be the favorite but it looks like Ranger here.

Chillicothe vs. Levert's Chapel at Kilgore, Friday, 8 p.m.: A lusty vote for Chillicothe.

Crosby vs. Luling at Brenham, Friday, 8 p.m.: Luling is rolling and Crosby won't stop the roll. Hebronville at Deer Park, Friday 8 p.m.: Deer Park was picked long ago to win the state title again and the Deer won't be slowed.

Bobcats To Play Four New Foes

SAN ANGELO, (SC)—Big Spring is one of four new teams on the 1955 San Angelo High School football schedule, which recently was completed by Coach Bob Harrell.

The two schools actually are old foes but haven't met since 1953. Other new teams on the Cat schedule are Lufkin, Harlandale of San Antonio and Sunset of Dallas.

The schedule:
Sept. 14 — At North Side (FW)
Sept. 21 — At El Paso High.
Sept. 28 — Arlington Hts. here.
Oct. 5 — At Lufkin.
Oct. 12 — Harlandale (SA) here.
Oct. 19 — Sunset (Dallas) here.
Oct. 26 — Odessa here (C).
Nov. 2 — At Midland (C).
Nov. 18 — Big Spring here (C).
Nov. 22 — At Abilene (C).

Stanton Meet Opens Tonight

STANTON, (SC)—Three games are on tap in the opening round of the Stanton Invitational Basketball Tournament tonight. Three more will be unreeled tomorrow evening.

The show sets on the road in a boys' contest at 6:30 o'clock today between the Andrews reserves and Coahoma. Girls' sextets of Coahoma and Loraine clash at 7:45 p.m. while Loraine and Stanton boys vie at 9 p.m.

Friday's schedule:
6:30 p.m.—Westbrook vs Big Lake boys.
7:45 p.m.—Stanton vs Rankin girls.

8 p.m.—Forsan vs winner of Loraine—Stanton boys.
In all, seven boys' and four girls' teams are entered. Finals in both divisions are down for Saturday evening.

Westbrook Tourney Starts Tonight

WESTBROOK—An Eighth Grade basketball tournament will be held here for boys' and girls' teams, beginning Thursday and extending through Saturday.

Six schools have entered teams and four games are booked each evening.

Westbrook has entered two teams in the girls' division. One each will come from Sterling City, Robert Lee, Highland and Silver.

Battling in the boys' division will be Westbrook, Sterling City, Robert Lee, Highland, Silver and Colorado City.

Sterling and Robert Lee begin play at 5 p.m. Thursday in the girls' division. Boys' teams of the same school clash at 6 p.m.

Westbrook and Silver girls meet at 7 p.m. and the boys of the same schools have it at 8 p.m. Consolation finals in the girls' division start at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Trophies will be presented to first and second place winners and to consolation winners at the conclusion of the meet.

Buttons Surprise San Angelo Rams

SAN ANGELO, (SC)—HSU's Buttons handed the San Angelo College Rams their first home defeat in three years here Wednesday night, 81-68.

Carl Knight, 6-foot-7, did a fine job of controlling the backboards for HSU. He also accounted for 29 points while his team-mate, Arthur Travis, scored 20.

Frank Trevino sparked the Rams with 20 points. The Buttons led at half time, 38-36.

Coaches Get Bald Early From Worry

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Question: Why are even young college basketball coaches either grey haired or balding? Answer: Take a look at what happened last night.

Tulsa remained unbeaten, but only by the grace of Junior Born's two free throws in the final 75 seconds that beat Texas Western 57-50.

Kansas, a suspected Big Seven powerhouse, had to get up and move in the second half to quiet winless Wichita 56-55.

Notre Dame got its first victory in three tries by the margin of Bill Weiman's second field goal of the game, coming in the last 23 seconds of overtime to beat Loyola of Chicago 85-84.

Utah State defeated highly regarded Gonzaga 92-91 on Frank Polak's 25-foot push shot in the last second of play.

Bowling Green was knotted four times in a second overtime before beating Western Michigan 93-89 in the first Mid-American Conference game for both.

Brown downed Tufts 56-54 on two late free throws by Charley Merritt.

And Pittsburgh, which trampled Michigan 75-66 in its opener, had to scramble to beat little Allegheny 99-96 on Johnny Lazor's two field goals in the last 2:16.

Those were the close ones. And there were others which weren't as easy as they look.

St. Louis had to scamper in the second half to beat Centenary of Shreveport, La., 95-84. So did Marquette in its 89-75 decision over Valparaiso.

Yale upset previously unbeaten Connecticut 92-87 with Johnny Lee and Chuck Ross totaling 61 points, but the Elis had to freeze the ball in the last 1 1/2 minutes.

There were very few runaways.

Ackerly Tourney Begins Tonight

ACKERLY, (SC)—Seven teams are entered in each division of the Ackerly Basketball Tournament, which gets under way tonight and continues through Saturday.

First round games will pit Dawson against Klondike, Knott against Ackerly and Novice against Loop in each bracket. O'Donnell drew the first round bye.

FIGHT RESULTS

WEDNESDAY NIGHT
CLEVELAND — Bob Baker, 21½, Philadelphia, over Nino Valdes, 207, Cuba, 100 rounds, decision. Eduardo Laxague, 160, Argentina, TKO'd John L. Sullivan, 150, England, fifth round.

Sam Snead Ready For Miami Bid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Slammin' Sammy Snead, the old pro from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., was the center of attraction again as 161 of the nation's best golfers opened the $12,500 Miami Open Tournament today.

Snead, a five-time winner of this event, was putting well and obviously feeling good in pretournament rounds, an indication he may be in top form for the first time since a back ailment began bothering him in 1954.

Snead tuned up with a 6-under-par 65 over the La Gorce course Tuesday while pro and amateur qualifiers were competing over the 6,628-yard Miami Springs course.

where the 31st edition of the tournament will be played.

Strongest rivals of the veteran Snead are Doug Ford, PGA champion from Yonkers, N.Y., and Mike Souchak, Durham, N.C., both pros, and amateurs Doug Sanders, Tam O'Shanter All-American amateur champion, and Don Bisplinghoff, Florida Open and amateur champion.

Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., is defending champion, having scored his first major professional tournament victory when he came from two strokes back to win on the last day with a 72-hole total of 273 last year.

SWC Opens Winter Parley; Tech Problem is Due Up

DALLAS (AP)—Athletic officials of the Southwest Conference open their winter meeting today. The faculty committee, governing body of the league, moves in tomorrow to decide, among other things, whether Texas Tech should become a member.

While the Southwest Conference goes through its semi-annual powwow, four other conferences, all in Texas, will be holding meetings. They are the Lone Star, Texas and Gulf Coast conferences and the Pioneer Junior College Conference.

The Texas Tech question, a perennial, is the major topic. Tech, backed by TCU, is believed to have a good chance of getting into the league. It apparently has four votes and needs only one to make the grade. This one is from among Rice, SMU and Texas A&M.

Other things before the committee include a proposal to lift the ban against post-season games from all sports at Texas A&M except football. A&M is on probation for recruiting violations and forbidden to play in post-season games.

The Texas Conference and the Gulf Coast Conference will hold their meetings tomorrow. The Lone Star Conference and Pioneer Conference sessions will be Saturday. None of the conferences except the Gulf Coast is expected to consider expansion. The Gulf Coast wants East Texas State of the Lone Star Conference to join it and may seek other schools, especially if Tech is admitted to the Southwest Conference. That would leave only three Texas colleges in the Border Conference.

The three conferences will hold a joint meeting tomorrow to consider uniform rules of eligibility. The main question has to do with junior college transfers.

How She Got That Way

When you see Marion Marlowe on CBS-TV's 'The Ed Sullivan Show' this season, you'll notice her slim figure. She talks about how she got it that way in today's Hollywood Beauty column.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

TV Star Learned The Need Of Regular Diet

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Marion Marlowe who first rose to fame on the Arthur Godfrey show has continued her TV career with Ed Sullivan on his weekly CBS-TV show.

"I am signed to appear with him twelve times," she told me when she was appearing at the Beverly Hilton Hotel here recently.

"I remembered Marion when she was Atwater Kent's protegee and I remarked what a glamour girl she had turned into.

"Wasn't I a mess then?" Marion said with appealing frankness. "The first time I saw myself on TV I cried for an hour. My hair was much too curly and I was too fat.

"I am very grateful to the hair-dressers for inventing a way of straightening hair. People think you are so lucky to have a natural curl, but too much wave is worse than none at all.

"I never had a date for a prom the whole time I was in high school. I am over 5' 7" and shot up faster than any of the other girls

I knew and it made me self-conscious. If you are not comfortable with yourself," Marion commented, "no one else is going to be."

"How did you reduce?" I asked. "My family is Italian and you know how much pasta Italians eat."

"So I had to change my eating habits and that wasn't easy. I have to have planned menus or I adopt a manana attitude about dieting."

"I am a size ten now," Marion said with understandable pride. "and I weighed 160 when I first was on TV." She got out her scrap book to show me, but this weight was so well distributed she was not unsightly.

"I have prune juice and black coffee for breakfast," Marion said, referring to her diet, "and my big meal is usually around five in the afternoon. I have steak or roast beef with all the fat cut off, green salad with diet dressing and raw carrots. When I don't have the salad, I have a steamed green vegetable. And tea with lemon."

"Before going to bed I have half a grapefruit, fresh fruit salad or an apple."

"Dieting is like everything else in your life," Marion philosophized. "You are the captain of your fate—you can't have bad thoughts and a good life any more than you can light a fire with wet matches. I believe with guidance we are capable of accomplishing anything we desire."

1953 Hyperion Club Has Program On Art By Mrs. Myrtle Lee

Mrs. Myrtle Lee was guest speaker for the members of the 1953 Hyperion Club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Fred Stitzell. Mrs. R. H. Weaver was cohostess.

Mrs. Lee discussed the technique of painting and sketching. She painted two scenes for the group, a Christmas landscape and a sunset.

The members started plans for a party to be given in one of the wards at the State Hospital after Christmas. A dressed doll or a toy was brought by each member to be turned over to the firemen for distribution on Christmas Day.

Refreshments were served to 18.

Housewarming Given

About 27 attended a housewarming given recently for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rice in their new home at 1665 E. 5th. Hostesses were Mrs. James Rice, Mrs. Don Easberry, Mrs. Chester Mills and Mrs. Forrest Gibbs. Domino games were the entertainment for the evening.

NCO Wives

The dinner for the NCO Wives' Club, originally scheduled for Dec. 17, has been changed to Dec. 18. The affair will begin at 7 p.m. at the NCO Club.

Gardeners Given Tips On Correct Lighting

Advice on the most effective lighting of gardens and yards was given to members of the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday morning at a meeting in the home of Mrs. J. E. Brown.

Speakers were H. G. Jones of Fort Worth and Charlie Lusk. The two showed slides of outdoor lighting, and members were told that lighting need not be expensive if planned properly.

Front lights should be avoided in showing the blossoms in a garden, and, correctly placed, lights can play up the fresh blooms, hiding the ones which have lost their beauty.

Proper placement is the most important in the use of lights; proper fuses the most important in safety, the speaker reminded the club. Flower pots were recommended as light reflectors.

The announcement was made that all members will meet at the home of Mrs. Loyd Branon, 501 Edwards, at 1:30 Tuesday to make Christmas wreaths for the State Hospital.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. J. D. Elliott and Mrs. John Knox, was appointed. Officers will be elected at the next meeting, which will be held on the second Wednesday in January.

Refreshments were served to 20 members from a table featuring a Christmas theme through the use of poinsettias.

Officers Are Elected By Ladies BLF&E

Officers for 1956 were elected by members of the Ladies Society of the B of LF&E when they met Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. M. E. Anderson was elected president and will have Mrs. W. R. McGinnis as vice president. Mrs. L. A. Griffith will be secretary. Mrs. Scotty Sanderlin was chosen as treasurer, with Mrs. Florence Rose as collector.

Chairman of the board of trustees is Mrs. D. C. Pyle, and board members are Mrs. P. L. Bradford and Mrs. C. B. Sullivan. Mrs. C. L. Richardson will act as chaplain, as well as being delegate to Grand Lodge. Mrs. Frank Wilson will be alternate delegate.

Mrs. L. N. Brooks Jr. was elected warden, and Mrs. J. F. Skalicky will be conductress. Flag bearer is Mrs. Loys Garland. The inside guardian is Mrs. E. A. Williams; outside guardian, Mrs. Gladys Slusser.

Mrs. J. T. Anderson was elected magazine correspondent. All officers will be installed at the next meeting, which will be Jan. 4. Sixteen attended Wednesday's meeting.

Coahoma Groups In Meetings Monday

COAHOMA — The Coahoma 1941 study club met in the home of Mrs. Tom Barber Monday evening for the Christmas social, with Mrs. H. L. Miller and Mrs. Jim Hodnett as hostesses. Mrs. Barber was in charge of the program, and she read Christmas stories entitled "God's Son Is Born," "White Bread For Christmas and "Jingle Bells."

The serving table was laid with a Christmas cloth and centered with a poinsettia. The mantel over the fireplace was decorated with a Christmas scene.

Mrs. Edd Carpenter was in charge of the business meeting, following which, club members exchanged gifts from a lighted tree. Fifteen attended.

The WSCS ladies of the Methodist Church met Monday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Pete Thomas in charge of the spiritual life program. "Keeping Spirit of Christ" was the theme. Those taking parts on the program were Mrs. Edd Carpenter, Mrs. Mattie Duncan, Mrs. R. D. Cramer, Mrs. J. W. Wood, Mrs. L. W. Tucker and Mrs. Susie Brown.

The Christmas party will be the 19th of December with Mrs. A. J. Wirth as hostess. Instead of exchange of gifts this year, the group voted to give an offering of money to be sent to Methodist home in Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Watts of Bangs have spent the last ten days here visiting their children, Mr. and Mrs. Slatts Watts and family.

Mrs. Carl Fletcher has returned from a visit in Brownwood with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Em House.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Thomason spent several days visiting at Toyah with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thomason.

P-TA Council Has Reports From Units

Reports of individual units were given by club presidents when the City P-TA Council met Wednesday at the high school.

The devotion on "The Christmas Story" was brought by Mrs. A. C. LaCroix. President, Mrs. Elvis McCrary, announced that the parliamentary procedure course, originally scheduled for November, will be held Jan. 18.

Delegates to the state P-TA convention in Fort Worth reported on the conference. They were Dr. Loyal Norman, A. L. McGahee, W. C. Blankenship, Mr. R. Turner, Thomas Ernest and John B. Hardy.

Clyde Angel, president of the school board, told the group of the need of more school buildings in Big Spring.

The project of the school children bringing canned goods to the school for needy families was introduced by Dr. Norman. The individual clubs will take action on the suggestion.

Plans for the spring conference to be in Sweetwater were discussed. Twenty-five were present.

Decorations For Holidays Shown To 1946 Hyperion Club

Christmas arrangements were displayed and discussed by Mrs. Roy Townsend when she spoke for the 1946 Hyperion Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. H. Fish. Mrs. C. B. Marcum was cohostess.

Mrs. Townsend showed the methods of making some of the arrangements and also gave suggestions for making homes more attractive for the holidays.

The Rev. Jordan Grooms brought the Christmas Story as told in the book of Luke. A report was given by the committee in charge of raising funds for the club project.

Refreshments were served to 18.

Refreshments were served to 125 by Mrs. J. R. Hatch, Mrs. B. 111 Darrow and Mrs. Herbert Whitney.

Mrs. Orrick To Judge Maid Of Cotton Group

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Mrs. Mildred Orrick, noted New York fashion designer, will serve as chairman of the board of judges at the 1956 Maid of Cotton contest here Dec. 27-28, the National Cotton Council announced today.

The Council said Mrs. Orrick replaces Mrs. Jerry Parnis, originally announced as chairman. Mrs. Parnis will not be able to serve because of illness.

Six prominent members of the cotton industry and related organizations will serve with Mrs. Orrick. They are: William B. Coberly Jr., Los Angeles, Calif., executive vice president of the California Cotton Oil Corporation and past president of the National Cottonseed Products Association, representing the Southwestern area of the Cotton Belt; J. Craig Smith, Sylacauga, Ala., president of Avondale Mills and past president of the American Cotton Manufacturer's Institute, representing the Southeastern area of the Cotton Belt; Jack Jackson, Memphis, president of the Memphis Cotton Exchange.

Also, George C. Webb, Memphis, president of the Memphis Cotton Carnival Association; Edward J. Meeman, Memphis, editor of the Memphis Press-Scimitar; and Ed Lipscomb, Memphis, sales promotion and public relations director of the National Cotton Council.

The chairman of the judges is a fashion leader who is among the designers creating cottons for the 1956 Maid. A native of the Cotton Belt, Mrs. Orrick was born in Virginia and grew up in the deep South at Brunswick, Ga., Canton, Miss., Denison, Texas, and Tallahassee, Fla. She attended Florida University before studying in New York and Paris at Parsons School of Design. She has since returned to Parsons as a critic in the course for dress design.

The seven-member judging committee headed by Mrs. Orrick will select the girl, who is to serve as King Cotton's 1956 fashion and good will ambassador, from a group of 20 finalists. The top candidates are chosen from photographs and written entries submitted by girls from the 18 Cotton Belt states.

During the two-day contest finals, the girls will have personal interviews with judges. Photography sessions and social events also are on the finals' calendar. Then on the evening of Dec. 28, contestants will make a public appearance before an audience of 5,000 at Ellis Auditorium, and at that time the 1956 Maid of Cotton will be announced.

The day following her selection, the Maid will fly to New York to spend a month in preparation for her tour and to have fittings of her fabulous all-cotton wardrobe. The tour will open officially Jan. 31 when she leaves New York aboard a BOAC Stratocruiser, flying to Nassau, Bahamas, for a spectacular fashion show at the Royal Victoria hotel.

The 1956 Maid of Cotton will be the 18th sponsored by the National Cotton Council, the Memphis Cotton Carnival, and the Cotton Exchanges of Memphis, New York, and New Orleans.

Presbyterian Leader Urges Work, Money

Manpower and money must match devotion if the kingdom of God is expanded on earth as it should be.

"This is God's job," he declared, "but we are privileged to have a share in it. If we do our part it is going to take commitment first of all to Christ; it is going to take more young people anxious to go into fulltime Christian work; it's going to take a willingness on the part of Presbyterians to shell out money for something worthwhile."

Dr. Stitt's address highlighted the dinner celebration in the First Presbyterian Church, where 50 years ago to the day, the El Paso Presbytery was organized by six ministers and five elders.

There were 51 out-of-town participants, including 19 from Midland, 11 from Lubbock, 7 from Odessa, 6 from El Paso, four from Colorado City, three from Barstow and two each from Pecos and Fort Stockton.

Dr. Matthew Lynn, Midland, touched the high spots of the presbytery history, beginning with a petition of the North West Presbytery in September of 1905 for division, the approval of the Texas Synod in November, and finally the organization meeting here with the Rev. O. G. Jones, evangelist, as the moderator.

Dr. Stitt said Scotch-Irish characteristics of fearlessness and confidence as well as deep dignity were still ingrained in Presbyterianism.

Christmas Seal Sale Total Up

With $382.50 received this week, this year's sale of Christmas seals has brought the Howard County Tuberculosis Association a total of $2,414.50, officials reported.

The contributions are running at about the same rate as last year, although a gift of $236.50 collected during the showing of the Ross Bartlett-Hot Point model house got the 1955 campaign off to a running start.

Salvage of Christmas seals is the organization's only method of raising funds to aid victims of tuberculosis. Virtually all of the money is used at home, to purchase medicine for TB sufferers, assist with their rehabilitation, and to carry on a program of free X-rays to discover and diagnose tuberculosis infections in time to save victims of the disease.

Board of directors of the association is to meet at 5:15 p.m. today at the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit. Reports from Seal Sale committees and needs of the association will be heard.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has turned in its annual donation to the association. The gift, given annually in memory of some deceased member of the brotherhood, was offered this year in memory of H. L. Batton who died recently.

Traveler Dies At Coahoma

An 81-year-old California resident died in Coahoma early this morning. He was en route to Brownwood to visit his sister.

William G. Dyess, Santa Ana, Calif., was traveling with a couple from there when he felt sick as they passed through Coahoma. The people stopped the car to let him walk around and get some fresh air.

After he did not return to the car immediately, the couple searched and found him lying nearby where he had fallen. They took him to the police station and there called an ambulance. He died as he was being rushed to the hospital.

The body was taken to Nalley Funeral Home Dyess was making the trip with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noble.

They were on their way to Brownwood to Dyess's sister, Mrs. Susie Haynie. No word had been received from her at noon today.

Justice of the Peace Walter Grice said an investigation was still under way to determine cause of the death.

Lemay Baby's Rites To Be Held Today

Ricky Glenn Lemay, 1 1/2-month-old son of Sgt. and Mrs. Clarence Lemay, found dead in his bed early Wednesday, was to be interred in Trinity Memorial Park at 2 p.m. today.

Chaplain W. H. Barker of Webb AFB was to pronounce graveside rites for the baby.

Besides the parents, Ricky leaves four sisters and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Newman, Garner, Ark. Arrangements were to be in charge of River Funeral Home.

Base Still Needs Civilian Workers

Forty civilians have been hired at Webb AFB under operation "homefront" since it started last October, but more are needed.

This is the word from the civilian personnel officer. At present vacancies exist for junior aircraft mechanics, apprentice aircraft mechanics, aircraft instrument mechanics, sheet metal helper, junior aircraft sheet metal man, aircraft radio repairman, aircraft mechanic, aircraft electric system specialist, aircraft painter, doper, cook, cook's helper, recreational assistant and recreational leader. Information may be secured from the civilian personnel officer.

U.N. Votes Entry

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly today overwhelmingly approved a package deal designed to bring 18 new members into the world organization.

Young Rites Set Here Today

Services were to be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in River Chapel for R. R. (Rufus) Young, 78, retired ranch foreman, who died at a hospital here Wednesday evening.

The Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the First Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. Allen Forbis, pastor of the Foran Methodist Church, was to officiate. Afterwards, the body was to be taken to Killen for final rites at 2:30 p.m. Friday with the Rev. Hobson and Rev. Greenwald officiating before interment in the Killen Cemetery.

Mr. Young had served as foreman of the Dora Roberts Ranch before retiring about a year ago. He had lived at Foran 22 years prior to that. He had been in failing health for the past year.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Josephine Young; four sisters, Mrs. Mary O'Neal, Lubbock, Mrs. Martha Todd, Mangum, Okla., Mrs. H. E. Block and Mrs. Emma Godman, Killen.

Funeral services were to be Jim Reidy, Henry Jones, Larkin Longshore, Virgil Bennett, Harold Hall and Bill Conger.

Lamesa Hospital Expansion Studied

LAMESA — The works program committee of the Chamber of Commerce turned its attention to enlarged hospital facilities at the meeting Tuesday.

Fred V. Barbee said business men attending were in favor of expanding hospital facilities but preferred to first get a cross section of opinion on the matter. Findings of a survey among residents of various occupations and walks of life will be reported back to the committee and in turn to the Chamber.

Giles Drops Defense In Recovery Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—Former land Comr. Bascom Giles decided today not to defend against the state's $41,010 recovery suit in 53rd District Court.

Judge Harris Gardner entered a judgment at once for the state, which alleged the $41,010 represents overpayment by the state in veterans' land transactions in Bexar and Maverick counties.

Verdict Entered In Mrs. Freeman Death

An inquest verdict of accidental death was entered formally Wednesday in the case of Mrs. B. E. Freeman, who died instantly Saturday when her car smashed into a bridge abutment south of town.

A. M. Sullivan, Justice of Peace for Precinct No. 1, Place No. 1, said that investigation revealed that H. F. Hodges and a group of Cubs from the north side had been erecting a fireworks stand on the highway not far from the crash. Because the Freeman car was approaching, he waited in the pickup with the boys until it passed, he told Sullivan. Instead, the car began to weave, struck a post and glanced back into abutment, he said.

Draft Board To Send 25 For Examinations

The Selective Service board here received a notice Tuesday that they are to send 25 men to Abilene Jan. 17 for pre-induction physicals.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Ford II is quoted as saying he believes some actions of the Ford for the Republic "have been dubious in character" and that as a private citizen he has questioned its manner of pursuing its stated objectives.

Commentator Fulton Lewis Jr. so quoted Ford in a broadcast Tuesday night on the Mutual network. He read a letter he said Ford wrote on Dec. 2. Lewis did not say who received the letter, but said he knew of similar letters Ford had sent to other persons.

The Fund for the Republic, which has come under fire from some members of Congress and others as left-wing, was established in 1952 and received a 15-million-dollar grant from the Ford Foundation. The money was given with no strings attached, however, and the Ford Foundation has no control over the activities of the fund. The Ford Foundation, established by the Ford family with a multimillion-dollar endowment, has no connection with the Ford Motor Co. Ford, president of the motor company, is chairman of the board of the Foundation.

Robert M. Hutchins, former president of the University of Chicago, heads the Fund for the Republic which has as its stated purpose the promotion of the Bill of

Sugar Cube Cottage Is Simple To Make

This year while creating home-made sweets in your own Santa's workshop — the kitchen — build a cottage of sugar cubes. The project is easy and can be a lot of fun for your little helpers, too.

As a table centerpiece or a mantel setting, the quaint little sugar cube cottage is a picturesque addition to holiday decorations. The miniature house of sugar also makes a thoughtful gift because it is something you have taken the time to make yourself.

First you need about two and one-half pounds Imperial pure cane daily sugar cubes. Red frosting will be your mortar so beat enough Imperial confectioners powdered sugar into one unbeaten egg white to make a firm paste. Tint bright red with vegetable coloring. Place a damp cloth over bowl of mortar when not in use to keep it from drying out. A butter spreader is handy to use as a trowel. On a sheet of cardboard draw the dimensions of the house, 5x7 inches. For the front and back walls, mortar 11 cubes together; stick them to the cardboard with mortar along the 7-inch lines. To make front windows and the door, omit 2 cubes for each window and 3 cubes for the door; build the walls 5 rows high. Form window panes with colored toothpicks.

For the sixth row, which forms the tops of windows and door, mortar 11 cubes together and allow to dry before putting in place.

As you build the end walls of the house 9 cubes high, cut cubes in halves diagonally to form the gables. In the left end, leave opening for a window. Build a 2-cube-wide and 11-cube-high chimney; attach to the right end of the house, spreading mortar on the surface of the chimney to hold it in place.

Now for the roof, cut an 8-by-7-inch piece of red or green art paper. Crease lengthwise and cut a notch in the center of one end to fit the chimney. See if roof fits in place but do not fasten down yet.

Your sugar house is ready for the finishing touches. Christmas seal cutouts pasted on heavy white paper make perfect windows and door. Fasten windowpanes to the inside of the windows with mortar. In the same manner, fasten the door. Spread mortar over tops of gables to hold down the roof.

To create the snow effect on the roof, use a pastry brush to dampen the roof with warm water. Then sprinkle Epsom Salt generously on the damp spots and let dry to hold the snow in place. Fasten a Santa Claus cutout to the chimney.

Place three cubes across the doorway for the entrance landing. Then form a cobblestone path from the doorway to the gate by rounding-off sugar cubes with a knife and laying with mortar three cubes wide.

Next comes the sugar cube fence. Mortar a row of cubes to form a wall around the house, arranging place for gate at the end of the path. At regular intervals, form pillars in fence by placing second sugar cube topped with the cube cut diagonally. Plan so that pillars are placed in each corner of the fence and next to gate. Mortar gate 5 cubes wide and 2 rows high, topped with diagonally cut cube in center. Cut gate latch and hinge from black paper and fasten with mortar. Cover the yard with cotton and then landscape. Trees and bushes can be made by sticking evergreen tips in potato cubes. Snow on the trees is achieved by brushing the greens with thickly beaten soap suds. Complete the scene by placing cutouts from Christmas cards in the yard. A purse mirror makes a splendid pond.

Broil Applesauce

Feeling unconventional? How about broiling applesauce for a change? Mix 2 tablespoons brown sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle over a can of applesauce dumped into a shallow metal pan, dot with butter or margarine, and broil just until top is bubbly.

Left-Over Ham

Mix diced leftover boiled potatoes with diced ham. Arrange in a pie plate, pour a little cream over the top with grated cheese. Heat under the broiler until hot through and the top is bubbly and lightly browned.

Remove Chicken Bones

It's not too difficult to remove the small rib bones from chicken breasts before cooking. Use a sharp knife to cut them away from the meat and backbone. Then it's a cinch to eat the good white meat "in the rough" or with knife and fork.

Small Fry Drink

Add a scoop of ice cream to a cup of chilled chocolate milk. Serve to small fry with straws!

Smart Entertaining Can Be Done Simply

Whether our budget can stand it or not, most of us throw our financial discretion to the winds during the holiday season and have a merry time buying gifts and entertaining with elaborate parties.

A look at our bank balance after the holiday spree is apt to indicate a period of strict economy with no entertainment whatsoever. This decision, according to the experts on family living, is a big mistake because fun and relaxation are as important as the everyday necessities.

It's still easy to manage gracious hospitality even though dinner guests and large parties cannot be afforded. You'll find that informal get-togethers for bridge or TV lends itself to a gay, congenial evening where you can relax with your friends and enjoy their visit. A few serve-yourself snacks and a beverage are the only refreshments needed but, no matter how simple they are, serve them with an air of importance.

Add a few perky relishes like radish roses or celery curls and use brightly colored plates and napkins. Remember that eye appeal means taste appeal and that the simplest food becomes party food when it's served attractively.

NEW SLANT ON SNACKS

When you consider the great variety of delectable party snacks for serving with entertainment beverages, it's amazing that so many hostesses fall into the potato chip and popcorn rut.

With little more effort than it takes to tear open a package snack, you can serve interesting tidbits that will intrigue guests and make entertainment more fun.

Here are some suggestions — all subtle seasoning tricks for snacks to serve with a refreshing glass of beer when friends drop in.

CEREAL CRUNCHIES

Melt 1/4 cup butter in a large shallow pan. Add 2 drops Tabasco, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Stir in 5 cups ready-to-eat wheat or rice cereal squares and 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese. Mix well. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

SPICED NUTS

For each cup of shelled pecan or walnut halves, heat 1/4 to 1 tablespoon salad oil or butter in a shallow pan. Add nuts. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Heat in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

GARLIC OLIVES

Two or three days before needed, pour contents of 1 or 2 cans of ripe olives into a glass jar which can be covered. Add 1 clove of garlic, thinly sliced, for each can of olives. Shake lightly. Chill in refrigerator, repeating shaking a few times to distribute garlic flavor.

Walnut Garnish

Tip for good cooks: Next time you are topping a cake or pie with walnut halves, brown the nuts lightly in a little butter before using as the garnish.

Vegetable Change

Cut snap beans in narrow pieces and cook quickly in lightly salted boiling water just until tender-crisp. Drain and toss gently with cooked rice and butter or margarine. Delicious with meat, poultry or fish!

Chef With A Down Beat

Clyde Rowe, band director for Big Spring High School, can produce sweet tones on a clarinet as well as good food in the kitchen.

Italian Goulash Is For Busy Housewife

In this busy season, what could be more welcomed by the housewife than a recipe for a one dish meal that is easily prepared. Clyde Rowe, whose hobby is cooking, tells how to make Italian Style Goulash, an ideal dish for these cold nights.

The band director at Senior High School, Mr. Rowe says that he especially likes to prepare unusual dishes and to use foreign recipes.

Mrs. Rowe is a surgical nurse at Malone and Hogan Hospital, and she and Mr. Rowe share the household chores.

"She cleans house much better than I, so I take over most of the cooking, although my wife is an excellent cook," Mr. Rowe said.

The male cook stated that he came from a long line of cook ancestors, for his grandparents and parents were in the cafe business.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Mr. Rowe has done a considerable graduate work at Texas Tech, where he is a honorary member of Kappa Kappa Psi, music fraternity. He is also a member of several Masonic Orders, the Elks' Lodge, National Band Masters and Phi Beta Mu Music fraternity.

The Rowes have four children. They are Richard, 22, who is attending West Texas State College in Canyon; Lyndon, in the Navy and stationed at Pearl Harbor; Anne, 18, a student at Howard County Junior College; and Janet

Make Country Style Cake For Christmas

Country-style fruit cake takes on new airs. It is still made with salt pork, molasses, fruits and spices, but its recipe has been brought up to date. Bake the batter in two loaf pans or in three coffee tins; serve one of the cakes at home, give the other loaf or rounds to friends with a leaning toward the past!

COUNTRY FRUIT CAKE

Ingredients:
One cup boiling water, 1 cup finely chopped salt pork, 1 cup light or dark molasses, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs (separated), 1 cup chopped seedless raisins, 1 cup chopped dates, 1/2 cup chopped glace fruit, 4 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoons lemon extract.

Method:
Pour boiling water over pork. Add molasses and sugar; beat well. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon on colored; stir into molasses mixture. Mix raisins, dates and glace fruit with 1/2 cup of the flour. Sift remaining 3 1/2 cups flour with baking soda, cloves, cinnamon and ginger; add to molasses mixture; mix thoroughly. Stir in fruit and lemon extract. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Pour batter into 2 greased and floured loaf pans (each about 9 by 5 by 2 1/2 inches); or divide batter equally among 3 greased and floured 3-pound coffee cans. Bake in a slow (275 degrees) oven about 1 1/2 hours or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out cakes on rack to cool. Frost and decorate as desired.

Make Your Christmas Pudding In Advance

Neat Trick: make that Christmas pudding ahead of time! Steam it in two containers. Let the family and guests enjoy one pudding at a pre-holiday celebration; then at Santa-Claus time, heat the remaining pudding by re-steaming it for about an hour in its original mold. The second pudding will keep well, tightly covered, in the refrigerator. Or follow our recipe note and steam one pudding at a time; mixing the pudding ingredients this

To You From The Kitchen

A basket of Christmas sweets made in your own kitchen!

Start with a plain straw-colored basket, choosing a square or rectangular shape if you are planning to fill it with square or rectangular cookie bars or wafers. Soak the basket in cold water for a few minutes, then tint it a bright green with all-purpose dye according to tinting directions on the package. Rinse the basket and let it dry; now, if you like, give it a coat of shellac. Tie on a spray of mistletoe or holly for a garniture! Fill the basket with your homemade sweets, cover it with transparent plastic wrapping. Put your package under the Christmas tree for a horticulture-minded friend; when the green basket is empty, it will make a fine plant holder.

Of course these baskets may be dyed any color. A friend of ours tinted one pink, then decorated it with a festoon of tiny pastel Christmas balls and silver bells.

We commend these Christmas Sugar Wafers to you because although they look festive, they are quick and easy to cut out and the decoration is baked on.

CHRISTMAS SUGAR WAFERS

Ingredients:
One-half cup (1/4 pound) enriched margarine, 1/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 egg (separated), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 cup unsifted flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon water, 1 teaspoon confectioners' sugar, 1/4 cup chopped nuts, candied cherries.

Method:
Cream margarine and 1/4 cups confectioners' sugar. Reserve 1 tablespoon egg white; add remaining white yolk with vanilla to creamed mixture. Add flour and salt and mix until dough can be shaped into a ball with hands. Divide ball in half. Place one half between two pieces of waxed paper (which have been dusted generously with flour) or on a well floured pastry cloth. Roll out in a rectangle about 7 1/2 by 10 inches. Dip cutting edge of knife in flour and cut dough into bars, each 1 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches. Place bars on greased cookie sheet. Mix reserved egg white with water and confectioners' sugar. Brush tops of bars. Decorate with nuts and candied cherries. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes. Repeat, using remaining dough. Makes 40 cookies.

Hawaiian Supper

It's fun to give a Hawaiian supper! For a first course you might serve a cool drink with toasted coconut chips. Curried chicken with rice would be a fine choice for the main course accompanied by Macadamia nuts and chutney. A green salad and a dessert of sponge cake, pineapple and whipped cream will top off a delectable meal.

Fresh Apple Cookies Add Special Flavor To Snack

As the holidays approach, it's time for all good cookie bakers to shine forth with special eating treats for Christmas guests, as well as for Dad and the youngsters. Today's fresh apple-flavored cookies, adapted from traditional Old World recipes, will delight all those cookie connoisseurs and will make welcome Yuletide gifts for Junior's favorite teacher and family friends, too. You can bake these in advance because the crisp, spicy apples which give them their delicious flavor also endow the cookies with good keeping qualities.

LAYERED APPLE MERINGUE COOKIES

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sifted powdered sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 1/4 cups flour
3 apples, peeled and thinly sliced
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup ground walnuts or almonds

Cream butter or margarine with powdered sugar and add egg yolks. Stir in flour and blend well. Spread evenly in the bottom of a well greased 9x13 inch pan. Arrange thinly sliced apples over the top. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in granulated sugar and cinnamon. Fold in half of the ground nut meats and spread mixture over apples. Sprinkle meringue with remaining nut meats. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) for 40 mins. Cool slightly and cut into 1x3 inch bars. Makes 24 dozen.

CHRISTMAS APPLE COOKIE SQUARES

2 cups sifted flour
2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. mace
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. allspice
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

Vary Garlic Bread

Your family and friends like garlic bread with spaghetti and tomato sauce or a creamed chicken casserole? Then try this variation on an old theme: mix lots of minced parsley with the butter and crushed garlic used for the bread, before beating as usual.

Like Baked Eggs?

They're easy to prepare, and nutritious. Just butter a custard cup and then break an egg into the cup. Pour a tablespoon of cream over the egg and set the cup in a pan of hot water. Bake the egg in a moderate oven until it is firm — about 20 minutes or longer. Sprinkle with salt and paprika and serve on greens. They're particularly nice this way for a company buffet.

Pimiento Salad

Like canned pimientos? Fill them with seafood or chicken salad and serve on greens. They're particularly nice this way for a company buffet.

Sweet Potato News

Lots of butter and honey to taste make mashed sweet potatoes taste especially delicious. Pile the mashed yams into a pie plate and heat and brown in the oven or under the broiler. Nice with chicken, ham or turkey.

Enjoy making this Clabber Girl...

UPSIDE DOWN GINGERBREAD Yield: 4-6 servings

1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
4 slices canned pineapple, drained
4 to 8 maraschino cherries, drained
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup best or cake sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup dark molasses
1/4 cup milk

Spread melted butter or margarine in bottom of oiled or greased 8x8x2-inch pan. Spread brown sugar on top. Arrange pineapple slices (whole or cut) and maraschino cherries in pattern on top of sugar. Sift together flour, baking powder, spices, and soda. Cream together shortening and sugar until fluffy. Beat in egg and molasses. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately, a little of each at a time. Spread on top of pineapple. Bake at 350°F. (moderate oven) about 50 minutes. Let stand for 5 minutes in pan. Turn upside down on serving plate. Cut in squares or oblongs, and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Don't let yourself forget how easy and how good your baking can be (with Clabber Girl, of course).

Tropicana Cake Features Fruit Filling, Topping

Christmas means cake for dessert and entertaining. Here is a recipe for a new type of holiday cake.

MRS. TUCKER'S TROPICANA CAKE

3 cups sifted cake flour
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup Mrs. Tucker's Shortening
2-3 cup unbeaten egg whites (5 medium)
1-3 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
1/4 cup milk

Sift the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together into the mixing bowl. Add the shortening, egg whites and the 1-3 cup of milk. Mix for 3 minutes on medium speed of the mixer or by hand, counting 150 beating strokes a minute. Scrape the bowl and beaters frequently. Then add the flavorings and the 1/4 cup milk. Beat for 2 minutes.

Pour batter into 3 nine-inch layer cake pans which have been rubbed with shortening and lightly dusted with flour. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Cool and spread with fruit filling.

FRUIT FILLING

1/4 cup Meadoloake margarine
1 cup sugar
7 egg yolks, well beaten
1 cup chopped raisins
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup chopped crystallized cherries
1 cup grated coconut (fresh or canned)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup brandy (or 1/4 cup brandy flavoring and 1/4 cup fruit juice).

Cream margarine and sugar together until light and fluffy. Stir in egg yolks and cook mixture over boiling water in a double boiler, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. While still warm stir in the fruits and nuts, then the flavorings. Spread, still warm, between layers and on top of cake.

Make Tomato Juice

You can make your own tomato juice cocktail this way. Open a can of tomato juice; add salt, pepper, onion powder, celery seed and chopped parsley. Let stand several hours to chill and blend flavors. Strain and serve with crackers and a cheese spread.

Cocktail Sausages

Serve heated small cocktail sausages with a cheese dip as an appetizer along with tomato juice.

Breakfast Special

Honey butter makes a breakfast special when served with waffles or pancakes. Beat 1/2 cup butter or margarine in a small bowl until softened, then beat in 1/4 cup honey gradually; continue to beat until smooth. This will keep well in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

Smooth Cookies

Want a gently flattened cookie shape instead of a bumpy irregular drop? Measure out tablespoons of the dough on your greased cookie sheet, then flatten them by stamping with the base of an ordinary tumbler completely covered with a damp cloth.

Ike Problem In Arteries, Not In Heart

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is 65. The Republicans hope he will run again. He's their chief hope of winning in 1956. But can he run?

of it was proof. But they don't know whether the other vessels are in that shape. Eisenhower might never have another heart attack.

But the older a man gets, generally, the more the deterioration in his blood vessels. Generally, that is. And generally, a man younger than Eisenhower would have less reason to expect a heart attack than Eisenhower.

Living Room Is A Mirror

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP)— You can find out a lot about a man if you poke around his living room for a while—even a dictator. For instance, Marshal Josef Broz, the President of Independent Communist Yugoslavia, likes boats—be they models or real speedboats. His taste in antique furniture is excellent and his taste in painting embarrassing.

The living room is the reverse of cozy. The big room is floored in black marble. At the far end is a piano, prettily painted gold and ivory. Five model ships are spotted around the room: an old galleon, a big model of the coastal vessel Vladimir Nazor in drydock, and three sailboats.

There wasn't a book or magazine in the room. Yes, it's mighty interesting to spend an hour in a man's living room. You can learn a lot about him, including a man who rules a nation.

Town Solves Parking Problem

Read where one of the towns back East, plagued like all others by a shortage of automobile parking space, has gone a long way toward making it possible for shoppers to spend their money in the downtown business district.

That town's plan is a product of the collective efforts of the downtown merchants who, aside from the shoppers stand to gain the most from the provision of parking space in the main business district. It sounds like it would work in any town where property owners and businessmen are interested in maintaining the value of their downtown investments.

Here's the way the parking project works:

First, the merchants and property owners secured a commitment from their municipal government to operate the project, which they agreed to finance.

Then they set about to determine just what would be needed in the way of off-street parking facilities.

Finally, they figured out the cost of providing the facilities, and got together on a fair means of dividing the expense.

The last step was their biggest headache, as nearly every town has a few citizens who are susceptible to progress only at the expense of someone else.

there were 3,200 "front feet" of downtown business area that would benefit from increased parking space. They calculated that $30,000 would lease the six vacant lots for five years, and put them in shape for parking. So they simply assessed each participating businessman $10 per front foot of his establishment, collecting, for example, $500 from each merchant with a 50-wide store front.

The $500 wasn't collected all at once. The merchant was given five years to turn in his contribution, at the rate of $100 per year.

As the money came in, it was turned over to the city government which started the project of turning vacant lots into parking areas. The city also placed parking meters on the lots, and a plan was set up for reducing each merchant's share in cost of the operation with receipts from the parking meters.

Sponsors of the parking plan point out that by the end of five years all six of the lots will be improved and in operation. By that time, it'll be necessary to renew the lease on one of the lots, and another renewal will be due approximately every year in the future.

Annual cost of renewing the leases is expected to run $5,000 or $6,000. And at the end of five years, it is hoped that parking meter receipts will amount to more than enough for the parking project to perpetuate itself.

What'll work in that eastern town should work in Big Spring, which has considerably more than 3,200 front feet of downtown business area—and more than its share of unimproved business property.

Buying Stock—Instead Of Merchandise

Philip D. Reed, who has his feet firmly planted in (a) the 20th century and (b) General Electric Co., of which he is chairman of the board, has no trouble at all casting his eyes into the long-off and inviting future. And what does he see? Forty million American capitalists. A total hitherto unthought of.

Necessity's the mother of all these capitalists. America's going to grow. America's got to grow. American corporations will have to raise billions of dollars to keep pace with that growth. Dollars will be needed for automation, for industrial utilization of atomic power.

And where are these dollars to come from? From you and me. From a proliferation of capitalists. Only 7 million Americans are stockholders today. Posterity cannot thrive on such a parsimonious total. There must be 40 million owners of stocks, says Reed, if American industry is to keep its rendezvous with growth.

Just as Hillary had the company of Tenzing on lofty Mt. Everest, so has Reed company on his mountaintop. Excellent company, Thomas D. McCabe, president of the Scott Paper Co. and former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. McCabe and Reed shared the same thoughts from the same platform. But, fortunately, on different days.

Both sounded forth the call of the future before the Investment Bankers Association meeting in Hollywood, Fla., not Hollywood, Calif. California's Hollywood is a locale in which the "colossal" is commonplace. Florida's Hollywood is less presumptuous.

Unless you bring additional millions of people into the stock market, McCabe told the investment bankers, American industry will be starved for capital. In the next ten years, industry will need $160 billion in financing. So, exhorted McCabe, who's quite a salesman himself, "Each of you must double the volume of your business by 1965."

To a business writer, such visions are sweeter than sugar plums and headier than vodka. They portend new offerings of securities, more and more financial advertising in newspapers and magazines. There might even be increased pay for financial writers, flourish the thought.

Therefore, it behooves the business writer to examine, explore, dissect, analyze, and investigate such ideas receptively and hopefully. Forty million stockholders! More stockholders than automobile owners! More capitalists than customers. What a vision! But also what a task!

You can see the salesman carrying from Wall Street to Main Street a double-edged sword of capitalism. Alas, whom do these Knights of the Stock Certificate meet at every doorstep? Opposing knights—vendors of General Motors' autos, General Electric's dishwashers, and American Radiator's furnaces.

And suppose Wall Street's crusading salesmen outbids the vendors of autos, TVs, dishwashers, airconditioners, etc. Suppose people buy the new Ford stock instead of Ford cars.

The upward tilt of the industrial sales manager's sales projections would flatten out, or even slip downward. While stock certificates disappeared from Wall Street dealers' shelves, stocks of refrigerators and washing machines would pile up in dealers' warehouses.

Corporations would cry out for customers, not capital. Economists would reach up into the New Deal attic for the Keynesian theory of oversaving and underconsumption. Wall Street wins the capitalist crusade and cuts its own dividends.

In other words, 40,000,000 stockholders too soon might be wrong. If Americans are sold on becoming capitalists that they fail to keep up with the cash and cuff ambitions of the Joneses then the starch will ooze right out of capitalism. And nothing is so hard on Wall Street as capitalism without its starch. Remember 1929?

Business Mirror

Year's Top Business Stories

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten business stories above all others captured the public's fancy in 1955. They moved out of the financial section and onto the front page.

Here — just one man's opinion — are the 10 top business and financial stories of the year:

- 1. The amazing business boom. Most people thought 1955 would be a good year. But few foresaw how good it would be. Production records fell in many lines — steel, electric power, autos, oil, rubber. Consumer spending, backed by record incomes, went to new heights. But so did consumer debt. More people had jobs than ever before and got better pay. Business optimism grew as the year went along. Expansion plans show business betting billions on the future.
- 2. The Ford stock sale. The last of the giant family-owned companies announced it would let the public buy voting stock — but will retain practical control within the family.
- 3. The stock market's wild year. The bull market was severely buffeted several times. Early in the year the senatorial study of what makes Wall Street tick sent prices tumbling. The worst break of all followed the heart attack of President Eisenhower. Lesser ups and downs were set off by mergers and rumors of mergers, stock splits and vainly looked for splits. As the year drew to a close stock price averages were around their record highs.
- 4. The stock splits that were made. Around 100 companies split their stocks. Among those interesting the public were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Jersey Standard Oil, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. While ignoring split rumors, American Telephone & Telegraph marketed a record $50 million dollar issue of convertible debentures.
- 5. Lay-off pay. The auto makers, among others, granted a modified form of lay-off pay to supplement state unemployment benefits. Wage scales climbed during the year, factory take-home pay rose, and the AFL and CIO got married.
- 6. Auto production and sales race. Cut-throat rivalry in Detroit filled the highways with splashing new colors. Americans bought new cars in record volume.
- 7. Credit curbs. To stave off inflation federal agencies tightened up on mortgage terms, let credit get scarcer and money dearer. But prices of materials and some consumer goods began rising in the second half of the year. The cost of living edged a trifle higher.
- 8. Bumper profits. Record earnings and dividends were recorded. General Motors was set to report profits in excess of one billion dollars — a "first" for any corporation.
- 9. Proxy fights. Embattled stockholders fought management of several companies. Public fancy was captured most by the battle between Sewell Avery and Louis E. Wolfson for control of Montgomery Ward. Avery put most men on the board of directors — then stepped down.
- 10. The jet age. Airlines raced to place orders for American jet-propelled aircraft, ending British hopes of dominating the field. A few airlines held back, contending there were disadvantages yet to be overcome. But those ordering jets — $5 from Boeing, $1 from Douglas, for a total of $4 million dollars — promised that in a few years the flying time across the Atlantic and across the United States will be slashed dramatically.

For business, it's been quite a year. —SAM DAWSON

What To Do With Addicts, Dope Peddlers Is Knotty Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is a drug addict a victim of circumstance or his own weakness, more to be pitied than condemned? Should he be spoon-fed dope under government control, so he won't go out and steal to get money to gratify his craving?

Or is he a menace to society, a criminal—real or potential—who will rape or kill to satisfy his feelings? Should he be banished into exile until he is either cured or dies? And should the death penalty be established for dope peddlers?

Dope is no remote problem, confined to shadowy alleys or dimly lit dives. It frequently hits good families, youngsters who try the first shot for a thrill, then find themselves hopelessly "hooked."

Addicts spend an estimated 330 million dollars a year on narcotics. To get money, they steal more than a billion dollars worth of property each year. Those in prisons or sanitariums drain millions more from taxpayers.

When Congress convenes in January, it will quickly turn the full glare of its floodlights on every phase of the drug traffic and its impact on the nation's economy.

President Eisenhower set off the probe a year ago when he created a special Cabinet-level committee to make an up-to-date survey designed to stamp out addiction. Synchronized with the Cabinet study, two separate congressional committees—under Sen. Daniel (D-Tex) and Rep. Boggs (D-La.)—have conducted coast-to-coast inquiries.

Some experts contend that the addict is a helpless and pitiful victim of fate who should be humanely treated instead of punished. Others argue that 88 per cent of all addicts become "pushers" and help spread addiction like a pestilence.

Advocates of a mandatory death sentence for drug peddlers say that if Congress enacted such a law it would immediately wipe out addiction.

Opponents say that instead of hitting the big operators, who mastermind the smuggling of illicit drugs into this country, the death penalty would only send the small-time street peddler to the gallows, gas chamber or electric chair. The big shots, they say, steer clear of actual contact with dope.

Federal Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger fervently agrees that the severest punishment should be meted out to vendors, and he raps some judges, who, he says, "hand out such ridiculously low sentences that the peddlers call them 'vacations.'"

Under present federal law, the 1951 Boggs Act provides minimum penalties of two, five and ten years for first, second and third-time offenders. The law bars suspended sentences or probation after the first conviction.

Anslinger, 63, also favors com-serious consideration, then a state and federal building should be constructed. On the first floor there should be a bar for alcoholics, on the second floor a narcotics dispensary for addicts, and on the top floor a brothel. . . .

"Such a proposal is like asking the U.S. government to sell poison at cut-rate prices to its citizens."

But advocates of the clinic plan say the experiment 30-odd years ago was fruitfully conducted. Dr. Hubert S. Howe, chairman of the New York Academy of Medicine's Narcotics Committee, says that under the new academy-sponsored plan all addicts would be fingerprinted, photographed and given identity cards.

With such safeguards, he said, there would be no repetition of the "field day" enjoyed by addicts in the 1920s.

Dr. Herbert Berger, vice president of the New York State Medical Society, says in advocating the clinic plan:

"Our experiment with prohibition during the Volstead era is proof that you cannot legislate the cure of a serious medical problem."

The theory was that legal sale of narcotics would enable addicts to buy drugs at a reasonable cost instead of paying $15 to $30 daily to profiteering underworld traffickers. Thus it would save the addict from turning to crime to pay for his habit.

Instead, say many authorities, addicts swarmed to the "feeding stations," using fictitious names, counterfeit registration cards and other devices to load their pockets with low-cost drugs which they sold to street peddlers to spread addiction. Towns with clinics soon found they were a magnet for thieves, hoodlums and prostitutes.

Asked if he favors a renewal of the free clinic experiment, Anslinger said grimly:

"If a plan like that is given any

Woman Enters Leprosy Clinic

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mother of two healthy children has gone voluntarily to the Marine leprosanarium at Carville, La., for treatment, partly through the unfounded fear she might possibly infect her husband or children.

Dr. George M. Uhl, Los Angeles city health officer, said the woman "could not possibly transmit leprosy, since she is a biologically negative case."

"She has been under the supervision of the Health Department for years," said Dr. Uhl, "but the disease has not been arrested and she has become progressively crippled, with several numb areas on her body."

Dr. Uhl said her decision to submit to hospital care was inspired by the hope of obtaining a new treatment as well as by her fear.

Out-Of-Court Settlement Reached In Fortune Case

CORSICANA (AP)—An out-of-court settlement was reached today in the vacuum bottle fortune case in Dallas.

It involved $60,000 found by a Corsicana Negro, Jackson Davis, 24, a plumber's helper, while digging in the basement of the home of William C. Felder Jr. in Dallas.

Details were not disclosed, but Davis told Clyde Johnson of the Corsicana Sun he would get about a third of the money, including the amount he spent before the find became known.

Davis also said the fortune amounted to $60,000. It previously had been reported as $50,000. The fortune was dug up in January.

Matt Dawson, attorney for Davis, said an order of dismissal had been entered in a $90,000 suit filed here in District Court.

The reported settlement came after a recent Texas Supreme Court decision unsetting the old theory of "finders, keepers" in the discovery of buried money.

Before the Supreme Court ruling, the Court of Civil Appeals at Waco had followed the old theory idea that such money belonged to the finder until the rightful owner established his claim.

The suit here was filed by Davis against Felder and Sheriff Bill Decker of Dallas and two of his deputies.

Settlement of the case was entered by Dist. Judge A. P. Mays. Similar action was expected to be taken in legal action pending in federal court in Dallas.

Felder said he didn't know of the money, but he assumed his late father had buried it in the basement during depression days when so many banks were going broke.

SERVING BIG SPRING

Judge To Attend Probate Conference

County Judge R. H. Weaver is to be in Austin Friday and Saturday for a conference on the new probate code for Texas.

The conference will be held at the University of Texas Law School, Weaver said it will concern the codified and revised version of the state's probate laws. The law passed in 1876 and based on an 1848 probate code and all enactments since 1876 have been worked into the new code.

The discussions will start at 9 a.m. Friday and continue through noon Saturday. Weaver said Walton Morrison, Big Spring attorney, also planned to attend the conference.

The first free hospital for tuberculosis, the Channing House, was founded in Boston, Mass., in 1837, to give final care to "hopeless" cases. No longer hopeless, TB can be cured by rest, drugs, and surgery.

Error Costs $100,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was a tough break for contractor Jerry Artukovich, but Los Angeles County is sorry it can't give him the $100,000 he forgot to list in his estimate on a flood control project.

Artukovich explained to the county supervisors yesterday that through an estimator's mistake equipment rental was listed at $20,000. It should have been $120,000, Artukovich explained.

But County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy told the supervisors that Artukovich's plea to change the total cost of $1,089,935 to $1,189,935 after the deal had been made "involves the very principle of competitive bidding."

Artukovich was held to his original bid, which was guaranteed by a $100,000 performance bond.

Lamesa Jaycees Aiding In Toy Repair Project

LAMESA — Jaycees are working in conjunction with Jack Mitchell and others in repairing used toys for Christmas distribution to needy children.

Mitchell started the project three years ago by setting up a shop in his transfer company offices. Now the community is joining in to help with collection, repair and distribution of the toys so no kiddie will be missed on Christmas.

The Jaycees are assisting Mitchell in making repairs to wheel toys. Mrs. George Norman Jr. is in charge of distribution. Mrs. Connally Baldwin and Mrs. John Agee are on the doll committee, and two artists, Mrs. Ida Mae Williams and George Hart, are retouching and repainting the dolls. Mrs. J. H. Mayberry is heading up collection efforts, and Guy Weeks, head of the Goodfellows, is throwing the weight of his organization behind the project.

Hot Check Writers 'Prove' Bank Account Not Needed

By DON HENRY

The story is told of the little girl wanting a new doll. The family budget was nil, so the mother told her there was no money. To which the little girl replied, "Well, mother, you don't need any money — just write a check."

The story may not be true but the statement about not needing money to write a check is. At least Howard County checks seem to believe in it.

The reason: on the criminal docket for County Court, there are 432 charges for "defrauding with worthless check" with no verdict — in fact no apparent defendant. At least they cannot or have not been found.

All "hot" checks below $50 are misdemeanors and are handled in county court, with the penalty depending on the amount of the check and number of previous offenses. Checks below $5 on the first offense are punishable by a fine not exceeding $200.

If the check is between $5 and $50, the penalty is up to two years in jail, a fine of not more than $1,000, or both.

On the second offense, the sentence carries a jail sentence of between 30 days and two years, and a fine of not more than $2,000. Any like charge for a two-time previous offender is transferred to District Court and carries a penitentiary sentence.

The 432 checks on the docket average $14.50.

Hot check offenders are not charged when their check first comes back. Just the fact they have given a worthless check is not enough.

The store business manager or whoever received the check sends a registered letter to the check giver, saying in effect that the offender is being officially notified he gave a worthless check and that he has 10 days from the date of receipt of the letter to pay for the hot check or be charged with fraud.

If reimbursements are not returned in the 10-day period, a complaint is filed by the offender through the county attorney in the county clerk's office. This is the procedure followed before filing the 432 complaints that dot the county criminal docket.

Many business establishments admit to the county attorney they file the complaint solely for the purpose of scaring the person giving the check into making the check good. They have no thought of pushing the charge if they receive their money to replace the worthless check.

But when they do this they are leaving themselves open for criminal action.

The statute says that anyone who files a complaint for the purpose of getting his money with no intentions of prosecuting is guilty of a misdemeanor. This charge is punishable by a fine of between $100 and $500.

One of the big reasons for the great number of worthless checks given is that no identification is sought when the check is passed. A person can walk in many business establishments, ask to write a check and there will be nothing said.

One business man recently made the boast he had not had a worthless check given him in the past year. He said before accepting a check from someone he did not know, he would take their car license number and type of car, their social security number, driver's license number, and any other numbered identification number they might possess.

Persons are not very anxious to give information when they intend to pass a hot check, the cautious and efficient business man noted.

In this manner, he said he had been able to cut his worthless checks to nothing.

In addition to the 432 cases on the docket with no action taken, there are 12 cases with a not-guilty plea entered by the defendant, indicating that very few of the offenders have been caught.

Stanton FFA Wins Awards

STANTON — Members of the Stanton chapter of Future Farmers of America brought back two first place awards and two third place awards from the El Rancho district contests held in Big Spring.

The Freshman Farm Skills team won first place. Members were Leon Mattingly, Jimmy Miller, Freddie Martin and Donnie Hull.

A first place award also went to the Senior Farm Skill team, consisting of Delbert Donelson, Charles McKaskle, Chalmer Wren and Wayne Parum.

Freddie Martin, Paul Petree and Gary Callaway were members of a FFA Quiz team which placed third in the contests.

Third place also was won by a drill team on parliamentary procedure. The boys, which made up the team, went through the opening and closing ceremonies of FFA meetings, gave reports, carried out a set of parliamentary problems and answered questions on parliamentary procedure.

The members of the team were Kenneth Haggard, president; Merle Miller, vice president; Jimmy Standefer, secretary; Vernon Massey, reporter; Wayne Parum, treasurer; Philip Bryant, sentinel; Lois Badgett and Glen Mitchell, team members.
