AROUND TOWN SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

Just for the sake of argument: Mrs. George McConnell of Beaumont sent the Brand a copy of a syndicated column written by Charles B. Driscoll entitled New York Letter which appears in her local paper. And Driscoll says the people who call Hereford, "Hurfurd," don't know what they are talking about. According to him, one Norman Taylor, author of "Flight from Reality," is from Hereford, England, and he "hoots at the pronunciation Hurfurd, widely used by inhabitants of Hereford, Texas and by some raisers of Hereford cattle, which came originally from his home town." By jove, old top, ayether you or I may be wrong.

Pete Cowart, convinced by his own Chamber of Commerce publicity, that planting onions around Hereford was a smart step, spent hours Tuesday afternoon setting out 200 onion plants in his own back yard. Young daughter Lillian and her accomplice, John Bill Graham, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Graham, decided to help daddy out, and spent hours Wednesday afternoon pulling up all the 200 onion plants. Pete says Lillian is up for adoption—cheap!

American Legion auxiliary reminds housewives to get out their rolling pins and prize pie recipes and get in on the fun at the pie supper to be held at the Central School Auditorium May 23 at 8 p. m. The public is invited and along with pies you can watch the baby review, and the beauty contest.

It's a cold, hard world; you aren't safe anywhere. You can't be safe playing with your pets, and you can't even be safe at home in bed. Mrs. Dickerson is nursing a sore finger this week, all because when her pet cat was ill she tried administering aspirin to relieve the pain, and then had to take some herself when kitty rebelled. And five year old Jimmy Dixon has lost his faith in safety. While he was sleeping peacefully at home in bed Wednesday night, he got bit by a mouse and had to be taken to the doctor.

Thursday evening at five o'clock is the time. Jim Terry, golf pro, says the driving range will open then. Everything will be furnished. All you have to bring is the enthusiasm and the energy.

Hereford's Anthony Store joins in the fun as the chain all over the southwest joins in celebrating 37 years of selling. This is the anniversary week and Paul Harvey's celebrating with a sale.

Volunteer Firemen Attend Fire School

Hereford firemen were in Lubbock Monday through Thursday of this week to attend a fire-fighting school sponsored by Panhandle firemen. The men were instructed in short cut methods of stopping fires and care of their equipment.

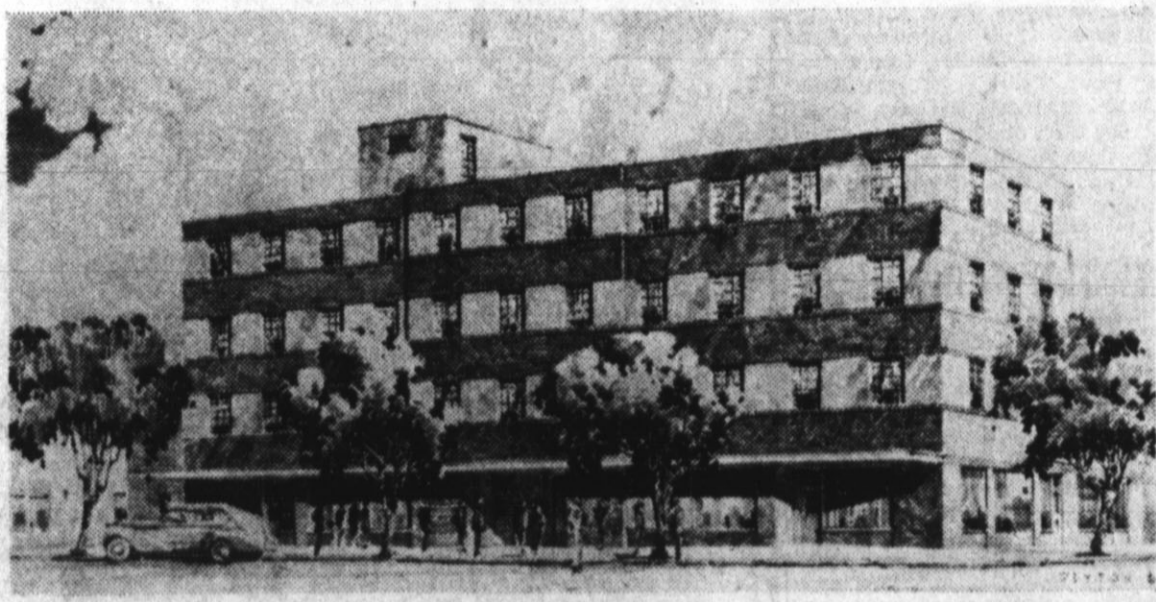

Eight of Hereford's volunteer firemen attended the sessions, usually attending one day of the school although Fire chief Earl Phillips was there for the entire session.

Attending from Hereford were Phillips, Richard Jowell, Glenn Witherspoon, Willard Witherspoon, Gordon Witherspoon, Arthur Trefel, David Phillips and Onias Carroll.

The firemen this week purchased new overalls and caps, new additions to their uniforms. The white overalls have the names written over each pocket. The caps are navy blue and trimmed in gold and silver. Twenty-two complete uniforms were purchased.

ARCHITECTS VIEW OF JIM HILL HOTEL

'HOTEL JIM HILL'

Hotel Named For Area Pioneer

Hereford's new $400,000 sixty-room hotel will be named in honor of one of the area's pioneers, according to hotel corporation directors, who said Saturday that the name, "Hotel Jim Hill," has been officially selected.

A prize of two shares of hotel stock (value approximately $200) will be awarded to Mrs. E. Y. Crow, Hereford, who suggested the name in a contest sponsored approximately one year ago.

Mr. Hill, who frankly states that he moved to Hereford "because the people and the community was progressive," came to the county in 1917, and moved into Hereford in 1920.

He tells the story of how the community in which he lived refused to buy a fire truck, and points to the factor as the primary reason for his leaving that town.

Symbolizes Pioneers
A wheat farmer and rancher, Mr. Hill symbolizes the Old West and the men who are so frequently honored at Pioneer celebrations. He moved to the Panhandle of Texas in 1899 in a covered wagon. This was before the Panhandle counties had been organized and land was generally selling for $1 an acre.

A Chamber of Commerce member since the first week he spent in Hereford, Mr. Hill has consistently been a community worker and a booster for this area. He has also contributed much time toward road improvements of the area serving 25 years as chairman of the C. of C. Roads Committee.

Foremost among his dreams during recent years has been the establishment of a modern hotel in Hereford. Mr. Hill has attended meetings and talked hours for years. When the drive was opened in 1948 to organize a hotel corporation in Hereford, Mr. Hill's reputation as "a man who does things," plus his enthusiasm, led the group to place him in charge of the drive to raise funds for the structure.

Chairman of the Board
Later, when the drive was successful and the hotel corporation was organized, Mr. Hill was named Chairman of the Board by stockholders and directors of the corporation.

Mr. Hill was born in Cooke County July 11, 1877 and has spent most of his time as a farmer and cattle man, but also found time to operate an extensive real estate and insurance loan business here for many years.

The name, "Hotel Jim Hill," will come as a surprise to him, but attending the formal opening of the hotel will not. He has been planning on the opening for more than a year and is looking forward to the event as the realization of a life-long dream.

"I will probably never spend a night in the hotel," says Jim Hill, "but it is something which my friends need, and something which will be a good thing for the whole community. I am looking forward to the grand opening."

Extra Floor On New Hotel Will Add Twenty-Two Rooms To Old Plans

Hereford's new hotel will have four stories, and 60 rooms, rather than three stories and 38 rooms as originally proposed.

The announcement was made Saturday morning by Dr. E. B. Barnett, hotel corporation president, following a directors meeting Friday night. Estimated costs of $363,000 were automatically changed to $312,000, and completion date on the hotel will continue to be January 1, 1950.

"The additional story and rooms on the hotel were made possible by Jim Hill, chairman of the hotel board, and driving personality in the fund raising campaign," said Dr. Barnett. "Mr. Hill realized the importance of additional rooms for practical operation."

Following the bombshell announcement regarding additional rooms in the hotel, directors resolved to name the building "Hotel Jim Hill," honoring Mr. Hill for his active work and personal efforts in making the hotel possible.

"Operation of the hotel hinged in a large measure on securing additional room space," Dr. Barnett said. "Hotel operators with whom we figured all said that it was not profitable to operate a hotel with 38 rooms, whereas a 60 room hotel would have excellent chances of showing a profit," he continued.

Directors said that work on the structure will be resumed in June, following arrival of steel, and that progress on the building is proceeding according to schedule, which allowed a completion date of around January 1, 1950.

"We believe that Hereford will have a much better hotel than was first planned," directors declared. "It will be complete in every detail, including a banquet room, coffee shop, spacious lobby and store buildings on the ground floor."

City Purchases New Fire Truck

City officials this week announced the purchase of a new fire truck to supplement the city fleet manned by volunteer firemen.

The American LaFrance truck, will be delivered along in August probably, for the contract called for delivery 75 days from date of purchase. Cost of the truck was $14,800.

This company, which also manufactured the present fire truck now owned by the city as soon as the new truck is delivered.

Clean-Up Drive And Beautification Campaign On City-Wide Scale Are Scheduled June 6-9

Drawing up plans for the annual Clean-Up week and instituting preliminary plans for an inter-organizational council, a group of Hereford's civic leaders met Friday morning at the City Hall to review the progress made in civic improvements during the year and plan an intensified Clean-Up and Beautification campaign.

Recognizing the eminent need for clean-up week, the group voted to promote one during the period of June 6 to June 9, a four day period of intensified home-grooming, but the men and women present emphasized their belief that the town should also plan a long-term beautification program, to create a pretty town, as well as a healthy one.

"Hereford used to be known as the 'windmill city,' and 25 years ago it had more trees in it than any town in the plains. Now we could have it known by some other trademark that would denote beauty, such as a tulip town, or lilac town for instance. We've got the water and the soil to make it the prettiest town on the Plains," said Henry Sears, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Interest in such a project had been shown by many citizens throughout the county, and both the Federated Clubs and Chamber of Commerce have become interested enough in such a camaign to organize active committees to promote it.

Need Such a Council
Wayne Evans, president of the Lions Club, suggested the town had long needed an inter-organizational council made up of representatives from the club units of the town, a council that could co-ordinate the projects which organizations promote and both prevent overlapping and stimulate co-operation in worthy projects from other clubs.

He proposed that perhaps this Beautification Campaign might provide the stimulus for the formation of this council.

Meeting in the office of Mayor W. E. Dameron, the club representatives present heard the mayor outline the history of Clean-Up week which was instituted three years ago. At that time they designated a holiday so people could clean up their premises. A special Clean-Up time has been designated each year since but with slackening interest and less participation each time.

Graduation Exercises Highlighted By Giving of Scholarships and Awards day, at the High School Auditorium.

McMillan, head of the Journalism Department at Wayland College, emphasized the importance of character in building a successful life both in the business world and in the home.

"Education is designed to help you know what you want," he pointed out, "but character is the thing that will help you get what you want, and also to be happy with what you get."

Character is the background of achievement, he declared, and explained why in the business world the moneyed man should definitely be the man with character, so finances would be wisely handled.

Born in Shanghai, China, the son of missionary parents, McMillan has traveled widely. He is a graduate of the American school in Shanghai, of Wake Forest in South Carolina and has done graduate work at Harvard. He joined the staff at Plainview last September.

McMillan was introduced by Don Martin, principal of the high school. Rev. Russell Wingert of the First Presbyterian Church read the invocation. Diplomas were presented by A. J. Schroeter, president of the school board and special awards were announced by George Graham, superintendent.

Jo Ann Witherspoon, valedictorian, was presented with a scholarship to any state supported college or university. Inez Tucker, salutatorian, was offered a scholarship by several of the denominational colleges in Texas.

A music scholarship to Hardin Simmons was presented by Kinsey Motor Company to Jane Welch. Doris Jean Smith was presented with a scholarship by a member of the Lions Club, and Earl Smith was granted a scholarship to Texas A&M through the Aggie Club of Amarillo and Boys Ranch.

Doris Jean Smith Is First Recipient Of Hereford Lions Scholarship Award

Miss Doris Jean Smith, Hereford High School graduating senior, was named winner of the $400 scholarship presented by the Hereford Lions Club.

Formal announcement of the award occurred Friday night at the Commencement exercises in the High School Auditorium.

A committee from the Board of Directors of the Lions Club consulted with high school teachers this week to select a senior student deemed most deserving of the chance to go to college.

When Doris Jean was informed of her selection, she began making her plans. She will attend West Texas State College in Canyon, where she has already secured a room for this fall at Randall Hall. Her roommate is a class mate, Miss Caren Conklin.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Smith, Doris Jean has lived in Hereford all her life, and has attended all twelve years of school here. This year she was co-editor of the high school annual and secretary of the Senior Class. She has been a member of the Pep Club and the Glee Club, and was a member of the Girls Sextet. She wrote a weekly column for the Whiteface Round-up, "Senior Who's Who." In this year's annual she was chosen best-looking girl. Her favorite high school subjects were Glee Club and English.

Doris Jean has not yet decided what course to study in college. She feels it will be better to wait till she gets in the swing of things before she makes such an important decision.

Following her introduction to the Lions Club on Wednesday, Doris Jean said: "I don't think anyone ever had a better opportunity than you have given me. I hope I can live up to your expectations."

Instituted for the first time this year, the scholarship fund may prove to be a regular project of the Lions Club. The original donation was made by an anonymous member who desired to help someone in the same way that he was once helped.

Bill Kelly Wins District Contest And Trip Through Historical Texas

Hereford named a winner in the annual Talent Club Contest when tall and towheaded Bill Kelly was selected from this district as the talent-boy of the year and will be awarded a trip through the historical spots of Texas.

The eight districts into which the sponsoring Producers Grain Corporation has divided the state, each send a boy and a girl delegate on this jaunt.

Deaf Smith County lies in District Three, which includes several of the surrounding counties. Bill's alternate is Doyle Bounce of Canyon. The girl who wins the trip from this district is Virginia Detten of Amarillo and her alternate is Naoma Brian of Happy.

The group will meet in Lubbock on June 5 to make their preparations for the trip.

Peace And Youth's Responsibility Is Eighth Grade Graduation Theme

The 115 graduating Junior High School eighth graders, their parents and friends, heard a Commencement Night program Thursday night themed around peace and youth's responsibility toward it as the speakers for the evening pointed out that the same factors that make for peace among nations are the factors that make peace within nations, within states and towns and homes.

Following the program, Principal H. V. Stanton made the special awards of the evening, announcing that Billy Gene White, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. White, had been chosen by the eighth grade as the best citizen of the year.

His name will go on the Citizenship Plaque presented to the school three years ago by Miss Della Stagner. Billy Gene is the only boy who has yet been honored this way.

Six Register For First Aid Course

Re-kindling interest in sponsoring another first aid course for Hereford, six people signed up this week to take the twenty hour course, according to Dyalthis Bradley, county welfare officer.

A total of ten students are needed before the course can be held, however, so no definite plans can be made until the minimum number of people register for the school, which will be conducted in ten two-hour courses.

Anyone interested should sign up in the welfare office at the court house.

Bud-To Blossom Installs Officers With A 'Planting A Garden' Theme

Mrs. Paul Harvey was hostess for the Bud-To-Blossom meeting held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. During the business session Mrs. Hilton Higgins was named 3rd. vice president to finish out the club year. Members were urged to write their congressmen opposing opening bird sanctuaries of the state to hunters.

Officers Are Installed

Mrs. Ray Johnson, president of the Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs, conducted an impressive ceremony installing new officers of the club. She used the theme "Planting a Garden" and presented each officer with a bulb or plant. Mrs. J. D. Neill as the incoming president was compared to the location of the garden and Mrs. R. A. Daniel, Jr., Mrs. Ben Childers and Mrs. W. H. Patton, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd. vice-presidents respectively, represented the picture windows and background plantings; Mrs. E. D. Hopson as recording secretary stood for the shrubs around the home and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. George Springer, was compared to the lawn furniture which completes the garden. The treasurer's office was likened to a pool with Mrs. J. C. McCathern filling that post. Mrs. George Olson as parliamentarian was the lawn displaying the orderly placing of plants and Mrs. Cecil Parker as reporter was told she represented the perfume of the garden whose fragrance extended beyond the garden walls. Mrs. H. H. Caraway and Mrs. Clyde Russell, federation council members represented the vines of the garden and the home.

The program for the afternoon was directed by Mrs. Tom Howard who discussed Dianthus Pinks, telling something of their history and explaining various legends.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames: H. H. Caraway, Ben Childers, R. A. Daniel, Tom Howard, Paul Harvey, William Hull, J. D. Neill, Hilton Higgins, W. H. Patton, Cecil Parker, Clyde Russell, George Springer, George Olson, J. E. McCathern and the hostess.

Fish Fry Is Given By Three Fishermen

A fish-fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller was the reward for three fishermen who caught enough fish at Buffalo Lake Thursday afternoon for a couple of dozen guests. The fishermen were Carlos Anderson, H. E. Miller and Robert Miller.

Those enjoying the outdoor affair were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lee and daughter, Gladys, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allred, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Miller and son, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Anderson and children, Gary Tannahill, Norman Lookingbill, Lajuan White, Jed Miller and children, Jodie and Jehnifer, the hosts and children Robert and Joy.

HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

Call For Emergency Lighting

AMONG OTHER OUTSTANDING community services the citizens of this area may well point with pride to the Deaf Smith County Hospital. During recent years hospital services have been considerably improved, and today the institution offers a service which cannot be duplicated in this area.

The hospital, despite headaches involved for county officials, is well worthwhile, and will become even more important when the new wing is opened.

Naturally, the hospital represents a tremendous investment on the part of tax payers, and for this reason it seems logical that slight additional investment should be made in the form of emergency lighting equipment.

Under present arrangements, the operating room is served with a small emergency light plant, but a crisis leaves the remainder of the hospital in total darkness.

Patients, as in most hospitals, signal for nurses with lights. When power sources fail, the helpless patient is left without means of calling for assistance.

If plans for the additional wing do not include auxiliary lighting facilities for emergencies, it seems logical steps should be taken toward eliminating the present hazardous system.

A hospital, after all, should be a place of safety.

WINDMILLS! TOOTHACHES!

How About More Flowers

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS ago Hereford sprouted on the plains, gaining fame for its cattle, its windmills and its locust trees. Chicago was the windy city, but Hereford was the windmill town, and it had more trees towering over its houses than any other city in the Panhandle. True, they were locust trees, but they sprouted white in the springtime and made good substantial pegs for hammocks on hot summer days.

But locust trees went out of date. Along with more luxurious automobiles and convenient kitchen gadgets, the modern age wanted decorated trees, so the locust were cut down. And the windmills, Hereford's jotted skyline, gave way to more modern plumbing.

Hereford was then famous for cattle—and "lack of toothaches."

It could be a beauty spot, again too. The same Deaf Smith County soil that grows super lettuce and potatoes could as easily produce super lilacs or pansies, and the water that builds "toothache-less teeth" could as easily produce tulips.

Tyler grows roses, Denton grows redbuds and Mobile has azaleas. They've helped make those towns famous. They've been a physical asset in beautifying the town and a commercial asset in encouraging tourist trade. People like to look at beauty, and a whole field planted to one favorite flower can be a magnificent spectacle, especially if that plant were repeated in the flower gardens of the town.

How about it Hereford? How about being known as a pretty town as well as a healthy one?

The windmill town of days gone by could be the wisteria town of the future, or the town without a toothache could also be the town with the prettiest flower gardens of the state.

GUEST EDITORIAL

A Word About Minority Rights

(Editor's Note: The following editorial has appeared in numerous papers following publication in Palestine in April. It was also recently reproduced in the Congressional Record due to the forceful manner in which it brings home one of Democracy's greatest hazards.)

WHY IS IT that so many Americans fail to see the dangers of taking away the rights of minorities? Why is it that a desire for an immediate benefit often obscures the menace now being thrown at democracy itself?

Take the case of President Truman's socialized medicine program. He is insistent that Congress pass it, and his lieutenant, Oscar M. Rwing, chief of the Federal Security Administration, is waging a high pressure campaign to sell people throughout the country on the idea.

The argument advanced by Ewing is that there are only 180,000 doctors in the country, to serve all of the country's 150,000,000 or so people. Everybody needs medical attention, says Ewing. So the government should underwrite all medical care for all people.

That sounds good to a lot of people. Medical attention free (but don't forget that you'd pay for it in taxes) has the same appeal as winning on a sweepstakes ticket. But the doctors don't want to be socialized. They don't want to be regulated through a government bureau. And they argue truthfully that socialization of any group opens the door toward socialization of all groups.

The fact of that argument is pretty well substantiated by President Truman's call for government-owned steel plants, first step in nationalization of that industry.

The prospect of such steps doesn't scare a lot of people. So what, they ask. What does it matter if we take away the rights of 180,000 doctors or a few steel makers to better the lot of millions?

Well, here's what it means.

The same attitude of taking from the few to help the many can be applied to every trade.

There are only a comparatively few automobile workers; so they could be socialized to benefit the many. Then you would buy a government-designed and regulated automobile.

There are only a few—compared to the national population—railroad workers. So it would be logical to socialize them too. Then you could buy your railroad ticket from a bored and discourteous civil service worker.

There are only a few newspapers and radio stations. Why not socialize them for the benefit filtered through government bureaus that un-

GUYPON STARTS ON HOTEL

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONIES for Guypon's new hotel were held at the site of the new building on Quinn and Sixth Streets Monday, May 16. Hugh Reynold, secretary-manager of the Guypon Chamber of Commerce announced last week.

Construction is to start immediately. Present plans are for a four-story building, however, last week Mayor Earl R. Moore hinted a possibility that he may convert his plans to a five-story 82-room hotel.

CITRUS LOSSES IN FREEZE

VALLEY CITRUS PRODUCTION for the 1948-49 crop year just closed totaled approximately 15,500,000 boxes as compared with 28,400,000 boxes harvested during the 1947-48 season, according to figures received by the U. S. Market News Service from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

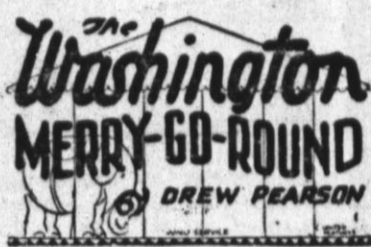

Since the 1948-49 Valley crop had been expected to be as large or larger than the preceding year, it appears that the reduction as the result of the January 31 freeze would approximate 12,900,000 boxes of fruit.

THE FIRST RURAL telephones out of the Lockney switchboard will be installed this week and on the first of next week, it was announced by J. A. Cornell, district manager of Plainview. The telephones will not be hooked up as they are installed but will be connected up ready for use as soon as possible, Mr. Cornell said.

Atlantic Pact Combed

TERSE, urgent questions affecting our hopes for peace came boiling to the top the other day behind closed doors of the senate foreign relations committee. Answering them, the men who must implement the North Atlantic pact were kept under steady fire for 4 1/2 hours.

Big, bullvoiced Senator Vandenberg set the pace, but each senator got a load of questions off his chest. They combed the pact's fine print for pitfalls and loopholes, and searched for hidden meanings between the lines. As a result, many tough problems were plowed up.

The chief targets in this verbal shooting gallery were Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson and ECA Ambassador Harriman. They talked brilliantly, but not quite enough to please the senators.

"I can't be offhand and free about information that involves other countries," Acheson retorted impatiently, when pressed for details.

Johnson also buttoned up during a barrage of questions on atomic energy from Senator McMahon of Connecticut. The queries were based on secret information which McMahon had learned at the Pentagon, and Johnson objected to going into detail in front of committee clerks. This caused McMahon to declare that he wouldn't support the pact if he couldn't get the information he wanted.

"If the price of the senator's vote," bristled Johnson, "is my violation of what I consider the security of the nation, then we may have to forego the senator's vote."

Senate Stairs Stoop

To add to the turmoil, the meeting was interrupted 13 times by roll-call votes on the senate floor. This kept the senators straggling up and down stairs to the senate floor until 71-year-old Sen. George of Georgia finally snorted in disgust.

"By God, I can't go up and down those stairs any more!"

Another problem was how much to tell the press. Vandenberg was against issuing any release until the secretary of state formally presented the military program to congress. The Michigan Republican warned, however, that "Drew Pearson has a dictaphone hidden in here."

Later, chairman Tom Connally stamped angrily into the meeting after a trip upstairs to vote.

"Somebody has already leaked the amount of the proposed military aid," he thundered. "Some newspapermen told me the figure and asked if that was correct."

Following this incident, it was agreed to release an outline of the one billion, 120 million dollar plan to help rearm the north Atlantic treaty nations. Here are other highlights of the meeting.

Senator Vandenberg wanted to clarify the important question of whether the pact was just another old-fashioned military alliance or a genuine instrument of collective security. He pointed out that the U. N. charter recognizes the right of nations to "collective self-defense" in case of attack.

The charter, however, adds in Article 51: "Measures taken by members of the U. N. in the exercise of this right of self-defense shall be immediately reported to the security council."

Does this mean, Vandenberg asked, that the treaty nations must report their secret defense plans to the security council—where Russia has easy access? This was something none of them wanted to do, but Senator Pepper of Florida warned that the pact, itself, promised to abide by the U. N. charter.

Secretary Acheson explained, however, that the only "measures" we are obliged to report to the security council are whatever measures may be taken jointly—after an armed attack occurs.

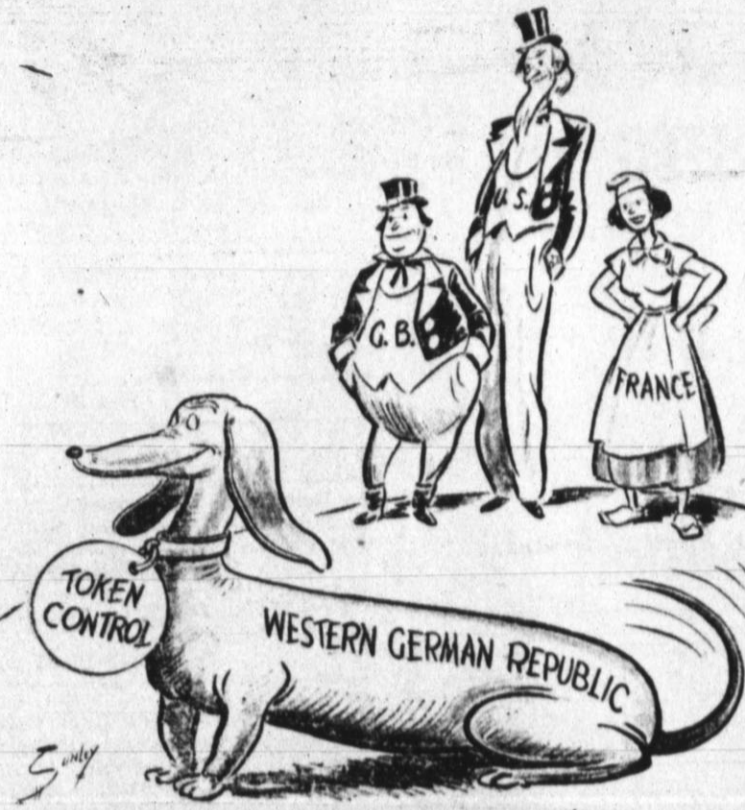

Only Arms to Europe?

"What I want to know," chimed in Utah's scholarly Sen. Elbert Thomas, "is what do you mean by the rearmament of Europe? One thing Europe knows how to do is arm. The idea of supplying arms seems archaic unless we give them our best bombs and techniques. But if we do that, I am against the whole program."

"The aim of the Atlantic pact is to bring about an atmosphere to make arms unnecessary. If we are not going to teach the processes of peace, we may as well quit now."

Another question, raised by several senators, was whether to furnish Europe with American-made arms or help the treaty nations manufacture their own arms. If the United States tries to produce all the armament needed for the allied world, the production and logistic problem, it was argued, would be terrific. But, on the other hand, plants built in Europe would be easy prey to the Russians and might be turned against us. No one had a ready answer for this sober question.

Otherwise He'll Be as Free as the Air

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION:

What do you consider the best thing to do in case a tornado should approach or strike Hereford?

Harold Close: "If I saw the tornado cloud approaching, I'd watch where it was headed, of course. Then I'd tear off in the opposite direction. If a tornado actually hit, the best thing to do is get down in the lowest place you can find. A cellar or basement would be the safest place, but lying under the beds would help."

Wayne Edwards: "If I saw a tornado cloud approaching, I'd run like the dickens! It's hard to tell just what the best thing to do is, because twisters act in different ways. Some move up and down, and others move straight across the terrain for several miles. A storm cellar is the best protection, and I believe a basement is preferable to staying upstairs. However, there is a great deal of danger from falling objects and debris in a basement. I was caught in the one at Leedey, Oklahoma two years ago. We went across the street to a storm cellar. We thought about protecting ourselves in the basement of our house, but if we had, we wouldn't have had a chance. The basement was literally jammed with wreckage which had fallen in, and without a doubt we would have been crushed amid it all. Since about 90 per cent of the tornadoes travel in a southwest-northeast direction, getting in a car and driving out away from its path is a pretty good thing to do—if you have time. The very worst part of a tornado is the after-effects—the shock, the confusion, the lack of places to live, the difficulty in getting food."

Major Schroeter: "If you see a tornado coming the best thing to do is hunt a basement or preferably a cellar outside. They say that in strongly-constructed buildings, standing under the stairway is a good idea—like in the schoolhouses or the post office or the court house. If you happen to be in a flimsily built building, you might look for a culvert or low place in the ground to lie in. If a tornado actually strikes, we have a Disaster Relief Organization here set up under the Red Cross, which has a skeleton crew ready to go. Of course there is always a great deal of shock and confusion, and the best thing for people to do is heed the instructions of those in authority. We have a plan, and about 10 or 15 sub-chairmen are appointed to take care of the various aspects of the disaster; that is, report committee, survey committee, transportation and ambulance committee, first aid, buying committee, etc. And incidentally, we are having a meeting Monday night to review and re-plan our set-up since we are all so tornado-conscious right now."

Mrs. Marlin Gilliland: "The first thing I would do would be to locate my children. Then if I thought there was a chance of out-running the twister, I'd load them in the car and try to drive away from it. If I couldn't do that, I think I would do as we have been advised—either find a basement or lie on the floor or an outside wall with something over me for protection which would break the fall of flying debris. I am chairman of the committee under the disaster relief organization which is supposed to care for the injured. The first thing to do, I believe, would be to call all competent nurses and nurses aides, organizing them to take care of the most seriously hurt. We would, of course, have to provide beds for all those who are wounded, and we would need to organize shifts for caring for them."

HOMER FOX SAYS:

DID YOU KNOW....?

Back in 1920, there was a couple of young G. I.'s from World War one, had a fast moving Grocery Store, located where the Hereford Hardware is now, this thriving business was known as the G & R Grocery, owned and operated by Frank Gyles and Jim Rutherford. You can find Frank any day down at the Packard Mill and Jim has his feet sticking up on a desk in Jackson, Miss., helping an Oil Co. lay new pipe line

When Glenn Boardman was a kid he would meander down to the creek in Boardman's pasture (the stretch of creek from the Veteran's Park to the crossing below the packing plant) he would break off a piece of dry Tule, fasten it on for a cork and with a grass hopper or worm, start hauling out those big yellow country perch. If fishing was good, Glenn would take his catch to the house and dress them, go catch the old gray pony and head for town. He had three customers that paid him 25 cents a dozen for those perch and take all he would deliver. Mrs. Alice Lea, Mrs. C. C. Ferguson and Mrs. B. S. Arnold were Glenn's regular customers. Glenn also had a trap line that he would run in the mornings before going to school. One morning the ambitious young man didn't quite make it in the school room until his teacher headed him for home, he had walked up on the wrong side of a skunk.

The Boardmans have some Elm trees in their yard that Mr. Boardman's father brought them from Kansas in 1906. He strapped the young trees on the side of his suit case and made the trip by train.

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher has heard about the prospects for crop control next year, and is worrying us with his worries, as follows:)

Dear editor:

Ever since I got word the government was considering on going back in the crop control business, I've had me up a mail box out here, and while a coffee can nailed to a mesquite tree may not come up to the standards of the United States Post Office Department, the thing works, at least mail has been shown up in it addressed to me, and as long as a thing works I don't care what standards it fails to come up to, we've even had Presidents that didn't come up to standard in some respects but the country held together, and yesterday I got a notice from the AAA to figure up the average amount of acreage I've had in various crops the past five years, and I don't mind sayin the thing had me stumped.

It ain't no easy job for me to sit down and say exactly what crops I've grown the past five years. You can start plantin twenty acres of a crop, but if the grass starts closin in on you and you got somethin more important to do than plow, you may not wind up with more'n four or five acres, scattered here and there throughout the field where the grass didn't get no toe hold, but as for actually gettin out there and measurin it down to the quarter-acre, I ain't never done it and don't intend to.

For example, in 1944 it seems to me I planted cotton in a ten-acre field north of the house, or how did cotton stalks get there and what are them furrows doin in there, but if I sold my cotton off of it I believe I'd have remembered it, but things escape your memory, especially when you're tryin to make a crop and still not neglect the United Nations, the European crisis, etc. Also, me and my wife is still arguin over whether that was volunteer corn in my Johnson grass or volunteer Johnson grass in my corn in 1945, and since their ain't no place on the government form for Johnson grass, and I want to be honest about this thing, I'll admit I don't know what to put down, and if you leave a government form blank you've rocked the foundation of bureaucracy, it's like talkin about your wife's kinfolks, you'll never hear the last of it, hound you about it the rest of your life. A government clerk with an unfilled out form or your signature on the wrong line is worse than a busted first cousin.

Some farmers maybe can tell you exactly what they planted in 1946 and how much they made down to the penny, but farmin with me ain't no assembly-line production outfit, it's a way of life, and when I get through a year's farmin, I'd just rather forget about the details, don't even want to know how much I lost, don't want to know what I did wrong, don't even want to speculate on whether another sprayin would have saved this crop or that one. Just want to forget about it and hope this year turns out better.

If you have any notions about what I could put down on this form to satisfy the government, will appreciate hearin from you. Some of my neighbors is afraid the government is gonna cut down on their acreage, not let em plant as much as they want to, but such thoughts don't worry me. It ain't how much I have to plant, it's how much I have to, that keeps me worried.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Leave It To The People Is Advice

By MARGARET BARRETT

"We might eventually wind up with a pretty decent world—if we'll just leave it to the people." That is Quentin Reynolds' conclusion in his new book "Leave It To The People" which he wrote last December upon his return from a six-months stay in Europe. He visited in Israel, Italy and Greece, in France, Holland and Germany and Norway. And everywhere he went he sought out the "important" people—the average citizen, the tavern keeper, the hotel clerk, the cab driver, the chorus girl, the soldier, the field laborer. As he talked to those people he became more and more convinced that these were the people who would safeguard democracy.

Reynolds was in Israel on May 15, 1948, when the Jews proclaimed themselves a nation. He had talked with the people—people like Zeev Una and his wife, Leah, who lived and worked on one of the farming settlements. Zeev and Una were paid no salaries—they had no budget to make. They worked in the fields all day long, and in return were provided with a place to live, food to eat, and clothes to wear. Their situation might sound like a communistic set-up, but it must be remembered that they were free to go out on their own anytime they so desired. They worked in the fields because they loved the land, and under their hands they had seen vast stretches of wasted desert become fertile fields of food for them, for their children, and for their neighbors.

In Israel, Reynolds talked to the military commanders—Sadeh, leader of the Palmach; Belgin, head of the so-called terrorist Irgun—he was David Ben-Gurion, and even met the leader of the most despised of terrorist organizations, the Stern Group. And he talked with the business men, with the ordinary soldiers. Always his most important question was "How did the Jews get to be such fighters?" And almost invariably he received the same answer—they helped our school standards, because our paper had a greater circulation and was so much better than it would have been as a mimeographed paper. We appreciate your giving us a full page and in this last issue nearly two. The little bit we got to work with you, we enjoyed; you've been very nice. Again we say, thank you.

Everywhere he went, Reynolds says, he met refugees from the Soviet dominated lands, proof that the people have not swallowed the false ideals of Communist totalitarianism.

"Leave It To The People" is a book about people—the little people mainly. The author studied them from this stand-point: are they really accepting communism, or are they still democratic-minded? And his overwhelming conclusion was and continues to be: so long as the affairs of the world are left to the people, they will champion the cause of freedom.

Published by Random House, New York, "Leave It To The People" is available to readers at the County Library.

Letters To—

Dear Mr. Gillentine:

In behalf of the paper staff, I would like to say, we really thank you for publishing "The Whiteface" in the "Brand." It helped our school standards, because our paper had a greater circulation and was so much better than it would have been as a mimeographed paper. We appreciate your giving us a full page and in this last issue nearly two. The little bit we got to work with you, we enjoyed; you've been very nice. Again we say, thank you.

Sincerely yours, Jane Welch

We also send our thanks to your staff for working with us and putting up with us.

The other speakers of the evening were the salutatorian and valedictorian of the class who also emphasized youth's responsibility toward peace.

Jerry Witherspoon, salutatorian, told the class peace could be developed by each individual who developed a set of habits that made him healthy and happy, because the happy individuals never wanted to go to war.

Valedictorian Margaret Sexton, using Elbert Hubbard's outline on the Common Sense political party, also told her classmates that peace was a way of life to be developed and each individual had a share in it.

The stage for the graduation was decorated with iris, greenery and yellow candles on the stage size candelabra. Streamers of yellow and white ribbon marked the center section where the graduates sat. Polio Victim Wins CAA Flying Ticket

Marion William Mohrle (left), 24, former Air Force flight instructor wins another victory over infantile paralysis which paralyzed his legs. He is receiving his private flying license from CAA agent Norwood C. Mead at Highland Park Airport, Dallas, Texas, May 12, after passing test flight. Mohrle was struck by infantile paralysis in the air while instructing three students in a C-45 near Big Spring, Texas, on Sept. 12, 1946. personal beautification program on their own grounds.

Hereford parks came in for specific discussion during the meeting. Several park projects are already underway such as in Veteran's Park, Jaycee Park, and a Camp Fire park beautification project at Gregg Park, consisting of leveling the ground for re-seeding.

But there are other park spots over town which the mayor said could be delegated to some club group to plant and maintain. The park at the circle near the swimming pool, at the intersection of Park Avenue and Third Street and the park near the hospital were suggested as areas that could be improved in a city beautification campaign.

Mrs. Art Manjeot, representing the federated clubs, said the Chamber of Commerce had delegated the clubs $200 to be used in their welfare and beautification work, and Mrs. Manjeot, welfare chairman for the clubs, said their tentative plan was to use part of this money as prizes to clubs who solicited the most people agreeing to clean up their own premises.

Mrs. O. G. Hill is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Hereford Beautiful committee. She will spearhead some of the C of C work in sponsoring June's clean-up days, and her committee will probably be used in an inter-organizational project which may develop from this plan, said Sears.

Attending the meeting Friday were Mrs. Manjeot, Mrs. Dyalthis Bradley, county welfare officer; Mrs. C. D. Kelton, president of the Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. John Jacobsen, Jr., president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Henry Sears, Wayne Evans, Faust Collier, president of the Rotary Club; and Mayor Dameron.

Lions Carnival Plans Progress

"Construction will begin Monday morning on the Lions Club Annual Carnival," Bill Warren, general chairman, announced this week. The carnival, to be held on the corner of Park Avenue and D Street, will open at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, May 25. It will run through May 28, opening each evening at seven except on Saturday, when activity will begin at noon.

"Ten booths, constructed and operated by local members of the Lions Club, will present a lot of fun 'for everybody,'" said Wayne Evans, Club president. Numbered among the booths will be a doll rack, a dunking board, dart games, pennypitch, bingo and weight guessing stands. "Attractive prizes will be offered at all the stands," Evans added.

Four rides, including ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, merry-go-round, and kiddy cars will be provided by the Lone Star Amusement Company, which allows twenty per cent of the profits to go into the Lions Club fund. Tickets for the rides will be sold and collected by Lions Club members also.

The Boy Scouts will have charge of the food and drink concessions, under the chairmanship of Urlin Streu. They plan to use their profits to aid in building the Scout Hut.

As previously announced, the Municipal Swimming Pool will open the same evening that the Carnival begins.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used by the Hereford Lions to furnish the Waiting Room in the new wing of the Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Miss Joyce Stewart Weds George McLean at Church

At eight o'clock in the evening, Saturday, May 14, Miss Joyce Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Alton Stewart of San Antonio, became the bride of George H. McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, in a double-ring ceremony held in the Travis Park Methodist Church, San Antonio.

The Rev. Kenneth Copeland, pastor, officiated as the couple and their attendants stood before a flower bedecked altar where tall white tapers burned in wrought iron candelabra.

A prelude of wedding music was furnished by the church organist who accompanied Mrs. A. N. Striegler who sang "Because" and "Through the Years." He also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Ruby Lee Langston, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore pale pink organdy made with deep ruffled shoulder effect and sweetheart neckline.

She wore a matching organdy bonnet-brim and carried an old-fashioned nosegay in pale yellow. Phil Brown, Jr., classmate of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Elroy Langston, Monroe Stewart and Bert Nunnallee.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of sheer marquisette, fashioned with square neck edged with bands of lace and long full sleeves caught at the wrist with bands of lace. The bouffant skirt accented the lace trim at the hipline and swept into a chapel train in the back. Her veil of imported illusion cascaded from a heart-shaped bonnet edged with simulated pearls, and her only ornament was a single strand of heirloom pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a shower bouquet centered with white orchids with sprays of lily of the valley.

Reception Is Held
Following the wedding a reception was held in the Cascade Room of the St. Anthony Hotel. Mrs. Phil Brown, Jr. was in charge of the bride's book. Mesdames Elroy Stewart, Monroe Stewart and Pat Horwick assisted in serving.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was dressed in a suit featuring a brown skirt, chartreuse blouse and brown and white short jacket. Her accessories were in brown. The couple will return to San Antonio to make their home at 418 W. Hulsache St.

Mrs. McLean is a graduate of Hockaday School For Girls and studied music at Trinity University.

Mr. McLean is a graduate of Hereford High School and of the University of Texas. He is employed in San Antonio with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cockburn and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Smith of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, Dr. and Mrs. William F. McLean of Dallas, and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McLean.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kerr Repeat Wedding Vows

After a delay of three weeks in search of a minister, Eula Lee McDonald and Charles F. Kerr were linked together for life by a justice of the peace in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Beach in Dimmitt on May 17, 1899, the wedding story of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kerr reads.

On May 17, 1949, in the home of her son, Bryan McDonald, in Canyon, wedding vows were repeated and this time a minister was available. Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor of the Hereford Presbyterian Church where the couple held membership during their long residence in Hereford, officiated as the vows were repeated almost fifty years to the hour from that long ago wedding date, as the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in the presence of close friends and relatives. Three guests were present who attended that first ceremony. They were Mrs. J. M. Gilliland, the former Miss Willie Dyer, her brother, Press Dyer, and Mrs. Ida Bennett, the former Miss Ida Beach.

In keeping with the anniversary theme, the McDonald home was decorated throughout in yellow and gold flowers and at the appointed hour Mrs. Bryan McDonald played a prelude of wedding music and Mrs. Olive Finney sang "Those Golden Years" which she had composed for the occasion. A grandson, Joe Kerr, lighted the tapers.

Attending the couple were Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon, long-time friends who were neighbors when the couple lived in Canyon.

The bride of half a century wore the white satin wedding gown and veil worn by her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Birchfield, the former Bettie Rose Kerr, at her wedding and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of Dutch iris centered with an orchid.

Children and their families attending were Mr. and Mrs. Will S. Kerr, Clifford, Joe, Pat and Norman, Mrs. Clay Ridgway of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Kerr and daughter Catherine Ann of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Birchfield and sons John and Richard of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald, Dick Lee, Billie Joe, Donald and Patsy of Canyon.

Relatives from Hereford attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kerr and Pamela Ruth, Mrs. Elizabeth Bonesio and son Mickey and Mrs. Ida Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Pres Dyer and Mrs. Tom Tate of Dimmitt, Mrs. Thomas K. Baten and Keith Baten of Fallet, Mrs. Olive Finney, Bandera. Friends attending were Mrs. S. H. Jones, Mrs. B. F. Fronbarger, all of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs.

Jerry Ratcliff of Canyon and W. H. Patton of Hereford.

Pioneer of Plainview
Mr. Kerr is a pioneer of Plainview and was one of the first school teachers in the county, having taught the old Hale City school back in the 1890's. It took courage to teach in those days for sometimes the pupils tried to run the school teacher away.

Kerr was also twice County Judge of Castro County and recalls the time of organizing hunting parties to kill out the elk in this country. He likes to recall those early days when the cowboys from the many ranches and the teachers from the few schools came to town for a get-together. Everybody would get busy making ready for the party and the boys would pay a messenger boy 25 cents to take a note to a girl for a date.

Losses His Shirt
On one particular occasion, one of the cowboys appropriated C. F.'s treasured silk-bosomed shirt purchased for the occasion. When Mr. Kerr found the shirt gone he surmised who had taken it and hurried down to the livery stable and drove away with the cowboy's team and buggy. That night C. F. and his girl rode in the buggy and the cowboy and his girl walked to the party.

After their marriage in Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Kerr lived there until the early 1920's when they moved to Canyon to place the children in school. Later he and his son Will S. were engaged in the implement business in Hereford and they moved to Hereford in 1928. After the sale of the Kerr Hardware Store here they moved to Plainview last year and at present he is actively helping his son operate the Kerr Hardware in Plainview. He will be 89, on May 27 and is still able to look after his three farms near Canyon, south of Hereford and north of Dawn.

Active in Church Work
Both have been life-long members of the Presbyterian Church and have taken an active part in the religious life of the community wherever they have been.

At present Mrs. Kerr is pianist for the Plainview First Presbyterian Church Sunday School. She has assisted with the church music wherever she has lived and keeps up with a life-long hobby "making beautiful quilts and crochet pieces." Their major interests now center around twelve grand children.

They both enjoy good health and continue to get the maximum pleasure out of living. Surrounded by members of their family, relatives and life-long friends their view of the continuing years look rosy, as they glance back in memory over the fifty years now being rounded out together.

Guests registering during the calling hours were Mesdames: J. A. Pitman, Henry Benson, Louis Woodford, Roy Ford, Urlin Streu, Ralph Hastings, Carl McCaslin, J. T. Gilbreath, Jr., W. J. Stanford, Pete Cowart, Will Graham, B. F. Cain, Jim Kirby, Worth Ware, Elizabeth Wombles, Alton Fraser, Cesar Enaley, J. C. McCracken, Robert Veigel, Carroll Whitlock, George L. Graham, A. N. Roll call was answered with members naming household gadgets of value and the lesson for the afternoon was on Food Spoilage. "Being sure that the seal is safe is a good way to avoid spoilage," Mrs. Draper said.

The next meeting was announced to be held in the home of Mrs. A. C. Flowers. Members attending were Mesdames Ethel Layman, Clarence Hollabaugh, Edna Draper, A. C. Flowers, Irvin Botsford, Franklin Miller, O. B. Russell, Lowery Walker, Tom Draper, and the hostess, Nellean Flowers and the home demonstration agent in training, Doris Mahoffey, were guests.

Off Again On Again Flight Breakfasts

Flight breakfasts, spring and summer recreation for the private pilots of the Panhandle have been introduced this season, but the unpredictable week end weather has resulted in almost as many cancellations as entertainments.

Mrs. Carl Kropff at Clover Airport said the breakfast scheduled last week at Plainview was canceled because of the rain. An earlier one was held at Clarendon.

Hereford entertained Panhandle flyers at a flight breakfast last August, but no date has been set for the town to play host this year.

School Census Shows Enrollment More Than Double Since 1944-'5

Parent-Teachers Association activities came to a close with the end of school and the final session was held at the high school Tuesday night.

In making a report concerning the school situation superintendent George Graham stated that according to enumeration results, the number of students has more than doubled since 1944-'45. 903 pupils were enrolled for that school against 1987 for the 1948-'49 term.

Graham outlined the status of the Gilmer-Alken legislation and explained its effect, if passed, on local schools. He also told of the progress being made on the Shirley School, now under construction, and in answer to the question "What students will attend the Shirley School?" stated that the census seemed to indicate that students north of the highway, east of Schley to Park Avenue and dropping back to "B" street north to the city limits, will be the logical attendants.

Mrs. Elmer Patterson, outgoing president, outlined the past year's activities listing the following projects undertaken under the overall plan of fitting the program to the actual needs of the schools: Letters written to all tax payers in regard to the bond elections, assisted High School Cafeteria, assisted in a general clean-up campaign and gave clinical assistance to the chest X-ray project, conducted a pre-school-age check-up for children and during the summer months assisted in two visual surveys in cooperation with the Lions Club and Health Committee plan for school nurse. She also announced the midsummer check-up for school children which will be sponsored by the PTA again this summer, and in conclusion reported on the annual spring session of the Eighth District Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers held recently in Shamrock.

As the outgoing president, Mrs. Patterson conducted the installation of new officers who assumed duties. Mrs. Bonnie Kelly pinned an oak leaf bearing the PTA 1948-49 date on each officer symbolizing the connection with the national organization for which the oak tree is a symbol.

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago
The Panhandle has been suffering under a prolonged drought in 1904. But 45 years ago this week The Brand said: "Hereford and Vicinity Visited By Big Rains This Week" as the page one headline. The story said farmers were going ahead since it had rained with plans for planting cotton. This was expected to place the price of land beyond the reach of the poor man and cause those few who, in a discouraged state of mind, placed their lands on the market at a reduced price to wish them back.

"Copious rains fell in this section of the country last night and it continues to rain as we go to press." Sounds like it could have come out of last week's paper.

Land was selling at $4 and $5 an acre for homesteaders in Oklahoma according to a U. S. Land

Of further reaching significance was the story saying a company had been formed to test the county water supply for irrigation purposes. The Brand had been advocating this for several months with an ultimate view of irrigation in case the water supply was sufficient.

Quoting: "It is now with extreme satisfaction and pleasure that we announce to readers that a $25,000 stock company has been organized among Hereford business men for the purpose of making a thorough test, not only of the water supply but of the practicability of irrigating our lands by means of pumps and storage tanks."

Personals included: J. W. Fewell started out early Tuesday morning with his steam plow and has been turning the sod for the remainder of the week by the very latest methods known to the civilized world.

D. Humphrey and W. F. Stimson returned Wednesday from a prospecting trip to New Mexico.

S. P. McKinney, a substantial ranchman living on the North Draw, was in Hereford Tuesday after supplies and incidentally ordered the BRAND sent to his address. Mr. McKinney reports the people in his community

Dog's Life Improves

Brownie, a seafaring dog of dubious ancestry, has caused quite a stir in the maritime world. Believed accidentally deserted by a crew member of a visiting tanker, Brownie has faithfully kept watch for weeks at the Esso Refinery docks in Linden, N. J., for the return of his master. Radio messages have been sent to ships at sea in an attempt to find the dog's owner. Meanwhile, dock guard Herman Kohl, above, feeds Brownie in front of the doghouse built by refinery employees to make the pooch's vigil more comfortable.

are enthusiastic over the recent good rains.

Col. C. C. Slaughter of Dallas and George M. Slaughter of Roswell, N. M., arrived in Hereford Wednesday on an inspection tour of the shipping route from their Running Water ranch to Hereford and Bovina. These men are traveling in their ambulance, drawn by four white horses, and are making arrangements to ship 5000 head of cattle from the above named ranch.

Seventy-Four Register For Selective Service
Seventy-four eighteen-year-olds have been registered through Selective Service Board 18 with headquarters in Deaf Smith County, according to Mrs. A. Petersen, clerk.

The seven eighteen year olds registered in the month of May bring the total to 74 for 1949.

They are Jim D. Cavin, Amarillo; Edwin D. Allred, Adrian; Jess M. Mitchell, Amarillo; Loyd C. Swindell, Hereford; Dick J. Randall, Hereford; Charles R. Gullledge, Hart; Clarence J. Maynard, Canyon.

Other registrants for the month include boys who have been in service, including those with membership in the reserve.

These 22, 21, and 20 year olds were A. I. Hines, Hereford; Fidel D. Perez, Hereford; Olon D. Clements, Hereford; Nolan L. Birchfield, Dimmitt and John B. Taylor, Friona.

Many a man thinks he has an open mind when it's merely vacant.

It is true that only two per cent of the people in the United States are morons, they sure do get around.

Every day when we arise we're more surprised than ever—when we raise the shades, look out the window, and find the world is still present.

It's a sign of prosperity when men's pants bag at the pockets instead of the knees.

Lyle Blanton Elected President As Lions Club Gets New Officers

Studebaker sales in January, February, and March were the biggest for any quarter in Studebaker history.

Twice this year Studebaker has increased production in an attempt to meet this sensational upsurge in demand.

1949 is a Studebaker year!

Last Freedom Train Document Is Here All 26 To Go In High School Library

This week marks the anniversary of the initial showing of the Freedom Train Documents which have been displayed in the lobby of the First National Bank all year long, one at a time.

With this final copy on display for the next two weeks, all 26 of the famous historical documents will have been shown, and V. O. Hennen, announced they would be given to the High School to be framed and hung in the library for next year.

Currently displayed is the picture of the original copy of the King of Siam's famous offer to present President Lincoln with a gift of elephants.

All the copies of these well-known historical letters, transactions and commitments, are duplicates of originals which toured the United States last year when the famous "Freedom Train" made its year-long run.

Enlarged Reproductions
The enlarged reproductions were made by a meticulous process known as "photo-gelatin", a photographic reproduction method that experts determined best suited to maintain integrity and character of the missives.

Documents displayed throughout the year have included Thomas Jefferson's "rough draft of the Declaration of Independence, General Washington's description of the crisis during the winter of 1780 when American troops were struggling through the revolution, Great Britain's recognition of the independence of the United States in the Treaty of Paris, 1783, a copy of Thomas Paine's pamphlet, "Common Sense," as he rallied the colonies to the idea of independence, and President Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

The documents covered the period of time stretching from

College of Mines President Inaugurated

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the College of Mines since last September, was formally inaugurated as a closing event of the visit to El Paso, Texas, of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas. Taking part in the inauguration of the Mines campus, April 30, are (left to right): Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, who preceded Dr. Elkins; Dr. Elkins, Dean E. M. Thomas, who presided at the ceremony; and Judge Dudley K. Woodward, Jr., chairman of the board of regents, who inducted the new president. (AP Photo).

Roger William's first essays on religious freedom during the early colonization days to the time of turbulence, transition Lee accepted the presidency of Washington College. This was a period of about two centuries, a time of turbulence, transition and change as America established her place among the nations of the world.

All were not documents of war. There was a copy of Francis

Scott Key's draft of the Star Spangled Banner, Congressional approval of the Bill of Rights, and copy of the self-authored epitaph of Benjamin Franklin. Hennen said the 26 documents would be offered to the schools for framing as soon as the display time on this last picture is completed.

Unsold Public Land In County Doesn't Appear On Records

Bascom Giles, state land commissioner, says there is still 128 acres of unsold public land for sale in Deaf Smith County, but County Clerk Robert Thompson says his office has as yet received no official forms for bidders to use in the purchase of such land.

Although there is still public land for sale, it isn't much according to Texas standards. Less than one per cent of the once colossal public domain is still available to high bidders as the unsold acreage has dwindled to a mere 1,025,875.70 acres. The states total acreage is 172,687,000.

Just where the less than a quarter section of Deaf Smith land is located can't quite be determined. The clerk's office doesn't have any records on it. And even it may not be eligible for sale, because not all the million acres in the public domain can be sold. Administered by the School land board, regulations specify no school lands within five miles of oil or gas production can be sold.

When there is sufficient demand, the School Land Board authorizes the sale of specified tracts. A public sale is advertised and information about the tracts supplied by the General Land Office upon request.

Sale is by sealed bids. The high bidder, if conforming with all regulations, is the new owner.

Terms are 20 per cent down with 40 years to retire the balance at five per cent interest. The Permanent School Fund retains one-sixteenth free royalty in all oil production and one-eighth free royalty in sulphur production.

Funeral Services Held For Amarillo Tornado Victim

Funeral services were held in Amarillo Thursday morning for Mrs. Charles Maserang, cousin of Mrs. Jack Wright of Hereford, who was one of the victims of the tornado that blazed its path of destruction through southwestern Amarillo Sunday night.

Mrs. Maserang, her husband, young son and her sister were all in their home on Tyler Street when the wind struck, demolishing the home and injuring all the occupants.

The sister, Mrs. John Duffy of Fort Worth, is still in Northwest Texas Hospital in a very critical condition. Charles Maserang was seriously injured and is still in the hospital but attendants believe he will recover. The two year old son was scratched and bruised, but suffered no serious injuries.

Services were conducted in the chapel of the Blackburn Shaw Funeral Home. Mr. and Mrs. Wright were in Amarillo Wednesday to assist the Maserangs.

It is rumored that cheerfulness is largely a matter of one's income being above one's ego.

MRS. CORINNE JENNINGS

Here's An Excellent Way To Prepare A Savory Dish At A Small Expense

As a means of saving time and money, there is no better way of cooking the inexpensive parts of beef than the barbecue method. The actual preparation of the meat and saucis does not take long, and once in the oven or barbecue pit, little attention is required.

Good seasoning, so essential for the saucis, is a matter of combination rather than of expense, and if you keep up with your spice cupboard, you probably have the ingredients at hand whenever you are ready to perform the magic rites of creating flavor.

Mrs. Corinne Jennings began trying out this recipe for barbecued ribs in Globe, Arizona several years ago. The outdoor barbecue pit provides an ideal place to prepare them but a moderate oven in which the long, slow cooking can be done with little danger of scorching, is hard to beat.

Barbecued Ribs

- 4 lbs. beef spareribs
- 2 tablespoons fat (Crisco or margerine)
- 1 onion chopped fine
- 1/4 cup vinegar (wine-vinegar may be used if flavor preferred)
- Dash of Cayenne pepper
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon celery salt
- 1/2 tablespoon dry mustard
- 1 cup tomato catsup
- 1 cup water

Trim ribs of excess fat, place in roaster and brown while preparing the saucis.

Brown the onion (chopped fine) in the Crisco or other fat and add all the other ingredients. Bring this saucis to a boil and pour over the browned ribs. Place in a moderate oven and bake uncovered for 1 1/2 or 2 hours. Baste often.

Since the meat and its saucis are rather rich, a green salad goes well with this dish. Sometimes Mrs. Jennings serves it on a large platter with various relishes such as hearts of lettuce with French dressing; pickled peppers, pickles or radishes; sometimes she adds buttered carrots, baked potatoes and cabbage slaw. Add hot rolls, a simple dessert, and coffee, and dinner is ready.

Comfort for Polio Victims

Claudia Rice, of Topeka, Kan., demonstrates a new portable plastic "lung" for polio sufferers, designed to replace the cumbersome and more expensive "iron lung" now in use. The new device takes only about 30 seconds to put on, and chest unit weighs only about a pound.

County Exceeds Quota In State Cancer Drive

An appeal from state headquarters this week urged local cancer drive workers to continue their campaign until the state quota has been reached.

Deaf Smith County exceeded the $500 quota set up for the cancer drive by $232.31, being one of the few counties in the state to go over their quota.

Meringues baked on hot fillings cook more evenly and are less likely to "weep" than those baked on a cold pie, according to recent tests made by the New York State Experiment Station.
