AROUND TOWN

SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

Ha! Jim Kirby's story of the toothful rabbit wasn't so much. If you want to lie about such animals, you have to stretch your stories farther than that out in Deaf Smith. And Kenneth DeHart has the rabbit to prove it. He has a white buck which he acquired in March whose front teeth are nearly an inch long. He brought it by the Brand office to prove it. And that isn't all. They've cut those teeth off once, and Kenneth's father, Earl, says before they were filed they were almost an inch and a half long, and curled back in his mouth so that he couldn't eat. Ah, the toothless Texan. Proof that tooth is stranger than fiction.

Pat Lawhon announced that the Hereford Riders have been invited to ride in the Pioneer Day Parade to be held in Clovis, June 4 at 10 a. m. M. S. T. time. The club will practice at 3 p. m. Sunday in the arena at Veterans Park.

Rebecca Smith, Panhandle delegate to the national spelling bee, has celebrated her week of wonder in the nation's capitol. In the giant spell-down contest, young Miss Smith came out 27th against 49 opponents, missing the word "trousseau," but the Panhandle's mighty proud of their delegate. She is the niece of Mrs. Jack Wilkins of Hereford.

The free show ticket deal with paid-in-advance classified ads now being offered by the Brand and Star theatre gives showgoers and advertisers a double break for sure. Read the ad on the inside and see how it works to get your free ticket to "Lady in Ermine."

The farmers scratch their heads and say they've never seen it so wet, and they're right. The old timers can't remember a Maytime when the county wallowed in so much rain. But everybody agrees that the town never looked so pretty. Right now the vining roses are at the height of their glory. But they hardly steal the show from the other spring roses blooming over town. The trees are banked with lush foliage and the grass is growing rampant. Nice accent, all, to the new-paved streets in Hereford and the town really has on its best-dressed air.

Henry Benson knows whereof he speaks. He appeared at Rotary Club Friday solidly surrounded by his two sons. Comes introduction time and Benson makes a subtle distinction between the young men, whom Rotarians now know as Honest John Benson and Tony the Fisherman, Benson.

Paul Hoff has opened up a welding shop and field repair unit out on Highway 60 East of the Cotton Gin. Open for business already.

City To Have Fog Sprayer

City Commissioners this week announced purchase of a fog spray machine to be used in spraying the city for insects to combat mosquitoes, flies and other such disease carriers. The machine, a copy of the one borrowed last year from Amarillo, was purchased at a cost of $1,695, f.o.b. San Antonio, and will be delivered the first of June, Mayor W. E. Dameron announced. "We plan to spray right after the city wide clean-up campaign," the mayor said, "and may even have to spray sooner, if the rains keep up, because they stimulate the breeding of mosquitoes around here." The town was sprayed several times last year and townspeople reported fewer flies during the summer than ever before.

Former Hereford Druggist Dies

W. E. Betts, former Hereford druggist, died at his home in Clovis Thursday morning following an illness which had confined him to his home for several years.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Steed Funeral Home Chapel in Clovis with Rev. J. C. English and Rev. Claude Lorts officiating. A second service was held in Hereford with Rev. English and Rev. Russell Wingert of the First Presbyterian Church in charge.

Interment was made at West Park Cemetery with the E. B. Black Funeral Home of Hereford in charge of arrangements. Mr. Betts came to Hereford in 1908 from Clarendon. He was engaged in the cattle business and operated a drug store here, the Betts and Clark Drug, in partnership with Jim Clark.

In 1919 he was married to Miss Belle Woodburn, sister of Miss Mattie Woodburn of Hereford. The couple moved to Claude in 1921 where he operated another drug store. About 16 years ago they moved to Clovis where he was pharmacist of the Fox Drug Store.

Mr. Betts was a member of the First Methodist Church and a Mason.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Belle Betts, Clovis; a brother, Ernest Betts, Clovis; four sisters, Mrs. W. E. Garrison, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Agnes Sumner, Clarendon; Mrs. Joe Crouch, Monetta, S. C.; and Mrs. E. L. Craig, Ballinger, Texas.

Highway Patrol Stops Trio With Stolen Vehicle

Local highway patrolmen recovered a 1947 Ford sedan here early Friday morning which had been stolen in Portales a few hours earlier. The three juveniles riding in the car confessed to the theft from the Ford Motor Company in Portales when patrolmen stopped them for investigation.

Besides breaking into the Ford Motor Company, the three boys confessed they had burglarized the Portales Grain Company after taking the car at one o'clock. One of the boys, who had been employed at the Grain company, admitted he used the check machine to make out several checks payable to the trio. One of the checks they cashed in Clovis, and they attempted to cash one at the Tasty Drive-In, but the manager refused. All the checks had forged signatures.

The boys were turned over to the New Mexico police Friday afternoon. The Portales sheriff said arrest of the trio might help clear up several unsolved robberies occurring in Portales in recent months.

Two of the boys were former residents of Oklahoma City, and the other was from Okmulgee, Oklahoma. They had lived in the Portales vicinity for about a year, they said.

Dr. Russell Added To Hospital Staff

Dr. Clyde E. Russell will arrive about June 7, to assume his new duties as a general practitioner in Hereford, the Hereford Clinic announced this week.

He will be associated with Doctors R. R. Wills, L. B. Barnett and W. M. Nobles.

A former Marine Corp surgeon from Muncy, Indiana, Dr. Russell has for the past four years been doing graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. His wife and two daughters will join him as soon as he finds a house.

The pediatrician who will also join the staff will arrive in August or September, Dr. Barnett said.

The Deaf Smith County Hospital wing which has been under construction almost a year was scheduled to open about the first of June but opening date plans have been delayed.

The interior walls, painted before the plaster was dry enough to absorb the paint, have peeled and must be repainted. The staff hopes to be able to move into the new addition sometime before the end of June but opening dates pend completion of the re-painting job.

Davy Russell, Five-Year-Old Boy, Saves Life Of Rattlesnake Bitten New Mexico Cowpoke

Heroes are made, not born, they say, but out in the West it doesn't take long for one to develop. Five year old Davy Russell is a good example.

Davy, son of David Russell of Hereford, actually saved the life of his adult companion when his friend, Wayne Crume, was bitten by a rattlesnake while the two were out on the range of the Ben Hall ranch south of Tiban, New Mexico this week.

A nephew of the Ben Halls, Davy often prowled horseback over the rangeland with Crume who is a rider at the Hall ranch. For all the five years of his life he has been drilled about first aid after rattle snake bites. The teaching stuck with him and paid off.

He was accompanying Crume in tracking a she-wolf who had been taking calves from the ranch. The wolf had been wounded the day before by Crume and they were stalking it for the kill. When the trail signs became so faint Crume was unable to follow from astride his horse, he dismounted and proceeded on his hands and knees, following the slight trace of blood the wounded animal left the afternoon before. The wolf led to one of the small caves, has low out the rim of a Crume grabbed German food-grass from a nest, waved it in the compound is poked rattler struck. The Atlas poycolled in the bear wagon. Del, his fangs lodged inpany of anter's shoulder.

Now Crume is a cowpoke of experience and he knew what to do for rattlesnake bites. Grasping the rattler over his shoulder he pulled the snake free and threw it on the ground. It slithered into the cave.

Ripping off his shirt, he looked over the Canyon rim for help. It was five miles back to ranch headquarters. There was nobody to help but Davy.

"Davy, you will have to help me," Crume told the boy. "You will have to suck out this old rattler's poison. I can't reach it."

There was no time to delay. In a few seconds the deadly poison would be in the blood stream. In a few minutes it might reach his heart. Crume took out his pocket knife and jabbed the spot several times.

"Suck it out Davy, but don't say any spit it all out," Crume put his lips to the blood after spot on Crume's right forefinger and sucked.

Just Another Day

That night Crume played the piano for a dance at Ft. Sumner, feeling little worse for his experience.

The Early Bird Gets The Worm They Say

It was really shades of the gold rush of 1949 for four Hereford boys who piled into a covered wagon last Saturday and headed for Palo Duro Canyon to spend a week camping out and biding their time until the mammoth gold rush yesterday. In a horse drawn wagon, loaded with camping equipment, bed rolls and the food it would take to feed out-door starved appetites. James Brownlow, Jerry Ray Landers, Shorty Hennington and Jack Flowers, reverted to the century famous type of gold hunters. The quartet, their five horses and what's left of the food (if any) will return Tuesday with or without their gold.

Rattlesnake bite, as any southwesterner can tell you, needs immediate attention or death can result. Davy Russell is pointing where the huge rattler struck Wayne Crume, in the top picture. The pair are standing near the small cave to which they had tracked a she-wolf in the lower picture. (Courtesy Clovis Chronicle).

Most Stores Will Remain Open Memorial Day; Close In 1950

Hereford business houses will remain open Monday for Memorial Day, according to a decision reached in a close 15-14 vote of members of the Retail Merchants Association at a special meeting Saturday morning in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The majority agreed to remain open because Memorial Day was not one of the original holidays selected and approved by the Retail Merchants Association. This schedule of five holidays had been issued early in the year and publicity given to those closing dates, so merchants felt it was not fair to their customers to close with only three days notice.

However, the group agreed they would honor Memorial Day 1950, as a holiday and the possibility was discussed of combining V-E Day, V-J Day, Armistice Day and other war memorial holidays into one annual celebration to be held on May 30.

Some Will Close

Some business firms had indicated they probably would not co-operate with the decision reached at the meeting. Six grocery stores advertised today that they will close Monday. Banks, post office and most federal agencies will not be open. Celebration of Memorial Day in Hereford will be limited primarily to a display of flags along Main Street and the decoration of graves at the cemetery.

No churches had indicated they were planning special services Monday in honor of the war dead.

Poppy Day was recognized Saturday with members of the American Legion Auxiliary pushing the sale of the traditional red crepe paper flowers sold to swell the funds for disabled war veterans.

Judge Store Windows

Window decorations in stores this week carried out the poppy day theme and were judged Saturday morning for first, second and third place winners. The Hereford Store window, decorated by the Jolly Teen Horizon Club Girls won first place. The window depicted a grass covered, single white cross over which an identification tag was draped. In the background was a sign lettered "Yesterday."

Mrs. Urlin Streu is sponsor of this organization. Their first prize was a five dollar cash award.

Second prize went to the window decorated by Mrs. John Plank's Tawanka Camp Fire Group in Streu Hardware window. Their prize was a three dollar award. Third place winner was the Chu-de-Nanang Camp Fire Group's display at J. C. Penney and Company. Mrs. George Heard is sponsor.

Judges were Dyalitha Brady, Mrs. John Jacobsen, Jr. and Judge Leonard Foster.

Friday's Deluge Measures .85 In.

Hereford's spot rain Friday afternoon gushed down about 85 inches of rain to bring the total for May to 8.41 inches, largest rainfall on record for the month of May. Year's total reaches 13.41, more than half the annual average precipitation.

According to the rain gauge for the Soil Conservation survey at the O. B. Russell home, the near-inch of moisture fell in about two hours, starting about 4:30 p. m. and showering intermittently until about 6:30.

Low places in roads and highways collected water and cars crawled through the puddles. At the corner of Main and Highway 60 water was up past the hub caps of automobiles, and was running gutter height along Main.

No official hail damage was reported but an unconfirmed source said 12 miles out on Harrison they had received hail, and south of Wildorado some hail was reported.

South of town, farmers reported an inch to 1.2 inches of rain and 20 miles north they also measured an inch from the downpour.

Legion Juniors Drop Close Contest As Plainview Wins By One Run, 5-4

Two fluke home runs nullified ten innings of good pitching by American Legion Junior pitcher Bill Engman, Friday afternoon, as Plainview American Legion Juniors eked out a 5-4 win over the Hereford nine.

Plainview broke into the scoring column in the last of the fourth with the first of two four baggers, after both teams played airtight scoreless ball through three innings.

Tim Corbett started off the big Hereford half of the eighth by beating out on infield hit. He stole second and third and scored on an infield error after Engman walked. Engman stole second and went to third on Kenneth Brock's single to right. Brock stole second and Engman scored on Walterscheid's double. Pat Corbett bunted to score K. Brock and Walterscheid scored on A. Brock's single to run up the four runs.

Plainview tied it up with three runs in the last of the ninth. Engman struck out the first batter and walked the second. An infield error put two on and the second round tripper tied it up.

Hereford moved a man around to third in the first of the tenth but didn't score. Plainview then worked a man around to third in their half of the extra inning. The runner was caught between third and home and scored when the infielder dropped the ball as he tagged him. There was two down at the time.

Plainview plays here Friday night at 8 o'clock and Clovis American Legion Juniors play here Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Legion Line-up was: Hennen, 2 b; Culpepper, cf; T. Corbett, 1 b; Engman, p; K. Brock, lf; Walterscheid, 3 b; P. Corbett, c; A. Brock, rf; Hawks, ss.

Two DWI Cases Fined During Week In Court

One man and one woman driver were picked up by police this week charged with driving while intoxicated.

Jack Moore pleaded guilty May 24 to DWI charges and paid a fine of $75 and costs in county court, according to Judge Leonard Foster.

On Thursday, Elizabeth Bostic of Lawton, Oklahoma, was arrested by patrolmen A. M. Duncan and Earl Pitman on DWI charges and assessed a fine of $50 and cost in county court.

BACKYARD FIREPLACES FOR REAL FOOD

Outdoor Cooking, That's A Man's Life

By PHYLLIS RADOVICH

One of the paradoxes of the modern world is the way that the mass of civilized West Texans, who are surrounded by the newest labor-saving devices in their sanitary, laboratory-white kitchens, will shuck all these conveniences at the merest drop of an invitation and go heading outside to shoo flies and nibble burned toast in the great outdoors.

But that is just what happens every year. As early in the season as the weather quits fighting back, the people with backyard fireplaces put on their overalls, shovel off the grate, and get this outdoor furnace ready for summer cooking. While they labor, their next door neighbor leans over the fence loudly declaring that they, too, plan to engage upon a similar constructive enterprise, silently hoping that they will soon get an invitation for supper.

Hereford is dotted with all sorts of devices that owners em-are some massive affairs of masonry and stone, reigning in lordly splendor over the grass, hedges and rosebushes with which they share space; there are small portable grills, wheel-abled about at will, and there are undoubtedly, black smudgy spaces on lawns where once there was grass and now there is the remains of an impromptu bon fire by which Junior toasted marshmallows.

Close Fire Place

Over in the corner of Harold Close's back yard is a nine foot tall brick fire place, which Harold began in February, 1943, and finished some two months later, having lost several pounds and several dollars in the meantime.

His is an elaborate affair with a fireplace in the center, a dutch oven on one side and a barbecue pit on the other. It's fine for cooking almost any kind of meat. Harold carefully points out that, when completed, it was used for cooking steaks. As the price of steak kept climbing, it was used for cooking chickens.

This year, says Harold, they may use it for grilling wieners.

This particular fireplace, a towering white structure, set in a cement foundation, is equipped with a water hydrant and electric lights. Along the cement border are the handprints of his family. Graumann's Restaurant beat him to the footsteps idea.

Harold built this fireplace himself. He got the major ideas from some plans in a popular home magazine, and went on from there. He says the family has thoroughly enjoyed it and they agree. So do his friends.

Men Are Best Cooks

At the Closes, Harold does the cooking for these suppers. He says men are best cooks for such outdoor excursions, because they enjoy it more. His wife does not argue. Harold also says that men always need some help from their wives, however. His wife does not argue.

The fireplace in the backyard of the J. H. Pitman home was built by Pitmy's father, J. H. Pitman about eight years ago. It is a fireplace and grill combination constructed of stones and cement.

At the Pitman's, also, it's the man who does the cooking. Mrs. Pitman says Pitmy's pretty good; that he does have a technique with steaks. That is the most frequent item on the menu, for broiled steaks meet with every West Texan's approval. Surrounded by potatoes, onions, tomatoes, rolls and a salad what more can you ask?

In the years when the Pitman's son and daughter were growing up, they put the fireplace to good use, too, and everything from steak fries to hamburger feasts originated around that stone structure.

Earl Phillips Built One

Earl Phillips built the fireplace in his backyard, and tops that success story by becoming chief cook whenever the family gathers to eat in the open. Wrapped in a huge white apron Earl neatly appears hamburgers or grills.

Riders Club Has Annual Round-Up

It was round-up time at the Ky Lawrence ranch near Ragland, New Mexico last week and fourteen members of the Hereford Riders Club enjoyed a three day encampment on the 10,000 acre ranch, assisting with the branding and general round-up of the cattle. The Riders took their own horses and Sunday the group went by horseback down into the caprock.

The group assists in the round-up at the Lawrence ranch twice each year, early in the summer and late in the fall, combining business and pleasure with vacations.

Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hopson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Noland and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Streun, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Lawhon and son Jimmy and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Roberson.

MORE LIVESTOCK

A Balanced Farm Program

BECAUSE IT IS easy to overlook the importance of cattle feeding in a fertile garden spot served with abundant irrigation, some of the remarks of Austin Brooks, Clovis business man, before the Rotary Club last Friday hold unusual significance for most producers in this area.

"Livestock on the farm changes the producers into a producer-processor," Mr. Brooks said. He pointed out that the farmer who processes his crop through cattle feeding has an opportunity for an extra profit. He also likened cattle to a storage plan, used in times of plenty, and which made the surplus available in times of need.

India and China were cited as the two countries which suffer famines regularly, also as the two countries which do not produce livestock.

Mr. Brooks' trend of thought, although nothing new to most farmers and stockmen in this area, does serve to bring home importance of the industry to the territory.

Potatoes, lettuce, sugar beets, vegetables and several other new crops have gained wide publicity due to their novelty. The cattlemen keep right on plugging away and when any community problem or event appears they are always on hand to do their part. Chamber of Commerce records will show that it was chiefly donations from cattlemen which paid for the first potato display at the State Fair.

These new crops are important and worthwhile. They should be promoted and pushed, but in our excitement let's remember, too our old standby and benefactor, the cattle industry. Let's give due credit when it is deserved. Furthermore, let's hope that producers of new crops will see fit to balance their farm program with livestock, including cattle, sheep, poultry and hogs. It is good business, and it pays good dividends.

A WORD ABOUT COOKS

Some Are Made, Some Born

HERE'S TO THE good cooks of Hereford because the town abounds with them. Here's to the young ladies, the younger ladies, to the men as well as the women, who cook and eat, who take a piece of raw meat and turn it into a sizzling dish that makes the mouth water, who surround themselves with flour, salt, eggs or other uninteresting looking ingredients and come up with something that taunts the nostrils and tickles the palate.

Long ago the Brand started printing recipes of the week, to recognize some of the special dishes for which the good cooks of the locale are famous.

They've covered the rostrum from appetizers to desserts. But even one a week can't begin to touch them all.

Hereford's good cooks evolved from all sorts of backgrounds. Some are the people who grew up in the wood stove days, when baking was guesswork and imagination, when oven-tested recipes were yet to be born and meat thermometers were still in the inventor's imagination. Some are the products of high school and college courses, steeped in laboratory experiments and scientific short cuts. Some mainly men, are the graduates of the trial and error school of learning who, through luck or perseverance, finally hit upon the one way to cook a dish, which all their friends have been called in to verify.

Maybe good cooks are made and maybe they are born, but it's a composite of imagination, ingredients and skill that they need. Its daring to add that touch of tabasco or dash of nutmeg, it's knowing just exactly at what stage to take the custard out of the oven. So no matter if they cook by the most meticulous recipe, or by the process that says, take as much sour cream as you have, add an equal amount of sugar, beat in as many eggs as you can afford, put in enough flour to stiffen it, add salt and vanilla to taste and bake until done, the good cook has a way with food.

But never deery the creative cook, no matter how he developed, for his is a skill appreciated the world over. Ever since the anonymous sage inquired "Do you eat to live or live to eat," or the first worldly wise one admonished "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach," food has been more than a necessity of life, it has been the excuse for a party, the lure that trapped an unwilling male (!), the ultimate highlight of many a day.

A New Disposal Plant

UNSUNG AND WITHOUT benefit of pomp and ceremony, Hereford's new disposal plant this week went officially into operation.

In the first place, people just do not get excited about disposal plants like they do about paved streets, for instance. There is nothing more modern, more complete, or more important, however, than is the recently completed sewerage disposal plant.

If beautiful can possibly be used to describe such an installation, it is certainly appropriate. More people should visit the new plant located in Veteran's Park to really appreciate the improvement.

Regardless of our feeling on the subject, however, the new plant will serve the community well for many years to come, and The Brand feels that the City Commission deserves commendation for a job well done.

Tree Trimming Troubles

SOME FOLKS WALK for exercise, others who don't have a car find it necessary to walk in order to get where they want to go; regardless of which category you find yourself in, you must agree that a lot of trees in Hereford need trimming.

It isn't too bad during daylight hours. You can usually avoid low hanging branches over the sidewalks during those hours, but at night they are a definite hazard and particularly a menace to better dispositions.

You'll find tree limbs down to almost shoulder height blocking sidewalks all over town.

Not only is it a matter of common courtesy to give the pedestrian a break; it also will improve the appearance of your yard. And it would save a lot of ducking and possible scratches or worse.

Let's trim the branches hanging over sidewalks. —J.S.

PLAN MASS X-RAY PROGRAM

PLANS FOR STAGING a mass X-Ray survey for tuberculosis in Hemphill County were discussed Thursday afternoon, at the City Hall.

Philip W. Gauss Jr., field worker for the State Department of Health was in Canadian at that time for a preliminary organizational meeting.

The survey is sponsored by the Canadian Parent-Teachers Association, in cooperation with local doctors and health officials.

Purpose of the survey and mass X-ray examinations is to discover the prevalence of tuberculosis and to provide warnings to persons who may have the disease.

EIGHT MILES OF NEW PAVED ROADS

HALL COUNTY WILL obtain about eight additional miles of hard surfaced road under the new Farm-to-Market Road fund of the state highway department, it was announced Wednesday in a meeting of District Engineer J. B. Nabers with the Commissioners Court in Memphis.

This will be in addition to the ten miles already provided for under the regular federal aid program. Funds for the new roads will come from the $15,000,000 a year program set up by the current session of the Texas Legislature.

HAIL WITH STAYING POWER

SIXTEEN HOURS AFTER a heavy hail hit the Follett-Darrouzett sections of Lipscomb county Sunday night, the hail stones were still "wrist deep" in fields along the storm path. Damage to wheat in the path of the storm ranged from 50 per cent to total loss. The strip was 20 miles long and from one to three miles wide. It was the third hail storm to hit the county in two weeks.

"Ersatz" Food

THE AMERICAN housewife doesn't know it, but more and more of the food she buys for her family contains the same basic "ersatz" ingredients which I. G. Farben, the notorious Nazi cartel, developed for German troops and civilians in the last war. The German people lived on "ersatz" during most of the war.

The extent of this Farben-tint of American food, unbeknown to the consumer, has been partially investigated by the food and drug administration which has been holding hearings on the use of synthetic substitutes.

However, the whole story hasn't been told the public, chiefly because of official buck-passing. Food and drug officials wring their hands and say they have no authority under the law for a full-fledged investigation. They admit, however, that more and more chemical substitutes are being used in various foods and that they do not know what the final result will be on the health of the nation.

Meanwhile Republican Rep. Frank Keefe of Wisconsin, who has been quizzing the food and drug administration, has made some startling disclosures. He charged:

- 1—That bread can and is being chemicalized to a point where it has little if any nutritional value;
- 2—That non-nutritional chemicals, "mostly the result of the work of I. G. Farben chemists," are being palmed off on the unsuspecting public, in place of milk, fats and eggs in such foods as cake, doughnuts, cereal mixes, peanut butter, ice cream, candy, salad dressing, milk drinks, synthetic whipping cream, pickles and food flavors;
- 3—Manufacturers and pharmaceutical houses that produce synthetic foodstuffs have not made adequate research to determine if the substitutes are poisonous. While there is no proof of toxicity in most of the substitutes, Keefe points out that seven persons died after using a substitute salt prepared for people who cannot use organic salt in their diet.

Taste Comes First

The synthetic ingredient which many bakers now use in bread is a compound of polyoxyethylene glycol and stearic acid, known as polyoxyethylene monostearate. Stearic acid is derived from animal fats, but polyoxyethylene glycol, a substance similar to purified anti freeze for automobiles, has no nutritional value.

I. G. Farben experimented widely with polyoxyethylene products as a base for "ersatz" German foods during the war.

The American compound is produced chiefly by the Atlas powder company of Wilmington, Del., and Glyco products company of Brooklyn and is distributed in slightly different forms under the trade names "Sta-soft" and "Myrl-45." Both keep bread soft for a long period, so that a housewife who feels a loaf of bread in a grocery store thinks she is getting oven-fresh bread.

In fact, this deceptive quality—plus a pleasing taste the chemical gives the bread—is the chief selling point of its distributors. Vernon C. Usher, Inc., of Chicago, which makes a somewhat similar synthetic compound called "Top-scor," frankly states, in his literature:

"In speaking of higher quality, we mean products that not only look good, but are appealing to the sense of taste as well... bakery goods that are not overburdened with fats and other richness to the point where substantially less is eaten."

"We believe that every person—man, woman or child—eats and drinks only that which appeals to the sense of taste, with little or no thought of nutritious value; so, we emphasize again, that higher quality bakery goods, in our opinion, are attained by balancing formula to a point where they are not overburdened with rich substances which, in the end, tend to discourage and decrease consumption."

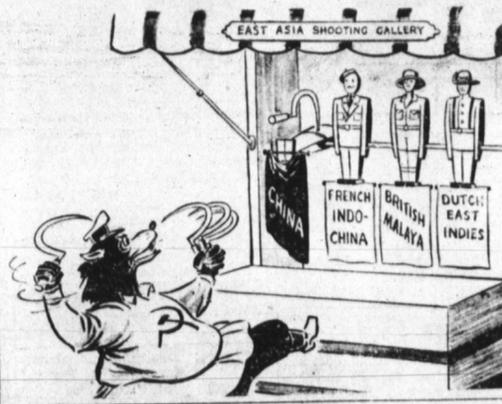

Federal Warning

One government agency that is carefully watching on this nutritional question is the department of agriculture. The department forces not only higher support prices for surplus dairy products, costing the taxpayers millions, but a serious economic threat to dairy farming if chemicals come into wide vogue.

In a confidential report prepared for agriculture secretary Charles Brannan, Ralph Trigg, chief of the production and marketing division, points out:

"It is our opinion that the department should object to the approval of chemical softeners as acceptable ingredients in baking formulas, because of the effect on the health of the nation, since evidence indicates that the substitution of chemical softeners for fats, eggs and milk considerably reduces the food value of the product."

Success Makes Him Ambitious

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION:

How do you think Memorial Day should be observed?

Mrs. Wilbur Bell: "I think Memorial Day should be observed quietly, in silent memory of the boys who died in action. However, I think it is a thing that the whole town should join together in. It would be nice to have a gun salute in the Veterans Park or some such place, and to have the boy's graves decorated with wreaths."

Ben Childers: "I think there should definitely be a public awareness of Memorial Day. I feel we should do some decorating on the graves at the cemetery, and that we might use this opportunity to clean up some of the graves that have been neglected."

T. J. Clay: "I think Memorial Day should be observed every year in a way similar to the American Legion plan. We will put flags on the graves of all veterans of both wars—there are about 160 in this cemetery, and we are sending telegrams to all the Gold Star Mothers in the community—there are about seventeen of them. I believe there should be a memorial service every year beside the graves of the veterans who died in service."

Noland Grady: "I think Memorial Day should be observed in reverent honor of those who gave their lives in the service. A public service with the whole community taking part would be in order. I think, and a 21 gun salute in honor of all the war dead would be a good memorial gesture."

Mrs. Billie Graham: "Memorial Day should be observed in honor of our loved ones who gave their lives in the service of our country. I feel it is one day of the year we should use solely for the purpose of paying them our respect. In the American Legion Auxiliary we try to observe the day, as a group, by putting wreaths and flowers on the graves of all the veterans in the local cemetery, and all members are urged to attend Memorial Day services the Sunday before May 30 at the church of their choice. Our Poppy Day, is, of course, a part of our Memorial Day observance. The boys in the veterans hospitals make the poppies as a tribute to their buddies who lost their lives, and we sell them to finance the care of disabled veterans, their families, and the families of those who did not come back. Our national president places a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier, and local auxiliaries all over the world go every year to decorate the graves of the veterans."

Earl Stagner: "I think sometimes that we don't observe Memorial Day as we should—we're prone to forget what it means to us. I think that we who fought beside the ones who didn't come back are more conscious of the significance of the day than others, but it would be well for all citizens in the community to stop for a few minutes and pay their tribute—after all, we might not be where we are today if it weren't for those boys. I really think that Memorial Day should be more of a holiday than some of the others we put more emphasis on."

The Veterans Administration usually has a service, and a community-wide observance would certainly be a good idea. At any rate, a few moments of silence during the day devoted to our appreciation of those boys is something we should all do, though we may feel they know we are thinking of them."

the BOOTLEG philosopher

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher may be speaking for himself, but we doubt he's speaking for most farmers in his letter this week.)

Dear editor:
Was talkin with a government man the other day and he was complainin about the way I keep my farm records, wanted to know how he was gonna give me a crop allotment if I didn't know what I'd been plantin for the past five years on every foot of land I got.

"Trouble with you farmers is you don't keep proper records," he complained. "If you'd be more business-like, you'd be a lot better off," he added, although I didn't tell him if we was he'd be worse off, as he might not have a job if we as efficient as he thought we ought to be. In fact, I have some times thought it would be an interesting experiment to have all the agricultural experts swap places with farmers for a year, just to see what would happen. Might cut down on the crop surplus, if nothing else, as raisin a crop from a tractor seat is different from raisin it from behind a desk, and once I got to be a expert, it might be hard to ever get me to go back to farmin.

But I can tell you why farmers, at least why I can't keep farm records.

In the first place, it's a lot of trouble. Ain't many farmers got secretaries, and writin down all your own figures is out of our line of work. Ain't many business men who'd have any better records than I got if they didn't have somebody to keep em for em.

But the main reason, if you want to get to the bottom of it, is that we don't want to know how we're comin out. If all the farmers in the country kept accurate books on what they was doin and makin, the country might face starvation on account of so many farmers quitin to get into something profitable. I don't mind worryin with a crop all year, fightin the weather and the weeds usin up my equipment and myself to boot, and haulin it to town and askin somebody what it's worth, since I was the fellow that raised it and wouldn't have no idea myself, and I don't mind takin home what I get and startin all over again on another year's crop, but I just don't want any accurate figures on my operations starin me in the face. Like it is now, I can say well I come out pretty good on cotton this year I guess, made a little on cattle, and so forth, but if I had an accurate set of books showin it would take all the fun out of farmin.

You can call me lazy and triflin and backward, but the fundamental reason I don't keep books on my farm operations is that I just don't want to know how bad the financial situation out here is. Them experts can carry record-keepin too far, and undermine the entire farm-in situation.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

BOOKS ON PARADE

'Storm, Dog of Newfoundland' And 'Bush Holiday' Thrill Youngsters

By MARGARET BARRETT

Now that school is out the youngsters are trekking to the library in droves for books to while away their vacation days. Books about adventure in far away places are what the children want, and a couple of practically brand new ones will soon head the "most popular" list.

One of these volumes is "Storm, Dog of Newfoundland," by Anthony Fon Eisen, published by Charles Scribner's Sons of New York. It is set in that barren, lonely strip of coast land between Labrador and Newfoundland where the black, turbulent seas rule supreme. It is the story of Storm, great, lovable dog whose first instinct, like all the Newfoundland dogs of fifty years ago, was to serve his master.

To read about Storm struggling through the cruel waters of the north seas to get aid for his master and Montagnais Jim, marooned on top of an ice berg, is enough to give anyone a thrill, and the suspense created when Storm is confronted by a pack of wild Labrador sled dogs left to shift for themselves, is almost breath-taking.

The people who live in that part of the world, taking their living from the sea, are confronted by danger every day of their lives, and heroic acts are common occurrences. For instance, there was the time when Montagnais Jim cut off his finger to use for fish bait so young Alan would not starve to death. And there was the time when Martha, Mary and Tom had to be rescued from the sea. Being the oldest, Martha remained behind while Ben and Alan swam to safety with the younger children. And because the men were too exhausted, Storm had to be sent back alone for Martha. But wrecks and gales and rescues at sea were Storm's heritage, and he performed his deeds without question, though he lost his own life.

Another thrilling feature of the book is the description of the fight between a gigantic sperm whale and a school of killer whales, the most dreaded hunters of the northern seas.

Besides the exciting, suspenseful action, which fills the pages of the book, there is also the love story of Martha and Alan who have three strikes against them from the start.

While "Storm, Dog of Newfoundland" is certainly no second "Captain Courageous" or even another "Bob, Son of Battle," still it makes good reading for an adventure-hungry fifth, sixth or seventh grader.

Another new book for the same age group is Stephen Fennimore's "Bush Holiday" about a little boy from the states who makes his first trip to Australia. The story is set at Tangari, the beautiful home of the McLeod's in the very heart of the Australian bush country.

Martin finds all sorts of adventures there—a beetle hunt, a twenty-mile trek by horseback through blazed trails, an escapade all by himself out in the wilderness. And of course, there was "hidey-hole", a wonderful cave with red rock walls covered with pictures of men, birds and animals which the aborigines had drawn centuries ago.

Author Fennimore grew up in Australia, and Ninon MacKnight, who illustrates the book, is a native Australian, so the setting is authentic, and the geographical and historical references are correct. The book was published by Doubleday and Company, Inc.

You can't carve anything out of rotten wood.

HOMER FOX SAYS:

DID YOU KNOW...?

From left to right—J. A. Pitman and Miss Douglas Wilson, in his brother Mac's flashy Model T coupe; Roy Jowell and Miss Vivian Steckman, Cliff Acker and Miss Mary Fox, in Roy's town car, Model T touring; Bobo McLean and Miss Clara Dunlap in Bo's Buick Roadster and about the classiest thing on four wheels in the country; John Williams and Miss Elzina Mounts, Fred Oberthier, Jr. and Miss Bonnie Chammess in the Williams Overland Touring car, a right hand drive and a veteran of many campaigns. This picture was made on the Stubs Ranch about 17 miles northwest of Hereford in the fall of 1919. A. Lawrence was business manager and lived in town most of the time. Arlie Dean was ranch boss, Mrs. Arlie Dean bossed Arlie and Jackie, who was about three, bossed the whole smear.

In those good old days when they started moving the filling stations off the Main drag and taking up corners to stay for good, the right hand drive cars and "Fix your own flats" were crawling over in the dark corner with the buggy whip and the old home coffee grinder, the old open car with the flappy curtains and a crank hanging on the front end had started stepping back for the glassed in jobs, that made winter driving a pleasure, and it kicked out the sheep lined mittens, the long cuff driving gloves, fur caps and sheep lined coats as a necessity to driving for good.

This bunch of Flappers and Jelly Beans really loved to make the Stub Ranch on week ends. The Deans were about the same age and ideal hosts and the cats were the best on earth. The old boys sported the latest things in dress, and at that time the striped silk shirt at 20 bucks per shirt was the hottest thing this side of Juarez. Tall white linen collars and pure silk socks that hit around $2.50 a pair.

These good looking gals were the honeys though, hair bobs hadn't arrived yet. The popular dress at this time was the Midday suits, Mid-night blue with the red and white braid trim, with an anchor now and then, and then the "superb" the top of them all was, the white serge with the blue and red braid trim. The skirts were about the same length as today and mostly pleated and then the foot wear, brother that was it, those high-heel high-top shoes, patent leather, some cloth tops, plain kids, and the soft dull soap kid, you could miss three trains while you laced these babies up and fixed the strings so they wouldn't show. Then they had those lovely button shoes. You would miss three trains and break your back buttoning those up. You generally started and got the first one or two buttons wrong and had to "unbutton" and start all over again. Sixteen buttons high, those babies were and none ever fit the ankles; always had to set part of the buttons one way or the other and when you cut one button off, the whole bunch would unravel like an old fashioned knit sock, and how well I know that—if you would dump all the buttons that I have set and reset on those durned shoes in Buffalo Lake, it would be called "button hill" south of Umbarger.

Anyway, these kids have some mighty sweet memories of the Stub Ranch. A. Lawrence and the Arlie Deans. Later the Deans bought a ranch near Nara Visa, New Mexico, and Hereford lost a couple of mighty fine citizens. After they moved to Mexico, the Jack Deans took over at the old Stub spread and they have a couple of little boys out there that boss the Jack Deans around just like Jackie bossed the Arlie Deans in 1919. So after all the only difference in kids now and in 1919, is me and you—we are a lot older.

South High Plains Water Conditions Shown In Irrigation Region Ground Water Report

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP)—Out on the high plains of northwestern Texas as they brag that you can see as far as you want to in any direction but down.

Underneath that fertile soil first marked by the stakes of wandering Spanish explorers runs the life blood of the rapidly developed region—a deep strata of underground water sands.

So the plains people are now looking down, probing into the water bearing formations, and estimating water needs and problems for coming generations.

Recently the state board of water engineers issued a report on ground water in the irrigation region of the south high plains—about 6,700 square miles in 17 counties. It gives a vivid picture of present and future water conditions.

"The remarkable level surface and large proportions of tillable land make the region well adapted for farming, especially where ground water is available for irrigation," the report said.

"In recent years the development of irrigation from wells has substantially reduced crop failures resulting from droughts and has materially increased the yield of farm products in a large part of the high plains. Thus, a stable long-range economy is greatly dependent upon continued withdrawal of ground water to supplement rainfall."

The report stresses two factors which might seriously affect future water resources—loss of most of the rainfall before it can recharge the underground water strata and the lowering of the water table from heavy pumping of wells.

"A tremendous quantity of water is precipitated annually on the south plains," the report said. "According to the records of five stations maintained by the U. S. Weather Bureau the average yearly precipitation is about 20 inches. A very small part amounting to only a few hundredths of an inch is lost by stream flow during storm periods. A small part amounting to only a small fraction of an inch recharged the underground reservoir, and the remainder is transpired by vegetation or evaporated before it ever reaches the water table."

Irrigation from wells in the area was relatively small until about 1911. Several wells were drilled near Plainview. Drilling extended to the Hereford and Muleshoe districts. A series of dry years from 1927 to 1934 caused an increase in the drilling of irrigation wells. "Since 1934 the expansion of irrigation in the high plains has been spectacular," the report said.

Approximately 3,000 wells were completed in 1948, and the total number of wells in operation in the south plains on Jan. 1, 1949 was approximately 10,500—about one well per 400 acres.

"During 1948 it is estimated that 1,250,000 (m) acre feet of ground water was pumped on the south plains, of which about 97 per cent was used for irrigation," said the report. Of the remaining three per cent, more than half of it went to the cities of Lubbock and Amarillo.

The greatest declines of the water table last year occurred in the areas of heaviest pumping. The average water table decline throughout the region was about 1.9 feet.

Some areas of the irrigated region have seen the water level fall 45 to 50 feet during the past

11 years. Here's the way the report pictures the decline:

Area Affected In Acres	Water Table Decline In Feet 1938-49
1,100,000	0-5
700,000	5-10
500,000	10-15
118,000	15-20
29,000	20-25
11,400	25-30
7,400	30-35
3,700	35-40
3,400	40-45
2,800	45-50

"During the 11-year period from March 1938 to March 1949 about 18,000,000 (m) acre feet of saturated material was unwatered," the report said.

Hardest hit of the areas is West-central Floyd county.

From 1914 to 1949 the average decline of the water table was about 27 feet . . . in southeastern Deaf Smith county around Hereford the water table has declined an average of 15 feet from 1936 to 1949. In west central Lubbock county the net decline of the water was 12.4 feet.

"As the water levels on the high plains decline the yields of wells will be reduced and the water must be lifted from greater depths," the report finds. "At some depths below the surface an economic limit of pumping may be reached long before the supply is exhausted. Because such a large percentage of the total rainfall is lost by evaporation from the soil, it seems that methods of salvaging this water should be of primary concern."

The report predicted that "declines in yields and pumping levels, will effectively limit the life of large-scale pumping where withdrawals are concentrated in small areas. Furthermore the aturated sections in some areas are much thinner than the average, perhaps only 50 to 100 feet in thickness. It is possible for such areas to be completely unwatered by heavy pumping from adjacent deeper sands, however the lateral movement would be slow and might require many years.

The situation on the high plains was summed up in the conclusions of the report:
"During 1948, some small areas were materially affected, and, if present trends of pumping and water level decline continue, those areas and other parts of the irrigated region will be seriously affected within five to ten years. In some other large areas within the irrigated region where wells are widely spaced, the water level declines have been negligible, and if the wide spacing and present rate of withdrawals per well are maintained, the life of large-scale pumping may be extended for a much longer period of time."

perience. Davy went to bed as usual. It was just another day. Rattlesnakes bites aren't a new experience to Crume who has ridden the range all his life. Once before he was bitten, that time on the finger. He could suck the poison out himself then. "This time, however, Davy saved my life," declared his friend.
Doctors verified his commitment. Under the circumstances, they said, the poison could easily have meant Crume's death if quick action had not been taken. As for Davy, he would do it again for a pal.
"It sure didn't taste good though," he said.
Brown haired and brown-eyed Davy has been staying at the Ben Hall ranch ever since his dad moved to Hereford last December. His father is employed by Blanton Butane Company here.
He'll be six in July and will enter Hereford schools next fall as a first grader. He's already learned one big lesson, however, that he will probably never forget.

Let's Have A Friendly Talk About Your No. 1 Problem "That 1949 Wheat Crop"

All indications point to a tremendous wheat crop in this area for 1949. Some wheat has been lost, of course, and more will probably be lost before harvest -- but the over-all picture is good. Yes, it looks like we will make a good yield, and we are glad. We believe we had it coming.

A big crop, as always, brings with it some "headaches" and this year it again looks like we may have some storage troubles. At least, it could easily happen. Anyway, here is the picture as we--your elevator men--see it.

Any possible storage shortage will come from a lack of space in the terminal elevators and warehouses. Practically every elevator in this area has been "cleared" out of stored wheat, and the milo is now rolling out, and should be gone well before harvest. Freight cars, the big problem in recent years, seem to be fairly plentiful -- and we believe they will come through OK.

As you know, there is approximately 5 million bushels of storage in this immediate vicinity, and that will last for a few weeks after harvest starts. On the other hand, having the cars will not solve the problem when local storage space is gone. . . . If there is no place to ship the grain.

We do not want to alarm you, but we do feel that you are entitled to the facts. . . . as we see them. Naturally, we are going to take care of the crop if possible. We are making every possible contact in an effort to secure as much storage as possible at the terminal points -- and we are just as anxious as you to handle the crop efficiently and to your advantage.

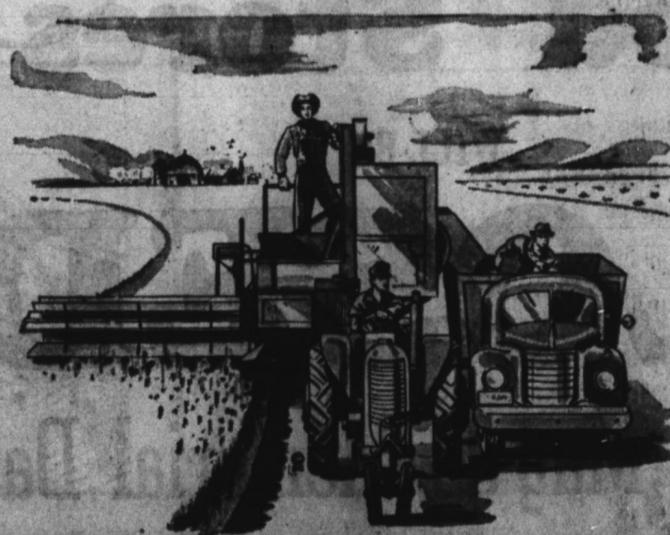

Above All Else,

DON'T CUT YOUR WHEAT BEFORE IT IS READY

As stated above, the local houses are cleared of stored wheat and grain sorghum. . . . so, if your crop looks early, don't rush things. One or two or three days at the start of the season won't make any difference because the storage will be here for a week or two, probably longer.

Moisture content is likely to be higher than usual. . . . and it will be impossible for any elevator to take "Green Wheat". It is GOOD BUSINESS FOR YOU to be sure your wheat is ready.

Also be careful to avoid every possibility of "Dockage Grain". Your cooperation along this line will help us both to better handle the 1949 crop.

steaks with a professional hand, according to his wife.
Their fireplace grill combination is often used by the family during the summer. It gets to be the excuse for many an outdoor gathering. Built in the spring of 1947, its certainly been worth the time and money, the family agrees.
The Phillip's 13 year old daughter Margaret and her young friends spend many a summer mealtime cooking potatoes and bacon or grilling hot dogs around the fireplace.

As for Mrs. Phillips, she's awfully fond of the idea. Her husband does the cooking and it certainly saves a mess in the kitchen.
The Harry Seeds decided to add the fireplace to their backyard the summer after they won a prize on their lawns and landscaping.
It was before the war that the Seed home was awarded first place in a Home Beautiful contest for outdoor living rooms. When Harry really got to considering the idea, he decided if it were really to be an outdoor living room, it should be rounded out with a fireplace. So the next year they added one.

long before they, too, will be eating steak with barbecue sauce and ashes and scrambled eggs with cinders.
Of course there is very definitely a right way to eat out and a wrong way to eat out. The wrong way is to approach the thing with the psychological frame of mind that food in the great outdoors will be just like food in the great indoors. It won't. It may be overdone in spots, and underdone in others; it may, surprisingly enough, turn out just right. It may be too salty, because your host was busily swatting at an inquisitive bee while salting the meat, or it may not be salty at all and you have to go clear in the house and get the salt yourself.

He built it. Major plans were copied after a fireplace the Seeds had admired in Hutchinson, Kansas, but they made a few changes in the original and built their own.
Made of stone it has two grills, one for hot dogs, and one for steaks. Mrs. Seed points out they can even cook hot cakes on the heavy grill, and frequently do. Incidentally, it is Harry who does the cooking.

The Seeds have equipped their back yard with lighting facilities, tables and chairs for outdoor eating, and have even run electric outlets to the tables so they can make toast and coffee there for morning meals. When they entertain guests at breakfast however, its a cook-in-the-outdoors affair with bacon and eggs prepared at the fireplace.

Outdoor menus rarely vary. Its meat, potatoes, crisp fresh vegetables and rolls that everyone enjoys. When most people entertain they use paper plates, make a big effort to get things that are easy to discard. After all, informality is the keynote, and a stack of dishes can almost spoil the fun.

That's the woman viewpoint, at any rate, because such things rarely bother the men. When asked who did the dishes when the women cooked, Mrs. Close said, "The women." When asked who did the dishes when the men cooked she said, "Who do you think?" We know.

Seasonal Activity
Since eating outdoors is a seasonal activity, and is much more dependent upon the weather than upon appetites there are lots of people like Russell Hunter around Hereford who are sold on the idea of having a fireplace, especially during the spring. Russell is going to build one out of rock and brick "just for the fun of it." He figures he'll construct it; he isn't planning to tackle it alone.

The Cecil Wilkins have started a fireplace, also. It won't be long before they, too, will be eating steak with barbecue sauce and ashes and scrambled eggs with cinders.

There are lots of things that can happen to food outdoors, but the main thing that will happen to it is that no matter what it looks like, and usually no matter what it tastes like, it will get eaten. The finicky-est of appetites submit to this call of the wild. The light eater gets downright ravenous. The suspense, created by watching a man who usually detours right past a stove, take the full and complete responsibility for turning out the main dish of a meal is a killing sensation, and appetite stimulating, too. That's another paradox of the modern world.

Coneway To Head Jaycees For Year

Paul Coneway was elected president of the Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce at a Wednesday night meeting of the Board of directors.

S. A. Duckworth and Kenneth Coker were elected vice presidents. Gerald Wilson is the new treasurer succeeding Jiggs Hartman and Leo Hellman succeeds Grant Hanna as secretary.

Coneway succeeds Dub Reeves and Bill Wolf and Coneway were former vice presidents. The new officers will assume their duties and be installed July first.

If the meek inherit the earth very soon, they will inherit enough debt to keep them meek for a long time.

"Henry has a comfort complex"

Henry: "Now lay off, all of you! I'm just sick and tired of visiting in homes that're cold and drafty—I just want to be comfortable!"
Phil: "You'll be okay here . . . we have a Lennox Heating System!"
Martha: "You mean I won't have to hear Henry complaining all evening?"
Phil: "Nope—we have perfect comfort now. The air's circulating quietly all the time—clean, fresh, and warm!"
Martha: "Henry! You hear that? We're getting a Lennox, too—even if we have to burn wood in it!"
Phil: "No need for that; there're gas, oil, and coal models. Your Lennox dealer can install the one that's just right for you. C'mon, Henry, park your gear and I'll give you his name!"

All members of the club were in attendance at the final meet for the season, and the next meeting will be held in September following the summer vacation.

Vida Papesh To Mary Nolan Grady At Her Home In Illinois In June

The engagement of Miss Vida Papesh, of Joliet, Illinois, to Jack Nolan Grady has been announced here. The wedding will take place June 13 in Joliet where the bride-to-be makes her home with her mother, Mrs. John Papesh, 1204 Dearborn St.

Miss Papesh is on leave of absence from the Deaf Smith County Hospital, having left her nursing position there in April.

After the wedding the couple will return to Hereford to make their home and she will resume her work at the hospital at that time.

Mr. Grady is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grady and is employed at the U. S. Post office here.

Miss Vida Papesh

It is cap and gown time for 20 young men and women of Hereford who will journey forth from college and university with sheepskins tucked securely under their arms, with high hopes and confidence, to find their places in the political, economical and social life of a busy world. For some the going has been relatively easy—for others it has meant the difficult task of picking up college relations severed by war. But for all, it is the realization of dreams come true with old mileposts left behind and new goals looming in the long distance ahead.

Three Hereford youths are among the 648 candidates for degrees from the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas at the May 30 Commencement exercises. They are: HELEN ACKER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Acker, R. L. DOWELL, JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dowell, and JOHN DOUGLAS PITMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pitman.

Miss Acker will take her Bachelor of Arts with a major in Spanish and French and minors in Latin and English. She was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority there, a member of the Bluestockings, a national honorary English society, and was past treasurer for the Classical Latin Society and past social chairman for the Panhandle Club. Miss Acker was also a member of the French Club, the Campus League of Women Voters, and the Cap and Gown. She will return home with her parents who are in Austin for the Commencement program, before making definite plans for the summer.

R. L. Dowell, Jr. will receive his degree in Business Administration, having majored in public accounting. He finished in Hereford High School in 1940 and was married to Miss Nona Dean Rose in 1944, the same year he received his commission as 2nd Lt. in the Army Air Force. He served as a P-51 fighter pilot in France until shot down in October 1944 and was a prisoner of war of the Germans for seven months.

He attended West Texas State College for one year and transferred to the University of Texas in September 1947. While there he was voted into two honorary fraternities, Beta Gamma Sigma Society (for upper 10 per cent of class) and Beta Alpha Psi, Honorary Professional Accounting Fraternity. He was one of the students in the upper 10 per cent who were honored at the first University Honors Day program given by president Painter and the Board of Regents in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowell and their daughter, Lindsey Rose, will visit in Hereford with his parents and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rose, before accepting an accounting position.

John Douglas Pitman (not pictured) will receive his degree in Business Administration. He graduated from Hereford High School in 1943 and joined the Naval Air Corps that year. Later he served in the Merchant Marines, completing three years of service during the war. He enrolled at the University of Texas in 1946, completing his course in 3 1/2 years. He will return to Hereford after graduation before making definite plans for future study.

Virginia Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Lyons, gets her sheepskin from Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., this month.

Miss Lyons is a member of the Senior Sister organization with eight juniors as her particular interest in their adjustments to college life. She is also chairman of social activities for North Hall and serves on the House Council, governing body of the hall.

This year she was initiated into the "Prince of Wales" Riding Club at Stephens and has participated in two horse shows. She will also ride in the Commencement Horse Show. Commencement exercises begin at Stephens College with the Commencement Ball Friday night and include the Horse Show Saturday night, followed by Baccalaureate Sunday and final program on Tuesday morning May 31.

Engagement And June Wedding Date Of Mary Nell Cassels Is Announced

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Mary Nell Cassels to Ray Parmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Parmer of the Westway Community, was revealed at a tea given Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. H. J. Robinson. Cohostesses with Mrs. Robinson were Mrs. Malcolm Cassels, the prospective bride's mother, Mrs. J. B. Harlin and Mrs. A. L. Manjeot.

The news of the approaching wedding was revealed at the refreshment table which was laid with an imported lace cloth. Scarlet roses against a mirror background centered the table surrounded by decorative match boxes holding scrolled matches bearing the inscription "Mary Nell and Ray—June 9." The match boxes, which were partially opened, also held tiny flower bouquets of orange blossoms and tiny red rosebuds.

Miss Ruby Faye Barclay and Miss Reba Dones presided at the table. The guests were received by Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Cassels, the bride-elect and the bridegroom elect's mother, Mrs. David Parmer.

An informal program of readings was given by Mrs. A. L. Manjeot and Miss Evelyn Lee. Guests included Mesdames Jack Renfro, A. O. Thompson, E. J. Barclay, G. P. Owen, Tom Howard, Wayne Lawrence, Bob Owen, Gerald Wilson, Warren Owen, members of the house party and the honoree.

Miss Susie Rogers Is Wed Sunday To B. C. Harper In Summerfield

Miss Susie LaJuna Rogers and B. C. Harper were married Sunday evening at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Sanford Harper, in Summerfield at seven o'clock. Rev. E. W. Lichtsin, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran Church, read the marriage service, in the presence of close friends and relatives.

Roses and wisteria entwined the archway between the living room and dining room to form a background for the ceremony. Miss Laverna McWhorter of Canyon, pianist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the bride's cousin, Margaret Sowell who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" in conclusion of the ceremony.

Leta Dene Springer served as maid of honor, wearing a deep purple moire taffeta dress made ballerina length. She wore a band of yellow roses in her hair and a corsage of yellow roses. Gayle Rogers, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride was dressed in a white taffeta frock made with fitted bodice and full ballerina skirt. She wore yellow and white roses in her hair and her corsage was of yellow and white rosebuds. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and for sentimental reasons she wore her late mother's engagement ring, given to her by her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Tiefel, with whom she has made her home.

At the reception which followed the wedding, the table was centered with purple iris flanked by white tapers. The three tiered wedding cake which was made by her grandmother Tiefel, was served by Mrs. Clifford Harper and Mrs. Garvey Harper served punch.

When the couple left for a short trip, the bride wore away a black and aqua suit with black accessories. They will return to live in Summerfield where he is engaged in farming.

Mrs. Harper graduated last week from Hereford High School. Mr. Harper is a veteran, having spent several years in service during the war.

 Monthly rally of the Local Option Club was held just before the Brand went to press on June 3, 1904. "Inspiring" songs were presented by the choir, and "cunning recitations" were given by the little ones. Mr. Lipscomb made the principal address, and the boys and girls gave a song and drill. In reporting the meeting, the Brand editorialized: "The program committee and those who lent aid in making this month's meeting a success must be given mention and praised for the efforts put forth to keep alive the sparks of interest and enthusiasm in so worthy a cause, and we are sufficiently sanguine to believe that in time these 'prohibition sparks' will flash out from Hereford and come in contact with so great a number from other towns and communities that the entire state will become aglow and a fire will be made to burn that will be unquenchable and which will consume and obliterate the Texas liquor traffic."

At a regular meeting of Hereford Lodge No. 849 A. F. and A. M., the following officers were elected: L. A. Simpson, W. M.; H. W. Renfro, S. W.; W. H. Russell, J. W.; Jno. E. Ferguson, Treas.; Charles B. Googer, Secretary; John Humphrey, S. D.; George Ray, J. D.; J. C. Coffey, Tyler;

 An editorial written in righteous anger reads: "On last Sunday night some unprincipled person or persons, under cover of the darkness, hid himself to the tent which was recently placed on the school ground by the Seventh Day Adventists and to show the low and despicable principle which holds sway in some men and controls their actions, cut the ropes which held the tent in its place. That such people are in our midst is to be greatly deplored; but just why one could get his consent to engage in the commission of such devilish crimes, is a question which the minds of good and thinking people are entirely unable to answer."

"It is the general impression that such work as the above is usually done by the boys of the town. If so, it behooves every parent in our midst to begin a work along the line of character building, and install such principles of right into their minds as will cause them to avoid the inevitable doom which awaits them, if they persist in this line of work."

A story regarding the marriage of Miss Della B. Palmer of Hereford and Ambrose Gibson of Wichita Falls was printed in this issue of the Brand, and announcement of the birth of a "fine baby girl" to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. F. Parker, appeared.

Items from Boom included: "Steve and Charlie Sanders had a car of feed stuff to arrive at Boom the 29th; Boom can now boast of a public road running south five miles, thence east to Dimmitt; W. A. Odell and family spent the day with R. L. Wilson Sunday; Dr. Estes was called to see Mrs. B. C. Roberson the 30th."

Short locals of interest were: "O. B. and H. M. Jackson, prominent North Draw ranchmen, were in Hereford Monday and purchased 400 cows, together with their calves, from J. C. Cox; F. L. Vanderburgh had business in Amarillo Wednesday and Thursday; H. F. Shelton came in Tuesday to enroll

Congressmen Get Texas Flag

Rear Adm. James L. Holloway, Jr. (second from right), superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy, presented this Texas state flag to Texas' congressional delegation at the Capitol, Washington, May 18. R. Bradley and little son were in Hereford Wednesday and paid the Brand a business visit; Mrs. Daniel Turentine left Monday afternoon for Clarendon where she went as a delegate to the District Meeting of the Ladies Missionary Society; J. D. Thompson was a business visitor in town Saturday; Fred T. Moseley, representing the Federal Fire Insurance Company, was transacting business in Hereford this week; J. T. Inmon this week had some valuable work done on the court house yard in the way of plowing and cultivating the trees."

Sadie Lee Oliver Club Sees Demonstration

The Sadie Lee Oliver Four-H Club met in the home of Mrs. Clarence Morrison Saturday, May 21, to see the hostess demonstrate double purl edge button holes, in connection with the club's current sewing projects. Following this demonstration the girls will devote their next meeting to learning how to make pound button holes. Attending the meeting were: Mary Katherine Boyd, Mozelle Young, Helen Diller, Gayle Waggoner and Patsy Townsend. Sponsors present were Mrs. Tom Draper, Miss Doris Mahaffey, Mrs. Joe Waggoner, Miss Johnnie Townsend. Special guests were Mrs. Joe Landers, Mrs. C. M. Diller and Mrs. R. L. Wilson.

Four Year Old Is Honored At Party

Mrs. Stamford Knox was hostess Monday afternoon honoring her small daughter, Kathleen, on her fourth birthday. A pink and white theme was used in decorations and for the birthday cake. Games were played and toys were given as favors. Children attending the party were: Leslie and Mike McGee, Jan Susan Reese, Beale Jo Blevins, Louis and David Block, Randall McGee, John Wear, Stephen Knox and the honoree. Mothers present were Mesdames Ernest McGee, J. C. Reese, Ivan Block, Lawrence McGee, Bob Wear and the hostess.

PROGRESSIVE NEWS

Regular Date of Community Singing Changed to Third Sunday of Month

By MRS. IRA RICKETTS

Singing was enjoyed Sunday night at the school house. It was decided to change the regular date from the fourth Sunday to the third Sunday night of each month. We will be glad to have singers from all communities join us for these monthly meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Dodson had as a guest in their home recently his uncle, Dennis D. Dodson of Waco. While he was here the Dodsons and guest visited in Sunray in the W. L. Huntley home, and also with friends and relatives in Amarillo and Canyon. They were dinner guests in the home of Dodson's niece, Mrs. Morris Thomson in Hereford.

Doris Russell spent Sunday with Dorothy Veigel in Hereford, and attended the piano recital at the Methodist Church in the afternoon.

Mrs. T. J. Parsons is having to spend a few days in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Russell, Robert and Linda spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ricketts.

Kay Lynn Scott is staying with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Dodson after her recent hospitalization for pneumonia.

Little Jimmie Barnhart is improving rapidly at his home, having returned from Sealy Hospital in Galveston. A number of friends of the R. W. Barnharts gathered at their home and helped Jimmie celebrate his birthday. Many gifts were opened by the honoree and refreshments were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Leon Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Coffin, Myrna Lou and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott, Jo Eddy, Kay Lynn and Betty Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stafford and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Melugin and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Duckworth and boys, Mrs. Stallings and son, Bobby Barnhart of Amarillo and the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ricketts drove to Clovis Thursday night for the Commencement exercises, to see a granddaughter, Ruth Dougherty receive her diploma. They spent the night in the Archie Dougherty home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Russell and children were dinner guests in the Lee Renfro home Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ricketts visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hershey Sunday evening.

Mrs. P. L. Carmichael visited with her sister, Mrs. Dee Brown and family of Muleshoe Sunday.

Wheat is maturing rapidly following the two weeks of abundant rainfall, and farmers are rushing the planting of grain sorghums in order to be ready for an early wheat harvest.

HAVE NEW DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. George Tiefel of College Station have announced the birth of a daughter born May 18. The baby has been named Cherylene Kay Tiefel.

Mr. and Mrs. Tiefel are former Hereford residents and will return to Hereford to make their home after his graduation next week from Texas A&M College. He is the son of Mrs. Jake Tiefel, now of Marshall and formerly of Hereford.

Fairway 4-H Girls Finishing Projects

The Community Home at Fairview was the meeting place of the Fairview Four H Club Saturday morning when they discussed the finishing touches on sewing projects.

Miss Doris Mahaffey, agent in training for Deaf Smith, gave a short demonstration on sewing boxes and Mrs. Jack Higgins demonstrated making double purl edge button holes.

During the business session the club planned a program to be presented to the members of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club next month. Betty McGaughey, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president.

Farmers Are Invited To Castro County Conservation Tour

A conservation tour stressing the use of legumes, barnyard fertilizers and commercial fertilizers and irrigated pastures will be held in Castro County Thursday afternoon June 2 at 1:30 p. m. The tour is being sponsored jointly by the Soil Conservation Service, P. M. A. and Extension Service.

Those farmers who are interested in building their soil while producing a higher yield will be interested in the many things they will see on the trip.

All those interested in making the tour will come to the Ed Mauk farm 6 miles north of Dimmitt on the Dimmitt and Hereford highway. Mr. Mauk has wheat on Vetch land, wheat on potato land and wheat summer fallowed.

Next stop will be at the Hunter Brothers farm 2 miles north of Mr. Mauk's farm on the highway. Here you will see wheat on alfalfa land.

Stop No. 3 will be irrigated pastures on H. D. Robbin's farm.

Stop No. 4 will be on Earl Cole's farm 3 miles west of Frio School. Mr. Cole has a demonstration showing the use of barnyard manure on barley and ammonium nitrate on wheat. Mr. Cole's plot will show the use of commercial fertilizer using 50 lbs., 100 lbs. per acre and a check plot with no fertilizer.

Next stop will be on Jay Boston's farm where several demonstrations will be seen. One is a mixed irrigated pasture of perennial rye. Mr. Boston also has wheat planted on Hubam clover land and turned under at various stages. Also to be seen on Mr. Boston's farm is vetch where fertilizer has been added and where it has not been added.

The tour will last about three hours and all farmers interested in soil building practices are urged to meet at Mr. Mauk's farm at 1:30 p. m. June 2.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gordon of Klamath Falls, Oregon visited her sister, Mrs. Hardy Benson, last week and were accompanied to Dallas by Mrs. Benson to visit relatives. A family reunion was held at Hico Sunday with three brothers and three sisters enjoying the first get-together since they left their home in Mississippi.

Construction Starts Soon On New Elevator

E. O. Billingslea has announced that contract arrangements have been completed for the building site of his new elevator near Joel Switch, where he plans to erect a 60,000 to 70,000 bushel grain elevator.

The elevator will be constructed of six or eight circular steel bins.

Although construction will begin as soon as final arrangements can be completed Billingslea says it will not be up in time to take care of this wheat harvest season, but should be ready for grain sorghum harvest.

Bridge Party Given

An informal early morning party with bridge as the diversion, was given by Mrs. Joe Smith at her home Monday. Roses from her flower garden in varied shades were used in decorating the home.

Making up the three tables of players enjoying games of contract were Mesdames W. L. Davis, Jr., Elizabeth Womble, John Aikin, Bob Brummal, E. W. Dettman, Jerry Stoltz, Jack Hradly, O. P. Cowart, Worth

Mrs. Merlin Kaul and Mrs. Abraham Drager were hostesses for the Home Demonstration Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Kaul Wednesday afternoon.

KFDA Will Broadcast Parker Recital Today

Mrs. C. W. Parker presented a group of piano students in a recital based on the theme "At the Picture Show" at her home on Sunday afternoon May 22. The same program will be presented over station KFDA, Amarillo this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in a salute to all young Panhandle musicians.

"The Comedy" opened the program with Nancy Patterson playing "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" (Dukas) and O. C. Renfro playing "The Weasel Goes Modern" (Todd). "The News" followed with Richard Hunter playing "Marche Militaire" (Strebog) and Nancy Patterson playing "Ice Carnival" (Schaum). Previews included "Peter and the Wolf" (Prokofieff), Georgia Lewis, and "Lilac Time" (Howell), Monadell Hunter.

The Main Feature entitled "A Curious Story" told the story of springtime and gypsies dancing in the meadow while evening bells were heard in the distance. Those giving the musical interpretation of the story were: Charlotte Calvert, Wayne Scott, Monadell Hunter, Nancy Crawford, Richard Hunter, Georgia Lewis and Yvonne Bearden.

Composers of music for the main feature included: Howell, Ward, Behr, Schumann, Heims, Paderewski, Merkel, Khatachurian and Gaenschals.

Mr. and Mrs. George Millard will be in Lubbock this week end to attend the graduation exercises of their daughter, Arline, and son-in-law, Joe R. Williams. The Millard's son, Bob a sophomore geology student at Texas Tech will return home with them Tuesday to spend the summer vacation. Mrs. Williams was visiting with her parents Sunday through Thursday of this week.

Dimmitt Man Plunges From Grain Elevator

Joel Dudley, 54, plunged to his death Tuesday from the top of a 120 foot concrete elevator in Dimmitt. The accident occurred about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. No eye-witnesses were present, so it was impossible to ascertain which elevator the man fell from, but his body was discovered on the ground between the new and old elevators at the Dimmitt Wheat Growers, Inc.

Dudley was employed as a construction worker on the new elevator being built on the location where he met his death. His body was sent to Clovis for burial.

Wear pointed out to the boys that the character traits which the scout organization helps each boy develop and which are key points in their code are the traits that each individual and each nation needs to do its best and be its best.

He said such training helps to strengthen the individual's heart for liberty, which is the nation's arm of liberty.

Concluding the program, Delashmutt screened the films of the Grand Canyon for the new scouts and the audience of some fifty people who attended the service.

Angel Food Cake Has Summertime Birthday Party Appeal For Family

A Hereford hostess, who not only serves delicious foods at her parties but also is interested in planning economical meals for her family is Mrs. Henry Benson. She makes an unusually good Angel Food cake, and for a long time worried over what to do with the left over egg yolks. After following the trial and error method for some time she finally came out with a Yellow Angel Food Cake that not only takes care of the egg yolks but tops the list among the family's favorites.

Both cake recipes are especially designed for birthday cakes. As both are baked in a tube pan, a clever idea is to place a small glass containing flowers in the center after the cake is iced. Attach one end of ribbon streamers to the center vase and the other end to flower place cards placed on the table to encircle the cake, and you have a birthday table as lovely and gay as spring itself.

Angel Food Cake

- 1 1/2 cups egg whites
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 1 cup cake flour
 - 1 heaping teaspoon cream of tartar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
- Sift sugar, also flour, then measure. Combine sugar and flour and sift five times. Beat egg whites until foamy, add cream of tartar and salt and beat until it makes a peak when lifting beater. Add flour and sugar mixture gradually, folding in slowly. Add extract and pour in tube pan. Beat pan on flat surface until mixture is level and air bubbles come to top. Place in a pre-heated oven at 250 F degrees. Cook cake at this temperature ten minutes, turn to 300 degrees and cook 50 minutes.

Let's Cook Something

Remove from oven, invert the pan and allow to cool.

Yellow Angel Food Cake

- 12 egg yolks
 - 2 cups cake flour
 - 1 1/4 cups sugar
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder (level)
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup cold water
 - 1/4 cup salad oil
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring or grated rind of two oranges
- Sift flour, also sugar, then measure. Combine flour and sugar, add baking powder and sift together several times. Beat egg yolks until lemon color and creamy in electric mixer. Change to hand beater and add cold water gradually, then add salad oil slowly. Fold in the flour and sugar mixture and add extract. Pour in tube pan. Beat pan on flat surface until mixture is level and air bubbles come to the top. Place in preheated 250 F degree oven and cook for ten minutes. Turn to 300 F. degrees and allow to cook until golden brown, about 40 to 50 minutes. Remove from oven, invert the pan and allow to cool.

Powdered Sugar Icing

Beat one-quarter pound of butter until very creamy and add one box powdered sugar gradually using just enough sweet cream to make a smooth consistency. Add vanilla and spread.

After the cake has cooled and is removed from the pan, Mrs. Benson wraps it in aluminum foil and places it in the deep freeze. Thirty or forty minutes before serving, she takes the cake out of the freezer for thawing, cuts it when ready and enjoys an easy way of being prepared for unexpected guests as well as family demands.

Committees Named At Final Club Meeting

Mrs. P. B. Sowell, president of the Farm and Ranch Club for the coming year, was hostess for the concluding luncheon and program on Thursday May 19. The house was decorated throughout with pink roses and carnations and places were marked with carnation corsages. A short business session and program was held after the luncheon with Mrs. Henry Melton, outgoing president, giving a talk on "Citizenship in the Home." Mrs. Charles Burk gave the highlights of the past club year.

Committees appointed by the president were: Yearbook, Mesdames Zerrell Thomas, Henry Melton and G. S. Solomon. Finance, Mesdames Charles Burk, Jack Weaver and Phillip Miller. Federation, Mrs. Frank Rickels. Cheer, Mrs. Waldron Melton and Mrs. Ed Thomas. Mrs. Melton was presented with a gift in appreciation of her work during the past year.

Members attending the closing session were Mesdames: Charles Burk, Phillip Miller, Frank Rickels, Roy Pruitt, G. S. Solomon, Henry Melton, Waldron Melton, Jack Weaver and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Renfro left Friday for Altus, Oklahoma where they will remain for five or six weeks.

Mrs. Tom Sappington arrived in Hereford Thursday moving here from Weatherford, Oklahoma, where she has been attending college. Her husband was in Weatherford Wednesday to attend the graduation exercises.

 He will graduate with the 1949 class on May 29 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce. He will be associated with his father in the ranching business.
 13—Texas Technological College has two candidates for degrees from Hereford. Hardy Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Benson, Sr., graduated from Hereford High School in 1943 and entered Texas Tech in September of that same year. After one year he was drafted and sent overseas in 1945, serving as radio operator in the 738th Military Police Bn. stationed at Manila.

 Re-entering Texas Tech in 1946, he will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering on May 30. While in College he has been a member of the Engineering Society, and a student member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and of the Institute of Radio Engineers.
 During his junior and senior years he has been employed as part-time engineer for radio station KSEL in Lubbock.
 Victor R. Jury (not pictured) son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jury of the Wyche Community, will also graduate from Texas Tech on May 30.
Texas A&M Students
 14—James Wallace Robinson Jr. will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in business at Texas A&M College in June. After graduating from Hereford High School in 1945 he enrolled at Texas A&M College and his college activities include: ROTC, president YMCA cabinet, Business Society, member Panhandle A&M Club, and received the honor of being classified among "Distinguished Students." He was social secretary of the junior class and engaged in intramural sports.

 J. W. also worked part-time, selling magazine subscriptions on the campus and was employed as part-time salesman for the Holick's Boot Shop at College Station. He plans to enter the insurance business, having given special emphasis to that line of business in his school work.
 15—William Thurmon Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Williamson, will receive his Bachelor of Science degree in agriculture and plans to be associated with the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine after his graduation in June. He is a 1943 Hereford High school graduate and entered the U. S. Navy in September 1943. At the time of his release in 1946 he held the rank of a Pharmacist's Mate 2nd class. He spent 25 months overseas serving in the Marshall Islands, Marianas Islands and Caroline Islands, on duty in the Hospital Corps School, operating room and record office.
 At A&M he has been a member of the Entomology Club and of the Future Farmers of America.
 16—William Boyd London who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd London, will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering. After finishing in Hereford High School in 1945 he enrolled in the College Station School. His activities include Company Commander of ROTC, member Panhandle A&M Club and president of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He was also vice-president of the Engineers Council and was engaged in intramural sports.
 George Tiesel (not pictured) served two years with the Air Corps in the European Theater of War before entering Texas A&M College and has completed a five year course in Architectural Engineering in four years. His course also included landscaping.
 In 1942 he married Miss Cora Lee Hull of Ballinger, Texas and the couple have three children. He is the son of Mrs. Jake Tiesel of Marshall. After graduation Mr. and Mrs. Tiesel and children will move to Hereford to make their home.
 17—Miss Doris Goldston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goldston, is a candidate for the Bachelor of Music degree at Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton. She is one of the eight seniors listed in the 1948-49 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, is president of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity, and also served as president of the College Hiking Club and vice-president of the Vivace club, college music department club. She is a member of the International Relations Club and of Gamma literary society. Miss Goldston is a member of the junior scholarship and Alpha Chi, national scholarship organization, and a member of Historical-Phila Literary Arts.

 Receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree in education will be Mrs. Mildred Ramey, a member of Hereford's public school faculty. She is a member of the first class to graduate from Wayland Baptist College since its established ranking as a senior college.
 Mrs. Tom Sappington was graduated cum laude Wednesday night from Southwestern College at Weatherford. An English major, she was a member of the Tri-J sorority, Alpha Pi Sigma, honorary scholastic fraternity for which she served as secretary, Wesley Foundation and Wesley Players, from which she was vice-president, the Band and the Chorus. She was vice-president of her sophomore class and secretary-treasurer of her junior class at the college.
 She graduated from Weatherford High School in 1946.
 Mrs. Sappington has moved to Hereford to join her husband, who is employed here with Halle Drug.
 Mrs. Joe R. Williams, the former Arline Millard, of Hereford, will be graduated from Texas Technological College tomorrow night at the same exercises in which her husband will receive his degree.
 Mrs. Williams finished college last August, but chose to wait until this spring to participate in the commencement and baccalaureate services with her husband.
 She was a graduate of Hereford High School in the Class of 1944 and at Tech majored in recreational leadership. This past year she has been teaching the third grade at Lorenzo Grade School while Mr. Williams completed his work in textile engineering. He was a graduate of Paris High School and served in the armed forces.

 After Commencement services Monday night, the couple will visit with his parents in Paris and her parents in Hereford before moving to Atlanta, Georgia where Williams will be connected with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

YOU ARE INVITED TO MANY HAPPY EVENTS IN JUNE

Showing At Your Star Theatre

THAT LADY IN ERMINE
 A costume picture that is rated a Boxoffice Champion parrelled with "The Miracle of 34th Street", "Dear Ruth", and "My Friend Flicka" in entertainment value

FAMILY HONEYMOON
 As good or better than "The Egg and I"

ADVENTURE OF DON JUAN
 There is some Don Juan in every man (or at least, every man like to think so)

CALAMITY JANE AND SAM BASS
 We obtained this picture on the Texas release date an entire month before it is released nationally.

THAT WONDERFUL URGE
 A swift moving gay comedy. Most theatres are running it on preferred time (Sunday, Monday, Tuesday) We are offering it to you on second best time, Wednesday and Thursday.

SO DEAR TO MY HEART
 has the HIGHEST rating the National Group of fourteen leading women's organizations has rated it this way: Audience Appeal: Adults, Children, Youth; Legion of Decency Rating: A-1, Unobjectionable in every way; Review Excellent! Fine, Heartwarming, Fundamental Entertainment!

MEXICAN HAYRIDE
 The Besta Fiesta ever to hit the screen for happiness. Made strictly for laughs!

YOUNGER BROTHERS
 A biographical Western of the outlaw brothers who shot their straightest after they went straight!

EVERY GIRL SHOULD BE MARRIED
 A comedy of situations — supreme — and we mean Every Girl Should be Married—

Showing At The Texas Theatre

The Sunday-Monday-Tuesday pictures—THE LOVES OF CARMEN, THE BRIBE, RED STALLION OF THE ROCKIES, and GALLANT BLADE are pictures that most towns would hold to run Wednesday and Thursday in their "A" House. The Wednesday-Thursday pictures at the Texas are outstanding, especially for a small theatre.

WILL IT HAPPEN AGAIN is the sensational authentic film of the life and rise of Hitler, revealing sensational facts never shown before. It may determine for you the possibility of a World War III; certainly everyone should see this factual film for its educational value. Most towns are placing this picture in their "A" house Wednesday and Thursday, and some towns have held it over to accommodate the crowds — FOR IT CAN HAPPEN AGAIN!

NOT RECOMMENDED FOR CHILDREN

We are offering the people of the Hereford territory the best pictures that can be obtained, ALL THE TIME, and not following a first class picture only once or twice a month followed by second or third rate pictures the rest of the time.

THE CAPTAIN'S COMPLIMENTS! THIS SHIP MUST REJOIN THE FLEET, BUT A PLANE WILL ARRIVE SHORTLY TO CARRY YOU BOTH BACK TO THE COAST!

WONDERFUL! THE SOONER WE GET TO SHORE THE SOONER I'LL SEE DAVID AGAIN!

WHILE WE'VE BEEN SAILING, I'VE BEEN PLANNING OUR WEDDING! I CAN BE A JUNE BRIDE! HOW DOES IT SOUND? ... "MRS. DAVID LIVINGSTONE?"

HE'LL BE THE LUCKIEST DOCTOR IN THE MEDICAL CORPS!

YOU ONLY REMEMBER HIM HALF-CRAZED FROM WOUNDS AND PRIVATION, WITH THAT JUNGLE GROWN BEARD! BUT HE'S AT LEAST AS GOOD LOOKING AS YOU ARE, SCORCHY!

THANKS!... MAYBE YOU SHOULD BORROW THE CAPTAIN'S BINOCULARS !!!

HERE'S THE SKY CHARIOT THAT'S GOING TO TAKE YOU BACK TO SHORE, TO PARTIES, A WEDDING AND 'LIVING HAPPILY EVER AFTER!

IT CAN'T BE! IT IS! IT'S DAVID!!

TONI! IS THAT YOU!!

YOU DARLING! YOU FLEW OUT FROM SHORE JUST TO WELCOME ME BACK!!

WELL-LL NO, HONEY, I DIDN'T EVEN KNOW YOU WERE ABOARD, BUT WHAT LUCK!!

I WAS AFRAID I WASN'T GOING TO GET A CHANCE TO KISS YOU GOODBYE!

"GOODBYE"? YOU MEAN "HELLO"!

BUT... I'VE GOT TO STAY ABOARD, HONEY! I'VE BEEN ORDERED TO MAKE A HOSPITAL INSPECTION TOUR OF SOME ISLAND BASES!

B-BUT, DAVID, DARLING... OUR MARRIAGE! ANOTHER POSTPONEMENT?!

OUR JOBS AND OUR DUTY ARE BIGGER THAN EITHER OF US, HONEY! IT WON'T BE TOO LONG!!

ASPIRIN, TONI?

NO THANKS, SCORCHY! THAT WON'T HELP WHAT AILS ME!!
