

Tidmore quits at Shirley

Ron Tidmore, principal at Shirley School in Hereford, submitted his resignation Tuesday to the Hereford school board.

Tidmore was hired a year ago to replace John Dominguez. Tidmore had taught in the Hereford schools several years before moving to Canyon. While in Canyon he obtained his administrator's certificate and was picked for the Shirley job last summer.

The school had been chosen earlier in the school year for participation in a special state program that would give teachers and administrators freedom in their work. However, the school has withdrawn from the special program.

"I have the utmost respect for the administration of the school district and the school board," said Tidmore today.

At Tuesday's meeting, the board: --Received an assessment of buildings from Green Harvey Associates, Lubbock architects, for consideration.

--Heard a report from DARE Officer Terry Brown.

--Voted to continue the latchkey program with Hereford Day Care.

Voter signup continues

Registration to vote in May 2 city, school and hospital district elections will be open until the close of business on April 1, in the office of Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland, in the courthouse.

Persons who do not hold current registration certificates must register to qualify to vote in elections in May. Residents of Hereford Independent School District, City of Hereford and Deaf Smith County Hospital District will elect members of governing bodies in the spring elections.

Ruland reminded, also, that residents who do not live at the address listed on their registration certificates must file new addresses.

Nothing so needs reforming as other people's faults. -- Will Rogers

The mother was surprised when her first grader told her about a fire at school, but the child informed her calmly. "I knew it was going to happen--we've been practicing for it all year."

Hereford's efforts to secure a prison site reach a climax Monday night when a public hearing is held as required by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. The meeting will be our last step in the selection process, leaving only the announcement of the winners on April 10.

A lot of people we meet each day ask, "What do you think of our chances?" I'm optimistic, due to many factors, but I'm not privy to any secret information.

My optimism comes from knowing our community has put together a good proposal, one that is competitive and pairs our strengths with the TDCJ needs. It also comes from working with a committee that committed to getting the application completed in a short time frame, and from the positive feedback we have received from the community during this process.

My opinion is just one opinion, but the prison task force, which represents a good cross-section of community life, is convinced that Hereford and Deaf Smith County will benefit from a prison facility being constructed here. This may not have been the case 20 years ago, or even 10 years ago. But times change and so do prison facilities.

About 30 people have worked directly on the prison project, and all believe that a prison facility will be an economic benefit and will not be harmful to our quality of life.

From our first community hearing and question-and-answer session to now, no real opposition has surfaced. We have no reason to expect any thing different next Monday night.

However you feel about the proposal, please try to attend the hearing. Be a part of the decision.

Aunt Net Thornton's grave

Aunt Net Thornton was not only an ex-slave, but was the lone black in Deaf Smith County from 1934 until her death in 1941. She is buried in the southwest corner of West Park Cemetery.

Thornton was the only black here for 7 years

Near the corner of Kingwood and Bradley, in the southwest corner of West Park Cemetery, stands a unique headstone.

AUNT NET THORNTON
EX-SLAVE

Aunt Net Thornton was a mysterious lady. She was a mystery to many persons in Deaf Smith County. From 1934 until her death on Nov. 19, 1941, Aunt Net was the only black in Deaf Smith County. She came here with the J.W. Hyde family. She had worked for the family for 35 years, living with them for 32 years.

She had her own mystery. She asked more than one person why there weren't "other colored people in Hereford." Mrs. Ray Clark, one of the Hyde children she helped raise, said Aunt Net "would pretend to be afraid someone would run her out of town, but she knew we wouldn't let anything happen to her."

Aunt Net Thornton's age was a mystery. She told the Hyde family she was 16 when she, and other slaves, were freed in the Brenham area. Some of her acquaintances in Hereford and in East Texas felt she was at least 100 when she died.

Aunt Net's mother was owned by a Judge Wilson in Washington county when her daughter was born in 1849 or whenever. Aunt Net had told the Brand in a story that the Wilsons "tried to give me an education but I was just too mischievous. I didn't learn nothing." Mysteriously, Aunt Net had "a huge vocabulary for someone with no formal schooling," according to the Brand in 1941.

Aunt Net was remembered for her memory. A neighbor, Mrs. John Johnson, read the Bible to her; Aunt Net was also remembered for her ability to recite "her own version of the Bible for hours on end."

As Aunt Net became older and bedridden, she was befriended by more people. A Sunday School class adopted her, and she was visited by the county welfare worker and others very frequently.

Aunt Net Thornton was confined to bed, barely strong enough to eat, the last few months of her life. A priest in Amarillo had opened a hospital for blacks, but her illness was more than the simple hospital could provide. She was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, where she died Nov. 19, 1941.

Her funeral in Hereford was well attended. The Brand recalled:

"Her funeral service was as sincere a tribute as any person ever receives. She will be sincerely missed by all who knew her."

"One of her acquaintances said, 'If Aunt Net is not in Heaven, there just won't be anybody there.'"

Juvenile crime up significantly here during '91

Juvenile crime in Deaf Smith County rose significantly in 1991, according to figures released Wednesday by Juvenile Probation chief Lou Serrano.

Serrano, addressing the Hereford Lions Club, said authorities received 380 referrals involving 304 persons between the ages of 10 and 17. That was up by almost 70 from 1990 and up from 137 juvenile cases in 1989.

Some of the increase comes from referral of most crimes involving juveniles to Serrano's office for disposition. He said that in the past the cases were disseminated to different authorities, causing some cases never to reach a final disposition.

"Today, if a juvenile is caught by authorities doing something wrong, their case will go to a final disposition," said Serrano. "There is no more 'losing the file' or anything else."

Serrano said 54.7 percent of all cases were first-time offenders who were counseled and released. "We bring them in and sign an agreement with them and their parents spelling out what they must do," Serrano said. "These are not serious offenses, and sometimes the kids just need to be woken up. They are talked to and released, and a lot of times we never see them again."

Serrano said as long as parents condone drinking by kids, problems with juveniles will increase in Deaf Smith County.

Nine percent of the young offenders are placed on an informal probation program, while 21.5 percent have their cases heard in juvenile court and are placed on formal probation.

Serrano said 56.5 percent of all juvenile offenses are committed by Hispanic males and 24.2 percent are done by Hispanic females. He said 9.2 percent were white males, and 5.2 percent are white females. Many of the cases with Hispanic females are runaways (there were 72 runaways in the county in 1991).

Serrano said alcohol violations are "a big problem in Hereford," and blamed parents and other adults for a large part of the problem.

"The parents condone their drinking by saying the kids can use their barn or their house or whatever," Serrano said. "As long as the parents don't take a role against alcohol abuse by kids, we will have more and more problems."

Work planned for local traffic lights

Work should begin in the next 60 days to upgrade traffic signals at six intersections in Hereford.

New poles and overhead, mast-arm mounted signals will be installed at US 60 and Main, US 60 and US 385, US 385 and Park, Park and Ave. B, Main; Park and Ave. F and Park and Ave. K.

Contractors will make minor modifications in the signals in place on the US highways, with more major work coming at the three intersections along E. Park. Each will include vehicle detector loops and complete replacement of the lights with traffic-actuated signal systems. The work may cause temporary detours and congestion when the work is being done.

Roy Willis Electric Co. of Abilene is the contractor for the Hereford project. The company also plans work in Canyon, Pampa, Perryton and a rural Randall County intersection. The work in Canyon began Monday, and all projects should be completed by October. The project is paid for by federal urban system funds and some state money. It is being done to comply with Texas Department of Transportation policy to provide the most efficient operation of all traffic signal systems.

Brown's donation limit helps, hurts

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jerry Brown's $100-maximum contributions have been coming in at a healthy clip of $90,000 a day. He's in New York now and looking for ways to promote a shoestring campaign in the nation's most expensive media market.

Unexpectedly pitted in a two-man race for the Democratic presidential nomination against front-runner Bill Clinton, the underfunded Brown finds himself unable to advertise at full scale.

Brown suggested Wednesday he may forgo paid TV advertising in New York, saying it eats up money too quickly.

"I don't know if it makes sense," he told reporters.

New York Gov. Mario Cuomo said Brown may not even need advertising, given the massive attention he will receive from the news media as the remaining challenger to Clinton.

"I think this is the one place where you don't need money to be; where you will be heard," Cuomo said. "The stage will be paid for. The media will be free."

After upsetting Clinton in Connecticut's primary Tuesday, Brown is gunning for New York's April 7 primary to help him make up for Clinton's 6-to-1 delegate lead.

"Obviously we wish we had the money to blanket New York with a media blitz like Clinton is going to do," said Kevin McDermott, Brown's assistant campaign treasurer.

Brown makes use of any free television and radio he can get. He's done three one-hour TV talk shows this week in New York, including a special trip to Utica on Wednesday for a cable-access show broadcast from a state university.

During that show, a TV reporter from Syracuse called up with a question, and Brown broke in, saying, "By the way, is this going to go live?"

Clinton working through doubting electorate

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - Bill Clinton finds himself in a familiar position as the presidential campaign enters another critical stretch: trying to raise doubts about an opponent while working feverishly to erase doubts about him.

Jerry Brown is the latest - and last - challenger in Clinton's path to the Democratic nomination, now a more serious obstacle following his upset victory Tuesday in Connecticut.

Although Brown is given little chance of wresting the nomination from Clinton, a protracted battle between the two could weaken the Arkansas governor heading into the fall.

So Clinton barely waited for the Connecticut polls to close before dropping his focus on President Bush to aim at Brown and his controversial flat-tax proposal.

"It is a war-on-New-York tax and we need to reject it in this primary," Clinton said Wednesday, arguing Brown's idea would raise taxes on the poor and the middle class.

Clinton aides believe the flat-tax issue - a 13 percent levy Brown would use to replace corporate and personal income taxes - can be used to defeat the former California governor without getting personal.

ELECTION '92

The Democrats

He also never passes up a chance to do radio, frequently calling from a portable phone en route to campaign stops to chat on the air.

In addition to the three talk shows - one of them was an appearance on Phil Donahue's show - Brown appeared on CNN's "Larry King Live" show on Wednesday night.

Observers say the decision to run a low-budget, guerrilla-style campaign may be the only reason Brown has been able to stay in the race against Clinton.

"If he tried it any other way I think he would have been sunk a long time ago," said Larry Sabato, a University of Virginia political science professor.

Brown is also beginning to reap the financial benefits of his new role as the lone Clinton spoiler. After raising just $1.15 million in the first six months of his campaign, Brown has seen a sudden surge in donations. His campaign predicts it will take in $1 million in March alone.

Brown's effort is a far cry from the $8.6 million raised by Clinton.

They contend the proposal would carry an accompanying 13 percent national sales tax that will turn off lower- and middle-income voters. It also would eliminate the deductibility for state and local taxes on federal tax returns, a sensitive issue for heavily taxed New Yorkers.

"This proposal is a disaster," Clinton said.

While the aim of the harsh rhetoric was to hurt Brown, aides said it also was designed to draw attention to Clinton and erase fears about him that have been raised by Brown and news stories about his dealings.

"We saw it in Illinois and Michigan - when he spent eight days campaigning, giving the people several chances to take a look at him and his ideas - his favorability ratings went way up and his unfavorability ratings went way down," said Clinton adviser Paul Begala.

U.N. heads toward Libya sanctions Gadhafi renege infuriates Security Council

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Enraged by Col. Moammar Gadhafi's "shell game" of backing out of an offer to surrender the suspects in the Pan Am Flight 103 bombing, the Security Council is rushing ahead to impose sanctions on Libya.

The text of the draft resolution to be circulated today would sever Libya's airline routes, ban the sale of airplanes or aircraft parts to the north African nation and urge other nations to eject most Libya diplomats.

The Security Council's president, Ambassador Diego Arria of Venezuela, said he will hold a formal vote on it Friday.

No one doubts it will pass by a wide margin after the Libyan leader's slap in the face of the Arab League, although China may abstain.

On Wednesday, Gadhafi sent away an Arab League delegation empty-handed despite Libya's earlier promise to hand over the two suspects in the 1988 bombing over Lockerbie, Scotland of Flight 103, which killed 270 people.

"It is totally in keeping with Libyan perfidy," U.S. Ambassador Thomas R. Pickering said Wednesday as the council resumed consultations on the sanctions resolution. "We felt all along that it was a stall and a shell game."

Libya is banking on action by the World Court in the Netherlands, which was to take up the case today. Libya argues that under international law the men cannot be extradited and must be tried in Libya. A ruling could take weeks.

The United States, Britain and France say they will press for passage of the sanctions regardless of what happens in the World Court. They argue that the Security Council is an independent U.N. body with the power to create international law.

The United States and Britain last fall indicted the two alleged Libyan intelligence agents in the Flight 103 bombing.

In addition, France is seeking to put on trial four Libyans accused of the 1989 bombing over Niger a French UTA airliner. That attack killed 171 people.

The U.N. sanctions had been on track for passage until Monday, when Libya called in India's ambassador in Tripoli and sent word through its U.N. ambassador that the two suspects in the Flight 103 bombing would be turned over to the Arab League. Deliberations on the draft resolution were suspended.

The handover was to be within 48 hours, coinciding with the arrival of an Arab League delegation in Tripoli on Tuesday that was expected to take custody of the men and take them back to Cairo.

Gadhafi repudiated his U.N. ambassador, Ali Ahmed Elhouderi, telling the Arab diplomats that he had misspoken, according to an Arab diplomat familiar with the talks.

Pickering's comments Wednesday were mild compared to the outrage and sense of betrayal expressed privately by Arab diplomats after Libya's retreat from its offer.

U.N. observers speculated that Libya's about-face may partly have sprung from its resentment over the 21-member Arab League's refusal Sunday to adopt a Libyan resolution on defying U.N. sanctions if they are adopted.

The Arab League urged U.N. mediation and asked the Security Council to refrain from acting until the World Court rules.

Libya has no extradition treaty with the United States or Britain and claims it is proceeding on its own with the trial of the two suspects, Abdel Basset Ali Megrahi, 39, and Lamem Khalifa Fhimah, 35.

France has charged the four other Libyans but has not formally sought extradition as the United States and Britain have.

Inaccurate Ruby portrayal beside point, says writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The brother of the Dallas nightclub owner who killed accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald says the movie "Ruby" is an inaccurate portrayal of Jack Ruby.

But the British playwright who wrote the screenplay for "Ruby," which opens Friday, says Earl Ruby's objections are beside the point.

"I'm not trying to write a non-fiction biography for the Ruby family of their brother," screenwriter Stephen Davis said Wednesday in a telephone interview from his Hollywood office.

"I would like to think their brother became public property the day he shot Oswald."

Davis said he combined research, interviews and "the rights of dramatists to exercise their imaginations" in creating the movie, which was partially filmed in Dallas.

The movie is speculative fiction - not a piece of reporting, Davis said. "I'm certainly not a journalist here trying to sign off on the final conspiracy theory," he said.

"I'm trying to take the audience on the journey of the moral minefield of the Kennedy assassination."

But Earl Ruby objected to his brother's portrayal as a Mafia hitman who ran drugs and killed an underworld crime boss in Cuba, was a police informant and had ties to the FBI and CIA.

Under Mafia orders, the movie contends, Ruby plotted an assassination attempt on Fidel Castro, then watched in horror as the hit was switched from the Cuban revolutionary to President Kennedy.

"It makes out my brother to be a hitman for organized crime," Ruby said Wednesday in a telephone interview from his Detroit area home. "Jack was never a part of organized crime."

The House Select Committee on Assassinations concluded in 1979 that Jack Ruby had contact with criminals and underworld figures but was not a participant in "organized criminal activity."

Earl Ruby also pointed to lie detector tests his brother took after being arrested that showed he was not part of a conspiracy to assassinate President Kennedy.

One of the few aspects of the movie Ruby didn't find fault with was the performance of Oscar nominee

Danny Aiello as Jack Ruby.

"Danny Aiello did an excellent job, but I didn't really appreciate it at all because it's not true," said Ruby, who saw the movie at a screening Tuesday.

"My sister Eva ... is distraught completely. Her health has deteriorated because of this and the 'JFK' movie also," Ruby said.

He conceded the FBI did try to recruit his brother as an informant, but said Jack never agreed.

The movie also implies that Oswald was on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository on Nov. 22, 1963 but didn't fire the fatal shots. Instead, he stood next to a rifleman who fired at the presidential motorcade, as did shooters at other points in Dealey Plaza.

The "triangulated fire" theory is similar to the recent film "JFK," which contends Kennedy was the victim of a plot by elements of organized crime, intelligence agencies and the military.

Jack Ruby was convicted of murdering Oswald and sentenced to death in 1964. The conviction was overturned and he died in 1967 of cancer while awaiting a second trial.

Informative program on Ireland given to club

Dorothy Prowell presented a program on Ireland when members of La Plata Study Club met Tuesday evening in her home. Mary Bartlett served as co-hostess.

Using the VCR, Prowell showed pictures of the Emerald Isle starting with Dublin, the capital, and completely circling the small country. Mrs. Prowell and her husband, Frank, and Avis and Raymond White toured the country known as the land of 40 shades of green. Displaying mementoes of her trip, the speaker told of their visit to the Waterford Crystal factory. She explained how the beautiful and expensive glass is made by hand.

Ireland has only 32,500 square miles with a population of 4,000,000. There are numerous businesses including glass factories, and woolens, lace and fishing industries. The farms are small and enclosed by rock fences.

Prowell told about the blarney stone, the many castles in various stages of disrepair, stating that in Ireland there are fewer people than castles and there are many beautiful cathedrals.

The speaker and her traveling companions stayed mainly in bed and breakfast accommodations and she said that one of the highlights of the trip was the banquet at Bunratty Castle. The scenery showed the Irish sea and the green countryside. A visit by boat to the Aron Islands, the most primitive setting toured, concluded the trip.

President Betty Mercer led the club collect and then conducted the business meeting. Members voted to individually help one of their fellow

Alzheimer's disease discussed

Argen Draper discussed Alzheimer's disease when members of the Hereford Pilot Club met recently in King's Manor Methodist Retirement Home's Lamar Room for their monthly program meeting.

Draper, who was introduced by president elect and program chairman Betty Taylor, serves as president of the local Alzheimer's Support Group. She told the group that the average time from diagnosis to death from a person with Alzheimer's is eight years according to the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorder Association, Inc. This year, $22 million in grants will be used in 44 research projects. Draper stressed that there is hope for the victims.

Draper also told members that there are approximately 200 diagnosed cases of Alzheimer's patients in the Hereford area. The only way to know for sure if a person is afflicted with the disease is to perform a post mortem autopsy.

For those who want additional information about Alzheimer's disease, there are pamphlets, books and tapes available at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

and Glenda Jesko.

The refreshment table, covered with a teal cloth and hand-crocheted overlay, was centered with an ivy plant accented with a teal bow and dusty rose silk flowers. Further enhancing the table were crystal appointments.

The honoree was presented with the ivy arrangement and Faberware cookware by the hostesses: Ruby Lee, Valerie Johnson, Brandi Clark, Luanne Carter, Peggy Danley, Glenda Jesko, Kristen Jesko, Terry Morton, Cathy Bunch, Sherry Goforth, Melinda Whitfill, Elaine Gerber and Valerie Fellhauer.

Diabetes can be a killer

Millions of Americans have diabetes, but don't know it, according to the American Diabetes Association (ADA). "For those, diabetes is like a silent time bomb, waiting to go off," Renee Hammock, Director of Nursing at Deaf Smith General Hospital, said. "On Diabetes Awareness Day, we hope to teach more people the early signs and dangers of diabetes."

Warning signs for diabetes include excessive thirst, frequent urination, drowsiness, itching, a family history of diabetes, blurred vision, excessive weight, tingling in the extremities, easy fatigue, skin infections and slow healing of cuts and scratches, especially on the feet.

"Many adults may have diabetes with none of these symptoms, and the disease is often discovered during routine physical exams," Hammock said.

People at highest risk to get diabetes are those who are overweight, those with diabetic relatives, and those over 35. Also women are more likely to get diabetes than men. "According to the ADA, two out of five people with diabetes either don't know they have the disease or are ignoring it and not receiving proper medical attention," she said. "The disease is not curable, but most symptoms can be controlled with proper care. It can be diagnosed with a simple blood test."

In diabetes, the body is unable to utilize food in the usual way. Normally the body changes food to a form of sugar called glucose. It may burn this right away to supply heat or energy. In diabetes, glucose accumulates in the blood. Diabetes is caused by a malfunction of the pancreas. If the pancreas doesn't produce enough insulin or quits producing insulin entirely, the body is unable to utilize sugar and the amount of sugar in the body rises uncontrollably.

According to the ADA diabetes decreases life expectancy by approximately one-third. It is now the leading cause of new cases of blindness. Diabetics are 17 times more prone to kidney disease, and five times more prone to gangrene.

EGGNOG

Dear Heloise: When I make punch or eggnog, I pour half into ice-cube trays and freeze.

When the cubes freeze, I add them to the other eggnog. This keeps it cold without watering it down. — Rita Jarkowski, Fallston, Md.

SNOW CREAM

Q. Can you tell me how to make ice cream using snow? I remember doing this as a child but can't remember how. — Monica P., Lansing, Mich.

A. The key to good "snow cream" is having fresh, clean snow. Put a large plastic container out to catch the snow as it falls.

Season heavy cream with a couple of drops of essence of lemon or maple syrup and powdered sugar. Stir in snow until it becomes stiff like ice cream. Enjoy! — Heloise

Sanders signs

Sanders signs with Cooke Co. College

Hereford High School senior Lori Sanders has signed to play volleyball at Cooke County Community College in Gainesville.

CCCC has one of the best volleyball programs in the National Junior College Athletic Association, and that's one of the things that attracted Sanders.

"They have a strong program. If they'd won one more game, they'd have gone to the national championship," Sanders said.

Sanders also chose CCCC for its location, 60 miles north of Dallas, and the chance to play soon.

"There's a very good possibility I'll get to play my freshman year," she said.

She'll receive a scholarship that will include everything except board, she said.

Sanders played two years on Hereford's varsity, helping the Lady Whitefaces to the regional finals both years. She was among the leaders in many statistical categories 1991. She led in serves received (300) and serves passed to setter (213). The second figure is a Hereford volleyball record.

Tyson gets six years in prison

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Mike Tyson was sentenced today to six years in prison for raping a teen-age beauty queen. The judge rejected his argument that "I didn't hurt anybody."

Superior Court Judge Patricia Gifford said a key reason for her decision to sentence him to prison was her belief that he was at risk to rape again.

"Something needs to be done about the attitude you displayed here," she said.

She sentenced Tyson to 10 years on each count, then suspended four of the 10 years and said the six year sentences would run concurrently. He was also fined him $10,000 on each count for a total of $30,000, the maximum fine. Gifford ordered Tyson to serve four years' probation after serving the time and to get psychotherapy during that period.

Tyson was sentenced for his Feb. 10 convictions on charges that he committed rape and criminal deviate conduct against a teen-age beauty pageant contestant last summer. A prosecutor recommended an eight-to-10-year sentence.

In his 10-minute address to the court, the former heavyweight champion spoke in a calm voice but was sometimes rambling. Before he spoke, he sat at the defense table, appearing to be studying from notes.

"I expect the worst. I don't know if I can deal with it," said Tyson.

HISD to separate athletic directorships

Hereford athletic director Danny Haney has announced a change in the athletic department which will create separate athletic directors for girls' sports and boys' sports.

Haney is currently the boys' AD. A girls' AD will be hired, possibly by April 8, Haney said.

"The job will have a great deal of teeth because they'll have power to hire and fire," Haney said. "They'll be able to reorganize their staff the way they see fit. This person will be responsible only to (HISD Superintendent Charles) Greenawalt—not to me."

Formerly, the athletic department had an assistant athletic director whose duties included overseeing girls' athletics. That position was made vacant with the resignation of Dickie Faught, who served as assistant AD and girls' basketball coach. One of the new AD's first responsibilities would be to hire a girls' basketball coach.

The new girls' AD would not necessarily coach basketball, but would coach a sport in Hereford, Haney said. HISD is accepting applications from anyone, including coaches who already are in Hereford.

"Anybody in-house that would be interested in the job, we're going to take a long, hard look at," he said.

The reason for the change is to provide a closer relationship between the athletic director and girls' sports.

"We're going to give a commitment to girls' sports by giving them their own AD," Haney said. "The idea behind that is to provide leadership in terms of better day-to-day contact with athletes and coaches.

"You come to the realization as total AD that you can't keep your hands on as much as you'd like. Girls' athletics has increased in breadth and scope to the point where you need someone who's going to provide that hands-on approach."

The HISD athletic department also needs to hire a boys' basketball coach, and Haney said one may be hired by the end of April.

Haney will interview 7-10 coaches, he said, and bring five candidates before a hiring committee composed of himself, Greenawalt and HHS principal Terry Russell.

"We want this done by April 30," Haney said.

Herd teams on the road this weekend

For the first time in a long time, no high school sports will be played this weekend in Hereford. Every team will be in action, but they'll be out of town.

The baseball team will play a doubleheader with Estacado Saturday in Lubbock. The first game starts at 1 p.m. Both the junior varsity and the freshman baseball teams are playing in the Plainview Tournament today, Friday and Saturday.

Hereford's golf teams were to play their first district rounds today. Caprock is hosting both boys and girls at Comanche Trails in Amarillo. The boys also will play Friday at Pampa.

The tennis team is playing in a tournament in Borger Friday and Saturday. The boys' track team will compete in the San Angelo Relays Friday and Saturday, and the girls' team will be at the Lubbock Invitational Saturday.

HMGA meets tonight

The Hereford Men's Golf Association will hold a meeting at 7 tonight at Hereford Country Club.

Members of the association and all interested golfers are welcome to attend the meeting, said president Bill Brown. Dues for the organization are $10 a year.

A variety of homestead exemptions could lower your property taxes!

A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. If your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $5,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth $45,000.

Who qualifies for an exemption?

Anyone who owned a home on Jan. 1st (and used it as their primary residence on that date) is entitled to a $5,000 homestead exemption to lower their school and CED property taxes this year... and it doesn't matter if your home is a house, condominium or mobile home. (Counties, cities and special taxing districts may also offer homestead exemptions.)

Are other exemptions available?

If you're disabled—or if you're 65 years old or older—you are entitled to an additional $10,000 school tax exemption on your home. And if you qualify for the over-65 exemption, you're also entitled to a permanent, locked-in "ceiling" on the school property taxes on your home. (The ceiling does not apply to county or city property taxes, and those entities may offer other exemptions.)

Do I have to apply each year?

No. If you had a homestead exemption on your home in 1991, you won't need to reapply for 1992 unless your chief appraiser requires it. However, if you haven't received an exemption on your present home—or if you've moved to a new home—you'll need to file for an exemption for 1992. And if you turned 65 or became disabled during 1991, you need to file for the additional exemptions.

When and where should I file?

Applications should be filed by April 30 at your appraisal district office. If you need more time, contact us by April 30 at:

Deaf Smith County Appraisal Dist.
140 E. 3rd
Hereford, TX 79045

Protect your rights! "Render" your property by March 31st.

A "rendition" is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you owned or controlled on January 1st of this year. The rendition form is available at your local appraisal district office... or you may draft a similar form.

Who must file a rendition?

You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property that is used to produce income—such as the inventory and equipment used by a business.

Are there any advantages to you?

The advantages of filing a rendition are:

- 1. You give your opinion of your property's value. If the appraisal district believes the value is higher, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review board.
- 2. You record your correct mailing address so your tax bills will go to the right address. If your bill is mailed to the wrong address, the law still holds you responsible for paying your taxes on time or paying extra charges for late payments.
- 3. You can also file a "report of decreased value" to notify the appraisal district of significant depreciation of the value of your property in 1991. The district will look at your property before assigning a value in 1992.

What's the deadline?

The last day for filing or postmarking 1992 renditions is Tuesday, March 31. You can get an extra 30 days if you ask for it in writing by the March 31 deadline.

Where do you file?

File renditions with your local appraisal district at:

Lady Raiders look to upset surprising Cardinal

SEATTLE (AP) - A Stanford team that surprised even its coaches after losing most of its stars and starters faces an upset-minded Texas Tech squad in the NCAA West Regional semifinals tonight at the University of Washington's Hec Edmundson Pavilion.

In the opening match, Stephen F. Austin will rely on its familiar pressure defense to try and overcome Southern California's height advantage.

No. 3 Stanford and No. 12 Texas Tech can count on double-figure scoring from all five starters. Both also have consistent go-to players in Stanford's Val Whiting and Texas Tech's Sheryl Swoopes.

Stanford (26-3, 15-3 in the Pacific-10 Conference) has less experience, with reserve forward Ann Adkins the only senior on the squad.

Cardinal point guard Molly Goodenbour, a 5-6 junior who averages 11.6 points per game, has had to fill the gap left by Pac-10 all-time assists and steals leader Sonja Henning, who graduated.

Goodenbour said the team's inexperience was probably what caused surprising conference losses to Cal and Oregon State this season.

"As we mature as a team... I don't think that's going to happen as often," she said.

Cardinal coach Tara VanDerveer said the team has already exceeded the expectations of some on her coaching staff, who expected no better than a .500 finish without Henning and all-Pac-10 players Trisha Stevens and Julie Zeilstra.

"Our team has improved as Molly has improved," she said.

Texas Tech (27-4, 13-1 in the Southwest Conference) is led by Swoopes, a 6-0 junior transfer who averaged 21.7 points and 8.8 rebounds per game and was named both conference player and newcomer of the year.

"She has taken us to a different level," coach Marsha Sharp said.

The Lady Raiders finished 23-8 overall last season and third in the Southwest Conference with a 12-4 mark. They were unranked last season and were knocked out of the NCAA tournament in the first round.

This year they finished first in the conference and earned a 12th-place ranking.

Swoopes said the Red Raiders might be considered underdogs against Stanford, which won the regional in 1990 and returned in 1991. "I don't think a lot of people are expecting us to win," she said.

Sharp said the Red Raiders will try to slow the Cardinal and contain Pac-10 player-of-the-year Whiting, who averages 18.8 points and 8.9 rebounds per game.

Gary Blair, coach of No. 4 Stephen F. Austin (28-2 overall, 17-1 in the Southland Conference), said his team would have to outthrust No. 23 Southern Cal.

"We've got 17 inches to make up, man for man in the starting lineup, but we accept that challenge because we face it every day," he said.

Blair had his squad practice double-teaming under the basket Wednesday in preparation for Southern Cal's 6-5 center Lisa Leslie, who averages 20.8 points and 8.2 rebounds per game.

Blair said he would start his 5-11 sophomore center Trenia Tillis against Leslie. "Tillis will surprise you. That kid is a leaper," he said.

The performance of Stephen F. Austin's Deneen Parker, a 5-9 junior guard who averages 15.8 points per game, will be a key. Parker shot just 2-of-14 from the field in a 75-74 squeaker over Creighton in the tournament's first round.

Southern Cal coach Marianne Stanley said the Trojans (21-7, 14-4 in the Pac-10) must keep their composure under Austin's pressure defense.

Tammy Story, a 5-8 senior who averages 12.4 points and 3.5 assists per game, runs the Trojan offense and was described by Stanley as the glue that holds the team together. Like Leslie, Story was named to the first-team All Pac-10.

Wreck's Mackey wants revenge on Memphis St.

By The Associated Press

Malcolm Mackey has a score to settle against Memphis State.

When he was a teen-ager in Chattanooga, Tenn., the Georgia Tech forward played in an AAU league against a team featuring current Memphis State stars Anfernee Hardaway, David Vaughn and Anthony Douglas.

"They used to beat us every year by 30 points," Mackey said. "So I want to get them back."

Mackey will get his chance Friday when Georgia Tech (23-11) plays

Memphis State (22-10) in the semifinals of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Kansas City, Mo.

Hardaway, who leads Memphis State in scoring, assists and steals, is a major concern for Tech. However, coach Bobby Cremins knows his Yellow Jackets can't focus solely on the 6-foot-7 sophomore.

"We've got to worry about Hardaway, but they are not a one-man team," Cremins said. "That was the big misconception about Southern California, that Harold Miner was a one-man team. That wasn't the case then and it's not the case against Memphis State."

Memphis State upset Arkansas 82-80 to reach the final 16, while Tech stunned Southern Cal 79-78 on a desperation 3-pointer at the buzzer by James Forrest.

"Now the pressure really starts to build," Cremins said. "The media coverage is incredible, and every time you turn on the TV you see James' shot. Now all of a sudden people start saying, 'Georgia Tech really has a great shot.'"

"Well, I think we do have a shot, but I think Memphis State has a great shot. ... They're excited. They feel after beating Arkansas they can beat anybody."

Georgia Tech made the Final Four in 1990, but Memphis State missed the NCAA tournament the past two years.

"Our confidence is peaking right now," Vaughn said. "It's been an up and down season, but we're playing our best right now."

In the other Midwest Regional semifinal, Cincinnati (27-4) will play

Texas-El Paso (27-6). In the Southeast Regional on Friday, Ohio State (25-5) plays North Carolina (23-9) and Michigan (22-8) meets Oklahoma State (28-7) at Lexington, Ky.

Tonight, Massachusetts (30-4) faces Kentucky (28-6) and Duke (30-2) plays Seton Hall (23-8) at the East Regional in Philadelphia. At the West Regional in Albuquerque, N.M., it's Florida State (22-9) vs. Indiana (25-6) and UCLA (27-4) vs. New Mexico State (25-7).

Michigan's "Fab Five" freshmen aren't intimidated by Oklahoma State. "We're fairly matched up," Chris Webber said. "They like to run, we like to run. They slow it up, we slow it up. It's like playing ourselves."

Hardaway, Warriors stall Pistons

By The Associated Press

Tim Hardaway reminds Isiah Thomas of himself when he was a little younger. Unfortunately for Thomas, that player was very good.

Hardaway scored 14 of his 30 points in the fourth quarter Wednesday night and combined with Chris Mullin to score Golden State's final 20 points in the final 7:14 of a 103-99 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

"I like playing against Tim because you always know you will get a good game," said Thomas, who scored 17 points. "When I watch him, I know what it must have been like to play against me when I was 23. He's got every move I ever had, and they're all pretty darn good, too."

The victory snapped the Warriors' three-game losing streak and ended an 11-year drought against the Pistons, whose last previous home loss to Golden State came on Jan. 29, 1981, a span of 10 games.

Jazz 100, 76ers 94

Utah improved its NBA-best home record to 31-3 as Karl Malone scored 28 points and Tyrone Corbin went 9-for-9 from the field and finished with 21 points against Philadelphia.

Charles Barkley scored 23 points for the 76ers, who lost for the sixth time in seven games and have fallen to 10th place in the Eastern Conference.

Suns 132, Bucks 104

Phoenix handed Milwaukee its 18th straight road loss, pulling away easily after Tom Chambers boosted the Suns into a 36-21 lead by scoring 19 of his 33 points in the first quarter.

Phoenix led 65-41 at the half, 96-73 after three quarters and as many as 31 points in the final period over the Bucks, who were led by Frank Brickowski's 19 points.

Hornets 113, Spurs 108

Charlotte won for the 10th time in 11 games behind Kendall Gill's 28 points against San Antonio.

The Hornets took advantage of the absence of David Robinson, who sat out the game with sprained ligaments in his left thumb. It was the first time in his 232-game career that he has been out of the lineup.

Terry Cummings had 34 points and 15 rebounds for the Spurs, while Antoine Carr replaced Robinson at the center position and had 21 points.

Celtics 118, Nets 110

Boston handed New Jersey just its fourth loss in 21 home games as Larry Bird had 25 points, nine rebounds and nine assists and Kevin McHale hit 10 of 11 shots and scored a season-high 24 points.

The Celtics, who took the lead for good with a 14-4 run in the second quarter, had to withstand one big challenge from the Nets in the third period, when Derrick Coleman scored 15 of his 34 points. But Boston never cooled off, finishing with 60 percent shooting for the game.

Cavaliers 106, Magic 96

Cleveland won at Orlando as Mark Price matched his season high with 30 points and Larry Nance scored eight of his 22 points in the final four minutes.

The Cavaliers, who won their fourth straight game and for the ninth time in their last 10, saw a 13-point lead trimmed to seven before Price and Nance took over.

Heat 105, Timberwolves 97

Grant Long had 27 points and 15 rebounds and Glen Rice scored 22 points as Miami handed Minnesota its 14th straight loss.

The win was only the eighth in 35 road outings this season for the Heat, who pulled into eighth place in the tightly bunched playoff race. The eight road victories is a record for the 4-year-old franchise.

Pacers 131, Bullets 109

At Landover, Md., Reggie Miller scored 27 of his 36 points in the first half as Indiana handed Washington its sixth consecutive loss.

The Pacers shot 67 percent from the field in the first half while building a 70-53 lead. Miller was 11-for-13, including all four of his 3-point attempts, and finished 14-for-18 overall and 5-for-5 from 3-point range.

NWIT gets started today in Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - The two- and three-week layoffs leading to today's start of the 24th National Women's Invitation Tournament has drawn the wrath of some coaches, but not that of Vince Goo.

His top-seeded Hawaii Rainbow Wahines (23-6) are used to big gaps in their season.

"We had some cases in our conference schedule where we'd play four games in six days on the mainland, then come home and go 12 days without playing," Goo said. "Our location has caused a lot of problems like that because we can't just pick up and go for one game."

The Wahines' last game was March 12. They'll face eighth-seeded Florida International (22-8) tonight at Cal Farley Coliseum.

Goo also downplayed the time difference between Hawaii and Amarillo.

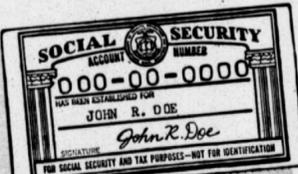

"I don't think it will be that much trouble for us," Goo said. "We had pretty much the same thing with our conference schedule, where we'd be playing two time zones away. The jet lag can be a problem, but I think everybody's used to doing it now."

The round-robin tournament, which runs through Saturday, gets underway at 1 p.m. with No. 4 Alabama-Birmingham (23-6) facing No. 5 Arkansas State (23-6).

Other first-round matchups have No. 3. La Salle (25-5) meeting No. 6 Nebraska (20-9) at 3 p.m. and No. 2. Georgia Tech (17-13) taking on No. 7 Wisconsin-Green Bay (22-6) at 6 p.m.

The Wahines have only one player, center Alicia Pontious at 11.1, scoring in double figures.

Gooden seems recovered in win over Astros

By The Associated Press
Dwight Gooden's season will start a lot sooner than the New York Mets expected.

Gooden, taking another step in his recovery from rotator cuff surgery, pitched five strong innings for the victory as the Mets beat the Houston Astros 3-1 Wednesday at Kissimmee, Fla.

After the game, manager Jeff Torborg said Gooden would be the scheduled starter for the Mets' home opener against Montreal on April 10. The Mets open the season on April 6 at St. Louis.

Gooden (1-0) allowed just three hits, walked one and struck out three. Of his 57 pitches, 36 were strikes.

Mariners 7, Athletics 5

At Phoenix, NBC sportscaster Bob Costas got an unexpected birthday gift - a chance to manage the Oakland Athletics. But Seattle beat the A's as Rich DeLucia pitched five shutout innings.

The birthday gift was arranged by Costas' wife through officials with the A's. The A's said Costas will be in charge except for pitching moves.

Tigers 2, Reds 1

At Plant City, Fla., Tony Phillips drove in both Detroit runs with a homer and a single as Cincinnati ended Greg Swindell's perfect spring training.

Expos 4 (ss), Braves 0

At West Palm Beach, Fla., five Montreal pitchers combined on a two-hitter and the Expos pounded Steve Avery to beat Atlanta. Avery gave up 11 hits and four earned runs in five innings, although he struck out eight and walked none.

Expos (ss) 3, Dodgers 2

At Vero Beach, Fla., strong winds and opposing hitters continued to play havoc with Orel Hershiser's sinkerball as a Montreal split squad beat Los Angeles. Hershiser suffered his second straight loss as he gave up three runs in six innings, including a two-run homer by Marquis Grissom in the third that put the Expos ahead.

Pirates 11, Twins 7 (12)

At Bradenton, Fla., Mike Huyler, a minor leaguer called up to play only one game, hit a grand slam in the 12th inning off former Pirate Bob Kipper and Pittsburgh rallied with six runs to beat Minnesota.

Kirky Puckett's two-run triple in the 12th gave Minnesota a 7-5 lead, but Jeff King tied it with a two-run double. After the Pirates loaded the bases, Huyler hit a 1-2 pitch over the left field wall - Pittsburgh's fifth homer of the game - to deal Minnesota its 10th consecutive loss and eighth in six games.

Red Sox 1, Orioles 1 (12)

At St. Petersburg, Fla., Ben McDonald pitched five solid innings for Baltimore, and the Orioles and Boston Red Sox played to a 1-1, 12-inning tie.

McDonald gave up no runs and four hits in five innings. He walked three and struck out three.

Padres 8, Giants 7 (ss) (10)

At Yuma, Ariz., Jim Vatcher's single in the 10th inning scored Craig Shipley from second base for the winning run as San Diego beat a San Francisco split squad.

Brewers 9, Indians 4

At Tucson, Ariz., Jeff Shaw barked in the go-ahead run in the fifth inning and Mario Diaz hit a two-run triple in the eighth to lead Milwaukee over Cleveland.

Cleveland led 3-0 after three innings, but Darryl Hamilton's three-run homer off Indians starter Dennis Cook in the fourth inning tied the score. A sacrifice fly by Carlos Baerga in the bottom of the fourth gave Cleveland a 4-3 lead.

Angels 4, Cubs 2

At Palm Springs, Calif., Joe Grahe

won a spot in California's starting rotation by pitching six strong innings as the Angels beat Chicago.

Phillies 7, Blue Jays 1

At Clearwater, Fla., Tommy Greene pitched seven strong innings and Darren Daulton had three of Philadelphia's 13 hits as the Phillies beat Toronto. Greene gave up six hits and one run while walking one and striking out seven.

White Sox 4, Rangers 1

At Port Charlotte, Fla., Kirk McCaskill pitched two-hit ball for six innings and Ozzie Guillen drove in three runs as Chicago beat Texas. Monte Fariss hit home run for the Rangers.

Giants (ss) 4, Mariners (ss) 3

At Scottsdale, Ariz., San Francisco pitcher Bud Black, making his exhibition debut, re-injured his back.

Finley up there with greats

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP) - In Steve Finley's first full season in the National League, he can always brag he was right there with Will Clark and Ryne Sandberg.

The final NL statistics show that Houston's Finley had 170 hits, tying him with Clark and Sandberg for sixth best in the league.

"I felt I had to prove myself and I think I did that," Finley said. "I showed what I could do.

The Astros centerfielder flourished in the transition from the American to the National League. He came to the team from Baltimore in the famed trade that sent along pitchers Peter Harnisch and Curt Schilling for Glenn Davis.

Finley ranked third in triples and tied for third in outfield assists with 13. He hit .285 with eight homers and 54 RBI.

Pretty good for someone who has been labeled a utility player or a platoon player at best. "I had that tag," Finley said. "I wanted to prove I could play every day and get the job done. The Astros traded a popular player and I just wanted a chance."

Finley showed his speed with 34 stolen bases. The 27-year-old left-hander played in 159 games and had a respectable .250 batting average against left-handed pitchers.

Finley only made five errors last year and manager Art Howe said "you've got to have a centerfielder like Steve who plays steady defense. He hits the cutoff man and covers the gaps. He throws the ball well. He's kind of an anchor for us out there in the outfield. He's also starting to show that he's a pretty good hitter."

Howe is so confident with Finley that in the off-season Houston traded centerfielder Kenny Lofton to Cleveland for catcher Eddie Taubensee. Lofton was considered one of the top outfield prospects in the Astros minor league system.

"I don't like to predict, but I think this team will be much better this season and I think I'll have a much better year," Finley said. "The National League has already been good to me. It's more my type of game over here. The pitchers throw fastballs and throw them for strikes. It just seems to be a faster paced game than the American and I like that a lot. There's not as much standing around."

Finley has a big goal of improving his on-base percentage.

He walked only 42 times last year which is low for a leadoff hitter.

"I'm trying to learn to be more patient," Finley said. "It's important to cut down on those bad at-bats. I need to quit swinging at pitches out of the strike zone."

"I hope I surprise a lot of people again this year. I might surprise them but I won't surprise myself."

Women hear report on Beef Industry Council

Jennifer Finch with the Texas Beef Industry Council in Austin spoke to members of the Hereford CattleWomen during a recent meeting held at the Hereford Country Club.

Finch explained what the local group can do to educate the public on the quality of beef production and how to help promote the healthy aspects of beef consumption.

The meeting was called to order by Pam Wagner and Lisa Klett gave the invocation. Minutes were read and approved and Wagner reported on the bank balance.

Jackie Murphey reported on Ag Week. The Hereford CattleWomen conducted a beef casserole sale March 21.

Nominations and voting on the Hereford CattleWoman of the Year and the Honorary CowBelle of the Year were held.

Wagner reminded everyone of the Beef Cookoff scheduled in April. She will be taking a suburban for anyone wishing to attend.

Rachel Hunter won a beef certificate from Collier's Meat Market.

Several guests were given special introduction. They included Charlene Sanders, Mona Gale Gibson and Sylvia Khuri. Also, present, were members of the Texas Aggie CattleWomen, Jill Johnson and her mother, Terri Johnson, and Jennifer Smith and her mother, Carol Smith.

Those attending the meeting were Sanders, Linda Gilbert, Brenda Johnson, Nancy Josseland, Hunter, Jill Johnson, Jennifer Smith, Carol Smith, Terri Johnson, Michelle Lookingbill, Julia Laing, Joan Coupe, Eleanor Gibson, Mona Gale Gibson, Khuri, Marty McElhaney, Erin Alley, Leisa Lewis, Linda Fitzgerald, Karen Keeling, Klett, Murphey, Finch, Kay Hall, Wagner and Beverly Davis.

Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter," was published in 1850.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have been having a severe burning sensation in my chest, belching, choking and also a feeling of pressure as if I have a heavy weight sitting on my chest. My doctor put me on Zantac and told me I have a reflux condition. I was afraid I am having heart symptoms.

The burning and choking is much better after taking Zantac for three weeks. However, I still have the pressure, and at times, it is so severe that I feel like I am going to pass out. What causes esophageal spasm?

DEAR READER: The improvement in your symptoms is a good indication that your doctor is right. It is often difficult to separate the pain of esophageal spasm from the pain of a heart attack. The esophagus passes down the middle of your chest and is situated against the back of the heart. It is a muscular tube, and when those muscles contract forcefully, it is really a muscle cramp. You probably know what a cramp in the calf of your leg feels like. Just think of that in your chest and you have your answer to the symptoms that can occur with esophageal spasm.

Why does the spasm occur? Usually from irritation of the esophagus, commonly from acid digestive juice in the stomach that has been squirted backward from the stomach into the lower esophagus. That is often associated with a hiatal hernia. You can have esophageal spasm and not have any evidence of a reflux. Very strong forceful rhythmic contractions for whatever reason may cause it.

Of course, you should avoid things that tend to irritate your esophagus, and that does include coffee, tea, colas and, in some cases, fruit juices or acid and spicy foods. Alcohol is a no-no.

You need to adjust your lifestyle according to the recommendations in Special Report 93, Heartburn, Esophageal Spasm, Hiatal Hernia, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/93, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. I trust you don't smoke. If you do, you should stop. There are also additional medicines that may help if you need them, but controlling the amount of acid digestive juice produced by your stomach is helpful.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am in fairly good health, but I have a hiatal hernia. It is quite painful at times, and I take Tums, which helps. I often have fits of coughing, especially at night when I am lying down in bed. Could these coughing spells have a relation to the hernia?

DEAR READER: Yes. I can't say that is the cause of your cough, but esophageal reflux can cause a sore throat, hoarseness, cough and laryngitis. It can cause choking and wheezing at night and even asthma. Read the report I'm sending you to help manage your hiatal hernia.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have a hiatal hernia and got in trouble after eating tomatoes and corn. I did have Zantac on hand because I use that after attending a cocktail party and dinner dance to offset any alcohol I may have drunk. The Zantac has not helped as much as I would wish so my doctor has suggested I take Prilosec.

DEAR READER: Zantac and Tagamet will decrease your alcohol tolerance greatly. Anyone taking these medications should avoid even one drink. Alcohol is bad for all of the acid-indigestion, reflux and ulcer-type problems.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My mother had a routine checkup. Her liver enzymes were very high. We realize now that she was jaundiced, but did not notice it before. The first thing the doctor wanted to know was, "How much do you drink?" My mother has NEVER drank any alcohol in her life. He sent her to a gastroenterologist who said she has primary biliary cirrhosis and prescribed a medication called Actigall. He told her to take it for six months and "let's see how things are at that time." What can you tell us about this type of liver disease?

DEAR READER: The disease is destruction or obstruction of the tiny bile ducts in the liver. When they do not drain the liver cells, it is a lot like having a gallstone obstructing the bile tract. That leads to jaundice. However, the most common first symptom of this disorder is itching. The cause is not known, but it is believed to be caused by the immune system attacking the bile ducts. It is not caused by alcohol. It occurs most often in women — 90 percent of such cases.

I suspect the gastroenterologist wants to see if there are small stones or bile solids that may be a factor in her illness because Actigall is used to dissolve gallstones.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Common sense best defense when sick

When it comes to battling back the miserable symptoms of the common cold and cough, common sense may be the best defense.

The common cold and cough strike Americans about three times each year. With all the years of experience that a person gets fighting colds, one would think that he or she should be quite expert at treating the condition. Yet, many people choose to ignore their symptoms, rather than working to relieve them.

"One of the best things that a person can do for a cold is to treat the symptoms," says Allan Bruckheim, M.D., family physician, and author of "The Family Doctor," syndicate column. "Treating cold symptoms will help a person feel better, and enable them to continue on with their day."

Physicians recommend that cold sufferers consider four step when choosing an over-the-counter old and cough medicine.

Step I
Match cold symptoms to the ingredients in the medicine. Today, a variety of cold medicines are available over-the-counter. Some medicines are single-ingredient formulas, which means that they treat one symptom. Other medicines have multi-ingredients to treat several symptoms. Medication selection will depend on the type and number of symptoms to be treated.

For example, a four-ingredient old and cough medicine, such as AlkaSeltzer Plus Cold & Cough Medicine, provides a convenient way to relieve major cold and cough symptoms. Some cold and cough ingredients to look for include:

*Decongestants, such as phenylpropranolamine, help relieve nasal and sinus congestion

*Antihistamines, such as chlorpheniramine, help relieve runny nose and sneezing

*Analgesics, such as buffered aspirin, to help relieve headache, or throat, body ache and fever

*Antitussive, such as dextromethorphan, to help suppress a dry cough

Step II
After matching cold symptoms to medicines ingredients, it's important to consider lifestyle requirements. Some medicines cause drowsiness, and are beneficial for people who need to rest or sleep. Other people need to select medicines it will help them to remain alert. "When cold suffers think about their lifestyle needs, they should also consider how frequently the medicine must be taken, and the delivery form of the medicine," says Dr. Bruckheim. "People on the go usually prefer medicine that must be taken less frequently. And, many individuals have specific preference when it comes to medication delivery. Liquids, tablets, capsules or effervescent medicines are the standard options."

Step III
Once symptoms and lifestyle requirements have been assessed, read the medicine label carefully. The product label provides important information beyond ingredient an dosage.

For example, it's important to look for warnings and drug interaction precautions. These sections will indicate specific medical conditions or medications for which the old medicine is not appropriate. (Certain Medicines interact or interfere with other medicines or medical conditions.)

The product label also conveys information about how long the medication can be used, and what to do if desired relief is not attained, or is your col worsens.

Step IV
Even the most informed consumer can have difficulty choosing a cold and cough remedy. That's where our pharmacist comes in. Your pharmacist is an excellent resource, and can help you determine the cold medicine that is right for you.

When you talk to your pharmacist, be, be specific about your symptoms, lifestyle needs, any other medical conditions you may have or medication you may be taking.

Other Cold and Cough Combat Tips

"When you have a cold, take extra care to help your body's immune system to recover," says Dr. Bruckheim. "Rest, keep warm, drink extra fluids and eat sensibly. If symptoms, such as a cough are accompanied by a fever that persists for longer than two to three days, see your doctor."

You should also be courteous to others around you. Help to minimize the risk of spreading your cold:

*Use disposable tissues and throw them in the trash when through

*Wash hands frequently

*Wipe shared surfaces, such as telephone and counter tops, clean

*Set aside separate drinking and eating utensils

*Designate a separate bathroom cup and towel

For more information about managing the common cold and cough, send your name and address on a postcard to: "Alka-Seltzer Plus Cold and Cough Reports," Rockefeller Station, P.O. Box 3929, New York, NY 10185-0034.

More than a pretty name

As you make your way through the supermarket's baker department, words like earthy, 7-grain, whole wheat, bran and natural invite you to reach out a tasty loaf of bread.

Bread is certainly a healthful part of the diet, confirms Mary Helen Gunkler, registered dietitian and staff nutritionist for Total cereal. The Dietary Guidelines for Americans call for six to 11 servings of grain products daily—cereals, pasta, rice and, of course, breads.

The name of the bread may provide some help identifying the whole-grain products, which experts particularly recommend, but it doesn't tell the hole story. For example, a bread name may include the number of grains, but these are not necessarily whole grains.

Words like whole wheat and cracked wheat tell you the product includes the whole wheat grain. You'll also see ingredients, such as wheat flour and enriched wheat flour, which are not made from the whole grain. However, the advantage of enriched flour is that it has nutrients added back that were lost in processing and iron.

When bran is part of the name or in the ingredient list, the bran (outer layer of a grain) has been included. Various types of bran provide different amounts of fiber. So, check the nutrition information on the label to find out how much fiber a slice of the bread contains.

Descriptive terms, such as natural and stone ground, while appealing, do not necessarily mean that bread is whole grain. Neither is color a good indicator, as bread may be dark because of added coloring, molasses or brown sugar. Don't judge by the weight their; a heavy loaf doesn't always mean that the bread contains whole grain flour.

Lapidary club meets Monday

The Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club met Monday evening at the Deaf Smith County Library with President Dale Henson presiding.

During the business meeting, members voted to renew their membership in the Friends of the Library. They also discussed several area gem and mineral shows.

L.D. Combes furnished the door prize which was awarded to Jack Nunley.

Serving as hosts for the meeting were Ralph and Jane Packard, Hazel Botts and Thama Pearson.

Milton and Helen Newell, son and daughter-in-law of Merle Newell, were welcomed as special guests by those present. They included Jack and Helen Nunley, Ralph and Jane Packard, Bud and Lurline Cawthon, Dale and Betty Henson, Floyd and Juanita Coker, Weldon and Bobbie Roberson, Ruth King, Merle Newell, Cecil Lady, Joe Williams, Bert Brown, L.D. Combs, Thama Pearson, Baxter London and Hazel Botts.

Brown presides at meeting

Noble Grand Shirley Brown presided at the regular business session of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 when the group met Tuesday evening with 15 members attending.

Reports on the sick and bereaved were made. Thirty visits to the sick, 26 cheer cards and six dishes of food were counted.

A discussion was held regarding a "scam" operation which is aimed at members of benevolent organizations. Members were cautioned to be very sure of where any donations are going.

Faye Brownlow served as hostess to Brown, Dorothy Collier, Susie Curtisinger, Ann Werner, Peggy Lemons, Tony Irlbeck, Erma Loving, Jim Loving, Sadie Shaw, Ursalee Jacobsen, Ocie Bolton, Mary Lou Weatherford, Irene Merritt and Leona Sowell.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP) - David Letterman's most dogged fan showed up again in his neighborhood, after telling authorities she'd leave him alone.
Margaret Ray, a 39-year-old from Crawford, Colo., who has been arrested six times on charges of breaking into Letterman's house, tried to get a taxi driver to take her to the late-night comedian's estate Sunday but was foiled when the cabbie got suspicious.
"She said, 'I'm Margaret Ray. He's expecting me. I have papers to drop off,'" driver Brian Zito said Tuesday.
Police later found her near Letterman's home and put her on a train to New York City.
After leaving a Connecticut mental hospital last spring, Ray promised never to bother Letterman.

Spinach is a member of the goosefoot plant family. Surprisingly, it is first cousin to the beet. Eating spinach is a good way to build up iron in the blood.

Amelia Bloomer, the suffragette who lent her name to women's baggy trousers, was born in 1910. The first newspaper edited for and by blacks, Freedom's Journal, was published in 1827 in New York. James Madison, the fourth president of the United States, was born in Port Conway, Va., in 1751.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago my father moved out of the state because he drank too much, his second marriage broke up, and he couldn't afford to live here.

One day he called and asked me if he could put his car insurance under my name. He admitted that he had been cited three times for driving while intoxicated and couldn't afford the $1,400. The insurance would only be $300 under my name. He asked for my license number, and I couldn't say no, so I gave it to him. I told him I wanted to talk to his agent before anything was done. He said, "No problem."

A few phone calls and a couple of months went by and there was no mention of the incident. Finally I called and said, "Dad, I haven't heard from your agent. What's going on?" "Oh, I took care of it," he said.

To make a long story short, he not only forged my name with his agent, he had one of his bar girls pose as me at the Department of Motor Vehicles and she registered his car in my name. I found this out through his agent. Needless to say, I was outraged.

After numerous calls putting a stop to everything, he made me feel like the bad guy, saying I was a lousy daughter and didn't care about him.

It's been over a year now and it bothers me that he has no interest in speaking to me. My siblings keep in touch with him and tell me he is drinking more than ever and is in poor health.

Should I make the first move? I don't want to feel guilty if something should happen to him before the rift between us is healed. How should I handle this, Ann? I value your advice. --Forged, J.B., Northport, N.Y.

DEAR J.B.: Forgive him--if not for his sake, for yours. Wait until the next family occasion--a birthday, his or yours, or some other family event, Easter or July 4. Reach out to him and patch things up. What he did was pretty rotten, not to mention illegal, but holding a grudge till the grave profits no one.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I recently placed my aunt in a nursing home. Her husband is dead, she has no children and she wanted to go there.

"Aunt Molly" has received letters from well-meaning friends who say, "So sorry to hear you're in a home. I hope the food is good." She was offended by these comments and said, "Don't they know I need this care and I'm happy here? I still make my own decisions and when I no longer can, I'll be in the right place."

Please, Ann, print this for those who believe nursing homes are for the disabled and incompetent. It makes me sad that people think my aunt is in a miserable place and that she has been "warehouses." --Boston

DEAR BOSTON: Many seniors who are in nursing homes are in pretty good physical condition and enjoying life. Some have written to say they are happy to be free of the burden of keeping house and the social life is a godsend.

Not long ago, an 84-year-old woman wrote to tell me she had met a lovely 86-year-old man in the home and they plan to be married as soon as they can get their children's consent. Is that sweet or what?

Rinse away laundry stains

The stubborn reddish-brown stains on laundry are probably caused by iron or rust in the water or pipes.

Here's some suggestions on how to remove rust spots and discolorations from your laundry.

Never use bleach to eliminate rust stains; it will set and intensify discoloration. Try a rust-removing agent which can be purchased in grocery, discount, variety and drug stores. It's easy and safe to use on washable white and colorfast fabrics. Use the product in the sink or washing machine carefully following package instructions; wash garments afterwards in detergent. The rust-remover also works on rust spots caused by rusty metal zippers, hangers, buckles and snaps. It's even great for removing tough stains caused by red clay soil.

Another way to approach rust stains is to try and avoid them altogether.

Contact lenses facts

More than 24 million Americans wear them, but how much do we really know about contact lenses? Test your knowledge...

Did you know the concept for contact lenses originated with Leonardo da Vinci, the world-renowned Renaissance painter and sculptor? In the sixteenth century, he suggested contact lenses as a means to correct vision.

Did you know the first contact lens, introduced in 1887, was made of glass and covered the eye's entire surface? The 1930s ushered in hard lenses made of plastic material that rested only on the cornea of the eye. Another 40 years passed before there was a new breakthrough in technology--contact lenses made of soft, comfortable plastic material. Since that time developments in contact lenses continue to emerge. Today's options include both hard and soft lenses, tinted lenses, rigid gas permeable, disposable a daily wear frequent replacement lenses.

Did you know the phrase "shorter is better" is often applied to contact lens use? Studies show that replacing lenses after shorter intervals of wear offers significant advantages in terms of vision and comfort.

Did you know people who use the same pair of daily wear contact lenses for a whole year log an average total of 5,000 hours of wear?

During this time, deposits form on the lenses no matter how well they are cleaned. Frequent replacement lenses, worn on a daily basis and then replaced as prescribed, are designed to eliminate the problem of long-term buildup.

how-to tip

Choose the right battery for your needs

We sell alkaline, heavy duty and rechargeable batteries for use in all of your toys, flashlights, radios and tape players. Consider these characteristics before making your next battery purchase.

Alkaline Batteries

Alkalines lose power slowly through their useful voltage range and they give plenty of replacement warning. They will probably last three to four times longer than rechargeables and at least four times longer than heavy-duty batteries. They are ideal for most applications.

Rechargeable Batteries

If you want to save the environment and money, choose rechargeables. Although they work at full power and then quit all at once, they are a low-cost substitute for alkalines in boom boxes and walkabout stereos.

A typical cassette-type player user, according to one major study, would save more than $630 over a three-year period by using rechargeables instead of alkalines. Typical users would reduce their trash by 50 lbs. while using resources more effectively.

You will need to change batteries more often, but you can reduce the hassles by buying two sets of rechargeables. Then keep one set recharging while using the other.

Heavy-duty batteries

Heavy-duty batteries can be used effectively in low-power devices such as wall clocks, remote controls and smoke alarms.
