Ready for stock show

Julie Schlabs, 8, of Hereford, holds onto her lamb during a lamb clinic conducted earlier this month for participants in this week's Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show. The show begins tonight with the steer show and will continue through Saturday's sale at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford.

Steer project shows insight to cattle feeding

A new Deaf Smith County 4-H project, Commercial Steer Program and Show, will be an added feature this week of the Hereford Young Farmers Livestock Show.

Davy Vestal, county ag extension agent, said the program is designed to teach members the aspects of feeding, record keeping, management, animal health, grading and marketing beef cattle.

Eleven youths will enter nine pens of steers in the show this week. Each pen has three steers that were purchased prior to Oct. 1, 1988, and have been fed and cared for by the youths, said Vestal.

The pens will be judged in a separate contest Friday. The Commercial Show will be judged by a ranch and feedlot management instructor from Clarendon College and by a cattle buyer.

The grand champion will receive $1,000 plus a belt buckle and the reserve champion will earn $900 plus a belt buckle. Other prizes will be based on available funds.

Each entry will be judged on hoof, and the youths will be interviewed and judged on their records, Vestal said. The interview will count for 40 percent of the score; records will count 25 percent; on hoof is 25 percent, and a written test accounts for the other 10 percent.

The cattle will be placed up for sale and bids will be accepted after 5 p.m. Friday on individual pens. Vestal said bids may be submitted to the county extension office.

A booth will be set up at the Bull Barn Saturday where interested persons can look over the record books of the youths, Vestal said. The project is much more than just another show, he added.

"I try to teach them about where the cattle come from, about cow-calf operations and about the basic of the cattle feeding industry as a whole," Vestal said.

"We also talk about why Hereford is such as big cattle-feeding area, and we talk about the volume of cattle moved through the area feedyards and their impact on Deaf Smith County," added Vestal.

The youths can start out with more than one pen, but can only take one pen to the show and it can't be a mix of both pens, Vestal explained.

Chamber tickets on sale

Tickets are now on sale at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office for the annual chamber banquet to be held Feb. 9 at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

Sister Thomas More Bertels, billed as "Agriculture's Hell-raising Nun" in appearances throughout the U.S. and Canada, will be the featured speaker.

Sister Thomas More is a professor of history at Silver Lake College in Manitowoc, Wis., where she has been on the faculty since 1960. Larry Malamen, C of C president, said the Sister has been on the lecture circuit since 1965.

Other banquet highlights will be the recognition of officers and directors and the presentation of the "Citizen of the Year" award by the Hereford Lions Club.

Rocky Lee will be installed as the new chamber president at the banquet, and Doug Josseland will be the new vice president.

Carol Sue LeGate will be the treasurer.

New directors will be Carol Gerk, Scott Keeling, Bobby Moore and Pat Robbins.

Bertels' rise to prominence as a national speaker came after she completed a dissertation on farm policy-making in the United States. What she discovered through her studies was a fragmented agribusiness—farmers, laborers, business—that defeats common interests through separatist policies.

The Sister is described as a fast-talking, no-nonsense, 70-year-old nun who teaches a gospel of free enterprise, entrepreneurship and unity in agribusiness. Her students are farm workers, farmers, congressmen and anyone else who will listen. Her message: Agriculture needs to get its act together.

Sister Thomas More was born in Ironwood, Mich. In 1940 she was accepted as member of the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, a teaching and nursing order. She received her B.A. degree at Silver Lake College in 1943, earned a master's degree in 1949 and her Ph.D. degree in 1962 from Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Sister is co-founder of Wisconsin Women for Agriculture and is also a member of American Agri-Women, a coalition of farm women's organizations formed in 1974. She holds membership in various civic groups and societies and is one of three non-lawyers appointed to the board of the Wisconsin State Bar.

She has been interviewed on numerous television shows and is the recipient of various awards.

Hightower plan may not work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower says he's got the beef, hormone-free beef Europe might want to buy.

Federal officials are apparently taking a wait-and-see position on Hightower's proposed deal with the European Economic Community, which is in a trans-Atlantic trade dispute with the United States.

The United States has retaliated against a number of EEC products after the EEC banned imports of U.S. hormone-treated meat.

Hightower added a twist to the tit-for-tat when he stepped in with an offer to provide the EEC with hormone-free beef from the Lone Star State and develop a certification procedure that would satisfy the European Community of the meat's purity.

Ella Krucoff, spokeswoman for Sir Roy Denman, head of EEC delegation in Washington, said she knew of no federal law that would bar the shipments.

"It's not our problem," she said. "Texas solicited us and we are responding. We're trying to respond favorably to maintain the trade. We haven't got a legal opinion, that's up to the U.S. authorities."

The Council of Ministers representing the 12 governments in the EEC issued a statement Monday in Brussels saying it had noted the applications "made by American producers to export to the community beef and veal meeting the criteria of community legislation, and encouraged the commission to conclude its examination of these applications rapidly."

The commission is the European Commission, joint executive for the 12 governments.

Federal officials are treating Texas' offer cautiously. Said Lester Crawford, administrator of U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service, which has jurisdiction over meat inspected for export: "We have to be concerned about existing U.S. law on international trade and we have to represent all of the states in the United States."

Crawford said there could be a catch for Texas: The state can't legally label meat for export as hormone-free because a meat label must be truthful and verifiable, yet he said he knows of no test to verify whether a cattle was fed growth hormones. That's because hormones now in use leave no residues in the meat.

All beef and poultry have to be federally inspected to go overseas, he said.

Tom Kay, administrator of the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, said he's not sure whether the federal government could stop the European Community from making a deal with Texas if the EC and Texas can settle on a price and a certification system that meets federal approval.

"It's a matter of Texas being able to get the certification the European Community wants, versus whatever certification the U.S. can give," Kay said.

In a letter to Commissioner Hightower, Denman said that while certification of compliance with the EEC's hormone requirement is usually provided by the national authorities of the exporting country, "the community would also consider other possibilities of certification," such as by authorities of the Texas Agriculture Department.

"No one with the USDA has come to us personally and said this might not be legal," said Texas Agriculture Department spokesman Andy Welch. "Everything continues to be positive."

Welch said the agency has asked Argentina about its system for certifying hormone-free beef as it attempts to develop a protocol satisfactory to the EEC.

TDA is also attempting to line up a supply of hormone-free beef, Welch said.

Welch said federal officials have never before objected top sales of Texas agricultural products overseas, such as dairy cattle in to the Middle East, sheep to India, and hushpuppies

...Plan gets a cold reception and corn-breaded catfish to the Far East.

The American Farm Bureau Federation contends the proposal weakens the U.S. position in dealing with the whole issue of trade restraints with Europe, said Paul Drzak, an international trade specialist for the country's largest farm group.

Europe contends the hormones, used to fatten growing cattle, are a health threat, which the United States disputes. After Europe banned the beef imports, affecting about $100 million in beef and beef byproducts, the United States retaliated by setting about $100 million worth of higher tariffs on a variety of products from the Common Market.

Bush to select ethics panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Bush is naming a panel to recommend standards of conduct for government officials, in an attempt to ensure that he does not face the same allegations of an administration "sleaze factor" that dogged his predecessor.

Largely to counter such complaints about the Reagan administration, Bush during his campaign promised to create the panel as one of his first acts in office.

Bush today was scheduled to sign an executive order creating the advisory commission on ethics. It will be chaired by Griffin Bell, the former attorney general in the Carter administration, and Malcolm Wilkey, a senior judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington, the White House said Tuesday.

Other panel members will include former White House counsels Fred Fielding and Lloyd Cutler, and Washington attorney Jan Baran, said White House spokeswoman Alixe Glen. She said she could not confirm the two remaining names.

On Tuesday, Bush asked the director of the Office of Government Ethics, Frank Nebeker, to brief all senior administration officials on ethical and conflict-of-interest standards required of them, said White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater.

Bush had proposed during his campaign that such briefings be held on an annual basis, and Nebeker wrote to him on the day after the Nov. 8 election offering to conduct the sessions, said Fitzwater.

Fitzwater said the 10-minute meeting with Nebeker on Tuesday was for "symbolic value" to emphasize the importance Bush attaches to ethical conduct.

More than 100 members of the Reagan administration, in which Bush served as vice president, were at various times accused of unethical or improper behavior. Two of President Reagan's closest advisers, Lynn Fofziger and Michael Deaver, were convicted of offenses associated with their lobbying after they left the administration, while a string of allegations against Reagan's longtime friend and attorney general, Edwin Meese III, battered the Justice Department.

An independent prosecutor declined to seek indictment of Meese, but the Justice Department's own ethics office concluded this month that he had engaged in conduct "that should not be tolerated of any government employee."

Democrats assailed the "sleaze factor" and used it as ammunition in the fall campaigns. Bush responded by saying repeatedly that he intended to have an administration that hews to high ethical standards.

Bush has put his White House legal counsel Boyden Gray in charge of coordinating ethics policy.

On Thursday the president will continue to spotlight the issue by meeting with senior executive employees to "emphasize the ethics provisions of the law and their responsibilities and what he expects of them," said Fitzwater.

Tower facing tough questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Tower faced serious questions about scaling back Pentagon spending and about his personal ties to defense contractors as the Senate Armed Services Committee prepared to open hearings today on his nomination to run the Defense Department.

The former Texas senator could expect to be treated with special courtesy by his former colleagues this afternoon in the historic Senate Caucus Room, site of the Watergate and Iran-Contra hearings.

But the 63-year-old Tower, who emerged as President Bush's nominee after an exhaustive background check, was certain to be quizzed on his consulting work for defense contractors and his private life, as well as on defense policy and overall pentagon funding.

Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., a member of the Senate Armed Services committee, said Tuesday he expects the hearings to be marked by some controversy based on the reports that have already been raised in the media. "There's enough out there," Dixon said.

Confirmation hearings are under way for two other Bush appointees:

Commerce Secretary-designate Robert Mosbacher was warmly received Tuesday before the Senate Commerce Committee. Lawmakers told the Texas oilman he should make the government a more aggressive advocate for American businesses in the world marketplace. His nomination is expected to win easy approval from the committee next week.

BABBLING BROOKS By John Brooks

It's Wednesday.
We're still trying to recover from Monday here at the Brand. Didja ever have one of those days where you wish you had one of Jay Swayze's atomic-bomb-proof houses to live in?

It was one of those days where we couldn't have been cheered up if a plane had dropped $1 million on top of us. If a plane had dropped $1 million on top of us, it would have been in a safe, and it would have crushed us.

Our Mondays aren't usually so terrible around here. Our Mondays are catch-up and preparation days. We don't have to worry about getting a paper out on Monday, so we make plans for the entire week, do as much advance work as possible, and do some odds-and-ends.

First off, to anyone who might have been offended by my column last Friday, I'm sorry you were offended. I found out after the fact that it was a potentially life-threatening situation. I don't know why I wasn't told before the fact that it was life-threatening.

Thanks for fixing the leak.

Next time my life is in danger please at least leave me a note. That way I'll know that I shouldn't have been smoking up there. And please, panic to me, not to Speedy or anywhere else. I hate to hear third-hand how much danger I was in.

Then, we had an unfortunate mistake in Sunday's paper. It was one of those things that probably happens to you at times. You know how sometimes you go out of your way to make sure something is done right, then it gets undone. Well, we had some of that. All we can do is apologize.

And fix it. It got fixed Tuesday. I wish we didn't have to fix things. We really try to do things right around here. Sometimes we do things right, and we're proud. Sometimes things get done wrong, and, of course, everyone notices.

Our goal is to get it all done right.
Really.

bb

Can you believe it, the Super Bowl game was actually better than the halftime show.

I've watched all 23 of those games, and I think maybe this was the best one.

Someone on a talk show after the game said the Dallas-Pittsburgh game that Pittsburgh won 35-31 was the all-timer, but that person was obviously not a Cowboy fan. If he were a Cowboy fan, he would have thought that was one of the all-time worst, and would have occasional nightmares of Jackie Smith dropping the winning touchdown pass in the end zone.

I saw some story over the weekend that said a lot of bookmakers were heavy on people taking San Francisco and giving up seven points, and a lot of folks were taking "over" on the over-under.

If that was the case, then a lot of bookies made a lot of money.

Anyway, it was a pretty good ballgame.

The halftime show wasn't so hot, even if you had 3-D glasses. Mark Banner down at Pak-A-Sak fixed me up with a pair on Sunday.

The halftime show wasn't good, even through the glasses, but the commercial just before Elvis Presto made his first--and last--national TV appearance was something else.

Wilson, McDonald honored With DAR Good Citizen awards

Cody Wilson has been selected DAR Good Citizen at Hereford High School, it was announced Tuesday by Los Ciboleros Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

At the same time, Sydell McDonald was named the 1988-89 winner for Dimmitt High School.

Named by their respective school faculties, the two outstanding senior students were chosen on the basis of their dependability, leadership, service and patriotism. They will receive certificates of commendation at their senior assemblies in May.

Wilson is the son of Mickey and Shirley Wilson. Senior honors and achievements include serving as the drum major and field commander of the HHS Band for the second year. Currently, he is the lieutenant governor of Division 33, Texas-Oklahoma District of Key Club International, as well as secretary of the HHS Key Club.

A three-year member of the National Honor Society, Wilson is also listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students. A special activity is PALS (Peers As Leaders), a group of students committed to staying drug and alcohol free and setting a positive example for underclassmen.

During his junior year, Wilson went to Texas Boys State as a member of the House of Representatives and was named a Scholastic All-American. Outside of school, he has been active in the youth activities of the Central Church of Christ, as well as the Boy Scouts of America--having achieved the rank of Eagle Scout in Troop 52.

Currently in competition for an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy, Wilson plans to study in the field of science or engineering if appointed. Otherwise, he will pursue a degree in liberal arts at another major university.

His special interests and hobbies include cross-country running and cycling, snow and water skiing, hunting, fishing, photography, reading, piano, studying and watching the news.

Sydell McDonald is also actively involved at Dimmitt High School and in her community. Her interests include being a member of the Flag Corps of the Bobcat Band, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Future Homemakers of America, and the Future Farmers of America.

She has been the FHA chapter president, and her peers chose her as the Best All-Around Girl in both her freshman and junior years. Athletics have been important with her as a member of the varsity track and cross-country teams for four years and of the varsity girls' basketball team for three years. All-district honors came to her in her sophomore and junior years.

Other offices held have been those of vice president and secretary of the DHS Spanish Club, as well as being the current president of the DHS Student Council. McDonald has received the Top 10 Academic Award for the past three years as a member of the National Honor Society. She also is a member of her school's War On Drugs group, serving on the board of directors.

Representing Dimmitt High School at Girls State in Austin taught her a greater sense of patriotism and respect for her country's flag than she had known before.

McDonald's interests also include working in projects related to her church, the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Dimmitt, particularly in visiting and serving in the local nursing home.

Athletics and their related activities take much of her time. Plans for the future include attending Midwestern University in Wichita Falls to pursue a degree in marketing.

Sullivan nomination likely to go through

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-abortion lawmakers are concerned about the views of President Bush's choice to head the Department of Health and Human Services but concede they have little hope of blocking the nomination.

Instead, they are pinning their hopes on assurances by Bush transition officials that other top-level HHS jobs will go to anti-abortion activists.

legalized abortion — a view different from that of Bush, who says he wants the decision reversed.

Humphrey said he was not comforted by Sullivan's pledge that as a member of the Bush Cabinet he would back the abortion policies of the president, but that he sees little likelihood the nomination will be blocked.

"Let's put it plainly: Dr. Sullivan is the only black nominee to the Cabinet. It would be an embarrassment to the president, an embarrassment to the Republican Party, if the nomination encountered any trouble and we don't want that," Humphrey said.

"We want to make the best of the situation and that's what we've been striving to do by encouraging the White House to surround Sullivan with people experienced in government and who would actively support the president on abortion," he said.

"I'm assured all will be well in the end, but it's growing curiously and curiously by the day," said Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., a strong opponent of abortion who is still waiting to meet face-to-face with HHS Secretary-designate Louis Sullivan.

Humphrey said he is concerned that some senators who have met with Sullivan in advance of his confirmation hearing next week report that the nominee personally supports the Supreme Court decision that

Victims' relatives find chilling relief following execution of serial killer

SEATTLE (AP) — After enduring more than a decade of Ted Bundy's smug silence and denials, relatives of his acknowledged victims found a chilling relief in his 11th-hour admission of a life of rape and murder.

"The only thing I can say is thank God, it's finally over," said Vivian Rancourt of LaConner, whose 18-year-old daughter, Susan, disappeared April 17, 1974. In the days before his execution Tuesday, Bundy confessed to her slaying.

But an investigator who heard some of Bundy's confessions said there were crimes the serial killer wouldn't talk about and secrets he took with him to Florida's electric chair.

The 42-year-old Bundy, who was convicted of murdering three people in Florida, admitted killing 23 other women after a decade of denial, but he left a legacy of frustration for those who suspect he killed many more.

No one knows the enormity of Bundy's crimes. FBI officials said years ago he might be implicated in 36 slayings throughout the West. But Bundy's confessions included deaths to which he had not previously been linked, such as two in Idaho, and he did not give specifics on at least 10 others in which he was a suspect.

"I don't think we have even scratched the surface with Bundy," Sheriff Pete Hayward of Salt Lake County, Utah, said after the execution. "Somewhere there is someone Bundy has told the whole story to."

Bundy confessed to eight Utah killings, but because he identified only two victims there, authorities said many cases may never be solved.

Investigators said Bundy would not answer when asked about his connection to two Utah deaths in which he is a suspect, including the October 1974 strangulation and beating death of Laura Anne Aime, 17, of Salem, Utah.

But there was no doubt Tuesday in the mind of her mother that Bundy killed her child.

"He needed to die very badly," Shirlene Aime said, but she conceded the last minutes of waiting for his execution were "horrible."

"It made me feel guilty," she said. "Despite all the things he did to my daughter and all the other girls, I started to think, 'How low am I, waiting for a man to die?'"

Her long-sought relief at Bundy's death was slow to come, she said.

"I still have this empty feeling. I'm sick to my stomach. It's an uptight, horrible feeling. But it is a relief to know he's gone, and he won't do it again."

Bundy was executed for the 1978 rape and murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach of Lake City, Fla. He also was convicted of killing two women in 1978 at a Florida State University sorority house. His gush of confessions in the four days before his electrocution did not include those deaths.

Robert Keppel, an investigator for the Washington state attorney general, said the law student dropout from Tacoma was unwilling in interviews to talk about some cases that gave him "painful memories," and balked at confessing to deaths before 1973.

"That seemed to be where he drew the line," said Keppel, who spent about two hours during the weekend extracting confessions from a shaken, tearful Bundy.

Keppel said Bundy denied kidnapping and killing 8-year-old Ann Marie Burr in 1961, when Bundy would have been just 14. But the way Bundy talked about that crime, he left doubt about whether he might have been responsible, Keppel said.

Ann Marie disappeared from her parents' Tacoma home, near where Bundy's family lived, during an early morning rainstorm. No clue to her fate has ever been found, though there have been years of speculation — including that of Ann Marie's parents — that Bundy was to blame.

Concession stand at stock show run by parent leaders

Deaf Smith County 4-H Parent Leaders have been busy preparing barbecue and chili in preparation for feeding hungry livestock exhibitors, Hereford Young Farmers, and many supporters and spectators at the Hereford Young Farmer's Stock Show opening tonight and running through Saturday.

The concession will open daily at 9 a.m. and run until nightly shows are over.

The purpose of the 4-H Parent Leaders Concession Stand is to raise funds to support the local 4-H program in Deaf Smith County. These funds are used throughout the year to send 4-H'ers to Round-Up and various other statewide contests, to purchase needed supplies for home economics and agricultural 4-H projects, to sponsor scholarships, to send 4-H'ers to educational camps and to sponsor other educational activities.

The stand, under the co-chairmanship of Loretta Urbanczyk and Gertrude Grotegut, is manned by volunteer 4-H leaders and parents throughout the week. All 4-H parents are reminded that there are still worker shifts open. Please call the Deaf Smith County Extension Office if you can help.

Area residents are invited to the shows, the Saturday sale and to eat at the concession stand.

Hints from Heloise

DECORATING PANCAKES

Dear Heloise: While making pancakes for my family, I took a cake-decorating tube and filled it up with pancake batter. I decorated each of the cooking pancakes with names, pictures and faces, then flipped them.

It is amazing the simple things you can do with your children and have so much fun to boot. My children and I had a most enjoyable breakfast. — Joseph Gaskin, Carlisle, Pa.

CURLING IRON

Dear Heloise: My hair is so straight but I am afraid to use a curling iron on it because I don't know how to use one.

My mother bought me a set of hot rollers but they don't curl my hair. As soon as I remove the rollers and comb my hair out, the curl falls. Am I doing something wrong? — Lisa Parks, Tampa, Fla.

When using hot curlers to set your hair, do not immediately comb your hair after removing them. Remember, the longer you leave them in, the more curl. After removing the hot curlers, wait until your hair has cooled down before styling. Since your hair is straight, you may want to try using a setting gel or mousse before curling.

A curling iron is a great hair tool when used properly. Have a family member or someone you know who uses one instruct you on how to operate one (a hair care professional could help too). When you learn how to use a curling iron, you will find curling your hair can be done in minutes. Just remember, you should hold the curling iron on a curl for no more than 30 seconds to avoid scorching your hair. — Heloise

DISPENSING WRAPPING PAPER

Dear Heloise: My husband is an avid deer hunter who prefers to package the meat himself. I had two empty freezer-wrap boxes to throw away when I thought of a different use for them.

Having a large family to buy for, this last Christmas meant a lot of gift-wrapping, which I generally enjoy doing. However, unless I buy wrapping paper with rows of designs I can cut along, the paper never comes out even.

So, after removing the adjoining ends, I taped the two freezer wrap boxes together (end to end) with the teeth strips in line and found that most wrapping paper will fit in the long box easily. Now I can tear off even amounts of paper just like aluminum foil. — Mrs. S. Preston, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

FRAYING COLLARS

Dear Heloise: I have a problem I'm hoping you can help me with. The collars on my husband's shirts seem to fray faster and more often than they used to. Ten years ago I never had to turn a collar and now I've done several.

Is it the material, the detergents or washing machine that causes them to fray? — Mrs. M.J. Hovig, Lake Oswego, Ore.

I have had many readers write in saying that some shirt makers stitch too close to the edge of the collar. Therefore, the abrasiveness of the washing machine causes the collar's edge to fray. Since this has only been noticed in some brands, maybe a change in brands is your best bet. Good luck! — Heloise

BABY BLANKET

Dear Heloise: When my first child showed growing fondness for a particular blanket, my husband and I thought nothing of it. On washing days, I was usually able to keep her amused long enough to wash and dry her blanket before she realized it was gone. You would not believe the tears that would flow from her tiny eyes when she had misplaced that blanket.

She finally grew out of that stage and plays with her dolls and stuffed animals. Now I am expecting our second child and have purchased two identical blankets just to be on the safe side. While I wash the dirty one I can replace it with the clean one. — Mrs. K. Garrahan, Dallas, Texas

Preparing concession stand fare.

The 4-H Parent-Leaders Association is sponsoring the concession stand at the Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show which continues through Saturday at the Bull Barn. The concession stand will be open from 9 a.m. until closing daily; proceeds from concession sales will benefit all 4-H'ers all year long and not only those youngsters involved in the livestock show. Among the parents and leaders making chili for the event were, top photo from left, Beverly Harder and Janice Brumley. In the bottom photo, little Dawn Auckerman 'helps' her mom, Georgia, Mary Schlabs, and Shirley Carlson (from left) with their batch of chili. Barbecue from the Country Store will also be featured at the stand along with other food items.

Officers elected by Bud to Blossom Garden Club

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club met recently at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

Beginning the meeting was the Pledge of Allegiance led by Jane White. Roll call was answered by "the trees in my yard."

Election of officers for the club year, 1989-90 was held. Officers are: Phyllis Brown, president; Mildred Fuhrmann, 1st vice president and secretary-reporter; Wilma Bryan, 2nd vice president; Kathleen Brockman, 3rd vice president; Pat Robinson, treasurer; and Naomi Hare, parliamentarian.

The program, which focused on trees and their care, was presented by Van Earl Hughes of Dimmitt. He advised members to prune trees every other year instead of more often. He also gave the group tips on controlling insects and told when to fertilize various types of lawns.

After the program a luncheon was held and then an auction of 'white elephant' items were sold to benefit the club's treasury.

Members present included Billie Johnson, Maria Escamilla, Joanne Blackwell, Brown, White, Hare, Bryan, and Fuhrmann.

Local students to compete in MISD academic decathlon

Nine students will represent Hereford High School for the Region I Academic Decathlon to be hosted by Midland I.S.D. at Midland High School on Friday and Saturday.

Hereford students competing include Cara Printz, Mark Scott, Cody Wilson, Jason Bradshaw, Vincent Garcia, Vaavia Rudd, Susana Herrera, Leroy Jackson, and Priscilla Villarreal.

The youth will compete with students from school districts throughout West Texas, including Lubbock, Odessa, Midland, Sweetwater, Frenship, Dalhart, Andrews and Pampa.

The academic decathlon is a written and oral competition covering a wide range of topics, including science, social studies, mathematics, economics, grammar and literature and the fine arts.

Beginning Friday, contestants will present speeches and answer questions during formal interviews by trained contest judges. The following day will be filled with a series of examinations, concluding with the "Super Quiz."

Winners will be announced in an awards banquet to be held at the Holiday Inn Convention Center, in Midland, beginning at 7 p.m. on Saturday.

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

Q. Must I add more baking soda or baking powder when I use self-rising flour? Mrs. A.C., Manitowac, WI

A. No, leavening and salt are already mixed in with flour. Not all recipes allow for direct substitution of self-rising flour for all-purpose. For best results use recipes developed for self-rising flour.

Q. Is there an advantage to using a stainless steel bread pan instead of a dark heavy aluminum pan? Mrs. F.M.G., Little Rock, Ar.

A. Darker, dull-colored pans (with or without non-stick coating) help absorb heat and allow bread to brown well. Stainless steel pans may be shiny and reflect heat.

Randall sweeps Tuesday games

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Randall High School took a varsity basketball doubleheader from Hereford on Tuesday night at Randall.

The Lady Raiders throttled Hereford's offense to take a 40-18 win in the girls' game, while the Raiders built a big, early lead and held off the Herd 71-65 in the boys' contest.

"We didn't execute on offense very well," said Hereford girls' coach Frank Belcher. "Sometimes we just didn't work hard enough on offense, and we weren't patient a lot of times. We just never established any sort of rhythm."

"They (Randall) didn't play that great, but they look great when you just score 18 points."

Hereford played most of the way without wing Stacy White, who suffered a recurrence of a neck injury early in the game.

"A girl elbowed Stacy and Stacy fell in a bad place," Belcher said. "She's had a problem with some neck ligaments, and that aggravated it quite a bit."

"When you lose your second-leading scorer it hurts, and when no one steps forward to pick up the slack, that hurts you, too."

Neither team got off to a good start as Randall led 4-2 after the first quarter. Randall's offense picked up after the opening period, though, as Hereford had problems with the Raiders' press.

"We just didn't handle their press well at all," Belcher said. "It hadn't bothered us that much when we played them over here, but in the second half we didn't handle it at all."

Carmen Brockman led Hereford with six points, and Libby Kosub came off the bench to hit four points.

In the varsity boys' game, Randall built a 24-point lead in the third quarter before the Herd began its usual rally, but this time Randall was able to hold the Herd off.

"It's a credit to the kids that they never gave up," said Hereford boys' coach Mike Fields. "It would be so easy to just go through the motions when you're down 24 points, but the players didn't give up. Randall had taken their starters out, and we made a run at them and they had to put their starters back in the game."

Jason Scott led Hereford with 21 points, and Brand Smith added 17 more.

"Jason shot well from outside, and our inside game was strong," Fields said. "Clint Cotten didn't score a lot, but he had 13 rebounds, and Brad had 10 rebounds."

"One of the problems was there weren't a lot of defensive rebounds for us in the first half. Randall shot the ball pretty well in the first two quarters. They've got three big guns inside, and we just couldn't stop them in the first half."

"Not having Pat Mercer healthy hurt us, too. Pat was sick and tried to go, but he had the shakes he was feeling so bad, and we just had to go without him in the second half."

"Nick Kendall came in at the end and stole a couple of passes and hit two baskets. Really, we came back and played so well. We just didn't give up."

In the JV games, Randall took a 76-37 decision in the girls' game, while the Hereford JV boys beat the Raiders 65-59.

Friday, the Hereford teams will host Pampa at Whiteface gym.

"We've just got to keep plugging," Belcher said. "We have one of the top players coming to town in Yolanda Brown. We have to do a good job on her and work real hard on the defensive end. We can beat them, but we have to have a lot more intensity for the full game."

"Pampa is one of the top teams in the district," Fields said. "We may not have a chance at the playoffs, but we have a chance to have a say in who does go to the playoffs."

Bradshaw elated with selection

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Terry Bradshaw said he was certain that somewhere, Art Rooney, the late owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was smiling.

"Art Rooney is in heaven looking down, saying, 'My boys! My boys! I told you you'd make it,'" Bradshaw said Tuesday after he and a Steelers teammate, Mel Blount, were named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Blount and Bradshaw, mainstays of the Steelers teams that won an unprecedented four Super Bowl championships in the 1970s, were joined by two other members of teams that were dominant — offensive tackle Art Shell of the Oakland Raiders and defensive back Willie Wood of the Green Bay Packers.

"You've got representatives of the best teams of the '60s and '70s," Bradshaw said. "It speaks well for what athletes are taught. Athletes are told to win and they are judged on how many games they win. It's not personal accomplishments or statistics that matter most. America loves winners."

Bradshaw and Blount each gained entry in their first year of eligibility. It was Shell's second try and Wood's 13th.

Blount, a cornerback, and Bradshaw, a quarterback, each spent their 14 professional seasons with the Steelers.

Blount, 40, the director of player relations for the NFL, said induction meant even more since he was joined by a teammate.

"This is a particularly good feeling because Terry and I came in together, we retired together and now we go into the Hall of Fame together. The only thing I need now is to make the money that Terry's making" as a TV broadcaster for NFL games.

Blount, a graduate of Southern University, led the NFL in interceptions in 1975 with 11 and had 57 for his career, seventh all-time, for 911 yards. He also recovered 13 fumbles, returning two for touchdowns. The 6-foot-3, 205-pound third-round draft pick played in six conference title games, four Super Bowls and five Pro Bowls.

Bradshaw, a 6-foot-3, 210-pounder from Louisiana Tech, was the first player chosen in the 1970 NFL draft. He completed 2,025 of 3,901 passes for 27,989 yards and 212 touchdowns and ran for 32 scores. Bradshaw, MVP of the 1979 and 1980 Super Bowls, holds Super Bowl records with 932 yards passing and nine touchdown passes.

He played in six AFC championship games and four Super Bowls, in addition to two Pro Bowls.

"It's like winning a Super Bowl," Bradshaw, 40, said. "That's because I know this is the last award and the last honor that I'll ever get as a player."

Wood spent 12 seasons as a defensive back with the Packers, who won five NFL titles and the first two Super Bowls, in 1967 and 1968. He also played in seven Pro Bowls. During his career, he had 48 interceptions for 699 yards, returning two for touchdowns.

"I was selected as a finalist a couple of years ago, but I wasn't chosen then. I started thinking that so many Green Bay Packers had gone in, maybe they might have used up their quota," joked Wood, 52, who runs a construction business in Washington, D.C.

Shell played offensive tackle for the Raiders from 1968-1982, participating in eight AFL or AFC title games and two Super Bowls.

Shell, 42, an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Raiders, spent all of his 15 pro seasons with the Raiders after being picked in the third round out of Maryland-Eastern Shore. He played in eight Pro Bowls and started 23 postseason games, including eight AFL-AFC championships and the 1977 and 1981 Super Bowls.

Shell, Wood, Blount and Bradshaw will be enshrined Aug. 5.

Syracuse snaps losing streak

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The first part of Boston College's game plan worked to perfection. The Eagles held No. 14 Syracuse to under 80 points.

"The score was kind of where we wanted it to be," Boston College coach Jim O'Brien said. "If it got up into the 80s and 90s, we knew we couldn't score enough points. I think we did the right thing."

It was the second half of the plan that went awry. The Eagles didn't score enough points themselves as Syracuse snapped a three-game Big East losing streak Tuesday night with a 72-60 victory.

"We don't care how it looks. We just care how we played," Syracuse senior guard Sherman Douglas said. "We couldn't afford any more losses."

The victory improved Syracuse's record to 16-4 overall and 2-4 in the Big East, and elevated the Orangemen out of the conference cellar, a spot now owned solely by the Eagles, 8-8 and 1-5.

Douglas led Syracuse with 19 points and nine assists.

Only two other ranked teams saw action Tuesday night. No. 5 Missouri defeated Maryland 87-73 and No. 20 Providence downed Miami of Florida 106-91.

Dana Barros, who finished with 17 points, gave Boston College its last lead at 28-27 with 7:31 to go in the first half. It was the Eagles' last field goal in the first half as Syracuse used a 10-2 spurt to build a 37-28 halftime lead.

Boston College pulled within 39-35 early in the second half, but Derrick Coleman scored a basket and a free throw and Matt Roe and Steve Thompson hit 3-point shots to push the Orangemen's lead to 48-37 with 15:06 to play.

Syracuse maintained a double-digit lead over the final 10 minutes.

"We had a lot of opportunities to win," Barros said. "In the last five minutes, we were still in the game. At the end, we just didn't make our free throws. That happened in the first half, too."

No. 5 Missouri 87, Maryland 73

Byron Irvin scored 20 of his 28 points in the second half, including a dozen during a 19-5 run that brought visiting Missouri from behind. It was the Tigers' eighth straight victory, while Maryland has now lost eight straight.

Maryland, down by as many as 13 points, scored the final six points of the half to pull within 37-32 at intermission. The Terrapins, 6-11, then opened the second half with a 17-6 run to take a 49-43 lead with 14:08 remaining in the game.

"I was worried a little, but I knew the way we've been playing we'd get it going," Irvin said.

Missouri, 17-3, took the lead for good at 56-55 and built the margin to 72-60 with 6:42 remaining.

John Johnson led Maryland with 24 points.

No. 20 Providence 106, Miami, Fla. 91

Carlton Screen scored 27 points and keyed an early second-half surge as visiting Providence crushed Miami to run its record to 15-2. The Friars also got 23 points by Marty Conlon and 15 from Matt Palazzi.

Eric Brown scored 30 points for the Hurricanes, 10-8.

Screen scored the final five points of the first half, giving Providence a 51-50 halftime lead. Four minutes into the second half, the Friars began a 19-3 run that included eight points by Screen.

Funny what dollars will do

By BEN WALKER AP Baseball Writer

Funny what a few dollars will do. Or a few million.

Take Orel Hershiser. Squeaky-clean in the often dirty world of sports, right?

Now, all we hear about Hershiser is money. He wants $2.5 million this season; Los Angeles wants to pay him $2 million. The pitcher wants a multiyear contract; the Dodgers are balking.

Does this make him greedy? No. Does this change him? No. But does this change our perception of him? Possibly.

"Business is business," Hershiser said. "We really start to find out the sentimentality of baseball isn't always there, that maybe sometimes that's just for the fans and not for the business side of the game, and that's the way I have to treat it."

The wunderkind with choir-boy good looks isn't a boy, after all. He's a shrewd, 30-year-old man.

Fans are finally seeing Hershiser the Bulldog, the side of his personality that his manager and teammates talk about, but nobody else has been able to really understand or believe. He's a tough negotiator, too.

What's wrong with that?

Even in an era sullied by spiraling salaries, no one begrudges a player making a lot of money if he's worth it. Especially after a miraculous season — playoffs and World Series MVP, AP male athlete of the year — that transcends sports and captures America's imagination.

Hershiser hasn't even cashed in like he could have. Except for the Disney commercial, which every star seems to do, he hasn't been overexposed. He did change his home telephone number to let an answering service handle the avalanche of calls, but there hasn't been a barrage of banquets or a calvacade of card shows with autographs at $10 apiece.

Instead, he goes on Johnny Carson and sings hymns — in perfect pitch, of course — and dines with President Reagan at the White House, where wife Jamie Hershiser entertains Barbara Bush.

At worst, Hershiser might have been a little annoying on a post-season tour to Japan. Some of his fellow All-Stars privately said Hershiser was pompous at times and childish at others. But nothing to get too bent about.

Then comes this whole money thing. Hershiser, Mr. All-Everything, wants a raise from $1.1 million. He says he worth at least double. And he says if he doesn't get what he wants, he might leave.

"I'm not some crying, sour-grapes athlete," Hershiser said. "When I talk, I'm going to tell you what's going on and what's going on is kind of frustrating. I was misled in a way that there were certain things said that ended up not being true."

Steve Garvey, the model athlete-citizen, left the blue-blood Dodgers because of a salary dispute. So did Steve Sax. Now, Hershiser also might go, although that's still a long way off.

OK, maybe nobody wants to hear about Hershiser's finances, at least not from him. Maybe people would rather Hershiser stay above it all and let his agents do everything.

But it's his money and his life, and he should be involved. Because when his career is over and there's a new brighter-than-bright star, no one else will care about yesterday's hero.

Adams' streak ends, Nets nip Nuggets

By The Associated Press

Michael Adams' hot streak is over. Now, the Denver Nuggets would like to do something about their cold one. Adams missed all six of his 3-point shots Tuesday night, ending his NBA record of 79 consecutive games with at least one 3-pointer.

The Nuggets could have used one, because they lost to New Jersey 117-115 as the Nets' Buck Williams scored a season-high 27 points. Denver, which has lost eight of its last nine games and nine straight on the road, wasted a season-high 43 points by Alex English.

Adams began his record streak on Jan. 28, 1988. During the 79-game run, he made 193 of 530 long-range shots, including a record eight (in 12 attempts) against Milwaukee on Saturday night. But he was just 1-for-7 against Indiana on Monday night.

Another streak came to an end when New York beat Los Angeles 122-117, handing the Lakers their first setback in 18 home games this season.

Elsewhere, it was Atlanta 121, Cleveland 105; Chicago 108, Dallas 91; Houston 118, Miami 93; Seattle 103, Portland 100; Phoenix 106, Charlotte 103 and Milwaukee 114, Sacramento 110.

Adams said he "had a number of shots, but it just wasn't there tonight. It had to end sometime."

The Nets led 97-94 with 8:50 remaining when Williams scored five points to touch off a 14-4 spurt that gave New Jersey a 111-98 lead. The Nuggets came right back with a 13-2 burst and pulled within 113-111 with 56 seconds left. New Jersey's John Bagley preserved the victory with four free throws in the final 15 seconds.

Knicks 122, Lakers 117

Patrick Ewing's 25 points plus a tight defense down the stretch helped the Knicks win the battle of division leaders. The Knicks never led until Ewing's two free throws with 3:56 remaining put them ahead 114-113.

Charles Oakley scored 23 points for the Knicks. Magic Johnson and James Worthy led the Lakers with 26 points each.

Hawks 121, Cavaliers 105

At Atlanta, Dominique Wilkins scored 41 points, equaling his season high, and hit a key 3-point goal in the fourth period.

The Hawks led 89-88 in the fourth quarter when Antoine Carr made a pair of free throws and Wilkins hit his third 3-point shot to ignite a 9-0 run that gave Atlanta a 98-88 lead.

Larry Nance led the Cavaliers with 26 points.

Bulls 109, Mavericks 91

At Chicago, Michael Jordan scored nine of his 24 points in the fourth quarter after sitting out seven minutes with a knee bruise and Chicago handed Dallas its 10th straight road defeat.

Dallas, which trailed by 13 points at the half, closed the gap to 65-59 a minute after Jordan fell to the floor attempting to block a shot by Mark Aguirre with 5:21 to go in the third quarter.

Bill Cartwright 23 points for Chicago. Aguirre and Rolando Blackman scored 22 points each for the Mavericks.

Rockets 118, Heat 93

At Houston, Otis Thorpe scored six points and Purvis Short had five during a 19-4 second-half run that enabled the Rockets to break open a 74-73 game and snap a four-game losing streak.

Sleepy Floyd led the Rockets with 22 points and Akeem Olatunji had 20 points and 13 rebounds. Billy Thompson had 20 points for Miami.

SuperSonics 106, Trail Blazers 100

At Portland, Derrick McKey scored 13 of his career-high 34 points in the final period to lead Seattle to its fourth straight victory.

Portland's Jerome Kersey made two free throws to tie the score 88-88 with 4:33 left, but McKey's layup at 4:17 put the Sonics ahead for good 90-88.

Clyde Drexler led Portland with 25 points. Dale Ellis and Xavier McDaniel paced Seattle with 24 and 23 points, respectively.

Suns 106, Hornets 103

At Phoenix, Eddie Johnson scored 11 of his 31 points in the fourth period and the Suns withstood a late Charlotte comeback. Charlotte trailed 102-92 with 3:36

remaining after two free throws by Phoenix's Tom Chambers, who had 25 points.

Rex Chapman led Charlotte with 23 points.

Backs 114, Kings 110

At Sacramento, Larry Krystkowiak scored four of his 21 points in the final 39 seconds as Milwaukee beat Sacramento for the 12th straight time.

Terry Cummings scored 31 points and Ricky Pierce had 21 as the Bucks won for the 13th time in their last 16 games. Kenny Smith topped Sacramento with 19 points and 11 assists.

Three are academic finalists

Three area high school seniors are among the 60 finalists selected for the 1988-89 Fina Academic All-State Football Team.

The three are Lon Outland of Friona, William Sudderth of Bovina, Michael Ames of Boys Ranch.

From the 60 candidates, a panel will pick 11 for the All-State team and each will receive a $2,000 college scholarship.

Hereford's Stefan Hacker is a former member of the team, having been named to the All-State team for 1985-86.

Nominees for the team had to be a senior football letterman ranked scholastically in the top 25% of his class with a grade-point average of 85 or above.

Twenty-five of the 60 finalists had a class rank of No. 1 at the time the applications were submitted. Fifteen others were either second or third. Most served in student government posts or were class officers. Nine were Eagle Scouts and almost all were active in their churches.

Hershiser is AP's top male athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Orel Hershiser, continuing his award-winning ways, says being named The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year "caps a year of fantastic awards."

The Los Angeles Dodgers' right-hander received nearly twice as many votes as his World Series rival, Jose Canseco of the Oakland Athletics, and became the first non-Olympian to win the honor in an Olympic year since Denny McLain in 1968.

"It is a tremendous honor to be recognized with an award which covers all sports," Hershiser said.

After last season's heroics, Hershiser was a unanimous choice as the National League Cy Young winner, and was named Most Valuable Player in the NL playoffs and MVP of the Dodgers' World Series victory.

Hershiser received 67 first-place votes and 465 points in the balloting done by sports writers and broadcasters on a 5-3-1 basis. Canseco, the first player to hit 40 home runs and steal 40 bases in a season, received 30 first-place votes and 233 points.

Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders, who set all-time college records for rushing yards and touchdowns, was third with 207, followed by Olympic swimmer Matt Biondi with 152, NBA star Michael Jordan with 91 and Olympic diver Greg Louganis at 59.

Finishing out the Top 10 in the AP voting were Magic Johnson of the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers, heavyweight champion Mike Tyson, golfer Curtis Strange and hockey star Wayne Gretzky.

The AP's Female Athlete of the Year will be announced Thursday.

Hershiser set a record with 59 consecutive shutout innings last season. He becomes the 22nd baseball player to win in the 58-year history of the award and the first since Dwight Gooden in 1985.

During the shutout streak, which broke Don Drysdale's hallowed mark, Hershiser celebrated two other events. On Sept. 15, his second son was born; the next night, he turned 30.

He finished the regular season with a 23-8 record and 2.26 earned run average. He pitched 24 2-3 innings in the NL playoffs against the New York Mets, getting a save in Game 4 and pitching a shutout in Game 7.

He pitched a three-hit shutout in Game 2 and a four-hitter in Game 5 of the World Series against Oakland.

In his final 101 innings, he allowed just five earned runs. He also won his first Gold Glove award and became the first pitcher to get three hits in a World Series game since 1924.

Canseco, the American League's unanimous Most Valuable Player, led the major leagues with 42 homers and 124 runs batted in. He batted .307 and stole 40 bases.

Sanders ran for 2,626 yards and scored 39 touchdowns in his junior year at Oklahoma State.

Biondi won seven medals in Seoul, including five gold. He was the most decorated Olympian since Mark Spitz won seven golds in 1972.

Jordan was the first in the NBA to be MVP and defensive player of the year in the same season. He led the league in scoring for the second straight season with the Chicago Bulls.

Louganis won both diving gold medals at the Olympics. He did it despite cutting his head on the board during a dive.

Nicklaus optimistic despite problems

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus remained optimistic despite a recurrence of the back problems that once threatened his career.

"They used to ask me about the condition of my game. Now they ask me about the condition of my health," Nicklaus sighed before discussing his ailing back.

"I'm not unhappy with what's going on. I'm heading in the right direction," Nicklaus said during a practice round for the first start of his 28th PGA Tour season, the $1 million Pebble Beach National Pro-Am.

The tournament, formerly known as the Bing Crosby, gets started Thursday on three Monterey Peninsula courses.

Nicklaus, holder of a record 18 major professional titles, said his well-publicized back problems probably will prohibit him from making a run at the $180,000 first prize.

"I don't expect much out of my golf game right now," said Nicklaus, who considered surgery, then decided against it late last year.

Treatment and injections gave him some relief late in the year, but the problems returned in December after he had played in Australia.

"I was having more problems than I thought I ought to," he said, and gave an illustration.

"I would have good days and bad days. On my birthday (his 49th on Jan. 21), I shot my age. On nine holes. My back was giving me fits. I couldn't hit it 200 yards."

A new set of exercises designed by a man for he has been a consultant in San Diego "has helped enormously. I feel like new," Nicklaus said.

"He said the problems I was having could be expected," Nicklaus said. "He said his goal is to have me at full strength by April" and the Masters.

Between now and then, he said, he'll play in Australia, the Doral Open and in New Orleans.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Become one of the first in our community to own a copy of this magnificent atlas.

Randall sweeps Tuesday games

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Randall High School took a varsity basketball doubleheader from Hereford on Tuesday night at Randall.

The Lady Raiders throttled Hereford's offense to take a 40-18 win in the girls' game, while the Raiders built a big, early lead and held off the Herd 71-65 in the boys' contest.

"We didn't execute on offense very well," said Hereford girls' coach Frank Belcher. "Sometimes we just didn't work hard enough on offense, and we weren't patient a lot of times. We just never established any sort of rhythm. They (Randall) didn't play that great, but they look great when you just score 18 points."

Hereford played most of the way without wing Stacy White, who suffered a recurrence of a neck injury early in the game.

"A girl elbowed Stacy and Stacy fell in a bad place," Belcher said. "She's had a problem with some neck ligaments, and that aggravated it quite a bit."

"When you lose your second-leading scorer it hurts, and when no one steps forward to pick up the slack, that hurts you, too."

Neither team got off to a good start as Randall led 4-2 after the first quarter. Randall's offense picked up after the opening period, though, as Hereford had problems with the Raiders' press.

"We just didn't handle their press well at all," Belcher said. "It hadn't bothered us that much when we played them over here, but in the second half

we didn't handle it at all."

Carmen Brockman led Hereford with six points, and Libby Kosub came off the bench to hit four points.

In the varsity boys' game, Randall built a 24-point lead in the third quarter before the Herd began its usual rally, but this time Randall was able to hold the Herd off.

"It's a credit to the kids that they never gave up," said Hereford boys' coach Mike Fields. "It would be so easy to just go through the motions when you're down 24 points, but the players didn't give up. Randall had taken their starters out, and we made a run at them and they had to put their starters back in the game."

Jason Scott led Hereford with 21 points, and Brand Smith added 17 points.

"Jason shot well from outside, and our inside game was strong," Fields said. "Clint Cotten didn't score a lot, but he had 13 rebounds, and Brad had 10 rebounds."

"One of the problems was there weren't a lot of defensive rebounds for us in the first half. Randall shot the ball pretty well in the first two quarters. They've got three big guns inside, and we just couldn't stop them in the first half."

"Not having Pat Mercer healthy hurt us, too. Pat was sick and tried to go, but he had the shakes he was feeling so bad, and we just had to go without him in the second half."

"Nick Kendall came in at the end and stole a couple of passes and hit two baskets. Really, we came back and played so well. We just didn't give up."

In the JV games, Randall took a 76-37 decision in the girls' game, while the Hereford JV boys beat the Raiders 65-59.

Friday, the Hereford teams will host Pampa at Whiteface gym.

"We've just got to keep plugging," Belcher said. "We have one of the top players coming to town in Yolanda Brown. We have to do a good job on her and work real hard on the defensive end. We can beat them, but we have to have a lot more intensity for the full game."

"Pampa is one of the top teams in the district," Fields said. "We may not have a chance at the playoffs, but we have a chance to have a say in who does go to the playoffs."

Bradshaw elated with selection

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Terry Bradshaw said he was certain that somewhere, Art Rooney, the late owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was smiling.

"Art Rooney is in heaven looking down, saying, 'My boys! My boys! I told you you'd make it,'" Bradshaw said Tuesday after he and a Steelers teammate, Mel Blount, were named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Blount and Bradshaw, mainstays of the Steelers teams that won an unprecedented four Super Bowl championships in the 1970s, were joined by two other members of teams that were dominant — offensive tackle Art Shell of the Oakland Raiders and defensive back Willie Wood of the Green Bay Packers.

"You've got representatives of the best teams of the '60s and '70s," Bradshaw said. "It speaks well for what athletes are taught. Athletes are told to win and they are judged on how many games they win. It's not personal accomplishments or statistics that matter most. America loves winners."

Bradshaw and Blount each gained entry in their first year of eligibility. It was Shell's second try and Wood's 13th.

Blount, a cornerback, and Bradshaw, a quarterback, each spent their 14 professional seasons with the Steelers.

Blount, 40, the director of player relations for the NFL, said induction meant even more since he was joined by a teammate.

"This is a particularly good feeling because Terry and I came in together, we retired together and now we go into the Hall of Fame together. The only thing I need now is to make the money that Terry's making" as a TV broadcaster for NFL games.

Blount, a graduate of Southern University, led the NFL in interceptions in 1975 with 11 and had 57 for his career, seventh all-time, for 911 yards. He also recovered 13 fumbles, returning two for touchdowns. The 6-foot-3, 205-pound third-round draft pick played in six conference title games, four Super Bowls and five Pro Bowls.

Bradshaw, a 6-foot-3, 210-pounder from Louisiana Tech, was the first player chosen in the 1970 NFL draft. He completed 2,025 of 3,901 passes for 27,969 yards and 212 touchdowns and ran for 32 scores. Bradshaw, MVP of the 1979 and 1980 Super Bowls, holds Super Bowl records with 932 yards passing and nine touchdown passes.

He played in six AFC championship games and four Super Bowls, in addition to two Pro Bowls. "It's like winning a Super Bowl," Bradshaw, 40, said. "That's because I know this is the last award and the last honor that I'll ever get as a player."

Wood spent 12 seasons as a defensive back with the Packers, who won five NFL titles and the first two Super Bowls, in 1967 and 1968. He also played in seven Pro Bowls. During his career, he had 48 interceptions for 699 yards, returning two for touchdowns.

"I was selected as a finalist a couple of years ago, but I wasn't chosen then. I started thinking that so many Green Bay Packers had gone in, maybe they might have used up their quota," joked Wood, 52, who runs a construction business in Washington, D.C.

Shell played offensive tackle for the Raiders from 1968-1982, participating in eight AFL or AFC title games and two Super Bowls.

Shell, 42, an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Raiders, spent all of his 15 pro seasons with the Raiders after being picked in the third round out of Maryland-Eastern Shore. He played in eight Pro Bowls and started 23 postseason games, including eight AFL-AFC championships and the 1977 and 1981 Super Bowls.

Shell, Wood, Blount and Bradshaw will be enshrined Aug. 5.

Syracuse snaps losing streak

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The first part of Boston College's game plan worked to perfection. The Eagles held No. 14 Syracuse to under 80 points.

"The score was kind of where we wanted it to be," Boston College coach Jim O'Brien said. "If it got up into the 80s and 90s, we knew we couldn't score enough points. I think we did the right thing."

It was the second half of the plan that went awry. The Eagles didn't score enough points themselves as Syracuse snapped a three-game Big East losing streak Tuesday night with a 72-60 victory.

"We don't care how it looks. We just care how we played," Syracuse senior guard Sherman Douglas said. "We couldn't afford any more losses."

The victory improved Syracuse's record to 16-4 overall and 2-4 in the Big East, and elevated the Orangemen out of the conference cellar, a spot now owned solely by the Eagles, 8-8 and 1-5.

Douglas led Syracuse with 19 points and nine assists.

Only two other ranked teams saw action Tuesday night. No. 5 Missouri defeated Maryland 87-73 and No. 20 Providence downed Miami of Florida 106-91.

Dana Barros, who finished with 17 points, gave Boston College its last lead at 28-27 with 7:31 to go in the first half. It was the Eagles' last field goal in the first half as Syracuse used a 10-2 spurt to build a 37-28 halftime lead.

Boston College pulled within 39-35 early in the second half, but Derrick Coleman scored a basket and a free throw and Matt Roe and Steve Thompson hit 3-point shots to push the Orangemen's lead to 48-37 with 15:06 to play.

Syracuse maintained a double-digit lead over the final 10 minutes.

"We had a lot of opportunities to win," Barros said. "In the last five minutes, we were still in the game. At the end, we just didn't make our free throws. That happened in the first half, too."

No. 5 Missouri 87, Maryland 73

Byron Irvin scored 20 of his 28 points in the second half, including a dozen during a 19-5 run that brought visiting Missouri from behind. It was the Tigers' eighth straight victory, while Maryland has now lost eight straight.

Maryland, down by as many as 13 points, scored the final six points of the half to pull within 37-32 at intermission. The Terrapins, 6-11, then opened the second half with a 17-6 run to take a 49-43 lead with 14:08 remaining in the game. "I was worried a little, but I knew the way we've been playing we'd get it going," Irvin said.

Missouri, 17-3, took the lead for good at 56-55 and built the margin to 72-60 with 6:42 remaining.

John Johnson led Maryland with 24 points.

No. 20 Providence 106, Miami, Fla. 91
Carlton Screen scored 27 points and keyed an early second-half surge as visiting Providence crushed Miami to run its record to 15-2. The Friars also got 23 points by Marty Conlon and 15 from Matt Palazzi.

Eric Brown scored 30 points for the Hurricanes, 10-8.

Screen scored the final five points of the first half, giving Providence a 51-50 halftime lead. Four minutes into the second half, the Friars began a 19-3 run that included eight points by Screen.

Funny what dollars will do

By BEN WALKER AP Baseball Writer

Funny what a few dollars will do. Or a few million.

Take Orel Hershiser. Squeaky-clean in the often dirty world of sports, right?

Now, all we hear about Hershiser is money. He wants $2.5 million this season; Los Angeles wants to pay him $2 million. The pitcher wants a multiyear contract; the Dodgers are balking.

Does this make him greedy? No. Does this change him? No. But does this change our perception of him? Possibly.

"Business is business," Hershiser said. "We really start to find out the sentimentality of baseball isn't always there, that maybe sometimes that's just for the fans and not for the business side of the game, and that's the way I have to treat it."

The wunderkind with choir-boy good looks isn't a boy, after all. He's a shrewd, 30-year-old man.

Fans are finally seeing Hershiser the Bulldog, the side of his personality that his manager and teammates talk about, but nobody else has been able to really understand or believe. He's a tough negotiator, too.

What's wrong with that?

Even in an era sullied by spiraling salaries, no one begrudges a player making a lot of money if he's worth it. Especially after a miraculous season — playoffs and World Series MVP, AP male athlete of the year — that transcends sports and captures America's imagination.

Hershiser hasn't even cashed in like he could have. Except for the Disney commercial, which every star seems to do, he hasn't been overexposed. He did change his home telephone number to let an answering service handle the avalanche of calls, but there hasn't been a barrage of banquets or a cavalcade of card shows with autographs at $10 apiece.

Instead, he goes on Johnny Carson and sings hymns — in perfect pitch, of course — and dines with President Reagan at the White House, where wife Jamie Hershiser entertains Barbara Bush.

At worst, Hershiser might have been a little annoying on a postseason tour to Japan. Some of his fellow All-Stars privately said Hershiser was pompous at times and childish at others. But nothing to get too bent about.

Then comes this whole money thing. Hershiser, Mr. All-Everything, wants a raise from $1.1 million. He says he worth at least double. And he says if he doesn't get what he wants, he might leave.

"I'm not some crying, sour-grapes athlete," Hershiser said. "When I talk, I'm going to tell you what's going on and what's going on is kind of frustrating. I was misled in a way that there were certain things said that ended up not being true."

Steve Garvey, the model athlete-

citizen, left the blue-blood Dodgers because of a salary dispute. So did Steve Sax. Now, Hershiser also might go, although that's still a long way off.

OK, maybe nobody wants to hear about Hershiser's finances, at least not from him. Maybe people would rather Hershiser stay above it all and let his agents do everything.

But it's his money and his life, and he should be involved. Because when his career is over and there's a new brighter-than-bright star, no one else will care about yesterday's hero.

Adams' streak ends, Nets nip Nuggets

By The Associated Press

Michael Adams' hot streak is over. Now, the Denver Nuggets would like to do something about their cold one.

Adams missed all six of his 3-point shots Tuesday night, ending his NBA record of 79 consecutive games with at least one 3-pointer.

The Nuggets could have used one, because they lost to New Jersey 117-115 as the Nets' Buck Williams scored a season-high 27 points. Denver, which has lost eight of its last nine games and nine straight on the road, wasted a season-high 43 points by Alex English.

Adams began his record streak on Jan. 28, 1988. During the 79-game run, he made 193 of 530 long-range shots, including a record eight (in 12 attempts) against Milwaukee on Saturday night. But he was just 1-for-7 against Indiana on Monday night.

Another streak came to an end when New York beat Los Angeles 123-117, handing the Lakers their first setback in 18 home games this season.

Elsewhere, it was Atlanta 121, Cleveland 106; Chicago 109, Dallas 91; Houston 118, Miami 93; Seattle 103, Portland 100; Phoenix 106, Charlotte 103 and Milwaukee 114, Sacramento 110.

Adams said he "had a number of shots, but it just wasn't there tonight. It had to end sometime."

The Nets led 97-94 with 8:50 remaining when Williams scored five points to touch off a 14-4 spurt that gave New Jersey a 111-98 lead.

The Nuggets came right back with a 13-2 burst and pulled within 113-111 with 56 seconds left. New Jersey's John Bagley preserved the victory with four free throws in the final 15 seconds.

Knicks 122, Lakers 117

Patrick Ewing's 25 points plus a tight defense down the stretch helped the Knicks win the battle of division leaders. The Knicks never led until Ewing's two free throws with 3:56 remaining put them ahead 114-113.

Charles Oakley scored 23 points for the Knicks. Magic Johnson and James Worthy led the Lakers with 26 points each.

Hawks 121, Cavaliers 105

At Atlanta, Dominique Wilkins scored 41 points, equaling his season high, and hit a key 3-point goal in the fourth period.

The Hawks led 89-88 in the fourth quarter when Antoine Carr made a pair of free throws and Wilkins hit his third 3-point shot to ignite a 9-0 run that gave Atlanta a 98-88 lead.

Larry Nance led the Cavaliers with 28 points.

Bulls 109, Mavericks 91

At Chicago, Michael Jordan scored nine of his 24 points in the fourth quarter after sitting out seven minutes with a knee bruise and Chicago handed Dallas its 10th straight road defeat.

Dallas, which trailed by 13 points at the half, closed the gap to 65-59 a minute after Jordan fell to the floor attempting to block a shot by Mark Aguirre with 5:21 to go in the third quarter.

Bill Cartwright 23 points for Chicago. Aguirre and Rolando Blackman scored 22 points each for the Mavericks.

Rockets 118, Heat 93

At Houston, Otis Thorpe scored six points and Purvis Short had five during a 19-4 second-half run that enabled the Rockets to break open a 74-73 game and snap a four-game losing streak.

Sleepy Floyd led the Rockets with 22 points and Akeem Olatunji had 20 points and 12 rebounds. Billy Thompson had 39 points for Miami.

SuperSonics 103, Trail Blazers 100

At Portland, Derrick McKey scored 15 of his career-high 34 points in the final period to lead Seattle to its fourth straight victory.

Portland's Jerome Kersey made two free throws to tie the score 88-88 with 4:33 left, but McKey's layup at 4:17 put the Sonics ahead for good 90-88.

Clyde Drexler led Portland with 25 points. Dale Ellis and Xavier McDaniel paced Seattle with 24 and 23 points, respectively.

Suns 104, Hornets 103

At Phoenix, Eddie Johnson scored 11 of his 31 points in the fourth period and the Suns withstood a late Charlotte comeback.

Charlotte trailed 102-82 with 3:36

remaining after two free throws by Phoenix's Tom Chambers, who had 25 points.

Rex Chapman led Charlotte with 23 points.

Bucks 114, Kings 110

At Sacramento, Larry Krystkowiak scored four of his 21 points in the final 39 seconds as Milwaukee beat Sacramento for the 12th straight time.

Terry Cummings scored 31 points and Ricky Pierce had 21 as the Bucks won for the 13th time in their last 16 games. Kenny Smith topped Sacramento with 19 points and 11 assists.

Three are academic finalists

Three area high school seniors are among the 60 finalists selected for the 1988-89 Fina Academic All-State Football Team.

The three are Lon Outland of Friona, William Sudderth of Bovina, Michael Ames of Boys Ranch.

From the 60 candidates, a panel will pick 11 for the All-State team and each will receive a $2,000 college scholarship.

Hereford's Stefan Hacker is a former member of the team, having been named to the All-State team for 1985-86.

Nominees for the team had to be a senior football letterman ranked scholastically in the top 25% of his class with a grade-point average of 85 or above.

Twenty-five of the 60 finalists had a class rank of No. 1 at the time the applications were submitted. Fifteen others were either second or third. Most served in student government posts or were class officers. Nine were Eagle Scouts and almost all were active in their churches.

Hershiser is AP's top male athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Orel Hershiser, continuing his award-winning ways, says being named The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year "caps a year of fantastic awards."

The Los Angeles Dodgers' right-hander received nearly twice as many votes as his World Series rival, Jose Canseco of the Oakland Athletics, and became the first non-Olympian to win the honor in an Olympic year since Denny McLain in 1968.

"It is a tremendous honor to be recognized with an award which covers all sports," Hershiser said.

After last season's heroics, Hershiser was a unanimous choice as the National League Cy Young winner, was named Most Valuable Player in the NL playoffs and MVP of the Dodgers' World Series victory.

Hershiser received 67 first-place votes and 465 points in the balloting done by sports writers and broadcasters on a 5-3-1 basis. Canseco, the first player to hit 40 home runs and steal 40 bases in a season, received 30 first-place votes and 233 points.

Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders, who set all-time college records for rushing yards and touchdowns, was third with 207, followed by Olympic swimmer Matt Biondi with 152, NBA star Michael Jordan with 91 and Olympic diver Greg Louganis at 59.

Finishing out the Top 10 in the AP voting were Magic Johnson of the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers, heavyweight champion Mike Tyson, golfer Curtis Strange and hockey star Wayne Gretzky.

The AP's Female Athlete of the Year will be announced Thursday.

Hershiser set a record with 59 consecutive shutout innings last season. He becomes the 22nd baseball player to win in the 58-year history of the award and the first since Dwight Gooden in 1985.

During the shutout streak, which broke Don Drysdale's hallowed mark, Hershiser celebrated two other events. On Sept. 15, his second son was born; the next night, he turned 30.

He finished the regular season with a 23-8 record and 2.26 earned run average. He pitched 24 2-3 innings in the NL playoffs against the New York Mets, getting a save in Game 4 and pitching a shutout in Game 7.

He pitched a three-hit shutout in Game 2 and a four-hitter in Game 5 of the World Series against Oakland.

In his final 101 innings, he allowed just five earned runs. He also won his first Gold Glove award and became the first pitcher to get three hits in a World Series game since 1924.

Canseco, the American League's unanimous Most Valuable Player, led the major leagues with 42 homers and 124 runs batted in. He batted .307 and stole 40 bases.

Sanders ran for 2,628 yards and scored 39 touchdowns in his junior year at Oklahoma State.

Biondi won seven medals in Seoul, including five gold. He was the most decorated Olympian since Mark Spitz won seven golds in 1972.

Jordan was the first in the NBA to be MVP and defensive player of the year in the same season. He led the league in scoring for the second straight season with the Chicago Bulls.

Louganis won both diving gold medals at the Olympics. He did it despite cutting his head on the board during a dive.

Nicklaus optimistic despite problems

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus remained optimistic despite a recurrence of the back problems that once threatened his career.

"They used to ask me about the condition of my game. Now they ask me about the condition of my health," Nicklaus sighed before discussing his ailing back.

"I'm not unhappy with what's going on. I'm heading in the right direction," Nicklaus said during a practice round for the first start of his 28th PGA Tour season, the $1 million Pebble Beach National Pro-Am.

The tournament, formerly known as the Bing Crosby, gets started Thursday on three Monterey Peninsula courses.

Nicklaus, holder of a record 18 major professional titles, said his well-publicized back problems probably will prohibit him from making a run at the $180,000 first prize.

"I don't expect much out of my golf game right now," said Nicklaus, who considered surgery, then decided against it late last year.

Treatment and injections gave him some relief late in the year, but the problems returned in December after he had played in Australia.

"I was having more problems than I thought I ought to," he said, and gave an illustration.

"I would have good days and bad days. On my birthday (his 49th on Jan. 21), I shot my age. On nine holes. My back was giving me fits. I couldn't hit it 200 yards."

A new set of exercises designed by a man for he has been a consultant in San Diego "has helped enormously. I feel like new," Nicklaus said.

"He said the problems I was having could be expected," Nicklaus said. "He said his goal is to have me at full strength by April" and the Masters.

Between now and then, he said, he'll play in Australia, the Doral Open and in New Orleans.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Become one of the first in our community to own a copy of this magnificent atlas.

Schottenheimer is KC choice

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Marty Schottenheimer doesn't talk like the coach of a football team that has won only eight games in two years.

"I'm not interested in rebuilding programs," Schottenheimer said Tuesday when he was introduced as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs. "My principal reason for selecting this opportunity was I believe we can win, and win very quickly. Our goal for 1989 is to become the champions of the National Football League."

Schottenheimer resigned as Cleveland Browns' coach at the end of the season in a dispute with owner Art Modell. He signed a four-year contract for undisclosed terms with the Chiefs, a powerhouse in the 1980s who have had six head coaches and only one playoff appearance since 1971.

"I come to Kansas City with great expectations," Schottenheimer said. "As I look back on the history of this franchise, while I know the past several years there has been some low times, I prefer to look back to the great tradition of Kansas City Chiefs football. There were a number of factors that entered into my decision, the least of which was not, certainly, the opportunity to once again approach with this current football team the great tradition that is the past of the Kansas City Chiefs."

Schottenheimer, 45, took the Browns to the playoffs in each of his four full seasons as coach and his 32-15 regular season record the past three years was best in the AFC, trailing only the Chicago Bears and San Francisco 49ers among all NFL teams. The Browns lost to the Denver Broncos in the 1986 and 1987 AFC championship games.

One of the first questions Schot-tenheimer was asked is whether he will hire an offensive coordinator. His insistence on remaining in that position with the Browns led to his falling out with Modell.

"We will have an individual to fill that role. Rest easy," he said. "Marty Schottenheimer is not going to call the plays. Someone will have that role, if not the title."

Asked why he would change from the approach that led to his departure from Cleveland, Schottenheimer said he thought remaining offensive coordinator for the Browns "was the best thing to do in that situation."

Schottenheimer was careful not to denigrate his old boss.

"It was a situation where Art Modell and I really didn't agree on the way we should pursue the championship," he said.

AL turns down Gaylord

CHICAGO (AP) — American League owners have rejected Edward L. Gaylord's attempt to purchase majority interest in the Texas Rangers, the team's owner, Eddie Chiles, said.

Gaylord owns about one-third of the Rangers' stock and wants to buy an additional 58 percent. Baseball owners reportedly have opposed Gaylord's bid because they do not want another team owned by a broadcasting company.

"I have been informed by the Major League Baseball ownership committee this afternoon that they have reached a recommendation that the transaction between myself and Mr. Gaylord not be approved in accordance with the guidelines for the transfer of controlling interest that were adopted by baseball in 1968," Chiles said Tuesday.

A number of other investors, including former Rangers executive Larry Schmittov, have expressed interest in buying the franchise. A son of President Bush also has expressed interest.

Jerry Reinsdorf, president of the Chicago White Sox and chairman of baseball's ownership committee, said after the meeting that a decision had been made but refused to say what it was.

The change in ownership needed 11 votes in the AL and seven votes in the National League.

Gaylord is president of Oklahoma Publishing Co., the parent company for Gaylord Broadcasting Co., which owns Fort Worth's KTVT-TV.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is no joke. I have heard about people who suffer from something called "SAD" (seasonal affective disorder). They become depressed in winter and need lots of indoor light to make up for the sunshine that they miss.

I am just the opposite. Rain and gray skies make me energetic and cheerful. Sunshine makes me feel like a withered, dying flower. I get dizzy, clammy and crabby in temperatures over 75 degrees. Even indoors, I prefer the dim light of a 25-watt bulb. I keep my drapes closed during the day and prefer darkness to sunshine.

The bright fluorescent lights in my office make me nervous and jumpy. During the summer I become so depressed that I feel like committing suicide.

Am I alone or are there others who suffer from this? Please check with your experts and come up with some answers.—Happiest in the Shake (Seattle)

DEAR SEATTLE: I contacted Dr. Herbert Pardes, chairman of the department of psychiatry at Columbia University. He provided this response:

"Certain forms of depressions do occur at specific times of the year. The best known is seasonal affective disorder. These people become depressed only in the winter. They feel lethargic, their appetite increases and they tend to oversleep. Light therapy has proven helpful.

"Some people, on the other hand, become depressed in the spring, fall or summer. Much less is known about these more unusual disorders. It could have something to do with a change in the hormones. It is also possible that the woman who wrote could benefit from antidepressant medication. The fact that bright fluorescent lights in her office make her feel nervous and jumpy is not unusual. Some patients who have anxiety disorders report similar symptoms.

"There are programs that can help these people. Anyone who is interested may call the Depression Evaluation Clinic at the New York State Psychiatric Institute. The telephone number is (212) 960-5734. Although we are based on the East Coast, we would be happy to give guidance to anyone who wishes to contact us."

DEAR READERS: Did you know there are nearly 28 million veterans living today? These veterans, their dependents and survivors of deceased veterans make up nearly one-third of the nation's population.

On any given day there are approximately 60,000 veterans hospitalized in the Veterans Administration's 172 medical centers nationwide. These men and women served in World War I, World War II, the Korean War and the war in Vietnam. They represent every race, color and creed.

We can never repay these valiant vets for the sacrifices they have made, but we can do something to cheer them up and let them know that they have not been forgotten. It won't cost much and it needn't take more than a few minutes of your time. Read on:

Valentine's Day is Feb. 14 and it falls during "National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans" week. Be a sweetheart and send a valentine to a vet. If you are creative, you might even make one.

If you want to sign your name and give an address, perhaps you'll get a response. Should you care to send more than one valentine, that would be OK, too. The more valentines you send, the more hearts you will gladden.

How about you teachers out there making it a class project? The valentines will be divided among all the veterans hospitals in the nation.

The address is: Ann Landers-Valentine Vet, Hines VA Hospital, Hines, Ill. 60141-1489.

I've always known my readers are the most warmhearted, caring people in the world. Let's show the vets how much we appreciate them. Send your valentines today. Mine is going out this afternoon.

Love and Kisses—Ann Landers

Blood drive today

Hereford Community Center will be the site of today's blood drive set from 4-7 p.m.

Local residents are urged to go by and donate blood. The event is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce.

Paper collectors

Students at St. Anthony's School have been collecting newspapers during their newspaper drive. Proceeds from the paper collection are used for school funding, such as administrative costs. Classes compete against one another and a pizza party is awarded each month to the top collectors. Adding more papers to their collection are, from left, Emily Knight, fifth grade teacher; Melissa Carrizales and Wade McPherson, both fifth graders.

The hearing of an elephant is about as acute as that of a cat. Both animals can hear sounds as soft as the footsteps of a mouse.

Senior Citizens

Activities scheduled this week (Jan. 26-31) at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center include the following:

DAILY, Monday through Friday—Noon meal, 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; quilting and games, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; gift shop, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

THURSDAY—Knitting, 9:30 a.m.; beginning oil painting, 9-11:30 a.m.; advanced oil painting, 1-4 p.m.; choir, 1 p.m.; Birthday social, 6:30 p.m.

FRIDAY—Advanced line dance, 10 a.m.; regular line dance, 1:15 p.m.

SATURDAY—Games, noon to 4 p.m.

MONDAY—Advanced line dance, 10 a.m.; devotional, 12:45 p.m.; beginning line dance, 1:15 p.m.

TUESDAY—Stretch and flexibility, 10-10:45 a.m.

WEDNESDAY—Oven fried chicken, peas with new potatoes, Harvard beets, frosted lime/nut salad, pudding with topping.

'Murder Room' to open at Amarillo dinner theatre

The Country Squire Dinner Theatre opened Jan. 20 with Jack Sharkey's mystery-comedy, "Murder Room".

A Country Squire debut for the entire cast, "Murder Room" is under the direction of Joe Barone. A spoof of all crime thrillers with trap doors and secret chambers, "Murder Room" is billed as good clean mirth from the time the curtain goes up until the very end.

The cast includes Assun Bella, who most recently appeared in Los Angeles in "Once in a Lifetime." He spent two years in West Germany directing original productions for the Armed Forces.

Marcia Morgan has appeared in "A Midsummer Night Dream" and "The Odd Couple." She is currently with Dallas Music Videos-Heritage Cable Vision as the VJ/Studio Manager.

Caroline Mickelsen's career has taken her from New York City to Dallas. With stage credits too lengthy to list, she can be seen in the soon-to-be-released Tom Cruise feature film, "Born on the 4th of July."

Joe deMoruelle is active in television commercials. His recent stage credits include "Social Security" and "The Importance of Being Earnest."

John Brook has performed in "A Midsummer Nights Dream," "Forum," and "The Time of Your Life," to name a few.

Kim Wieck last performed at West Texas State University in "The King and I" and "Man of LaMancha." She performed the last two years in TEXAS, and was one of a small group from the TEXAS cast to perform for the World Travel Market in London.

Bruce Ballard recently performed in "Sea Scapes with Sharks and Dancer" and "Chorus Line." He is an instructor of dance at Amarillo College.

"Murder Room" may be seen each Thursday, Friday, and Saturday through Feb. 25 at the Country Squire Dinner Theatre located in Sunset Center. Dinner begins at 6:15 p.m. with curtain time set at 8 p.m. Show only tickets are also available.

The Aztecs of Mexico celebrated New Year's on February 2nd.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS STORY

"Everybody Already Knows My Store And What I Carry."

Sound Familiar?

Advertising is news about the marketplace, if you don't advertise, you're telling consumers there's no news from your store. But your competition is fighting for the public's interest with regular ads; if you want to keep your share of the market, you need to be in the same arena, bidding for the business. You need to advertise in the newspaper. Plus, people move out of the area and new people move in. Advertise to bring new customers into the store. Sell your store and your service through newspaper advertising.

NOT CONVINCED?

Newspaper advertising is unlike any other media choice. You're reaching a friendly, receptive audience with your advertising message. So receptive that they pay to have the paper delivered to their home. No wonder consumers consider newspapers the most believable advertising medium.

Newspaper advertising can help your business. It can increase sales and in a competitive market, it can give your business and edge over the other guy.

Don't tempt fate. Join the many successful businesses who know what works for them and what doesn't. Advertise in the newspaper and get results.

New cement is 'hard as stone'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hard-nosed highway engineers from across America watched as workmen in gray laboratory smocks smoothed out a fresh-laid bed of concrete on the floor of a hotel ballroom. They may have been witnesses to the dawning of a new age of cement. The product called Pyrament (cement that lasts as long as the Pyramids) will divide cement history into eras: "B.P. and A.P. — Before Pyrament and After Pyrament," proclaimed James E. Stewart, chairman of Lone Star Industries. "It's a material as close to stone as anything can be without being stone," Stewart said. Concrete is a mixture of cement powder, sand, water and gravel. Concrete made of Pyrament hardens in four hours. Some poured at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the ballroom of the Omni-Shoreham Hotel was hard as a rock at lunchtime. That means fix a highway in the night and traffic can roll on it during the next morning's rush hour. By

Cisneros won't seek 4th term

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Calling it a matter of honor, Mayor Henry Cisneros has vowed to remain out of the mayor's race that would have pitted him against a good friend who is a former mayor as well as many political and financial supporters.

After voters approved a Cisneros-led campaign to increase the sales tax one-half cent for construction of a $174 million domed stadium, Cisneros indicated he might reconsider an earlier decision not to seek a fourth term.

But on Tuesday, Cisneros issued a statement reaffirming his September vow not to run again. "The issue I confront in considering whether or not to seek re-election is not a political calculation nor is it about personal decisions nor is it a matter of my hopes for San Antonio," Cisneros said in the statement.

"It is not about whether I would win nor is it about whether I see work that I want to complete. It is about my word. It is a matter of honor." Former mayor Lila Cockrell announced her candidacy after Cisneros — considered one of the leading Hispanic politicians and among the country's top mayors — said last fall he would not seek a fourth term.

A race between Cisneros and Mrs. Cockrell threatened to divide the business and political communities loyal to both. "Certainly the part that I least desired was the role that I think I would have had to run against a good friend, but I would have felt a responsibility to remain in the race," Mrs. Cockrell said Tuesday. "I've already pledged that I will continue the major thrust that he would leave possibly unfinished. We agreed on all major issues and I feel that a lot of the groundwork for the current economic development and growth of our city was laid when I was mayor," said Mrs. Cockrell, who held the post from 1975 to 1981.

Ret. Brig. Gen. Robert McDermott, a close friend of both Cisneros and Mrs. Cockrell, said he talked to Cisneros last fall before deciding to become an honorary chairman of Mrs. Cockrell's campaign. McDermott, chairman and chief executive officer of United Services Automobile Association, said it's time Cisneros stepped out of the mayor's job, which pays less than $5,000 per year. "I think it would be good for Henry to take a couple of years off, a kind of sabbatical to financially get his house in order and to take care of his children," McDermott said.

Cisneros' marital difficulties could have become an issue in the race. In October, about a month after he said he would not seek re-election, published reports linked him romantically to former fund-raiser Linda Medlar.

Cisneros cited personal reasons when he first said he wouldn't seek a fourth term. His toddler son, John Paul Anthony, suffers from a congenital heart defect and needs an operation, and Cisneros said he needs to try to make money for his daughters' college education.

The 41-year-old Cisneros first began to cut his public ties in December 1987 when he said he would not seek a statewide office. McDermott, considered one of the city's most influential businessmen, said he thought Cisneros may have been caught up in the moment of victory over the Alamo election when he indicated he might seek re-election.

"There's a kind of euphoria after you fight and go through a tough campaign just like the Alamo and you come up winning," McDermott said, adding that Cisneros' judgement was helped by his trip Monday and Tuesday to Massachusetts for a speaking engagement.

"I think it's good that he happened to go away. I think if he were hearing and hearing the applause that he led a successful campaign it would have been a difficult decision to make, but I think he was able to get away and reflect about all his concerns," he said.

Mrs. Cockrell has raised about $40,000 and lined up commitments from key supporters, including McDermott, auto dealer and banker Tom Benson and developer Cliff Morton, who previously had supported Cisneros' campaigns.

She also hired Austin political consultant George Shipley, who has run numerous previous Cisneros campaigns.

The Bivins family goes to Austin

By State Sen. Teel Bivins

It's a magnificent room. The rich blue carpet sets the tone as you enter. Your eyes are immediately pulled toward the great oak dais at the front of the hall and then drawn upward to the brightly lit ceiling some six stories above. The carpet supports 31 Walnut wood desks and 31 leather chairs--some new and some old, worn until the leather has taken on a soft luster.

Each chair has a small brass nameplate on the back. Though I knew from the seating chart where my chair was, I let my son, Andrew, search it out. Nancy, Katie, Andrew and I, along with thousands of supporters, had worked for more than a year and a half to see that my name was attached to a seat on the floor of the Texas Senate.

This day -- the swearing-in ceremony of January 10--the chamber was filled with more than 31 chairs. Folding chairs crowded the aisle allowing friends and family to share the experience as each newly elected Senator took the oath of office.

My family was with me. Nancy, Andrew and my mother at my side; Katie and her teddy bear in my lap. A few feet away, outside the polished brass rail and overhead in the gallery, sat my brothers, in-laws and close friends.

Except for the constant sound of the motor-driven cameras, I almost felt like I was in church. Everyone was certainly dressed in their Sunday best. And, just like in church, Katie had a hard time sitting still. She entrusted me with her bear while she played with Sen. Don Henderson's son, seated behind us.

The day is mostly ceremonial routine with few surprises. But when Katie grabbed the back of my swivel chair, and pulled with all her might, I was surprised.

I instinctively thrust my foot out to offset the force of her pull. Only when my foot banged loudly against the underside of my desk was I able to save myself from falling over backwards. The disruption only drew a quick glance from Lt. Gov. Hobby, presiding over the Senate. My nearby colleagues responded with warm chuckles; I was close to a coronary

Seminar on dying set

Golden Plains Care Center will be the site of Thursday's seminar on death and dying.

The seminar, conducted by Rose Ann Smith, will begin at 7:30 p.m. It is open to the public and is free of charge.

Subjects such as death, dying, and the grieving process will be discussed.

Submerged whales, their skin beginning to peel, suffer additional torments from gulls, which land on their backs and lift up sheets of peeling skin or gouge into deeper layers underneath, says National Geographic.

TEEL BIVINS

strangling the bear.

And Katie was giggling. The swearing in itself was an intensely emotional moment. With my right hand raised I repeated the oath, but not without an occasional crack in my voice. It was particularly special that Supreme Court Justice Jack Hightower administered the oath of office. He is an old friend who has served this state magnificently as the Senator from the 30th District and in the 13th Congressional District in the House of Representatives. My brother, Levi, worked for Jack for 10 years in Washington.

After adjourning a few hours later, my staff and I joined Reps. Rick Crawford and John Smithee at a luncheon at the Four Seasons Hotel. Sponsored by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the luncheon honored the Amarillo delegation to Austin and we were reminded of the high expectations they have for us.

Nancy and I ended the day at a reception given by Gov. and Mrs. Clements at the Governor's mansion. The reception honored all 181 members of the 71st legislature. A time to get acquainted before the work begins.

As we returned to our apartment, Nancy was quiet. I knew she was thinking about the exciting events of the day, but I also sensed she was contemplating the many changes all of this brought for our family. Change is never easy.

Katie had not slept well since arriving in Austin. I'm sure this was due in part to her sensing the feelings of uncertainty, newness and even anxiety that her parents were experiencing. Serving in the Texas Senate will be a great family adventure filled with lots of exciting challenges, especially with Katie around.

Yet whenever one faces a challenge there are the inevitable questions--"What if I don't measure up?"

Well, Nancy and I have met many challenges in the past, and I believe we have a pretty good means of dealing with them. First, you must believe in yourself, second you've gotta trust in God. Then you must work like the dickens. That's what we intend to do.
